Rock PDs Say Hot Top 40 Music To Blame For Disappointing Fall

by Marc Schiffman

There were certainly some rock success stories when the winter Arbitron books rolled in, but there were a surprising number of pronounced 12-plus drops at some of the format's powerhouses, including WYSP Philadelphia and WBCN Boston. While Monitor crunches its forthcoming national Arbitron numbers, we asked programmers and consultants if they saw indications of larger problems. Some thought it was too soon for alarm or saw Arbitron sampling issues at play, but others say they're worried about music issues and competing technology.

Those music issues weren't necessarily complaints about the rap/rock that dominates rock radio these days ("There's lots of new music our audience is passionate about," says one PD) but about the music—'N Sync, Backstreet Boys, Britney Spears, etc.—that's giving top 40 so much momentum that it's eclipsing other formats.

Album WIIJY Providence, R.I., PD Joe Bevilacqua says winter has traditionally not been his station's best quarter but adds, "In Providence the top 40s all had great books, and that's attributed to these multi-platinum-selling acts." While top 40 acts are getting press everywhere, rock radio hasn't "had anything with super-huge multi-platinum success with press and TV exposure everywhere," says Creed and Santana. "We do not have those exclusive acts that people are coming to listen to."

Album WNOR Norfolk, Va., PD Harvey Kojan says, "In this market, the CHR and hot AC are through the roof... Could it simply be that they're playing the hottest music and we're not?

"There have been many times when the immense popularity of a group of artists or sounds propels entire formats at the expense of everyone else. Country was out of control for a while—now both local stations are struggling," Kojan says. "Remember back in the 'Thriller' days, circa 1983? If you didn't play that album, chances are you suffered. We got a nice bump in spring 1997. Was it merely a coincidence that Metallica's 'Load' was out then?"

MORE VARIETY, PLEASE

And not everybody thinks modern and active were smart to rely so heavily on rap/rock. XETRA (91X) San Diego PD Bryan Schock says, "I didn't have a bad book, and I'm not really playing a lot of the same music" as many of his modern counterparts. "My biggest fear when people started to jump on this harder-edged bandwagon was there was going to be a problem down the road. Is this it? I don't know."

Blue Chip Broadcasting Dayton, Ohio, OM Michael Luczak says modern "was supposed to be 'alternative' to the mainstream. Then someone decided to play the same 150 songs on modern rock stations. They fucked that one up pretty quickly."

With stations building so much of their foundation on rap/rock, "You almost pigeonhole yourself by going there and making yourself the Limp Bizkit/Metallica/Godsmack station and losing the texture of the other music,"

U.K. Tops U.S. In Latest InfoStream Ratings

With the addition of more portal sites, including a number of European streamers, Arbitron's new InfoStream Webcast Ratings for January have a new No. 1. The U.K.-based rock AC Virgin Radio was the top-ranked station in terms of cumulative audience, with 173,200. Former No. 1 station, triple-A KPIG Monterey, Calif., was second, with 80,800 listeners a month. Other stations making the top 25 include triple-A KFAN Fredricksburg, Texas; modern KNSX St. Louis; album KLAQ El Paso, Texas; triple-A KXST (Sets 102) San Diego; and album KLOS Los Angeles. Triple-A KBAC Santa Fe, N.M., had the longest average time spent tuning for rock formats at 4 hours, 35 minutes.

Entercom has signed a deal with StreamAudio.com to webcast its radio stations and insert ads into its audio. The project will roll out with album WAAF Boston.

Billboard Bulletin reports that MP3.com has removed major-label content from its MyMP3 music storage service. It's in the process of negotiating a settlement with the Recording Industry Assn. of America over the trade association's copyright lawsuit against MP3.com.

Per Metallica's request, Napster has banned more than 300,000 users that the band alleged to be copyright infringers. Users who think they've been misidentified can file a "counter notification" with Napster. Metallica's suit against the site continues to move forward. CNET.com reports that some Napster users have already come up with a way to circumvent the ban. Napster is working to track and block those users.

