than leaders and musicians who play WB theaters, brought hints that a strike would be called Sept. 24. The controversy was raging as Down Beat went to press and observers said the strike threat was more than a "mere possibility."

The new AFM contract form for orchestras playing theaters caused the conflagration to break ost. When the union last month issued the new form, the Warner theater circuit was first to object. Band dates were cancelled at the Stratford, Chicago; Riverside, Milwaukee; Strand, New York; Staniey, Pittsburgh; Earle, Philly; Strand, Brooklyn, and Earle Theater in Washington. Warner execs refused to heed the contract forms which state that the theaters must hay social security taxes on all musicians hired for engagements. The AFM insists that the theaters pay.

The AFM insists that the theaters pay.

Petrillo and the AFM are guided by the recent Chicago test case (Griff Williams was the leader) in which Judge Charles E. Woodward ruled that the "establishment is the employer and therefore liable for taxes." The decision was appealed and now is pending before a Federal Court of Appeals. Under the Woodward ruling an "attablishment" would include all theaters, night clubs, ballrooms, hotels and other places where musicians are employed.

Five Bucks If You're a Leader's Double

A few days ago a Down Beat subscriber from Halifax, Nova Scotia, sent in a renewal for his subscription, and, just for kicks, sent along a snapshot of himself. The Nova Scotian struck the eds as an amazingly close double of Tommy Dorsey. Pictured above are Dorsey at left, and Beat reader Fred D. Covey of Halifax. If you bear a resemblance to any name band leader, send in your photograph to Dosen Beat. The editors will pay five dollars to every person whose photograph is printed alongside his name-leader double.

Hitler Preferred

New York — Leonard Feather, British Jazz critic now proving himself one of the better flacks (press agents) in Manhattan, last week got a letter from a musician-friend in London. Part of it read:

"London is still a good place to keep away from in September. Last year it was bombs; this year it's the Hus Sus Song."

Williams instead will leave Goodman, after one year as Goodman, after one year as Benny's ace trumpeter, and form a band of his own. While no verification has been made, reports are that Benny himself will assist Cootie in organizing. Benny also put money into Harry James' crew when James quit Goodman in 1939 to form a band of his own.

Terrific at Meadowbrook
Goodman is about to wind up an engagement at the Meadowbrook, New Jersey, dine and dance house, which has pretty definitely re-established him as one of the very top orks in the business.

Benny's real test comes this month, however, when he and his band go into the Terrace room of Hotel New Yorker. Only two blocks away at the Hotel Pennsylvania will be Glenn Miller's band. And with Vaughn Monroe at the Commodore, Art Jarrett at the Biltmore, Harry James, Lincoln; Johnny Messner, McAlpin; Sammy Kaye, Essex House; Blue Barron, Edison; Harold Nagel, Astor; and Count Basie, Andy Kirk, Red Allen, Teddy Wilson, Matty Malneck and John Kirby all in nearby night clubs, the competition among maestros will be at an all-time high.

Daughter Born To the Woody Hermans in L. A.

Los Angeles—Just a few hours after the Sept. 15 Beat went to press announcing that the stork was "hovering within a hair's breadth" of the Woody Herman hovel, a six pound, red-headed baby novel, a six pound, red-neaded baby girl was born to pretty and likewise red-headed Mrs. Woody at Cedars of Lebanon hospital here. The date was Sept. 3. Daddy and the band closed at the Palladium Sept. 11.

Everybody's coming along fine.

Fists Fly At Dorsey Party

New York - One of the rarest fistic brawls ever to hit the stem splattered the gore of a number of prominent New York characters all over the Brill building two weeks ago. The boys of the trade had gathered to celebrate the gala opening of Tommy Dorsey's Brill penthouse, the entire top floor, which will be the offices of his three new music publishing companies, Embassy, Mohawk, and Seneca.

Festivities got under way at 4:30 in the afternoon, and along about dusk somebody unwittingly made an unsavory racial crack. Harry Goodman, bassist brother of Benny and manager of the latter's Regent Music house, was within earshot.

Butterfield Back To Artie Shaw

New York—Billy Butterfield will rejoin Artie Shaw's ork after Benny Goodman closes his current engagement at the Meadowbrook. The youthful-appearing first chair trumpeter, who got his first big breaks as a pro with Bob Crosby, plays hot as well as straight.
Butterfield will probably replace Steve Lipkins in the 4-man Shaw trumpet section.

Cops Put Clamps on Charlie Spivak Opener

Chicago—Charlie Spivak's high—the had filed an application, enly anticipated and widely publisized opening at the huge new Palladium here, scheduled for two weeks ago, was turned into a four day panic for Charlie and the band when the police commissioner's office prevented a crowd of thousands from entering the spot.

A Down Beat reporter who was among those trying to get in asked a plain clothes man what the deal was. According to the dick, impressario Billy Stearns, who had spent thousands of dollars getting the former Michael Todd Theatre-Cafe into shape for the opening, had failed to procure his license to operate the place.

Stearns, when queried about the last minute erackdown, stated that

Shaw made the move rather than weaken his band by temporarily keeping Oran (Lips) Page out of the Shaw could have gone ahead and played the southern tour, getting a fat guarantee of nearly $2,000 a night, but he preferred not to endanger his brand of music with Page out of the picture. Artie admitted he probably could have used Page in the south, but that any anti-Negro comments likely to arise would prove embarrassing to Page and to Artie himself. Rather than gamble on

Expect a Picture Deal

The band opened at the Orpheum Theater Sept. 17 and was expected to remain on the Coast for several weeks longer, maybe more if an impending picture deal goes through.

Realistic, Eh?

Baltimore—Bill Willse, local Donen Beat correspondent and custodian of "Jitterbug Hall," five nights a week recorded air show on WITH here, got together with band leader Dean Hudson to put on a realistic-sounding session of Hudson records. Hudson and his vocalist, Frances Colwell, were in the studio with Willse announcing. The conversation among the three and the band playing on records sounded so realistic that Sid Barbato, alto sax in the Hudson band, hearing the program while eating in a down town restaurant, got panicky, jumped into his car and sped to the Summit club, where the band was working, thinking that a last minute air shot had been arranged. The band is still ribbing him. Baltimore-Bill Willse, local Gailbraith replaced Bobby Dominick. Goddard and Hammerslag took over chairs formerly held by Harry Davies and Mickey Folus.

Powell has 17 airshots a week on Mutual and CBS from the Cabin, not far from N. Y. in Englewood Cliffs, N. J. And his engagement there will keep him busy until Dec. 15th. From there on it's the gravy train for Powell and his men. At least Teddy thinks so, after more than two heart-breaking years which saw him pouring his own money, fruitlessly, into his outfit. He cashed insurance policies, sold his stocks, borrowed on the cuff. And poured more than $40,000 down the drainpipe. But the pipe is plugged now. $40,000 in Royalties for Jimmy Dorsey

New York—A mechanical royalty check, sent to Jimmy Dorsey last week by Decca, and said to be the largest royalty payment ever made to a band leader, amounted to approximately $40,000 for the first half of the year 1941.

Dorsey's band has had several hits which have sold over 500,000 copies each, including Amapola, I Understand, Yours and Marie Elena, latter disc having sold 675,000 copies up to Sept. 10th. Dorsey is said to get a penny a side royalties in addition to his regular pay for knocking out waxings.

Size of the check indicates that the Dorsey band may even be out-selling Decca's number one artist, Bing Crosby. The band's biggest successes this year are attributed to its phenomenal popularity in the coin machines.

Hansen New in Monroe's Band

New York—Jack Hansen, former first chair trumpeter for Muggsy Spanier and Jan Savitt, now has that spot with Vaughn Monroe. He replaced Ranny Knopps. Sid Brantley left Bobby Byrne to join Monroe on first trumbone, for Fex Mulcahy. Joe Mack is now on third and Art Dedrick on second.

Harry Jaccar is the pary drum.

