Chubby Jackson Ralph Burns To Leave Herman

Chicago—At least two stars of the Woody Herman band will leave shortly. Bassist Chubby Jackson has already given notice and will leave in two weeks. Arranger Raiph Burns, the number one man in the band, will leave after the Herd's trip to the west coast. Also ready to leave was a star soloist, who asked to remain unnamed as he had not given notice as yet.

Woody when guestioned de-notice as yet.

Woody, when questioned, denied Chubby had either given notice or was fired.

Burns, just 23, whose arrangements have been acclaimed as among the finest in recent years, will stay on the coast to undertake serious music study. He will work with a private teacher, already selected, and during that time will put in for a Los Angeles card. To replace him, Johnny Thompson, now writing for Harry James, may be brought into the band.

To Form Own Band

Jackson, second only to Woody as a showman in the band, winner of most musicians' polis last year, including Down Beat, will form his own large band shortly.

The bassist's plans, still indefinite, include beginning with a concert tour of high schools and colleges in the east. His desire is to use the band as a vehicle for original music, little of which can find an outlet in the highly commercial dance bands, with arrangers such as Burns, Neal Heftl, Ed Finckel and other progressive composer arrangers contributing. He will use much of Duke Ellington's music, though not attempting to approach the Ellington band in form. Approached on the idea, and understood to be interested in sponsoring it through a youth foundation, was Frank Sinatra.

Others Staying

Talk of other star men, such as Bill Harris and Flip Phillips, leaving the band are completely unfounded at this time. Phillips, who would like a small band of his own, won't carry that desire through for some time. Harris, who, musically, is one of the few really qualified leaders, has been content with his featured spot.

DAR's Seek Deletion Of "White Artists Only"

Washington—Headline grabber at the Daughters of the American Revolution convention, which convened in Atlantic City at press time, was the "threat" of a resolution for the deletion of the "white artists only" phrase from leases involving the use of Constitution hall in Washington.

The currently applied restrictive proviso, which makes color an ingredient of genius, has thrown the iron curtain at talented personages like Marian Anderson and Hanel Scott, to cite the two most publicated performers in a long list of unsuccessful applicants.

A group within the PAD

cised performers in a long liet of unseuccessful applicants.

A group within the DAR, called "The Committee Against Racial Discrimination in Constitution hall," has announced it will introduce the controversial resolution. Mrs. Julius Y. Talmadge of Athens, Ga., DAR head, has called the Racial Committee unconstitutional and indicated that the convention's resolution committee would not approve the resolution's appearance before the 4,000 delegates. Should the issue be killed "in committee," it could only be forced on the active agenda by a motion from the floor backed by a majority of delegates. Then the resolution itself could be voted upon, providing it was not diverted by motions to set up a committee to study the matter and report back next year.

Give It Run-Around

As a matter of fact, Mrs. Tal-madge announced in her opening address the appointment by the National Board of a special group to investigate the ques-tion of leases at Constitution hall. Those seeking real action are determined to block this kiss-off. kiss-off.

Even if the "white artists only" phrase should be deleted, it is unlikely that swing musicians, white or colored, will ever play in the hallowed quarters of this self-righteous "American" organisation. New York—The first large scale return to pre-war pricing and merchandising in the record business is set for September, the Beat learned here last month from reliable sources, when Columbia Recording Corporation brings back the Okeh popular label at 37 cents.

There had previously been some discussion about issuing a special label at 75 cents for not jass classics; but it was reported that Edward Wallerstein, company prexy, vetoed the idea, saying that the reissue policy had started with Okeh and Columbia and would stay there.

Movies To Take Bands, New Victor Star Is Betty Rhodes Dancers Out Of Halls

The scene of our somewhat unusual interview is the store-room tucked away in the southeast corner of the White City Park ballroom, staid old edifice that it is, in Herrin, Illinois.

"I tried it myself during the war," he continued. "Most of the fellows were away—enough weren't left around to support big names. So I tried rigging up a screen and showed band shorts. The crowds were plenty interested, but the pictures were impractical. They were made for theaters, not ballrooms. These new ones I'm talking about will have to be made expressly for the dance halls."
"Sounds a bit far fetched to me," I volunteered, trying in my meek sort of way to appear important.

"I suppose it does, but the swing was leading that way in a more or less mild form before the war," Mr. M pointed out. "Soundies."

Soundles Coming Back

Park ballroom, staid old edifice that it is, in Herrin, Illinois.
I had my quarry at bay, being parked on a cracker box across the table from me. My subject and informant — the swaer, operator, manager, major dome and general impressarie of the White City establishment nigh these twenty some years—John Marlow.

Mr. Marlow teased a leg up onto the table, tossed another one everthat, and, after some deliberation, remarked, "I can see some changes coming in the bend business, Egan, mark my words."

I took out my pencil and marked his words.

"Yep," he continued, "the day int far off when you're going to see movie shorts replacing bands in some of these ballrooms. Not the kind of shorts the bands are making now, but special ones made to order for ballroom presentation."

Interested, I watched him with awe, which I use instead of spectacles.

"I told it myself during the Mills Brothers, Chicago vintage, were beginning to go places in some of the better pubs. Undoubtedly they'll be coming back again now that the Mills forces have reverted to their peacetime pursuits of manufacturing coin machines after a few years building fightin' stuff. You know, I said to myself, Mr. Marlow might have something there at that. But to him, I said, "I dunno."

On A Percentage, Too

Om A Percentage, Toe

"Yes, the day will come when you fellows won't have to knock yourselves out with long bus rides. You'll play the ballrooms in the movies—and on percentage deals, too," he concluded.

It's a thought, all right, and a very good one. Mr. Marlow didn't say just when all this would materialize, but I imagine he has in mind some six years hence.

Personally, I think it would be fun. Place has to be pretty dark to show movies, you know. Yessiree, there's heat in these blood vessels yet.

But, alas! What if they also take movies of the dancers to accompany those of the bands?

True, the bands won't have to go to the ballrooms—but neither will the customers!

Hot Club of Chicago Pays Tribute to Pat Chicago-The Hot Club of Chi-

Chicago—The Hot Club of Chicago presented its sixth jazz concert Sunday afternoon, May 19. The occasion marked a tribute to Pat Pattison, well-known Windy City bass player who passed away last April. Doc Evans' Dixieland jazz band furnished the music for this memorial concert, and some of Pat's best friends were in the band. Doc Evans and Don Thompson, two of the most prominent jazzmen in the Twin Cities, played cornet and valvetrombone respectively. Bud Jacobson was on clarinet, Bill Otto on plano, Jim Lannigan on bass, and Lew Finnerty on drums and vibraphone.

records and find out she sings as well, and the shock threatens to be complete. Lithesome lassic is named Betty Rhodes, a Pacific coaster mixed up in pictures, radio, television, and now new RCA Victor record contract.

