Done In 60 Minutes: The Life Of A Virtual Morning Drive Host

by Jeff Silberman

A little after 8 p.m., Valentine, 31, emerges from a KIIS Los Angeles studio after completing a four-hour afternoon-drive shift. But his work for the day is hardly done. With just a few minutes to collect himself, Valentine gears up for his next gig—actually, seven gigs. Thanks to Prophet technology, Valentine will soon return to the studio to become the virtual morning host for seven Clear Channel "Kiss" stations across the country, from WSFJ Jacksonville, Fla., and WKFS Cincinnati to KKDM Des Moines, Iowa. And he'll cut all seven morning shows in about 60 minutes.

After about a year, Valentine is getting the routine down. "At first, [the participating stations] wanted me to do the shows in real time, but that was exhausting, so we learned to put them together in a way that allows us to do several stations at once while still making it sound local."

Valentine's virtual morning show will soon be heard on Clear Channel's new WXCW Albany, N.Y. In fact, he claims that the routine has been honed to where he could do "30 or 40 stations" at one time. How does he do it? Airplay Monitor was offered a chance to look behind the virtual curtain.

Ironically, Valentine has to wait to use the station computer. When he finally gets access, he quickly runs out messages from his PDs that contain new liners, area news, and other bits of local color. He also prints out E-mail from listeners.

GOOD MORNING, DES MOINES

At 8:30 p.m., Valentine enters a typical studio with his co-hosts, morning producer Jeff Poole and afternoon producer Peaches. Valentine settles into his chair facing the console, with Peaches and Poole behind microphones on the other side. Once his papers are in order, beginning with info

Steve And D.C. Join The Rat Race

For this week's wacky promo stunt inspired by the hit CBS-TV series "Survivor," we take you to St. Louis, where the syndicated Steve and D.C. morning show, based at country WKXX for now, will ask listeners to vote on which crew member should eat a rat. The duo will have the vermin prepared for consumption by a Vietnam vet. Naturally, the People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals are up in paws about the whole sorry affair. Maybe the group can be mollified by serving it on PETA bread, but I digest.

Meanwhile, classic rock CIRK Edmonton, Alberta, brings a new twist to both "Survivor" mania and the old Battle of the Hits promotional warhorse with its CIRK "Survivor" Weekend. Listeners will vote one of 32 classic albums out of the battle every hour until only "the ultimate desert-island disc" remains.

BRITNEY STUNT SPURS AN IMITATOR, BUT NO CRIMINAL CHARGES

No criminal charges will be filed in connection with the tragic heart-attack death of 37-year-old mother Susan Santodonato. She fell and hit her head in WMRV Binghamton, N.Y.'s parking lot at an alleged Britney Spears appearance that turned out to be a station hoax. The Broome County district attorney's office says it has determined the death was an accident; police were investigating whether the woman had been pushed in a rush of more than 100 fans hoping to see Spears.

Despite the tragedy, an apparently undaunted WBHT (Hot 97) Wilkes-Barre, Pa., located one market south of Binghamton, staged its own fake Britney appearance. About 400 listeners brought their kids to see Spears, including many who camped out the night before. Some were even dressed like the pop diva and sang "... Baby One More Time." However, when the limo pulled up, a box containing a Britney Spears doll was walked out of the car. According to local press reports, children cried, parents cursed, and some threw debris. WBHT's Bill Fox said listeners should have been able to "read between the lines" and figure out that this joke was similar to others that WBHT has played. A 5-year-old girl, who was struck in the head with a glass bottle that some believe was intended for Fox, was unhurt. PD Mark McKay says that the reaction to the stunt was blown out of proportion and that the purpose was to draw as much traffic to WBHT as possible for the chance to win front-row seats and backstage passes for Spears' performance that night.

Billboard Names Saxe Radio Editor

Airplay Monitor reporter Frank Saxe is joining sister publication Billboard as radio editor. He replaces Chuck Taylor, who is upped to senior writer. Saxe, who has been with Monitor since January 1999,

Prior to joining Monitor, Saxe was an associate editor at the radio trade Radio Business Report. Previously, Saxe spent seven years in broadcast news, including several years in Albany, N.Y., as a reporter and anchor for N/T WROW and as a state capital reporter for N/T WCBS-AM New York. A search for a new Monitor reporter is under way.