Harry Jaeger is the new drummer, for Hal Burman, and Irving Goodman replaced Dino Digeano on trumpet. Monroe, now at Hotel Commodore, cut I Got It Bad, Something New, Window Washer Idaa and Moonlight Masquerade on his last Bluebird wax date.

Lil Armstrong Snubbed by Hollywood!

Louie's Picture Will Have Hazel Scott in Big Role

Hollywood—The important role of Louis Armstrong's wife, Lillian Hardin Armstrong, who played such a vital part in Louie's musical career, will almost certainly go to Hazel Scott when Orson Welles' RKO flicker goes into production soon.

There is a tragic irony aboute touring in the south and will hit the part. The picture which Welles is making is based almost entirely upon the life of Armstrong. Yet his wife—whom he divorced years later—will remain in Chicago and have no part in the film, instead watching it go to a younger and more publicized fem musician whose chief claim to fame is that she can "swing the classics" at the piano.

Lil Hardin Armstrong married
Satchmo' shortly after he arrived in Chicago from New Orleans in the early 1920's. She inspired him, encouraged him, and helped him get work. After Louie became prominent with King Oliver's band it was she who persuaded him to go out on his own. But Welles can't see her for the part.

The role of King Oliver is yet to be assigned. Elliot Paul, author of Life and Death of a Spanish Town, and an amateur boogie pianist on the side, is working on the script.

Program of classical music will be heard every Sabbath afternoon for 28 straight weeks.

'I'm Still Alive,' quipped Lil "I'm Still Alive," quipped Lil Armstrong in Chicago two weeks ago when Down Beat revealed to her that the part of Louis' wife in the forthcoming Orson Welles RKO jazz pic would probably go to Hazel Scott. "And as long as I am alive," the former Mrs. Armstrong went on, "and if, as they say, this movie is going to be authentic, it seems to me that I ought to play the part of myself." Lil is playing piano at the Circle bar in Chicago's loop.

Johnny Mince Leaving Army, May Form Band

New York—Johnny Mince will be discharged from the U. S. Army sometime in October. The former Tommy Dorsey clarinet star, now at Camp Upton, L. I., is telling friends he may organize a band. If Mince doesn't round up a band of his own he'll rejoin Dorsey. Johnny says he won't make up his mind either way until after he sheds the khaki and gets back in the whirl.

Zinn Arthur, leader of the band at Camp Upton, also is slated for a discharge next month. He'll probably reorganize and start where he left off when he entered the armed forces last winter.

Pete Dean, former Teddy Powell manager and scat vocalist, now at Governor's Island, N. Y., also leaves the service, but not until about December 1st. Mince, Arthur and Dean are all over 28 years old.

New York — Local 802, most powerful and largest musiciant union in the world, last week be gan negotiations with owners of night clubs throughout New Yon City to increase wage scales for musicians. An average increase of 15 per cent was being asked.

Most of the niteries in Manhattan are being affected, it was sail and closing of several spots was expected after preliminary dickerings brought flat refusals to the union's demands.

The campaign came right in the middle of the AFM "war" with theater operators, making it the most spectacular month of the year as far as AFM activity concerned.

Local 802 officials, however, have the support of most union members in their fight for more salaries for Joe Blows. Scale in several clubs — especially those as West 52nd street—has been too low for too many years, in the opinion of thousands of musicians who have worked the spots. Aw increase the union wins would in joyfully accepted by 802's rank and file.

Reviewer Calls Him 'Unequalled'
Notwithstanding the fact that he he only plays one horn solo in the stage show, one Boston reviewer, Rudy Elie in the Herald, wrote, "The most welcome presence in the band, Bobby Hackett, whose trumpet playing is certainly unequalled today."

Watch for a novelty within the miller group: three guitars and a bass, now being put in shape by Hackett for those who appreciate the good jazz. Also a Dixie group might not be far off, as soon as the theater tour is over and the band goes into the Hotel Pennsylvania on October 6.

*Swoon of a Goon' is the title of an original tune which guitarists George Barnes and Ernie Varner waxed in duo for the private label of Milt Wolf of Chicago. Local 6 Gets Thorn Removed After 5 Years

by DIXON GAYER

by DIXON GAYER

Oakland—Local 6 of San Francisco and Oakland, it is rumored, is soon to have a thorn removed from its side as the very solid, but very blacklisted Maurice Anger orchestra is now making plans to mortgage their homes, dogs and automobiles to pay off union fines and put local 6 cards in their wallets. For five years the 8-piece band has scooped the campus of the University of California and left but bones for the rest of the bands to pick on. Only change in the plans will come if Uncle Sam decides he wants Maurice. That possibility is definitely present.

turned out a terrific job under a deep blue mental handicap. The band sounded 100 per center better this trip than on their last engagement some six weeks back but still there was an emptiness whenever it came time for a Bus Etri guitar solo. The solid piano of Billy Miller filled the gaps and yet everyone knew that there was something gone. Bus made a terrific impression six weeks ago with his fine plectrum and weird chords and it was hard to forget him.

The band felt it too. They knew they were better than on their last trip (which can be attributed to a rejuvenated trumpet section with Bobby Burnet back and Sy Baker over from Casa Loma) but the boys were let down. Ford Leary attributed their improvement to getting out of the Barnet-jinxed Los Angeles.

The bands will play on a sheltered outdoor stand in the Cutler County fairgrounds.

Treasure Isle, in the Mark Twain hotel, has a terrific trio in the Three Octaves with Bill McFadden, guitar; Tom McFadden, bass, and Al Ritz, piano. The Octaves are winding up a five week engagement and I'll give you odds that it is renewed unless someone else beats Treasure Island to the draw.

Eddie Howard is packing the Casa Loma, and, unofficially, will be followed by Charlie Teagarden, Cab Calloway and Charlie Spivak, for one week each. At any rate, Casa Loma's promise to give us names is still unbroken.

Duchin, Back from Rio, Reveals New Dance Craze

Pittsburgh—Eddy Duchin, playing his first date (the Stanley theater here) in the States after his South American success at the Copacabana in Rio de Janeiro, brought back the news that a new dance is sweeping Brazil, and will probably be the next thing to hit this country, possibly to brush aside momentarily the conga and the rhumba.

As far as Eddy could dope it out, the thing approximates closest the American two-step, but has a few pertinent bounces of certain sections of the anatomy tossed in to give it that south-of-the-border flavor to American dance bands and popular tunes. To test them Duchin and the band played the theme songs of a lot of the American top-notchers, Jimmy and Tommy Dorsey, Glenn Miller, Benny Goodman, and so on. Surprisingly enough, the Brazilians recognized all of them readily. One they fell down on noticeably was Guy Lombardo's Auld Lang Syne.

Duchin revealed that the folks down under are surprisingly hep

Panassie is said to have uncovered a sensational string quartet which he will take with him on a lecture tour through France and Switzerland, with a recording date scheduled for Swiss Decca. In France the issue of jazz recordings has virtually ceased since jazz is frowned upon by the Nazis and negro musicians are forbidden to record. The enterprising Swing label is no more. Several American records of rather recent issue have been transferred to Swiss labels during the past year. Muggsy's Blue Birds, a few Lionel Hampton and Sidney Bechet sides, and several Ellington Victors, as well as Deccas by Lil Armstrong, Bechet and Louis Armstrong have recently become available there.

Glyn Pacque has appeared as hot clarinet soloist on a few Swiss recordings recently cut.

At the Esplanade in Zurich an exceptional trombonist, Claude de Coulon, is making a name for himself. His trio includes Riv de Gregori, piano and Morris Finhorn, drums. Their repertoire consists largely of American jazz tunes popular in the twenties.

New York — Temporarily biding her time until her plans are set, and she's equipped with a library of special arrangements, Helen Forrest is in New York pointing for a career as a sole singing act. She quit Benny Goodman's band in Chicago Aug. 15th.

While no managerial contract has been signed, persons close to Miss Forrest intimated that Bill Burton, personal manager of Jimmy Dorsey, would take her over. If so it will mark Burton's first fling with an artist other than Dorsey.

