One of the fastest-growing of all industries in the U.S. is also a major fourth-quarter radio advertiser. Americans spent an astounding $1.1 trillion on health care last year, and that figure will balloon to $1.8 trillion next year. In return, the health care industry spends heavily during open enrollment periods to convince workers to choose their plans (unfortunately, that spending is down in the first nine months of this year). Read all about this important but fickle category in the Management, Marketing & Sales section of this week's paper.

Revenues Up, Listening Down

Annual Veronis, Suhler report predicts growth in ad spending, but listening levels will drop

By Jeremy Shweder R&R WASHINGTON BUREAU shweder@rronline.com

Radio is still reaping the benefits of consolidation and should see growth in ad spending over the next few years, according to Veronis, Suhler & Associates' annual Communications Industry Forecast.

The future still looks bright for the radio industry, according to the report by the communications investment banking company. But if there is a dark cloud on the horizon, it is that radio listening levels are declining slightly.

The study, which forecasts 1999-2003, found that the average number of people listening to radio fell nearly 2% in 1998. Still, total radio listening levels were higher in 1998 than in 1993. Overall, total radio listening levels rose 0.4% compounded over the years 1993-1998, but are expected to fall slightly over the next tening continues to fall. One threat to radio could come from new technologies in cars. Auto makers are currently working to install TV sets in minivans. which could severely hurt radio listening. The challenge from satellite broadcasters such as CD Radio and XM Satellite Radio could also hurt conventional broadcasters in the years ahead.

"Longer term, there is some technology risk — from the likes of CD Radio and others - that people have been worrying about for a long time, but it never

When CRS and Viacom announced their nearly $37 billion merger in early September, everyone knew there would be some radio spinoffs at CBSowned Infinity Broadcasting.

On Monday CBS gave some details as to what those divestitures might be: Up to 10 stations will likely have to be sold off to comply with new FCC broadcast ownership rules, including stations in such major markets as Los Angeles, Chicago and Dallas-Ft.

Worth, CBS said in an SEC filing. Specifically, in what one source close to the deal called a worst-case scenario, Infinity divestitures could include one station in L.A., one in Chicago, two in Dallas, four in the Washington/

Baltimore markets and two in Sacramento.

If, as expected. CBS does complete the Viacom merger, Infinity will definitely have to sell stations in L.A., Chicago and Dallas. Spinoffs in Washington/Baltimore and Sacramento could depend on how the FCC decides to count adjacent markets where TV or radio signals overlap.

The new broadcast ownership rules, which went into effect on Tuesday, allow companies to own up to two TV outlets combined with up to six radio stations in the largest markets. A total of eight media outlets is permitted in a

Arbitron Brass Puzzled Over Diary Response Rate Plunge

People Meter development hits next level

By Ron Rodrigues R&R EDITOR-IN-CHIEF ronr@rronline.com

COLUMBIA, MD — The response rate problem that plagued Arbitron earlier this decade has reared its ugly head again. The issue comes at a time when Arbitron is looking to replace the listening diary with the electronic personal meter, which will finally get its first U.S. test run next year.

Until this year Arbitron had successfully held the line on declining response rates. For the most part, response rates (which are defined as the percentage of usable diaries returned by those people originally contacted about taking the survey) hovered in the low 40% range throughout the middle to late '90s.

But thus far in 1999, response rates fell below the 40%level in all three surveys. The 38.8% response rate in the winter

NAB Defends Low-Power Study

Broadcasters still warn of interference

By Matt Spangler R&R washington bureau spangler@rronline.com

The NAB defended a recent study on low-power FM that Media Access Project says "does not stand up under scrutiny."

The NAB says LPFM would create interference for millions of radio listeners, but MAP countered in reply comments filed with the FCC on Monday that more than 600 stations under 100 watts can be licensed in 60 markets looked at by the NAB without harm to existing stations.

MAP claims the NAB studied "a radio that does not exist," but in its own reply comments -- also filed Monday — the NAB said it tested "the most representative sample of radios, for both function and price."

MAP also asserted that the NAB "tested radios that were doomed to fail." MAP Deputy Director Cheryl Leanza told R&R, "That's the only way they can demonstrate that low-power FM would be technically unfeasible." The NAB pointed out that the average performance ratios of its receivers don't change even if the results for the worst-performing radios are removed.

The NAB said two independent analyses of its studies by engineering firms concluded that receivers have not gotten better at rejecting interference, and therefore the FCC can't relax second- or third-adjacent channel protection for LPFM, as the agency has proposed.

Salem Stock Falls Despite Record Earnings

One-day plunge sends shares to record low

By Matt Spangler R&R Washington Bureau spangler@rronline.com

The investment community responded to Salem Communications' report of record quarterly earnings last week by ... trading shares like there was no tomorrow.

Last Thursday the stock saw its heaviest volume (2.5 million shares) since late July, while the issue plunged an astounding 26% to close the day at $19.50 — an all-time low. A day earlier the company had reported that net revenue rose 20% (to $23.1 million), while broadcast cash flow climbed 14% (to $10.4 million) in the third quarter. At the same time, however, Salem experienced a net loss of 1 cent per share, compared to a 1 cent gain a year earlier.

The company's failure to make timely closes on several deals in Kentucky accounted for the less-than-expected earnings, according to spokesman Dirk Gastaldo. He told R&R that due to various complications, Salem completed its acquisition of WLWY-FM & WRVI-FM/Louisville in September — two months after the anticipated date. Salem was due to close on four stations in Honolulu by July 1 as well, but at press time the company had only entered LMAs with two of the properties.

Some analysts think Salem's foray into cyberspace helps account for the stock dive as well. Gastaldo said the company wants to be "the leader in providing Internet solutions for ministries." Since acquiring OnePlace.com in January, Salem has been on a web tear, signing programming deals with Gospelcom.net and the In Touch and Leading the Way ministries and acquiring GospelMedia.com. The company also provides six channels of spiritual programming for the Real Networks streaming media site.

But Credit Suisse First Boston analyst Harry DeMott says many investors value Salem based on its broadcast holdings and have discounted the stock due to the company's increased level of investment in the Internet. "In the absence of any other positive news," such as a spinoff of the web holdings, DeMott told R&R, "the stock is likely to remain at these levels."

However, Gastaldo sees the Internet investments as one more step in Salem's quest to "dominate the distribution of Christian programming." In addition to the Salem Radio Network and its 1,200-plus affiliates, the company owns CCM Communications, publisher of Christian periodicals like CCM Magazine.

Salem's same-station net revenue increased 10%, and BCF was up 11%. For the first three quarters of '99 net

Disney Blocked From Using 'Net Logo

A federal judge in Los Angeles granted an injunction last Friday preventing The Walt Disney Co. from using a logo resembling a green traffic light for its Go.com website. Disney was sued by Internet search engine GoTo.com in February — GoTo.com claimed it had been using a similar logo since late 1997. Disney said it will seek a stay of the injunction, and the case is headed to trial in March. Go.com, which has used a traffic light logo since its launch last year, features audio streaming of Radio Disney and ABC Radio programming.

CBS/King World Merger Approved

t was months in the making, and it took a third special meeting of King World shareholders on Monday to approve a merger with CBS that will give stockholders .81 of a share of CBS common stock for each share of King World common stock. "The closing of this merger with King World represents a significant step in our ongoing growth strategy," said CBS President/CEO Mel Karmazin. "Along with recent acquisitions in radio and outdoor television stations and the Internet, this transaction helps us to strengthen our diverse group of assets."

Other Company And Shareholder Actions

The board of directors for Baltimore-based Sinclair Broadcasting on Monday approved a regular quarterly cash distribution equal to 2.91% of the liquidation value of the 11.625% High Yield Trust Offered Preferred Securities — or "HYTOPS" — of Sinclair Capital, a wholly owned subsidiary trust of Sinclair Broadcast Group. The distribution is payable on Dec. 15 to shareholders on record as of Dec. 1.

- Radio One netted $300 million last week after expenses from its class A common stock offering, according to lead underwriter Credit Suisse First Boston. The company sold 4.7 million shares, while shareholders sold another 700,000 all at $59.25 per share.
- Hispanic Broadcasting has filed documents with the Securities and Exchange Commission to sell 2.3 million shares of class A common stock. The issue closed at $83.69 Monday.
- Internet music company Launch Media began trading options under the ticker symbol "NQL" on the American Stock Exchange on Monday. The options have strike prices of $12.50, $15 and $17.50. The issue closed at $19.06 Monday.
- Holders of Metromedia International's 7.25% cumulative preferred stock as of Nov. 22 will receive 91 cents per share on Dec. 15. The company owns 17 radio stations in Eastern Europe.

Hispanic-Targeted Advertising Reaches $1.7 Billion In '98

A dvertisers are giving more consideration to multicultural media when making their buys. According to a study conducted for New America Strategies Group and Mediaweek magazine, multiculturally focused media revenues were $3.6 billion last year, more than twice the $1.7 billion spent in 1993. African Americans were the second-most-targeted minority group after Hispanics, and in both cases radio and magazines were the primary ad vehicles. Asian/Pacific Islanders were the third-most-targeted group, and print media was more often the medium, according to the Miami-based Teller Groups, which conducted the survey. Despite the growth, multicultural spending is just a fraction of the estimated $200 billion-plus spent annually on advertising.

FCC Actions

The FCC last week flagged Steven Dinetz's new radio group, Next Media, for its purchase of WFGO-FM & WJET-FM/Erie, PA from Jet Broadcasting. Earlier this year Dinetz re-entered radio ownership when NextMedia bought four other stations in the Erie market for $15 million. The combination of Jet's stations with Dinetz's WFNN-AM, WLKK-AM, WRKT-FM & WRTS-FM/Erie would give NextMedia about 55% of the ad revenue in the market, according to BIA estimates. The FCC generally looks at deals that would give one company control of over 40% of the ad revenue in a market

Radio Unica Q3 Revenue Jumps 60%

DG Systems has 4th straight qtr. of positive cash flow

ust a month after a successful IPO, Radio Unica (Nasdaq: UNCA) last week reported a 60% increase in third-quarter revenues, up to $4.7 million from $3 million last year. EBITDA rose to a loss of $3.2 million from a loss of $3.7 million. The net loss for the quarter was $27.8 million ($1.33 per share) -- which includes a one-time noncash stock option compensation charge of $19.6 million — vs. a net loss of $6.1 million (29 cents) last Q3. Year to date, revenues grew 73%, from $6.4 million to $11.1 million. The net loss for the nine-month period grew from $16.6 million (94 cents) to $47.1 million ($2.25). That figure includes a $2 million payment to terminate an LMA for KVCA-AWL.A., as well as the $19.6 million charge. Radio Unica completed its IPO in October, selling 6.84 million common shares at $16 each; net proceeds were about $98.7 million. Wall Street embraced the results, with Salomon Smith Barney analyst Paul Sweeney on Monday giving the issue an "outperform" rating in his first recommendation, while Donaldson, Lufkin & Jenrette analyst Geoffrey Jones on Tuesday added the Spanish-language radio network to his monitoring portfotio with a "market perform" rating.

The Washington, DC-based operation said the net loss for the quarter, which ended Sept. 30, was due to a one-time $5.5 million charge related to debt recapitalization activities. IBES analysts had estimated XM's Q3 loss at $1.04 per share, but did not consider the one-time charge in that forecast. During the quarter XM completed a $250 million financing deal with GM, Clear Channel, DIRECTV Inc. and a private investment group. Also during the quarter American Mobile Satellite Corporation (Nasdaq: SKYC) finalized its purchase of a controlling interest in XM. In October, after the quarter had ended, XM successfully completed an IPO of 10.2 million shares priced at $12. Engineers Disagree On FCC Antenna Proposal

Proadcast engineer Tom Osenkowsky says allowing directional AMs to use computers to perform "proof of performance" tests to insure their antennas are working properly would save licensees money and reduce interference to field intensity measurements due to weather and environmental changes. For example, Osenkowsky said in computer to field intensity measurements due to weather and environmental changes. ments recently filed with the commission, in 1993 a Waterbury, CT station was cited after an FCC inspection showed discrepancies in measurements. Those discrepancies, he said, were caused by snow and rain. In its comments, Lawrence Behr Associates countered that computer modeling can't realistically factor in all the environmental effects on a transmitter. Reply comments on the FCC proposal — which would reduce the number of proof-of-performance tests - are due by Nov. 24.

USADR Pushing IBOC On Global Front

SA Digital Radio has been meeting in recent months with representatives from a number of countries interested n an IBOC solution for digital radio, USADR President/CEO Bob Struble told R&R last week. Many of these nations are experimenting with or have implemented the Eureka-147 L-band digital system, but those who have implemented it are disappointed with stagnant sales of Eureka receivers, Struble added. He pointed out that since IBOC and L-band occupy different bands, they could very easily coexist.

Disney May Buy Radio Outlets In Latin America

he Walt Disney Co. will eventually be looking at radio acquisitions as Disney seeks to build its brand in Latin America, Laura Rama told R&R last week. Rama, VP/Marketing and Brand Development for Disney's new Latin American operation, said that while the Buenos Aires-based team won't do any Latin American radio deals in the next six months, one of its short-term goals is to grow Disney's Internet presence south of the border.

'Net Music Copyright Standard Ratified

he 130-plus members of the Secure Digital Music Initiative signed off last week on watermarking technology that protects artists whose music is made available on the Internet for use with portable players such as the Diamond Rio. The group also approved a licensing agreement for use of a trademark that indicates a unit is SDMI-compliant. Several companies, including Diamond, say they will market SDMI-compliant players this holiday retail season.

Windows Media Use Outpacing RealNetworks

onsumer use of Microsoft's Windows Media player rose 34% from September to October, according to a new report by Reston, VA-based PC Data. Use of RealNetworks' streaming media player gained only 5%. Yahoo! Broadcast (formerly broadcast.com) uses both players to stream audio for hundreds of radio stations on its site. Meanwhile, Real says its new RealPlayer 7 has been downloaded 3 million times since it was released Nov. 8.

Salem

Continued from Page 4 revenue grew 21%, to $67.3 million from $55.6 million, while BCF climbed 17%, to $29.8 million from $25.5 million.

Salem's stock recovered slightly on Friday (11/12), gaining 56 cents to close at $20.06, but dropped again to $19.50 on Monday and to $19.125 on Tuesday.

Not Losing My Religion

A recent study by the National Religious Broadcasters suggests that Christian programming is on the rise.

According to the report, the number of domestic and international AM, FM and shortwave radio stations carrying Christian programs increased for the third straight year, to 1.731 from 1,616 in 1998. At 127, Texas boasted the most such stations this year, while North Carolina had the largest increase, adding 15 stations for a total of 88.

The NRB attributes the expansion to trends in society at large. "This record growth is a sign that more broadcasters and their audiences value the Gospel," said NRB President Brandt Gustavson. "People are searching for God."

NRB VP Michael Glenn says

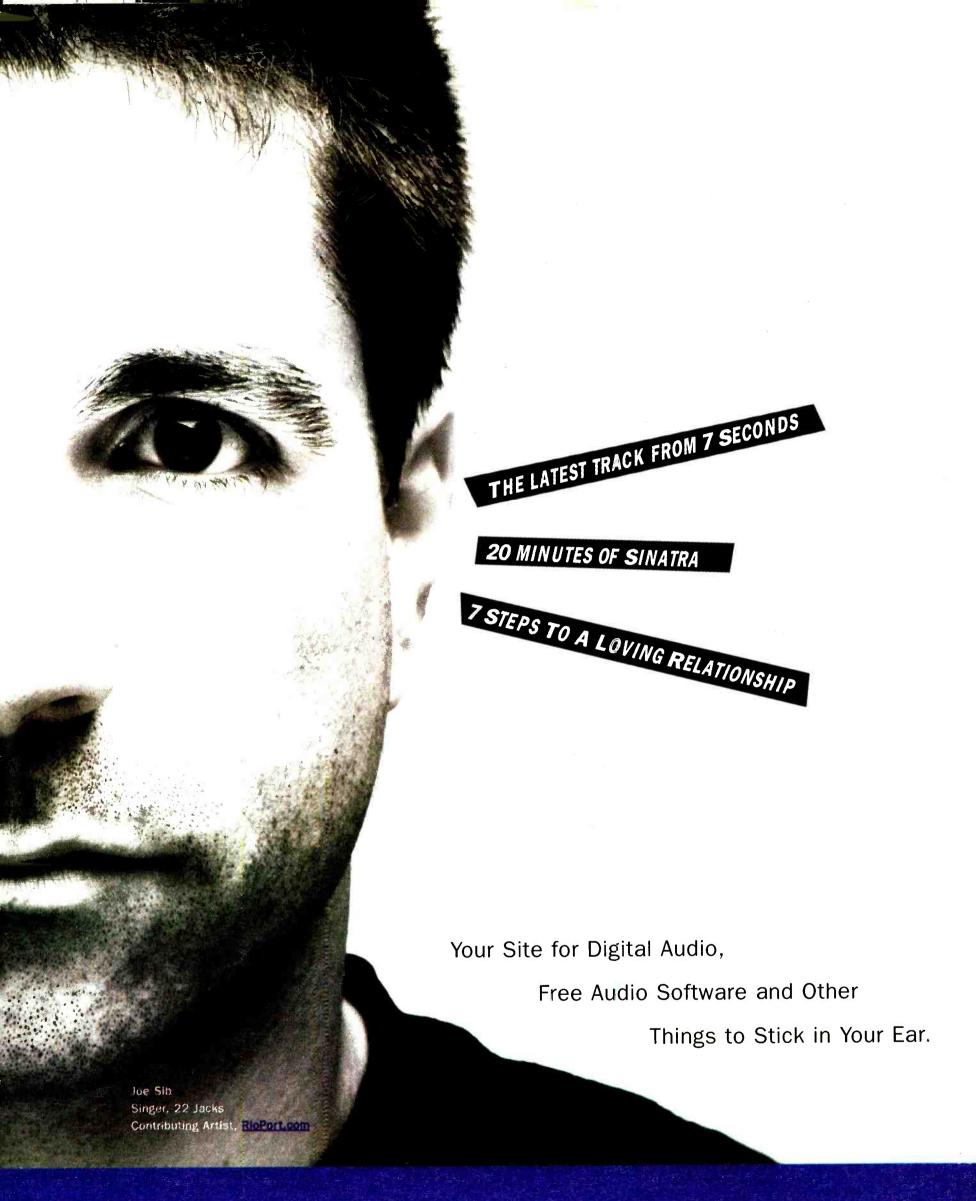

people are searching for meaning in a complex world whose media often features disturbing messages. 'There's a hungry world and an environment for answers to the questions out there," he told R&R.

Radio consultant Holland Cooke says, however, that it's just one more example of radio finding a niche in the age of consolidation. "It seems like an opportunity to be the only one of a certain kind in a market," he told R&R, adding that many "third-tier" Talk stations are switching to Religious formats to claim that niche.

Christian stations are also responding to the explosion in Christian music by programming new music formats, Glenn said. Salem, for example, targets youth audiences with its "Christian Pirate Radio" channel on OnePlace.com.

R&R INDUSTRY X-RAY: HEALTH CARE

📕 Spending's down, but diagnosis is difficult

By Jeff Axelrod

MMS Editor

jaxelrod@rronline.com

Unlike previous Industry X-Räys, this month's subject is not a consumer product. Advertising health care is not as simple a matter as creating demand for a product.

Instead, much of radio's health care advertising comes from insurance companies and managed-care facilities, which become extremely active around the year-end open enrollment periods.

Because a great majority of Americans have some form of insurance (see graph, Page 16), most of those companies' advertising is aimed at maintaining an image between those open-enrollment periods. Since this type of advertising isn't necessarily need-based, it can be fickle — and possibly that's why the health care category is down through the first nine months of '99.

Another possibility: Hospitals are seeing their profit margins dwindle. From 6.9% in fiscal 1998, those margins are expected to fall to 3.6% by fiscal year 2001. Could advertising budgets be among the first victims of belt-tightening in the face of declining financial fortunes?

However, there's a lot of money at stake — Americans spent over $1.1 trillion on health care last year, and that figure is expected to grow to a staggering $1.8 trillion next year!

If you're selling image-based advertising to a health care provider, you should know the service issues that are top-of-mind for consumers. According to a Hewitt Associates study conducted this year, the top concern of patients is their health plan's inability to resolve problems, followed by the plan's timeliness, professionalism and accuracy. Farther down the list, but still matters of concern, are deductible or copayment amounts and ease in scheduling appointments with doctors.

Since most health care providers purchase their image-based advertising based on their own agendas, maybe the way to increase revenues in this sector is to target the services that can be sold like consumer products. Specifically, we could target elective procedures — like cosmetic surgery or dental whitening — or treatment programs, such as drug or alcohol rehabilitation programs or diet programs.

You might also want to consider putting a health-oriented talk show or two on one or more of your stations. In a Lewin Group poll, 70% of adults surveyed said they listen to radio programs or watch TV programs about health and medicine. Such a show would provide an ideal platform for sponsorship or advertising sales.

Speaking of sponsorships, opportunities abound for promotional or NTR tie-ins. Plan a health fair or organize some type of lifestyle event that lends itself to health care sponsorships. Athletic events are particularly good at attracting health care organizations (see graph, Page 16).

If your music station has an outdoor summer festival or concert, perhaps you could strike up a sponsorship arrangement with a local health care provider to provide medical services at the event or to team with other sponsors to create and give away "summer fun survival packs" filled with sunscreen and other useful products. And since so many health care spending decisions are made by businesses, you may wish to consider having a health care provider sponsor some type of workplace promotion or contest.

There's no sure cure for the health care sector's current advertising doldrums, but maybe some of the ideas here will inspire you to come up with your own prescription for profits.

MANAGEMENT

HOW PANDA EXPRESS BECAME A RICE-ING STAR

By Dick Kazan

"If you treat your employees well, they will treat the business as their own." So says Peggy Cherng, President/CEO of South Pasadena, CA-based Panda Management. Run jointly with her husband, Andrew, it's the parent company of Panda Express, the country's biggest Chinese fast food chain with 320 restaurants nationwide and in Japan, 4,000 employees and over $200 million in annual sales.

"You need to focus on developing them so they can see personal advancement," Cherng explains. "Then they can stretch themselves and reach their potential. Also, open communication is very important. Let people know the key objectives you want to accomplish each year and their roles. In meetings, they can come back with their suggestions, concerns and objectives. People then feel they've been listened to and have a voice in the company's direction." $\frac{1}{2} \int_{-\infty}^{\infty} \frac{1}{2} \left(\frac{1}{2} \int_$

Cherng adds, "You have to think about other people before you think about yourself. If you can do that, you'll build mutual trust. With mutual trust, you can set objectives together. People know if you have good intentions."

It's unusual for an American CEO to be so concerned for employees' feelings, but as a Chinese immigrant from Hong Kong, Cherng thinks differently. She came to the U.S. for her college education, eventually receiving a doctorate in electrical engineering from the University of Missouri. That's where she met Andrew, whom she married following graduation. The couple settled in Southern California, where Peggy worked in technical jobs at McDonnell Douglas and at Comtal-3M.

In 1973 Andrew and his father, master chef Ming Tsai Cherng, opened Panda Inn, a gourmet restaurant featuring Mandarin and Szechwan cuisine. Over the next nine years their restaurant became very popular, and they decided to select specific menu items and offer them as fast food. Peggy joined the family business in 1982, and one year later the first Panda Express was opened in the Glendale Galleria in Glendale, CA.

Today the business is so successful and growing so rapidly that she anticipates the opening of its 400th unit in 2000. What role does radio play? Peggy says, "Panda Express uses radio for our restaurant grand openings. Radio remotes, in particular, give tremendous energy and awareness. The combination of the music — which adds festivity to the event — the radio talent interacting with our customers and the prizes helps us to accomplish our objectives."

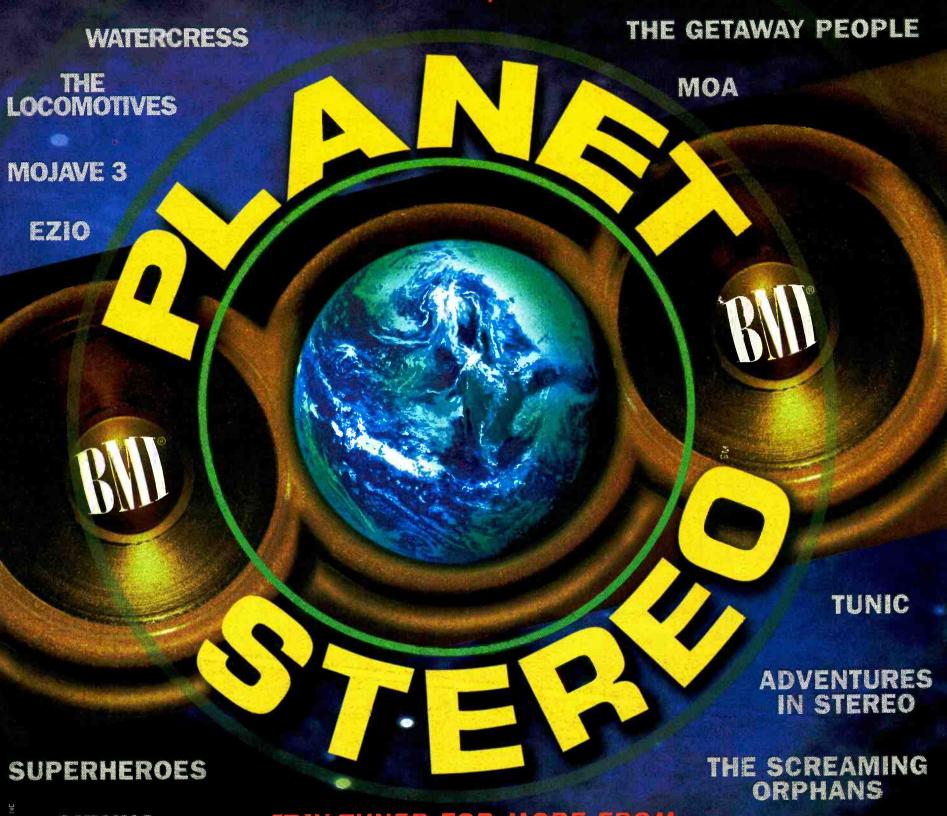

What other advice does she offer? "We encourage each manager to become a teacher so they can share their knowledge. By doing it, they learn more. When you teach, you elevate your understanding of those principles you're teaching.

"We also want to establish a caring culture. Caring for everyone internally, for our customers and for the community." As a result, Panda Express donates to various organizations such as the Child Abuse Prevention Council, the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and the United Way. It also contributes proceeds from grand opening day sales to local charities in each community it serves.

What's Peggy Cherng's key to success? "As an immigrant, you need to leverage all of your ability to establish yourself in the land of hope." Through hard work and dedication, she's succeeded ... as can you by taking her advice to heart.

SUCCESS STORIES FROM THE RAB

RADIO PUTS CHIROPRACTOR BACK IN BUSINESS

SITUATION: Half Chiropractic is located in Ottowa, KS, a city of 11,000 people. The business was originally located in nearby Ossawatomie, but owner Rory Half moved it to Ottowa following the response to his talk show on Country KOFO-AM/Ottowa.

OBJECTIVE: Hall had a very clear objective in marketing his chiropractic practice — to increase awareness of his establishment in a new market, thus increasing business.

CAMPAIGN: Hall hosted the 30-minute True Health call-in show on KOFO. The show aired Saturday mornings, and listeners called in with their health questions. The station ran 30-second promos for the show during the week.

RESULTS: The Ottowa location of Hall Chiropractic opened on a part-time basis while Hall maintained the other store in Ossowatomie. However, the True Health program brought in a substantial amount of business; enough that Hall closed the Ossowatomie location and kept the Ottowa location open six days a week, catering to the influx of new patients.

You wouldn't let an outside company schedule your music...

Why on earth would you let one research it?

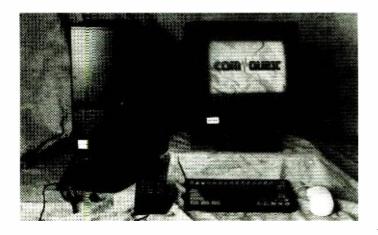

You need quality callout information to make the right airplay and rotation decisions for your radio station. If you're relying on out-of-house callout for answers, you might find yourself lulled into a false sense of security.

After all, how can anyone outside your market possibly relate to your audience, or adhere to your screening and recruiting parameters, week after week?

They can't. That's why your programming originates locally, why you schedule your music in-house, and also, why you should consider seizing control of your weekly callout research, and deploying it in-house as well.

Nobody pays attention to detail or cares about the success of your station as much as your own staff. And ComQuest Callout makes it easy to produce reliable, accurate callout music and perceptual results, week after week. With the control and flexibility you can only enjoy with in-house callout.

ComQuest is a turnkey hassle-free system we install at your station. Thanks to Interactive Voice Response technology, you'll realize efficiency gains that make ComQuest less costly than manual in-house callout, and less than half as much as out-of-house callout. MARKETING FINGER-CLICKIN'

GOOD!

A WEBSITE SIGHT UNSEEN ... UNTIL NOW!

While surfing the 'Net, a strange thing caught our attention on the Detroit Free Press' "TV & Radio" page. It was a banner ad, but unlike any banner ad we'd seen before. It was for a radio station!

Maybe there have been others, but this banner ad redirecting web surfers to WRIF/Detroit's website was the first we've seen, prompting the question, "Why haven't there been others?"

ad space on our own websites, we've been surprisingly lax at using the medium to advertise ourselves.

WRIF entices viewers to its site with a chance to not only enter its thousand-dollar contest, but also to double their winnings by registering on the page. Smart thinking — not only does it offer something of value, it also offers an incentive to sign up for the station's marketing database.

As you're finalizing your budgets for 2000, it might be worth the added investment to target your Internet-active listeners. Think about it!

INNOVATION STATION

DON'T JUST PLAY IT: STREAM IT, PROMOTE IT, SELL IT!

So your radio station has a website. The site probably has jock bios, your air schedule, online versions of onair promos — maybe even some live feeds. But other than a chance to see the "face behind the voice" or sign up for a weekly or monthly e-mail newsletter, why would a listener want to pay frequent visits to "YourStation.com"? And other than keeping up with the W- or K-Joneses, what's in it for you?

Hosting a website is not cheap — and it's not likely to get any cheaper. Sure, you can probably generate some revenues from ad sales, assuming your sales force gets behind the concept. Certainly your audience increases when listeners can make contact with your station from their desks, or from across the country. Yes, it simplifies some data-gathering activities for you to have a site. But isn't there something more tangible you can do to justify the overhead of maintaining a website?

Here's an idea: Use your site to promote and sell the music you play. You reap incremental income from driving CD sales of the songs that led web surfers to your site to begin with. The record companies sell more product, and consumers bond even more closely with their favorite station. It's a win-win-win!

The retailing opportunity for radio on the web is significant and many-pronged. Your selling options range from do-it-yourself to completely hands-free, with various revenue-generating scenarios to match. For example, you could pursue one of these:

- Affiliate with an online retailer, such as CDNOW or Amazon.com, to pay you a referral fee and/or commission on sales from customers you drive to its site. No muss, no fuss. Also no ongoing benefit to you from turning listeners into buyers.
- Find a retailer in your area with an established website and link to them for fulfillment. This option also has the advantage of giving you offline branding opportunities: You drive traffic to stores, and when listeners get there, they find your branding on counter cards, sales receipts, posters and shopping bag inserts.

• Partner with a local retailer to sell CDs via your site, theirs or a combination of the two. In this scenario you play a greater role in the relationship and should request a greater piece of the pie.

• Buy a lot of CDs, offer them for sale on your site, and ship them out when they're ordered. For a more streamlined approach, let a local distributor handle fulfillment for you.

Besides the e-commerce music giants, online CD sales are also the domain of such players as Spinner and Rolling Stone Radio. These guys have recognized the power of contextual e-commerce. The ability to impulse buy at the point of exposure is incredibly seductive to the ever-growing hordes of online shoppers. You are creating the market for new music — why not capitalize on it? Think of it as revenue that's rightfully yours, and go get it.

Stations are already using their sites to sell their own branded apparel — T-shirts, hats and other "station crap," as KYSR-FM (Star 98.7)/ Los Angeles calls it. But really, how many coffee mugs, baseball caps and sports bottles do listeners really need, compared to their proven musical needs?

If they love you enough to visit you, they're natural on-site shoppers. They trust you to provide them with their music. Why not give them what they want?

And as your online space matures, you will find yourself selling the music you play as Windows Media or Liquid Audio downloads. This promises to be a major revenue stream, and you are uniquely positioned to fully exploit it.

What's next? Lots of exciting opportunities! But you need to start taking advantage of what's out there now while speeding up your learning curve. It's a great time to experiment; the rules have yet to be written. lust do it!

REPORT: ONLINE USAGE NOT

By Ron Radrigues

R&R Editor In Chief

By 2003 Americans will spend just under 10 hours a day consuming various forms of media. That's a half hour more than they spent in 1998 — and the increase can be attributed almost entirely to Internet usage.

But according to the annual Veronis, Suhler & Associates Communications Industry Forecast, online usage will actually stimulate media usage and spur additional spending on books, recorded music, TV and business publishing.

Traditional media companies are quickly looking for alliances with online companies and web portals, and those relationships will pay off generously for radio and TV broadcasters over the next few years. Spending on consumer media will rise from $118 billion in 1998 to $175 billion in 2003 — that's an 8.2% annual growth rate.

Spending in all communications, of which consumer media is only one segment, will rise from $461 billion to $663 billion during the same five-year period. That means that within a few years Americans will be spending more on media than they will on food.

When it comes to the Internet, the growth stats are astounding. Per capita use of the Internet jumped from 28 hours annually in 1997 to 74 hours last year and is forecast to hit 192 hours by 2003 (that's 3 1/2 hours a week for every man, woman and child). Compare that to the average 1,610 hours we'll be watching TV or the 992 hours we'll tune in to the radio on an annual basis in 2003.

Here's how the media will benefit from the tremendous growth of the

- Industries that provide business information online have exploded.
 Production efficiency has also improved dramatically, reducing the excess inventory that has traditionally created a cyclical drag on the economy.
 With this threat of a drag reduced, media spending has been stimulated.
- The Internet has become an important advertising medium in its own right. It accounted for $1.9 billion in 1998 and will reach $8.2 billion in 2003. And as the radio industry knows, the Internet industries spend lots of money on traditional media.
- The Internet has become a potent sales channel. Online book sales will soar from $687 million in 1998 to $2.7 billion in 2003. Similar gains will be seen by the recorded music, computer games and business information segments.
- Traditional media will be increasingly available on the Internet.
 Already newspapers, magazines, radio stations and even TV stations are available by way of the web. Broadband connections will make it even easier for consumers to access these media
- The Internet will become a major timesaver. Americans are spending less time shopping at brick-and-mortar stores, consulting maps, talking on the phone or searching for information. That leaves more time for leisure activities, including traditional media use. Thus, by 2003, average Americans will be spending 43 more hours with traditional media than they did last year.

Show Retailers How You Deliver Their Customers

Deliver the listeners your customer cares about most — those who live, work and commutenear the retailer's store. MapMAKERSM is retail mapping software that illustrates how your station delivers listeners where the retailer has customers.

Use MapMAKER to:

- 1) Pinpoint where your station does best
- 2) Find the retailers in those neighborhoods
- 3) Rank the stations in the retailer's trade area (you already know you do well there!)
- 4) Map how your station delivers listeners where the retailer has customers

MapMAKER has never been better! The first thing you will notice about the new MapMAKER is the way it looks. It's much easier to use! Plus the printed reports are totally redesigned to make you look good with your customer. You can run combos for every report. You can map the residential zip codes of listeners and their workplace zips too. Now retailers can see where their customers live and work and how your station can reach those consumers!

Cluque Set As PD At KCXX/Riverside

All Pro Broadcasting's Alternative KCXX/Riverside-San

Bernardino has appointed Kelli Cluque PD. She replaces Dwight Arnold, who exited Nov. 5. Most recently PD of Active Rock KNCN/Corpus Christi, TX. Cluque starts her new job in mid-December.

"Kelli was the perfect fit for KCXX's needs," states GM Bill McNulty. "She's from this market, so she knows the station, the competition and the potential. I was overwhelmed by her enthusiasm and 'can do' attitude. Her people skills, business perspective, concepts for imaging and programming strategies ideally suit what we need at KCXX. Additionally, she has a strong background in research and has worked with our Asst. PD, John DeSantis, and evening jock, Jack Broady, before.'