Top 40 Gets A Hit From Active Rock

In the past, records that begin their journey to mainstream top 40 from the album rock side have been relatively few in number and usually are records by those heritage rock acts that still have some currency at top 40. But this week, 3 Doors Down's "Kryptonite" (Republic/Universal) charts at mainstream top 40, 22 weeks after it first charted at mainstream rock and 23 weeks after charting at active rock. Active rock—which has been a lot faster on new music lately—actually charted "Kryptonite" two months before modern rock, although the song has been No. 1 at modern for the past eight weeks.

For the second time this year, the rhythmic top 40 chart sports six debut titles, the same number of songs that debuted on the chart in the March 10 issue of Top 40 Airplay Monitor. Before March, we hadn't seen that much new activity on the rhythmic chart since late August '98.

Three weeks after celebrating his first birthday on the AC chart, Edwin McCain's "I Could Not Ask For More" falls off that chart and moves to the AC recurrent list. There are still three other records on the AC chart that have been there for more than a year.

PERSONNEL FILE: Former Hollywood Atlanta rep Harry Schwartz joins TVT as Southeast regional... Former Interscope rep Sam Bates joins Maverick as Northwest regional, based in San Francisco.

REPORTER CHANGES: WBTS (the Beat) Atlanta is added to the mainstream top 40 panel this week; there are now 120 mainstream top 40 reporters. KJR-FM (Mix 95.7) Seattle is added to the adult top 40 panel, while WFKS (Kiss 99.9) Daytona Beach, Fla., exits following a format change to country. There are now 86 adult top 40 reporters.

WZEE (Z104) Madison, Wis., PD Rich Davis recruits KCLD St. Cloud, Minn., P/T Cameron Knight for nights/imaging. Also, Z104 P/T Ben Casey is named programming assistant for WZEE and AC sister WMLI.

WCIL Carbondale, Ill., MD Alley Faith takes the same position at WIFC Wausau, Wis.

Looking to reach the staffers of adult top 40 WFKS Daytona Beach, Fla., which flipped to country last week? PD Bruce Cherry is at 904-738-0557. Other numbers: morning hosts Marc Ross, 904-673-4451, and Mindy, 904-238-0363, and night jock J.R., 904-740-7503.

PROMOGANDA

AN OVERVIEW OF RADIO PROMOTIONS • BY JEFF SILBERMAN

323-525-2303 • jsilberman@airplaymonitor.com

'Hot Time, Concerts In The City . . .'

It looks like a very hot summer for Promogandists, as seasonal events dominated the Topical Barometer. Big summer concerts were well-represented, as country KZLA Los Angeles morning duo Gene and Julie encouraged listeners to bring their "biggest chicken" to the Arrowhead Pond, where its owner received front-row tickets to a June 17 Dixie Chicks show. Eric Zanelli needed a lot of good cluck for this one.

WKLB (Country 99.5) Boston gave away second- and third-row tickets to a Dixie Chicks concert for listeners who looked most like Emily Robison, sister Martie Seidel, and Natalie Maines. The Dixie Chicks Look-A-Like Contest took place in the lobby of the Worcester Centrum on the morning tickets went on sale. Air personality Jim Radler supervised the festivities in his own Dixie Chicks costume.

Active rock WYSP Philadelphia is gearing up for the upcoming Kiss farewell tour concert by having the Kiss tribute band Dress To Kill appear at several locations in the market to meet fans and apply the band's makeup to air personalities Matt and Huggy. Last seen rockin' all night and partyin' ev-er-y day is Karin Buck.

PROMO TOPIC OF THE WEEK: POST-SPRING BOOK SCHEDULE

The big spring book promotions may be winding down, but that doesn't mean the pressure's off promotion directors. In fact, 70% of the Promoganda panelists say they'll be busier this summer than they were in the spring, with 15% staying just as busy as in the spring and only 15% less busy. "It's rough having your everyday office stuff to do and then having to be out at remotes for half the day," says Donna Talarico of country WGGY (Froggy 101) Wilkes-Barre, Pa. "It makes me realize how my time-management skills need to improve. Aside from remotes, we do lots of public-service events [and] more concerts, which means lots of late nights, walks, runs, and festivals. At least you get a good tan!"

What's everyone working on? About 36% will be planning for the big fall book promotion, slightly fewer are setting up a big-cash summer promotion, and 18% are looking for talent for their holiday season concert. In terms of priority, big summer fly-aways and cash contests are highest, the fall book comes second, and the holiday station concert third.

The biggest problem facing the panel this summer? "Too many events in a short period of time," says Tristano Korlou of Infinity's Hartford, Conn., cluster.

"Budgeting hours properly so those doing a great job can get more hours," says Stephanie Hogerman, formerly of country WYVZ Hartford, Conn.