The Australian contribution to Jazz literature comes in the form of a mimeographed pamphlet 10 to 20 pages long, titled Jazz Notes. The Notes were begun by William Miller as a tri-weekly publication, but like our Jazz Information, delays in printing have run it to an erratic monthly and the duress of other responsibilities has caused Miller to pass editorship to Cedric Pearce, of 11 Ellington Road, Lower Sandy Bay, Hobert, Tasmania.

And an Error

Several weeks ago an excited telephone call from George Avakian in regards to the Jazz Me Blues Pierce revelation, and some time later an equally excited call from Muggsy claiming it was all a mistake. However, after checking with all other parties involved, it seems Tesch and Muggsy were not on the date in question.

To top it all off, the Box had a radio show (Jazz in Review) over a Chicago station for several months. Experienced everything from a lost script (ad libbed the Fletcher Henderson show) to having a publisher hop onto me about playing a tune without authorization.

mecessitating apologies to George Mitchell.

One Box (Dec. 1, '40) was already written when a letter came in from Australia revealing the discovery of the Tesch Indiana.

Columbia has had a copy for months now but when are they going to issue the side?

There was that trip to New York a year ago when the Box got in soind with the walking jazz encyclopedia, Herman Rosenberg, and spent an hour with the late Jelly Roll. Visited the grand old man of jazz. Pops Bechet, and got with the little General of Java who was to bring those fine Harry Lim Jam Sessions to our Sherman.

One warm Sunday p.m. the Box came upon that Harmony with Louis (Box Nov. 1, '40) amongst a big pile of wax on the Maxwell Street fish market and sent it on II round of the Louis collectors for verification. "I hate the Beer Barrel Polka," roared Bill, waving his horn at the cash customers.

Just recently I got a note to phone Joe Oliver at a Chicago number. It turned out to be King's wife up from New Orleans. The story I didn't get was spilled by Crippled Clarence in a South State bistro where I had taken a stooge of a competitive jazz journal.

those of us with little or no voice could sing it."

In the first place I wonder if Mrs. Roosevelt understands the musical significance of the word "transpose." I will grant that if you raise the key one full tone this transposition will make the lowest note in the composition easier to sing. But this key would also make the highest note one full tone higher and therefore run into the same difficulty of rendition. Perhaps Mrs. Roosevelt had in mind the transposition of the Supreme Court and therefore thought it possible in music to bend both ends toward the middle.

It isn't how well we sing the national anthem, but how well we think when we are trying to sing it.

Ravings at Reveille

So help us, they tell your Sarj that this one really happened. Seems that Nick Stuart got up a fishing party which included, among others, Sam Smith, manager of the Grove, a spot where the Stuart band were playing. The Grove is in Vinton, Louisiana, which is the heart of the location of the Louisiana war game maneuvers, and the spot the party picked to fish was back in the woods about thirty miles from Vinton at a branch of the Sabine river.

"What's the matter?" inquired Nick.
"You can't cross this bridge," replied one of the guards.
"But I have to. I'm Nick Stuart from the Grove."
"And I'm Smith, owner of the Grove," Smith added, "and Nick has to be on the stand in less than an hour."
The guard said, "I'm sorry, but I have orders that no one is to cross this bridge. You see, we just blew it up twenty minutes ago."
Stuart, Smith and party argued to no avail and were finally turned back to get an okay from an officer at headquarters a few miles back.

"Yes, I'm a lieutenant."
Nick let out a sigh of relief.
"I'm Nick Stuart and your sentries on that bridge up here won't let us cross it unless we get an order from xxxx."

"Well, I'd certainly like to help you, Mr. Stuart, but you see," he said, pointing to a white ribbon on his shoulder, "I've been dead for two days."

To the Editors:

In a recent issue your "Musical Horoscopes" column contained an article on Glenn Miller. I resent this because like any other person with common sense I realize that such a thing as astrology is baloney. I am an ardent Miller fan and all of this astrology bunk should be junked because it is building up a lot of good band leaders for an awful letdown, and ruining a perfectly good publication.

Alvino 'Home Town Boy' Rev Had to Go Away to Get Big

by CHARLIE EMGE

Hollywood-The old story to the effect that a band can never get started in its own home town is proven again in the case of Alvino Rey, who launched-or attempted to launch-his career as a bandleader right here in Hollyberg launch—his career as a bandla couple of years ago.

In spite of a set of circumstances that should have been surefire, Rey finally had to pack up his "singing guitar" and head east, taking only a couple of men who held '802' cards—and, of course—the King Sisters. Rey had an A-lerew here and an ideal set-up inasmuch as he also had the KHJ (Don Lee-Mutual) staff ork spot. But all he could get out of the dance business was some casuals. So he finally scrapped the set-up and headed for Manhattan to start all over again. all over again.

Roturns to Palladium

Now Alvino and the King Sisters (who were likewise stymied in their "home town") come back to town—and since they have made to town—and since they have made their reputations elsewhere they move right into the berg's leading spot, the Palladium (Oct. 29). The band that couldn't get a break as a "local" is big-time stuff when it comes in from "outside." Just an-other funny twist in a funny busi-ness.

Gene Krupa, hitting the Palladium on top of sensational marks set up by Woody Herman and at a time when many of his followers were busy getting their school classes lined up, nevertheless hung up a swell opening night turn-out, pulling better than 3500 payees through the gate. Gene's pull with the youngsters is so big that the Palladium inaugurated a new Sunday policy, opening its doors at 4:00 p.m., to give the kids plenty of opportunity to get their kicks out of Krupa. Idea seemed to be a huge success to judge by the opener.

Los Angeles—The first session of the Los Angeles Trombone Club, a strictly dance-band-and-kick-music-after-hour-listening-party for local musicians, was a financial flop here last month.

Jones Writes For Enlarged

Los Angeles-Gay Jones, the boy who broke up his band in Seattle and came south to take a crack at the arranging field, is getting a fine start. Gay has been turning out scores for the Dave Hargrave band in Long Beach and is now starting a new book for the big band which Freddie Slack has aug mented from his Eight Beats.

Gay wrote a number of arrange ments for the Lionel Hampton band while they were debuting here on the coast last year. Some of which proved to be so good that they have become regulars in the Hamp book and will be used on wax as some as Hampton the Hamp book and will be used on wax as soon as Hampton reaches New York. Among them is an original by Jones titled, Standing Room Only, which caught on solidly during Hamp's stay at the Panther room in Chicago recently. A potent item in the complaint is that in which the exhibiton contend that they are forced to pay for the use of the entire ASCAP catalogue whereas a theater actually uses only a small percentage of the Society's performance-right holdings.

The suit demands the return of all money collected by ASCAP since the advent of sound pictures plus damages, an amount estimated to be in excess of a quarter of a million dollars.

Local 47 Plans Crackdown on College Bands

Los Angeles—Local 47's Board of Directors have decided to let college bands play between halves at football games "providing adequate professional music is engaged for each game." Ruling was typical of current trend in Local 47 to emulate the policies of Chicago's Jimmy Petrillo in "cracking down" on use of amateur massicians.

Just what action the '47' sathorities would take if the college refused to employ "adequate professional music" was not revealed. However, one step might be an order to radio networks forbidding the broadcast of amateur bands during the between-halves period.

Music in Movies:

What Next? Movies Make 'Tea' a Song-dance Man

by HAL HOLLY

Hollywood-Well, folks, it's out. Those rumors that Weldon (sometimes known as "Jack") Teagarden had been persuaded to do a Zorina in the Paramount picture "Birth of the Blues" are now a hard cold fact. It's right there in the that Big Gate squirms through in ters. a surprisingly competent, if somea surprisingly competent, if somewhat sheepish, fashion. It's a cute little bit of terping with Mary Martin and Bing that, according to our spies, was framed by Bing as a gag on Teagarden and came out so good it went into the picture. But when Weldon's old gang in New York see him prancing through that act! . . . Well, Weldon, you have our sympathy!

