AFM CONVENTION A DUD

New Jersey Shore Area Booms With Camps, Defense Spending 46th Conclave; Disk Problems Handed to National Exec Board

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 14.—Hyped by an influx of defense and army dough, the accent will be on name bands this summer.

With night spot operators and hotels eying the entertainment needs of some 50,000 soldiers and officers stationed at nearby Forts Monmouth, Hancock, and Dix, plus an above normal influx of their kinfolk spending vacations in this section, talent budgets have been upped sharply.

Army money, in addition to generally bettered economic status of populations in the New York and Philadelphia areas stemming from defense spending, has spread an optimistic tone over the whole shore area here.

Tommy Tucker and his band come into the Berkeley-Carteret Outdoor Terrace for the season beginning June 28. Johnny Johnson band comes into the Monterey Hotel on the same date for a season's run. Maximilian Bergeres and band open at Ross-Fenton Farms for the summer, and Leo Reisman and orchestra are set at the Colony Surf Club at near-by West End.

New spots due to open are the Martiniq (branch of the New York stand of the same name) fronted by Dario at the site of the old Addison Club, West End; the Plantation, featuring all the chicken you can eat for 99 cents, plus music and floorshow, in the modernistic setting formerly housing the Trocadero, also at West End; and the Sapphire Room of Monmouth County Country Club, formerly fronted by Guido, which becomes the private night club of army officers from near-by posts.

Guido may go to the Sea Bright Yacht Club.

Management of the West End Casino, swank bathing club and after-dark spot, has completed alterations which more than double the night club capacity. Spot has always used name bands and is expected to do so this summer.

In all, more than 50 spots are using bands and acts in this immediate vicinity. For the most part the smaller spots will use five and six-man combos plus vocalists.

Proser Wins Rental Cut at Garden; 14G Red 1st Wk.; Drop One Band

NEW YORK, June 14.—After squawking to the Madison Square Garden management Wednesday that he was losing dough on his 100-day Dance Carnival, Monte Proser was granted his demand that the Garden waive its 15 per cent of the gross and also cut the $7,000 a week overhead to $5,000. However, the Garden will get a percentage that is not being disclosed by either side. Proser had threatened to yank the Carnival if the Garden board of directors did not revise the contract.

After a flashy opening Decoration Day, Proser is retrenching. His three name band policy (Benny Goodman, Larry Clinton, and Charlie Barnet) changes to two bands beginning June 24, when the Bob Crosby and Shep Fields bands come in. Ben Bernie band opened last night, replacing Goodman, but with Clinton and Barnet holding over and all three pulling out June 23. The Carnival will close Mondays, the week's worst night. The six-day week will mean lowered costs for the Garden, which ordinarily asks $3,500 a day rental, including use of the basement floor. With the Dance Carnival not using either the basement floor or the upper balconies, maintenance costs are lower, enabling Proser to get such a good deal.

The Carnival grossed over $30,000 the first week, drawing around 45,000 patrons and paying Goodman $6,000, Barnet and Clinton $3,250 each for the week. About $12,000 was spent on advertising and exploitation. Miscellaneous expense took $2,000 to $3,000. The Garden got its $7,000 rent and another $4,500 (15 per cent of the gross) too. And with $7,000 being written off in amortizing the $100,000 redecorating cost, the Proser group wound up its first week $14,000 to $15,000 in the red.

The Carnival drew about 30,000 the second week.

Milton Pickman, general manager of the Carnival, has lined up Vaughn Monroe and Bob Chester bands for two weeks, following the Crosby-Fields run, with Glenn Miller band opening July 29 for a week. Bernie is understood coming in at $3,000 a week.

Johnson Ice Show at Luna Off; $60,000 Ran Out; Cast Unpaid

NEW YORK, June 14.—Albert Johnson's Stars on Ice is definitely off for Luna Park, with the future of the show still uncertain. Johnson wants to take the set-up elsewhere.

Johnson still owes the first week's salary to the cast and production staff. The cast nut is $2,000 weekly, while the production staff's salaries, including that of Johnson, are $422 weekly. Outstanding debts are around $3,900, including stagehands' and musicians' salaries.

The show ran into difficulties from the outset when the building was not completed in time for the opening May 29. Three shows were given sporadically, intervals being caused by difficulties with the ice plant. One of the brine tanks broke the first Saturday. Engineers attempting to fix the break discovered a broken axle, which they said could not be replaced for three weeks.

Negotiations were going on Tuesday (10) to have Bill Miller, Luna Park president, and his partners, Bill and Edward Danziger, take over the show intact.

with the Luna Park Corporation assuming the debts. However, the deal fell thru when it was discovered that the ice plant was in bad condition.

Johnson contested Miller's statement that the Luna Park Corporation had invested $12,000 to refurbish the building. He said, "If they spent more than $2,500 and a lot of second-hand wood, I'd eat the second-hand wood they put into the place." Miller countered that $1,000 had been spent on dressing rooms alone, $500 was invested in plumbing supplies, $2,000 on panel boards, $3,000 for a cement booth, plus the cost of lowering the floor and other expenses that made up $12,000. Miller said there is still chance they may operate the show.

Johnson said his sole purpose in trying to relocate the show is to give the cast employment and pay off salaries. He ran out of coin when his initial $60,000 was exhausted.

Miller's take was to have been 15 per cent of the gross.

By JAMES R. DOUGLAS

SEATTLE, Wash., June 14.—With a few isolated exceptions the 46th annual convention of the American Federation of Musicians drew to a close here today in an atmosphere of bewilderment among the delegates and a willingness on their part to let President James C. Petrillo and ex-Pres Joseph N. Weber run the entire show with complete carte blanche. "Canned music," the biggest pre-convention issue, was completely cluffed off. Weber came out flatly against any AFM legislation against recordings, saying, "If you think a mere 140,000 members can control activity in which 150,000,000 people are interested, you are wrong." Weber's eloquence broke any desire for convention action, and some six resolutions designed to control phonograph disks and transcriptions were shoved into the hands of the executive board, with instructions to attempt a cure for the situation. No debate was involved over this decision.

Many of the delegates expressed themselves privately as hating to go back home and face the rank-and-file on the recording subject, since so much chest-beating had gone on in these locals before the convention. (See story in Music (See AFM Convention News on page 9)

Bookers, Acts in Philly Setting Up Own Camp Circuit

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—Aimed at curbing benefits and cut-throat competition that finds performers getting the worst of it, a practical solution has been found here to the problem of live entertainment at military encampments in the territory. The AGVA and the Entertainment Managers' Association, local bookers' org., have jointly taken over the jurisdiction of the encampment at Indiantown Gap, Pa., with the result that all professional stageshows will be sponsored by both AGVA and EMA.

The experiment started Monday (9) when two units, each comprising seven standard acts, in addition to a union piano player, were sent from here to Indiantown Gap to play a week of one-night stands at the recreation halls. A 15-cent admission is charged. There are 14 recreation halls at the camp, and each unit playing a different hall each night means at least one week's work for each act.

EMA has designated Bill Smith, of the Taylor & Smith Agency here, to book the units, working with Dick (See CAMP CIRCUIT on page 25)

First Army Mobile Unit Is Terrific Hit at Fort Bragg

FORT BRAGG, N. C., June 14.—Soldiers at this army center, largest field artillery post in the world, flocked enthusiastically to shows of the U. S. Army's mobile entertainment unit when the first performance proved that the outfit was solidly professional.

Unit's engagement here (9-11) began with very little advance publicity and drew relatively small crowd of men who gathered for the first performance mostly out of curiosity. The audience quickly caught on, the news spread, and when time for the evening's second show rolled around the parade ground was jammed. When rain halted second performance, soldiers stood around for 10 minutes, raving over the show, before retiring to barracks or service club to talk it over.

Opening performance at field artillery replacement center had barely started

BARNET-PROSER-CLINTON

(This Week's Cover Subjects)

IT IS more than appropriate that Charlie Barnet, Monte Proser, and Larry Clinton should share equally as parts of one subject—success. The analogy to be drawn among these three individuals found a common pinnacle May 30 of this year when Proser, the dean of the mity business, opened his most ambitious enterprise, the "Dance Carnival" in New York's huge Madison Square Garden. Besides the 70-foot palm trees spotted around the Garden's spacious floor, there were the Muses: Barnet, Clinton, and Benny Goodman. The last has since packed up his clarinet for other engagements, but Barnet and Clinton remain to be joined by Ben Bernie until June 24.

Fame and success hovered over the above three gentlemen for quite a few years before coming within their reach. Proser scaled the heights thru the various occupational routes of office boy, Yellowstone Park guide, and press agent. It was only in the past year that this mild-appearing gent came into his own as the country's outstanding "chain-link" club operator, giving his talents to the Zombie (formerly Beachcomber) and Copacabana in New York, the La Conga in Hollywood, and a Beachcomber each in Boston and Miami. His latest venture in Madison Square Garden was bid for over the heads of such august entrepreneurs as Billy Rose and Mike Todd. Proser also kept company with these two at the New York's World's Fair, where he operated the Zombie.

With Band Leader Barnet the story is much the same. Only in the past couple of years has he enjoyed the success he has earned thru hard work and by surmounting such obstacles as losing all of the band's instruments, library, and personal effects in a fire at the Paloma Ballroom, Los Angeles, over a year ago. A second stand at New York's Paramount and an engagement at the Lincoln Hotel, New York, following the fire catastrophe brought Barnet back into the upper brackets and to an even higher niche than he had attained before.

Clinton's achievements are twofold. Before organizing his own band in 1937 he had already attained a name as a composer and arranger. His "Dipsy Doodle," "My Reverie," and "Our Love" are samples of hit tunes he has written. With his band Clinton fairly leaped into the big name class and maintained those laurels. A four-month engagement at the Hotel New Yorker and a three-week record-making stand at New York's Strand Theater are props of proof behind the success of the Clinton orchestra.

These men with but a single thought—success.

when soldiers realized they were seeing a professional show of top caliber. By the time Ginger Harmon sang and jitterbugged on the portable stage and Collette Lyons had unloosed her song and comedy, the glad tidings had traveled far and swiftly. Show was the rage from then on. Tuesday it moved to the motorized and animal areas, thence to the Ninth Division (streamlined and motorized) area, and Thursday night it closed with shows at the main post.

Performers also included Yola Galli, who sang in the South American manager and wound up with The Star-Spanner Ensemble; Margo Sisters, dance team, and Alan Jones, from the screen. All registered terrifically with the soldiers.

Maj. James Carro and Lieut. Col. Walter Long, here from the War Department for the premiere, termed show "a very fine one that should go over big with the soldiers." Col. J. H. Johnson and Col. K. G. Martin, both from Camp Lee, Va., expressed delight, as did Lieut. Hugh G. Head Jr. and Lieut. John T. Carlton, who came up from Fourth Corps Area headquarters in Atlanta to see the show and gauge the audience reaction.

Lew Parker was emcee and kept show moving at fast pace. The training center orchestra provided music, and the big sound truck furnished its own stage and lighting equipment. Public-address system was used.

Thru Sugar's Domino About Humphrey, Weber, Archaic Legit — And Me

FREQUENTLY, but hardly too frequently, have we pointed out here, using cases drawn from real life as examples, the inconsistency of human nature. We have shown how big and little people of far-flung show business neglect completely certain of their colleagues when their help is needed most but who manage to turn up at funerals in all their moribund splendor. We have often pleaded for flowers for the living as well as the dead. We can only hope that these mild proddings at the heart of conscience have had some effect.

Some weeks ago, we have just learned, an excellent example of similar failing of mortals was enacted in the California hills. Claude S. (Tink) Humphrey, not many years ago one of the leading figures in the vaudeville booking business, died in Van Nuys, Calif. Services were held in Van Nuys, which is not more than 15 miles from Hollywood. One of our Hollywood lookouts advises that a scant 18 persons attended Tink's funeral, and of whom more than half were his neighbors, persons who knew him only as a gentle, retired citizen.

Hollywood is filled up to its brim with men and women who knew Tink well. Men and women who have reached the dizzy heights of success after long apprenticeships in the vanished vaudeville that Tink lived and breathed in for more than 25 years.

Tink's death was widely reported and particularly well covered in the Hollywood press. Yet these men and women who harbored many good reasons for remembering this man; who profited from his advice; who were befriended by him many times when friendship meant the difference between happiness and despair were too busy to attend Tink's services. Too busy, indeed, slapping somebody's back who might give them money, prestige, and position in Hollywood's travesty of world.

Harry Weber, also a titanic figure in the vaudeville of the twenties and before, died about two years ago on the Coast. He, too, was buried in the film capital. Here, too, attendance at the services was what could be called shabby but not quite as scant as at the lowering of the final curtain for Tink. Weber was a man whose name was magic in the days when vaudeville headliners wore the diadems that repose today on the film and radio stars. One might think that the men and women he helped to success and befriended as well would pause for a few moments in the mad rush towards oblivion to pay him their last respects. It was not so and probably will never be. Yet it doesn't hurt to hope that some day man might become more considerate of the things that cannot be cashed in at the bank.

THE theater's statisticians and "expert observers" ought to take a vacation once in a while from graphs, production charts, and other trappings of the academician and devote a little time to snooping around the front of the theater. It is here that they will discover what is wrong with legit, rubbing shoulders with Elmer and Sadie spending an evening seeing a show. It is here they will find out why only shows that are unadulterated smashes manage to survive what they characterize as public lethargy. It is here that they will find out why theatergoers (and we mean persons who love the theater with the devotion that is found wanting in many people of the theater) stay away from legit if they can possibly help it. It takes an unusual play with a star of the first magnitude to bring them out and like real devotees, they are willing to be subjected to any kind of inconvenience to satisfy the urge that has managed to survive every effort made by the theater itself to discourage public support.

The fact finders will discover that usherettes, and others who handle patrons in the theater proper are sorer than ever—maybe a little worse than in the good old days when tipping was the universal custom. They will find box-office men (and oh! those women) as abrupt, discourteous, and (See SUGAR'S DOMINO on page 25)

GEORGE SPELVIN Patrols the BROADWAY BEAT

ONE of the reasons why Billy Rose isn't producing the mobile shows being sent to Army camps was explained by a general in the Morale Division. Said the general: "If we let Rose have too much to do with this, he'll get so much publicity that he'll overshadow the Army. And after all, the Army is really much bigger than Billy Rose." . . . Man-Bites-Dog Dept.: At Bobby Byrne's opening at the Hotel Pennsylvania last week, the attending music publishers were the guests of Byrne and his attorney-manager, A. Edward Masters. Reversing the usual procedure of practically compulsory attendance (with large tables and larger checks), Byrne sent wires to all the music men asking them down as his guests. . . . At the press meeting held at Peggy Wood's home last week to announce the resignations of eight Equity councilmen and a brace of vice-presidents, Winifred Lenihan audibly wondered how The Times would handle the story. It seems that Miss Wood and Miss Lenihan, who evidently aren't deaf to the siren tones of publicity even in the midst of a grave Equity battle, were miffed at The Times because it hadn't mentioned their names in its stories on the Equity election—and Miss Lenihan wondered a bit bitterly how the sheet would manage to omit them this time. The next day The Times ran their pictures. . . . At the same meeting a minor furor was caused when Margaret Webster phoned to ask the resengers to reconsider. Miss Webster had supported the independent slate, and at first the Misses Wood, Lenihan, and the rest were in a dither as to whether they ought to condescend to talk to her. They finally decided it would be all right.

IF YOU noticed a worried look on Sonny Dunham's face one night last week as he fronted his band at Roseland just before a remote, it was because he was breaking in four new toothlers, and his femme thrush had just served notice that she's received an offer from Hollywood. . . . Shep Charton, press agent and inveterate star gazer in his leisure time, received his order for induction into the Army June 5. His horoscope for that day included this comforting note: "Do be generous wherein your country is concerned." . . . P. A. Ed Aaroff took three pretty girls to the Berkshire Country Club for publicity photos last week. They were Mrs. Leo Zimmerman, Mrs. Art Franklin, and Mrs. Sid Garfield—all wives of other press agents. Mrs. Aaroff (who's pretty, too) stayed home. . . . Tommy Dorsey has a new series of WJZ-Blue net remotes from the Astor Roof, putting up the Army angle. Show is an hour shot titled Camp Upbeat, and is dedicated to the boys in the service. Idea and script are the brain children of songwriter Tom Adair, Dorsey discovery who penned Let's Get Away From It All and Everything Happens To Me, among others, before he was drafted into Camp Jackson, N. C. . . . Another Adair opus called Free For All, combining a patriotic flavor with a sense of humor, has been recorded by the Dorseyites, with the take from the disk sales to be turned over to the United Service Organizations.

BAND leader Les Brown probably never figured that he'd recite poetry in public, but that's exactly what he has to do in his current stage appearance at the Strand—a poem on the ASCAP-BMI fracas. First day of the show last week he had to be prompted from the wings, but didn't let it rattle him. . . . Larry Myers, of CITA, was promoted to the sales department when he got married a couple of weeks ago. . . . Birth announcements among show people are apt to take the form of theater tickets or things like that, but Billy and Agnes Cook heralded the birth of their daughter, Sandra Kathleen, by sending out an announcement in the form of a complete theater program. . . . Charlie Lucas, headwaiter at the Coconut Grove of the Park Central Hotel, has developed into a fine audience plant for Jack Waldron's emceeing. . . . Tenor Jaye Martin used to be James Martin until Mae West, an ardent numerology bug, gave him his new name.

Ethridge Charges FCC With Breaking Power Grant Laws

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Mark Ethridge, former president of the National Association of Broadcasters, testifying before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee's hearing on the Federal Communication Commission's report ordering revision of the radio industry's internal structure, charged that the FCC had violated its own principles to benefit Jesse H. Jones, Secretary of Commerce.

He charged the FCC with granting power increases to two stations in Houston, Tex., in which Jones was believed to have a financial interest, at the time when it was studying power increases. He asserted that one of the stations was controlled by The Houston Chronicle, of which Jones is the publisher.

Ethridge further stated that he believed the Senate committee should make an investigation calling for the holding up of the commission's antimonopoly rulings pending an inquiry. A similar proposal had been made in a resolution introduced by Senator White, of Maine.

T. A. M. Craven, who was a member of the minority voting against the FCC report, also attacked the commission at the hearing. He said that members of the commission saw the rules contained in the report only 18 hours before it was voted on to put them in effect. Craven stated, "I think the majority itself doesn't know what the rules mean." He also claimed that during his absence Thursday, while he was giving testimony to the Senate committee, the FCC rejected by a vote of 3 to 2 the petition of KOA, Denver, for a stay, pending court action. Cray testified last week that it was a fixed policy of the commission to grant a stay when a court appeal was to be taken.

GLEANED BY MEMBERS OF THE BILLBOARD STAFF

The purpose of this department is to benefit producers, bookers, agents, and others concerned with the exploitation of talent in the major indoor fields thru The Billboard's coverage of every branch of the show business.

SHOWMEN INTERESTED IN SPECIFIC "POSSIBILITIES" MAY ADDRESS THEM IN CARE OF THE NEW YORK OFFICE OF THE BILLBOARD, 1564 BROADWAY.

For RADIO

ART PERRY—singer with Gray Gordon's band for the past year, who is leaving the orchestra to go on his own as a singer. His tenor voice is far above that of the average rock vocalist in its quality and its training, and his ability to phrase correctly and with the proper feeling for ballads and light classics, added to his excellent basic vocal equipment, indicates that he rates a spot on the air, either on a sustainer of his own or as a featured adjunct of a commercial show.

For NIGHT CLUBS

DOROTHY RUSSELL—pretty blonde songstress with a smooth voice that is at its best in ballads. Caught in a musical comedy presented recently by the Radio Theater of Chicago, she impressed in several appearances with her attention-getting delivery. Was once band singer with Horace Heidt. Rates a spot of her own in nightclubs and hotels.

Showbiz Vs. the Home

ATLANTA, June 14.—Lack of enthusiasm shown here for good shows—other than names whom Atlantans happen to know—and the more or less general stay-at-home attitude of the citizens were attributed by George Walker, band agency director, to the number of fine homes in the city.

"They have so much money tied up in homes," he said, "they haven't the money to spend in night clubs and consequently must do their entertaining at home."

"Icecapades" Opening Set

PITTSBURGH, June 14.—New edition of Icecapades will open July 24 in Atlantic City Convention Hall. President John H. Harris of Arena Managers' Association says. New to cast will be Megan and Phil Taylor, who joined show in Sacramento before it moved into Los Angeles and subsequent appearance in picture begun May 29 on Republic lot. Expected to be missing are Eric Waite, injured recently, and Lois Dvorak, who is having contract differences with AMA management.

"Happens on Ice" To Recess

NEW YORK, June 14.—The second edition of Happens on Ice is scheduled to take a recess after tonight's performance at the Center Theater, according to an announcement made by W. G. Van Schmus, managing director of the Radio City playhouse, and Arthur M. Wirtz, co-producer of the show. The ice show will reopen July 15.

It is estimated that half a million persons have paid around $700,000 into the Center's box office since the show's inception last October. The week of December 29 brought the highest receipts, $55,000; last week's receipts were the lowest, under $10,000.

Phil Morris To Book Ft. Dix Vaude; 2 Shows; Open Air

NEW YORK, June 14.—An open-air theater at Fort Dix, N. J., is being readied for continual stageshows during the summer. Phil Morris, who staged the first free show at the encampment, has been put in charge and will work in conjunction with Major J. C. Donegan, in charge of recreation at the fort.

The fund for the operation of the shows will have to be created by Morris out of admissions. All talent, as well as Morris, will be paid. While standard acts may not get full salaries, Morris hopes that names will be willing to lend their box-office prestige to entertaining the rookies. Morris plans to build up a financial reserve to take care of the budget should any shows be canceled because of inclement weather or a sudden order for the drafttees to go out on maneuvers. Profits, if any, will revert to the recreation fund of the encampment.

An admission price of not more than 25 cents is being contemplated. There will be two shows nightly, at 8:30 and 9 p.m. Theater, built during the last war, is being modernized. A p.a. system will be installed.

Morris says that if this idea is successful the plan may be followed in other encampments, with the result that a circuit may be started.

The initial show is set for June 30 and will consist of a line of eight, an emcee, and several acts.

Atlanta Blackout Hits Night Spots

ATLANTA, June 14.—Due to a partial blackout of all the downtown areas of Atlanta, night-spot business and movie business have been hard hit.

A drought of about five or six months' standing has affected the power lines in this area, causing a great shortage in electricity. All consumers were asked to co-operate by cutting their consumption at least one-third.

Night spots and theaters agreed, but the darkened aspect of downtown Atlanta has not been conducive to bringing the crowds out at night.

Franey Ice Ballet Closes in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, June 14.—First ice review to play Mexico City in 15 years, Dorothy Franey's International Ice Ballet, a Frederick Bros. unit out of Chicago, closed here June 8 after two weeks at the Lirico Theater. The show will return to the United States.

Prior to going into the downtown Mexico City showhouse, the ballet was featured for three weeks in the Cocoanut Grove Saloon of Hotel Waldorf here.

Bill Parents, managing the eight-skater revue, reported not-too-dismal business despite small advertising push and coincidence of government vacations, which bring about entertainment doldrums at this time each year.

The Franey ballet works on a small surface utilizing a Baker direct compression icing system, from being used in the freezing process instead of ammonia.

HUB AIR GEARED TO NETS

Survey Shows 4 Boston Stations Use 60 Per Cent Net Programs; Few Good Local Shows Produced

BOSTON, June 14.—Hub radio talent is being stifled by the lack of good scripts and the resulting overuse of national programs which the local network outlets are using. Apparently afraid to make any definite step toward building Boston up as a radio center, each of the four network-affiliated stations here devotes more than 60 per cent of its total broadcasting time to network airings.

Local commercials are so few as to be practically non-existent, but as yet no station has made a study of the situation with an eye toward building local programs that could be sold. The current defense boom has hyped Hub business, and many firms might be good prospects if approached with a listenable program. Two of the local stations have made moves toward providing more local programs, but few of the programs are geared to grab sponsors, and as a result sustaining time amounts to more than double the amount of local commercial time being aired here.

WEEI Milks Net

Chief user of national time is WEEI, CBS outlet here, which virtually milks the network dry, taking 92 hours and 30 minutes of network programs during its 134 broadcasting hours weekly. Network sustaining on this station amounts to 29 hours and 45 minutes, while the national commercials used by WEEI total 62 hours and 45 minutes during the week, nearly 50 per cent of the entire broadcasting time. Net commercials over this outlet include a huge list of the daytime soap operas.

Nearest heavy network commercial user to WEEI is WNAC, owned by John Shepard III and key station of Shepard's regional Yankee Network. Almost 20 hours behind WEEI in the weekly amount of network time used, WNAC feeds its listeners 75 hours and 53 minutes per week out of a total weekly broadcasting time of 131 hours. The NBC Blue outlet, WBZ, is a close third, with 70 hours and 10 minutes, while the other Shepard station, WAAB, key station of Shepard's other regional network, the Colonial Net, uses 52 hours and 15 minutes of national Mutual time.

In all cases, the number of network commercials is lowest at the week-end when the daily serials are not aired. The heavy usage of national time builds up to a total of 290 hours and 48 minutes per week out of Boston, where network-affiliated stations have a total broadcasting week of only 528 hours and 30 minutes.

Local Commercials Low

Local commercials on Boston network outlets are very low, with stations ranging from no commercials to a high of about three hours per day. Highest daily amount of local commercials is four hours and 30 minutes on WAAB, where participation programs which use recordings or e.t.'s for 20 minutes to every 10 minutes of spot announcements are figured as 30-minute commercial programs. WEEI is the only network station which similarly classifies its participation programs; these run between 40 and 50 minutes daily except Sunday.

WEEI, biggest user of network commercials, is the lowest in the standpoint of straight local commercials. CBS outlet's weekly local commercial output totals only 11 hours and 50 minutes. This does not include four hours and 10 minutes weekly of participation programs, which would bring the WEEI total up to 16 hours. WNAC ranks next with 15 hours and 40 minutes of locally sponsored time. Next is WBZ, which has 18 hours and 40 minutes of local commercials. WAAB's top figure on the local commercials is 27 hours and 40 minutes, which includes daily participation slots.

The two Shepard nets air 33 hours and 55 minutes of regional commercials during the week, which brings the local revenue up for these two stations, but the commercials actually are made up of very few programs. The weekly average is hypothesized by the daily baseball game broadcasts and the regional network's news and weather service broadcasts.

Weather is one of the most popular subjects for programs among the local network outlets because of the scarcity of other good material. All stations go in for weather reports in a big way. The Shepard outlets, WNAC and WAAB, have 10 or 15-minute weather programs twice daily. WEEI, which began the fad with its own meteorologist, E. B. Ridesout, many years ago, still plays the temperature and weather reports heavily, and WBZ airs programs direct from the local weather bureau office.

Comparison of Schedules

The real picture of how much national time is used locally unfolds with a check of the weekday time schedules of the four network-affiliated stations. WAAB Mutual, has the lowest weekly amount of network commercials, using only six hours and 50 minutes per week. Sunday is the big day on the Mutual outlet, with two hours and 15 minutes of national commercials. On Monday the figure slides down to one hour and 30 minutes, and then plummets downward Tuesday to 15 minutes. Thursday and Saturday programs also have but 15 minutes of national commercial time, while 50 minutes is used on Wednesday, and one hour and 30 minutes Friday.

WAAB's program is filled with national sustaining programs, most of them on Sunday, when they take up nine hours and 10 minutes. The figure drops to five hours and 35 minutes on Monday, rises to six hours and 40 minutes Tuesday, then drops again with four hours and 55 minutes used on Wednesday. Thursday the network sustaining time rises again to six hours and 10 minutes. Less is used on Friday than any other day in the week, with only four hours and 40 minutes. Saturday's time rises to seven hours and 55 minutes to close the week with a total of 45 hours and 25 minutes of network sustaining time out of 132 hours and 30 minutes of weekly broadcasting time.

The next smallest amount of network commercial time is used by WBZ, with a total of 20 hours and 45 minutes during the week. National sustaining time, however, amounts to more than twice as much, such programs taking up 49 hours and 25 minutes of the total broadcasting time. On Saturday, when the NBC Blue outlet uses no national commercials, the national sustaining time reaches a peak of 10 hours and 50 minutes, or 57 per cent of the daily broadcasting time. Sunday schedules show three hours and 30 minutes of network commercial programs, while the sustaining shots total 10 hours and 5 minutes. On Monday the network commercials reach their peak with three hours and 50 minutes. Net sustaining shots on the same day jump to six hours and 15 minutes. On Tuesday, when sustainers are raised to six hours and 35 minutes, the commercials drop to three hours and five minutes. National sustainers are used for five hours and 30 minutes on Wednesday, five hours and five minutes on Thursday, and five hours and 15 minutes on Friday, while network commercials take up three hours and 13 minutes on Wednesday, three hours and 40 minutes on Thursday, and three hours and 25 minutes on Friday.

WNAC, NBC Red outlet, reaches the peak of its national commercial time on Tuesday and Wednesday, with nine hours and 30 minutes each day. Low for the week is Saturday, with three hours, and Sunday with three hours and 30 minutes. Monday uses eight hours and 30 minutes of network commercial shots. Friday uses nine hours, and Thursday nine hours and 15 minutes. Network sustaining shots range from one hour and 25 minutes each on Tuesday and Wednesday to a high of seven hours and 40 minutes on Sunday. One hour and 55 minutes of n.s. time is used on Monday and Thursday, two hours and commercials and 55 minutes of sustainers. Tuesday has four hours of local time, one hour of sustainers, and three hours of commercials. Monday the local time total is increased by 15 minutes, with two hours and 30 minutes of commercials and one hour and 45 minutes of sustainers. Saturday's local time amounts to four hours and 32 minutes, with two hours of commercials and two hours and 32 minutes of sustainers. WNAQ airs many regional network programs over the Shepard-owned Yankee Net, but these are not figured in the local time classification.

Sound program ideas which could be sold to local firms would take the local stations out of the rut and make Boston a good radio city.

Station execs are well aware of the low percentage of local time used but are doing nothing about it. Execs are unwilling to give out figures on the percentage of national time used.

"Lady, Lend an Ear"

Reviewed Tuesday, 1-1:15 p.m., MST. Style—Variety. Participating on KLZ, Denver.

This across-the-board show with a half-hour shot on Saturday is a home-makers' program with a dressing of music and song, and its popularity is attested to by the fact that it has been going for over three years and always has a waiting list of participants. Commercials are spotted between household hints, chatter about station personalities, etc.

Margaret Moore (Waughillau La Hay) handles the femme talking and her breezy informal style, which is followed throughout, keeps the show from dragging and adds much to the palatability of the commercials. La Hay is probably the top femme spieler in these parts. Two vocalists, Pat McVeay and Inez Pence, alternate and each turns in a nice job. Les Wedans and Barclay Allen provide a smooth piano duo, with the latter often taking a turn at the organ.

Announcer Charlie Roberts assists on commercials, which are seldom straight; singing or dramatic commercials are used mostly. Program features give-away and, when sponsor has none to offer, Miss La Hay gets up charts, etc. Her wife-savers bring in heavy mail count. Successful localization of national sponsors' products is attained largely thru informal format of entire program.

Theme, Howdy Neighbor, opens and closes program. Herb Trackman.

"Mr. Hollywood"

Reviewed Tuesday, 6:15-6:20 p.m. Style—Talk. Sponsor—RKO Theaters, Inc. Station—WMCA (New York).

An exploitation deal in which WMCA is featured before the audiences of 48 RKO theaters in metropolitan New York, with lobby space and a 55-foot trailer over the station shown in the theaters nightly, in exchange for this five-minute program heard over the station Monday thru Friday each week.

The role of Mr. Hollywood is handled very capably, and in an informal manner, by Julius Colby, WMCA's drama critic. Colby opens the program by plugging the local RKO theaters, giving the screen offerings at the various houses. Also gives odd bits of chatter and gossip gleaned from the movie world, in the form of answers to questions submitted by listeners. If a listener submits a question and it is answered by Colby, the person sending in the question is rewarded with a couple of ducats to an RKO theater.

Program should appeal to movie fans. Elliott Colfer.

AFM CONVENTION NEWS

Kill Plan To Give Local Orks 4-Month Employment a Year

SEATTLE, Wash., June 14.—A resolution allowing AFM locals to insist that local bands must be employed on all steady hotel and ballroom engagements not less than four months during a year was killed at the AFM convention here after its proponents had debated for five minutes and AFM officials for a half hour, with the delegates either asleep or opposed anyway. Debate was led by Eddie B. Love, of Local 8, after the resolution had been reported unfavorably by committee. Love argued that his local had organized the funeral business into a $35,000 pay roll for local orchestras, but feared that even this revenue would be cut into by records or wired music at services.

Ex-President Joseph N. Weber was against the resolution, calling it a staggering of employment, and saying that that cannot be covered under wages and hours conditions. He added that traveling orks paid $300,000 into the AFM coffers last year, and if it's a law such as this were to pass, it would restrict the employment of other AFM members.

Fred W. Birnbach, AFM secretary, said the resolution would cut the federation's revenue one-third, and that something like this should be done by voluntary local agreement, worked out wherever feasible. Prexy James C. Petrillo, claiming that traveling orks are the "backbone" of the AFM, said that they are a "good weapon" against toughest hotel and ballroom employers, and that it would be an "awful mistake" to pass the measure as proposed.

AFM Gives Loyalty Pledge But Avoids Issue of No Strikes

SEATTLE, Wash., June 14.—Two different resolutions were brought before the 46th annual convention of the American Federation of Musicians here Wednesday concerning the AFM's right to strike during the present national emergency. First asked that all AFM locals be instructed to pass resolutions under their local autonomy with reference to non-strike agreements. Second resolution was more general in tone, merely saying utmost efforts would be made to prevent strikes during such an emergency as now confronts the country.

The two resolutions were coupled, and the exec committee offered a substitute stating that the AFM's 140,000 membership was loyal and patriotic, and urging all Americans to avoid any industrial difficulty. This amendment was carried, and left the AFM free of being committed to any definite policy in case future strike situations should arise.

"Bunch of Stooges," Cries Tomei as AFM Votes Expense Boost

SEATTLE, Wash., June 14.—A. A. Tomei, ex-president and delegate from Local 77 of Philadelphia, called the entire American Federation of Musicians convention a bunch of stooges here Friday (13) when they loudly cheered and passed a resolution to raise delegates' daily expenses from $15 to $22.50 while attending conventions. Tomei challenged the delegates to go home and face their members after passing such a resolution and not doing anything else important.

Financial secretary-treasurer, H. E. Brenton, told the delegates that the AFM could afford to pay the $22.50 more which would be entailed, but that they should decide if they were worth it. Resolution was passed by a big majority.

It was pointed out that living and transportation costs throughout the country have risen, and since many of the delegates pay their own expenses to the convention this raise should be made.

Peace, Jackson!

SEATTLE, Wash., June 14.—Humorous note was injected into Thursday's session of the American Federation of Musicians' convention here when a resolution was adopted over the committee's recommendation to proclaim the AFM's faith in "music as peace insurance," the doctrine recently enunciated by Major George W. Landers, of Clarinda, Ia., which states that music is the potent, vital and dynamic force which must ultimately restore harmony in the world and banish war.

During the discussion one delegate jumped to his feet and said, "If music would stop fights, all we'd have to do is get two good bands playing for John L. Lewis and William Green!"

AFM Locals To Post Bonds as Insurance For Tax Money Loss

SEATTLE, Wash., June 14.—To protect the membership against any illegitimate losses of cash thru any of the local unions, the American Federation of Musicians' convention passed a resolution here Tuesday (10) requiring all AFM locals to furnish indemnity bonds and forgery insurance bonds to insure faithful disbursement or custody of all monies such as the 10 per cent collection fund, theater defense fund, commercial broadcasting surcharge, social security, and other like monies.

Resolution was introduced by Frank E. Leeder, president of the Springfield, Ill., local, and unanimously adopted following a few amendments in wording. It was also moved that all locals be instructed to take out the bonds in compliance with the law, and send a copy of the bond to the international financial secretary-treasurer.

No mention was made as to whether or not losses of money had occurred due to the negligence of a local secretary, but it was deemed advisable to adopt such a law to prevent "future serious embarrassment and financial loss."

Convention committee gave the resolution an unfavorable report, but when it hit the floor for consideration Author Wildstrand stood up and accused the AFM of heading toward dictatorship. Clarence King, of San Francisco, also charged that the union was ruled from the top down, and added that he was dissatisfied over the handling of the recording system and coin phonographs. A. A. Tomei, ex-Philadelphia president and delegate from that city, was a minority of one on the committee's ruling against the resolution, and on the floor expressed the belief that the convention delegates would soon become just stooges.

Petrillo called Tomei's charge an insult. Two other delegates claimed Petrillo had insulted them. Finally Petrillo soothily called for peace, and asked that no one should insult anybody. Joseph Weber, ex-AMF president, also opposed the resolution, stating that they may as well put the organization into a cement casket and throw it into the ocean as submit all matters to general referendum. He compared AFM's situation to that of the U. S. Congress in this respect. Many other delegates Department for details on recording resolutions.)

Political keynote of the AFM convention was set opening day (9) by ex-President Weber, who stressed the point that the second World War gave a new face to individual problems. "Whatever follows the present war," he said, "we are forced to take sides with England, not for England but for our children

AFM Limits Band Shows in Theaters

SEATTLE, Wash., June 14.—A resolution setting a maximum of 28 to 30 performances per week for bands playing vaude houses was adopted by delegates of the American Federation of Musicians' 46th Annual Convention here on Wednesday (11). Class A theaters must adhere to the 28-performance regulation. Class B houses the 30-performance per week maximum. Each additional performance must be paid pro rata per show.

Jack Rosenberg, Harry A. Suber, and Max Lo Arons, all of Local 802 in New York, introduced the resolution, which was passed with little discussion. It marks the first time that the AFM has placed any such restriction on bands playing there. Some vaude houses play 35 or more shows per week, but to maintain that quota now the house operators will have to toss more coin into their band budgets.

Before adoption of the resolution, several booking offices claimed that passage of it would prohibit vaude houses outside of New York from playing high-priced orks, because smaller theaters had to have a maximum number of shows to clear their nut on a name or semi-name ork. Vaude bookers say it will raise the price of admission at combo houses to meet the increased cost.

After a verbal vote on the resolution, which netted about a 97 per cent majority to kill it, a charge was made that a secret ballot would have changed many votes.

From this three hours of pro and con argument it was apparent that, while Petrillo directs the AFM steering group, Weber is still relied upon to carry the torches and temper any outbreaks that threaten to change any of the hide-bound AFM traditions.

Whether or not the killing of this resolution (No. 21) will end the matter and chase the minority sponsoring it into cover was still a matter of conjecture at the convention's adjournment. It is not the first time that dissent of this nature has been apparent, as there was much rumbling among the rank-and-file of some locals at the time Petrillo was having his jurisdictional spat with the American Guild of Musical Artists last fall. Many members felt that it was a silly move to waste over a few longhair musikers when there were so many unemployed members in the AFM.

Possibly the strongest argument put up against the referendum resolution was that such machinery would tend to give one or two large locals too much power and ultimate control over the AFM when elections were held.

and our children's children." Petrillo's opening shot expressed full support for President Roosevelt and Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, but bitterly attacked Jackson's subordinate, Thurman W. Arnold, over the latter's attitude recently when the AFM was involved in a threatened strike against Station KTRP, St. Paul, and later in its jurisdictional dispute with the American Guild of Musical Artists. Petrillo seemed to think that part of the government was okeh, but another part wasn't.

Many resolutions were passed during the week's meet (see detailed stories in Music Department), but none of them concerned really vital issues. A resolution designed to cut down volume of dates for traveling orks by locals passing laws which would insist on local bands getting four months' work out of every year in local hotels and ballrooms was squelched. Both Weber and Petrillo hotly defended the traveling bands. Petrillo said they were the backbone of the AFM. Weber said that traveling orks were responsible last year for $300,000 paid into the AFM.

WPA and Social Security were roundly defended by delegates, and resolutions were passed to plead against proposed governmental cuts in the musician branch of WPA, and to get musicians faithfully to keep track of their SS records. Another resolution was passed instructing the executive board to remedy the WPA 18-month rule so that lay-offs would not exceed the 30-day period, as has been the case in some States.

Two resolutions were brought to the floor concerning strikes and the national defense effort. First required that each local be instructed to prevent strikes in its territories, but was killed. Second resolution was passed, but only asked that AFM try to avert strikes if possible during these times. On Friday Petrillo admonished delegates on the subject of respecting picket lines. "Just because someone throws a picket line around a hotel," he said, "that doesn't mean you can walk thru it." Petrillo was no doubt referring particularly to the recent action in New York when the AFL Teamsters' Union picketed theaters there to get the privilege of carrying musicians' instruments and luggage on short hauls.

Local 802's resolution confining ork performances in theaters to 28 per week in Class A houses and 30 per week in Class B houses was adopted with a pro rata charge included for all work over the maximums. Resolution was also passed allowing AFM orks to play in school gymnasiums despite the fact that the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees might have the school auditorium on its unfair list. This was the tenor of most of the resolutions adopted this year by the convention.

Despite an attack against "AFM dictatorship," led by a militant minority of delegates (see story in Music Department), Thursday, Petrillo was given a vote of confidence by the convention before its closing session.

At the closing session today Dallas was selected as the AFM's 1942 convention city.

Quiet, Please!

SEATTLE, Wash., June 14.—There were some red faces in the AFM convention hall of the Olympic Hotel here this week when Brother Larry Gibson, of Macomb, Ill., offered a resolution to have printed on all future notices to convention delegates instructions that all noisy delegates and their noisy wives refrain from attending musical programs provided by the host local hereafter.

It seems that a program played by the Seattle Symphony Orchestra for AFM delegates was barely audible above the more boisterous out-of-town delegates. Brother Gibson's resolution was thrown out.

No AFM Convention Action Taken On Selvin Recording, ET Report

SEATTLE, Wash., June 14.—On the second day (10) of the American Federation of Musicians' 48th Annual Convention here the much-discussed Ben Selvin report on all forms of "canned music" was read by Selvin before the delegates. Six resolutions of varying nature hit the floor for discussion on the subject Friday, and altho Delegate J. J. Richards from Local 6, San Francisco, tried to force some immediate action on the record and transcription problem, all of the resolutions were shunted into the hands of the exec board, with Pres James C. Petrillo promising an aggressive attack on these matters.

Selvin's report was essentially the same as predicted in The Billboard last week. It covered surveys on coin-operated phonographs, library services for radio stations, wired music companies, electrical transcriptions, rebroadcast recordings, and 16m.m. coin-operated picture machines. Following his reading of the report, Selvin made no special recommendations. "We cannot call the mechanization of music definitely a bad thing or positively a good thing," he said. "There have been advantages as well as disadvantages to musicians—but with proper guidance and a real show of co-operation there is no reason why something cannot be done by the AFM to keep live music alive."

The resolutions bearing on the report ran the gamut of proposing everything from asking that the AFM have its members discontinue all recording sessions within 90 days of the convention to licensing all automatic phonograph operators and thru a label system, taxing all records used on the machines.

Before the matter was given over to the exec board, Richards implied from the floor that Ex-Presy Joseph N. Weber hadn't fought hard enough in the past on such issues, and pointed to the movie industry as being an example of the AFM's acting too late. Weber immediately defended his past actions, passionately citing such things as working without pay and the fight over movies. Richards and Weber shook hands later. Just what action will be taken on the "canned music" angle by the AFM exec board in the coming year was not intimated at the convention. However, it is evident that, if Weber's influence is still dominant, there will be at most a few scattered measures adopted. Some convention observers say that Petrillo himself feels differently and is as militantly against "canned music" as he ever was. But, they add, Petrillo has felt the pressure on this matter not only from Weber, but also from the U. S. Department of Justice, whose recent attitude toward organized labor has been anything but benevolent.

Members To Know AFM Biggies' Pay

SEATTLE, Wash., June 14.—Despite an unfavorable recommendation from the American Federation of Musicians' Convention Committee, a resolution was adopted by the delegates here Friday which resolved that all federation salaries fixed by the president or executive committee should be properly itemized and printed in the financial secretary-treasurer's quarterly reports.

Heretofore, it was pointed out, these salaries were not made known to the membership either thru the International Musicians or at the convention. One delegate announced that the rank-and-file wanted to know, and he felt that, since the AFM is a democratic organization, such information should not be withheld.

No evident opposition was given the resolution except that offered by the exec committee before bringing the resolution to a vote.

Weber Talks Down Proposal To Raise Initiation Fees

SEATTLE, Wash., June 14.—Former AFM President Joseph N. Weber's long experience with such matters brought him out of his chair the second day of the American Federation of Musicians' convention here to oppose a resolution which would have raised the initiation fee of AFM locals from $5 to $15.

Weber told the convention that, while the national body might have the right to set a maximum for such fees, the matter of a minimum should be left up to the individual locals. The resolution was killed.

Orks Can Play School Gyms In Buildings on Unfair List

SEATTLE, Wash., June 14.—Sitting down to fine distinctions, the AFM now permits its members to be employed in a high school gymnasium or dance hall, even tho the auditorium is on the unfair list, according to a resolution passed at the convention.

Discussion pointed out that the previous rule in such instances placed the whole school building on the list, often thru difficulties of the IATSE in connection with the auditorium where plays, operettas, etc., are put on.

CHICAGO, June 14.—Outdoor Gardens of the White City Ballroom here has been leased for the summer by William Sheehan from Owner Howard M. Fox. Sheehan is the promoter of Catholic dances at the Stevens during the winter. Gardens will be open Friday to Sunday. Jack Russell's band is set for the season.

Birnbach and Brenton Get 5G Raise in AFM Salary

SEATTLE, Wash., June 14.—The question of the "previous question" broke the tension in a somewhat heated debate over the $5,000 raise in salary for both Secretary-Treasurer Harry E. Brenton and Recording Secretary Fred W. Birnbach at the AFM convention. The delegates voted the raise. Recommended in Presy James C. Petrillo's annual report, the increase brings the salaries of these two officers of the national to $15,000 per year.

"Previous question" came up in the vote to clear the way for final vote when Petrillo called for a voice, and a delegate insisted on knowing what the question was. Other delegates broke into guffaws when, after Petrillo's explanation of procedure, the delegate asked again for an explanation of the "question."

Debate over the raise centered around the protest of certain locals at the size of executive salaries, with Advisory Presy Joseph Weber going to bat in support of the recommendation.

Kaye Signs for Eight Weeks a Year for 10 Yrs. at Meadowbrook

NEW YORK, June 14.—In a deal understood to be unprecedented in the name band field, Frank Dailey, owner of the swing orchestra, Meadowbrook, at Cedar Grove, N. J., signed a contract with Sammy Kaye and James V. Pepper, Kaye's manager, calling for Kaye to appear at the spot for eight weeks out of every year for the next 10 years. The deal calls for a guarantee and percentage, with the figures unrevealed.

Reason behind the unusual pact is the sensational business done by the Kaye band over a four-week stretch several weeks ago. Sammy's sweet-styled orchestra was expected to be lucky if it did fairly well in a spot whose rep had been built entirely with swing crews, so that Kaye's capturing the record for business there, topping Tommy Dorsey's previous high mark by several thousand dollars, came as an astounding surprise to the trade.

One of the few other deals similar to the Kaye-Dailey long-termer was Wayne King's six-year agreement with the Karzus ballrooms, Aragon and Tribune, in Chicago. Kaye's first return to Meadowbrook will probably take place around Christmas, with the subsequent two-month periods decided upon by mutual agreement. Orchestra is currently at the Essex House in New York.

FREDDIE DAW opens a summer run at the Big Pavilion, Saugatuck, Mich., June 28 . . . he moved out of the Merry Garden Ballroom, Chicago, which closed for the hot months last week. . . . ELIA FITZGERALD will be in the Universal movie Ride 'Em, Cowbow, with Abbott and Costello . . . after returning from the Hollywood sojourn she will be offered by Moe Gale for legit theater work, and if she gets a dramatic spot she'll double with her orch at the Savoy Ballroom, New York. . . . New drummer in the Johnny Long band is FLOYD SULLIVAN, who has replaced JULES MENDELSON. . . . DON STRICKLAND follows George Hamilton at the Schroeder Hotel, Milwaukee, on the 25th . . . band is set for four weeks, and then moves into the Greystone Ballroom, Detroit, for the July 23 week.

Thornhill, Herman Draw Well in Boston Territory

Wayne Herman, playing at Totem Pole Ballroom, Auburndale, Mass., June 2-3, drew a nice $1,417 for the two-day stand. At $1.25 per couple Herman drew 800 Monday night and 1,300 Tuesday. Manager Roy Gill reported he was well satisfied, as the spot had just inaugurated full-week dancing programs.