Ben Kemper, the Victor publicity man here in NC has been been ding my car about this gel for weets, of the deak of Ali Bahs II, known to the less hip as Eli Oberstein, the brains and energy department at Victor.

Oberstein stated for publica-

Deerst at Victor.

Oberstein stated for publication, "This is the best looking girl, who can sing, in the country. We aren't thinking just of records either. Television is coming up, and she has already nabbed the title of First Lady of Television or some such thing on the coast. The point remains, she looks well, sings well, has had a load of experience—and we expect her to be the biggest thing yet on the label."

The Victor Routine

Oberstein is not generally given to day-dreaming, and the Victor promotion machine, once it really gets rolling, is an awe-some thing to watch. The boys in backroom press relations used to make bets that they could record the famed Victor Dog's bark and put it over the 500,000 sales mark within a few months. The press release Ben gave me sales mark within a few months. The press release Ben gave me suggests that "music critics and clefwise showmen know that she reaches a high note with vigor, then tapers or diminuendoes on that very note before portamento to the next lower note." Then remembering it's written for a Down Beat staffer, it adds "(n.b. portamento: passage from one tone to another in a continuous glide through the intervening tones)."

Evidently girl singers do this deliberately. I was under the quaint impression that they slid, swooped, and swirled for tones because they either thought it was bad taste to hit them on the head, or else just were doin' what comes naturally: being flat.

And She Sings

Portamentoing or not, Miss Rhodes has an excellent voice. Her diction is good, her quality warm and natural, her phrasing easy. She will never be the greatest singer in the land from the musicians' standards by which you judge a Bailey or a Holiday. But on the basis of the four sides I just heard, the Clinnie Simmses

New York—General Artists'
Corporation was approached late last month to handle the proposed band venture of Victor Lombardo—unsung brother and reedman of the Guy Lombardo Royal Canadian clan—but nothing definite had been set, Art Weems, GAC rep, told Down Beat at press time.

In spite of the statis quo information, three rumors were being bandled persistently in New York daily press gossip columns concerning the move. They were:

That Vic's split from the band grew from the "freeze out" arrangement under which he has been working during his eight years with the Canadians.

That he has received only a

That he has received only a salary since he has been with the crew, while the other brothers—Guy, Carman and Lebert,—divvy up shares of the band's take.

That the remaining brothers will take legal steps to restrain Vic from capitalizing on the fame of the Lombardo name in his venture.

Nevertheless, in spite of the trade talk, pro and con, Vic is expected to organize his own band as soon as he is able to line up the necessary side men.

and the Jo Staffords are in for real competition.

This Is Always and Somewhere In The Night (Victor 20-1885) are from Three Little Girls in Blue, and like the following I'd Be Lost Without You and What Has She Got That I Haven't Got (Victor 20-1885) are all played at tempo without any prima donna tactics from Russ Case's violin section. You is slightly up, and she does better by the ballads than by it, if only because the vocal quality isn't as rich.

Miss Rhodes will be the kind of singer who will stand or fall by her material. Given good songs, she does and probably will continue to sound excellent. It's up to Victor and Oberstein to justify their initial confidence in the girl by seeing that she is given the right tunes to sing from here in.

here has found a few attractive morsels to digest along with the bad.

Currently of interest is the change in policy of the Band Box, Randolph street dancery, which will go into a name band setup as of Lionel Hampton's opening Friday, June 21. And if that isn't emough, set to follow the Hamp are Lonis Armstrong (July 19) and Count Basic (August 16). It's pretty certain that Gene Krupa will follow, setting off a string of top ofsy bands into the small basement dance-and-drink club.

Management of the Band Box, part of the Schwartz and Greenfield chain of Loop drinkeries, are definite in their promise to use only the top outfits. They believe the location of the club will make the new policy a certain click, and that they will have their best success with nothing but top name units. Admission will be Konits, alto, Count Levy, plano; charged plus normal liquor prices, for all bands. Hampton will do short "concerts" each night. The Box will be redecorated and furnished with complete air conditioning for the summer.

Of apecial interest to the local cate is the setting of Jimmy Dale's mixed band, shich has been existing meinly on south side dates so far, into the Band Box for three successive of nights, beginning Jams 13. If the band clicks, and the management is interested in the jump band, Dale will be given the which spells kicks for those inter-Bauer, gaitar.

Several top young musicians will be in the Dale band for those dates. Among them are: Lee Konits, alto; Count Levy, piano; Pat Bouby and Kenny Mann, tenor sax; Eddie Bagley, Gayle Brockman (ex-Eckstine) and willie wells (ex-Henderson) on trumpets. June Davis, who left the Teddy Phillips band three weeks ago, may be featured on vocals with the crew. That depends, right now, on whether the small combo she is currently rehearsing with lands a regular band that a hip little south side spot, which spells kicks for those intervals.

The Hampton band plays a week at the Regal theater, opening June 6, before their Band son the 13th at the Oriental theater. And Woody Herman winds up six eventful weeks in Chicago with Thursday the final day at the Chicago theater. Buddy Rich's solid band, with vocalist Dottle Reid, trombonist Earl Swope, tenorman George Berg and trumpet Bitsle Mullens featured, is currently at the Shereman hotel.

New York.—Cleade Thornhill, whose hand opened at the Boston Put Ledge, in Larchmont, N. Y., May 29, rehearsed his new hand for a long period befove his first dance hand job since his navy service. That was just to make certain the outfit would be as smooth as his much talked about pre-war outfit. Claude is hoping to start where he left off them—which was just a short way off from top success.

By Michael Levia
In the current issue of a coast music magazine. John Hammond, recording executive for Columbia Records, had some things to say about the Woody ferman band, specifically that the rhythm section wasn't all it could be, and that the band issed Davey Tough sadly. In this day and age of every writer getting into print to protect his own special interests, deals, and record dates, it is a little refreshing to see someone with enough integrity to make a considered judgement critical of not only a personal friend, but a bandleader under contract to the firm for which he works.

Hammond can often be a shade whitrary and rambunctions, but he's honest and sincere, and calls his shots as he sees them. In any business that's a guy to have around.

