•ROCK ROUNDUP•

by Mark Marone

In George Vecsey's Sports of the Times column a couple of days before Mickey Mantle died, the noted sports writer lamented how the relative proximity afforded by professionals like himself to star performers, which allows intimate, sometimes unflattering encounters, should be put into perspective when evaluating a performer's accomplishments. As a sports reporter who for decades has covered the intense, erratic emotions of star athletes, Vecsey suggests that while sometimes it is a pleasure to meet a great performer, just as often distance is the best thing between the public and the star.

Because Vesey rarely covered the music industry professionally, the distance between the baseball authority and one of the bands he liked, the Grateful Dead, helped him focus on what was most important after Jerry Garcia's death. It was Garcia's music, as it was Mantle's performance on the field, that will be the foremost imprint of each man's legacy and most important to us, not the addictions they each battled. Sometimes the fan's view, not knowing the artists personally and based only on their accomplishments, can give us the purest view of their contributions.

ON DECK: Starting with next week's issue, we'll begin running the triple-A playlist page. There will be 12 playlists that you can peruse for yourself.

JOB SEARCH: TTV Records is looking for someone to handle national alternative promotion duties at the label. Jim McNeil has left the post to become Mercury's national East Coast alternative manager. Fax your resume to Vera Savic at 212-979-6489.

CORRECTION: In last week's column, the dates for the rock sessions at the Billboard/Airplay Monitor seminar were incorrectly reported. The correct times and dates are: Modern Rock session is Friday, Oct. 13 at 11 a.m. and the Album Rock session is Saturday, Oct. 14 at 11 a.m.

Records showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A record which has been on either chart for more than 20 weeks will not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to those records which attain 800 detections (album) or 800 detections (modern) for the first time. If two records are tied in number of plays, the record being played on more stations is placed first. Records below the top 20 are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.