"The number of promotions and appearances vs. the size of our intern staff," says Anne-Marie Strzelecki of modern AC WBMX (Mix 98.5) Boston. She solves that obstacle by "hiring extra interns going into the summer, knowing that a certain percentage of them will quit. Also, recruit and motivate staff to over-communicate client needs and expectations, which helps streamline summertime promotions."

Another result of handling the summer load is "earlier arrivals [to work] and later departures," says Jim Sheehan of active rock KSJO San Francisco.

"It may sound strange, but when one big promo is over and I'm getting ready to do a new one, I feel the need to totally clean my desk and organize, make sure my dry-erase calendar is up to date," Talarico says. "This way I feel totally together and ready for the next big thing."

Jason Gani of R&B WJMZ Greenville, S.C., suggests you "plan ahead [to announce promotions] before school lets out and before it starts up." The bottom line, according to Sheehan, is that "the pressure is never off. Summertime is the busiest time of year. Regardless of if the book is 'on,' we need to be in front of as many people as we can be all the time."

NTR PROMO OF THE WEEK: TAKING BABY STEPS

Rhythmic top 40 KLUZ Las Vegas will stage the As They Grow Family Expo in August, featuring more than 150 booths focusing on the baby and family. "Last year, over 20,000 attendees enjoyed a free concert, the Diaper Derby crawling race, fashion shows, and much more," says Vanessa Thill. "Admission is free."

QUICK HITS: REDNECK RUMBLE

Active rock WXTB (98 Rock) Tampa, Fla., staged the Redneck Olympics and A Taste of the Trailer Park. "We invaded a mobile-home park in Tampa—we only had 700 to choose from—for the Redneck Olympics," says Mike Oliviero. "Events included The Wife-Sister/Husband 3-Legged Race, the Tobacco Spit for Distance, the Beer Shotgun, and the Biggest Snot Bubble. [For] A Taste of the Trailer Park, we sampled delicacies such as pork rinds [and] homemade beef jerky, [and there was] a moonshine tasting, a Spam sandwich counter, and the Hamm's beer challenge. We also had a local dentist set up a booth to fix 'summer teeth' [as in 'summer there, some aren't']."

CAN YOU TAKE ME LOWER?

For our money, nobody stages promotions for the special needs of active rock listeners like KSJO's Sheehan. After daring us to print last week's Father's Day stunt where the station sent a listener and his dad to the Bunny Ranch, he comes back with this: "[Morning duo] Lamont and Tonelli dared listeners to eat scabs off another person for the best seats in the house to a sold-out Creed show," he says. "Need I go on?" In a word . . . no.

MONITOR PROFILE

Erik Johnson Brings Street Hits To The Great Plains At Channel 977 Omaha

If someone asked you to pick a rhythmic radio-friendly market, odds are that Omaha, Neb., wouldn't immediately come to mind. Nevertheless, since flipping from soft AC to rhythmic top 40, KQCH (Channel 977) has quickly made an impact in a region best known for farming and college football. Erik Johnson, who was MD at adult top 40 sister KSRZ (Star 104.5) before becoming PD at Channel 977, credits cluster synergies for the move.

"When we signed on Star 104.5 in March of '98," says Johnson, "we started attacking [heritage mainstream top 40] KQKQ on the upper end, the 25-34s, because at that time, pop alternative was huge. You couldn't go wrong with matchbox twenty, the Goo Goo Dolls, Sarah McLachlan, and Natalie Merchant. In trying to fend off Star, KQKQ [had to] ignore the dance product. We looked at the market and saw a huge dance hole, so we went for it."

"We knew we had something on our hands"

Erik Johnson
Program Director
KQCH Omaha, Neb.

Owner: Journal Broadcast Group
Ratings: 2.7-6.6-5.9-6.4

There was also a logistical reason for the flip. "As a light AC and, before that, as a smooth jazz station, [KQCH] had a hard time making money," Johnson says. "Both [formats] depended on a lot of at-work listening, but our tower sits 20 miles outside of town; therefore, we had a tough time penetrating large office buildings downtown. So we asked ourselves, 'What kind of format can we do with this signal which doesn't require at-work listening?' Obviously, the format would have to be geared to an active audience, so we chose rhythmic top 40, which doesn't have a huge at-work audience but does well in cars, at the beach, or near the pool. And we've been making money ever since."

Even so, station owners Journal Broadcast Group really had no proof that the format would work. "Having grown up in Omaha, [we have] never had a rhythmic top 40," Johnson says. "There have been some attempts by stations leaning R&B or some sort of 'Jammin' oldies,' but the stations that tried it were usually AMs or low-power FMs from out of town that didn't have much money behind them. That's why they haven't succeeded. Plus, they were going up against KQKQ, which has been a top 40 powerhouse for the past 20 years."

