Deferment Stories And Wedding Pic Ban Worry Harry

Los Angeles—On advice of Jules Stein, Harry James has re-tained Henry Rogers, high pres-sure Hollywood publicist, to handle a special publicity campaign designed to off-set possible un-favorable reactions resulting from stories regarding the trum-pet player's selective service pet i status

Object to Studio Move

It is understood that both Stein and James blew their tops when MGM authorities let it be known they had requested a deferment for the bandsman because the studio had gone to considerable expense preparing pictures for him.

James doesn't want to be the object of anything like the snorts of derision and genuine anger that went up when MGM ill-ad-visedly tried to prove awhile back that America couldn't win the war without its Mickey Rooney movies. (An issue settled when Rooney 4-fizzled).

Beef With Photogr

Beef With Photogs The James draft deferment story was broken at a time when Harry and Betty Grable were try-ing to patch up a beef with pho-tographers. Lensers from some 30 mags, papers and services went up to Las Vegas for the wedding party except a 20th Century-Fox man, whose output was turned down by most editors. Incident proves again that making a success of marriage is plenty tough for celebrities.

Trouble arose when one band leader included several items on his expense sheet that might be considered dubious expenses and the theater men, afraid that Uncle Sam will come to them some day and ask them how and why they allowed deductions to be made for "new music racks" or for "entertaining business friends," want the government to make explicit ruling on what are to be considered legitimate expenses before they make such deductions.

SONNY DUNHAM (Reviewed at Hotel Shern Chicago)

(Reviewed at Hotel Sherman, Chicago) For the first time since he took his double embouchure from the ranks of Cass Loms and decided to build his own brass section around it, Sonny Dunham is hit-ting his stride. Somewhere be-tween there and here, or hither and yon, Sonny lost his Lunce-ford kick and is developing a new one. This one is a strictly Dunham kick, and believe me it's a good one. Sonny has two new arrangers, one for the rhythm tunes and the other for the melody stuff. Both are grade A. The arrange-ments are smooth, well-balanced and crammed with interest. Sonny has a brass section that is tight like that, with four

NEW CONN IS YOUR GOING THAN BETTER EVER

THE Conn we will make for you when production starts again will be a better instrument than ever before! Here's why: Conn's war orders have fortunately made it possible for many Conn craftsmen to work with the same tools and the same materials they have used to build band instruments for long years in the past. Men who have spent an average of 30 years spinning brass bells for horns now spin brass binnacles for compasses ... those who fitted and assembled band instruments are now doing similar work on housings for compasses.

This Conn-Built Bianacle (Compase Housing is made for the U.S. Navy and Is used on man types of asval craft including the new typ Destroyer Recort shows here.

Because of doing essential war work, it has been possible to hold Conn's highly trained organization together. This means that when victory is ours these men will be ready to resume work on producing band instruments as a unit.. they will have added years of experience and ability, plus tools and equipment to produce even finer Conn instruments than ever before possible. So, look forward to your new Conn-it will be an instrument you'll be happy to play and own! C. G. CONN, Id., ELKHART, INDIANA.

Story Just Misses Dave Raskin (not Benny Cart-er, as rumored), a run-of-the-mill movie music mixer, took over the Stormy Weather ballet, which turned out to be just another production number. The story of Stormy Weather, if we can call it a story, is a aketchy series of highlights on the careers of a dancer (Bill Robinson) and a singer (Lena Horne). The romance misses fire because the singer refuses to many years later she changes her mind and in the finale they ap-pear to be ready to settle down in a rose covered cottage. hinterland tours by the Los Angeles Philharmonic, San Fran-cisco symphony and other orks was news indeed to management of the Los Angeles sympho. Official of the Bouthern Call-fornia Symphony Association, which sponsors the L. A orches-tra, said that his organization had not been contacted regard-ing the proposed plan. Trade paper stories published here and originating in New York had it that the AFM had appropriated $250,000 for the purpose of financing free ap-pearances by major symphony orks in "smaller American com-munities." Move is obviously an effort by AFM's Petrillo to overcome popu-lar ill-will for the musicians' union generated by his stand on use of phonograph records by radio stations. Observers familiar with the costs of such enterprises stated that $250,000 at regular wage scales and other rates might cover a 25-week tour by a full-size symphony group, providing transportation could be made