In addition to KNCN, Cluque has worked in the programming department at Alternative XHRM/ San Diego.

- Rafael Grullon has relocated from the City of Brotherly Love to assume GM/Market Manager duties for Mega's Boston stations. In his new post he'll oversee WAMG-AM, WBPS-AM & WLLH-AM.
- Former Boston GM Maria Elena Verdugo has been named GM/Market Manager for the company's WBZS-AM, WINX-AM, WKDL-AM, WKDV-AM & WZHF-AM/Washington. She replaces Tony Guernica, who is no longer with the company.

Abrams Appointed KCPX/Salt Lake PD

Keith Abrams has joined Trumper Communications' KCPX-FM/Salt Lake City, which has aired an all-'70s format since late March. He replaces Paul Wilson, who will return to day-to-day duties as full-time PD of AC sister KOSY-FM. Abrams most recently served as PD of KBSG-AM & FM/Seattle-Tacoma.

When asked why he decided to accept the position, Abrams told R&R, "The need for a job and an income was an impetus. Seriously, I like KCPX because of its presentation and the heritage calls, and because I finally get to play the great music I grew up with.'

Abrams' programming background involves traditional Oldies outlets. Before joining KBSG, he served as PD of WWMG-FM/Greensboro. "I'll be able to take the great things I did in the other markets and apply them here," he said.

When asked why a station that's been known to segue from Neil Diamond's "Shiloh" into Aerosmith's "Dream On" has become so successful in Northern Utah, Abrams explained, "The appeal is how they are doing it. A lot of Top 40 AM'ers died in the early '70s, but KCPX was the continuous station of record through the decade. FM penetration didn't kick in until the early '80s, so the shared listening experience lasted longer than in just about every other market. You'd be hard-pressed to find Lobo and Gerry Rafferty testing in another market."

Morley Back As PD At WRMF/West Paim

Three-year WMC-FM/Memphis PD Russ Morley is leaving the Hot

AC to return for a third stint as mainstream AC WRMF/West Palm Beach's PD. He will begin there on Nov. 29 and succeed George Johns, who remains as V P/Programming and consultant.

"There are only two places in the world I'd like to live: San Diego and West Palm Beach." Morley told R&R. "I know all about West Palm, and I'm very excited. I helped launch WRMF in 1980 and came back in 1990. Each time I left, I wondered what I was thinking. I've spent 14 years in the market and have a lot of friends there. It's home and an incredible place to live."

Crosstown AC WEAT-FM and WRMF are two of the market's dominant stations. "That's the way it's been for a while," Morley added. "WEAT-FM had always captured the older end of 25-54, and WRMF was somewhere in the middle. Apparently WEAT-FM is pulling ahead a little bit."

In addition to WMC-FM and his two previous WRMF tours Morley has programmed KIOI/San Francisco. KDMX/Dallas and WSTF/Orlando. He was also a Regional PD for EZ Communications.

is permitted in a market under the new rule, meaning that one group could own one TV station plus seven radio stations.

Up until now many media groups such as CBS operated a TV station and radio stations in a single market under a waiver. Those arrangements were grandfathered into the new broadcast rules.

By merging with Viacom, however, CBS will lose its grandfather status and will have to comply with new ownership guidelines. CBS and Viacom were expected to file the merger application on Tuesday (11/16), the first possible day.

Market Breakdowns

In L.A. Infinity owns eight radio stations - KFWB-AM, KNX-AM. KRLA-AM. KCBS-FM. KLSX-FM, KROQ-FM, KRTH-FM & KTWV-FM — and one TV station. It's the same situation in Chicago, with Infinity owning a TV station and WMAO-AM, WSCR-AM, WBBM-AM & FM, WCKG-FM, WJMK-FM, WUSN-FM & WXRT-FM. But in Dallas, where Infinity also owns one TV and eight radio stations (KHVN-AM, KRLD-AM, KLUV-AM & FM, KOAI-FM, KRBV-FM, KVIL-FM & KYNG-FM). Infinity will have to divest two stations: A combination with Viacom will give the new

Rea, Wagner Named ARTISTdirect VPs

Online record company-artist marketing firm ARTISTdirect has appointed Jeff Rea VP/Marketing and Jeff Wagner VP/Promotions & Special Event Marketing. Both are based at the company's headquarters in Los Angeles.

Rea joins ARTISTdirect from Avanti Corp., where he oversaw public and investor relations and corporate marketing. From March 1997 he was VP/Sales & Marketing at Aramark Corp., and he has held senior-level international marketing and product development posts at Whirlpool and Miller Lite. Wagner was most recently VP/Marketing for the Hard Rock Hotel & Casino and held a similar post for Hard Rock Cafes. He began his ca-company two TV stations in the market, meaning it can hold onto only six radio outlets.

Radio owners salivating over the prospect of major-market spinoffs should be some cautioned: Unlike some FCC ownership rules, ad revenue share does not make a difference here. Infinity will likely sell off the weakest station in a market to comply with the FCC rules. Still, a weaker property in L.A. isn't the worst asset to own.

In the Washington/Baltimore and Sacramento markets the spinoff scenarios are a little more up in the air. CBS and others are waiting to see how the FCC resolves a stilllingering question about the new broadcast rules: How will the commission count markets where TV DMAs cross over but radio markets are separate? In Washington/Baltimore. Infinity owns 11 stations, it said in the SEC filing. It also owns a TV station in Baltimore. Since those TV markets overlap, does that mean Infinity will have to divest four radio outlets to comply? No one knows yet, but there is a chance Infinity will not have to sell any stations in those markets.

The situation is similar in Sacramento, where a couple of Infinity-owned AM stations in the San Francisco market reach into the Sacramento DMA. Does that mean two Sacramento stations out of the seven-group cluster will have to go? We'll have to wait for the FCC to make a decision on the tricky DMA issue before anyone knows the answer.

FCC Using Lottery System

Nearly two months ago the FCC began considering another tricky question: When scores of companies file transfer applications on Nov. 16 to make good on the commission's new radio-TV duopoly rules, how will it determine whose applications get precedence? Last week the FCC decided it would use a random lottery system for applications filed on the same day — much to the chagrin of many broadcasters, particularly CBS, who had suggested alternative methods.

The ruling is important, because the FCC will only grant a certain number of duopolies in a market, depending upon the size of the market and the number of competitors. CBS had argued that the FCC should give precedence to whichever companies announced their deal first. CBS and Viacom were among the first companies to announce a merger after the new duopoly rules were approved.

UPDATE

Barber Now OnRadio Sr. Dir./Syndication Sales

nRadio has tapped Betty Berneman Barber as Sr. Director/Syndication Sales. OnRadio syndicates original entertainment content to the radio industry and the Internet.

Barber was previously VP/Marketing for Metro Source. A 21-year industry veteran, she has developed products and affiliate networks for the Associated Press and Shadow Broadcasting Services.

"Betty's expertise in building affiliate networks gives us a competitive edge as OnRadio continues to lead the industry in the convergence of radio and the Internet," stated President/CEO Ricardo Ramirez. "She is clearly an innovator in content syndication and an outstanding sales leader."

Burgoyne Runs Marathon Western Region As VP

im Burgoyne has been named VP/Western Regional Manager for Marathon Media. In his new post he will oversee approximately 40 of the company's properties in Montana, Idaho, Utah, Oregon and Washington

The GMs of those stations will report directly to Burgoyne, who told R&R, "It's an honor to be recognized for my abilities. Marathon is a great company to work for, and I have the responsibilities needed to meet the company's goals. It's an additional challenge for me and one to grow into."

Prior to Marathon's recent acquisition of 19 Citadel properties in four markets, Burgoyne served as Marathon's Regional Manager. He joined the company in 1998 following the sale of his four Idaho Falls, ID stations to Marathon. Marathon owns 84 stations nationwide.

BusinessTalkradio.Net Taps Tart As Pres./C00

Veteran broadcaster Chet Tart has been named President/COO of Colorado Springs-based business and financial news provider BusinessTalkradio.Net. Tart, who replaces Diane Cridland, was most recently GM for Radio Ink. Prior to that he held GM positions for Fairbanks Communications and Clear Channel Communications in West Palm Beach, spent six years as VP of Blair Radio in New York and owned KMBY/Monterey and KRBB/Wichita.

The network, which was known as BNN and relaunched as BusinessTalkradio.Net earlier this year, provides 24-hour business- and investment-related programming to affiliated stations and will soon stream audio of the company's broadcasts on the Internet via its own website as well as through the Yahoo! Broadcast site,

"There's a lot of work ahead of us at BusinessTalkradio.Net, but I see this as a big opportunity and a big challenge for me," Tart told R&R, "I'm really looking forward to helping the company grow both our roster of radio station affiliations and our Internet presence in the years to come."

Fullam

Regional Operations and continue to oversee AMFM's Detroit and Washington, DC stations.

"John is widely recognized as one of the radio industry's top executives and retains an extraordinary reputation in the New York area." O'Keefe commented. "I am delighted that John has agreed to take on these additional responsibilities and have no doubt AMFM will extend its leadership position in this important market."

Now that the FCC's new broadcast ownership rules are in place, at least one media group wants more changes: The Newspaper Association of America says it's time for Congress and the FCC to allow newspaper-broadcast crossownership. "The broadcast acquisition horses are at the gate, but the FCC will not allow local newspapers to even enter the race." NAA President/CEO John Sturm said. The FCC has said it could consider the proposal during its biennial review.

— Jeremy Shweder

Fullam added, "With such an exceptional team of people, I look forward to focusing on new avenues of growth from the New York market opportunity, as we have established tremendous ratings momentum and financial growth since creating the cluster two years ago. I am also very pleased that Andrew. who possesses tremendous leadership skills and extensive sales experience in New York from his tenure at Z100, will be working with our sales teams throughout the market to best serve our clients in selling their products.

A 23-year industry veteran, Fullam first arrived in New York as WKTU GM in July 1996 for AMFM predecessor Evergreen Media. Before that he served as President of Evergreen's WDFN-AM, WDOZ-AM, WKQ1-FM, WNIC-FM & WWWW-FM/Detroit. He was also GM at WINE-AM & WRK1-FM/Danbury, CT and WSTC-AM & WKHL-FM/Stamford-Norwalk, CT.

In related news, Andrew Rosen has been appointed Sr. VP/Sales for the New York cluster, reporting to Fullam. Rosen had previously been the company's Regional VP/Sales, and between 1997-98 was GSM at WHTZ.

Hop On The Latin Pop Bandwagon!

he Latin pop explosion has been the musical story of the year, and many English-speaking artists are hopping on the bandwagon, according to an Entertainment Weekly piece. Former Spice Girl Geri Halliwell, who's half Spanish, has a hit in England with "Mi Chico Latino," and even Sean "Puffy" Combs has released a Spanish version of his single "P.E. 2000," which garnered mixed reactions, "Sometimes you gotta guestion the motive," says Latino rapper B-Real, whose group Cypress Hill is releasing a Spanish greatest-hits LP. "It's all about the Benjamins, baby."

Christina Aquilera, who's half-Ecuadorean, has also translated her hit "Genie in a Bottle" into "Genio Atrapado," "It's a side that's a part of me," says Aquilera, who was raised in Staten Island, NY, "It kind of makes me mad because I hear a lot of other people who just want to jump on the bandwagon." At Spanish AC KLVE/Los Angeles, PD Pio Ferro (who resigned from the post last week) says reaction to "Genio Atrapado" was not what the station expected: "The younger crowd was like, 'We love it! But can you play it in English."

Of course, the pinnacle of the bandwagon movement is actor/ singer David Hasselhoff's plan for a full-length Spanish album. "He's in the early stage of development," says a source at Hasselhoff's entertainment company, Nohassel Inc., who jokes, "His real name is David Gonzalez

Bragging Rights

"I'm a fan of many other bands But when the music and the politics crash headlong into each other on stage, I'm pretty sure we're the best live band in the world" - Rage Against The Machine guitarist Tom Morello needs to work on his confidence (Alternative Press).

"Once my voice changed, there was no escaping its power" Barry White discusses his omnipotent baritone, which sets the mood for love (People).

Cion's Departure

Canadian songbird Celine Dion graces TV Guide's cover and talks about her husband/manager Rene Angelil's battle with cancer. Dion also discusses her upcoming twovear hiatus from showbiz to be with Angelit: "For everything he has given me, now I can do something for him. I don't only want to be his wife, I want to be good to him, make a difference in his life. Now I know I can:

Cock-A-Doodle-Duritz

Jane magazine hangs around with Counting Crows singer Adam

A LITTLE BIT OF BEGA ... - Si cilian-Ugandan-German swinger Lou Bega has a big hit with "Mambo No. 5." While Bega admits the names roll-called in the song do belong to past lovers, names were also chosen for their phonetic quali-ties: "Names that don't sound good would spoil the song. I met these girls in Italy and Germany mostly -Monica, Angela, Tina ... I'm lucky they're international names. Because if you have bad luck over there in Germany you can also meet girls like Edeltraut or Hildegard."

Duritz at his posh Beverly Hills home. "Some girlfriends call it Cocktown, because there's always all these guys here," Duritz says of his place, where friends often crash for extended periods. Despite the home's moniker, Duritz doesn't play the role of a womanizing rock star. "Nowadays there are things that bug me in my life, but not getting laid isn't one of them. I figure I've been laid, I'll get laid. I'm not burnt out on girls, don't get me wrong. But it's all

Meeks' Magical Mushroom Tour

"I want to live in Mario World, on the level where he's jumping from mushroom to mushroom, and the sky is a different color. I'd like to have a little switch where I could change the color of the sky anytime I wanted. Things are different in the game. It's weird, but stimulating, and this world is so unstimulating" -Days Of The New's happy-go-lucky Travis Meeks may have experienced one mushroom too many (Alternative Press).

"My journey as a musician is complex. I felt like I was an orphan for a long time. I felt like I was in adopted houses and wasn't in the right place prior to Bush" frontman Gavin Rossdale finally found a family to love him (Alternative Press).

Man! I Feel Like A Cow

Although country superstar Shania Twain is currently hawking Revlon cosmetics on TV, her real beauty secret is closer to the farm than the fashion runway: She rubs her face and hair with a grease used to protect cows' udders from milkers' cold hands (National Enquirer).

Hey, What's Your E-ddress?

A directory of e-mail addresses for News/Talk professionals n today's busy broadcasting world, those who have embraced e-mail as a major communications medium have learned that, when used correctly, it can be both a timesaver and an extremely effective way to stay in touch, whether you're on the road, in the office or at home.

For most, e-mail has become an indispensable way to stay in touch both in the office and on the road, but it can also be unwelcome and annoying to recipients of junk mail (a.k.a. "spam") and other unwanted solicitations. A sign that this is a growing problem: Several individuals contacted for this column asked that we not publish their e-mail addresses, fearing just such mailings. That's something well worth remembering when using e-mail to contact anyone.

To help you find other News/Talk professionals in cyberspace, this week we present our first annual "E-ddress Directory." While not everyone in News/Talk radio is listed below, you're sure to find a broad cross-section of names from radio, networks, program suppliers and more. If your e-mail address is not listed this time, or if it needs updating, please be sure to let me know via e-mail at alpeterson@rronline.com.

Mind Your Manners On The 'Net

In the world of cyberspace, if you want your e-mails, discussion group/message board postings and chat contributions to be welcomed by those who read them, certain courtesies and forms of etiquette are necessary - just as in the real world.

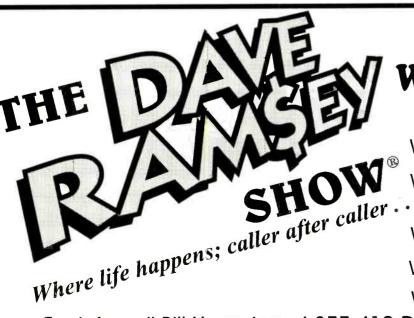

In her book Netiquette (Albion Books), author Virginia Shea defines the word as "network etiquette": a set of rules for behaving appropriately online. Shea believes there is something about being in cyberspace that tends to make people forget they are interactith real human beings, not just characters on a screen. As a result, many people commit "cybermistakes" that can range from minor personal insults to career-threatening blunders.

To help cyberspace "newbies" - as well as those who may have more online experience but could use a refresher course in man-- Shea's book offers 10 core rules for "cybertravelers."

- · Remember the human. Express yourself freely, but remember there are real people out there. Before you write it, ask yourself, "Would I say it to the person's face?" Always remember your words are likely stored somewhere where you have no control over them. There's a good chance your words will come back to haunt
- . Adhere to the same standards of behavior online as you'd follow in real life. While standards of behavior may be different in some areas of cyberspace, they are not lower than in real life. Be ethical.
- · Know where you are in cyberspace. What's perfectly acceptable in one area may be dreadfully rude in another. Shea suggests you "lurk before you leap" when visiting a chat area to find out how people who are already there act.

 • Respect others' time. When you send e-mail or post to a dis- cussion group, you're taking up people's time. It's your responsibility to ensure the time they spend reading your message isn't wasted.
- Make yourself look good online. Online you are judged by the quality of your writing, so spelling and grammar do count. Be brief, clear and logical, as well as pleasant and polite.
- Share expert knowledge. The Internet was invented because scientists wanted to share information. So don't be afraid to share what you know to be true and accurate information. Conversely, avoid passing on information you cannot be certain is true.
- Help keep flame wars under control. "Flaming" the act of expressing a strongly held opinion without holding back any emo-- is a long-standing 'Net tradition. Netiquette forbids the perpetuation of flame wars that can dominate the tone and destroy the camaraderie of a discussion group.
- Respect others' privacy. You wouldn't go through a colleague's desk drawers, so naturally you shouldn't read their e-mail either. Failing to respect others' privacy is just bad netiquette.
- . Don't abuse your power. There are experts and system administrators in every office. Knowing more than others does not give you the right to take advantage of them. For example, systems administrators should never read private e-mail.
- · Be forgiving of others' mistakes. When someone makes a mistake - whether it's a spelling error, flame or an unnecessarily long answer --- be kind about it. Having good manners does not allow you to correct everyone else. Violations of netiquette are in themselves examples of poor netiquette.

Romano and Taddeo report to Clear Channel Sr. VP/Programming Tom Owens, who commented, "Gene has done an outstanding job enhancing the performance of Clear Channel's Rock-related products, and I know he will similarly contribute across traditional format boundaries."

Romano added, "This is a great time to be in programming at Clear Channel. Tom Owens and Randy Michaels are programming visionaries. They created the blueprint that leverages 'big-company' advantages in production, content and programming quality with local execution. Clear Channel radio is loaded with programming talent at every level. My role will be to help the local PDs take full advantage of everything Clear Channel Radio has to offer."

Concerning Taddeo's appointment, Owens said, "Jack not only brings an impressive Adult Contemporary expertise to the position, but his highvolume management skills are welldeveloped from his having served first for SFX and then Capstar. As a result, Jack has significant insights into the operations of Capstar and AMFM, which will contribute in the months ahead. Further, as Capstar was the parent company of Prophet Systems, Jack has a unique perspective on the applications of our company's primary digital platform."

Taddeo told R&R, "For me, professionally, it was really nice to get that call and very flattering for me to be in this new role. I've competed against Randy and Tom for a long time, and working with them is going to be a lot more fun than working against them. They've assembled a powerhouse of radio programmers here at Clear Channel, and I'm thrilled to be a part of it. Right now the job is 100% dedicated to Clear Channel stations, and we'll see what happens when the AMFM stations become included. Anyway, I wanted to get here before the AMFM folks so I could get my pick of offices."

Romano has held a variety of radio positions, including stints as National Director/Programming for Jacor and as OM of WDVE/Pittsburgh. Taddeo operated his own AC consultancy for eight years before joining SFX. He has also been PD of Viacom's WLAK-FM (now WLIT)/ Chicago and continues to serve as owner of WKTT-FM/Sheboygan, WI.

Arbitran

compares to 43.1% achieved in the winters of 1996 and '97. This spring's 37.6% response rate is six percentage points behind the high-water mark of 43.5% in spring 1994. And in summer, which tracks low anyway, response rates plummeted to 35.9% (the recent high was 40.8% in 1995).

Another interesting dimension of response rates: The biggest problems are not with college-age men or ethnic listeners, as one might expect. Men 18-24 are now represented better than ever. The "proportionality index" that Arbitron assigns to the demographic cells was 95 for 18-24 men last summer, compared to a dismal 79 five years earlier. The same goes for black and Hispanic listeners, who are fully represented from a diary proportion standpoint.

You can credit the response rate boost to a variety of Arbitron initiatives, most notably higher premiums (as much as $5 if the diarykeeper is a young ethnic male), the so-called "mailer box" — a brightly colored container designed for large households - and as many as three followup calls while the survey is in progress.

This year's problem cells are older men in the 25-34 and 35-44 cells, both of which index only in the high 80s. Arbitron is concerned that as the men in these cells get older, the upper demo cells will eventually become infected with lowered response rates as well. The only female demo that indexes below 90 is the 65+ cell.

Arbitron is giving top priority to the response rate dilemma. It is considering a variety of new initiatives, including the targeting of women for the diary placement interview. Arbitron figures women are 4%-5% more likely to consent to their household taking the survey.

It's possible that in a few years the diary may go the way of the reel-toreel machine. Arbitron is in high gear with development of the so-called

"people meter," which will electronically track a consumer's media habits. Right now some 300 users in Manchester, England have the pagersized meter clipped to their belts, purse straps or other apparel in a live test of their radio and TV usage.

In a test conducted in Manchester last year, Arbitron determined that users usually carried the meter as promised. If they didn't, a green light on the meter, which normally glowed steadily, began flashing if it detected no movement after 20 minutes. If it detected no movement for an additional 10 minutes, the light would go off. The scheme is intended to encourage listeners to continue wearing the device - even the act of breathing would set off its motion sensor.

In England Arbitron developed an incentive system whereby those who wore the meter more were paid more. The only time of the day Arbitron encouraged listeners to separate themselves from the meter was at bedtime, when the listener was to place it in a docking station for recharging and data collection. All of the docking stations in a household would then send the day's listening information to a central unit in the house, which in turn delivered the data to Arbitron via modem. The meter still functioned even if it was docked, thus any bedtime radio listening (such as in the morning when the alarm goes off) would be captured.

In the Manchester test Arbitron recruited a cadre of radio, TV and cable TV outlets to encode their signals. As best as they can tell, the people meter is capable of hearing encoded material no matter what medium it's transmitted over, including the Internet. Its encoding device, which will cost stations about $5,000, is capable of placing a unique code on a program's different transmission paths. Thus a station will be able to figure out what proportion of users listened via analog signal, via digital and via the web.

Most broadcasters have condemned this idea. "The relaxation of the second- and third-adjacent channel spacing requirements will result in new interference to certain existing stations, which will prevent these stations from reaching certain areas they now serve," said Infinity Broadcasting in its reply comments, also filed Monday.

"Compromising current secondor third-adjacent channel protection," said Greater Media in its comments, "will result in massive and destructive interference in the FM band, impacting tens of millions of radio listeners.'

DAB vs. LPFM

Keeping existing interference protections is vital for determining whether IBOC DAB will work, asserted National Public Radio in its reply comments. Both the pubcaster and Clear Channel Communications argued that elimination of second- and third-adjacent protection will slow the industry's transition to digital.

"The loudest voices touting IBOC as a potential barrier to LPFM are not, in fact, the IBOC broadcasters themselves, but the incumbent broadcasters who fear competition from low-power radio stations," replied Leanza.

However, IBOC developers USA Digital Radio and Lucent Digital Radio have expressed concerns about the difficulty of implementing the technology if second- and third-adjacent channel protection is erased. In comments filed Monday, USADR urged the FCC not to change the interference environment until it has completed the record on DAB. Comments are due in the latter proceeding in January and February.

ABC suggested in its comments that the FCC conduct "a real-world test" of the effects of a low-power signal on a full-power station before the agency proceeds with implementing the new service.

Clear Channel added that the commission's processes would be interrupted by the new service, as the agency creates new LPFM forms and filing procedures and allocates staff to answer questions from low-power applicants.

The FCC has not established a timetable for when it will act on the proposal.

Forecast

seems to make a difference," said VS&A's Fram L'Esperance, Managing Director in Charge of the Broadcast, Cable & Entertainment Group.

Still, radio has held its ground in terms of listeners far better than any other medium, other than cable. While radio listening numbers have stayed basically flat since 1986, newspaper circulation dropped 9%, and television audience levels fell nearly 16%.

Ad Spending Way Up In 1998

The VS&A report emphasizes what many radio people already know: Radio is reeling in more advertising than ever. In 1998 a total of $15.1 billion was spent by advertisers on radio, up nearly 12% from 1997. That was the largest expansion in radio advertising since 1984. Over the last five years radio had an astounding 10% compound annual rate, which includes just over 11% for national spot advertising and just under 10% for local ads.

The continuing maturity of consolidation in the industry is what's driving the ad revenues. The major markets are almost fully consolidated, while the middle and small markets are starting to catch up. National spot advertising has led the charge for radio, increasing by 15% over the past two years. Local spot advertising is not too far behind, rising 10% over that time.

While consolidation is still building out, the forecast is that the boom in ad spending will slow. While VS&A predicts growth rates of 12% and nearly 14% for the next two years, the figures should dip to single digits in 2001 and beyond. By 2003 VS&A predicts ad spending at radio stations will hit $23 billion, growing at a 9.7% annual compound rate, nearly the same as the five-year period between 1993-1998.

'Total radio ad spending will continue very strongly next year. and after that the growth rate falls back down a little bit," L'Esperance said. "But that's not unusual coming off a big political year, like 2000 is expected to be."

While Arbitron staunchly defends diary measurement, it recognizes that the people meter has innumerable advantages over the paper diary. The meter, noted Arbitron's Jay Guyther, is not subject to top-ofmind bias; it has the potential for providing minute-by-minute user habits; it can track a user's media consumption across a variety of media; and because the meterwearer can potentially wear the device indefinitely, it can offer multiweek "longitudinal studies" that are impossible with the current oneweek diary.

Arbitron said it plans to test the meter in a yet-to-be identified American city late next year. It offers no timetable for official introduction after the testing, but it does hope to use the meter in at least the top 100 markets. It's biggest job between now and then: convincing broadcasters to pony up the extra money this project will cost.

Clive-Watching Coast-To-Coast

oth the L.A. Times and the N.Y. Post speculated in their Tuesday (11/16) editions that Arista founder/Pres. Clive Davis may be leaving the company. What makes the story even more intriguing is that the published accounts are focused on different backgrounds and scenarios. The East Coast version has BMG's Strauss Zelnick telling Davis he's got "to boost his bottom line ... or else." However, the Post suggests that may be a smokescreen, since an exec interviewed for the story says, "Strauss can't say Clive is too old, he certainly can't say he doesn't know what he's doing, but what he can say is, 'His numbers are off." If the numbers don't improve, Davis would lose hands-on control of the label to BMG. Board the mental Concorde for La-La Land. where the Times' report cites sources who reportedly saw Davis walk out of a meeting two weeks ago after Zelnick raised the prospect of promoting LaFace chief L.A. Reid to Arista President. Those sources also say that Davis, whose contract expires next June, is unwilling to accept reduced power or pay. Substance or smokescreen? Only time will tell, because you can bet the principles won't.

Stations Gone Courtin'

Did former KENZ/Salt Lake City morning co-host Marcus engage in inappropriate sexual activities while intoxicated on a station cruise? Marcus (real name: Mark McCaleb) has filed a lawsuit against the station claiming that his former partner, Jimmy Chunga, and another station staffer conspired to maliciously spread those rumors, which ultimately led to his dismissal. According to the Deseret News, McCaleb maintains the accusations were completely false and unfounded.

An appeals court ruled last week that Don Imus was "crude and tasteless." But as long as the court's barrage of adjectives didn't include "libelous," Imus is in the clear. The New York State supreme court's appellate division upheld a lower court's ruling that dismissed a $10 million lawsuit against Imus over comments he made on his Westwood One morning show. Chrysler Corp. legal assistant Marilyn Hobbs had called Imus' publisher to point out that Imus had written "jeep" instead of the company's trademarked "Jeep" in his book. That bit of nitpicking incited the wrath of the I-Man, who told Hobbs she should "stop wasting the Chrysler Corporation's time and stop annoying me." The court said that in the context of Imus' "shock jock" radio show, no reasonable listener would have taken the comments as fact.

While we're on the "I-way," kudos to WWBB/Providence, which raised a ton of money for a local charity by selling tickets at $15 a pop for Imus' remote broadcast last week. The station sold out the event — 1,100 tickets in all — in just 40 minutes, and lines were already forming outside the broadcast site at 3am! (If you listen carefully enough, you can hear the next wave of NTR gurus rushing to print tickets for their stations' studio observation windows as you read this.)

From The Files Of Police Squad

Last week brought double trouble for Dr. Michael Lynn. On Thursday he was let go as part of WJJJ/Pittsburgh's morning show. And then the next day, the Post-Gazette reports, he was arrested. An off-duty police detective working at an apartment building saw Lynn (real name: Michael Kraisman) with "several small white objects" in his possession. After refusing to show the cop what he was carrying, Kraisman allegedly began punching the man before swallowing whatever he was carrying. He was charged with aggravated assault, resisting arrest and tampering with evidence. The paper reported he was being held in jail on $3,000 bond. ST's calls to his residence were not answered.

Misdemeanor obscenity charges were filed last week against KZGL/Flagstaff, AZ personality Rowdy Walker and a porn film star over a broadcast that got out of hand in August. During a remote from the grand opening of an adult video store, Walker turned the microphone over to actress Mila Shegol, who offered to perform sex acts for anybody who came by the store. The Arizona Republic called her on-air stint "two minutes of the bluest audio in the annals of radio." Walker was charged with facilitation because it was his live mike. "We feel bad about what happened," a station spokesman told ST. "but we don't feel we were at fault." Walker left KZGL a few weeks ago for a station in California, we're told, though his show is still heard on KZGL.

While we're on the topic of mouths that roared ... have you been wondering what would become of Doug Tracht after his abrupt exit from WARW/DC earlier this year? Well, the artist formerly known as Greaseman is going to try his luck as "Dr. Chip Bandwidth, a dating expert, computer genius and hideous pervert" in his new role on a TV show called Matchmaker.com. He's been hired for the show's 13-week test run, which will begin airing on cable channel WGN in January.

WRMN-AM & WJKL-FM/Elgin, IL AE Jonathon Pace is regretting a few words he said during his appearance on a shopping program. His remark that a couple of listeners were trying to "Jew" him down prompted a complaint letter to the FCC and an on-air apology from the stations' president/GM. In addition to apologizing profusely himself, Pace has decided to end his on-air career and stick to sales.

At The Dawn Of A New Millennium New Talent Shines Through

A one-stop guide to the hottest music of 1999 and 2000

It's a fitting coincidence that as the 1900s rapidly come to a close R&R christens its inaugural New Music Guide. After all, it was during the 20th century that, like nearly all major entertainment media sectors — film, TV, radio and publishing — the record business came of age.

The record industry, however, was a late bloomer compared to the others. It wasn't until the mid-1960s that the "album" emerged as the configuration of choice among consumers and changed the way the industry conducted business. Album sales skyrocketed from 388 million copies in 1973 (the first year the RIAA began reporting unit and dollar shipments) to just over one billion units last year. To paraphrase an advertising slogan from the '70s, we've come a long way, baby.

However, with the new millennium right around the corner, the music business faces the most challenging era of its brief commercial history thanks to the explosion of the Internet. A new study by the Washington-based research firm the Strategis Group says that the number of adults using the 'Net has surpassed the 100 million mark. Another technology research company, International Data Corp., estimates that the worldwide universe of web surfers will grow to 502 million within three years.

The Internet boom certainly has content providers salivating at the commercial possibilities. Yet the same companies are working overtime to ensure that their product isn't being pirated. Arquably, due to the nature of the product, the record industry

- and the original content provider, the artist has the most to lose, because once unli-
- censed music hits the web, it's virtually impossible to stop illegal copying.

While technological changes will continue to grab headlines and impact the way music is marketed, promoted and distributed, one thing remains constant: Great songs and artists still need to be discovered. In fact, that's the overriding theme of R&R's first New Music Guide.

The point is clearly driven home in a roundtable discussion featuring Columbia Records Group Exec. VP-Columbia Records Sr. VP/GM Will Botwin, Lava President Jason Flom and Clean Slate Records President, artist manager and producer Andy Slater. While these three pros talk about the outlook for new music and different artist development strategies, they realize that hit songs and artists make records fly off the shelves at retail.

We also talk with music industry veteran and Universal Records Chairman Mel Lewinter to get his ideas on what it takes to succeed in today's Several artists — veteran multiplatinum R&B star Mary J. Blige; Sully Erna, the driving force behind platinum-plus hard rock band Godsmack; guitarist/ vocalist Michael Britt of the platinum-bound country act Lonestar; and teen pop sensation Mandy Moore — discuss what it's like balancing the demands of the business and their art.

R&R has also assembled a format-by-format look at the year's Breakthrough Artists as ranked by airplay from the issues dated Jan. 8-Oct. 29 of this year. From Britney Spears and Lit to SheDaisy and Buckcherry — to name a few — 1999 was a blockbuster year for new artists, and, as evidenced by each format breakout, radio supported them.

Lastly, each format editor has put together an excellent survey of what to expect in the months ahead in their respective columns.

Welcome to the New Music Guide. And here's to many, many more!

R&R's Record Industry Round Table

■ Will Botwin, Jason Flom and Andy Slater discuss the state of the music business and what it takes to break acts

here's a classic scene in the Kevin Costner movie Bull Durham where a veteran minor league baseball manager, exasperated by the team's losing streak, admonishes his players about how simple the game really is: "You throw the ball. You hit the ball. You catch the ball. You got it?"

True, that's vastly oversimplified. Yet, as Columbia Records Group Exec. VP-Columbia Records Sr. VP/GM Will Botwin, Lava President Jason Flom and Clean Slate Records President, artist manager and producer Andy Slater point out in R&R's inaugural Music Industry Round Table, it's the simple things that often get forgotten in the radio-records promo shuffle, the Internet frenzy, imaging and press campaigns, etc. These three execs continually drive home the following point: If an artist can create music and lyrics to which audiences can relate, and if said artist can deliver the material in a compelling way, consumers will buy into it (and, more importantly, buy records).

The track records of these execs validate their artist-development philosophies. Flom has hit grand slams with such acts as Kid Rock, Matchbox 20, Sugar Ray and Tori Amos. Botwin, a former manager who represented Lyle Lovett, Los Lobos, Steve Earle and Lisa Loeb, has helped guide Columbia on its recent winning streak. And Slater has worked wonders with such artists as The Wallflowers, Fiona Apple and Macy Gray. Here's what they had to say.

R&R: Over the past few years we've seen the emergence of mainstream pop, rap rock and Latin-flavored pop. Do you guys see any new styles of music ready to surface from the street?

JF (jokingly): I don't know, but I wish somebody at Columbia would have called me about this Latin thing, so I could have gotten in on it.

WB: One thing I'm seeing is that rock has come back around. People are yearning for it. There are some great rock acts releasing records right now. I believe it's the most productive time in quite some time in terms of significant rock artists developing and establishing their careers.

R&R: Is rock leaning any particular way? WB: Well, Jason has had a lot of success with Kid Rock, but then there's Eminem, The Red Hot Chili Peppers and those kinds of bands that are very popular. There continues to be great interest in hip-hop crossing over to alternative rock. That's not necessarily a new thing coming from the streets. It's been out there for at least 18 months, but its popularity hasn't shown any signs of diminishing.

Jason Flom

R&R: You don't see anything new ready to move into the mainstream?

WB: You'll probably see the rise of some of the harder-driving electronica rock acts, like Lo Fidelity Allstars. Again, that's not really new, but they seem to be in the march again.

JF: One thing I've noticed is that there are definitely a lot of stars at the top of the charts. It may not be that dramatically different from previous times — I'd have to take a closer look at it — but it looks very stardriven right now, whether it's the youth movement, with Britney Spears, The Backstreet Boys and Christina Aguilera on the pop side, or Kid Rock or Limp Bizkit on the rock side. Kids want to own posters and other stuff of those people.

AS: In terms of trends, rock music has always been about rebellion. If you look at the top of the mainstream Rock and Alternative radio charts, you'll see it's still the same; it just takes on a different form. On one level the message from Kid Rock or Limp Bizkit is not that much different from what it has been for the last 30 years. It's about, in some sense, teen angst. How that's communicated in the context of the music and the choice of words changes, but the spirit of it is still about expressing one's individuality and about not conforming. Limp Bizkit's video is about "The Man" keeping us down. We all have that in our lives, meaning we have something we want to overcome.