As long as we are on the subject of recording executives, we might as well drag in Walter Gross, of Musicraft. I had no conception of how much work Gross was turning out till diving into the blue haze of records for this issue. Practically every third disc seemed to be a Musicraft date with Gross either directing the band, playing the plano, doing the arrangements, directing the recording, or looking worried on the sidelines. Whimsical Walter who enjoys good music. Watching pretty legs, and eating in that order has done himself a man-sized job. If he ever solves his current worry of how to play the plano and be in the control from at the same time, he'll the way right through Lindy a with a blonde on either arm.

completely perfect phrasing. Of course, having Ram Ramires as planist doesn't hart either. Two gel vocalists visiting the spot to hear Miss Jerome, applanded their mists off for her, and then started mounting because their accompanies weren't as good as Ramires. So now she's thinking of quitting singing for summer theater work!

William Morris gave a big party for Duke Ellington and the press at the Paramount theater to celebrate the public announcement of Duke's new Musicraft contract. These big cocktail spreads are a fascinating source of anecdota. My only regret is that they don't get John O'Hara over to take down the dialogue the way it comes out. One booker there cordially greeted a man from another agency, and literally thirty seconds later was busily showing a band-leader why he could do more for him than the friend of that so-long-ago thirty seconds. Little groups eddy and mill around the people To Be Seen, while everybody is cheerful to everybody else. Sinclair Lewis had a wonderful term for that sort of thing: Men of Measured Merriment—and brother, don't we all love it!

Last week we went into a spot on 52nd street, only to have the owner grab me and demand to know why we hated "be-bop" music so. The same night we fell into Condon's, and were told off for thirty-minutes by various characters as to how we didn't understand The One and Only True Jasa, the Infinitely Pure as Purveyed by Pee Wee and Pals.

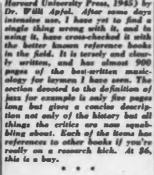

Pals.

Now, when you start getting it from both sides that way, it's time to start yelling "Pierre", which is French for quits. Both Bill Gottlieb and Eddie Ronan feel the same as I do: we ain't for nothin'—except good music played by anybody, anywhere, anytime. We aim to be reporters, not armed partisans.

Los Angeles—The Orpheum, only theater in this city which has maintained a "live show" policy, goes on a straight picture policy when Andy Russell walks off the stage following his final performance June 3.

However, Los Angeles will not be without a spot to play toprank name bands and musical attractions. All such attractions which have been signed for the Orpheum will be shifted to the Million Dollar theater, which is operated by same firm as the Orpheum and which has been renovated and redecorated at a cost of $100,000.

The new policy at the Million Dollar will be inaugurated June 11 with a unit containing June Richmond, the Ink Spots, Eddie Vinson's band and other leading Negro entertainers. Other attractions, formerly slated for the Orpheum, which will now appear at the Million Dollar, include the Red Nichols and Milt Delugg bands (June 18), the Lecuono Cuban Boys Band (June 25), Duke Ellington (July 9).

Vine street's Club Morocco has moved into the swing circle in a big way with Dave (the "Ace") Hudkins operating his talent exchange from there and installing a new set of interesting attractions. The Ace's initial offerings were to be unveiled May 23, included a new unit under Lucky Thompson (figured to contain Dodo Marmorosa on piano) sharing the stand with the Vivian Garry Trio. The Tommy Todd Trio, with songs by Linda Stevens, was to be the main attraction on Monday nights devoted to guest appearances by visiting swing stars. Looks like the Ace, who has been more or less buried since the old days when he was right hand man to Artie Shaw, is back again. Vine street's Club Morocco has is back again.

Do You Love Me, the latest Harry James picture, which went into production under the title fitten on the Keys, has finally been released and it's pretty obvious that' it was re-hashed several times to get the kinks out of the continuity.

James comes closer to drawing a hone fide actor's role than any hendleader to date. He's the third party in a "love triangle," with Marcen O'Hara and Dick Haymes in the other corners. We don't see may Academy awards in the offing for Harry but the experiment has sevelty value.

The music in Do You Love Me is carefully designed for the entertainment of movie goers who don't care too much about music one way or the other, those who are satisfied with catchy songs and are impressed, if not moved, by the sound and size of a symphony orchestra, regardless of whether it is playing Tschalkowsky's Fourth Symphony or a "symphonic swing" arrangement of St. Louis Blues, as it does here. But for those who sense musical subses, and there are a lot more of them than movie makers realise, Do You Love Me has few interesting moments. A "jam session" sequence that might have been a highlight is just another routined "jump" number, in schich only planist Arnold Ross gets a real break, and trombones are seen when accomplesses which Marjorie Reynolds will appear to play in hunted house sequence in The Ghost Steps Out. . . . So many people have commented on swell job Rita Hayworth does on her songs in Gilda that we feel called upon to note again that the voice is that of Martha Mears. . . Desi

There is a slight amount of surface noise on these new Commodores, but Barney Gabler tells me that they are using a 20% shellac mixture, which rank amongst the highest these days and that after a few playing the discs are far more hearable than the run-of-the-mill libreed. Too is certainly worthwhile giving the test. Lips has vocal backed by Ace Harris' plano, moving on to some tense by Lucky Thompson. All three are distinguished, this being one of the best of recent blues distinguished, this being one of the best of recent blues distinguished, this being one of the best of recent blues distinguished, this being one of the best of recent blues distinguished, this peing one of the best of recent blues distinguished that a Thompson there touch that goes, giving way be lips with far purer horn touch that goes, giving way be lips with far purer horn to than he has shown in recent years. Big Bid Catlett is his used drums. (Commodore 571)

Tch-tch, but Ted Nash gets of some pretty tenor, both idea and tone, though with a vibrate so wide you wonder how he manages to hold it under control. The rhythm balance on Sun, isn't to good—makes it sound a bit stiff. Trumpet of Joe Thomas is restrained and intelligently phrased, while leader Tough only solo contribution is a sol pedal role at Sun's setting. Mais medium-tempoed and start to rock during Bernie Leighten piano chorus, continuing will to rock during Bernie Leightsan piano chorus, continuing with Nash and Thomas. Get the tits 34 time Leighton plays back of Nash. This one has a little hance trouble too, with Tought cymbaling showing up a minheavy. Smiling speeds unascountably during the first chorus, with the whole side sounding a little confused. Love has a demonstration by Thomas as how to play a lead chorus make it different. Surface this one is pretty bad. (Jambore 906-7)

