Chicago-Local maestro Stephen Leonard must be excused if seems a bit shaky on his Middlewestern one-nighters these days.

Early this month his car was mysteriously borrowed from a west side gas station, and the next day the headlines in all daily papers screeched the gang slaying of millionaire race track president, Eddie O'Hare, whose body had been riddled by gangland bullets while he was driving his car in the same west side neighborhood in which Leonard's car had disappeared.

Three days after it was taken, Leonard discovered his car parked in front of his residence, every thing intact and keys in the nition. Since it was apparent that all marks and fingerprints had been carefully wiped away, police concluded the car probably was used by the killers, who are thought to have "wiped out" O'Hare for re-fusing to contribute $50,000 to a stake allegedly being gathered by all Al Capone succe local underworld

Miller's band is proving the allaround favorite of 1939, having already received more votes in the two divisions than any other combo.

Show in Third Place

Benny Goodman retained his lead in the swing division, rolling up a record vote to submerge Shaw, who defeated him last year. Shaw rests in third place, behind Goodman and Miller, with Count Basie less than a full jump behind him. Bob Crosby's Dixieland crew is holding down fifth position.

Asking a leader to analyze his sum band puts him in an uncomfartable spot. A good leader should be his own harshest critic. There is no other alternative. The public knows a good sechestra from a had one and under present keen competition, one can allow to food himself.

Our band has been doing terrific business in Boston and at the Famous Door in New York City. Reactions have been favorable by both public and the professional critics. However, let's forget the honeyed words of praise and look at it from a musician's point of view.

Lasts of Woeries

This band is four months old and I'm congratulating myself that it is smoothing itself out. It's agruelling task picking your men, weeding them and hiring replacements. That arrangement business is an arduous routine, too, to say nothing of rehearsal drudgery. What makes the formative period of a band a really difficult proposition.

eck served fair warning to r companies and transcription firms that alleged wholesale chiedle within the platter industry would be weeded out soon in a camp 802 leaders are plutting.

Revamping, or at least clarifying, the present AFM laws covering the use and manufacture of discs seems probable. Already an investigation is under way with Jack Rosenberg, 802 prexy, and Max Arons, 802 trial board chairman, serving as members of the investigating committee. Their findings will shortly be turned over to the AFM national body, insamuch as any action to be taken must originate from the parent body.

Other Practices Probed

It also is understood that the AFM may fight for legislation in Washington which would make it a criminal offense to steal "off-the-air" performances and make records of them. Payment of overtime to musicians, withholding musicians' pay checks for as long as 3-month periods, and other allege practices on the part of some was works also will be probed carefully

15 (MM) Traveling Musicians

Joseph N. Weber, president of the AFM, last week in checking through his books announced 15,000 musicians now are employed in traveling bands. He said between 5,000 and 6,000 are working in theaters, both stage and pit, and another 3,500 are employed by radio stations. Weber says he isn't satisfied, however, and it is no secret that he and his staff are spending midnight oil cooking up other means of creating steady employment for the boys.

There must be a reason for the predominance of SLINGERLAND drum equipment in the big name bands. It has become a proven fact that most of the country's top-notch drummers prefer SLINGERLAND "Radio King" drums and tunable tom-toms. Perhaps it's because SLINGERLAND drums are made with such painstaking thoroughness—because SLINGERLAND is constantly adding new and improved features—because craftsmen are employed who can literally build a soul into a rhythm instrument. All of which is a complicated way of saying that Teagarden has recorded with every outstanding figure in the hot jazz field at one time or other, either by furnishing accompaniment at a blues session, playing more or less legitimately with Paul Whiteman, simply jamming with pickup bands, or being just plain Jack Teagarden directing his own present excellent band.

First Disc in 1928

Like most hot musicians, Mr. Tea has a notoriously bad memory (especially when it comes to naming exact dates, titles personnels, etc.), but from all accounts he made his first appearance in a record studio back in the spring of 1928 (March 4th, to be exact), when he substituted at the last minute for Miff Mole on a Roger Wolfe Kahn Victor date. Discophiles will recall that the Kahn unit consisted of Red Nichols, Eddie Lang-Joe Venuti, Art Schutt, etc., which was pretty distinguished company for a newcomer who had to deputize for Miff Mole, then accepted king of hot trombonists.