"Nevertheless, Omaha has always had a really strong rhythmic base, sales-wise," he adds. "For instance, the sales of the new Gerald Levert [record] are huge with no airplay. People here do get a chance to hear some rhythmic tracks on BET, but the real impetus behind this music is a great R&B specialist who works at a local record chain. He knows everything that's happening. When people want to know what's going on, they talk to him, and he'll tell them to pick up the new Mary Mary CD."

Johnson identifies his core listeners as females 16-25. "We're looking to target high schools, so we play a lot of Backstreet Boys, 'N Sync, Britney Spears, and Christina Aguilera," he says. "We also play a ton of Janet Jackson, Will Smith, and Destiny's Child. Eminem is blowing up huge, and there's been no backlash," he says of the controversial rapper. "We haven't received one complaint call."

Here's a sample late-afternoon hour on KQCH: Sisqó, "Thong Song"; La Bouche, "Be My Lover"; 702, "Where My Girls At"; Christina Aguilera, "I Turn To You"; Notorious B.I.G., "Mo Money Mo Problems"; Blaque, "Bring It All To Me"; Will Smith, "Just The Two Of Us"; Backstreet Boys, "The One"; Puff Daddy, "Satisfy You"; Five, "When The Lights Go Out"; Aaliyah, "Try Again"; Jay-Z, "Can I Get A . . ."; and Jennifer Paige, "Crush."

Regarding the teen-pop boom, "we do take some chances on that right now," Johnson says. "We're playing Take 5, A*Teens, and Boys & Girls—the latter because they're opening for 'N Sync. Still, we are selective on the tunes we play, since we rotate currents at such a high pace. If I go out on a limb too much on the Westlives, it'll start to sound as if every other song is teen pop."

"Top rotation for us is 97 spins," he adds. "On weekends nights, we try to super-serve the rhythmic audience by running hot mix shows that enable us to get into the Jay-Z's and DMX's of the world." Although most of the hip-hop starts at night, Johnson says, "a lot of street hits are becoming really big hits. Right now, Jay-Z's 'Big Pimpin'' is blowing up huge, as is DMX's 'Party Up (Up In Here),' while Dr. Dre's 'Forgot About Dre' has already crossed over. Once it started testing, we opened it all day."

And how has KQKQ reacted to Channel 977's splash? "So far, they have taken a 'variety station' stance and really expanded their library," Johnson contends. "It's almost twice as large as ours. They play a lot of tunes once or twice a week, spiking it in here and there, while we pound the huge hits."

Although the station recently celebrated its first anniversary (it signed on in May '99) the only on-air personalities are Johnson in afternoons and MD Christopher Dean at night. "Mornings, middays, and overnights are automated," he says. "We just run sweepers and promos nonstop and completely image the radio station around listeners. We have them introducing new music, talking about their friends, and so on. The key is if you hear anyone speak on our radio station [during automated dayparts], it's a listener."

"Right now, our morning-show numbers are incredibly hot," Johnson says. "We're beating KQKQ in mornings with nobody there. It has given us a base to grow our own morning show, which could definitely help us drive our ratings even higher. However, we have to be sure we put together the right morning show, because putting on a morning show just for the sake of having one could do more harm than good. We're keeping our eyes open for talent, and we've had various people express interest in joining our station. Enjoying a meteoric rise [in popularity] doesn't hurt our ability to attract quality talent, either."

"I didn't expect this station to explode quite as fast as it did, but we knew we had something on our hands," he adds. "I have no doubt we can become No. 1 in the market. Journal is completely committed to the station. When there comes a time when we really need a high-profile morning show, Journal will step up and help get us one."

Obviously, Johnson relishes his current situation, but he also has an eye on the future. "I love where I am right now," he says. "This station is on the rise, and I've been able to help build it from the ground up. The people behind me are completely committed to make the station successful. Journal is a great, employee-owned company. That's not saying a few years down the road, I wouldn't be interested in working in a large market, but for now, my wife, family, and I love Nebraska."

A Depression Baby's Call For Conservatism

You probably don't need any new statistics to further establish that the mainstream top 40 chart is quicker these days. But ponder just one more. On last week's mainstream chart, there was only one record in the top 40 older than 26 weeks, Vertical Horizon's slow-breaking "Everything You Want." Even if it wasn't Monitor's policy to remove records below No. 20 after 26 weeks, there'd be only four more that would have qualified last week: "Smooth," "Bring It All To Me," "All The Small Things," and "I Need To Know."