Some roster! Jack and Charlie Teagarden on tram and trumpet; BG, clarinet; Venuti, violin; Lang, guitar; and Frankie Signorell, piano; Ward Lay, bass; Neil Marshall, drums. Originally issued in 1931 on Vocalion, these nave many things which still stand up today. Gone spots that melodic rhythm which Lang dayed so well, some straight Goodman clary, plus the Teagarden brothers justifying their reputations, and Venuti playing a double-time chorus. Rhythm section couldn't hold em down at the end though. One of the country's best fiddle men listening to these records the other night said, "If only Venuti had stayed up with the harmonic colorings of the past ten years, he would be busting things wide open today." Farewell sounds especially interesting when you compare it with the 12 inch recording the Dorsey Brothers made in 1935 of Weary Blues for the similarity in ideas of BG and J. Dorsey. Beale and Gone have Big Gate Teagarden vocals, while Sweetheart has an almost classical intro by Goodman, leading into good solos by all concerned. This is no album of just historical interest. There is a lot of fine must here for all tastes in Jazz. The recording is astonishingly good for 15 years ago. (Brunswick Album 102)

Kansas City Six

| Three Little Words | Four O'Clock Drag

Words, cut in March '44, was taken at one of those in-between tempos which happen to the best of men at the best of sessions. The Six, including Lester Young, Jo Jones, and John Simmons (bass) just didn't make it happen here. Best bit is Bill Coleman's trumpet contrib against a Dicky Wellish sounding riff. Joe Bushkin's usually flawless piano shows some fuzzy phrasing and several mistakes on the opening. He sounds much better on Drag, a slow blues, with Wells (trombone) and Young showing to advantage too. (Commodore 573)

Vide Musse's All-Stars

11 Moose On 4 Loose

Mose tears in with Vido preading himself to some quasi-rhumba drumming. Tune the sub-dominant, tonic, dominant tick with scored breaks. Back to tome more of the opening effect with trombonists Kai Winding and Gene Roland helping Vido walk it out. Jam is another demonstration of the tremendously powerful Musso sax attack with Bafranski playing bass up near the 42nd position. Ending is quite something, on the order of the surprises Hawkins used to tack onto the old Fletcher Henderson sides. (Savoy 599)

Lips Page

ff These Poolish Things
If Six, Seven, Eight, Or Nine

This is another '44 recording session, Things starting off with 8 bars four-way ensemble split between Lips (trumpet) and the Hammond, Bostic and Byas saxes. It's pretty and effective, Shifts up a whole tone to E-flat for Byas sole backed by Clyde Hart piano. This isn't just "mellow-as-a-cello" blowing; there are very listenable ideas scattered throughout. Last chorus closes as the record starts, but with open voicing and Lips up an octave. Embryo recording directors could afford to emulate the air of careful attention this side shows. Nine is another of them good Page blues, both as to trumpet and vocal. The title refers to the number of children around the house, with Lips worried about the rightful papa. (Commodore 574)

Red Nichols and His Five Pennies

This is another re-issue of sides made between 1926 and 1928 with Jimmy Dorsey, Pee Wee Russell, and Fud Livingston splitting the clarinet roles, Eddie Lang and Carl Kress doing guitar along with Dick McDonough's banjo, and regulars Miff Mole (trombone), Adrian Rollini (bass sax) and Vic Berton (drums). Arthur Schutt plays all the piano sides except Feelin' and Ida, done by Lenny Hayton.

Ida has the open trio voicing with lead carried on bass sax that Nichols liked to use. On this record, as on the majority, Vic Berton experiments with Kettle drums back of solos. The idea is good, but it certainly doesn't always come off here. This side was Pee Wee's first NYC date. His solo sounds like unperturbed Russell.

Pain has something played by Rollini which sounds like Pee Wee's first NYC date. His solo sounds like unperturbed Russell.

Pain has something played by Rollini which sounds like a mouth organ, but which was a bastard sax of Adrian's own invention. It also ends on an unresolved major 7th which may bother you a little. Avalon certainly cheats on the label: there were 8 men on the date, with Leo McConville added on trumpet and Dudley Fosdick playing a chorus on mellombone and actually making that cumbersome hunk of tubing sound like something, after a celeste chorus by Schutt.

The album's notes say "the closing ensemble is in that hell-for-leather manner still favored in small-band work." The brass parts are completely scored—so where is the legend that Chicagoites didn't read music at all? It isn't claimed that these are records you will play every night at twilight. But I found a lot of interesting things on them, especially Nichols' trumpet and Kress' guitar. It was a simpler, and less affected day and these discs make a welcome change, even if those kettle drums scare you a little.

MEMBER OF AUDIT (AH) BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

Does The Publisher Know What's Best?

going to play his music—and make it stick? It looks that way, according to a current argument between a large radio and agency, J. Walter Thompson Co., and a publishing firm in New York City.

The ad agency requested permission of the publishers to do a parody version of two of their old tunes on a big radio show. Max Dreyfus, the publisher, said nix—t'would hurt the value of the tunes too much. Dreyfus, who controls subsidiaries owning Kern. Gershwin, and other name catalogues, has in the past refused to okay recordings of evergreen tunes by dance orchestras, claiming the treatment was too jazzed up for his tastes.

Now there is a very nice point of etiquette involved here. We feel sure that the publisher wouldn't want to say bluntly in print, "We are all-intelligent and able to determine the best way our music should be played—therefore we reserve the right to tell orchestra leaders and crack musicians the y in which they WILL interpret our numbers."

Nobody wants to say anything like that—it doesn't look ce. Makes for trouble over the coffee cups and the word would go round the sporting circles that on Mr. X a tri-cor nered hat would look well.

No, the usual arguments advanced in this sort of situati are that allowing dance bands or jazz musicians to vary the nature of the song, ruins its value commercially. (Incidentally, it took some months to get permission for the Hawkins recording of Yesterdays.) Wherefore leave us look at the record: Freddy Martin and sundry other gentry did a whipsnorter of a job on the Tschaikovsky Piano Concerto. Result: the year after the Martin record came out. RCA Victor sold more copies of the original version of the Concerto than of its entire catalogue a few years before. The same has been true of every other classic re-adapted to a dance version.

Perhaps this is a special case—how about the classic iazz ballads. What happens to them when they get bashed and mangled at those various and awful things those jazz musicians call "jam sessions"—the term itself should be enough to warn you.

Take Stardust (which incidentally was first played as a stomp tune). It has been recorded in every manner known to man and musician. Kazwo artists, accordionists, Louis Armstrong, the Boston Pops, and even that Benny Goodman have recorded it. Unfortunately Stardust is still a classic favorite with the American public.

