INSIDE TOP 40 WITH DAVE SHOLIN

TEARS FOR FEARS had a two week jump on HUEY LEWIS and gets to number one first, but only a little over 400 chart points separate the two. Anyone care to guess who'll be on top next week? With only four underlined entries in the top ten, count on the fact that at least three new titles will appear in the winner's circle. BILLY JOEL up to a 60% Hit Factor in a little over a month. Big moves at G100-Mobile, Q105-Tampa, WFBG-Altoona, WZON-Bangor, WKDQ-Evansville, WOVO-Glasgow, WKLI-Angola, WZOK-Rockford, KRQ-Tucson, KPOP-Sacramento, etc. Stats on BENATAR and KOOL & THE GANG convincing even the most skeptical of programmers. "Invincible" more than doubles in Hit Factor from 10% to 27%, while KOOL doubles exactly: 16% to 32%. HOWARD JONES appears to be turning in a repeat performance of his last hit, debuting top thirty for B104, 93Q, KKLS, KKEZ, KCPI, WBEA, KZZP, KPKE, KHIT, KSXO, KIDD, KHOP/FM, KITI, etc. After six years, DIRE STRAITS has their first hit, "Certified" this week. No question their exposure on the Live Aid telecast singing this song helped it grow even faster. Fifty-nine new programmers now believe, including Scott Shannon Z100-New York, Frank Amadeo Y100-Miami, Gary Berkowitz WHYT-Detroit, Gloria Avila-Perez KIMN-Denver, Myke Kross Z95-Salt Lake City, Kirk Cliatt KDON/FM-Monterey/Salinas, Richard Sands KITS-San Francisco, Bill Richards KLUC-Las Vegas, etc. COCK ROBIN building a more impressive story each week, now topping the 100 mark in total reports. Top twenty at KIST, KHSN, WPFM, WHTX, WHYT, KFMN, KTBC, 93Q, and added by B-94, KDWB, WLS, KFIM, KAFM, KMGX, KTMT, etc. More than the usual number of Chartbounds, but it's quite evident we'll see quite a few

Top 40 titles bite the dust as well next week. GODLEY & CREME's 38 adds takes them well over 100 reports, with good activity in Canada at CKOC-Hamilton 29-14! New airplay activity on EURYTHMICS, very strong in the Midwest and the West. Though it's early, UB40 WITH CHRISSIE HYNDE nearly doubles in airplay and some early debuts qualify it for "Record To Watch" status. New this week at FM102, KRZQ, KSLY, KIMN, KDZA, PRO/FM, WNAP, Y107, B94, 106X, KNIN, KFMI, KRPL, KUAD, etc. Followup on our last two "Record To Watch" titles is as follows:

LOOSE ENDS charts top 15 at WPLJ, KMEL, WBBQ, FM102; and READY FOR THE WORLD gets the nod at 27 stations who feel it's ready at Y100, WPFM, KUBE, KS103, KSTN, KKYS, WVSR, Q104, WANS, KMEL, KJOY, KEYP, KSTR and a debut at #15 at KIIS/FM-Los Angeles.

Hit Factor is a percentage of stations playing a record which also have it Top 20.
ie: 100 stations playing the record—60 stations have it in their Top 20—Hit Factor = 60%.

Bryan Ferry: Shouldering The Roxy

by Kent/Keith Zimmerman

Bryan Ferry is the originator of elegance and style in rock 'n' roll. Roxy Music, under its various incarnations, was the cream of intelligentsia. Roxy Music was formed in 1969 as an offshoot of Ferry's interest as an artist and painter. Eventually the concept of the group became more of an "idea and a name" under which various musicians worked together. The band also launched its share of innovators including conceptual artist Brian Eno ("we're sort of friends now"), reedman Andy McKay, and guitarist Phil Manzanera. After Avalon, the final Roxy LP, it fell on Ferry's shoulders to follow up and retain the sound that has been largely attributed to his unique flair for arrangement, instrument placement, and vocal style. While the Roxy legacy continues to generate new fans worldwide, it is Bryan Ferry's new LP, Boys And Girls, which seems to be currently reaping the fruits of Roxy's undying momentum. Like his music, we caught Ferry in a reflective and thoughtful mood. After each idea, his voice at times would trail off and dissipate. At the time of our conversation, Ferry had been several weeks on the road promoting Boys And Girls all across Europe, and finally New York. We were treated to his pleasant and modest side as we assessed his place on the airwaves today.

KZ: You were once a teacher.

BF: Well, I was a part time art teacher. I used to teach art three days a week. After I left university, I studied painting for four years. That was '64 until '68. Like I said, I taught for about a year. While I was doing that, I was putting a group together that became the first Roxy Music.