JF: It's funny, but every song that's ever broken a rock band addresses one of two things: rebellion or sex. The only exceptions I can think of were the art rock bands in the '70s like Yes

R&R: Let's talk about the Internet. Internet radio is here. Satellite radio is on the verge of becoming a reality. The power portals like Yahoo! and Excite and the service providers like AOL are becoming multimedia channels. Everything is fragmenting into smaller and smaller audiences. Is that going to help or hinder labels and artists when it comes to reaching fans?

WB: From a marketing perspective, it will help you reach the first audience that will embrace an artist and give you something to build upon. I suppose if there's narrowcasting on the Internet, that will further allow us to find those fan bases. And people will be able to find things that are more specifically catered to their tastes and entertainment needs.

JF: And it's logical that we will be able to find those consumers more efficiently. With e-mail addresses you can target people you know have bought a particular style of music or a particular band. You can get stuff like tour dates to those fans.

None of those are big secrets. But it's funny: As long as there have been records — way before the Internet — bands have broken. Before there were radio formats, records broke. The one thing that has been constant is word of mouth. People always want to find good music. The Internet is just another way for us to get music to those people.

It's also kind of interesting that we have all of these new marketing tools available, but people will probably buy the same amount of records.

WB: I think the market will expand; it's just not clear how yet. R&R: Andy, what do you think?

AS: I'm pretty much in agreement in terms of the approach of the beginning phase for a band using the Internet. I'm more interested in the other side, in finding a band that's promoting its music on the 'Net.

AS: Yeah.

R&R: So new acts have a new medium to expose their music. It's still an exercise in finding a needle in a haystack, but at least there are substantially more needles, even if the haystack has grown considerably. Do you agree?

WB: Yes, it will help expose more artists, but at the same time we'd be pretty hard pressed to name two bands that came from MP3, which has been receiving all the hype.

AS: But it's inevitable that somebody who's doing something interesting is going to wind up on one of the majors.

WB: I think so.

R&R: Let's look at artist development from a broader perspective. Racio continues to consolidate, as does retail. At the same time, however, there is an incredible expansion of the wired world. Is the overall business environment conducive to breaking new acts?

JF: It still comes down to the act and the music. All the other stuff is important, but ultimately, if you have a great record, a great band and a good record company, you can break the record. That's sounds oversimplified, but it's true.

WB: A lot of it boils down to our commitment to that artist and the hard work of the artist and the record company in partnership. As Jason said, a great record and an act with a great personality will break through.

AS: It goes back to the first things we were talking about. If people are emotionally moved by somebody's song and you have a compelling performer and you take the steps to have repeated impressions — because it's all about repeated impressions; repeated impressions on radio, TV, print — that will drive the song home to a kid. It will make that kid want to buy the record and believe in the act and want to buy the T-shirt and be a member of that club.

JF: One interesting aspect is that with consolidation there are now a lot fewer mavericks at radio. It's driven by the numbers and statistics as opposed to the gut feel of a programmer in a small town. That impacts records that sound different from stuff that is mainstream, which gives us a smaller window to drive innovative stuff through, because we have fewer places to go.

There might be people who want to play a different-sounding record, but they'll say they can't because they have to wait until it has been approved by someone else. That makes it more difficult, because many times in my career I've been a part of or have watched records break from one city. The record was already out and wasn't doing much, and then one programmer heard a song, thought it was great, played it, and sales took off. When that happens, it gives you a chance to build the act one station at a time. I'm concerned that those kinds of stories are going to become less frequent.

R&R: Could that contribute to the box-office mentality that people say is beginning to creep into the industry, where you need big openingweek numbers — whether it's at radio or retail — to get a shot?

WB: There's a danger to that kind of thinking. A lot of artists can't be started with a high volume and break out the first week at retail. We have a couple of artists who are or have been No. 1 or No. 2 on Billboard's Heatseekers chart and are having their biggest weeks ever, but the records have been out over a year.

JF (jokingly): All right, Will, stop promoting.

WB (jokingly): I have to get some names in here, but I think you get the point. System Of A Down developed for a long time without radio. They're about the road, micromarketing and the diligence that goes into grass-roots and street-level marketing. R&R: The Wallflowers also took a long time to break on their last album.

AS: Both Fiona and The Wallflowers. With Fiona, we knew the song "Criminal" was a great song for her, and that "One Headlight" was a great song for Jake and probably the best shot we had at reaching a really big audience. But we chose not to start there, because if we did, and were lucky enough to get radio, we wouldn't have had enough time to build a foundation of credibility from the standpoint of the press or a live audience like the band Will was talking about.

Records have to resonate for a while before you want the spotlight to shine so brightly on the act, because they may not be ready for it, or they may need to develop the first act in their own personal play before you get to act two or act three. Both Fiona and The Wallflowers started the right way — a lot of touring, picking the right format to start at radio and building from there.

WB: But at the same time, when you get the airplay with those kinds of artists after you've built that base, you'll sell more records.

JF: When an act builds slowly, you also have the opportunity to build research stories, which is really important in this day and age. You can still maintain forward momentum on the airplay charts, because you can spread the stories from stations that came in early and are getting good callout. That builds familiarity in the marketplace, which will help you with stations in the same market that might not be playing the record yet.

WB: What Jason says is true. Because of all of the mysterious research stations do and the callout and the record having to meet a certain number of requests, if you have more people out there who are aware of your artist before they're put in the hot seat at radio, you have a real advantage.

AS: That plays right into what's happening with Macy Gray. Every programmer knows pretty much who she is based on the last four months of her TV appearances and magazine articles. She now has a record that has scanned over 100,000 copies before anybody at mainstream radio has been asked to address one of her songs.

JF (jokingly): Well, as long as we're dropping names, I might as well mention Beth Hart, because she's now developing tremendous stories at Hot AC. We have No.1 phones in Boston and Los Angeles and a bunch of major markets, we just had a huge David Letterman performance, VH1 just came in, and now we're going to Pop radio.

R&R: We're talking about incredibly talented artists — The Wallflowers, Fiona, Beth, etc. But I was talking with the owner of an indie label that's affiliated with a major, and he's having a difficult time getting a third single from one of his bands played. The first one did OK at radio, but the second didn't do nearly as well, and the album hasn't sold that well either. In years past wouldn't the major labels have released a third single? In today's climate it seems much more difficult to do that.

JF: Everything is on a case-by-case basis. WB: Every track is going to be difficult.

There are no more givens. Even with artists who have sold millions of records, a second single can be difficult. You need the song.

AS: It's also based on where you are in terms of your internal cycle with the artist, where you are with your press campaign and touring profile. Maybe the first track takes six months to get up and running before people notice your act. Then you have a second big track, and then a third one. The important thing is that you haven't overdone it by track two by overexposing the artist and playing every imaginable TV show. We broke Fiona on her third track. "Criminal."

R&R: It sounds like you guys are big fans of setup tracks and waiting for the second or third track before really going for it.

AS (jokingly): I don't work as many records as these guys, but yeah.

JF: With everything as competitive as it is now, there's definitely a school of thought that says you should go with your best single first. But at the same time a couple of success stories I've been involved with recently, Matchbox 20 and Kid Rock, had their breakthroughs on the second single. The first single established the act at certain formats and was perceived as a successful single even though it didn't drive it to the sales level that the later singles did. In both cases, fortunately, it records tend to get judged more harshly in today's environment than in years past?

JF: We just talked about Limp Bizkit. They're not having any problems. I don't think The Backstreet Boys are having any problems either.

WB: Jason, you didn't have any problems with Sugar Ray.

JF: Sugar Ray and Smash Mouth are two groups everybody was betting against. It's the same old story: An artist has his or her whole life to write the first record and a lot less time to write the second. Ultimately, it comes down to the artist and label working together to make sure they have material they believe in.

If you do, and you set it up correctly, you will break a band. And, as Andy said, you have to be careful you don't leave a bad taste in everyone's mouth by overexposing the band on the first single or by servicing more singles to radio than you should, which is something I look closely at. If there are three good singles on the record, put out three singles. Don't work a fourth or fifth track and leave everybody at the end of a project thinking those songs were a failure. If you run out of great songs, the artist has to go make a new record. That may sound harsh in print, but ...

R&R: I believe many execs would agree. With all of the multiple avenues through which fans can get music — some that are nearly out of the record company's or manager's control — you have to be concerned about overexposure.

do a good job of promoting and marketing them. Sometimes it works.

R&R: So you'll fight for that third record even though the first two might not have achieved the commercial results you anticipated?

WB: If you really believe in them, that's your job.

JF: I've worked with at least two artists who didn't have huge success on their first records — Tori Amos and Sugar Ray. Beth Hart may be the next. Those two had major breakthroughs on their second records, and Beth is poised to have that as well.

But it's true what Will is saying. If you really believe in something, you have to stick with it. We don't sign artists every day. The record companies that are at the top of their game have shown a willingness to stick with their artists.

R&R: We're talking substantial sums of money to launch a new artist these days. That wasn't the case decades ago. And if you stick with them, that's an enormous investment. Going forward, do you think the majors will have to sign fewer acts and then stick with them because of the economics of the business?

WB: I don't know about the economics of it all, but as Jason said earlier, it's competitive for us every single day. When you're signing artists, you have to take that into consideration. It's a serious responsibility and obligation.

R&R: Will, has Columbia signed fewer or more acts this year?

WB: It's probably the about the same as last year. It's not a noticeable change.

JF: I don't plan on signing a certain type of act, nor do I plan on signing a certain number of acts. I simply hope to find great acts. If I do, I sign them. Obviously, there's a limit to how many you can sign, because one of the keys to success is working with our projects on a personal level. You have to be able to spend the time and work on it, call the booking agent and network it within the industry. If you spread yourself too thin, you can't do that. There's a limit to how many you can sign, but you don't set guotas.

WB: I absolutely agree. Instead of a certain type of artist or a certain number of artists, you sign ones who really motivate you and who you feel great about.

R&R: Andy, what's your take on it? Are the majors signing too many new acts? And are they taking enough time to develop the ones they've already signed?

WB (jokingly): Be nice.

AS: Look, I've been very fortunate. My partners and the respective labels have believed in all the artists whose albums I've produced or signed on as a manager. They have been willing to invest the money and do the work to help break those acts. On one side I see artists who I think are very compelling, but I can't sign them because, as Jason said, it takes a tremendous amount of focus to break an act, and I may not have the time. The Wallflowers, Fiona and Macy are all acts who I signed but who didn't have first records out.

So I don't really know if they're signing too many. I know the things I've signed and worked on with either Sony or Interscope have received a tremendous amount of attention. I feel very fortunate that somebody else agreed that those artists made great records and was willing to spend the money.

"It's funny, but every song that's ever broken a rock band addresses one of two things: rebellion or sex. The only exceptions I can think of were the art rock bands in the '70s, like Yes."

worked perfectly.

You bring up an interesting point, however, in that there is something to building a base. But there are very few acts that are as talented as those bands, that have the depth that allows you to go with a single that might not be the No. 1 choice on the album yet is still good enough to be competitive.

AS: When you put out your first track, there are several other things that are involved. There's your imaging of the artist and what the artist is saying in the song. It's not just about the song being the most accessible or the deepest song on the album, rather it's a question of is it the best first impression of the artist?

If you have a pop record and pop act, then maybe I guess you determine your singles by what you think is going to reach the widest audience the fastest. The artists and records I've been involved with — and it's not as many as these guys — really center on deeper concerns in terms of what the artist has to say.

JF (jokingly): Will, do you get a sense that he's rubbing this in a little bit?

WB (jokingly): I'm starting to feel a little sorry for myself and some of my artists right now.

AS (jokingly): C'mon, Will, you told the same story before you put on the suit.

R&R: What about follow-up records? Andy, you're going through it with Fiona, and, Jason, you'll go through it with Matchbox 20 next year. Am I wrong in the perception that sophomore JF: With Matchbox 20, we could have put out a couple more singles, but we stopped at a certain point because we wanted to save something for the next record. There are other records that you may want to leave after two singles even if you're platinum because you want to leave with a top five track or whatever, and you don't feel as confident about the next single. If the artist and management are in agreement, I think it's better to leave something on the table.

R&R: You guys are talking like the record men of yesteryear. The message is loud and clear that you need two or three albums and a couple of singles on each project before you can judge whether an artist or band has a future. So any complaints that the industry has become one big conveyor belt are sour grapes from acts whose music doesn't sell?

WB: You want artists who are of substance and quality and who can deliver great songs and albums over a period of time. That's the ultimate goal for every A&R-related person. That's the real pride of artist development, when you find that artist, because you know they are consistently going to deliver and allow you to work on some fun projects.

R&R: But, Will, will Columbia's artists get their third record released?

WB: Talk to me in a couple of years.

JF: Ultimately, we all want to sign career artists. I want ones who are going to be around for five albums, develop careers and, God willing, make terrific records, so we can

The More Things Change, The More They Stay The Same

Mel Lewinter's outlook on the record business niversal/Motown Records Group Chairman Mel Lewinter has a simple philosophy when it comes to running a successful record company: Find more hits. That may sound overly simplistic in today's convoluted environment, but when it comes from an executive who's spent nearly 30 years in the business and weathered plenty of storms, it has to be taken in earnest.

The Road To The Top

An accountant by training, Lewinter began his career in 1970 when he was appointed Comptroller for Atlantic Records. In 1990 he was promoted to CFO/Sr. VP. In 1991 he was named Vice Chairman of the newly created Atlantic Recording Group, and three years later he was appointed President/COO of Warner Music U.S., which was headed up by Chairman Doug Morris.

Along with Morris, Lewinter exited Warner Music U.S. amid a corporate shake-up in 1995. He and Morris then founded Rising Tide Entertainment, sold it to MCA Records and renamed it Universal Records. Lewinter was appointed Vice Chairman of Universal Music Group later that year. Following the Seagram purchase of PolyGram, he ascended to his current post.

Lewinter was interviewed two times for this feature: once in May, when Universal/Motown was experiencing a lull on the sales charts, and again a couple of weeks ago, when it was enjoying success with new albums from Brian McKnight, Lil' Troy, 98 Degrees, Chico Debarge and Hot Boys, in addition to previously released discs from Juvenile, B.G., Godsmack and a previous 98 Degrees disc. "Things have turned around since then," notes Lewinter.

The reason? "We have better records. We're still a pretty new record company. Universal Records is only about 3 1/2 years old, and Motown has a great heritage, but is really a new record company in many ways. It's all now starting to click."

Lewinter isn't trying to be clever or cagey. The answer is consistent with his conviction that, regardless of all the whiz-bang high-tech gizmos, the hits will continue driving the business — always have, always will. "Let's look at what everybody's doing," continues Lewinter. "Radio stations want to play the hits. The Internet websites are looking for hits. Everyone is trying to reach the consumer. And the consumer is king.

"Consumers are either touched or not touched by what they hear. They won't buy records they don't like. That hasn't changed since the Tommy Dorsey days. The same records that touched them 10 years ago might not touch them today. Genres shift in popularity. Rock was out, now it's coming back. But it's still all about finding great records and artists and being attached to them."

Universal/Motown has come a long way in a relatively short period of time. Universal Records' breakout year was 1997, when it scored platinum-plus with Erykah Badu and had success in other genres with such acts as Reel Big Fish and Goldfinger via Mojo Records, Chumbawamba through Republic Records and the label's own Sister Hazel. It followed that up the next year with The Cherry Poppin' Daddies, Juvenile, 98 Degrees and Billie Meyers.

Not surprisingly, Lewinter is proud of how Universal-Motown has grown into a multigenre label. "In the early days Universal Records clearly leaned toward R&B and hip-hop, because the music moves faster and sells a lot more. At the time we needed the financing to build the rest of the roster."

With the purse strings now a little looser thanks to several platinum hits, Lewinter is ready to expand the company even more. "We want to be in every genre of music except for country." That includes Latin and Latin pop, which Lewinter says the company is "looking into heavily."

Lewinter hasn't ordained that Motown will continue to lean R&B and Universal more full-service. "It could turn out that way, but it's not predetermined. It's really determined by the artists who come along."

Teaching An Old Dog New Tricks

For an executive who has been around the block a few times, Lewinter says he's having fun and learning a thing or two in his new post. "I'm more involved with the day-to-day running of a record company. I've always been involved with that to some degree, but not at the level I am now. I've taken on a lot of the joys and some of the headaches."

Lewinter admits he's had a few surprises over the past year. "Two things surprised me — how much I didn't know and how much I did know that other people didn't."

Examples? "I didn't know some of the inner workings of promotion. I'm getting a much better understanding of it." The other? "Having to show people they need to take off their blinders and approach things in a new way. But that just comes from experience."

Lewinter is also discovering the growing relevance of TV. "It's going to be more important than it used to be. Consumers are watching more TV and reacting more to the music. Music has certainly become more a part of movies and TV shows than it ever was before. The reason for that is probably that the shows are targeted to the same audience that buys records.

"We did some TV advertising for Godsmack on ESPN, and it was very effective. We'll probably do more of that in the future."

Release Schedule

Lewinter's group will release an estimated 60-70 records. He admits that's a lot of product. "There's a reason behind it, besides what we're signing. Both of the companies are not very old, and we've signed a lot of new acts. There are many artists whose albums haven't even been released yet.

"But I don't know what the ideal number is. I don't think anyone can answer that, because you don't know what's going to come along. When something comes along that we feel great about, we're going to sign them. So if you could tell me how many of those there are, I'll give you an answer."

That's a good point. After all, over the years the Morris-Lewinter duo perfected the art of quickly signing and then releasing nationally acts whose independently released albums sold briskly in local or regional markets. That two-pronged approach — releasing debut albums from new acts and picking up indie projects — is alive and well at Universal-Motown, but it has detractors.

Lewinter, however, dismisses the critics' notion that such a strategy can overload a label, or that the record company ends up throwing projects against the wall and picking the ones that stick. "The truth of the matter is that some acts will make it and some won't. That will happen whether you release 30 acts or 60 acts.

"As a record company, you have to be in a position to support the artists who look very promising. You also have to be in a position to stick with the ones you believe in. We're going to give every artist a shot. The artist whose music reacts better with the public will get a better shot than the one whose music doesn't. That's just the nature of the business.

"But there's a difference between sticking with an artist and spreading an artist. There are a lot of acts whose music will get released, and then a few tertiary stations will begin playing their song. Once people start asking for the record and buying it, we'll stick with it. Some of the obvious ones, like Godsmack and Sister Hazel, you spread because they're already selling well and getting airplay.

"Even while you go through the A&R process and promote radio, you still don't know what you have until it hits the street. The public will tell you what you have or don't have."

It's Never Been Easy

Meantime, Lewinter is bullish about the current musical climate. "You have a lot more freedom these days because of all the different styles of music that are so successful. I think people are more open to new styles of music."

Nevertheless, the public's hunger for diversity won't make it any easier to work records at radio. But Lewinter dismisses concerns that it has, in fact, become more difficult. "It's always been hard. It's never been easy. But when you have a very special record from an act like Chumbawamba, you won't have any trouble getting it played. Once you get it on a few stations, and they have success with it, everybody jumps on it. I don't think it's overly complicated."

Lewinter doesn't believe ownership consolidation has tipped the scales in favor of radio when it comes to promotion. "There is better communication among the stations, which can be good and bad for us. If somebody's seeing a good reaction to a record in one area, news will travel more quickly throughout the company. If the record gets a negative read, that travels quickly as well."

He also isn't worried that the huge station groups will begin to flex their newfound power in ways not yet seen. "I haven't seen it to any meaningful degree. It's the same with the telephone and cable companies. It's the nature of the world. I don't know what you can really do about it."

As for the notion that some radio chains might start their own labels, Lewinter remains skeptical. "I think a lot of people are going to try to become record companies. It might create more independents, which might be healthy in the long run. It would be tough for them, but good for business overall."

Looking forward, Lewinter sees a bright future in the Internet. Digital downloading and online retailing will eventually become big business. "Universal Music Group has been very aggressive in this area. It will continue to be a big focus. Certainly down the road it will become a viable business. I don't know if it's in a year, two years or six years. I don't think anybody really knows. You just have to be there and ready for it."

The wired world is also making it easier to reach music fans through various websites. "They're not fully developed yet," Lewinter says, "but I think they will be in another year or two. You have to look at what's happening week to week and take advantage of it."

How Today's Stars Balance Art And Commerce

Four top recording acts tell it like it is alance. That word can't be stressed enough when it comes to managing our personal and professional lives. While balance is difficult enough for people working in the radio and record businesses, it's even more of a struggle for the individuals who give us the art that we strive to program and promote — the recording artists.

To gain a little insight into what it takes to build a long career in the music business, I spoke with a quartet of recording artists: teen pop sensation Mandy Moore; Godsmack frontman Sully Erna, whose band's debut album is well past the one million sales mark; Michael Britt, lead guitarist and background vocalist for Lonestar, a country band on the verge of going platinum with their third release; and R&B veteran Mary J. Blige, who has three multiplatinum albums under her belt and a fourth that is a week or two away from topping one million in sales.

The careers of these four recording artists offer interesting comparisons and contrasts. Moore represents the new generation of teen pop artists, while Erna and Godsmack embody the work ethic of today's rock bands. Britt and Lonestar demonstrate that country groups can chuck the cowboy hats and still sell records, while Blige shows how recording artists can parlay their music careers into other lucrative entertainment avenues.

Mandy Moore

It was only a few years ago that 15-yearold Epic/550 Music singer Mandy Moore was sitting in her bedroom listening to The Backstreet Boys. Now she's opening for the megaplatinum pop group's sold-out national tour.

That's pretty heady stuff for anyone, regardless of age, yet Moore remains levelheaded about her rising-star status and credits her family and friends with helping her stay grounded. "Everybody has helped," stresses Moore, "even though I'm the one who really has to do it. If you don't want to change into somebody else, I don't think you will. I'm really happy being Mandy Moore, and I'm proud to be 15 years old. That will keep me grounded.

"I'm also traveling around with my family. My mom and dad switch off when they're on the road with me. It's important to be surrounded by people you love and who will support you.

"I also get to meet some really cool people on tour, which helps me stay balanced and stay 15 — because they are the people I'm performing for, my age or a little older. I get to be around those people all the time. It's like performing for my friends, which is why I love it so much.

"Even though I love being on the road, it's hard being away from everything you know and are comfortable with and not being able to do things like go to the homecoming game or the movies. It's a trade-off. But so far I don't feel like I'm missing out on anything."

What's also keeping Moore grounded is her crash course in the music business. "Everything is so new to me, like radio. I thought all you did was go with someone from the record label and ask the DJ to play your record, or even just send it through the mail and call them. I've found out it's much more than that. The same with touring. At first it was overwhelming, but then you get used to it.

"The past seven or eight months have been the biggest learning experience for me. I've become so engrossed in the business, and I've learned to respect every single job that goes into breaking a new artist. Now it's like two separate parts of my life. When I'm not touring, I'm not worrying about it, and I'm just regular old Mandy. When I'm on tour or doing something like a photo shoot, I'm still the same person, but I realize I have a job to fulfill."

Moore credits Britney Spears with opening the doors for teen female performers. "I totally give her credit and feel honored to be compared to her some of the time, because she's on top. She's selling millions of records, and she's a great entertainer. You have to give her props. The only thing that bothers me sometimes is that people see the similarities instead of the differences."

Less than a year into promoting her new album, Moore has already learned how artists can get pigeonholed. "Yeah, that's a little frustrating, because there is room for all of us. At first glance people will be quick to judge you, but you have to give them a chance and let them see what you're all about."

Early on Moore realized the importance of forging her own identity, which is why she played an active role in putting together her debut album. "The two producers I worked with also worked on my demo album before I got signed, so we already had a great relationship.

"I didn't write any of the songs or lyrics, but I was there all the time, including when they were mixing and mastering the album. And I remember at the beginning people asking me questions like, 'Mandy, what's going through your head right now?' At the time I was 14, and these were 30- and 40-year-old guys who had no idea what 14-year-old girls think about, so I would give them topic ideas and stuff like that.

"I felt it was really important not to try to be somebody else. I'm just so glad that I was able to work with producers who let me have creative input. I could tell them I wasn't comfortable singing about certain things, and I was comfortable asking them to let me go in a different direction sometimes."

Not surprisingly, Moore is upbeat about music these days. "There's so much to choose from — Limp Bizkit, Backstreet Boys, Korn and Kid Rock. And I think people are starting to see the influence us kids can have on music and magazines and other stuff. Music for kids by kids has really caught on."

Moore says that's a dramatic change from years past. "Music lost its youth for a while, which is probably why I wasn't an avid radio listener when I was younger. But I think music is at its all-time peak right now."

Godsmack

There's no denying that, on average, today's rock artists are more business-savvy than artists of previous generations. In fact, an entire cottage industry sprang up in the '80s and '90s — complete with degrees from top-notch universities — catering to those who want to learn to make it in the music business.

One recording artist who embodies this new generation is Sully Erna, the driving force behind the platinum-plus hard rock outfit Godsmack. While the Boston-based band hit pay dirt with their new, self-titled album — which they self-released before signing with Republic/Universal — Erna had plenty of false starts in his career.

"It's always difficult for new bands to come up and do something. It's a matter of dedicating your life to it and sacrificing a lot of things. As you grow older, you start seeing your friends getting nice apartments or buying houses and getting nice cars. But you have to keep at it if you want your dreams to come true.

"In our case, a lot is happening really quickly, but it took a long time. For me personally, I've been playing music since I was 3 1/2 years old. I've always been in and out of bands. But from the beginning with Godsmack we made our own CDs and flyers to get the word out. We'd play in front of 10 people a night. We've worked hard and still work hard."

Godsmack found a champion in hometown Active Rocker WAAF. "We threw out a bunch of CDs to radio and let it go. About a month later we got a call from the guys at the station, and they said they wanted to help us. Then it all started snowballing. The more the station would spin the record, the better the record would sell and the more people would attend the live show. Before you knew it, we were selling about 1,000 CDs a month. It took us by surprise. I could hardly keep up with it, because I was doing it from the bedroom of my house."

The transition from a self-contained unit to life with a major label came easily to Godsmack for two main reasons: First, the band were doing everything themselves, so they knew how to take care of business, and second, Republic/Universal didn't tinker with a winning formula.

"Things have been going pretty easily, because they've given us the liberty to do what we want," Erna continues. "They saw that what we were doing was working, and they didn't want to change it. They just wanted to help us distribute it nationally and worldwide and help us with a few other things. They've given us a lot of leeway, because they realize we have a pretty good vision of what Godsmack should be."

Erna, who handpicked the group and writes most of the music, stays active in nearly all aspects of the band's business. "Some bands get lazy after a certain point, but we're still excited about everything that's happening. For instance, on our new tour we're doing a lot more, so we're having to work with a lighting director for the first time and having to start programming a show. And we're designing new props for the stage. The more you grow, the more things get thrown at you, so you have to stay on top of it."

But for a person who used to tackle one project at a time, life with a major did take some getting used to. "Whenever I had a project, I would get it done so I could have the rest of the day for myself. In this business you have to deal with so many different things at once. As soon as you tackle one, another one comes your way. The next thing you realize, a month has gone by, and you need to take a break."

Erna credits the group's manager, Paul Geary, who used to drum for the Boston rock band Extreme, with being "a great mentor for the band. I come to him for all kinds of advice, because he's been there, done that. He's responsible for helping take this band to a new level, and he helped me stay smart.

"I grew up in the punk rock phase in a lot of my bands, where it was more a matter of how much beer you could drink and how much pot you could smoke and still pull off a show. You didn't care how you sounded. It's great when you see bands with that attitude who can pull it off. But for the most part, if you want to do this for a living and entertain people for the rest of your life, you'd better learn how to deal with the business end as well, because it will go away as fast as it's handed to you."

Unfortunately, along with newfound success come a lot of hassles. "You learn a lot of lessons along the way," explains Erna, "like friends who stab you in the back and get money-hungry. They helped you a little in the beginning and now have hired lawyers to sue you because they feel they're owed something. That really surprised me, because I'm a pretty honest person, and I really didn't think the people I chose as friends would pull shit like that. But I saw it happen right before my eyes. Now I don't think I can get fooled like that again."

Going forward, Erna isn't concerned that business duties will take a toll on him creatively. "The only thing that really gets affected is the time you get to sit down and write songs, because you're moving around so quickly. It's hard to take a week off just to sit down in a bedroom or rehearsal hall and start whacking out ideas. But for the most part it won't change our hunger for music. We still have plenty to write about."

Lonestar

BNA Records country band Lonestar have come a long way since playing their first concert in Nashville in January 1993.

The group's 1995 self-titled debut album sold just over 400,000 copies, spawned the top 10 hit single "Tequila Talking" and put the group on the map. But their sophomore album, Crazy Nights, sold only 230,000 copies despite several hit singles.

Lonestar's new album, Lonely Grill, has firmly re-established the group on the country map. Thanks to the megahit "Amazed," which has successfully crossed over to AC, the group's third album will undoubtedly surpass the platinum mark — it has already sold over 800,000 copies.

A lot changed between Lonestar's first album and their third, including a new producer and a more polished, cowboy hat-less look. Commenting on the changes, lead guitarist and background vocalist Michael Britt says, "On our first album we were so thrilled to have a record deal and to be working with the people at the record company that we did whatever was necessary to be successful. When someone told us to put on hats, we said, 'OK. I can see your point.' Since we're all from Texas, it's not like we hadn't worn hats before. But before we had our deal, we didn't dress as country as we did right after it. It also fit our music better back then, because we were a little more honky-tonk.

Britt admits to being "definitely let down" when the second disc didn't fare well. "We had heard about the sophomore jinx and wanted to avoid that. We didn't want to fail, but in a way we did."

A nonstop schedule might have played a role in the slip. Britt continues, "We were so busy on the road, and then we went from the last single on the first album to the first single on the next album. I don't think people knew 'Come Crying to Me' was on the second album. It was almost a non-setup in a way. We continued on the road and did maybe about a week of in-stores to promote the second album.

"At the time it felt like one big roller-coaster ride. It didn't feel like there was a differentiation between the two albums. Maybe that would have helped. I'm not sure, because all it takes is one song to really touch people. The one good thing was that we continued to improve as a band. Our live shows got better and better."

When it was time to begin working on the third album, Lonestar initially stuck with the producers who got the ball rolling, Don Cook and Wally Wilson. The group even recorded a handful of songs before realizing a change was needed.

"We got to the point where we knew the music was good," says Britt, "but for some reason our hearts weren't in it, even though we tried hard. We had set up all these meetings with the label, but we could tell they sensed we weren't into it as much as we should have been. They told us that if we wanted to make a change, we needed to do it before we spent any more money."

Ultimately, Lonestar landed Dann Huff (Megadeth, Faith Hill) to produce the new album. The subtle change in music and style couldn't have come at a better time for the group in terms of the contemporary music cycle.

"We had to do something better and different," continues Britt. "We didn't want the third album to fall by the wayside or not do as well as the first two. But I think we all put something extra into this album. And [lead singer] Richie McDonald really stepped up to the plate and for the first time really sang like himself.

"We really developed a rapport with Dann. He comes from a more pop and rock background, and he took our music in a new direction and found different ways for us to express ourselves. And with the change, it also made sense for us to take the hats off, because we wanted the image to fit the music. It wasn't a conscious decision to do it all at once. It was more a natural progression."

With success, however, came bigger financial commitments. "We still do about 150-200 shows a year. That's our bread and butter. We've reinvested a lot of our money and time to match our 'new' image and sound. We bought a new tractor-trailer rig, invested in new monitors and worked on the stage show so we can get more people to see us live.

"We're definitely not receiving huge paychecks yet. We used to joke about the fact that until four months ago we paid ourselves $100 per show after taxes. If we had any left over, we'd give ourselves bonuses, but it was never much.

"But we never forget that this is a business, and you have to run it as one. You can't take all the money out. We're doing all right now, and hopefully we'll do better. But we never got into this for the money anyhow; it's always been the music. Hopefully, we'll make enough to live comfortably for a long time."

Mary J. Blige

For a recording artist, MCA Records R&B singer/songwriter Mary J. Blige couldn't be in a better place. Her first three studio albums have all sold over two million copies, her newest, Mary, is thisclose to hitting the one million sales mark, and her acting career is taking off.

Yet things weren't always so rosy for Blige, who learned a hard lesson about life in the music business. Initially, Blige focused entirely on the music, but when money came up missing, she took matters into her own hands. "When I was young, I didn't know anything. All I could do was sing.

"I had to force myself to understand the business part, because I starting losing money, and I didn't know how it was happening. It seemed everybody was ripping me off. When I found out my taxes weren't getting paid, that's when I really got involved.

"I had to fire my old accountant and hire a new one, because I had to find out what was going on. You have to take charge of the business side if you want to have a long career and have money for your children later on in life. I didn't want to be just a broke singing girl in the music business."

The change took place in the middle of the recording of her third album, Share My World, and Blige says it made her an even better recording artist. "I was able to think more clearly. I was able to forget about the people who were robbing me, because I was now in control. There was a lot less stress."

For Blige, it's impossible to divorce the creative and business aspects of her career. "I don't know how you can separate them. For me, they belong together. As long as I'm the artist, I have to be the businessperson, because I don't want my life in somebody else's hands."

Business issues aside, Blige finds herself in a very enviable position with regard to her recording career. For now she favors small changes musically instead of radical departures and experimentation. "With the new album I feel I've made my mark and that I'm where I can continue to do stuff like this. I definitely feel I can do whatever I want, but what I really want is to stick with what I've been doing."

As for releasing any special projects — Blige treated fans to a live album last year — she stresses, "It's all in how brave you want to be. I could do it if I wanted to. If you have a large enough fan base, then you're basically free to do whatever you want as long as you're comfortable with it musically."

Blige's proven sales track record has given her the freedom to do more acting. As for how she differentiates between the two responsibilities, Blige says, "I look at acting as work. Singing is a whole other deal, because it's much more personal. You can't look at music as work, because you're singing about things that are very heartfelt. When I'm singing, a whole other emotion takes over. Acting is much more a job."

Blige is careful about the roles she takes, because she knows the importance of making sure her acting career is compatible with her recording career. "Each role has to send a message or teach something. I won't do anything that isn't me or that I cannot relate to. In my latest project I'm a struggling black mother, and I know plenty of those."

Blige is also looking forward to building her own record company. This time, however, she's going to let the pros handle much of the work. "I'm going to have a lot of help, because you can't do it alone. But I want to do this, because I've come to know a lot of people, and I want to help them. So instead of taking them somewhere else, why not take them here, to my label? It's been easy finding the right artists, because they were waiting for the right opportunity."

Jive Drives Home America's No. 1 Teen Diva

Britney Spears' debut release is over seven times platinum

Last year at this time Louisiana native Britney Spears was a typical teenager with high hopes of making it in the ultra-competitive world of pop music. Not only did Spears make it, she also completely redefined the pop music landscape and is now its reigning teen diva with over seven million units sold of her debut release, ... Baby One More Time. Once the title track was blazing up the pop chart, Spears turned up the heat even more by appearing on the cover of Rolling Stone in the Catholic school uniform that she made famous in the video clip for the song.

Jive Sr. VP/Promotion Joe Riccitelli joined the company in the midst of Spears' rise to pop superstardom. He explains the label's efforts to insure her unprecedented success: "Having come in midstream on the project, there was no question of Jive's efforts to cross every 't' and dot every 'i.' From the initial promo tour to the nationwide tour with 'N Sync, there was not a stone unturned in the marketing of '...Baby One More Time.' The key is to follow a successful single with second and third releases and hopefully have them be as big as the first."

Blaque Brings It All

Hot and sassy for Y2K

If Track Masters/Columbia artist Blaque has the feel of TLC to you, there's a good reason: The R&B trio was discovered by TLC's Lisa "Left Eye" Lopes as they came together in Atlanta. Their first single, "808," topped both the CHR/ Rhythmic and Urban charts, and their latest song, "Bring It All to Me," featuring 'N Sync, is set to follow.

Blaque stands for Believe, Life, Achieving, Quest, Unity and Everything, and the trio of Shamari Fears, Natina Reed and Brandi Williams delivers. Williams comes from a musical background: Her grandfather, Bobby Rogers, was a member of Motown's legendary group The Miracles, and her aunt is '80s R&B singer Cherrelle. "808" was one of the top ten most-played songs at CHR/Rhythmic for the year. It is also expected to finish in the top 15 at Urban. "Bring It All to Me" is closing in on the top spot on the current CHR/Rhythmic chart, and the album is full of hits.