Thus it would seem there is at least reasonable evidence for believing that well-known ballads or even classic works lose neither their monetary nor their popular value when given over to the brutish hands of the dance musicians and their foul ways.

Which leaves us with the dilemma of why Mr. Dreyfu-which leaves us with the dilemma of why Mr. Dreytus feels as he does about his catalogues. We don't know—and so far, we haven't been able to get a satisfactory answer.

We do feel that this sort of thing is dangerous. It's a small point of course. But in so far as is possible, no one man or small group should have the ability to step in and tell artists. what they will and won't do before they can perform. Can you imagine the howl that would go up if Petrillo tried it? And heaven knows there is precedent for it in classical music. We don't imagine Haydn would feel too happy about what Brahms did to his St. Anthony Chorale in the famed Variations, except that he would have been too good a musician not our wee hour music—and they came through!

It's honestly an insult to our overseas neighbors—I mean all those 10-year old discs by English music hall combos that are passed off here as UK jive! Believe a horn man, they have outfits that can stand up to any of our modern bands of the Spivak-Monroe class. And Beryl Davis, Heath's chirp, is a honey of a vocalist with a smooth, mellow flavor. She's clearer voiced than Tilton or Stafford . . and you know how swallow-throated are Martha and Jo.

that come out of the laboratory, but you have to admit that without 'em, come no inventions.

It's the same process with music. There is no person, Toscanini or no, big enough or musically competent say: "This is right, and sh be, and this must cease," Our recent opponents in Germany had a flunky grand-son of Richard Wagner who per Richard Wagner who per-formed that task—it would be a pity to see even the symptoms crop up here. We don't think that the ople concerned in this affair feel that they are being dictatorial or that they intend to do anything but protect their business interests, as they certainly should.

The Beat, however, opines that dictating artistic policies, regardless of the reason, is messy stuff, and can have only harmful effects in the long

We honestly believe that to recognize the merit of the changes.

Certainly Leopold Stokowski playing the Bach Toccata and Fugue in D Minor is a far ery from the original score. Yet there is a place and a recognized one for his musical forensics.

All art and certainly music can only go ahead by experiment. You may not like the particular smells and odors publishers cannot affect the long-run value of their tunes by this sort of flat censorship. We hope that a way can be found to eliminate the policy

As I haven't noticed it yet in the Beat, I would like to thank As I haven't not the Beat, I would like to thank the British music world for giving us GI's in the ETO some of our own brand of licks. I wish we could get some of the more recently waxed UK swing. They would prove interesting. Especially stuff by Paula Green.

All Out For Bob

To the Editors:

Erie, Pa

To the Editors:

How about giving a good guy a break? I mean Bob Eberly. Bob's a civilian once again and he deserves a big welcome back to the music world, yet I've seen only one little mention of him in the Beat. How come? While other, more fortunate, singers were blissfully going on with their careers during the war years, Bob had to postpone his going out as a single until he was discharged. We're not saying he shouldn't have had to become a soldier—rather—we're really proud he was, but now let's show him we missed him and are really happy to see him again. In other words, let's treat Bob Eberly as he deserves to be Bob Eberly as he deserves to be treated, the best is none too good. Virginia E. Wellington.

Ray Robbins Crew Clicks

Some of you collectors who are then to the discog" will recall a record by Eddle Cole and his Solid Swingers. They made four sides on Decca back during the indiale thrities; on 7210 Bedtime and Honey Hush, on 7215 Thunder and Stompin at the Panama. The personnel included Nat "King" Cole (piano), Bill Wright (tenor). Eddle Cole (bass), Kenneth Rhone (trumpet), Tommy Thompson (tenor), and Jimmy Adams (drums).

Xing Cole has since become quite famons but this article concerns Bill Wright, the tenor sax and clarated man. Wright entered the Chilago jax seene as a member of the Harlem Playgirls (all-girl orchestra) as arranger in 1932. He mextined Jimme Noone on a Southern tour that lasted until January, 1935.

His next assignment was staff arranger and tenor man with Nat Cole's band. After several

His next assignment was staff arranger and tenor man with Mat Cole's band. After several years Cole decided to give up the large band idea and to concentrate on the Trio. Bill took over the Cole band and brought it back to Chicago from California to open at the Platinum Lounge following Noone in August, 1937. Others in the group were Shorty McConnell (trumpet now with Eckstine) Ray Nance's wife, Melrome Colbert, as vocalist, Prentice McCarey was on piano, Frank Derrick, alto and violin, and Henry Fort on bass. Red Saunders present alto, Nat Jones, made up the balance of the first Billy Wright band.

The outfit played such spots as Bill Heasley's Esquire Club, Toronto: Chicago's Cotton Club: Husk O'Hare's Coccanus Grow roadhouse; and Relph Marco's Town Club in Cicero. Finally they followed Roy Eldridge into Sam Beers' jamous Three Dences.

Bill Wright has been in the service for the past few years and just recently was discharged. He has now organized a new band with John Burton, plano; Joe Brooks, trumpet; Charles Griggith, vocal; Roy King, bass and the leader on tenor sax and clarinet.

Bob, who is 26. was born in Baltimore, Md. Later he moved with his parents to Millville, N. J. When eight, his parents suggested that he start piano lessons. "I told them I would rather learn to play a saxophone." Bob recalls, "but they thought I was too young so I agreed to take piano until I was 12 before shifting to the sax. However, by that time I wanted to continue with piano."

He played plano with the dance orchestra and trumpet with the military band. The unit was sent to the South Pacific early in 1945. While stationed on Tinian Island he met Jack Teagarden, Jr., son of the band leader. Apparently Jack's enthusiastic letters to his dad paved the way for Bob. Just three weeks after his release from the army, early this year, he joined Teagarden's orchestra. "It was a great break for me," says Bob. "I sure enjoy playing with Jack—he is a great fellow and a great musician." Uses Original Blues

As a piano style example, Bob has chosen an original titled Tinian Blues. His sensitivity to tone relation and harmonic baltone relation and harmonic bal-ance is reflected in the careful voicing employed throughout. The harmonic structure follows the traditional blues pattern with the clever use of chromat-ics, a half-step above, resolving into fundamental harmony. A typical example of this de-vice occurs in measures 9 and 10 of the first chorus. The fundamental harmony is dominant throughout both measures. A second degree, C minor, chord substitutes readily for the fifth degree seventh on the first two counts, falling full dominant on the third count. The chromatically raised second degree chord, on count four, resolves back to the original second degree triad on count one of the next measure.