McFarland Twins' Orch Takes $778 at Pleasure Beach

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 14.—McFarland Twins, in for a one-nighter at Pleasure Beach Ballroom here Sunday (8), the second name band so far this season, did fairly well with an attendance of 1,011 persons, and with admisshion scaled at 77 cents, the gross totaled $778.47.

Oberstein Rumored Leaving CRA; Odd Disappearance From Office

NEW YORK, June 14.—Mysterious disappearance of Eli Oberstein from the offices of Consolidated Radio Artists, of which he is general manager, since Monday (9), gave credence to the strong suspicions in the trade this week that Oberstein and CRA have parted company. Charles E. Green, CRA presy., said that Oberstein hadn't submitted a resignation, "but we haven't seen him all week."

No reasons were cited for a divorce between Oberstein and CRA. Oberstein has only been with CRA for the past six months, since his U. S. Records Corporation folded. At that time it was generally known that Green had given Oberstein a percentage of the business.

Green said that he had heard the rumor himself that Oberstein had quit the company, but hadn't been able to reach him to verify it. It was held likely by Green that Oberstein might have gone out of town and failed to notify the office.

A call to the Oberstein home by a Billboard reporter produced the information that Oberstein was still in town, but "not at home." Green said that as far as he was concerned Oberstein is still with the company until he hears differently from him.

Ork's Pay Inviolate, Judge Rules in Bus Co.-Earl Hines Suit

NEW YORK, June 14.—Holding that a band leader's contract price should not be attacked by law, because "the largest part of the funds represent the salaries of musicians," Judge Samuel C. Coleman, in City Court here, reversed an attachment that the Charter Bus Corporation received against Earl Hines' salary of $1,250 he was to get for a week's engagement at the Apollo Theater.

Bus company obtained a $1,500 judgment by default for claims against Hines since 1937 and immediately attached the maestro's salary at the Apollo last week. Hines' attorney, Chauncey S. Olman, showed up in court Tuesday (10) with a motion to dismiss the attachment on the ground that the money belonged to the musicians. Judge Coleman granted the motion, and released the $1,250 to Hines.

The judge, in dismissing the injunction proceedings, stated: "It is apparent that the largest part of the funds represent the salaries of musicians, which should be paid to them without delay." Case was then turned over to a referee for final disposition. Lew Randell represented the bus company.

Petrillo Allowed To Hold 2 Prexy Jobs

SEATTLE, Wash., June 14.—On the second day of the American Federation of Musicians' 46th Annual Convention here, President James C. Petrillo personally brought up the problem of his holding a dual job as presy. of both the national and the Chicago Local 10. He requested personal privilege so that he could retain both, and, in spite of a resolution introduced to prevent this condition, Petrillo got his way, with only four or five opposing votes.

Petrillo made clear the fact that he had explained to his Chicago local membership that he might not be able to spend more than an hour a year heading their organization, but that in a vote they unanimously retained him as president of Local 10.

Speeches by several convention delegates culminated in another resolution for the convention to go on record recognizing the right of the national president to hold office in a local as long as the latter did not interfere with his duties as national president.

Morgan Defies Rain And Snow To Gross 4G on Four Stands

DESI MOINES, Ia., June 14.—Tom Archer played Russ Morgan for four dates on the Archer ballroom circuit and is wondering just what the grosses would have been with a break in the weather. It was snow, rain, and floods on the four one-nighters.

Most of the spots have had rain for 10 straight days, with the entire area harassed by floods from overflowing streams. But despite the adverse weather in the outdoor spots, Morgan grossed close to $4,000, with a total attendance of 4,700 at the four spots.

Sioux Falls, S. D., had snow the day before Morgan played there Monday (9), and during the evening it was a steady downpour. This spot had 900 customers at 85 and 55 cents for the ladies and gents, respectively.

At the Chermot, Omaha, Neb., Saturday (7), there were 1,300 customers at 80 cents each, with rain all evening. At Sioux City next night it rained several inches, but 1,100 customers paid 85 cents plus taxes for a $1,000 gross.

The top gross was turned in at the Val-Air here Tuesday (10), where it was only a gentle drizzle all evening, which spoiled outdoor dancing, but 1,400 paid 75 cents plus taxes.

Julie Stern With Robbins

NEW YORK, June 14.—Julie Stern, formerly in the professional department of Chappell, moves over to Robbins Music Monday (16) in the spot previously held by Leo Talent. Latter left Robbins a couple of months ago to handle Glenn Miller's Mutual Music Society.

On the Records

A critical analysis of the latest record releases, covering both the musical and commercial angles of each disk reviewed. Reviews of greater length are given to recordings that possess unusual interest as to artist, selection, or both.

Paragraphs in heavy type are designed for operators of automatic phonographs as a guide to the potential value of recordings in music machines.

Key: FT—Fox Trot; W—Waltz; VC—Vocal Chorus; V—Vocal Recording.

By DANIEL RICHMAN

LARRY CLINTON (Victor 27446)

Town Tattler—FT. Tempus Fugit—FT.

After a series of more or less meaningless recordings on Bluebird—all the more surprising because there was a time when nothing that Clinton did could be called meaningful—the old dipsy dooder steps out in the footstamps of several other bands, adds a string section to his aggregation for a run of special Victor disks, and debuts the augmented crew on this initial release with considerably success artistically.

Three fiddles and a bassoon have joined the regulation Clinton brass, reed, and rhythm set-up for this and subsequent similar waxings. The effect, particularly on the A side, is fully as worth while as having been the stringed additions to the Artie Shaw and Harry James crews. Perhaps there isn't the complete brilliance of a good many of Shaw's large-band arrangements all the way thru the first side, and certainly on the reverse strings need not have been employed, for here it's merely a case of a structurally usual swingero.

But the writing of the first side, an adaptation of Bizet's Parade, makes cogent use of the enlarged complement, and brings into play the fuller, richer, and more variegated tone colors possible with a set-up like this, as against a straight brass and reed line-up. A bass clarinet-bassoon-strings blend in particular is highly effective here, and the three minutes offer many contrasting, listenable touches, such as the out-of-tempo, dramatic intro, the rhythmic quasi fugue style, the heated trumpet solo, and the expert fiddle work.

Reverse is far less imposing, being not much more than an ordinary swing item, with the strings rarely in evidence. An original by Van Alexander, it wastes no time getting into its hot solo, and while they are well-played, as are the ensemble passages, it's the A side that walks off with all the honors.

In the same way that Artie Shaw's richly scored "French" and several other similar records appealed to coin phone patronage, so, too, can this Clinton disk. It's sophisticated, modern scoring, but Shaw proved that this type of dance music is not necessarily over the head of the average nickel-dealer. Side B will probably not mean much, because it's ordinary, everyday swing stuff, but the unusual musical quality and rich melodic effects of the reverse carry good potentialities for the machines.

SAMMY KAYE (Victor 27449)

Sleepy Serenade—FT. The Reluctant Dragon—FT. VC.

KAYE's penchant for searching out things like Daddy, his current high-riding disk, and now The Reluctant Dragon is one of the strongest reasons for the increasing popularity of this crew. True, Dragon didn't take much searching out in the literal sense, because it comes from the soon-to-be-released Walt Disney feature of the same title, but Sammy deserves credit for having the commercial sense to be attracted to this type of thing sooner in most instances than other bandmen.

There's plenty of amusement on the B side of this disk, some of it in a pseudo Gilbert and Sullivan way. The basic idea would undoubtedly have been subject to considerable scorn on the part of those brilliant satirists, and neither the lyrics nor the music possesses the keen-edged cleverness of their better ditties, but the melodic and lyrical style and English atmosphere of Dragon definitely harbor Savoyard overtones.

The vocal covers the complete rim-to-label surface, with George Gingell's secretarial position with Kaye not standing in the way of his turning in a remarkably good job at the song story's raconteur. The only one in the Kaye entourage capable of producing a bona fide British accent, Gingell was momentarily drafted from his behind-the-scenes activities with the band to step before the Victor mike on this date. Maury Cross, of the regular Kaye vocal staff, shares the wordage as the Dragon in an amusing performance that is in keeping with the nonsensical spirit of the idea itself. The orch has little to do but supply rhythmic backing.

Side A is a lightly played, prettily arranged version of this new number in the Sunrise Serenade manner. Laying stress on woodwinds, and giving a celeste the opportunity for some exceedingly pretty effects, Sammy's version of this makes one of the more pleasantly listenable additions to the growing list of recordings of this type.

Either side here has everything necessary for complete phone hitdom. Side B perhaps has the edge, because, like Kaye's "Daddy," it offers something new, different, and amusing. It also has the advantage of a picture tie-in, the song coming as it does from the new Walt Disney cartoon feature of the same name. The link, of course, will help, but the side is of such a coin phone nature that it should need little assistance to do very well for itself in the machines.

CLAUDE THORNHILL (Okeh 6202)

When the Lilies Bloom Again—FT. VC. Overnight—FT. VC.

Thornhill does the Lilies ballad in a different style than Lyman, using full ensemble only on the first chorus, and stressing reeds more. Dick Harding is backed on his vocal by some excellent piano from the leader plus some pretty reed work. Plattermate is also slow and smooth, with Harding again on hand for the wordage.

Thornhill still lacks the name strength to attract nickel-dealers in sufficient numbers to warrant the inclusion of this double in the phones, despite the polished excellence of his work, not only here but on every disk he has turned out so far.

ROY SMECK (Decca 3790)

Yours (Quereme Mucho) — FT. VC. Maria Elena—W. VC.

Smekk lends his expert guitar pickings to two of the prettier ballads of the moment, and excepting the Jerry Wayne vocal on the A side, and Frank Luther's singing on the reverse, it's the guitar that holds the interest all the way. Smekk knows his way around his instrument quite well enough, however, to merit his practically solo work here.

Against the formidable opposition of a lot of high-powered records of both songs, Smekk will have trouble getting universal machine representation.

On the Stand

Reviews of orchestras playing hotel, night club and ballroom locations and one-nighters. Comment is based upon the present or potential commercial value of the band, as well as its musical quality.

Eddie Dunsmoor

as for dancing and acquires itself nicely. Should do well in atmosphere places or wherever a really good rumba band is needed. Kaplan.

(Reviewed at the Turnpike Casino, Lincoln, Neb.)

HERE is a sound, stock Midwest band, with three members of the outfit who stand out like Lucius Beebe in a hobo jungle. They are Walt Scott at the piano, drummer Art Kuterba, lead saxman Vincent Height.

Outfit sticks pretty much to the basic arrangements cooked up by Scott and tenor sax Jack Eakin, but occasionally breaks into a Latin American tune with a taste of swing. The music tone is average, and the beat is always definite enough. The ballroom crowd here seemed satisfied, and the tables were always emptier than the door.

Vocalist is Larrie Lamm, a 17-year-old Omaha cutie who knows a lot of the mike tricks her elders don't. She sings so-so, but uses her personality to punch a tune across. Rest of the band includes Fierman, who fronts and helps out with the violin on sweet numbers; Lloyd Scheuch, sax; Harold Pace, bass; Tom Putnam, trombone; Leo Heimann, trumpet, and Earl Cook, trumpet.

Crew, together for four years with few exceptions, is grooved for long-term engagements. Oldfield.

D'Arnez

(Reviewed at the Beachcomber, Boston)

WITH some of the most capable instrumentalists in Boston in this aggregation, D'Arnez has a compact little band that provides rumba music that ranks with the best in town.

Instrumentation consists of a piano, drums, trumpet, accordion, and saxophone, with D'Arnez himself playing a very nice fiddle. Arrangements are worked out to provide plenty of sweet, danceable music, and yet the band's hot experts get a chance to ride occasionally to please the jump lovers. John Carroll, who plays a flaring hot horn, holds down the brass during rumba numbers but cuts loose when the band plays pop stuff.

D'Arnez is a young, personable, and friendly front man who has made a decided hit here. He is an extremely competent musician, handling the piano as well as the fiddle when the occasion arises. Surrounded by the fine piano of Sid Hurwitz, Carroll's trumpet, Lee Costa's accordion, and Eddie Karesky's sax or clarinet, and backed up by the solid hide-beating of Hy Levinson, the band plays with an easy style.

Outfit plays for shows here as well

Manuel Ovando

(Reviewed at Jack Lynch's Hotel Walton Roof, Philadelphia)

PROVOCATIVE rhythms of the South Americas get expert treatment in the tooling of Ovando, who makes his local bow after several seasons at Atlantic City spots. Maestro directs from his string bass post, and it's a colorful sextet that includes trumpet, accordion, piano, drums, and the maracas expert, who also gives a romancy tilt to the native lyrics.

Rhythms are authentic, with the emphasis on the melodic content of the exotic melodies rather than the jungle-steeped beats. Trumpet and accordion help to effect a capable blend for both duets and solos, making for a voicing that makes the music all the more striking. Tune selections run the gamut of the books, interspersed with waltzes, standards, and hit parade foder.

Orendenker.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., June 14.—Neil Bondhu has been signed for Ciro's and moves into the spot July 1 following Henry King. Bondhu has been at the St. Francis Drake, San Francisco, the past eight months. Deal was set by Ed Fishman, of William Morris Agency.

On the Air

Comment on dance remote programs from the standpoint of showmanship, presentation, and general listening appeal, rather than the musical ability of the bands reviewed.

By HAROLD HUMPHREY

Benny Goodman
(Madison Square Garden Dance Carnival, New York, Mutual Network, Wednesday (11), 12:05-12:30 a.m.)

NEXT out in on this remote during the middle of Goodman's second turn, which is always a handicap because it gives the impression that the orch has been rung in as a filler. After things got under way, tho, the maestro Goodman took care of this little deficiency.

He sticks to the pure stuff throughout, giving his clarinets a nifty workout in many of the numbers. Trumpet man Billy Butterfield and Juice guitar strummer Charlie Christian came in for announced solos in a couple of hot swing pieces. Helen Forrest did a bang-up job on two vocal sessions. All along the line the band turned in a honey of a remote. Closed with a jam-up arrangement of Stag, Sing, Sing, with the leader sending himself on that clarinet.

Goodman should brush the remote announcer, either doing all the announcing himself or forgetting it entirely. That biz of the speller chirping.

to Z run of tunes and tempos from his "red plush book." For example, on shot caught, orch jumped from a sweet-swing arrangement of Carry Me Back to Old Virginia to a hot drive-and-jam rendition of Turnabout.

Vocalist Frank Howard held up the singing end, but not too well, especially on the slow ballads. Sounds as if he were pitching his pipes into too low a range, and result is heavy and droopy.

Midway thru the remote program, PW reviews verbally what the band has played, to point up the versatility of the books. Orch itself is solid and commercially good.

10 Equity Officials Resign Because Membership Elected 3 Candidates They Opposed

NEW YORK, June 14.—The biggest split in the history of the Actors' Equity Association has been precipitated by the action taken this week by two vice-presidents and eight councilors of Equity, who resigned their offices because they objected to the membership's action in electing three independent councilors at the annual election last Friday (6).

Those who resigned are Florence Reed, second vice-president; Peggy Wood, fourth vice-president, and Winifred Lehman, Muriel Kirkland, Claudia Morgan, Joseph Vitale, William David, Ben Leckland, Alfred Kappeler, and Lee Baker, councilors.

The statement made by those resigning read, in part: "The new order now controls 17 members of council. This is a majority of most council meetings, which rarely exceed 30 members. . . . We hold steadfastly to the ideas and opinions we expressed during the last campaign. But we feel we can best serve the minority which agrees with us from the floor rather than the platform. We cannot deceive those members who trust us to protect their interests by retaining the responsibility of council membership. We are now powerless to do anything for them in the council chamber."

However, at a meeting at Miss Wood's home Tuesday (10), it was stated by one of the resigned councilors, "Alan Hewitt's election was only the straw which broke the camel's back. This situation has steadily been coming to a head for the past four or five years."

When asked by Equity officials if they would reconsider their resignations, the 10 said they would return to the council only if the seven members who had been accused by Congressman Lambertson of being Communists last July would resign their offices until the government had exonerated them of the charges.

This suggestion was called fantastic by an Equity spokesman, who pointed out that Hewitt, despite frequent requests for an investigation, has already had to wait a year without any action being taken, and from current appearances may have to wait several years longer. It was also pointed out that forcing such "temporary" resignation of anyone accused of an "ism" would open the entire membership of the council to baseless accusations that could force their temporary retirement.

The seven council members accused by Lambertson are Hewitt, Philip Loeb, Sam Jaffe, Hiram Sherman, and Edith Van Cleve, and two councilors from Chorus Equity. Jaffe, when told of the suggestion that they resign, stated, "Nobody who has the interests of Equity at heart resigns." Miss Van Cleve said, "As I am not a Communist and never have been, I see no reason to resign because I am accused of being one. In the United States people are not considered guilty because someone in power accuses them." All seven accused by Lambertson have denied the charges, and Lambertson, in the 11 months since he launched his blast, has never come forward with proofs.

Bert Lytell, president of Equity, said, when confronted with the 10 resignations, "The resignation of these valuable and experienced officers and councilors is an irreparable loss to the Actors' Equity Association; it came as a complete surprise to me. If I could be granted only one wish it would be their return to the governing body that they have served so faithfully and well for so long a time." Lytell met seven of the 10 resigning officials, but said later he had little hope that they would reconsider.

Several official attempts have been made by Equity to have an investigation made of the Lambertson accusations, but they have met with no success. Lytell is again going to Washington next week to plead for an investigation.

Paul Dullizzi, executive secretary of Equity, denounced as ridiculous the assertion of the resigning officials that Equity Council is controlled or dominated by elements "subversive of American ideals and institutions." He also said, "A meeting held the 8th of last July, which was attended by a majority of those officers and councilors who resigned, officially went on record as saying, 'The council, on behalf of itself and the membership, denies emphatically that either the Equity council or the Equity membership is or ever has been dominated and controlled by Communists.' This statement is as true today as when it was made. We are standing by it."

"It is ridiculous for these people to say 'the new order controls 17 members of the council.' They did not name them and they cannot name them, and if this charge were true, how better could they insure control of the council by this new order they fear than by stepping out and handing it over to them unopposed?"

Miss Wood said she would name the 17 council members controlled by the so-called new order "when the time came." David said he respected the executive secretary, but believed an official and not a paid employee of the association should make such statements.

It is probable that a special council meeting will be held shortly to accept the resignations and also to consider replacements for the resigned members. No date has been set as yet, but it will be before the next regular council meeting, scheduled to take place June 24.

FROM OUT FRONT

The Equity Election

— BY EUGENE BURR —

THE cause of democracy and the democratic process, battered these days from within and without, won a notable victory in the theater last week. This came, of course, with the refusal of the membership of the Actors' Equity Association to sanction the attitude of its nominating committee—an attitude that refused Alan Hewitt renomination solely because he had been the butt of an unproven attack by a congressman who, after a year, has yet to prove a vestige of his charges. The same nominating committee also refused to nominate Mady Christians, a naturalized American, solely because she had shown the bad taste to be born abroad. The Equity membership, stirringly affirming the principles of fair play and fair trial on which this nation was founded, elected them both on an independent ticket, along with Myron McCormick, one of the six others who ran with them, the first time in Equity's history that independent nominees have been elected to the council. Also elected—and overwhelmingly—were Margaret Webster and E. John Kennedy, nominees on the regular ticket who had given all-out support to the independent slate.

It is a fine and inspiring victory for the fundamental principles of Americanism, but the entire incident brought to light grave dangers that still remain. A large portion of Equity's membership—434 to be exact—voted the straight regular ticket, while 481 votes were either split or straight independent ballots. It was a close call, considering the gravity of the underlying issues. On the other hand, when you consider the pressure that was put on the Equity membership by a nominating committee that committed the disgraceful blunder of campaigning in its official capacity for its own nominees, when you consider the distribution of campaign literature from the congressman in question, the usual lackadaisicality of Equity members concerning union affairs, the many votes from members in Hollywood who haven't been in the theater in years but who voted the regular slate to please old friends, and the fact that never before have independents been elected, the result is highly encouraging.

A LSO of interest is the matter of incumbent councilmen, renominated on the regular slate, who were voted out of office by the membership. These include at least one, Maida Reade, who was an enthusiastic supporter of the dictatorial policies represented by the nominating committee. Also gone from the council, at least at present writing, are the eight councilmen and two vice-presidents who resigned this week following the election of the three independent candidates. They announced that they had been repudiated by a membership which elected even three independents, that Equity was being taken over by forces with which they disagreed—the definite implication being Communistic forces—and that these forces were changing Equity from an artists' guild into a trade union.

There is little need to discuss the last charge. If Equity, a unit in the AFL for many years, still had officers and councilmen who thought it not a labor union but an artists' guild, it is good that those officials have finally been awakened, even tho the shock of such awakening involved their resignations.

As for the charges of Communistic leadership—this corner, in its printed statements and private actions, has fought Communism in the theater for many years. It has fought hard, even tho it tried to fight according to the tenets of democracy and to avoid the gagging methods of totalitarianism and dictatorship, which are as bad as Communism itself. If there were any real indication of Communism among the independent candidates, this corner would sympathize with the emotions of the resigning officials, even tho it could never accept or even condone their methods. But the fact remains that the charges against Hewitt have never had an iota of proof (Hewitt, incidentally, is a registered Republican), while Miss Christians and McCormick have never been accused, even by a congressman. You can't defend Americanism by denying a man the right to be considered innocent until he is proved guilty.

As for the resigners' claim that undesirable elements are taking over Equity, the charge is patently ridiculous; but even if it were true, it would provide simply another reason for the objectors to retain office in order to fight what they consider a rising and evil tide. Their action in resigning, after the membership failed to do as they told it to do, smacks distressingly of either sour grapes or a desire to stop fighting as soon as the going gets tough. If, as they themselves have clearly stated, the resigning officials are the sort who turn and run as soon as the odds go against them, they could hardly have been the sort of officials on whom Equity members could place full dependence in any real crises that may lie ahead.

Guild-League Agreement

NEW YORK, June 14.—The League of New York Theatres and the Dramatists' Guild have finally ironed out their differences, which arose over the basic agreement between managers and the Guild. The present agreement will run until 1946.

Three main points on which agreement was reached are that foreign playwrights, except those writing in English, are not required to join the Guild; managers will retain their 40 per cent share of the picture rights for 18 years instead of 10, a sliding scale ranging downward to 25 per cent becoming effective after the 10th year; and playwrights will consult managers more on the scale of the film rights than heretofore.

The first two points are subject to the approval of the Guild membership in the fall.

Chorus Equity Shows Employment Gain

NEW YORK, June 14.—At the annual meeting of Chorus Equity on Monday (9) at the Hotel Astor it was reported that during the fiscal year ended March 30 employment of the association's members increased to 1,982.

At the same meeting the regular ticket was elected, including Paul Dullizzi, chairman of the executive committee; Margaret Moore, recording secretary; Marguerite Benton, Mary Brent, John Eliot, Roger Gerry, Philip Gordon, Norman Van Emburgh, and Jean Woods, for three-year council terms, and Bill Mare, Ruth Needle, and June Rutherford for two-year replacement terms on the council. Eliot was also elected for a three-year term as member of the Actors' Equity council and Van Emburgh for a one-year replacement.

Equity Finances Better Than Ever

NEW YORK, June 14.—At the annual meeting of the Actors' Equity Association last Friday (6) the financial report for the fiscal year ended March 31 disclosed the following figures. All the figures show an increase over the previous year.

Net income, $23,068.34; surplus, $379,882.18; total assets, $851,720.37. Also, the total bonds posted with Equity during the fiscal year reached $878,613.88—the largest sum deposited with the organization since 1930.

"People" Closes Hub Season Despite 45G in Three Weeks

BOSTON, June 14.—The Hub legit season, one of the best in years, came to a triumphant close tonight when Meet the People elected to withdraw for the summer months. Despite constantly building business that boosted the Hollywood revue's gross up to near record highs, it was decided that with the coming of hot weather business might drop. The show will continue its tour in September.

Gross for this week was $17,500, another like over previous figures, and brought the three-week total to $45,500, very good considering the $275 top at the 1,500-seat Shubert for the production.

The Hub's 1940-41 legit season resulted in a total gross of well over $1,000,000.

Robin Hood Season Cut

WILMINGTON, Del., June 14.—The Robin Hood Theater at Arden will re-open with summer stock about August 1. Frederick Clayton, business manager, has announced. The entire theater will be remodeled and gardens will be made in the glen behind it. The construction will necessitate a short season this summer but a full season is contemplated for next year, he explained.

Louisa D'A. Carpenter is understood to be financing the venture this year. Last winter she backed the play Conquest in April, which opened in Wilmington and went on to Philadelphia, where it ran two weeks and folded.

Out-of-Town Opening

"New Orleans"

(Forest Park Municipal Open-Air Theater)

ST. LOUIS

A musical romance presented by the Municipal Theater Association of St. Louis Music by Sigmund Romberg. Book and lyrics by Oscar Hammerstein II. Produced by Richard H. Berger. Book staged by Robert Ross. Orchestra under direction of Jacob Schwartzkopf. Chorography by Theodore Adolphus and Al White Jr. Settings by Watson Barrett. Principals include James Newill, Muriel Angelus, Helen Claire, Ethel Levey, Tom Ewell, Dorothy Lee, August Aramini, Joseph Macaulay, Leroy Busch, Emil Wachter, Bob Lawrence, Dudley Harder, Frederic Persson, Ruth Urban, Jeanne Gustavson, Jack Donahue, Joan Roberts, Edgar Philips, Earl Scholl, William O'Neal, Howard Freeman.

With over 10,000 people in the audience, New Orleans made an auspicious bow in its world's premiere showing at this renowned open-air theater on Thursday June 5, when the composer, the author, and Max Gordon, who will produce the operetta on Broadway next fall, and many other celebrities were among the first-nighters. The new Romberg-Hammerstein opus is just about the best in the long line of successes of this combination.

In this present vehicle they deviated from the usual style of operettas; the story is unusual in that it doesn't end happily or as the auditors expect. The musical romance is presented in three acts, two scenes in the first and three scenes each in the second and third acts. The dramatic story is woven thru lifting tunes, and there is just enough comedy interspersed to round the operetta out perfectly. Feature musical numbers are Eleven Levee Street, Call It a Dream, It Can Happen to Anyone, When a Lark Learns To Fly, Observe the Bee, My Girl and I, Let's Play We're Having Fun, and She Got Him. All told there are 22 numbers on the musical program, and the scoring is excellent throughout.

The story opens on colorful Levee Street in New Orleans in 1852, where John Clalborne, a young attorney, rents a house, preparatory to proposing to Marie Sauvainet, beautiful singer at the notorious Cafe des Oiseaux. But, Cecile, niece of Senator Charles Fontaine, has set her heart on the handsome young lawyer, for whom she has great ambitions. She and her uncle trick the singer into leaving the city. Eight years later, Marie, now an opera star, returns to find John Married to Cecile, whose political scheming and social contacts have won him a partnership in a firm of corporation lawyers. John's old love for Marie flares anew as he faces a professional crisis—the problem of whether he should represent a big river steamboat company or the poor Levee Street home owners it is seeking to evict of their property to facilitate the construction of additional wharves. John must choose between a life of continued success as a fashionable lawyer and the career of a struggling defender of poor men's rights, with the two women who are in love with him finally aiding him in making the decision to stay with Cecile. The finale, after John has died, shows the two women of his life consoling themselves with the fact that "dreams never die."

James Newill, a baritone appearing here for the first time, took care of the leading role of John Clalborne in fine fashion, from both the vocal and dramatic standpoints. Muriel Angelus, in the role of the unhappy Marie Sauvainet, played perfectly, and her voice blended nicely with that of Newill. Helen Claire, as the haughty Cecile, and Ethel Levey, as Lolita, disposed themselves well in their respective roles, the latter putting over two comedy songs in swell manner. The leading comedy roles were ably taken care of by Dorothy Lee and Tom Ewell, who had to take repeated encores. Joseph Macaulay, an old favorite with the Many Opera audiences, was forceful in his role as Senator Fontaine, while the performances of August Aramini, William O'Neal, and Howard Freeman were particularly noteworthy.

New Orleans will be a hit when presented in New York is the prediction of critics and public in the Mound City.

Springfield Playgoers' League Ends Successful First Season

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., June 14.—The first brief season of the Springfield Playgoers' League was a pronounced success, Albert E. Steiger, president of the League, reported after the first annual report had been made to the executive committee Friday (6). No official figures were available, Steiger said, but the five presentations of the League grossed more than $20,000 and 12,000 people attended the plays.

The detailed report by Daniel J. Maloney, executive secretary of the League and the prime mover in bringing the legitimate stage back to life in this city after five years of complete blackout, showed that the League had realized a profit of a few hundred dollars. The League is incorporated under Massachusetts laws as a non-profit institution and, as such, any profits must be used for expenses or given to a charitable institution.

The League has 78 charter members who pledged themselves to give $50, of which only $25 in cash was handed over. This amount, nearly $2,000, is used as a revolving fund for guarantees, current expenses, etc., and must be replaced after each performance. To give the members any share of the profits the League would have to dissolve its present charter and be re-incorporated, and in no case would it be possible for the members to get any share of this year's profits. The executive committee took no action on the question of profits, Maloney reported, and they will continue to be used for current expenses.

The question of a theater for next year has caused considerable discussion among League directors. As yet the contract mailed to the E. M. Loew office in Boston for the rental of the Court Square under the same arrangement of last year has not been returned. Maloney said that lack of the Court Square wouldn't stymie the Playgoers at all, pointing to other theaters in the city that could easily be used for legitimate shows, as well as to the Municipal Auditorium.

Maloney reported at the meeting the attendance at the last play brought here this year, The Man Who Came to Dinner, broke all records of more than 15 years' standing at the Court Square.

KC Playgoers Double Sked

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 14.—Playgoers' League of Kansas City, headed by Frank F. B. Houston, announced this week that dramatic hits and musical comedies of the New York season comprise the list of road show attractions that will be presented at the Music Hall next fall and winter under sponsorship of the League. The Music Hall is managed by James Nixon, who recently visited New York to make the bookings.

Because of the fine support Kansas City and its trade territory accorded the Playgoers last winter, approximately twice as many attractions will be offered for the 1941-42 season.

Dedinite bookings have been obtained on the following productions:

Dramatic—Asrean and Old Lace, Life With Father, My Sister Eileen, The Corn Is Green, Maurice Evans in Macbeth, Johnny Belinda, Katharine Cornell in The Doctor's Dilemma, Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne in There Shall Be No Night, Separate Rooms, Mr. and Mrs. North, Claudie.

Musical—Louisiana Purchase, Panama Hattie, Al Johnson in Hold On to Your Hats, Pal Joey, and The Ziegfeld Follies.

In addition, tentative bookings have been made on the following: Watch on the Rhine, Helen Hayes in a new play, Ethel Waters in Cabins in the Sky, Gertrude Lawrence in Lady in the Dark, Ed Wynn in Boys and Girls Together.

There also is a possibility that several of the better known operettas may be offered at popular prices.

The Playgoers' League is a non-profit civic group organized a year ago to help the legitimate theater here. Its membership campaign for 1941-42 is scheduled to get under way this week. Membership costs $1 a person for the season. A member receives advance notices on all plays, has the privilege of purchasing tickets in advance of the public sale, and receives a 10 per cent discount on the cost of his ticket to most attractions.

"Father" Takes 22G in Det.

DETROIT, June 14.—Gross of $22,017 was reported for the first week of Life With Father, currently at the Cass Theater. Play is generally expected to stay for a good part of the summer. This gross is reported as a house record for post-depression years, going back to 1930 at the Cass, as well as the highest gross taken in by any road show of Father. Previous record was $21,500 in Philadelphia in March.

HAVANA, June 14.—Tobacco Road has just been presented here in Spanish, translated by Alvarez Custodio, lead being taken by Nicolas Rodriguez, supported by an able cast. Prices, boxes $3, orchestra 50 cents, and gallery 30 cents.

The large Cuban audience received the play with good volume of applause.

AMERICAN ACADEMY OF DRAMATIC ARTS

FOUNDED IN 1884 BY FRANKLIN H. SARGENT

THE foremost institution for Dramatic and Expressional Training in America. The courses of the Academy furnish the essential preparation for Teaching and Directing as well as for Acting.

FOR CATALOG ADDRESS SECRETARY, ROOM 145, CARNEGIE HALL, NEW YORK

Eugene Burr.

Cafe Pierre, New York

Talent policy: Dance band and single act; one floorshow at midnight. Management: Felix Perry, manager; Ware Lynch, press agent. Prices: Dinner from $2.50; drinks from 60 cents; minimum, $1.50.

Lone attraction in this swanky upholstered lounge in the Hotel Pierre is Patricia Ellis, recently of filmland and until last week doubling from the legit musical Louisiana Purchase. She's only on once a night. Business has been sparse.

Miss Ellis has many qualities to make her a good cafe performer, but talent isn't included among them. She's a luscious peach, has a very sexy way, and, in addition, has a firm delivery. But she can't sing. Her obvious need is clever special material, which she could sell more successfully. Instead, she went thru pop songs like A Foggy Day in London Town and I Cried for You, among others, and the only effect produced was boredom.

She seems to have enough on the ball to sell special material. It would be much better than competing with singers who have genuine voices.

Music assignment is in the hands of Bob Knight, electric guitarist. Knight's crew is far superior to the average society band, getting a lot of music out of five pieces and displaying a fine versatility. Ork in the past has been larger, but even the loss of two men hasn't done any harm. Boys are smooth as silk on pops and just as infectious on the rumba and swingeroom. Sol Zett.

Drake Hotel, Camellia House, Chicago

Talent policy: Show and dance band; floor entertainment at 9:30 and 12. Management: A. S. Kirkeby, hotel president; William Wallace, manager; Clair Peep, publicity. Prices: No cover; $2.50 minimum Saturday; drinks from 50 cents.

The society trade is getting a taste of the show combination offered season after season at the Savoy Plaza in New York—Hildegarde and Bob Grant's band. The Milwaukee warbler is in for four weeks, a return, at a reported salary of $1,000, the highest figure here for a single act. Grant is making his initial appearance with his smooth six-piece orchestra and is set for the summer (Ramon Ramos band returns for the fall season).

Despite the small capacity of this smart room, Hildegarde should make some money for the spot. She is a top Gold Coast draw and should attract the heavy spenders. The annual furniture show will be in town the last two weeks of her stay and that should help.

Hildegarde is an ingenious cafe personality with an admirably individual song style. There is a Continental air about her work which should please the "400" forced to keep out of Europe these warring years. Most of her songs are now in English and one of her oldies is a standout, of course, The Last Time I Saw Paris.

Grant (violin) fronts a smart, melodious musical combination. Sextet plays versatile, hush-toned music. Instrumentation includes piano, bass, guitar, violin, sax, and accordion.

Room has been redecorated for the summer, with garden green hangings replacing the deep red velvet colors.

Sam Honigberg.

Villa Moderne, Chicago

Talent policy: Dance band. Management: Frank Hutchins, operator; Francis Hutchins, manager; Hanna Teicher, decorator; Fred Joyce, publicity. Prices: No cover; minimum Saturday only ($1.50); dinner from $1.25; drinks from 40 cents.

A roadhouse open all year, but with an upped talent budget during the summer. It is one of the most popular open-air places in this area, serving good food and music at pop prices. Floorshows may be added in July.

Bob Strong and orchestra, featured on two NBC shows—Uncle Walter's Doghouse and College Humor—are in for six to eight weeks, with a possibility of staying all summer. It is one of the most promising outfits among the newer names. Altho on its first location job, the band is well equipped to furnish a variety of music in acceptable style.

The boys (14) are strong in both swing and sweet, and their novelties, played in dance tempo, are really entertaining. Leader is young, aggressive, and talented. Plays a sax well and contributes most of the arrangements.

Band should prove very popular here. Its vocal department includes Ray McIntosh and Sid Reid, ballads, and Sonny Severt, novelties. In addition, outfit features a singing quartet and a well-rehearsed glee club. A strong specialty in the band's show chapter is the lightning-speed version of Flight of the Bumblebee on the trombone by Joe Bezek.

Spot has been redecorated. The new Leopard Lounge is a restful bar hideout. Main dining room boasts new South American murals.

Sam Honigberg.

its purpose in getting laughs as well as a big number of participants. The line does its job admirably during this turn. Other number by the line is an opening cakewalk.

Emesing is by Clay Bryson, good-looking boy with a nice personality. Only piping at show caught was during the audience participation number. Most of his chores are confined to the later show.

Sherry Britton is the holdover. Her strip style is altered for this bill. Keeps most of her raiment on, but gives out with more bumps and grinds. Not as effective as her previous display here.

Joe Coken.

Meadowbrook Country Club, St. Louis

Talent policy: Dance and show band; floorshows at 8:30 and 12:15. Management: William Berberich, general manager; Prices: Dinners $1.50 and $2; drinks from 40 cents; cover charge, 75 cents weekdays, $1 Saturdays.

With the re-opening of this swanky spot for the summer, the elite are again journeying to the country to enjoy the setting of this club. Name bands and stellar acts are again being booked for two weeks. Inclement weather has held down the attendance since the opening, but whenever the weather has been favorable good crowds have been on hand.

Bernie Cummings and orchestra are current, and he has scored a big hit here since he opened Friday (6). He has a keen bunch of musicians and the music is very danceable. The boys can kick out and also give the best kind of rumba and some dandy novelty and specialty numbers, too. Cummings himself and his brother, Walter, lyric tenor, vocalize, while blonde Patricia Ford is the female vocalist and featured violinist. The band has a nice entertainment setup. In addition to the three vocalists, Chet James does comedy songs and trumpet solos; Boris Perrazzi, a dead ringer for Harpo Marx, is a showstopper with comedy songs; Freddy Benson does drum specialties, and Thermaine Sheeler does some triple tonguing on trumpet.

Dan and Sally Jennings do smooth ballroom and whirlwind dancing, featuring their "Hawaiian Nights" dance, which they did in a musical film. Freda Sullivan, an exotic acro dancer, rounds out the floor show with several good specialties.

Orrin Tucker and orchestra here Friday, June 20, for two weeks.

Frank B. Joerling.

Hollenden Hotel, Vogue Room, Cleveland, O.

Talent policy: Dance band and floorshows at 8 and midnight. Management: Richard T. Marsh; publicity by A. A. Landis. Prices: No cover; minimum $1.50. Saturday, $2; dinners from $1.75; drinks from 35 cents.

This is the second week hold-over for the floorshow and the eighth engagement in four years for Sammy Watkins and band. Both are well deserved.

Best show so far this season opens with Carol Rhodes singing Blow, Gabriel, Blow, and My Man in French and English, and escorting with Give Her Back to the Indians and The Lord Done Fixed Her Soul. Her choice of songs and her arrangements were perfect for her deep and clear blues voice.

Glen Pepe, clever magician, offered humorous, fast-running chatter that drew attention at just the right places and times so that the effect of his "leave 'em fooled" tricks made for a very good presentation. In spite of the fact that his magic routine was standard, his appearance, personality, and build-up for his "come-and-go" eight-thimble trick for a finish made his act a success. Brought him an encore.

The piece de resistance of the show was Rolf Passer and Company, a mental performance that sent the patrons home talking to themselves. A patron was chosen to escort Passer out into the lobby, and then his assistant asked guests to suggest things for Passer to do, articles for him to recover, and stunts for him to ask other people in the room to perform, as well as having someone hide an ordinary straight pin. Passer was then brought back into the room, and, holding his assistant by her wrist with two fingers, he proceeded to do and find all the things suggested by guests.

Then he chose a patron to accompany him on another round of the tables to perform other stunts. The guests were so stunned that it was seconds before they seemed to re-set and give him a good hand, with plenty of people asking for a return, which is very unusual for a Cleveland night club crowd.

Old Vienna, Cincinnati

Talent policy: Continuous band entertainment at dinner and supper sessions. Management: Paul Penny, manager; Bob Meyers, assistant; Betty Kapp, publicity. Prices: Drinks from 35 cents; dinners from 75 cents. Minimum of $1 Fridays and Saturdays only. No Sunday operation.

With Freddie Fisher and his Schnickelitzers (6), back in here for their fourth return engagement in a little more than two years, this intimate 400-seat basement chamber is the liveliest dive and run spot in the downtown sector.

As on previous visits, dancing is out for the Fisher engagement, the space usually adapted for that being given over to more tables and chairs. Business since the opening, June 3, has been such to warm the cockles of any manager's heart. Turnaways are a cinch for Fridays and Saturdays, and if you can find an open table in the room after 10 p.m. any other night in the week, you're a Houdini.

Chief patronage comes from middle bracket spenders who want to laugh, and the Schnickelitzers do a noble job of filling that desire with their laughing packed corn sessions. As a front for an entertaining band, Fisher is in a class by himself. Working like a Trojan without appearing to, Fisher can hold and delight his tip hour upon hour with his grand mugging, his risque and ribald songs, and his delightful low comedy which in his hands never appear offensive. When caught, Fisher had the crowd in almost continuous laughter with a vast assortment of new material, altho his old nifties have lost none of their potency.

From his five conferees, George Rock, trumpet; Carl Christiani, piano; Pats Frady, bass; Harry Lindeman, drums and Ralph Copey, trombone, Fisher gets solid support. Boys are excellent musicians for the band's legitimate offerings and their individual specialties, and great fools for Fisher's rougher fun-making.

The Schnickelitzers are slated to remain here until late August, when Old Vienna closes for several weeks for complete renovation.

Iceland, New York

Talent policy: Dance and relief trio; floorshows at 7:30, 12, and 1:30 a.m. Management: Mike Larsen, owner; Axel Peterson, headwaiter; Joe Rose, press agent; Jack Mandel and Senia Gamsa, bookers. Prices: Dinner from 99 cents (smorgasbord) to $1.60; drinks from 35 cents; no cover or minimum.

Talent is secondary to the buck dinner at this massive eating emporium. There is a full floorshow and a band to back it up, with plenty of space for dancing, but the management's chief claw for dragging the customers in is the reasonable price of food, plus a show. Show is operated on a pretty thin budget, and the talent, for the dough, isn't bad.

Holdovers are Danny White, emcee, and Jack Lane's Lovebirds. White has a corking routine involving dodging collectors from finance companies and, as a closer, comes out in full dress bum's regalia for a good laughgert. Lane's Lovebirds are paced thru charming bits of business to a good hand.

Newcomers are Nola Day, songstress, who does an ordinary job with So You're the One, Amrapoli, and Intermezzo, and Jack and June Blane, ballroom team; kids work very strenuously and do some nicely detailed line work.

Ted Eddy's band accompanies the show, with the Joe Hembree Trio as relief crew.

Proser Spreads Floorshow Costs By Package Idea

NEW YORK, June 14.—To amortize the cost of his shows at the Copacabana, which closed for the summer Tuesday (10), Monte Proser is pushing the selling of package floorshows into other clubs, hotel spots, and vaude.

The Cops review which opened Tuesday (10) at the Hotel New Yorker's Terrace Room originally played the Cops, then went into the local Paramount for a month, and then the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, Boston, several weeks before the New Yorker date. It was sold to the New Yorker at a reported $2,000.

The Cops show which ran until the club's closing Tuesday will probably go into the Piping Rock club, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 28. Emil Coleman's band, Frank Martin's samba band, Juanita Jauress, the Samba Sterns are among those set.

Proser spent $3,000 to $4,000 for three sets of Miles White costumes for each six-girl ensemble, with Midge Fielding also getting a salary for staging the routines and special arrangements costing another $200 to $300. This cost, high for floorshows, is being amortized by outside bookings. Also, the costumes for the opening Cops show back in November are being used now in the show at Proser's Zombie (ex-Beachcomber).

Milwaukee Tries Another Vaude Bill

CHICAGO, June 14.—A pick-up at the Riverside, Milwaukee, this week is prompting Manager Eddie Weisfeldt to bring in a vaude show week of June 20. Musicians and stagehands, however, remain on notice, should box-office reverse force the closing of the house for the remainder of the summer.

Originally, Weisfeldt planned to fold for the summer on Thursday (19). Current show has the King's Jesters, the Great Lester, Yvette Dare, and Alan Carney.

W. R. Seale Operated; Amateur Premiere Hit

SPOKANE, Wash., June 14.—Willard R. Seale, manager of the Orpheum, which books occasional units and which recently tried vaudefests, underwent a major operation and is recovering at St. Luke's Hospital. Assistant Manager Mel Haberman is running the house.

Haberman reports attendance was upped 50 per cent over ordinary first-run film take nights of May 28, 29, and 30 by means of an imitation of a "Hollywood Premier" staged by Rudy (Red) Nichols, who had 40 local amateurs impersonate stars. The "celebrities" were driven up to the theater in shiny new automobiles and introduced over the mike under floodlights outside the theater before going on stage.

Sacramento Club in Fire; Showboat Opens

SACRAMENTO, Calif., June 14.—An early morning blaze razed the Pago Pago club, opened three months ago by Floyd Brott, Pete Mazanti, and Tony Lucich. Furnishings were partially covered by insurance.

Reopened recently was the Show Boat, an anchored river steamer in the Sacramento River operated by Pete Visser, Odens a small orchestra.

Fisher Booking Jones Beach

NEW YORK, June 14.—The Arthur Fisher office will book vaude for the Stadium at Jones Beach. The initial show starts July 3 for three days and includes Marion Bellet and the English Brothers, Bob Howard, and the Three Wiles. There will be one show nightly.

Bath-Turf Full Week

ATLANTIC CITY, June 14.—Bath and Turf Club will go into a full week by July 4. Opening talent includes Diosa Castillo, Gerardo, and Pupy Campillo. Names are expected to be used throughout the season.

Muscle Corporation of America set the talent.

10 GS Houses Curtail Vaude

CHICAGO, June 14.—Great States Circuit, which has been spotting vaude units and bands into 10 of its houses in Illinois and Indiana, will curtail vaudes during the summer, booker Warnie Jones reports.

The Palace, Peoria, Ill., which used a unit Sunday, finished last week. The houses in the other towns will buy a show for one or two-day dates only if the attraction is big enough.

Jones reveals that flesh was received well last season and there is every indication that as many shows, if not more, will be spotted on the GS chain starting in September. The 10-combo policy houses have been averaging two to three shows a month, each held from one to three days. The Palace, Rockford, Ill., is the only theater that will not be affected by the summer schedule. Locally built units, staged by Sam Roberts and Nick Boila, will play every Friday to Sunday. Neighboring army posts have boomed Rockford theater biz.

Name bands have fared best at the box offices. Vande units have registered, but not extraordinarily unless topped with a big name.

2 New K. C. Clubs

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—Tower Tavern, new night club just outside the city limits, has opened with Bus Moten and band, a sepiia outfit. Proprietor is Eddie Morgan, who also operates the White Horse Inn here.

Tommy Thompson has opened the Mardi Gras Club here. Club is air-cooled and specializes in barbecue. Dance music is furnished by Sammy Martin and band, an okey outfit which specializes in rumbas and sweet and swing music. Betty Ann vocalizes.

The Three Bachelors Club here, under management of Cecil Green, has inaugurated a swing door policy. On the bandstand is Forrest Wyatt's crew, featuring Wyatt on boogie-woogie piano.

Atlantic Beach Club Opens

NEW YORK, June 14.—Nautilus Beach Club, Atlantic Beach, L. I., has opened for the summer, with semi-names used for the latter part of the week. Danny Collins is doing the booking.

Camden 2-Day Vaude

CAMDEN, N. J., June 14.—Towers Theatre will remain open this year. Has been playing three-days-a-week vaude. Summer schedule calls for house to be open Saturday and Sundays. House uses five acts, including a semi-name and units. Booked by Eddie Sherman out of New York.

Denver's New Casa Clicks

DENVER, June 14.—The Casa Manana, new nitery which opened several weeks ago, has added week-end floorshows booked thru Jack Blue, according to Dominick Blasi, operator. Kenne (Sticks) McVey's seven-piece colored combo is on the stand. Club represents an investment of $20,000 and will seat 200. Business has held up nicely since opening.

Chi Nabe Clubs Up Budgets; Use More Talent and Fewer Strippers

CHICAGO, June 14.—Neighborhood spots have been increasing their talent budgets to compete with Loop cafes and hotels. With employment conditions considerably better, operators figure that there are more prospective cafe customers in each neighborhood than ever before.

A couple of North Side niteries which are copping more coin with improved talent are Harry Eager's 5100 Club and Marshall Saxon's Bar o' Music, 5100 Club uses four and five-act shows, booked by Leo Balkin of the William Morris Agency, and Mark Fisher's band, which has been a local favorite for years. Saxon is doing well with "extra attractions" for the cocktail trade. Max Miller, vibra-harpist, was in last month. Una Mae Carlisle, recording songstress, is current.

