THE MAGICIAN.

He performs feats of absolute wizardry on the human heart. He turns fine songs into deep romantic spells. He wakes the princess in every woman. And "I Only Have Eyes for You," his new album, is classic Mathis magic.

Great songs like the Grammy-winner "Send in the Clowns," the Oscar-nominated "Theme From 'Mahogany,'" and the deeply moving single just released this week, "Yellow Roses on Her Gown." Johnny Mathis. How does he do it? ³⁻¹⁰³⁵⁰

First Step To Reaching The 'After-Youth' Market

The marketing expansion program of the RIAA (see story page seven) is the first step towards insuring a promising future for the record business in the '70s and '80s. Over a year after Stan Cornyn's speech at the 1975 NARM convention, in which he outlined the problems of an industry which sells the bulk of its product to one age group, definite action is being planned to expand sales beyond the "blue jean curtain."

The baby boom and the social upheaval of the sixties were perhaps the most important factors in making the record industry as big as it is today. There were suddenly millions of people to whom rock and folk music were of primary importance.

The social factors have changed, but the young record buyers are still there. But they, like everyone, are getting older and their tastes are changing, and the record industry must change with them unless it is prepared to lose its single largest market.

Perhaps a more alarming fact is that adults do not buy records to anything like the degree that high school and college age people do. A Frank Sinatra album has very little chance of making it to the top of the charts, and one of the main reasons is that many adults simply will not go into record stores — they are alienated by the youth orientation of many stores.

The retailers have had good reason to cater to teens and young adults, because they buy most of the records. But the baby boom has peaked and the number of people in that age group is headed for a decline in the future. This, combined with the fact that the heavy buyers are moving into adulthood, makes it a necessity for the industry to attract adult customers (who have more disposable income in the first place) and get them back into the habit of buying records.

The market expansion project is but a first step in the right direction. Whether or not such a broad and ambitious project can be successfully implemented on an industry-wide basis remains to be seen. In any case, the dialogue and ideas that the project will promote will certainly give the industry something to think about.

The market expansion project is but a first step in the right direction. Cash Box has reported in detail on recent attempts to reach this market in a more sophisticated manner, and we will continue to support and endorse those ideas, suggestions and proposals which will add up to nothing less than more business for all of us.

Mercury Opens Memphis Office

by Steven Scharf

MEMPHIS, TENN. — Mercury Records hosted a party in Memphis on May 18th in honor of their opening a Memphis office.

Mercury's opening of a Memphis office marks the revitalization and return of the record industry to Memphis. During the riverboat ride on the Mississippi, one part of the festivities, Charles Fach announced the signing of the Bar-Kays.

Diverse

Jud Phillips, who will head the operation, comes from a diverse musical background including producing, engineering, and publishing and is related to the founding members of Sun Records, the label which originally recorded such superstars as Elvis Presley, Jerry Lee Lewis and Charlie Rich.

Concluding the reception, Mayor Wyeth Chandler presented Charles Fach with a key to the city of Memphis and proclaimed Tuesday, May 18 as Mercury Music Day. Commenting on the event, Fach stated, "We can show the world that there is more than one musical city in the state of Tennessee."

Executives

Among the Mercury executives attending were Charles Fach, executive vice president/general manager; Phillips, A&R director/Memphis for Phonogram, Inc./Mercury Records; Mike Gormley, national director of publicity; Sheryl Feuerstein, east coast publicity director; Herb Heldt, branch manager of Phonodisc in Atlanta; Joe Polidor, southern regional marketing manager; Bill Heywood, national R&B promotion manager and Tommy Young, southwest promotion manager. Also present were some local entertainers, such as Jerry Lee Lewis, Rufus Thomas, O.B. McClinton and Denise LaSalle, and members of the trade and local consumer press, including a representative from Cash Box.

8 Platinum, 39 Gold Certifications By Canadian Record Assoc.

ONTARIO, CANADA — Seven platinum albums, one platinum single, 24 gold albums and 15 gold singles have been certified by the Canadian Recording Industry Association during the period February 1 to May 10, 1976. "K.C. & The Sunshine Band," "April Wine Stand Back," "The Homecoming" by Hagood Hardy, "Venus & Mars" by Wings, "Paul McCartney & Wings," "McCartney" and "Ram" by Paul & Linda McCartney were the seven albums certified platinum for sales of over 100,000 as compared to sales of over one million in the U.S. "That's The Way I Like It" by K.C. & The Sunshine Band was the only single certified platinum for sales of over 150,000 copies as compared to sales of over two million in the U.S. Gold sales in Canada for albums are 50,000 or more and gold singles are 75,000 or more as compared to 500,000 and one million respectively in the U.S.

Increase

According to information analyzed in Cash Box last week, there has been an increase in gold record awards so far in 1976 from 1975, by 18 singles and 46 albums over 15 singles and 40 albums in the same January 1 to May 12 period last year. Under the new RIAA platinum certification program there have been five platinum albums and one platinum single, "Disco Lady" by Johnnie Taylor, awarded since January 1, 1976.

Record Div. Sales of Public Firms Increased By $1/2 Bil. In Last 4 Yrs.

by Gary Cohen

NEW YORK — Record division sales of major public corporations involved in the record industry have increased by more than a half billion dollars over the last five years, according to a Cash Box analysis of the sales figures of those corporations. The total sales of the record divisions of these corporations jumped from around $850 million in 1971 to close to $1.4 billion in 1975, a near 40% increase, or approximately an increase of $100 million a year on average for the last five years. (See pg. 16 for sales analysis chart.)

The companies whose sales information was used to compile the information were CBS, Warner Communications, ABC, MCA, Capitol, Transamerica, Columbia Pictures and 20th Century Fox. RCA does not release a breakdown of record division sales, but instead combines individual division sales under various operating groups.

Overall Sales

Included in the record division figures are sales for domestic and international record sales, publishing, record pressing, wholesale distribution, retailing, etc.

The figures for Capitol and Columbia Pictures are for their years ending June 30; the balance are for the calendar year ending December 31.

The sales information for 1975 for all companies showed an increase of roughly $100 million over 1974, while the 1974 increase was double that, or $200 million, more than 1973. That would tend to indicate, especially for Wall Street and other outsiders, that the record industry does have consistent sales growth and the ability to grow further.

'After Youth Market' Target Of RIAA Project

by Eric Rudolph

NEW YORK — "Too few people are buying too many records each" was one of the conclusions reached by the initial RIAA sponsored meeting of the Record Industry Market Expansion Project. The goal of the project, according to RIAA president Stanley Gortikoff, is to "penetrate beyond the blue denim curtain" and "to broaden the after-youth market."

Participants in the planning session held recently in San Francisco included executives from recording companies, retailers, rack jobbers, distributors, an equipment manufacturer, a researcher and a representative from a trade association. They were: Barrie Bergman, head of the Record Bar chain; Joseph Cohen, who conducted the NARM study on the after-youth market; Stan Cornyn, executive vice president of Warner Bros. Records; Don Demopsey, vice president of marketing for Columbia Records; Vic Faraci, vice president of marketing for WEA; Gil Friesen, executive vice president of A&M; Stanley Gortikoff, president of the RIAA; Barry Grieff, director of merchandising of A&M; Ira Heilicher, vice president of Heilicher Bros.; Pete

Johnson, head of general managers for Warner Bros.; Mickey Kaop, director of special projects for Warner Bros.; David Lieberman, president of Lieberman Enterprises; Joe Simone, owner of Progress Records; Stan Snyder, vice president of national accounts for Columbia; Russ Solomon, president of Tower Records and Werner Wachowiak, representing Rockwell Int'l.

In a 22-page summary of the meeting, the group cited the speech given at the 1975 NARM convention by Stan Cornyn of Warner Bros., in which he pointed out that most of the people who buy recordings are relatively young and that most older adults are non-buyers. He added that these young buyers are getting older and may not continue to buy as they advance in age, and that the percentage of people in the teen and young adult age bracket will begin to decrease in the near future. He concluded that there is a large, untapped market among adults and youths moving into adulthood which the industry has not yet been able to reach.

Opportunities

The summary continued that the Cornyn speech underscored the "potential problem of a missed or shrinking market," but also "suggests fantastic opportunities" for the future of the industry. The group listed four specific goals of the market expansion project. They are: 1) to retain current buyers as they advance in age; 2) to expand the purchases of marginal buyers; 3) to recapture former buyers; and 4) to gain new purchasers of recordings among current non-buyers.

Points Covered

The summary issued by the RIAA broke down the main points of the meeting into several categories. They are: 1) the consumer and his motivation; 2) music, artists, product; 3) merchandising and advertising; 4) sales, marketing and distribution; 5) point of sale; 6) pricing; 7) radio; 8) packaging and graphics; 9) equipment; 10) configurations; and 11) intracompany actions. The key points of these categories are summarized below.

Consumer Motivation

The Consumer and His Motivation — The lifestyle of the '60s made pop music and lyrics a must for the young, but alienated their elders. Some of the social conditions of this era have changed, but the industry has not. These elders think that they don't like pop music and they negatively identify it with a subculture with which they are not comfortable.

* One of the main reasons that buyers are lost is because of the disintegration of the youth peer group with which the NARM Mid Year Conference Set For Chicago In Sept.

CHERRY HILL, N.J. — The National Association of Record Merchandisers has announced a mid-year conference for regular members of NARM, to be held Tuesday through Thursday, September 21-23, at the Continental Plaza Hotel in Chicago, Ill. Final details for the conference, according to NARM's president Jules Malamud, will be worked out at the NARM advisory committee board meeting June 2-3 at the Peachtree Hotel in Atlanta. Professor Theodore Levitt of the Harvard Graduate School of Business will address a general business session of the conference. He will speak on "The Implications for the Music Industry of the Growing Adult Market."

Another feature of the conference will be the consolidation of what had been separate meetings in separate cities at separate times, for rack jobbers, retailers and independent distributors, into this long mid-year conference.

'All Business'

Malamud told Cash Box, "This is going to be an all business conference. It's not going to be a convention per se; it's going to be a business meeting. We want to get away from rap sessions. We want the meetings to be more meaningful with professional people there." Accordingly, NARM is encouraging young executives and middle management to attend, and has intentionally situated the conference in Chicago, which should be most convenient for all attendees to reach.

House Postal Study Shows Faults Of New System

by Rebecca Moore

WASHINGTON, D.C. — When the U.S. Postal Service five years ago announced a bulk mailing system promising record-breaking speed and efficiency, no one expected it to deliver only part of the promise: record-breaking.

Nine Month Study

But a nine-month study by the House Subcommittee on Postal Facilities, Mail, and Labor Management indicates that damage and delays are greater with the new, highly mechanized National Bulk Mailing System (NBMS). Parcel damage is the most serious immediate problem facing NBMS, says the report. "The main damage is to records, books, and films," according to subcommittee counsel George Gould.

"Hearings began last week to reveal what we discovered in the study and encourage modification of the system."

says Gould. The revelations the study made are certainly juicy enough: from questionable contracting procedures by high level postal service management to the death and dismemberment of postal employees.

Critical Testimony

Opening testimony was critical of high level postal service management. This testimony was from the former general managers of the Washington and Atlanta bulk mailing centers. "All organizations, especially one the size of the post office, make mistakes," said Earl Aussenberg, who was fired as manager of the Washington BMC when it was discovered that parcels awaiting rewrap were destroyed.

Aussenberg blamed the problems on USPS's refusal to provide adequate

Gallagher New AFE Pres.; Aims To Build AFE & BASF

NEW YORK — Herman D. Gimbel has been elected chairman of the board of Audiofidelity Enterprises, Inc., coinciding with the election of Bill Gallagher as president and chief operating officer. Harold Drayson and Carl Shaw were re-elected as vice presidents, with Robert Bordella remaining treasurer and Herbert Kanon continuing as corporate counsel.

Gallagher, commenting on his promotion, noted, "My past accomplishments should convince the legal strategists and creative producers who represent tomorrow's major talents, that this company with aggressive leadership, proven marketing and merchandising capabilities, and good product, can be just as competitive, and perhaps even more capable of concentrating on artist development than can the major labels." Gallagher has been working with Audiofidelity in a consulting capacity for the last few months.

Gallagher explained that although Audiofidelity's licensing agreement with BASF had increased the company's "quality image" in the marketplace, "both companies were lacking in the pop/contemporary and country categories that represent the 'lion's share' of industry sales." He revealed that the labels were seeking mutually profitable production associations and artists with unique qualities and staying potential, and would continue with those selected until they gained artistic recognition and sales success. He further pointed out that he had begun meeting with all Audiofidelity distributors, stating, "Our success in the months ahead can only be measured by our convincing our distributors that together we can have a mutually profitable future."

Gimbel, who ascends to the board of directors' chairmanship as founder and president of Audiofidelity, spoke of Gallagher's contributions to the industry "as an innovator in distribution . . . in the creative processes . . . in organizational development." He continued, "His election as president of Audiofidelity Enterprises begins a new era of growth and profitability for our company."

Gallagher was vice president and general manager of Columbia Records until 1968, when he resigned to become president of the newly formed MCA Records group. He left MCA to form Famous Music Corp. for Gulf & Western Industries, resigning to form his own consulting company the services of which had been employed by Audiofidelity in securing the U.S. and Canadian distribution of BASF Records and Tapes.

Santana Re-Signs With Columbia

NEW YORK — Santana have re-signed an exclusive recording pact with Columbia Records, continuing a relationship that began ten years ago.

1976 saw the release of "Amigos," Santana's eighth album for the label, produced by David Rubinson.

Santana returned from a European tour in the latter portion of 1975 to work on "Amigos," and have since commenced a coast-to-coast tour of the United States. They are managed by Bill Graham.

Wainwright Renews Famous Agreement

NEW YORK — Arista recording artist Loudon Wainwright III has renewed his foreign publishing agreement with Famous Music in an arrangement that allows Famous to publish Wainwright's songs world-wide outside the U.S. and Canada. Wainwright's publishing interests include Snowden Music.

UA Promotional Goal: 'Total Market Awareness'

by Stephen Fuchs

LOS ANGELES — The increasingly important role of promotion at United Artists Records was brought sharply into focus last week when the label announced what it considers "a major" enlargement of its local promotion field force under the direction of Ray Anderson, vice-president in charge of all promotion for UA. Anderson named for Cash Box five of the eleven individuals he has hired to join the label's promo staff and emphasized that the concept of "total market awareness" was the key factor in his hiring each.

Raising Standards

"Nine out of ten people — even in radio — think of promotion by traditional standards," said Anderson. "They look for someone to take records to radio stations, get them on or not get them on, go back next week and present them again. That's not my idea of promotion. What I'm trying to build at UA is a staff of 'total marketing' people with the tag of a good promotion thrust. People who can find the fullest potential of that record whether it be a hit or a miss. People who don't hype reports, but do note the movement of records and bring that movement to the attention of buyers, through weekly visits to the stores. People who know inventory and can see re-order patterns from their communication with the sales manager for the market and distributor tie-ins.

"You think, 'hey, they should be doing that.' But check out how many guys do it. It's not happening, it's very rare. But in today's market you have to know what's going on. Total market awareness — not just servicing radio stations, but knowing what their needs are, following up on a one-stop level, on a retail level, going by the jukebox operators who can give you a reading on a record that's not getting any airplay."

While he isn't overbearing about it, Anderson is attuned to the fact that the music industry is one of constant change. "Whatever way it comes down on you," he indicated, "you have to adapt. Radio complains about promotion men they can't get information out of and record people get upset at radio programmers' not having any creative abilities — always having to follow the leader, whether they play the record first or last. The combination is sought after by both parties. That's what we're looking for and, believe me, it's hard to find.

"I have a bonus," he continued, "in the sense that I've been given an allocation in the budget to put on more field men to

Schwartz Bros.' First Qtr. Marks Return To Profitability

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Schwartz Brothers, Inc., a leading regional music merchandiser, reported income of $36,209 or $.02 per share on sales of $5,231,492 for the first quarter ended March 31. This compares to a loss of $6,339 on sales of $4,683,085 for the first three months of last year.

The company's performance for the first quarter, a 13% sales increase, was marked by higher sales in its Harmony Hut retail chain and its distribution and rack merchandising operations.

"The increased volume in our distribution and rack merchandising operations together with greater operational efficiency resulted in improved performance during the first quarter," commented James Schwartz, president. He further noted that the resurgence in consumer confidence was continuing into the second quarter.

Kirshner Sales Doubled In '75; Loss Narrowed

NEW YORK — The Kirshner Entertainment Corp. has revealed in its annual report to the stockholders that gross revenues in 1975 more than doubled the previous year's total. As a result the company was able to reduce losses by nearly $340,000, yet still posted a net loss of $19,798.

Revenues increased to $2,178,816 from a 1974 total of $946,457, due to an increase in music publishing revenues and revenues from the Rock Music Award Television Special in 1975, though Kirshner's enterprises extend to record production. Activity in the music publishing division continued to grow.

The company will continue its expanding commitment to television as a major source of potential revenue. CBS has exercised its option to produce "The Second Annual Rock Awards Show" and syndication of "Don Kirshner's New Rock Concert" is assured for a fourth consecutive year (as reported in Cash Box last week).

A SOUVENIR OF LONDON — Moments after signing an agreement to extend their association with the Buddah Group for an additional five years, Gladys Knight & The Pips and friends were off to the group's sellout engagement in London and an evening of celebration. Pictured above in London after the signing are (l to r): William Guest; Art Kass, president of the Buddah Group; Edward Patten; Merald "Bubba" Knight; and manager Sid Seidenberg.

FRONT COVER

1976 has already been a year of outstanding success for Santana in a long and distinguished career filled with successes. Bruce Lundvall, president, CBS Records has announced that the band has re-signed with Columbia, and with the continuing strength of "Amigos," they are well on their way to achieving their best year ever.

The release of "Amigos," Santana's eighth album for Columbia Records, represents the band at the height of their creative powers. Coming off a triumphant SRO tour of Europe during the last quarter of 1975, the band went immediately into the studios with producer David Rubinson, the happy result being "Amigos," an album that leader Carlos Santana has rightly called a "back to the roots" set. The album is being supported by a major-date tour of the States, set through manager Bill Graham.