KZ: What kind of music did Roxy start out playing?

BF: Just the music that was on the first album. Typical self composed songs that I had envisioned years before, though I had been interested in other music. If that's of interest to you, at the age of 11 onwards I was a keen music fan. I was into some jazz and blues things.

KZ: Any artist in particular?

BF: Oh, I was a very big Charlie Parker fan. That was my first love, I think. After him and through him I went into (John) Coltrane and Ornette Coleman, people like that. Billie Holiday, favorite singer. Then different people, Otis Redding, obviously.

KZ: Your vocal style is so distinct. Do you remember any early influences when you first started singing?

BF: Yes. Charlie Parker (laughs).

KZ: You grew up in Newcastle. Is that the industrial part of England?

BF: Very much so. It's a big mining region, really. There's still heavy industry as well.

KZ: What would be the equivalent city here in the United States?

BF: I suppose Detroit.

KZ: Your album took quite a while to complete. Was it a difficult project for you?

BF: Yes it was. Sometimes albums take longer than others, especially if it's a time for experiment and change, working with a lot of new people, although there was also a lot of continuity from the last couple of albums I did with Roxy Music. Half of the people are friends I've played with, some of them I've known for six years, Neil Hubbard, being one of the guitarists—one of many. Andy Newmark on drums, I've played with him for a couple of albums now.

KZ: Anybody that you played with for the very first time?

BF: Oh yes. Nile Rodgers and Marcus Miller.

KZ: Marcus Miller is a great bass player.

BF: He's fantastic, yes. Also David

Sanborn, the sax player, David Gilmour, Mark Knopfler, those are all new people for me.

KZ: Roxy Music used American musicians. Why was that?

BF: That was only the final three albums, yes. Well, the last solo album I did was done with some American musicians. I don't know, it's just something about the sense of space. Ummm. I found it very good to sing to, you know? Some of the earlier records didn't really have that. They're much more fast and furious and frantic, which is generally the English way. As you become more experienced, you look for other people who have these amazing skills. I just found out that there's so many skilled players who don't have to think about what they're playing. They just have this amazing technical facility and also a great feel. So ... obviously this graduates the trend. Play with better and better people all the time. Just a lot of them seem to live in America (laughs).

KZ: You recorded Boys and Girls in seven different studios.

BF: Oh yeah. Most of it was done in our own sort of little demo studio in London called the White House. That's just a little kind of private studio that we used. In fact, all the tracks are started at home, in my house for the first couple of months on eight track. In the end, it was all 48 track, KZ: You mean you don't have a spare thirty-five grand laying around.

BF: Not at the moment (laughs).

KZ: As a kid, did you have any particular images of America?

BF: The land of plenty. I think a lot of very powerful images come over to Europe. Obviously the Flower Power thing. Not that I subscribe to that much. I mean, the hippie thing sort of ... I didn't ever really get involved in that lifestyle as such. That was one thing, and there's also the Beach Boys sort of surfing image. I was always influenced by thinking about music, especially black music with that sort of hipness. You always felt America was more hip than anywhere else.

KZ: So when you finally got here, what did you think?

BF: (laughs) ... sort of disappointed.

KZ: What did you like about America?

BF: I like the sense of power, especially in New York where the energy is very different. It's much more powerful here. London is a much sleepier city. So I like to come here as much as possible to tap into that energy because where I live in England is out in the countryside, which is very quiet. So I find it a contrast. New York is a most extreme city. I've never really toured America that extensively.

KZ: No, you never really did.

BF: Whenever we did a tour, it was always the most glamorous cities.

KZ: Why didn't Roxy tour more extensively?

BF: I don't really like the corridor existence that you lead on a tour. Although I do like playing to a live audience. There's nothing to beat it. It's a very nice feeling, playing to an audience who likes your work. It's a very good feeling of approval for what you do. I just don't like doing a lot of them night after night, after night. I prefer being in the studio doing new work, really.

KZ: So you're basically a studio artist?

BF: I think so, yes.

KZ: Do you ever feel that America is playing catch-up ball with Roxy Music?

"We never fit into any of the existing radio formats. We were never heavy enough for rock stations or black enough for black stations. We always seemed to be in between different camps."

BF: It's still got a long ways to catch up. The new album went on in England at number one, which I was very pleased about. So, it just takes you back a bit, coming here and finding that there's still a long way to go in terms of that sort of public awareness of your work. I have to be optimistic about it and hope that it will be a hit record, but you never know.

KZ: Was there something that got lost in the translation with Roxy coming across the ocean?