Another reason for finding more talent in neighborhood spots is the current scarcity of good strips, which have always been floorshow features. Small cafe ops pay strips only from $30 to $60 a week, a salary an average nude can make appearing on two to three club dates. And disrobing acts are in heavy demand in club date offices and the jobs are far easier than the three-to-four-shows-a-night grind in cafes.

Albert Bouche reopened his Villa Venetia tonight (14) with an "exotic" girl show. Hi Hat closes for the remainder of the summer July 15. Set to reopen around Labor Day with names. Current layout, with Fifi D'Orsay and Emil Boreo, is doing good business.

Congress Hotel's Glass Hat is doing big with the Vincent Bragile rumba band. There is talk that the hotel may reopen its Congress Casino in the fall for week-end trade, using name rumba bands.

Olsen Again Booking Lyric, Indianapolis

CHICAGO, June 14.—The booking of the Lyric, Indianapolis, handled until recently by Kermit Dart here, is back in the hands of its owner, Charles Olsen. Dart was named house manager of the Lyric by Olsen, following the resignation of Ted Nicholas, who left to manage Orrin Tucker's band. When Warnie Jones, the original Lyric booker, moved over to the Balaban & Katz office last year, Olsen dispatched Dart to Chicago to set the show.

Dart is back on the road managing his wife's act (Irene Vermillion), currently playing Canadian fairs. A number of the bands and acts booked by Olsen are set thru New York agents. Ted Rio Rito's band goes in Friday (20).

Danny Graham, of Chicago, set five acts this week. They are Joe and Jane McKenna for Friday (20), Nelson Sisters and Helen Honan, week of June 27, and the Winter Sisters and Don and Jane Ford, week of July 4.

Kaye Band, De Wolfe Set For Tour Until Oct. 15

NEW YORK, June 14.—A vaude tour which will extend to October 15 is being set for Sammy Kaye by Music Corporation of America. Billy De Wolfe, a rising comedian, will travel with Kaye's orchestra. The opener will be July 11 at the Stanley, Pittsburgh, and will be followed by the Chicago, Chicago, July 18; Riverside, Milwaukee, July 25; week of August 1, still to be set; Steel Pier, Atlantic City, August 8; a week of one-nighters, Earle, Washington, August 29; followed by three weeks at the Strand, here, August 29, with four more weeks to follow.

Kaye will wind up the tour by October 15, when he returns to the Essex House.

509, Detroit, Enlarges

DETROIT, June 14.—Club 509, downtown spot managed by Barney Spauld, is enlarging to seat 400. Show policy is based on a long bill, running about 10 acts, the without star names.

Billy Joy, female impersonator, has reopened for an indefinite run after a record of 18 straight months at the 509. Others are Dale Rhodes, in his sixth week as emcee; Margo Good, singer, in her ninth week; Horace Houck's band, and Oiga Ray, singing cigarette girl who has been here indefinitely. Booked thru Peter J. Iodice, of Amusement Booking Service.

Fort Wayne Drops Vaude

PORT WAYNE, Ind., June 14.—The Palace (1,800 seats), week-end combo house here, is closing for the summer. The concluding attractions meantime were set by Manager Harvey Cox thru Cres Courtney, of William Morris Agency.

Deacon Moore opened Friday (6).

the proverbial gilded cage in an effort to get her.

Story No. 3 is set in a Parisian sidewalk cafe. It's Miss Parker and Daniels again. Daniels' roving eye causes Miss Parker to become jealous, but she finally gets her heart throb, Eddie Stone, Martin's fiddler, does small part. Briefly sang "I Want the Waiter With the Water."

Finale is a cavalcade of dances from 1876. These include polka, can-can, the Charleston, and truckin'.

Hotel Continental, Sky-Hy, Kansas City, Mo.

Talent policy: Dance and show band; occasional single acts; floorshows once nightly. Management: Mrs. H. Grady Manning, owner; R. E. McEachern, manager. Prices: Dinners $1.50; drinks from 35 cents; admission, 50 cents weekdays and 75 cents Saturday.

One of the swankier new spots is the 22nd-floor Sky-Hy Roof. A combo cocktail lounge and ballroom, it also specializes in excellent cuisine. Under the able guidance of R. E. McEachern, veteran hotel man, the spot bids fair to outshine competition. The nitery opened Thursday (12).

Diners are separated from the ballroom by a partition. Admission is 50 cents, but free admission cards are issued to all patrons of the hotel's other bars, lounges, and coffee shop.

Every Friday is to be Campus Prom night in a bid to crowds of college age. Photographs are taken of patrons and given to them before they leave.

Entertainment is furnished by Walter Wood's orchestra, a smooth sweet-style band ideal for this location. Orch is made up of three saxes, two trumpets, and four rhythm. Style is mostly tenor lead, with occasional muted trumpet solo, and a great deal of ear-cressing piano filigree by 88-man Joe Wray.

In floorshow hand first offers a medley of Perfidia, Intermezzo, and I Hear a Rhapsody. Wray then sings seat versions of pops. Buddy Mills, bass player, formerly was with Alton Roth, of KMOX in St. Louis. In fact, the whole outfit is a Mount City band. Mills warbles ballads of the nature of My Sister and I and I Do You?

Russ Huesther offers neat guitar solos on Spanish and electric guitar and then sings No. 19 Lullaby Lane, Frank Schram, drummer, also sings.

The outfit steps up the tempo to play hot in the later part of the evening to the apparent great satisfaction of dancers.

Bob Locke.

Chez Paree, Denver

Talent policy: Show and dance band; floorshows at 10:30 p.m. and 2 a.m. Management: Tom Romolo, manager; Marv Norris, host. Prices: A la carte.

Following the three-week run of Lee Bartell, who practically carried the whole show, Romolo has returned to his policy of several acts on a weekly change. Bert Hardcastle's five-piece combo is still holding down the stand, with the boys able to meet all demands.

Gil Robinson is the opener and also emcee. A second-week holdover, Robinson has scored a solid sell with his impersonations. He starts with a radio routine a la Fred Allen, follows with a Roosevelt, then Cantor, Groucho Marx singing Lydie, the Tattooed Lady. A good laugh and hand-gutter, and his impersonations, both in voice and gesture, are some of the smoothest to show this way in a long time. His Marx, aided by Make-up, is probably his best.

The Morell Sisters and Billy, a skating trio, follow with the usual speed and whirls. Billy gets a nice hand on his single foot spin, and a single tap on skates by one of the girls goes over nicely. Feature is Beverly, a seven-year-old who has worked in several pictures. Starts working a double with Billy and then takes a single spin to good response. Billy and the kid chat and then Beverly takes a vocal, a showstopper. The kid is a born showman and won the hand of the evening. Adult skaters come out for a double life finale which proves a good climax.

Herb Trackman.

Bar o' Music, Chicago

Talent policy: Continuous bar entertainment from 9:30 p.m. Management: Marshall Saxon and Frances (Key) Kane. Prices: No cover, no minimum; drinks from 50 cents.

Narrow bamboo hut affair located on the border of Chicago and Evanston and close enough to Northwestern University to attract some campus trade. Spot is currently in the local limelight thru the engagement of Una Mae Carlisle, sepia siren, first standard act to play here.

It is a poor booking, as she is strong enough to work some of the best spots in the Loop.

Hers she works 20 minutes every hour, from 9:30 to 4 a.m. She is already suffering from laryngitis—and this is only her second week of a contracted month (with options for another four weeks).

Miss Carlisle is a dynamic interpreter of pop and original songs. She bangs away at a piano with the showmanship of a Pats Waller and sells them personality. The set caught included her latest BMI tune, I See a Million People, But All I Can See Is You (lyrics by BMI's lyric director, Robert Sour); Oh I'm Evil; Honeysuckle Rose; I Met You Then, I Know You Now, and several piano solos, among them her first pop tune, Walking By the River. She seems to enjoy every minute of her work, an admirably projective factor.

The other 40 minutes of the entertainment hours are filled in by Three Sharps and Flats, colored musical trio. One of the boys drums away on a tambourine, the others work on a bass and guitar. Good hot rhythm trio.

Manager Saxon, formerly a member of a magic show, entertains bar patrons with assorted tricks.

Sam Honigberg.

Yacht Club, Pittsburgh

Talent policy: Band; variety show, usually four acts. Prices: Drinks 50 cents, food a la carte. Management: Jackie and Sol Heller.

The name-sact policy is still paying dividends for Jackie and Sol Heller.

Frances Faye is current. She's terrific with her piano pounding in the tempo that Steel City nightlifers relish. And the club is drawing fair crowds even during early week nights.

Bill opens with Nancy Hunt, coquettish dancer, who has a nice smile and standard tap-kick routines which draw satisfying reception.

Magic Le Paul, specializing in card tricks, keeps the house quiet. And a neat-looking female assistant is a pleasant dressing up to his full-dress act. But he might change routine for second show, so that stayovers wouldn't become bored.

Little Jackie Heller does his usual personality wows on three pop tunes. If the guy would add something besides singing he should be able to grab a place in show business akin to an entertainer like Johnson. Someone should give him gags and humor.

Brother-sister adagio act, Maurice and Betty Whalen, is slick. One of best such in local niteries in a long time. She's shapely, and how; he's hefty. Their white scant garb is good. Their toses and twirls are great. House applauded heartily.

Sister Frances cleans up. Her Yiddish sides in blues shouting, her breezy pace, her enthusiasm, take house by storm. Wind-up was hokum song, with Jackie Heller miming His Feet's Too Big. He even dances a bit. A highlight.

Jackie's genial emceeing throughout, plus greeting of many customers by name, goes over like mamma's chocolate cake.

Herman Middleman's band nicely doubles for show and dancing.

Mori Frank.

Edgewater Beach Hotel, Marine Dining Room, Chicago

Talent policy: Production floorshows at 8:30 and 10:45; dance and show band; intermission strollers. Management: William M. Dewey, managing director; Dorothy Dorben, producer; Fred Wellman, publicity. Prices: Minimum, $2; dinner from $1.50; drinks from 50 cents.

Last week-end marked the beginning of the hotel's summer season, the busiest three months for this popular dining room. Weather permitting, the late evening dance sessions and last show will be staged in the outdoor Beachwalk, a stone's throw from Lake Michigan. Dinner hour entertainment will be held indoors.

Manager Dewey let the barn down and set three name bands in addition to augmented shows. Russ Morgan opened Friday (13), followed by Horace Heidt July 11 and Orrin Tucker August 8. Dorothy Dorben, producer, has 12 girls again for production numbers, with three strong acts set for the opening show.

The Morgan outfit is one of the largest and most capable to play this hotel in many a month. The dance music is smooth and colorful and the background is currently in the local limelight thru the engagement of Una Mae Carlisle, sepia siren, first standard act to play here.

It is a poor booking, as she is strong enough to work some of the best spots in the Loop.

Hers she works 20 minutes every hour, from 9:30 to 4 a.m. She is already suffering from laryngitis—and this is only her second week of a contracted month (with options for another four weeks).

Follow-Up Night Club Reviews

CARROLL'S, PHILADELPHIA.—Burlesque continues to pay off at this midtown supper club. For warm weather, Stanley Carroll is bringing in standard burly names. Big noise current is Lois De Fee, who dominates the raised stage figuratively and physically.

Revie follows the regular burly pattern, with Harry Rose and Bobby Vail handling the comedy blackouts. Material dates back to the Columbia Wheel, but is still always good for a laugh. Wilbur Hance does yoeman work as straight, doubling effectively as emcee. Grace Gordon plenty sweet as the saucy soubrette.

Single specialty added is of sock proportions. Judy Tappa provides a tap delight and is best while clicking the castanets.

Line of six, with four added for show, embellish the production values of the revue. Gals open with a South Sea Island strut, a rumba twist at the mid-mark, with Hawaiian hula for the finish. Folies Costumes, Inc., of New York, responsible for the sparkling gowns.

Carroll clicks handsomely with the customers. On the managerial assist is Frankie Donato, one-time juve star on the Columbia Wheel. Moe Adler, coming in from Jack Lynch's Walton Roof, is the maître d'. Sam Bushman still publicizing.

Oredenker.

IRVIN WOLF'S RENDEZVOUS, HOTEL SENATOR, PHILADELPHIA.—Wolf continues to import instrumental and vocal talents that go far in enhancing the attributes of this rendezvous.

While the emphasis is on swing, the smoothen jazz is sidestepped in favor of the smoother and melodic blends.

Top spot is centered on Erskine Butlerfield, well known over the networks and a familiar figure on records and transcriptions. A personable sepiam lad who has complete mastery of the piano keyboards and a smoothie on the singing, his offerings here count for little more than a full filler. Greatest handicap is that he is doing a solo stand, and the trio that stamped his air and wax (See FOLLOW-UP REVIEWS on page 28) for the shows compares favorably with a good house pit band. An unusual novelty with the group is Jana, portrait artist, who sketches dancers as they waltz around the floor. Vocals are handled by one of the three violinists (Clarence Melter), good romantic tenor; George Henry, trombonist, and Phil Campion, bass, who joins the male team for trio work. Phyllis Lynn, cute blonde, lends her sweet voice to current hits. In all, a versatile and commendable organization.

Miss Dorben's girl numbers on this spacious floor are impressively festive. In the early show they frame the presentation with a nicely designed Latin routine and a costumed Hungarian spectacle danced to Liszt's Second Hungarian Rhapsody in swing. In the late show the line repeats Miss Dorben's successful version of the American Bolero, featuring again the dance work of Consolo and Melba.

Walter Donahue is back as emcee and general show co-ordinator. He dances with the girls, contributes a difficult tap routine on his own, and even pitches in with production vocals. A clean-cut youth with an act fit for good rooms.

Consolo and Melba have gone a long way since last caught by this reviewer some two years ago. Their appearance is clean and youthful and the routines highly effective. The tricks blend naturally into the numbers. Work with flash and speed.

The Nelson Sisters (2), novelty trapeze act, contribute an unusual hotel room turn. Due to the height of the traps, only a limited number of rooms can use it. The girls work hard and look exceptionally well. Appear in brief costumes and exhibit some difficult acro turns in unison. Went big.

Phyllis Lynn steps off the bandstand to do a novel arrangement of Yes, My Darling Daughter. Martello and Mignon dance act, open here June 27. Jack Russell's band is set for the next four Mondays when the regular orch rests. The Four Knights Hawks, strollers, and Herbert Poole, organist, play intersession music.

Lotus Gardens, Washington

Talent policy: Five-piece dance and show band; floorshows three times nightly. Management: D. G. Lam, manager; publicity by Henry Kaufman Agency. Prices: Moderate; 75 cents minimum weekdays and $1 Saturdays and Sundays.

Successfully operated for more than a decade, this club attracts the tourist trade and average wage earner. Capacity of 650, with roomy comfort, gives the Lotus the edge on downtown volume. Its entertainment is definitely aimed for family consumption, consequently there is no effort to play to the sophisticated.

Show opened with line of eight girls attempting a routine which combined taps with classic Greek. Pleasant, if not exciting. Girl team of Kollette and Deane danced to Beer Barrel Polka in a light manner. Act could use more punch.

Buddy Shanner, hefty crooner with the band, put over It All Comes Back To Me Now, Kathleen, God Bless America, and Yours as an Encore. Altho he's been at the Lotus for eight years, he works too close to the mike, often resulting in a voice

Vaudefilm Grosses

Roxy, Para Good; But Other Broadway Houses Still in Slump; MH Is Okeh

NEW YORK.—Broadway vaudefilm grosses are sluggish, altho a flock of new bills and a few days of rain gave more strength to the b.o. The trade was liveliest at the Paramount and Roxy.

The Paramount (3,654 seats; $37,000 house average) opened Wednesday (11) with a new bill including Milton Berle, Joan Merrill, Vincent Lopez ork, the Jenkins, and film, One Night in Lisbon, and is set to do better than $50,000 for its first week. Last week, the third week of Vaughn Monroe, Hal Sherman, and Beatrice Kay, and pic, I Wanted Wings, pulled $25,000. (Previous two weeks of this layout did $45,000 and $46,000.)

The Strand (2,758 seats; $33,500 house average) is hitting below par with current bill including Lee Brown's ork, Bea Wain, and Dixie Dunbar, accompanied by Flicker, Million Dollar Baby. Second week of this layout is expected to fall to $25,000, after a disappointing $32,000 on the initial week.

The Roxy (3,815 seats; $36,000 house average) opened Friday (13) with a new layout including Wesson Brothers, Dennis Day, Gil and Bernice Malson, and pic, Man Hunt, and is expected to do an okeh $38,000. The last eight days of the previous bill with Nellie Arnaut, Teibor's Seals and film, Blood and Sand, pulled a fine $30,000. Preceding two weeks did $44,000 and $38,000.

The Music Hall (6,200 seats; $84,000 house average) now has Sassy on the screen and stage bill with Raymond Wile bert, Wynn Murray, and the usual set-up. First week is expected to do around

Apollon $11,400 Good in Omaha

OMAHA—Dave Apollon and his Curse of Fun unit, headed by Willie Shore, drew $11,400 in a week at the Orpheum here. Screen had Model Wife (U) and take was below average for vaudefilm at this $3,000-setter.

Prices were tilted to 55-cent top. Regular for double-feature is 44-cent top.

Previous show, a month earlier, was Ray Noble and his orchestra with That Uncertain Feeling (UA) on screen. It drew $13,300 in a week.

Wash. Capitol Gets $23,500; Earle 11G

WASHINGTON.—Despite wet weather on opening day, which sliced takes, both combo houses here expect excellent business. Loew's Capitol, featuring Jimmy Dorsey band on stage for week ending June 18, expects a hefty $21,000. Stage fare, including Art Carney and Robinson and Martin, is getting better notices than picture Broadway Limited.

Warner's Earle probably will do $18,000 for week ending June 19. Radio program, Truth and Consequences, with the Radio Aces and Roxettes, comprise the flesh, while She Knew All the Answers is on screen.

Last week, Loew's went over expectations with $23,500 on A Woman's Face, while Warner's found $11,000 didn't meet estimates on for Reaching for the Sun.

Shriners, Weather Hit Ind'l'lis Biz

INDIANAPOLIS.—The 24-hour free entertainment staged by the Shriners during their convention here caused the Lyric (1,922 seats) gross to dip to $8,000, below normal by $500, with Grandfather's Follies for week ended June 12. And what the Shriners didn't do to the box office the rainy weather did.

Besides regular cast of revue, including Van Kirk, Flora Duane, Equilio Brothers, Marguerite Hartwell, Four Kernels, Gene Scott, and the Graveworth House Gaiety Girls, the Lyric also booked Red Weber and the Three Trojans, who did a good job of fitting themselves into the framework of the show. Pic, some help, was The Cowboy and the Blonde.

Glenn Miller Tops Chi With 46G; Ted Fio Rito 16G, Okeh

CHICAGO.—Good theater weather and two strong band units are responsible for some healthy grosses in the two Balaban & Katz combo houses this week. Cloudy and rainy days have been keeping many vacationists in town.

Chicago (4,000 seats, $32,000 house average) is heading toward a high for the year with Glenn Miller's band and Paramount's One Night in Lisbon, Strong, week-end biz, starting Friday (13), is boosting the week's take to a big $46,000. Miller's popularity is still big enough to warrant a five-shows-a-day schedule. Last week, ended June 12, the second stanza of I Wanted Wings and presentation show with the Roseland, Lime Trio, Lou Hoffman, and the Commanders, brought in a neat $33,000, reviewing a total of $72,000 for the fortnight.

State-Lake (3,700 seats, $15,000 house average) is doing well this week (13-19) considering competition of Glenn Miller. Ted Fio Rito's band on stage and Harold Lloyd's production of A Guy, A Girl, and A Gob had a good week-end and should have no trouble garnering a nice $16,000. Last week, ended June 12, Major Bowes unit; the Great Lester, magician, and revival of Destry Dogs of the Air on screen took an average $15,000 take.

Crosby Ork's Weak 15G in Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH.—Bob Crosby and band, with acts, grossed a weakish $15,000 at Stanley Theater (3,800 seats). On the screen, That Uncertain Feeling.

Following Guy Lombardo, current week of June 14, comes Ted Lewis, then Willie Howard in Crazy With the Heat unit.

Film cowboy Roy Rogers played a one-day personal appearance Saturday (14) at Roxian Theater (1,200 seats), McKees Rocks. His act included screen horse "Trigger" and company of Western performers. Theater-owner Sam Fleishman last year played several picture cowboys with top grosses; hence re-booking.

Paramount, New York

(Reviewed Wednesday Evening, June 11)

If there is anyone on stage here this week besides Milton Berle, they are purely incidental. He comes on at the start, is on at the finale waving Vincent Lopez's baton, and for over an hour makes stooges out of the audience, Lopez's orchestra and vocalists, Ben Yost and His Variety Eight, Joan Merrill, and the Janseys. But the customers didn't mind. They ate it up and were screaming for more as the pit sold out of sight. At one point in the proceedings Lopez cracked to Berle: "Don't you ever let up?" It may have been in the script, but there was a plaintive tone in the Lopez voice.

Because of Berle, ork had less of a job than usual. Neat opening flash was made with the house darkened to show up the phosphorescent music stands and Lopez's gloved hands racing over the keyboard. Band's three fiddles, three rhythm, four reed, and five brass then accompanied the bouncing hep chirping of Anne Barrett, who did Au Revoir and Of Mice Ain't Dead. Okeh for the jitter trade. Later in the show orch does an original, Nobody's Boogie, featuring hide-beater Buck Spangler. Toward the end Lopez takes to the piano for a medley of standard tunes. Band makes a good appearance and sounds okeh musically.

Berle is a much smoother comedian than in bygone days. His timing and delivery are okeh. Much of his material is fresh and the dated stuff has been dressed up a bit. He had the audience worked up to a pitch where anything he said brought hysterical laughs. Only spot that showed a lag was Berle's singing of a patriotic number.

Joan Merrill, ascending the heights thru recordings and who just finished a part in a new Hollywood musical, is on for three songs, Daddy, The Latin in Me, and Summertime. Okeh for the punch back of throaty pipes. Her style should make her a cinch for some time. She is given the Berle treatment from start to finish.

The Four Janseys are on for their rapid-fire Raisley antics, the only act on the bill which doesn't sing. Boys' difficult flips and rolls are made all the more so on the narrow pit apron. They, too, are Bertized, the comedian coming in for a turn on the feet of the catchers. Janseys finish with a two-high flip. Good hand.

Ork's other vocalist, Sonny Skyle, sings his own number, Just a Little Bit South of North Carolina, and Maria Elena. Has a good, clear voice and was well received. Also bantered some lines with Berle for solid laughs.

Ben Yost and His Variety Eight strike out with a choral medley of blood-and-thunder stuff, which this type of group always seems to do, and well. Berle really broke up this act when he appeared in a burlesque outfit of the boys' snappy uniforms and joined them, mugging and singing.

Berle finishes with his old bit of spring radio commercials, but it was okeh with everybody.

Biz good next-to-last show opening day. Pic is Paramount's One Night in Lisbon.

Next bill has Will Bradley ork, Jane Proman, Danny Kaye, and Bob Hope's pic. Caught in the Draft.

A swell band and a fast show, impeded by too much emceeing, is the week's offering, along with a funny picture,

Vaudeville Reviews

A Girl, a Guy, and a Gob. Business only fair opening day, but the Ted Pio Rito outfit should bring 'em in. Pio Rito's Skyline Rhythms are great audience stuff and the band has some excellent entertainers. Particularly good on the vocals is Allan Cole. The Three Chicks, trombonists, go over big, and among individual instrumental standouts are Bert Trader, lead sax; Jimmy Ziegfeld, trumpeter, and Red (Texas) Varner, guitar. Biggest hit of all was Candy Candido, bass player with the trick voice. His singing of novelty numbers brought repeated encores and was a showstopper.

Morey Amsterdam emasculated the show. His material, largely of the washroom variety, was old and he got only a moderate response.

Lloyd and Willis, youthful tap dance team, scored nicely, offering some fast and intricate routines and encoring with an old-fashioned buck and wing by the boy and a ballet toe tap by the girl. Mabel Todd is an able comedienne, best in her singing roles. Comedy with Morey Amsterdam not so good, but when she lets loose with the vocals she garnered plenty of applause.

Cris Cross, ventriloquist, has some excellent material but could do much better by cutting the stalls and comedy with the band and doing more straight ventriloquist stuff. Got a fair hand.

Band is the best part of the show. Balance badly in need of revision.

Not Green.

Loew's State, New York

Bill is okeh. It's an hour long, but the time passes quickly. The few holes in the bill don't seriously affect customer interest. Every act wound up its stint with show-stopping finale.

Opener is a fast three-man two-girl acro team, the Five Maxelles, who run thru all the orthodox routines plus a few new twists. Act kept a fast, punchy pace, beginning with one man belly-spinning on the soles of another's feet and racing into some abusive comedy and body juggling. High spot was an acrobatic leap frog which set the house wild.

The Adrian Rollini Trio (vibes, bass, and guitar), one of the classiest and most polished units of this kind, opened a little cold, with some unfamiliar melody which went over the head of the audience despite the excellent musicianship. They scored, however, with their Amapola (which they should have started with) and kept going strong, with Rollini doubling from vibes to climes on arrangements of Heilelsjof, Chopsticks, and Limehouse Blues. Had to beg off after two encores.

One of the headliners, Gertrude Nansen, with her sensuous style and curved proportions, cut thru the house like a minesweeper. She warmed them up with the sexy claw in her voice. Transformed herself into several character styles, starting with Ochi Chorana, in true Russian style, then going into My Man, a la Brice; I Want My Mama, with Miranda touches, and a swing parody of Volga Boatmen. The audience loved her and she returned the affection by taking five curtain calls and then saying "the union will fine me" if she did any more.

Closer was Paul and Grace Hartman, sharing headline honors. The Hartmans are terrific, nothing less. Started with satire on a ballroom team, then a champagne dance hour, a la conga lesson, and lastly a battle royal rumba. Act is 18 packed with laughs from start to finish, largely contributed by Paul Hartman's grimaces and the awful beating he takes from Grace. Much talent and class.

Pic, Ziegfeld Girl, second run. Ruby Zwerling in the pit.

Almost full house for closing show.

Roxo, New York

A line-up of applause-producing acts gives the current layout smooth running from beginning to end. A long run for the bill is debatable since pic, Mrs Hunt, is a provocative affair that produces mixed reactions. Business on the rainy opening night was fine. Paul Ash's ark is again moved on stage.

The Four Polka Dots open with a harmonica concert. Selections were Comptown Races and Dance of the Comedians from Smetana's The Bartered Bride. Enclosed with an Irish jig. The latter two, which require fast and tricky instrument manipulation, were well played. Got a nice hand.

Gil and Bernie Maisen open with their usual tap, with six house girls for atmosphere. They desert this in favor of their dog and monkey act. Gil's handling of the animals is clever; sock tricks and comedy are wisely mixed. Walked off to prolific applause.

The Wesson Brothers have improved greatly since their last appearance at this house. Their routines are smoother, and their idea of one doing voice and other going thru the motions in hitting the audience with greater effect. Did a Willkie which is a pip. Other's that went big were Bergen and McCarthy and their encore, President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Dennis Day, also on a return here, does his sock tenoring after being introduced, via transcription, by Jack Benny. Sings Amapola, My Sister and I, and If Comes Back To Me Now, plus an encore. Between numbers he does the dumb kid part usual in his radio programs. Seemed unnecessary in view of his swell chirping.

Day stays to sing Locally Hula Hands, introducing the finale with Aggie Auld, who does a nice bit of hip weaving, with background from the Gee Foster line. Line does a hand drill and a hula at her exit. The Roxettes also contributed a precision number earlier in the bill for a good hand.

Bill is straight variety, of a high average for neighborhood shows in this territory, with Archie Dayne's band, five-piece unit with Eve Gladstone, pianist, working at one side of stage. Show booked by Sol Berns.

Three Drews, two men and a girl, open with harmony singing, with the girl's contribution a bit drowned by the heavy male voices. Adaptations, as Chiribibis, are free and funny. They use crazy business, and the audience likes it.

Med Hall works high and low unicycle with good balance and swiftness. He has two skillful new routines—whirling a large lasso around him as he rides the high unicycle, and standing on his hands to work the pedals of small-wheeled unicycle with six-foot pedestal, working upside down.

Jensen and Gerren open with smart dialog, produce some rabbits, then the male member does a nice tap, casually producing lighted cigarettes, while the girl sings Smoke Gets in Your Eyes. She follows with light operatic solo, in a fine, clear soprano.

Phil Irving, who does a good job as emcee, has some solos in a rich, controlled tenor, notably fine on Chloe and The World Is Mine Tonight.

Ted Waldman and Susie work with some fast risqué dialog, and Waldman shows rare skill on the mouth organ, getting fine novelty effects.

Recola Trio is a fast acrobatic combination displaying a variety routine. They open with a skating number, including fast whirling as one partner holds the other two in various hand and foot positions, and the girl follows with leaping somersaults. The two men come back for some straight acrobatic work and a perch number. Before descending the climber has a thrill novelty, using a hand hold only while the partner rapidly twirls the poll till the former is forced out to a horizontal position. Do a nice three-high bit in the finale.

H. F. Reeves.

Music Hall, New York

(Reviewed Thursday Evening, June 12)

After the out-of-the-ordinary presentation during the previous bill, the Music Hall routine has settled into its usual groove. The outside talent gives the bill some lift, but bulk of entertainment is by the MH regulars. Take on opening night was good, pic being Sunny.

First of the outsiders are The Revuers, clever quintet of satirists. This is their second appearance at the Hall, the first, last season, having been after a run at the Rainbow Room. Since then they have found steady employment at the Village Vanguard. They did a neat take-off on radio drama, eulogizing Ambrose Mippy, inventor of the shoehorn. Their satire is clever, almost too clever for mass consumption. With editing and some action, the act could add to its general appeal.

Raymond Wilbert juggles effectively, doing his usual wind-up of having a hoop jump five strings. Had a little trouble in getting the hoop to do his bidding during the last trick at show caught, more than was necessary for good showmanship. Went over well.

Opener was by the Ballet Corps in an unimaginative routine. The giant stage was not used to full advantage during this number.

The Glee Club, in pickaninnies costumes, has Selma Kaye fronting and does a listenable medley of spirituals. Went over for a nice hand.

The final grouping is in the Calypso vein with a male quartet, the Travelers, opening as an intro to Wyn Murray, a holdover, doing Minnie From Trinidad. The Rocks finish with their sock precision work.

Erno Rapee batoned the colorful Caprice Espagnol, by Rimsky-Korsakoff, for a highly effective overture.

Joe Cohen.

Chicago, Chicago

(Reviewed Friday Afternoon, June 13)

Glenn Miller and band, still an ace box-office attraction, are entertaining the heavy jitterbug trade here this week. Outfit is strong enough to do more than the usual number of specialists allotted a touring ork, hence only two acts (Lozalain and Bognan and Paul Regan) fill out the bill.

It is powerhouse music all the way, dished out in full measure to the obvious delight of the teen age swing enthusiasts. The band numbers smack of showmanship. Comparative disappointment to this correspondent is the harmony work by the Modernaires, male quartet, which is not as effective as it should be.

Band boasts of several musicians who shine individually and with the group. Miller is generous with brief trombone solos and frequently joins the brass section in musical concoctions. Gets by nicely as an emcee, making the announcements clearly and pointedly.

His featured vocalists are Ray Eberle and Paula Kelly, the former a favorite with the Miller fans. His versions of pop tunes are good and bear the Eberle trademark throat. Miss Kelly is a winning-looking songstress, pleasant on voice and personality.

One of the strongest numbers is Volga Boatmen, played with comparative restraint yet displaying the fine musical qualities that elevated the Miller family to the top. A commercial novelty is a tale about a boogie-woogie piggy which employs the efforts of the Modernaires and Miss Kelly.

Lorraine and Rognan, next-to-closing, do their familiar comedy turn. Miss Lorraine was funnier than ever, getting more laughs out of the act's better bits. Still begin with a chapter of talk. Rognan following with his amusing soft-shoe aero routine, then the comedy waltz and, finally, some harmonica playing nonsense.

Paul Regan is a strong impersonator. He takes the off-the-beaten path both for his characters and material. Contributes sound takeoffs of such infrequently impersonated celebs as Peter Lorre, Edward Everett Horton, Cary Grant, and Wendell Willkie. Much of his talk is funny.

On screen, Paramount's One Night in Lisbon. His big third show opening day. Combo started on a five-show schedule. Miller's stay is limited to a week. Frank Capra's Meet John Doe and a presentation show are scheduled to open a two-week date Friday (20), followed week of July 4 by George White's Scandals and Bob Hope's Intest Flicker. Caught in the Draft.

HAL HAVILAND
INTERNATIONAL PRESTIDIGITATEUR

20th Century, Buffalo

(Reviewed Friday Evening, June 13)

The Century hits the spot with the current all-colored unit, Dancing Feel, starring Bill Robinson. Crowd was good and unusually responsive opening night, and the 60-minute production put together by Bill and his personal manager, Morty Forkin, goes off smoothly and swiftly. There's a heap of hot Harlem hoofing, as well as some solid vocals and instrumental antics.

Show opens with the 12-gal chorus, the Marien Dancing Brigade, in a jitterbug jamboree. Femmes are shapely, well trained, and well costumed and impress favorably as a whole. The Eight Sensational Madcaps, comedy novelty band, excel with hectic rhythm and give their all to please the crowd. The lads' gaitings and instruments catch on nicely and provoke more than a trickle of hilarity. Set-up includes drums, piano, bass, guitar, washboard, two kazoo, plus comic leader.

Leon Warwick sports a full-bodied baritone that tugs at the heart strings. His fine diction and delivery are highly commendable. Sold solidly with Old Man River and Ten Stoic-Hearted Men. Added bit was a ditty in lighted vein, Look What Love Done Done, embellished by character-like background scenes.

Robinson's entrance is one of showmanship and he immediately charms the crowd. He shares his first number with the chorines, presenting a well-done eccentric soft-shoe tap in unison. Unit's melodious theme, Down by an Old Southern River, is given some emphasis in this bit, with wholesale chirping and humming.

Apus and Estrillita are a pleasing comedy song and dance duo, which delivers a good portion of gags, jokes, tunes, and steps to success. Girl is a tall, stately, sexy looking, and nicely attired, while partner works in oversized baggy get-up. Effect would have been better had act been cut a bit in spots.

Claudia McNeil gets a boost thru her billing as Robinson's kid sister and his fine way of introducing her. This ballad canary has throaty deep pipes, but hits the high notes, too, displaying a good range. Renditions of I Hear a Rhapsody and So Long were okeh, considering that this Harlemitte is a comparative newcomer.

Last-to-closing spot is reserved for Robinson, who really delivers the goods in every way. His sock delivery of jokes and gags was rewarded with much clapping, while his terpsichorean offerings brought down the house. In The Still of the Night was Bill's imitation of taps coming over low-tuned radio late at night, a masterful exhibition of rhythm and control. Robinson's own conception of himself dancing 40 years from today was full of humor and great stuff. With the time he follows up with shuffle tapping, which is fitting finish.

Phineas brings out the entire troupe to the tune of the theme song, with Claudia and Robinson the center of attraction, carrying the whole to a click climax.

Picture, Scattergood Pulls the Strings, isn't bad, but certainly wouldn't draw many payees on its own steam. Robinson must be credited with the drawing power.

Burly Gain in Mex; Byton-Barger Click; U. S., Native Talent

MEXICO CITY, June 14.—The addition of Mexico City as a regular link in the Burly burly chain was revealed by Bert Byton, co-operator of the Byton-Barger circuit, on his return here after a few days in Chicago. J. Gonzales Tejada is manager of the Folies Bergere Theater, where the revue is now.

Going into its eighth successful week at the Folies Bergere, the Barger show will continue indefinitely its present policy of introducing one half of a new revue each week, thus carrying over of the latter half of each program into the succeeding production. Each month incoming stock company headliners will take over, and those replaced will go back on the United States route.

Byton has made considerable use of Mexican talent in filling out his recent presentations. Most of the locals are used in the sketches to slant the humor to the Latin American taste. American principals figure in each sketch, however, and typical U. S. comedy that does not rely too much on patter has gone over quite well. Two very personable girl singers from El Patio, a nitery, have pleased as variational entertainment in a show which does not cater too strongly to the song-happy Mexican public. Best bets among the Mexican artists may be those from the States with returning companies, Byton declares.

Both Byton and Fred Clark, stage manager, say that the city is becoming burlesque conscious, and box-office receipts at the Folies bear this out. The present company has brought in average weekly grosses of 25,000 pesos—something less than 50 at the current rate of exchange. Best week's gross hit $2,000 pesos. The government employees' vacation can be held accountable for one bad week in which the take was only 14,000 pesos.

Paul Kane Breaks Arm; Changes in SF Houses

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—Paul Kane, former number producer in the East and now a comedian, fractured an arm at the Capitol Theater shortly after he replaced Charles Fletcher, about to start on a vacation to Camano Island, Stanwood, Wash. Fletcher was recalled, but eventually left upon the incoming of Jack Little. Kane will be out for about six weeks.

Capitol, which comes down next month to make way for a garage, an addition to the one already adjoining, also has Olive Fuller as number pro-

TRENTON, N. J., June 14.—The latest wrinkle in Annie Oakley's comes from Ed Jaffe, press agent for the Folies show, now showing at the Victory Theater here. Passes read: "For Distinguished Services to Culture—Admit One to the Victory Burlesque Theater. On to Victory!"

Review

Troc, Philadelphia

(Reviewed Friday Evening, June 6)

For the summer spell, as is customary, Izzy Hirst has his Troc carry on with stock. Keeping the line of girls and supporting players intact, changes are made in the comic and strip principals.

Jack Montgomery whips the show into shape and, save that some faces and figures are familiar, pattern follows the mill-run routines that characterize wheel shows.

Billy (Cheese 'n' Crackers) Hagan, a strong local fave, is making a long run of it. Comedy is ribald and blue, but that's what they expect of Hagan and he never disappoints. Charles Levine manages to keep close to Hagan's class, save for the Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde sketch that represents an excursion into dramatics.

Comics get excellent support from Murry Brisco, Johnny Kane, and Danny Lyons. Lyons adds vocal force to the ballet numbers and has a show-stopping specialty, a highly entertaining session of ventriloquism. Allene Dale is the fem foil.

Flesh display is on par with the likings of the local lads. Carol King, blond beauty, reveals with a modified strip. Sally O'Day provides more fervor for disrobing, while Patricia Perry, in top spot, accents the sensuous qualities.

Line of eight for the footwork, with four added for struts, boasts a looker or two, but little else. Ballet numbers have the benefit of Janece for uncanny acrobatics because of her buxom proportions.

Merrick Valinote and Harry Kahn split the musical chores from the pit position. Biz bullish when caught.

M. H. Orodenker.

ducer. Among other principals are Pat Kearney, Hermie Rose, and Frank Mackey. Bobby Young, stripper, closed last week.

Liberty Theater, another burly house here, still doing only Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

Kearney, smaller burly house, employs no chorus, just five strippers.

Girls in line who finished the season received a full week's salary bonus from the management. . . . DAISY KELLY, of the Eltinge, and Loraine Parker, of the Republic, left town to open June 19 in a floorshow at Nipmuc Lake, Mendon, Mass. . . . BOB FERGUSON and Mary Murray moved from the Gaely to the Howard, Boston, June 13. Herbie Pay and Vilma Joszy replaced.

LIBERTY THEATER, Davenport, Iowa, has a new cast, including Bruce (Boob) Brooks, Helen Brooks, "Hinky" Wyley, and six specialty girls.

Trenton Burly Clicks; Draws Ft. Dix Rookies

TRIENTON, N. J., June 14.—Burlesque has come back after years of layoff and is making good. New York Follies, playing at the Victory Theater (650 seats) after a week's run, has found that there is a popular demand for this kind of entertainment. The 22,000 soldiers from Fort Dix are heavy patrons and business, according to the management, is "better than expected."

A matinee and two evening shows daily and Sunday. Show runs about an hour and 30 minutes.

The show includes 12 chorines, two comedians, Bobby Faye and Jim Connroy; two acro specialists, Isabelle Brown and Bill Julian; a specialty number by "Spoons" Brown, and two straight men, Bobby Byrne and George Rose. Dorothy Lawrence does a song and strip, and Jean Lee a strip.

Admission prices, 55 cents and 75 cents.

The show is owned by the Hillrose Amusement Company, with Jules Rominger and Dave Rose as owner-managers, and Jimmy Wilson the manager. Hopes to build up a permanent company.

Patrons Too Tired; Detroit Burly Down

DETROIT, June 14.—National Theater closed last week for the summer, reversing its almost unbroken policy of staying open all year round. Expected to reopen Labor Day.

Drop in business in local burlesque houses continues. The Avenue remains open with stock, and the Empress with a considerably less elaborate show and cast. There has been a recent slight pick-up in patronage, according to Manager Joseph Ehul of the latter house, but this still brings grosses to about 25 per cent under a year ago. Overtime work with industrial workers too tired to go to a show afterward, is largely blamed for this situation.

Don Cameron in Auto Crash

FINDLAY, O., June 14.—Donald Cameron, of Cameron & Emenegger Theatrical Enterprises here, sustained a fractured skull and cuts about the head and hands early this week when his car left the road and plunged into a ditch south of this city. Bobbie Pegrin, former producer at the Alvin, Minneapolis, assisted by Pat Broadhurst, a chorine, and Midget Jackie Duncan, who were riding in another car, rescued him from the wreckage and rushed him to City Hospital, Findlay. His condition is described as fair. Miss Pegrin is associated with Cameron in the booking office.

Upper Mississippi Big for Dixie Queen

MOLINE, Ill., June 14.—Showboat business on the Upper Mississippi River is above average so far this season and promises to be one of the best showboat seasons in many years, according to Capt. Al Cooper, owner-operator of the Dixie Queen Showboat.

Playing in suburban Hampton recently, the Dixie Queen packed them in for Ten Nights in a Barroom. The craft also played to large crowds at Rock Island and Le Claire, near-by stops, on a trip to the upper reaches of the river. Capt. Cooper is no stranger in these parts, having previously taken the Seneca up the river in 1927 and the Golden Rod in 1922.

In the Dixie Queen roster are Herb Clark, leads; Ruth Hewitt, ingenue; Blanche Bradley, general business; Jack Gould, characters; Boots Stone, characters; Norman Cooper, comedy and director; Virginia Goodman, leads; Mannie Floyd, bits; Johnnie Dobbs, juvenile and general business; Flo Cooper, tickets; Henry Dunbar, publicity; Maude Dunbar, banners. Boat also carries a five-piece orchestra and a crew of five.

Captain Cooper instituted a 40-cent price policy this year which seems to have met with general satisfaction along the river.

King Players Blow Boom Town Stand

CHARLESTOWN, Ind., June 14.—Ruth King Players, who opened in this defense boom town May 19 for what was to have been an all-summer engagement, folded after a week of operation. The company has disbanded. The show came in here practically unheralded, but the chief reason given for the troupe's sudden demise is that the workers here are just too busy to give a thought to entertainment.

Charlestown is the site of the mammoth dynamite plant being erected by the government at a cost of $121,176,621. Its normal population around 940, the town now houses some 25,000 workers.

With the company here were Ruth King, Janet Barrett, Ervil Hart, Bobbie LaHue, Joe Britton, Charlie Mercer, Bee King, and Sam Smith.

Her husband, Jim Burns, is now out of the business. Her son is playing nurse to her.

PORKY JACOBS writes from Honolulu, where he is appearing in the Carl Holt contest, that the floor money there is as good as it was in the States 10 years ago. Natchez Is Good For Nayler Tenter NATCHZ, Miss., June 14.—Coming here from a successful series of one nights in near-by Louisiana, Jack Nayler's Famous Georgia Minstrels played to SRO here Monday night (9). Show has been here previously, but present edition is an improvement over other productions.

Featured this season is "Happy" Windwick, comic; Viola Wallace, blues singer; Joe Louis, tap dancer; Georgia Brown, impersonator; and Ade Chapman, singer. Freddie Jones is leader of the street and pit band. Costumes and scenery are new and show is clean.

J. B. Lester is advancing show and also has charge of reserve seats and concessions on show. Show was well received here, especially by colored population, which comprises 75 per cent of city. From here show went to Brookhaven, Miss., and will play numerous towns in Magnolia State before closing in Georgia.

Rampaging River Hinders Majestic

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., June 14.—"Here comes the showboat" was not the popular refrain with owners of the Majestic Showboat June 6, for the craft and its cast of Thespians were marooned at Congo, W. Va., across the river from here, by a rampaging Ohio River.

The river, which attained a 318-foot crest at midnight June 5, receded to 30.5 feet the following morning. The near flood forced cancellation of the showboat's engagement here Thursday night (5) and threatened postponement even another day.

The Majestic is piloted by a small tow-boat which is not powerful enough to combat the swift current. The rampaging river, however, did not cause serious damage to the boat.

Holt's Honolulu Contest Has 12 and 1 Still Going

HONOLULU, June 10.—Carl Holt's Derbyshow, which opened at Civic Auditorium here a week ago with 19 couples, has 12 teams and one solo still parading at this writing. Nine of the teams are sponsored. The contest is one of the largest indoor amusement enterprises ever to show here, and public reaction has been good. More than 4,000 people witnessed the opening, and business since has held up well.

The teams still going are Stan West and Margie Bright, Johnny Crowder and Roma Terry, Bill Perdy and Ellen McFarland, Pee-wee Collins and Reilla Flinn, Frank Linington and Jean Scudder, John Kamelmeil and Clara Ahn, Joe and Margie Van Raam, Mickey Britton and Patay Ryan, Porky Jacobs and Margie Jean Shosta, Bobby Damato and Janet Martin, Bill Steele and Maxine Lang, and Mickey and Eileen Thayer. Before the show's opening Holt tendered the eight couples from the States a banquet at Lau Yee Choi, local Chinese club. Local newspapermen were invited to the affair. Holt also chartered a boat and with local newspapermen met the contestants coming from the mainland five miles out. The contestants have every other matinee off, with Holt putting in his time showing them around the island.

Outstanding 16mm. Outdoor Theater Opens in Jersey

Harry Bannister's Old Mill Movies presents novel entertainment idea

STEWARTSVILLE, N. J., June 14.—A new kind of outdoor entertainment was presented by Harry Bannister, actor-producer-director, when he opened Old Mill Movies on his farm last night.

Entertainment features showing of 16mm. films. The opening bill included Rudolph Valentino in The Son of the Sheik, Charles Chaplin in The Immigrant, Pearl White in the first episode of her thrilling serial, Pisander, and selected short sound subjects. Music and sound effects were supplied by Sid Lubin, who also does a similar job at the 48th Street

Music Hall, Bannister's New York spot. An admission charge of $2 was made at the opening. This was a benefit performance, with proceeds turned over to the American Theater Wing of the British War Relief Society. Patrons included Rachel Crothers, Mrs. Walter Vincent, Ruth Gordon, Jessie Royce Landis, Mrs. Brock Pemberton, Ida Chase, Vera Allen, and Helen Menken. Irene Dunne, screen star, acted as mistress of ceremonies.

The 200-year-old Dutch colonial field-stone mill on the Bannister farm has been remodeled and equipped as a club-house. The dine and drink place can easily accommodate 1,000 persons.

The screen for the outdoor showings of silent and talking pictures has been placed against an embankment. An eight-by-eight projection booth is housed in a tree. White sand was trucked in from Atlantic City to provide a beach effect alongside the mill stream. The decorative treatment throughout the grounds features Tex character.

Performances are scheduled for every Friday, Saturday, and Sunday evening beginning at 9 o'clock. No admission charge will be made and adequate parking facilities are also provided free of charge.

The theater is just 62 miles from New York and about 15 miles from Allentown and Bethlehem, Pa. Many New York celebrities have estates in the vicinity, including Jack Kirkland, Howard Lindsey, George Kaufman, and Sam Harris.

ANFA To Stabilize 16mm. Industry

NEW YORK, June 14.—The Allied Non-Theatrical Film Association at its recent third yearly convention held here planned to promulgate a solid campaign to stabilize the 16mm. industry. Efforts are being made to inform the public and the trade on the practices in the field which will do away with many illus previously existent.

An informative brochure is being published describing the extensive services the 16mm. field renders to schools, clubs, churches, hospitals, institutions, and communities not otherwise reached by the theatrical field.

Another good angle the ANFA is stressing is the importance of non-competition to the 35mm. field. Their efforts are gradually succeeding and it is pointed out that the 16mm. field operates in a phase of the motion picture industry which previously has remained untapped. Rather than creating the competition to which theater owners object it broadens the distribution of all films and creates new markets, new audiences, and good will. These results naturally will be of benefit to the motion picture industry as a whole.

It is not the purpose of the 16mm. field to compete with the 35mm. outlets, but rather to co-operate in such a way that each will recognize the other's value and place in an unlimited industry which provides entertainment and a medium of education to a big nation.