Title in question was "She's a for Miff Mole, then accepted king of hot trombonists.

Title in question was "She's a Great Great Girl" (Vic. 21326), and Jackson really startled his companions with the individual style he employed in the chorus allotted to him. Here was a musician who had his own unique way of playing trombone—unconventional phrasing, peculiar intonation, and remarkable imagination. Result: Less than a year later, Jack was appearing on all dates with Red Nichols Five Pennies, and the name TEAGARDEN was definitely established with the original intelligentsia of hot jazz.

But this is getting a bit ahead

Jack was appearing on all dates with Red Nichols' Five Pennies, and the name TEAGARDEN was definitely established with the original intelligentsia of hot jazz.

But this is getting a bit ahead of the story Following his entrace to New York in '28, Jack soon joined Ben Pollack's famous band (replacing Glenn Miller, by the way), playing in the distinguished company of Benny Goodman, Jimmy McPartland and Bud Freeman (who joined later). While Jack played exquisitely with Pollack, one would never guess it, judging from the Pollack Victor series of recordings. The same commercial stigma hat marred efforts of the Jean Goldkette band was apparent in the case of Pollack. Nothing of earth-shaking consequence ever took place on these Victor dates

Both arrangements are extremely exciting (possibly Dean Kincaid*), and I might publicly sugest that Victor would do well to reissue these items today.

Plays Corny on Purpose!

Pollack's band recorded a few odd selections for Perfect, Oriole, Regal, etc., but Jack is featured only on the following:

only on the following:
O'the 41189-"In Great Big Way"
Let's Sit and Talk About You."
Perfect 15325-"There's a Wah Wah Gal"
& "If I Could Be With You" (latter vocal by Jackson).
Oriole 2193-"You Didn't Have to Tell Me"
(vocal by Jackson).
Oriole 2214-"I'm a Ding Dong Daddy."
Regal 10057-"Kollin' Down Thereover,
Regal 10057-"Kollin' Down Thereover,
State of the Wath You's Act You Way Act You Act I Could Me" (Thin't Have to Tell Me" (1901) Look and Colline to Tell Me").

Note: Commodore Music Shop has reissued "It I Could Be with You" a "You
"Bidn't Have to Tell Me" (103).

As I suggested before, Jack and his pals weren't particularly convincing in many of these early efforts. Any veteran collector will tell you the boys were at their best when working for various obscure record companies under such fonfusing noms-de-plume as Gil Rodin's Boys, Lumberjacks, Dixie Paisies, Jimmy McHugh's Bostonians, Mill's Musical Clowns, Kentucky Grasshoppers, or any other of a dozen name. Some of the tunes recorded were played in deliberately corny style, for example such gems as "Shirt-Tail Stomp"
by the Kentucky Grasshoppers (Banner 6355); "leky Blues" by Jimmy Bracken's Toe-Ticklers (Regal 8723) or "Tiger Rag" by Ted White's Collegians (Oriole 1544).

Move Over, Stacy and Sullivan-Let Hodes In!

"Got to Hear Him"

It's easy enough to call a guy the best, but let's look at the records. Listen to Hodes on Solo Art and stack him up with the best Jess and Joe have done on wax. Offhand I'd name Barrelhouse for Stacy and Gin Mill Blues for Sullivan. Those two stand pretty much alone as the best white piano solos—until now.

That's the simple way to put Art up there. The best is to hear him in person.

Art up there. The best is to hear him in person.

He's not an orchestra man, like Joe and Jess, and he simply plays the blues all the time. That's in his favor right from the start. That's what puts him up with the colored boys.

It's colored music. Sure. You've heard it before: "White man playing colored music." Well, this is it. And done right.

Mannone, Chicago took Hodes more or less for granted. Wingy, with the help of Ray Biondi, was

The boys used to jam around a him so well that he wanted Hodes there and then, but Art was Wingy's regular pianist. So the

Gene Krupa, Bud Freeman, Mike

Art. "That was my first job in the exclusiveness of the spot, but through the talent in the band.