BF: I think, possibly ... yes. The fact that Roxy Music didn't tour enough, or we weren't in enough magazines, there was never any GIANT interest in us over here. Whereas in Europe, there's always been a very strong music press on a weekly basis, in fact. You found you were written about all the time, pictures and so on. People just get the message that much quicker. Over here we still haven't made the front cover of Rolling Stone. Also, the radio format is another big thing. We never fitted into any of the existing formats. We were never heavy enough for rock stations or black enough for the black stations. We always seemed to be state-of-the-art, or whatever you call it (laughs). We mixed it up at the Power Station in New York where we mixed the last couple of Roxy albums we did. I was with the same engineer and co-producer that I worked with on the last three albums. Rhett Davies. That's another bit of continuity, if you like. Also Bob Clearmountain mixed the album again. He's great.

Legacy

KZ: I've noticed that those are the names we see on the best sounding records.

BF: Yes.

KZ: For having worked in so many studios, the record sounds unified.

BF: That's good (laughs).

KZ: I'm curious as to how you compose music. Is it at home on eight track, on piano?

BF: Yes, I mean all sorts of different keyboard instruments. I use a kind of electric piano quite a lot. The Yamaha one, what's it called, the DX7?

KZ: A popular keyboard these days. I hear it on a lot of records.

BF: Then there's a thing called a (Roland) Jupiter. Whatever is laying around. We did use a Synclavier on a couple of things. I wish I had one. I'm saving up!

in between different camps. And there was never really a hit single. There was never anything obvious enough, it seems, for the American market. They're really albums, collections of songs.

KZ: I'm looking at the Gavin charts and you're doing quite well on both our album charts. I figure that you're kind of underestimating your appeal.

BF: I think that's possibly true.

KZ: Here in the U.S., Roxy Music was very metropolitan. If you took all the metro areas across the U.S. and formed one country, possibly the band would be perceived as much bigger. Do you agree?

BF: Oh yes. But we never really got through to the huge innerland... Middle America was never really aware of what we did, I guess.

KZ: But to me, Avalon just seems to smolder on, the influence of it.

BF: I suppose that made it a very hard album to follow. It's always been very pleasant and surprising whenever I go to different studios. It was always somebody saying it was really good. I feel it got out to a whole different set of people.

KZ: I think Avalon set a standard.

BF: Well... thank you. What I tried with this new album, I was thinking, how am I going to improve on that? It had this sort of completeness of mood. This album, I tried to make it a little more aggressive, rhythmically. I guess I spend a lot of time trying to get the feel of each track right. And it's quite complex, rhythmically. Instead of one rhythm guitar, we have three bouncing off each other. I like the interplay of people. Different styles of playing mold it all together, somehow. It takes a long time.

KZ: I'm especially curious about the title track, Boys and Girls and its lyric content. As the title of the album, you interpret it one way with the cover photo. Yet when you read the words, it's kind of sad. What were you thinking when you wrote that song?

BF: Well, it's a bit about my father who died while I was making this album. I think there's also lines that went into all the other songs which happened after the event. It hit me very badly.

We were pretty close in a strange way. It (Boys and Girls) was the central track of the album for me and not likely to be a single. I wouldn't want the record to be a single, so I thought I would call the album that by title. Just adds a bit of spotlight to the core of the record, if you see what I mean.

KZ: It doesn't surprise me to hear you say that. Your father was a miner?

BF: Well he was sort of a farmer who, in the depression, had to go and work the mines, looking after the horses under the mine, the ponies. That was his job. He was doing a country job below the ground. He was very close to animals and nature. He lived with me the last eight years in the countryside. So, he did go back to the country, eventually.

KZ: Your becoming tremendously famous in England, did that change his life, too?

BF: Not really. He was a very singular type of person, totally oblivious to what went on in the world around him. He never used the telephone or drove a car or any of those things. He was a very simple man, but very strong and a strong influence on me—a very good person in that old-fashioned sense. He never really asked me about music.

KZ: Really?

BF: No, no. It wasn't really a part of him. He was more interested in bird song.

KZ: A lot of people associate you and your music with fashion. Yet I tend to think since 1978, that has less and less to do with your music.

BF: I was thinking more and becoming more interested in the pure music side of things, I suppose. It gets to the point where you feel you aren't setting the latest haircut anymore. So, you just become a little more serious about your work. I guess, of course, having gotten married has had a little bit to do with that. Now I'm a father. It makes you a little bit more serious minded about the work that you do.

KZ: In your early days, you did make a strong fashion statement. What do you think about bands like Duran and Spandau Ballet? I see these bands as a vaguely pale imitation. You've usually been nice about it, but don't you wonder sometimes, hearing David Sylvian sing?

BF: Well, I don't really listen very much to what other people do. That's the secret. I think I'm aware that there are people and there always will be people who will follow others. Especially if you're older and so on. Generally, they're just sort of superficial similarities, I think. So, good luck to them. I think there's room for a lot of different people.