Columbia Dir./Crossover Promotion Lisa Ellis comments, "We remember Steve Chavez at KTFM/ San Antonio wanting to play '808' before Christmas of last year. KTFM rang in the new year with it in huge rotation, and stations like KYLD, KZFM, KKFR, WHHH and the remainder of the Rhythmics began to fall into place." Columbia Assoc. Dir./Rhythm & Crossover Promotion Andrea Foreman adds, "The amazing part of the road to the top five was that incredible records from Destiny's Child, 702 and TLC were blazing the charts simultaneously. We all know radio doesn't like to play too much of anything at one time, yet Blaque managed to move into power rotation everywhere."

Juvenile Jams At Urban

Cash Money/Universal cashes in on red-hot rapper

There is no denying the tremendous success of Cash Money/Universal artist Juvenile, who ranks No. 4 in R&R's breakout of 1999's new artists prepared exclusively for the first annual R&R New Music Guide. "Back That Thang Up" and "Ha!" both appear in the top 10 overview for Urban.

The 23-year-old rapper from "uptown" New Orleans was brought to Universal via Cash Money Records, which is headed by Ronald

A STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE PAR

"Suga Slim" Williams and his brother Brian "Baby" Williams. Explaining the title of his platinum release, 400 Degreez, which spawned the two hits, Juvenile says, "The area I come from, they call it the 'hot block' — when the police come, they draw heat. And I'm a hot boy, so 400 Degreez was perfect, because that is the boiling point."

Tyrese's Sweet Success

From a Coca-Cola commercial to the top of the charts

Not many people would have predicted that the teenager who boarded a bus, singing, "Always Coca-Cola," in a TV spot would not only become a successful model, but would also have a song, "Sweet Lady," that would turn him into one of the music industry's most sought-after R&B singers.

"We had some resistance with the first single, 'Nobody Else,'" explains RCA Regional Manager/West Coast & Southwest Promotion Dusean Dawson. "But the second single, 'Sweet Lady,' racked up about 77 adds, which put us on the map." Dedicated to his career, Tyrese's hard work and discipline are a significant part of his personality.

"There have been times that he hasn't slept, or that he slept on the plane for three hours then jumped up and did an interview at 6am, no complaints."

All that hard work and energy paid off for Tyrese this year: He rules the Urban AC Artist Breakthrough chart with the top two songs, "Sweet Lady" and "Lately," both of which stayed on the Urban AC chart for 22 weeks.

1999's BREAKTHROUGH ARTISTS

SheDaisy Delivers The Whole SheBang

A Disney-like fairy tale that actually comes to life

The three young women in SheDaisy gracefully rose to No.1 during one of the most competitive years ever for the country music industry. This trio possesses a passion for exploring and exceeding musical boundaries. The result of their diligence and infectious enthusiasm is fresh, organic harmonies that cut through the clutter.

Lyric Street's VP/Promotion Dale Turner recounts a phenomenal, compelling story that you will not find in any industry textbook: "1999 was the most challenging year of the 16 years that I've been promoting country records. During this year it has been gratifying that we've been able to introduce SheDaisy into the marketplace and have the kind of success that we've had. There have been some other great artists introduced to the format, but SheDaisy caught on and hit a nerve at the consumer level. We have the only certified gold album this year from a new country artist."

Roger Smith Rides Smooth Jazz Success

Sacramento native ranks as format's No. 1 new artist

Fortune smiled on Roger Smith in 1999. He was the most successful NAC/ Smooth Jazz breakout artist of the year. When JVC, the label to which he was signed, folded in 1998, Smith was left stranded without a record deal. But Seattle-based Miramar Records picked him up and released Both Sides Now in February of this year.

Smith's diverse musical experience includes stints as keyboardist for Jeff Beck and Peter White, but it was the release of Both Sides Now that captured the attention of KSSJ/Sacramento Station Mgr. Steve Williams. He broke the track "Off the Hook" and established Smith as a force to be reckoned with.

Though Smith is a Sacramento native and his track generated a huge number of requests, it was for other reasons — both musical and programming — that Williams moved "Off the Hook" into power rotation after several weeks. For one, Smith played at KSSJ's holiday benefit concert before a capacity crowd and sold out his CD. Williams observes, "'Off the Hook' has the same qualities that made Down To The Bone so exciting. It has to do with simplicity of expression and depth of thought. Roger's deep into the funk-groove thing, but it's very simple in its presentation. It's easy for anyone to be swept away by it after hearing only 12 or 16 bars."

Sixpence Brings The Riches To Squint

American adults create a worldwide smash for Sixpence None The Richer

It's quite rare for a record to break at a format geared for adults old enough to have school-aged children of their own. But for Squint Entertainment act

Sixpence None The Richer, the strategy has reaped tremendous rewards. The band's breakthrough hit, "Kiss Me," became a worldwide smash thanks to early interest from key Hot AC programmers. But, Squint VP Stephen Prendergast says, "AC is the format that really broke the band. Everybody wants to be on Alternative, but we were also looking at the bigger picture."

Although Adult Alternative stations in Austin and Norfolk were also early on the single, it was KLLC/San Francisco APD/MD Julie Stoeckel's decision to add the record that provided the spark for nationwide success. "We built it out of the West Coast, and it was already a top 20 hit when Sony Music's Columbia Records shipped it to CHR in December of 1998," Prendergast says. The track was then placed on the soundtrack to She's All That, which helped bring the song to CHR/Pop.

"Kiss Me" would rise to the top of the CHR/Pop chart in May for a two-week period. The track would also spend five weeks at No. 2 at AC and earn eight nonconsecutive weeks at No. 2 at Hot AC—23 weeks after its chart debut.

Meanwhile, the follow-up single, "There

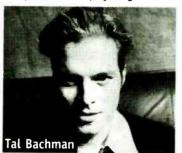

She Goes" (Squint/Elektra/EEG), a cover of The La's 1990 Alternative hit, has peaked at CHR/Pop, but is just beginning its rise up the AC chart thanks to the dominance of "Kiss Me."

Columbia High On Bachman's Hot AC Success

Newcomer surges to the top with debut release

Tal Bachman had the luxury of growing up in a home surrounded by music. His father, Randy Bachman, helped make The Guess Who and Bachman-Turner Overdrive staples at Top 40 radio. That he should pursue music was obvious to everyone — except young Tal himself. "When I was 18, I stopped listening to music," he says. "I was a huge U2 fan, but The Joshua Tree unnerved me, and Rattle and Hum terrified me — my favorite band was cracking up!"

After spending two years overseas, Bachman ended up at a small college in Utah, where he studied political philosophy. One day, while reading Plato's Republic, a passage struck the right chord with Bachman, who suddenly realized he was indeed a songwriter. That was in 1995, at the height of the grunge movement. Four years later, after a self-produced demo caught the attention of Columbia Records, a self-titled debut album was released. The first single, "She's So High," was released in January. By late March the track could be found in regular rotation on such leading Hot ACs as KHMX/Houston and KFMB-FM/San Diego; it debuted at No. 30 the week of April 30 and has yet to lose any steam.

Columbia, however, has a follow-up ready and waiting in the wings. Sr. VP/ Promotion Charlie Walk comments, "There is a song on the album, 'If You Sleep,' that really felt like it would be a big record for Tal. The strategy wasn't to just put out 'She's So High.' Our plan from the beginning was to put out 'If You Sleep' to establish Tal as a multiformat artist. It was the perfect thing. Phase Two is that at the end of '99 and into 2000 'If You Sleep' will have same success, establishing him as a core artist for all the adult formats, not someone who just had one hit."

ACTIVE ROCK

A Huge Slice Of Buckcherry

DreamWorks lights up the scene with old-fashioned barroom beats

Sometimes the wildest freaks of nature are the ones who change one's life for the better. Take, for instance, guitarist Keith Nelson: His band was packing them in when they played Los Angeles. Outside the venue a transvestite named Buckcherry always used to bum cigarettes off of him. Hence, the band's name: Buckcherry. The band officially formed in the summer of '95, when Nelson was introduced to vocalist Joshua Todd through their tattoo artist. The two took their odd mix of musical preferences ("I used to listen to punk rock and then got turned on to Prince and Billy Idol," Todd says) and completed the band with bassist Jonathan Brightman, drummer Devon Glenn and guitarist Yogi.

"Lit Up" served as the band's calling card for Rock radio. DreamWorks Head/Rock Promotion Laura Curtin says that among the early believers were WZTA/Miami's Gregg Steele and KXXR/Minneapolis' Wade Linder. "Wade is a really big champion of this band. Once it went on KXXR, we just started seeing sales explode. Gregg was there from the beginning, and he's still a big believer in this band."

From there, additional Active Rock programmers took notice and help send

"Lit Up" to No. 1 for a six-week stay. "The chart run on 'Lit Up' was amazing," Curtin says. "It really put DreamWorks on the map, coming out of the gate like that. Michael Goldstone signed them, and the guy is brilliant." Aside from the band's first single, Curtin points to "Dead Again" and "Check Your Head" (set for a Jan. 2000 release to Active Rock and Alternative) as the best examples of the straight-ahead rock that properly defines Buckcherry.

Godsmack And Oleander Deliver A One-Two Punch For Republic/Universal

Each band's hometown station helped build the story

It's hard enough for a label to have one new act reach superstar status in a year; two is almost unheard of. But Republic/Universal accomplished it with Boston's Godsmack and Sacramento's Oleander. Active Rockers WAAF/Boston and KRXQ/Sacramento were helpful in breaking the bands.

Godsmack places two tracks in the Active Rock overview of 1999's Breakthrough Artists with "Whatever" and "Keep Away." Sales on Godsmack are expected to hit double platinum before the end of the year, while Oleander is expected to reach gold.

Republic Records cofounder and General Manager Avery Lipman commented on the hard work the bands put in to make it happen: "In the rock world you need more than just a goodsounding demo; you need to be part of the fabric of the community."

ADULT ALTERNATIVE

Lit Lights Up Alternative

'My Own Worst Enemy' clocks 37 weeks on the R&R chart

During last year's December holidays Southern California's Lit received some welcome season's greetings. The band had just completed their full-length album before taking time off for the holidays. During their break format leaders KROQ/Los Angeles and KITS/San Francisco began playing "My Own Worst Enemy," and from that time on there has been no turning back.

RCA's Ron Poore explains: "About a year ago I was out on the road and had Lit's demos with me. I stopped by KPNT/St. Louis and played them for OM/PD Allan Fee. At the time we didn't have an add date. I played him the demo, and he was like, 'Oh my god, this is great! I love this. I want to start playing it now!' We knew we had something with Lit. During Christmas of last year we all went away, and at that time KROQ and Live 105 both started playing the record. There was so much word of mouth. It was a one-listen record!" With 11 weeks at No. 1 and 37 total weeks on the R&R chart, Lit is quite simply the biggest Alternative success story of 1999.

Fight Songs Earns The Old 97's Respect And Recognition

An exclusive core No. 1 artist for the Adult Alternative format

Following six years, four full-length releases and intensive touring, Old 97's have developed a dynamic relationship with radio, primarily within Adult Alternative.

The Dallas quartet's latest release, which is chock-full of country-inspired alt rock elements, was promptly championed by powerhouse stations including KBCO/Denver, KFOG/ San Francisco and WXRT/Chicago. The widespread airplay provided Old 97's with many new opportunities, including performances on 🚄 shows like Late Night With David Letterman.

The band candidly admits that for their latest release they intentionally decided to focus more on working singles toward radio than they had with past efforts. Indeed, without compromising a bit of their musical integrity and heritage, their well-constructed relationship with radio has paid huge dividends.

Elektra's Lisa Michelson-Sonkin has worked with the band since their majorlabel debut. "They are truly a band with a limitless future. Fight Songs, their second record for Elektra, was released in April, and their world has not been the same since. The intervening months have seen the band's profile rise dramatically. They have been embraced at radio, retail, in the press and, of course, on tour. 'Murder (Or a Heart Attack)' and now 'Nineteen' have made the band a core new artist at Adult Alternative radio. Elektra has taken a long-term approach with this band, letting them win loyal fans every step of the way. We've helped solidify their relationships with some of the country's best radio stations. It's been a fantastic year for The Old 97's, and Elektra is thrilled to take them into the year 2000."

Slipknot Ties Up Playlists With Latest Release

In the latter half of 1995 nine lowans got together in Des Moines to form a hard rock band. A year later the group self-released its very first album, Mate. Feed. Kill. Repeat. That release caught the attention of Ross Robinson, who inked the band — Slipknot — to the Roadrunner-affiliated imprint 1 AM Records.

Work began on Slipknot's eponymous Roadrunner debut in 1997. On June 29 of this year the 13-track album radio. Loncao recalls, "We had to figure out how to make their music more radio-friendly. To their credit, the band didn't want to rerecord any of their vocals. Then one day we learned there were some vocal tracks embedded in the song that you really couldn't hear. All we did was bring those up in the mix, and it put a brand-new ambience to the song without losing its impact or intent."

The two-pronged approach — touring first, radio later — has proven to be arrived in stores. Now the debut single has kicked in at Active Rock and Alternative, with such rockers as WAAF/Boston, KUPD/Phoenix, KAZR/Des Moines, KXXR/Minneapolis, WCCC/Hartford, KBPI/Denver and KRXQ/Sacramento behind it. Alternatives spinning the single "Wait and Bleed" include KXPK/Denver, WBCN/Boston, KROX/Austin, WMRQ/Hartford, KWOD/Sacramento and KEDJ/Phoenix.

As is the case with an increasing number of hard rock acts that have broken over the past few years, Slipknot has built a substantial fan base from touring. That's evidenced by the number of albums the band had scanned before the label began working anything to radio. To help establish that fan base, Slipknot was fortunate to land a slot on this year's Ozzfest.

Roadrunner Sr. VP/Promotion Dave Loncao comments, "That tour really got things going. They became the darling of the tour. You could see their popularity growing after each show. They'd sell more merchandise each time, and you'd see more kids wearing Slipknot T-shirts at each show."

When Ozzfest ended, Slipknot joined the Roadrunner tour, which featured Coal Chamber as the headliner. The band again worked its magic and, by the end of the tour, moved from opening act to the No. 2 band under Coal Chamber.

Concurrent with that tour the label continued to look for ways to approach a potent weapon in convincing radio to lend its support. Loncao continues, "Record companies are always asking, pleading, and wheeling and dealing with radio to get them to break their baby bands. What we've done with Slipknot — and what a few other labels have done with some other bands — is to work hard to build equity and value in the band before going to radio."

Programmers agree. WAAF PD Dave Douglas comments, "That's the way it used to be. Rather than bringing it to radio and forcing it down everyone's throats to try to build a story there first, they're doing it the old-fashioned way. Slipknot has created an impressive fan base in a relatively short amount of time due to their live show. Next year we think they're really going to break through, based on the conversations we've had with booking agents and such. Whenever we think that's going to happen, we'd rather be on the front end."

The single, says Douglas, is working well. "It's definitely on the aggressive side, but the remix made it much more accessible. It has a lot of energy and is getting phones."

In the meantime the group will perform a series of headlining shows — Biohazard opens — in December before heading off to Europe for another headlining tour.

Mendoza Set To Soar

A&R execs interested in Latin-flavored rock may want to take a closer look at St. Louis-based singer-songwriter Javier Mendoza, whose single "On Top of the World" is getting some attention from hometown Hot AC WVRV. MD David Myers is a big fan of the song, which quickly became a top five request after the station started playing it a little more than a month ago. Myers is also impressed with Mendoza's live show. "He's built a pretty good loyal following. When I saw him perform, I really was blown away."

Mendoza, who is signed to former Uriah Heep keyboardist Ken Hensley's HIS Records (Hensley also serves as his manager), has been a part of the St. Louis scene for close to 18 months. Yet it wasn't until this year that, after releasing his debut album, Tinta y Papel (Ink and Paper), things began to pick up considerably for him. "I was primarily a solo performer before this, so it took a while to find the right bandmembers," he explains.

Mendoza, who has been close to signing label deals before this album, plans to ratchet up his activities in the new year. "Right now we're playing in a lot of different places. I just got back from Denver, and I am getting ready to go to Nashville and Chicago. We'll work as hard as we can and then take off at the beginning of the year for a tour."

On the radar screen: Gargantua Soul. WCCC has jumped on "Rat Pack," the new single from New Haven's Gargantua Soul, a seven-piece act that blends rap, rock and funk. WCCC APD/MD Mike Karolyi notes, "We don't get too many local bands who produce really good music, but this one kept surfacing, and people kept calling us and asking us to play their music. We decided to give them support, and the phones really took off."

Karolyi also gives the band's live show a thumbs up. "They're very visual, and the crowd gets into it. They'll pull in 300 kids for a local show, which is pretty impressive for around here."

Where We're Going Next

☐ A comprehensive list of new releases for CHR/Pop and CHR/Rhythmic usic is the lifeblood of what we all do for a living, and no one fights harder every day of every week all year long to get radio's attention than the music executives who believe so passionately in their artists. This week R&R is proud to devote its format pages to these executives to provide them an opportunity to spotlight their artists and releases for the remainder of the fourth quarter and to give you a look ahead at the releases for the first quarter of 2000.

Almo Sounds

The remainder of the fourth quarter is focused on Soulwax. We are currently working "Much Against Everyone's Advice." In January listen for a great new band called Red Velvet Relief. There will also be a Garbage B-sides album with three new songs. Ozomatli are in the studio, so look for their new record to come out by June. All the touring and hard work of the past couple of years should have a big impact on this album at all formats. Our other artists in the studio are Imogen Heap, Pulsars, ManBreak and Gillian Welch.

Jim Elliott

Arista VP/Top 40 Promotion

As we approach the millennium, we at Arista are proud to be riding the success of Santana (with "Maria, Maria" set to go at CHR), Whitney Houston ("My Love Is Your Love" is turning into a major callout and CHR hit, and "I Learned From the Best" is waiting in the wings), TLC ("Dear Lie" will be our first-quarter release), LFO ("Girl on TV" is breaking everywhere) and Puff Daddy ("Satisfy You" is a No. 1 song at Rhythmic and has incredible mainstream research; "Best Friend" is on deck). Also, Sarah McLachlan, Eurythmics, No Mercy, Another Level featuring Jay-Z (watch for the terrific Another Level and LFO Fox TV special Thanksgiving weekend!) and a very special "Auld Lang Syne" from Kenny G.'s new holiday album, Faith.

This is a truly historic time for Arista. Our deepest thanks to radio for supporting our artists and their music. Happy New Year!

Andrea Ganis

Atlantic Executive VP/ Promotion

As 1999 turns into 2000, Atlantic Records is stepping out with a diverse field of both established stars and hot new artists. First off is Sugar Ray's "Falls Apart," the latest track from their smash third Lava/Atlantic album, 14:59. Another proven Lava/Atlantic hitmaker, singer/songwriter Edwin McCain, brings us "Go Be Young" from his current RIAA gold hit, Messenger. Slip-N-Slide newcomer J-SHIN makes his introductions over the airwaves with "One Night Stand" (with Xscape's LaTosha Scott), the first track from his forthcoming My Soul, My Life. Featuring additional guest appearances from Trick Daddy and Trina, the R&B-driven album is true soulful perfection.

From Atlantic's soundtrack album to the forthcoming Oliver Stone feature film, Warner Bros.' Any Given Sunday, comes a wealth of irrepressible hard rock and hip-hop tracks. Atlantic's Pokémon soundtrack paves the way for another exciting single with the early 2000 release of "It Was You" from Ashley Ballard (with So Plush). Angela Via — another Pokémon standout—sets the tone for her Lava/Atlantic debut with the melodic "Picture Perfect."

Blackbird/Atlantic newcomers Bell, Book & Candle are also set for a January debut with the release of their striking first single, "Rescue Me (Let Your Amazement Grow)." Meanwhile, England's beloved Pocket Size get physical with "Human Touch," the latest from their hummable label debut. The one and only Trick Daddy is set to make waves with "Boy," the first track from his upcoming new album, while Slip-N-Slide cohort Trina lets fly with her debut single, "Baddest Bitch."

Of special interest, in March of next year comes the first track from Matchbox 20's long-awaited second label release. The band's smash first album, Yourself or Someone Like You — propelled by the success of such hits as "Push," "3am" and "Real World" — recently earned the RIAA's prestigious Diamond Award for sales in excess of 10 million.

Beyond Music VP

Lucy Pearl is a name you will hear again and again in the year 2000. It represents a landmark musical event, a new and exciting construct joining three unique creative personas: Raphael Saadiq, the lead vocalist and songwriting core of Tony Toni Tone; Dawn Robinson, one of the four signature vocalists of En Vogue; and Ali Shaheed Muhammad, the turntablist, producer and mixer from A Tribe Called Quest.

Separately these three have changed the face of popular music over the past 10 years. To date they have achieved combined sales of more than 14 million albums and eight million singles. Their individual visions have given life to music that defied genre boundaries and defined entertainment's cutting edge. They have set trends in music, video, fashion, dance and culture throughout the '90s'.

Lucy Pearl is the next step forward for this incredible trio. They have converged to create what will surely be the first must-have recording of the new century. Their debut self-titled recording is set for release on 2/22.

Dave Sholin

Capitol VP

In the fourth quarter, Robbie Williams' "Angels" is poised to be one of those songs generating huge spins well into the new year. Stations like KRBE/ Houston are already spinning it more than 65 times a week.

Also kicking in quickly, backed by a solid buzz, is Sweden's Bosson. "We Live" was added at KIIS/Los Angeles, where it connected with listeners immediately. Airplay is spreading to Miami, Washington and Memphis with many more cities to join in before the holidays.

No one got more attention at the recent WB Radio Music Awards than Garth Brooks/Chris Gaines. The top-of-mind message of "Right Now" has really struck a chord with audiences, which is why it pulls big requests and impressive airplay and sales in Chicago. A number of programmers are very passionate about "Misery," the newest track from Canada's Moffatts, which is another fourth-quarter release.

At Rhythmic there is the stellar talent of Tracie Spencer, who is off to an impressive start with her follow-up single, "Still in My Heart." B96 Chicago, among others, wasted no time getting it on the air. Look for something very special to drop at Rhythmic on 11/22. That's the date for "Alive," from the amazing 42-song Beastie Boys anthology, The Sounds of Science.

Looking into the CHR/Pop world for early 2000, expect "Nervous Breakthrough" by Luscious Jackson, "Still in My Heart" and Meredith Brooks' follow-up, "Shout."

Lisa Wolfe

Columbia VP/Promotion

For the remainder of the fourth quarter and into the new year Columbia will continue our mission to support, market and brand our artists to keep listeners coming back to the radio stations and keep selling albums.

Presently the Columbia team is working the following Pop and Rhythmic hits: Marc Anthony's "I Need to Know," Savage Garden's "I Knew I Loved You...," Will Smith's "Will2K," Train's "Meet Virginia," Mariah Carey's "Heartbreaker," Jessica Simpson's "I'm Gonna Love You Forever," Blaque's "Bring It All to Me," Destiny's Child's "Bug-A-Boo," Marc Nelson's "15 Minutes," Lauryn Hill w/ Bob Marley's "Turn Your Lights Down Low," Mariah Carey f/98 Degrees and Joe (remix w/Nas), the Best Man soundtrack, Mobb Deep f/Lil' Kim, Nas' "Nastradamus" and Cypress Hill's "Worldwide."

Upcoming new single releases with add dates to be determined include follow-ups from Tal Bachman ("If You Sleep"), Destiny's Child, Marc Anthony and Will Smith and new music from Jagged Edge ("Let's Get Married"), Kobe Bryant, Mary Mary and R.O.C.

Pop and Rhythmic albums in stores and forthcoming include Mariah Carey, Savage Garden, Will Smith, Nas, Jessica Simpson, Tash, Marc Nelson. The Sopranos soundtrack. Ruffhouse Greatest Hits, Da Brat, Kobe Bryant, Black & White, 50 Cent, Big Pun, Cypress Hill, Nature and R.O.C.

Dennis Reese

C2 Sr. VP/Promotion

C2 is all about developing new artists, and Splender is one of our many success stories of 1999. "Yeah Whatever" had great success at many different formats, and in the early part of January we will release their second single. "I Think God Can Explain." to CHR and Hot AC. The Todd Rundgren-produced album has already sold over 50,000, they will open for Train, and a video is in the process of being shot.

Mark Gorlick

DreamWorks Sr. VP

For the fourth quarter DreamWorks will be concentrating on the development of the Solé "4,5,6" single, which has been jumping up the CHR/Rhythmic charts for the past four weeks. "4,5,6" has top five requests at KMEL/San Francisco, WLLD/Tampa, KDON/Monterey and WHHH/Indianapolis and top 10 callout in Tampa and Albuquerque. The single debuted in the top 20 in sales and has been there since its release.

At Pop/Alternative we have "Below the Sliding Doors" from Blinker The Star, which has been on some of the biggest Alternative stations in the country, including KROQ/L.A. and KITS (Live 105)/ S.F., and was added at WMXB/Richmond this past week. We will also be releasing "Get Da Money" from the Def Squad, which is Erick Sermon, Keith Murray and Redman. This single will precede their album, which will come in the first part of the new year.

Looking ahead, we have three outstanding singles for Pop radio in 2000. First off will be "Girl From the Gutter" by Kina, with an impact date of 1/25. In February Elton John reunites with Tim Rice for the first time since Lion King to deliver "El Dorado," which is the first single from the DreamWorks animated film The Road to El Dorado. Elton's impact date is tentatively 2/29, and the film opens 3/31. Also in March comes "If You Don't Wanna Love Me" from Tamar. These three singles are DreamWorks' first in a long line of singles planned to impact Pop and Rhythmic radio in 2000.

Edel America Sr. Dir./Radio Promotion

As we are closing out the fourth quarter, Edel has jumped into fifth gear with Anika Paris at CHR and Hot AC. As major markets like San Francisco, Sacramento and Tampa come on board with "It's About" and stories develop, we are well into our original game plan of a market-by-market campaign. In the clubs and streets we've had success with Bob Marley vs. Funkstar's "Sun Is Shining."

In the first quarter of 2000 Edel has a string of new artists in multiple formats. First up at Pop will be Boyz N Girlz United, who, after touring with Britney Spears and 'N Sync this past year, have developed quite a

Greg ThompsonElektra Entertainment Group GM

There are at least 10 reasons to stick around and hear the dawn of the next century of music. In the first quarter of 2000 Elektra will deliver Third Eye Blind's "Never Let You Go" from the album Blue. Mint Condition's "If You Love Me," which is already rising on the sales and Rhythmic charts, will make its cross to the Pop charts. Coming on the heels of the successful "Meeting in My Bedroom," Silk is back. Their recipe for love ballads is finely tuned to once again take the Rhythmic world with "Let's Make Love," coming in late January. Simply Red's "Ain't That a Lot of Love" is making its way all over the dance club circuit right now and will launch in the Rhythmic world in December and January. Latin legend Tito Puente makes his Elektra debut in 2000 with "Mambo Kings 2000 Remix." Also scheduled for release in early 2000 is singer/songwriter Tracy Chapman, back after a three-year wait. We'll also have new releases from Gerald Levert, 3rd Storee, Beverly and Lil' Mo.

Dawn Fox Epic VP/Pop Promotion

For the remainder of 1999 and into the new year we will continue our passionate campaign for Macy Gray's "I Try." It is currently a top 10 most-played video at both MTV and VH1, and album sales have doubled in the past two weeks. She's completed several sold-out tours. Macy will be back on the road in early 2000.

Scheduled for 1/11 release is Anastacia's "I'm Outta Love." Anastacia will be on a radio promotional tour before the end of the year, and Epic will host several showcases featuring her in early 2000. She was a winner on MTV's The Cut, a "star search" series that aired on the channel.

The new single from PYT, "Something More Beautiful," is scheduled for early first-quarter release. This female group of four spent the summer touring with both 'N Sync and Britney Spears.

Also on deck in the first quarter is a new single (and new album) from Babyface, and a single from the Irish pop group B*Witched.

Hilary Shaev

550 Music/Work Sr. VP/ Promotion

We have a very diverse roster of artists and records coming in the next few months. While Jennifer Lopez and Celine Dion move into power rotation just about everywhere, the 550/Work staff will be crossing Fiona Apple from Pop/Alternative and Alternative. Ginuwine will also be back with another smash for Rhythmic radio. We'd also like to thank radio for the success with Len and Mandy Moore.

Scot Finck

Hollywood VP/Pop Promotion

Following the five-month journey to the top 10 that was Fastball's "Out of My Head," we thought, "Hey, that was fun!" and threw ourselves into The Chris Perez Band's "Best I Can." Several months after its impact date, "Best..." is emerging with great phone and callout stories and will continue its climb into next year.

The year 2000 will see Youngstown break wide with their new single, "Pedal to the Steel." With a strong sales picture already under their belt, Youngstown have continued to benefit from massive exposure from Disney and touring. "SMMMMASH!" is all there is to say when BBMaK release their debut single, "Back Here," between February and March. Three true musicians writing unbelievably perfect pop ... and they're from Liverpool! Another band that knows a few things about writing hits - Duran Duran - are slated for their Hollywood Records debut in the first quarter.

And keep your eyes and ears open for two hits breaking out of other formats — Big Kenny's "Under the Sun" from Hot AC and The Suicide Machines' "Sometimes I Don't Mind" from Alternative.

Chris Lopes

Interscope VP

Smash Mouth's second single from the album Astro Lounge is "Then the Morning Comes." The follow-up to the No. 1 hit "All Star" is rapidly moving up the CHR/Pop, Alternative, Pop/Alternative and Hot AC airplay charts, and after almost half a year has scanned nearly 2 million copies and is consistently a top 30 best-seller. Smash Mouth also continues to be a most-played artist on MTV and VH1.

Counting Crows are back with the first single, "Hanginaround," from their new album, This Desert Life, which is in stores now. "Hanginaround" is already No. 1 at Adult Alternative, No. 15 at Pop/Alternative, No. 27 at Hot AC, No. 17 at Rock and debuted at No. 40 on the CHR/Pop chart. The band is currently headlining a tour and will continue to do so in 2000.

Enrique Iglesias' new single, "Rhythm Divine," is from the album Enrique Iglesias, in stores on 11/23. After three multiplatinum Spanish albums, this international superstar with instant female appeal is building massive Anglo appeal with radio exposure, TV appearances and a world tour scheduled for 2000.

It's a "Brand New Day" for Sting with the title track from his new album, Brand New Day. It's already No. 1 at Adult Alternative radio and rapidly developing at Pop/Alternative and Hot AC and crossing to CHR. Look for an announcement of a world tour with TV, print and radio advertising by Compaq computers to help propel this project.

After selling almost a million albums, MTV exposure and a top five hit at Rhythmic radio, Eve is ready to cross over to Pop with "Gotta Man" from the Eve — Ruff Ryders' First Lady album.

Current projects from other formats that may result in crossover hits for CHR are Limp Bizkit, Beck, Chris Comell, Dr. Dre and Jonny Lang.

New releases for the first quarter of 2000 include No Doubt's follow-up to their eight-times platinum album; The Wallflowers, after selling in excess of 5 million copies of their last album; and Mya following up her double-platinum debut.

David Leach

Island Def Jam Music Group Exec. VP

The merger of Island, Mercury and Def Jam has enabled us to pull together three great companies with three amazing rosters. In the last year the pop department at the new Island Def Jam Music Group has brought radio great hit artists such as Jay-Z, Shania Twain, Melissa Etheridge, Elton John, Montell Jordan and now Sisqo.

For the remainder of the fourth quarter we'll continue to work Shania Twain's "Man! I Feel Like a Woman," Montell Jordan's "Get It on ... Tonite," Melissa Etheridge's "Angels Would Fall," Dru Hill's Sisqo with "Got to Get It" and Jimmie's Chicken Shack's "Do Right." Still to come before the end of the year are new singles from Ja Rule, DMX and Jay-Z. DMX and Jay-Z will also have new albums in-store in December.

Debuting early in 2000 are new singles from Melissa Etheridge, Jimmie's Chicken Shack and Tracy Bonham, with her much-anticipated follow-up to her gold debut CD.

Joe Riccitelli Jive Records Sr. VP

Jive's fourth-quarter release is The Backstreet Boys' "Show Me the Meaning of Being Lonely" on 12/13. On 1/3 it's Britney Spears' "From the Bottom of My Broken Heart"; on 1/7 it's new music from Steps, the track "Tragedy"; and in February it's a new project from Groove Armada, "I See You Baby," following an Alternative release toward the

"We are thankful to radio for their support and for making our music so well-received and so timely for the last millennium holiday season!"

Ron Geslin

In the new year radio can look forward to a new release from Britney Spears in May, a follow-up from Joe in May, an R. Kelly album in June, a Tool record sometime in the summer that is a joint venture with Volcano, and a new R&B songstress, an artist we're very excited about called Syleena Johnson. We expect a new Backstreet Boys sometime in the fourth quarter of 2000. There is also another superstar on the horizon who just cannot be discussed at this point in time.

Craig Lambert

MCA Records Sr. VP

With Blink-182 nearing 3 million albums sold, their second single, "All the Small Things," is now beginning to cross over to CHR radio after two top five hits at Alternative. On MTV the "All the Small Things" video has been No. 1 six weeks in a row and is currently No. 3 on Total Request Live. MTV and Alternative's success is helping drive the band's across-the-board appeal and early success at CHR.

MCA's mission is to make career artists. With success at Rhythmic radio, IMX's "Stay the Night" is getting ready to cross to CHR with an official add date of 1/10. "Stay" already has exposure on MTV, and the album is consistently selling about 20,000 per week.

Our marquee act, K-CI & JoJo, and their new single, "Girl," will cross from success at Rhythmic to Pop in the new year, at the tail end of January. Early reaction to this record is impressive, with requests, callout and album sales increasing wherever it's being played. There will be a commercial single available on 12/7.

Another MCA marquee act, Mary J. Blige, is displaying impressive sales from Rhythmic and Urban airplay coupled with MTV and consistent positive press. Mary J. should be Grammy material, and we'll begin to cross her to Pop in the early part of the first quarter.

In the new-release category we have high hopes for an artist of ours called Leona Naess, who is being developed at Hot AC and Adult Alternative and then will cross to Pop. The name of the song is "Charm Attack." She'll be extremely visible at radio beginning with a radio station promotion tour beginning the first of the year. The impact date is 1/17.

We'll also be delivering Guy's reunion album. The single is "Dancin'," and it is currently experiencing great success at Urban radio. We will attempt to cross it over in January.

Look for follow-up singles from the A*Teens and Aqua early in the first quarter. We also have new talent coming. Keep your ears on a band from Canada called Indecision, coming in the first quarter of 2000.

Vicki Leben

Reprise VP/ Top 40 Promotion

In the middle of the fourth quarter we are launching the critically acclaimed alternative band Filter, who will now cross over to CHR with the single "Take a Picture." Next on the deck is the follow-up to the multiplatinum Friends soundtrack, Friends Again, which boasts a new artist, European-born Loreta, whose infectious new single is entitled "Trouble With Boys." She is currently on a short tour before going back into the studio to complete work on her own CD, which will be released in 2000. The impact date for Loreta is 12/15.

Next on the Reprise roster for the millennium comes Sasha, a multiplatinum superstar who hails from Germany and is now ready to make a huge impact in the U.S. Look for his single, "If You Believe," which was a top five single in Germany (platinum), Austria, Holland, Belgium, Italy and Switzerland. Sasha was awarded the VIVA award (comparable to the MTV awards) for Best Newcomer. Sasha will ship in December, and our impact date will be in January 2000.

Ron Geslin

RCA Sr. VP/Promotion

It's been quite a year for RCA Records so far, with huge successes involving Christina Aguilera, Tyrese, Lou Bega, Dave Matthews Band, 'N Sync, Eve 6 and Lit and the recent launch of the venerable Foo Fighters at CHR radio.