Shortly before his death, this snapshot of Frank Teschemacher was made in Chicago. Unlike most musicians, Tesch disliked being away from home, and on more than one occasion he left hands because he was homesick. In the final chapter on Tesch's life in the Dec. 15 Down Best, Dave Dexter will analyze Tesch's style with comments by E. M. Tesch and Chicagoans Hit NYC on B'way Panic Joh!

Sullivan Remembers Panic
Teach and his buddies got to New York in time to find the job had petered out before they could start. But in a few days they promoted a week at the Palace Theater on Times Square accompanying the dance team of Barbara Bennet and Charles Sabin.

Joe Sullivan, who now has his own little jam band in New York, remembers the week at the Palace with Teach well.

"It dight' work out very well," and lasted a week and broke up. Most of the gang joined for that arty highbrow dance stuff. We'd start of okay and then one of the guys would start improvisang. One hot solo would follow another. It was lots of fun for us—but the dancers didn't like it.

Wire for Sound: Let Em Hear You Play

BY CHARLIE CHRISTIAN (Featured Guitariet, Benny Goodman Orchestra)

Guitar players have long needed a champion, someone to explain to the world that a guitarist is leaders get out of them. guitarists might just an well be scratching washboards with sewing thimbles. There are dozens of guitar players around the country—and I mean good guitar players—who have resigned themselves to a life of playing for nothing but cookies or just their own kicks, because they've had no alternative if they wanted to continue playing guitar.

Bernard Addison, formerly with Stuff Smith's band, in the August '39 Down Beat, said:

Git-men Get Short End

Git-men Get Short End

"Guitarists are goats. In the present day band's setup, it's the guitar player who gets the short end. Leaders don't appreciate the possibilities of the instrument."

I've been inclined to agree 100 per cent with Addison, although

With an appalling ignorance of the effective use to which they could put the instrument, most leaders, including those in the radio and movie studios, have demanded a guitarist who can fiddle, arrange or pick his teeth walking a tight rope every other chorus. The fact that he might have been truly an artist on the guitar was negligible.

A New Era Dawning

And arrangers seem either to have neglected to learn anything about the guitar or else have found that arranging for it is beyond their ability.

But the dawn of a new era is at hand for all these fine guitarists who had become resigned to playing to feed their souls but not necessarily their stomachs.

Electrical amplification has given guitarists a new lease on life.

Allan Reuss, with Jack Teagarden's band, was one of the first well-known men to attach an amplifier to his guitar. Musicians have been aware of Reuss's ability for several years, but the instrument is subtle and the public probably never would have realized his ability if they'd had to strain their ears to catch the niceties of his technique and the beauty of his improvisations. Allan's recent work on Jack Teagarden's Brunswick record, Pickin' for Patsy, his own number, proved to the record companies as well as to musicians

Don't Spit on the Jitterbug-Educate Him!

(A Guest Editorial By Irving Hugel)

I've made up my mind. I'm going to buy a gun and shoot every one? those stupid critics and band leaders who blame everything on the tterbugs. The next thing I know they will blame this damn war on them.

Tell me one thing, when you critics went to school at the age of seven and were taught arithmetic, did you know what the square root of eighty one was? I'll kiss your foot if you did. Won't you guys understand that a jitterbug is just in an elementary stage? Do you really expect him to know who Bessie was or how great Bix was? Do you really expect him to know that Louis is better than Elman? Don't you think he has to learn why? Let's take a jitterbug apart.

Fivet of all he's about 16 and is either a high-school or college kid.

he has to learn why? Let's take a jitterbug apart.