KZ: When you reformed Roxy in 1978, how was it different?

BF: When we reformed it at the start of the second phase, if you like? I suppose it was even less like a group than it was before. It only really felt like a group for the first year or something, you know, which was in 1972 or 1973. After that, it just became more and more like an idea for a group or just a name that we worked under. We didn't see each other outside of work or anything. When the group reformed, I felt it was just a bigger group of players than ever before. There are a lot of people I've worked with in solo projects that are still involved in the context of Roxy, there was always kind of new blood coming in. With every record, there's always new blood coming in. With every record, there's always some kind of new stimulus, a new person, changes here and there in the line-up. That kept it exciting for me.

KZ: Sometimes it's necessary to detach yourself from music and radio just to stay sane.

BF: It gets to where you hear so much music in your work and there's so much music running through your head that you have to just... I find it's better for me to cut myself off when I've finished work. Not out of arrogance, but to keep your own space, keep your head clear.

KZ: After the second Roxy album, what resulted in the departure of Brian Eno?

BF: Well, I just felt it was one of those things where the chemistry seems to stop. It was kind of personality thing, really.

Also, it was after that second album that I did my first solo album and I met Eddie Jobson, who then took Eno's place in the band. I just felt we could go further, especially on stage because Brian didn't really play on stage much. Jobson could play keyboards fluently with violin and everything. I don't know, it was just one of those things. It was good for Brian in the same way that it's good for the rest of Roxy now. They're doing their own thing. I think things got frustrating in '73 and "I don't really like the corridor existence that you lead on tour, although I do like playing to a live audience."

certainly Phil (Manzanera) and Andy (McKay) were getting very frustrated working with me all the time. Brian did lots of good things with other people. We're sort of friends now. Phil and Andy, they've got a group called the Explorers.

KZ: So what's England like these days, the political climate, things in general.

BF: You tell me. I haven't seen much of it recently (laughs). It's a bit mixed up at the moment. It's been like that for quite a while now... trying to come to terms with not being rich and famous anymore. Industry is declining. It's a very peculiar place.

KZ: Lots of folks have asked me to ask you about whether you'll tour.

BF: The only plans I have for going on stage at the moment is the Band-Aid concert in London.

KZ: What about musicians?

BF: Well, Marcus (Miller) is coming over and Andy Newmark and David Gilmour. We'll have about ten in the band. We'll try to make something of it.

KZ: Well, come here and play a nice outdoor venue.

BF: I'd love to do that. ♥

Hollywood 1999

We, at The Gavin Report, were fortunate enough to secure an advance copy of The Hollywood Reporter dated August 2nd 1999. Here then, fourteen years prior to public release, we share with you some items from that edition:

Aaron Spelling Productions has finally had it up to here with the annual contract holdouts by 66-year-old DYNASTY star Joan Collins and has recast the part of the conniving Alexis with 39-year-old ex-pop star Madonna Sedaka. The aging canary's divorce from character actor and middleweight boxer Sean Penn was final two weeks ago, at which time she wed songsmith Neil Sedaka Jr. in a garden ceremony at the home of close pal Cynthia Lauper.

In a related development, Lauper, once a recording artist herself, has been cast in the pivotal role of Ethel Mertz in MTM's remake of the fifties' I LOVE LUCY series. Six undistinguishable members of MENUDO will alternate in the Ricky characterization, and wacky ex-football handicapper Lu Fields will co-star as a zany neighbor.

Corroborating rumors rampant for some thirty years, ex-Elektra chairman Joe Smith has finally been installed as Commissioner of the National Basketball Association. In a staged photo opportunity, Smith posed at the league's offices with 52-year-old Laker center Kareem Shapiro, recently converted from the Muslim faith.

In other sports news, 60-year-old baseballer Pete Rose, now a designated hitter for the expansion Sri Lanka Bombers, is the subject of a continuing media-watch as he nears his milestone 8000th hit. Morley Safer Jr. will be covering the historic event for the Ted Turner-owned CBS Cable Network.

As part of its burgeoning Nostalgia Series, RKO Home Video is releasing a tape of the dimly recalled 1984 Michael Jackson Victory Tour. The graying Jackson, now a lounge singer at the Holiday Inn in Oxnard, California, was unearthed by RKO execs and appeared at a sparsely attended press conference to plug the oldie video.

Industryites gathered this past week to honor Gavin Publisher Ron Fell at a surprise 59th birthday celebration.

Las Vegas pit boss and ex-record exec Danny Davis co-hosted the swank affair with newly named Tonight Show host Don Imus. Admirers of the now legendary journalist interfaced on the patio outside ENRICO'S RESTAURANT in San Francisco. In a fast perusal of the trendy throng, we eyeballed retired Columbia Records President George Chaltas, Honolulu environmentalist Ron (Boss Radio) Jacobs and just installed U.S. Treasurer Kal Rudman as they chatted over platters of computerized quiche and high-fiber dim sum.