Ws a Good Show

We caught "Birth of the Blues" at a private showing on the Paramount lot after solemnly swearing not to write any reviews of the picture that would appear before Oct. 15. So we can't tell you what it's about but we don't think we're risking our Hays card if we say that in spite of a lot of hokum—all of it forgiveable—it is the best attempt Hollywood has made to date to give an authentic idea of what jazz music means, and it is swell entertainment from start to finish.

Check Hunts Songwriter

Here's one for the book. Most songwriters have to fight like hell to get their works into the ears of picture producers. When Lorenza Barcelata receives a check shortly for the screen use of a song he wrote many years ago, it will come to him as a complete surprise. The song is Maria Elena, to which he wrote the words and Spanish lyrics, and which has been bought through the publisher, douthern Music, for use in background music for Paramount's

Universal, in line with current trend to dig up some of the swell songs of the past rather than rely entirely on the dime-a-dozen, written-to-order songs of the studio songsmiths, has concluded a deal with

Vincent Loumans to use his unforgettable Time on My Hands as a Carol Bruce vocal in the Abbott-Costello opus, "Keep 'Em Flying." . . Speaking of old songs reminds us that a swell moment in "Birth of the Blues" is Bing Crosby singing Melancholy Baby accompanied only by Perry Botkin's solid guitar with Teagarden coming in against the sustained notes with rocking licks remindful of Bix on the famous old Whiteman record.

'Makes the Band!'

VEGA ELECTRIC VIOLIN

Lionel Hampton pretty well summed up the reaction of the public and musicians alike when he said, "Man, that Vega Electric really makes the band!" We wouldn't go so far as to say that but after you've heard Ray Perry take a brilliant solo, then blend in with clarinets or a muted brass section you'll agree that it's really an attraction.

The VEGA Electric Violin is a superb instrument. It plays and handles like any real fine violin. It has a gorgeous silvery tone and it reproduces as amouth as silk. Have your dealer show you one today.

by DAVE DEXTER, JR.

ONE OF THE REALLY great records of the month appears under the Will Bradley-Ray McKinley billing, and peculiarly enough, contains a generous portion of the orchestrated boogie woogie figures which this corner on previous occasions has branded as synthetic and unsuitable. But Bradley's "Six Texas Hot Dogs" unquestionably hit the proper groove when they cut Basin Street Boogie on Col. 36340. Mac sings two wonderful blues choruses, tapping his brushes as he chants, and the leader loses his lethargic manner in blowing the greatest batch of trombone he ever unloosed Also contributing much to the success of Basin Street Boogic are Lee Castaldo, blowing a gutty open trumper.

Boogie are Lee Castaldo, blowing a gutty open trumpet reminiscent of Armstrong's earlier work; Mahlon Clark, clarineting a la Goodman with a few ideas of his own to boot; Bill Maxted, beating a hefty gob of ivory which is as strong in the ensembles as solo, and Felix Giobbe, whose bass provides a complimentary note to the others' efforts. Far and away better than their previous attempts at le hot, this one has everything. And thus gets an unqualified recommendation.

Call It Anything It's Love is

Tommy Taylor and Peggy Lee it marks their first wax appearance with the Goodmen. Tommy sings Anything and From One Love to Another, neither of which is startling. Miss Lee does oken on Elmer's Tune, although she's hardly a match for Helen Forrest. Hest of the four is Birth, beautifully arranged by Ed Sauter, beautifully played by the band, and with two solo shots (Goodman's and Lou McGarrity, trombone) capping the performance.

Goodman demanded that Columbia not issue Elmer's Tune, but trooman demanded that Columbia not issue Elmer's Tune, but his pleas went unheeded. Certainly it isn't up to Benny's standard, but at the same time it is one of the best versions of a song which isn't strong anyway. All four sides made in Chicago.

Miss Lee does okeh on Ellmer's Tune. although she's hardly performances vocaled by Ralph Heaven are competent pop tune performances vocaled by Ralph Young. Okeh 6377 and 6367.

Sam Donahue

Skooter is composed and arranged by the tenor-toting leader. Four or Five Times is the classic immortalized by Sir Lunceford years ago. Both show Sammy's band to good advantage. Skooter is mostly Sam's tenor although Wayne Herdell gets off well on piano and a confident trumpet (the guy likes Harry Edison's stuff) also is top drawer. Times is okay but no match for the earlier Lunceford Decca. Saxes voiced six feet apart also rate a mention on Skooter. And Ken Maisel's Times vocal is adequate. Okeh 6358.

Cootie Williams

Backed this time out by B. Goodman contingent, the Coot abandons his plunger for a whirl at Louic's memorable West End Blues, one of Satch's most famous platters. And it's only honest to report that Williams does more than Louic's becca and the equal of the Armstrong original, for with modern accompaniment (note Lou McGarity's gorgeous trombone and Johnny Guarnieri's ditto piano) the Coot has an advantage. Chalk it off as a classic of 1941. G-Men on the reverse is at faster tempo and the plunger is in. Again Guarnieri gets off some breath-taking pianologics. If you know anyone around at this late date who needs convincing as to Williams' genius, this is the disc. Okeh 6370.

Rex Stewart

Cootie's ex-partner also has something to say on his own. And he says it, but good, on Subtle Slough and Some Saturday. Like Cootie, Rex uses a plunger on one side and an open bell on the other. Ben Webster, tenor; Harry Carney, baritone, and Lawrence Brown with his passionate tram all get small individual bits. Strictly in an Ellington groove, the nod goes to Stewart again for two exceptional performances. BBird 11258.

Charlie Spivak

And still this outfit shows improvement! Sonny Burke's imaginative, solidly-scored version of Let's Go Home (first recorded by Fletcher Henderson on Columbia) is just about Spivak's best, with the band getting a great beat. Reverse is a weird, descriptive piece titled To Your Heart's Content which improves with each spinning. Well recorded, too, on Okeh 6366.

Billie Holiday

Everyone's cut Jim by now, but it is the newly-wedded Billie whose version, although late, tops 'em all, including D. Shore's more publicized disc. Here is singing with a soul, and distinctive. Love Me or Leave Me also is first rate singing, and the band behind her bats 100 ner cent. Two bull's eyes on Okeh per cent. Two bull's eyes on Okeh 6369.

It looks like a month for trumpeters, with James, Stewart, Cootie, Eldridge, Castaldo, Shavers, Clayton and Spivak all drawing good notices. James deserves his for his acetate of Dave Matthews' original, Duke's Mixture, a pretty jazz piece with Harry's horn deservedly prominent. Coupling, Don't Take Your Love from Me, is unimpressive except for an alright Lynn Richards vocal. The fiddles clam things up. But Mixture is in there, and good. Col. 36339.

Plug One . . . And Hank the Night Watchman of Holly wood, the all-night record man with an audience of milliona looks happy as he starts to play an Andrews Sisters record. The jacketed gent seeking the free plug is Marty Melcher, road manager of the singing trio. Hank's real name is Bill Kelso and he's a pal of countless coast musicians and leaders. Pie by Ed Flynn.

Red Allen

A Sheridan Square is a little on the square side from a composition standpoint. Just a blues, at mod-erate tempo, Red chooses a bro-midic riff. But things pick up when standpoint. Just a blues, at moderate tempo, Red chooses a bromidic riff. But things pick up when Higgy takes his turn; his conceptions are from out of nowhere Ken Kersey's piano also is intriguing. Indiana is hurt by a bad intro and astonishingly poorly integrated ensemble passages. Bu Allen goes good on his own and so do Eddie Hall. Hig and Kersey. Summing 'em up, it's spotty jam with good and bad showing up alternately. Okeh 6357.

The Ink Spots

Billy Kenny's sickening, phony nd pseudo-dramatic tenor soloing and pseudo-dramatic tenor soloing (voice, not a sax) continues on Until the Real Thing Comes Along and Keep Cool, Fool, but the Spots are their usual confident selves when Kenny isn't belching in a falsetto. Still the most popular vocal quartet in the business, either one of these is tailor-mask for the jukes. But not for muscians. Decca 3958.