CELORON PIER MARINE ROOM, CELORON, N. Y.—This giant nitery wants a dance band always on hand and name band one-nights added on weekends and holidays throughout the summer. Room opens on a terrace facing Chautauqua Lake, which picks up the overflow on crowded nights. One end is an authentic nautical Boat Bar and the other a big rainbow-colored band shell. As a whole, place gratifies the orbs.

Entertainment changes weekly and includes an average of eight people and a girl line. Usually, shows include some vaude-type talent booked by Ray S. Kneeland, Buffalo. Starting June 24 with a six-day stand is Beatrice Kay, who just closed at New York's Paramount.

Very ear-catching and toe-tickling tunes are provided by Morley Brennan's orchestra, a neat seven-piece unit, playing a return here. (Lytle Kirby is set to follow the middle of June.) Pleasant vocals are offered by gal canary Elma Olson, while 350-pound maestro Brennan looks impressive in size and also manages to impress with vocal output and fronting. However, his gags couldn't be heard well in the back of the large room.

The Aerial La Zella still get a big hand with nifty cradle-perch gymnastics in which girl holds man and vice versa with ease. Some arm contortions of female were also remarkable. Clifton and Wood, another mixed team, go thru some so-so comedy antics and pull assorted gags, climaxing act with rather well-received comedy balloon routine. Gauchi and Sonnen come thru with flashy adagio work, give plenty action, and score okeh. Gordon and Olivia, a sock knife-throwing act, weren't able to perform during show caught. Since then the Timpani, sepia singing duo, have been added.

J. G. Campbell is owner and general manager here, with "Shag" Day, room manager, recently imported from Royal Palms Club, Florida. Warner.

BRASS RAIL, CHICAGO—Fresh from a three-month run at the Famous Door, New York, Joe Marsala is whooping it up for the tipplers in the tiny lounge here. His torrid swing clarinet, coupled with Adele Girard's harp work, keeps the place jammed. Perched on a pint-sized bandstand behind the bar, Joe and his six-piece combo dish hot and sweet tunes with telling effect.

Personnel has undergone a considerable change in the last few months. Besides Joe and his clarinet, there are Adele Girard (Mrs. Joe Marsala), harp; Al De Rose, alto; Johnny Smith, tenor; Conrad Lanoue, piano; Marty Marsala, trumpet, and Dave Tough, drums. Many solo features many old favorites as well as current hits, varying the hot numbers with slower tempos to give Miss Girard a chance to display her brilliant work on the harp. Individual members get an opportunity to show their prowess in hot ride choruses. No dance floor here, but the combo would be ideal for a swing emporium, and Marsala has an excellent foundation for a big dance band.

Alternating attractions on the bandstand are the Modulators, musical trio, and Lola Hill, songstress. Jack Joyce is spotted during intermissions on piano solos. Afternoon music is furnished by the Three Strings, featuring Danny Hanzy.

Green.

EL CHICO, NEW YORK—Maria Luisa Lopez, tomboyish, pouting, whistling, singing comedienne here, celebrated completion of her sixth month here Tuesday (10). She has performed here on and off the past three years and is still an effective entertainer.

Juan Martinez and Antonita, flamenco dancers, let loose a torrent of heel clicks and graceful movements; Gloria Belmonte has a radiant smile and her gypsy dancing is pleasing, and the Chico Oil Trio strum soft guitars and smile brightly. Don Alberto emanates pleasantly and leads his competent musicians thru just-right show music and dance music shrewdly attuned to the patrons' desires.

Alberto is plugging his newest tune, Ayer, a fine beguine rhythm.

Ben Williams Folds At Worcester, Mass

NEW YORK, June 14.—Ben Williams Shows closed in Worcester, Mass., last Saturday on the sixth week of its tour, which began in Port Reading, N. J., last of April. Williams brought his equipment to his Long Island quarters, but could not be reached there or at his Jackson Heights home to confirm a report that he is ill and ready to enter a hospital. It was said that Williams would go back to his former policy of playing Greater New York lots with rides and stores, picking up his fairs in New England in August.

It is known, however, that the owner of a large motorized show had been in touch with Williams to arrange to take over some or all of his contracted dates, especially if Williams should feel physically unable to carry on with his organization. Dave Eudy, Eudy Bros. Shows, was mentioned in this connection.

Whereabouts of Matthew J. (Squire) Riley, general agent, were unknown at press time. Louie G. King, advance agent, arrived in New York. Sid Goodall, owner of the cookhouse, went to Brockton, Mass. Several wires and other communications were received by local office of The Billboard inquiring for spots. This was Williams' second season on tour, having played metropolitan district for many years before that, picking up his Maritime and New England fairs every season.

BG Proves Big Draw Eddie's Expo Off In Joliet, Hammond

HAMMOND, Ind., June 14.—Coming in here Monday for a week's stand, following highly successful week in Joliet, Ill., Beckmann & Gerety Shows opened Tuesday night to record attendance. Located on a lot close to the center of the city, shows obtained good play from the crowds, which came early and remained late despite murky and cool weather. American Legion Post sponsored.

Agent Joe Schellbo did a good job of readying the lot for a show of this size and it was necessary to level off about five acres. Much brush was cut and a number of trees had to be uprooted before the front gate could be set up near the highway. Shows move into Chicago after this stand and following that engagement will begin their string of fair dates. Visitors in Joliet, Ill., included J. C. McCaffery, L. B. Greenshaw, Howard Y. Bury, Harry W. Hennies, Ida Cohen, Eddie Johnson, and Charles W. Bidwell.

Tom Terrill was appointed general agent here, and Mike Conti continues as special agent. A number of the personnel of the Johnny J. Lee Trouper Is Killed By Bear in Motor City

DETROIT, June 14.—Thomas L. Miller, 28, formerly of Flint, Mich., with Lee's United Shows for the past month, was killed here last night by a Canadian brown bear which he was leading out of its cage on shows' lot. Capt. William Callender, Bay City, Mich., owner of the bear, told police he had refused Miller's request to take the 485-pound animal on a tour of taprooms to dance or handle the bear.

Police were told that Miller slipped into a tent where the bear was penned and led it by a chain. As he attempted to put it thru tricks for his wife, the bear struck Miller, breaking his neck.

The bulls were 40-year-old Jumbo Lou, weighing four tons, and Two Ton Tony, three years old.

American Carnivals Association, Inc.

By MAX COHEN

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 14.—We are pleased to announce an addition to membership of the association in accepting the application of Pioneers Shows, filed by Michael Perrell, manager. This brings membership to 33 shows. We are happy to welcome Pioneer Shows and to note that recent information to the effect that many qualified shows were awaiting invitations is correct. Letters advising that memberships are available were sent during the past week to Bright Lights Exposition Shows, Clyde's United Shows, Eddie's Exposition Shows, and Fuller Greater Shows. We have begun issuing 1941 individual personnel membership cards, and the first sizable request for them was received from Endy Bros' Shows, which lead the list in individual personnel memberships.

Some of the things we have been saying about route cards appear to have had effect. We received official card No. 1 from Wallace Bros' Shows, a non-member. At annual meetings we have commented on the fact that some shows are carrying on their official stationery the legend "Member ACA." We note that Endy Bros. have continued this custom.

Regarding changes in the federal gasoline tax, this office has received information that a welcome ally of motorized shows will be farm bureaus throughout the country. Obviously, farmers are opposed to an increase in taxes on gasoline, and their views are substantially similar to those of motorized shows in the carnival industry. The attitude of farm groups may be gleaned from a letter issued by Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation, Inc., to Congressman Boggs, of that State, set forth in the Congressional Record for June 2. We shall be pleased to make available to our members any information on the subject which is on file in this office.

Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, June 14.—News of showfolk in this area last week was varied with parties and visits taking the spotlight. Most of the shows have left the territory. Vivian Gorman, a member of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Pacific Coast

ONE OF THE LARGEST and most interesting women's organizations on Royal American Shows is the Ted Club, most of whose officers and members appear in this group. Club was formed in St. Louis in honor of Ted Lewis, an ardent RAS fan, and now is in its second year. Photo was made at installation of officers for 1941 after a banquet in the Melbourne Hotel, St. Louis. Although some of the members were not present when this picture was snapped, most of the personnel is represented. In the group are Frances Deemer, president; Gerry Griffin, first vice-president; Hazel Rutz, second vice-president; Gerry Gaughan, third vice-president; Helen Range, secretary; Frances Annin, treasurer; Marie Book, chaplain; Marie Striegel, publicity; Vivian McGreal, entertainment; Lulu Orin, sick committee chairman; Velvita Cooper, social secretary; Mary Benton, Leah Velarde, Evelyn Stone, Elma Koss, Lorraine Brady, Dorothy Harris, Vera Hancock, Evelyn Clain, Freda Wilson, Ebie Thompson, Olise Sheppard, Ruby Soverby, Geneva Reid, and Frances Brock, members, and Mrs. Max Goodman, Mrs. Max Kimerer, Mrs. Joe Goodman, and Mrs. Chuck Moss, guests. Mass. Dates Click For Ruddock Combo

QUINCY, Mass., June 14.—Paul Ruddock's Shows, touring a 40-mile Boston area, pulled in here this week after successful stands in Lowell, Lynn, and Charlestown, Mass. Shows return to Merrymount Park here for the July 4 celebration. Ruddock had five rides and several concessions on the lot next to the Riverview Ballroom. New rides and several concessions will be added before the shows return to the city, it was reported.

Business at all stands thus far has been exceptionally good, Ruddock said, with weather favoring the attractions all the way. At present shows are carrying a Ferris Wheel, Merry-Go-Round, Tilt-a-Whirl, Rocket, and Whip. Bill Riley is handling the beer bottle cigarette, dart, and cat concessions, while Sam Shad has several games. Pop Dudley is in charge of the ice-cream and popcorn stands, and Joe Hogan has the cookhouse.

Badger State Wins At Milwaukee Stand

MILWAUKEE, June 14.—Altho hampered somewhat by cool weather, Badger State Shows' initial stand at Old and West Center streets here proved profitable for all, Marion Strobel reported. Managed by Jack Vomberg, shows present an attractive appearance and have been improved in various departments over last year's line-up. Rides, shows, and concessions are in good condition.

Ride line-up here includes Ferris Wheel, Merry-Go-Round, Tilt-a-Whirl, Chairplane, Blue Goose, Kiddie Autos, and Pony Express. Concessions are cookhouse, popcorn, three ball games, balloon dart, scales, bumper stand, shooting gallery, and ice-cream stand. Shows include Monkey, Mechanical, and Penny Arcades. Shows took delivery on three 40-foot light towers, which make for a well-illuminated midway.

WHAT'S become of some press agents who call themselves "Front Page"? Why, they call themselves "Classified Page" these days.—Six Syllable Webster.

WHILE Scott Greater Shows were playing Kingsport, Tenn., Linda Lopez, dancer in David Logsdon's Garden of Eden Show, purchased a new car. Logsdon visited Keystone Shows and was entertained by Saharan Rose and Geraldine.

MRS. HARRY BEACH, corn game operator, and C. C. Hutcherson, of F. E. Gooding Amusement Company, visited the midway deck on June 9, while in Cincinnati en route from Greenfield, O., to Harrison, O., for the shows' stand in the latter city.

"YOU can't fool all of the people all of the time," but there are some concessionaires who are satisfied with a fair majority.—Colonel Patch.

ANYONE knowing whereabouts of William Peshong, carnival trouper, is asked to have him contact his sister, Mrs. Mary Keefe, at 601 North Oak Street, Buffalo, immediately. Mrs. Keefe advises that Peshong's brother is seriously ill there.

WHILE playing Johnstown, Pa., with James E. Estates Shows, Mr. and Mrs. Saul Salsberg left for New York to visit their granddaughter, June Firestone, who was born there May 22. She's the daughter of Dr. Irving and Hilda Firestone.

MR. AND MRS. HEAVY CALDWELL joined Crystal Exposition Shows in Greenville, Tenn., with their nail stand and ball game, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pinkerton added two concessions to their string at the same stand.

M. J. STEVENS, in a letter to the midway deck last week, asked that anyone knowing whereabouts of Jim Baker, custard truck operator believed to be with Cetlin & Wilson Shows, have him contact Stevens immediately at 612 Bluff Avenue, Schenectady, N. Y. Stevens says Baker's sister is seriously ill.

"See that big white house up there on the hill? That's where them chumps live. Too lazy to go to a cookhouse. They eat right in the house they live in."

WHILE Scott Exposition Shows were en route from Marion to Martinsville, Va., one of the shows' trucks swerved on the road to avoid a collision with a car filled with children, overturned, and rolled down an embankment. No one was seriously injured, but the truck and its equipment were heavily damaged.

Two Quiet (?) Rooms

JOHN, GEORGE, and their wives reached Albuquerque on a Sunday afternoon with a big carnival to play a week at New Mexico State Fair. John had to lay out the lot, so Mr. and Mrs. George and Mrs. John began searching for two quiet rooms. The long grind, ballyhoo, and hullabaloo of the fair and carnival made them yearn for two quiet rooms where their rest would be unbroken.

They found a conveniently located new brick store building with two large vacant storerooms underneath and a fine rooming house overhead in what seemed a semi-residential quiet neighborhood. They took two large well-furnished front rooms at very reasonable rates and congratulated themselves upon having secured quiet restful (especially early forenoon) sleep for the week.

Early Monday morning they were awakened by a tremendous volume of barking, howling, and snarling which rendered sleep impossible. Upon quizzing their landlady, they learned that the two vacant store rooms had been rented to the Dog Show during fair week! As George later expressed it to me, he said, "How, wow! What a week!"—J. N. WISNER.

LEON C. BLONDON, former carnival trouper, is now with the 501st Parachute Brigade, Fort Benning, Ga. Before enlisting in the army in 1939, Blondon assisted his dad, Leon E. Blondon, who has been an animal trainer for the last 35 years and now has his Monkey Show on Dee Long's Famous Shows.

(Red) Munger, cookhouse manager; Mrs. Bernice Munger, hoop-la; Carl Baxter, stockkeeper, and Bill Dawson, utility.

ICE CREAM concessionaires, Clarence and Robert Stewart, who have been playing fairs in New Jersey, New York, and Pennsylvania for the last eight years, will not troupe this season. Clarence is in the army and holds the rank of sergeant at Camp Shelby, Miss., while Bob is employed in a foundry in Berwick, Pa., on national defense work.

THIRD JAMBOREE of the season on Art Lewis Shows was held in Brockton, Mass. Gene O'Donnell turned the gavel and emcee position over to Lou Lange, who arranged a popular performer contest among entertainers on the shows. Thelma Bryant took first prize with her vocalizing and several other members were well received.

TABLEAU. Tired, grimy, oily workingman sees general agent sprawled out in front of the office wagon. Murmurs to himself, "Jesus! What a dope I am!"—Oscar the Ham.

EDDIE DELMONT, assistant manager of Art Lewis Shows, is rehearsing diligently for the next jamboree. He was given some useful acting hints by stars of Tobacco Road during show's engagement in Bridgeport, Conn., and has promised to give his impersonation of Jester Lester. Roy B. Jones, press agent, reports.

"HAVE returned to my home here from Duke University and will join my father, Johnnie W. Heaton, and uncle, Warren Heaton, on Johnnie Heaton's Exposition." Johnnie W. Heaton III cards from Greenville, S. C. "I'll manage the Penny Arcade. Casa Lange's Circus Unit is in local quarters being readied to join the shows in July. We're Zarinskas is visiting me here."

NORMA NORMAN chalked up a successful week as annex attraction in A. A. Lane's Congress of Wonders on Bill Lane's Shows in Abilene, Tex. Billy Earle is handling the front and others in the line-up include Orsiatico, magician and emcee; Capt. Jack Cramer, impalement and strong man, with wonder dog, Tex, and Edith Lane, half-girl illusionist.

FOR the moment, at least, we needn't worry about the gold in them thar hills. If the weather meets the midways 50-50, they'll dig it up.—Side Show Sal.

NOTES from Lagasse Amusement Company's No. 2 Unit: Fair weather and business greeted organization at the stand in Worcester, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. R. Colbert and Mr. and Mrs. W. Colbert have Merry-Go-Round, Chairplane, and cookhouse with it, while Mr. and Mrs. F. Curley have Ferris Wheel and three concessions. Shows are owned by Bunny Lagasse.

FORMER circus trouper and several years with Royal American Shows and Johnny J. Jones Exposition, George W. Paige has been called back into naval service. He had been a member of the naval reserve since the first World War and is aboard the airplane carrier S. S. Enterprise with the Pacific Fleet, with operating base in Pearl Harbor, Honolulu. He holds the rank of warrant officer.

JUST heard of a manager who insists upon his agent attending church on Sunday before booking a town. A sort of check on the collection plate as a study of conditions? —Cousin Peleg.

FUNLAND SHOWS notes from Richmond, Va., by Ted C. Taylor: Business here was good when weather permitted. Rain prevailed for three days. Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Rich joined with their revue and clicked. C. B. Daniels left here and J. Lacey Smith closed with his Chairplane. J. J. and Onie Marion left for the West, and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Demko rejoined with their new ball game. Jerry and Verne Reynolds and the writer are working hard out front. Dan Riley's Animal Show, featuring Klippy, chimp, is doing well.

OKLAHOMA JACK SHELL letters from Centralia, Wash.: "Hallstrom Wonder Family recently concluded a 7,201-mile tour, which saw the organization appear in 425 shows and in Tillamook, Beedsport, Marshfield, and Coquille, Ore.; Crescent City, Eureka, and Sacramento, Calif. I took delivery on a new car recently and I'm touring to California to visit my wife's son, Jimmie Campbell, who is managing the Penny Arcade on Clark's Greater Shows. Well then take our leather concession on a tour of Northern California."

MIDWAYS are bigger and better this season. Managers have demonstrated that they can speed up when the occasion demands, even in some instances there has to be a lot of assurance that the demand isn't phony.

MRS. MARION WISE, who conducts the Women's Shoppers' Special program, heard daily over Station WMMS, Uniontown, Pa., saw her first carnival in Uniontown when Johnny J. Jones Exposition played that city. She and husband Bob, who is manager of the Connellsville, Pa., YMCA, visited the lot nightly with William (Bill) Field, Jones' honorary press representative. During the week she interviewed Clara Knecht, Clyde Beatty's press agent, on her program.

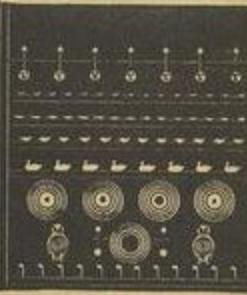

WILLIAM (BILL) FIELD, Uniontown (Pa.) Morning Herald and honorary press representative of Johnny J. Jones Exposition, spent Decoration Day in Pittsburgh visiting the show and staff. Afternoon business was light, but night results were good, he reports. First week in the city was the best in show's history there. He says that Starr DeBelle is doing well with his Circus Side Show and is anticipating a big season. Bill also briefly visited Lawrence Greater Shows in McKees Rocks, Pa., Decoration Day afternoon.

MIDWAYS are bidding for bigger business this season—from vacationers who haven't been able to take any in years, from workers who formerly could not afford it, and from others of like mind wherever they may be.

CLYDE BEATTY, whose circus attraction is a feature on Johnny J. Jones Exposition, has turned author again. During shows stand in Fort Wayne, Ind., Beatty said he had reached an agreement with Robert McBride & Company, publishers, to do a new book for them. It is scheduled for fall publication and one of the tentative titles is Beatty and the Beasts. He will write the book between shows and at night after performances.

ances. Collaborating with him is Earl Wilson, New York Post writer and magazine contributor, who is the author of From Seduced to Millions, life story of John Ringling. Wilson has been visiting Beatty en route and doing preliminary work. Beatty authored The Big Cage, which later was made into a successful motion picture. A third book, a story for children, is to be undertaken soon for a Chicago publisher.

Art Lewis

Brockton, Mass. Week ended June 7. Location, McGowan's Field. Auspices, American Legion Post. Business, fair. Weather, rain Wednesday and Thursday, rest of week fair.

Shows broke in a new show here and with Wednesday and Thursday lost to rain, spot was only fair. Friday and Saturday drew huge crowds and Saturday's matinee, with good merchants' tie-up, was one of the largest of the season so far. Quincy and Taunton, Mass., and local papers were liberal with space and staff of all of them were guests of the management on the midway. Frank Kingman, secretary Brockton (Mass.) Fair, visited, and several members of the fair board were dinner guests of Owner Lewis. Storm Thursday night did slight damage to Mum's Monkey and Animal Circus. Claudia Dominini and Dorothy Gordon are scoring with their penny pitches. Joe and Ruby Kane have added some new lighting ideas to their four ball games. Mrs. Hettie Hester has beautified her palmistry booths. Tillie Perry's Mickey Mouse Circus is popular. Whitey Ryan is clicking on Crouch's Wall of Death. Wally White, of Kunz's World's Fair Freaks is proving a good draw. Folies show is featuring Patricia Kelley, while Carmen LaTosa is scoring with the LaConga Nights. Crystal Exposition Greeneville, Tenn. Week ended June 7. Location, Brogle's Showgrounds. Business, very good. Weather, fine.

Shows came in from Abingdon, Va., and after three trucks encountered some trouble, everything was ready for opening Monday night. Crowds the first part of the week were very small and poor spenders. The final days were some of the best shows have had in some time. Over 12,000 paid admissions were chalked up for the last half. Owner Bunnis was complimented by county and city officials for the arrangements of the shows and the conduct of the people with it. Bunnis did big business Friday and Saturday nights. All shows did well the last half of the week, with Mickey O'Brien's Athletic Show taking top honors. Dope Show didn't get open until Friday night, but it did well. The Southern Ramblers of the Hill Billy Show, broadcast daily from Station WKRP, Kingsport, Tenn., and proved popular. Roberts Brothers have the popcorn concession. Tolliver's Brown Skin Ladies provided the floorshow, and were well received. A Kangaroo Court was held, with Curley Cowart as judge and thru fines for various minor offenses a nest sum was added to the hospitalization fund. The week here was fair. Children's Matinee was lost to rain, but the skies cleared in time for a fair Saturday night's business. Manager Roth is supervising the painting and building of new shows for the fair season, assisted by L. H. Hardin. The writer, former announcer at Station WDAN, Danville, Ill., joined the Artists and Models Show here.

Mighty Sheesley Midway

Findlay, O. Week ended June 7. Location, Tiffin Avenue Showgrounds. Auspices, Regular Veterans' Association. Business, poor. Weather, cold and rainy.

Monday night opened to a fairly good crowd with women being admitted free. Lot was soft, however, and it required much straw and cinders for patrons to get around the midway Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Thursday and Friday nights the weather cleared and business was fair, but Kiddies' Day was ruined by a windstorm and rain. The local merchants contributed prizes and the children, who remained on the midway, were thrilled with the awards. Joe Halfield, who has been acting as the human cannonball for Harry Pollak in presenting his free act, presented the wrist watch he wore while making his shot on Saturday afternoon to Bobbie Gordon of Findlay. The committee and newspapers co-operated but business on the week was poor. Sam Lowery was the new Motordrome front completed. Grace Lowery is recovering from a recent illness. Al Renton's twins came in Saturday, and Joan and Dorothy Sheehey are expected soon. Maxine Hogg is recovering from an appendectomy. She's one of the performers on Gypsy Meyers's Scandals of 1941. Pawtucket, R. I. Week ended June 7. Location, McHeale lot. Auspices, Disabled American Veterans' Post. Business, terrible. Weather, terrible. Pay gate.

Plenty of newspaper space and radio time was used here, but it was all in vain. Monday and Tuesday attendance was poor and those who did come didn't spend. Wednesday and Thursday were lost to the weather. Friday drew a fair crowd despite the cold, and Saturday afternoon and night were big. William Howland was among the many showfolk heard over Station WPRO here, as were Ike and Mike and Goldie Pitta. Mrs. Clementine Coffey was kept busy lining up talent for the daily programs. Winnie Sisto's Side Show had a big Saturday. Doc Wilson took top money. Ridge-O was shipped to Seaside Heights, N. J., and Joe Falco supervised its erection.

Austin, Minn. Week ended May 31. Location, fairgrounds. Auspices, Modern Woodmen. Business, fair when weather permitted. Weather, rain.

After a quick move everything was up and ready to go opening night. With races booked for Decoration Day, all looked forward to a good week, but rain and windstorms hampered business. Panel front on the Girlesque Revue was damaged but quickly repaired. Show stayed over Sunday and good matinee and night crowds turned out. Boots McDonald, with concession, joined, and a new Penny Arcade was added. Sam Evans' Athletic Show, with Mrs. Evans at the ticket box, did well. New Kiddie Airplane ride proved popular. Mrs. Juan Bazinet was hostess at an Italian spaghetti supper. Mrs. William Bazinet entertained many visitors in her new house trailer. New Merry-Go-Round Crescents arrived. Jimmy Baldwin is doing a good job as electrician. The writer's cookhouse is doing its best business in years.

JACK GALLUPO.

West Bros.

SIOUX CITY, Ia. Week ended June 7. Location, River front lot. Auspices, VFW Post. Business, good. Weather, cool.

A downpour at opening Monday night didn't dampen patrons' enthusiasm and shows, rides, and concessions clicked throughout the week. Jack Cole has almost completed the glass house which he and J. W. Laughlin designed. Show received two new concession tops here and another one is due soon. Rides received their best play of the season so far here. Rolloline and Tilt-a-Whirl led rides, with Sonny Sharp's Minstrel Show and Speedy Wood's Motorcrome topping shows. Visitors were Mr. Rodin, Rodin Novelty Company; Mr. and Mrs. Pat Moran, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Savage, Charley Iseman, and Bert Boydson.

DON TRUEBLOOD.

Patrick's Greater

UNION, ORE. Week ended June 7. Auspices, Eastern Oregon Stock Show, downtown. Business, fair. Weather, unsettled. Pay gate, 10 cents.

Shows arrived Tuesday but did not open until Wednesday, which proved a good still night. Thursday, opening day of the Stock Show, saw good weather and a good crowd of free spenders. Friday was lost to rain. Rain on Saturday cleared in time to give shows a fair night play. Frank Jacobin failed to make the jump with his Major John Show. Another Ten-in-One has been signed and will join soon. Tommy Bailey's Girl in the Fish Bowl topped the grind shows. Bob Tyree's Athletic Show had a good week here. Jim Kitterman, manager on the Silver King Shows, suffered a heart attack. He's reported better now. Shows had a good four days at Pierce, Idaho. Theodore Ommett, who was injured while the show was playing La Grande, Ore., left the hospital in La Grande on June 6 for Seattle, Wash., where he will enter another hospital.

DANIEL CONGDON.

H. P. Large

LEXINGTON, III. Week ended June 7. Business, satisfactory. Weather, rain first two days; last four fair.

With only a short move here from Le Roy, all rides, shows, and concessions were up on Sunday. Monday and Tuesday were rained out, but Wednesday night drew a fair crowd and fair business. Thursday night attendance and business picked up considerably. Crowds increased Friday and all reported satisfactory business. Saturday was good despite cloudy weather. Many visits were exchanged with Cotton State Shows playing nearby.

Le Roy, Ill. Week ended May 31. Auspices, Fire Department. Business, good. Weather, first four days, ideal; last two, rain.

Shows made a short move here from Rantoul, Ill., and were the first in here this season. Date proved a winner. City officials co-operated. On Thursday night during commencement exercises at the local high school Manager Large had the organ and speakers silenced, and after the exercises were over the citizens showed their appreciation for his thoughtfulness by coming direct to the lot and giving the show its largest day's business of the season so far. Friday the show opened to a good crowd, but rain marred activities. Saturday saw the largest crowd, and despite frequent showers, shows did good business.

ERICKET, WASH. Week ended June 7. Business, fair. Weather, rain Thursday and Friday nights.

Shows made a good move here from Bremerton, Wash., and all trucks were on the lot by 10 a.m. Sunday. Monday night's opening drew a free-spending crowd. All rides and shows reported good business. Rain Thursday and Friday night hampered activities, but business was fair. At Hamilton's Fly-Or-Plane topped rides, with Bob Perry's two kiddie rides also doing well. Jenny Ferry added another performer to her revue, making Eve in all. Joe Glazy's Circus Side Show and the Athletic Show clicked. Bud Douglas' bingo was popular. Visitors included Mr. and Mrs. McNeese, Harry Mason, Roy Wilson, Isa Grant, Harry Goodman, Ruth Kloster, Mrs. Hazel Montgomery, and Ruth Cohen. Harry Goodman joined with two concessions. Ray Holding added two more, and Joe Adler joined with one.

J. ALAN BUCHANAN.

Arthur's Mighty American

SPRINGFIELD, ORE. Five days ended June 7. Location, Second at Main Streets. Auspices, Springfield Fire Department. Business, fair. Weather, rain. Pay gate, 10 cents.

Four days of rain prevailed at the local engagement, but attendance held up, with the circus getting a big play from those who braved the inclement weather. Mishaps to three of the trucks en route from Medford, Ore., left the show without two rides and several shows the first night. Ferris Wheel truck did not arrive until Thursday. The lot was situated in the heart of Springfield and tons of sawdust were used to cover the swamps created by the continual rains. Sponsors co-operated and daily broadcasts were made over Station KORE while The Eugene News and Springfield News gave the circus considerable space. Among show operators who remodeled their attractions here were George Conkling, Walter Goralline, George Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Greiner, and Dolores Arthur. Manfred Stewart was in charge of the painting, assisted by Everett Butler. Manager Martin E. Arthur purchased a panel truck from Marvin Harding. Women's Bowling Club held its daily meets with Juanita Harding and Patricia O'Brien being returned the winners. Bea Newman was under the care of a physician all week. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Balcom spent two days visiting Balcom's brother in Portland, Ore. Mr. and Mrs. Allen Fine made several trips to Salem, Ore., on business. Mr. and Mrs. Bull Montana Walker are constructing a new concession. A third section of reserved seats was added to the circus arena, under direction of Tod Henry. Dale Petross celebrated his birthday here. William Summers was the guest of his brother, John, all week, while Walter Goralline entertained his parents over the week-end.

WALTON DE PELLATON.

Cunningham's Exposition

HILLSBORO, O. Week ended June 7. Location, ball park. Auspices, ball club. Business, poor. Weather, rain.

Shows experienced rainy weather nearly all week and a windstorm hit early Saturday afternoon, but little damage was done. Manager Cunningham had several loads of sawdust placed over the lot and show opened Saturday night to a fair crowd. Spending was light, however, until late when concessions, rides, and shows did fair. Soft lot made it necessary for several of the personnel to move their cars and trailers because of the mud and water. Dorothy Tilton, daughter of the manager, joined here and in operating a ball game. Mr. and Mrs. Don Justice visited Mrs. Justice's relatives in Gratz, O., this week. Mrs. Miriam Beall visited her home in Cleveland. Johnnie Cunningham, son of Manager Cunningham, is on the sick list. Howard, the Magician, has replaced All Shadettes on the Side Show. Red Howard is now in the ticket box. Doc and Cedars Edwards visited many friends here. Roy Brown is making all outlying towns daily with the sound car. Hilda Cunningham, secretary, also is The Billboard sales agent.

Newcastle, Ind. Week ended June 7. Business, good. Weather, some rain.

Despite some rain the first part of the week, date drew good crowds and spending was good. All with it reported getting their share. Owner Vic Horowitz is proud of the flash it makes. Advance publicity received from the Dexter (Mich.) Central Centennial Committee indicates the big Centennial Celebration there, with the shows on the midway, will be a winner.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Brother Frank Blatay visited the B. & V. Shows in Secaucus, N. J., and joined Brother Jack Feldberg's party at a night club there after the show closed for the night. Among those present at the festivities were Brothers Jack Owen, Jack Allen, Dada King, Harry Weinraub, Sam Walker, Charles Davenport. Brother Charles Lawrence has gone to Baltimore, where he will join Brother Harry Kaplan. Executive Secretary John M. Liddy visited the Kaus Exposition Shows in West Havenstraw, N. Y., and Brother Adolph Kaus advised that he is lining up new applicants, as well as advertisements for the yearbook. Recent visitors to the rooms were Brothers Mack Harris, Sid Goodwalt, L. G. King, David Epstein, Casper Sargent. Brother Lew Lange, on the Art Lewis Shows, has sent in applications for Leo Hirsh and Mack McFarland.

Ladies' Auxiliary

Present efforts are for the Auxiliary's picnic on June 22. President Midge Cohen is expected back from the road in time to take part. Blanche Henderson, secretary, recently visited Oscar Buck and Art Lewis Shows and a number of members were encountered. It was gratifying to hear the many good things said about the club and to see the enthusiasm of some of the newer members in the projects being undertaken. On the Lewis Shows four generously filled penny bags for the Poor Kiddies' Fund were turned in, one each from Sisters Patricia Lewis and Jean Davis, and two from Sister Rose Lange, Patricia Lewis, who has announced her determination to secure a gold life card, signed six members. At request of Sisters Mildred Schwartz and Helen Evans, of Oscar Buck's midway, penny bags were taken to them, as well as one to Owner Buck. Zella Newman, ill in a Jersey City hospital for several weeks, was reported well enough to leave and rejoin the show. Membership is now approximately 300, of which about 10 per cent are unpaid. Have you paid your dues? Some members have already paid for 1941-42, altho not due until July. Such remittances are most acceptable.

Pacific Coast Showmen's Assn

LOS ANGELES, June 14.—Monday night's regular meeting drew a small attendance, because nearly all members are on the road. Vice-President John R. Ward conducted the meeting with Pop Ludwig as secretary. Meeting convened at the end of a long board of governors session. Communications were read from the Hollywood Towers, Bill Slover, Dan Stover, Joe Chantos, Tommy Meyers, Pierre Ouellette, Johnnie R. Miller, Dan Meggs, Chuck Gammon, Harry Chipman, Cal Lipes, Sam Dolman, Jimmy Lynch, Ben Dobbert, Moxie Miller, Russell Paulkner, Roy E. Ludington, Chris Olsen, and Harry Wallace. Secretary Ludwig gave the group the highlights of President Glacy's frequent communications to him.

Chairman John M. Miller's financial report revealed the club is in a healthy condition. Brother Henry Myers is still ill and making little progress. Charlie Guberman is still on the sick list, as are Dad Parker, Pat Shanley, Bert Warren, and Joe Wortzman. Banquet and Ball program is assuming good proportions. Chairman Harry Hargraves reports. Brother Charlie Nelson advised that the Convention Committee's work has been slowed down because members are on the road, but added that some progress is being made. Outstanding report was Ralph Losey's relation of progress on the 20th Anniversary Souvenir Edition. Book is the brain-child of President Joe Glacy, and the first two weeks Chairman Losey has been on the job have proved it a success. Lion Tamer John Miller gave the Christmas Dinner Fund a substantial boost, and Al Onken won the attendance prize.

Ladies' Auxiliary

President Allieira Foster presided at the June 9 meeting. All officers and 15 members were present. The home members have been loyal in attending the meetings. Bank night award went to Jessie Campbell and the door prize was awarded to Jennie Rawlings. Sale of the basket award books is still going on. Award will be made some time in July. Mother Minnie Fisher reported she visited the late Brother Pat Armstrong's grave on Decoration Day.

Sister Vivian Gorman, who has been on a good will tour, visited five shows. Men's Club is celebrating 20 years of progress with a beautiful souvenir book. Auxiliary will have a section describing its history. Mora Bagby will donate the door prize for the June 23 meeting and hostesses will be President Foster and Martha Levine.

Ballyhoo Bros.' Circulating Expo.A Century of Profit Show

By STARR DE BELLE

Goatsbeard, Pa.
Week ended June 14, 1941.

Dear Editor:

We were a bit late in getting this spot booked due to General Agent Lem Trucklow getting off on the wrong foot. After drawing his expense money on Monday, he had his first bad break that night when he found the dice wrong, the lush high, and a couple of hashers too smart for him. This left him without any money to guide him, but a guardian angel in the shape of a truck driver agreed to give him a lift to his next town, where he could check in on his sample case of pictures. We call it a sample case and not a portfolio of photographs to give him that traveling man hotel rate and prestige. During the first night of his wild ride, some 300 miles out, our aggressive general agent fell asleep and bounced off the back end of the truck, stranded some 200 miles from his prospective destination and date.

Early the next morning luck again played into his hands when two sheet-writers picked him up. The paper writers didn't know he was the world-famous midway booker, but because of his gray beard, they thought he was a weary hitch-hiker down at the heel. Our Lem didn't tip his duke and rode incognito into this town, where they dropped him off and handed him a buck and two years' subscription to a hog cholera monthly free. Before our Lem could check into the hotel he was surrounded by hundreds of natives, who greeted him royally and offered him room and board free. The local business men's clubs rushed him away from the crowd to a suite of rooms in the leading hotel. After dining, he was escorted to the club's offices, where he soon learned what it was all about. As it happened, the town was staging a goat festival and had long been looking for a type suitable to play the part of Father of the Ruminating Horned Quadruped.

Here indeed was a break for Lem, he being the only perfect type available and without him the production would be a flop. He agreed to take the part, providing the goat festival committee would book the show on his terms. With no alternative, the auspices signed on the dotted line. The contract called for the committee to furnish everything, including Lem's room, board, and a dice expense account. With all contracts signed and sealed by Tuesday night, the paper was ordered by wire. It arrived Friday night and was being posted by Saturday afternoon. On Sunday the train arrived late, but setting up went on all thru the night so as to have every attraction ready for an early Monday opening.

On Monday the first goat parade took place downtown at 8 p.m. The streets were lined with thousands of goat enthusiasts, but Lem was not slated to appear until later in the week, when the Royal Goat Court would hold sway. Tuesday night at 9 p.m. the crowning of King Billy and Queen Nanny was held on the courthouse square and the Royal Court made its appearance. Wednesday night again at 9 p.m. the streets were crowded for the Royal Wedding on an outside balcony on the front of the hotel. Here is where Lem, as Father Bearded Quadruped, made his first public appearance when he gave the royal bride away to his highness, King Billy. (His part caused him to miss his turn at the dice.)

On Thursday the royal street dance was held at Hoof and Hair Avenues and again the streets were packed. Now, with the festival over, we were sure that the crowds would give us two good days. Friday, the last night for passes, found the lot jammed with pass amusement lovers. Saturday rained us out and Lem left to book another town. When the office beamed about the bad promotion, Trucklow said, "What must a general agent do to put a show in town and satisfy the office? I had as bad a break as it did. Even with my unlimited spending account, again the dice were wrong, the lush high, and the Queen of Goats too smart for me."

MAJOR PRIVILEGETruck and Trailer Legislation

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 14.—A bill boosting the maximum truck weight for Pennsylvania highways from 39,000 to 42,000 pounds and raising the axle weight from 18,000 to 19,000 pounds has passed the State Senate, after the Senate sliced 8,000 pounds from the House-approved version of the legislation.

MADISON, Wis., June 14.—The Wisconsin Legislature has passed a measure permitting owners of trucks weighing more than 8,000 pounds to pay their license fees, permits, and taxes in quarterly installments, with the provision that in paying license fees an extra dollar must be paid each quarter.

Another approved measure provides that after January 1, 1942, trailers that weigh 3,000 pounds must have brakes that will stop them within 50 feet at a 20-mile speed, while another bill requires that trailers over 1,500 pounds be controlled by brakes operated from the cab of the touring vehicle.

Cole Business Fair in Detroit

Pulls 20,000 despite cold spell—Butler, Pa., lost—Warren, O., poor

DETROIT. June 14.—Cole Bros.' Circus, first outdoor show to play Detroit this year, had a fair two-day stand at Livernois Avenue and Oakman Boulevard in northwestern Detroit Sunday and Monday. Show opened to good Sunday matinee of around 6,000, building to 6,500 for the night show, but dropping to around 3,500 for the Monday matinee, said by circus officials to be the poorest matinee so far this season. Monday night drew around 5,000, making a total attendance of over 20,000. This was Cole's first showing here since 1938.

Major handicap to the show was the weather, which turned bitterly cold Sunday night. Side Show was estimated to average around 4,000 daily for the two days.

Co-operation of newspapers and radio stations was very good and considerable publicity was obtained thru these media, particularly in newspaper pictures.

Number of visitors was large, with Manager Zack Terrell saying "Detroit is the greatest visiting town on earth, with so many show people hereabouts. We had nearly as many visitors in back as customers out in front." Tunis (Eddie) Stinson, manager of the Detroit Shrine Circus, who was a visitor with a party Sunday, sent a note to every Shriner urging strong support of the Cole show.

Joseph Hayworth, legal adjuster, paid special tribute to the friendly co-operation received from Detroit officials and police.

Clyde Wixom, son of Frank L. Wixom, of Edenville, Mich., little wagon circus proprietor, was on the front gate for the Detroit engagement.

Closing here, the Cole show moved on

Ohio Biz Only Fair For Russell Bros.

AUBURN, N. Y., June 14.—Ten days in Ohio gave Russell Bros.' Circus only fair business, with one of the poorest stands being Alliance, despite ideal weather. Mansfield turned in the best score of the Ohio towns and that was nothing to brag about. During its time in Ohio, the show played in and near several cities where employment is at a peak due to defense contracts, but apparently few defense workers found their way to the ticket boxes.

Two days of heavy rains caught the show at Mount Vernon June 3 and the downpour continued at Wooster the following day, which was another blank. Show's canvas and equipment, despite heavy rains and muddy lots, look oke.

Tom Gregory, of Akron, spent much time in the backyard at Alliance, making camera shots of the personnel. He also visited at Wooster. Fred Work, of Akron, and Ray Wallace, Alliance theater owner, visited in the latter city.

Cincy Houses Good For Ringling Bros.

CINCINNATI. June 14.—The Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus did good business on its two-day stand here, June 7 and 8, altho hampered by a late arrival, rain, and heat.

The Saturday matinee was light because of a light rain all afternoon and a late start at 4:15. That night's house was full, however. Both houses Sunday was near-capacity in spite of considerable heat.

Karl K. Knecht, Circus Fan of Evansville, Ind., saw Saturday night's performance.

A bag containing $831 was stolen Saturday night from the show's money wagon. Fred De Wolfe, assistant treasurer of the show, notified police and said that a watchman who was employed by the circus slept in the wagon Saturday night but failed to show up the next day.

ZANESVILLE, O., June 14.—William Varner, aerialist with the Big Show, sustained severe injuries to his left ankle when he fell to a safety net during an aerial act here June 6. He was taken to Bethesda Hospital and his condition was reported as satisfactory, altho it was necessary for him to remain there several days before rejoining the show.

The Greatest Show on Earth

By WILLIAM (BILL) FIELD—
(The Morning Herald, Uniontown, Pa.)

On June 3 we were again privileged to sit in the center section of the big top of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus. We saw the night performance on the opening day of the Pittsburgh three-day engagement, together with about 10,000 others.

From the minute bandmaster Merle Evans lifted his baton for the opening number and Alfred Court stepped into the steel arena to present his great wild animal number there was not a dull moment. To pick the best of the acts would be a very difficult job indeed. But we just can't help expressing the appreciation of untold thousands of boys and girls—from 3 to 103—who marveled at the gorgeous display of beauty, talent, and skill embodied in the presentation of Old King Cole. Of all the circus acts that we have had the pleasure of seeing we can honestly say that Old King Cole is the best.

Some of us may regret the passing of the circus of years gone by, but even so, once a performance of the 1941 edition of the Greatest Show on Earth is witnessed, one can truly appreciate the progress of the circus. The North brothers and their entire staff are to be commended. The only fault found with the show was the running time of the program, a bit too long. A shortage of labor, too, was responsible for a little longer time in changeovers than customary.

Anderson in Wis.; Business Holds Up

DODGEVILLE, Wis., June 14.—Making a fast trek northeast from Emporia, Kan., where it opened May 2-3, the Bud E. Anderson Circus completed its first month out last week, when it entered Wisconsin at Prairie du Chien for several weeks. Business has been very good, altho heavy rains put the damper on a few stands in Eastern Iowa.

Organization travels on 35 units, 21 of which are huge special-built semis, seven being new this year with new cottage-type white ticket wagon. The show carries about 40 head of ring stock. Big show top interior is a blaze of red, white, and blue. Three beautiful new rings, made up of an immense blue star on a white background with a three-foot circle border of red, are left in place until the grand entry has completed its tour. A new steel arena, with a red, white, and blue canopy instead of the conventional net, occupies the 40-foot center ring. A red, white, and blue back door drop and the same colored cloth hanging from the railing, separating seats from the track, complete a dazzling dressing up of the big show top. All attendants are in uniform. Anderson is having difficulty in obtaining a new big top due to the national emergency and is using temporarily a two-year-old 80 with three 40-foot mid-dies.

The performance is tremendously strong and audiences are very enthusiastic. It moves rapidly and smoothly under the direction of Bert Rickman, C. S. Brooks and his excellent 10-piece band add the finishing touches. It is (See ANDERSON IN WIS. on page 65)

Walter's Needy Kids' Show In Houston Now a 3-Ringer

HOUSTON, Tex., June 14.—The 10th annual Frank J. Walter underprivileged children's circus will be held at Hermann Park here afternoon of June 16. It will be a 60-act show in three rings, lasting two hours. Animal trainers throughout the city are working with Walter to make this show a success. Over 800 children are expected to attend.

There will be 12 trained dogs presented in pole walking, high dives; 48 Shetland ponies in military drills and trick stunts; 12 trick horses, one of which will be worked by Mrs. Walter in her well-known Liberty horse act. A. B. Oppenheimer, who has a troupe of trained dogs that has appeared for the last nine years with the show will be on the program. Dr. Arthur Bellin will exhibit his trick horse and a clown mule. Hans Nagel, zoo manager here, will bring Worry-Wart, his trained chimp. Stats Besson, formerly with Ringling Bros., will give a tight-wire walking act. More than 20 clowns will go thru a series of stunts under the direction of Tony Prince.

Bell Bros. Playing Maryland Thru June

CINCINNATI. June 14.—Bell Bros. Circus, which opened at Elizabethtown, Md., May 29 to a three-quarter matinee and turnaround at night, will play thru Maryland until the end of June. The following two days at Orchard Beach and Maryland Park, Md., there were no matinees, but patrons were strawed at night.

The big top seats 850 in the blues and 160 in reserves. Show moves on four trucks and three trailers. Two more acts and another truck are to join.

The program runs nearly two hours in this order, riding monkey, clown song, hand balance on top of a 20-foot ladder, bucking mule; Mile. Claire, traps; Whistles, clown; Petersburg, educated pony; King Bee, clown, contortion, riding dog, marionettes, monkeys, clown; trick dogs, with a 20-foot jump by one of them. A concert is also given.

The Sawdust Ring

By FRANK (DOC) STUART

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 14.—This column of truth, dignity, and gentility review is about to effervesce again and may the plaudits fall where they may, for we recently returned from a vacation which brought us to two objectives which we have had in mind for these many years. First, it brought us to Cincinnati and a brief visit with the Al Hartmanns. We came, we saw, and left remainder that Al Hartmann and The Billboard's policy are far more interested in the welfare of show business in general than that of any other publication or trade paper reviewing other business. Knowing what I personally know now . . . I would step lightly (if at all) and immediately plunge myself into a deep bathtub and clean up. This is said in all good fellowship because in these hectic days of war hysteria and war spending, money is plentiful as ever in the days of yore and little raids on Mr. Public's folding money will not be only harmful but decidedly unpopular. After talks with both circus and leading carnival managers, it was learned that most outstanding amusement organizations agree that 1941 is going down as one of the most successful seasons of all time. It will be simple to make money this season by following these two combined methods . . . a good show and square dealing with the customers. Of course, putting your show in the right spots at the right time is expected but you do not have to play all the big spots to get the lucre. Many of the larger shows are doing a tremendous business in smaller cities and towns which have been neglected for several years and when a big organization books a date in a small spot it's an event to the natives in the majority of cases.

The other highlights during an extended vacation covering 11 States was visits to Zack Terrell's Cole Bros. Circus. It may well be stated here that Zack Terrell has produced not only the best but the most colorful circus performance of his 21 years as an owner and manager.

Finn Books HM for Legion Convention

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 14.—Alex Finn, former general manager of the International Casino in New York and currently in charge of promotion for the annual State department convention of the American Legion, has booked the Hamid-Morton Circus for the week of the convention. The booking of the circus is the highlight of preparation for the annual affair.

Finn has staged many promotional ideas during the last month to bring up interest in the convention. Through his efforts, the World of Mirth Shows appeared here last week as a part of the American Legion Convention Fund Program.

War Relief Show in Camden Grosses $1,800

CAMDEN, N. J., June 14.—A three-night showing of a circus troupe, booked by the Hamid-Morton office and sponsored here by the British War Relief Society, attracted a capacity audience of 3,500 for the three nightly performances. At a 40-cent general admission, with $1 for box seats, the show grossed about $1,800. The circus played June 2, 3, and 5, being rained out on the 4th. Final performance was sold out to members of the union at the RCA-Victor plant here.