Celebs in attendance included singer Crystal Gayle, sporting her recent crew cut and ex-Duran Duran stalwart Simon Le Bon, presently an aluminum siding salesman in Yankton, South Dakota. Massive plans are afoot for the 16th annual NAB/NRBA programming conference and symposium to be held this year in KUALA LAMPUR. Dozens of instructive panels are planned so that young broadcasters may profit by the successes of their experienced elders. David Grossman, now in his second decade as P.D. of WCCC in Hartford, will chair an in-depth rap session on B-Sides by such vintage groups as MOTLEY CRUE and TEARS FOR FEARS. Gavin Twins Kent and Keith Zimmerman will stun the crowd when they introduce their long lost triplet, Kermit. The three will then conduct a discussion on new Gavin Report terminology, including an explanation as to the replacement of the term, 'ALTERNATIVE ACTION' with the new nomenclature, 'UNDERGROUND'. At a giant closing day banquet, an honor roll presentation will be made to consultant John Sebastian on the occasion of his fifty-third syndication format, and the festivities will conclude with an on-stage reunion by RATT, who now enjoy individual careers as gospel performers. F.C.C. Chairman Danny T. Holiday, once a P.D. at KGOY in Foonman, Ohio will deliver the invocation.

A/C ANALYSIS

Thanks to you, our A/C reporters, we established an all-time high in reports this week with 222 charts included in our research. Not only are DeBARGE and PAUL YOUNG still dukin' it out at the top, but SADE and BILLY JOEL make it a two ring circus with their mini-battle for the third slot. LAURA BRANIGAN is nearing a 40% Hit Factor and picks up 31 more adds including: KWAV, KSL, KBOI, KTUN, WSPD, WTRX, WIOU, WILS, KROC, WGAD, WKNE and WJJB. MICHAEL FRANKS is returning to reality after nearly a decade between A/C hits (anybody remember POPSICLE TOES?) 43 adds for YOUR SECRET'S SAFE

WITH ME including: J107, WAEV, WGOW, KFOR, KLSS, KWLO, WFPS, WASK, WGBF, WHIZ, WIAL, WIZE, WKNR, WLEC, WLHN, WMOH, WNKO, WRDB, WROK, K99, KMTI, KORT, KYLT, KBLF, KCRE, KKOS, KORV, KLOO, KDUK, KVEC and KPTL.

The omnipresent GEORGE FISCHOFF stacks up 18 new believers on his latest single, FEEL. Those who have the touch include: WGHQ, WMGW, WPIC, WCHV, WKYX, KFOR, KGHR, KMGM, WLKX, WMT, QQSW, KVRH, KOWL, KTHO and KRSB.

In this week's Most Added category, the BEACH BOYS, AIR SUPPLY AND MICHAEL McDONALD are already mentioned in the box on the facing page but close behind were: WHAM! (41 adds), MICHAEL FRANKS (40 adds), WHITNEY HOUSTON (37 adds), the COMMODORES (34 adds) and LAURA BRANIGAN (31 adds).

RECOMMENDED FOR A/C RADIO

WHITNEY HOUSTON - "Saving All My Love For You" (Arista)

She gives good song. My review of the album, back on March 1st said: "Her youthful innocence is mixed with a knowingly mature approach to both arrangements and lyric." With this track, I can rest my case.

KEEPING UP WITH DEPECHE MODE

by Keith/Kent Zimmerman

We tracked down Depeche Mode's Andy Fletcher by phone in the English countryside seventy miles west of London where the Thames River starts. It was midnight there and the band was getting ready "to knock it on the head" and wrap up that day's recording duties. Because their latest Top Forty hit, "People Are People" popped out of nowhere onto the chart, we figured a little background on the band was due. Frustrated over labels of being a dance band, Fletcher was anxious to clear the record. Depeche Mode released the first of their five LPs in 1981 and consists of founding members Fletcher and Martin Gore along with David Gahan and Alan Wilder.

KZ: You're recording a brand new single.

AF: Martin (Gore) has written the song. We've been recording it for the last week and a half. It's due for September release.

KZ: That would be worldwide this time.

AF: Hopefully. In America, it's always a bit funny. They always seem to release the records a bit later. They might have released something else by then.

KZ: Your latest LP, People Are People, is a greatest hits package. It can be a resting stop so America can catch up.

AF: It's really a compilation of the two previous albums and a few "B" sides. We put on a few of the more recent hits. It's not actually a greatest hits album. We're saving that for Europe.