Tonight I was reading some old comic books when I came across a Westbrook Pegler column. Now ordinarily we leave the Peerless Peg to his frothings, feeling that the more bellicose the bellowing the better the baloney. But this little gem

But listen to this light froth he mouthed up some time ago: "Certainly no other cheap and tracky fake in any of the arts has had the benefit of such pro-tentions indorement as the jam, and since jazz, the swing music of the last 30 years. But like some of Peg's (all his fans call him Peg) better known enics, it wanders now and then from the path of reason, and even now and then takes then from the path of reason, and even now and then takes off from the fine purple mist he cooked it in, skillfully dodges a fact, and comes around the mountain from the other side, proudly bearing a twisted quote in its teeth.

proudly bearing a twisted quote in its teeth. Peg Stabs His Toe Peg is undoubtedly the powie person when it comes to pen-pushing, but this is one time when he fell right into the gravy bow!. If he wants to splash the stuff over labor leaders, and they don't scream back, that's their look-out. But where the ex-sportswriter gets off on the sub-ject of music, he's strictly hitting the keyboard with a baseball bat. His stuff reads as though some-body had kicked him where it hurt and he had turned around to woof at the first thing in sight. So Ellington. Gershwin, and Wison are "bores," "ignore-masse," I'd like to make book as to who would finish first on an loisen-these gays or wisful Wes. Life was a lot easier then, wasn't it, Peg?

Boor vs. Boor By the way, just where did Louis Armstrong swipe all his stuff from, Mr. Pegler? You wouldn't be tossing a little wrong info around, would you? Or the more vituperative the venom, the less noted the misinformation? Could be, huh, couldn't it? Being a boor myself, I don't have man-ners enough to keep cracks like that to myself, I don't have man-ners enough to keep cracks like that to myself, I just bust right out and say things I shouldn't — specially when I'm around other boors. other boors.

other boors. Peg seems to feel that people think that jazz is really hot sizf, really rify-tify when it's played good and load with those good old baryard trambans mean-ing, and those jungle trampets growling, and the drammer cach-ling happily to himself in the background. Did anyone ever tell you jazz should be good and load. Peg? you jans dishes his fine jive in the offing. It's quite true that these tricks, the awful jazz that used to be pulled by thousands of red-tuxed bands playing Tiger Rag aren't representative of American mu-sic—but they were an indication of what was there, and what could be found with a little dig-ging. These things were only the surface veneer that lent them-selves to trickery. It took some of the boys coming along a little later, "bums" and "thieves" by the name of Armstrong, Hines, Beiderbecke, Teschemacher and others to show what could be done with currents running along underneath the obvious ripples.

Music Marches On I agree with you, that's a little silly. But fortunately, jazs has left both you and these other characters high and dry — it's gone on to forage in its own new pastures. I can't say that I al-ways like the particular meadow, but at least it's new grass, Peg— it hasn't been solled by a lot of literary bums messing around in it. Music's nice when it's well-played. When it's hashed over too much, especially when it gets' hashed-up in the hashing-over, then it's time to throw your darts at new balloons-you're wasting your time here. Boor vs. Boot your time here. You see, Pog, whether or not you like it, there is such a thing called juss. Skip the defining for the moment, last I pull some even crader boners than yours. There is something that people dence to, whistle, that musicians play and replay, that recorded on wax is good enough to be sold again and again over two decades later, even though the recording leaves much to be desired. Something even more impor again and again over two decades later, over though the recording tensors much to be desired. Something even more impor-tant, Peg. There is something about this "work of boors and ignoramuses" that makes men forget a lot of the dirty strife that you and guys like you seem to delight in talking about. It makes colored and white men work side by side, Jew and Chris-tian, American and Italian, gal and boy-for one end only: to make better music for the sheer joy of making better music-or is that simple pleasure some-thing you wouldn't understand, Peg? Extended to broader spheres, it becomes something I've been told was democracy-but I'm not too sure you'd under-stand what that would mean. I know I don't always-but I'm sure its songs aren't the songs of "theves."

