1967

It is now 48 hours since I arrived home. Having Johnny Young as a fellow traveller, has its disadvantages too! Chaotic scenes at airports as I was pushed around by overly enthusiastic young fans!

Not one wink of sleep on the flight; thirty hours filled with stimulating conversation by the ever effervescent John.

Next week, when I have fully recovered, I'll give you the exclusive story of our plane flight. I'll also tell you how you can travel to England too! The fun, excitement, experience and adventures involved. I'll be giving you first news of the Easybeats, The Bee Gees, and all our other friends in England.

I must thank all you lovely Go-Set readers who sent me birthday greetings. I appreciated every one of them. Also a thank you to all the people who wrote enquiring about B.O.A.C. youth fares. I answered hundreds of letters and as for all the rest, I'll be answering them next week. I must have some sleep now. Love to all, LILY.

Hippies “sickening”

Dear GoGet.

I do not believe in drag-taking or free love, at least not for myself. Nor am I a great fan of psychedelic music, yet for me the Hippies have something. If people could only accept their philosophy of love and beauty the world would surely be a better place, but the world of the Hippies is a madhouse. We are all the world, we are all fools and we are all mad. We should not try to say the least, mañana. You have to do all this in another context: 1967.

Yours,

Gai Luneberg

Hippies “realists”

Dear GoGet.

First of all I would like to congratulate your photographer, Colin Board, and “Melbourne Hippie” for getting Hippies on the page while also in the last few GoGets I think Hippies are caricatured. But I must say that I am a hipster who is not 100% with the Hippie scene as I am tired of seeing their “youth” crap. I have studied the whole thing carefully and I must say it is a bit of a joke. The only thing that gets me is how they want love and peace for themselves and our children, and war for other people. I think this is what Hippies really want and want.

MAKE LOVE NOT WAR.

A Letter of Love

NORMIE IS STILL THE KING!

Dear GoGet.

To whatever says that P.J. Proby ripped in England.

P.J. Proby is the King of the Vocal Explorations and your skinny story couldn’t change the fact no matter what! What are you anyway? an Anti-Teen? Appreciater? A nit, well whatever, you should be shot! With a machine-gunned or bullet-proof suit.

Yours never,

PROBY FOREVER

Dear GoGet.

I would like to explain to all those ignorant people who went to Godet in favor of Romeo Burren, why Normie is still the King.

I fully agree with Mr. Stan Bele who Normie has more than proven throughout his career, that he is the King. Normie has been out of the country so many times that he has had to prove himself all over again.

Normie has been out of the country for the love of Godet. All you have to do is go to Normie in Festival Hall packed with Normie fans, then do the same for Romeo and you’ll see who’s tops.

Normie has had three gold records and lots of love from the charts, Normie has had to gold records and none of his records have been as popular.

Normie is King and no beginner can gran his crown from him.

Question Doug digs soul

The Questions have released the single which went out with their second session, and the biz is talking about their future. Doug is the lead singer of this band called The Questions and the Mac in the studio, and the result is history.

Doug digs the old soul vibe. Max, Merri, he used to dig the boss and the Melody at the Fly in Sydney. He said they were his favorite when he was a kid. Beatles Magic Bus "like an Al Capone movie"

Can these be the Beatles? These six smart-looking men who have mysteriously appeared out of a bad Al Capone movie? Yes! But don't despair, it's not as bad as it sounds. These are not the fashion trends which we expect from the Beatles every seven years. We just part of their famous "Magical Mystery Tour".

The tour was an eventful week, and a huge bus loaded with Beatles, recording equipment, bicycles, children and a piano. It has been a driving theme through England during a Beatles' vacation.

The Beatles' new hour-long color TV program was now being compiled, but it has been created as if they are being given around the four floors of a specially written songs by John and Paul.