As the major band to explode out of the historic Woodstock Music Festival to become one of America's premier music bands almost overnight, Santana have worked constantly to keep their music evolving. Carlos Santana is and has been the lead guitarist, founder and core of the band since its inception, guiding the group through success after success. Bassist David Brown began with the band almost ten years ago, left for several years and has now returned. Keyboardist extraordinaire Tom Coster has been with Santana for three years. Their highly effective percussive base comes from Armando Peraza on congas and bongos, and Ndugu on drums. Vocalist Greg Walker is the band's newest member.

Radio 'Time Buys' Effective In Election Year Campaigns

by J.B. Carmicle

LOS ANGELES — Many radio stations, of all formats and power, are finding an added load to their spot schedules, and the extra load is well worth it. Stations' production rooms will be busier than ever until November, a result of the thousands of local, congressional, and presidential candidates campaigns and the radio "time buys" connected with making a candidate the victor. These "time buys" will shoot millions of dollars of revenue into what some consider the "most effective" campaign medium.

Radio's Potential

"I feel strongly about radio's potential for selling a candidate in the upcoming elections," Richard Nelson, director of radio/television for the Democratic national committee in Washington, D.C., told Cash Box. "It is certainly a more intimate medium than television. Hearing a radio spot in your car on the freeway is so much different than hearing that same spot on television, where sometimes the spot reaches a roomful of people or no one at all. Radio spots for candidates provide a one-on-one conversation and mobility that tv doesn't necessarily enjoy."

Effective Medium

CB explored the Republican and Democratic National Committees to find out what medium would be most effective in selling their candidates to the voters. And we learned that these committees provide more than just advice to candidates and their campaign managers.

Forgotten Stepchild

"Radio may be the forgotten stepchild," Nelson continued, remarking that its potential has been underestimated in recent years. But the "comeback" may be, according to Nelson, the use of both "free" and "bought" radio for candidates. "I feel strongly about both," Nelson said, describing the value of "free" radio (actualities of candidates used within non-commercial times, like newscasts; and public service announcements concerning something like voter registration). Any exposure that's free is, of course, invaluable to the candidate. "Bought" radio is valuable too. You can certainly get a more specific audience with "paid for" radio spots. The demographics are much clearer, with sophisticated rating services able to show a thorough breakdown of who's listening in the time period you buy."

Congressional Campaigns

The Democratic Committee is very much concerned with congressional as well as the presidential campaigns. "We'll get calls from the campaign managers . . . they want to know our philosophy on whom to go to for their campaign time buys. If we had access to the ARB's in their particular area, we could calculate that for them," Nelson emphasized that the research should be done on a local level by local people. "They know their own markets well, because they have lived there. They can come to decisions on what medium to buy, what time periods and the like, but we'll always be glad to talk with campaign people and candidates who want some advice on a general level."

More Extensive

The Republicans have a more extensive system. According to Norman Bishop, RNC's director of communications, the committee has "what I believe to be the most extensive radio station market profiles on record. We have coverage maps, rate cards, formats, station personnel names, as well as news directors' phone numbers and talk show schedules. And we have this information in thousands of districts that we're concerned about."

"I was an avid devotee of broadcast journalism coming into the position I now hold, and I feel that my background and this system that has been set up will serve a successful purpose come election day." Bishop also teaches a campaign manager course, with an overflow of people wanting to get into the course and learn more about how to effectively sell their candidates. And the communication between candidates and managers and the committee is always open. "We have a field staff . . . they act as consultants in campaigns and provide expertise on what medium to buy, what time of day to place the spots, etc."

Radio Uses

What is the most effective medium to use? "Radio is," said Bishop, naming three reasons. "The production is more flexible, you can more easily target the spots to any audience, and the cost is so much lower than a television buy."

Bishop, like Nelson, pointed out that the congressional campaigns are very important. "These candidates and their campaigns can't always afford television, so radio is a natural." The RNC is now doing a series of "donut" spots (institutional spots with an open and close, the middle being left open for a local voice or text), plus a large actuality campaign. These actualities will be news oriented but with a political impact, according to Bishop. And the committee also is furnishing a five minute program to about 200 stations on a "news value" congressman or senator of the week.

Enhanced Buy

With the high cost of television time, the radio spot buys, especially on a congressional campaign level, are especially enhancing. And it appears that this year, in light of the DNC's and RNC's media committee spokesmen's comments on radio as an effective campaign time buy, that radio's political billing will be bigger than ever.

Soundstage Renewed For Third Season

CHICAGO — Soundstage, public television's contemporary music series, has been renewed for its third season on more than 230 stations on the PBS network. The program is produced at Chicago's public television station, WTTW-TV, by Ken Ehrlich.

In the past year, Soundstage has featured the first televised appearance of Bob Dylan in seven years and the first televised version of the Down Beat jazz awards, featuring jazz artists Sonny Rollins, Rahsaan Roland Kirk, George Benson, Stanley Clarke, Chick Corea, and Quincy Jones. Plans are currently underway for a second Down Beat awards show. Additional programs scheduled for the coming season include a tribute to Dizzy Gillespie, a three-violins show with Jean-Luc Ponty, Doug Kershaw and Itzhak Perlman, and features starring Roberta Flack and Jackson Browne.

Think Tank Effective Say Industry Participants

by John Mankiewics

LOS ANGELES — "It was an incredible speech," declared Barry Bergman, president of the Record Bar chain, referring to Stan Cornyn's address to the 1975 NARM convention entitled "The Day Radio Died." Others in the industry were affected in much the same way.

Stan Gortikov, president of the RIAA, recognized Cornyn's statement as a possible catalyst for an industry-wide move to expand the record market, to pick up new consumer groups, and to retain the current buyer through the coming years. Gortikov and the RIAA convened a meeting of sixteen people involved in different aspects of the industry. The session lasted for two days — April 31 to May 1, 1976 — two days of intensive talks at the Stanford Court in San Francisco.

The structure of the meeting was informal. The sixteen planners sat together, and talked about things as they came up.

"We blue-skyed it," remarked Bergman. "As someone would throw out an idea, well, then we'd get specific, break it down."

Certainly, the report is specific. There are twenty-two main categories that are divided, again, into subdivisions.

"There are no facts that aren't in the report," Gortikov told Cash Box. "We sent it out (the report) to all RIAA members, and we'll keep the industry informed as we continue to refine and expand."

The planners not only consisted of everybody from record company executives to those involved in retail and rack operations but people involved in every phase of those positions.

"We want to stress the all-industry aspect of this expansion project," Gortikov continued. "All aspects of the buyer often experienced and shared music as a part of the lifestyle. This disintegration often occurs when a buyer leaves school, thus changing his lifestyle and purchasing priorities.

* Given the total population, too few people are buying too many records each.

* The industry should freshly focus on the psychological factors which underlie interest in music and/or record acquisition, identity, envy, love, collecting, sharing, youth association, sexuality, masculinity, femininity, fantasy fulfillment, emotional outlet and sensory and physical immersion in sound and beat.

* All potential customers need to be made to feel comfortable with recorded music in all its forms. Even a small percentile change can have drastic dollar impact on the industry.

* The target is not the adult market, but the "after-youth" market. The current heavy buyers are getting older and their musical tastes are mellowing, but remaining contemporary

* The industry is trying to sell something that radio is giving away.

Music, Artists, Product — The major focus of the project should be on current and contemporary artists, as opposed to former hit artists.

* Many pop acts make music that could be acceptable to older audiences (such as the Eagles) but these audiences are not exposed to this music.

* Merchandising should be related to the familiarity of a hit song and should link that song to the album.

* Broadcast media such as "mellow sound" radio and TV shows should be monitored for musical ideas which appeal to older audiences.

* Insight can be gained from in-person sellouts of artists such as Frank Sinatra, Tony Bennett and Wayne Newton, whose record sales are marginal.

* The possibilities of having new artists do older songs and vice versa should be explored.

Merchandising

Merchandising and Advertising — An important aspect of merchandising is the idea that youth and fun have implicit associations with music.

* A theme should be developed, such as 1) "When was the last time you bought a record?" 2) "Do your ears a favor" or 3) "Your best entertainment is in your home."

* The value aspect of recordings is underexploited. Albums cost less than movies for two. Also gift tie-ins with holidays have been underexploited — the idea that albums are "the best gift under $5" should be promoted. Also the idea of selling records like Candygrams, using a toll-free 800 number, should be explored.

* Efforts should be made to increase the editorial space given to recordings in newspapers. The possibility of creating an industry-sponsored Sunday supplement devoted solely to information of recordings and audio equipment should be explored. Most record ads are placed in Sunday papers while most buying is done on other days. Advertising in the entertainment sections should be tried.

* Merchandising should focus more on the "RIAA gold record award," which has a recognition factor among many older potential customers. Also, consideration should be given to developing objective charts which could be used as are best seller lists for books.

* Other products which have been youth-oriented and which face similar problems in holding customers of advancing age should be researched. Advertising agencies which have been successful with products aligned with the youth lifestyle (such as Levis) should be considered for this project

* Many adults who refuse to enter a record store do respond to mail order campaigns, such as those by Time-Life and K-Tel. These should be studied. Labels should expand their mail merchandising efforts.

* Radio advertising should be correlated with stations playing the advertised records.

* Fresh emphasis should be put on reaching older buyers through tape deck sales and tape merchandising. Attempts should be made to involve the auto industry in such a project.

* Every purchaser of new stereo equipment is a potential customer for records. Cooperation between industries is essential.

* Other areas to be investigated are the use of inner sleeves, shake-out cards in albums and sampler albums. Also the success of the Peter Lemongello campaign should be studied.

Sales, Marketing

Sales, Marketing, Distribution — Direct communication between manufacturers, retailers and wholesalers could help by providing details on goals and product. Yet there is opposition on this from retailers and wholesalers. Record company salesmen should also be re-oriented. Action by manufacturers to increase floor traffic to retailers may be preferable to contributing to co-op ads.

* Innovative ideas have often come from unusual sources. Pirates have opened truck stops and swap meets to sales of illegal recordings; some of these outlets could perhaps be legitimized.

Re-Thinking

Point Of Sale — Retailers need to rethink organization of categories of albums so that the new buyer is not confused. Also store staffs should be schooled and motivated to give special attention and treatment to new buyers to make them more comfortable.

* Several musical environments could be set up within one store, each designed to be a comfortable atmosphere for the customer whose musical tastes are represented by the product. Also automatic stock replenishment may be necessary to prevent new buyers from not being able to find what they want once they have come into a store.

* Many older customers are familiar with a hit song rather than the artist or the album. Signs at the point of sale with changeable lettering might be used, with a message such as "Hit song in this LP is ..." Signs should also feature album cover.

* Many older customers cannot be lured into a record store or department. Therefore, attempts should be made to move the point of sale to places where they do go, such as the supermarket, gas stations, TV screen. Door to door sales as well as tie-ins with fund raising organizations should be considered.

* Many junior clothing departments in department stores use an audio setup to play music as part of the youthful environment. Tie-ins with the record department on the records played may be useful. Expanding this practice to departments frequented by older customers should be tried.

* Supplemental locations in stores with "hidden" record departments and displays featuring records should be used in other departments. Also, there may be opportunities to cross merchandise records with video disks in the future

Record Division Sales Figures fr 7

The ranking of the labels by their record divisions is essentially the same as one reported exclusively by Cash Box (Feb. 14). In that report, a major accounting firm, Price, Waterhouse, analyzed the 1974 record division sales of the major labels. In the past year, though, MCA has edged ahead of Capitol as the fourth largest record division, behind CBS, WCI and ABC, which remained in the same positions. Additionally, Columbia Pictures, which wasn't ranked by the accounting firm, comes on as having the 7th largest record division with $30 million in sales last year. RCA, of course, belong somewhere on the list, as would privately owned and foreign based companies, who do not reveal their sales figures.

In commenting of their figures, a Transamerica spokesman indicated that the drop off in sales in 1973 came when the company sold their distribution arm, UDC, to Polygram. Most of the other figures, which indicate the degree and rate of growth for each of the company's record divisions, are reflective of the respective fortunes of those companies.

FAR OUT EVENING — There was a major outpouring of music industry executives and entertainment personalities at "The Welcome Artie Party" for new UA Records president Artie Mogull hosted by Jerry Goldstein and Steve Gold of Far Out Productions. More than 500 people made it to the roof of Gold-Goldstein's penthouse apartment building for the indoor-outdoor fete. Highlights included VIP souvenir T-shirts ("I Attended 'The Welcome Artie Party'") and, for Mogull, a California State Senate Resolution commending his career and achievements in the field of music. It came as a surprise to the UA prexy, introduced in the Senate by Sen. Alan Robbins and unveiled during the party by TV-radio personality Gary Owens. Cash Box Publisher George Albert (right) and television's "Fonz," Henry Winkler, were among the celebrants present to salute Mogull (center).

Youth Market fr 14

new buyers, but not with older, weak product. There may be a need to neutralize the observation by new buyers that "records didn't used to cost that much."

Radio — Airoplay should be monitored for insight into the tastes of older audiences. More contact with stations formerly thought to be marginally important may be necessary. Radio ads between 10:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. may reach housewives at cheaper rates.

Packaging Graphics — Packaging must attract the buyer and inform him, as well as cause him to buy. Holiday packaging should be used more.

Equipment — The record industry must embrace the audio equipment industry. Each audio customer is an immediate potential record customer.

* The audio industry forecasts a 35% sales increase by 1980, two-thirds of the equipment now bought is for the use of people 35 or over, an ideal match with the goals of the project.

* The cassette trend is growing, as is eight-track home duplication.

* Strong campaigns are needed on needle replacement by the needle industry.

Configurations

Configurations — Tape may have a large appeal to people who don't buy records.

* Singles should not be dismissed as strictly youth items; their promotional value must be recognized.

Intra-company Action — Because of the unique nature of the goals of the program, many of which go against the status quo, routine treatment can doom the project. The program demands change. Within a record company, perhaps the most useful individual to the project would be an interested product manager. Special attention will also be necessary in the areas of A&R, marketing, promotion and merchandising.

Further Plans

The elements of the summary will next be "refined into an actionable form." From that, a plan will be developed to be cost estimated and then tested, according to the summary. The "refinement" will be done by a committee which will include representatives from "a broader group of companies," and will be coordinated by the president of the RIAA. An advertising/marketing firm will be selected and the business school of a university may be asked to develop a parallel plan. When costs for a test program have been estimated, they will be submitted to the companies involved for funding participation. If funding is obtained test programs will be monitored by the committee. If the test programs are effective, national implementation will be developed. Companies will again be encouraged to contribute "voluntarily" towards the national program. Participation will not be limited to RIAA members, according to the report. The timetable for these further steps, according to the committee, are as follows: refinement of the plan in June and July, selection of agencies and cost proposals, July through September, implementation of test programs in early 1977.

industry can become beneficiaries, so all aspects can become participants."

Vic Faraci, vice president/director of marketing for WEA, talked about the initial meeting in San Francisco and his hopes for the future of the Market Expansion Project.

"The first meeting was very good," Faraci declared. "It was an opportunity to brainstorm, a real think tank session. We threw out a lot of crazy ideas, it didn't matter how impractical they were. Everything got discussed."

Pete Johnson, director of general managers for Warner Brothers, was surprised by the success of that first meeting:

"The tone of the discussion seemed pertinent to the problem," Johnson explained. "There was legitimate cooperation from people who are usually very competitive with each other. All points discussed were germane in suggesting an area to explore. I got the feeling,"

Johnson added, "that a lot of the people involved had undertaken considerable advance planning for the meeting."

"We've been planning for years," stated Barry Grieff, director of merchandising for A&M. "We've been trying for some time now to find new techniques, new avenues of merchandising. Most of them, however, cost a lot of money," he admitted, "but would be extremely effective industry-wide. It's all in the report."

Grieff brought up an interesting point, with reference to an A&M artist. "Peter Frampton, for example, has sold two million units. Who knows," he queried, "whether there are ways to merchandise that record for another two million units? How can we know if we've maximized sales?"

Grieff told Cash Box that he was excited about the project. "I hope to be involved in it all the way through," he said, "in terms of final decisions as to how to merchandise records."

manpower, even though they knew the damage problem was severe. "You have to have been blind to walk through the plant and not see it," he claimed.

Mail Trashing

Richard Coffman, also fired because of mail trashing at the Atlanta BMC where he was general manager, seconded Ausenberg's claim that high-level management knew what was going on. "Postal officials were well aware of the damage problem," he said. He noted that in Atlanta a new facility was opened to handle damaged mail alone. "I know they were aware."

Both managers claimed innocence of wrong-doing, and felt they were scapegoats in high-level power plays. This week, more victims of NBMS — record and book clubs — will present their side to the subcommittee chaired by Charles Wilson (D-Cal.).

Unveiled Plan

Former Postmaster General Winton Blount, anxious to build something —

"anything," according to Assistant Postmaster General For Bulk Mail Edgar Brower — unveiled the NBMS plan in 1971. NBMS was to centralize bulk mail processing into 21 major plants, and 12 auxiliary plants, all highly mechanized.

Cost-benefit analyses were not conducted, and there is little documentation about why this particular system was chosen. Says Brower, "The new management team did everything 'on the back of an envelope' and eschewed standard government traceability procedures."

Not surprisingly, contracts to build four of the processing facilities were awarded to Blount Brothers Corporation, a construction firm owned by the former Postmaster General.

Prototype

"We were critical of the concept right when it was announced," says subcommittee staffer Gould. "We said they should test a prototype first, and pattern the system after the competition."

picks of the week

LEE OSKAR (United Artists UA XW 807-Y)
BLT (3:33) (Far Out/Ikke-Bad Music — ASCAP) (G. Errico, L. Oskar)

Lee Oskar is the harmonica player from War, and with this first single from his "Lee Oskar" LP he establishes himself as a recording entity to be reckoned with on his own. The tune is light, filled with good feeling, and should get major play on AM and FM pop stations. His harp playing is phenomenal.