We've already established that records are climbing the charts faster (at least once the gatekeepers decide to admit songs like "I Try" or "I Wanna Know" that have been waiting in the wings forever). A record used to be doing pretty well to make it to No. 1 in less than 10 weeks. Now, an "Oops!... I Did It Again" is out of the No. 1 spot after its 10th chart week. All of which dovetails with programmers' sense that songs are becoming familiar sooner and burn faster.

This column's label readers are probably just fine with that news. They did their time in the mid-'90s, when a "Barely Breathing" or "As I Lay Me Down" took half a year, or longer, to come home, and you couldn't always count on developing an artist in the process. But I'm feeling like the programming equivalent of a Great Depression baby. Just like our grandparents who grew up in the '30s and remained frugal even after the economy improved, I still remember when top 40 had to live with "Losing My Religion" forever, because there wasn't anything to take its place, and it makes me hesitant to tear through songs too quickly.

And yet, if the stats are in front of you saying that it's time to back a song down, it's frightening to do otherwise, especially if you're spinning three to five powers more than 75 times a week. How do you simultaneously keep a station fresh and not violate the dictum that any song in power must have impeccable credentials?

1. Give yourself more rotational choices: I still see a number of Power Playlists every week where there seem to be two options for a record that's starting to become crisp: 11 plays a day in power or two in power recurrent. There are only a handful of stations like KXXM (Mix 96.1) San Antonio where a declining power can still get 30-40 spins a week for a decent interval.

2. Give songs a real rest: Whether PDs back down songs to 40 spins or 12 spins after power, the stop after that is usually the next lowest recurrent category with no respite in between. While there are a lot of reasons that we have few viable oldies these days, the failure to rest records probably plays into it and increases a station's overall "stale" factor.

3. Save the remixes for stage two: When the first remixes began making their way to top 40 in the mid-'80s, they were released later in the game on established hits. Now, we've tried to deal with the fragmentation of the format by offering six mixes of a song at once. With top 40 being a lot more cohesive these days, I wonder if that's still as necessary. Or if we wouldn't give both the original version of songs and remixes more impact by giving the whole country a chance to hear the record as intended by the artist, then using the remix as an air fresher.

4. Preserve that stylistic balance: These days there aren't very many "Everything You Want"-type records on our increasingly rhythmic-leaning major-market top 40 stations. While I'm the last person to suggest that "Everything You Want" is a record for the ages and "Thong Song" isn't, when there's not a certain amount of balance on a radio station, the likelihood is greater that listeners will perceive everything on the station as sounding the same, which, in turn, makes individual titles more vulnerable.

5. Clear the decks: I'm not seeing it as much as I did a few years ago, but there are still some stations that let records stick around well after it's apparent that they're not going to be hits, either nationally or in their local call-out. If you play those songs instead of the hits that are a little crispy, you're probably not playing the strongest record. If you play them in addition to the declining powers, then it probably does make a station sound stale. While staying with the records you believe in is commendable, there are times when it's better to cut your losses.

Finally, it may be time to take the onus off the music: You've long said that it's what's between the records that mattered. Certainly, on an exciting radio station, there's less need to over-scrutinize the burn on each individual song (the Mike Joseph stations of the early '80s played songs we were already sick of every hour and 10 minutes, and we were so riveted by the presentation that we didn't notice). One hopes your "Who Wants To Be A Survivor" contest is accomplishing the same thing. In fact, if it's really doing its job, that promotion is bringing in new cume and/or recapturing the imagination of P2 listeners who aren't nearly as burn-conscious as the Napster-happy 19-year-olds who've infiltrated your call-out. In fact, they're more likely to notice a lack of variety or too many mediocre songs. Having lived through the format's dol-drum, they're depression babies too.

Emmis Settles Suit With Sinclair

In two separate deals, Emmis has settled its lawsuit with Sinclair over a deal to buy six radio stations in St. Louis and has picked up a second station in Los Angeles, fulfilling what Emmis CEO Jeff Smulyan calls "our largest single priority."

In an out-of-court settlement, Emmis has agreed to pay Sinclair $220 million for modern AC WVRV, country WIL, modern rock KPNT, classic rock KXOK and KIHT, and adult standards WRTH. While the original deal, totaling $366.5 million, also included a TV station, Sinclair will keep KDNL-TV. "We've been working out this settlement for a number of months. We always believe it's better to settle these things than litigate," says Smulyan.