VH1.com has relaunched its site with a new fan clubs section with which it hopes to target sites such as the Ultimate Band List. The new section will offer guides to links and resources for dozens of artists.

Stern Denies New Pact With CBS

The New York Post reports that Howard Stern has denied on-air the reports of a new five-year/$100 million contract offer from Viacom/CBS. "I've never even met with CBS about a contract renewal," Stern said, referring to earlier reports by Matt Drudge. Stern added, "I think they think that nobody else wants to offer me stuff, but I've heard from different companies that want to hire me away, if I can say that." The Post's John Mainelli points out that while Stern himself may not be meeting with CBS yet, that doesn't rule out negotiations between CBS and Stern agent Don Buchwald, though neither party would confirm that. Forbes magazine lists Stern's annual income at $18 million as of last March.

Meanwhile, Viacom COO Mel Karmazin says Viacom is still looking for more radio and TV stations and groups to buy. Speaking at a Bank of New York conference May 15, Karmazin said the company is also planning an IPO for its MTV Interactive unit.

In other Infinity news, The Washington Post reports that modern WHFS Washington, D.C., led an area moment of silence in honor of slain police officers on May 15 in observance of National Peace Officer Memorial Day. The paper reports that the idea for 15 seconds of silence, which other area stations, including modern rival WWDC (DC101), participated in, grew out of the appearance of Rage Against The Machine at the upcoming HFStival and a dinner that WHFS GM Phil Zachary attended.

The show will be at FedEx Field, home to the Washington Redskins. At the dinner were Zachary, Redskins president Stephen Baldacci, and area representatives of the Fraternal Order of Police. At issue was Rage's appearance at the show. The band is an outspoken supporter of a new trial for Mumia Abu-Jamal, who was convicted of killing a Philadelphia police officer. Eventually, those in attendance hit on the notion of the moment of silence as a way of showing that they supported both their local police and Rage's freedom of speech. Zachary brought the idea to the area broadcasters' association, and nearly two dozen stations participated in the on-air silence.

DOCKET MONITOR: WXVO SUIT, PT. II

The Knoxville (Tenn.) News-Sentinel says album WXVO Knoxville owner Dick Broadcasting has responded to a $3 million lawsuit filed by a 14-year-old listener earlier this year, asking that the suit be dismissed. The boy filed suit after trying to win a pair of tickets from the station's host Sarah "Ripley" McClune. The incident occurred in February '99 when the boy showed up at the station in his mother's underwear in a typical "What would you do to win?" contest. Ripley then had the boy wear a dog collar, had him chained to a fence, and invited listeners to come see him. He was later brought to a video store and a bar where he was asked to do a table dance. Although the youth claimed he was humiliated and has been under the care of a mental-health professional, the station says the boy was a willing participant and signed a release saying he was of age. According to a response filed by Knoxville lawyer Daniel M. Gass, the boy actually asked what else he could do. "It was the [DJ's] impression that the person wanted her to talk about him doing something outrageous on the radio . . . [He] told the [DJ] to be sure to get his name right on the air."

BUSINESS: CC/SFX MOVE FORWARD

Clear Channel's $4.4 billion purchase of SFX Entertainment will move forward, with the announcement that SFX has settled lawsuits filed by shareholders. In March, a group of investors lead by Harbor Finance Partners filed a suit in the Court of Chancery in Wilmington, Del., alleging that SFX chairman Robert F.X. Sillerman and CEO Michael Ferrel negotiated a better stock-swap deal for their Class B shares than they did for Class A shares, which are publicly traded. Under the deal, Class A shareholders get 0.6 shares of Clear Channel stock for each SFX share, while Class B stockholders—comprising only Sillerman and Ferrel—get a full share. Although that formula remains intact, Class A shareholders will split an additional $34.5 million in cash or Clear Channel stock, before legal fees and expenses. The agreement removes "all major obstacles" to the pending sale, according to a May 16 SFX filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission. The Justice Department has already cleared the merger.

Rubber City Radio buys album WJXQ, modern WWDX, and country WXIK Lansing, Mich., from 62nd Street Broadcasting.