THE TUBES (A&M 1826)
Don't Touch Me There (3:20) (Lucky Pork — ASCAP) (Nagle, Dorknocker)

This tune, already getting heavy airplay, is about teenage lust and passion, about the sparks that fly when leather jacket rivets rub together. The fifties styled melody is full of original hook lines. A funny and moving song, both at the same time. FM and AM.

DAN FOGELBERG (Full Moon/Epic 4-50234)
Old Tennessee (3:07) (Hickory Grove — ASCAP) (D. Fogelberg)

Certainly Fogelberg's following is now too large to be considered a cult, and this single will aid in broadening his appeal. A unique folk stylist, he runs through this ballad with a classy attitude. The finger-picked acoustic guitars add a nice touch. A definite add for all FM and MOR radio stations.

LYNYRD SKYNYRD (MCA 40565)
Gimme Back My Bullets (3:28) (Duchess/Get Loose — BMI) (G. Rossington, R. Van Zant)

The title song from their recent LP has finally been released in single form — it's a knockout. This is powerhouse Southern rock at its best. The tune really kicks along, the vocals are driving and the guitars provide succinct punctuation. For AM and FM radio.

ROD STEWART (Mercury 73802)
What's Made Milwaukee Famous (Has Made A Loser Out Of Me) (2:45) (Al Gallico — BMI) (G. Sutton)

From their recent Best of Rod Stewart package, Mercury has released this tune as a single. It's a good choice: Stewart's smoky voice wraps itself around this barroom ballad. Should get some serious FM airplay. Great mandolin back-up adds a certain pleasing flavor.

DAVID RUFFIN (Motown M 1393F)
Everything's Coming Up Love (2:57) (Warner-Tamerlane/Van McCoy/Ocean Blue — BMI) (V. McCoy)

A lovely string section kicks off this tune, produced by Van McCoy. Ruffin's voice carries the melody with strength and grace. Definitely an immediate add at all R&B stations. A strong follow-up to "Heavy Love," this should cross pop with ease.

BEN E. KING (Atlantic 45-3337)
I Betcha Didn't Know That (3:12) (Moonsong/East Memphis, Two-Night — BMI) (S. Dees, F. Knight)

King's voice seems to cut through everything and get to the heart of the matter. This time it's a love song, with a really full and pleasing arrangement. His voice works well, and is complemented by the backing vocals. R&B and pop play is mandatory.

FIREFALL (Atlantic 45-3333)
Livin' Ain't Livin' (3:20) (Stephen Stills — BMI) (R. Roberts)

Rick Roberts, a major force in this new band, has written a hook-filled rock tune. The album is bulleting its way up the charts, and the single should have the same success. Harmonies are excellent and emphasize the good melody. Nice horn work will give the tune an extra push.

BLUE MAGIC (Atco 45-7052)
Freak-N-Stein (3:08) (Wimot/Friday's Child — BMI) (B. Eli, Len Barry)

This is a burning hot R&B and pop offering from Blue Magic. The pun is played a little too hard, perhaps, but it all works. The horn charts power the slick arrangement. Should be a disco smash too; the beat finds a groove and never lets up.

MAN (MCA 40539)
Out Of Your Head (3:11) (Unart — BMI) (Leonard)

From the "Welsh Connection" LP, Man has come up with a unique rocker. The melody seems suspended in air over an extremely strong rhythm track; this lends itself to a really deep sound. Look for this to show up on FM progressive lists.

JOHNNIE TAYLOR (Columbia 3-10334)
Somebody's Gettin' It (3:58) (Groovesville/Conquistador — ASCAP) (C. Jones, C. Colter, D. Davis)

The only holder of a platinum record for singles this year has made a funky, intelligent follow up to "Disco Lady." The chorus is a tremendous hook, repeating the title, and Taylor squeezes a lot of emotion into the verses. This should achieve the same success as the last song, strong charts across the board.

THE BEACH BOYS (Reprise/Brother RPS 1354)
Rock And Roll Music (2:26) (Arc — BMI) (C. Berry)

The Beach Boys are back with a tune that will grace all AM airwaves throughout the entire summer. Brian Wilson's production is carefully constructed around the skeleton of Chuck Berry's original hit. Those voices and harmonies are evident full-force — the song really moves. Flip: The TM Song (1:34).

BOB MARLEY & THE WAILERS (Island IS 060)
Roots, Rock, Reggae (2:57) (Tuff Gong — ASCAP) (B. Marley)

"Hey Mr. Music, sure sound good to me," Marley sings, and this tune fits right in. Marley and the Wailers are gathering fans with speed, and their music is only getting better. This reggae tune is aided by a strong saxophone, and this just might be the song that breaks the band into the AM marketplace.

SHEER ELEGANCE (ABC 12194)
Life Is Too Short Girl (2:22) (N.Y. Times — BMI) (H. Watkins)

This is a shuffle kind of ballad, the drums keep pushing, and the result is a fine MOR and pop tune. Sheer Elegance isn't called that for nothing — their harmonies and arrangement are just that: elegant. A very smooth offering, this should show fast in radio play and sales.

TODD RUNDGREN (Bearsville/WB BSS 0309)
Good Vibrations (3:44) (Irving — BMI) (B. Wilson, M. Love)

From his brand new "Faithful" LP, Rundgren reproduces the Beach Boys tune with uncanny flair. The original tracks have been reproduced exactly, right down to the fender bass, but Todd's ever-present style makes this his own. Should get a lot of AM summer airplay.

SCORPIONS (RCA JB 10691) (In Trance (3:12) (Sunbury — ASCAP) (R. Schenker, K. Meine)

Carefully phrased guitar licks, set in a minor key, kick off this classy tune that really puts you in a trance. The melody is haunting. Strictly an instrumental, this showcases some virtuoso guitar playing. A break occurs, involving two guitars in unison voicings. This should be an FM favorite.

SILVER (Arista AS 0189)
Wham Bam Shang-A-Lang (3:32) (Colgems — ASCAP) (R. Geils)

If the voice sounds familiar, it's because John Batdorf is an integral part of this band. The tune is a rock ballad that leans heavily (and rightly so) on slick harmony work. All of these guys can sing, and this song is filled with AM hooks. The production is by Clive Davis and Tom Sellers. The chorus will stay in your head for a long time.

WILD CHERRY (Epic 8-50225)
Play That Funky Thing (3:12) (Bema/Blaze — ASCAP) (R. Parissi)

The title is apt — this is based on a catchy funk riff. The singing is varied and interesting, as is the melody line. A lot of energy here, which will, along with the driving guitar solo, carry this onto virtually every R&B playlist. "At first it wasn't easy," they sing, "changing rock 'n' rollers' minds." This will help.

CHARLIE VAN DYKE (United Artists UA XW 810)
The Flag (3:10) (Unart — BMI) (S.L. DeLove, J. Haskell)

"I believe that we are not waving our flag enough," says Charlie Van Dyke, pd at KHJ. He asks a lot of rhetorical questions about that flag and the Bible, and encourages Americans to celebrate the bicentennial. He's backed by big-band patriotic music, and this should hit the airwaves strong by July 4.

MILLS & CO. (Ranwood R-1058)
Woman (3:05) (Able/Jon Mills — ASCAP) (John Mills)

In case you were wondering, John Mills is a direct descendant of a Mills Brother, and this tune shows that good style can be inherited. Two part harmonies are real catchy here. The melody is strong, and this should hit hard in MOR and pop markets throughout the country.

DR. HOOK (Capitol P4280)
A Little Bit More (2:56) (Bygosh — ASCAP) (B. Gosh)

This is a slow, languorous love ballad. The lead singer of the band has an expressive, rough-edged voice that's enhanced by the sensitive backing vocals. The band had a big hit with "Only 16" and this should broaden an already firmly established pop reputation.

RONNIE & THE DIRTRIDERS (RCA JH 10651)
Yellow Van (3:15) (Don Kirshner — BMI) (R. Dante, G. Allan)

Ron Dante is Ronnie, and Dante has been involved with Barry Manilow production work. As a good twist, Manilow arranged this tune, and, apparently, they've all been listening to old Beach Boys records. More, though, this is a tight, rhythmic song about a van, and should receive a tremendous amount of summer AM airplay. Comes complete with engine sound effects.

SARAH JANE (Annuit Coeptis A 201)
I Wanna Be Loved By You (3:15) (Iller/Siae) (South, Tavernese)

A disco tune from this young singer. The tracks are well-produced, and the melody is catchy, unusual for a disco song. The dancing beat is strong, as are the vocals. The cut builds to a tension, then relaxes, then builds again. Should get some R&B play as well.

WALTER MURPHY & THE BIG APPLE BAND (Private Stock PS 45.073)
A Fifth Of Beethoven (3:02) (RFT — BMI) (W. Murphy)

A disco arrangement of Beethoven's most famous four notes, this is shooting straight up the charts. The strings work well and emphasize the dancing hook in those four notes.

VENUS (Columbia 3-10341)
Madison '76 (3:30) (Satellite — BMI) (J. Lane, R. Muller)

Arranged by Brass Construction's Randy Muller, the song has the full disco punch. The band's harmonies are professional, and merge well with the strong string tracks. Horns give the tune an added kick. Disco and R&B programmers should check this one out!

LITTLE BEAVER (Tom Cat 2003)
Little Girl Blue (3:17) (Sherlyn — BMI) (B. Wright, W. Hale, W. Clarke)

A screaming synthesizer (maybe a human voice!) starts this tune energetically and forces you to listen. Little Beaver has a terrific soul voice, and throughout this ballad he refrains from flash and goes for substance. Should be a big R&B request. Tasteful guitar licks serve as fills between verses.

ENGLAND DAN AND JOHN FORD COLEY (Big Tree/Atlantic BT 16069)
I'd Really Love To See You Tonight (2:36) (Dawn-breaker — BMI) (Parker McGee)

These two have sweet pop voices. This is a lamenting love song, based on a smooth arrangement. This up-tempo ballad should get a lot of MOR and pop airplay.

ALBUM REVIEWS

TOGETHER — Johnny & Edgar Winter — Blue Sky PZ 34033 — Producers: Johnny & Edgar Winter — List: 6.98

In this incredible live performance by these two good reasons for why Texas is so big, the brothers Winter rock your ever-lovin' socks off! Included are many great soul tunes which certainly bring back welcome memories — "Harlem Shuffle," Sam and Dave's immortal "Soul Man" and the Righteous Brothers' "You've Lost That Lovin' Feelin'" are but a few of the goodies. There's a little something for everyone on this LP and of course Rick Derringer lends a hand in one of the hottest rock & roll medleys around

BALLS OF FIRE — Black Oak Arkansas — MCA 2199 — Producers: Black Oak Arkansas — List: 6.98

Crusty rock 'n roll and Black Oak Arkansas are synonymous terms. To prove a point, the boys have laid down some of the meanest tracks ever on "Balls of Fire." Jim Dandy is at his dirty best when backed by the luscious star of Grey Ghost, Ms. Ruby Starr, on cuts like Bob Seger's "Ramblin' Gamblin' Man" and "Fistful of Love." Several shots at the AM market include the aforementioned Seger cover plus a red-hot version of the rock 'n roll classic, "Great Balls of Fire."

NATURAL GAS — Natural Gas — Private Stock PS 2011 — Producer: Felix Pappalardi — List: 6.98

Covering some solid ground from rock to moving ballads and quite a bit in between, this LP is indeed a natural gas! The rich sounds generated by the superb musicianship displayed herein are only made richer and more substantial by the production work of the rock master, Felix Pappalardi. Both AM, pop and FM progressive markets will find much to be pleased with here — "Little Darlin'" and "The Right Time" are both sure shots in the pop vein while the entire album will find a happy home on the progressive airwaves.

NEW RIDERS — New Riders of the Purple Sage — MCA 2196 — Producer: Bob Johnson — List: 6.98

Real live country rock is something that N.R.P.S. does very well. Their harmonies are country as are the smooth pedal steel licks, but the rhythm tracks and the guitar work belie their rock roots. The overall feel is definitely one of foot-tappin' goodness and their cover of the Jagger-Richards tune, "Dead Flowers," is proof positive. "She's Looking Better Every Beer" is a very "up" tune, while Chuck Berry's "You Never Can Tell" is also a prime mover. AM programmers keep an eye on "Fifteen Days Under The Hood."

RASPBERRIES' BEST FEATURING ERIC CARMEN — The Raspberries — Capitol ST-11524 — List: 6.98

Capitol has gone all the way with this collection of Raspberries hits. What did The Raspberries give us anyhow? Well, they gave us around half a decade of some of the slickest pop music ever to be heard, then, of course, they gave us Eric Carmen. This LP tells their story in word and song — the liner notes begin on the front cover, continue on the back cover and continue some more on the inside sleeve, relating the whole story of how the group did what it did. This collection will prove to be invaluable to both AM and FM programmers and should also be a great merchandising tool.

EVERYBODY COME OUT — Stanley Turrentine — Fantasy F-9508 — Producers: Orrin Keepnews, Stanley Turrentine — List: 6.98

Turning in fine jazz renditions of some popular tunes Stanley Turrentine proves undisputably that he is truly deserving of his reputation as a leading jazz tastemaker. His cover of the Eric Carmen smash hit, "All By Myself," is very tasty as is his treatment of the 10cc hit, "I'm Not In Love." Turrentine's superb sax work is finely defined by the string arrangements in this effort which is sure to please jazz, MOR and easy listening venues equally.

SEED OF MEMORY — Terry Reid — ABC ABCD 935 — Producer: Graham Nash — List: 6.98

It's been awhile since we've heard from Terry Reid, and this LP was sure worth the wait. Reid shows a much mellower side which reflects a subtle country influence. There is a strong self-confidence exerted in the tunes which range from the up-tempo feel of "Oooh Baby (Make Me Feel So Young)" to the light jazz posturings of "Fooling You" and this album will be a strong shot in the FM arena.

ACCEPT NO SUBSTITUTES — Pleasure — Fantasy F-9506 — Producer: Wayne Henderson — List: 6.98

Pure, clean funk. The horns are tight, the clavinet crunchy, the vocals float lightly on a strong rhythm section — and there's no overkill. The fine work of these players is brought dramatically to the fore via the ultra-clean production work of Wayne Henderson. The tunes will find immediate success in the R&B market with the pop and progressive markets soon to follow. Pop programmers will like the feel of "I'm Mad."

GONE TOO LONG — Don Nix — Cream CR 1001 — Producer: Don Nix — List: 6.98

Don Nix reasserts his near-legendary presence in this debut effort for the new Cream label. All of the tunes save two were penned by Nix — the exceptions are his interpretive covers of The Byrds' "Feel A Whole Lot Better" and The Stones' "Backstreet Girl." In applying his unique abilities to the wide range of musical genres represented here, Nix shows himself to be quite adept in all venues — from his roots in southern rock to the old "Dust My Broom" school blues interpretation. A strong FM shot.

WONDERFUL TO BE ALIVE — The Dixie Hummingbirds — ABC PLP-59226 — Producer: Ira Tucker, Sr. — List: 6.98

Gospel can be a very entertaining medium — that's a fact that the Dixie Hummingbirds are out to prove beyond a shadow of a doubt. Their songs tell a story, sure, that's the beauty of the gospel venue, but the anecdotes, the harmonies and the superb musicianship are important elements in this material which cannot be ignored. Our favorites include "Every Shut Eye" and "Swing Low."

ALL THINGS IN TIME — Lou Rawls — Philadelphia International PZ 33957 — Producers: Various — List: 6.98

This effort by the dynamic Lou Rawls not only showcases his undisputable talent, but it also displays the production and arranging talents of such notables as Gamble & Huff, Bobby Martin and Jack Faith. The tunes reveal Lou in all possible emotional states with a fine musical continuity tying it all together to produce a strong shot in the R&B market with good possibilities for cross-over potential. Watch "You're The One" and "Pure Imagination."

WALT DISNEY'S PETER PAN — Original Soundtrack — Disneyland 1206 — List: 6.98

This LP is a complete collection of all of the infectious melodies from the Walt Disney fantasy feature "Peter Pan." The songs have become an important part of every child's life, from the main title tune "The Second Star To The Right," to the lighthearted humor of "Never Smile At A Crocodile." All of the songs on this album help to encourage children to use their imagination in a creative way, and that ain't bad!

ACCEPTED EVERYWHERE

The album is "Young And Rich" (SP 4580). The band is The Tubes. And the word, very definitely, is "acceptance." Wherever you go.

Chart Acceptance

"Young And Rich" is already a bulleted Hot 100 album in Billboard, a strong upward mover in Record World and a 50-place chart jumper in Cash Box.

Airplay Acceptance

R&R places "Young And Rich" among the country's top dozen albums in its Album Airplay/40 feature. Billboard spotlights its national Top Requests/Airplay status. Record World's FM Airplay Report calls the new Tubes "Most Active" while Cash Box ranks it number 21 among the nation's most added albums. And "Young And Rich" is all over Walrus as both a Radio and Retail Future. FM giants like KLOS-Los Angeles and WNEW-

New York are firmly convinced that the future is The Tubes, and that the future is now.

Sales Acceptance

Overwhelming airplay acceptance has been followed by a quick, broad sales response. Not just in the traditional S. F./Phoenix heart of The Tubes action, but also in Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago, Buffalo, Philadelphia, Boston and St. Louis. Acceptance that runs up to five times the album's initial orders.

Quick Acceptance

And it's all happened for The Tubes in the space of just one month. You really have to give 'em credit for that.

work with me along with our independent structure."

Five Of Eleven

Of eleven additional promotion people he seeks, Anderson has so far filled five positions: Dan Conger, situated in Atlanta; Lynn Adams in Los Angeles; Vernell Johnson in Philadelphia; Bill Craig in Chicago; and Hylton Hawkins who will work Nashville. Anderson has interviewed others but stresses the concept of total market awareness as the key to his hiring policy.