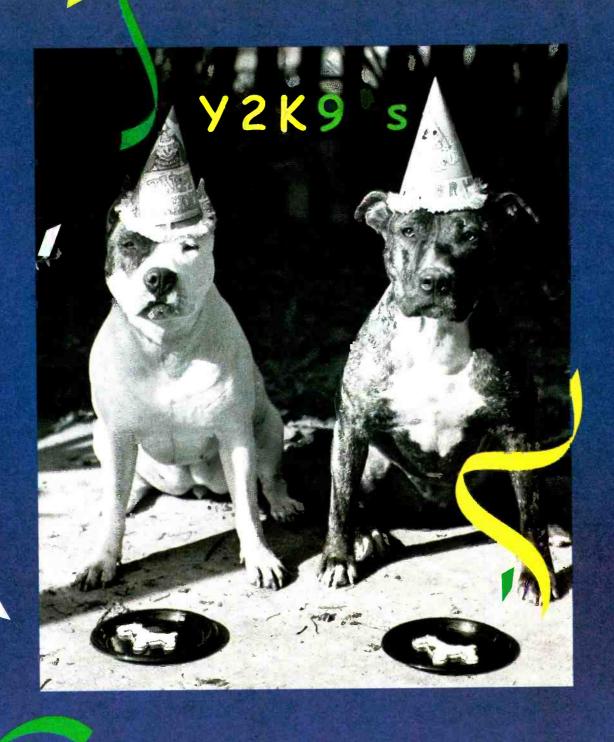

The crazy part is that the best is yet to come, with four major releases coming in November 1999.

RCA's fourth-quarter lineup includes current releases from The Foo Fighters ("Learn to Fly"), Christina Aguilera ("What a Girl Wants") and Vertical Horizon ("Everything You Want"), and Lou Bega's "Tricky, Tricky" coming 11/29. We are thankful to radio for their support and for making our music so well-received and so timely for the last millennium holiday season!

In looking at the first quarter of 2000, we are very excited about breaking Jennifer Brown (a Swedish Grammy winner) with a very radio-friendly song called "I'm Alive." The lyrics so lend themselves to the new millennium and global harmony — a true message song! We have new music coming from Robyn and continuing depth tracks all year from Christina Aguilera and Vertical Horizon. Happy Holidays and good health to all.

CALLOUT AMERICA® Hot Scores

BY TONY NOVIA

ach week, in addition to the top 25 songs on R&R's CHR/Pop chart, Callout America tests up to five additional songs. Often these Callout America extras are remakes or songs that have achieved great success on another chart, and we use the callout data to get a read on how CHR listeners in the country's largest markets feel about them.

This week Callout America has discovered another song that's more than ready to cross to CHR. As those of you who follow the Country chart may already know, Lonestar's "Amazed" (BNA) was a No. 1 song for an unprecedented nine weeks. As a Callout America extra this week, the song debuts at No. 1 with a 4.03 favorability score and — even more amazingly — is the top tester in all demos, with a 4.02 among 12-17s, a 4.04 in the 18-24 cell and a remarkable 4.05 25-34.

To put things in perspective, Lonestar is the first Callout America song to reach a 4.00 since "Livin' La Vida Loca" by Ricky Martin (C2/Columbia) back in May '99. It's also the first to score 4.00 or better in all three demos since Goo Goo Dolls' "Iris" (Warner Sunset/Reprise) on 9/11/99 and the first since Aaliyah's "Are You That Somebody?" (Atlantic) to debut at No. 1 (8/14/98).

Three songs debut this week with impressive scores. Multiplatinum-selling Creed is displaying strong CHR appeal with a top 10 Callout America debut for "Higher" (Wind-Up). "Higher" pulls a 3.89 out-of-the-box with teens and a 3.63 among women 25-34.

Columbia is off and running with Blaque's "Bring It All To Me" (Track Masters/Columbia). "Bring"'s strongest demos are women 12-17 (3.61) and women 18-24 (3.54).

Total sample size is 400 respondents with a +/-5 margin of error. Total average tavorability estimates are based on a scale of 1-5 (1 = distike very much, 5 = like very much). Total familiarity represents the percentage of respondents who recognized the song. Total burn represents the number of respondents who said they are tired of hearing the song. Songs must reach 40% familiarity before they appear in print. Hit Potential (HP) represents songs that have yet to chart in the top 25 on R&R's CHR/Pop chart. Sample composition is based on females aged 12-34, who responded favorably to a CHR/Pop musical montage in the following regions and markets: EAST: Baltimore, Boston, Long Island, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Providence, Washington, DC. SOUTH: Atlanta, Dallas, Houston, Miami, San Antonio, Tampa. MIDWEST: Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Detroit, Kansas City, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Louis. WEST: Los Angeles, Phoenix, Portland, Sacramento, San Diego, San Francisco, Seattle. © 1999, R&R Inc.

Lindsay Fellows

Squint Entertainment Dir./National Promotion

After an incredibly successful '98-'99 with Sixpence None The Richer's "Kiss Me" and "There She Goes," radio will be delivered the new single, "I Can't Catch You," in the first quarter of next year. This track is on their debut album and remains part of the "core" Sixpence sound. Various remixes by Ben Grosse and Tommy D will be serviced to Alternative, Adult Alternative, Hot AC and CHR with add dates to be determined. A video will be shot in early January. The band will be in the studio by March, recording their sophomore Squint release. We feel very fortunate to have worked with both Columbia and Elektra in breaking this band and want to thank radio for their continued support on what has been an exceptional development story.

As always, we thank all the staff at R&R for their continued support of Squint and its artists. We wish everyone a wonderful holiday season.

Charles Foster

Universal Music VP/Promotion

The triple-platinum successes of both 98 Degrees and Juvenile can be traced to their acceptance at multiple formats of contemporary radio. 98 Degrees' first single from the seasonal This Christmas album is called "This Gift." The song and the forthcoming video have both been created with the same successful formula that has given the group massive hits this past year.

Juvenile is truly the crossover hip-hop success story of 1999. His 400 Degreez album has yielded three hit singles, and the latest single, "Back That Azz Up," has become a cultural phenomenon. Universal is shipping a new Juvenile album, Tha G-Code, in early December, with a brand-new single,

"U Understand," going to Urban and Rhythmic radio in mid-November.

Lil' Wayne's debut single, "Tha Block Is Hot," is already off to a strong start at Urban and Rhythmic radio. The album is already gold, based on advance orders. After a platinum 1997 album, Lemon Parade, Tonic are set to release their follow-up, Sugar, and radio has already been receptive to "You Wanted More" and the current Rock track, "Knock Down Walls." We are currently breaking Stroke 9's "Little Black Backpack" at Pop radio after achieving success at Pop/Alternative.

Finally. Republic/Universal has just acquired rights to the international smash "Blue" by Eiffel 65. This single has been No. 1 in 16 countries and, via imports, programmers are already feeling it with an add date of 11/30.

Matt Pollack

V2 Head/Promotion

V2's calendar for the remainder of '99 into the millennium at CHR is streamlined and qualitative. Our most immediate focus is the continued success of radio's most beloved band, Blessid Union Of Souls. Coming off one of the biggest singles of their career, "Leonardo," "Standing on the Edge of the Earth" is feeling, in its early stages, like another researching monster to move into this band's proven • stable.

In the category of "artist development and patience is a virtue," we are excited about taking the "As always, we thank all the staff at R&R for their continued support of Squint and its artists. We wish everyone a wonderful holiday season."

electronic wunderkind Moby to his next deserved plateau. Moby's currently acclaimed album is a front-runner for Album of the Year, as it is on nearly every critic's top five. The first single, "Bodyrock," has succeeded at Alternative radio and is a perfect fit for CHR. The album has currently sold nearly 250,000 units, and we're just getting started. Look for a mass-market blitz of impressions on Moby in the next four months. The song is featured in a multitude of upcoming movies and television shows. Moby himself will be featured in an extensive Calvin Klein advertising campaign for the entire first quarter.

Next up, hailing from Paris, where Jerry Lewis still makes a living doing track dates, comes Alex Gopher with his first single, "Party People." It's the quintessential millennium party song with a funny and demented video that's so over-the-top that it made it into MTV's Spankin' New Music Week as a featured clip, and it hasn't even been added yet! We are currently heating up at mix show and will be officially impacting both CHR and Rhythmic in early January.

Michael Plen

Virgin Sr. VP/Promotion

We've got a killer new album by Tina Turner called 24-7. She has a single produced by the guys who did Cher's "Believe" called "When the Heartache Is Over" that will be out 12/6. She will be appearing on Alley McBeal, Oprah and the Super Bowl, plus a 60-city tour.

We'll also be looking to establish Ben Harper in the Pop world with "Steal My Kisses." We'll be putting out new releases by Enigma, Ideal, Kelis, Smashing Pumpkins, Lenny Kravitz, Fatboy Slim, Beenie Man, The Basement Jaxx and Zap Mama.

Tom Biery

Warner Bros. Sr. VP/Promotion

For the remainder of the fourth quarter we will continue working Janice Robinson's "Nothing I Would Change." With well-received East and West Coast showcases and a video that has people talking, Janice is creating quite a buzz.

R.E.M.'s "The Great Beyond," from The Man on the Moon soundtrack, will go to Pop in late November. That is the Andy Kaufman biopic. The song is already off to a fabulous start at Alternative, Hot AC, Rock and Adult Alternative. MTV world-premiered the video during Making the Video, and the album is in stores 11/23. The movie opens on 12/22.

One of radio's best-testing bands is The Goo Goo Dolls. We will be maintaining the massive airplay and callout scores of "Black Balloon" and drawing attention to all the success the Goos had at radio in 1999. A special Platinum EP has just shipped to radio, celebrating 1 million plays from Dizzy Up the Girl. We will also host a special media event in L.A., with more details forthcoming.

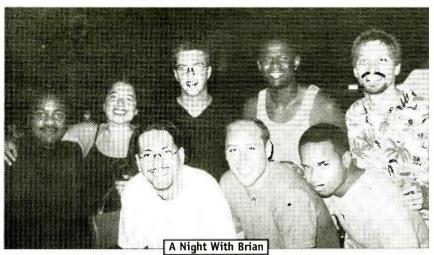

Faith Hill's "Breathe" will quietly go to the Pop formats in December, and it will be our first big release in 2000. With an enormous Cover Girl campaign, over 1 million preorders for the new album now in stores, a commanding video being shot and multiple TV appearances throughout the holiday season and the first of the year, Hill is set up for success.

In the first quarter of 2000 look for Warner Bros. releases from The Goo Goo Dolls, Red Hot Chili Peppers and Paula Cole, a brand new Don Henley and a ton more coming!

Lori Holder-Anderson

Wind-Up Entertainment VP/Promo

Our fourth-quarter priority is "Higher" by Creed. With their debut album certified quadruple platinum, Creed's second album, Human Clay, is no sophomore slump, having scanned over 1 million units in just six weeks. "Higher" has spent 10 weeks at the top of Rock and Alternative airplay charts, generating tremendous callout — all demos — both male and female. WKRQ (Q102)/Cincinnati and WABB/Mobile lead the way as Pop radio jumps on board "Higher."

67 CHR/Rhythmic reporters. Monitored airplay data supplied by Mediabase Research, a division of Premiere Radio Networks. Songs ranked by total plays for the airplay week of Sunday 11/7-Saturday 11/13. Bullets appear on songs gaining plays or remaining flat from previous week. If two songs are tied in total plays, the song being played 21 on more stations is placed first. Breaker status is assigned to songs reaching 500 plays or more for the first time. Songs below No. 20 are moved to recurrent after 20 weeks. Gross Impressions equals Average Quarter Hour Persons times number of plays (times 100). Something New, Something Cool ew music and new artists are the lifeblood of the Urban format, whether we're dealing with the record side or the radio side of our business. This week, we discuss upcoming releases for the fourth quarter of this year and Q1 2000 with representatives from labels large and small.

☐ All you need to know about upcoming releases for the holiday season and early 2000

Kathy Brown, Restless Records VP/Promotion

Jessica is signed to Restless, and her album, You Can't Resist, is expected to have a spring 2000 release. We're looking for Jessica to be our huge young star in the year 2000. I believe that she has the goods and talent to go all the way. She's 18 years old and from Chicago. She had the opportunity to pursue a career in the WNBA because of her basketball skills, but chose a singing career instead, although she still plays basketball as much as she can. We're all looking forward to Jessica, and I hope everyone else will be as excited as I am about this new young talent. Jessica is straight R&B.

DJ Magic Mike is a well-known DI who's sold millions of records. He's a well-known "bass music' producer who is now coming out with his own stuff. The album will be called Magic's Kingdom, and for those who don't know, it's filled with that high-energy Miami sound that folks are known for down in Florida. He's also a mix show DJ at WJHM/Orlando. The first single will be "Groove On." Howard Hewett (Shalamar) sings some background vocals, and I think they're also using a sample from the song "Night to Remember." From what I understand, they had Howard redo some vocals on that. We're really looking forward to that project.

The 5 Footaz, five young ladies, are a new rap group. We're really looking for them to be a cutting-edge new Urban rap group, and they should be out in the first or second quarter.

Finally, another group we have is Made Men Project, and we're looking for a new release from their current album in January. They're managed by Dave Mays at The Source and are a new rap group too.

At the end of our discussion I asked Brown what she thought of the many technological advances in receiving recorded music, such as MP3 downloads from the Internet: I think things like that are fantastic. To increase the quality and attainability of music is what we're here to do. It's obviously the way of the future. We all know that these things are coming, and some people aren't quick to embrace it. But like it or not, the future is here, and things are going to be changing a whole lot faster as time goes on.

Tom Bracamontes, Virgin Records Sr. VP/Promotion

Our first release is a single from Beenie Man that will most likely be released in the beginning of January. We'll also have a follow-up track from D'Angelo, and, oddly enough, the title of that release is "Untitled."

We'll also have a third single from the group Ideal, which hasn't been selected yet. The second single, which just went for adds this week, is called "Creep Inn." With Ideal, we're certainly looking at a gold album between now and the end of our fiscal year, which ends in March. At that rate this thing is going. I'm expecting another huge record with "Creep Inn." The first single, "Get Gone." should be a certified gold single in about two weeks. With the feedback we're already getting about the second single, I would expect that by the end of March we're looking at least at a gold album as well. When we look at the long term, I think Ideal is going to prove to be one of the biggest - if not the biggest -R&B groups of the last year.

Now there is D'Angelo. He's obviously our superstar artist, and we expect a huge album from him, along with several big singles, while re-establishing him in the marketplace. We'll also be offering a debut single from an artist known as Kelis, called "Caught Out." It will most likely be released in December. Kelis is an artist who's not easily definable. It's R&B, but it's a very progressive form of R&B. I think it's going to break down a lot of barriers of what a female R&B vocalist is or isn't. Once the album is out there, she is going to be received with critical acclaim. With this project we are going to be able to break her to multiple formats and almost create our own little subgenre of music.

Then there is Beenic Man. He had a huge single about a year and a half ago with "The Keys to My Beemer." I think the cuts he's doing with Wyclef Jean and Mya will not only establish him as a premier reggae/rap artist, but will definitely broaden his sales base as well.

I also asked Bracamontes what she thought of the advances in receiving recorded music, such as MP3 downloads: For one, I think it's extremely exciting right now. It's going to redefine not only the record business, but radio, promotion — you name it. I don't think that the way we're doing business right now is the way we are going to be conducting business five years from now. Technology at times can be scary for people, because you're dealing with an unknown entity. It's going to be an extreme challenge for us to look at the other ways of doing business, to change the way we've done business in the past and become more proactive, because chances are that if we don't, they'll find someone else who will do it differently, and we'll just get left behind. Everything has to evolve. whether it be nature or business. It evolves, and you have to evolve with it or become extinct.

Shawn Tate, EMI Gospel Dir./Mktg.

The Tri-City Singers will have an album out in the first quarter on 1/25 called Tri-City 4.Com, which was produced by Donald Lawrence. Tri-City is our newest recording act. They are already an established group in the gospel community. This record, which is their first in five years, is going to be the biggest record from our label in 2000. The album features The Canton Spirituals. The Williams Brothers and a trio performance from Karen Clark-Sheard, Kim Burrell and R&B diva Kelly Price. Along with our traditional marketing plan, we will be going right to the Internet, providing free downloads on the first single on 12/25 — a first from a gospel record company. We're very excited about The Tri-City Singers, and we have big plans for them.

Other releases we have include a project called J2K, or Jesus 2000, which is a compilation that will focus on Jesus in the lives of Christians in the new millennium. There are a lot of people who are quite fearful of Y2K, and this record is all about Jesus and his life as told through Urban gospel music. The album contains artists such as Men Of Standard, Virtue, Montrel Darrett, LaMar Campbell & Spirit Of Praise, Kim Burrell, Commissioned and a few others.

Another release, due in March, is from Darwin Hobbs. The title is not yet known. He's in the studio now, and if you loved his first album, you're going to love the second one.

On MP3 technology and the Internet: The Internet is an additional marketing channel for us to make our artists known to a wider demographic outside of just the core gospel community. With the Internet, the entire world can know about all of our artists."

Charm Warren, TVT Records

LaTanya, an R&B artist who has been on TVT for five years, will be our first album release for January. I am currently working her third single, "Keys." The album is still untitled. I expect LaTanya to put TVT on the map for R&B music, because she is a great singer and performer.

We just did a deal with Snoop Dogg for his label. Dogg House Records. He's coming with a track from a group called East Sidaz. Their album will be in stores in January. The name of the first single is "Gd 'Up," and that will be in stores on 12/7. The album is self-titled. We are very high on East Sidaz and really expect them to produce some groundbreaking records not only for themselves, but for TVT as a label. On the hip-hop side, that's going to establish us as a force to be reckoned with, especially since this is a group that's signed directly to us and that has the affiliation that Snoop brings to the table. That is going to give us the validity we need in that arena.

I would also like to mention the new single from Speech, "Real Love." It's taken from the album Hoopla, his second solo project and first for TVT. We are expecting great things from this record, because it's a song that has real instrumentation, lyrics, music and love. It's reminiscent of Frankie Beverly & Maze and Earth, Wind & Fire. It has that type of vibe to it.

Regarding new technologies: All of these new things are widening the labels' opportunities to market and sell their product to the public, as well as giving them new ways to present it. The idea is to reach consumers, and the technological trends we're experiencing in our industry are helping us to do that like never before. It also gives us as an industry additional ways and means other than radio or TV to reach people. At this point it's just a matter of us learning to capitalize on it and how to work within the system of using MP3 to reach a particular audience and making it work to our benefit.

Rick Nuhn, Warner Bros. Records Nat'l Dir./R&B Promotion

Something For The People will be giving us the long-awaited follow-up to This Time It's Personal, titled SFP3. Then we have Lil' Johnny, who is not your everyday, run-of-the-mill 15-year-old. This kid will amaze you with his vocal abilities and infectious hooks. He hails from Flint, MI. After that we have a release from Jaheim. He's destined to be a star. This New Jersey-based vocalist comes to us through our label deal core gangsta rap. with Queen Latifah's and Shakim's GhettoWorks Records, It's produced by Kay Gee of Naughty By Nature fame. After that we have a release from Eklypse, another gem from the minds of Denzil Foster & Tommy McElroy. This group will capture your imagination with a special brand of Bay Area funk.

F.A.T.E. is another project from our GhettoWorks Records affiliation. These three young ladies are ready to take the charts by storm with their unique vocals and earpleasing rhythms. Lastly, we have just announced a label deal with Chris Schwartz. He brings us RuffNation Records. The streets and radio will never be the same once they experience the likes of Liz Leite, Doc Holiday and the Outsidaz!

Byron Pitts, Gee Street/V2 Records Head/Urban Promotion

Afu-Ra will be in stores in February with Body of the Life Force. We really expect him to be the next big star in the rap game. He's out of the Gang Starr camp, and there's a lot of positive feedback from the streets on this record right now. We are presently working a single called "Defeat," and it's very hot on the college circuit. We also have a Tragedy Khadafi album, also a rap project, coming out in March, He's one of the creators of the Noreaga & Capone style of rap out of New York. This is not your Will Smith kind of rap; this is straight hard-

Olu is an R&B artist with a new album called Soul Catcher. He > captures the Erykah Badu and D'Angelo kind of vibe — a little left of center. We're doing very well with him and his music, and we're building him right now. We've got it set to explode as we go into 2000.

His thoughts on new technologies: All of this is about to change the entire industry. Record companies and the way we do business right now are both going to totally change by mid-2000. Now consumers can sit at their computers and download whatever it is that they need without even moving out of a chair. As technology goes forward and items become more readily available with just the click of a mouse, one can pretty much get anything one wants by just going online. And because CD recorders have come down to almost $100.

RCA recording artists Before Dark stopped by R&R and visited with Urban Editor Walt Baby Love (c) and his assistant Tanya O'Quinn (far r).

most people are going to start to create their own CDS after they download whatever they want. This is about to change everything.

Mike Lushka, D.B.A. Holland Group VP/Marketing

Forshé is one of our current releases, and the single, "Dog Food," is on HDH Records. The album, titled Virginity, will be out in two weeks. Next comes Flexx G and his single "Whole Lotta Gangstas Die." That's out right now, and it's from his album When Reality Strikes. We also have a group coming called 4U. Their first single, "Vibe of Love," is taken from the album Just 4U.

Other new singles out now include "Fell in Love Tonight" by Rick Littleton, taken from the album Deliciously Yours. Q&A's single, "Crazy," is taken from the album Been Thinkin' About You. Both are coming out in January. Finally, we have a new album by Ronnie Laws that will be out in January. It's untitled as of now.

Ken Wilson, White Lable Records President/CEO

For the new year we're looking to put out the soundtrack of a movie that's going directly to home video called The Rev. Do Wrong Ain't Right, a comedy about a street hustler turned TV evangelist. The soundtrack will come out in the first quarter, and there are a number of guest artists on the soundtrack album. For example, there's Tai, who was formerly with SWV; Otis & Shugg with a song that features Too $hort; YoYo; The 5 Footaz; Kool & The Gang; R.O.C., who's on So So Def; Lil' Troy: E-A-Ski and others. We'll also have a record from a New Orleans-based artist named Ice Mike that will be out sometime during the first quarter of the new

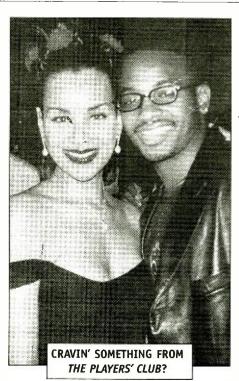

The soundtrack has artists from different parts of the country, so we will probably look to get airplay from different regions right out of the box. We're going to take an aggressive approach to and interest in the clubs around the country. We really plan to get the clubs involved with the 12-inches, and we'll do a lot of marketing printwise, as well as shoot a couple of videos on specific artists.

On the technological advances in the music industry: With the majors joining forces, like the Universal merger, it is going to force a number of artists to sell their music via the Internet. It will be a major force in the way our business is conducted across the board, from majors to independents, from retail chains to independent retail-

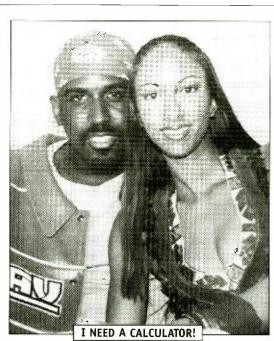

Obviously, there are more labels in our industry than those listed in this column that have upcoming releases for the Urban formats. We wish all of them good fortune in their endeavors and hope we'll be of help to all of them and to you in the new millennium.

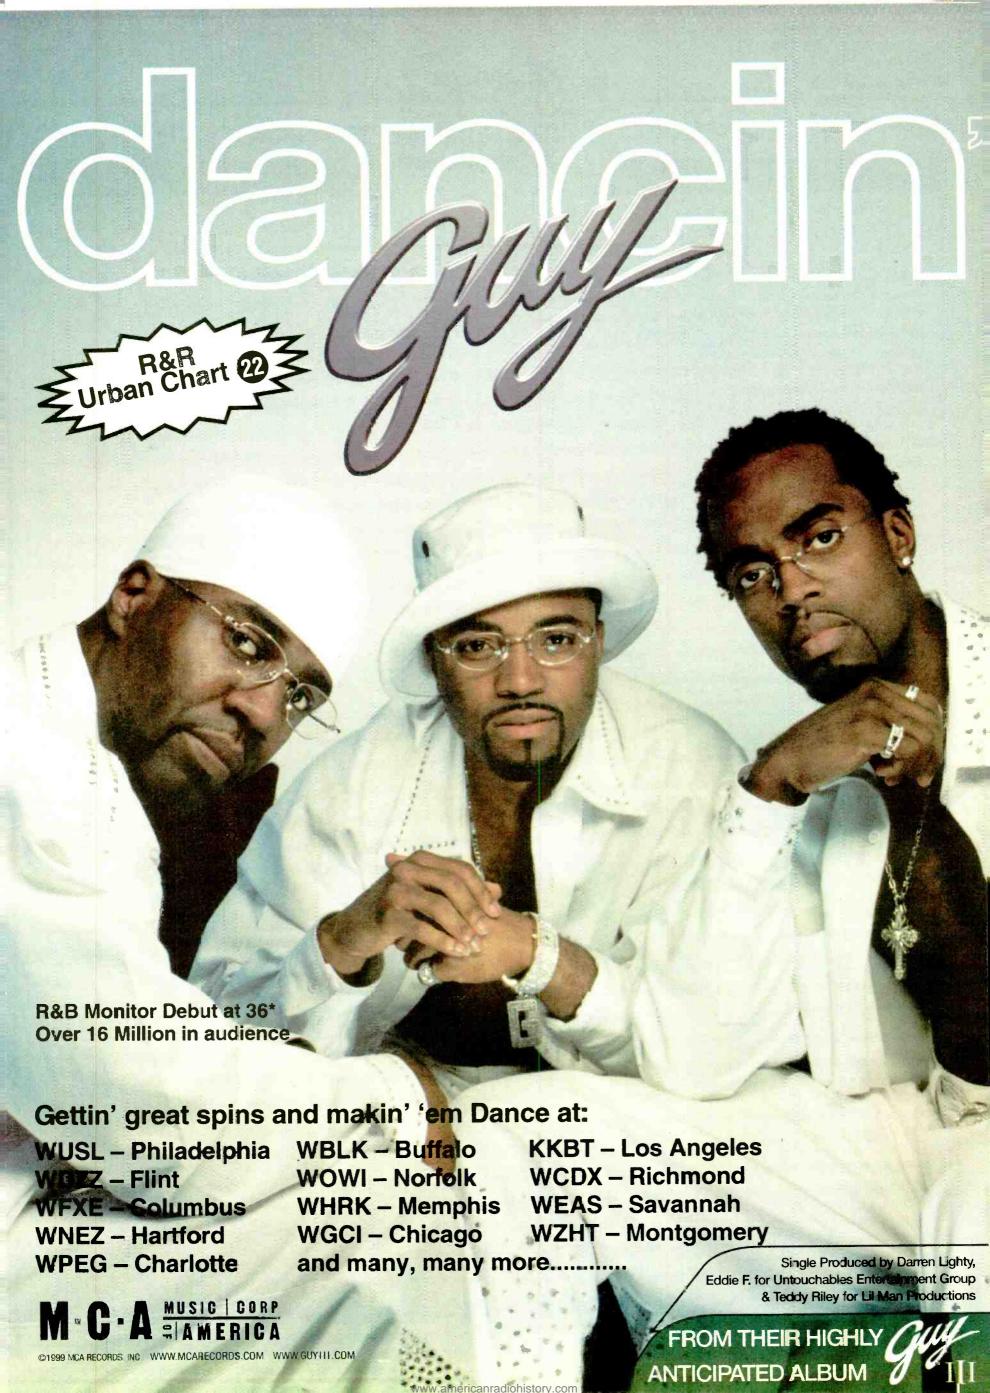

Producer/rapper/songwriter/singer (did I forget any other title?) Missy "Misdemeanor" Elliott (second from l) catches up with Las Vegas' own female trio, 702, at a recent event. Hmm, could the supertalented Elliott be working on material for the ladies?

Jive recording artist Marc Dorsey snuggles up to actress LisaRaye at The Wood premiere in Columbia recording artist Marc Nelson and DreamWorks recording artist Solé have a combined total of 30 when you add the titles of their current singles together. Nelson's "15 Minutes" and Solé's "4, 5, 6" are both among the top 30 songs on the Urban chart.

BREAKDOWN

TRACK: "GOODTIME" LABEL: HOLY ROLLER

n Nov. 4 R&R held its first Urban Summit, at Le Meridien Hotel in L.A. The evening turned out great. Attendance was good, communication was very active (thanks to Epic Director/Operations Maurice Warfield), and the veggie spring rolls were excellent. As the evening was coming to a close, I got my first taste of what a PD goes through at a convention. Holy Roller President Brian Peters stopped me and said, "So, Tanya, when are you going to profile my record?" I tried to be patient and said, "I don't know; I get a lot of music." Then he asked, "Have you listened to it?" I was out of patience, "No." "Have you seen the video?" he asked. "No," I replied, thinking, "Where did I leave my drink?" So Peters, being the tenacious person that he is, said, "I'll get you the video." And he did, along with another copy of the CD.

I had heard Brent Jones & The T.P. Mobb on KJLH one night and had actually really liked the song. But by the next day some other single caught my attention and, alas, "Goodtime" would have to wait a week to be broken down. Then came another week, and another week, until finally Peters cornered me and reminded me of a great inspirational tune that needed to be profiled. The wait is over.

Once I pop "Goodtime" into my CD player, I'm feeling like the intro is directed at me. Talking about going through some bad times and feeling like you're the only one to ever experience such despair hits the nail on the head for me. I'm hooked, and I continue to pay close attention to the message being revealed.

"I can see you had a bad day..." (ain't that the truth!) is the first line Jones sings, opening up the "conversation." I don't know if it's me or what, but listening to this song, it was as if Jones himself was sitting right next to me, offering emotional support. (Mental note: Increase Prozac dosage.) With a soft yet strong voice, Jones requests that you "Kick off your shoes and relax your feet/He's the only one who can give you peace." And then he confidently proclaims, "We're gonna have a good time/Everything will be alright/He'll turn your midnight, sunshine/ Lay your burdens down/Let me see you smile."

With the purpose of easing spiritual pain, "Goodtime" provides an encouraging, inspirational message, transported by an R&B/hip-hop track that definitely grabs your attention. Though we've heard its theme many times before, sometimes when you're already so far down, the advice goes unheard and is often ignored. But when people like Brent Jones and Kirk Franklin add an upbeat flow to the message, for some strange reason it starts to make a stronger impression. Perhaps God uses our love of music in its different genres to continually spread inspiration and faith. Or maybe it's because we fall into the groove of the beat, and the message becomes subliminal. I can't call it. Peace.

— Tanya O'Quinn Asst. Urban Editor

S.O.U.R.C.E.
"Oooh!"
(Dreamland/Innocent)

with Frankie Ross

Air Talent — KJLH/Los Angeles

Remember René & Angela? Yarbrough & Peoples? Marvin Gaye & Tammi Terrell? A record just crossed my path that has just as much passion and intensity as an Ashford & Simpson ballad. It's a male-female duet called "Oooh!" by S.O.U.R.C.E. This single has a great melody and lyrical content and, most of all, sincerity. I'm a bit overwhelmed by this record, because I prefer ballads that are much more groove-oriented. Since the music in my time slot caters to females and lovers, it would be an injustice to them not to roll this record. A lot of music today lacks heart and conviction — not all, but some. What happened? It's true that Urban radio is inundated with syrupy ballads, but I guess ballads are easier to make. However, now and then a song comes along that makes you stop to take a second, third and fourth listen. "Oooh!" is a ballad that was written and recorded by design for Urban radio. It's already generating instant phones.

Why on earth would you let one research it?

You need quality callout information to make the right airplay and rotation decisions for your radio station. If you're relying on out-of-house callout for answers, you might find yourself lulled into a false sense of security.

After all, how can anyone outside your market possibly relate to your audience, or adhere to your screening and recruiting parameters, week after week?

They can't. That's why your programming originates locally, why you schedule your music in-house, and also, why you should consider seizing control of your weekly callout research, and deploying it in-house as well.

Nobody pays attention to detail or cares about the success of your station as much as your own staff.

And ComQuest Callout makes it easy to produce reliable, accurate callout music and perceptual results, week after week. With the control and flexibility you can only enjoy with in-house callout.

ComQuest is a turnkey hassle-free system we install at your station. Thanks to Interactive Voice Response technology, you'll realize efficiency gains that make ComQuest less costly than manual in-house callout, and less than half as much as out-of-house callout. Phone, fax or e-mail today for a free proposal.

A PIONEERING NEW CONCEPT HAS BEEN BORN.

Inspiration Jam flows with an exciting two hours of contemporary Gospel creatively beat mixed with a sprinkling of classics by America's top mixers. It's a great way to program something hip and positive that is exclusive to the urban format, something CHR/Rhythm radio cannot steal or own.

"Farley 'Jackmaster' Funk is a pioneer of house music in Chicago. With his conversion to follow the Lord, his decision to promote the Lord's music in his own style makes perfect sense. This new invention could be the start of something that could revolutionize radio programming on the gospel and secular side with its application in a fresh, exciting, mix format. It's a great way to start your day off positively, as a lunchtime special, or as a dynamic supplement to your Sunday morning lineup."

"Country radio needs to be aggressive in taking ownership of its superstars who cross over."

Norbert Nix

The Changing Landscape Of Airplay And Adds

☐ Haley, Nix and Wilson discuss promotion for artists of all levels

horter playlists, fewer adds, programmers holding onto records longer — there's no doubt the landscape for adding and playing music has changed radically in the last few months.

Whether it's songs by stars, mid-level artists or new acts, labels and radio alike have had to adjust their strategies and attitudes when it comes to breaking acts and creating stars for the format. As part of R&R's New Music Guide, we have a full list of the singles being released for the remainder of this year and the first quarter of 2000. But to kick things off, I talked with VPs/Promotion David Haley of MCA/Nashville, Norbert Nix of Mercury/Nashville and Mike Wilson of RCA/ Nashville about what they face when taking new music - by artists on every level — to the radio marketplace.

Superstars

As you may have noticed by recent chart activity, superstars no longer get a free ride — if, in fact, they ever did. Declining cume and slumping TSL have made programmers more discriminating than ever, and labels are feeling the need to promote superstars with the same zeal with which they call your attention to new art-

MCA/Nashville is blessed with a number of true superstars on its roster. Haley notes, "It's always been a myth that superstars get airplay and labels don't have to do much promotion to achieve platinum sales or to get No. 1s. In today's climate we've clearly seen that each single has to stand on its own. There's a lot of work involved to ensure that we're keeping pace with the best past performances of each artist.

It's a whole other task to keep a superstar from sliding from his or her lofty perch. Haley says of MCA's superstars. "The artists we're involved with are certainly going to continue to be around. because they want to be around. Reba McEntire is always thinking of ways to reinvent herself and makes every effort to get the best songs available. George Strait told me he's been more into music the last couple of years than at any point in his career in terms of listening for songs and spending even more time with each cut he's going to put on the album.

"Trisha Yearwood has been in the studio for the March release of her new album and has recorded over 20 songs. She's been soulsearching over where she wants to be musically, and she and Garth Fundis have been on a massive song search. Vince Gill hasn't gone into the studio for his next album vet, but he still has the same intensity level he's always had in terms of making the best possible music out there. These artists are extremely focused on their music.'

Mercury's Nix says that nothing can be taken for granted when it comes to promotion, even with superstar acts. "In this environment we need to take the best possible song and send it to radio with a full-out assault of anything and everything we can do promotionally. Even with superstars, we have to provide all the support we can to make every single a winwin: It has to work on-the-air, and it has to sell records.

We have to take our best shot with absolutely every single release. Radio is smart enough that they're not just going to play everything. While superstars are given the benefit of the doubt and can get on the air relatively early in the record's life, the song has to be a hit to get into heavy rotation, and that's where it's going to sell records.'

Wilson says RCA is being more aggressive than ever in the promotion of superstar music. "We want to continue to grow our artists. If they're double-platinum, we want to take them to triple-platinum. But it's taking more and more ima song to research and to react at retail. We're always trying to keep our acts in front of everybody. Listeners have so many choices - the Internet. cable, TV, cell phones, etc. -

that you have to be more aggressive than ever, even with super-

He adds that the famous RCA "Bus Trips" aren't just for launching new artists, they're also part of the marketing plan for established acts. "We've had Martina McBride and Alabama out on promo tours this year, and we're out with Clint Black right now. He's spending an hour on a lot of stations, singing live, playing music from the new album, playing his harmonica and just generally having a lot of fun. It's a win-win for everybody. Country radio needs superstars on the air live, especially now, and we can keep these artists and their music top-of-mind to listeners.