In a separate deal with Bonneville, Emmis will swap four St. Louis stations—country WKXX, WIL, WRTH, and WVRV—to Bonneville for country KZLA Los Angeles. This gives Emmis' R&B KPWR (Power 106) a sister station at long last.

"Our first goal is to maintain it country, but we're going to research it, and we may change it to something closer to Power 106," says Smulyan. "We think country should do better in L.A., considering how well it does in San Diego and San Francisco."

Emmis will also continue to own the syndicated Steve and DC morning show, based at WKXX, which will presumably end up on one of its remaining St. Louis stations, which Smulyan calls an "impenetrable fortress of rock." Its portfolio here now includes album KSHE, classic rock KXOK and KIHT, modern KPNT, and active rock WXTM.

While FCC approval is several months away, Emmis will begin an LMA of KZLA by Aug. 1.

In other news from Emmis, it appears it will create a separate tracking stock for its radio division instead of selling off its TV division. The company is shying away from spinning off its TV division, since it cannot do so tax-free. Smulyan's long-planned Internet consortium has been delayed by logistics, although he expects an announcement "very soon."

CAPITOL: THE BEAT OF ARABI?

More than 700 applications for low-power FM licenses have been filed in the first round of filings, according to a review of FCC paperwork by Airplay Monitor. The list of applicants ranges from the Sitka tribe of Alaska to the Center for the Preservation of Jazz and Blues, in markets as large as L.A. and San Francisco to those as small as Tok, Alaska, and Arabi, La.

In California alone, where more than 300 church groups, schools, and individuals have already filed for 100-watt L.P.F.M. L.A. would have three signals, at 100.9, 101.3, and 104.7;

San Francisco would have one, at 93.7; San Diego would have two, at 105.9 and 107.5; and San Jose would have four L.P.F.M.s. Although the airwaves in Washington, D.C., seem cluttered already, the FCC is collecting applications for four signals, at 89.7, 94.3, 96.9, and 104.5. Baltimore would have one, at 97.5. In Atlanta, traditionally thought of as under-radioed, applicants are after three signals at 97.9, 100.3, and 106.3.

"They really have lost their minds," says Mary Beth Garber, president of the Southern California Broadcasters Assn., which has joined the National Assn. of Broadcasters' suit in the U.S. Circuit Court for Washington, D.C., aimed at blocking the FCC from moving forward with microradio, as well as filing its own suit. With an L.P.F.M. station slotted one dial position away from oldies KRTH Los Angeles, Garber expects even more interference. "If I were a K-Earth listener, I would be screaming."

In the first round of applications, only certain states are open for L.P.F.M. filings, including California, where 309 applications have been filed so far. In Georgia, 109 applications have come in, followed by Indiana, 73; Louisiana, 66; Oklahoma, 61; Rhode Island, 25; Utah, 19; Maryland, 17; Maine, 12; and the District of Columbia, 4. One application has also been filed in Mississippi and in Tennessee.

The NAB's lawsuit is not expected to be heard until this fall at the earliest. Efforts are also continuing to get the Senate to pass a companion bill, similar to one passed by the House earlier this year, that would require the FCC to slowly roll out L.P.F.M. as well as conduct interference tests.

The second filing period, to begin at the end of August, will be announced at the end of July. At that time, the FCC will take applications from Connecticut, Illinois, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nevada, New Hampshire, Puerto Rico, Virginia, and Wyoming.

CAPITAL: KANTOR EXITS

The merger of AMFM and Clear Channel means its Premiere and AMFM Radio Networks will combine under Premiere president Kraig Kitchin, with the departure of AMFM president David Kantor. In a June 21 conference call with network employees, Kantor said he will leave AMFM after the merger to work on other radio, TV, and Internet projects, including a Web initiative spearheaded by Tom Joyner, who worked for Kantor when he headed ABC Radio Networks. Kitchin says that two-thirds of AMFM employees will still have jobs after the deal closes.

In other corporate staff news, former Sinclair CEO designate Barry Baker is already leaving USA Networks, where he has served as president/COO since January 1999. USA chair/CEO Barry Diller says Baker told him that he wanted to move on to a company "he could really run." With Diller's looming presence at USA, that was not possible for Baker.

Cox Radio has netted $255 million from its latest stock offering. Its 8.8 million shares were gobbled up at the full $29 asking price. Proceeds will pay for stations in Houston and Richmond, Va., in a $380 million deal that Cox cut with Clear Channel.

from Des Moines, he pushes a couple of buttons and begins.