Come off, Pegi Isn't it maybe that you're sore at almost every-thing these days—that you can't stay up with the changes going think that it's, ah, just a shade common. Come to think of it, jazz is a little common—the day it quits being common will be the day it dies, and all the huff-ing and puffing of viewers-with-alarm like yourself won't revive

Wann't it, Peg? But the jam wam't as good---and that's important, because as yet, we really don't have much long hair to boast about. Our jam, our brothel bingings, are something we should take care of. Like it or not, they're ours, just as much as oil lamps and chamber pots belong to your ers. Of course there are a few box chamber pots belong to your era. Of course, there are a few boys around who'd like to freeze things in jazz the way you'd like to freeze them in politics. There are some boys who claim that the only music of any worth was cut 15 years ago and no longer ex-ists. They want to quit right there

There are a lot of things wrong with your ideas, Peg, and with those that agree with you: both the purists who want to freeze jazz where it was, and those who there.

Tou're all wrong about swing, of courve. You haven't the vaguest dies of what it is or what it tries to do. Of course it makes mistakes. So do fabor unions. a blind alley. Jazz may have its moments and days of boredom, Peg. May even have periods when it drives you crazy. But think of the years and decades when every art goes into eclipse—and then think now much jazz has taught itself in the past two decades. I've got dimes to doughnuts your writing hasn't improved as much in that time, Peg—and I've got my coffee waiting. waiting.

So pin it to a brothel, to something low and dirty, so that people, the right people, will have nothing to do with it.

I'm afraid it's a little too late, Peg. I frankly don't give a darn and neither does anybody else whether the right people ever hear one note of jazz. We do-and will continue to do so-lit's our music our some our juricaour music, our song, our lyrics— and none of your indignant slurs will prevent our holding to it as a national heritage and one that we are proud of.

There are times when it seems to me that you're a little in-coherent, and this is one of them. # A Thousand of the FICKED LY MIKE LEVIN Hot Jazz Vocal Louis Armstrong I Can't Give You Anything But Love and Min't Misbehavin'-Decea 2043 (1938) Andy Kirk's orchestra, Andy Kirk's orchestra, featuring Mary Lou Williams Twinkin' and Floyd's Guiter Blues-Decen 2483 (1937)

Here is a prime example of why I like Mary Lou Williams' piano playing. Crisp, clean ideas, tastefully executed, a band plan-ist's ability to take advantage of what is going on in the band in back of her, and a tone that sings as no one else's in the busi-ness does. This is sterling jazz. Reverse of course is the famous Floyd Smith solo, on rehearing which makes me all the sorrier that he is gone from the band.

Med About the Boy and The Stately Homes of England-Victor 26147 (1937)

Victor 20187 (1937) There is nothing very unusual about the music on this record, except that it is a wonderful tune, one of the best Noel Coward ever wrote, and with the excep-tion of the Lena Horne vocadi-tion, this is the only good dance platter of it I know. The trick bass beat manages to hold up a fairly weak arrangement throughout a couple of choruses and even builds it up to a decent etimax. But the tune is still the thing, and this one is won-derful—or maybe you object to on you as good stuff. Okay, wo you don't like it. What am I sup-posed to do—tear up the page?