Nix couldn't agree more, adding, "Radio needs superstar artists to win in their markets. They need star power. Winning for all of us is a combination of a hit song, star power and the promotional ability of a label to help bring it all together.

Nix also has strong feelings toward radio's use of stars. "Especially with artists who get significant airplay on other formats, like Shania Twain, Country radio needs to position itself as being the leader with Shania's music. They need to be proactive, not reactive. Play the new music first. Use the superstars' images in billboard and TV advertising. It's about Shania being a Country artist. The lion's share of her hits have been Country radio hits. It makes a lot more sense to do this than to complain about an artist crossing over and dropping their records. Country radio needs to be aggressive in taking ownership of its superstars who cross over.'

The Challenge Of Midlevel Artists

Artists who have a few years of hits and solid sales success often find themselves in an in-between purgatory they're not new, but they haven't ascended to the next level either.

Mercury's Nix declares this to be the most difficult level of artists to work. He says. "They've already been tagged as midlevel acts and have to almost overachieve to get to the next level. To make the transition, they must have a terrific new record that's different. It has to break the mold. They just can't come back with music that sounds like the hits that got them to the midlevel. If they do, they'll continue to be tagged as midlevel acts.

What's Next?

If you were under the impression that a lull is approaching in country labels' release schedules, think again. The year may be winding down, but Nashville's music machine is hard at work preparing new singles and albums by superstars, established veterans and newcomers.

As we move toward the year 2000, perhaps the future can best be foretold by looking at the labels' new signings and taking a quick glance at some projects in the works from veteran acts. Here's part of what you can expect to cross your desk in the months ahead:

Arista

Arista's promotion department has begun the push for Phil Vassar, whose debut release, "Carlene," has already hit the R&R Country Singles chart. A Lynchburg, VA native, Vassar's impressive list of songwriting credits includes Tim McGraw's "For a Little While," BlackHawk's "Postmarked Birmingham" and Collin Raye's "Little Red Rodeo." Other Vassar-penned hits include Alan Jackson's "Right on the Money" and Jo Dee Messina's "Bye Bye" and "I'm Alright," all of which reached No. 1 on the singles chart. Vassar has a writer's credit on all 11 songs on his upcoming self-titled debut album, which was produced by Byron Gallimore.

Next year Arista will also be introducing Carolyn Dawn Johnson, a former Martina McBride background vocalist whose songwriting credits include Chely Wright's "Single White Female."

Asylum

Andice, TX native Chad Austin's debut single, "All My Dreams," and his album of the same title are both set for first-quarter release. Austin cowrote one track for the album, which also features tunes by some of Nashville's finest songwriters, including Royce Porter, Dean Dillon, Mark D. Sanders, Ed Hill, Bat McGrath and John Jarrard. Austin's album was produced by Jerry Taylor and Dale Dodson.

Atlantic

The recent change in leadership at Atlantic prompted some changes in the label's roster, but look for serious support behind new artist Craig Morgan. Born in Dickson, TN, the singer/songwriter takes a traditional approach to country. Morgan is still working on his debut album, which is set to arrive in the first quarter of 2000.

Also at Atlantic, Tracy Lawrence's long-awaited album, Lessons Learned, arrives in February.

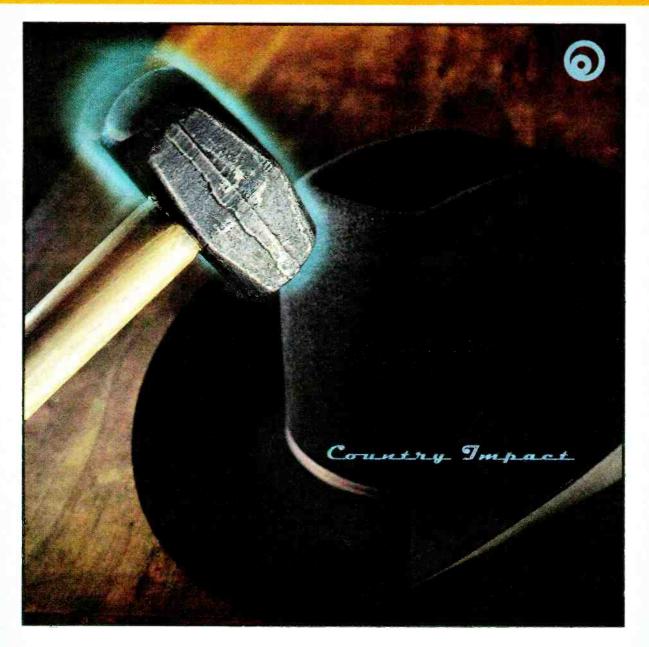

BNA

In addition to newcomer Jennifer Day, whose debut album, The Fun of Your Love, arrives during the first quarter, BNA recently signed former Lonestar member John Rich to a solo deal. A bassist who shared lead

Mac Daniels, Program Director WMZQ-Washington D.C.

"Don't get me wrong. Midlevel artists are great assets to a label. They sell records. But we're trying to make them into superstars, so we can sell millions of records. Keith Stegall and the incredible

A&R department come up with the songs that have the potential to break these acts to the next level. For us, it's about enhancing the image and stepping out musically to get them to superstar status."

becoming increasingly scarce. Says Haley, "There just aren't as many tours available for these artists to work, and there aren't as many venues — especially smaller clubs — as there used to be for live country music. And, like everything else, the costs of taking a band on the road have gone up and are higher than ever. The lack of touring opportunities is a serious obstacle in getting artists known."

The lack of touring opportunities has resulted in an even greater willingness for new acts to seek exposure on their own, according to Haley. "We're seeing midlevel artists being more open to promotional opportunities with individual stations. They're more aware of the importance of making visits to radio and getting in front of fans when they're in local markets. There are few opportunities that we present to artists that they take a pass on."

Wilson has recent firsthand knowledge of taking an artist from mid- to top-level stardom, pointing out that over the last 18 months that's what RCA has been able to do with Martina McBride. He says RCA seeks to achieve the same with Tracy Byrd, How do you take an act to that elusive next level? "We're looking to partner with radio every way we can to create events, whether it's during an act's promo tour or regular tour. We're always looking to explore new ways to get the artist in front of people. For instance, in Seattle we teamed with radio to have lunch with 300 Boeing employees, and our artist played for them at the plant."

And, as always, Wilson says the music has to be right. "With the charts slowing down, we only get two to 2 1/2 singles a year. So you have to make sure you have the right singles. Not that you could ever afford to miss with a single, but now it's critical that you don't miss with a midlevel artist."

Raising The Babies

Ahh, the baby acts. Arista President Tim DuBois is fond of saying, "I love baby acts. They're so cute at that age. They'll do everything you ask them to do." While that certainly holds true for a time—at least until the first 5 million or so albums are sold—it takes a lot more than just a willingness to visit radio and play tons of fan appreciation shows to make it happen.

Says RCA's Wilson, "Introducing a new artist today means having a great album when you go out and start to promote. It used to be you could get by with one or two great songs. Today you'd better be able to show radio five or six songs that could be singles, so you can show them that this is a major commitment and not just something you signed and are throwing against the wall to see if it sticks."

Nix agrees, noting, "The way things have changed, new artists not only have to have one smash record, they have to have a lineup of three hit singles in a row to break through. Mark Wills had three No. I singles in a row, and then it was off to the races, because his voice and name became familiar to listeners. As that happened, he busted from being a new artist into being a platinum-selling artist. It's much more of a building process today than it was in the early '90s. We don't think of an album as 'two singles and we're done.

Haley also sees videos becoming a more important tool than they've been recently in breaking new acts. "Videos are a must for any new artist. I see them having an effect on Country radio airplay again, something I haven't felt for a long time.

vocal duties in Lonestar, Rich left the band following the release of 1997's Crazy Nights. Rich's first solo single could arrive as early as the first quarter, but no release date has been set for his album.

BNA's first-quarter single schedule includes Lorrie Morgan's "To Get to You," a new track from her upcoming greatest hits album. Album releases include the all-star compilation St. Jude's Country Cares for Kids II.

Columbia

In January look for newcomer Tara Lyn Hart's debut single, "Mine All Mine." Born in Canada, Hart was performing in public by the time she was in junior high. At 17 she won a talent contest that resulted in a recording that eventually made its way to Sony Music/Canada executives. Her debut album, Stuff That Matters, is on Columbia's first-quarter schedule. The album was produced by several Nashville veterans, including Josh Leo, Tom Shapiro and Dann Huff. Other tracks were produced by Peter Asher (Linda Ronstadt, James Taylor) and Walter Afanasief (Celine Dion).

Tara Lyn Hart

In other news from Sony/Nashville, veteran hitmaker John Anderson is now working on an album set for release later next year. However, Sony still hasn't determined whether Anderson will record for Columbia, Epic or Monument.

Capitol

Aside from the Nov. 23 release of Garth Brooks and the Magic of Christmas, no albums are set to be released through the first quarter. The Capitol promotion department is currently planning its release schedule for the first part of 2000.

Curt

The first quarter will bring self-titled debut albums by Steve Holy and Shane McAnally, along with Trini Triggs' second album. The Curb promotion team is still finalizing its plans for singles impacting after the first of the year.

DreamWorks

Late in the first quarter DreamWorks will be servicing the first single from Darryl Worley. The singer/songwriter is still working on his debut album, which is produced by Frank Rogers, who got his start as a producer with Brad Paisley's debut album. DreamWorks has also signed two newcomers — Bill Luther and Rick Ferrell — who each make their debut later in 2000.

Louisiana-born singer/songwriter Lisa Angelle got some attention with the single and video for "I Wear Your Love." Her DreamWorks debut album, Twisted, is set for first-quarter release. Later in the year look for Jeff Foxworthy's first album since signing to DreamWorks.

Epic

Shana Petrone's debut album, Something Real, is the only title on Epic's first-quarter release schedule. The 24-year-old singer arrived in Nashville after drummer/producer Alex Torrez "discovered" her as an extra on a Tracy Lawrence video filmed in Petrone's home state of Florida. She got her deal at Epic after she sang an a cappella version of "King of the Road" for Sony Music/Nashville VP/A&R Blake Chancey. Petrone's album was produced by Torrez, Chancey and Chuck Ainley.

Giant

Giant's latest signing is Blake Shelton, a singer/songwriter from Oklahoma whose debut album is being produced by songwriter Bobby Braddock. Considering that Braddock's song credits include George Jones' "He Stopped Loving Her Today," expect a decidedly traditional tone to Shelton's album. The album release date is undecided, but Shelton's debut single should arrive during the first quarter.

Giant is also continuing its launch of newcomer Georgia Middleman, whose debut album is due early next year. In the meantime the label is also gearing up for the first single from the Wilkinsons' second album. Both are due in the first quarter.

Lyric Street

Top priority is being given to Sonya Isaacs, whose new single, "I've Forgotten How You Feel," goes for adds in December. Vince Gill produced her self-titled debut album, set for first-quarter release. Rascal

Sonya Isaacs

Flatts, a new trio, release a debut single in the first quarter, followed by the second-quarter release of their debut album. The all-male group consists of two cousins and another member who have played in Chely Wright's road band.

The fact that we're getting a longer window to work a new single means less chance of putting out a video for a single that goes away in a few weeks. That helps make them a viable tool again.'

Citing another example from his roster to make the point of how working a new artist is different in today's environment, Nix points to the way

Mercury has worked Shane Minor. "We've had two top 20s, and we think that's a success in today's environment. That's a track record. Two top 20s are a good start now, where in previous days some labels may have pulled off an act, thinking that wasn't good enough.

'We feel good about it, because we know the album has depth, and we're all - radio included - just waiting for that one song on the CD that becomes a huge hit and breaks him through. But we've been building the base and establishing familiarity — he's built a name in programmers' minds, and the listeners know who he is.'

Working hard on your own behalf has long been part and parcel of being a new artist. But, Wilson notes, "Today's new act has to be better prepared than ever to handle interviews and work hard. The old radio promo tour can wear on you, but they have to be prepared for that too. There's a short window in which to get started, and you don't want to miss it. You have to show radio you have something special, that the act has a great chance of cutting through and the station ought to be part of it."

Nix adds, "What also helps is that many of today's new acts are like extra promotion people. Shane has established himself at radio by working very hard. The new breed of artist help their own cause by having great personalities. It really helps as they build relationships with radio programmers, who have to feel comfortable with the artist."

All three VPs are most pleased to find an ever-widening window for breaking new acts at radio. Says Nix, "One of the fortunate things for us in the way the chart has changed is that it has given new artists an opportunity to grow. Instead of just debuting and then disappearing after a few weeks, radio is giving the best new artists a shot and giving them time to grow."

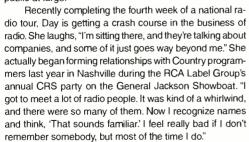

Haley agrees, adding, "We're getting time to create local success stories and aren't under the gun to produce a certain number of adds each week. Stations aren't being scared off when a label has a two- or threestation add week. They will continue to play the record 25-30 times a week because it's working for them. The more accepting of this we can all be, the better off we'll be as a for-

A Brand-New Day

"Sometimes I'm really pumped, and I'm thinking, 'This album rocks. We're gonna rock the world.' But I guess there are always those little moments of doubt when you're like, 'Oh gosh, did I sing right today?"

Those are the words of BNA newcomer Jennifer Day, whose debut single, "The Fun of Your Love," goes for adds on 12/6. The Florida native co-wrote the song with Annie Roboff and Beth Nielsen Chapman, whose credits include Faith Hill's "This Kiss." And while the future appears to be extremely bright for Day, she's the first to admit a new artist's anxiety as she waits to see how her music is accepted by radio and the public at large.

For Day, the radio contacts are as important as her music. She says, "I'm a big perfectionist. I want everything to be perfect and to make sure I'm keeping up with everything that's going on." Being a new artist on the brink of releasing a debut single always results in uncertainty, but Day is counting on BNA's expertise when it comes to future plans, such as concert tours. She says, "I don't even know if they're planning it yet. We've had a few requests when we've visited radio stations. I still have to get a band together. I think we'll just take it one step at a time. That's basically how the label has been doing everything, and it's very comforting. It's not like I'm not bombarded by all these things. I don't feel a lot of pressure. I'm just taking it as it comes, and I'm looking forward to whatever happens in the future.

"I'm just going to believe in myself and love my music. As long as I feel in my heart that I love what I'm doing, it will come across. It comes across in the album. I'm just going to keep a positive attitude."

What's Next?

Also in the works at the Disney-owned label is new signing Cortney Kayle, a 21-year-old Canadian. Producer David Malloy (Reba McEntire, Mindy McCready) is handling the project, but there's no word on when the first single will be released.

ENTER A REPORT OF THE PROPERTY

Sons Of The Desert, who left Epic to join the MCA roster, are working on their first album for their new label. Mark Wright and Tony Brown are co-producing the project, which is on the second-quarter release schedule. Coming in the first quarter are debut albums by Alecia Elliott (I'm Diggin' It) and Rebecca Lynn Howard (When My Dreams Come True)

In terms of established acts, there's big news at MCA. Although the titles have not been determined, December brings the first singles from new albums by George Strait (a greatest hits collection) and Trisha Yearwood. Both albums are set for first-quarter release. MCA's second-quarter album releases include new titles from Vince Gill and

Mercury

The new year finds Mercury introducing two new acts — Eric Heatherly and Little BigTown. Heatherly, a native of Chattanooga, has been performing in clubs since he was a teenager. After touring the U.S. and Canada for more than three years, he moved to Nashville in 1990. Four years later he signed his first publishing deal with Barbara Orbison's Still Working Music. He continued to perform every Tuesday night at Tootsie's Orchid Lounge, the legendary bar on Nashville's Lower Broadway. A formidable guitarist, Heatherly categorizes his music as "blue collar." Heatherly's debut album was produced by Mercury Sr. VP/A&R Keith Stegall. The first single ar-

Little Big Town is a quartet consisting of Karen Fairchild, Kimberly Roads, Phillip Sweet and Jimi Westbrook, who come from small towns in Georgia, Arkansas and Alabama. The group has already opened concerts for Martina McBride, Dwight Yoakam and George Jones. Mercury President Luke Lewis announced their signing after the quartet performed on The Grand Ole Opry. No album or single release dates have been finalized for the project, produced by Dann Huff.

Proving that you can mine a lot of singles from a multiplatinum album, the 10th single from Shania Twain's Come on Over will be serviced in January. Additionally, Mercury has set a Nov. 23 release date for a new version of Twain's Come on Overconsisting of international mixes.

Wynonna's New Day Dawning — her first for Curb/ Mercury — will be released in January. Wynonna and Naomi Judd have recorded four new songs, but it's uncertain whether the new Judds tracks will appear on New Day Dawning.

Monument

Monument's flagship act-The Dixie Chicks — has a third single from the album Fly sometime in the first quarter. New to the label, however, are Wade Haves and Danni Leigh. Haves, who moved from Columbia to its sister label's Monument/DKC Music imprint, was recently collaborating with Ronnie Dunn for the new project. Leigh was on Decca when the label closed, but her first Monument album is produced by Richard Bennett (whose credits include Steve Earle's Guitar Town). Initial singles from Hayes and Leigh are due in the first quarter, with a second-quarter date set for their new albums.

Virgin

 $While \ continuing \ to \ promote \ Jerry \ Kilgore, \ whose \ second \ single, ``The \ Look,'' goes \ for \ adds \ next \ month, \ the \ Virgin \ and \ single,'' and \ sin$ team is also excited about another newcomer, Clay Davidson, whose songs have been recorded by Montgomery Gentry and Matt King. The Saltville, VA native was a successful demo singer in Nashville when a friend invited him to an outdoor party hosted by Virgin President Scott Hendricks. The gathering also included pop songwriter/producer Jude Cole. Davidson didn't realize he was auditioning for a record deal when he was asked to sing while the party's attendees gathered around a bonfire. Davidson's singing got the attention of Hendricks and Cole, who are coproducing Davidson's debut album. No word on when to expect the album or its first single.

Warner/Reprise

The titles remain TBD, but Warner Bros.' first quarter will provide the second single from Faith Hill's Breathe and the first single from Chad Brock's sophomore album. During the same time span Reprise trio Lace will be releasing the second single from their debut album. No new Warner/Reprise albums are currently set for release before April.

Garth Brooks Garth Brooks & The Magic Of Christmas (Capitol)

Garth Brooks' first holiday album, Beyond the Season, released seven years ago, sold more than 3 million copies worldwide. The music on his new holiday collection isn't exactly country, but it doesn't rock like the Chris Gaines album either. For the new project Brooks has opted for a classic sound that should make this album a seasonal staple for years to come. And while Garth Brooks & The Magic of Christmas has been described as a big band album, that only tells part of the story. The big band sound is certainly evident on "Let It Snow," "Sleigh Ride" and "(There's No Place Like) Home for the Holidays," but Brooks covers a wide range of styles. He sings with a smaller ensemble to swing through "White Christmas" and "Winter Wonderland" and moves to a more lush string background for "God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen" and "Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas." Several tracks feature choirs, including "Go Tell It on the Mountain" and the heavier gospel "Baby Jesus Is Born," which also features the soulful sound of a Hammond B-3 organ. There are subtler moments, too, including "The Christmas Song," set to a sparse acoustic guitar accompaniment. There's even an instrumental track, "The Wise Men's Journey," written and performed by keyboardist Bobby Wood. A holiday TV special, also titled Garth Brooks & The Magic of Christmas, airs Dec. I on NBC-TV. The show was taped in New York City and features guest appearances by Trisha Yearwood, Tony Bennett and Natalie Cole.

Keith Harling Bring It On (Giant)

Keith Harling was enjoying the life of a country music newcomer in 1998 with the release of his MCA debut album, Write It in Stone, and a hit single, "Papa Bear." That changed suddenly when the Universal Music Group gained control of PolyGram, resulting in the abolition of UMG's Decca imprint and several departures from the combined Decca/MCA rosters. Harling admits, "I wasn't sure what to do. We put the word out that we were looking for a new deal, and Giant Records called us almost immediately." So for his second album — his first for Giant — Harling went into the studio with two producers, Giant/Nashville President Doug Johnson and John Hobbs. The collaboration paid off, as Harling explains: "I've always heard about the pressure of recording your sophomore album, but I had so much fun in the studio with Doug and John that I didn't even think about that. Both of these guys are so into the music part of the business. They gave me the freedom to make an album that represents who I am as an artist." He adds, "I think the new album best reflects who I am — who I have been all these years — struggling, playing in bars and clubs. Although 'Papa Bear' is probably one of my favorites of the songs I've written, I'm especially proud of my second album. It builds from where

'Papa Bear' started." Although Harling didn't write any of the songs on Bring It On, he says, "Each song on this album makes an emotional and musical connection with me. I picked each of them because I truly felt they were the best songs to represent who I am."

Reba McEntire So Good Together (MCA)

Of her 26th album, So Good Together, Reba McEntire says, "When you listen to this CD, you'll notice several different attitudes. On this recording I worked with three different producers, where in the past I have only worked with one." McEntire has worked with producers Tony Brown and David Malloy before, but this marks her first studio venture with Keith Stegall. McEntire explains, "Working with these three talented men was exciting and made the song search completely different than on any project I've done in the past. They were at completely different places in their personal lives, which affected the types of songs they were passionate about. On past recordings, when it was just myself and one producer selecting songs, the songs tended to reflect our opinions and what we were going through at that time in our lives. I feel the song selection on this CD is very balanced between sad songs, love songs and music that just makes you feel good." When you've sold more than 40 million units during your career, you tend to get pitched songs from Nashville's finest songwriters. That is evident on So Good Together, which features material written by Annie Roboff, Tom Shapiro, Bob DiPiero, Melba Montgomery, Leslie Satcher, Dean Dillon, Chuck Jones and others. Among the highlights are "I'll Be" (written by Diane Warren) and a new version of Boz Scaggs' "We're All Alone," a pop hit for Rita Coolidge. McEntire's recording features the Brazil-

KZLA/Los Angeles' 2nd Annual Country Cookout, featuring 16 live country acts and a huge outdoor barbecue, was held at the Universal Amphitheater Sunday, Oct. 24. The sold-out show was headlined by CMA Female Vocalist Of The Year Martina McBride and provided fans with hours of live indoor and outdoor entertainment. On her way to the stage McBride stops for a quick photo op with KZLA staffers. Seen here (l-r) are Asst. Event Coordinator Claudia Divito, APD/MD Mandy McCormack, McBride, Promotions Manager Eric Zanelli and OM Marida Petitjean.

New Tunes For A New Millennium

■ Music due from core artists and format newcomers

t's six weeks and counting to Y2K. With that in mind, I chatted with several key record company promotion executives to see what's in the pipeline for the rest of the year and the first part of 2000. We also discussed format nuances and direction.

It appears we'll be getting a good mix of familiar core artists, as well as hearing from some emerging stars. Several of the titles noted below are already getting some airplay.

Not Taking A Back Seat

Ever since "Quit Playing Games (With My Heart)" debuted at No. 25 on the AC chart 2 1/2 years ago (7/18/97), The Backstreet Boys have solidified their position as format staples. "Quit Playing Games (With My Heart)" peaked 13 weeks later in the runner-up position, and the group's follow-up, "As Long as You Love Me," posted seven consecutive weeks at No. 4.

Exactly one year after "Quit Playing" surfaced in AC, the five-member boy band returned with another heart-themed song, "I'll Never Break Your Heart." That title would ultimately reside in the top spot for seven straight weeks. "All I Have to Give" was their fourth successive top 10 AC hit, reaching No. 7, and "I Want It That Way" became the group's second No. 1, with six nonconsecutive weeks atop R&R's AC chart.

Ironically, in each of these five cases The Backstreet Boys performed better in the upper-demotargeted AC format than in Hot AC. In fact, the Boys haven't yet cracked Hot AC's top 10: With two successive weeks at No. 11, "I Want It That Way" is Backstreet's best Hot AC chart performance.

Slated for the first week in January, the ballad "Show Me the Meaning of Being Lonely" will be the group's sixth format single: "It's a very powerful song," remarks Jive

National Promotion Manager/AC Karen McLellan. "It gave me chills when they did it in their concert show. This is the last song they'd written with their former producer before he died of cancer last year. It's an incredibly intense song with a beautiful meaning, a great lyric and great melody. I really think it's going to be huge at AC."

When McLellan first listened to "Quit Playing Games (With My Heart)," she could easily envision it being played on ACs such as WLTW/New York. "Many ACs will play mid-tempo songs as long as they're not too wild. It's catchy, and I knew adult females could relate to the lyrics."

Programmers told her the song sounded great on the air. "When it was given a shot, the song grew and stayed on the chart for months. This is a band with a teen-level base. 'As Long as You Love Me' was so huge for this format, and 'I'll Never Break Your Heart' was almost like a gimme. We really believed it would be a No. 1 record in AC, and it was. That was the first No. 1 for The Backstreet Boys in any format.

"It's not the year 2000 that's any different; we're just moving on. We had more technology in the '90s than we did in the '80s and more in the '80s than in the '70s. The Internet is another part of that — bring it on."

Rob Dillman

We're proud because that's what has set them apart from past groups like New Kids On The Block. The New Kids never had strong adult airplay like this."

Perhaps Backstreet's appeal, McLellan theorizes, has something to do with moms relating to the group's songs. She also comments, "Dads know the songs because they drive kids to school as they listen to the CD. Parents and kids sing the songs together at Backstreet Boys concerts; this is a family group. It's a pretty cool thing that my 40-year-old brother and his 14-year-old daughter both love The Backstreet Boys."

The term "boy band" is probably a misnomer in this case, as one group member, Kevin Richardson, is in his mid- or late 20s. "I've sat down and talked to these guys, and they know they play good music that's enjoyed by many demographics," comments McLellan. "They don't just cater to a niche teen audience. They're very happy that adult radio's embraced them the way it has."

More Heartache

Teen pop sensation Britney Spears is another Jive artist who enjoyed AC success, with "Sometimes" (20 chart weeks, peaking at No. 10). "...Baby One More Time" spent seven nonsuccessive weeks on the Hot AC chart, topping out with two weeks at No. 27. Spears' next single, "From the Bottom of My Broken Heart," is a ballad set for January release. "Britney has some punch out there, and this is a very pretty song," notes McLellan. "We seem to have better luck with mid-tempo stuff, but hopefully we'll get some good exposure on the AC end."

"You know there's a direction change going on at the format when Lite AC PDs don't play something because they think it's too slow. That's an adjustment for all of us."

Karen McLellan

Ballads by even some core AC artists, McLellan finds, are no longer automatic hits. "Adult radio has been moving in the direction of more popular songs that are not just ballads. That's where there's an adjustment period for all of us. In many ways I'm happy to hear and see that."

R. Kelly's "If I Could Turn Back the Hands of Time" proved to be an especially interesting challenge for her. "It's a beautiful record, but many programmers didn't want to go near it. They told me it was just too slow. It drove me nuts, because it did fantastically wherever it was played. Some stations said it was the most requested song they'd had in some time. But you know there's a direction change going on at the format when Lite AC PDs don't play something because they think it's too slow. They said they wanted mid-tempo stuff, didn't want to continue playing ballads and needed something more exciting. That's an adjustment for all of us.

Another Jive release, Michael W. Smith's "This Is Your Time" (roughly set for Jan. 16) was born of the Littleton, CO tragedy. "The lyrics are beautiful, and there's a great message in it," McLellan explains. 'You only hope it will catch on, but people will have to see it. We have an EPK with a video that will first have to go to programmers and consultants. Without a full background of what the song's about, I don't think people will get it. Programmers who pop it in the CD player and listen to it in the background will probably never play it on the air, because it's too slow. It's definitely more lyric-driven.'

McLellan will be feeding it out in certain key markets, including Denver, Atlanta and Dallas. "Our staff has to visit as many stations as possible and make programmers watch the video and hope they have an open mind to let this song be heard. This is the most applicable format for this song; we'll see what happens. Some slower ballads and lyric-driven songs aren't getting an opportunity because they don't have enough tempo."

New Champion

What can superstar Phil Collins possibly do for an encore? Only a few weeks ago his "You'll Be in My Heart" established a new R&R AC record with 19 weeks at No. 1.

"This second release ["Strangers Like Me"] is much more uptempo," comments Hollywood Director/Promotion Rob Dillman. "It opens the door and makes him more viable than he's been in the last decade — and his older library material is testing better. It firmly puts him back at the top of the adult charts, where he's always been in the past. It makes him viable in 1999 and beyond. Great artists and great music don't go away."

While "You'll Be in My Heart" received Hot AC and even some CHR/Pop airplay, AC was clearly the format where it enjoyed the greatest strength. "We're exposing Phil Collins to an audience that probably isn't very familiar with him," contends Dillman. "It just reminded the audience that is familiar with him how awesome he is."

The label would certainly be delighted if "Strangers Like Me" — which is also from the Tarzan soundtrack — were to also zoom all the way to the top, but Dillman says, "I don't think anyone expects we'll spend 19 weeks at No. 1. We totally anticipate, however, that this will be a strong record for Phil. If we're fortunate enough to enjoy some of the success that we had on the first one, we'd be thrilled. No one would be disappointed if this one were to be No. 1 for 17 weeks."

With 24 first-week adds and debuting at No. 21, it's off to a great start.

Secretive Single

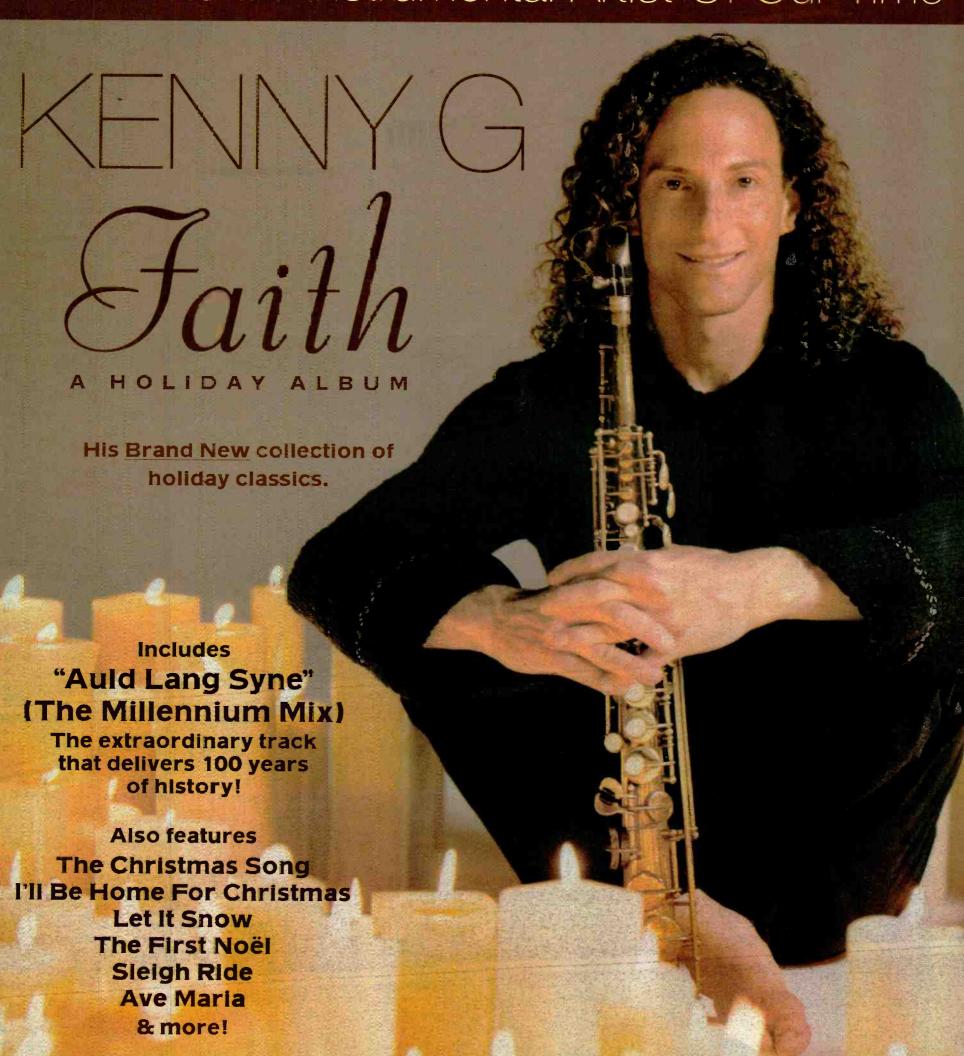

Along with the veteran Collins, Hollywood also has high hopes for a recording newcomer. But Gwyneth Paltrow is hardly a stranger to the entertainment industry at large. "As far as I know, this will be her first-ever release," notes Dillman.

Very little is actually known about the song, other than that it will be from the forthcoming movie Duets. There's some speculation that the Shakespeare in Love star will be paired with Babyface, but that's not a done deal. "People were floored when they heard her, and there's interest in signing her to a record deal. I don't know if that will be here of somewhere else, but there's a lot of interest in her. We don't even know if the track has been recorded yet. She auditioned for it like she would for a movie role."

As far as Dillman is concerned, his job of record promotion will pretty much remain the same in the new millennium. "Right down to the bone, we bring music to people's attention and make it visible. There'll continue to be a need for that, whether it's visible on the Internet, radio or television."

There are, of course, more and more ways to reach people today. "People will have more choices, but they do every decade anyway. It's not the year 2000 that's any different; we're just moving on. We had more technology in the '90s than we did in the '80s and more in the '80s than in the '70s. The Internet is another part of that — bring it on."

Other Hollywood artists who will shortly be "bringing it on" are the Chris Perez Band, with "Best I Can," and Duran Duran.

Tricky A Treat

Lou Bega's infectious "Mambo No. 5 (A Little Bit Of...)" is about to get some company, as RCA is set to release Bega's "Tricky, Tricky" in just over a week (11/29). "I was a little surprised at the positive response to 'Mambo' from Pop/Alternative," admits RCA National Director/Adult Top 40 Promotion Cheryl Khaner. "But they were some of the first stations in the country on it. It's one of those songs that makes you happy. The biggest surprise is how long it's lived. 'Mambo' has taken on a life of its own. I don't think I'd ever say we could match it, but the song will be surprisingly strong.

"Mambo" exploded on the Hot AC chart at No. 24 on Aug. 27 and landed in the top 10 three weeks later. Khaner explains how "Tricky, Tricky" — which is in the same musical vein as "Mambo" — was picked as the follow-up single. "Lou went on [Hot AC] WPLJ/New York, where [PD/morning co-host] Scott Shannon played several tracks and asked listeners to vote. Women just went nuts for 'Tricky, Tricky.'

"Bega's incredibly sweet, very humble and warm. He's a big star in Germany and is extremely excited about what's going on here. He's done some radio shows for me in Hot AC and in other formats. It's a little campy, but he's fabulous, and it's been a lot of fun."

Real Dreamboat

Christina Aguilera enjoyed a four-week No. 1 stint atop the CHR/Pop chart beginning 9/3, but "Genie in a Bottle" never inched past 27 in five nonconsecutive Hot AC weeks. "Whatever happened with that song at Hot AC happened naturally; we just shipped the record," Khaner points out. "Since it's so rhythmic-leaning, we made the decision not to go for it in Hot AC. She has some other tracks coming that will be right in the pocket for both mainstream AC and Hot AC."

The Diane Warren-written ballad "I Turn to You" is an example. "It should be a monster next year. 'Genie in a Bottle' was a great setup track and certainly a perfect CHR/Pop song; adults are really going to love her voice." Aguilera has also recorded "The Christmas Song," which is probably being received by AC and Hot AC programmers at this very moment.

Jeremy Toback's "You Make Me Feel" is, according to Khaner, "a fabulous song that tested well for stations that played it more than 400 times. That's a very difficult thing to accomplish in this current climate. I was disappointed that we didn't cross it all the way to Top 40, but we established a great base for him. He's made a lot of friends at radio. 'Perfect From the Start' has been every female's pick as the next single on the album. We're committed to him as an artist and will be there for him in 2000 with that song."

Staying Power

The Island Def Jam Music Group expects to have a new Lionel Richie CD ready early next year. That will be a reality when the talented singer/ songwriter puts the finishing touches on four more tracks. VP/AC Promotion Kerry Wood visited with the former Commodores member at WLTW/New York's huge 15th birthday bash (11/1), where Richie was one of the entertainers. "Lionel Richie is a fantastic entertainer," declares Wood. "[WLTW PDI Jim Ryan and his entire staff were all very impressed with the job Lionel did at the show.