Misc. Albums

Best of the current crop of abums is Victor's Artie Shaw collection, similar in makeup to T. Dorsey's, recently issued. Frenes, Begin the Beguine (what, again?), Stardust, Back Bay Shuffle, Danging in the Dark, Traffic Jam, Moonglow and Serenade to a Sarage comprise the anthology of Shavian classics, and all are reissues. Stardust (with Bill Butterfield and Jack Jenney) is the best of the eight; Savage has no place

"Frankie Carle's Encores' are eight piano solos played by the Heidt 88 man, and include a group of old favorites, most of them standards by now. A rhythm section accompanies Carle's playing is not in the saccharine Cavallaro-Duchin munner. But that's about all that can be said in his favor. In Col album C-70. And another Columbia job has eight Ted Lewis monstrosities in album C-69. All are deplorably foul from a musical standpoint, and conceding that Lewis is a master showman, that asset is lost on a whirling biscut. Hear them only for laughs.

WATCH OUT for Time Was, Yours, You Are My Sunshine and Blue Champagne, above. All are on the upbeat and yet to hit their full strength in the machines. Other fast-rising songs due to hit the "Big 12" are Why Don't We Do This More Often? Chattanooga Choo-Choo, Piano Concerto and I Went out of My Way, all recorded by various bands and vocalists. For additional tips on which discs are showing early strength in the boxes, check Down Beat's "Sleepers" lists below. These are sent us by operators who are finding the records mentioned to be surefire coin-anatchers.

"SLEEPERS"

(Potential Hits in the Coin Machines)

BIRTH OF THE BLUES—Bing Crosby has the lead on this oldie, revived by the current motion pic of the same name. And the Bing is on Decca. Benny Goodman's Columbia version is the best of the orchestral jobs. Either should garner jitneys nicely.

HEY DOC—Woody Herman was first to cut this novelty, and his job remains the best one for most locations. Cab Calloway has an okay Okeh diseing while the Ink Spots (on Decea like Woody Herman) have THE vocal job, Coming up nicely in the East.

LOVE ME OR LEAVE ME—Billie Holiday and Dinah Shore, on Okeh and Bluebird, resp., have nice-enough records of another tune of yesteryear which is being revived with good results, There's little to choose from here with Holiday and Shore both turning in svelte performances.

WATCH THE BIRDIE—Sonny Dunham's Blue-bird of this novelty from the Universal pic Hellza-poppin' is stepping out in front fast. Harriet Clark's singing seems to lure the nickels, Gene Krupa also has it on Okeh but the Dunham platter is going better, ops report.

JOLTIN' JOE DIMAGGIO—A surefire click, heavy plugged over Eastern radio stations, this waxing omes just as the nation is World series and buseball batty. Les Brown has the only good record so far, on Okeh. Selling like mad in the East and already heading for some amount of popularity in the boxes.

NICKEL SERENADE — Another novelty which looms as a winner, Les Brown's Okeh is on the reverse of his DiMaggio side. But don't overlook it. Sonny Dunham has it, too, on Bluebird. Both should do well on all types of locations.

ISLE OF PINES—A slow starter, this lovely ballad as handled by the coin-machine king, Jimmy Dorsey (with Bob Eberly on the lyrics) is now making fast headway and looks set for a long, profitable stay in the machines. It's a slow, melodious Nat Burton tune which grows with every hearing. Decca. Watch also for the release of In (Nd Hascaii by Jimmy Dorsey with another of those Eberly-Helen O'Connell vocal duets. Jimmy himself thinks it may go as big as Amapola.

B-I-BI—A zany song, almost as screwy as Hut Sut, this novelty is geared for the machines by Carl Hoff (Okeh) with a nickel-nabbing vocal chorus by the Murphy Sistera. Hoff's first record, it may establish him as a "coin" leader his first time out. Horace Heidt also has it on Columbia and Bob Chester on Bluebird, but Hoff's is the disc with the potency.

Musical Horoscopes

Coleman Hawkins

by KENNETH ROGERS (Noted Writer and Astrologer)

Coleman Hawkins' chart shows that he has a many sided nature. There is a little bit of every kind of personality in him; no one part of it is dominant. No matter what kind of experiences he ever has to face in life, there is a corner of experiences he ever has to face in life, this nature which helps him understand it.

He can play any kind of music. Though having his Sun in Scorpio he prefers, perhaps without realizing it, a score which carries an undertone of moody seriousness. Deep within he is intuitive, emotional, passionate and somewhat fearful. He responds to his surroundings, other people, the things that happen to him. When things go wrong he feels it deep down in his soul, and can only find a release for his inner unhappiness through music which moves his own feelings. He likes to play because his inner forces are roused to expression by his own music.

Camden, N. J. — Victor records have tossed together the Ray Block choir and the Al Goodman band to back up Tyrone (Rough and Ready) Power doing his Balled of the Leatherneck Corps. It's a patriotic thing based on the exploits of the U. S. Marines. Power did it in a recent defense broadcast. In a gutty he-man style "Ty" gives a red-blooded recount of the Marines' work from then to now, describing the Tripoli trouble in 1805, the cleanup job in Sumatra in 1832, boxing the Boxers in China in 1900, and, finally, the landing of the Marines in Iceland. Nat Cole's Jazz Piano Wasn't Ouite for Church

by Sharon A. Pease

When Nathaniel Coles embarked on his career in professional music, he decided to shorten his name, the result— Nat Cole. Then came the inevitable "King," hence we now have Nat King Cole, pianist, vocalist and leader of the solid ing with Eddie South and his Orchestra.

Son of a Minister
Nat was born in Montgomery,
Alabama, 24 years ago last St.
Patrick's day. Four years later his father, Rev. E. J. Coles, moved Mrs. Coles and their five children to Chicago. It was about this time that Nat first showed an interest in music and began picking out melodies on the family piano. His efforts were encouraged by his mother, who played a little piano and was active in the direction of choral work at the True Light Baptist Church, where Rev. Coles was pastor. She encouraged all of the children to study music and all have developed into talented performers. The eldest son, Eddie, played bass with Noble Sissle's band for seven years and now leads his own trio in Atlantic City.
Nat didn't get around to taking have Nat King Cole, pianist, vocalist and leader of the solid trio which bears his name. The group, which includes Wesley Prince on bass and Oscar Moore on guitar, has worked together for several years on the west coast, where they developed a large local following. Their jump into the national limelight was the result of a dozen good sides made for Decca and a successful tour through the east. At present the trio is midway in a 6-week run at the Capitol Cocktail lounge (Chicago) where they share billing with Eddie South and his Orchestra.

Grand Terrace," Nat recalls, "and I spent many a night in the alley listening to Earl Hines for ideas."
The six years Nat studied piano, the schedule was on a strict standard routine, as his teacher didn't share Nat's enthusiasm for dance

During this time Nat played for various functions at Wendell Phillips and Du Sable High schools, for singing at his father's church.

Nat Cole's Decca Diddlings on 'Early Morning Blues'

"My church work was a constant worry to dad," Nat states. "I was inclined to play the accompaniments too much on the hot side, which often resulted in a familiar raising of his eyebrows that meant 'Tone it down, son, or take the consequences later'."

1425 Albien Ave., Buite S Chicago, Illinois

If you can't get mad and press them out you really are a ten o'clock performer. Many fair brassmen are pressing their way through some fine jobs, and I say more power to them. I would rather press and work than to use or try to use non-pressure and starve.

Poon't tell anvone I told von but Don't tell anyone I told you but there AIN'T no SUPERMAN, NON-PRESSURE or SANTA CLAUS.

non-pressure and starve.

I say that to point out to you that there is no such thing as non-pressure and that your biggest worry should be—find out the secret of pressure. There are really only two kinds of pressure, chop pressure (meaning base) which comes in automatic, and mouthpiece pressure produced by pressing horn and mouthpiece in towards chops with arm and hand.

What Could Be Clearer? What Could Be Clearer?