Don Monblow on guitar.

Boys warmed to the occasion after intermission and Gay did his terrific version of Ellington's Cotton Tail, among others. Getz came back with Stage Door Bounce, an original, highlighting tasty piano by Les Zahorik and the quintet's steady rhythm work. For a finale the two groups got together and jammed on Exactly Like You.

Show was MC'd by Jerry Duke whose pioneering (for this town) opened the door for future sessions of this kind. Both he and Nick Gentilli indicated that they would sponsor like shows in the near future.

Art Jarrett To Front New Band

Los Angeles—Art Jarrett, released from navy last March, will front a new band now being organized here with Porky Dankers as musical director and part owner. Dankers was musical director and sax player with Hal Kemp for 12 years.

Saxman Les Cooper, also of the old Kemp band, is also associated with new outfit, which will be set up with four rhythm, five brass and five saxes. Singers Joan Lorry and Chuck Johnson have been signed. Bill Young, recently with Gene Krupa, joins Jarrett as road manager.

Band was slated to open May 30 at the Plantation in Houston. MCA booking.

Kenwick-On-the-Lake Will Feature Names

Sarnia, Ont.—Finishing touches of the $15,000 job on Kenwick-On-the-Lake were being hurried for a summer season of house and name bands. Kenwick will feature name bands on the weekends and a house band through the week. Proprietor, Jack Kennedy, (plays trumpet, plano and accordion) has operated a similar set up in the Kenwick Terrace using his own band as house unit, with 14 pieces. Saturday night stints have been handled by Les Brown, Tony Pastor, Johnny Scat Davis, Lionel Hampton, Tommy Dorsey, among others. others. -Lou Cramton

YES - I SAID "SUPER-CHARGE"

That's a quick way to describe what will happen when you slip one of my latest reeds on your mouthpiece.

You'll find that your tone is livelier.

And you'll find that your born has a snappier response.

If you're like a lot of fellows I know, you'll find that my reeds make stand-out performance as easy as falling off a log.

WHAT'S THE REASON?

Look at a Maier reed closely. The vamp, or cut part, is long. The butt is short. The center of the vamp has a definite "spine."

The proportions of these parts were worked out over a period of years into a design that I found made almost any instrument more playable. Now take a look at the cane used in a Maier reed-the come not the color. (I proved long ago that you can't play color in a reed!)

Look at those long fibres.

I pick my cane from the biggest crop of top quality cane available today. My graders and I go over this crop with a "fine tooth comb." We pick out only those pieces that have the long, live fibres that mean extra-easy blowing and extra-long durability. LAST BUT NOT LEAST

We cut this beautiful cane on my exclusive machines. Diamond-sharp cutters carve out the reed shapes so quickly and gently that all of the virgin vitality of the cane remains to add new beauty and glamour to your tone.

DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT!

Call for some of my Maier reeds at your music dealer's this week. They're often a bit scarce, but keep trying. The supply situation is improving.

You'll find that the extra zip and longer life of Maiers make them well worth the extra nickel they cost.

I hope you'll check all my statements. I'd be glad to have your frank comments on the results of your personal tests.

New Spot Readies
It so happens that Dave Rosenberg, who opened the Club Ball here, has already begun a $150,000 ballroom on 9th and V sta, N.W., that will feature sepia attractions. It should be ready in the fall and will hold some $,000 people (as against nearly 1,000 at Constitution hall). However, the ballroom still doesn't provide a final solution for jazz concerts or even for those dances seeking white admissions.

All of this sounds relatively easy at a talking pace and without motion pictures. But don't forget that Gomes is moving like lightning all the time these techniques are being used. And those of you who play piano will note with chagrin that the man can play easily an eight-note-a-forth between NYC and South admericate to get his visa renew can play easily an eight-note-a-second trill with the last two fin-gers on his left hand!

Gomes and Segovia

Comes and Segovia

The immediate question to all of this is: is he better than Segovia? I'm no guitar player—all I can tell you is that he has more to offer than Segovia. His classical technique is so close to perfection that Segovia tan't top him by too much, while he has the whole gaunt of fiamenco playing to offer which Segovia has never even attempted.

The man is not just a musician either. The wonderful score for Blood and Sand was his, and ASCAP has just admitted him as member. He's a citizen now,

It's a little clambakish too, with bad balance, but is saved by a good beat. (National 4001)

Artie Shaw

II A Ghost Of A Chance
II Let's Walk

This is nowhere near the class of the Dancing In The Dark which Artie made for Victor, perhaps because he doesn't use his principal forte: the excellent melodic clarinet he can play. One eight bar trombone a la Jenny helps some, but the beat seems almost consciously leaden. Walk, a Siravo original, must have been in GBS Jr's books a long while, because it sounded like many other records he has made before. Beat is better, and the brass sounds livelier. Like Goodman though, Shaw should be playing more than this. be playing more than (Musicraft 357) Glen Gray

II II Love Again
II One More Tomorrow

Again is a pretty-tuned concerto for trumpeter Bobby Hackett. Hackett has always been a Beat favorite from the old Theatrical club days in Boston. He certainly makes it hard to justify here. The externals are all there—the lovely tone, the well-turned phrase, and the soft, dulcet approach. But something is missing—the economy of notes, and the taste in selection of ideas just seemed to skip this disc. It's especially noticeable at the ending where Bobby comes on with something perilously close to a Del Staigers ending. The record is still worth hearing, because bad Hackett is still better than lots of brass-men. But when the man can do so much more, you can't be blamed for wanting to hear it. Second side, from the pic of the same name, is a LecuonaDe Lange-Myrow tune sung by Eugenie Baird. It's attractive, though a shade limpid, and in several spots sounds pitched too low for vocalist Baird. (Decca 18843)

If Make Believe
If Why Do I Love Year
These are a series of discs by a fine pianist and good musical airector with the emphasis on making commercial, listenable dance music; and, as Waiter adds, with his puckish grin, "they should please sell." I don't think there is much doubt they will. Gross has succeeded in extracting the qualities that make Carle and Cavallaro dollar dance bands, without once stepping beyond the bounds of musicianly taste. This is a real feat, as those of you who have tried it know.