"My men make decisions," Anderson asserted. "They know what we need to keep the identity, to break our artists. They know UA's commitment and they know the limits of that commitment. I'm not saying our guys are the only ones making it happen, but they all recognize the mechanics of the situation and help lubricate the process through communication."

Examples

Anderson pointed out examples: Nancy Sain is our national singles secondary promotion manager and she also does the discos for us. She's committed to total market awareness. Say a record hits RKO in Boston. Our sales manager, sitting in New York, would get the information maybe a day later. He sells the Boston area, but U.S. Records buys from Heilicher in Minneapolis. So that we aren't 'late' getting records into the Boston area, Nancy will pick up the phone and call Heilicher in Minneapolis to make them aware of the Boston airplay. That's my idea of promotion.

Another example Anderson detailed centered around KHJ going on the Brass Construction record recently. The same day KHJ acted, Los Angeles promo man Lynn Adams was at the one-stops along Pico Blvd., letting them know. Did orders follow as a result?

KHJ Connection

"The one-stops know a powerhouse like KHJ is going to stimulate more sales," Anderson answered. "Lynn called attention to that fact and, of course, orders are a natural flow. If a secondary station goes on a record he'll have the same enthusiasm. He'll alert the distributor, consult a list of all the retail accounts in that market, and make sure that the six or seven key ones with the heavy traffic-flow reporting stores have the product. This way, by the first week, the station can feel reaction to a UA record by store reports. They call the stores and know. Depending on the rotation of the record, we can get a gauge in a couple of weeks — on whether we have an indication of a hit record in the area or not.

A third instance of this communication paying off is illustrated through "I'll Get Over You," a Crystal Gayle single UA is attempting to crossover from country to pop.

Nashville Effort

Jerry Seabolt's efforts started the record in country," Anderson illustrated. "His follow-through got a reading at retail to see that we had sales that indicated more that a country record. Retailers were telling him they were getting people that don't normally buy country — the one-stops and accounts that sell a lot of Aerosmith. Crystal Gayle was selling those accounts too, and Seabolt saw it. The information was utilized by the UA field promo staff and right now the record is hitbound on KLIF in Dallas. The point is, we didn't lose the momentum; we caught it early enough to move with it."

Vantage

Anderson, who has been with UA for about a year, says he has the additional confidence of United Artists' backing up his own personal feelings about promotion. He credits Artie Mogull with 100% commitment to the promotion department.

"Mogull realizes the benefits and strength of having the best," he told CB, "and I really appreciate that — because I know from experience that that's not always the case."

Confidence

Anderson concluded, "I think that, with the type of people I'm getting together along with our present staff, we've got to be the very best."

Has Anderson given himself any sort of an arbitrary deadline to fill the remaining positions?

"Not if I don't find the right people, no. If I wanted to put bodies in, those spots would be filled now."

CASH BOX RADIO

Broadcasting Graduates May Face Bleak Job Prospects This Year

by J.B. Carmicle

LOS ANGELES — "College radio tries to be alternative radio and sometimes that's a problem for radio-TV graduates, because the alternative atmosphere they have worked in is not as strict as the cold, hard world," John Scheinfeld, general manager and program director of Northwestern University's radio station, told Cash Box. The subject was what broadcasting department graduates from universities will face in the next few weeks as they begin to seek and find employment in their chosen profession. Gearing radio department curricula to provide an adequate background for graduates to face the "real" world, and open-minded graduates who are willing to do "other" jobs to get their feet in the door were two other points made by other school departmental heads.

Foot In The Door

"Getting that foot in the door in any capacity is tough," Scheinfeld continued. "radio-TV departments are turning out more and more graduates for a field that hasn't expanded that much. It's much like the film industry in the respect that sometimes it's whom you know, not what you know." Noting that the number of graduates he knew personally from Northwestern who have found jobs are relatively few, Scheinfeld said the students should keep fighting for those positions, whenever and wherever available. But his point about college radio stations' relaxed rules and regulations of air staff in regard to formats and on-air training is well taken. Graduates may be on a "downer" after learning that "real world" stations require a lot more of them and that the strictness of formats and on-the-air performance was nothing like they experienced in college days.

Top-Flight Professionals

"We have top-flight experienced professionals teaching our courses — that's the only way," said Dr. William Randle, broadcasting department head at the University of Cincinnati. "Our programs are geared to train the person to walk into any station and do anything that's required of them." Dr. Randle emphasized the strictness in screening students who enter his department. "We require them to even visit and discuss their goals with their hometown radio and TV stations' managers and directors. I want 100 percent of my students to be prepared for the 'real' world, and I'm not satisfied with anything less."

No Trust

Randle pointed out that the "industry doesn't trust students who are broadcast-trained in the universities. More than that, the industry doesn't trust the product these people can give them in performance. But when I deliver students out of this school to the industry, and employers see that they have superior people to work for them, that's when the trust begins again.

"We're getting sophisticated resumes ready for our graduates this year ... we're getting them to conventions ... getting their names known. We have terrific students and a terrific curriculum and our goal is 100 percent placement."

Competition

"The competition is going to be ferocious, as always," Dr. Randle continued. "even the good people will be standing in line. But the key is providing these students with an excellent practical and professional background that the industry will recognize when approached by graduates who want to prove they can do it."

Boston University's Dr. Robert Smith is head of the broadcasting department there. Dr. Smith's comments were in regard to alternatives. "A student who expresses interest in the business end of radio might be better off when he goes looking after graduation. We have had students who are holding out for the air positions they desire and becoming very disappointed. And then we have students who graduate and are willing to get into sales or promotion work at a station just to get a foot in the door. The chances of their getting on the air later are very good then."

Placement Program

"We have an excellent placement program here at B.U.," Smith related. "The university has its own placement pro-

First Complete B'way Book Out

NEW YORK — "Candide," the first in a series of complete Broadway show books has been produced by Macmillan Performing Arts and published by Schirmer Books/Macmillan.

Until now, Broadway shows in print form included only libretto and lyrics. The Macmillan Performing Arts series introduces music, instrument listings with orchestra personnel placement, stage directions, and color performance photographs printed on high quality coated paper stock. Also included in this edition of "Candide" is a foreword by producer/director Harold Prince.

The Macmillan Performing Arts 253-page edition of "Candide" will retail in hard-cover for $35 and in soft-cover for $25. Publication date is July 1.

than NBMS. Damage is less, and UPS' delivery speed rivals the Postal Service. Many users are switching to UPS and other private mail services because they are faster than the Postal Service — and the mail arrives in one piece.

The Postal Service plays down the amount of damage caused by its fancy and expensive equipment. Most of the items the subcommittee found in its tour of 15 bulk mail centers, however, "had clearly been crushed in the mechanization. Despite postal assertions that most damage results from insufficiently wrapped packages," the report continued, "the clear evidence was that most of the damage was done to well packaged items such as film and book and record club selections."

Damage Rate

Postal Service statistics are also suspect, the report says. The Postal Service estimates a damage rate of one percent per year, or 10 million parcels annually.

But subcommittee researchers found 3.7 million pieces of mangled mail awaiting claims processing in the Chicago plant alone. Chicago receives 15 to 20 hampers of damaged mail a day. Tens of thousands of crushed parcels were sitting in other plants, also awaiting claims processing.

Dissatisfied Employees

"I don't know of anyone outside the Postal Service happy with it (NBMS)," says Gould. Even postal service employees are dissatisfied with the inefficient, and often dangerous, equipment. "No users are happy," Gould adds.

"The buildings are paid for," he says, "and we have to use them. But we have to reduce the amount of damage." Legislation to this effect is expected to come out of the hearings.

of A&M and a planner of this report, thought back to the time of the Cornyn speech. "I remembered the speech; I thought it was relevant. I thought about it for a long time, and figured that the time was right to deal with it. The industry, though, should work on the project, instead of individual companies. I called Cornyn, and Stan Gortikov, and said, 'Let's get together and see if we can find some like-minded people to discuss how we can broaden the market.'

"The potential for the record market is huge," Freisen emphasized, "and we're really just tapping the surface. And we've been doing that for the last couple of years. There are more good records available now than there are radio stations to play them — we must explore all avenues of merchandising."

At the end of the twenty-two page RIAA report is a note from Stan

'200' GREAT LAUGHS — Renowned entertainer Bob Hope (left) and screen star Karl Malden (right) greet Cash Box president and publisher George Albert following the "live audience" recording of "America Is 200 Years Old ... And There Is Still Hope," a Bob Hope bicentennial comedy album on Capitol Records which will be released June 7. Malden makes a special guest appearance on the album as George Washington.

RadaDara, Daniels Renew; Firm Moves

LOS ANGELES — RadaDara Music has renewed its publishing affiliation with Charlie Daniels, and Daniels' new material will be co-published by RadaDara and Hatband Music, which is co-owned by Daniels and his personal manager, Joe Sullivan.

RadaDara headquarters have been shifted from the east coast to Zuma Beach, California, and Ruby Mazur will continue as its west coast professional manager. RadaDara will be located at 29775 Pacific Coast Highway, Zuma, Ca. 90265. (213) 457-3804.

NARAS Re-elects Cooper As Pres.

NEW YORK — The trustees of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences (NARAS) unanimously re-elected Jay Cooper as national president during its convention held over the weekend of May 14 at the Americana Hotel. Also re-elected were Al Steckler as 1st vice-president and Sid Feller as secretary-treasurer.

Gortikov: "Unlimited reproduction and distribution of this summary is encouraged." The next phase of this three-part plan, according to Gortikov, will take place within the next thirty days, after initial summary has had a chance to be read. A project committee will be formed and convened.

The first stage is over. The report, according to Pete Johnson is an "extremely accurate summation of what was discussed and what transpired. It covers virtually every point that was brought up at the meetings."

Gortikov's emphasis on the all-industry aspects of the project was borne out in the initial stage, according to Barry Bergman.

"Everybody at the meeting," Bergman revealed, "was able to sublimate the needs of his company to the greater needs of the industry."

EAST COASTINGS — WINGPRINTS: The foot and hand impressions of Paul McCartney and Wings should be visible in cement at the entrance of the Peaches record store in Atlanta. Previous visits of rock notables to the modern Grauman's Chinese of the record industry have incurred sizable security costs, so manager Lee Berman hit upon a strategy of "bringing the mountain to Muhammad." A ton of wet cement was loaded into an 18 foot truck, which arrived at the back entrance of the Omni just as Wings were taking their final bows. The group emerged to leave prints and signatures, the truck was sealed and the mixture allowed three days to set. "Everything went smoothly," remarked Berman, adding in disappointment, "but nobody brought a good camera."

MORE HAPPENINGS — Believe it or not, Dave Mason performed an unadvertised acoustic session last week with three sidemen at J.P.'s bar on the upper east side ... As Don Knotts introduced them at L.A.'s Forum, Kansas broke out into the theme from the Andy Griffith show ... Tom Rush doing benefits for the financially faltering Main Point in Philadelphia, May 26 & 27 ... British trades reporting rumors that John Miles will support Elton John on his next U.S. tour ... Rumored that Return To Forever will announce a sabbatical for the band at the end of their current tour. The members supposedly will devote their time to individual projects ... A critic in the Detroit News describes one of the onstage backdrops used by touring Bob Marley & the Wailers as "Marcus Welby and Black Bondage."

OVERNIGHT SENSATIONS? — Two new British groups currently receiving the big push from their respective record companies, Boxer on Epic and Natural Gas on Private Stock, have interestingly interconnected geneologies. Ollie Halsall of Boxer and Mark Clarke of Gas appeared on the second, unreleased-in-America album of an ill fated band named Tempest, led by veteran British rock/progressive drummer Jon Hiseman. The first Tempest LP, released in the U.S. on Warners under the Bronze Records logo, contained Clarke and guitarist Alan Holdsworth, who currently gigs with Tony Williams. Both Hiseman and Clarke were members of Colloseum, which developed from the Graham Bond Organization, other former members of which include Jack Bruce, Ginger Baker and John McLaughlin. Hiseman, meanwhile, is back in England attempting to break Colloseum II, which released an album there a short time ago.

JAZZ ON — Possibly the most fascinating new release on A&M/Horizon is "Ira Sullivan," the first new recording in ten years by a little known multi-instrumentalist (all saxophones, trumpet, flute) who made a name for himself in Chicago, moving to Miami 10 years ago where he and a group of session musicians now play to local followers. Horizon creative director John Snyder heard about Sullivan's continuing creativity through Criteria Studios in Miami, where the lush and distinctive recording was made ... Two $1,000 awards have been established in the name of Ralph J. Gleason since his death last June. One, for a writer, is given by the Monterey Jazz Festival; the other, for a musician, is granted by the Concord Jazz Festival for a northern California winner ... Ralph Towner's ECM recording, "Solstice," has been named record of the year by the German Phonoakademie ... Keith Jarrett and Jan Garbarek, also ECM artists, begin a U.S. tour the end of May ... Congratulations to Arista's Mary Lou Webb, for her faithful renditions of the diagrams representing suggested cuts for airplay from Anthony Braxton's "Creative Orchestra Music 1976."

ON BROADWAY — Al Green opens a four day stand at the Uris Theater June 3 ... "Godspell" moves to the Broadhurst Theater on Broadway June 22, having racked up 2,100 off-Broadway appearances.

AND BEYOND — Hall & Oates have donated one-fourth of the revenues from their May 14 Cleveland appearance to the victims of a fire that destroyed over 25 homes in that city. Cleveland was the town where their RCA single "Sara Smile" was first to break ... Meanwhile, we hear that Atlantic plans to release "She's Gone" again ... Chicago will be the second act to perform at the Alladin Hotel's $10 million Theater for the Performing Arts in Las Vegas, July 8 ... Paddy Moloney, leader of Island's Chieftains, remarked upon hearing the group would receive the key to the city of Detroit, "I wonder if the key will fit one of those famous-make cars?" In response, the deputy mayor included a scale model of a 1976 auto with the key, suggesting the car might have been real if times were better ... Seeburg Industries has acquired the Front Row Theater in Cleveland ... Joe Maimone, Capitol's eastern MOR promotion manager has been hospitalized. Please address cards and letters to Holy Name Hospital in Teaneck, N.J. ... Patti Smith, according to Arista sources, has broken attendance records at several European venues: the Roundhouse in London, Hard Rock Cafe in Copenhagen, Paradise in Amsterdam, and Elysees Montmartre in Paris ... "The Wild Tchoupitoulas," an Island contribution to the New Orleans sound, is produced by Allen Toussaint and Marshall Sehorn ... Renaissance lead vocalist Annie Haslam is top ten poll placer in her category in Britain's three top music weeklies.

BICENTENNIAL NEWS — RCA Records has released "A Time For Celebration," a single produced by Van McCoy, which couples the talents of two vocal groups, The Choice Four and Faith, Hope & Charity ... Chappell Music has acquired the publishing rights to "Happy Birthday, America," co-published with Cenpro Music. A single has been released on Cenpro by Judy Stevens, the tune is Marie Chasson's.

TV EXTRA — To air May 29 on WNEW-TV, Don Kirshner's Rock Concert features Janis Ian, Pure Prairie League and the Chuck Mangione Quartet.

I'M A BELIEVER — Arista Records will release "The Monkees Greatest Hits" on the Bell Record label. Included are "Last Train To Clarksville," "Daydream Believer," "(I'm Not Your) Steppin' Stone," and "Monkee's Theme." Interesting, since the Monkees were on Colgems — but they're all in the Columbia Pictures family.

POINTS WEST — A&R DEPARTMENTS AND PRODUCERS: you might want to take note, if you're not already aware of the Bla Bla Cafe, corner of Vineland and Ventura in North Hollywood. It was out of this small coffeehouse that Al Jarreau broke. Al, of course, continues to pace critical expectations with his most recent achievement emanating from his first European tour. The German Academy of Music in Berlin awarded Jarreau the honor of "Outstanding New International Pop Vocalist of 1976." His competition? Bruce Springsteen and Melissa Manchester.

Maxine Sellers also works the Bla Bla, as do Chunky, Novi and Ernie — an outstanding trio who pack the house every Saturday night with their ardent following which includes scouts from A&M, Columbia, Elektra/Asylum, Arista and Warner Bros. Chunky, Novi and Ernie play keyboards, viola and bass, respectively. In fact, that was Novi who played the middle portion of the Doobie Brothers' "Black Water." Novi also does a lot of session work and has toured with Frank Zappa. This band is hot, and although they're being watched very closely, no deal has been set yet. So get down to the Blas.

CASHBOX COUNTRY

COUNTRY ARTIST OF THE WEEK Tompall Glaser

"T For Tompall" — A singer with true country roots, Tompall was born and raised on a Nebraska ranch and began picking and singing with his two brothers, Chuck and Jim, at school socials and on live radio shows. After winning on Authur Godfrey's TV Talent Scouts, they signed a Decca recording contract, and were an act on the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville.

After moving to MGM in 1966, the group won just about every award as "best vocal group" until each of the brothers began following individual music careers in 1974.

Tompall is a Nashville-based singer/songwriter and one of Music City's first artist-businessmen to take the lead in establishing production of their own records independently.

As a record producer, Tompall has worked with such diverse talents as Waylon Jennings, Kinky Friedman, Willie Nelson, Ken Mansfield, Jack Clement, Bill Monroe, Shel Silverstein and John Hartford.

He has completed four albums as a solo artist: "The Great Tompall And His Outlaw Band," "Charlie" and "Tompall" on the MGM label and "Take The Singer With The Song," released by Polydor in Great Britain only. MGM singles released by Tompall include "Put Another Log On The Fire," "Musical Chairs," "Texas Law Sez," "Bad, Bad, Bad Cowboy," "Charlie" and his current hot charting single "T For Texas."

Often a popular performer at London's Wembley Festival, Tompall was named one of the top three male country singers in England in 1973. The following year his record of "Lay Down Beside Me" was the #1 choice by vote of the BBC listeners.

Tompall hosted the nationally televised "In Session" show recently, and his movie experience began in 1970 when he supervised the music for an MGM film "Tick... Tick... Tick."