Deces 2043 (1938) Louis of course made both these tunes before on a couple of classic Okeh sides, the former being one of my personal pets. These, however, are no slouch either, being done with the Luis Russell band with the ever-pres-ent J. C. Higginbotham along for the ride. Reason for sticking them here is that besides show-casing that wonderful horn, they have Louis burbling vocals as only he can. Louis doesn't sing them—he" plays" them. By that I mean, the phrasing used is al-most exactly that he would use if he were playing trumpet. So you could almost say Louis has influ-enced singers with a "trumpet" vocal style just as he definitely did the same for Father Hines on plano. Get the difference between this and the ricky-ticky riffs most so-called hot singers use.

bone, and Joe Bishop his usual flugehorn. Considering the year, the arrangement is okay and well-played. What is even more interesting though, is that the band has no bass fiddle but uses a tuba. Unlike most of the tuba-men, this guy, a part-In-dian whose name I can never remember, plays clearly, in per-fect pitch, and with a beat that swings. The only other man I ever heard do this with a dance band was Joe Farks, now with Tommy Dorsey. But it certainly gives the rhythm a fullness that the same time doesn't mush down the tempo.

Old Maestro Fan Cleveland, Ohio To the Editors:

To the Editors: It was with a great deal of satisfaction that I read your fine article on Ben Bernie. I am an Old Maestro fan from away back. Although I am and always will be one of Ben's admirers, I recog-nize that if it hadn't been for Al Goering, Manny Prager, Dick Stabile and the others you men-tioned, old Benjamin might still be Phil Baker's fiddle playing partner.

Lioned, old Benjamin might still be Phil Baker's fiddle playing partner. I became a Bernie fan when his radio career was more or less in its infancy. Colonel Manny was my favorite isdeman in those days and he automatically be-came my favorite leader when he stepped out on his own. I'd like to get some of those records by Bernie that were men-tioned. Maybe some of your readers have some they'd like to sell. In Ben Bernie's heyday the Flanagan family was too busy wrestling with the wolf on the doorstep to be buying records. In fact were it not for our old Atwater-Kent battery set and people like the Old Maestro and all the lads, this is one kid whose early teens would have been de-void of musical entertainment. Off With Hats, Boys Middletown. Conn. To the Editors: I think you are all doing a great injustice to Benny Good-man. He isn't as good as he used to be, I'll admit that, but he still by a long shot beats Harry Jaunes, and yes, the great Duke himself. (Though I don't think him so great.) # CARMEN CAVALLARO

CARMEN CAVALLARO (Reviewed at Strand theater, New York) Armand Campros, who plays torrid tenor somewhat along Charlie Barnet lines, did not have even two solo bars in the Carmen Cavallaro offerings at the Strand. With Cavallaro's present tendencies toward swing and away from all-oul "society". Camgros could do a fine bit of selling. Standouts of the show were Connie Haines and Perry Como. La Haines proved her versatility in a group of three—Swing Low, Sweet Charlot, Can It Be Wrong, Little Brown Jug. Wrong was exquisitely sung. Connie, pert and pretty, should give the mood stuff plenty of play. She knows how.

The three fiddles-viola-cello string section added nice color to the back-rounds for vocalist Larry Doug-las' pleasantly sung Let's Get Lost and Dancing in The Dark, and came out prettly on their own in Blue Of Evening. The 4-man brass team was too abrill for comfort. Cavaliaro pleased his fans with several plano numbers, and even obliged with a group of requests, ending up on some pretty sad boogie woogie. He plays the so-clety stuff well.

It was Van who created the outit which Bob Crooby fronted sev-eral months ago at the Capitol Theater in New York, and he did a good job of it in remarkably fast time. Once more planist Alexander a good job of it in remarkably fast time. Once more planist Alexander has come up with a snappy crew, this time his own. Fronting a 15 plece band, Van has already whipped up some smart jump and ballad arrangements that sound as polished and listenable as any of the output of much higher-priced bands on the main stem. There are ragged edges, sure, but, as we've come to ex-pect more and more in these days of the draft, it's almost impossible to find any band, no matter how big its rep, that isn't suffering from personnel changes.