First of all he's about 16 and is either a high-school or college kid. He comes home from school and turns the radio on, and by some luck gets Goodman. What's the first thing that hits him? Is it Benny's playing or is it Jerome's tenor. Of course not, the first thing that gets him is the solid rhythm. He keeps time with the music by stamping his feet and then the infernal clapping begins. That's his foundation. Rhythm! Then Elman takes a chorus. The kid can't sit still because his riff is stirring something inside of him. He learns his name is Elman. Presto, he knows a trumpet man. Elman is God on the trumpet. He is being weaned now. Watch him gain knowledge. He hears Busse and he's got a new fave. Then James slays him. Finally he has reached a spot where he can say he has heard all the topnotchers and can speak with some authority on the greatness of Louis.

All it did take was time. Don't you critics and leaders give any credit and can speak with some authority on the greatness of Louis.

All it did take was time. Don't you critics and leaders give any credit where it is due? Thank the jitterbug for putting swing music where it is today. Try to educate him. Forgive him for clapping when a man is in the midst of a solo, don't spit on him. Try to explain why the Duke's band should be called the eighth wonder of the world. Above all, give him plenty of time and encouragement. Don't make him hate men like Shaw, who calls him a Moron. Earn his respect without ahaming him. Then and only then will your contests show signs of intelligence instead of stupidness.

Jack Jenney Reviews His Band—

good music and pleasing the band's audiences. That means I'm not going to emulate the leaders who say, in effect: "This is my style—to hell with John Public—I'm going to play my way and they'll have to like it?" I'll gladly give them what they want in the way of requests and tempos. The band has very definitely pleased its public, so far. However, I'm not completely satisfied. Though a few heads will have to meet the hatchet, I'm trying to give every man the fullest opportunities. This axwielding must be done in the interests of the best possible intonation, blend and precision.

Chicago Sparrow Says She Knows What It's All About; Blasts Toll

Chicago, Ill.

Chicago, Ill.

To the Editors:

I am 17 years old, a girl, and for the last three years have been singing with orchestras and believe me I know what's it all about. That's why I'm writing to tell you Ted Toll's article about girl singers all wet. I don't suppose hever was a girl singer. Some of them know the words to more songs than Toll will ever know. He reminds me of my brother Mush who doesn't know anything about music either. Mush plays a sax and spends all his time in black and tan night clubs and doesn't even know the words to any songs. He runs around with a cheap bunch of musicians who don't know anything either. They're all bums and very few work at music. They could but won't. Sometimes they come to our basement and sit around in the dark and play records which are years old. Cheap bunch, they light one cigaret at a time and everybody smokes it at once. Mush, who is a bum, won't play with good bands but sits up late at night and plays with colored people and never gets paid. Then its people like these who Mr. Toll is apparently one of, who sit around and write articles saying there are no good girl singers. Mush says there aren't either. Let Toll go out some night and sees some bands in this town and he will see plenty of girl singers who know the words to all the songs and can get up and really swing out and put plenty of pep into a song. In fact some of them are so much better than the bands it is a shame. Toll's foolish article made me so inad I'd like to cancel my brother's subscription, but can't.

thwarted ambition is being told again.

Bing wrote the tune when he was still pretty much of an "unknown" in radio. Later, the song became a smash hit, and Crosby decided to quit singing and become a songwriter. But almost simultaneously the public "caught" his style and his retirement from a mike lasted less than a week.

Bing hasn't had to write songs for a living since.

Winner of the "sweet band" trophy in a contest sponsored by the American Guild of Banjoists. Guitarists and Mandolinists, Wayne King of waltz fame is shown being presented an award by Mayor Reading of Detroit recently. Burke Bivens and other King sidemen are shown in background. The trophy is known as the "Gretsch award" and donated by the Fred. Gretsch Mfg. Co.

Voters Hustle to Post Ballots in 1939 Poll

Miller Passes Shaw

McCoy Is Corn King

Clyde McCoy appears to be the 1939 king of corn. In former years Henry Busse, also a trumpeter, walked away with that honor.

Jack Teagarden's fast start in the trombone division was worn down by Tommy Dorsey followers, who again placed him in the lead. Outside of Tommy, Tea and Jay Higginbotham, voting was scattered. Jimmy Dorsey's unquestioned superiority on alto sax, in the opinion of musicians. On tenor Coleman Hawkins kept pace, while Bud Treeman Sipped badly after a bright start. Eddie Miller of the Crosby band and Chu Berry are neck and neck in the listings.

trombonist had gotten off to a lead in the first day's balloting. Behind Casa Loma and Dorsey is Miller. Hal Kemp, Kay Kyser, Guy Lombardo. Sammy Kaye and Wayne King follow in order.