He has written nearly a hundred songs, including "Streets Of Baltimore," a Grammy nominee whose lyrics have been included in several college textbooks.

Tompall is the co-owner of Glaser Sound Studios in Nashville, and of Baron Music and related publishing interests with Waylon Jennings.

"The Great American Celebration" will have its control center aboard the historic U.S. frigate Constellation, with the live entertainment to be staged in the Ft.

McHenry amphitheater before a live audience.

One hundred and fifty stations will be linked up to carry the event, according to Ray Beindorf, producer.

It will be "Country Western Night" for the Exposition, and also will be the mid-point in the First Annual Convention of Independent Truckers Unity Committee, with net proceeds of the show going to the American Truckers Benevolent Association.

The awards show will star Charlie Rich, winner of the best country male vocalist award last year, and Fred Sanders, disk jockey with WMAQ in Chicago, will be master of ceremonies.

The other eight winners in the 1976 Truck Drivers' Country Music Awards contest, selected by vote of the truck drivers, include — best country vocal duet, Conway Twitty and Loretta Lynn; best country instrumental recording artist, Roy Clark; best country vocal group, Buck Owens and the Buckeroos; best country song writer, Tom T. GRT Inks New Artists

NASHVILLE — GRT Records has announced the signing of George Hamilton IV and Gary Buck to a special lease arrangement with RCA Limited Canada which will call for GRT to have rights to their product in the United States. The signing of the deal was announced jointly by Dick Heard, vice president of GRT Records and Barry Haugen, manager of country product with RCA Limited Canada. Both artists have product set for immediate release in this country.

GRT has also announced the signing of a lease deal with Texas-based Mabel Records for a record entitled "Hey, Shirley (This Is Squirrely)," a novelty record which deals with the CB radio craze, which has already been shipped by GRT to the key country stations in the nation. GRT has picked up a new master by Johnny Lee, a native of Houston, Texas, whose version of the classic "Red Sails In The Sunset" is due out shortly.

Additionally, GRT and Casino Records have announced the signing of Billy Larkin to Casino. Larkin has just completed his first recording sessions with Casino, and his first release is due shortly. Also signed to Casino is Glenn Barber, who was formerly with Hickory Records.

Green Covers 'I.O.U.'

NASHVILLE — Garland Green has recorded an R&B version of Jimmy Dean's hit "I.O.U." which will be released by GRT Records. While in the new Wishbone Recording Studio in Muscle Shoals with producer Nelson Larkin, Green cut four songs, and negotiations are underway for an album deal.

Texas Records Formed

DALLAS, TEX. — Texas Records, a new record label with emphasis on the growing interest in Texas music, has released its first single, "The Effects Your Leaving Has Had On Me" b/w "Hello, Love" by Rebecca Jo Featheringill.

DJ copies have been mailed nationally and both Texas Records president Don Schafer and Ms. Featheringill are on a ten city promotional tour.

Also signed to the label is Claude Gray, who is set to record with Rebecca in June for a duet release in mid-summer. Both artists are being produced by Schafer.

The company plans to open its own 24 track studio by late '76, and offer a total entertainment concept by spring of '77. The studio will house a booking agency, management firm and publishing companies.

Screen Gems Columbia Music and Schafer recently made a co-publishing arrangement and he currently has an independent production agreement with Capitol Records.

Texas Records is seeking interest for a major distribution arrangement and those interested should contact Don Schafer, P.O. Box 57291, Dallas, Texas 75207, phone (214) 526-8936.

COUNTRY ROUNDUP

Don Williams will headline his first Los Angeles appearance June 1-3 at the Troubadour, with Red Steagall also on the bill. Williams' new ABC/Dot single from his "Harmony" LP is titled "Say It Again" . . . Jan Freeman is currently recording at Oklahoma City's Producers Workshop with producer Don Johnson. Jan records on the independent Jan-Mar label, distributed by IRDA, and her first release was "I Don't Like To Sleep Alone" . . . Capitol recording artist Ray Griff has just landed himself a #1 single in his Canadian homeland with the single "If I Let Her Come In," according to RPM's national charts. It's his first song to go #1 in Canada since "The Morning After Baby Let Me Down" . . . Ron Blackwood reports that Capitol Records has officially signed R.W. Blackwood of The Blackwood Singers to an exclusive recording contract.

Bill Martin and Phil Coulter, writers of Al Bolt's new single "Family Man" on Cin-Kay Records, come from England, where they have written and produced many top pop songs. Among the hits in the U.S. they have to their credit are Elvis Presley's "My Boy" and Bill Anderson's "Thanks" . . . Johnny Tillotson is set for a four-week European tour beginning Sept. 9. He will play military bases in Germany, Spain, Italy and Great Britain . . . Dave Burgess of Gene Autry's Republic Records, who was originator and leader of the instrumental group The Champs, whose recording of "Tequila" sold more than three million records, was in Muscle Shoals recently recording an instrumental group, The Champs with "Tequila '76." The lead sax of the present group is Ed Logan, who was on most of the Otis Redding records, and who worked all over the world with the Bill Black Combo. On guitar is Larry Byrom, who was previously with the rock group Steppenwolf, and rounding out the group is the world-renowned Muscle Shoals Grass. Republic will release "Tequila '76" in late May.

Miami's country music station staged six hours of uninterrupted comedy last April 30 from midnight Friday until 6 a.m. Saturday. The program, whose only interruptions came from the announcement of comedy artists and call letters, was the culmination of a month's promotion on WWOK and in local newspapers. Bob Cole hosted the show and comedians featured included Jerry Clower, Wendy Bagwell, Justis Wilson, Jerry Jordan, Andy Griffith, Charlie Douglas, Jim Nesbitt, Oscar Ray and Bob Murphey. Also featured were Hudson & Landry, Bill Cosby, W.C. Fields, The Bickersons, The Watergate Comedy Hour and others . . . Roy Clark is set to tape an Oral Roberts special in June at Grandfather's Mountain, Linville, N.C. . . . Rodeo headliner Red Steagall will work the Beaumont Texas rodeo on June 10 . . . Freddy Fender completes his European record promotion tour June 15, and will then appear at the southern California Exposition in Del Mar.

Jerry Clower's sixth album on MCA is due for release on June 17. Entitled "Jerry Clower—Ambassador Of Goodwill," this year's annual album effort was recorded before a live audience at Mississippi State University, Clower's alma mater, in Starkville, Mississippi. Title of the album reflects a recent honor given Clower by MCA label president Mike Maitland. Noting Clower's heavy work schedule and the frequent honors bestowed upon him by religious and charitable organizations, Maitland designated Clower the label's official "goodwill ambassador" at stage ceremonies in Jackson, Miss., on a recent "Jerry Clower Day." A former fertilizer salesman from Yazoo City, Miss., Clower "backed into show business" five years ago with a smash hit comical tale about a coon hunt . . . Don Gibson has signed with Top Billing, Nashville for exclusive representation. The award-winning songwriter/performer will appear in California in June, and has a new Hickory Records release entitled "Doing My Time."

Music folks have been playing a different form of musical chairs lately. Billie Jo Spears just bought a Spanish home which belonged to her producer Larry Butler of United Artists Records. Butler then bought, and has moved into, Billy Sherrill's home. Sherrill, producer for Epic/Columbia labels, purchased a new home on Woodlawn Boulevard in Nashville . . . A lady in Hammond, La. sent $10 to Dolly Parton to aid in covering expenses on her new "Dolly" TV show, which is slated for the fall. The note enclosed read, "Because I know TV shows cost a lot, and you have brought a lot of sunshine into my life" . . . The Country Music Foundation of Colorado recently held a cancer fund benefit for Gary Courtney and Blackie Minor, well-known country music entertainers that have been stricken with cancer. Gary is well-known as a member of the team Patty Gallagher, Gary Courtney & The Showdowners. He has been a member of the Country Music Foundation of Colorado since '69. Blackie has been in country music for over 34 years and is well-known for playing the steel guitar. Blackie and Gary are both members of the Colorado Country Music Hall of Fame.

New York's leading country music nightclub will celebrate its third anniversary on the waters around Manhattan in a musical expedition called "O'Lunney's Bicentennial Boat Ride, Barn Dance and Birthday Party." The event, which is scheduled for Wednesday, June 23, from 7:00-11:00 p.m., will be held aboard the Circle Line's largest boat, with a capacity of 575 persons. Four bands and a variety of single acts will entertain, representing "country music" styles that range from 200-year-old English and Irish folk tunes to modern and progressive country music. O'Lunney's instituted a strictly country music policy in May 1973 and celebrates its anniversary with a big party each year . . . Joe D. Lucus, president of Commercial Distributing Corp., has signed a distribution agreement with Aquarian Record owner R.J. Lindsay. Aquarian Records, based in Macon, Georgia, have released their first record, "Singing A Happy Song," by Larry G. Hudson.

Eddy Arnold autographed a special pet rock for Cin-Kay's Al Bolt in Las Vegas before their show. Cin-Kay is running a contest which involves winning a trip to L.A. More later . . . Billy Joe Shaver will be the Capricorn artist representative at the annual Willie Nelson 4th of July picnic to be held in Gonzales, Texas. Billy's first LP for Capricorn is slated for May 28 release and is titled "When I Get My Wings" . . . IRDA (International Distributing Associates) has signed a distribution deal with Joker Records of Nashville. The first record to be released on the Joker label is called "The Evils Of Frankenstein" by Choctaw John. The song was one of the finalists in last year's first American Song Festival International Songwriter's Competition. It was chosen from a field of more than 60,000 entrants and was a finalist in the country division.

Jerry Wallace, who is well-known in country music as "Mr. Smooth," has re-signed with long-time friend Ron Blackwood. Blackwood will be handling all of Wallace's booking and management. Wallace is booked through Showcase Talent Agency of Nashville . . . ABC/Dot artist Jim Mundy has been having his problems coming up with a suitable CB handle. "I tried 'the songwriter' for awhile," says Jim, "but that didn't work. Then I tried 'Mundy Man' and everyone thought I was saying 'money man.' I knew that wasn't right!"

COUNTRY SINGLES REVIEWS / ALBUM REVIEWS

CHET ATKINS (RCA JH 10614)

Frog Kissin' (3:17) (Ahab Music Co. — BMI) (Buddy Kalb)

With the flavor of fairy tales and minstrel shows, Chet Atkins sings this clever novelty which we predict will be the hottest single since "The Streak." Produced and arranged by Ray Stevens, the surprise is not that Chet sings, it's that he hasn't done it sooner.

GEORGE JONES & TAMMY WYNETTE (Epic 8-50235)

Golden Ring (3:01) (Tree Pub. Co. — BMI) (B. Braddock, R. Van Hoy)

Back together — on record — Tammy and George vocalize in solid country style about a wedding ring. Sounds like a lot of box and air action.

TOMMY OVERSTREET (ABC Dot DOA17630)

Here Comes That Girl Again (2:54) (Chappell & Co. — ASCAP) (R. Bourke, G. Dobbins, J. Wilson)

Tommy's back with a new producer, Ron Chancey, and a new rock/blues flavored sound about saying yes and no. Good bet for heavy cross-over.

EDDIE RABBITT (Elektra E-45315-A)

Rocky Mountain Music (3:32) (Briar Patch Music — BMI) (Eddie Rabbitt)

Do You Right Tonight (2:29) (Briar Patch, Debdave — BMI)

This one will fight itself on two excellent sides — take your pick. "Do You Right Tonight" makes a promise with a light up-tempo, slightly gospel flavored sound. "Rocky Mountain Music" fits the MOR up-tempo story bag. Produced by David Malloy.

LARRY GATLIN WITH FAMILY & FRIENDS (Monument ZS8-8696)

Warm And Tender (2:42) (First Generation Music — BMI) (Larry Gatlin)

From the LP "Larry Gatlin And Family" comes this Fred Foster-produced tender love ballad with Larry's distinctive folk/club/progressive/country style. A good cross-over.

CAL SMITH (MCA 40563)

MacArthur's Hand (3:05) (Tree Pub. Co. — BMI) (Don Wayne)

A laid-back country sound with a 'story' lyric about a war hero's veneration of MacArthur. Pulled from the "Jason's Farm" LP, it was produced by Walter Haynes and will be played by those who remember.

THE HECKELS (RCA JH 10685)

A Cowboy Like You (2:08) (Moss Rose Pub./Ensign Music — BMI) (Tompall Glaser)

This new group produced by Roy Dea captures the "outlaw" sound and could capture good charting on their first outing.

GENE WATSON (Capitol P4279)

Because You Believed In Me (2:54) (Belinda Music — BMI) (Owens — Hall Vowell)

No doubt about this solid country ballad pulled from the LP "Because You Believed In Me" — prediction is top charting and box action. Russ Reeder and Bob Webster produced.

WEBB PIERCE (Plantation PL 141)

Appleton (2:40) (Tuesday Music — BMI) (Webb Pierce, Max Powell, Arnold Pillows)

Webb Pierce sings and Shelby Singleton, Jr. produces this true story lyric set to an up-tempo country sound. Could happen — country style.

ROY HEAD (ABC/Dot DOA 17629)

Bridge For Crawling Back (2:13) (Ma-Ree Music/Porter Jones — ASCAP) (R. Porter, B. E. Jones)

It's rockabilly bump, and sounds like the jingle of many quarters in the boxes. Pulled from the LP "Head First," it should pull much chart action. Bud Logan produced.

MARY LOU TURNER (MCA 40566)

It's Different With You (3:44) (Stallion Music — BMI) (Bill Anderson)

Mary Lou sets her own style on this Bill Anderson-penned lyric. Produced by Snuffy Miller, the title tells the story.

VERNON OXFORD (RCA JH 10693)

Redneck! (The Redneck National Anthem) (2:28) (Velour — BMI) (Mitch Torok, Ramona Redd)

Aimed straight at the boxes and charts, Vernon Oxford delivers a solid hand-clappin', foot stompin', country fiddle sound. Produced by Bob Ferguson, it can't miss the top if given a chance.

MICHAEL CLARK (Capitol P4275)

Busted Down In Houston (2:59) (Window Music — BMI) (Michael Clark)

Newcomer Michael Clark projects solid charisma in fine style. Listen well, we predict this to be first of many good ones.

ED BRUCE (United Artists UA XW 811-Y)

Sleep All Mornin' (2:29) (United Artists Music/Big Ax — ASCAP) (A. Harvey)

It's back to early rock 'n' roll on this Larry Butler-produced, Alex Harvey-penned tune. Chances are it will "roll" on the boxes, along with the same good charting.

SHYLO (Columbia 3-10343)

Livin' On Love Street (2:08) (Partner/Julep — BMI) (R. Scaife, D. Hogan)

With a mellow Texas swing, Shylo tells the tale of awareness thru love. Produced by Larry Rogers, it's a sure bet for charting.

LARRY BUTLER (United Artists UA XW 809-Y)

Theme From "Stay Hungry" (2:52) (Unart/United Artists — ASCAP) (Adaption by B. Berline, B. Langhorn)

Larry Butler has produced the theme from "Stay Hungry" in true hand-clappin', buck dancin' style. An instrumental, we predict a lot of extra plays and hopefully charting.

RAY PENNINGTON (Zodiac ZS 1003)

I Can't Get Up By Myself (2:48) (Dunbar — BMI) (Ray Pennington)

Ray Pennington wrote, sang and co-produced this jazz-flavored pop/country style tune about that ole depressed feelin'. Interesting!

MIKE AND MICKEY (Starday SD 140)

We Don't Want The World (2:35) (Power Play — BMI) (James Coleman, Moe Lytle)

This one is pure country, and this duo sings about not needing much since they've got love. However, they might get charting and box plays along with their love.

JJ BARRIE (Buddah BDA 525)

No Charge (3:43) (London Tree Music) (Harland Howard)

Melba Montgomery went #1 with this Harland Howard tune, and now JJ Barrie has come up with a male version that's not quite as country, produced by Bill Amesbury.

CONWAY TWITTY — Now And Then — MCA 2206

Same man, same talent — different showcase. This is also true of the background musicians who have contributed to and made "The Nashville Sound." A Conway Twitty collector's item. "Then" is pure rock — "Now" is pure country. The "Then" selections are "It's Only Make Believe," "I'll Try," "Danny Boy," "Lonely Blue Boy" and "Mona Lisa," and the "Now" side includes "After All The Good Is Gone," "I Got A Good Thing Going," "There's More Love In These Arms You Push Away," "At Least One Time" and "I Don't Feel Like Lovin' You." We loved him then and we love him now!

JONI LEE — MCA 2194

On her first album, Joni Lee has included her hit singles "Don't Cry Joni," "I'm Sorry Charlie," and her current "Angel On My Shoulder." Other selections are "It Really Doesn't Matter Anymore," "I've Just Got To Know," "Playmates," "Baby Love," "Just Lead The Way," "Run Like A Thief," "And A Little Girl Cried," many of which would do well as singles. Two of our favorites are "Just Lead The Way" and "Baby Love." Like WOW — she's terrific.

ONE PIECE AT A TIME — Johnny Cash And The Tennessee Three — Columbia KC 34193

In his liner notes for this LP, Johnny Cash writes: "Like a favorite old shoe that you pulled off and threw in the trash then found your new ones hurt your feet, wore them new ones all you could, then shined the old ones up real good, felt as natural as an old familiar street — like a warming April wind, here I am back again." In addition to his hit single "One Piece At A Time," he sings "Let There Be Country," "In A Young Girl's Mind," "Mountain Lady," "Michigan City Howdy Do," "Sold Out Of Flagpoles," "Committed To Parkview," "Daughter Of A Railroad Man," "Love Has Lost Again" and "Go On Blues."

A RUMOR IN MY OWN TIME — Steven Fromholz — Capitol ST 11521

Steven Fromholz is the latest in a long line of country artists to come out of Austin, Texas, and shows off both his singing and songwriting ability on this LP, which contains nine Fromholz compositions, plus John Sebastian's "She's A Lady." Backed by such sidemen as Doug Dillard, John Sebastian and Willie Nelson, Fromholz shines on "Blue Lines On White Linen," "Ain't It Nice To Be Alone," "Late Nite Neon-Shadows," "Dear Darcie" and "I'd Have To Be Crazy." Some cuts should see airplay on progressive as well as country stations.