matter how big its rep, that isn't suffering from personnel changes. On review night for example, there was a new trumpet man, and a good one at that, in Alex-anders band, who hadn't had time to learn the book, wasn't quite settled in the section, and so suffered a few fluffs. Over-all, though, the brass, which is four and two, sounded crisp. clean and two, sounded crisp. clean and the rested in the inusic. Saxes were just as good, and the work of Aaron Saxe (former Red Norvo-ite) on clarinet was out-standing for ideas, if his control was lacking. Rhythm worked well, particu-larly young drummer Bobby Ricky, who certainly couldn't have received his classification from Uncle Sam yet and who has a typical young drummer's en-themasm for his work that can do wonders in sparking a band. Singers David Allen and Betty Carr sounded fine, and both make a good appearance on the stand. This new Alexander band hit these ears with as pleasant an all-around evening of music,

Jazz Flows Again In Swing La Several Spots Jump With Joy In 52nd Street

Hawkins, Eldridge, Holiday Contribute To Music Scene

New York — Our quarterly check-up on 52nd street and how

New York — Our quarterly check-up on 52nd street and how it's treating jazz shows much im-provement this time. Coleman Hawkins, indisput-ably king of the tenor sax, has re-turned to Kelly's Stable and is in far better form than he was dur-ing his last visit. To make things even better, the Bean has varied his routine and stopped using in-numerable choruses of Body and Soul under various other names. As a matter of fact, he has even changed his Body and Soul rifs themselves, and, on the night that we caught him, seemed to have recovered that old and won-derful feeling for ideas, coupled with the ultimate in breathy tone, that makes his jazz records the classics that they are. Working behind Coleman and playing the show and dance sets without him is a small outfit that has inproved considerably since it went into the Stable a couple of months ago. It's a mixed crew (there's no color line there! with Roy Stevens, trumpet, and Lem Davis, alto, the outstanding in-strumentalists among its total of six men. Stevens plays extremely fine horm, but would do better to six men. Stevens plays extremely fine horn, but would do better to nne norn, out would do better to skip the Bunny Berigan imita-tion, because however well he may do it, it's meaningless musi-cally.

Davis Is Terrifie Davis, for our dough, is easily one of the best alto-men in the business, has terrific technique and never runs out of ideas. There's also a young guitarist, named Ramo Palmieri, who looks as though he's going to be tops when he's had more experience and can handle ideas with great-er ease.

Also on view at the Stable is Nat Jaffe, doing a featured spot in the floor show and playing his own inventive and technically adroit piano adroit plano. Further up the Street, the scene continues to change. Mabel Mercer, sole custodian of the amusment concession at Tony's Night Cap, is about the only hold-over and ahe still drags in the smart set to hear her poliahed versions of ballads, most of them composed by Alec Wilder.

Warning Label New York-Have you noticed the change on Victor and Blue-bird labels on latest releases? The lines "Only for non-commercial use on phonographs in homes. Mfgr. and original purchaser have agreed this record shall not be resold or used for any other purpose" no longer appear on the labels. Victor lawyers say that when Paul Whiteman versus Radio Sta-tions Using Records case was lost two years ago, they decided then not to include above phrases, but having a large stock of such labels made up are only getting around to using new ones now. However, omission of phrase is probably significant somehow in connection with present or future Patrillo negotiations.

Camp Phillips, Kansas-This phote was made on the occasion of a coast to coast broadcast via the Mutual network, and the personnel of this infantry dance band may have changed slightly since then. Hoffman, bass; Pvt. Eines Schm there are two more spots of in-terest to jazz fans. First, the Onyx Club. which has been star-ring Billie Holiday and Roy El-dridge. Billie is still not singing at her best, in our opinion, nor does she sing often enough, but Eldridge more than makes up for her by putting on a show every night that is sensational, as corny as that word may read. His horn is certainly as exciting a musical treat as you're apt to find in a lot of wandering all over Manhattan in search for the stuff hot. There's nothing lacking in Roy's work: taste, power, range, tone, ideas, all are on view and in large quantities. quantities Brothers at Ryan's Finally, there's Jimmy Ryan's place beyond which the music lover doesn't go. The de Paris brothers, Wilbur and Sidney, front the band at Ryan's, play dance and jazz numbers alter-nately and are equally proficient at both.