Voting for places in the all-star band also is brisk. Harry James, whose new band has had air time almost without a break since the 24-year-old Texan organized it last winter, has a comfortable lead. Surprising was the showing made by Ziggy Elman, hot man with Goodman, who pushed into the standings ahead of Louis Armstrong and other vets.

Pianists were providing the hottest battle of all at press time, with Bob Zurke, Teddy Wilson, Count Basie and Jess Stacy far ahead. A sudden shift in sentiment toward any one of the four would shove him into the lead by a wide margin.

Blasts at Gene by the "critics" of the trade rags. Ray Bauduc follows.

Varsity, Royale Labels Are Out

DOWN BEAT

BY BARRELHOUSE DAN

You can stop bolding yo

You can stop bolding your breath and twist the turntable. Eli Oberstein's new records are out on the market for sure. In two forms, the Varsity label and the Royale label, Eli's taken his first step—finally—in attempting to buck what many helieve to be an already-overcrowded field.

Filtering through the list of commercial sides, in which Mr. Obie specializes for the coin machine trade, you'll come across four sides (Varsity) under Jess Stacy's name. One of them is good. It's a blues called Jess Stay which spots, in order, Les Jenkins' trombone, Hank D'Amico's clarinet, Bill Butterfield's trumpet, Ed Miller's tenor and Jenkins' sliphorn again, then out. Others in the band are Ion Carter, drums; Sid Weiss, bass; Allen Hanlon, guitar, and Jess on piano. It's coupled with Noni, a steal from Muskrat Ramble, with Noni Bernardi getting credit for the lift. The same soloists play. Other titles are What's New and Melancholy Mood, the latter having a fine Butterfield (muted) chorus. Stacy's pianologies add flavor, but not enough. Except for the first side, you're left with a feeling that here was a session which didn't quite jell. Technically, the discs are okay. Carlotta Dale's vocals are sad. The numbers are 8076 and 8064, respectively.

Duke Elliagton

Stacy's planotogies and navor, but not enough. Except for the first side, you're left with a feeling that here was a session which dight quite jell. Technically, the discs are sad. The numbers are 8076 and 8064, respectively.

Duke Elliagton

Land That Ellington and the leader hails from Duke University. Tea is nice-by a proper and the leader hails from Duke University. Tea is nicely arranged with Wayne Herdell's visual fine tumpaper and that his records invariably pack a punch is understatement. These four are not exceptions. Running down the list, there are Cootic Williams, playing his usual fine trumpet; flarney Bigard, skipping along on clarinet in a style definitely anti-Goodman, anti-Shaw and anti-anyone else you have in mind; Tricky Sam (real name Joseph) Nanton, whose plunger work on his sliphorn has never been and never will be equalled in jazz; Laurence Brown, whose open trombone work's only weakness is its lack of censistent good tone; Johnny Hodges, certainly one of three top ranking altoists, and Harry Carney, baritone; Rex Stewart, trumpet, and—the whole band. The Duke's work has never been easy to describe. As a unit it functions with more homogeneity than anyother in jazz' history. And lyy Anderson, who never seems to rate a mention, fits the band as no other vocalist could.

High time the Ellington band got the recognition it deserves. Getting back to the discs, they're all great. Ensembles and solos are perfection.

Van Alexander

A swing band, no less. You can tell because it is loud, and the drummer louder. The arrangements are modern, if not original, and the ensembles are well performed the drummer louder. Stuff's electric fiddle, in a moving, mellow, and mild vein, takes the first, which is Stuff's theme Portions of it sound like Goodman's more famous Goodbye, and it's pretty dull all the way. Reverse is a cacophony of Smith's gut scrapings, vocal chord scrapings and the scrapings provided by his band with portions of it providing acceptable jazz. But only portions Clarke's tenor is the golden needle in the haystack. in the haystack

Charlie Barnet

"Cuban Boogte Woogie," on Blambled 19179.