The SPIN BY MARK MARONE

'Kryptonite' Breaks Active Spin Barrier

3 Doors Down's "Kryptonite" (Republic/Universal) becomes the first track to surpass 1,600 spins at active rock (1,616) and in the process eclipses the 1,500-spin mark for a fifth consecutive week. Creed's "Higher" (Wind-Up) had five nonconsecutive weeks of more than 1,500 spins in October and November of last year, while Metallica's "Turn The Page" (Elektra/EGG) accomplished the feat in December 1998. At mainstream, "Kryptonite" earns the second-highest one-week spin total with 2,553. That's only 47 shy of Pink Floyd's 2,600 total for "Keep Talking" in April 1994.

Not only do Deftones get their modern debut with "Change (In The House Of Flies)" (Maverick), but they do so while grabbing Greatest Gainer honors at the chart this week. The track also becomes the group's third active rock hit; its two predecessors also had parenthetical titles: "My Own Summer (Shove It)" and "Be Quiet And Drive (Far Away)."

The heritage chart lives up to its name this week, as all three debuts are by acts with long histories at rock radio. Longtime Bad Company lead vocalist Paul Rodgers' "Drifters" enters the chart at No. 34 and earns Greatest Gainer and Most New Stations honors. It's the first track from his CMC International debut, "Electric." Following at No. 37 is Eric Clapton & B.B. King's "Riding With The King" (Duck/Reprise). And Bon Jovi reaches charts with "It's My Life" (Island/IDJMG) at No. 38. The lower half of the heritage chart is especially tight this week with 14 of the chart's 19 bullets showing from No. 21 down. All six tracks between Nos. 27 and 32 are bulleted, with Indigenous's "Little Time" (Pachyderm) suffering a 28-32 drop despite an increase in spins.

MONITOR PROFILE

After Being Reimaged By Rivals, WBZX Again Reclaims 'Battle Flag' For New Rock

PD Hal Fish has programmed WBZX (the Blitz) Columbus, Ohio, since the early '90s, when it was classic rock. He was given the opportunity to launch the Blitz in 1992. "There was no active rock then. These names developed later on," he says. "There were a couple of stations out there doing what we were doing. [WBZ] the Blaze in Chicago was doing something similar and sort of pioneered that hair-band thing. We started out doing some of that, but the thing that really jump-started our radio station was when we combined what was at the time the alternative crossover stuff"—Stone Temple Pilots, Pearl Jam, Alice In Chains, etc.—"and the numbers skyrocketed."

WBZX was part of a transition in the format's history, helping bring hard rock to the mainstream. Fish remembers the initial reaction of rival heritage rocker WLVQ. "The GM there, Tom Thon, called up our GM and commented, 'Nice Metallica.' I think about two years later he thought, 'How do I get that on my radio station?' although they don't play Metallica even today. On the other end was one of the last Z-Rock, heavy-metal true believers that went away within a year of the Blitz launch."

'If you're going to fly the new-rock flag, you have to stand underneath it'

Hal Fish
Program Director
WBZX Columbus, Ohio

Owner: North American Broadcasting

Ratings: 5.5-5.3-5.4-6.2

WBZX was riding high until about four years ago, when Jacor set up a classic flanking assault. WAZZ took the modern angle, and WAZU "basically mimicked what we did—maybe a little harder. They talked about us on the air, saying we were wimpy and they weren't afraid to play the hard stuff, and [Jacor] basically flanked us," says Fish. "With these flanking maneuvers able to siphon off these specialty audiences within our format, the goal was to bring WLVQ back to prominence and get them above us again."

To defend against that move, which Fish says he expected, WBZX put on Howard Stern in mornings. "I'll be the first to say that that first year, Stern really saved our bacon, [as] the numbers eroded pretty quickly on both sides of us." As a result, "we held in there. Our numbers were still good—in the fives—but we knew that we had continuing problems" with those flankers.

