CLIFF RICHARD SPEAKS OUT

"Love is forever"

FROM GO-SET'S LILY BRETT IN LONDON

Peter Dickie
- artist and singer

The Cherokees with their frantic stage act thrilled Sydney audiences during their recent visit.

From the moment they bounded on stage they had the Sydney crowds eating out of the palm of their hand. They were a sensation and the audiences were on their feet from the start.

Their ability to project themselves into the audience and take them along with them is their secret. They are obviously having fun themselves and this is the main reason why they are so popular in Australia.

Ian Meldrum listens thru keyholes

IAN MELDUM

Up to the time of the arrival of the Cherokees, this Melbourne group was virtually unknown. But due to their fabulous harmony and tightness shown in their stage act during their Battle of the Bands performance, the name The Cherokees became the talk of the town.

Their arrival in Sydney saw their first show which was released in about three weeks. Both sides are original compositions, titles? Do you think? Dreaming Along to Myself.

The lineup of the group is as follows: Barry Littlewood (lead guitarist), Dave Littlewood (rhythm guitarist), Graham Jones (bass guitarist), and Ian Meldrum (drummer).

PROBY FLOPS IN ENGLAND

The success of the Australian pop group Proby and the British hit "Hark! The Hearse" has led to the rise of several new bands in the UK. Proby, who have been playing in the UK for several months, have been plagued by bad luck. Their first single, "Hark! The Hearse," was not successful, and their second single, "She's a Wild Thing," was also a failure. Proby have been playing in small clubs and pubs, and their performances have been met with mixed reviews. The group is now preparing for a tour of the UK, but the future looks uncertain for Proby.

Cliff and Shadows not breaking up

The Australian rock band Cliff and Shadows have announced that they will continue to tour and record despite a recent series of misfortunes. The group, who have been together for several years, have faced financial difficulties and personal problems, but they remain committed to their music. They have just released a new single, "Breaking Up," which is receiving positive reviews. The group is scheduled to perform in several cities in the UK next month.

Seekers in British concert series

The Australian rock band The Seekers have been announced as part of a new concert series in the UK. The group, who have been collaborating with British singer-songwriter Dave Clark, will perform in several cities in the UK next month. The concerts are part of a larger tour that will take the group to several countries in Europe.

Procol Harum breakup forms new group

The band Procol Harum, who have been playing for several years, have announced that they are breaking up. The group, who have been successful in the UK, have been planning a farewell tour, but they have decided to disband. They have formed a new group, called Procol Harum II, which will continue to perform their music.

British hits in U.S.

Several Australian hits have been successful in the US. The singles "Hark! The Hearse" by Proby and "She's a Wild Thing" by The Seekers have been charting in the US. The group The Seekers have also been successful with their single "Breaking Up." The success of these Australian hits in the US has been surprising to many in the music industry.

ONE MORNING LAST WEEK...
THE HIPPIES-
THE ARGUMENT IS ON!!!

FOR

Dear Go-Set,

I am writing this letter to thank you all at Go-Set for a great magazine, especially the last two issues. I say this as I am a great fan of the Beatles, and I very much appreciate your article on them in your last issue. "Why then?" Peppers' latest material, and the reaction to it, is something I am very interested in.

Yours in love,
An Aussie Hippie.

Salute for Go-Set

Dear Go-Set,

I am writing to thank you for the recent article on the Beatles. Their music has always been a great inspiration to me, and I am looking forward to hearing their new material. Keep up the good work!

Yours sincerely,
A fan of The Beatles.

More Musicians

Dear Go-Set,

I am writing to express my admiration for John Barry's new book on musicians. The photographs were excellent, and the book is thoroughly enjoyable. I look forward to reading more of his work in the future.

Yours truly,
A fan of John Barry.

Recently a group of enterprising people organized a psychedelic jazz concert at East Sydney Tech's Call Block Theatre.

Visually and sound-wise the occasion was mind-bending to say the least. This, explained the organizer, was the purpose of the programme.

The theatre itself, a converted stone cell from the early days, was jammed to capacity before the show had started. The stage was backed with large white paper screens onto which were projected movies, slides, coloured lights, huge shadows of the musicians on stage and whatever else lighting director, Gordon Mutch, threw appropriate. He used 24,000 watts of lighting, represented by three side projectors, a moon projector, two strobo-scopes, two mirror rotating machines, one pulsating light machine, and 28 coloured lamps, most of which he designed and constructed himself.

The musicians, including Graeme Lyall, Judy Bailey, John Sanger, produced music of a very progressive nature.

The main attraction was "Psychedelia" which set out to stimulate the feeling and emotions of an L.S.D. "first trip." By this stage of the evening the building was flooded with a mass of many types and Mutch and his two assistants worked frenetically at their task, generating large coloured spot lamps throughout the entire building and operating a large switchboard like some sort of bizarre piano. The idea was to make the audience much more than mere observers, to force some sort of participation in the inter-play of music and lights, through the whole atmosphere of the house.

The overall effect at times seemed almost overwhelming for some of the audience particularly those in the front row, whose participation was enormous as stray lights from their swaying heads in jerky movements.

This, up to date, has been the most successful of such mind-melting occasions and its success, we hope, will lead to another and perhaps more spectacular psychedelic jazz concert.

LESLEY PIXIE

talks over your problems

MY BOYFRIEND AND I

Dear Lesley Pixie,

My boyfriend and I are forever having arguments over the littlest things. I love him dearly and don't want to break up, but if these fights continue I know we will. Can you please help us to do so as we really want to stay together? They were no help at all.

"Please help," Vick.

If you want to stop fighting then both of you should make great efforts every time a battle threatens. If he starts it you should refuse to become involved and vice versa. Laugh at the cause of the argument and point out how trivial it is to fight over such a small thing. Be firm but not too much so. He will be put off. This will be helpful.

Dear Lesley Pixie,

I'm in love with an older boy. How can I show him I like him? Thanks.

"Pam," Georgia.

Tell him how you feel. You will be surprised how easy it is to get someone's attention. This will be helpful.

Dear Leslie Pixie,

I am a senior and have very small eyes. Because of my coloring certain make-up doesn't suit me. My problem is how to make my eyes look bigger without the make-up clashing with my hair? "Sue," Victoria.

Sue Pixie writes her Beauty Notes advise - to harmonize with your coloring you should use eye shadow or color eyeshadow. A light frosted powder or dark color will make the eye appear to be more and look smaller. Use a thick line of white or black on the eyelid above the eye. Use a thin line of color to line and space. Curl your eyelashes for a wider eye and put on a liquid liner or water corners of the top layer. Wear false lashes on all suitable occasions.