Charlie plays both alto and tenor on the first side. And the amazing thing about this crew is the way it knocks off the pops with a drive and abandon usually reserved by most bands for the sending ar rangements. Reverse is a bringdown, 'cause it ain't boogie at all—just a pop tune with corny words referring to a Cuban dance. Judy

Race Records

This department has consistently bemoaned the fact that most everyone, a few scattered musicians excepted, has overlooked all along some of America's most original, most sincere and most moving music. Good performances are far more common on the race lists than on the popular, hot jazz or classical lists, and often you'll hear an accompanying band (without even knowing who's in it) playing lovely backgrounds, always in the true blues idiom. Among the better race releases of November were: ber, the most outstanding composi-tion of its kind this year, is being sung these days by every con-shouter and chanteuse west of Jerchouter and chanteuse west of Jersey City. Merline Johnson, more often (and here) billed simply as the Yas Yas girl, tosses in her version. It isn't bad, although far below Billie's masterpiece on Comnodore, and the accompaniment is average. Reverse is crap. Not even good blues. The kind of blues Ethel Merman sings. But for those who can't afford the costlier Holiday performance, here's a good 35-cent buy of the most sympathetic and touching blues to be written on paper in moons.

Playing With a Band

By Bill Sweitzer

Looking over the response to my column, I notice that many of old problems of the average accordionist still remain unsolved.

The question of accordion parts in orchestrations, for one thing, I have always thought the violin parts were satisfactory, although would suggest that the publishers mark the harmony in each measure to facilitate the reading of the part. It is really a conductor's score with all necessary cues and obligate suggestions. I have found that most band leaders have years and obligate suggestions. I have received several letters asking about books or material which would explain certain accordionists' styles of playing. As far as I know there is not much of this material available and I suggest that those accordionists develop their hearing and musical intuition. Much can be gotten from radio, and phono records. In analyzing styles for my column, I record the artist's style with my own recording machine and then I play the record until each lick or fill-in is memorized. One should not neglect to develop his technique to the same level of the performer whose style he desires to emulate.

Another current question is, why Benny Goodman, Artie Shaw and several other top flight swing bands, are not featuring accordion. Now, there you have a real topic for argument but, I ask you, why worry about a little thing like that as long as we accordionists continue to be working much more steadily and at as good or better salaries than the average brass or reed players? So, with this thought in mind, I'll say, see you next time.

New Silver-Bruce Songwriting Book is Off the Presses

Off the Presses

How to Write and Sell a Song Hit, by Abner Silver and Robert Bruce, published by Prentice-Hall, 203 pages, $2.50.

Lest the tyro songsmith think this volume the key to quick riches in short order, it must be pointed out that the "how to sell" portion of the title isn't written as confidently and with as much enthusiasm as the preceding chapters. The book is an excellent source for amateurs, however, inasmuch as it gives ideas, tips and slants which should benefit all who intend hitting the song market with original compositions.

There are numerous examples of how unknowns have sold a hit song, and how publishers turned down tunes which later became national faves. But the authorineglect to tell how to duplicate those examples. Obviously, no one could lay down concrete formulas for success—but judging by the title, a reader has a right to expect such information.

Songwriters can learn professional twists here, just the same And that's the most any writer can offer.

Brother Jackson's Holiday Carbons

New York — Brother Jackson scat singer with Johnny Measner's band at the Hotel McAlpin, pulled a surprise the other night when he started singing You Bring M. Down like Billie Holiday. Long a follower of la Holiday's style, Jackson clicked with his version so well that he plans to ape her more consistently, according to Kappi Karlen.

Sax Problems

Breath Control Cannot Be Overstressed

By Norman Bates

Breathing essentially represents the instrument's motive power, Controlling this power means physical perfection. To obtain finease of this kind requires undivided attention to detail. Remember that trifles make perfection and perfection is no trifle.