What Could Be Clearer?
Chop pressure is correct. That means that when you have perfect balance on lower and upper chop (meaning gums and jaws) your base pressure becomes stronger than mouthpiece pressure (a feeling like you are pressing chops against mouthpiece instead of mouthpiece against chops), and if all things are correct you can and against mouthpiece against chops), and if all things are correct you can and will use them subconsciously.

As the naturals say, you just take a breath and play.

In explaining why chop or base pressure must be stronger than mouthpiece pressure to be correct, I will use the following example: Compare your chops or base to a sidewalk and your feet as your mouthpiece. Now as you walk you are using feet pressure and are conscious of that pressure unless you are Superman and can walk in space.

But when you figure it out, the in space.

But when you figure it out, the sidewalk really is pressing or holding firmer than your feet. So it is when you play correctly from and with your chops. That base is pressing or firmer than mouthpiece pressure.

Now until you are master of chop or base pressure you should learn when and how to use mouthpiece pressure. So many brassmen become helpless (not tired) simply because they can't get in and stay in the groove (meaning they can't get connected with their correct base).

Some Have Hell of a Time

Some Have Hell of a Time

Many times the lips or embouchure between the mouthpiece and chops is raising heck with them. Some have a puckering condition that comes in ahead of pressure. Some have a tightening of the corners that happens before pressure. Other things can happen. All can keep you from getting in the groove. You can't even get mad and play, which shows that you are really being taken for a ride. To stop all these bad embouchure habits that are continually making you helpless, use the following exercise: Get on natural. Breathe and quickly press to play before any wrong things can take over. If done correctly, you can at least get mad and play.

Watching a suffering brassman trying to play with non-pressure sure is a laugh and I get a kick out of Superman, walking in space.

While in New York they worked a second recording session. It is from one of these sides, Early Morning Blues (Decca No. 8541) that the accompanying example of Nat's piano style was taken. It is a Cole original and shows his treatment of a fast blues. The second ending is not a part of the record but is one of Nat's favorites. At a slightly slower tempo these same bass notes could be used eight to a bar instead of four, by using a broken octave walking bass while the treble ideas remain the same.

Fats Waller penned this rifft tune, which is finding its way into most of the big boys' libraries.
Trombones on a light bass figure a la Little Brown Jug open up the intro with piano taking a 4-bar solo. The bass figure continues into the first chorus which features a trio made up of trumpet, clarinet and tenor sax. After the two brace choruses Livingston writes some solid ensemble in a couple of nicely orchestrated last choruses.

were with the show until it closed six months later in Los Angeles. The band also broke up and Nat snared a job playing solopiano at the Century Club in Hollywood, a private club whose membership includes many names from the movie colony. Here he was heard by Bob Lewis, owner of the Swanee Inn, who asked Nat to get a trio together for an experimental run at the Swanee. That is when Nat hooked up with Moore and Prince, and they have been together since. They clicked at the Swanee and stayed on for six months. On opening night, owner Lewis told Nat, "If we are going to book you as 'King' Cole, you will have to look the part," and produced a gold leaf crown. "I wore the crown for about three months," says Nat, "then one night it mysteriously disappeared. It worked out as I had hoped—he never did get around to getting another." The Spirit is Willing

This is that fine Jerry Gray original which Glenn Miller has been giving such a plug over the air lanes lately. It's a slow relaxed sort of manuscript with an abundance of solo trumpet work and unison sax lead. Eight bars of saxophone organ in the introback up the second trumpet in a plunger solo. Gray lets the saxes take a peek at five sharp in their unison first chorus. At C second trumpet gets four bars. followed by a pretty cup muted first trumpet lead. At E there's more second trumpet growl, followed by another first trumpet solo. More unison sax comes up at J, and second trumpet is again featured on the finale.

You've heard Master Crosby do this latest tune of Gene Autry's quite a bit lately. It's a 16-bar deal and a catchy little tune. After the brace choruses, which are split between the brass and saxes, the saxes spend four bars in establishing a riff background figure, then go into C with trombone on the lead. At D reeds get on a unison melody, while the brass play some solid riff figures. E is ensemble for eight with a sweet trombone taking it out.

This is another Woody Herman special composed by James Noble and arranged by Joe Bishop. It's in that typical Herman groove—the usual blues sequence of chords and instrumental solos galore after the opening rif choruses. Cup mutes take the first repeat with sax organ. The first repeat jam chorus goes to trombone. Tenor takes 24 remain the same.

Nat plays all styles well, slow blues, boogie and jump tunes. He does an exceptionally fine job on slow evergreens—when you catch the gang, request I Can't Get Started, for a good example.

Still Still at Log Cabin
It's surprising the number of small combos that stay on a location from one to three years. Indicates lots of rehearsing and adding new material to avoid boredom. Jack Still with four men has been at the Newtown Log Cabin, Newtown, Conn. over a year. It beats one-nighting, what? Remember the "Neighbors" back in '34 at WLS, Chicago? They've added another instrumentalist to their excellent vocal trio and are currently at the 2800 Club, Dayton, Ohio. Three of the lads are brothers, Verne, guitarist, Lorrie, bass viol, and Willie Quiram, fiddle, sax, and clarinet.

Jess Hotchkias, bass. Gail Olsen, vibes and accordion, Bill Brammer, guitar and Jay Cameron have been on the staff of WHLD, Niagara Falls, N. Y., for 14 months. Here's a field that hasn't even been scratched. Small combos with excellent vocalists and musicians capable of joining the staff bands on sustaining shots as well as commercials. Bill Alexander is going into WBBM. Chicago, with a quartet and girl singer, and other studios may follow this excellent idea. Of course the musicians must be outstanding in order to cut the stuff. Even if the small combo doesn't play with the big staff band, the material used must be well-rehearsed, the vocals perfect.

well-rehearsed, the vocals perfect.

Mike Riley, of Music Goes Round and Round fame, has an 8-piece screw-ball combination at the Brass Rail in Chicago that is really terrific. Herm Crone is arranging for the band, as well as playing fine piano and beating Mike over the head. This is blitzkreig entertainment, with a capital blitz, I've noticed many small bands using the M.C. technique, announcing each number along with a couple of quick quips. Mike goes all out with novelties that are packed with laughs—my suggestion is that you don't get too risque, though. Also actually play a number once in a while.

The Diplomats, a 6-piece band, now at Wayne Country Club, Tyler, Hill, Pa. have Graham Gardiner on drums, Gus Good, piano, Andy Hamilton, bass, (the Diplomat Trio) along with Freddy Masters, trumpet. Artie Seaberg, tenor sax and clarinet, and Al Brydof, accordion.

Music for You by Kenny Blue, Club Fiesta, Jackson, Michigan, using Ray Frappier, Ed Snapke, Larry Schwartz, saxes, Wallie Millard, trumpet, Wayne Hale, bass, Jim Appleton, drums, and the Blue on piano and solovox. Everybody doubles on vocals.

Speaking of doubling on vocals, many of the better singing outfits have the same teacher and vocal coach, who suggests improvements in vocal arrangements, and generally smooths out the rough spots. Some of the singing we've been doing for years can be rehashed, a crescendo here and there, a solo voice now and then to avoid monotony.

Sax Problems

Air Control Important For a Smooth Tone

by Norman Bates

Resistance in the saxophone is usually self-inflicted. There is always that tendency in saxophone players to force the tone before they have proper command of the instrument

Power, intensity and register ently guided with the same force ontinuity are all by-products of to the reed's edge. continuity are all by-products of the reed resilience. No other part of the instrument has so much influence over as many elements and yet gets so little detailed attention.

To analyze, the average reed is but a thin blade of cane which is vibrated by a concentrated stream of air. It is through the correct understanding, care and adjustment of the reed's fluctuation that depth and freedom of tone are obtained.

Illustration on Fiddle

Illustration on Fiddle
For example an open tone or unfingered note on the violin is naturally free and unhampered, whereas the closed note has a tendency to be stuffy. Through perfect bowing of the string and finger touch, a good violinist can make both notes sound alike.

Not so the sax man. If he has a muddy note such as a middle D on the instrument, he just tries to force it out, with the result that the reed chokes and stalls. What really impairs the tone is not the energy used but the fact that it is uncontrolled.