Dead Pony Follows RB

CINCINNATI. June 14.—Pepo, pony of the Ringling-Barnum circus, followed the show from Pittsburgh to Wheeling, W. Va., even tho it was dead.

In the confusion of loading at Pittsburgh the pony broke away from a groom and plunged into the Monongahela River. Two days later at Wheeling, nearly 100 miles downstream, two boys in a row boat found the pony's body floating near the shore of the Ohio River. The boys received a reward when they returned the animal's costly spangled harness to the Big Show.

By RUSS T. WARNER
(Director of Publicity, 1418 Mulberry Street, Reading, Pa.)

READING, Pa., June 14.—Benson's Wild Animal Farm, Nashua, N. H., is becoming more interesting as a circus fan's attraction every year. Charles Ewell, of Bennington, Vt., on a recent visit there was indeed surprised to find so much of interest to the circus model builder, as well as to the public in general. Ewell states that two old-time English circus wagons are kept there in excellent preservation. The one wagon being an old band wagon built in 1892 for the Boston & Wombe Shows. This particular wagon was drawn by a huge African elephant. The harness which was thus used is also on display. This wagon toured England and the Continent until 1920, when it was brought to America by Benson. The other wagon is of the living-quarters type and was also used on the same show. The skeleton of "Old John," of Ringling-Barnum fame, is also displayed. Ewell also reports a wonderful Bengal tiger act by Mabel Stark. Charlie suggests that wagons on the Art Lewis Shows would make some fine models.

Quite a few Model Builders journeyed to Haddonfield, N. J., to take in the Wallace Bros. Circus and visit with Capt. Terrell Jacobs, who was featured ROCHELLE, Ill., June 14.—President William H. Judd and CFA Bill Day, both of New Britain, Conn., caught the Big One at Newark, N. J., May 29 for some backyard picture-taking. Judd shot colored movies and Day colored stills. This was a two-day stand, so Day stayed over. After the evening performance on the 29th, he was host to a group of performer friends at an informal gathering at the Olympic Cafe in Irvington, a suburb of Newark, where the show grounds were located. In the group were Birch Landolf, Elsie and Paul Jung, Paul Jerome, Florence Erickson, Judy Sothern, Gladwin Hill, Associated Press feature writer, and A. Maddock.

One of the new members who joined recently was Mrs. W. H. Judd of New Britain.

The last regular meeting for the season of the Blush Landolf Tent No. 24, Hartford, Conn., was held at the Sea Food Restaurant there June 3. Following dinner at 6:30 the business session was held, presided over by the new president, Jeffrey O. Phelps. Regular meetings of the Tent will be resumed September 2. During the last 10 months there has been an attendance of over 80 per cent of the membership at all meetings, an average of 10 out of a membership of 15.

Mrs. and Mrs. Sverre O. Brathen, of Madison, Wis., caught Bud Anderson's show at its first stand in Wisconsin June 1. They drove there with Mr. Maurer, his wife, and two children. Maurer went to fix up the ton-mile and license tags for the show. Also attending from Madison were Dr. and Mrs. Tom Tormey and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jackman.

F. E. Loxley, CFA of Cranston, R. I., recently caught the J. E. Ranch Rodeo at Providence, R. I.

Rochelle Circus Fans made a trip to Oregon, Ill., night of June 11 to catch Kay Bros. Circus, but upon arrival found the show had changed its route and headed into Wisconsin. Those making the trip were W. H. Hohenadel and son, Walter, Everett Hannan, Earl Chaplin May, and Pax Ludlow. Ludlow is an old trouper and is at present connected with a company publishing telephone books. In a hotel lobby in Oregon they met Dallas Piper, who was there to join Art Mix's Wild West.

on the show for a two-day date there. Before the afternoon performance the Model Builders presented "Bill" Woodcock, of the Wallace show, with an honorary membership in the CMBOA. Mrs. (Babe) Woodcock and Dolly Jacobs were accepted into the Ladies' Auxiliary as honorary members at the same time. One new member, Charles Schleents, of Long Branch, N. J., was taken into the association, while the auxiliary added two more charter members, Mrs. Schleents and Mrs. Cecilia Barrett, of Englewood, Pa. The seven model builders present discussed plans for a regional convention with Terrell Jacobs at Atlantic City this summer and also for a National CMBOA convention at Peru, Ind., in the fall. Ray Rogers and his personnel of the Wallace show certainly put across a wonderful performance. Rogers and his staff extended every courtesy to the Model Builders in allowing them to photograph and take measurements of the Wallace trucks and equipment.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The Poodles Hanneford Tent, of Wheeling, W. Va., is beginning to do worth-while things. It is planning big receptions to visiting circuses that play within auto distance of Wheeling. Many excellent names are already on the membership list and the tent is mingling with civic activities and patriotic performances. This trick is certainly going places, thanks to Norman A. Greig, Jack Colvig, and Frank V. Baldwin Jr. A new charter has been mailed to their headquarters this week and we understand the presentation of the charter will be celebrated in a royal manner.

National President Harold G. Hoffman journeyed to Staunton, Va., on an official visit on June 12. He was the guest of the Hugh B. Sprout Tent, and the members of that outfit did a swell job in entertaining him. Members seeped in from all Virginia tents during the day and night, and the affair took on the appearance of a miniature convention.

June 13 the crowd motored to Lynchburg to launch another tent, about which more will be written later. The affair was staged at the Staunton Country Club and the Sprout tent can feel proud of its personnel and its loyalty to the old troupers. "They're a great crowd," said Hoffman, "and I feel sure that the convention of the national body at Virginia Beach next fall will be the greatest in the history of the club."

June 3 the W. W. Workman Tent of Richmond, Va., held a jamboree at Saint Somma's Ranch situated on the Rappahannock River about 52 miles from Richmond. Supper in the cook tent was served at 5 p.m., and there was plenty of pink lemonade. Nearly 100 attended this outing. They are looking forward already to the next Somma shindig.

The Dexter Fellows Tent of New York held its final luncheon of the season at the Hotel Astor on June 10. There were 1,000 present, the first time this figure was reached, and the setting, acts, and atmosphere was all horsey and racey in honor of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, the fall guy. One can hardly describe this luncheon. It was colossal. Harold G. Hoffman and Tex O'Rourke were at their best. Harold's great ability as a showman was given full vent and he has well earned the title given him, the Ziegfeld of the CSCSA.

RINGLING-BARNUM — Business is great and visitors were numerous at Harrisburg, Pa., including many performers from the Wallace show, which was playing at York, Pa. Among them were Bob Stevens, banner man, and Yellow Barnette.

The following artists visited at Philadelphia: The Walkers, Mr. and Mrs. William Heyer, Germans, Zeita, and Stretta Repenski; Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Zucchini, Cibita, and Coletta Cristiani, and the Flying Beebees.

Poodles and Gracie Hanneford, their daughter, Gracie, and Poodles' mother visited at Zanesville, O.

Don Baker, who played a cornet and sax with the Ringling band for the last three years, has been called to the colors and has joined the navy band at Washington. We all respected Don as a crack musician, but did not know he was a politician. He made Washington all right.

Joe Dohle has resigned from Merle's band. Joe invented the Dohle air chimp mouthpiece about a year ago and since then his invention has found such a vast market that he simply had to quit troupers to take care of his new business. Joe joined the Ringling band in 1919, but confided to the writer that he knew the job would not last when he took it. He has plenty of the long green and a beautiful home in Grove City, Pa. We all wish him and grandma continued happiness.

Fred Bradna had a birthday May 28. Tried to find out how old he was, but he would not stop reading Snappy Stories long enough to tell us. All we know is that Fred spent most of the day signing for congratulation telegrams. He may lose his whistle occasionally, but the dapper Fred will never lose that outstanding personality which has made the name Fred Bradna world famous.

Adjacent to the lot on which we showed at Wheeling, W. Va., was a beautiful outdoor swimming pool. Many of our people took advantage of this unusual opportunity and a number of our girls, formerly with Billy Rose's Aquacade at the New York fair, were the first to discover the puddle. As the writer passed in passing the tank his eyes were irresistibly focused on the graceful figure of Katie Klein and her sister Aquacade ducks, Mildred Petters, Betty More, and Ann Burk. These beautiful mermaids held the townsfolk spellbound. Why not? They were in excellent form, but the sharks should not all go to the Aquacade youngsters. No indeed, because Elsa Bradna (Mrs. Fred Bradna) who has spent 40 years in the saddle, was right in there pitching and when she did a one-and-one-half off a 10-foot springboard I said, "Boy, she's as youthful in the water as she is when riding White Eagle."

Late bulletin just received: Consider Elsa Bradna's greatest feminine swimmer of all time. Signed: Loving husband, Freddy.

See you later, ARTHUR SPRINGER.

COLE BRODS—We have had enough visitors this week to start another show. At Butler, Pa., Theo Nelson visited her sister, Mrs. Terrell, and brother, Paul. George Smith, Pat Valdo, Estelle Butler, and Gallagher, all from the Ringling show, also visited. At Warren, O., lots of folks from the Russell show visited, including Elizabeth and Ernestine Clarke, Anna Brock, Betty and Bobby Acevedo, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Antea.

I see where Harry McFarlan has a new whistle. I thought the other one sounded a little anemic. George and Jack (Twinkle Toes) Vose are giving them all a run for their money as the best dressed men on the show, and can George swing it. Had a nice visit with Al Pitcairn, who is with Billroy's Comedians. He caught the day show and had to rush back to make a show of his own. Mrs. Waltrip visited her husband, A. E. (Buck) Waltrip, who is a special story man in our press department. Mrs. Waltrip has been home in Madisonville, Ky., remodeling the family mansion.

The Three Musketeers of our show, Mrs. Fred Seymour, Mrs. Iris Watts, and Mrs. Jack Biggers, had a grand letter from Max and Doris Kelly, of Gates Ferry, Conn. Doe is 67. Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Sparks were recent visitors with their son, Clinton Jr., who had the time of his life. One of the girls that are sadly missed this year is Bertha Maynard.

Detroit was the banner stand for visitors, who included Mrs. Arthur Nelson, mother of the famous Nelson family; Rosina Nelson, Doe Brown, Allan King, Chester (Bobo) Barnett, Minnie Hodges, Eddie Stinson, Orrin Davenport, Mickey McDonald, Vern Woods; Albert Gilleno, better known to his joey friends as English, who came all the way from London, Ont., to say hello, and Freddie Freeman Jr. It was a big day for the Freemans. It was a big day for the Freemans, as we had our boy with us. At Jackson Walter and Jessie Goodenough drove over and visited all day, then drove us back to Detroit, where we were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Goodenough. Walter Jr. had a large day, too, visiting his many friends on the show. Visitors I forgot to mention are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Klingler; Mr. Brown, visiting Bobby Nelson; Katie Pallenberg, Nick Carter; Mrs. A. J. Picotte and son, visiting Marjorie Nelson; Harold Smith and wife, and Art R. Mitchell.

Everett Hart, please note: I have been made an honorary member of the Saddle Club in good standing.

OFFICIALS OF the Calgary (Alta.) Stampede have been informed by officials of the Salinas (Calif.) Rodeo that dates of the California event have been set back so as not to conflict with the Calgary show. In the past, many contestants have found it more economical to remain in the United States and ride at Salinas rather than to make the long trek to Calgary for a show usually held the same week.

TOP HONORS in the bucking horse riding contest at the Lao La Hache (B.C.) Stampede went to Buster Taggart, with Marvin Mayfield, second, and Billy Twan, third. Mayfield and brother, Roland, in the army for the last year, arranged to have their 10-day furlough coincide with the rodeo. Wayne McLary and Glover Collins tied in steer riding, and Buster Taggart, second. Pat McNulty was first in bareback bronc riding, and Buster Taggart, second. Mrs. Rose Robbins Rankin retained the saddle horse cup for the third successive year.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR JOHN C. VIVIAN led a parade of 25 floats, 5 bands, and 267 cowboys and cowgirls June 7 at the opening of Canon City's (Colo.) fourth annual two-day rodeo. Charlie Bennett won the calf roping contest; Earl Blevins topped the bulldoggers, while bronc riding honors went to Gerald Roberts. Frankie Burns won the quarter and half mile, and mile races. Hugh Bennett was awarded the Adolph Coors saddle for being adjudged the best all-round cowboy, and David Patton won the Mayor L. R. Short saddle for making the best ride in the Fremont County relay race.

MANDAN (N. D.) RODEO, which will be held soon, is said to be one of the first major rodeos produced in North Dakota. J. L. Rovig is manager. Rodeo is sponsored by the Mandan Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the Mandan Agricultural Fair Association. Leo Cremer will provide the stock and direct the show. New grandstand and bleachers have a seating capacity of 10,000. New corrals and show rings have been built to Cremer's specifications. Contract acts include Ray and Maidi Berwick, Don and Virginia Willcox, and George and Polly Mills. Mills, who has fought bulls at the Madison Square Garden and Boston gardens recently, will be making his debut for Cremer as a bull-fighting rodeo clown. Cy Tallion, vet rodeo announcer, will work the event and is handling advance publicity.

ABOUT 4,000 fans braved rainy and cold weather June 6-9 to see the third annual Spokane (Wash.) Stampede held in Seven Mile Arena. Second night had to be called off because of heavy rain and show was held over an extra day. Spokane Rodeo Association, with Lou Meyers, president, sponsored the date. Stock was furnished by George Hanna and Herb Dietrich. Judges were Len Perkins and Ralph Stanton, Frank Chittwood and his donkey, Scrap Iron, clowned. Trice McCormick did trick riding and roping. Final winners: Bronk Riding—Shirley Hussey, Johnny Tubbs; Gene Pruitt and Ross Greenwood split third. Bareback Bronk Riding—Tony Benedicks, Cecil Bedford, Joe Holmes, Johnny Tubbs. Steer Wrestling—Dee Hinton, Arnie Will, Red Allen, Russell Will. Calf Roping—Len Perkins, Dee Hinton, Bill McFarlane, Russell Will. Autry To Launch Streamlined Rodeo

CHICAGO, June 14.—Gene Autry, who has made a number of successful personal appearances at large rodeos this year, will launch a streamlined rodeo of his own in 1942. While definite details have not been announced, it is known that Autry plans to introduce some new ideas in setting and presentation. Stock and equipment are now being assembled and will be taken to Autry's new ranch in the San Fernando Valley, 25 miles from Los Angeles. Ranch is to be dedicated next week.

At present Autry is shooting a picture in Hollywood. He was to have appeared at The Des Moines Register-Tribune circus last week-end, but his plane was forced down at Salt Lake City and he had to return to Los Angeles. He will appear at the New York and Boston rodeos next fall.

Eddie Allen, Autry's business manager, was in Chicago this week conferring with Joe Greer, and left Wednesday for other parts of the country on a horse-buying trip.

WFA Asks F. R. for "Week"

Idea To Honor Fairs of Nation

Letter to Washington suggesting period in September is signed by Vollmann

STOCKTON, Calif., June 14.—Western Fairs Association has suggested to President Roosevelt, thru his personal secretary, Stephen Early, that a national Fairs and Expositions Week be designated in early September. President E. G. Vollmann, Stockton, signed the letter that has gone to Washington from the WFA.

President Vollmann points out the typically American savor of State and county fairs and their value to the nation. He has asked all interests that look with favor upon the idea of a "Week" to give all possible publicity and impetus to the plan. His letter, under date of June 9, reads:

"The Honorable Stephen Early,
Secretary to the President,
Washington, D. C."

"Dear Mr. Early:

"Your memory might take you back to the Pacific Coast and the Yosemite Theater at Stockton. You may recall the writer as house manager, and now secretary-manager of the county's biggest annual event, the county fair. It is also my privilege to be honored as president of the Western Fairs Association, made up of over 60 district and county fairs in California alone.

"There are some things that are typically American, American because they were born of our civic parenthood, lived on public acclaim. There, too, are some things that typical Americans have adopted and made their own because of pride and affection.

"One of the things we have adopted and made American has been our county (See Fairs-Expos "Week" on opp. page)

Pacts of Old Board Okehed for Detroit

DETROIT, June 14.—Michigan State Fair board on Tuesday confirmed contracts with Rubin & Cherry Exposition for the 1941 midway and Music Corporation of America for name bands to play in the outdoor pavilion. Two or more bands will be used.

Both contracts were made originally some weeks ago, but, partly because they were made by the former fair management, there appeared some question as to their acceptance by the new administration.

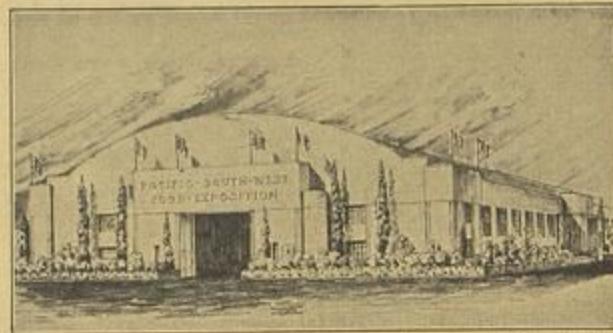

Bernard J. Youngblood, fair manager, returned on Monday from Washington, where he interviewed defense authorities and concluded arrangements for national defense displays. Plan is for an exposition on the mall for the 10 days of the fair, with specimens of equipment, including airplanes, tanks, army transport, hospital unit, and a detachment of soldiers on duty. This will be used as the theme center of the fair to emphasize importance of Michigan in armament production.

Manager Youngblood attended Miami Valley Industry and Defense Exposition in the Cincinnati Music Hall last week and conferred with its general manager, Almon R. Shaffer.

AFM Prices for Musicians At Fairs Are Now in Force

CHICAGO, June 14.—American Federation of Musicians has set the playing prices and conditions for musicians playing at second and third-class fairs:

For second-class district and summer fairs the scale is $8 per day per man and $12 for leader. For third-class county fairs, $6 per day per man and $9 for leader. On the third-class fairs, if the engagement is for two days or less, musicians must also receive room and board, and on all fair engagements transportation must be paid. These terms are now in force.

FOR THE FIRST TIME Los Angeles County Fair, Pomona, Calif., will this year have Pacific Southwest Food Exposition, presenting a vivid picture of the nation's food industry. It will be housed in a new building, architect's drawing of which is shown above and which is nearing completion. New exhibit structure will be 130 by 350 feet, with 45,000 square feet of unobstructed floor space, and of steel and concrete. Other grounds improvement are on for the 1941 fair, for which officials have set an attendance mark of 1,000,000 for the 17 days.

III. Plans Changes For Midway of RAS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 14.—Contract for appearance of the Royal American Shows at the 1941 Illinois State Fair here having been signed, additional midway space and facilities are being arranged.

Signing of the RAS by Fair Managers William V. (Jake) Ward ended reports that the Johnny J. Jones Exposition would play the fair. Rumors followed cancellation of a contract signed by E. E. Irwin, former fair manager, with the Beckmann & Gerety Shows. Manager Ward declared he had never authorized a statement that a contract had been signed with the Jones shows. He said such a contract had been drawn but had not been signed.

This will be first appearance here of the Royal American Shows since attaining the present size. Numerous changes in the midway, Happy Hollow, and adjacent buildings are planned. It has been considered for some time that midway space has been inadequate for the amount of equipment carried by shows that have played the fair in recent years.

Operating on a budget slashed $24,000 from the 1940 figure, booking of the RAS, three name bands headed by Ted Weems, Horace Heidt, and Orrin Tucker, in conjunction with the State Fair review, Stars Over America, WLS Barn Dance, and regular features has the fair staff hastening its publicity.

Grand Circuit horse racing, motor-cycle and auto races will be before the grandstand during afternoons.

Iowans Clash at Meet on 4-H, Vocational Ag, With No Decision

MONTICELLO, Ia., June 14.—A controversy between 4-H Club leaders and vocational agricultural representatives marked an all-day meeting of Eastern Iowa Fair Managers' Association here on June 6. Fair managers, legislators, and other guests, including J. P. Mullen, president, and Lloyd Cunningham, secretary of the State Fair board, were guests of Jones County Fair Association.

Two issues arose, and discussion at times was heated.

The demand in some sections by teachers and other representatives of vocational agricultural departments in high schools for exhibit classes at fairs distinct from 4-H classes.

Protests from livestock breeders that breeders' classes are overshadowed, sometimes crowded out, by 4-H livestock classes.

No votes were taken and no decision reached openly, but the consensus apparently was that 4-H Club exhibits "saved the bacon" for county fairs during the depression and therefore were entitled to preferential consideration. This point was expressed strongly by E.

Canadians Tilted On Race Tax; No Amusement Ruling

REGINA, Sask., June 14.—Without protest Regina Exhibition Association will pay the recently imposed federal tax of 5 per cent on race track betting which, it is learned, is applicable to receipts from pari-mutuel machines operated at the races in connection with the summer fair. Directors concluded the money is required for Canadian war effort and are willing to make this contribution without any attempt to secure remission. It is understood directors of the other Western Class A fairs have made similar decisions.

This means that this year the exhibition association will contribute a tax of 5 per cent to the provincial government plus a 5 per cent tax to the Dominion government out of its share of receipts of pari-mutuels, leaving 7 per cent (See Canadian Race Tax on opp. page)

N. O. Expo Seeks Vollman

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—Adolph Vollman, who produced the Golden Gate International Exposition's two Cascades, has been asked by New Orleans International Exposition to submit a proposal for a similar extravaganza. He recently returned to his home in San Carlos, Calif., from a national tour. P. M. Sandusky, who had charge of exhibits and concessions on Treasure Island, is already employed at New Orleans.

W. (Deak) Williams, Manchester, secretary of Iowa Fairs Managers' Association. Repeatedly it was pointed out that 4-H Club exhibits anticipated vocational ag exhibits and that rules of 4-H exhibits in no way bar vocational ag entries.

Point with the vocational ag men was that their entries must be made under the 4-H Club banner rather than as distinct vocational ag shows at Iowa county and district fairs. It was brought out that the controversy would become more acute in future and might result in open battle between the groups. One of the reasons for the dispute is that the groups are under different governmental agencies, 4-H Clubs under the department of agriculture and vocational ag under the department of public instruction.

The breeders' argument was mainly that they have no place to show except at fairs and that some fairs, like those in Monticello and Central City, are nearly exclusively 4-H, but a great many fairs, such as West Union and West Liberty, still conduct extensive open

U. S. Navy Band Feature for CNE

TORONTO, June 14.—International aspect of the Canadian National Exhibition here will be more pronounced this year. General Manager Elwood A. Hughes announced that the United States Navy Band would be feature musical organization for the 14 days. This band of 85 men scored a tremendous hit here in 1937 on the only other occasion on which a United States service band ever appeared in Canada. The band will come with special permission of President Roosevelt. Lieut. Charles Bentler will conduct.

Bands and detachments from several American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts have applied for permission to march in the Warriors' Day parade in which 30,000 to 40,000 veterans of all services of various countries will participate. Until last year German and Italian vet organizations were represented. One of the picturesque U. S. bands will be that of Billy Simpson Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Erie, Pa., which will send its girls drum and bugle band of 35 with four majorettes.

European situation precludes representation of countries of that Continent except Britain. Heretofore Germany, Italy, Finland, the Netherlands, Czechoslovakia, Poland, France, and other European countries have been extensive exhibitors, as have Sierra Leone, Gold Coast, Southern Rhodesia, South Africa, and India. South American and Central American countries, with import and export business overseas dislocated, are taking space at the 1941 exhibition and several have sent ministers, plenipotentiary, and trade commissioners to Ottawa.

Pomona Prepping For 1,000,000 Gate

POMONA, Calif., June 14.—Interest in extensive preparations for the 19th annual Los Angeles County Fair here center about construction of an exhibit building to house Pacific Southwest Food Exposition. Brought to the fair for the first time, it is being sponsored by Southern California Retail Grocers' Association. The building of steel and concrete, 130 by 350 feet, will have 45,000 square feet of unobstructed floor space and will house displays tending to present a comprehensive picture of (See Pomona Prepping on opp. page)

"Holy City" Is To Play 41 Minnesota State Fair

CHICAGO, June 14.—Al Butler announced that he had booked "Holy City," religious mechanical show, to play the 1941 Minnesota State Fair. Show will occupy building close to the grandstand, considered an ideal spot. The building is to be remodeled inside and out at a cost of several thousand dollars.

"Holy City," which Butler has handled for a number of years, has been a tremendous success wherever shown. It played Michigan State Fair, Detroit, in 1938-40 and since that time has been playing Middle Western cities under newspaper auspices.

Mineola Rodeo, Thrillcade

The Mineola Fair in Long Island will celebrate its 99th renewal with at least two attractions which have proved formidable in many other parts of the country. For one of its layouts it goes back to a presentation which it has not had in some years. This is a rodeo—Colonel Jim Eskew's JE Ranch Rodeo, to be exact. Altho it will be billed as a rodeo and will resemble the chute-corral formula in action, it's really a Wild West show. Chances are most customers wouldn't know the difference anyway. It will open on the first day of the fair, continuing for afternoons and evenings with the exception of Saturday afternoon, when Walter Stebbins will stage the "Long Island Independent Midget Auto Racing Final Championships" on the half-mile track.

The other standard entertainment will be Jimmie Lynch's Death Dodgers, and Mineola will capitalize on the fact that Lynch's unit appeared in the Goodrich Arena at the New York World's Fair. Automotive Thrill Day is the opening afternoon.

Sandwiched in between the cowboy events will be drills in front of the stand by various branches of U. S. Army troops stationed at nearby Fort Totten. This has been arranged thru Maj. S. E. Willard, commander. A rodeo-military display, incidentally, sounds like something other fairs might well emulate in this era, in which such great stress is being laid on national defense.

Which brings us to George Nissen, Nissen, who is from Cedar Rapids, Ia., and is of the troupe called the Three Leonards, aped before the Flying Cadets of Randolph and Kelly fields, San Antonio, recently. The idea was to show how professional gymnasts do their stuff. Nissen scored heavily with the cadets on a trampoline, a gymnastic spring table of his own invention. Following the show the air corps is understood to have inquired about five such trampolines for training the boys. Nissen is the former national intercollegiate tumbling champ.

Roy (Speedy Bowers) Colbert advises that he no longer is a partner of Capt. Jack O. Diamond's thrill show. Has his own unit now, he states.

Bill McCluskey, director of the booking division of WLW Promotions, Cincinnati, reports a record outdoor booking schedule for the station's traveling roadshow, Boone County Jamboree. Season opened on June 11 and closes October 4. Great majority are one-day stands. Ohio dates are in Van Wert (two different events, two days), Washington Court House, Plain City, Piketon, Urbana (three days), Celina, Wellington, Zanesville, Greenville, London, Marion, Columbus (seven days), Wapakoneta, Caldwell, Napoleon, Dayton, Woodsfield, Sidney, Upper Sandusky, Norwalk, Montpelier, Beloit, Logan, Marysville, Wauseon, and Dover.

Pennsylvania: Hellam (two days, June and August), Pennsbury, Kentucky: Grayson (two days), Illinois: Newton, Mount Vernon, Indiana: Munroe (two days), North Vernon, Boonville, Portland, Shelbyville, Huntingburg, Connersville, Corydon, Fairmount, Michigan: Centerville.

In the circuit are 42 spots—38 fairs, 3 parks, and 1 festival.

Around the Grounds

AURORA, Ill.—M. E. (Pat) Bacon, Aurora, has been appointed superintendent of speed for the 1941 Illinois State Fair and will work with Howard Leonard, director of agriculture, and William V. Ward, manager. Bacon has officiated as a harness horse starter for the past 25 years. His appointment as speed superintendent of Illinois State Fair was due mainly to his experience as fair manager and manager of harness race events at Clay County Fair, Spencer, Ia.; Mississippi Valley Fair, Davenport, Ia., and other Midwestern fairs.

DELAWARE, O.—Percherons and Clydesdales sold to Ringling-Barnum by George A. Dix, a Delaware County Fair director, are being featured in the Big Show's spec, "Old King Cole and Mother Goose." A six-horse hitch of Percherons, four of which are great-grandsons of the famous Don Degas, Dix stallion that was twice grand champion at the International Show, pull the Ringling bell wagon, while four of Clydesdales pull the steam calliope. Delaware County is called the center of Percheron breeding in America, and the heavy horse department of the annual fair is one of its paramount attractions. Bev Kelley, Delaware resident and a county fair director, is employed in the Ringling-Barnum publicity department and assisted in arrangements between Dix and the circus for purchase of the Percherons and Clydes.

SANTA ANA, Calif.—Orange County Fair and Horse Show here on June 5-7 drew about 14,000 at $5 and 75 cents and $1.25. Despite cool nights, Saturday night was a sell-out. Over $8,500 in awards was distributed.

RUSTON, La.—John L. Boddie, president of Lincoln Parish Fair Association, has received endorsement of Ruston Chamber of Commerce toward raising funds for a permanent plant near city limits. He said there is already $12,000 to start the fund. Successful fairs have been held under canvas, but exhibits have outgrown these facilities. Project includes main exhibit building, stock pens, grandstand, and other structures.

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ark.—Stone County Fair Association will hold its first free fair here this year. C. Jack Cato and S. D. Bateman have been elected co-managers.

classes. Four-H entries, on the other hand, capture blue ribbons fairly often in open classes. Four-H boosters cited the parish shows as opportunities for breeders' exhibits and one fair manager said open classes had been abandoned in some instances because of exhibitors who put together show herds and droves of livestock for classes in which there is little competition just to win prizes in a circuit and not for legitimate agricultural display.

Mullen Warns Secs

About 156 attended the meeting, which concluded at a catfish supper at the country club. President Mullen warned managers not to overrule their communities and urged new secretaries not to contract bills they would be unable to pay. Secretary Cunningham said managers needed full co-operation of communities and organizations to make their fairs successful. Carl Smith, Jones County farm agent, discussed club work at fairs. Fairs represented included Osage, Decorah, Nashua, Waverly, Cresco, Independence, Marshalltown, Tipton, Postville, West Union, and Monticello. Waterloo Dairy Congress and All-Iowa Dairy Show were represented.

CANADIAN RACE TAX

as net revenue to the association.

Regina authorities are unable to say whether the new federal tax of 20 per cent to be imposed on amusements will affect the fair. Question of exemptions for such institutions as agricultural fairs is under consideration in the House of Commons at Ottawa and, so far as is known here, no decision has been reached as yet.

Directors are inclined to believe that, in view of the facts that the military has been given use of the fair buildings, that the federal government has requested them to "carry on," and the withdrawal of the federal grant to the fair during the war, it is unlikely that they would be taxed on admissions to fair or grandstand. They have also not yet been advised whether the tax would be applicable to games and other concessions.

POMONA PREPPING

compliments and possibilities of the food industry.

With many additional features and increased interest manifested, fair officials are confident of setting an attendance mark of 1,000,000 for the 17 days. Ten large livestock exhibit barns, rapidly nearing completion, are replacing seven old structures which have been demolished to allow additional space for the midway to be supplied by a unit of the Amusement Corporation of America. The seven old barns were last of the original fair buildings erected for the first fair in 1922.

Another crew is cutting four tunnels from the seating area to the second floor of the steel and concrete grandstand building to create much needed room for expansion of pari-mutuel facilities in connection with daily horse racing. Entire second floor of the grandstand building will be given over to ticket and pay-off windows.

The revue, Music on Wings, by Barnes-Carruthers, will be featured on the last eight nights of the fair, second season here for this organization. Bill will include Vernon Ames, in charge of terpsichorean novelties by chorus and solo dance numbers; Muriel Davenport, prima donna; Milt Britton and His Musical Maniacs, Ben Yost's White Guards, Pallenberg's Bears; the Walkmills, perch act; Novak and Pay, astrologer; Two Saxons, balancing act; The Fredys, teeterboard; Aero Raya Girls; Larimer and Hudson, comedy cyclists; the Marions, serialists; Natio Troupe, tight wire; Harold and Lotte, snake dance; Ninka, butterfly dancer, and Gautier's dog act. Some of the acts will appear between races during afternoons.

FAIRS-EXPOS "WEEK"

and State fairs. We have made of them our barometer of agricultural progress, our mirror of industrial achievement. We have woven into the pattern of our fairs the fabric of our life in America.

Forty million persons will enjoy their local county and State fairs this year. Their enjoyment will be greater because better fairs have been made possible thru federal grants-of-aid to fairs by the work of WPA, PWA, and NYA, and many other agencies, seeking to better facilities and exhibits.

Because fairs have taken from and added to so much that is our America, I ask, on behalf of the Western Fairs Association, that a national Fairs and Exposition Week be designated in early September, and that every effort be made thru national publicity to draw attention to the many fairs throughout the nation, their worthwhileness to agriculture, livestock, education, and amusement.

"We believe, we know, that fairs have brought people together to know and understand, to work for and together, to build America. At this time, when light is being shed on national unity, may we ask that you help to focus attention on something adopted by America that reflects true Americanism—our county and State fairs—in themselves greater mounds of unity."

"Let's set aside a week in September as Fairs and Expositions Week. Will you use your good office to have the President declare such a week?"

"Very truly yours,
WESTERN FAIRS ASSOCIATION,
E. G. VOLLMANN,
President."

AC Piers Get Concession Sales Breather Thru Anti-Injunction Decision in Easement Deed Suit

ATLANTIC CITY, June 14.—Patrons of Steel Pier and Hamid's Million-Dollar Pier may purchase food and soft drinks sold there until the suit that alleges these sales constitute a violation of the easement deed is settled out of court, it was ruled on Monday by Vice-Chancellor Albert H. Woodruff in Camden, N. J. The judge denied an injunction sought by former Senator Emerson Richards to stop such sales pending final settlement of Richards' action against the piers and the city.

Hearing on the main question of easement deed violation is still in the unsettled status, where both Federal District Court and New Jersey Chancery Court claim jurisdiction. Since final action is not expected for some time, decision now means that the pier concessions can continue to operate unopposed during the summer.

The Woodruff decision, denying the injunction against hot dogs and soda pop sales on the piers, concludes that because the Richards action relies on a legal proposition unsettled in this State, injunctive relief should be denied. Richards, owner of Richards' Baths on the Boardwalk, seeks to restrain alleged violations of covenants voluntarily created in 1896 by more than 100 owners of land when they granted a right of easement to Atlantic City for construction and maintenance of the present Boardwalk. Covenant prohibits sale of any commodities and confines charges on the piers to an entrance fee. Vice-Chancellor Woodruff ruled that the long delay in bringing the legal action disproves any urgency.

Los Area Piers and Beaches Have 50% Boost on Holidays

LOS ANGELES, June 14.—Ideal weather over Decoration Day week-end packed piers and beaches and boosted business 50 per cent over last year's, a survey at Long Beach, Balboa, Venice, Ocean Park, and Santa Monica revealed.

H. A. (Pop) Ludwig, general manager of Virginia Park, Long Beach, and Al Anderson and Al Schneider, of the Fun Zone in Balboa, said crowds were above expectations and set the 50 per cent increase as a fair estimate.

Ted Newcomb, of the Funhouse on the pier at Venice, said his business was more than was expected. Pipe and drum corps were on the pier at noon on Friday when a Navy plane dropped flowers in the Pacific as part of the day's exercises. Week-end scramble for $50 in pennies also boosted trade. Pier operators have been going in heavily for radio spot announcements and one station holds a man-on-the-street broadcast from the pier.

Harry Hargrave and John Ward, of Venice and Ocean Park piers, said they were more than satisfied with business on the three days.

Briefs From All Around the Field

EASTON, Pa.—Madame Royal has located her life reading concession in Bushkill Amusement Park here for summer.

GEauga Lake, O.—Harvey Butler, Cleveland, who has had a rifle range in Geauga Lake Park here, has added a skeet shooting concession. For many years he has operated a rifle range during winters in Cleveland and previously was with outdoor shows.

CANTON, O.—Howard Peters, Canton, who is back in Meyers Lake Park here with his pony track and high striker, will start his season of fairs about the middle of July in Central Ohio with his freak animal show under canvas, retaining his concessions in the local park until it closes on Labor Day.

BUCYRUS, O.—R. A. Jolly, operator of Seacucus Park here, said two ride units will take the road late this month to play celebrations and fairs, both being booked until middle of October. He will supervise park operation until he takes over the units. Two new rides have been installed in the park for the season, which has started satisfactorily.

Gravatt, Hamid Add Heavy Bills

ATLANTIC CITY, June 14.—Amusements had new impetus here today with opening on Hamid's Million-Dollar Pier of Crazy With the Heat, first of musical revues booked for the pier's Hippodrome Theater. Steel Pier is adding to its already long list of attractions for a record summer.

Steeplechase Pier, devoted to rides, slides, and funhouses, has been refurbished with more devices that have turned it into a playground paradise for juveniles. Central Pier is featuring Max Berman's collection of Europe's crown jewel replicas. In addition to its usual attractions, Heinz Pier also has the Florida State Exhibit. Rockaway Playland Steps

PAR ROCKAWAY, L. I., N. Y., June 14.—Most enterprising of any single amusement project on Long Island appears to be Playland (Rockaway Beach) Park. Spot has been revamped with many new attractions and is handsomely decorated. Despite cool weather it has been piling 'em in and a heavy advertising campaign may account largely for this.

HOLYOKES STREET RAILWAY COMPANY, PARK OWNER, REPORTED. AT TIMES CROWDS WERE SO HEAVY THAT APPROPRIATE SERVICE COULD NOT BE GIVEN. PARKING LOT HANDLED OVER 3,500 AUTOS.

DETROIT.—The noted city-operated miniature railroad at the zoo may soon have a rival, according to the Parks and Recreation Commission. Plans are for financing and construction of a railroad around Belle Isle Park which would run six to seven miles if it went the entire length proposed. Report of the zoo railroad showing a profit of $13,000 last year has encouraged prospects for a new line.

SAVANNAH, Ga.—Decoration Day week-end was best in history of the resort, and only slightly dampened by a drizzle on Sunday. Operators said crowds were largest ever seen here and best spending without exception of even the boom '29 days. Sam Rubenstein in his Club Continental reported a turnover. Dick Grey packed them in on the Thunderbolt, and Bill Rogers, Sam Applebaum, Frank Targakis, Joseph Juliano, Sam Strong, Joseph Sheffield, and others checked in with best averages yet.

ATLANTIC CITY—Convention Hall is booked solidly with conventions until July 25, when the Ice-Capades of 1941 opens, continuing until Labor Day. Entire year promises to be busy for the staff. Al Skean, manager of the hall convention and publicity bureaus, reports that two periods are booked solidly, with one gathering coming in as another moves out. Hall will again house ice hockey, starting in mid-November and continuing until April, and will be scene

NAAPPB-SLA Expo Bids for Space Pour In

CHICAGO, June 14.—Altho floor plans for the 1941 Outdoor Amusement Exposition to be staged in December at the Hotel Sherman here by the National Association of Amusement Parks, Pools, and Beaches with the co-operation of the Showmen's League of America were mailed to 1940 exhibitors less than three weeks ago, Secretary A. R. Dodge, of the NAAPPB, reports that reservations to date have far exceeded those of any previous trade show conducted by his organization.

Dodge said that A. W. Ketchum, president of the park association, and Frank O. Conklin, head of the SLA, are satisfied that most of the available space will be reserved far in advance of the show. It is expected that there will be more large exhibits than last year, many of which will be housed in the new exhibit hall addition which is designed to handle heavy displays such as trailers, tractors, motor cars, power units, etc.

It has been the policy of the NAAPPB to afford old exhibitors first choice of available space, and Dodge stated that the old-timers will be allowed until late in June to select booths, after which time the general prospect lists of the NAAPPB and SLA will be circulated. Lists total nearly 2,000 names.

Elitch's Off In Jubilee Togs

DENVER, June 14.—Altho the first three weeks fell rain and cold, Elitch's Gardens got off to a good start and Arnold B. Gurtler, president and general manager, anticipates a banner season. Opening on May 17 was preceded by a collegiate dance on May 16, with Johnny Scott Davis in Trocadero Ballroom.

New Spittire ride is getting heavy play from castles at Lowry Field. It is at top of the midway and has a huge neon-lighted tower over a ticket booth. A carload of Phoenix palms and boxwood will be used to beautify grounds near the ride. Also new is Spook House in the building formerly known as the World's Fair. Laughing Sal and Laughing Charlie are used on the front. Pretzel has been remodeled and many new machines have been added to the Arcade. (See ELITCH'S JUBILEE on page 53)

Crews Hustle at Bay Shore

BALTIMORE, Md., June 14.—An exhibition of "getting up from the floor" prevented Bay Shore Park from early-season opening after an opening-day fire on May 24 destroyed the midway, Skooter, and Spook Parade. Owner George P. Mahoney engaged 75 carpenters, electricians, and painters and had them working 24 hours a day so the Chesapeake Bay park was in full operation by Decoration Day. Altho loss was only partially covered by insurance, Owner Mahoney said the fire would give opportunity for much new construction. He said rebuilding would have been impossible without the co-operation of concessionaires, among them E. J. Reicher, Maurice Piesen, Fred Fansher, Theodore Doukas, Emanuel Rice, Manie Berg, Jack Heath, and Lew Pieder. Business is well ahead of the same period last year, despite the fire and unusually bad weather.

Junior Day Big at Jantzen

PORLAND, Ore., June 14.—Journal Junior Day in Jantzen Beach Park here, reported Paul H. Huedepohl, park general manager, was attended by more than 16,000 youngsters on May 17. This newspaper-park co-operative event has grown in popularity every year for the past 13. Promoted thru The Oregon Daily Journal, the day draws from a radius of over 100 miles. In advance of the event, scheduled for a Saturday in May every year, children write hundreds of letters to The Journal, desiring to join the Journal Juniors and attend Journal Junior Day. Club pins are recognized for park admission and every child is given four free tickets, good for any ride. High school boys direct activities and traffic for promotion of good will and safety among smaller children.

"Pay or Play" at Philly

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—In the local American Guild of Variety Artists' chapter's scale and working conditions for amusement parks in Eastern Pennsylvania and Southern New Jersey, the important changeover previous agreements in that all contracts with performers will now be "pay or play." Inclement weather will no longer be a legitimate reason for canceling an act.

Minimum calls for $10 net per performer per day for all engagements 40 miles or less from Philadelphia, with $15 net per performer on all engagements more than 40 miles distant. Net fee is to be over and above booking commissions and all transportation must be paid for by park or booking agency.

The Pool Whirl

By NAT A. TOR

(All Communications to Nat A. Tor, Care New York Office, The Billboard)

Ahhhhh---Boom!

Thru an oversight this department has never mentioned possibilities of using fireworks at pools and beaches. The "ahhhhhh-boom" operations have long been in vogue at amusement parks and special events and Americans of all ages seem to love 'em. Coney Island and Rockaway beaches use pyrotechnics to attract night crowds. And word reaches this desk that redecorated Starlight pool and beach, Bronx, N. Y., is employing 'em as one of its main attractions. Playland, Rye, N. Y., has always staged spectacular displays, and Palisades (N.J.) Amusement Park used to be widely known for its Thursday night shows. But it discontinued fireworks because of police regulations. And that, of course, is the main drawback to their use.

However, there are many communities which permit displays. To pool men and beach operators in those territories this editorial is addressed. By all means consider the adoption of fireworks. They are always eye-catching and now, more than ever, a patriotic theme with a gala flag-waving finale will go big. Pool men have always sought ideas pullers for the night biz. Many schemes have been suggested; many tried. Very few have succeeded. Maybe fireworks are just the thing.

Because of safety campaigns the prevalence of amateur street-corner fireworks is practically unheard of, with result that a good professional show at a pool or beach should be in demand. A good time as any to try a display at your estab is around Fourth of July week-end. Make certain that ordinances do not prohibit. Following official ok, be sure to publicize it with as much zeal as you would a money attraction. Buy the best type of show available for the money you want to spend. Have plenty of room. And if you watch all points carefully, I'm certain you'll have as much success with fireworks as Playland, Rockaway Beach, and Coney Island have had.

Season Locker Increase

Many Eastern spots have reported a tremendous increase in season ticket sales this summer, which is a very good sign. Leader is Joe Day's Manhattan Beach, Coney Island, N. Y., which announced a 20 per cent tilt. Matt Sedgwick, manager of Jerome Cascades plunge, Bronx, N. Y., says he's running about 15 per cent ahead of last year. And Farragut pool, Brooklyn, N. Y., reports an increase. Lack of regular two-week vacations for defense workers is the main reason given for the jump, that and the fact that there is more money around. Wise pool men are making direct appeals to employees in defense factories, showing where they can enjoy themselves this summer without going to mountains or seashore. All of them are receiving vacation pay, of course, and so tanks plugging season lockers are getting the patronage. There's still time to hop on the band wagon. People buy season lockers up to the Fourth of July. So if you haven't done anything in this direction you still have time. Advertise and publicize season lockers and special rates. You'll find it will pay.

Men and Mentions

Redhead, in Peaches Sky Revue, booked by George Hamid, used to be a swell high diver, they tell me. Wonder why she gave it up.

Many Eastern tanks tied up with national Father's Day by staging father-and-son swim races. Riverside Cascades, NYC, was one of 'em and got itself a mess of publicity as a result.

Joe Coppa, who keeps Miami Beach, Fla., on the map for Steve Hannagan, returned from the Indianapolis Speedway, where he handled Decoration Day races. Says they could use a swell swim pool in the middle of the oval.

EDINBURGH, Scotland—An unusual birth here is that of a male hybrid camel. Baby has one hump like its mother, an Arabian camel presented by a sheik three years ago. Moth is a Bactrian, imported from Moscow four years ago.

Playland, Rye, N. Y.

Business is good, weather could be better. Lorenzo and Vicki, aerialists, and Bobby Whaling and Partner, cyclists, were followed by the Flying Bebees and Three Reddingtons, trampoline artists, on the free-act bills. Rose Sullivan, of Bebees, is billed as the only girl serialist to do a triple somersault with June Reddington featured in 30 consecutive somersaults done in 30 seconds. Outing was big on Saturday with more than 12 groups, including International Silver, Bronx Girl Scouts, and Central Hanover Bank. Recent and most welcome visitor was Jack Frazer, for many years manager of Gus Rosso's dart game and who formerly wrote these columns. Jack is now on staff of Frank Gregory, head of Protective Service at Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in Manhattan. Gus Rosso has garbed his girl attendants in bright green—they resemble so many Irish colts.

John Scinto, manager of Derby Racer. Helen Kraft, veteran matron at Kiddie Play-ground. Bill Sloan, of Abbott forces, says everything is peaches down in (Moultrie) Georgia. Bill Fairclough, also of Abbott staff, is a native of Miami, Fla. Harry and Mrs. Martin are with us again. Giuseppe Dillo, in charge of North Broadwalk rest room. Tony Giffre, on ground crew, is as Smiling Charlie Fisher. Tom McVay, park cop at crossroads. Bill Otto, manager of shuffleboard courts, got himself champion of Eastis, Fla., in winter. Mary Campbell again with Rosso, and rumor has Bill and Mary smelling orange blossoms after closing of park.

Frank Laper, Pennyland, who has been ill, is holding his own nicely. Barney Price is relieving again. Arthur Attard is featuring brandy peach frozen custard, but we must admit the brandy contents, by volume, are very light—and we don't mean in color! Harry Baker Jr., son of general superintendent George Baker, is at home for summer vacation from Staunton (Va.) Military Academy, where he is a cadet. Your-Name-in-Headlines is going over big and many amusing tabloids are seen around park. Chief Gardener Tiffany Lind is changing floral attire from pantries, tulips, etc., to a summer garb of begonias with beautiful effect. Jess Orr, games superintendent, is convalescing at United Hospital, Port Chester. Ted Swanson is laying off with a couple of crushed digits. Tom (Wimpy) Eagen, of Sergt. Tewey's police force, is doing duty at the Circle. Hasta luego.

Palisades, N. J.

This second-string correspondent is pinch-hitting for Clem White. Clem is hospital bedded and all of us are hoping that he'll be back with us very shortly. As for this news gatherer, I have been traveling around without benefit of vocal cords for several days. However, I still have a typewriter and that's all that counts in this department. Many thanks to Bobby Paulson, Horatio Alger, of this office staff, for his help in compiling this week's news.

Business has been excellent. It would seem as though there's plenty of folding money around and it's changing hands quickly. Free-act policy in full swing now, with Tommy Tucker first hand in for entire week. Tucker was exceptionally well liked and, added to Peaches and Her Sky Revue, made up a good free-act show. Current bill includes Kimria, serialists, and the Beverly Twins and their all-twin orchestra. Newsreels were taken of Peaches' act, and the girls worked mighty hard repeating their routine for the photographers.