Me has some good woodwind passages, and an ascending two finger passage in tempo that will tax any piano technique. Born has the clip jump beat which Oliver popularized with TD, and better use of strings. Recording is good, though the reeds sound a bit hollow once in a while. Things has some lovely flute ideas against piano, which are a shade spoiled by an off-center pressing. Who goes at that old pit-band tempo, but with some fine French norn back of the strings. The whole arrangement succeeds in avoiding the Hit Parade touch which a big band falls into so easily. Eyes has a bit of the same sort of open reed voicing which Teddy Wilson's big band used so successfully, while Hand operates with a lot of the old Kostelanetz colorings. Along with acced five earn taken the Hand operates with a lot of the old Kostelanetz colorings. Along with a good five cent cigar, this with a good five cent cigar, this country needs some well-done dance tempoings, and these are they. (Musicraft Album N 6)

Four months ago, last February 11 to be exact, I used this column to thank Milit Gabler and Gene Williams of Decca publicly for their fine Brunswick albums in the Collectors' Series of hot jass reissues. Since then three mole Brunswick sets have been released, albums as noteworthy in every respect as their remarkable predecessors.

They are Red Nichols, Volume I, B-1019; Venuti-Lang, B-1021; and King Oliver. Volume I, B-1022. The Nichols contains four discs and sells for $3.50 plus tax, so does the Oliver, while the Venuti-Lang has only two and goes for $2 plus tax.

By Pennics, an earlier lot than the 1929-1930 group represented in Volume I, B-1001, include trumpers Nichols; trombonist Miff fols; clarinetists Jimmy Dorsey, Fed Livingston, and Pee Wee Russell; has saxophonist Adrian Rolligit planists Lennie Hayton and Arhur Schutt; gaitarists Eddie Lang. Dick McDonough, and Carl Kress and drummer Vic Berton.

These platters provide perhaps the best opportunity for examining what the New York whites added to the Dixieland of New Orleans and Chicago. First of all, in both solos and ensembles, is the clipped, clean, precise execution of every musician. Red's cornet shows it, Miff's trombone. Fud's clarinet, Art's piano, and Vic's drums. What a contrast they furnish with Belderbecke, Runis. Teschemacher, Sullivan, and Tough! Also there's the one really important New York gift to Dixie, the solo guitarist. This set presents the three best in the history of white jazz!

THE STORY OF BING CROSBY

by Ted Groups
With a Foreword by BOR HOPE

BROTHER TED reveals inti-mate glimpses of Bing's charmed life... from his happy-go-lucky childhood in Spokane to his artistic triumph in Going My Way.

In this story you go along with Bing, singing Mississippi Mud with Paul Whiteman and the rollicking Rhythm Boys, crooning When the Blue of the Night Meets the Gold of the Day, on the early radio, through failures and successes, to White Chairman and Town Income. ures and successes, to white Christmas and Too-ra, loo-ra, loo volume that America will take to its heart, as it has taken Bing himself.

Freddy Martin

II Doin' What Comes Naturally
II Blue Champagne

What an echo they get at these coast Victor studios! The pizzicato strings sound as though they were piped in from some-body's eist's session. Martin does Naturally with a hill-billy inflection, plus, some Arkansav Traveler strings. Side will probably drag in thousands of nickels, though personally I would have liked to see the tune assigned to Spike Jones—whatta depreciation in music that would have been. Champagne is a repressing, and sounded surprisingly good to these rather bent ears. Martin uses all the gags; clarinet doubled with tenor, subtone clary backed by strings, and a light two-beat going into an ensemble where the tenors phrase one way and the fiddles another. But the stuff is in tune, danceable, and much better than a lot of the Business Man's Beat Bands you hear. (Victor 20-1878)

Bill McCupe

II All Women Are Wolves

A hard snallow balance doesn't help this Hotel McAlpin (NYC) band sell its wares. And compared to a smooth styling job such as the Martin record described above, it doesn't have either the dance beat nor even any labelable arranging ideas. A sweet band not on top has to show real results to sell its records. Wolves has a couple of two bar guitar passages behind the vocal that sound like something. (Stork CR 1002)

II Love On A Greyhound Bus

Tucker and teenster Scottee Marsh team up for Bus and make as much sense of the tune as I've heard yet. Opening tenor on Time has a vibrato a ahade too wobbily. (Musicraft 15064)

Henry Jerome

I I They Say It's Wonderful
I It Couldn't Be True
I True Love
I The Tune Of Lune Park

This is the band which uses Child's Paramount (NYC) as its home ball diamond. Wonderfulhas a rather uncertain beat, partially due to the over-balance between bass and the other rhythm instruments. There's also a slight scuffie behind the tenor phrase. True has a reed ensemble a bit rough, and the brass intonation is ragged. Love is listed as being adapted by Joe Davis from the Rachmoning 2nd Plano Concerto. Starts off with a Thornhillish intro with split reeds that doesn't quite make it, but in the last third there is a good couple of bars with voicing a la Ellington My Greatest Mistake in the saxes. For first sides, there have been many less successful by far bigger bands. Bill Collier does the vocals. (Davis 2107-8)

Alfredo Antonini

I Adios Mariaulta Linda-Mi Nuevo Amor Caminito De Tu Casa

Chapinita

I Noche De Ronda—Tres

Palabras La Zandunga—La Muiata

This is a four-sided twelve inch album, with two tunes on each side and vocals by Elsa Miranda, Carmen's sister. Linda is probably the best known of the tunes, originally introduced by Artie Shaw's big string band. La Miranda has nice quality, but not too much life to her singing, and the arrangements, far from being authentic and good Latin Americana, are werry lush and werry Hollywood. The recording is excellent and on vinylite too! (Alpha Album C-20)

II If You Were The Only Girl
II They Say It's Wonderful

Last issue, Sinatra won the week's ducat with his version of Wonderful. Call it heresy or anything you want, I find Frank a much warmer, better-infected, and more thoughtfully phrased singer than Como. Play the two records and see for yourself. (Victor 20-1857)

Mel Torme

II There's No One But You

With Sonny Burke directing, this is Torme's first Musicraft wax. You is well-done but a shade slow. Mel-Tones are in tune—something very much out of fashion with vocal groups these days. Road is Torme's own ditty, and gets a glossy rendition.

Torme ought to watch his low tones—occasionally they disappear into a throaty whisper.