Before analyzing breathing as a whole, let's check the important elements depending on it for help. These include pitch, tone, dynamics endurance, intensity, continuity, expression, accent, tongue action, phrasing, and vibrato, etc., to name a few. Check them as you run over this routine. 1—Breathe abdominally, that is, deeply, not chestly, letting the air descend low in the lungs, pushing down the diaphragm and expanding the stomach muscles leaving the cheat and ribs normally relaxed. Speed when inhaling is a prime necessity and no more than one half second when in the careful not to force too much air into the abdomen to capacity. Compressed Air Means Power

To get the greatest amount of endurance, intensity and continuity in the tone when exhaling, it is vitally important that air be under compression. It is this density or compression of the air from the beginning of the attack to the end of your breath that really moves the reed. Compressed air means power and reed control.

When breathing abdominally keep the abdomen distended as long as you can when projecting the air at the reed on each exhale. This makes and also allows the excess compressed air to be used

This makes and also allows the excess compressed air to be used engagement. . . The hand picked pit band conducted by Max Adkins at the Stanley theater is gaining nice comment. . . The Happy Feton boys (Solly La Perch, Kay Schmidt and Tommy Noll, stopped off en route to Chicago.

The lack of breath endurance most common to saxophonists usually comes from the wasting of air through overloading of the reed with 'excess air.' The reed itself needs only a minimum amount of air speed provided it is compressed for after this point is reached it only becomes waste. Vibrato and staccato must be supported by a consistent density of air behind each movement of the jaw and tongue action in order to get most efficient use of both without losing continuity of the tone. Krupa Chirp 'Not Guilty' In Mixup

BY TED TOLL

Chicago—To eliminate necessity of hanging a sign saying "I Am Not LaVerne" on herself. Irene Daye, singing with Krupa in the Shorman's Panther room, wants us to publish that information. It all evolves around a recent rangland murder. After a killing in Chicago and a subsequent stabbing on the west coast, it letter from an anonymous hoodlum to the stabbee mentions that his girl, LaVerne, "opened at the Sherman the other night, and if you get lonesome you can hear her on the radio. She's making 600 bucks a week now."

Get Rid of That Guy

Get Rid of That Guy'

Irene also added that she isn't making quite 600 a week.

"If you want to get fired—but graceful—play one tune all night." Such is the sage advice of blues pianist Frank Melrose. It seems that a midget piano on the job at The Ship, in Gary, broke Frank down after three nights work. On the fourth night he played Organ Grinder Blues for five hours, at end of which time the boss approached trumpeter Pete Daly, who had the job.
"Get rid of these recommends."

Jim Dorsey Coming On

Kirby and the boys could probably go on ad infinitum in the Ambassador's Pump Room. Current option (the fifth or sixth) extends to Dec. 22.

The kids ought to really go for Jimmy Dorsey's fine jazz crew, coming into the Panther Room Dec. 29 for six weeks. Stuff Smith and his Jonah are doing a gargantuan job over at Carl Cons' Off-Beat Club. Heretofore the club has carried a flock of assorted talent, but when Stuff and his gang were brought in, all the other entertainment was junked piece by piece, and now Stuff's band carries the entire load. A young clarinet player named Bud Jacobson is rehearing a little band that a lot of bookers and other guys would do well to listen to, It includes Boyce Brown's alto and Frank Spencer's drums among other attributes.

Beatty Adds Three

Little Longlac, Ont.—Tom Beatty and his Northern Gentlemen band have added Eddie Franks, tenor; Harold Sluggett, lead trumpet, and Stan Hykawy, basa, to their lineup. Beatty's band is employed regularly by the MacLeod-Cockshutt Gold Mines here. Tom thinks his band is the only one in the world employed by a gold mine.

The Kysers Hit the Big Time

Hollywood—Kay Kyser and band have really done it. After making a approached trumpeter Pete Daly, who had the job.

"Get rid of that guy, frchrisks; all'he can play is one piece!" the boss yelled. He got rid of the guy, all right, and the rest of the band, to boot. They quit.