KZ: Have you ever had to compromise your sound to gain acceptance?

AF: We've been asked to compromise our sound, especially in the States. But we never have. For instance, a few years ago when we were making quite slower records, the Americans were saying, "We've got to have dance records." That's all they seem to want is dance. That's why "People Are People" is just a fluke, really. We just happened to make that sort of record that they immediately seized upon. We were very surprised it did so well (in America).

KZ: Does this new single have a name yet?

AF: We've just had a single released in Britain that hasn't been released in the States called "Shake The Disease". The track we're recording now is probably going to be called "It's Called A Heart". We're sort of three or four singles ahead

(of America). A single is in the charts much longer (in America). In England, it's over and out in about five or six weeks.

KZ: That's because British charts are geared towards sales.

AF: There's really only one radio station—Radio One. Ninety five percent of the people listen to Radio One.

KZ: Which of your records should I purchase on Compact Disc?

AF: I would suggest Some Great Reward or Construction Time Again. A lot of people say our music is CD music. It's totally geared for it. True in a way, it's very much Hi-Fi music. It's not like dirty rock 'n' roll.

"We play very loud. Originally, we always used to think our records sounded a bit wimpy."

KZ: Do you record a lot of your records in the control room?

AF: Oh yeah. In the studios we use, we have to have a big control room. There's not many of them around. We set up quite a lot of keyboards and things. There's us four in the band, Daniel Miller (our producer), and an engineer. We're in (the control room) all the time. We don't use the other bit, only for vocals. In all the seventies style studios, the control rooms are very small.

KZ: We get a lot of broadcasters asking us: What is the correct pronunciation of "Depeche Mode"?

AF: When we first started about five years ago, we called ourselves DEH-PESH-SHAY MODE. Gradually, we've become DEH-PESH MODE—which is the correct French pronunciation. That's what we say these days, DEH-PESH.

KZ: What did it take to get Depeche Mode off the ground as a synthesizer band?

AF: Our main quality is good songs, good pop songs. That's what kept us going. When we first started, we thought we would be slighted by the press for being a synthesizer group. But we've always been a good live band as well. That's gotten us out of the normal synthesizer band syndrome. Most synthesizer bands are thought of as generally robots producing computerized soulless music. We've always gotten around that.

KZ: The computerized scene with The Human League and such have come and gone.

AF: We missed the boat with that, you see. It's quite funny because when all that was happening, especially in the States, we totally lost out. Now we're coming strong now on the second wave.

KZ: I read that Depeche Mode didn't initially get major record company response and went with a small label, Mute Records.

AF: We did the usual, made a demo tape and took it around to all the record companies. They just weren't interested. We didn't have any background. There was no noise going on about us. Then we started doing quite a lot of gigs and we got a very big following together. All of a sudden lots of labels were after us including (Daniel Miller's) Mute Records. We found that we could trust him. So we went with him.

KZ: Why did you stay with him?

AF: We stayed because we were successful and didn't see any need to change. We're quite a unique band. We don't have a manager. We manage ourselves. When we had our first hit single, we were only eighteen or nineteen. To get as far as we've got without a manager is quite good—being on a small label as well.

KZ: You just have a solicitor (lawyer) and that's it.

AF: We don't have a solicitor. We're in a very weird position because we actually don't have a record contract as well. We haven't any contract with Mute Records. It's on trust. It's a good arrangement. If we felt we couldn't get on with each other anymore, Daniel wouldn't want us on the label. We'd just move. As simple as that. We are lucky in Britain. It might be quite hard for that sort of thing to happen in America for a young band starting out.

KZ: What kind of record distribution do you use in Britain?

AF: We use independent distribution systems.

KZ: Is Warner/Sire (in the U.S.) the only major record company you use?

AF: No. We have a different company in every country. In Europe, we tend to go for the smaller companies. I suppose Warner/Sire is our biggest company.

KZ: I read that Depeche Mode sold fifteen million units worldwide.

AF: Probably.

KZ: Where are your stronger areas of impact?

AF: We sell all over Europe. We're very popular in Germany, France, Scandinavia, and Britain. It's only been in the last two or three years that we've actually broken into other countries. Now it starts happening in America. It's a good progression.

KZ: Sometimes it's easier to happen naturally than to get the push.

AF: I think Warners were totally surprised because this album (People Are People) is doing really well. They didn't push at all. It was up to 150,000 units without doing anything. What really turned it was when we came over for the tour and it was hugely successful. We enjoyed ourselves.

KZ: What is the breakdown of what each bandmember does onstage?

AF: We all play keyboards and sing vocals, basically. That's what it boils down to. We use backing tapes live. We've never hid that. We play as much as what can be played. We put the rest (like drum parts) on tape and we sing all the vocals. We don't use Fairlights and Synclaviers onstage. We use Emulators. They're much more road-worthy.