(Musicraft 363)

Marie Green

II Strange Love
II Penthouse Screnade

Reviewers really got to be on the ball these days. Not only does Love come from one of these film score extracts, but the guitar man extracted the intro from Debussy's Hadid With The Fluxen Hair. Maybe he's being Freudian. I dunno. Miss Green is nice to listen to, though a little fuller quality would sound better. (Signature 15022)

Charlie Barnet Orchestra Delta Rhythm Boys

II No Pad To Be Hed
II Just A'Sittin' and A'Rockin'

Had gets sold on its comedy and clever lyrics plus a touch of Barnet alto. Seems to me that on Rockin', the vocal group and Barnet's band hamper each other in their individual grooves. (Decca 23541)

Margaret Whiting

I S Comes Rain Or Shine
I S Can't Help Lovin' Dat Man

Miss Whiting is certainly a vastly improved singer since her first sides for Capitol. These are finished and polished versions. And look out for those Hollywood Radio Recorder Studios—what a balance! (Capitol 247)

JJ I'm A Little Piece Of Lee

Stella is now singing at Kellys Stables, arriving there via several Town Hall concerts, the Little Casino, and this album, is fairness to her, it must be said that she sings better than the album shows. The over-phrasing and the too-heavy vibrato are given setting out of proporties to the way they sound in person while some of her really good ideas don't come out. The fact still remains though that Stella is not a great hot singer yet and won't be without a lot of work She is backed here by a hand including Fran Rie Newton (trumpet), Joe Sullivan (piano). George Brunles (tram), Sid Bechet (soprano), Jack Lesberg (drums), Lesberg and Newton including Fran Rie Newton (drum). Lesberg and Newton with the first chorus bothered by Stella's altering tempo a Minote Newton's 16 bars—different style for him and still good. (Disc Album 620)

Miguelito Valdes

Neither of these sides is new to Valdes fans—he made them before with Cugat. Both are must. Here is a man with enough beat in his voice to swing a whole band, and the ability to sing flamenco in a style that will give you some new ideas on what can be done with the blues-folk must of Spain. Walter Gross directs and backs at piano. (Musicus) 1362)

Ma gets a little teary for our dough. Second chorus is in Spanish—sounds better maybe cause you don't understand the lyrics. Plipover has Walter Gross' orchestra plus the Stardusters. That ole debbil, an off-center record, makes the last chord change key too much. (Musicraft 15066)

Gordon MacRae

| They Say It's Wonderful

A good clear voice, and phrasing less stiff than most of the current crop of baritones make MacRae a young man to keep your eye on. These are good singing sides, with orchestra directed by musicdom's George Spelvin (he's always in the cast): Walter Gross. (Musicraft 15065)

Ida James

II I Won't Say I Will II You Must Be Blind

I remember Ida almost ten yara ago when she was a young al starting out with Earl Hines. She has learned a lot about singing since then, though her voice is still a bit small. The Eilis Larkins Trio accompanies quietly but skillfully. (Decca 11004)

Carmen Cavallaro

Rechmonine of Concerte No. 2

 First And Third Movements

Decca carelessly forgot to state on the label that these are extractions rather than the complete movements. As this sort of thing goes, it isn't a bad job. However a better and cleaner lead trumpet and better use of the fiddle section would have made something unusual out of this record. Cavallaro plays several sections literally from the score and planos them well. (Decca 18863)

Jerry Colonna

II Casey II Josephine Please No Lean On the Ball

If you liked the baseball sequence in the Disney Make Mine Music, you will like this. Colonna is raucously funny, though Josephine is a little too hard-pressed for comfort. (Capitol 2619)

Whittemore and Lowe

11 Two Grand

Buck Whittemore and Jack Lowe had a fine idea here—to combine double pianos as an integral unit with a dance orchestra in concerto form. It didn't come off solely because there just wasn't enough color on the individual sides. As it is, the music is attractive after-dinner variety. I still think these two are going to do some fine double plano waxwork one of these days. They have the ability—all that's lacking is the push. (Victor P-154)

Hildegarde—Carmen Cavallare

I I'll Be Yours
I I'm In The Mood For Love

Yours, with partial writing credit to Hildegarde's manager, Anna Sosenko, was hearable last year in Paris as J'Attendrai (I'll Be Waiting), and in Germany, the Krauts would blandly tell you a German had written it and that it was called Komm' Zurück (Come Back). It's an attractive song, and Cavallaro plays far better piano back of the blonde from Milwaukee than she does herself. However she is still a good showman and an indifferent singer. The sighing begins to get tiring, and Love has been far better done by some people named Langford and Armstrong. (Decca 23544)

Russ Case

Vincent Youmans. Day is a flag-waver—orchids to the gentlemen charged with the beat for keeping things moving. There are clarinet and alto solos, but most of the attention goes to the brass. Happy goes at a faster pace than usual, with a 16 bar trombone passage on the order of the old Ray Noble sides, followed by some good alto and clarinet passages. Case gives his sidemen more of a break than do most of the big band conductors, and this side has none of the leadenness so many fancy pants recording orks show. Tea has a fine beat plus 12 bars of simple, well-done harp. Hallelujah changes from cut to full time for the clarinet, making an effective contrast. Solo tram while good technically has a shade too much of the effect of dotted eighth and sixteenth notes. There's a very fine double plano passage, interesting in that both men are taking solos at the same time and making them fit. On second thought, these records belong more under SWING than here; but be that as it may, Case deserves a lot of credit for not only getting a big band of good men together, but actually daring to let them earn their pay by playing as well as possible. (Victor 28-0407-8)

Il Night And Day
Il I've Got You Under My Skin
Il The Song Is You

You can't blame people for wanting to make money, but this is one of the times when it hurts. Cole is an excellent planist, formerly with Alvino Rey, and can play much more 88 than shows here. There is nothing wrong with what he does do—it's just that he is capable of so much more. (Capitol Album 24)

Bob Hope and Shirley Ross

Record Club Tried Again

Los Angeles—The third attempt in recent months to establish a "Record of the Month Club," styled after the "book-of-the-month" club, is under way here. This time venture is well backed by Al Ortale, local business man.

At outset it is planned to market 12 vinylite platters, pressed from masters of selected recordings (supplied by the recording companies) for a yearly subscription of $12.60. The records are to be selected by a "jury of experts" made up of editors of music mags. Main stress will be on the songs. After experts select what they believe will be the next month's hit song the best performance of the song will be selected.

Ross' voice is surprisingly good. (Decca 23545)

J My Man's Cone Now

J Prelude—No. 3

The first part of this album is from Porgy and Bess and the second three preludes which Heisetz re-scored for violin and plano. It's a little hard to carp at Heifetz's playing—even on relatively easy selections such as these, there is no doubting his superb technique and command of his instrument. But there can be much doubting of his phrasing and conception of the Porgy tunes. Heifetz has often been accused of coldness, and it shows here definitely. (Decca Album 435)