Lots a-cookin' round the park . . . New romances of the week: Johnny Raparelli thinks Nancy Angelini is rather nice. Bobby Paulson is trying hard to keep one eye on the adding machine and other on Peggy Fitzgerald at the same time. Jackie Morris (Doe Morris Jr.) had a birthday this week but no big celebration. . . . Joe Gans, member of staff here for a few years, is sergeant in the army now and came to visit on Sunday. Looks very healthy but claims he misses the park.

New members of office staff include

William Schroeder, bookkeeper; Pete Ligues, and Phil Coopeltas. With Anna Halpin in charge, everything is going smoothly. With offer of free admission to service men, there are plenty of them around the park. Many stands have switched to female operators which seems to be working out nicely. They look pretty, anyway! Pool is now open with Phil Smith back at the old stand and Husky McKenna, Johnny Hubshman, and Eddie McDermott back as lifeguards. First softball game of season was won by Creamer and Dyer team when it beat Franke and Weisman 27-4. Other teams are now being organized.

New Magic Carpet doing well. James Wormly is running it. Recent visitors to the park included Jack (Journal-American) Layer with his two children; Sid (Daily Mirror) Panzer and his wife; John Liddy and Sam Rothstein, of the NSA; Bill Brennan, of the World-Telegram, and Abe Glick and Larry Goldberg, of The Post. Station WINS in New York, newly reorganized and moved to larger studio and office space, is using Palisades Park for its first series of remote broadcasts. Broadcasts, which started Monday, June 9, will be heard weekdays at 9 p.m. Theme is entire free-act show. Opening spot caused a great deal of favorable comment with a goodly amount of attendant publicity. Tie-up arranged thru Bert Nevins.

Paragon, Nantasket, Mass.

Season opened on Decoration Day with good business, park getting much soldier and sailor trade. Five-cent days may be eliminated this year because of increased employment and better spending. Park is again managed by Owner David Stone. Joseph Stone is assistant manager. Rose Stone is treasurer and cashier, and Lawrence M. Stone is assistant.

George Youngberg and James Infusino are back as superintendents. Chautney Kilburn, celebrating his 20th year as Coaster superintendent, has John Infusino as assistant. Another member of the family, Christopher Infusino, has been with the Coaster 10 years. Helen O'Toole, a 20-year veteran at the Coaster, is now cashier. John H. Dolan is engineer. Ed Glawson is back as chief of police.

Joseph Cohen, noted as purveyor of the park's food, again has the hot dog stands. At Palm Garden Grille Chef Louis Douris is celebrating his 20th year in the amusement area. Owen Brides is manager of restaurants and grille. "Smiling Helen" Darcy and Miss Alice Harrington also are on hand. Mickey Sullivan is superintendent of Spartiland and Maurice Pinkle is in charge of Penny Arcades.

Mrs. Charles Catulle, at Wonderland, is the wife of the man who created illusions used for years for Blackstone and Thurston. Line-up also includes: Abe Lakage, candy concessions; Joseph Harris, formerly with outdoor shows, in charge of shooting gallery; Eddie Looney, in charge of Fred Freeman's roller rink; Mrs. Ralph Crosser, for years park cashier, is cashier at Lindy Loop.

Joe Stone announced fireworks for July 4, second of the season, the first being held on June 17th.

Four free acts have been booked. Flying Bebees will play on June 23-July 3; Les Kimria, July 6-19; Ben and Betty Fox, July 19-August 2; Paroff Trio, August 2-15.

Plenty of rain during the week of June 2-8, but it is good going when we do get the weather. Washouts and flood conditions prevail in a few places, but not in anything like calamity proportions. The Saturday and Sunday of the above week were excellent except in Northern parts of the country, where it was too cold for profitable operation. Canada excepted, because they thrive on cold weather up there.

There is much lamenting now on the part of park men and concessionaires because more operation was not taken on before the rise in prices and scarcity of material began to work against getting delivery for this season. Next season may be worse and it may be better for obtaining material. Who Knows? There are some vacant spaces along the line that could have easily been filled by ordering last December. Now it would be difficult to get going unless the manufacturer has in stock just what is wanted. Ordering now for fall delivery would pay good dividends, even if not operated until 1942, as the upturn will hold thru next year because of the defense program, if for no other reason. It has ever been true that the reward goes to the prudent.

Bathing Will Click

Bathing has really not hit its stride yet in Northern latitudes. Either too cold or raining is the answer. Beaches and pools are sure to get a good run with all of this defense money in circulation. Bathing costumes of better grades are in for a good demand because the girls have the money this year.

Rides still click where anything does because it's the thrill that is wanted. In times of depression Mr. Handsome keeps away from rides, he says, because they eat too fast into his cutting budget. Girls like rides and good shows better than sitting on the beach a whole afternoon, but when there is a lack of admission money there is nothing else to do. She likes to circulate when funds are available and so do the kids.

New York City and environs noticed the big relief from exposition competition in 1940. We are hoping for no more flies in the ointment for the remainder of the season. Surely our fellows would like to have a good season after so many setbacks of long duration. It would stimulate ride and park rehabilitation as nothing else can do. Present rate of outdoor amusement returns if continued would bring into existence at least five new amusement parks now in contemplation. Just like housing, it's demand and nothing more that awakens new life.

Inventions Coming Up

More inventors are brushing around with proposed amusement attractions than your author has ever seen before in any five-year period. True, some are not practical, but they are worth culling over. One fellow has an idea with some merit that his father allowed to go to sleep a quarter of a century ago. It has more to recommend it than some which have had quite a run, but to bring it out now would elicit the old saw, "It is like now." This would prevent the wide distribution it could have had if brought out ahead of what would now be called its sisters.

Active plans for Fourth of July celebrations in amusement parks are under way. A more fervent patriotic note will be struck this year and more real Americans are to be speakers. Let freedom reign!

Coney Island, N. Y.

By UNO

Second week-end of the season (June 7-8) brought sunshine and the usual heavy attendance, and all ops were pleased with the financial result. The one unfortunate incident was the sudden cessation of Albert Johnson's Star on Ice show in Luna. It had opened one day only (May 30), closed, and never reopened. William Miller, park's exec., said the folding was due to two things—bad ice apparatus and insufficient funds to carry on. Even the one day's business showed the projectors how unwise it was to maintain a general admittance charge of 44 cents—this had been predicted by old-timers who know the nickel-dime caliber of Coney customers. So they switched to a quarter for the general admittance. This didn't work either. Meanwhile, the vast enclosure still retains the original equipment, bleacher seats, and many yards of bunting awaiting another tenant. New features in the park are Mirror Maze, Lindy Loop, and Lone Ranger. Aquagals will open just as soon as tank can be adjusted to register a comfortable degree of temperature for the swimmers.

Dr. Couney, of the Incubator Babies, is complaining about the spot next door, the East Side-West Side or "How to Undress in Front of Your Husband" show and its front-of-spiel, which, he says, is not fit for a neighboring attraction. Still lecturing about the babies are Ernie Van, formerly of the Van Brothers, vaudeville artists, and James O'Neill, another ex-performer.

Midget Town

Midget Town in Luna has as general manager Jack Nonnenbacker. Operators are Leo Singer and Harry Manning. This is the original Singer's Midget Company combined with Roper's English midgets from the Flushing Fair. Julius Kuehnel is responsible for the entire set-up. Stage manager is John Twiddles and animal boss is Roy Swinburne, long associated with circuses. There are 40 midgets in all. Livestock comprises two baby elephants, five Shetland ponies, two donkeys, four dogs, a singing duck for the bally, and a midget horse for the blow-off. Pianist on stage is Lew Lane, and midget orchestra leader Fred Hitler. Ben Lanhoff has charge of the bar, double the size of last season at this spot, the grill, and the kitchen. There are 200 reserved seats and 300 for general admission. Fee is 20 cents top and 10 cents for children. Shows run 40 minutes with weekly change. Midget Village layout is in course of construction under the supervision of Kuehnel. Announcers on front are Walter Reade and Mike Bruce.

Another Luna feature, and new, by the way, is the Show Girl. Original name was Stripe-Er, but License Commissioner Paul Moss decided that was too suggestive. Jack Booth, a costume designer, thought up the idea, and Nat Renard, former vaudeville performer, is copyright owner and operator. Nat's good-looking gal peepers are Ruby Claypool, Nola Chilton, and Jean Carroll. He is negotiating for another game in Atlantic City, where he hopes the powers-that-be will treat him more liberally. When the ball contacts the target the outside skirt of the girl drops off automatically thru a plunger connection backstage. The invention permits disrobing latitude, including brasiers shedding with the second contact and a party drop with the third. In Atlantic City Nat plans to have the girl who is thrice contacted to present each lucky ball-tossing customer with a garter.

Shorts

Bob Gilchrist, former drink doctor at the Imperial, saved his pennies and now operates his own bar at 32nd and Surf. . . . Bill McLean still featuring corned beef-and-cabbage nights in his bar at 34th and Surf. Was formerly an entertaining waiter. . . . Trixie La Monte left Streamlined Follies to operate her own girls' revue at Hubert's Museum in Manhattan. . . . Bill Graf, of the old-time Rough Riders of Luna, is taking tickets at James Kyrmes' Sky Diver, now whirling and packing 'em in on a Feltman's park spot where once Tyrolean singer warbled out in the open. . . . Willie Schwartz arrived after candy butchering all winter in Detroit to assist lecturing at Streamlined Follies, where a recent addition to the stripping talent is Pat Patterson, last at the Republic burly house in Manhattan. . . . Johnnie Coleman landed from the West Coast to become general assistant to the Gelb Bros. show in Luna. . . . Connie Rogers replaced Nola Chilton, suffering with a stye, at Renard's Show Girl game in Luna. . . . Donna Rogers has recovered from three weeks of illness and is back at Streamlined Follies. . . . Movement is on for a bus line to substitute the "Toonerville Trolley" on Surf Avenue.

On the Bowery

Penny pitch game, first away from Feltman's, has Ted Stillman operating for his seventh season. Leo Nortick is assistant. . . . Bowery Rabbit race is run by Sidney Rubenstein and his son, Stanley. . . . Star ball-rolling game is supervised by Lou Blumenthal, helped by his nephew, Cookie. . . . Boardwalk Amusement Company, comprising Jack Reiben and his son, Stanley, who was recently inducted into the army, controls baseball game in charge of Herbert Sherman; skee ball, piloted by Fred Bohner, and skee ball with Nat Cousins on deck. General manager is Bob Garmesa. . . . Shoot till you win has Tom Zanich and son, Marty, overseeing. . . . Virginia Reel's personnel includes James and George Kyrmes, owners; Neil Kyrmes, son of James, manager; Bob Singler, ticket taker; Phil Cook, ticket seller, in his 10th season; Joe Masten, mechanic; Lou Parelo, platform man; Arthur Jean, general mechanic, and Yetta Garmesa, hat checker, also in her 10th season at the Reel.

Licence Commissioner Paul Moss has clamped down on two shows in Luna Park. They are Gelb Bros.' "Have You Seen Stells?" and Lew Kline's "East Side, West Side," both girl items. Left to dominate this immediate area are the Infant Incubators of Dr. Couney. Quite a contrast.

Chi Riverview

Since opening on May 15 the park has had excellent early-season business whenever weather has been favorable. Rides, shows, and concessions have all had a good play, and indications are that this will be one of the best seasons of recent years.

Attractions, with few exceptions, are same as last season. Among rides Pair-O-Chutes continues popular. Woodward-Hogberg Amusement Enterprises are operating several rides, including Moon Rocket, Boomerang, managed by John Kornash, and Indianapolis Racer, of which Harry Hogberg is manager. John Courtney's Sky Rider is fast rounding into shape. In addition the park owns some 15 or more rides of all descriptions. William J. Coultry and Henry T. Belden, who have been in Riverview many years, continue to operate shooting galleries and photo galleries respectively.

S. W. Thompson again has the Motor-drome, with Johnny Peluso, Meta Coburn, Ruth Harris, and Henry Dixon as riders. He has an added attraction in Joan Spaulding, circus socialist, who does a thrilling act. Perched on Peluso's shoulders. Miss Spaulding, as Paluso speeds around the drome wall, leaps from his shoulders to a trapeze suspended from the top of the dome.

No. 1 side show has for its attraction the Great Martinez, magician, illusionist, hypnotist, and escape artist, who presents a pleasing performance.

Park management continues as in past years. George Schmidt is president; William Schmidt, vice-president, and A. A. Cleary, superintendent.

Top Gates Chalked In Anthracite Area

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., June 14.—Recent openers were reported by managers of parks in the anthracite region, with more than 50,000 in attendance for best business in many years on Decoration Day. Weather was good, altho too cool for most swimmers.

L. S. Barr, manager of Sans Souci Park here, reported a gate of 10,000 and some good spending. At night 800 danced to tunes of Frank Lombardo and his orchestra.

Ben Sterling Jr., of Rocky Glen Park, Moosic, estimated attendance at 25,000. (See PA. PARKS on page 63.)

Atlantic City

Children's Week, which has been growing in popularity since its start in 1934, will be June 26-July 3. Children under 12 accompanied by a parent will be guests of Hotel and amusement interests.

Mayor Thomas D. Taggart Jr. is not letting up in efforts to bag the American Legion convention for 1942. He has also entered a bid for the National Shrine Club convention for 1942.

Several thousand on June 8 witnessed smoke and flames pouring from ocean end of Heinz Pier. Fire was thought to have been started by a smoker. Damage was estimated at $200.

Pre-season week-ends have been as big as those in July and August.

South Jersey

Wildwood is still pinching itself to make sure the amazing Decoration Day week-end wasn't just a dream. Week-end business continues terrific and deposits in Wildwood's three banks are more than double those of same periods last year. New Jersey State convention of Spanish War Veterans will be here on June 19-21. Judging from increasing throngs and earlier return than usual of summer residents, Wildwood Crest looks for a brilliant season. Decoration Day period was biggest in history.

Cape May's season promises to be one of the most active the resort has ever known. The 142d season starts on June 28 with opening of Convention Hall. Clarence Fuhrman, Philadelphia, was engaged for the 10th season to supply free night dances and concerts.

Volume of holiday visitors left little doubt that 61-year-old Sea Isle City faces its best season. Mayor G. Fred Croncker said.

Capacity for Gwynn Oak

BALTIMORE, Md., June 14.—On June 13 Gwynn Oak Park presented Capt. Herbert Martinez and his dogs, cats, monkeys, and birds as the first free stage attraction of the season. Weather, turning good after a week of rain, brought capacity crowds. Next attraction will be Vin Carey, magician. Five kinds of boating are offered on the nine-acre "Lake o' Love," and Bo-Bo, starting his fifth season at the park with 10 new costumes, continues to delight youngsters. Rudy Killian's orchestra, nightly in the ballroom, has been enlarged and Mary Elers has been added as soloist.

Park Free Acts

GREAT OSSANIS TROUPE high wire in Summit Beach Park, Akron, O., replaced Hollywood Aerial Ballet and Capt. Roland Tiebor's Seals. Next in will be Froiske's Tigers. Jerome T. Harriman, park's public relations director, is also handling announcing duties.

HARRY BROWN, balloonist, had a narrow escape in Ramona Park, Grand Rapids, Mich., on June 1 when he dropped onto the rails of a Roller Coaster, after making a parachute jump, just after one car had passed by. Power was shut off and he was extricated without injury.

HAPPY KELLEMS, circus clown, is working Kennywood Park, Pittsburgh, having been booked in thru Barnes-Carruthers from May 16 to July 5.

AFTER an engagement of two and a half weeks, ending on June 15, in Craig Beach Park, Diamond, O., Flying Valentinos report they will play parks for Gus Sun Agency.

SKY-HIGH ALICIDOS, American act, which have been featured in Coney Island Park, Caracas, Venezuela, S. A., will return to the States the last week in June to play parks and fairs, reported Joseph Alphonso Peeteau, who added that the act signed with J. A. Borges Villages, manager of the park, for a return engagement next winter.

AFTER two weeks in Buckeye Lake (O.) Park, Poodles Hannaford and Company moved into Meyers Lake Park, Canton, O., for a week, and from there shifts to Summit Beach Park, Akron, O. Set by Bob Shaw, Gus Sun Exchange.

THE ATENOS, acrobats, are in Buckeye Lake (O.) Park, which will have free acts all season, reported Manager A. M. Brown.

Rinks and Skaters

By CLAUDE R. ELLIS (Cincinnati Office)

Celoron Skateland Stunts Are Pulling

CELORON, N. Y., June 14.—Skateland in Celoron Park on Chautauqua Lake is expecting a bang-up summer. Blink remained open throughout winter and received good patronage. Oscar Zimmer, new manager, has done well with the enterprise since spring, when he took over. He was previously associated with Waldameer Park, Erie, Pa., and Glen Park, near Buffalo. Attendance has been boosted by successful crowd-pulling stunts introduced by Zimmer.

Capacity is 600 skaters comfortably and average nightly crowd runs about 300. On week-ends capacity is no exception and Zimmer is looking for full houses during July and August. Special events include balloon race and balloon skating on Wednesdays and Treasure Chest Night on Fridays, latter helping to establish a mailing list, as skaters register when entering the rink.

Occasional big parties are formed to visit other rinks that in turn call on Celoron for a day. A big skating carnival in May drew $50, a record attendance. Speed races, special contests, and pros, as well as exhibitions by locals, were among attractions. Carnival idea is to be repeated in July. Two new clubs are devoted to skating dancing. Senior Roller Club admits dancers over 18 years old; Junior Roller Club caters to the younger element.

Personnel includes Stanley Reed, floor manager; Warren Lauchs, Norm Palmer, floormen; Romaine Jankowski, instructor; Charles Stafford, skateroom; Vicki Van House, cashier; Audine Hardenberg, organist; Jessie Newbaur, refreshment stand; Cyrus Greiner, Arthur Covey, boys' boys.

ROLL-ARENA RINK, Gloucester City, N. J., has moved summer operations to Alcyon Park Rink, near Pitman, N. J.

SKATING performers playing in the Philadelphia territory this week include Niles and Jo-Anne at Cadillac Tavern; Lorraine at Jack and Bob's, Trenton, N. J., and Rhythm Brown at Red Hill Inn, Pennsauken, N. J.

PHILADELPHIA interests are reported planning to build a big roller-skating rink in Reading, Pa., if they can get permission to operate on Sundays.

HELEN REYNOLDS Skating Girls, now appearing at the Shoreham Terrace, Washington, for the fourth time, have just returned from Rio de Janeiro, where they appeared for 15 weeks at the Ura Casino. Act has been booked for Central Canada Exhibition, Ottawa; New York Fair, to be held in Madison Square Garden this fall, and Low-Slate Theater, New York.

IN a film short to be released this month are some highlights of interest to many skaters, reports George Kornowak, Bronx, New York, who is credited with suggesting the making of the short, "Fun on Rollers." He has been a roller skater more than a dozen years and formerly raced at Van Cortlandt Rink, New York City. Among skaters to be seen in the film, he reports, are the Three Flashes, Frances Depke, Johnny Scarsola, and Ray Leone, pro spinning team; Betty Little and Johnny Dolan, and Joyce Perline.

SUMMER schedule will start in White Plains (N. Y.) Roller Rink on June 23, the winter season to close on June 22 with a celebration and show with exhibitions by rink skaters and visitors from other spots. Frances Donahue is the new White Plains professional. Altho she has not been skating long she has passed her bronze medal proficiency test, experts soon to try for the silver medal, and has been practicing daily with Bill Holland, operator and manager. Rink's summer dress rules request women not to wear beach pajamas, riding breeches, nor shorts, but to wear skating costumes that are not too short. Men may skate without coats but must wear clothes that are clean and neat. Neckties are not necessary with sport shirts but should be worn with regular dress shirts, even the collars are not buttoned. Suspenders are not permitted on the outside and also forbidden are vests or athletic shirts without collars or sleeves, overalls, and dungarees.

START of the fourth season with his portable is reported his most successful by Manager Alexander Eddy, Skateland, English, W. Va. He is 24 and subject to the selective service draft. He has been using the rink four months to a season and playing in Kentucky, West Virginia, and Virginia. Portable is 40 by 90 feet and five sessions are run daily. Several hockey teams have been organized and greased-pig contests, always a big draw there, are planned. D. Hampton is floor manager and Theodore Howe is skater.

FIRST ERSO Night in Bay Ridge Roller Rink, Brooklyn, on May 27 was staged successfully, reported Manager

Art Launay. Several hundred witnessed a show staged by skaters thru courtesy of managements of Wal-Cliff Blink, Minnesota (In I.) Blink, and New Rochelle (N. Y.) Blink. Receipts of the night are to be turned over to the amateur fund of the Roller Skating Rink Operators' Association of the United States to aid in promoting roller skating in all branches.

GUS GIBSON, Cleveland operator, has returned to Chippewa Lake Park, near Medina, O., to operate the park roller rink for the summer. It opened on week-ends during May and started daily schedule on Decoration Day. Gibson has been in charge of the park rink several seasons.

MEMBERS of the Roller Skating Club of Chicago, staged a week-end bus party on May 30-June 1 to Arena Gardens Rink, Chicago, with a side trip to Skateland, Saginaw, Mich., reports Gwen Ray, secretary. Visitors were interestingly entertained, especially at the fifth annual Skaters' Convention in Arena Gardens. More bus trips are planned by the club.

ELITCH'S JUBILEE

A new lighting system has been installed, with hundreds of feet of neon. Gardens are being laid out for summer with thousands of blooms and baskets of hanging ferns and flowers from the park greenhouses. Picnic department, under Jack Gurtler, is 100 per cent ahead of last season. Dining spots have been enlarged and beautified under direction of Arnold B. Gurtler, II, in charge of the commissary. Summer theater will open on June 16. This is its golden Jubilee year and there will be offered an imposing list of plays with Skylark first up and Don Woods, of the films, heading the cast as leading man. Arthur J. Levy, general press representative for Bonfils-Somme, is handling park publicity.

Asbury Has Influx Of Uniform Trade

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 14.—Spurred by an influx of some 50,000 inductees in three near-by army posts plus a good upsizing in tourist traffic, Boardwalk ops are wearing smiles. Fort Monmouth, Army's main signal corps center, and Fort Hancock, both within a few miles of here, are contributing heavily to Boardwalk traffic, while Fort Dix is also sending in heavy contingents several times a week. While visitors are not overfull with folding money, ops declare that it all helps out, especially before regular trade of vacationists. Long Branch is playing heavily to uniformed contingents also.

For the second time in 25 years a new city administration here will control beach-front policy. C. E. F. Hetrick, mayor for a quarter of a century (with exception of 18 months in 1933-34), was supplanted at an election on May 12. Altho re-elected to city council, he did not carry with him a majority of the members. New top man is Clarence V. Mooney, former police captain, who ran high on an anti-administration ticket. New municipal set-up has made no statement of policy, altho campaign platform called for getting rid of "objectionable" features along the walk.

Most of the regulars are at their old stands, with a few new spots added. Ned Morris goes into a remodeled walk spot with plastic gadgets. Ross and Fontain opened last week with a Caterpillar ride which got away to a good start. Charlie Musso takes over roller chair and beach equipment concession held for 20 years by Johnny Schneider. Zimel Resnick and Lou Levinson, who opened their refurbished Funhouse, report good takes for the first two weeks. New roller rink in the Casino is operated by syndicate headed by W. M. Schmitz, America on Wheels.

ST. PAUL.—St. Paul Zoological Society has opened a membership campaign, with a goal of $2,500, to purchase additional animals for Como Park Zoo here. Plans are for purchase of two seals, two tigers, and two leopards.

CHARLES SAMUELS, who used to be a press agent at Coney Island, is represented in July Esquire with a fiction piece called Unhappy Promotion Day. Must remember to read it when, as, and if we discover 50 cents not doing any thing. . . . A recent issue of The Lamp had for its cover a painting by Robert E. Weaver titled The Revenant Riders. It's about time actual circus names were used. But what impresses a reader is that the horses are traveling counter-clockwise. "An artist rarely portrays the equestrian art properly, in counter-clockwise direction. At long last I see one has done right by the circus." . . . From Foreword, organ of Texas State Fair: "From early contracts made, one of the greatest midways ever seen on the grounds of an annual exposition will be presented at the 1941 State Fair. Such names as Sally Rand, Ray Marsh Bryden, and Harley Sadler—all famous in outdoor show circles—will grace the fronts on the independent midway. Among the ride operators who have already signed contracts are Fred McPhee, Ray Stinnett, Harry Illinois, and others. Harley Sadler will bring two attractions here. Secretary Roy Itupard and Harry L. Stay, president, are in contact with numerous other famous independent operators, and they expect a total of more than 15 shows to be ready when the gates open. The shows will have something behind these fronts. An innovation will be signs on every front as to what time the next show will start and these rules will be strictly enforced so that patrons will not have to waste an hour or two waiting for the next show to begin." Bravo!

JULIAN B. TUTHILL, amusement editor, in the Berthford (Conn.) Times-Lake Compounce, near Bristol, and Riverside Park, near Springfield, are as alike as two adjoining pages in a telephone book, yet just as different. Compounce has an intimate, friendly, and folksy atmosphere about it. Riverside has more attractions, is more streamlined, and gives an impression of the amusement area of the New York World's Fair. Like the circus, the amusement park will never die as a continual source of hilarity. Both Compounce and Riverside have gone in for modernization. Both are under careful supervision of managements that have the public interest at heart. Both reported encouraging gains in attendance during the few week-ends that both places have been open. It looks like a good year!

We were especially interested in Mr. Tuthill's statement that Compounce has been in the same two families for all the 96 years of its existence. Would this be the oldest park resort in the United States—or, if not, the oldest that is still in the same ownership?

LAST week the following question was posed: "Who buys more amusements of all classes than anyone else in the world?" Our answer was: If it isn't Frank P. Gravatt, chief of Steel Pier, Atlantic City, well put on the dunce cap." Promptly in the mails came a copy of the big amusement preview of the resort in The Atlantic City Press, with a full page about Gravatt, "a dynamic, self-made dictator of diversion known in amusement circles around the world as 'The Salt Water Barnum.'" Altho the yarn suggests the hand of a press agent at work, it is an impressive lecture about the Steel Pier as a showshop of almost overwhelming proportions and influence.

It is recorded that after a syndicate of 10 representative Atlantic City business men walked out on Gravatt when he attempted to swing a deal for the place in the early '20s, he refused to back down or holler uncle and carried the deal thru alone. One of his first acts was to install name attractions, the first show being headed by John Philip Sousa. Thereafter Gravatt's policy was to the effect that "If it's big, I want it."

Some of the items Gravatt brought into the pier were a 70-ton whale and the 6,000-pound sea lion, Goliath. A nationally acclaimed stunt at the time was Primo Carnera coming to grips with a boxing kangaroo. The diving horse act (Carver) was originally supposed to do the plunge into the ocean. It then developed that the nag wouldn't go into the briny deep, so a tank was constructed at a cost of $35,000. Shipwreck Kelly came to the pier with an endurance contest idea atop a pole, compensation being based on the length of time he remained up. They say the Shipwreck made a small fortune from that singular contract. Abe Lyman, the orker, played in the cage of Froese's Tigers. Guy Lombardo would bring his fancy yacht and moor it at the dock of the pier during engagements. Leo, MGM lion, was there for one season. Bob Matthews' lion, Tufty, for one season. Max was shot out of the cannon at the tip of the pier. Girl was shot out of a cannon. Marriage was performed in the ocean at the Stadium-end of pier. Parachute drops were made there, too, from an autogiro. John McCormack was paid $5,000 for 50 minutes of actual singing. Frank Elliott, production manager, discovered Bud Abbott and Lou Costello in the Republic burly theater in New York. Pier had two gorillas for two seasons, Massa and Buddy, "who has since been featured with the Ringling show as Gar-gantua." (Buddy is the one involved, presumably.)

Amos and Andy's contract called for five shows a day, but the crowds were so tremendous on one occasion that they gave 14 shows. Rudy Vallee and Belle Baker were on the same bill. As for the name bands, Gravatt buys them as if he were part of the Rockefeller family. "The air time for Atlantic City and Steel Pier thru the broadcasting of the big name bands during the past years, if purchased, would cost in excess of $300,000." For the last 15 years Gravatt has had a large moving sign on the Brokaw Building, New York, and the Fidelity Building, Philadelphia.

"Thus—in this amazing master of entertainment—Atlantic City's 'Salt Water Barnum,' and his Steel Pier, is recorded one of the tremendous attractions that grew pace by pace with Atlantic City—the resort that grew out of a few sand dunes—and men's dreams."

As a matter of fact, there's a bigger story in Gravatt than the foregoing excerpts suggest—much too big for either your correspondent or the space allowed.

THE suggestion recently run in this column that hillbilly shows would be a profitable attraction on midways has drawn considerable correspondence, all agreeing that the idea is a sound one, but some of the correspondents submitting ideas which, altho food for thought, probably would be impractical for carnivals. We are always glad to receive such letters from readers. Their ideas, like many of our own, may not pass the test of practicality, but at least they tend to awaken thought in minds that might remain in a rut but for occasional stimulation. A former carnival man who has been a designer and builder of show fronts and also has served as lot man and superintendent on many of the larger carnivals writes:

"Have noted with interest your comments on the hillbilly type of entertainment for carnivals. Since 1934 I have been trying to book such an attraction on some of the larger midways, so far unsuccessfully. I have talked to many leading outdoor showmen, to no avail. All were interested; all had faith in my ability as a lot man, designer, and builder, but they just never got around to giving a contract for a show. I note Hennies Bros.' Shows have a show of this type and are doing some business with it. However, they should build a distinctive front for it. The front now used is the old Express front rehashed. Guess the reason the boys wouldn't book a show for me is they wanted to keep me building. Am still building—powder plants for Uncle Sam. When I hit the road again it will be with my own show, a combination circus and carnival, which I believe will be the next development in the carnival field."

CHARLES (SHORTY) EVERETT, of Oroville, N. C., has some ideas which we believe would be too ambitious for any carnival, but maybe we're wrong. "Large carnivals," he says, "are missing a good bit by not getting the Kate Smith, Professor Quiz, Major Bowes, or some other big broadcast. The broadcasts could originate on the lot under admission or as a free act. . . . Every amusement field has its attractions for the carnival that isn't in a rut. Super-men would make an ideal muscle show. Blondie would go over big as a clean, wholesome family comedy. Dick Tracy or Dan Dunn could be built into a museum of crime. . . . A tie-up with some company producing amateur shows and pageants, the directors going in advance and readying the production for the carnival dates, the carnival furnishing the top, etc., would draw well with the locals."

There is not space to reproduce the rest of Everett's letter. Some of his suggestions might be practical, but we can think of a lot of good reasons why the Kate Smith, Professor Quiz, and other big broadcasts wouldn't fit on a midway. So can any carnival man.

E. LAWRENCE PHILLIPS, head of the Johnny J. Jones Exposition, dropped in on the boys in Chi last week while his show was playing Fort Wayne, Ind.

Verne Soule, who spent most of the winter in a hospital and is still wearing an iron brace because of injuries to a leg, was a Chicago visitor last week from his home in Harrison, O. Soule is arranging for appearance of his parade equipment at many summer celebrations. . . . H. W. Morris and wife, Gertrude, formerly with Wallace Bros. Circus, have temporarily retired from the road and are living in a Chicago suburb, where Morris is connected with a publishing company. . . . Paul Fairleigh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noble C. Fairley, got a swell break in The Chicago Daily News last week when the sheet carried a two-column story by Geni Morgan on Fairleigh's experiences in Germany, where he was an attaché of the American embassy. Young Fairleigh, whose baritone voice won him acclaim in concert appearances in London, Berlin, Munich, and Rome, is continuing his musical studies here.

That was Kokomo Jimmy saying hello to the boys on the Magic Carpet before departing for St. Louis. . . . J. D. Newman and Paul Branson have been looking over lots around Chicago, indicating that Cole Bros.' Circus may be first into the Windy City this year. The Ringling show will come in the first week in August, later than usual. That Chigoland looks good to outdoor showmen is indicated by the large number of carnivals playing the territory. Several have already played towns adjacent to Chicago, and last week at least six outfits, large and small, were playing within a 25-mile radius of the city. Indications are that at least two major carnivals will play fill-in dates here before start of the fair season. . . . The Amusement Corporation of America continues to go up. This time it's from the 8th to the 14th floor of the Ashland Block. General Manager J. C. McCaffery was comfortably installed in the new offices early last week.

Hartmann's Broadcast

CINCINNATI

THIS question of ride men doubling as drivers of semi-trailers in moving carnivals when near exhaustion thru long hours of work on midways immediately prior to the journeys has become quite serious. It is something which those concerned should look into at once if they have not already done so.

In the opinion of H. L. Heyn, a prominent ride owner and operator, there is a possibility of this situation leading to some drastic action in Washington on Sunday movements of shows. Writing from Peoria, Ill., he says:

"I have been wanting to write to you for a long time about a certain subject and even now I don't know just how to say what I want. Anyway, the point I have in mind is this: Why is there always such a big demand for truck drivers, or ride men who can and will drive semi-trailers? It certainly cannot be because of a shortage of drivers, for even many men rejected in the draft are good drivers. But there are also many good ride men who are not drivers, or capable drivers, and the good ride man, who is also a good driver, above all wants to be loyal to his employer and will sometimes work part of a day and all night and then drive a big, heavily loaded truck from 50 to 250 miles.

"If those concerned are fair they must admit such a shift on duty is certainly beyond the limits of physical endurance, and there seems to be a way some have of rating ride men who fail to stand up under those conditions as incapable or inefficient.

"But straws in the wind are showing that much stress is put on by Washington officials to have gasless Sundays and also to forbid some classes of trucks from operating on Sundays. Is it possible that the proposed restrictions are prompted by State highway men who are known to be much in favor of legislation like that because it is known they have made reports that there are altogether too many incapable drivers on show trucks moving on Sundays? Now this is not a matter of wages or ability so much as it is a matter of conditions. Perhaps some time such conditions will change and the world's progress would justify that.

"Even as much as every one in show business wants to move fast and get going quickly on Sunday morning, it seems to be an ironical tradition that it has to be on Sunday and that the moves cannot be made except on Sundays. Nevertheless, there is much reasonable cause for complaint that so many trucks with sleepy drivers are an increasing danger on the highways more so on Sunday than other days because of the many more cars using the roads.

"There is, I believe, much that can be said about this subject, but I do not know what I could say that would be a remedy or an improvement. Surely there must be some showmen with constructive ideas who can find a solution to the problem."

OUR comment on the closing of Barnes Bros. Circus fetched the following letter from Alexander P. Clark, of Stamford, Conn.:

"Apropos of the recent demise of Barnes Bros. Circus, and the unusual and slightly unbecoming practices of the people in advance of that circus about which you wrote so pointedly in a recent Broadcast, I wonder if you'd think it amus if I sent you this from Walter D. Edmonds' Chad Hanna:

"Mr. Bisbee, the dependable mainstay and advance man of Huguenin's Great and Only International Circus (1886) is talking to Chad Hanna about his ambitions toward owning a circus himself and about the unfortunate experience he had when he bought into one once, and his partner absconded, leaving him with 'the bag.' He said:

"Well, I had some paper left, so I started out. I papered the circus all the way to Philadelphia, getting my room and supper every night for tacking up the sheet in some particular tavern (possible in those days, as the relatively scarce circus posters brought trade to the tavern taproom) the way I did at the Yellow Bud. That's one thing I've learned. If he's got paper enough, a circus agent can go clear across America without a single cent in his pants. . . . But I don't think I'll take a show of mine over that Pennsylvania route. Those Dutch remember like elephants."

"I don't know whether Mr. Edmonds' researches into circus life in the early days, came upon a real incident of this type or not. But it seemed to be an amusing parallel. But there was a reason for Bisbee's fraud, and all the victims lost was a meal to the agent. That Barnes Bros. case was really deplorable."

Gadgets on Parade Opens in New York

NEW YORK, June 14.—Renwall Manufacturing Company has opened "Gadgets on Parade" near Duffy Square. This is the ultimate in pitch stands and features five useful kitchen accessories.

Items include the Vitex-glass knife, Lucite juice extractor, spiral slicer, rotary mincer, and spatulas. Public response has been exceptionally good. All the items are practical and, sold in combination for a nominal sum, there is little sales resistance.

Stand is managed by Irving Rosenblum, with the assistance of five live-wire, expert demonstrators.

DEALS

A Column for OPERATORS & DISTRIBUTORS of SALESBOARDS, SALESCARDS and TRADE STIMULATORS.

By BEN SMITH

Ever since the introduction of the first candid-type camera, cameras in general have been good producers on a card or board. Especially so during hot months when Mr. and Mrs. John Public are on vacation and must have a picture record to prove it. Understanding this, the Universal Camera Corporation is planning an intensive sales campaign on two of its hottest items, the Twinflex and the Uniflash. Both have the flash and consumer appeal to move and, as they are popularly priced, both are worth a look-see.

The Twinflex, claimed the only genuine focusing reflex camera under $25, eliminates fuzzy, blurry shots, for you can focus the picture first. The Uniflash permits the taking of snapshots indoors and outdoors, day and night, and it is claimed takes pictures equal to those taken by cameras costing four and five times as much.

Local operators are enjoying a nice turnover on a Cedar Vanity Chest small card deal which milady and her boy friend apparently find quite appealing. Chest is made of natural cedar wood and contains a toilet ensemble consisting of bubble bath, cologne, talcum powder, and perfume. After contents are consumed chest can be used to hold trinkets, jewelry, etc. Deal works on a 30-hole card 1 cent to 29 cents with a $7.00 take and gives away two chests.

New England Resort Season Bows In to Good Business

National defense program boosts spending — more merchandise is sold

BOSTON, June 14.—Canes and batons are again the two most important items for the new season, concessionaires in Massachusetts reported this week. Orders for canes and batons, particularly several of the new models which feature patriotic themes and other new ideas, are keeping Boston jobbers busy.

One of the newer items, a light wooden baton to which is attached a bell, already is reported as one of the favorites of the current season. Available in red, white, and blue or in solid colors, this number makes a nice flash and is used by beach concessionaires and as a consolation prize at bingo games. Another good item currently is the hatchet cane, first introduced late last season.

With Revere Beach and Paragon Park at Nantasket already open, and with Salesbury Beach scheduled to get under way within a few days, concessionaires in this vicinity are almost all stocked up with items they feel will prove money-makers this year. Patriotic items, of course, are among the top favorites, with many varied and distinctive items on display. Leather goods, bearing the emblem or insignia of some branch of service are extremely popular along the beaches, particularly at Revere, which is only a short distance from the Charlestown Navy Yard, and from several plants where defense work one to the winner and one to the worker of the card, as well as two Wahl Ever-sharp pencils as consolation awards. One operator reports on 40 orders placed on a Monday and Tuesday he had 18 collections come thru by Saturday. Prod-mart, Inc., is the distributor of the combination.

Operators who like to attend merchandise shows may be interested in the dates of the following shows sponsored by George F. Little Management, Inc.: New York Lamp Show, Hotel New Yorker, July 21 to 25; Chicago Gift Show, Palmer House, August 4 to 15; New York Gift Show, Hotel Pennsylvania, August 25 to 29.

Several distributors have taken advantage of our offer to have their names placed on our list of deals distributors. We expected many more, as here is an opportunity to make some interesting and perhaps profitable contacts on the house. Having his name added to our list obligates the distributor in no way but may develop new customers for him that he might not contact otherwise. We receive requests for names of deals distributors constantly and are glad to forward such names to operators who ask for them.

Some smart manufacturer is going to walk into a gold mine. He is now devoting his time to creating an item for the salesboard market . . . and every operator in the nation is waiting to put his cash on the line as soon as it is ready. Are you that manufacturer? You're missing a good bet for real volume business if you're not.

Here is something else the smart manufacturer can do to help the operator. Create new, inexpensive items which can supplement the conventional pen and pencil as consolation awards. A little more attention given to the type of consolation awards offered should lead more rest to a deal and make for a faster turnover.

The huge amount of money being spent is reflected in the business being done by concessionaires in various sections of New England. Some places report business up as much as 50 per cent. This figure is unusual, but most merchandise users report sales are up approximately 30 per cent over last year's figures. This increased spending is traced directly to the national defense program and the resultant wage increases and added employment opportunities.

An example of the amount of money being spent in this section is given by the figures for the first three weeks' handle at the Suffolk Downs race track, where $7,814,716 poured into the mutual machines. This was a daily average of $434,151. In addition to the huge amount of money being spent on bets, it is estimated that another $50,000 is being spent on the various merchandise souvenirs sold by concessionaires at the track. In addition, Revere Beach is reportedly enjoying better business as a result of the activities of the track. Many persons leave the track and spend the evening at Revere, only three miles away.

Bingo games are using more merchandise than they have in some time. As a result of the increased spending opportunity countless persons are playing the game who have never played before. These new customers are attracted to merchandise bingo and receipts are said to be soaring. Boston jobbers who cater to the bingo operators are also well pleased because of the size and quantity of orders already placed by operators for merchandise.

Dolls and soft-stuffed animals continue to be the chief item at the bingo games, with dishes, lamps, and jewelry following in that order. Several new patriotic dolls are reported registering well with bingo patrons, and other merchandise users like roll-downs, and dart games report the new dolls with the red, white, and blue costumes are more in demand than any of the other prizes offered.

Pen and Pencil Sets In Limelight Again

NEW YORK, June 14.—Graduation exercises this month will boost pen and pencil set sales again. This year's improved line, with flashy colors, striking designs, and finer quality in mechanical function, features lower prices. This means greater sales and profit possibilities.

It is reported that the plunger-type pen still leads in popularity. The colors and designs of the latest creations make them automatically stand out as good values. Most sets come packed in individual boxes, also attractively designed to add to eye-catching appeal.

The periodic boom in pen and pencil sets around this time of year has always been profitable to merchandise users.

Cash In on Stuffed Toys

NEW YORK, June 14.—This is a big year for stuffed toys. Always a favorite for concessionaires, the current attractive line bids to break previous records.

Such hot sellers as stuffed elephants, scottie dogs, cats, bears, monkeys, kangaroos, and rabbits have always appealed to both youngsters and adults. In the latter case the whims for these stuffed toys is strong with women who like to have them in their homes as a decorative item.

The new lines heralded in this year are colorful and lifelike.

BINGO BUSINESS

By JOHN CARY

A REPORT from New Haven, Conn., states that bingo has been legalized by the State in towns where it has been played for two successive years of more.

ACCORDING TO The Cincinnati Enquirer, one evening not so long ago a young matron stopped a bus on one of the longer lines of the Cincinnati Street Railway System. Her seven-year-old son boarded the bus, showed the operator five nickels, and said:

"Mother has gone to the bingo. I am to ride the bus back and forth from one end of the line to the other until I use up all these nickels. By that time the bingo will be over, and I can go home."

The plan worked perfectly. Mother had her evening at the bingo game and, according to the bus operator, the boy also enjoyed his evening.

AFTER AN ABSENCE of a month, during which time many protests were raised against the ban, bingo has been reinstated in Racine, Wis., by District Attorney Richard G. Harvey Jr. and Chief of Police Arthur J. Muhlike. Authorities had clamped down on the game because they claimed it was "getting out of hand." They have now agreed to permit the game providing it is not over-commercialized and does not become a nuisance.

A BENEFIT bingo party was given by the Labor Temple in Monroe, La., May 29 for the benefit of the British Labor Relief Committee. A large crowd attended.

BINGO GAMES in Natchez, Miss., are still operating under the law but a ruling has been passed by the mayor and board of Natchez that games must close at midnight every Saturday.

J. A. Whyte & Son, importers of sea shell and native curios, have moved to new quarters at 7310 N. E. Second Avenue, Miami. Move was made necessary by the rapidly growing wholesale business, firm officials report.

ARMY PAY ROLLS
are proving a big help to pitchmen playing army camps down Louisiana and Mississippi way, according to reports from the boys playing that sector. Also proving a big aid are the prevalent good crops in that neck of the woods.

HARRY LEPITZ . . . disabled war veteran of Raleigh, N. C., advises that he's planning to enter the pitch field and will work key checks, rings, and tags.

JACK DAVID . . . personable mad purveyor has been clicking with his demonstration in Neisner's Cincinnati five-and-dime the last few weeks. During a brief visit to the pipes desk last week he advised that he had been booked to work the Western Canada Class A Fair Circuit starting at Brandon, Ont., June 30.

ROBERT MARSH . . . who recently joined the ranks of the bemedaled, is working a downtown Cincinnati location with cut flowers to satisfactory returns.

TRIPOD OPINIONS: "It's all right for a fellow to brag about the tips he pitches to if they spend anything other than their presence."

MARIE R. ZAMPINO . . . shampoo worker, who has been working Des Moines, Ia., opened in Omaha, Neb., June 16 for a week, then moves to Council Bluffs, Ia., for a week, beginning June 23, and on to Lincoln, Neb., June 30. She has been in the pitch game five years.

STANLEY NALDRITT . . . who opened in Grand Rapids, Mich., June 9, reports that Maggie Smith is in Kraeger's there. Jack Hubbell and wife stopped in to say "hello" to Naldritt. Stanley also reports that Freddy Smith is in Green's store, Madison, Wis.

G. R. WILSON . . . of peerless fame, is working your-name-on-a-sea-shell brooches in St. Louis.

JERRY THE JAMMER SIZZ: "The fellow who thinks he's important does all right until he begins to believe he's indispensable."

RUSSELL JAMES . . . health lecturer, charged in Hennepin County District Court, Minneapolis, with practicing healing without a license, was found not guilty last week by a jury which deliberated three hours.

R. H. BENSON . . . scribes from St. Louis: "Never have I seen a team of foot workers in the class with Phil Kraft and Harry Dempsey. I have watched them here in the Neisner store, giving outstanding pitches. This has been going on for four weeks and they are still going strong. They are working for a $1 touch holding the crowd."

JAY KOPEN . . . of Minneapolis, was fined $10 after pleading guilty to violating the true name law in District Court in Pittsfield, Mass., recently. Kopen was arrested by Detective Charles A. Barry, who charged that he was using three different names. Kopen had acted for a week as a salesman of herb tea in the window of a Main Street drugstore, where he was known as Doc Vanze. His draft registration card showed his name to be Jay Kopen. He had registered at the Pickwick Hotel under the name of Jerry Vanze and his Social Security card showed his name to be Jack Coben.

Med Shows and Oldtimers

By E. F. Hannan

LETTERS from several old-time vaude and repertoire performers indicate that the med shows are not only the beginning of experience in the business for many troupers, but are also a haven for them in their advanced years. Perhaps it's a peculiar condition, but of the many branches of small show business none pay off any more regularly than the established med show.

It's agreed that the pay is small enough, but so it is in the case of many another end of the traveling unit field, where the ghost is likely more often than not to have a permanent affliction when it comes to walking. There are more than two dozen old-timers with small med tricks in Texas, Mississippi, and Alabama, many of whom were top-notch performers in their heyday.

They make good entertainers for small-town audiences because they enter into the spirit of the occasion and know how to lay down entertainment for this type audience. In fact, many of them come from small towns and so know the ways of the natives and his likes and dislikes in amusement. Like show business itself, the ways of the performer runs in a return cycle.

COLE BIZ FAIR

to Port Huron and other Michigan towns before returning home to its east side lot at Connors and Mack Avenue for a two-day stand June 14-15.

WARREN, O., June 14—Fair skies greeted Cole Bros.' Circus here June 5 after the show's battle with rain and mud at Butler, its last Western Pennsylvania stand. June 4, which date was lost due to rain. Arrival here was early and everything was up and ready shortly after 10:30 a.m. Matinee was light and night show attracted little better than half a house. Wallace Bros. was in ahead of Cole, and Ringling-Barnum paper for Youngstown June 21 was in evidence all over town, which factors may have contributed to the lack of patronage. Haul was short and show was off the lot at 1 a.m., with a 120-mile move to Elyria, Ohio stop, facing it for Friday. Business at the several New York State stands and the few in Pennsylvania was spotty.

There was much visiting with members of the Russell show, playing 35 miles away at Alliance. O. Ted Deppeh was on for the third time to complete his movie shots of the program and backyard activities. The underneath side of the big top was a mass of mud here, but Curly Stewart said he expected to give it a good cleaning when it went up at Elyria.

Gems Weeks and Win Partello said concession spending was showing an improvement over last season. Help shortage has been eased somewhat in the last two weeks, according to Superintendent Stewart, who said that the canvas, seat, and prop departments were up to full strength.