"Valentine in the morning," he says. "Last night was incredibly scary, flash-flood warnings, severe storm warnings, tornado warnings, all that stuff. By the way, Kane, our nighttime DJ, was hiding under the table here at the radio station. I told him when he came here to Kiss, 'You know, Kane, we live in an area of the country that sometimes, the good Lord says, 'We're gonna hit ya, we're going to hit ya hard.' You got to be prepared for that, and he did a pretty good job. Well, we got together with our sister station, WHO-AM, and we gave you wall-to-wall coverage of the bad weather in Des Moines. So I can't thank them enough, I want to give them props.

"Thank God we all made it through last night, but that's the thing—we will be here for you if anything goes bad. We give the best coverage in Des Moines. Nobody else was doing that. Other stations in town were playing music, that was it, just playing the hits. That's fine, but in a situation like that, you really have to respond to the community and say, 'We've got to get together and do something important.' And that's what we did last night. I'm pretty proud of that, and Kane did a pretty good job of hiding under the table, too."

Kane, of course, voice-tracks the night shift out of his home base at WFLZ Tampa, Fla.

HELLO, CLEVELAND

Valentine picks up a new piece of paper, the liners for WAKS Cleveland. After three teasers for a school-spirit contest, there are liners for a Kid Rock giveaway, followed by a couple of Blink-182 concert promos and a Kmart appearance.

Valentine has done his own appearances in Cincinnati during the weekend and expects to appear at the Iowa State Fair for KKDM. "It helps the show by putting a face on it," he says. "Because of the power of KIIS L.A., I went to the WKFS concert with 98", and since I knew them from L.A., I was able to get up onstage. That never would have happened without the relationship we started in L.A."

As Valentine cuts his breaks, he offers instructions on where to make edits. Everything is instantly transmitted to Cincinnati, where an engineer named Jackson will edit it and send it to affiliates. The stations get ready-made breaks; the liners come in a data packet to be edited locally.

GOOD MORNING, JACKSONVILLE

Next up, WSFJ Jacksonville, Fla. "Be sure to watch the Santana special tonight on Fox. He'll kiss Rob Thomas right on the mouth. Fox wants that kind of stuff. They wanted to crash an airplane into the desert, they did the Darva Conger thing... God love Fox. Anyway, watch the Fox special on Santana, because there will be a big Kiss commercial about something big. I'm not going to tell you exactly what it is. Just watch it, then tune in tomorrow morning, starting at 6 a.m."

The big deal is a $1,000 giveaway every time Kiss plays Santana that day. Subsequent breaks include, "Good morning, Jacksonville. You're listening to the all new 97.9 Kiss FM. We're the brand-new morning show in town, taking care of business. We've been on for a few weeks now, we're huge, we're massive, we're going to the top of the ratings, ladies and gentlemen [adopting a Robin Leach voice] with superstars, celebrities, the rich and famous coming by!"

Then there's a bit promoting a club appearance where listeners can score "free Kiss T-shirts, CDs, and the usual crap, so come on out and see us." Then he pauses. "Now did somebody write this for me to read like that?... my boss [PD] Brent McKay hands me a piece of paper and says, 'Read this on the radio.' I don't think 'Come out and get a bunch of crap' is appropriate to say at a family radio station like this." When Poole mock-defends McKay, Valentine responds,

"That's the problem with you, Jeff Poole. You're not highly educated. You don't have a community-college degree like myself."

"Hey, it's time for C.J. to tell us what's going on. What's up, C.J.?" Every affiliate has named its news person C.J. Valentine swiftly cuts about a half-dozen C.J. news intros.

When it comes to doing liners, "each station gets all its new liners on a certain day," Valentine says. "Once they're done, they can use them forever. We also open every break the same way, with me giving the stations' call letters."

GOOD MORNING, EVERYBODY

Valentine now delves into the actual stop-sets, which will be used at all his stations. IDing it as "stop-set one, talk one," he complains to Poole and Peaches that their interview with 'N Sync [done at KIIS' Wango Tango concert] ran at 8:10 a.m. yesterday, when the kids were in school. Because of some "nasty E-mails," they'll rerun it.

For stop-set 2, Valentine thanks "mad moms in minivans" for tuning in, teases the 'N Sync interview, and plugs an upcoming guest appearance with Freddie Prinze Jr., who'll appear on Valentine's KIIS show, then be edited for virtual mornings. The break segues through several topics, including the death of LAPD Chief Bernard Park's granddaughter in a drive-by shooting. "If you have the chance right now, give your kid a hug. If you're married and don't have kids, give your wife a hug, and if you're a wife and you're married to a radio personality, please, make love to him. More often. Oh, did I say that out loud? I'm sorry. But take the time to realize that, hey, life can be short, so really embrace it, smell that dew in the morning air. [Sniffs] God, these microphones stink! Somebody ought to clean these out.