Take for another example the dub and the pro golfer. Both use lots of physical and mental effort in order to hit a ball. However, the pro's game is superior because his energy and nerves are trained. It is an odd fact but nevertheless true that coordination of mind and body and nerves are obtained only through the habit of concentration and physical repetition. Milwaukee—The hottest band in town, and we don't mean from a jazz angle, because they play sweet music, is that group working under Edgar Drake. Drake has had a fine band for a long time, but it wasn't until they returned from a disappointing road trip that they really arrived.

It was a pretty disgusted group of musicians that Drake brought back from Biloxi, Miss. The boys were contracted at Broadwater Beach hotel for six weeks, but quitafter only four weeks and, according to Drake, with more than $1300 in salary due, for which the leader has already filed claim.

Drake took his boys into the Wisconsin Roof ballroom for a few weeks, and the band sold out so heavily that the three choicest plums in Wisconsin dropped into Drake's pie—the Modernistic ballroom, the Schroeder hotel, and the Milwaukee Sentinel Feminine fair. It's the first time in Milwaukee's ork history that a band has had these three much sought after jobs one after the other.

ently guided with the same fore to the reed's edge.

Don't Anticipate Notes

Here is the whole difficulty: while we physically project air at the reed with the best intentions there is a maddening temptation as we play to anticipate the notes on the instrument. This anticipation of the notes changes the air level as it hits the reed, changing the timber and control of the tone. This is most noted on large interval jumps and on extreme high notes such as high D. E flat, and F.

Study daily for the best reed speed on the mouthpiece only. Keep the air at one level, noting the lact of resistance in the throat and the reed's resilience. Try to create reed freedom on the saxophone when you place the mouthpiece back on the instrument.

You will note that if the reed has freedom of movement and air level it will stop a great deal of the encontrollable back pressure in the throat.

For the best expression, timber and clarity of tone, the reed must work with the same ease of control as do the vocal chords. As an added hint, never use extremely hard reeds. Although they can be used, strain is bound to cut down your ease of playing.

Calls Lu Watters' Band Frisco's Contribution to the Art of Jazz

by DAVID ROSENBAUM

Each summer, one of Down Beat's most famous critics Dexter, Frazier, Avakian or somebody-treks to the coast and reports on the lack or wealth of hot jazz. For some glamorous reason the coast to these vagabond critics is limited to the Hollywood area, and the best jazz is relative Ilmited to the Hollywood area to the number of eastern name bands touring the movieland sector. Your Mr. Dexter notes that with Ellington, Lunceford, Miller, Herman, Hines, and Barnet, all playing in and around Los Angeles, the native cats are being sent as they never have before. Armstrong's. Many of the tunes are originals as Bell Hop Rag, and Yerba Buena Stomp, but traditionals as Ostrich Walk and Wolverine Blues are given authentic treatment. The rhythm of course is two-beat and the melody is played rhythmically, simply and direct.

geles, the native cats are being sent as they never have before.

Dex's Virgin Ears

Should Mr. Dexter come up the coast, stopping long enough in San Francisco's Dawn Club to listen to Lu Watters' Yerba Buena Jazz Band, he would hear a brand of music to which his ears have hither been virgin.

Lu Watters' Yerba Buena Jazz Band, although based on traditional New Orleans lines, has a flavor of its own which reflects the history of cosmopolitan San Francisco. It seems the best in jazz, or in any art form, flourishes in a turbulent and struggling environment. Witness the story of jazz with the growth of New Orleans and Chicago. Lu Watters' music with its rags, stomps and blues shows the influence of San Francisco's solid environment and history—of the Barbary Coast, of the Vigilantes, of crime and terrorism, of the struggle for law and order, and the hope for the future—all conducive to the original and best in the native American music-hot jazz.

To compare Lu Watters' music

jazz.

To compare Lu Watters' music with other jazz styles, one might with other jazz styles, one might say it approximates the recordings of Jelly Roll Morton of 1926 as waxed on the Bluebird re-issues, and the Hot Five and Hot Seven section rounds out with Jack Gers-back on bass; Wally Rose, piano; Clancy Hayes, banjo, and Bill Clancy Hay Dart, drums.

Dart, drums.

The band makes no compromise with commercialism and its enthusiastic supporters are backing, among other engagements, the week end Dawn Club spot with a half hour outlet over station KYA.

Tommy Dorsey, Bob Crosby and Wingy Manone have tried to lure members away with tempting offers, but the boys are sticking together to play the jazz they feel is right. Whether they succeed or not is another question — witness the sad fate of most small jazz bands. But their backers are working hard to educate the people to bands. But their backers are working hard to educate the people to the righteous jazz, and if the growing support is any indication of the future, this deserving small jazz combination eventually will be a commercial success. Musically, the Lu Watters' Yerba Buena ly, the Jazz Band has already made a niche in the Jazz Hall of Fame.

How to Make Friends Joe Reichman will always be a Number I pal to the W. E. Mooney family of Memphis. And he'll have plenty of other friends, too, if he continues his practice of giving a $25 Defense bond to every baby born on Sunday nights in the cities in which he is appearing with his ork. Here Joe is shown presenting Nancy Ruth Mooney with her bond, which her mother, Mrs. W. E. Mooney, Box 377, R. R. 3, Memphis, accepts. Joe also has been converting followers via his Victor waxings.

Aguinas Misses Smack Henderson: Wild Child' Jumps

by BILL HUGGINS

Rochester, N. Y.—The Aquinas Alumni association almost pulled a musical plum when it signed Fletcher Henderson's new band for a recent wingding, only to find at the last minute a previous contract prevented his appearance. Benny Sandler's bunch from Buffalo were finally signed and did a solid job.

Many are the changes in the former Roy Mack band. First the boys pulled a Sonny Burke by ousting Mack right out of the picture. They went under the name of Debo Mills until they imported Charlie Thompson, former Liomel Hampton pianist, and took his name. Then, after jumping from the P and L thru the Swing club to the Cotton club, this crew of aliases wound up under the tab, Swing Sextet. Gang consists of Thompson, piano; Jug Prichard, bass; Debo Mills, drums; Bob Dorsey, tenor; Salty Johnson, trumpet, and C. A. Price on alto. They feature an original, Wild Child, which does nothing but jump.

Paul Moore Is Coming Back

Raleigh, N. C.—Paul Moore, who headed the North Carolina State collegians for three years and gave up the band a year ago, is reorganizing, rehearsing 15 men. Band will feature Moore's 14 year old sister, Gloria, on vocals.

Local 8 loses one of its most Skiles Jumps San Antonio. But Briefly

by BRUCE BAKER JR.

by BRUCE BAKER JR.

San Antonio—This section of the Lone Star state got more this last summer in the way of jump than it has received in many a day and the cause of it all may be traced directly to one Mr. Dude Skiles.

Up until several weeks ago, Dude has been working with his six piece jam crew out at the Mountain Top Dinner club and, from the business, the patrons have really been getting their kicks. The band, led by Dude and his trumpet, comprised some of the best musicians in these parts. The boys supplying the boot were Shorty Brown, piano; Al Anderson, drums; Morty Carb, bass; Ted Skiles, trombone; and Andy Kelly, tenor and clarinet.

We had the pleasure of first meeting Dude when he and his boys came out to jam with Fletcher Henderson, who was in town for a one night engagement. Don't guess we'll ever forget the first thing we heard Dude play. It was Jazz Me Blues and with Dude's powerful horn leading all the way what a treatment they gave that old stand-by.

At present Dude is laying off and taking it easy, only playing occasionally for kicks, waiting for early fall, when he plans to open his own dine and dance spot here.

At the present time, Bill is busy finishing up a group of one nighters in preparation for his new career as flying instructor for the Midwest airlines. At the same time, he should play primarily to men, and to older people. He has an instinctive sympathy with age, due to his Venus in Capricorn. He may not realize this at present, but he will when he gets older. In fact, the older he is the happier and more contented he will feel, and he is apt to do his best work when he is pretty well on in years. This is no promise that it will be in the music field, in fact he is likely to switch to more than one other activity before he plays the final bar of his life.