KZ: How does Depeche Mode manage to keep up with all this technology?

AF: We're not that technically minded.

Daniel is very technically minded and he helps us. It's his hobby, really. Synths and things aren't really our hobby. It's more our work. Daniel would read a synth manual in his spare time. We would read a novel.

KZ: But how many keyboards does Depeche Mode have onstage?

AF: We have about two or three each. We have a good front man. Dave (Gahan) takes the whole attention off us. When we recruited him, that's what we wanted. We have a very good light show. We do different versions (of the songs) live like twelve inch sort of mixes. We're a very powerful band live. It's a whole different sound. We play very loud. Originally we always used to think our records sounded a bit wimpy. It's taken us four albums to get a sound we liked.

KZ: My favorite song is "Everything Counts in Large Amounts" (off Construction Time Again).

AF: I think that's my favorite. It was a turning point for the band. We were going through a low period and that put us back on the map. That was recorded in July 1983. That Spring, we went on a world tour. We went to the States for a short tour, then over to Japan, then we went to Thailand to do some concerts. In Thailand we saw a lot of things we've never seen before. Like the real bad poverty. It really hit us. In the Summer when we recorded the album, we were influenced by the contrast of going to the States, a rich country, and then going to a poor country. It brought home a few truths.

KZ: Another one of my favorites is "Leave In Silence" (off A Broken Frame).

AF: I think "Leave In Silence" is one of our most underrated tracks. It's grown into a lot of people's favorites. Actually, when it was released, Radio One thought it was a bit doomy and gloomy. All they want is real bubblegum type music. Because it wasn't "up", they didn't catch on to it. It stands up to all the stuff we do at the moment.

KZ: Martin Gore is your main songwriter.

AF: He comes up with ninety percent of the material.

KZ: Do you do any writing at all?

AF: I've dabbled. It's quite hard when you've got strict competition. I find it difficult writing lyrics. I can write music. Martin is very critical of lyrics. It's very hard to get up to it and I think Alan (Wilder) finds that a problem as well.

KZ: What are your arguments for not using real drummers and bass players?

AF: We try and create a different atmosphere for each song we perform. We're interested in sound. Using a guitar, a bass or ordinary drums is a bit of a cop-out for us. It seems to us the easy option. We're not against guitar music or anything. Our favorite groups are The Smiths and Jonathan Richman & The Modern Lovers. A lot of guitarists and drummers think we're out for their jobs. It's not like that.

KZ: What was your musical background? Are you an accomplished pianist?

AF: Not really. Martin and I played guitar mainly. Alan is a classical pianist. He's a drummer as well. He's always been in bands. It was more of a hobby for Martin and me. We floated into it.

KZ: What were you doing before music?

AF: I was commuting to London every day on the train. We left school and formed the band, rehearsing a few times a week then doing gigs on the weekend. I was an insurance clerk. Quite boring, eh? Martin worked in a bank. Dave had about forty or fifty jobs. He worked everywhere.

KZ: What's the future like for Depeche Mode?

AF: It's very confusing because Americans try to put us in this dance category. We've always tried to get away from that. Some Great Reward had only three or four dance tracks on it. We never consider ourselves a dance group. Over here in Britain, we're considered mainstream pop. The same in Europe. We'd never be considered a dance group in Britain. We never consider ourselves a rock band. We think we're good intelligent pop music. ◆

What Is This—What Is This (MCA)

Hard to believe this is the work of a three piece. WHAT IS THIS is a tremendously dexterous band. Inside the structure of each song is a KING CRIMSON-like spark. The vocals and guitars intermingle, forming a web of melody and mad dash soloing. Producer TODD RUNDGREN renews himself by supplying the right balance of minute detail and brash aggression. TODD's work with his own groups, UTOPIA and NAZZ, made him a receptive sounding board for WHAT IS THIS' gyrations. I love when guitarist ALAINE JOHANNES jams with himself—a trebled fuzz line on the right, a wah-wah on the left. The single, I'll Be Around, originally cut by THE SPINNERS, should do the trick introducing programmers to the best of the rest of this fine album. Don't let WHAT IS THIS pass you by...and turn it up. Dreams Of Heaven/Chasing Your Ghost/I'll Be Around/Big Raft/Touch The Flame.

PREFAB SPROUT

"When Love Breaks Down"—Prefab Sprout

This is the tip of the iceberg of the second PREFAB SPROUT album that'll see the light of domestic release in August. PS, after their first few singles, later caught my attention when I heard ELVIS COSTELLO singing one of their songs acoustically, off the cuff, during a sound-check. PREFAB's song style is unique, but accessible. This single was produced by PHIL THORNALLEY (CURE/DURAN). The rest of the album was cut under the direction of another fan, THOMAS DOLBY.