SIDE OF THE ROAD GANG — Capitol ST 11526

Many sides of country combine in this LP to make up the new country sound which we predict will appeal to many listeners. Selections are "What Am I Doin' Hangin' Round," "Hear That Whistle Blow," "Broken Hearted People," "Sittin' By The Side Of The Road," "Yours For Life," "People In Dallas Got Hair," "Suitcase Life," "Runaway Heart," "Lovesick Blues" and "On A Honky Tonk Hardwood Floor." Favorites are "What Am I Doin' Hangin' Round," "Sittin' By The Side Of The Road." Mike Leach produced and executive producers are Paul Tannen and Don Shafer.

FRUSHAY COUNTRY — Ray Frushay — Casino C201

Blending country sounds with today's progressive beat, Ray Frushay has a sophisticated, hand-clapping, foot stomping style. We'd bag it "country mood music," and well worth the listen. Selections are "Let's All Help The Cowboys," "Black Cloud Over Austin," "Sounds Of Yesterday," "I Love You For What You Are," "Follow Your Drum," "And Then I'll Fly Away," "I Want To Do It With You," "Amy (You're Livin' Way Too Fast)" and "Fat Man Song."

O'Jays Melba Moore

WESTCHESTER PREMIER THEATRE, TARRYTOWN, NY — The O'Jays, one of the foremost exponents of the "Philadelphia sound," brought their slick stage show to the Westchester Premier Theatre. Supported by the Backstabbers Band, they offered polished renditions of songs that have permanently secured their position as one of the major forces in contemporary music.

"Survival" and "Give The People What They Want," as well as "Unity" and "Family Reunion," their latest Philadelphia International album, relayed the lyric importance to a receptive crowd.

Successfully warming up the audience, the O'Jays performed a short exciting medley including such hits as "Backstabbers," "Love Train" and "Put Your Hands Together," abruptly slowing down the pace for a stirring version of Morris Albert's "Feelings." Never a gao to be filled, they broke into "For The Love Of Money" complete with manual vocal phasing and an uotempo version of "Livin' For The Weekend," their latest hit.

After encoring with "I Love Music," Eddie Levert, Walter Williams and the temporary member Sammy Strain were presented with gold record awards for their latest album and single, a deserved encore for a superb musical evening.

Buddah recording artist Melba Moore opened the show with songs from her latest album "This Is It." Faring well on ballads like "I'm His Lady" and Gershwin's "Summertime," Ms. Moore seemed to enthrall the audience with her high-pitched falsetto on "Make Me Believe In You" and "I Got Love." With a tighter band and smaller surroundings, Melba Moore will undoubtedly come into the spotlight.

Santana David Sancious

BEACON THEATER, NYC — With all the current hubbub over the crossover potential of Latin music, it's easy to forget that Carlos Santana achieved early success bringing Latin and African rhythms to rock followers. The Santana group's latest incarnation includes old and new personnel, playing a similarly mixed bag of pieces from the group's Columbia repertoire. At the center of a darkened stage adorned with tall and quite alive palm trees, straw-hatted Santana emerged in the spotlight strumming an acoustic introduction to "Gitano," from the new album, "Amigos." From there the show attained increasing levels of intensity, each piece reaching its own peak of excitement. The single, "Let It Shine," was danceably rhythmic, while "Euroopa" was the most dramatically arresting new song. The audience couldn't have been more pleased with the two encores, "Soul Sacrifice" and "Evil Ways."

The sometimes confusing echo quality of the overall sound, usually a problem with high volume performances in this hall, did nothing to interfere with appreciation, nor did the backing vocals, which were not as proficient as Greg Walker's lead. Santana put about as much emotional energy into their performance as could be imagined and it burst forth in joyous vibration. Carlos Santana's electric guitar soars to the point where the members of the band cannot help but follow. Ndugu, playing an advanced drum kit including timbales and open shelled tom-toms capable of instant variations in pitch, took anything Santana gave out and returned it doublefold. For talent used to full potential, audience enthusiasm was justified.

First to take the stage was Tone, featuring Epic solo artist David Sancious, who was reviewed here recently.

Eric Andersen

SCHOENBURG HALL, UCLA — The young woman repeated the three words to herself over and over: "Violets Of Dawn." Eric Andersen didn't play that one, much to the woman's disappointment, but he did run through a number of his older songs as well as songs from his recent Arista LP "Sweet Surprise."

Andersen is one mid-sixties troubadour who has been able to stay in touch with the times. His writing has changed, matured in both style and content. One song from his new album, "How It Goes," has a lyrical depth and melody strong enough to compare it favorably to some of Dylan's latest work.

Particularly moving was Andersen's performance of his song that has become a folk standard "Thirsty Boots." Dedicated to the memory of Phil Ochs, the tune has been musically reworked through the years and is now an entity in itself. The guitar arrangement was supremely tasteful and always interesting, and Andersen's gritty, emotion-packed voice became a collage of different meanings. Another pleasing number was the successful single from the "Blue River" LP, "Is It Really Love At All." Andersen has remained in the industry mainsteam for so long, in part because of his innovative ways with melody. That tune was a prime example of his talent in that direction. More recent songs indicated that his abilities have matured even further.

With these new, tightly crafted tunes Eric Andersen's performance cries out for a backing band. While his guitar playing is more than proficient, he really needs a drummer, piano player and backing guitars in order to put across the full power of his songs.

Al Green Jimmie Walker

SAHARA TAHOE LAKE TAHOE — The Sahara Tahoe stands amidst millions of pine trees and the largest alpine lake in the United States. The lush green and crystal blue surroundings were the perfect place to catch one of America's premier singers, Al Green.

This was the first time Al has ventured into the large casino showroom atmosphere and he succeeded in winning over the audience with a warm and affections show. Backed by his band and Quiet Elegance, Al looked very dapper in a black velvet suit. Naturally roses were on stage and Al threw them to all the lovely ladies in the opening night audience. The 7,000-ft. plus altitude may have had something to do with it because Al's voice really hit those high notes. Just like the clean crisp air, Al's voice was clean, tight and razor sharp during his entire set.

"I'm Still In Love With You," "Tired Of Being Alone," "Let's Stay Together" and "Love And Happiness" were just a few of his greatest hits that were performed. Al also performed his single "Let It Shine," from his "Full Of Fire" LP on Hi/London.

It would have been nice if Al would have mixed up his show with some standards or medleys of some of the greats of the past; however, the audience seemed content and enchanted with one of the best singers of this generation.

Jimmie Walker who opened for Al was very funny. The Black Prince's humor was right-on and dyn-o-mite. Especially funny was his story about himself taking an algebra test in junior high school. Jimmie Walker has a very promising future ahead of him in the world of comedy.

Al Wilson/D.J. Rogers/ Streetcorner Symphony

INTERNATIONAL ROOM, BEVERLY HILTON, BEVERLY HILLS — "I've Got A Feeling" that Al Wilson is going to be a lot bigger, was the feeling everyone had at the culmination of a strong set by this Playboy recording artist recently at the Beverly Hills Hilton. Wilson's dynamic soul voice provided a constant get-down beat that, complemented by the backup instruments, saw an evening of some of the best strict R&B stuff unfold right in front of your ears. Wilson's success so far has been mostly from hits that haven't taken the nation by storm, but his versatility on his own and others' material certainly allude to a big future for this artist.

Dressed in an all-white suit, D.J. Rogers strutted on stage ready to put on a really funk show. And that he did. Rogers' intimacy with the audience (he had 'em all clappin' on the second tune) is phenomenal.

When he works a song lyrically, the group behind him work the same song in movement. It's that total commitment by the headline star and the group that give the audience their money's worth. From the pulsating rhythms of songs non-so-familiar to Rogers' fans, to the lilting vocal on "Say You Love Me," a smash for D.J., the show's aliveness and exuberance were something that caught on with all.

Streetcorner Symphony, a group that does their thing a cappella, do it well, but they take too long. They do a '50s and '60s medley of hits like "I Can't Help Myself," and "Have You Seen Her?" that is pleasant and well received. But if this group wants to achieve success wherever they go, they must find a way to bottle up the energy that both enchants but soon begins to annoy the crowd. And they should bottle up the time taken to distribute that energy for sometimes an opening act should be short and sweet, so the audience can call it back if they like.

Byron Berline & Sundance /Steven Fromholz

TROUBADOUR, L.A. — Lately it seems that every new country artist comes out of Texas, and Steven Fromholz is no exception. Fromholz has been a fixture on the Austin scene for several years and was a member of Stephen Stills' "Manassas," but has only this year begun to receive national attention. Now he has a brand new debut LP on Capitol Records and Willie Nelson's version of his "I'd Have To Be Crazy" is soaring to the top of the country charts. Fromholz shouldn't have to wait too long for a chart record of his own, because he has not one but two new singles — "She's A Lady" (a John Sebastian hit a few seasons ago) aimed at the pop market, and "Late Nite Neon Shadows," which was composed by Fromholz and is geared for country play.

In his recent Troubadour gig, Fromholz suggested that everyone in the audience run right out and buy thirty-five copies of his new Capitol LP "A Rumor In My Own Time," and offered the best possible reason for doing so by singing eight of the ten songs on the album, including the humorous "Bears," the sentimental "Dear Darcie" and the lilting "Knockin' On Wood." Combining the sensitivity of a folk artist with the humor and energy of a country performer, Steven Fromholz will soon be much more than a rumor in any time. Though backed by only two guitars and his own, Fromholz has such a powerful voice and

Dr. Feelgood The Ramones

BOTTOM LINE, NYC — Dr. Feelgood on Columbia and the Ramones on Sire are two recently signed groups that stand out with individually styled caricatures of rock 'n' roll. Although some sense of humor seems necessary in the appreciation of either, they do not parody or make any all out attempt at humor. Rather, they emphasize or exaggerate some feature or period of rock music, turning out sounds that seem bizarre against the mainstream of contemporary popular styles.

Dr. Feelgood derives some of its repertoire from the fifties, and even its original numbers effect the rhythm and blues that must have been heard in English pubs over a decade ago. Feelgood members are outspoken critics of the slickening techniques of the modern studio, and their live performance proves their actions are true to their word. Their sound is crisp, their renditions tight, and the musicianship, especially in the case of lead guitarist Wilko Johnson, is sophisticated to a point belied by the simple forms in which they work. Lead vocalist Lee Brilleaux joins Johnson in some outrageous onstage antics, while he contributes with harmonica and slide guitar. Dr. Feelgood presented selections from their album "Malpractice," from shuffles like "Going Back Home" to rockers such as "Another Man." Traditional numbers included Muddy Waters' "Rollin' And Tumblin'" and a pull-out-the-stops version of Lieber and Stoller's "Riot In Cell Block #9," where John B. Sparks' bass and Big Figure's drumming provided more than enough bump and grind. Although their desire for danceability can lead to a steadiness in rhythm that becomes tiresome by the set's end, Dr. Feelgood are exciting on stage. As an encore, "Great Balls of Fire" left everyone with a good taste.

Occupying a musical slot somewhere in the dark netherworld between Herman's Hermit's and ZZ Top, the Ramones are presently in the position to expose their brand of New York Bowery rock to a national audience. This "opening" coincided with the release of "Ramones" on Sire, although the leather-jacketed crew still play at their old hangout, CBGB's. No instrumental expertise is involved in their music's execution, yet the concept is esoteric. When looked upon as the extreme of rock at its most basic, the Ramones' music seems to appeal to critics who would normally have no use for middle ground hard rock groups. The entire set, over 15 tunes in all, was executed in under 30 minutes, including "Beat On The Brat" and the single, "Blitzkrieg Bob." Truthfully, unless one tries really hard to believe, the various permutations of three chords that make up the Ramones' repertoire might easily all sound the same. As musical extremists, the Ramones seem to inspire love and hate, and those reactions promise to continue.

R&B INGREDIENTS

The tall pine trees and crystal blue waters of Lake Tahoe were the perfect background for Al Green's debut at the Sahara Tahoe Hotel. Al's great voice was clear and sweet throughout his show. Al's band and Quiet Elegance made the evening memorable. Later backstage Al said that the 7,000 foot altitude did affect his voice at first during rehearsals prior to the show, but after a few days he said he had it together. Jimmie Walker, one of the stars of "Good Times," opened for Al. Jimmie was red-hot opening night. in June. The Stairsteps are best remembered for their golden oldie "Ooh Ooh Child," when they were known as the Five Stairsteps. This is one group to watch out for.

Fantasy recording artists, the Blackbyrds, were awarded gold LPs for their smash "City Life," at a recent party hosted by Fantasy for the group in Berkeley, California. J.B. Carmicle of Cash Box attended the party at His Lordship's a restaurant overlooking the Berkeley Marina. Ralph Kaffell, president of Fantasy made the presentation. Donald Byrd founder of the group was also saluted. . . . Gabor Szabo has just been signed to Mercury. "Nightflight" will be his debut LP for Mercury and it will be released later this month. "Somebody's Gettin' It" is Johnnie Taylor's new single. From early indications this one looks to be just as hot as "Disco Lady," which incidentally is the only single to go platinum so far this year. . . . Gary Gotham called in from New York to say that "Madison 76" by Venus is the hottest thing happening lately in the Big Apple discos. . . . Bo Kirkland and Ruth Davis high on the charts with their single "Easy Lovin'" are currently in the studios with Bob Kirkland working on their new LP for Claridge Records.

David Ruffin is back on the scene with a new LP and single entitled "Everything Is Coming Up Love." Van McCoy also produced this one for David. . . . It's hot, hot, hot. . . . Speaking of another ex-Temptation, Eddie Kendricks also has a new hot single out entitled "Get It While It's Hot." The Crusaders are off for their first tour of Europe come July. The fellows will appear in London, Toulon, France, Birmingham, Newcastle, Edinburgh, Munich, Cologne and Madrid. The group has a new single and LP out for ABC entitled "Keep That Same Old Feeling," and "Those Southern Knights," respectively. . . . Sutton Miller Ltd. have announced that both their labels, Shadybrook and Sound Bird Records will now be distributed by Schwartz Bros., Inc. in the Baltimore, Washington and Philadelphia areas.

Bumps Doogan, the dancing machine in L.A., called in last week to say "Adios" by Santa Fe on Chelsea is the hottest thing happening in the discos in town. . . . Tavares, high on the charts with their new single Capitol "Heaven Must Be Missing An Angel," are currently doing their thang in Japan. The brothers are appearing in Hamamatsu, Osaka, Tokyo and Nagoya. . . . Yusef Lateef is more than just a musician. When he's off the performing stage he's an associate professor of music at New York City's Community College. Lateef is currently waiting for the release of his new LP on Atlantic to be released entitled "The Doctor Is In And Out." . . . The Doobie Brothers, high on the R&B charts with their single "Takin' It To The Streets," were recently awarded a gold LP for their album of the same name. . . . The Doobies have already had three platinum LPs, four gold LPs and one gold single to their credits. . . . Buddy Miles is out east touring up a storm. Back on the coast his new single is being readied to ship. It is entitled "Where You Gonna Run To Lady." . . . My spies in Philadelphia called in to say that 65,000 pieces were moved in one week on Aretha Franklin's new single "Something He Can Feel." It is also the title track to the new film "Sparkle." Curtis Mayfield did the music for the movie. . . . Blue Magic will headline the KGFJ Soul Talent Search May 29 at the Shrine Auditorium. The mystical quintet have released a new single entitled "Freakenstein." Playboy Records has recently signed a new group from the Chicago area called the Weapons of Peace. Watch for product out on them shortly. . . . General Johnson, who had the smash "All In The Family" recently, is going to have a new single for Arista shortly. It will be entitled "We The People." The General is currently in the studio cutting some sides with Martha Reeves. . . . Dee Dee Sharp whose single "I'm Not In Love," is smokin' across the nation may make a rare TV appearance on Dinah shortly. . . . O'Jays are currently in Philly cutting a new LP.

Two of the four members of Quickest Way Out are school teachers. The group is currently recording an LP in Philly for Philly Groove. . . . Parliament are very close to platinum status with their Casablanca LP "Mothership Connection."

The Brass Construction were in town last week. United Artists threw them a lovely party before their Roxy show. The group razzled and dazzled the crowd as everybody got themselves together to the straight ahead disco beat. The guys came by the Cash Box offices the next day to chat. Randy Muller said the group has been together since the fellows were in junior high school. Through their school years the band played all kinds of gigs. "We'd play anywhere and at anytime. Once we were paid $15 for a dance and another time we played for sandwiches." Their LP went gold seven weeks after release. Randy said he knew the LP was good but the group was all shocked and thrilled at how fast it happened. Currently the fellows are scheduled for all the music shows and plan to work their way back east. Their next single from the LP will be "Love." Randy also said that "Movin'" came together in the studio. "We had the basic idea for the song and while the rhythm was being laid, I got the idea into my head that the jam said 'Got Myself Together.' It just seemed to fit." Other members of the Brass Construction include Larry Payton, Wade Williamston, Sandy Billups, Michael Grudge, Wayne Parris, Morris Price, Jesse Ward, Jr. and Joseph Arthur Wong. Jeff Lane produces the Brass along with the B.T. Express. Jeff brought with him another side of something that looks to be exciting. The artist is named Mark Radice. The sides Jeff played were bad. "Ain't Nothing But A Party" and "If You Can't Beat Em, Join Em," sounded sensational. Mark will be on UA and this product should be out shortly.

Al Coury, president of RSO Records, was in the office last week and told CB that Barry Manilow's back-up group Lady Flash, are signed to the label. They will be coming with a single around the middle of June entitled "Street Singin'." Coury said that the tune is a take-off, reminiscent of the great female singing groups like the Chiffons, Ronettes, etc. . . . That's soul.