Coleman Hawkins is entering an activity before he plays the final bar of his life.

Coleman Hawkins is entering an extended period of powerful, malefic transitory influences. These will bring trouble, upset, change, responsibility and worry. Perhaps bad health as well. Some changes in the fall of 1941 are unlikely to turn out as well as he expects. There are a number of sour notes in prospect for the coming 18 months, or more. He would be wise to sit tight, save his money, follow a regular life so as to keep his health in good shape, and stay out of mental, physical, legal and all other kinds of conflict. It was mentioned above that change brings benefit. Through most of his life that holds good, but not for this year and a half, or two years. If he could find a safe spot, a personal bombproof shelter where he could "hole in" and let the troubles of the world go by, he should grab it. He should try for security first, a big pay check second, and he will be better off in the end.

on station WJJD in Chicago. They say the kid really was from sour milk, his pluckings were that tucky.

But he developed, got to consorting with cats of caliber, and blossomed out one fine day—after a stint leading his own small Diango Reinhardtlich combo on WIND, Gary, Ind.—blossomed onto a network cigaret show from whence skillions of people's ears popped as they heard the boy pluck his amazing box.

The Man Just Disappeared

They say the kid really was the katy day at Johns How well as they kneed at Johns How could make of it was what Les already knew: that the shock he had suffered came back periodically and kicked off his nervous system.

popped as they heard the boy pluck his amazing box.

The Man Just Disappeared

By that time Les Paul was looked upon as no slouch on frets. But Les hasn't been with the Fred Waring show now for several weeks, and as far as we know, nobody has ever been told why he left.

Les was and is a dabbler in short wave radio. He had a ham station in New York. One night he got his wires crossed somehow and his equipment tossed out a terrific flash which coursed through his body. It didn't knock him out, but was plenty jolty in volts.

Les didn't notice any ill effects immediately, but a short while later, while he was working a job, his hands went numb. That happened every once in a while until he finally decided to go to Johns Hopkins hospital and see what was cookin' with his nerves.

The Mayo men convinced Les that his remembrance of the shock ing tone-qualities.

and its resultant momentary effect on his playing was by far the greatest hindrance to his playing now. And they reversed the sen-tence of the New York hospital.

Decision Reversed

"The hell you can't play!" they told him. Go on home and get out your instrument and pluck it to your heart's delight. In effect, they added, "and don't let nobody give you none of that jazz about you can't ever play no more. That's all—how do you hepcats say?—ickie jive!"

—how do you hepcats say?—ickie jive!"

Which was certainly heartening verbiage. When he learned he could play in spite of several eastern medical opinions to the contrary, he got himself a job at his old stand, WJJD. That was just two months ago.

The boys over at Columbia-WBM got wind of his being back in the jazz, and Caesar Petrillo brought Les over onto a job on the staff. Les is now featured with a quartet along with the band under Petrillo's (that's Jimmy's brother direction, every afternoon at 4:45 Chicago time.

And now Ben Bernie, on his five times a week Wrigley show from the same CBS studios in the Chi Wrigley building, using local staffmen in "his" band, is also spotlighting Les, who incidentally is playing as much if not more gitbox than he ever did with Waring.

Moral? If one M.D. diagnoses you as a dead dodo, try another one. Sooner or later you'll find one who'll agree that you're still good for a few kicks.

Sammy Richardson is back in own after nearly a year in New York where he stayed until he obtained his 802 card. Sam is arry smooth vocalist, an excellent arranger and plays tenor, clarined and piano. His services are very nuch in demand and if present plans materialize he is going to ead a terrific group at a new club low being built. In his ork will be iome of the best men in town all of whom are at present working in jobs which pay more gold but they are tired of playing schmaltrand will sacrifice the almight buck in order to work with a goooutfit.

Kaye Profits from Major Bowes Show

by ROLAND YOUNG

by ROLAND YOUNG

Bridgeport, Conn. — Adding another name to the roster of fine bands that have appeared at the Hollywood restaurant, Billy Passible of the Billy Rose of Connecticut, has been featuring Georgie Kaye and has fine crew and both the band and the club have been profiting by it. The boys are doing a fine row sound swell for four men, and are bowling over the natives with the showmanship. Band was a feature on one of Major Bowes outfits from the world with the profit of the comment they are causing in this well-known graveyard of the entertainment world.

Two Les Brown Men Marry

New York—A few days before Les Brown left New York to open at the Blackhawk in Chicago's Loop, two of Brown's men were married Ralph Young, vocalist, became the husband of Muriel Schwartz, non-professional. They were wed in New York.

Wolffe Tayne, tenor sax star with the Brown men, was married to Sylvia Chulew in Mamaroneck, L. I. Both took their brides with them to Chicago.

Eddy Duchin on N.Y. Location

New York—Eddy Duchin, back after an engagement in South America, opens this month at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel here for a run through the fall and part of the coming winter. Eddy's been playing theaters since his return to the States.

Harry reportedly doing all right.

Then Joe Griffin, another Enquirer Griffin, got interested. At this point Frank Sinatra, Dorsey vocalist, became irritated. Followed more fists. It was alleged that Sinatra took care of himself and one or two other guys nobly, in fact so well that he and Hank Sanicola (Witmark man going with TD) had to carry one of his victims out and down to the street. But no sooner had Frankie brushed his hands and straightened his tie than he was trailed back upstairs by his victim, who resumed his orneriness, whereupon Tom Dorsey himself had to polish the gentleman off. Jack Bregman of Bregman, Vocco and Conn was among the more casually interested celebrants.

Monroe Grabs Harry Jaeger

New York—Harry Jaeger, Chicago drummer formerly with Benny Goodman, who recently completed his "waiting out" time and got a local 802 card, joined Vaughn Monroe's band 10 days ago.

Jaeger succeeds Hal Burman. Irving Goodman, trumpeter formerly with his brother Benny's band, also is a member of Monroe's combo, currently at Hotel Commodore.

Threat of Strike Hits Theaters

(Jumped from Page 1) AFM. But a final decision is yet to come.

Bands already affected by the Warner cancellations include Tiny Hill, Lou Breese, Leonard Keller, Jimmy Joy and Henry Busse, all in the Midwest, and at least a dozen others in New York. Pit men are not affected inasmuch as theater owners agree they are em-ployees and that the theater should pay their S. S. taxes.

Whether niteries, radio stations, ballrooms and hotels will soon be drawn into the battle isn't known. Most of them must use live music. But theaters can get along on straight films, or vaude units, without live musicians.

From the start of the social security wrangle the AFM has warned leaders not to pay taxes. But many of them salt away the monies anyway in case the final decision goes against them. Thousands of dollars are involved with every band.

After the Warner execs balked at the new contract form, leaders of other theater chains reacted similarly. By Sept. 17 Petrillo was said to have flatly called for a walkout of musicians playing all theaters. But a few hours later the rescinded his decision and set Sept. 24 as the deadline. Down Beat went to press with this issue Sept. 22. Coupled with the AFM's trouble

Osborne, a 135-foot pile of sawdust used for power by the Portland Electric Co., and will receive a big hug from the Down Beat Quail club for climbing down again.

Getting Set for anything but their Friday matinee MBS web shot is the gang at right under the misguidance of their leader, Bob Trendler. Bob, left and down front on piano, is giving the down beat for this ham session to Joe Johnson, fiddle; Seymore Duggan, guitar: Cecil Reed, trumpet; George Poole, clary; Maurie Stein, bass clary; Roy Graham, drums, and Dmitri Shmuklowsky on bass. An Ed Feeney shot.

Long on Brains are these whizzy quiz kids pictured at the left with fiddler Johnny Long. The kids from there to here are Jack Lucal, 14 years; Betty Swanson, 13; Gerald Darrow, 9; Richard Williams, 11, and Claude Brenner, 13. "We believe Mithter Long ith a thinker, too," lisped young Gerald as this shot was snapped by Harold Stein.