Earlier this month the label released 10-time Grammy winner Alison Krauss' "Stay" to AC. "She's sold 4.5 million albums, and just about everyone knows she's a super-talented singer/songwriter/ musician. People have tremendous respect for her; she's had a very successful history."

The Baltimore band Jimmie's Chicken Shack has taken "Do Right" to the top 10 on R&R's Alternative chart, and Wood hopes to cross it to Pop/Alternative or Hot AC. "It's a fun, catchy, hooky record that gets instant reaction."

But the biggest problem Wood has with new artists in these formats is getting programmers to listen to their records. "When it's something from a well-known artist, PDs can't wait to put it on and take some chances. They're much more skeptical, however, when it's by a brandnew artist. They want to see who else will add it first. It's definitely harder when you're breaking allnew ground with no sales figures."

With five format smashes securely in her hip pocket, Shania Twain isn't in that category. While there's no concrete timetable regarding new material. Twain is headed back to the studio to make a new album. "Man! I Feel Like a Woman!" is the last single the label is working from her current CD. Come on Over. "It's already at 15 million units, and we haven't even hit the holidays yet," states Wood, who is also set to work forthcoming singles from Elton John, Melissa Etheridge, Bon Jovi and Kim Richey.

Celine Adds Tempo

Mention was made earlier in this column of Phil Collins' recordsetting 19-week No. I stay with "You'll Be in My Heart." Collins shattered the previous high of 17 weeks, held by Celine Dion's "Because You Loved Me."

But the Canadian diva is at it again, and "That's the Way It Is" (from her Greatest Hits CD) penetrated AC's top 10 in just its second chart week. "It's going to be a huge Christmas seller," remarks Epic's Debbie Cerchione. "It's really funny, because I was the one who first broke her."

While Dion is unquestionably as much of an AC core artist today as anyone, Cerchione recalls the frustration of trying to get programmers to play Dion's first single, "Where Does My Heart Beat Now?" "It was horrible; nobody wanted to play her. She was a new artist programmers didn't seem to care about. Even though no one will own up to it, that record broke out of AC."

Cerchione worked "Where Does My Heart Beat Now?" in the summer of 1990, and it became a No. 1 record on Jan. 11, 1991. Two more singles followed quickly, peaking at 6 and 18, but Dion's "Beauty and the Beast" duet with Peabo Bryson established her as a solid AC artist. Cerchione says working "That's the Way It Is" was "a piece of cake. People were just ready for another Celine record. Even though her 'I'm Your Angel' duet with R. Kelly is still around as a recurrent, it's not like there's Celine overkill.

"According to the Senior Executive Producer of her albums, John Doelp, this is the most impact she's ever had. Some people think her ballads do better than her midtempo records, but I don't really think she's released too many midtempo songs. That's another reason why this record did so well. It had a little tempo to it, so it appealed to Hot ACs as well. If this were a ballad, we would have struggled a bit at Hot AC."

Latka's On The Moon

There's considerable buzz about, Man on the Moon, the Jim Carreystarring film about Andy Kaufman that opens next month. R.E.M.'s "The Great Beyond" goes for adds Dec. 7 and is included on that soundtrack. "The reaction to this record has been phenomenal." states Warner Bros. National Director/AC Promotion Valarie; Moses. "They made a great R.E.M. record. Since it's a total pop song, we'll probably delay going for adds on mainstream AC until it breaks at Hot AC."

While predicting that the track will do well at CHR/Pop and Hot AC. Moses says she's actually somewhat sorry the song is from a movie. "It's always wonderful to get as much help as possible, but this is a great stand-alone pop song. We've been playing it for people for over a month, and the reaction we've been receiving is incredible. I can't remember a record getting this kind of feedback."

She finds there's a very big difference working Hot ACs and mainstream ACs. "There are a couple of a mainstream AC rules: A song has to be familiar or done by an established artist. Hot AC is a song-driven format. You can have a Goo Goo Dolls record; that goes to No. 1, but it might take forever for them to add the next Goo Goo Dolls song."

Eyeing A Monster

Elektra Senior Director/Adult Format Promotion Dana Keil reports that Third Eye Blind's album, Blue, will be first single going to Rock and Alternative. "It's a bit hard, although I'm sure some Pop/Alternatives may want to play it. Some may slot it at night, but it won't be the first single for the for-mat. That will come sometime next year, and it's a monster."

95 Hot AC reporters. Monitored airplay data supplied by Mediabase Research, a division of Premiere Radio Networks. Songs ranked by total plays for the airplay week of Sunday 11/7-Saturday 11/13. Bullets appear on songs gaining plays or remaining flat from previous week. If two songs are tied in total plays, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Breaker status is assigned to songs reaching 1300 plays or more for the first time. Songs below No. 20 are moved to recurrent after 20 weeks. Gross Impressions equals Average Quarter Hour Persons times number of plays (times 100). Something To Look Forward To

☐ Superstars, imaginative collaborations and developing artists all pave the way for a hot first quarter

Ithough new releases usually dwindle to a trickle over the holidays, these interviews with leading record executives are a little like a periscope to help you peek around the corner into the next millennium. When it comes to new NAC/smooth jazz music for the coming months, it's going to be an e-ticket ride!

Gerald Helm, Instinct Records Co-Pres.

Shakatak's cover of Bill Withers' "Lovely Day" features a "retro" and "steppin" remix. Expect instant recognition because of the original's use in a Gap ad. Thanks to creative input on early demos by several stations. Shakatak created a unique, jazzy interpretation that sounds very fresh.

Brian Tarquin's original composition "Tangled Web" is a great winter song in the tradition of "One Arabian Knight." It delivers a sexy groove with a soft trumpet and Brian's sweet guitar sounds. It's been remixed and tightened to 3:30 of complete radio bliss.

Watch for Count Basic's CD Trust Your Instincts in January. Expect a more urban-based sound, as Peter Legat continues to bend the rules of smooth jazz with his sophisticated flair for melody and now-signature guitar sound.

Chris Standring called on his friend, smooth jazz giant Richard Elliot, to lend his talents to the title track of Hipsway, which recalls Grant Green's retro groove with a Y2K twist. What is old is made new again. Those who witnessed Chris' phenomenal set at Catalina are already prepared for the next coming.

The third single from Gota's Let's Get Started, "If I Could," displays his one-of-a-kind mix of flute, guitar, sax and groove that fans immediately respond to. We're including remixes by Tony Campbell, who worked on Gota's current charttopper.

Scott Bergstein, Higher Octave Music VP/Marketing

With over 285,000 CDs sold, Les Nubians is one of the most amazing success stories of the year. They won Soul Train's Best New Artist Award and have appeared on Chris Rock, CNN, BET, Motown Live, Donny & Marie and more. If you're looking for spice, look no further: The special NAC mix of "Tabou" is on your desk now.

Next week we'll release Craig Chaquico's "The Drifter," the follow-up to his top 10 track "Forbidden Love." It was written and produced by Russ Freeman, who lends his talents on guitar, bass and keys.

Expect at least two new songs from Higher Octave's smooth jazz super trio 3rd Force's The Best of 3rd Force. You never know which special guest will show up on their albums, and this one will be no exception.

Deborah Lewow, Warner Bros. Sr. Dir. NAC Promotion

Currently we've got a Pat Metheny soundtrack to the film Map of the World, starring Sigourney Weaver. The single, "Homecoming," is lilting, melodic and acoustic. We've also got a Bela Fleck And The Flecktones greatest hits release — a retrospective with a couple of new tunes and Dave Matthews guesting. Radio has also just received Norman Brown's "Paradise."

Closing out the year, we'll have a best of The Yellowjackets, which features a previously unreleased track, the theme from Il Postino, which is the likely single to announce the album.

In February we'll have the Warner Bros. debut of Larry Carlton, Fingerprints. The title track ships to radio in early January. It is a fabulous record! The single is a smash, and so is its follow-up, "Silky Smooth." There's also a Mike MacDonald vocal. This project is going to be a lot of fun to work.

I'm also very excited that during the first quarter we'll have a project many think could create nuclear fission: the Paul Brown-produced collaboration between Boney James and Rick Braun. It's destined to become one of Smooth Jazz's most important releases.

Another much-anticipated upcoming release is Casino Lights Live, recorded at the Montreaux Jazz Festival. It features virtually all the artists on Warners' jazz roster, except for Norman Brown — whose dad unfortunately passed away, so Norman couldn't make the recording — and Joshua Redman. There are some very interesting musical pairings on it, such as Boney and Fourplay doing "Watermelon Man."

Suzanne Berg, Verve Group Sr. VP/Promotion

Our first release of 2000 will be Marc Antoine's Universal Language in January. The record is produced by Phillipe Saisse. It's a perfect follow-up to Madrid, which sold over 200,000 copies and had a No. I track. This is another great record, unmistakably Antoine and chock-full of hits

We have Al Jarreau's Tomorrow Today coming in February. This record was produced by Paul Brown, and it's full of hits for NAC, Urban

"We hope to create music that's fun; that has integrity, mood and emotion; and that will be successful in developing long, fruitful careers for our artists."

John Sherbanee

"Smooth Jazz radio has really fallen in love with the British sound, and my vision is to try to introduce the music of southern Africa in the same way."

Dave Love

and crossover. It features a duet with Vanessa Williams, "God's Gift to the World," which is incredible. This is the record Al hasn't made in years. I'm just so happy it's ours!

We've also got David Benoit's Peanuts: 50th Anniversary album slated for March. Tommy Li Puma produced this project, which includes Benoit, Al Jarreau, Marc Antoine, Take 6, Chris Botti, Regina Carter, Russell Malone and Michael Brecker. There will also be a huge TV special celebrating Peanuts' 50th.

Jeff Levinson, Columbia Records VP/A&R-Artist Development

The big story for us is going to be the re-emergence of Grover Washington Jr. It's poignant, because he had a hiatus when he was diagnosed with cancer, but he's better now. This album, Prime Cuts, covers his 10 years with Columbia and summarizes the most recent phase of his creativity while pointing to the future. Thus, there are two newly recorded tracks included. He's one of the seminal figures of this music. We're tentatively scheduled to go into the studio with him to record an all-new album in fall 2000.

Peter White will begin another recording after the first of the year. He's writing songs now, and we look forward to scheduling the record for fall 2000.

We've signed artists who fit NAC tangentially, like Cameroonian bassist/guitarist Richard Bona, who will be significant in the contemporary jazz world. His music is reminiscent of Joni Mitchell, Sting and Jaco Pastorius, and he's the real deal for me

Also, Bela Fleck has ended his long-standing relationship with Warner Bros. and is another new Columbia signing. His musicianship is unimpeachable, and he sells records. There's no doubt that he'll do a classical project with us, among other things. To me, both signings signify a move here into more of a world music direction, expanding the definitions of trad jazz and contemporary

Eulis Cathey, N-Coded Music VP/Promotion

Among our current releases, we'll continue to work Candy Dulfer's and Jonathan Butler's projects, as well as the Bona Fide. We'll be focusing strongly on them for the rest of the year. We've also shipped Arturo Sandoval's record, Americana. We're focusing on the Janet Jackson song, "Come Back to Me," for possible release as a single, because we feel it's Smooth Jazz-friendly and that the format is likely to respond positively to it. It's very nicely done.

N-Coded will also distribute Peak Records' new Paul Taylor record in the first quarter. We'll also be releasing an all-star compilation called Club 1600 that features Roy Ayers, Alex Bugnon, Maysa. Vinx and other special guests. It's our version of Urban Knights.

Erica Linderholm, Atlantic Records

Although we haven't confirmed which track we'll release, we will of course ship another from Brian Culbertson to radio in January. There are so many good choices on his album, which is a problem all artists should have! We'll also have new recordings from Wayman Tisdale and Steve Cole, possibly in April.

Stuart Love, Trippin' & Rhythm Pres.

First we've got a new track from Jazzmasters, "Nightcrawler." Radio's been asking for it because it's up-tempo. Right now we're working Leo Gandelman's "Rise," and we'll come with another track from A-One, "Don't Hold Your Breath," an acidy-jazz groove reminiscent of Miles Davis' "Mile-

In the first quarter we're releasing a unique and interesting studio record from First Light, produced by Paul Hardcastle. It's very different from anything Paul's done before. Musically, it's on the Enigmaesque side. Everything Paul does has such style, and I venture to say he's breaking new ground once again with this record.

We're also completing a deal with Tony Geurrero for a record that has two tracks produced by Jody Watley.

Dave Love, Heads Up Pres.

We've got three projects slated for the first quarter. The first is Roberto Perera's In the Mood, which is produced by Tim Redfield, Marc Antoine and Peter White. Next is Smooth Africa, which is a compendium of 33 of southern Africa's most talented instrumentalists, including Jonathan Butler and Hugh Masakela. We've added Joe McBride and Andy Narrell from our roster on a couple of tracks. We recorded in Johannesburg and Cape Town. Smooth Jazz radio has really fallen in love with the British sound, and my vision is to try to introduce the music of southern Africa in the same way.

The last one is Joe McBride and The Texas Rhythm Club, a recording with Joe and his great band.

They tour with him, so instead of having Joe program the drums and play the bass, we decided to make an ensemble-style record, but one that is very suitable to Smooth

Hyman Katz, Unity Entertainment Pres.

Undercover, the muchanticipated new album from Paul Taylor, NAC's most distinctivesounding saxophonist, is scheduled for February release. The first single, "Indigo," promises to deliver another No. 1 hit from the format's newest star.

In January we'll release Soul Ballet's Vibe Cinema (with Rick Kelly), which features the hot remix of "Black Sun" plus 10 brand-new tracks — more soulful grooves from this No. 1 artist. This one will add a few more "o"s to "smooth."

Keiko Matsui's first studio album in two years is set for March. It's compelling new music from America's No. 1 female instrumentalist.

Watch for the second single from Andy Snitzer's Countdown debut, Some Quiet Place, which features guest performances from Bob James and Chris Botti. He's a great artist who shouldn't be overlooked.

Claudia Navarro, Shanachie Entertainment Dir./National NAC Promotion

We have some artists, like Chieli Minucci, going into the studio and signings we haven't announced yet, but we are working Walter Beasley's third single, "Nice and Easy." from the CD For Your Pleasure. It's the first time we've ever gone for a third single on any of our artists, but we really believe in Walter and think it's well worth going for. If you can believe it, For Your Pleasure was released in August '98, so we've been working it a long time!

Ron McCarrell. Windham Hill VP/Marketing

We're releasing another Michael Franks track, "Heart Like an Open Book," to NAC and Urban AC. It's really a nice song, and we're hoping to overcome his image as the poster boy for vocals that don't work at NAC.

Ricky Schultz, Zebra Records Pres.

Before year's end we'll release a new Brian Bromberg single, "My Love." At the top of the year we'll have new singles from Eric Essix, Bill Evans, Rhythm Logic and possibly Victor Bailey. Our first-quarter CD releases aren't really for NAC: the Dixie Dregs' first record with the original members in 16 years, including a cover of Frank Zappa's "Peaches in Regalia" with Dweezil Zappa sitting in on second guitar: the acoustic mainstream trio Beatle Jazz; Pierre Bensusan: and possibly a tribute to Jaco Pastorius.

Mike Klein, Samson Records VP/Promotion

With the tremendous success of their first single, "With Your Love," and the current single, "7th Journey," look for Jango to release a follow-up single for the first quarter. Jango are currently in the studio working on a sophomore release due in May or June.

Be on the lookout for one of 2000's preeminent releases, a yet-to-be-named instrumental tribute to Steely Dan featuring Jeff Lorber. Chieli Minucci, Roger Smith, Warren Hill, Doc Powell, Byron Miller and a host of other smooth jazz luminaries interpreting 11 of Steely Dan's greatest hits. As we move into the millennium, Samson will continue its devotion to Smooth Jazz by signing and releasing new, innovative music for the format.

Chris Long, City Lights/ Monarch Pres.

Our highest priority is to keep working Dwight Sills' record. On January 10 we'll ship his second single, "Desert Sky." Dwight is touring with Bette Midler now, but in January he'll begin touring with other folks and play more as a headliner. We're putting a lot of support behind this artist for the first quarter. I'm also really excited that we're at the contract stage with an artist who you know well, but I can't talk about that or other signings yet. And shortly we'll have a major announcement about substantially growing our company

Sue Schrader, Narada

In February watch for the highly anticipated Narada debut of long-time R&B/jazz favorite Alex Bugnon, As Promised, which features special guests Patti Austin, Branford Marsalis, George Duke and others. The same month we'll release Urban Knights III, of which Ramsey Lewis says, "By mixing the flavors of established artists like Earl Klugh and Dave Koz with young, exciting, new inner-city talent, Urban Knights III continues its quest to explore the sights and sounds of R&B and hard-hitting jazz in a unique and powerful way."

Joe Sherbanee, Native Language Music Pres.

Being a new label, we're incredibly fortunate to put our best foot forward and introduce Steve Oliver. He's such a unique guitar and vocal talent whose scope we intend to expand in the weeks and months to come.

We've also signed former Rippingtons saxman Jeff Kashiwa, whose upcoming debut for our label will undoubtedly spark a lot of attention at radio. KSSJ's Steve Williams told me he's eager and excited about Jeff's first radio cut.

We've gotten off to a fantastic start. We hope to create music that's fun; that has integrity, mood and emotion; and that will be successful in developing long, fruitful careers for our artists.

Gail Summer, Bona Fide Music Pres.

The brand-new track from Slim Man's Jazzified CD. "A Night Like This." shows his songwriting at its best. It's catchy with a great hook, upbeat and rhythmic with perfect instrumentation for NAC. I am also very excited about its follow-up, "Don't Say Goodbye," which is scheduled for January. This track combines the familiar feel of a pop standard with modern touches like wah-wah guitar. The finishing touch is Marc Antoine's guitar solos, which are so magical, they make the song unforgettable.

Vikki Rickman, Telarc Mgr./Natl. Radio Promotion

Few groups have made music better than Weather Report - highvoltage jazz with rock excitement and adventurous exoticism. Telarc marks the 30th anniversary of the supergroup's formation with the release of Celebrating the Music of Weather Report. Produced by Miles Davis veteran Jason Miles, this greatly anticipated studio recording features updated arrangements, creative new sounds and an impressive lineup including Jay Beckenstein. Michael and Randy Brecker, Steve Gadd, Omar Hakim, Will Lee. Chuck Loeb, Marcus Miller, Joe Sample, David Sanborn and many

Kristin Leonhard, Positive Music National Dir./Promotion

The first single from Ken Navarro's forthcoming album, which will be released in March, features his smooth style on his trademark nylon-string guitar. Listeners will also hear some killer rhythm guitar embellishment from Ken, who brought out his old wah-wah pedal and other effects — old and new—from his session-player days' bag of tricks. The album's original songs are reminiscent of Ken's 1997 Smooth Sensation, with up-to-theminute production and arrangements.

Scott Meyers, GTSP Dir./National Promotion

Around the end of the first quarter we'll be releasing John Tesh Double Live, a two-disc set featuring concert tracks from John's One World tour, as well as a couple of new tracks. I heard some of the roughs, and the energy of a live performance is always captivating. You can check out a sample at www.tesh.com.

Andy Sarnow, Blue Note Dir./Marketing.

After the success of "Chill Factor," Richard Elliot's second single, "On the Fly," is exciting, because we've strategically picked the singles to build like pop records, a la TLC, do. We think the track is a power song. We will eventually have a third single as well.

Everyone is looking forward to the new Ronnie Jordan. A Brighter Day. We're leaning toward a single called "Mystic Voyage," which features Roy Ayers. The song is dedicated to Zachary Breaux. Plus. Everette Harp is in the studio now.

Jim Snowden, PRC Pres.

We have two projects in the first quarter that should be compelling to NAC radio. First, there's an English group, 45 Dip, with distinct English drum-and-bass influence, a great groove and a little electronic edge. I'm looking for instruments and sounds that are different. One track features flute, kind of flute and groove. I'm getting so tired of music that's mechanical. I like what's coming out of England. There doesn't seem to be a stable of young American artists who are making new, innovative sounds.

The second project is from a guitarist named John Kpiaye. We distribute Linton Kwesi Johnson's label, and he is one of the renowned dub poets of Jamaica. John is the guitarist in Linton's band, and his record, Red. Gold & Blues, is all instrumental with reggae influences. It's very cool, with several tracks compelling enough to go all the way.

NAC notes with Carol Archer

The top 10 chart positions remain fairly static. The top 10 chart positions (climatinet) with Gota's "Let's Get Started" (Instinct) showing the most strength at 4* with an increase of 85 plays. Brian McKnight's "Back at One" (Motown) moves to 5*, the only vocal of 1999 to attain such a rarefied standing

Richard Elliot's "On the Fly" (Blue Note) is top Most Added — new on WCOD/N, Y, and WJZW/Washington, among others, and it debuts at 29*

Brian Culbertson and Lori Perry's "Get'n Over You" (Atlantic) makes a strong showing with seven new adds, including those at WVMV/Detroit and KHIH/Denver. Don't overlook this one.

Grover Washington Jr.'s "The Night Fantastic" (Columbia) is also among the Most Added with five adds, including WLOQ/Orlando and KJZY/Santa Rosa, CA. The track's getting 15 plays at WZJI/Milwaukee and 14 at KMGQ/Santa Barbara

Other notable adds include Jonathan Butler's "What Would You Do for Love" (N-Coded) on KTWV/L.A., Walter Beasley's "Nice and Easy" (Shanachie) on WNUA/Chicago, Steve Cole's "It's Gonna Be Alright" (Atlantic) on WJJZ/Philadelphia, Special EFX's "Bella" (Shanachie) and Fourplay's "Snowhound" (Warner Bros.) on JRN.

Forget Michael Franks' puerile attack on BA's Frank Cody in the song "Mr. Smooth" does Franks actually think fans have a clue as to the lyric's meaning? — and check out the track "Heart Like an Open Book" (Windham Hill). R&R Publisher/CEO Erica Farber was the first to bring the track to my attention, but not the last.

It took a few listens, but I'm hooked on Les Nubians' "Tabou" (Higher Octave). This one gets right under your skin.

Vocals are always at a premium in NAC/Smooth Jazz, and it's rare for one to emerge that isn't by an already well-established crossover artist. But the Brian Culbertson track "Get'n Over You" (Atlantic) features the fabulous voice of Lori R&R'S EXCLUSIVE BAROMETER FOR NEW

Perry. The track was recommended for airplay by Broadcast Architecture and is among our Most Added this week. Perry's manager, Leanne Meyers, enlightens readers by describing the arc of her client's career,

Lori began singing with her sisters in their grandfather's Christ Holy Sanctified Church of Bakersfield. She went on to play in some Top 40 bands in L.A., then developed into a background singer of considerable standing, along with her sisters. The Perry sisters toured with Anita Baker, and they had three albums on MCA Jazz when they were known as Perri ("pare-ee"). When you're speaking of the sisters or the group, it's Perri, but any of them as individuals are Perry. The group does background sessions, and so does Lori herself.

Lori sang "Feels So Good" on the soundtrack of Spike Lee's Do the Right Thing. She was also on the soundtrack of the Sony motion picture Set It Off with Queen Latifah. Now she sings the theme song for the Lifetime series Any Day Now with Lorraine Toussaint, and for Malcolm and Eddie on

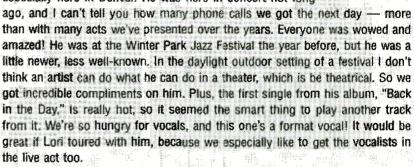

Fex. She played at President Clinton's Inauguration. Lori has also sung with Pat Metheny, The Yellowjackets and Marilyn Scott, who she's most recently been seen with. "Get'n Over You" is currently 16* on the UAC chart.

Lori Perry is an incredible spirit, an incredible being and a pure and honest soul. And she has a tremendous gift. We're thrilled with the progress of the single, because it lays out the red carpet for a most deserving artist.

KHIH/Denver MD Cheri Marquart weighs in on Culbertson's single. KHIH was one of seven reporting stations adding the track this week.

Lori has an incredible voice — very powerful! We added the record because Brian Culbertson is very hot right now, especially here in Denver. He was here in concert not long

David Benoit

Professional Dreamer

David Benoit's elegant piano style has played a pivotal role in smooth jazz's growing importance. He crafts timeless melodies that are complex yet accessible, then plays and records them flawlessly. The full range of his abilities is showcased on Professional Dreamer. This inspired CD has already provided two hits to NAC/SJ radio — "ReJoyce" and "Miles After Dark" (featuring Rick Braun blowing like there's no tomorrow). But there's a wealth of evocative material, such as "Golden Gate" and "Why Not," plus his tender "Dad's Room." Watch for Benoit's upcoming project, Peanuts: 50th Anniversary, produced by Tommy LiPuma.

Music Hórizons Pondered By Record Execs

s the clock counts down to Y2K and we contemplate the possible ramifications of computer meltdowns, we know that surely someone somewhere will soon write a song about the event. Or maybe Limp Bizkit or Kid Rock should do their own version of "Eve of Destruction." What new trends will 2000 usher in, in terms of music, artists and technology? To answer that question, we polled several record company executives. Here's what they had to say.

My Generation

Restless' Drew Murray sees an increasing ... well ... restlessness in the rock listener. "There seems to be a growing divide at the 26-27year-old level. The 27-28+ audience is not readily accepting a lot of what's out there, even though it is very, very popular right now. And it's not just the Rage, Korn and Limp Bizkit rock-rap thing. It is most of the new hard rock, period. It's just not their music. STP. Nirvana, anything that sounds like that is fine, but they aren't readily accepting anything else new. I had this same conversation with Pollack Media consultant Pat Welsh the other day, and he even brought up the fact that it may be time to split Active Rock.

"In the history of rock 'n' roll, about every five or six years the new 18-24-yearolds come in and like something different from the demo right above them. The music that 18-24s like and the music that 25+ likes is becoming more divergent. The 18-24year-olds don't care about a lot of the catalog material like Ozzy, Guns N' Roses, etc. It's Frank Sinatra to them. It's old, and it's not their music, whereas music that's coming out now is their music.

"Radio will have to deal with this delicately. Dayparting may become a bigger issue to those that are appealing to an adult audience during the day and trying to get the 18-24s at night. However, from a record company perspective, an album that is selling millions being relegated to after 7pm is a whole different story. Of course, there are stations targeting the young end exclusively. It will be interesting to see how this plays out and whether you can make an entire format out of low-end hard rock. It gets back to the old Z-Rock argument.

"Record companies overall are still trying to think out of the box, but no one has vet come up with a better way of marketing a rock band than going to Rock radio. No one has come up with a better way of trying to reach the audience quicker than going to radio. Labels are investing a lot of time and effort into marketing on the Internet, having bands on tour to have a story built before you go to radio, micromarketing, etc. Still, going to radio is your best bet for reaching a mass

Crappy Slacker Attitudes

"I'm very excited about the current musical trend, because I'm a fan of music that keeps me awake and is a force on the live front,"

"There are a lot of new bands that are complete and utter crap because of their slacker attitudes."

Cheryl Valentine

enthuses Tommy Boy's Cheryl Valentine. "I'm a metal chick at heart. I'm also ecstatic about the Janda Baldwin (who is at Sub Pop) concept on music today. In a nutshell, she says that the atmosphere for the bands at labels — combined with the overly packaged, homogenized state of radio today — can only lead to one thing: change. Yeah, baby! It's going to change. It's so Cheryl Valentine completely pathetic that rebellion is the only cure. The Internet will help lead the way as people scream for more alternatives to combat this nasty air of mediocrity.

"There are a lot of new bands that are complete and utter crap because of their slacker attitudes. I don't mean to just pawn it off on the bands, because, let's face it, labels are very much at fault. I believe that this shameful crop will also deliver unto us a new, fresh breed. People who are sickened by the nicev-nice shallow surface acts will form bands with real meaning. By the time they all get their shit together - record, tour, etc. - radio may actually be playing something with substance that doesn't sound like lyrics from a bad country tune."

Arista's Pete Rosenblum also

"Look at the success Rock stations are having with 'Put Your Lights On' from Santana with Everlast. We have had to battle and battle with some programmers to get this on the air."

Pete Rosenblum

looks forward to change. "I can only hope that radio is more open to different-sounding records in the new year," he explains. "Plenty of stations will not play anything unless it sounds exactly like every other song on their station. For example, look at all the success Rock stations are Pete Rosenblum having with 'Put

Your Lights On' from Santana with Everlast. We have had to battle and battle with some programmers to get this on the air. The tempo of this song is different from any other song on the chart right now, especially in the top 20.

"And so many programmers are telling me that it's a great break from the continuous up-tempo, heavy-guitar, monotonous sound of the station. So why aren't they playing more songs like this or that sound different? Maybe 'Smooth' has opened up some doors as well. There is no heavy guitar there either, and I think it's the single of the year! I dare you to throw 'Smooth' into your callout. It will come back in a huge way!"

Keep It Simple

Hollywood's Joey Scoleri says that as far as new music trends are concerned, "Hits will continue to sell - rocket science, huh! To elaborate, those records that inspire some type of emotional response will always cut through. The key is to identify a segment of the audience, whether it's soccer moms or tattooed youth, and market the artist to that segment. Of course, the truly big hits will always cross more than one format boundary. These records transcend any preconceived or determined delineations.

"As for artist trends: In this era of age and time compression, artists must possess charisma and the ability to capture the imagination of the record-buying public. It's not only a case of great songs, but great imaging. With so many media and entertainment choices, it takes a larger-than-life persona to cut

"In terms of technological trends: From vinyl, 8-track, cassette, compact disc, beta, VHS, laserdisc, DAT, minidisc, CD ROM, DVD, ISDN and so on, the list of formats to enjoy entertainment has increased exponentially over the course of the last 30 years. And as we enter the year 2000, the fragmentation continues at the greatest rate in history. The bottom line is, no matter what configuration music arrives in, consumers will always get what they want. The key in the era we have entered is to make it user-friendly and not to forget about the different types of consumers, whether they shop at home on computer or still enjoy heading to re-

The Street Dot-Com

TVT's Mark Abramson believes, "The rap/rock hybrid is over after Kid Rock and Limp

Bizkit. I don't think that Rock stations wish to be perceived as rap stations. Those records are great and huge, but it won't open the floodgates. Rock itself will continue to come back stronger than ever - for those who thought it went away in the first place.

"The aggressive music trend is a great thing, because it has always been there on the street with some of the most loyal fans ever. If you look at what is happening right now, it is aggressive rock. Even the Alternative format has come running to embrace this very real, very viable music. So, unlike most trends, this is simply the street level getting accepted at a new level. I also think the cover tune trend will go away for a while. It was overdone. Bands need to write their own music. Beyond that, your guess is as good as mine. Maybe 'Mambo No. 5' hits Rock or something."

"I think the year 2000 will be a great year for rock." says Epic's Ron Cerrito. "While we in the industry have been witnessing rock's resurgence on the airplay and sales charts, I think we will see it impact the mainstream big time in the year 2000."

Conversely, Roadrunner's Joe Guzik contends that stations had better keep an eye on the younger demos if they hope to have an audience in the future. "The pool of great stations that will take chances and prove new artists seems to be dwindling with each month. This trend disturbs me greatly, because new artists are the future of the format. I hope that new artists will always have a place at the format. Rock has proven that it's very loyal to artists it breaks, but we need to make sure that we focus on new artists into the new millennium, or we may not have the younger demo listening to radio in the next century."

Beep Beep!

Roadrunner has the prescription for the younger demo, as the label's Dave Loncao testifies. "The new year at Roadrunner has a lot of exciting things in store. There will be a follow-up track from Machine Head, a project that is approaching 150,000 shipped. There will also be a follow-up to Type O Negative's huge phone request lead track. 'Everything Dies.' The latest album is approaching 300,000 pieces shipped and well over 100,000 pieces sold.

"Coal Chamber made top 20 at Active Rock with their version of 'Shock the Monkey.' This from a band who had never previously charted a song at any radio format.

The record has sold over 150,000 pieces, and we believe the follow-up track. 'Tyler's Song,' has the greatest potential on the album. All of our previous efforts with the album have been planned to set this track and this band up at Rock and Alternative.

"Over 180,000 pieces of the Slipknot record were sold before we ever went to radio — something we are very proud of. When was the last time a label broke a baby band before asking for radio's support, as opposed to always needing radio to help them break it?

"Nickelback and The Step Kings are two new bands you'll be hearing a lot about. Nickelback are from Vancouver. They made and produced their own album without a label, distribution, management or any support staff. They called radio throughout Canada to promote their project, and when they got an add, they'd call retail to tell the story and solicit orders, shipping from their garage. It's a plan that, in this day and age, with the power of the majors, you'd think would never work. But they ended up with a top 15 track in Canada and sold close to 10,000 records on their own, a feat that I doubt has ever been accomplished before.

"As for The Step Kings, when

we were launching Coal Chamber at metal radio and going for No. 1 Most Added, we got beat out by The Step Kings. I thought, 'Who the hell are The Step Kings?' I was pissed and had to go hunt this record down to see what it was all about. And I loved it. I stomped into our president's [Derek Schulman's] office and asked if he'd heard it. He replied, 'We're already on it and in negotiations.' We've signed them and have just finished recording some new songs to include on the relaunched project."

Epilogue

There will always be stations that follow new music trends quickly and others that wait until the trends are proven. As that philosophy continues to play itself out, the '90s are almost over, and it's time to plan for 2000. Those of us not inclined to write our own Y2K or New Year's songs will have to rely on favorites like U2's "All is quiet on New Year's Day/ A world in white gets underway/I want to be with you/Be with you night and day/Nothing changes on New Year's Day." Or The Eagles' 'Went to a party just last night/ Wanted to bring the year in right/ Woke up this morning I don't know how/Last night I was a happy man. but the way I feel right now/It's gonna be a funky New Year."

74 Rock reporters. Monitored airplay data supplied by Mediabase Research, a division of Premiere Radio Networks. Songs ranked by total plays for the airplay week of Sunday 11/7-Saturday 11/13. Bullets appear on songs gaining plays or remaining flat from previous week. If two songs are tied in total plays, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Breaker status is assigned to songs reaching 400 plays or more for the first time. Songs below No. 20 are moved to recurrent after 20 weeks. Gross Impressions equals Average Quarter Hour Persons times number of plays (times 100). Average Quarter Hour Persons used herein with permission from The Arbitron Company (Copyright 1999, The Arbitron Company). © 1999, R&R Inc.

Most Added is the total number of new adds officially reported to R&R by each reporting station. Songs unreported as adds do not count toward overall total stations playing a song. Most Increased Plays lists the songs with the greatest week-to-week increases in total plays. Weighted chart appears on R&R ONLINE MUSIC TRACKING.

75 Active Rock reporters. Monitored airplay data supplied by Mediabase Research, a division of Premiere Radio Networks. Songs ranked by total plays for the airplay week of Sunday 11/7-Saturday 11/13. Bullets appear on songs gaining plays or remaining flat from previous week. If two songs are tied in total plays, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Breaker status is assigned to songs reaching 600 plays or more for the first time. Songs below No. 20 are moved to recurrent after 20 weeks. Gross Impressions equals Average Quarter Hour Persons times number of plays (times 100). Trauma recording artists account make a big stink in the world of rock." Trauma recording artists Jact are about to "Future's Gone," the single from their selftitled debut album, is impacting as we speak. WZTA/Miami is one of the early supporters, and MD Kimba says, "Ain't nothing better than a little English angst, no pun intended."

The quartet, now based in L.A., established their roots in England. Previously the frontman for the heralded English band Pusherman, vocalist Andy Frank teamed with guitarist Ted Hutt when the two met in London. Hutt had just left the group Reacharound (also on Trauma), circa 1996. when Jact began to take shape. Hutt brought bassist, Reacharound bandmate and London native Jeff Peters, along with drummer C.J. Eiriksson from Vancouver, into the mix.

This album has an extremely rich texture and incredible range. You can hear the British accent come through now and again (think Noel Gallagher, but with deeper, gutsier vocals). Musically, it runs the gamut from melodic, dreamy sounds to heavy guitar and, sometimes, '70s undertones. Hutt likes to experiment with different sounds on each song "to capture the emotion of the moment," he says, hence the diversity of the tracks. "Future's Gone" is not shy of guitar, and the addition of strings gives the song an amazing depth. One of the more guitar-heavy tracks on the album is "Magic #3," which has an underlying sexy, funky sound. Incidentally, Frank claims the song was written about sexual encounters. Frank's lyrics seem to carry shadows of his past as he waxes poetic on "(Through With) Excuses," one of the slower, yet still upbeat, songs in the collec-

Jact have just wrapped up a college promotional tour. They recently toured with Bush, with whom they have another short tour in December; dates have yet to be announced. Co-produced by Jim Wirt, Paul Palmer and Jact, this debut delivers from track No. 1 through lucky No. 13. If you want to know more about Jact, you can visit www.traumarecords.com or www.jact.com.