Another event to watch for potential talent is the upcoming Garden Theatre Festival which will touch down on Barnsdall Park, 4800 Hollywood Blvd. for 21 days, July 2-25. One of a series of such happenings up and down California, this year's festival organized by Warren Christensen will feature much more than mimes, magicians, plays, movies, crafts, dancers and jugglers. There will also be a variety of musical offerings including folk, country, blues, chamber, dixieland, flute quartets, brass quintets and a number of "singer/songwriters." Festival will also feature special concerts by Stephen Michael Schwartz and Sandy Ross (who handles talent at the Bla Bla). You just never know where you'll find something good, and dis may be da blayyss.

Bob Ellis has taken over exclusive management representation of Faces/Stones guitarist Ron Wood and is helping Woody find a California home. Ellis also represents Rufus now. Chaka Khan and company are presently in the studio getting their next album together. Having sat on the NARAS screening committee last winter, this reporter was a bit surprised to find the experts saying Rufus is as much a pop group as it is R&B. But it's true.

Tom Sullivan is one of those guys that guys like me resent. It's not just that his book, "If You Could See What I Hear," is in its fifth printing or that he used to skydive. It's not that he qualified for the '68 Olympics team in wrestling or that he's singing the national anthem at this year's Indy 500. I don't even mind that he won the Outstanding Performance Award at the Yamaha Music Festival in Tokyo or the fact that he golfs in the high 80s. What burns me up is that this ABC recording artist has the nerve — on top of all that — to be blind. His latest LP... "Yes, I'm Ready." Glad to hear Rocket Records is in agreement with Cash Box editor-in-chief, David Budge that "Devil Woman" is the most promising single release out of the new Cliff Richard album, "I'm Nearly Famous." A full merchandising program will back up this truly famous British rock figure when he tours the States this coming mid-July.

Add David Crosby and Graham Nash to the list of those who give a damn. They put in a performance at the (Jacques) Cousteau Society's second "Involvement Day" at the Anaheim Convention Center (23). Cousteau led the event which showed people how and what they can do on an individual basis to try to turn the tide on oceanic pollution.

TV SHOTS — Captain & Tennille promoting their upcoming ABC-TV series through their current 20-city tour. On the first lap they drew 4,000 to the Dane County Coliseum in Madison, Wisconsin, including a press conference where 400 locals reportedly turned out. Also a cocktail party in their honor where they were presented a "thank you" award from WISM DJs Charlie Simon and Jonathan Little... 5th Dimension on "American Bandstand" (29)... Gary Owens named host of the nighttime "Gong Show," a Chris Bearde/Chuck Barris production, syndicated into 30 markets so far... Bearde's Odin Corp. has also entered into a development deal with ABC-TV comedy series tentatively titled, "The Sex & Violence Family Hour." Finally, is there any truth to the rumor that Steely Dan will jump ABC to Warners after the final two LPs of their present commitment?

presence that he seems to fill even the cavernous Troubadour with his sound and feeling

Though billed as headliners, Byron Berline and Sundance were overshadowed by opening act Steven Fromholz, and their set, though professional and competent, was anticlimactic. The group showed off its traditional bluegrass expertise on such tunes as "Freewheelin'," "Cajun Train" and the classic "Orange Blossom Special." Berline is one of the better fiddlers around, and he and the six-piece group play like a well-oiled machine, but lack any particular style or excitement. They did, however, do an enjoyable set that was warmly received by the audience.

Broadcast Graduates fr 24

gram, but more than that, we send out letters to stations informing them of our graduates as well as providing information to graduates from alumni who report job openings."

The head of broadcasting at the University of Southern California, Joe Saltzman, had a word too. "I would tell students who are graduating to get out of the big markets and look in the small markets." This is a statement that parallels the typical radio career, since many jocks in major markets have worked their way up through smaller markets and stations. Saltzman said that some students graduated and enjoyed going to a smaller market station. "They like the lifestyle there, they upgrade the station with their professional background, and then they can work their way up to the bigger markets if they want."

Rosy Picture?

The job situation for broadcast graduates from universities is certainly not the most rosy picture one could paint. But the expertise of these department heads who have seen their graduates leave and get something or nothing is important. The fight is just beginning for job seeking graduates, but it's how professional they are in both their approach and background training that should determine if they will land jobs and the future they want.

Record Company Report

One record company that does provide some help for the graduate is Atlantic Records. Judy Libow in the New York office told us of a report that's mailed to all radio stations on the Atlantic mailing list. The report is a compilation of graduates' mini-resumes, their phones and addresses, and the areas they would prefer to work in. Atlantic issues a letter yearly to college broadcasting departments, soliciting graduating students to send this information to the company. "We call it the Job Hunting Service and it's our fourth year," Libow commented. "It is a start and although some people do get jobs from the listings, we don't always get feedback from either the applicant or radio station. That's what we would like to have more of." This year's issue is 18 pages long and although it is too late for a graduate to have his resume listed now, it would be an early start for next year's graduates. It's a simple step and could possibly save a lot of looking.

Soul Waves fr 39

WSOK is having a local fund raiser for two families who recently lost their homes in the Savannah area, according to Don Wilson, music director at the station.

Bill Moon, program director at WCKO in Columbus said that his station is starting a public affairs program called "Fuss Behind The Bus," which is a documentary educational feature on busing. It goes into all the aspects of the busing issue and Bill feels the program will last about twelve weeks. Also the station is having a black history contest for the upcoming Bicentennial.

J.D. Black, program director at KOKY said that the station is going to start making changes in their format shortly. For example, during the day they are going to play music that is geared for the housewives and then target in on the kids in the evening. They will be playing more LPs and enlarging their playlist.

CASH BOX COIN MACHINE

Allied Hosts National Distrib. Conv.

HIALEAH, FLA. — The exciting premiere of new product, a heartening birthday tribute and individual recognition of distributor achievements highlighted the Spring National Distributors Convention hosted by Allied Leisure Industries, Inc. at the Eden Roc Hotel in Miami Beach, Florida.

Among the new games unveiled at the festivities were the outstanding "Daytona 500," one of Allied's first "major new games for 1976," and the exciting "Thunderbolt" 4-player pingame. Also shown were the "Boogie" pingame and the "Spirit Of '76" tennis and pin cocktail table as well as Allied's "Astro Print"

Board chairman David Braun, Gil Kitt of Empire International, Marshall Caras of Rowe International and Allied's president Robert Braun (left to right) surround the new Daytona 500, being demonstrated here by Allied's national sales co-ordinator Ruthie Rosenson. Game's standard equipment includes authentic shifting gears, speeding car sounds, hairpin turns and squealing tires to provide the thrills of the actual Daytona 500. The driver car is controlled with a steering wheel, 4-speed stick shift and speed control foot pedal. Model has all solid state logic and sound.

The lights are dimmed as Ruthie Rosenson ignites the candles on the huge birthday cake wheeled into the banquet room in commemoration of the 68th birthday of board chairman David Braun, who was visibly touched by the gesture. Sharing the happy occasion are Mrs. David Braun and Allied's president Robert Braun.

Allied's national sales manager Richard Shaw addressed the distributor gathering briefly prior to the new product presentation. Shaw is a comparative newcomer to the Allied organization, having previously been involved in the management of his own import/export business. In the past several months he has proven to be a valuable asset in the firm's sales program.

As master of ceremonies during the two-day conference, Arnold A. Fisher, firm's national marketing director, introduced various members of the Allied organization seated at the head table and led the distributor assemblage in a special tribute to David Braun in celebration of his 68th birthday. Braun, a veteran of more than 35 years in the coin machine industry, has been chairman of the board of directors and chief officer of Allied since its incorporation in 1968.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Perrotta of All Coin Equipment (San Antonio, Tex.) observe as their portraits are "printed out" on the "Astro Print" computerized photo machine. The machine accommodates one to three people at a sitting on an upholstered fiberglass bench located in front of a console housing two television monitors and a television camera. The machine operator focuses the television camera on the subjects and locks in the image on an electronic computer type high speed printer which prints out combinations of letters, numbers and other symbols, resulting in a 14" x 14" photo portrait.

Another special highlight of the convention was the presentation of plaques to national distributors in recognition of their respective years of service with Allied. In this photo, Alan Bruck of Banner Specialty Co. (Phila., Pa.) accepts his six-year plaque, signifying "meritorious achievement as an Allied distributor," from David Braun. That's Arnold Fisher at the podium. In addition to this presentation, and a candlelight buffet dinner, guests were treated to live entertainment and a special film presented by representatives of Japan Air Lines to launch the special "Travel Around The World With Allied" sales incentive program.

Mutual congratulations are in order as the birthday celebrant David Braun extends good wishes to the Bettlemans — Ira (left), Leah and Al of C.A. Robinson, who recently marked their 40th anniversary in the coin machine business.

Gottlieb Service Schools Attract Heavy Attendance

The program, designed to meet the industry's growing need for technical specifics in the servicing of amusement machines, is composed of individually held sessions illustrated with a two-part

Bally Contest Offers 'Capt. Fantastic' Prize

LOS ANGELES — A new "Captain Fantastic" pinball machine, which has just been designed and readied for the American market by Bally Manufacturing Company, will be the grand prize in a national contest co-sponsored by MCA Records and Bally. The contest, which begins this month, is being run to coincide with the release of Elton's latest album "Here And There."

Special displays, featuring the entire Elton John catalog, have been prepared for in-store use with full contest information and entry blanks. No purchase is required to enter.

All entries must be received before Aug. 31 and the winner will be determined in a random drawing from entries on Oct. 1, 1976. Employees and the families of MCA Records, Bally Corp and affiliated companies, record wholesalers, retailers and their advertising agencies are not eligible.

During the month of April, Strain conducted three separate schools in Toronto, Canada: the first at Currie Amusement, the second at New Way Sales, where a record 170 persons attended, and the third at Rowe International.

Subsequent sessions were held the same month at Advance Automatic Sales in San Francisco and in Jacksonville, Florida. Latter was co-hosted by Eli Ross Rowe International and Southern Amusement.

On May 4, a total of 110 persons were on hand for the Banner Specialty Co. school in Pittsburgh.

Royal Flush' 4-Player New Gottlieb Pin

CHICAGO — D. Gottlieb and Company is currently introducing its newest 4-player pinball machine called "Royal Flush," patterned as the name implies, after the popular game of playing cards and offering all of the challenging excitement of pinball play.

Nine drop targets light up five combinations of cards in the new "Scan-Bonus" feature. Players can double the bonus scores up to 30,000 points. In addition, scoring can be advanced 3,000 points when the three "Joker Sequence" is activated. Three targets and three rollovers score "Jokers."

Royal Flush is encased in a very eye-catching cabinet adorned with illustrations in red and black depicting the various suits of diamonds, spades, hearts and clubs as well as the traditional picture cards. The playfield and backglass designs further amplify the theme in bold, colorful graphics.

Operators are invited to view the new model in Gottlieb distributor showrooms across the country.

Rock-Ola Stars Nova Exhibit

Nova Apparate prominent importer/distributor of coin-operated machines in Europe, devoted a major portion of its impressive exhibit during the recent DAT/ima '76 Exhibition in West Berlin to a display of the newest Rock-Ola phonographs. As revealed in the accompanying photo, Nova Apparate's extensive display included the very outstanding new model 464, with its neon-type red, white and blue colors; as well as the Rock-Ola model 456 furniture-styled console and the new compact model 461. In addition, the exhibit also featured Rock-Ola's dynamic Quadphonic sound system.

This particular exhibition, which is held nationally, is enjoying increasing popularity in the German coin machine trade.

The association of Alfred W. Adickes, Nova Apparate president, and Rock-Ola Manufacturing Corporation dates back to 1932, and, since 1953, Nova Apparate has played a significant role in Rock-Ola's becoming a leading exporter of coin-operated phonographs.

Bally Slots Win In Monte Carlo

CHICAGO — Societe de Bains, which operates the famed casino in Monte Carlo and the equally renowned Cafe de Paris, recently announced that after severely life-testing slot machines of various manufacturers for almost a year, Bally machines were the only machines which complied with all desired standards, including the security standards required by modern casino operation.

As a result of the tests, according to Bally officials, the Bally machines are the exclusive choice for permanent installation in the casino.

The Societe further announced that during 1976 planned extensions to the Cafe de Paris will be effected to permit additional slot machine operations.

Ramtek Forms Games Division

SUNNYVALE — Chuck McEwan, president of Ramtek Corporation, announced the formation of a games division, Ramtek Olympic Company, to function exclusively in the area of production and marketing of coin-operated amusement equipment.

M.A. (Mike) Moscarello was appointed president of the new division and Chuck Arnold is vice president of marketing.

Moscarello comes to Ramtek with very significant experience in the video field. He was president and chief executive officer of IVC (Int'l. Video Corp.), a manufacturer of TV studio video equipment and, prior to that, served as vice president and general manager of the Video Division of Aero Neutronics (Philco Ford).

Ramtek is currently concluding production on the very successful "Trivia" and preparing to ship its newly released "Hit Me," which is an exciting new upright game fashioned after the familiar "21" card game. Chuck Arnold indicated that the recently premiered "Sea Battle" video upright will be scheduled for shipment within two or three weeks.

Ramtek Olympic is operating out of the firm's 292 Commercial (Sunnyvale) address. Phone number is (408) 738-4422. A special toll free number (800) 538-1733 has been installed for the convenience of Ramtek distributors and customers.

$25,000 Budweiser Int'l. Fussball Tour.

ST. LOUIS — Fussball players from throughout the world will gather at Stouffer's Riverfront Towers this city on June 10-12 to compete for singles, doubles and mixed doubles honors in the $25,000 Budweiser International Fussball Tournament.

Official table for tournament play will be the "Budweiser '76" model (pictured in the accompanying photo) which is manufactured by Leisure Sports Systems, Inc. of Garland, Texas. It is expected that, depending upon the number of entrants, there will be approximately 50 to 90 of these fussball tables in simultaneous use during the preliminary phases of the tournament, virtually filling Stouffer's massive Grand Ballroom.

"It is particularly appropriate that we inaugurate the tournament in this, the 100th anniversary year of Budweiser," said a spokesman for Anheuser-Busch, Inc. "The Budweiser International is an indication of our recognition and support of the growth of this unique indoor skill-sport, and we hope it becomes an annual event with an ever larger purse."

Prize money for the tournament will be allocated as follows: singles, $7,500 in total purse (champion wins $3,000); doubles, $15,000 in total purse (champions win $6,000); mixed doubles, $2,500 in total purse (champions win $1,000).

SQ QUAD gives an enrichment to a musical selection that makes the audience feel as part of the performance. It promotes more play on the phonograph.

MOA EXPECTS RECORD EXPO '76! On the strength of early requests for exhibit space, both from previous exhibitors and newcomers, MOA's Fred Granger anticipates that this year's convention will very likely surpass even last year's historic record. Option notices (to previous exhibitors) were sent out earlier than usual this year and several of the replies already received opted for additional space. Numerous inquiries have come into the MOA office from firms desiring to exhibit for the first time and foreign participation, which seems to increase each year as Granger pointed out, should also be up for Expo '76 based on present correspondence. "The way things are going," Granger said, "we will undoubtedly have to re-design booth arrangements in order to get full use out of all available space."

ALL KINDS OF ACTIVITY AT Chicago Dynamic Ind. these days — what with the "Cinema" 4-player pingame selling so well and heavily back-ordered, according to Bob Sherwood; plus the commencement of shipment of the newly released "Coney Island" rifle, which reportedly made quite an impact on the trade (Bob said re-orders are coming in); and the consistent demand for the Lo-boy Demolition Derby! Would like to extend our best wishes to CDI's export sales manager Trudy Nie who is very reluctantly leaving her post to take up residence in Tucson, Arizona. "I am giving up a wonderful family of good friends at CDI," Trudy said, "but Tucson has been a lifelong dream." She and her family will be packing up "tent and sleeping bags" to head west as soon as school is out. Much good luck, Trudy!

SPOKE WITH AUTHOR-PINBALL ENTHUSIAST Roger Sharpe and learned that he has retitled his upcoming book on the pinball industry "The Pinball Machine" in view of the many revelations resulting from his recent overseas research trip. He did not want to "domestically" limit his coverage, he said, since discovering the wide international scope of pinball machines. Rog said the book would be ready for release in December of this year.

ON THE SINGLES SCENE: Al DeGenova, who manages singer Al Morgan, was a Cash Box visitor last week to tell us Morgan's latest single "I Take The Chance"/"Give Myself A Party" (K-Y) is enjoying increased jukebox exposure, strengthened by the artist's heavy schedule of club dates. Morgan will be appearing at the Charcoal Chef in Cincy June 14-July 31. DeGenova, meanwhile, is directing the weekly Talent Showcase at the Won Kow North in Chicago on Monday evenings.

HOUSTON HAPPENINGS

Edward Arwady, co-owner with younger brother Tommy (Tom) Arwady American Music Co. (2102 Leeland, Houston) recently went into semi-retirement. Tom Arwady now is active executive manager of the locally famous concern. American Music is in its 51st year of operation here. Edward founded the organization and has been in there all the way. Another outstanding feature of American Music is a super attractive (beautiful actually would not be too extravagant) front office and display hall. Background setting includes two new, latest model Seeburg phonographs. Prominently displayed are photos of first locations, employees, transportation service vehicles and such. . . Enjoyed as always a very pleasant visit with Jesse Herrera, owner of long established Jesse Herrera's Amusement Co., in office of his firm at 1719 Gentry St., Houston. While there, met his oldest son Luis Carlos Gonzales. The tall, slender youth was occupied with duties connected with amusement firm. . . Silver Fox Record Distributing Co. (1015 E. 11th St., Houston), one of two latest to be established big companies here, has changed to one stop record service. Leland Rogers is founder and owner of the company. . . Recently had the pleasure of meeting attractive Hazel Rogers, wife of Leland Rogers, owner, Silver Fox Dist. Co. . . Enjoyed long visit with H.W. (Pappy) Daily, founder and now president emeritus of H.W. Daily, Inc., Houston. The organization is, and has been for years, probably most widely known record wholesaler in Tex. Pappy, himself once a pro. baseball player, still is among tops as to knowledge of the game. Pappy (together with many, many other local fans) is not too pleased with Bob Prince as radio announcer for Houston Astros (N.L. League). Prince is latest addition to Astros radio and TV announcers. . . Next publication of Houston Happenings hopefully will include details of Music Operators of Texas Convention at Rice Hotel, Houston, scheduled for May 21-23, 1976.