Billy Rowe, ace Negro columnist and recent addition to the promotion department of Columbia records, confused us by mentioning "John Kirby's drummer, Morton Downey." Investigating, we were told by a guy who looked suspiciously like O'Neil Spencer, "Sure, I'm Morton Downey, but it's a gag."

Albany, N. Y.—The newly decorated Goblet made a swell choice in grabbing Willie Farmer for its opener. Jack Drummond's trio plays between sets.

After four full months, Art Manse is still packing them into Dinty's. Professor isell and his Four Gongs give out with alternate stuff. Bruce Becker is back at the Kenmore and has a WABY-NBC wire two or three times a week. Other hotels are going for the cocktail combos, with the Three Sons at the DeWit Clinton and the Men of Note at the Ten Eyck.

The season seems to be progressing very nicely for out-of-town bands in the larger apots, but us local cats, we're just rehearsing.

Hill Billies Get In Hair of Minny Musicians

BY DON LANG

Minneapolis—An influx of hill-billy bands from the Twin Cities hinterlands is causing Union offi-cials headaches no end.

Gordie Bowen Held Over

While local musicians wait around six days for their Saturday night job (sometimes), the Billies are being feted by the St. Paul Chamber of Commerce and others. Despite Union opposition, station KSTP finally succeeded last month in bringing a Des Moines outfit in for a sustaining program. Gordie Bowen last month signed another three months' contract for his outfit at the Happy Hour, making it a 7-months steady date. Traveling bands had failed to make the spot jump, but Bowen is really

Plans for the event were completed last week.

Jonah Jones, trumpet ace, and other members of the Smith crew will be starred, as well as other musicians in Chicago at the time. Carl Cons, Off-Beat manager, is in charge. The event is the first on the winter calendar for jazz fans and musicians who too long have gone without special swing programs.

The records of the case, faded now, show that Tesch and Davison went from the party Wettling described to the home of a girl Davison was going with. They had dinner there. Inquest testimony revealed that Davison admitted drinking one highball while awaiting dinner.

It was the last day of February, 1932, and a leap year February at that. If what Wettling says is true, about the afternoon party, then that was not brought out in the inquest. Davison swore he was not drunk. Others testified he was. Some say Tesch and Davison had girls in the car after they left Davison's gal-friend's house, but if this is true, the sacks were dumped before 2 o'clock when Davison and Tesch drove south in Bill's long 1928 Packard—purchased just two weeks before—the morning of March 1.

In fact, George Wettling, now drumming with Paul Whiteman, and a friend of long standing, went into court and trumped up an "eye-witness story" that he saw Tesch beat Helen. They got the divorce without any trouble, on the grounds of Wettling's wild testimony, previously arranged by Helen and Frank. Tesch aways did things the unusual way.

Gets thus to Deaver

Tesch went out on the road with Garber in the fall of 1931, playing one-nighters and a hotel stand at the Muehlebach in Kansas City. The boys went as far west as Denver, where Tesch visited his older brother. Charles, who still lives there. But the tour became boring, and Tesch got homesick again, so he left and returned to Chicagofor the last time. He continued jobbing, always with good success.

knew that Teach had passed on.
News of his death didn't make the daily papers that day, except in small agate type. There was a reason, Less than 12 hours after Teach expired the headlines were filled with news of another great tragedy. Col. Charles A. Lindberg's son had been kidnaped.
Services for the sincere young clarinetist, who had always been afraid of motor cars and who never learned to drive one because, according to his mother, he "never felt safe in one," were held March

MICRO Presents the Shastock "Jone-Free" Mute

It Mutes Sound ... Not Jone

There is much more to a mute than shape and appearance. Its construction (if it is a scientifically built mute) will control SOUND . . . not TONE . . .! The world's finest horn can be disturbingly tinny when the mute is faulty. Notes can go sharp or flat despite the cleverest fingering.

That's why the construction of a mute is so importent. That's why MICRO presents the SHA-STOCK MUTE . . . a typical MICRO Quality product. After considerable test and experiment, together with the conclusions of well known musicians, the MICRO signature was affixed to the SHASTOCK product . . . thus backing up every promise of performance made for it.