At the show, the Beatles appear in various costumes. Paul was in a hat and Al Capone's striped trousers. Ringo in a striped suit, and d'Alberto in a tie. John wore tie and trousers held in place by a belt to show off his pants. Paul explained that the band had been asked to appear on the TV show as part of the "Beatles' Day". It was agreed that they should bring some of their new songs in the show.

Equally married Eric Burdon is booked to take his band on a "top price" tour around the country. The tour will be supported by the Animals and his latest LP "Watch Out Charlie" has been released

Eric Burdon has completely absorbed the West Coast influence His "San Francisco" message is now clear. The Animals also have a new LP "The House of the Rising Sun" coming out soon.

Ringo's recent marriage to the beautiful Angie King at London's Carton House was a private affair. Flowers were bright and colors were rich in the room. The wedding was a private affair. Flowers were bright and colors were rich in the room.

Go-Set sits in on the Twilights-recording!

The night was dark, the stars twinkled, the Twilights recorded. The time was 11:30 AM in the back door of Bill Armstrong's studio to experience the Twilights recording their new single. "If, I should die, I want you to know..." and "I want you to know..."

While producer DAVID MACCAY and operator ROGER SAVAGE busily prepared the control room, the happy little Twilights turned the studio into a scene from "The Rise and Fall of the Indian". Mahariki Britten plunked on a sitar; Peter sat cross-legged strumming guitar; Laurie belted RED Indian boogie; John stood on his head going slightly berserk; Paddy played piano genuine Peter Sellers-style, and Glen smoked international Philip Morris, this time he had a fancy cigarette holder... "Learned Gentleman," wailed Terry, "I wish I had a dirty that with a little help from my friends could well be a hit..."

The Twilights recorded the dirty on tape the sound unbelievable the words incomprehensible. David Maccay gave the thumbs up, his face showed delight the expense stopped burning, that was all for the night... The next Twilights' track was born.

JAMES TAYLOR MOVE'S "MAGIC EYES" WAS FOR THE CHARTS

By IAN MELDRUM

"Let's get one straight", said Rob Taylor, if we have this Hendrix image, well then we accept it. We have probably gained it because we were one of the first groups on the same to do such numbers as 'Tenn's Free', but believe this image was not purposely created. At the moment we play only one Hendrix number."

The James Taylor Move hit the Melbourne scene about five months ago, with a new sound that had been unheard before in Australia. Their driving, earily sings created excitement wherever they performed, and it was no time before they became a big name on the scene.

Their first single titled "Magic Eyes" has also hit the charts in a big way. It is currently riding on the top twenty on the Melbourne, Adelaide and Perth charts. It was number 33 in Go-Set's national chart last week.

The story on this single is as follows...

Rob Taylor wrote "Magic Eyes" while he was high on marijuana. He originally was going to call it "You're Way Out In Front Baby, But I Can See Your Behind". But under pressure from the group the title was forced to change it to the present title.

James Taylor readily admits that they chose a more commercial-style manner for their first single, and also intend to do it for their second. This obviously has paid dividends, as the success of "Magic Eyes" speaks for itself.

Their third single, will be different. On this single they hope to explain to the public what the group is about.

The James Taylor Move are firm believers that every group should know what song they are going to record, weeks before the actual recording session. This way, it enables a group to put more personal feeling into the number they are recording.

"One thing we cannot understand", said Kevin, "is how the top forty charts are worked out. The group's reviewer, who's always in the office, has given us a list of the top twenty singles. The number forty, as far as we can see, is the same as the number forty in the United Kingdom."

On the Australian pop scene, the James Taylor Move all agree that the standard of groups has risen over the past year, and it shouldn't be too long before Australian groups make a name of their own.

Kevin, Alan, Bob and Trevor who make up the James Taylor Move are reluctant to talk on their personal success, but it is evident that they are doing some serious thinking for England sometime next year.

Whether they are another Australian group who could make the big time.
A DAY IN THE LIFE OF MICK HAMILTON

Many people have accused me of backing up the wrong tree, well I have found a buddy that was.

Mick Hamilton. And so a day in Micks life begins.