Among the top-place performers are the Reiffenbach Troupe of internationally known riding fame. Dorothy Herbert, the Nelson troupe headed by Paul Nelson and a bevy of really good looking baller girls. The clown section is just about as surefire as any one circus manager could assemble and present with Emmett Kelly, Otto Greisberg, Horace Laird, Ho-Bo Bennett, and a dozen or more others. Vic Robbins does a commendable bit of directing with his band and wonders upon wonders. . . . he injected musical numbers galore which have been lately placed tops in The Hit Parade. Probably that is another reason why one enjoys the performance so much. The new canvas was a surprise bombshell. The big top (a four-poler) is made of blue drill, resembling a gigantic silken sky of a hue which is beautiful. The "hood" is a gigantic flag of Stars and Stripes the full length of the tent. All center and double quarter poles are patriotic in color and motif. During the early morning set-up I stood with Fred Seymour, general superintendent, just as the big top workmen were "shooting" quarter poles into the big red, white, and blue quarter-pole spots and one crew missed the grommet and the spike tore a sizable hole. Fred turned pale and had a near collapse which nothing but two cups of steaming Java could correct. It was unfortunate but accidents happen every day around a circus and it was unavoidable. Had that been me in the old days with Zack I would have taken it on the lam!

On the whole Cole Bros.' Circus is a revelation in performance, style, color, and horseflesh, and after looking at circuses for 40 years, take my word for it, Zack Terrell has truly made his organization 1941 with double fanfares.

Next is an exhibition of fancy riding followed by an amazing elephant number by Little India, worked by Matt Laurish. Anderson also gives an exhibition of fancy rope spinning and 1, 2, 3 horse catches.

UNDER THE MARQUEE

In the June 8 issue of Grit, Williamsport, Pa., Robert Parrish, author of the piece, said: "A circus without elephants would be like an army without soldiers. As indispensable to the big top as the poles which hold it up, the huge lumbering creatures are today a more important part of the circus than ever. They earn every peanut they get, doing more work since tractors replaced horses."

WHEN the Big Show played Wilmington, Del., a man proffered a fistful of passes to an attendant at the exchange stand for their redemption into reserved seats and was politely told that he was a little late and there were only general admission seats for the passes. The man assumed a belligerent attitude and demanded that he get his reserved seats. He insisted on this several times and when the attendant did not yield, he said: "Is this your policy about this matter?" whereupon the attendant replied: "Our policy is to sell tickets, not give away passes." This terse reply ended the matter.

TWO old-time circus troupers are living at the Laguna Honda Home, San Francisco, reports Prof. John A. Jackson, who visits there frequently. They are William H. Webb and Eddie Wells. Webb was on the Barnes circus for 12 years as bobs canvasman, ticket seller, and talker on the side show. Wells was on the advance car of the Barnes & Bailey show, also candy butcher. Jackson also says that H. T. Dahlgren, who was in charge of the stake and chain wagon under Captain Curtis on the Al G. Barnes Circus, is living in Los Angeles, and that Captain Ricardo, the old-time lion trainer and animal man, is working at the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco.

C. E. DUBLE, circus historian of Jeffersonville, Ind., writes: "The article in the June 7 issue of The Billboard concerning the tour abroad of the Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth was read with interest and is worth preserving. Twenty-two years ago I tramped with the Ringling-Barnum show with Hank Young, who made the European tour as a member of Carl Clair's Military Band. He had the reputation during his career as being the greatest circus bass drummer. Hank had one of the original route books, Five Years' Tour of Europe With Barnum & Bailey's Greatest Show on Earth. I wonder if anyone has one of these books today. Charles Bernard had one in his circus collection 10 years ago, but it was sold."

JOHN T. MILLER comments on George Nathan's recent circus article in Liberty. Miller writes: "Nathan's article was somewhat exaggerated, for I have seen some novel circus ideas in the last 35 years, though some have been nullified by poor presentation. But I agree with him about the Kiraly specs being the best thing done by the circus. I saw Kiraly's spec Nero on the Barnum & Bailey show in 1921 and the spec Columbus in 1923 and have always maintained these were the best things done by the circus. These specs used one whole side, changing and improving appearance of the big top. They were big pantomimes using five or six changes of scenery and came at the end of the program. Both featured special parade numbers. Being historical, they were over the heads of some of the spectators, but they certainly raised the tone of the circus and interested a class not usually interested in circuses. Such a scenic set-up with a bookpiece and changes of scenery would be a knockout today. If such is not practical today, why was it practical 50 years ago, with prices 25 cents to $1? One answer is: The circus years ago did not waste money carting around the country a lot of dead wood."

AMUSEMENT MACHINES

A Department for Operators, Jobbers, Distributors and Manufacturers.

Conducted by WALTER W. HURD—Communications to Ashland Building, Clark and Randolph Streets, Chicago

Good Equipment

A guest editorial by Max D. Levine, president of Scientific Machine Corporation, Brooklyn

As a result of the great national defense program in which this country is engaged, the coin machine industry is confronted with many serious problems. No American can think of the national defense program without a surge of patriotic fervor and pride in our democratic ideals. This is dramatically true of the members of the coin machine industry. For the coin machine industry is a truly American institution. It possesses a spirit and vitality, a love of freedom and fair play, and a breadth of imagination that have characterized progressive American industries throughout the course of our nation's history. Therefore, it is with a deep sense of devotion to our country's needs and a high resolve to co-operate unstintingly in the national efforts that we approach the consideration of the problems arising from the defense program.

These problems are intensified by the inherent nature of coin machine products. Coin machine inventors, designers, and mechanics have delved so deeply and ingeniously into the realms of engineering, electricity, photography, and sound that every coin machine is a startling compendium of the latest developments in all the fields of science. Coin machines constitute an effective blending of modern, specialized materials with modern, highly skilled labor. How will such an industry fare under extraordinary conditions where such factors as labor shortages, material scarcities, and priorities are the order of the day? How can the operator intelligently plan for the future? What can the manufacturer do to effectuate these plans? These are the questions which our industry must solve with its usual foresight, courage, and determination.

In the consideration of the problem, one basic fact stands out among all others. That fact may be stated very simply: Solve the problem for the operator and you solve it for all. Experience has proved that the success of the manufacturer and distributor is inseparably intertwined with the fortunes of the operator. The best insurance for the industry as a whole is to safeguard the interests of the operator.

In a large measure the operator is the industry's ultimate consumer. He is the connecting link between the industry and the public. He is the industry's missionary man, salesman, and ambassador of good will. He shares in the pioneering and gives of himself freely in his efforts to please his locations and the public. If our industry is to continue its forward march of progress the success of the operator must be assured.

The operator's significance to his locations and to the public is expressed in terms of equipment. Equipment is the operator's visiting card; it is his stock in trade; it is the essence of his business and the secret of his success. Thus it becomes apparent that the operator's guide for action in a world where armaments are paramount is to prepare himself with good equipment. Define the term "good equipment"; formulate a set of rules for the determination of what represents "good equipment"; arrive at a state of collaboration between manufacturer and operator for the creation of "good equipment" . . . and the problems of the industry will be solved.

Good equipment is equipment that is built sturdily and well. Precious labor and materials should not be wasted on machines that are imperfect. Manufacturers should double and re-double their experimental tests and cautions. A machine should not be put into production until its mechanical perfection and earning capacity have been verified beyond the shadow of a doubt.

Good equipment is equipment which has a wide public appeal. The operator should be given broad horizons. He should be provided with machines which can be operated successfully in many locations and many localities.

Good equipment is equipment which is economically correct. A machine is economically correct if it has proven appeal, if it satisfies the public, if it possesses attributes which make it important to people in their daily lives. A machine is important if it supplies a need or renders a service or awakes a smile. The essential requisite is that the machine does its appointed task and does it well.

Now more than ever before the operator should study his business and submit it to a careful scrutiny and analysis. The realization that a problem exists represents the first step in its solution. A keen awareness of the state of things will provide the basis for constructive thought. Constructive thought must be followed by affirmative action.

The operator must plan and prepare—and he must do it now. The manufacturer must plan and create—and he must do it now. In this partnership of effort and understanding is to be found the formula for the security of the operator and the progress of the industry.

Radio Mfrs. Discuss Production Problems
At Annual Convention

CHICAGO, June 14.—Combined convention of various divisions of the radio industry was held here this week. Headquarters was the Stevens Hotel, but radio and parts men were spread throughout the city.

At the opening of the Radio Manufacturers' Association get-together Tuesday (10), James S. Knowlson, president of the group and also head of Stewart-Warner Corporation, urged members to "get out and dig" for defense orders to keep radio in its proper important sphere in the defense program, and at the same time to educate administrative officials and defense authorities to the need of radio as an instrument for morale building within the country.

Paul V. Galvin, president of Galvin Manufacturing Corporation and chairman of the Radio Manufacturers' Association's government relations and priorities committee, said that the matter of priorities will be the No. 1 problem for civilian industry until the emergency is over and that as a result the radio field is faced with problems never encountered before.

At the Radio Parts National Trade Show more than 130 firms exhibited various parts and supplies used in the manufacture of radios and allied equipment. No radios were allowed on the floor but all leading firms exhibited new models in private hotel suites. A new type record changer was shown that plays both sides of the record and takes 10 and 12-inch disks intermixed. Several lines of sound equipment were displayed.

Big Deliveries on Mutoscope's Bomber

NEW YORK, June 14 (Manufacturer's release)—Hot on the heels of the "ready for volume delivery" announcement on Mutoscope's Ace Bomber has come a facer for immediate shipments.

Ace Bomber gives the player realistic bombing action with 300 split-second shots. As an enemy bomber zooms overhead, the player attempts to co-ordinate the rugged two-handed trigger with the four sets of searchlights and anti-aircraft guns that lift up and split destruction at the passing raider.

Skill is required to aim and time the proper searchlight to spot the raider and manipulate the anti-aircraft battery to "get" the bomber. Operators who examined Ace Bomber say it is impossible to relax at play appeal.

"This kind of reaction is what assures profits for operators already started with the game," states William Rabkin, president of International Mutoscope Reel Company, manufacturers of the gun. "Now that we are in a position to offer volume delivery, the rush is on."

JOSEPH J. HART, managing director of the newly formed Empire Distributors and Jobbers' Board of Trade, composed of amusement machine jobbers and distributors in New York and New Jersey.

POPULAR EATING PLACE IN HOUSTON, TEX., is Bill Williams's Chicken in the Rough. According to L. R. Gardner, of Houston Amusement Company, one reason for the continuing popularity is a Seeburg Music System. (Manufacturer's release.)

Hollywood

Soundies Reviews

PLAYMATES, released by Technicolor process. Features the Ryan Sisters and Jimmy Mercer. Based on the tune by the same name by Eddie Dowell, producers have taken advantage of the swell opportunity for production. There is plenty action, good music, and the flicker ends with a Maypole dance allowing for a soft finish. Pictorially good. Sound above average.

FLAMENCA, released by Featurette. Antonia is featured and sings the number in English. Philip Lopez's orchestra does good work on the Continental strains. Sound is excellent, but picture is little off pictorially. However, with Latin American music now the craze, film fits in well with general program.

PICKLE PUSS, released by Cameo. With the general theme that of a beauty contest, Sam Coslow and Matty Kemps have good entertainment packed into this picture. Costumes furnish the flash, and Dick Hogan does the vocalizing. Trio background singing is good, too. Pictorially good. Sound good.

ANA LANI, released by Cinemasters. Ray Kinney and His Royal Hawaiians are heard in this production. Aloha Maids are tops with their interpretive Hawaiian dancing. For those who feel the yen of the Islands, this film is good from the standpoint of both pictures and sound.

SHADRACH, released by Technicolor. Colored entertainment goes good on soundies and this film is no exception to that rule. Featuring the Shadrach boys in a Pirates' Den night club scene, Pine, pictorially and from the standpoint of sound.

A FELLER WHO PLAYS IN A BAND, released by Cameo. This production is based on an original tune by Sam Coslow, with Joseph Berns directing. Susan Miller is seen being serenaded by Will Osborne and his band. Complications provoke plenty of laughs. Good on both scores.

LOVE SONG OF RENALDO, released by Technicolor. This film follows the Shadrach boys on the reel released by Associated Producers Distributing, Inc. and gives the opposite to the fast boogie tempo of the colored team. Setting is a Spanish cabaret scene, and Marjorie Raymond and Paul Portanova are starred to an advantage.

LYDIA, released by Technicolor. In this number, starring Rudy Vallee as a carnival talker against a background of tattooed lady banners, Will Jason, the director, has turned out another soft film. It's Sammy Kahn's music, and the film is well done pictorially. Sound is tops.

BANK OF LOVE, released by Sons-o-Graph. Setting for this film is a bank where Tex Brodus goes to get a loan on love. He applies to Betty Wells for it, and loan is granted by Miss Wells and six beautiful girls who are her assistants in this "personal loan" department. Has plenty of flesh. Very good pictorially.

WHEN YOU'RE NEAR ME, released by Featurette. Lou Helmy and orchestra are heard in this film with a boat and wharf setting. Tune allows for produc-

SAN ANTONIO ROSE, released by Minoco. Dance specialty by Mimi Keller is good. Herbie Kay plays this tune in his suave rhythmic fashion. Good all the way thru.

TROPIC SWINGEROO, released by Featurette. Featured in this film are Virginia Rees, Kahalla, and Andy Iona's orchestra. Good.

YOU'RE UNFAIR TO ME, released by Cameo. This film has music by David Rose and also features the Cameo girls, who give the number a two base hit to start on. Then with Florence Pepper as head of the girl line, the boys are pickeled. It's amusing situations should attract.

PRENEEL, released by Minoco. Music and vocals are by Del Casino and the Wally Wangler ensemble is also featured. Pictorially good; sound, good.

RAIN ON THE ROOF, released by Cameo. In this number David Rose music is again featured, as are the Cameo Girls. Maxine Grey sings the lyrics and does, as usual, a top job. Sound track is much better than the pictorial qualities.

MAYBE, released by Minoco. In this film the Kiddodlers are featured with their 133 toy instruments and gadgets. Sound is good as is the pictorial quality.

Coslow Heads W. C. Soundies

HOLLYWOOD, June 14.—Sam Coslow has been placed in charge of West Coast production for Soundies. It was learned here. With future productions released by Minoco, 208 will be made here and equally as many in New York during the year. Cameo Productions, Coslow's firm, will continue to operate as an independent concern.

Recorded Music Comes in for Much Discussion at AFM Meet; Petrillo Elected for Second Term

SEATTLE, Wash., June 14.—The 46th annual convention of the American Federation of Musicians brought nearly 800 musicians and delegates from all parts of the country here this week for discussions of music problems. James G. Petrillo, president, gave an account of his first year of leadership and his program was unanimously endorsed. He was also elected for a second term as head of the AFM. Petrillo devoted most of his opening address the first day to rebuking Assistant Attorney General Thurmond Arnold for his anti-trust action against the AFM. Petrillo reported that the organization had won in two court cases against the anti-trust charges and that he would continue to fight such charges.

The subject of recorded music was a central theme thru all of the convention. The big question was the effects of the use of recorded music on musicians' jobs. A proposal was considered to limit the number of records that an orchestra can make during a year. This would be a step to limit the total number of records placed on the market during a year.

Another proposal was to limit the playing of bands at fairs over the country. This proposal carried, and henceforth definite restrictions will be placed on the use of bands at fairs. However, this will not be applied to small fairs, it was reported.

The playing of records on radio stations and automatic phonographs was a big question also. Members argued that it is unfair for a few prominent musicians to make so much from records, while small musicians are put out of work thereby. Foreign recordings which are brought into this country were also condemned.

As to phonographs, it was reported, among other things, that earnings on music machines had declined during the past two years. However, the music boxes are considered a problem for the musicians. A special survey had been made preliminary to the convention by Ben Sevin, who reported on the use of records by radio stations and also in music boxes.

On the income of musicians, Petrillo reported that radio brings them about $13,000,000 a year, but that next to radio the WPA music projects bring in about $10,000,000. He said he would do all he could to save the WPA projects.

Editorial Note: Due to late arrival of reports on the AFM Convention, more details of the meeting will be published next week.

New Bar-o-Matic at Modern Vending Co.

NEW YORK, June 14 (Distributor's release).—Nat Cohn, of Modern Vending Company, reports tremendous acclaim from Eastern operators for the new Seeburg Bar-o-Matic bar box.

"Bar-o-Matic boxes are one of the greatest advancements this industry has seen since the introduction of music systems," says Nat Cohn. "Absolutely no wires are necessary to install the box. It can be plugged into any convenient outlet, and the bracket holding it to the bar is placed under the bar, completely out of sight."

Crosley Announces New Phono Device

CHICAGO, June 14.—A new development in the phonograph industry has been announced by Crosley Corporation. It consists of a new floating jewel tone system which operates on the edges of the record groove instead of on the bottom of the groove. Improved fidelity, longer record life, and other claims are advanced by the company for the reproduction system.

Proposal for increase in membership on the board of directors from five to seven members was adopted in order to allow more representation of the smaller operators.

Activities of the association are centering now on plans for an excursion to Cedar Point, O., where they will again be guests of Bob Chester, recording band artist, who was host to the association two weeks ago at Eastwood Park, Detroit. Resolution of thanks to Henry Wagner, owner of Eastwood Park, was passed at this meeting.

Ashley Re-Elected Head of Detroit Music Association

DETROIT, June 14.—James Ashley, American Novelty Company, was re-elected president of the United Music Operators for the third season at the annual meeting at the Fort Wayne Hotel Tuesday night.

Louis Heilbroner, Interstate Music Company, was re-elected vice-president, and Edward Carlson, Ritz Music Company, was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Directors will be elected at the next meeting of the association.

Sossen in Modern's Hartford Branch

NEW YORK, June 14 (Distributor's release).—Officials of Modern Vending Company announced the appointment of Bernard Sossen as general sales manager of the firm's new branch at 356 Homestead Avenue, Hartford, Conn.

Sossen has had vast experience in the coin industry. Modern executives look to him to continue the spirit and deed of "Modern leadership" in the new office.

The Hartford branch is housed in a beautiful white marble building. A complete and ready stock of automatic phonograph equipment, featuring Seeburg Ear Level Tone phonographs, Wall-o-Music wall boxes, Select-o-Matic music system, and Bar-o-Matic bar boxes, will be offered, it is stated. In addition, there will be a complete parts and service department.

Cleveland

CLEVELAND, June 14.—The L. & N. Novelty & Music Company is expanding its facilities to take care of the business of the Hayden Amusement Company purchased from Jerry Antel. This is an extensive route, and Louis and Nate Pearlman, heads of L. & N., are busy taking care of it. The boys started in the amusement and vending fields in 1930 and are members of the Cleveland chapter of the Ohio Phonograph Owners' Association. Nate is on the board of directors.

An interesting experiment is being tried out in Cleveland with all types of vending machines by Aircraft Automat, located in the Aircraft Building on Superior Avenue and East 25th Street. In a large room on the ground floor, 19 vending machines have been installed, including candy, gum, nut, cola, ice cream, and milk venders. There is also an automatic phonograph and three amusement games. The only thing lacking is a machine that will vend sandwiches. The building is six stories high and covers nearly half a block. Tenants are mostly clothing manufacturers. The Automat has been installed chiefly for the convenience of employees in the building.

Jerry Antel has sold his phonograph business to the L. & N. Novelty Company, of which Louis and Nate Pearlman are owners. Antel is going to Washington and will operate a phonograph route there.

Cleveland chapter of the Ohio State Automatic Phonograph Owners' Association met recently. Lang Thompson, orchestra leader, visited with members prior to the business session. Jerry Antel tendered his resignation as president of the chapter, which was accepted with regret. Peter Lukich was named to take Antel's office until September.

By unanimous vote Howard Brill was elected sergeant at arms.

A new organization of phonograph operators has been formed and named the Phonograph Merchants' Affiliate. Officers are Howard Meckley, Meckley-Robinson Company, president; Howard Brill, Associated Music Company, vice-president; Hymie Silverstein, secretary-treasurer. Directors: Robert Penn, chairman; Leo Dixon, and Leroy Robinson.

City council has authorized the Mutual Federation of the Blind to install and maintain candy, gum, and nut machines in city-owned buildings, police and fire stations. Several city department heads opposed it on legal grounds but were overruled. There are approximately 100 members in the Federation in Cleveland, all of whom are self-supporting from the revenue of vending machines which they operate in office and factory buildings and other places throughout the city. At present there are more than 500 machines in use and with the city's consent to install others this number will be increased.

Seeburg Sales Meet Sets Tempo For Distributors

CHICAGO, June 14 (Manufacturer's release).—The sales convention of the J. P. Seeburg Corporation, held June 7 at Edgewater Beach Hotel, Chicago, was, according to the Seeburg distributors, a great success.

Carl T. McElvy, director of sales for Seeburg and manager of the meeting, reports that the more than 100 members of the firm's sales network were inspired and enthused by the addresses and presentations. "We have all gone back to our jobs with renewed vigor," McElvy said. "The automatic music world will soon feel the effects of our new sales program, and I can assure every music man that Seeburg and Seeburg distributors have plenty to offer."

Activities consisted of addresses and discussions touching on practically every phase of Seeburg's relationship to the music industry. The meetings were begun, appropriately, with a recorded welcome from J. P. Seeburg, founder of the company, during which he stressed cooperation among Seeburg officials and distributors as the means to a more successful production and sales effort.

Following J. P. Seeburg's short address, N. Marshall Seeburg, president of the company, extended a personal welcome to all. A short discussion of the day's program followed, after which Jim Barron, vice-president, spoke on production. Comptroller Bruce Jagor addressed the meeting on the subject of "Working Together," re-emphasizing the value of cooperation.

Fred Koseck, credit manager, introduced a humorous note during his short talk on "Way Back When," which dealt with some of the company's earlier problems and experiences.

Following a short intermission, Carl T. McElvy discussed the Seeburg Music System at length. Most of the afternoon session was devoted to discussing products and sales policy. Also discussed was the defense program and its relationship to Seeburg production and sales.

The business affairs of the convention were concluded with a round-table discussion among salesmen and distributors directed by Bruce Jagor and Fred Koseck.

Food Dispensing Company, Inc., has been organized here and is handling the Revco line of ice cream vending machines. They have taken over the business of the former distributor. Heads of the company are Louis and Nels Pearlman.

Jimmy Pavney, Mercury Amusement Company, is expected back soon from Nassau. He writes that he has been having the time of his life.

The Acme Phonograph Company, Seeburg distributor, announces the appointment of F. E. Cross as district manager for Northeastern Ohio.

The Reliable Specialty Company has moved to new quarters at 4700 Prospect Avenue and is operating at full capacity.

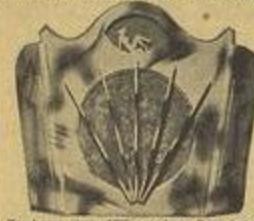

The Ohio Unfair Cigarette Sales Bill, which prohibits the sale of cigarettes below the established fair trade price, becomes effective August 27. The Anti-Slag Bill becomes law on August 19. It prohibits the manufacture, use, or possession of slugs.

Members of the Cleveland Cigarette Vendors' Association met Friday evening (6). Diners heard a report on the forthcoming convention at Cedar Point, July 9 and 10. There will be an exhibit of cigarette vending machines at the meeting.

WURLITZER NORTHWEST DISTRIBUTOR stocks up for the summer rush. With Mrs. Fred Fields and son Dick looking on with Wurlitzer District Manager Bill Bye, Fred Fields places a large order for new Wurlitzer phonographs and auxiliary equipment. (Manufacturer's release.)

MINNEAPOLIS, June 14.—Week of rainy weather has fallen like a bombshell on business here, and distributors and operators alike are affected.

Weather has slowed up sales, and tourist areas, too, have suffered heavily.

Dave Ziskin, Silent Sales Company salesman, hurried home this week to be with his wife, who is infanticipating.

Take it from Lou Atkins, United Machines phone specialist, business is being hit plenty by the draft. One of his locations alone checked 27 regular patrons who no longer come around—they're in the army, navy, or marine corps. Pinball games, said Lou, are so-so, but automatic phonographs are getting a better play than they have in several months.

Amos Hellicher, Minneapolis operator, is busy stocking up on scales and is opening up a number of new locations for this equipment. Meanwhile his remote-control units are going strong and he is seriously considering adding more.

Harold Lieberman, of Twin City Novelty Company, has a new secretary. She's Gertrude Yank, who replaced Stella Weiner, who resigned to move to Detroit.

Herman Paster, of Mayflower Novelty Company, is awaiting the return of Sam Taran, now busily engaged in setting up Mayflower's new location in Pittsburgh. Upon Sam's return date depends when Paster is able to leave for his vacation in Alaska. Paster reports business has been good, with back orders growing steadily. Mayflower recently received its 1100th Bally Jockey Club, while Mills' Three Bella and Panorama are both clicking.

Hy-G Amusement Company has been hanging up an excellent record with Seeburg phones, according to Jonas Bessler, firm executive.

Another Superior operator set-up, Brown & Stark, is so well sold on the Seeburg Hi-Tones they are stocking up quite heavily, it is learned.

Ben Daniels, Minneapolis operator, is the angler's delight. An old hand at fishing, Ben apparently knows just where every kind of fish can be and how it should be caught. When he isn't busy servicing his route his phone is ringing for information from friends who want to know where to fish.

Sylvia Berta, general secretary to Bill (Sphinx) Cohen, of Silent Sales Company, said "yes" to Niels Sorenson, flying "instructor" at Wold-Chamberlain Field here, and now Sylvia is sporting a rock on that important finger. She said she and Niels plan to be married in the fall.

One of the jolliest operators in the business is Elsie Madsen, of Superior, Wis. Elsie is so well liked she has very little difficulty in lining up locations.

She came in to the Twin Cities this week to stock up on more equipment.

Word from LaBeau Novelty Company is that business has been holding up in good shape.

Application for licenses to operate nut and candy vending machines was made with the Minneapolis city council license committee recently by H. A. Sandven, J. J. Warns, Kenneth E. Berry, Howard L. Rester.

Burning up the wires to local districts for merchandise is G. L. Pease, operator of Breckenridge, Minn.

Recent visitors to Minneapolis and St. Paul include Ray Gluth, of Rush City; John Mayer, of Avon; Ray Foster, of Sioux Falls, S. D.; Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Hansford, Yankton, S. D.; Lou Olson, Austin, Minn.; H. P. Kesting and son, of Bellington; Deiman Bevers, Hibbing; Billy Dody and Del Agnes, Iowa; Joe Frances, Hurley, Wis.; Leo DeMarz, Ashland, Wis.; Joe Blunker, of Junction City, Ia.; Roy Kunicich, of Brainerd, and Ed LePage, of International Falls.

Houston

HOUSTON, Tex., June 14.—Real estate, utility, and civic groups estimate that easily 200,000 people have moved into the Houston trade area since the 1940 U. S. census report, which gave the territory a population of slightly more than 3,000,000.

The Standard Music Company, owned by Lester Hearn, has moved into new quarters on Jackson Street.

T. V. Williams, with Stelle & Horton, returned from a five-day business trip to New Orleans June 4. He reported excellent business in that city.

Without realizing it themselves, Henry Cruise and Bill Peacock, of Cruise & Peacock, have come to be recognized as an unofficial arrangement committee for the monthly social meetings enjoyed by Houston operators. Each month three operators are selected to give a party. Cruise and Peacock have a pretty complete record showing who entertained when and whose turn comes next. The socials cost an average of $45. Attendance ranges from 50 to 100 persons.

Raymond Williams, Commercial Music Company sales manager, had a narrow escape when his car plowed into a ditch on Houston-Beaumont Highway when he lost control in a heavy rain storm. The automobile was badly damaged, but Williams escaped without a scratch.

Mrs. Maria von Reyd, wife of Hans von Reyd, Rock-Ola district manager, had a featured spot in the recent musical comedy hit, "Houdy, Stranger," by Community Players. Mrs. von Reyd, professionally known as Maria Cruz, is noted for her singing of Mexican and Spanish folk songs.

Talent and Tunes On Music Machines

A COLUMN FOR PHONOGRAPH OPERATORS

By HAROLD HUMPHREY

News Notes

Ella Fitzgerald will have a singing and acting role in Universal's new Abbott and Costello movie, "Ride 'Em, Cowboy," which goes into production the end of this month. Colored gal's band will not be in the film but will have a four-week engagement in a Los Angeles night club while Ella doubles between Hollywood and L. A. . . . Same film company is planning a movie built around the coin machine industry, and the tentative title is "50 Million Nickels Can't Be Wrong." Production will not start until fall, however, because Universal wants to star the Andrews Sisters in it and they will not be available until then. . . . Ina Ray Hutton and her male band have been signed to the Okeh label for a year's work. . . . Harry Harden's band did two versions of the tune "Aurora" for Decca—one in Spanish, the other in English. . . . Larry Neil is the new vocalist with Joe Reichman's band. He was formerly with Shep Fields.

Eddy Duchin and his band hopped off via the Clipper route Sunday (15) for Rio de Janeiro, where they play an engagement at the Copacabana Casino. Although not definitely set, Duchin may also take on a few more weeks in Buenos Aires. . . . Tunesmith Irving Berlin has finished his defense bond song for the Treasury Department, "Any Bonds Today?" It is the title, and ASCAP has given it an unconditional release so that it can be aired over NBC and CBS. No recordings of the tune have been scheduled yet. . . . Clarence Berg, of the Walker Vending Company, Denver, reports that his phonograph business is way up since he has been loading the machines with recordings of the bands which are playing the two big ballrooms at Elliott's Gardens and Lakeside Park in Denver.

That's Life

The tune Maria Elena popped into the top notch of The Billboard's national Record Buying Guide last week, and there's a hard luck story behind it. Six months ago while band leader Lawrence Welk was playing the Aragon Ballroom, Chicago, he was getting a lot of response from the dancers on a certain sweet tune he was using in his books. After much persuasion he induced Columbia to record it, and as soon as other band leaders heard it they all wanted to put it on wax. Welk's recording sold heavily in the Midwest area, but by the time the rest of the country began requesting it in the machines there were several recordings of Maria Elena on the market, and the competition overshadowed Welk's discovery of the tune. And now it's Jimmy Dorsey and Wayne King who lead the automatic phonograph field with a tune that owes its start to Welk.

Release Previews

Johnny Long's latest Decca releases are "I Take to You" and "Where You Are." . . . Harry James and band have just cut "Lost in Love," "Sinner Kissed an Angel," and "Lament to Love" for Columbia. . . . Charlie Barnet is set to record for Bluebird "When the Sun Comes Out," "Be Fair," "Wasn't It You?" and "I'll Never Let a Date Go By." "Mood Flamenca," "Guaracha," "Pia Pan Fun" and "Mala Neeche" have been recorded by Xavier Cugat for Columbia. The first tune is an original with a new type of vocalizing by Miguelito Valdes, Cugat's singer, who employs a technique of singing into the piano strings to get an echo effect. Four King Sisters are doing "It's Yours" for Bluebird.

Territorial Favorites

FOLLOWING is a list of reports from operators in various sections of the country who have mentioned artists and records as local favorites, in addition to the national leaders listed in the Record Buying Guide:

WILMINGTON, DEL.:

Yours, Jimmy Dorsey.

A Latin number which has been on the market for a time but so far has not broken any sales records to the phonograph operators. It may be that there have been too many such tunes recently. At any rate, operators in this city report it is getting a heavy play on Dorsey's record of it, and the list it among the top current money-makers on their machines.

INDIANAPOLIS:

Goodbye Dear, I'll Be Back in a Year.
Horace Heidt.

In this Midwestern town, operators report that the military motif in recordings is catching on. Heidt and his band played a theater engagement here, too, which gave his stock a boost, operators say. Particular record listed in Record Buying Guide "Possibilities" last week and may soon prove to be a national hit.

WINNIPEG, MAN.:

You Are My Sunshine. The Airport Boys.

This hillbilly recording is also appearing as a territorial favorite in several sections of the U. S. There are several other artists who have made the tune on wax, but the Airport Boys' rendition is the true corn hillbilly style, while some of the other bands have dressed and sweetened it up a bit.

DENVER:

These Things I Love. Teddy Powell.

A very pretty ballad which is already getting more than just sectional popularity. So far, tho, the Rocky Mountain city appears to be the first to use the record in any large numbers. The sheet music sales charts show that the tune is climbing steadily, and operators will probably soon find many requests for it.

St. John, N. B.

ST. JOHN, N. B., June 14.—Coney Island Amusement Company, Halifax, N. S., has been specializing in supplying music machines to eating places in the Eastern Provinces.

The 20 per cent dominion war tax on all amusement tickets, including film theaters, has resulted in an increased play of all types of automatic games and music machines. Pinball receipts have climbed in Halifax, particularly where there is more floating population than anywhere in Eastern Canada. Since the introduction of the amusement tax business at theaters has suffered from 10 to 30 per cent, but the coin machine grosses have gone up pro rata.

On his 13th annual promotion of the Amherst, N. S., motor show, F. J. Elliott, of Amherst, a veteran colonel, was jinxed from one night expect. For the first time the show had to be postponed due to heavy rain.

Jap Blake, of Woodstock, N. B., recently promoted a three-day bowling tournament for the team championship of New Brunswick and Eastern Maine. Woodstock is on the U. S. border. Blake captained and bowled in one of the teams representing Woodstock. He covers both sides of the line as a coin machine distributor and operator and also owns bowling alleys in Woodstock.

An Analysis of Current Songs and Recordings From the Standpoint of Their Value to Phonograph Operators

GOING STRONG

Recordings listed below are currently the biggest money-makers in automatic phonographs. Selections are the consensus of reports gathered each week by representatives of The Billboard from at least four leading phonograph operators in each of the 30 most important phonograph operating centers in the country. Recordings listed without an explanation are those that have appeared under this heading for four weeks and have thus become such established successes that they require no further explanation.

The Hut-Sut Song. After one of the fastest climbs of any song this season, this hit that started on the West Coast this week debuts among the blue-ribbon phonograph winners. Its catchy rhythms are being purveyed in the machines by HORACE HEIDT*, FREDDY MARTIN*, and the KING SISTERS, with all three disks maintaining about the same pace under the needles.

Amapola. (11th week) JIMMY DORSEY*, SAMMY KAYE*, CONNIE BOSSWELL.

Dolores. (7th week) TOMMY DORSEY*, BING CROSBY.

The Band Played On. (7th week) GUY LOMBARDO*.

Maria Elena. (2d week) JIMMY DORSEY*, WAYNE KING*, TONY PASTOR*.

Daddy. (2d week) SAMMY KAYE*.

COMING UP

Recordings listed below are those which operators report are not yet top-notch money-makers but which are growing in popularity on automatic phonographs. Selections are the consensus of reports gathered each week by representatives of The Billboard from at least four leading phonograph operators in each of the 30 most important phonograph operating centers in the country.

Aurora. Suddenly hitting a snag this week, this Brazilian ditty wound up not doing too well. It's undoubtedly a temporary hump in its progress toward the top, for it's the sort of number that usually reaches the heights, but right at the moment it's a little stymied. The ANDREWS SISTERS still have the only record here.

Everything Happens to Me. With nine songs, an unusually high number, all going strong along the phone network, there is a pronounced weakness among the tunes that are currently striving for the top. This one is no exception, and like most of those listed below, it's doing not much more than limping along. TOMMY DORSEY* and WOODY HERMAN* have the disks here.

A Little Bit South of North Carolina. Getting better after its start in this section last week, this nevertheless is suffering from the same lackadaisical quality that seems to have hit most of the items in this section this week. GENE KRUPA* and MITCHELL AYRES* are about tied in nickel-droppers' affections.

Green Eyes. Also going along to more or less lukewarm reaction is this JIMMY DORSEY* recording that debuted in this section a week ago. It's not doing badly, but it will have to take on a great deal of added steam before it can give definite indications of hitting the heights.

Let's Get Away From It All. Casualty No. 5 this week is this two-sided TOMMY DORSEY* record. Even when it started a couple of weeks ago it failed to show greatly encouraging signs pointing to future smash hitdom, but at least it exhibited more strength than it is now displaying.

Goodbye, Dear, I'll Be Back in a Year. Mentioned last week as a "Possibility," it's not a great surprise to see this one start on its uphill climb. Reports are varied and mixed on it—in the HORACE HEIDT* version—but there are enough of them to herald what may be a really strong number in a few weeks.

The Things I Love. Still another "Possibility" of last week, this song likewise gets under way now with sufficient power at least to raise hopes for a future front-running number. So many promising songs have fallen by the wayside lately, tho, that it's not safe to predict too big things for this one, but at the moment it looks all right. GENE KRUPA* and BARRY WOOD, the latter a vocal disk, are the standard bearers here.

Songs listed below are those which have appeared in "Coming Up" for four weeks or more, and which are still being mentioned on enough reports to warrant their inclusion in the Guide, even though they may never climb into "Going Strong."

Friendly Tavern Polka. (8th week) Still good in some spots, but going down generally. HORACE HEIDT*.

I'll Be With You in Apple Blossom Time. (8th week) Beginning to weaken in most locations. ANDREWS SISTERS.

POSSIBILITIES

Recordings listed below have not as yet shown any strength in automatic phonographs but are the most likely prospects for music machine success among new record releases. These suggestions are based upon radio performances, sheet music sales, reports from music publishers as to the relative importance of certain songs in their catalog, as well as on the judgment of The Billboard's music department.

Blue Champagne. This JIMMY DORSEY* recording is beginning to follow in the footsteps of some of the other Dorsey disks that have been very profitable for operators lately. In addition to the usual good Dorsey treatment, this is a song that, once heard, stays with the listener, which customarily spells hitdom.

Yes, Indeed. A swing number from TOMMY DORSEY* that has been attracting some attention along the phonograph network. It's a clever, rhythmic thing that's played and hung to give the maximum enjoyment to anyone dropping in a nickel to hear it.

Paradise Isle. A BING CROSBY ballad that some operators in scattered spots have found to be a promising item. There seems to be more talk about this Crosby recording than there has been about any song he has made in recent weeks.

The Reluctant Dragon. This song comes from the soon-to-be-released Walt Disney movie cartoon feature of the same title, and in the SAMMY KAYE* version it makes excellent phone fodder. It's quite possible that it may be a strong follow-up to Kaye's currently popular Daddy.

New Highs Hit by '40 Candy Consumption and Production

at 2,250,000,000 pounds

CHICAGO, June 14.—John Doe consumed an average of 16.9 pounds of candy during 1940—a new all-time high according to figures released by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce. In 1939 consumption was 15.7 pounds. Production for the year was estimated at 2,250,000,000 pounds valued at $339,750,000. Manufacturer's average value per pound was 15.1 cents.

Survey was made in co-operation with the National Confectioners' Association and is based on voluntary reports from 273 identical manufacturers of confectionery and competitive chocolate products. Combined sales of these firms account for approximately 70 per cent of the industry's total.

Candy bars accounted for the largest percentage of sales, totaling 25.4 per cent of all candy sold. Bulk candies accounted for 33.6 per cent of the sales, and penny goods, 15.7. Fancy packages totaled only 11 per cent.

Vending Machines

While the survey does not disclose what percentage of sales was made thru automatic machines, it is known to be larger than 1939.

Reports of increased installations of coin vending in factories during the past two months indicate vending machines will account for an important percentage of the anticipated increase in candy bar sales this year. With factories working overtime, workers are frequently forced to skip meals and turn to the candy vendors they have handy for a needed snack. Personnel experts report these machines contribute greatly to the efficiency of these men, since candy increases the energy output of the body—especially at the point when fatigue sets in.

No Shortage of Sugar Seen in U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The Department of Agriculture reports that world supplies of sugar are the greatest on record and that, as a consequence, there is no danger of a shortage in this country.

Reports on stocks and production this season indicate that supplies available in areas which normally furnish exports to the United States amount to about 10,000,000 tons. Consumption needs in this country, however, are expected not to amount to more than 6,000,000 tons.

Possible difficulties are conceded in the transportation of supplies from offshore growing regions, more particularly the Philippines and Hawaii, because of an increasing shortage of ocean shipping facilities. In the event of such a tightness of supplies, surpluses in this country, not now permitted to be sold because of marketing quota restrictions, could be made available. World supplies of sugar for the current season are put at 42,300,000 tons, the largest on record.

Contrary to conditions at the time of the first World War, when a severe shortage caused sharp price advances, sugar quotations in Western Hemisphere exporting countries have declined to the relatively low level of 75 cents a 100 pounds for the raw commodity at shipping points.

Among factors contributing to the depression in prices is the continued inability of Great Britain, the most important buyer of sugar in the free world market in normal times, to take any sizable tonnages from its usual foreign sources of supply—Cuba and Peru—because of shipping difficulties.

Further, according to the department's survey, Continental Europe, once an important market for the Western Hemisphere's sugar, is continuing its trend toward self-sufficiency in the production of sugar from beets.

Md. Showmen's Club Incorporated

BALTIMORE, Md., June 14.—The Showmen's Club of Maryland, Inc., organized recently by operators of vending machines and managers of movie theaters, has been granted papers of incorporation under the laws of Maryland. It has no capital stock. The incorporators are Robert Marhenke, Edward H. Silver, and Henry D. Matcher, all officers of the club.

The club is designed to promote good fellowship and cement the bonds of friendship between operators of coin vending machines and the managers of the theaters with whom they do business.

Club headquarters have been established at 833 Linden Avenue.

At club meetings matters of interest to both the operators and theater managers are discussed. Organization is said to have a membership of 65.

Wrigley Gums In New Packages

CHICAGO, June 14.—Since announcing the discontinuance of aluminum foil as a wrapper for chewing gum, package designers of the William Wrigley Jr. Company have been hard at work designing new wrappers for their products. Wrigley's Doubtless gum already is appearing in a wax paper package.

Wrigley's Juicy Fruit brand will appear in a new wax paper dress when supplies of aluminum foil still on hand are used up.

Change from aluminum foil also has necessitated changes in packaging machinery and plant procedure.

Boston

BOSTON, June 14.—Business quieted down a bit the first part of this week but at the end most Hub columnists reported activity had picked up and collections were hitting new peaks.

Barney and Louie Blatt, of Atlas Coin Machine Company, returned by plane from Chicago, where they attended the Seeburg distributors' meeting. The boys preceded Irv McClelland, Seeburg representative here, who returned Wednesday. All three reported plans were discussed for faster shipments.

Maurice Kushner, newly appointed Rock-Ola distributor, leaves for Chicago next week to visit the factory and make plans for getting equipment to display in his showrooms on Washington Street.

Jerry Columbo, A. M. I. district manager, reports he will hold a showing of A. M. I. machines at a Boston hotel within the next few weeks. Plans are now being made for the showing. Columbo said he expects his equipment shortly as a result of his visit to Chicago and to the plant at Grand Rapids, Mich.

Mo Saliba, Lawrence, Mass., game operator, kept busy with his machines and his real estate business.

Murray Schultz, of Atlantis Distributing Company, back from a visit to New York, reports business continues to boom. Murray said he purchased much new equipment.

Henry Levine, of Pioneer Music Company, Hyannis, Mass., back at work after a brief honeymoon.

James Sarabi, of Simplex Amusement Company, Providence, R. I., in town to purchase equipment. Reports he is enlarging his route.

Bill Donahue, a new game operator in Lynn, Mass., reports business good.

Benny Pasquariello, Atlanta Distributing Company mechanic, back at work after a brief vacation. Benny will be assisted by Norman Scotch, new mechanic hired to take care of the growing service needs of the firm.

L. Capelli, who operates the arcade at Northridge Park, Auburndale, Mass., has purchased some new games. Spot-in-a-large percentage of the college crowds, and target guns, pin tables, and skee-ball games are popular. Several pokerino tables are also in constant use.

Anthony Petteruti, of Providence, R. I., has purchased new scales to enlarge his route.

Mike Bond, local distributor for Buckley Music, out of town for a week on business.

Cigarette men are watching the new cigarette tax measure currently before the State Senate. The bill extending the present emergency tax of 2 cents per package has been signed by Governor Saltonstall, and cigarette men are preparing a new list of locations for the tax administrator. Lists must be ready by July 1, when new licenses will be issued.

The Cigarette Merchandisers' Association announced this week that membership had been granted Morris Needles, of the Self-Service Vending Company.

Dave Bond, of Trimount Coin Machine Company, reports continued arcade demand for guns. He also announces the franchising of more territory for the Nab Diner, manufactured by Trimount.

Dave Schultz, of Acme Cigarette Sales Company on Cape Cod, is enlarging his route and purchasing new equipment. Many Acme locations are in spots frequented by the soldiers from Camp Edwards. Dave is a brother of Murray and Leonard Schultz, of the Atlantis Distributing Company, Boston.

Benny Rose, of Vendomatic, says business is picking up and indications are that this will be a banner year.

Duke Levine is changing many of his business locations into remote installations. Collections are greatly increased in those locations where the changeover has already been made, Duke reports.

Joe Dobbs, one of the up and coming game operators in Boston, is busy looking for new locations to add to his fast-growing route.

Oliver LaFrance, of P. LaFrance & Company, New Bedford, came to Boston this week to buy new equipment.

Bert Klapper, of Bay State Automatic Music Company, is enlarging his route and reports collections reaching new heights.

Harry Abelson, Newton, Mass., game and music operator, purchasing new equipment, reports optimistically as to prospects for the season.

Hub Vending Company has opened new offices on Shawmut Avenue. L. Specter and Rudy Bloch, operators of the firm, have been operating games and music the past three years. Most of the firm's locations are north of Boston. Boys are concentrating now on remaking most of their music locations. Arthur Hamilton and Paul (Zipper) Blackman take care of the service.

Joe Vlanna, of Modern Music Company, Woonsocket, R. I., is in town to purchase more equipment.

Nick Papelos made the long trek down from Waterville, Me., to purchase more equipment for his rapidly growing games and music routes.

David Cotton, Lawrence, Mass., game operator, reports that his son has joined him in the business. This makes another father-and-son combination in local coin machine circles.

Bill Wells, of Apex Coin Machine Company, out of town on a buying trip.

Phil Perrine and Sid Wolbarst, of New England Exhibit Company, report that new equipment has been purchased for their new Wollaston Beach arcade. Spot is being painted and will be ready to open in a few days.

Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Md., June 14.—Considerable interest is being evidenced here in Mutoscope's "Ace Bomber," reports Irvin Blumenfeld, head of General Vending. "Mutoscope's Drive Mobile continues to move fast, and Scientific's Battling Practice is steadily growing in popularity," he says.

Demand for Wurlitzers here is hard to keep up with, states David Margolin, head of Penn Coin-o-Matic. "Our sales volume, to date," Margolin said, "represents an increase of 80 per cent over the corresponding period of last year."

Non-Defense Uses Of Steel Defined By OPACS Head

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Leon Henderson, administrator of the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, announced last Saturday (7) six broad factors on which allocation of steel to non-defense industries will be based.

Pointing out that after military defense requirements for steel are satisfied, it is necessary to provide for the equitable allocation of pig iron, ferroalloys, steel ingots and casting, and all carbon and alloy steel products, among competing civilian demands, Henderson said that a preliminary program for allocation has been formulated.

In the same connection, the head of the OPACS said that the current demand for steel products for both military and civilian use is greater than production facilities and that deliveries are being delayed and orders rejected.

The allocation order promulgated under authority of executive order No. 8734, Section 2 (a) and the policies will serve as a guide to the director of priorities. The following factors, among other relevant factors, are to be taken into consideration in making such allocations:

"1. The need to provide adequately for civilian uses essential to the public welfare.

"2. The degree of hardships upon labor or business resulting from the failure to obtain deliveries when scheduled or from the rejection of orders.

"3. The past rates of consumption of the products by users thereof.

"4. The objective of achieving an equitable division of supplies of the products among all users.

"5. The availability of substitutes for the particular uses for which the products are sought.

"6. The policy of the administrator to refuse allocation to any person who, in the conduct of his business, discriminates against defense orders.

"The terms used in this order, except as otherwise indicated, shall be defined as they are defined in the General Steel Preference Order," Henderson said.

Public To Spend More For Fun as Shortages In Consumer Goods Loom

CHICAGO, June 14.—Fact that consumers have been unable to buy quantities of certain merchandise freely has resulted in a diversion of their funds into more services, amusements, and savings, according to reports delivered at the mid-year convention of the National Retail Dry Goods Association held here last week.

Coin machines, theaters, amusement parks, and other entertainment media would supposedly gain now that people who are earning more and are unable to secure everything desired in the way of consumer goods will be spending more on amusements.

In discussing possible effect of the defense program on retail business, it was stressed that the difficulty centers around filling the gaps in retail stocks which the defense program may create. These gaps are likely to be most apparent in consumer durable goods. There was considerable confidence at the convention that this difficulty could be surmounted successfully in three ways:

1. Full retailer and manufacturer cooperation in the development of substitute materials to replace the scarce metals and other materials demanded by the defense program.

2. Creative merchandising and production which can envision the opportunity now opening up for the development of new types of merchandise.

3. The shaping of advertising and other promotional plans to guide consumer buying into channels where the competition of the greatly increased consumer purchasing power for a reduced amount of consumer goods would produce stabilizing and not disastrous results on the price structure.