So began the latest chapter in the WBZX story a little more than a year ago. "We decided to take a hard look at the direction of our station outside of Howard Stern," says Fish. Perceptual studies showed that "people had seen us... as 'that new station.' [Then] new stations came on both sides of us, and they kind of made us seem old."

Musically, the earlier Blitz audience, which was happy hearing Led Zeppelin mixed with new rock, aged out of the station's demo. Harking back to the days when WBZX called itself "the New Music Revolution," Fish says, "we decided to consolidate our audience and bring back the 'New Rock' part of our radio station. We call ourselves 'New Rock 99.7, the Blitz' now."

"The philosophy is no different than it was when we [first] went on the air," says Fish of WBZX's demo target. "We don't want to fight for 35-year-olds. We know we can't have them and play Fred Durst... What we really want is 20- to 29-year-olds. That's the core of the audience for this radio station. And what we get on either side of that is gravy. We get a lot of teens, and we get a lot of 18-24s, but if you take out that cell, we dominate largely 20-29, which is our goal." Now, WBZX's mission statement is "playing the most contemporary kind of rock music that's out there. It did in 1992. It does in 2000," says Fish.

And like those early days when the Blitz first mixed hard rock and new rock, musically, Fish says, "we always had the philosophy that we won't take anything for granted. There are certain hits that seem to fit in the mix OK. For instance, we had great tests and had a pretty good run with 'Battle Flag'... We seem to carry some of that alternative heritage that we established in '94 or so. The harder edge, though, certainly is the way to go. The active edge and the Tools and the Stains and things like that is very much part of what we do. And then the hip-hop stuff with the Kid Rocks and the Limp Bizkits played very well to our audience. So, we just... increased the frequency of that music."

And he isn't kidding about the increased frequency. WBZX is spinning its top tracks in the upper 40, and that's despite at least 20 hours of music-free programming a week with Stern.

"If you're going to be new rock and fly that flag, you have to stand underneath that," says Fish. "Especially when you have—as we call them—the peashooters on both sides that are going to do it every two hours. You've got WAZU playing those currents 80 times a week, and that philosophy is to be what the Blitz is and more. And WAZZ is the same way. Their average era year is 1997. Very current-based radio stations on either side of us [are] siphoning off our numbers, so we had to really make that an irrelevant factor for our audience."

Then there's the familiarity issue. "We always figured if you're going to get this stuff familiar, you've got to get it out there," says Fish. "You do get the verbatims coming back from people saying, 'I hear the same stuff over and over again,' and coming from AOR and classic rock, that's a scary statement. However, if you start talking to people who program current-based radio stations, a lot of them will tell you that that's a good sign. If your audience is telling you you're spinning the same records over and over again, apparently you're hitting the records a lot, and they're noticing it, and if they want to hear the latest from Limp Bizkit, they know they can get it here, because we're going to spin it every three hours."

Here's a sample hour on WBZX: Kid Rock, "God Only Knows Why"; Nirvana, "Smells Like Teen Spirit"; Limp Bizkit, "Take A Look Around"; Filter, "Hey Man, Nice Shot"; 3 Doors Down, "Kryptonite"; Pink Floyd, "Learning To Fly"; Korn, "Make Me Bad"; Alice In Chains, "Rooster"; Creed, "What If"; Green Day, "When I Come Around"; Rage Against The Machine, "Guerrilla Radio"; and Metallica, "King Nothing."

The latest retooling seems to be paying off for WBZX, which enjoyed a 5.4-6.2 12-plus rise in the winter Arbitron book. But the rock density is still heavy in Columbus. And the prospect of someone leaving the format is constantly talked about, "but we've been saying that for two years," Fish says. "WAZZ keeps talking about improving their signal strength... and whether that's going to happen or not, I can't say, but they're down to a 1.4 now. I would think that something's got to give there."

And WAZU, says Fish, lives off the WBZX cume. "Maybe they can keep that in perpetuity, just keep it going and try to keep our 12-plus numbers underneath WLVQ. We're pretty tight right now, those numbers are pretty close, but maybe they figure it's worth it so they can have the glory number."

Songs ranked by number of detections Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most New Stations awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrants and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.