"That's stop-set 2," he cues Jackson in Cincinnati. Next up, Valentine reruns some phone calls from his afternoon show, freshening them with live intros and extros. He does the same for the taped 'N Sync interview.

Then comes a listener E-mail segment. He tells a listener who complains about 'N Sync being called a band when they don't play instruments to get a life. A listener wants Valentine to change his pet phrase "mad moms in minivans" to "psychotic spouses in SUVs," another thinks he's cute (Valentine was pictured in 16 magazine recently) and says Peaches has a great laugh. A third E-mail says that Peaches has an annoying laugh and that Valentine looks like an Elvis wannabe. The last E-mailer says, "I'd love to come to the studio one day and see what it's all about," which Valentine ignores to plug the upcoming joke of the day. "We get E-mail from kids who realize that I'm not local," he says later. "Most don't care I'm in L.A., and some think it's cool, like they're in on this secret."

I JUST CALLED TO SAY I LOVE YOU

The next bit starts off with a (taped) caller discussing his imminent nuptials. It leads into an in-studio discussion where Valentine recalls his own feelings before his wedding and how men are afraid of commitment, then declares that his only love is for Pedro Martinez and Nomar Garciaparra, Jerry Rice and the San Francisco 49'ers. "I say I love you, yes, but I'm a manly man," he brags before calling his wife. He has problems getting her on, so he tells Jackson, "The edit will be, 'I got to call my wife,' then hit a ring."

After finally getting her on, he says, "Hey, it's your husband, you're on the radio, and I love you." She responds, "You're an idiot." That's followed by an "argument" about who said 'I love you' first that ends with her telling Valentine and Poole, "You are both idiots!" Instantly, Valentine advises Jackson, "That's the out right there, with 'you idiots.'" He returns to his wife, saying, "Al-right sweetie, I love you. I'll call you on the way home." Back to the break: "I want to apologize for my wife. That was just rude behavior, folks."

The next break hails "the morning show that brings you interviews with 'N Sync, Jessica Simpson, Enrique Iglesias, Sandra Bullock, Jennifer Love Hewitt, the Goo Goo Dolls, Santana, and babes in bikinis. We designed this morning show to get you celebrities. How do we do it? Big record guys have been very helpful; they fly celebrities in to do the show. Sometimes, we do interviews over the phone or by satellite. Whatever it takes, we get stars on our show. It shows our commitment to you. A lot of other stations go, 'Hey, man we're tapped into Hollywood, We know what's going on.' They're not tapped in; we're tapped in like a keg from the Rockies."

Finally, he cuts the joke of the day. It's a Catholic-school joke, which enables Valentine to bring up his Catholic-school background before directing all complaints to Poole at the station. "I never see you in church on Sunday," he says. "That's because you're not there," Poole says.

The parting shot: "If you tuned in today, you heard a wonderful 'N Sync interview [his co-hosts clap]. Yes, my interviewing skills continue to amaze. Tune in tomorrow to find out what's going on. Goodbye, everybody!"

With seven morning shows sent to Cincinnati, Valentine says good night to Jackson, pushes a few buttons, gets up, and looks at the clock. Almost 9:30 p.m. "Gee, we went long tonight," he says.

Songs ranked by number of detections. ○ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Best 1st Impression awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrenents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. ○ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Best 1st Impression awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrenents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of audience, computed by cross-referencing exact times of airplay with Arbitron listener data. ○ Songs showing an increase in audience over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in audience. A song with a gain in audience over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining in audience or each losing in audience, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs become recurrenents and are removed from this chart in conjunction with the Rhythmic Top 40 Airplay chart.

Songs ranked by number of detections. (○) Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Best 1st Impression awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. ○ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Best 1st Impression awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrenents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. (○) Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Best 1st Impression awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of audience, computed by cross-referencing exact times of airplay with Arbitron listener data. ○ Songs showing an increase in audience over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in audience. A song with a gain in audience over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining in audience or each losing in audience, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs become recurrenents and are removed from this chart in conjunction with the Adult Contemporary Airplay chart.

Compiled from a national sample of data supplied by Broadcast Data Systems. 120 mainstream top 40, 40 rhythmic top 40, 86 adult top 40 and 61 crossover stations are electronically monitored 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Songs ranked by number of detections. (○) Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song that has been on a chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Best 1st Impression awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. ©2000 Billboard/BPI Communications.