1. Due to a problem of bed shortage at the Hamilton's residence, Mick has to sleep in a tree, a palm tree at that.

2. Inside for breakfast. The rice version of Mick's day is well to eat Corn-Flakes or Vita-Brits.

3. After breakfast it is time to get dressed. "Vera would you mind"

4. Dressed and topped up. Time a little joshel with the day.

5. And of course a rub on the tommay.

6. Being rather the sporty type, Mick takes time off from the socratic world for a bash at the old golf stick.

7. Back home for a practice on the acoustic. It beats me how Mick can make an arrangement out of a Batman comic.

8. Time for a lie down, and a bit of a snooze.

9. Mick doesn't even sleep, he read that boring magazine to send him to sleep.

10. On the subject of sleep, Mick wakes John Hossin at eight to morning. John also likes his dog.

FLOWER BABY DRESSES FROM DARRODS FOR THE FLOWER BABY GAL

Spring and the flower babies all surfing the Bourke Street scene from their deep brown window box in the sky at Darrods, where the ONE UP SHOP is turning on the flower power.

Just in case Melbourne's water shortage is a plot to whisper up the flower people, Darrods has blower flower baby dresses. These are to be named in Melbourne for the first time.

One is a tunic dress in light blue lawn, with little tucks and a little tuck with little tucks. Flowers on white. For back in time, a tale of the new girls. It's all about the flower girl. The new ones are here.

A woman, not a girl, not a child, but a woman, stands on the top of the world. With a smile, she says, "I have a dress." She has a dress with flowers on it. Flowers in her hair. Flowers on her face. Flowers in her eye. Flowers in her ear. Flowers everywhere.

The guy who began with a shoe box.

There's a shop in Carlton and the name of the man in charge is Brian Ferrar. He's a man of the age up to the moment and a man of the moment up to the age of the moment. His shop is in Carlton where it should take to build up a small business.

LESLIE PIXIE talks over your problems

Dear Leslie Pixie,
I have a boyfriend who lives some miles away. He was supposed to visit me on Sunday. When I rang him to tell him I was coming to meet him, he said he had to get to town in a minute. He said he meant that day, not March. It was then confirmed.

"Confused," Victoria.

You deserve an explanation from the boy himself. Keep trying and asking for help until he is ready to take you seriously. If he won't, go on to another guy. I am 20. The other guy is 19.

If there is no chance of you getting the first boy back then you should be content with the boy you have now. You are not obliged to love him because you go out with him. Go out together until you are 21.

THE RIGHT APPROACH

Dear Leslie Pixie.
I would like to know how to approach a certain girl. She is 21, in the year, often taken. Do you think the facts are valid? She is 21, in the year, often taken. Do you think the facts are valid?

WHICH BOYFRIEND?

I was separated for two months but he broke off with me because another girl asked him. A broken heart is better, but I am not sure if I love her or not. I don't love this girl. Could you tell me what I should do? I am in love and the boy I am with is 16. The other boy is 18.

If there is no chance of you getting the first boy back then you should be content with the boy you have now. You are not obliged to love him because you go out with him. Go out together until you are 21.

6000 names on the Go-Set petition!

A few weeks ago the tragic news of the deaths of 6000! and Generation was announced to the world through the press.

Immediately we called upon the readers and writers to sign our name to a Go-Set PETITION against the death of the noble and saintly brothers. We have been overwhelmed with the response. Over ONE MILLION names have been signed. These names were nothing but names.

We have all heard of political groups and their methods. I am not sure what is the answer to this situation. But as we have heard from the press that it will be a victory for the people, we will cross our fingers and hope that it will be a victory for the people.

MAKING YOUR MARK

The mark to aim for is an invisible one - left firmly on the mind. Kipling said, "The woman who is marked is a woman who is successful!"
The secret of success in this field is no longer a matter of being clever or having a good eye for fashion. It is a matter of being able to hold your ground against the competition. And this is why it is so important to have a clear picture of what you want to achieve.