Eddie Lane Takes Vows

NEW YORK, June 14.—Eddie Lane, copywriter at Byrd, Richard, & Pound, and writer of popular songs, took the plunge Saturday night, June 14. The young lady involved is Frances Berman, of Newark, N. J.

Ceremony took place in Newark. N. J., and Bert Lane, of Seaboard Sales, Eddie's brother, acted as best man.

Increased Business Shown by Higher Dividend Earnings

NEW YORK, June 14.—Dividends declared in May by 1,156 corporations amounted to $521,351,031, including a total of $4,011,701 by 65 banks and insurance companies. Aggregate distributions authorized last month were the largest for a May since 1937, when $524,198,349 was voted by 993 companies, of which $3,115,920 represented disbursements by 42 banks and insurance institutions. Last month's declarations compared with $202,384,003 authorized by 873 concerns, including $9,185,593 for 121 banking and insurance firms, in the preceding month, and with $454,706,983 by 1,068 companies in May, 1940, when $4,725,000 was for 66 banks and insurance institutions.

In the last five months a total of $1,623,514,308 in dividends has been declared, against $1,496,732,544 in 1940, $1,296,893,615 in 1939, $1,829,730,047 in 1938, and $1,868,626,005 in 1937 for the corresponding periods.

manager gave a rather typical summary when he said:

"The astonishing ability of manufacturers to produce new things will be a compensating factor in inevitable shortages. I predict that ways and means will be found to supply the needs of our customers. We should be open to buy and avoid gambling in merchandise."

On the score of prices, the board of directors of the association gave the general direction of retail thought in its announcement of a program "going the limit" to check a runaway price increase. It was noteworthy that, in addition to recommending to retailers the close checking and reporting of unjustified increases, the board warned against heavy forward ordering and suggested that lower instead of higher mark-up or profit margins be taken if increased sales volume permits.

PHILLY ARCADE BOOM

Clicking Big With Defense Workers Working Odd Hours; Resort Installations Heavy

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—During the past two months amusement arcades have mushroomed here. Biggest factor in creating the demand for this type of operation is that industry is booming because of national defense orders.

Philadelphia has received a billion and a half dollars in defense contracts, a sum equal to the total amount of money spent here for all purposes last year. The Navy Yard, independent shipyards, quartermaster depots, shops, and factories are on 24-hour schedules. As a result, the vast majority of the working public is on off-schedule working hours, making it virtually impossible for them to follow regular patterns for entertainment.

The motion picture theaters were first to realize this. Many theaters, consequently, scheduled early-morning matinees and midnight shows for the convenience of the defense workers. Three center-city movie houses operate 24 hours daily.

Operators here were fast to realize that the workers were in need of amusement facilities to fit their odd working schedules. Result is that penny arcades have met with instantaneous response from the workers, since they provide good, clean fun that doesn't cost much.

Boom at Navy Yard

In the vicinity of the Philadelphia Navy Yard, operators have grabbed up every available lot for construction of arcades, with the result that the formerly deserted highway now has all the appearances of a midway. Late this month a shooting gallery will invade the heart of the city's theatrical district. J. Gilbert Noon has leased the property at 1516 Market Street to make it the 11th unit in a chain of shooting galleries.

Oscar Spiegel, who operates several arcades in the city with Max Dorman, is the latest to locate in the Navy Yard sector. Crowding his arcade with penny machines, a large sign in front of the arcade invites with: "All This Fun Can Be Yours for a Penny." Bill Rodstein early this month opened an arcade on Broad Street in the North Philadelphia section. L. Pokras, father-in-law of Al Rodstein, head of the Arco Sales Company, is seeking a suitable arcade spot. Also seeking a site is Harry Rubin, who has a successful arcade in operation in the Benjamin Franklin Hotel. Jim Flannery is also seeking a site on the New Jersey side.

Arcade Boom at Resorts

erators are seeking suitable locations at the many near-by seashore resorts and amusement parks. Martin Mitnick, president of the local pinball operators' association and one of the first arcade operators in this territory, is back again with an arcade in Ocean City, Md. Max Brown has leased a pier a location in Cape May, N. J., for a shooting gallery. In Atlantic City Al Roth and Harry Mendelson are opening an arcade, as is Irv Fishelberg. E. Friedberg, seashore hotel proprietor, has entered the arcade business.

Sam Lerner has not only opened a larger Stanley Arcade on the Boardwalk in Wildwood, N. J., but with his present business bigger than ever has already leased additional space for the 1942 season. Ralph Franks is another opening a spot in Wildwood. Andy Foster has opened the arcade in Willow Grove Amusement Park, Willow Grove, Pa.

Proximity of military encampments also finds operators turning to those territories, with Meyer Frank opening an arcade near Fort Dix, N. J., and Harry Levin and Harry Schait opening an amusement machine center near Indian-town Gap, Pa.

Silent Sales To Show New Machines

MINNEAPOLIS, June 14 (Distributor's release).—Premier showing of A. L. C. Singing Towers is scheduled to start Monday, June 16, at Silent Sales Company here. It was announced by William (Sphinx) Cohen, head of Silent Sales.

A program designed to entertain hundreds of operators is being arranged, Cohen said, with special refreshment days set for Wednesday and Thursday (18-19).

Coming to Minneapolis for the showing is O. L. Hanson, district manager of A. L. C. of Chicago. It is expected that Jack Keeney also will be present for several days.

In addition, Cohen will have his entire staff on hand. Included are Ben Friedman, David Ziskin, Al Meirovitz, Milo Hansen. Also to be shown will be A. L. C.'s complete line of concealed remote-control accessories, Cohen said.

Thru co-operation with Jack Keeney, Silent Sales also will show during the week the new Sky-Raid and Contact pinball games in both free play and payout units. Pace's Twin Reels in double nickel, nickel-dime, and nickel-quarter combinations will also be shown.

Allied Offers Big Game Stock

CHICAGO, June 14 (Distributor's release).—"Operators have complimented Allied service during the past months," declares Sam Kleiman, of Allied Novelty Company. "Now we are being complimented for providing a warehouse full of good reconditioned games."

"The comments from our customers show that conscientious care in rendering service, as well as preparedness for future needs are what operators appreciate. Since beginning in business service has been the motto at Allied. This has resulted in increasing numbers of customers."

Natchez, Miss.

NATCHEZ, Miss., June 14.—Mrs. Sam McCabe, wife of the co-owner of the Seramas Novelty Company, is now serving as society editor of The Natchez Democrat, writing a column, "People and Events."

Conner Burns will leave for Camp Shelby, Miss., June 14 for a year of military training. He has turned over his machines to his father, R. E. Burns Sr.

Sam McCabe and Sam Serio have returned from a fishing outing on Lake St. John near Ferriday, La.

Bill Eadt is enjoying the fishing season. He recently purchased a number of new machines.

Fire Cause of Nickel Shower

BOSTON, June 14.—Police were posted near Franklin Field in the Dorchester section of Boston this week to warn anybody finding money in the street that it belongs to Interstate Automatic Candy Corporation.

Phil Garber, truck driver for Interstate, reported he was driving one of the firm's armored trucks back to the office with the day's collections when he noticed the truck was on fire.

Police and firemen were summoned and someone opened the rear door of the truck. The coin bags, apparently loosened as a result of continuous banging, pitched forward and $150 in nickels and dimes rolled out into the street.

An undetermined amount was found and returned to Garber.

Trend Toward More Beer, Less Hard Liquor Consumption

NEW YORK, June 14.—America appears to be drinking more beer and less hard liquor this year, according to reports of the American Business Men's Research Foundation based on government records.

The nation's liquor and beer bill last year was $2,284,098,268, an increase of $3,411,277 over 1939. Per capita consumption of alcoholic beverages was estimated at 13.73 gallons at a per capita cost of $24.93.

Beer sales dropped 31,320,731 gallons. Hard liquor consumption gained 6,342,000 gallons and wine consumption 12,000,000 gallons, making the total consumption of all alcoholic beverages 18,123,351,161 gallons.

In the first 60 days of 1941 beer sales increased 6,789,000 gallons over the corresponding period last year, and wine sales gained 860,000 gallons, but hard liquor consumption averaged a daily drop of more than 24,000 gallons.

Sam McCabe, popular co-owner of Seramas Novelty Company, is still holding down his job as announcer for the local ball games of the Natchez Pilgrims in the Evangeline League. Sam calls the games well, and at the seventh inning stretches he plugs his records.

Theodore L. Bauer, attorney for several local operators, left June 5 for Camp Shelby, Miss., for a year of military training.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 14 (Manufacturers' release).—O. L. Hanson, district manager for the Automatic Instrument Company in the Northwest, has announced that a showing of products manufactured by his firm will be shown by William (Bill) Cohen of the Silent Sales Company, Minneapolis, June 18 and 19.

"The complete line of Singing Tower phonographs, Automatic Hostess, wall speakers, Tower speakers, wall boxes, bar boxes, and basement utility units will be at the showing," declared Hanson.

"Bill Cohen," he continued, "was recently appointed distributor for the Automatic Instrument Company and this will be the first time that he will have displayed our products. From personal contact with him I know that he is enthusiastic about our equipment and is anticipating a record demand from operators after they have viewed our offerings at this showing."

Resolutions

SEATTLE, Wash., June 14.—The American Federation of Musicians heard a half dozen resolutions seeking to control the use of records at the close of the convention. These were referred to the executive board for decisive action. One proposal was to license music box operators.

Joe Weber, honorary president of the AFM, strongly opposed most of the resolutions, saying that the federation could not halt mechanical progress. He said that every American has a direct interest in the music business and that the people will decide what they want.

cations far less necessary," said Dave Genburg, Genco official.

"Unusually thrilling in its action, the game boasts a brand-new feature—the magic 'I-2' bumper, declared to be one of the most exciting and irresistible come-ons in many moons. Captain Kidd is probably the greatest game we have ever built. Its immediate acceptance by players the country over is reflected in the tremendous rush of orders we have been getting from our distributors."

Bert Lane, Genco factory representative in the Eastern States, had the following to say regarding the game. "If there ever was a hit game, Captain Kidd is it. Seaboard Sales is being besieged with demands for the game from jobbers and operators who just won't be denied immediate delivery. We've already set a new sales record for our firm on Captain Kidd, and the action has really just started."

ATLAS NOVELTY COMPANY EMPLOYEES, friends, and officials picnicked recently in North Chicago. The big crowd enjoyed a full day of activity. (Distributor's release.)

"Plenty Films for Soundies"—Mills

CHICAGO, June 14 (Manufacturer's release)—Fred Mills, president of Mills Novelty Company, states that "the steady weekly arrival of new reels for the Panoram Soundie machine is providing plenty of variety and change for patrons of locations having Panoram machines."

"There is no dearth of reels or subjects, and operators are beginning to find their film libraries rapidly expanding."

JAN CARBER (Okeh 6213)

Glory Be to Love—PT. VC. There's a Little Spark of Love Still Burning—PT. VC.

Even solid treatment would have a hard job overcoming the weaknesses of these two numbers, and Garber's Lombardoesque treatment is hardly solid. There is nothing about either side to occasion a second hearing, or even to hold a listener's interest thru more than a third of the way up each side. First number is bouncy, the second slower, with Frits Heilbron singing two exceedingly poor choruses.

Those nickel-droppers who like Garber will find their favorite in a familiar mood here, and as such will gladly press the right button on the machines for either side. But in a general sense, there will be nothing doing here.

TINY HILL (Okeh 6212)

Noah's Wife—PT. VC. Moonlight on Melody Hill—PT. VC.

The Hill band is very much on the corny side, as even its most ardent admirers will admit, but the outpourings dispensed in that vein, such as on the A side here, are light and amusingly done, with no attempt made at anything other than commercial hokum. Tempo, scoring, and playing are in that style, and Tiny's vocalizing doesn't deviate from the well-established path. The number is essentially a novelty ditty, and fairly listenable in itself; the spirit of Hill and his bandmen makes it even more so, rather than the actual quality of their work. Plattermate is a slow ballad, sung by Bobby Freeman, the whole done in a mediocre style.

Hill enjoys a fair enough amount of machine popularity than the Midwest, and side A here is the sort of thing that has established it for him. That being the case, there should be no reason why locations that have always done well with this ork shouldn't do equally well with this latest disk. For countrywide consumption, however, it's a different story.

DANNY KAYE (Columbia 36163)

It's Never Too Late to Mendelssohn—V. One Life To Live—V.

Kaye, whose work in the Gertrude Lawrence hit, Lady in the Dark, has set him up as one of the clinic finds of recent seasons, here waxes still another pair of tunes from that show, making his third record to contain the Ira Gershwin-Kurt Weill score. Unfortunately, it doesn't get over here any better than it did on the previous releases, since the full, heavy choral ensembles, and the smart, special lyrics (particularly on the A side) are lost on a one-dimensional disk. From a seat on the aisle these numbers are excellent, but something happens to them in their transition to wax, and even Kaye's personality loses the struggle to make anything of them but a jumble of words and notes. Side B is better, because it's a simpler, more straightforward number, but the dialog and recitative of the first side, added to the many-voiced choral group, are at times unintelligible and all the time uninteresting.

Nothing about this disk could possibly interest coin phone operators, except in those rare locations, if any, where patronage consists of the sort of people who first made their acquaintance with these numbers at the show from whence they come.

DINAH SHORE (Bluebird B-11164)

Where You Are—V. Mocking Bird Lane—V.

Miss Shore's fine talent is capably displayed on a pair of sides that are the best she has had since her memorable Yes, My Darling Daughter. Particularly on the B side, a clever rearrangement of Listen to the Mocking Bird, with special lyrics and music by Vick Knight and Edgar Fairchild, is Dinah highly listenable, singing first out-of-tempo, and then in a medium swing tempo. Show, compelling rhythm, highlighting the singer's lush, velvety tones, features the A side, with Paul Wettstein supplying some superb instrumental backing.

"Mocking Bird" is a good follow-up to Miss Shore's "Darling Daughter," as far as the machines are concerned. Tune is a familiar one, and the treatment here is different and amusing. Of these two sides, this is definitely the one for operators to take a chance on.

ARTIE SHAW (Victor 27432)

What Is There To Say?—PT. Prelude in C Major—PT.

Shaw has made some fine things since he started on the Victor label months ago, and here again he turns out a superior work. The Vernon Duke-like on the A side makes ideal fodder for Artie's imaginative treatment, and his double brasses, reeds, and strings in an excellent arrangement as he has yet done. Superlative piano ripples thru both sides, and there is a violin chorus on the A number that bears repeated hearings. Flip-over is a Shaw-Ray Coniff original, spotlighting, of course, the maestro's clarinet, and some other virtuosos solos. This side, tho, is less striking than its companion.

Just as several other Shaw versions of standards have hit on the machines, the A side here, a former musical comedy favorite, has great possibilities to attract a flock of nickels. In the same Shawian style of his previous hits, it achieves the same listenability; there's no reason why it can't achieve the same degree of phone success, as well.

ORRIN TUCKER (Columbia 36172)

You Talk Too Much—PT. VC. All Alone and Lonely—PT. VC.

The well-worn Tucker-Baker formula is brought to bear again on the first side here, an insanely coy little ditty that means nothing by itself, and even less in wee Bonnie's simpering handling of the lyric. A first chorus by Miss Baker, a middle instrumental stretch, and a last half-chorus of Baker-Tucker duetting is the blueprint. Orrin and the Bodyguards quartet lead off the reverse ballad, and occupy most of the grooves.

Where this band and its diminutive baby-talk vocalist are still popular in coin phones, either side here has its chances. But in a general sense, neither one is an "Oh, Johnny," even if that once-successful mould had not long since been destroyed.

HARRY JAMES (Columbia 36171)

Aurora—PT. VC. Daddy—PT. VC.

James has two extremely well-arranged and well-played sides in this double. After his ambitious, serious-minded trumpeting on the two-sided Trumpet Rhapsody last week, this is in a much lighter vein, but both tunes are nonetheless carefully turned out. Aurora leads off in Latin tempo, veering off into swing a third of the way up the side, with Dick Haymes supplying a capella vocal. The scoring is outstanding on this one, with Harry's trumpet bits running it a close second in volume. Helen Ward is used as "guest vocalist" on the reverse, which offers a powerful beat behind her and behind the instrumental sections surrounding her warbling. May Ward's quietly effective style sells the words excellently, and another typically fine James arrangement rounds out a plainly listenable side.

There is everything about these sides to appeal to phone patrons, except the precious of solid name band value. James has yet to have his first real click in the machines, despite the high level of his work, and it isn't likely that he'll have it here, where he has competition on the tunes, when he misses a with some of his other individual recordings.

RAY NOBLE (Columbia 36162)

A Little Bit of Blarney—PT. My Wife Irish Rose—PT. VC.

Noble bows in the direction of Ireland with his latest release, coupling an effective contrast of Erin melodies, the first side an original arrangement combining several bits of familiar Irish tunes in a lively, swingy manner, the reverse a slow, thoughtful, and pretty scoring of the well-known ballad, with Larry Stewart singing it well. Side A is well written for reeds, and shows in many spots Ray's fine arranging ability and ingenuity.

Irish ditties can usually find a haven in a number of locations, and his pair should do all right in such spots. With the first side bright, and the platters slowly sentimental, operators have their choice as to which to have right-side-up under the needles.

Asn. Co-Operates In Gathering Books, Mags for Draftees

LOS ANGELES, June 14.—Another worth-while duty is being performed by the Associated Operators of Los Angeles County, Inc., in response to a request for books and magazines for the boys in service from Curley Robinson, managing director of the association.

Books and magazines gathered by members will be sent to army camps for use in libraries and canteens. In his letter to association members, Robinson said: "When the newspapers carried the news that the boys in service are hungry for books and current magazines, your association decided to do something about it. So, with the help of the Los Angeles County Council of the American Legion, the problem of distributing the books and magazines has been worked out. They have made arrangements with the board of education, fire and police departments, sheriff's office, and others to lend a hand in making this effort a huge success. We are ready to do our part—we are ready to go!"

"This is where you come in. Take a moment or so to check over all your books and current magazines today. Set aside the ones that you do not want—the ones you want to give. We will accept any amount. They will be distributed at the various military and naval centers in California."

"Let's get together, all of us. Settle your accounts for old books and magazines and make this undertaking a big success. Good books and magazines are worth their weight in gold to the boys in camp. Those of us who served in the last war realize this only too well. We knew the value, the happiness that came with a bundle of good reading. Help us, won't you?"

"Bundle up your 'Bundles for Buddies' and bring them into the office just as soon as you can. Let's see what a swell job our boys can do for the boys who are doing a swell job for us."

Another letter sent out from AOLAC offices asks that members co-operate with the United Service Organization in raising $10,765,000 to bring recreational activities to the soldiers.

There is no doubt but that the members will support both requests. They are worthy causes and AOLAC has never failed to support one.

Phil Robinson, who represents Chicago Coin in this section, recently returned from a two-week trip to Seattle and Portland, where he visited Walter Solomon and Budge Wright. On the return trip Robinson visited Lou Wolcher and Al Armos, of Golden State Novelty Company, San Francisco. It is Robinson's opinion that business, while very good in the territory covered, has not reached the peak. Operators are putting out plenty of machines. In the vicinity of defense projects business is setting new records.

Eddie Keller is contacting music machine operators here in connection with Feedbox Freddie, the new recording by Abe Lyman, who opens at the Palladium, Hollywood, June 20. Eddie is tying in some promotional schemes to increase the play on phones. Feedbox Freddie is to be selected at a contest at the Palladium and his picture, typical of the jitterbug type about whom the song is written, will be painted and hung there. Also being used is a sticker bearing the caption "Are You a P. F.?" It builds up good suspense and all who see it are certain to ask what it means. Lilac-colored stickers are also being used on machines to plug Lyman's recording When the Lilac Bloom Again.

Sun Phonograph Company is now in operation at its new location on West Pico Boulevard.

Harry Kaplan and James Jones, of Southwestern Vending Machine Company, are taking turns staying in the office during the hot weather. When one is on the road seeing what's what in arcade equipment, the other is in Los Angeles handling the business. Kaplan said he is due for a vacation soon.

Vacation time is a much-discussed topic along the Pico Coliseum. Most of the boys treat it as Mark Twain treated the weather—they all talk but no one seems to find time to get away. Mac Sanders has been considering vacas for the past four weeks but is at his place of business every day. Herb McClellan takes his rest in playing jokes on operators who visit him.

Max Kraut and Cliff Blake, of U-Need-a-Pak's West Coast office, are now settled in their new location. This gives them more room to display the new machines recently received from the factory in Brooklyn. Kraut, who came out from New York, is now a dyed-in-the-wool booster of California and its weather.

Russ Smith, of California Simplex Distributing Corporation, recently made a trip thru his territory. Ed Smith is now handling business at the San Francisco office.

Cal Brown, of Mills Sales, is back from a trip to Las Vegas, Nev. He reports that this territory is booming.

Harry Rawlings, of County Games, is taking an active part in the raising of the Christmas Dinner Fund for the Pacific Coast Showmen's Association. Funds are raised at each meeting by a "Penny Parade."

M. Ginsburg Visits Atlas Omaha Branch

CHICAGO, June 14.—Morrie Ginsburg, accompanied by Bob Van Weis, made a flying trip to the Omaha, Neb., branch of the Atlas Novelty Company this week. "A check-up on the sales figures shows this branch doing a steady increasing business on all coin-controlled devices," Morrie stated. Both men were pleased over the fact that sales of Seeburg phones are exceeding expectations.

"The reason we are so pleased over the results our Omaha branch is chalking up is that it is the newest of our offices and yet has climbed into the big volume class so quickly," these men stated. "It won't be long before sales of this office will rival those of any in the Midwest."

Efforts To Enlist Civic Orgs in Drives on Games Meet With Stinging Setbacks

CHICAGO, June 14.—Anyone who has followed the legal history of coin machines can recall numerous instances of how coin machines have served as convenient stepping stones mounted by scheming politicians to positions of importance in city and State governments. Years ago frontal attacks were made by these men on the old "pin games must go" theme. These attacks still crop up once in a while, but the method has become more subtle. Today they direct the attack from behind the scenes instead of mounting them once familiar soap box, for the height of political strategy is to get respected civic and social organizations to dance to the politician's tune—without their knowing he's playing the pipes.

Started in Florida

This undercover strategy first came to light in 1937 when the reform wave swept coin-operated equipment out of the State of Florida. Not until the campaign was over and the bill duly passed by the Legislature and signed by the governor did the church interests, who were the most ardent supporters of the bill, realize that in crusading against pin games they were dancing to the tune played by Moe Annenberg and his political cohorts who saw in coin machines a potential threat to the millions they were coining from the racing interests they headed. Taking their cue from this adroit bit of political maneuvering, other politicians followed suit, and more reform crusades sponsored undercover by political factions began spreading.

Effectiveness Dwindling

But in the past few months this strategy has met with two crushing defeats; and its end as a political strategy is not far off, for organizations like the Parent-Teacher Association, church groups, etc., are beginning to probe deeper into the "reasons why" their support is solicited in such campaigns.

Just a few weeks ago the skids were purported to be all greased for the California Congress of Parents and Teachers meeting at its 42d annual convention in Oakland, Calif., to come out with a resolution against pinball machines. On Tuesday, May 6, The Los Angeles Daily News carried an eight-column headline declaring, "CCTP Expected To Fight Pinball Machines." Several members of the delegation had already been instructed to work for a resolution demanding the abolishment of marble games as being instrumental to character destruction of youth.

But it didn't happen.

At the meeting, after much discussion, members agreed that there have been very few instances where juveniles were permitted to play pin games, and that the abolishment of pin games would not make any change in the morals or conduct of our youth. The group further unanimously agreed that if there is to be a distinctive change for the betterment of our youth it could only be brought about thru education and not thru legislation.

San Francisco Case

Just a few days prior to the meeting of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers a political candidate for office in San Francisco was given a stinging setback in his efforts to enlist public groups in an organization known as the "Citizens' Committee Against Pinball Machines" formed to get publicize. A number of public-spirited citizens were reported taken in by the group.

But apparently the crusade did not fool so many people in San Francisco, for newspapers gave considerable publicity to the movement and also reported that the operators of licensed pinball games in the city are co-operating with the PTA and other civic groups to prevent minors from playing the games.

The effect of this co-operation by the operators of the games has been reassuring to officials and to parents.

Concrete evidence of the rebuff to aspiring politicians who seek to make publicity of pinball games was seen in two letters recently sent by Edward O'Gaffney, executive secretary of the Council of Youth Organization in San Francisco.

Letter to Crusaders

In a letter dated April 28, 1941, addressed to Waldo F. Postel, Citizens' Committee Against Pinball Machines, San Francisco, O'Gaffney wrote the following:

"It has been called to my attention that you are including my name on the list of membership of the Citizens' Committee Against Pinball Machines on your organization letterhead."

"I have never at any time authorized you to use my name on this committee or any other committee."

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—Sid Rothstein, of S. R. Vending & Amusement Company, Philadelphia, has announced his engagement to Selma Rosenfeld, of Logan, Pa. No date has been set for the wedding.

EASTERN FLASHES

NEW YORK, June 14.—Commen are doing a lot of traveling these days. Among those still away, or just back from Chicago and other points, are Nat Cohn and Harry Rosen, of Modern Bill Alberg and Charley Aronson, of Brooklyn Amusement; Tony Gaspari, of Weston; John Fitzgibbons and Bill Babkin, of International Mutoscope Reel Company. Visitors here this week were Al S. Douglas and Dave Helfenbein, of Daval, and Al Schleitner, of Square Amusement, Poughkeepsie.

Capchart, president of Packard Manufacturing Corporation, has contributed a complete free-play automatic music system and a wall console speaker to the Indianapolis Army, Navy, and Marine Service Club, used by enlisted men and draftees while in Indianapolis. In rear, left to right, are H. W. Middleworth, Indianapolis recreation director; Harry Drollinger, Packard service manager, and William Book, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce. manager, grins as he watches the Norman Bel Geddes-designed Model "500" cigarette merchandiser roll off the assembly lines in the Brooklyn plant.

FAST FLASHES . . .

Sanford Warner, Bert Lane's right-hand man, is boosting Genco's Captain Kidd to the skies... Irv Morris, of George Ponner's Newark office, visiting the Panorama display at the Hotel New Yorker, brought glowing reports of what Soundies are doing on location in Jersey.

larger quarters... Leon Takase is doing a bigger job than ever uptown... George Gus is back from another selling trip for Mike Munves... Dave Firestone, on the road again, remained in New York just long enough to tell coinmen what a big hit Cent-a-Mint was making everywhere.

Orders continue to come in for the new G. V. Adams outdoor machine, reports Miss A. M. Strong... Big Glassgold, of DuGrenier, sees a record year in store for the Champion if sales keep up at the present rate.

PHILLY PHLASHERS . . .

What with music collections going very well, and most of the pin operations running aroses in summer resorts, things look rosy here.

Ed White, Bobby Kline's right-hand man, is busier than ever now that Bobby is on the road. Kline is elated with the progress he is making with the DuGrenier line... Harry Pearl and Harold Lawrence, of Keystone, Newark, paid a visit here to Sam Stern, of Keystone... Sam Lerner is making his regular trips to Wildwood to check on his arcade... Dave Rosen is handing out cigars. It's a boy... Joe Cohen's wife has just presented him with a daughter.

Keystone Vending is putting on three more tables for wired music... Irv Weiss is expanding his pin route... With Ed (Tippy) Klein having more work to take care of than he could possibly handle with two hands, he had the misfortune of burning one hand, and now he's really in a fix... Syd Bernstein isn't going to remain at Keystone, as the army decided that it couldn't get along without him.

The Hakes, father and son, report numerous inquiries for vending machines and supplies in their new store... Jack Kaufman, of K. C. Novelty, shipped out a carload of machines the past week. He says they're hard to get.

Hail New Counter Game by Groetchen

CHICAGO, June 14 (Manufacturer's release).—Telling of Groetchen's new counter game, Wings, Karl Klein, Groetchen official, said: "There is an interesting story behind the counter game which appropriately enough has been christened Wings."

"Six years ago, the first five-reel cigarette game had been offered by Groetchen in Zig-Zag. In the meantime, three-reel cigarette games, with and without token payout had attained a peak of popularity."

"Groetchen sensed a new trend and created Wings, which has quickly jumped into the lead. The regular one-pack awards, obtainable on lining up three symbols of a kind, are spiced at certain intervals with the desirable five pack awards, obtained on lining up four symbols, and that very elusive but nevertheless promising award of 10 packs obtained on five symbols of a kind."

"Greatly increased earning reports are reaching the Groetchen plants from the operators in various parts of the country who location-tested Wings prior to its release to the trade," concluded Klein.

G&G Busy on Wings Sales

CHICAGO, June 14 (Distributor's release).—"I'm selling Wings to practically every operator in my territory," reports Harry LeVine, of Gerber & Glass, who is traveling the Midwest. "Operators are having success with this new counter hit and they're highly enthused over it."

"The game has real appeal. The five-reel cigarette play, with winning possibilities of 1 to 10 packs, is meeting with quick approval from players."

Max Glass added that operators are strong for Wings. "We hear the same reports from operators all over," he said. "Those who start out with a few come back and order them by the dozen."

Belle Hop Brings Rush of Orders

CHICAGO, June 14 (Manufacturer's release).—Activity at the D. Gottlieb plant has taken a spurt as a result of heavy orders for Belle Hop, say officials. "From one end of the country to the other," they add, "Belle Hop is capturing locations."

"Operators and distributors have set up such an insistent clamor for delivery on Belle Hop," they continued, "that they keep us hopping faster than any bell hop. In order to keep up we've had to step up production. Belle Hop meets the fancy of players and has won the endorsement of operators. It is making a great hit in locations, and reports coming in from operators show amazing records. In attractiveness and in play appeal Belle Hop rings the bell."

Daval Urges Coinmen Buy Equipment Now

CHICAGO, June 14 (Manufacturer's release)—Al S. Douglass, of the Daval Company, is urging operators to invest in games now. "The demand for Marvel and American Eagle has zoomed to new high records," he reports. "Distributors, jobbers, and operators have been keeping our factory working on the fastest schedule we have ever adopted."

These men advise us that both Marvel and American Eagle are earning more money today than when they were first introduced. The machines are staple items in the amusement line. They have won the confidence of the players and the location owners as well. There is no doubt that operators are noting this fact and are buying quantities of both Marvel and American Eagle. The demand continues big and it's getting bigger every day. We may soon not be able to make the quick shipments now being made.

"Both games being token payouts, both games are percentage for complete control by the operator. Both have every new feature we have developed. Both attract pennies and nickels like bees to honey," he concluded.

Appeal to L. A. Assn. Bird Motif on Members To Co-Op. Mills Owl Reels

LOS ANGELES, June 14.—The first organized appeal to coin machine operators to become a part of the United Service Organizations program was made by the Associated Operators of Los Angeles, Inc., in a letter to all its members and associates from Curley Robinson, managing director of the group.

Lester appealed for members to "open your heart, open your purse, give to the U. S. O." and cited the comments of President Roosevelt in behalf of the program.

In outlining the U. S. O. program, the letter stated: "Thru its 380 service units the U. S. O. will supply to members of the armed forces and defense workers, both men and women:

"Contact with the community; friendly and wholesome contacts between persons in military and civilian life; organization of social events, such as dances; arrangements for actual hospitalization."

"Religious service for soldiers, sailors, and defense workers of different faiths, including lay activities."

"Counsel and guidance on personal problems of all kinds."

"Clubhouse accommodations, including organization of entertainment and games, meetings, and social functions; provision of light refreshments, reading and writing facilities, lounges, and sleeping accommodations."

"Education and cultural services, including organization of musical and dramatic groups; formation of hobby and discussion groups; provision of books."

"Information service regarding a community's recreational resources, transportation facilities, and room registry; aid to relatives and friends in locating soldiers who do not correspond regularly."

"Transient aid to soldiers and sailors on leave, to visiting relatives and friends, and to migratory defense workers and their families."

"Local U. S. O. programs will be carefully individualized to meet local problems, such as those of women in defense industries and migratory workers."

Robinson's message also pointed out that the government will provide the buildings and is appealing to civilian aid in operating the program, the total cost of which will be $10,765,000 for the first year. All members were asked to show their co-operation by sending contributions to the United Service Organizations Los Angeles headquarters.

Bud Lieberman Traces Success

CHICAGO, June 14 (Distributor's release)—Bud Lieberman, Chicago distributor, advises that business has shown marked improvement during the past weeks. "Business has always been good," he declared. "It has been good because I have considered it my duty to see that my customers got the best."

"I have always made it a rule to have the latest in used and new equipment always available, and the success of my business has sprung from my adherence to this policy. Strong purchasing connections put me in position to offer operators fast and complete service on all requirements."

British War Relief Gifts $889,113 in May

NEW YORK, June 14.—Gifts of $889,113 in May brought total receipts of the British War Relief Society to $9,484,549. It has been announced by S. A. Salvage, chairman.

This is the fund to which the coin machine industry is contributing thru the offices of Coin Machine Industries, Inc.

Among major disbursements of the month were: $102,500 in cash, cabled to officially approved agencies for public assistance in Britain for emergency relief needs; $80,000 to purchase woolen yarn for knit goods, and $44,315 to purchase overcoats. Shipments of all types of relief goods during May—including those sent by the British-American Ambulance Corps, Bundles for Britain, and the English Speaking Union—were valued at $522,188. The B. W. R. S. share was $397,517.

CHICAGO, June 14 (Manufacturer's release)—Vince Shay, coin machine sales manager of Mills Novelty Company, states: "Mills Owl is designed to give a player real entertainment. It's a beautiful example of latest type store furniture, flashy and beautiful at the same time. Designed by one of the nation's best known artist-designers, it is brilliantly decorated with bird motif in many colors, harmonizing with natural birch. A whole new set of characters have been devised for the Owl's realm: Canary instead of lemon; cardinal instead of cherry; oriole instead of orange; bluebird instead of plum; goldfinch instead of bell, owl instead of bars."

"The way to get the best location is to offer a table that is totally different in player appeal and earning power."

Aronson and Alberg Enter Evans Contest

NEW YORK, June 14 (Distributor's release).—Charley Aronson and Bill Alberg, of Brooklyn Amusement Machine Company, have entered a sales contest on the two new Evans machines. Bill will handle sales of Evans' Super Bomber and Charley is in charge of Evans' Play Ball.

"Our big problem," said Alberg, "is that both machines are so darn good that we don't know how one will lick the other. Charley feels he can outsell me with Play Ball, and I feel I can top his best efforts with Super Bomber. Therefore we are going at it tooth and nail, and may the best man win."

"Bill has an idea that regardless of how good both games are he can outsell me," commented Aronson. "But when this contest is over I believe Bill will find himself on the short end of the bat."

The fact that both these great Evans games are already capturing the attention of the operators leaves the contest wide open to salesmanship. Just watch my smoke."

Friends of both Charley and Bill are placing side bets on the outcome of the contest.

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, June 14.—While phonograph operations are off from their peak of the year, most distributors and operators report good late spring business. Distributors are still running into difficulty in supplying the demand, especially for control equipment. Pin games are very good, too.

John Masset, head of Jefferson Novelty Company, was re-elected president of the Lions Club of Metairie. The Billboard correspondent, Phil Muth, moves up from treasurer to first vice-president, and Earl Rollins, also of the Jefferson Novelty Company, becomes member of the new board of directors. The Lions' Club has pledged to protect the Metairie area in time of possible emergency.

New additions to the office of the Southern Music Sales Company are New Haywood, in charge of record sales, and Lorraine Singer, bookkeeper. Joseph Mancuso is in Vicksburg installing several new Seeburg remote systems. Ernie Certe, head of the Southern company, reports the best phone demand in the history of his firm.

Phonograph operators are given much credit for a sharp pick-up in sales this spring of RCA-Victor and Bluebird records by Hugh Smith, in charge of record sales for Electrical Supply Company, local RCA-Victor distributor.

Melvin Mallory, manager Louisiana Amusement Company, has returned to his office after an absence of several weeks caused by an appendix operation. Tom Williams, of Stelle & Norton, Houston, has returned to the Texas city after filling Mallory's place. George Baker, of the service department, also returned. The Louisiana company, an affiliate of the Houston firm, is now receiving regular shipments of new Rock-Ola equipment.

Al Mendez, district sales manager of Wurlitzer, back in town after a trip to the North Tonawanda factory, accompanied by the Williams brothers, of Shreveport and Dallas, is keenly optimistic over summer prospects and reports the Wurlitzer factory will keep operators well supplied with new machines.

R. N. McCormick, Southern sales manager for Decca Distributing Corporation, returned Monday from a trip to East Texas and Oklahoma. Paul Sutton, of the Decca Birmingham sales office, and Clifford Couloumb, of the New Orleans office, have left to join the ranks of Uncle Sam.

A new phonograph operator here is W. M. Mayer, head of the Roswell Radio Service and for several years attached to the service department of a large operating firm.

Pops LeVan, manager of the coin machine playland at Pontchartrain Beach, reports the best early-season business in years.

Vincent Casertano, manager of the Sport Center, estimates an increase of 10 to 15 per cent in operations in the past month.

F. W. King, G. & N. Sales Company, reports a good demand for counter games in the interior of Louisiana and Mississippi.

Batting Practice Hailed in Detroit

DETROIT, June 14 (Distributor's release)—Ben Robinson, Robinson Sales Company, distributor for Scientific Machine Corporation's Batting Practice, has been doing a splendid job with the baseball game, according to factory officials. He has convinced operators in his territory regarding the permanent merit of the machine.

In a letter to Max Levine, Scientific's president, he reports: "I don't know whether you realize it, but we have just passed the 250 mark and we are still going strong. Operators are rapidly becoming aware of the fact that Batting Practice is a long-life machine, and they are beginning to buy heavily."

"Recently I had a fellow come in who bought a machine two months ago. He told me that he had been waiting for a drop in the receipts from week to week, but that it was taking in almost as much money today as it did two months ago. The original location would not let him move the machine even though he had four or five spots asking for it. So I got his order for four more games."

Monarch Expands Floor Stocks

CHICAGO, June 14 (Distributor's release)—Monarch Coin Machine Company official Al Stern reports that an increased volume of orders from operators has brought the decision of his company to carry enlarged floor stocks.

"Sales on all types of equipment have skyrocketed to new high points," he declares. "While we have been displaying what we believe to be the most complete stock of machines in the country, business conditions at present make still larger stocks advisable. Consequently we are adding equipment so that our customers can be sure of obtaining immediate delivery."

Lucky Strike in Heavy Production

CHICAGO, June 14 (Manufacturer's release) — "For the first time in six months we are in a position to offer immediate delivery on Lucky Strike counter games," said Baker Novelty Company officials this week.

"Increased production has enabled us to fill all back orders, as well as daily demand," said Harold L. Baker, company president. "We wish to thank the many users of Lucky Strike who have patiently waited for delivery."

"The success of Lucky Strike was not accidental," declares Carl Huppert, sales manager of the company, "but was the result of designing a counter game that was entirely different and which has resulted in big earnings for operators. Baker's plant is going at top speed to fill the demand for Target Skill, a five-ball novelty free-play table, as well as on Baker's Pacers daily double jack-pot model."

Coin Operators' Supply Fills Needs

CHICAGO, June 14 (Distributor's release) — Coin Operators' Supply Company, newly established firm dealing in parts and supplies for games, has achieved a definite and important place in the coin machine operators' esteem, declares A. Stern, young head of the organization.

"Because rapid, complete service is the first consideration in handling an order, we have fast become the choice of the operator requiring parts in a hurry," Stern said. "With a complete supply of parts and supplies always on hand and an efficient method of operation, Coin Operators' Supply Company plays an indispensable role in the business of the operator. Day by day we demonstrate our ability to serve in numerous ways, and day by day our customer list grows larger and larger."

Arcade Biz Good At Columbus Park

COLUMBUS, O., June 14.—Penny Arcades have been midway attractions at amusement parks for many years, but their popularity is greater than ever if the patronage at the arcade in Zoo Park, the amusement center at O'Shaughnessy Dam, may be taken as a criterion.

Auditor's figures prove that since the season's opening the arcade has been near the top of the list in business done. Joseph Frazier, arcade manager, has installed many new machines. One of these is his own invention. It tells your future thru the vibrations of the hand laid on a delicately balanced panel.

Coinmen Applaud Buckley Equipment

CHICAGO, June 14 (Manufacturer's release).—"Operators writing us praise the Buckley Music System," declares Harold R. (Perk) Perkins, general sales manager. "Some of the phrases they use to praise Buckley," he continued, "are 'Buckley's the beauty' and 'Buckley's the practical system.'

"Whether they mean the beautiful girls whom we have been featuring with our Buckley Music System—Jean Martin, Jane Texan, Louise Stanley, and now Madeline-Down, I don't know, but I do know that sales are breaking all records at the factory."

"We've never seen such a rush to get installations set for what looks like a big year. Orders from our distributors get larger and larger. It is my belief that this month will have established a production and sales record that will be hard to beat."

Perk continues: "Today it's much more than just something to replace old equipment. Locations are demanding beautiful and attractive sound systems with better tone music. That's what we have been telling the trade for some time now and that's just what we have to offer the music operator."

"Buckley's the beauty all right," Perk declares, "when it comes to attracting nickels for bigger, steadier profits."

Distribs Laud Seven Grand

CHICAGO, June 14 (Distributor's release).—Al Koplo, head of Koplo Sales & Supply Company, breezed into his office during the past week for a few days before starting out again on his visits with distributors and operators.

He reports that Koplo's counter game, Seven Grand, is meeting with high praise from all who see it. "The 1-cent and 5-cent cigarette play with seven cigarette symbol dice is being used extensively, while the cash award with seven spot dice and multiple coin chute is clicking in other spots," he said.

1941 Snappy Now at Distribs

CHICAGO, June 14 (Manufacturer's release).—Third in order of production during this year, Snappy of 1941 comes off the production lines of the Chicago Coin Machine Company this week.

"As a modern version of a previous high-earning Chicago Coin game, Snappy of 1941 has already been endowed with the confidence of operators to the extent that it will be one of the biggest games of the year in point of production," declares Samuel Gensberg, Chicago Coin executive.

"Like every Chicago Coin game, Snappy of 1941 is built to encompass mechanical and material perfection to insure operating dependability."

"Like every Chicago Coin game, Snappy of 1941 has its own new playing theme. Play involves a combination of numbers, letters, and high score—with plenty of colorful action on the field and backboard. Previews by our distributors have contributed to the all-out activity now taking place in our two factory buildings. We fully expect to double production and set a new record when operators have seen how Snappy of 1941 play out attract the nickels. Snappy of 1941 is a five-ball replay game incorporating many popular Chicago Coin game features."

Southern Automatic
Revitalizes Sales

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 14 (Distributor's release).—Executives and salesmen of Southern Automatic Music Company inaugurated an intensified sales campaign this week on music systems and new and reconditioned equipment of all kind, reports Leo Weinberger, Southern official.

"In all of our offices the managers and sales staffs have gone to work with a will to put sales over the top for the next six months," Weinberger declared. "The inspiring effects of the successful Seeburg sales convention in Chicago recently are still with us, and we are going to town on music system installations. There is plenty of sales pep left over to affect our efforts on promotion of our new and used games, too, and we are doing a grand job of selling with our reconditioned, refinished phonographs as well. Great as the first six months of 1941 have been, we expect the rest of the year to overshadow anything we have ever done in the past as far as sales and customer satisfaction are concerned."

Bally Gun in Popular Mechanics

CHICAGO, June 14 (Manufacturer's release).—The coin machine industry's part in national defense is dramatically illustrated in a feature page of the July Popular Mechanics, showing various methods of training used at the U.S. Armed Forces School at Fort Knox.

One of the training devices used is Bally's popular Rapid Fire machine gun, built with a miniature tank replacing the submarine used in the amusement model. Bally's most recent gun, Sky Battle, is reported as enjoying a lively demand as operators ready their summer spots.

Keeney Introduces Sky Ray Game

CHICAGO, June 14 (Manufacturer's release).—J. H. Keeney & Company have announced release of a new replay game, Sky Ray. According to William (Bill) Ryan, Keeney sales manager, Sky Ray orders from Keeney distributors have already placed a load on production lines.

"The unanimous opinion of our distributors is that Sky Ray is one of the best games of the year," Ryan declared. "The quantity orders placed with us to take care of the advance demands of operators indicate that Sky Ray has great possibilities."

"Sky Ray is a five-ball game with a new idea that has proved a play maker on test. It features a combination of pockets and bumpers—the old and the new brought together to provide a distinctly different kind of play. Pockets qualify the corresponding series of bumpers to give the player a greater choice of ways to win. High score and other scoring features are included in Sky Ray."

Peres Is Packard New Orleans Distrib

INDIANAPOLIS, June 14 (Manufacturer's release).—Appointment of Peres Amusement Company, New Orleans, as exclusive Packard distributor for Southern Louisiana has been announced by Homer E. Capchart, president of Packard Manufacturing Corporation.

Capchart made the following statement along with the announcement: "We are greatly pleased to be represented by such an outstanding distributor as Jules Peres, of Peres Amusement Company. Peres, head of the company, has long been associated with the automatic music industry and has done a magnificent job in the distribution of automatic music equipment. It gives me great pleasure to have our products distributed by such an outstanding firm."

Super Bomber Is New Evans Release

CHICAGO, June 14 (Manufacturer's release).—Hailing it a "phenomenal flying arsenal of super thrills," H. C. Evans & Company have announced their new Champion Super Bomber. It is a new departure, it is said, in which the player is made to feel the hair-raising experiences of piloting a bomber plane and fighting a battle fleet of warships in the waters below.

"Realism of action and scenic effects are carried to new highs," said officials. "Bomber formations, accompanied by fighter planes, fly across the sky. Battleships move thru the waters below. The front of the machine simulates the interior of the bomber's cockpit. Instrument panels, controls, and even the windshield is carried out in realistic fashion. By manipulating the bomb releases, aerial bombs are dropped from the bomber plane. A direct hit blows up and sinks the ship. Ten releases of four bombs each in play, from one to four hits per release may be scored. Hits register 1,000 points. Top score is 40,000."

"Evans' Champion Super Bomber introduces something entirely new in operation, in appeal and in earning capacity to the industry," said R. W. (Dick) Hood, company president. "It is different from anything else. It is in no way comparable to a gun. It scores a direct hit of pleasure and satisfaction to defense-minded America. The machine is self-contained in one streamlined unit requiring small floor space. Super Bomber has been heralded by our distributors as one of the greatest and most timely new ideas. There is already such a backlog of orders piling up that delivery must be made in the order of receipt of orders."

Keeney Replay Game Sets Mark

CHICAGO, June 14 (Manufacturer's Release).—According to reports from J. H. Keeney & Company, Contest, new Keeney release, has set enviable earnings marks since its introduction recently.

"Our claim of pay-table profits from a replay game has been substantiated over and over again in every part of the country," states William (Bill) Ryan, Keeney sales manager. "In Contest we have a game that knows few limitations in operation. As a one or a five-ball play game, it meets operating requirements anywhere, and with its one to four-coin multiple play it garners coins as fast as players can get them out of their pockets."

"Location reaction to Contest is more than adequate, as may be surmised from an inspection of the Keeney production lines. Distributors are calling for the game in daily increasing quantities, thanks to its sparkling appeal and fast, colorful action. In a giant-size cabinet, Contest is irresistible as an attraction anywhere in a location."

Miraben Phono Demand Increases

CHICAGO, June 14 (Manufacturer's release).—"Photographs remodeled in the Miraben manner are in heavy demand in the used phonograph field today," reports Ben Lutak, Miraben Company executive.

The modernization treatment that a used phonograph undergoes in our shops has put many supposedly retired machines on the active list of operators' equipment," Lutak stated. "Earnings have fully justified the remodeling process. Today we are hard at work filling a greater than ever quantity of orders for remodeled phones and we are experiencing increased business on individual units with which operators glamorize their own instruments. Since much of the earning power of a phonograph results from the eye-appeal factor, Miraben remodeled units and complete remodeled phonographs have met a long-standing need."

From Optometrist To Games Operator

KINGSPORT, Tenn., June 14.—Dr. Oscar Z. Silver, successful optometrist here and also owner of the Sterling Novelty Company, has a unique story to tell concerning his business activities.

In December of 1940 he purchased several cigarette venders and began operating them around town. Now, five months after his initiation into the coin machine business, Dr. Silver has over 25 pieces of equipment, including pin games, ball gum venders, etc. He reports he is planning to increase his routes materially.

His method of operating is unique in that he doesn't use his profits to live on, putting all profits, less expenses, back into the business. W. C. Hillman is associated with Dr. Silver in the business and gives his full time to the operations, while Dr. Silver continues his practice of optometry. Silver does the buying and financing of machines.