All in all, there's been a change for the better on 52nd. It's a pleasure to report that the snake-dancers of a few months back have disappeared and even more of a pleasure to report that the quality of the music, spot for spot, has improved. If the night club operators are smart. they'll keep it that way.

Spivak Bandsmen Hob-nob In Hollywood Showplace

Hollywood—Four members of Charlie Spivak's band, cur-rently working at 20th-Fox in the Betty Grable starrer, Pin-Up Girl, after scouring the town for apartments in which to live, finally figured out a way to beat the housing shortage here, which is particularly tongh on visiting professionals.

Henry Haupt (sax), Dan Van-nelli (trumpet), Frank D'Annalfo (trombone) and Frank Ludwig (sax) pooled their resources and rented an elaborate Hollywood sories demanded by movie stars in their homes. Rental on the place, under-stood to be about $350 per month, when split four ways la actually not out of proportion to what it costs to get a family-dise argument that size apartment here.

aize apartment here. One thing the boys didn't fig-ure on was the scarcity of house-hold help. Inasmuch as the place has become a sort of head-quarters for the entire band and their friends this angle got so serious that now they have post-ed a sign to effect all guests have to contribute services in the form of helping to wash dishes, or some other chore.

Paula Gail Dies On Eve of Her Career Break

Carcer Break Los Angeles – Paula ("Pee Geé") Gail, radio and recording vocalist who died here recently following a tooth extraction, was about to receive the biggest break of her career. She had ust signed a 15-week austaining contract with NBC and her first program was scheduled just two days after her death. — Tau Gail never worked hard at trying to be a successful sing-er. Like some musicians play, she sang more for the "kicks" han the money. She used to make all the jam sussions here-abouts and participated in them for the fum of it. Ben Pollack gave her her first important professional break when she ap-peared with hit band on the years about and participated in them for the singer was 29 years old. Her husband, Sgt. Sol Meyer, is stationed with Glenn Miller's musical organization at Yale University. He came to Los An-eles by plane for the funeral.

Says Harry James

"It's a real pleasure to open the year book and find such a tremendous wealth of information-including some facts we didn't know about our best friends."

Chinese Trio With Hutton

New York—When Ina Ray Hutton brought her band into the smart dine-and-dance Hotel Astor Roof last week, she intro-duced a new wrinkle in band vocalists. Featured with Ina, (who is still billed as "Queen" of the gal leaders in spite of the many new outfits which have come up recently using either a maestress or an all-femme per-sonnel), are the Kim Loo Sisters, a trio of Chinese singers.

Goodman Double

New York-Trouble over a confusion of booking for Benny Goodman was cleared up here at press time. Goodman. working the Astor Roof here. was sup-posed to go in the Paramount theater four days before his hotel closing on August 7, which necessitated his doubling the spots. Paramount management didn't want it that way, however,

It was Haymes who did a similar lightning-like job of penning a Decca record contract a few months ago and whizzing out with several platter sides before opposition singers were aware of what was going on. The Hollywood contracting was conducted with identical speed and it was only a matter of days between the time nego-citations began and when the young singer was signed to the long term contract which calls for two pictures a year. Credit for the deal and for equally fast and choice ones, goes to Billy Burton, Haymes handler, who is, as they say in music game han-guage, "right in there" these lays.

"All of my machines, like the one shown above, were built for gentle handling of delicate cane. My cutters are so sharp they form the reed without crush ing or compressing the fibres which are so important to fine tone quality.

"Because my machines are gentle as a lamb in handling the cane, every reed is uniformly good. Many players, like yourself, have told me that every Maier Reed they buy responds perfectly. That makes me feel good, because, having played professionally myself. I can imagine how nice it must be to rid yourself of reed worriesnot to mention the expense in trying to find a few playable reeds out of a batch made by old-fashioned methods. "My machines are running at capacity now, trying to meet the demand for Maier Signature Reeds, and you know it's impossible to get materials to build more ma-