CALIFORNIA CLIPPINGS

Pico Indoor Sports, only two years in the business, has expanded its quarters from 3500 to 10,000 square feet. According to Chris Loumakis, president, this additional space gives Pico Indoor Sports one of the largest showrooms in the area. The first phase of expansion four months ago saw the conversion of an office into a fully equipped video repair center. "We have been quite successful with this," Chris said, "because we'll take anybody's machine and fix it even if they didn't buy it from us." Pico Indoor Sports began as a small home games oriented firm. They now have various coin lines and have been very successful with the U.S. Billiards line. This additional space will now open the way for pinball and phonograph lines. "The important factor," Loumakis explained, "is that Pico Indoor Sports has maintained a positive image in supporting the traditional marketing mechanism in the coin industry. I believe this has been," he continued, "the most significant factor in our rapid development as distributors of coin machines" . . . THANK YOU, Jim Schwabe, director of marketing for Digital Games Inc., for the informative tour through Digital's facilities. It was nice speaking with Jim and Bill Prast, president of the firm. Look for some exciting developments from Digital in the near future. . . While visiting Don Edwards, general manager for Circle International, it was easy to surmise from all the chatter that Ramtek has a very hot item in "Hit Me." Rowe International, Inc., (L.A. branch) is the exclusive distributor in this area for the Playmatic line. . . One of the most addicting games on the market right now is Atari's new "Breakout." Try it once, I'm sure you'll be hooked! . . . Atari has initiated a new series of training seminars for their distributor technicians. The first of the series was held at the Los Gatos, California, facility April 21-23 and was oriented toward a more advanced approach in troubleshooting printed circuit boards. Bernie Barringer, from Atari's customer service department, was instructor for the three day seminar.

Circle International sponsored a two day Atari service seminar at the L.A. Hilton. Between 40 & 50 people attended the lectures conducted by Fred McCord. A similar seminar was held at C.A. Robinson & Co. One of the more attention grabbing promotions was held at C.A. Robinson last week. Pat Karns and Ken Anderson from Fun Games, Inc., were in Los Angeles with posters, buttons, and T-shirts supporting their 4 player game with the slogan BI PLANE 4 EXPLOSION 1976. It goes without saying the C.A. hospitality was naturally superb.

EASTERN FLASHES

On Thursday, May 13, upwards of 40 persons were on hand at the See-North Dist. Inc. (Albany) premises to attend a Williams service school conducted by the factory's field engineer Leonard Nakielny. Nakielny is noted for his thorough, very instructive sessions — and this particular occasion was no exception, as Bill Prutting told us. Subsequent sessions were slated for the Buffalo and Syracuse branches. Prior to the Williams school, Seeburg's field engineer Bob Zeising conducted a series of four individual schools at See-North in Syracuse, Buffalo, Rochester and Albany. These sessions were limited to 30 persons per class. On the subject of phonograph sales, Bill said he chalked up a record month in April for Seeburg "Entertainer" and quad models and, based on present demand, anticipates an even bigger May! Quads are doing exceptionally well, he said, "about six out of ten installations in this area are on quad" . . . Said a quick hello to Dotty Margiasso, gal Friday to sales manager Jack De Marco at Ebsco Amusements in Red Bank, N.J. She mentioned the firm's successful participation in the recent Ohio state association convention and noted that Jack De Marco was in attendance at the Music & Amusement Assn. of New York convention in Swan Lake to man the Ebsco display of its home and coin-operated line of fussball machines — which were so popularly received at the Ohio conclave. The home model is designated as VHM-2 and the coin-op as GF-ICP.

MILWAUKEE MENTIONS

OUR SINCERE WISHES FOR a speedy recovery to Dennis Jacomet, son of Red Jacomet, Red's Novelty in Milw. Dennis has been ill and hospitalized for the past 2½ weeks, but Red tells us he is now showing some improvement. Even though his son's illness has been taking up much of his time, Red did tell us that collections seem to be holding up pretty well, and everyone was working very hard getting new equipment out and seeing to it that things are in shape for the upcoming summer season.

ASSOCIATION NEWS: Don't forget — the Music Operators of Minnesota will be holding their annual meeting in Minneapolis, June 4-6. Any Wisconsin operators planning on attending should keep those dates in mind.

SPOKE UNEXPECTEDLY WITH Pat Sindberg of Radio Doctors in Milw., who told us that the stork had finally landed at her sister's leaving behind a new baby on April Fool's Day. When asked about new little LPs, Pat said there had been nothing new for several months, but she was still selling everything that she had in stock.

LONDON — The Music Publishers Association has taken over full control of the Mechanical Copyright Protection Society at a total purchase cost of about 350,000 pounds sterling. The new managing director is Bob Montgomery (previously with Chappell Ind.) and former MCPS directors Bill Abbott and Bert Pratt have been retained as consultants. The importance of this was reflected by the large turnout at the meeting."

Chandler started life in the music business as bass player with the Animals, and then went on to manage the legendary Jimi Hendrix, and after his death Slade. First release on the label will be an album from the reunited Animals.

'Price Cutting' Common, Says The Agency's Cottini

TORONTO — The Agency is the latest entry into the Canadian booking agency field, formed in March of this year by Dave Bluestein and Tim Cottini, both formerly with Concept 376 in this city.

With about five years' professional experience between them in the agency field and additional experience in concert promotions and band management, the two severed dealings with Concept and set about building up a personal hard-hitting national booking agency that attempts to work with a few select artists and build them up step by step.

"There is always a certain amount of backbiting among agencies," Bluestein says, "but we don't really get too involved since we have our hands full taking care of our own operation."

Cottini claims that "price cutting" on acts that haven't signed exclusively to one agency is a fairly common practice and asserts that "when an agency is supplying regular entertainment to clubs, then the agent's interest is with the club" more than with the band. Both Cottini and Bluestein are in agreement with Music Shoppe International's Ron Scribner, also based in Toronto, on the fact that foreign acts are better off signing

Moon Award To Somers At 8th BMI Canada Dinner

For Outstanding International Contributions

TORONTO — Toronto composer Harry Somers was this year's recipient of the Harold Moon Award for his outstanding contributions to Canadian music on an international level at the eighth annual BMI Canada awards dinner.

The award, named after BMI Canada's founder and first managing director, carries with it a cash prize of $500. Moon has been active in the Canadian music industry for the last 27 years and remains a consultant and member of the board of BMI Canada Limited.

The citation to Somers was based on his participation in World Music Week celebrations in Canada last fall, attended by representatives from 44 countries. Delegates at that time had the opportunity to hear no fewer than four major works by the composer, including "Sonata for Violin" commissioned for and performed by Yehudi Menuhin, and the opera "Louis Riel." Subsequent to World Music Week several foreign countries asked for tapes for rebroadcast.

Bicentennial Effort

The Canadian Opera Company's production of "Louis Riel" was also staged in Washington as part of Canada's contribution to the U.S. bicentennial. This performance was recorded as a joint effort of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation (CBC) and the U.S. Public Broadcasting System. "Louis Riel" was broadcast across Canada especially for the official opening of the CBC-FM stereo coast-to-coast network, the longest of its kind in the world. The recording was distributed to the more than 120 stations of the Public Broadcasting System. Somers' "Gloria" was also performed at Kennedy Center last year as part of the bicentennial celebrations.

"It is interesting to note," continued the citation, "that the index of recordings produced and distributed by Radio Canada International around the world contains 18 of Somers' works, more works than by any other Canadian."

Dual Winners

Composers honored for their popular songs at the awards included a number of dual winners. Awarded two certificates of honor each for their contributions to Canadian music were Myles Goodwyn of April Wine ("Cum Hear the Band" and "I Wouldn't Want To Lose Your Love"); Domenico Troiano and Burton Cummings, members of the now disbanded Guess Who. ("Loves Me Like A Brother" and "Dancin' Fool"); Ken Tobias ("Run Away With Me" and "Lady Luck"); and Randy Bachman of BTO, the group that walked away with three Junos this year ("Hey You" and "You Ain't Seen Nothing Yet").

Other Juno winners recognized by BMI for their composing were Hagood Hardy for his hit "The Homecoming"; The Mercey Brothers Publishing Company for the tune "California Lady" written by Peter Gray, who was also honored; and Myles Cohen of Myles & Lenny for his hit "Can You Give It All To Me."

Regional Awards

Toronto winners included Tim Daniels, Mike McQueen, Craig Ruhnke and Paul Grady. From Montreal, those honored included Gilles Valiquette, Lee Gagnon, Jean Robitaille, and Jean-Pierre Manseau.

Western Canadian honorees included Bob Ruzicka, Dick Damron, R. Harlan Smith and Denis Grady. From Vancouver there was Terry Jacks, Bill Henderson of Chilliwack, Fred Turner and Rob Bachman of Bachman-Turner Overdrive, and Jake Doell.

Warren Barbour and Bill Gauvreau of the Ottawa group Octavian were honored, as were Ted Trenholm of Oshawa (Ont.), David Bradstreet of London (Ont.), Ray Materick of Hamilton (Ont.), and Jerry Palmer of Thunder Bay (Ont.).

Leading the Canadian music publishers with three certificates each were Slalom Publishing Company, owned by Daniel Lazare of Montreal; AboveWater Publishing, the publishing arm of Attic Records in Toronto; and Randy Bachman's Ranbach Music of Vancouver.

Dual winners among the publishers were Cirrus Music, Gloosecap Music Ltd., Blackwood Music (Canada) Ltd., and Quality Music Publishing Limited, all of Toronto.

with a Canadian agency for representation at the booking level in this country. "The fact is that the two countries are stuck together at the border but a Canadian agent can save a foreign act a great deal of money because of his own specific knowledge of this market," Bluestein says.

Staffed by four full time agents and a secretary, The Agency has been successful in placing a number of domestic acts on top-line concert shows as openers across the country, largely through co-operation with major concert promoters such as Donald Tarlton in Montreal and Concert Productions International's Mike Cohl in Toronto. In addition, The Agency has ties with Studio City and Bruce Allen Talent Promotions in western Canada, Frank Wiener in northern Ontario and Entertainment Contacts in the Maritimes.

Bluestein considers club bookings to be a major revenue earner for his company at this time but feels that there are not enough across the country to handle the amount of business that is available.

Among the acts that have signed for exclusive representation with The Agency in this country are Gino Vannelli, Brutus, Downchild, Charity Brown, Fludd, the Stampeders, Good Brothers, Ken Tobias, A Foot In Coldwater, and Harry Chapin. Both Cottini and Bluestein are looking into national package tours with acts for the fall.

Morris Albert, Letta Mbulu Highlight Musical Mallorca

Brazilian Takes First Prize; S. African 2nd In Smooth, Efficient International Contest

PALMA MAJORCA — Brazil, represented by Morris Albert, has won the second Musical Mallorca song contest with "So Nice" written by Augusto Martelli (music) and Elaiza Romero (lyrics). The prize was the Illa d'Oro award and $10,000.

Albert was, in fact, the best-known international name participating in the proceedings, but despite this, the three-day event was distinguished by a remarkably high standard in both songs and performances.

The hit of the festival was undoubtedly Letta Mbulu representing South Africa. This tall, dynamic lady is a member of the Hausa people born in Johannesburg, but has been domiciled in the United States for the past eight years, based in Los Angeles with her arranger-composer husband Cayphus Semenya. He wrote, arranged and conducted "Maru A Pula," a dialect song about the rain with which she won second place, the Illa d'Argent trophy and $2,500. She also collected a special award for style and the critics' prize for the best performance.

Surprise

There was considerable surprise that Letta Mbulu did not capture the top prize as well from the international jury whose members included Ray Conniff, Waldo de los Rios, Les Reed, Federico Moreno Torroba, Aldemaro Romero and Masafumi Watanabe. Morris Albert's winning song, not to be confused with the Marcos Valle composition also known as "Summer Samba," is a slow ballad bearing some resemblance to Albert's hit of last year, "Feelings," in mood, and Albert seemed unsure of the lyrics each time he sang it during the contest.

On the other hand, Musical Mallorca seemed to be definitely the South African-born songstress's occasion. Her style and attack lie somewhere between Della Reese and Miriam Makeba, who persuaded her and Cayphus Semenya to go to the United States where she has worked with Harry Belafonte. Letta Mbulu is signed to A&M, and is making an album produced by Herb Alpert. It will almost certainly contain "Maru A Pula."

Japan, in the singing person of Shigeru Matsuzaki, came third with "Ai No Nohoemi" (Love's The Beauty Of My Life) with music by Koji Makaino and lyrics by Takashi Taka. Matsuzaki also impressed the audiences at the Palma Auditorium with his stage personality and dynamic delivery of the song, which has a memorable hook and a lot of potential if it gets some English lyrics. His prize was the Illa de Bronze and $1,000.

Minor Flaw

The organization and administration of Musical Mallorca were impressively smooth and efficient compared with some similar festivals elsewhere, and the only major but temporary disaster occurred when there was a power failure in Palma during the final on May 8, plunging the auditorium into darkness just after Billy Swan had sung his "Number One" for the USA and bringing the event to a complete standstill for almost an hour.

Musical Mallorca is staged and presented by the Majorcan tourist board (Fomento del Turismo de Mallorca), and has licked the perennial problem of song festivals cursed by well-known stars being unwilling to participate in case they don't win, which in turn causes problems in attracting the public and international TV and radio interest due to the lack of well-known names.

Musical Mallorca solved the situation by staging three galas during the three-day event. Les Reed was the star of the first, presenting a varied orchestral program closely linked with his recent successful Granada TV series, "International Pop Proms" in Britain. He brought trumpeter Stan Roderick, trombonist Don Lusher and drummer Terry Cox to beef up the large festival orchestra, and singing during his show were Malcolm Roberts, New York-born Earl Jordan of the Les Humphries Singers, and Irene Chanter, who galvanized the audience with her soul-filled vocal power and deservedly won a special honor and award as the artist "mas simpatico" during the entire event.

Ray Conniff

The second gala, after a program of mostly Spanish artists performing their latest disk releases, starred Ray Conniff, who drew the right sounds from the festival vocal group through his arrangements of "Besame Mucho" and "Brazil." The final night presented several of the participating artists and others, followed by guest playing and conducting spots for Waldo de los Rios, J.C. Calderron, Les Reed, Paul Mauriat, Francis Lai, Aldemaro Romero, and Augusto Alguero Jr., who also did marathon conducting duties for several of the contesting artists during the festival.

A total of 23 countries took part, and the festival was filmed for wide TV screening later throughout most of Europe and other parts of the world. The program of artists performing their current releases was transmitted live over the Spanish TV network.

RCA, GRT Sign American Pact

TORONTO — RCA Canada's Barry Haugen has announced that GRT in the USA have formally signed an agreement for distribution rights for all product of George Hamilton IV and Gary Buck.

Exercising the newly-acquired right of RCA Canada to release any Canadian product on any other US label should RCA in the US decline its first option on the product, country A&R and national promotion director Barry Haugen succeeded in inking a deal with GRT for the American release of "Bad Romancer" by George Hamilton IV and "Victims," Gary Buck's new single.

GRT's Dick Heard signed the agreement with RCA's Barry Haugen in early May.

BAA BAA HEATHLEVY — Following the formation of their new firm Heathlevy Music, Geoffrey Heath and Eddy Levy have announced that they have acquired the Black Sheep Music catalog for administration for the UK and certain European territories. Black Sheep is currently enjoying success with Billy Ocean's "Love Really Hurts Without You" single, which has been a hit in England and is now rapidly climbing the American charts, and Shabby Tiger, enjoying success in Europe. The deal was negotiated by Heath and Levy for Heathlevy and by Ben and Linda Findon for Black Sheep. To date the firm has been run by Linda Findon, who will still keep a close involvement with the running of the catalog. Seen pictured are (from l. to r.): Geoffrey Heath, Eddy Levy, Linda Findon and Ben Findon.

Maliphant Makes Phonogram Moves

LONDON — Phonogram marketing manager Ken Maliphant announced this week that his company will strengthen its singles marketing operation to further strengthen the chart record of the company's product and associated labels. Chris Dedman, special marketing projects manager has been appointed to this post, and he will work with the pop product department under the management of Lisa Denton and the press under Terry Bartram. Phonogram has increased its singles chart entries by 100% over the same period last year. Commenting on the re-organization Maliphant said, "When the team is working with total effectiveness Phonogram's single penetration will be one of the most impressive in the business."

Bob White, currently a promotion man at Polydor Records has been appointed to the position of senior promotion manager at Phonogram, replacing Des McKeogh who left recently. White, who has previously worked for CBS, EMI and Rak, will join at the end of May. Head of public relations Terry Bartram said, "White is one of the foremost men in the promotion business and should strengthen our team enormously. He will handle the main part of our activities at Radio One in London."

'Three Blind Mice': Japanese Label Stirs Canadian Stereo Fans

TORONTO — The Japanese-based Three Blind Mice label is now being imported into Canada with a retail tag of $15 per copy and stirring considerable interest among hi-fi experts, according to importer Stewart Allan.

Central Canada rep for the AMX Sound Corporation, based in Vancouver, Allan's interest in the line came through a search for superior software following a number of dealer complaints about the low quality of disks presently being pressed on the continent. According to Allan, the hi-fi dealers were finding sampler product to be inferior and needed high quality pressings to project the true quality of the equipment.

Imported from Japan, the jazz line is recorded in the EMI studios in Tokyo and pressed at the Toshiba plant there.

An initial order of 50 copies from the TBM catalog sold quickly and Allan has boosted import numbers to 1,100 within a five-week period and still reports demand to be greater than his own supply. The present stock lists 50 separate items which are offered to dealers at a wholesale price of $10.