Both Ends Of The Spectrum

elcome to the first R&R New Music Guide. Since we are starting with a blank template, I thought I would avoid a simple gloss on the record side of the industry and dig a little deeper into the attitudes and perceptions of two of the hottest record executives out there right now.

One of the format's hottest labels is Interscope, so I decided to talk with Interscope VP/Alternative Promotion Brian MacDonald. On the indie side, fourth-quarter activity has been dominated by Wind-Up Records and their act Creed, so I also talked with Wind-Up Sr. VP/Promotion Shanna Fischer.

Brian MacDonald

When I picked up the phone to talk to MacDonald, my intention

Brian MacDonald

Brian MacDonald

was to examine the practical issues of running the Interscope alternative department while maintaining a passion for music. After all, MacDonald is the head of the leading alternative label in the country and a man who has more projects going in a week than most people have in a year. But, as is so often the case in my discussions with MacDonald, my attempt to initiate conversation with an innocuous comment led to MacDonald's going off on a philosophical tangent. I never remembered to ask him about his passion for the music, but in reading over the following interview, I realized that I didn't need to — it can be seen in every one of his responses.

R&R: It seems that the format's music has done a complete 180 over the past year.

BM: Well, this year is a good example of how the format has always been able to foster new sounds, which is one of its beauties. It's something that the format's been known for since its inception. Every year or every summer you're going to find new bands with a new twist and a new sound, and if it's good, it's more than likely to get a start at the format. It isn't too difficult to understand how even swing got its start here. It had a certain appeal to the young audience that Alternative radio attracts. It sold, and that sold tickets to concerts, so people said, "Let's give it a shot." And it worked, regardless of how long it may ultimately stay in the format. At least it got its shot.

You look at other sounds, like Rage Against The Machine or The Beastie Boys, and those sounds were new at one time. They were a little bit left-field, yet the same things were happening. They sold tickets and albums. They had a great reputation that preceded them. They had enough factors pointing to something happening that Alternative radio gave them a shot. The other thing is that those sounds stuck around.

In terms of this past year, you can look at Rage as being the fore-father of a lot of the harder music working today, whether it's Limp Bizkit or Godsmack. People in the format really look for the things that stick around, and this sound has. As a result, more and more people will encourage it. There's always going to be something that comes along that people will take advantage of.

R&R: Obviously, the programmers have keyed in on the harder rock/hip-hop rock trend. Do you see the Limp Bizkit/Rage sound sticking around, or will it soon be on to the next craze?

BM: I think that ultimately any band who gets their start in that genre, if they're true artists who will grow as musicians, and if their sound will grow, and if they have a real strong core fan base, and if they can continue to satisfy that audience — I think those bands will stick around.

R&R: That's a lot of ifs!

BM: Well, I didn't say it would be easy. It'll be interesting to see what happens once the Rage and Korn records run their course what people think of that particular sound, and how many bands come up that are merely mimicking that sound and not being true purveyors of a sound of their own that shines through on its own

R&R: It sounds like you are saying that the trend is already here and that these harder-rocking bands are totally on the wave. But the real test will come with the albums that come out over the next year and a half, whether it's a new Kid Rock or a new Limp Bizkit. Is that accurate?

BM: You're right. In one sense you can say that this is some of these bands' first entry into the mainstream. Are they going to be able to follow that up? But you have to remember that leading up to this they built a very powerful grass-roots, ground-level base that got them here. So it's not so much a one-hit wonder situation, where a single comes out of nowhere, strikes your core and blows up. These guys have been building it methodically and meticulously, and with that comes a loyal audience that will support them. And if they don't have radio hits, or if the trend changes, they'll be able to get by on their touring and sales

R&R: That may be true for Korn or Rage Against The Machine or Limp Bizkit, but are some of these newer bands for real, or are they riding on the coattails of Korn?

BM: That remains to be seen. That's where you separate the men from the boys. One thing is certain: The bands like Korn and Rage have such high ideals about who they are, what their music is and what it represents. That strikes a chord with a certain audience, and again, it develops that incredible loyalty. Those guys are originators; they're the creators. Their work is the genesis of the sound, and anybody who comes in behind them has to work extra hard or find their own niche to separate them from the pack and lend themselves enough originality or generate enough passion to maintain their growth.

R&R: Being at Interscope, do you see that this is going to be a pretty big concern for the label—having bands that stand out on their own terms?

BM: I don't know if it is so much a concern on the label side. It's not the first time we've seen strong original bands create waves of imitation. Nirvana was a band that just completely changed the face of what music sounded like for a new generation. As a result, you couldn't help but have a number of imitators. Labels tend to gobble up what's working and try to make the trend work to their advantage. Some of those bands made it in the long run, but there was a lot of disposable music that got picked up simply because there were strong leaders that were helping to define the sound.

R&R: With the new generation, we seem to have a new bunch of musical innovators. How does that affect you as a label that has artists from both generations?

BM: You hope it appeals to both. You do have a younger generation that has been brought up on a sound they want to define as their own, like Rage. Limp Bizkit and Korn. These artists particularly have an appeal to a younger, 18-24 audience. Eight years ago, when Nirvana was defining things, the audience was 12-18, and now they're 20-32. Are they getting off on Rage, Korn and Limp?

At Interscope we wondered how much the audience had changed and how immediate the appeal would be of something like a Nine Inch Nails track, especially with the band having been away for so long. It's now weeks later, and it's performing extremely well and has more momentum than it had out of the box — and this is with the knowledge that the original Nine Inch Nails audience has been around for 10 years or so.

BM: That's an interesting question. If radio breaks a band like Counting Crows or Smash Mouth.

and they contribute three. four or five hits over the course of several albums, everyone benefits. Alternative makes some hits, the stations get ratings, the audience enjoys those songs and

A Company of the second of the buys albums. Then the bands drop a new album, and the environment has changed. Now there's a trend that is distinctly different. At times like that radio tends to shy away from artists

We've experienced it with Smash Mouth. I believe that they've always had elements of pop in their music that have allowed them to cross over. But now that this new, harder sound is flourishing, radio is saying, "Well, that's not really what we sound like right now." I don't know if it's radio's lack of foresight when they stay stuff like that or like "This is what's working right now, so we're going to concentrate on this." It's a narrow point of view and comes at the expense of a broader, more balanced sound.

R&R: Do you think that this type of attitude is indicative of a belief that listeners who like Limp Bizkit won't like Smash Mouth?

BM: Look at it this way. Limp Bizkit is predominantly an 18-24 band, and chances are that if your audience is largely made up of that age group, most of them are going to like that record. However, maybe there are some in your audience that don't like it or who aren't so dead set in their musical tastes or have a broader sense of what they like.

There are certain programmers who are big believers in balance. Other guys, depending on their market conditions, may have the opportunity to be more narrowly focused, and this narrow approach is what they believe defines them. Whether they're correct or not is a big question. If you look at any kid's record collection, you'll see a broad taste illustrated there.

R&R: The balanced point of view will always be a part of the Alternative format.

BM: Absolutely. As I said earlier. Alternative has historically always been open to trends. There is always going to be something new. It's incumbent on the next generation of musicians, particularly since the birth of alternative music in the late '70s and early '80s, to come up with something a little different from their predecessors. That's what inspires them.

ever they're coming from, you're always going to get bands wanting to sound different. And if it appeals to a young audience, it's probably going to find its way into the Alternative format.

Shanna Fischer

I talked with Fischer a week before the Wind-Up act Creed had their debut album certified quadruple-platinum and their new album certified double-platinum, an amazing achievement for any label, let alone an independent. With Creed now certifiable stars in the Alternative format, Fischer seemed particularly happy about her label's achievements over the past year and its prospects for the new one. As to how this experience compares to being at a label owned by one of the big five ... I'll let her explain.

R&R: Over the past year and a half we've gone from all swing all the time to all rock. Do you have any thoughts on how the format's music has progressed?

"Every year or every summer you're going to find new bands with a new twist and a new sound, and if it's good, it's more than likely to get a start at the format."

Brian MacDonald

SF: As opposed to the all-ska and all-swing periods Alternative went through, I don't think that this lean toward rock is simply a phase. I think it's a foundation, a foundation that is going to contribute to Alternative having core artists and career artists that won't just be a flavor of the month.

R&R: Some people are comparing it to the grunge explosion in the early '90s. Do you see similarities?

SF: I don't necessarily feel that the rock music that's out right now sounds so much alike that it's a trend in the way grunge was. There's a lot more diversity in the rock music that's out right now.

R&R: With consolidation, how has radio changed over the past year? Has it changed at all?

SF: It has, but for the most part radio is still being programmed locally. They do have company conference calls and shared ideas, but the music decisions are still being made locally.

R&R: Do conference calls like that have a negative or positive impact on a record?

SF: I think it can probably help a record more than it can hurt it. Just because one station might not be getting great research on something doesn't mean other stations are going to pull the plug. They're more likely to see if it's going to work for them locally.

R&R: How would you typify 1999 for Wind-Up?

SF: It's been a really exciting year for us. We've really grown as a company. We spent a lot of time getting ready for the second Creed album, but the first part of the year was all about the first Creed album. We worked the third single. "One," to Alternative, and we had a lot of success with that. We also released music from Stretch Princess and Finger Eleven, and we really helped with our artist development with both of those bands. We also launched Julia Darling. So overall we had a really busy year, and there were a lot of rewarding things that came out of it. Everyone at the company grew from the experiences we had.

R&R: The Alternative radio format as a whole is finally embracing Creed. How do you feel about that?

SF: With "Higher" I felt that we took the band to the next level at Alternative. We had some Alternative stations that had never played Creed records before come on board out of the box. That was a clear indication that Creed was going to the next level. To a degree, I think that Alternative is considering Creed to be more of a core artist for them than maybe they did with the first album.

R&R: Do you think that the walls have been broken down at Alternative radio because the band has changed, because Alternative radio has changed, or just because programmers themselves have opened their minds a little bit about the band?

"As opposed to the all-ska and all-swing periods that Alternative went through, I don't think that this lean toward rock is simply a phase. I think it's a foundation."

SF: The answer is that Creed has simply delivered another hit record to radio. I had a programmer tell me the other day that Creed is an automatic for them now, and they have never been disappointed with any of their singles. To have a band come back with a sophomore record that flowed right from the first record is very uncommon. In some cases people felt that it was even stronger than the first record. It certainly gave the band a lot of credibility, and I think that people are starting to see that Creed could be the future for their radio station.

R&R: You spent a lot of time with music at other formats over the past year. Do you think that the company as a whole has made gains across the board similar to what Creed did at Alternative?

SF: Yes, I think we have. We were breaking new ground when it came to Pop/Alternative earlier this year. There were still a lot of people on the Pop side who didn't know who Wind-Up records was. They sort of barely knew about Creed. That's changing now. It's almost like we grew and added another format to the company.

R&R: What are you looking at for 2000?

SF: Next year we're going to have a new record from Finger Eleven. I think that the year 2000 is going to be their year. We quietly sold a lot of Finger Eleven records. and they now have a really good base. People are really anticipating a new Finger Eleven record, and if it's the right record, it's going to be their year. We also just signed an L.A.-based band called American Pearl who are going into the studio at the beginning of the year. We may also get a sophomore record from Stretch Princess. Of course, we'll also be working the new Creed record all year.

R&R: You've worked at major labels and now work for an indie label. Are there any big differences?

SF: The only difference to me is the release schedule. With the right music, the right band and the right distribution, there is no difference.

We have all the tools. I believe we have all the advantages of a major label. The only exception is the release schedule. The only record I have between now and March is Creed. As a result, failure is not an option for us.

R&R: Tell me about the Internet contest you did with Creed at radio. That was groundbreaking.

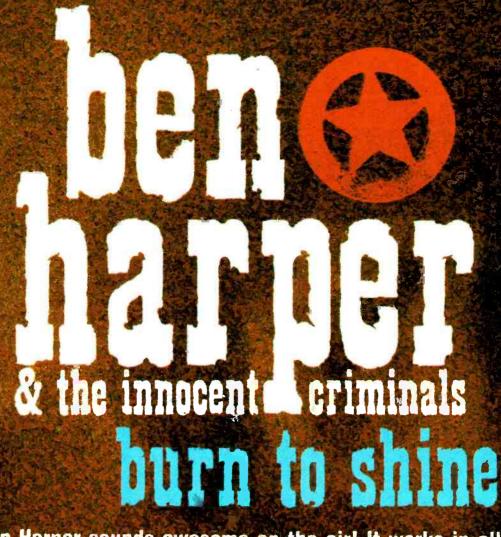

SF: We did it to set up the launch of the record. We made the radio single of "Higher" available as a download on radio station websites for the month of September, and the radio station with the highest percentage of listeners who downloaded the single won a free Creed concert. We based that percentage on 12+ cume numbers for spring '99. Part of the reason that we did it was because Wind-Up is a very Internet-driven company, and we're always looking for ways to get involved and promote our artists via the Internet. A lot of the development of Creed was done over the Internet. The contest provided the radio stations with some content too. One thing that was great was how many stations participated and the sheer number of downloads that the single had. We had over 250,000 downloads nationally. I can really see where radio is starting to take a look at what it can do via the Internet. It's a whole new angle for what radio is

R&R: Do you think contests like that will become common in the future?

SF: Yes. Some really aggressive stations, like 99X in Atlanta, are always looking for downloads and ways that they can bring people to their sites. Another thing is that a lot of these alternative artists haven't had a single at retail. So doing something like this is a way to build the excitement on an artist that will sell records at the end of the day.

R&R: Do you foresee any other ways that technology will change how you do your job?

SF: It's happening already. When Creed does an interview at a station, I listen to the interview live over the Internet. So I get to hear things as they happen instead of waiting for a cassette with the interview.

"Ben Harper sounds awesome on the air! It works in all dayparts and he is an artist our audience wants to hear. 'Burn To Shine' can hold hands with Fiona or sucker punch Korn."

Break Through Artist

METHODS OF MAYHEM Track: "GET NAKED" LP: METHODS OF MAYHEM Label: MCA

Jeanette Grgurevic Asst. Alternative Editor

ssentials: Long gone are the days of big hair and spandex for Tommy Lee (guitars, drums, vocals), as he reinvents himself and joins forces with rapper friend TiLo (a.k.a. Tim Murray) to form a new band, Methods Of Mayhem. Their debut album features a slew of guest artists and a fresher sound than you might expect from a founding member of Motley Crue.

Methods Of Mayhem began when Tommy, bored out of his mind sitting in jail. began calling his voice mail and leaving himself melodies and parts of songs as messages. After his release he toured briefly with Motley Crue, but was feeling so uninspired, he left the band. Shortly thereafter he began recording with TiLo, whom he'd met playing in one of Motley Crue's opening bands. Word got out that the two were stirring something up, and before they knew it, they were getting phone calls from other artists who wanted to collaborate with them. By the time they were finished, the all-star cast included The Crystal Method. Snoop Dogg, Kottonmouth Kings and Kid Rock. Methods Of Mayhem's first single, "Get Naked," with an outrageous video currently airing on MTV, features guest vocals and appearances by Mix Master Mike (Beastie Boys), Fred Durst (Limp Bizkit), Lil' Kim and funk master George Clinton.

The self-titled Methods Of Mayhem album was produced by Scott Humphrey (White Zombie) and is expected to hit stores Dec. 7. This record is almost guaranteed to leave music store shelves "bare" with its inspired and infectious music (not to mention women getting a peek at Tommy's rather large remote control and men catching a glimpse of the notorious Pamela/Tommy home video in the music video). Tommy is no stranger to controversy -L.A.'s favorite party boy lets fans know that his attitude hasn't changed a bit, and he's still out to create a little mayhem.

Bruce Wayne, PD KFRR/Fresno, CA

We're getting really big phones on System Of A Down's "Sugar," Metallica with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra's "Hero of the Day," Foo Fighters' "Learn to Fly," Jimmie's Chicken Shack's "Do Right," Limp Bizkit, Stroke 9 and Korn. We're even getting phones on Incubus, which we haven't even begun to play yet - we're working on putting it in as soon as we find room. The Beastie Boys' "Alive," Santana f/Everlast, Santana f/Rob Thomas and the Red Hot Chili Peppers' "Around the World" are also reactive records for us. started tinkering around with Crazy Town's "Toxic," and requests began going through the roof only three weeks later. We've also been playing Methods Of Mayhem's "Get Naked" for a little over two weeks now, and that's generating tons of phones as well. As far as new releases are concerned, I'm looking forward to both the Smashing Pumpkins and No Doubt albums. I think that No Doubt's Gwen Stefani is a staple female artist in the Alternative format and, like the new R.E.M. and Marcy Playground, a new song from them would be a good balance record for us, considering how guitar-heavy Alternative has become. I also can't wait to sit down and listen to the new Metallica, Korn and Beastie Boys albums.

It's particularly fitting, as we close this spectacular year for new music in the format, that R&R offers its first New Music Guide. In fact, it's been a year with so much great new music that heritage superstars have been having a tough time hanging in the top 10, let alone getting to No. 1 (something only five bands have done this year) ... Luckily, this is a format that will always embrace new bands and new music, as this week attests. Powerman 5000 were one of the few bands to cut through the deluge of superstars over the past few months, and they do it again with "Nobody's Real," which pulls in a stellar 33 adds ... As can be expected in a fourth quarter like this, only three more songs hit doubledigit adds (Everlast's "So Long," Nine Inch Nails' "Into the Yold" and Primus' "Electric Uncle Sam") ... While the top of the chart remains jammed, some great records are finally cutting through after a long and patient wait. Just check out the building story on Owsley (debuts this week), Muse (already on over half the panel) and some the harder bands that are getting unbelievable reaction, like Static X, Slipknot and System Of A Down ... Speaking of reaction Epic seems to have the lion's share with Rage Against The Machine, Incubus and Korn (which should have the retail debut of the year for the format). R&R's Exclusive Look At The Cutting Edge Of Alternative

Get A Life

Jeanette Graurevic Asst. Alternative Editor

Who but Perry Farrell would put on a concert with Polynesian dancers and fire-throwers, as he did at his amazing L.A. show a few weeks ago? The two new tracks from his Warner Bros. album, Rev, are getting a whole lotta love and help him debut at No. 1 this week. No Use For A Name, who are at No. 2, are also keeping themselves busy on the stage. They just finished touring with the Dance Hall Crashers and are now headlining the Fat Wreck Chords tour in Europe — the tour should be coming to a venue near you in early February. Gay Dad jump from last week's No. 11 to No. 3, and Handsome Boy Modeling School, who got their name from an episode of TV's Get a Life, debut at No. 7 with airplay from KFMA/Tucson, WBCN/Boston and WHFS/Washington, among others. I'm not sure where Promise Ring got their name, but this is no debut for Jade Tree's indie rock band, who are at No. 8 and have been on the chart for about a month now.

Cure fans, stock up on black lipstick and put your frilly shirts on. They're putting a new record out next year on Elektra, but until then Goldfinger have covered "Just Like Heaven" (it's a more punk-rock version, of course) on their latest EP. Darrin's Coconut Ass., on Mojo. Look for Goldfinger to release their third album sometime next year as well. Portland's American Girls haven't put out their new album yet, but Trauma did put out a great little sampler that features "Heavy and Struck," one of the four songs from American Girls' forthcoming record. Like the Movies Only Slower. If you need a copy, give Ted Taylor a call at (818) 382-2515. Records To Watch: Ben Lee, Royal Crown Re-

☑ Industry insiders share what's on the horizon for the AA format and its music

> By Mark Solovicos Editorial & Charts Coordinator

"I think people are starting to realize that they have to stay vital on the 25-34 end as much as they have to cater to the 35-plus end."

s we conclude the fourth quarter, the year and the century, compelling questions are developing about the future of Adult Alternative. This issue of R&R is devoted exclusively to commentary analyzing new music and format trends. Everyone agrees that the Adult Alternative format is evolving, but many seem to have their own hypotheses about its direction and well-being. Below, some record industry pros provide us with their visions.

James Evans

Interscope Promotion Executive

If there are any trends out there pertaining to the Adult Alternative format, I think people are starting to realize that they have to stay vital on the 25-34 end as much as they have to cater to the 35-plus end. It's a little easier and safer to cater to the 35-plus end, but they have to balance that with some of the artists who are the upper-end artists for Alternative, those who have the right songs that can still be compatible with the 35plus crowd.

Artists like Pearl Jam, Smashing Pumpkins, Beck and Chris Cornell — people who kind of represent the upper end of Alternative and the younger end of this audience and who are in the middle area - I think those people are more important than they have ever been to AA. I think the major-market stations seem to be leading that trend, if anyone is leading it. Sometimes it even means playing things people aren't necessarily working to them; I think that's a good trend. You can't go to the grave solely with all of the heritage artists; you have to have some balance on the younger side too. I wouldn't say that's a full-blown trend yet, but you are starting to see people play around with records that skew a little younger than they are probably comfortable with. They know they have to do something to stay vital.

If a P1 listener at an Alternative station is a P2 listener to an Adult Alt. station, and that person hears some of the Alternative artists on the Adult Alt. station, it makes the station a lot more hip and vital to that listener. You are going to invite some of them into the house and you need to. You can't just preach to the converted. All the Adult Alternatives have to grow their cume. That's starting to happen a little bit more out there than it was a couple of years ago, I think.

Radio stations have to do something to be interesting on evenings and weekends to play to the available audience. Realistically, that available audience shrinks quite a bit. When most of the listeners go home, they are watching CNN, reading books to their kids or doing something other than listening to the radio at night, unless they are driving around. That evening audience does shrink, and that's a chance to get in and be a little younger, a little hipper, without going over the line. You still have to play material that is texturally compatible for those people if they do tune in, but during the evening you can be a little more adventurous.

I think people are figuring out ways to do that. Some people play different types of specialty programming, whether it's playing an hour of just new music, doing an underground show, playing an entire album side or running an old live broadcast. Making nights and weekends compelling is a constant conundrum for everyone. Trying to figure out ways to attack that besides sitting on your hands is important.

A lot of material that Interscope has coming out in the near future is in that zone of being kind of an alternative image with 25-34-type artists. But they have music that is texturally compatible for Adult Alternatives. Chris Cornell, which we're one track deep in, is doing well, and we're going to go deeper on that record. Beck, Folk Implosion and all of those artists who have a little bit of alternative tinge and image all of them have made records that are texturally compatible to all of these Adult Alternative stations. It will get the stations some image points if they play

In terms of overall artists who are sort of bubbling under, I think Columbia's commitment to Train has been really impressive. Indeed, that record is selling. Our early airplay for Folk Implosion has a lot of people asking me, "When are you going to work that record?" The Folk Implosion record is the No. I record at college radio today. It's getting a lot of press and a lot of Internet activity, but we have not officially gone after commercial radio until now. We waited, because we want to make sure it has a place in the sun when we do that. It's a really good album. I think the Folk Implosion album is one that's going to be fun for us to work on.

Columbia Director/National Adult Alternative Promotion

During my eight-plus years at Columbia, a project I have been very proud to be involved with is the Train record. Their selftitled debut CD was released on two tracks at multiple formats, finally reaping the benefits of multiformat success with "Meet Virginia." [Note: "Meet Virginia" has charted three times on R&R's Adult Alternative charts during the past 18 months.]

In addition to the slow but sure approach at radio, the band have toured consistently over the past two years and have built a strong fan base across the country. In the past six months or so VH1 and MTV came on board - at separate times in the project — as a result of the increasingly compelling story. As a testament to true commitment, hard work and a great band, the record was recently certified gold! We have just gotten started.

Alex Coronfly

Reprise Sr. Director/ Adult Formats

We will continue to work Crosby, Stills, Nash & Young's "No Tears Left" from their new album, Looking Forward. The tour will officially start in mid-January, and ticket sales are phenomenal. Boston's Fleet Center and New York's Madison Square Garden sold out in a matter of hours. Also, look for the highly anticipated release featuring music from the motion picture Magnolia, with nine new tracks from Aimee

Mann. Aimee's songwriting continues to be prolific and aweinspiring.

As Filter's "Take a Picture" continues to explode on a multiformat level, we will continue to build the story and increase the growth at the Adult Alternative format. With our continued partnership with Giant Records, we will continue our focus on the Kenny Wayne Shepherd project this year and into 2000, and we are highly excited about launching the new Steely Dan release at the beginning of the new year.

Regarding the Adult Alternative format in terms of music, I think the format will continue its delicate balance between embracing multiformat hits and having format-exclusive artists. In terms of demographics, Reprise is seeing the purchasing power of the Adult Alternative audience, as artists such as Crosby, Stills, Nash & Young sell out venues across the country in a matter of hours. encouraging sign was Wilco's Summerteeth, which, for the most part, was format-exclusive and sold more than 100,000 units.

Dan Fullick

Doolittle Records Director/ National Radio Promotions

I think the Adult Alternative format is becoming more and more splintered. The panel has been reduced in size, and the chart is very volatile - that's what I see happening. KENZ (The End) in Salt Lake is so much different from KBCO in Denver. This is a good thing. You have that in almost every format, but you have enough stations in the middle to round out those sporadic flashes.

Dan Fullick

Jody Denberg just had a great summer book, which was fantastic. But it's so Austin. People have talked about doing a KGSR-type station in Dallas. KGSR is not even a Texas station - KGSR is an Austin station. Austin is so different from Dallas, Houston or San Antonio. San Antonio is 70 miles down the road, but it's a world away.

records. They help break bands and sell tickets. Our Trish Murphy numbers are amazing. They played that single for four or five months. KGSR led the way for Trish, and we've scanned over 2,250 in Austin. They manage not to cater to the lowest common denominator. Austin is obviously our leading market.

It's so different. When you have

KGSR fans in the room, you can tell. People are really passionate

here in Austin. It's just a great oasis of coolness. KGSR is only

8 or 9 years old, and it has already built a heritage in this town. The station sells a lot of about their radio station.

Then there was that "twang" scare a few years ago, when people thought Americana was the next big thing, just like techno was to alternative music. It didn't really happen — it's still developing. When that "twang" trend bubbled up, KGSR tapped into that sound, but it's not the only thing they're doing. It's just an element of their complex sound. It seems that Jody works hard to make each set work. They do their homework, so it's cool and accessible. It sounds pro; it sounds real.

I am seeing Adult Alternative radio stations coast to coast being less susceptible to being used as launching pads. If something is really a "Modern AC" record, the format will find more artists it can keep as exclusives. I think that's a good thing, rather than sharing everything. You are going to share Sarah McLachlan, Barenaked Ladies and Natalie Merchant, but you may not share that Sinead Lohan record. That's something specific to Adult Alternative that people really seem to like. I remember looking at the Adult Alternative charts a few years ago. They were all the same records. Hot AC and Adult Alt. were always the same in the top 20.

Today you are finding more and more exclusives. I don't know if that's deliberate or if that's just a fluke. I am seeing more artists today becoming more Adult Alternativeexclusive. It's a good thing. I don't know how the labels feel about that; maybe they had other plans. It's a hard format to break a record in. Look at James Evans' work with Sinead Lohan — he worked his butt off. Some of the new Adult Alternative artists are becoming more and more AA-exclusive. Look at Los Lobos. I'm glad they've done well on the chart.

We're also seeing some bands that Adult Alternative was on two years ago finally come through. Columbia's hard work with Train is a phenomenal example. William Topley and Wood are good examples. Kim Richey and Sonia Dada have done well at the format. It seems the format is hosting its own artists. It's all good material, and it's all exclusive to Adult Alternative listeners. It may not appeal to the 14-yearold girl listening to Top 40, but that's fine.

Nick Attaway

MCA National Director/ Adult Alternative Promotion

Next year MCA has the privilege of releasing the debut record of Leona Naess. I feel strongly that Adult Alternative will attach itself to her single, "Charm Attack," in a big way. In addition, there will be another single coming from Live that is a definite fit for this format.

In regard to the direction of Adult Alternative for the new century, I agree wholeheartedly with [consultant] SBR's philosophy that there will be a new breed of Adult Alternative stations that cannot repeat the success that WXRT/Chicago,

KBCO. KFOG/San Francisco. KMTT/Seattle, KGSR, KPIG/ Monterey, KTCZ/Minneapolis and KINK/Portland have been able to create over the years by educating their older demos. As such, these new Adult Alternative stations will not play classic rock from the '60s and '70s. Their classics will be Peter

Gabriel, U2, etc. They will take advantage of the smart, melodic pop that Alternative is shying from away now. There is definitely an available niche for this, and it will be interesting to see if this truly unfolds as I have stated or if "Modern Adult" becomes more aggressive and takes that

100% SATISFACTION GUARANTEED! Case Closed. RESULTS MARKETING

By Erica Farber

s President of Universal Music & Video Distribution since September, Jim Urie oversees day-to-day music sales and distribution operations for the Universal Music Group, which is composed of 10 label groups: Island/Def Jam Group, Universal/Motown Group, the Verve Group, Universal Classics, Universal Latino, MCA and MCA/Nashville, Mercury Nashville, Interscope, Geffen, A&M and Universal Music Enterprises, which is the catalog group. Also included are a number of distributed labels not owned by UMVD.

Having joined Universal in 1996, Urie has played a pivotal role in strategically breaking new ground in the areas of retail and marketing. PolyGram Distribution was sold to Universal in December of last year, and the two entities actually combined around the first of February. Following the painful task of laying off staff, physically restructuring and moving — and almost 40,000 hours of programming time — this massive new entity has worked out most of the kinks and is proving to be a major success. The company's year-to-date market share — what is referred to as urits current — is just under 28%, which is almost 10% higher than its nearest competitor.

Getting into the business: "The branch manager for CBS Records was a neighbor of ours and took a liking to me. He hired me as a college rep back in 1972 for the University of Maryland, Georgetown and all those college stations down there. I thought I was going to be a professional golfer, and as my backup I was taking business administration and prelaw at the University of Maryland.

"I graduated and actually entered law school, and CBS came along and offered me a job as a sales rep making $18,000 a year, which was a lot of money back then. The only time I was out of the business was after I got blown out at PolyGram. I had a job as VP of corporate development for a company in a number of businesses. It was a great experience, because I saw there was a whole world out there beyond the music business."

Difference between sales and promotion: "I'm not sure they are so different, although the technical aspects of them are quite different. The bottom lines are individual credibility and credibility of product, and those things are very similar. We are a marketing company, not a sales company. There is not a competing product. If you want Dr. Dre or Melissa Etheridge or George Strait, there's nowhere else to get it but from us. Marketing around what promotion does is just a basic part of our job. We look at how promotion is setting up marketing opportunities for us — that's radio, video, TV appearances, press and all those different things. We spend a tremendous amount of time analyzing airplay situations and developing artist airplay situations in particular."

JIM URIE

President, Universal Music & Video Distribution

State of the music industry: "It's really healthy, and it's going to get a lot healthier. The retail account base is very solid, and that's good. Music is more prevalent, whether it's a halftime show at the Super Bowl, the feature item on Entertainment Tonight or the lead item in USA Today. The Internet is also going to be a huge growth driver for the business."

Traditional retail vs. the Internet: "We've been very proactive lately, not only assuring retailers that they're going to be part of our plans going forward, but actually laying out what those plans are going to be. It is not our intention to cut them out of the picture. The research we're seeing is that retail is not going to go away, and that Internet sales, meaning mail-order sales of existing products and also download sales, are going to be a piece of the business.

"Frankly, the download estimates five years out are not impressive. The Internet is about marketing. When you can go to a customer and say via e-mail, 'We know you bought the last Sting album. You might be interested to know that Sting has a new album that came out today,' and then two weeks later go back and say, 'We hope you're enjoying your Sting album. You might be interested to know that we carry all these catalog Sting albums, and if you'd like, you may sample them.' This kind of marketing opens up huge opportunities and applications we probably haven't even thought of yet."

How the Internet is changing his business: "We're in the download business, as I'm sure everyone will be. That means consumers will be able to sit at their home computers on a website — possibly through a specific retailer site — and we will have a list of product that will be downloadable for sale. They will execute that sale through that retailer's site and either keep it on their computer or have it reside on an MP3 player or whatever.

"Other ways we're seeing Internet impact is with things like artist chats. We had a retail customer who had an online chat with Limp Bizkit the night before the album was in-store. That customer's market share in Limp Bizkit is double its normal market share to this day, five months later. That's a great use of the Internet, and the retailer is thrilled. There are opportunities for radio to be involved with those kind of things also, to tie in the local retailer back to the chain."

Relationship between the music side and radio: "It's changing, in that both sides are consolidated and both sides are bigger. The relationship used to be local stations and local retail chains were tied in on many different levels in terms of the retailer supporting in-store what the station was playing. There was a lot of advertising done by local chains with local stations. That whole part of the business has changed dramatically. The effectiveness of radio today is in the formats. Now there are a number of strong formats, and that has forced retail to better service a number of different customers interested in a number of different titles."

On radio getting its fair share of the advertising dollar: "If you go back to the old days when you had a town dominated by a local retail chain and a few local stations, it was very easy. You went in, that customer could place a time buy, and you had your records set up in that city. Now when you go to any individual city and look at who's there, you've got eight or 10 stores from this chain and eight or 10 stores from that chain. You can't economically go in and set up a record, city by city, using time buys, because you can only get a fraction of the stores.

"In our business it's really about buying real estate in the store. The different chains have different advertising packages they've put together that make it most efficient for us to get media exposure and get that front end-cap positioning. Right now the chains tend not to go out and do any big radio buys, because they feel the most efficient way is Sunday inserts or whatever. Personally, I think one of the big advantages that is going to come out of radio consolidation is that the big broadcasting chains will now be able to go to a big national retailer and customize packages for them."

On record sales: "Record sales are good. The market's up about 5% this year. This is going to be a far bigger Christmas than last year, and last year was a big Christmas. It looks to me like there are going to be a bunch of big radio hits that are going to drive those sales even more. On the competitive side, things like Christina Aguilera and Celine Dion are going to be big. We have a number of big hits ourselves, not the least of which is this Eiffel 65 record."

Greatest challenges: "We try to be a smart company. Doing things in a smart way is always hard. That means doing things efficiently, exploiting the Internet, not overspending and being a tough competitor, yet fair to our customers — those are important things. UMVD actually has two customers: the labels we service and, of course, the retail customers. Our biggest challenge day to day, minute to minute, is to juggle the best interests of both of those, since we're at that crossroads. That's a real challenge."

Something about his company that might surprise our readers: "The thing that amazes me is that there are no bad guys in this company. There is not a prick anywhere in this company. It's unbelievable to me. It was true when it was just Universal, and now that the merger is complete, somehow it's still true. I don't know how we've managed to accomplish it. I guess Doug Morris, since he made a lot of the decisions, has to get some credit. Everybody gets along, pretty much. A week doesn't go by that I don't think about that."

Most influential individual: "I've been so lucky. I've worked for Doug Morris, Henry Droz, Clive Davis, Dick Asher. If anybody had half a brain and worked for those guys, they would have a head start in this business. The very first guy I worked for — and I have to give him some credit for offering me the job in the first place — was George Deacon. He's quite a character unto himself."

Career highlight: "I started as a college rep, doing promotion. My first full-time job was in sales. I left CBS and went to PolyGram, running distribution. I was given a chance by Bob Jamieson and Asher to jump over and run the label side as head of marketing. As PolyGram was structured at that point, I had publicity, video production, artist development, product management and creative services. I'm pretty proud of being able to make that jump from sales to marketing and being able to do it successfully. This PolyGram integration is something that everyone should be proud of."

Career disappointment: "There have been a number of people I wished that I could have continued to work with. Either they left me or I left them. And once I was thrown out! I was really disappointed when I left PolyGram. I loved working there and was so involved. I felt like I knew pretty much every single person in the company. I was pretty disappointed when I left there."

Favorite song: "'Rosalita' and 'Europa' by Santana."
Favorite television show: "The Practice."
Favorite movie: "A bunch. Memphis Belle, and certainly Schindler's List would also be there."

Favorite book: "Tai-Pan by James Clavell."

Surprise big seller: "I must admit I did not get

Favorite restaurant: "Castellano's on 55th Street in New York."

Hobbies: "Golf, movies, reading, kids."

Communication medium of choice: "The phone is always great, but e-mail is certainly the way to go these days: jim.urie@umusic.com."