"Hot Shot"—Jimmy Cliff (Columbia)

Shots. Bullets. Rockets. Nuclear reactors. JIMMY CLIFF is smokin', singing, and making a new movie. Still one of the most distinguished third world performers, JIMMY gives his all, singing to the accompaniment of an ultra modern dance track. Killer.

JEWEL

A Second Wish—Propaganda (ZTT/Island)

This LP has been a favorite around here for the last few weeks when BOB CATANIA sent us an import. A SECRET WISH is a hodgepodge of daring production, similar in execution to ZTT label mates, FRANKIE GOES TO HOLLYWOOD, minus the decadance. Leaning much more philosophically, PROPAGANDA combines high brow with the glassy bass tones and cinematic instrumentation that spans each entire side. Who in the quartet does what is cryptically unclear. Somebody is following the old NICK LOWE axiom, "the less you tell people, the more interested they become." The airplay staple off this album will be Jewel/Duel, already being serviced as a multimix twelve inch. As a single, it pretty much sums up what's special and sophisticated about

PROPAGANDA. But don't stop there. If side one just gets going with Jewel, side two starts with a big bang theory. Jewel/Duel/P-Machinery

"Omaha"—Golden Palominos (Celluloid)

I remember the first time I heard MOBY GRAPE's Omaha. Written by the band's space pioneer, SKIP SPENCE, it was one of Top Forty's introductions to acid laced rock 'n' roll, pre Album Radio. This song has been strangely revived by the MATERIAL people, working under the name of GOLDEN PALOMINOS. Lead singer is REM's MICHAEL STIPE. But that's not all! On the flip is MATERIAL's late great lost version of ENNIO MORRICONE's For A Few Dollars More. It's a spectacular treatment of, ye the theme from the CLINT EASTWOOD western.

The Rhythmatist—Stewart Copeland (A&M)

I found STEWART COPELAND's African audio documentary interesting and substantial. It appears that his trip to the motherland was far more than a tax write-off or a pleasure cruise. Even with the added modern instrumentation, the drums and beats sound quite authentic. Listening to the sonic quality, you find out that this isn't a one mike field recording as the cover might indicate. It's a full blown rhythmic explosion. African vocalist RAY LEMA is also excellent.

MY 2¢

After a few weeks already at number one, DIRE STRAITS climbs back up to the top spot as programmers add on the One World track. Other significant moves include a red hot REM at #4. ST. ELMO'S FIRE moves into the Top Ten at #7. GODLEY/CREME is doing quite well at #11, while JEFF BECK moves back up with his End track spurring the motion. MOTELS make a move at #18, debuting as an LP. Very good weeks also for BILLY JOEL, X, TINA TURNER from Thunderdome, and PHIL COLLINS with his Number. UB40 is raking in amazing reports and is our double Album/Alternative CERTIFIED. UB40 charts at #28. After a brief dip, RATT is scurrying back up while fellow rockers Y&T finally debut at #31. Album Radio seems to be taking a liking to NICK MASON'S Lie For A Lie. Hauling in big adds the first week out is JOHN WAITE...Here's a second. MICHAEL McDONALD's No More Lookin' Back, co-written by former GAVIN cover-boy KENNY LOGGINS will be on both gentlemen's LPs. Didn't that happen the last time with the DOOBIE hit What A Fool Believes? ...in the rush of the ABC takeover by CAP CITY, KLOS Production Director STEVE CROWLEY was the victim of cutbacks. He's looking for a gig with a major after stints in New York, LA, Boston, and Detroit. He's also willing to go the Top Forty way. He can be reached at 213-838-

PAT when she was Assistant MD at KYA. Used to put in long hours then, too ...Hey! Let's hear it for DEEP PURPLE. The PURPS turned down a cool MILLION BUCKS to play in SOUTH AFRICA. They don't dig what's going on... There's a new MD at KLOS. He's KURT KELLY from KTKS-DALLAS. That makes two KELLYs, counting PD TIM KELLY... They may look like pretty boys, but they got taste. Inside the A-HA single package, singer MORTEN HARKET, born September 14, 1959 with eyes of blue standing 182 CM, he lists his "Musical Favorites" as, what, DURAN DURAN?? Noooo! He likes "soul music, especially OTIS RUSH." Yeah!.. GAS is coming. Take heart. Things have been a little hectic around here, after all. You're right, that's no excuse. But, it sure feels good to be missed.

REM opens their lead over their primary competitors, TALKING HEADS and NEW ORDER (both of whom have apparently peaked).

REM's biggest threat looms in a relatively new entry - X. The X album debuted at #10 and now moves to #6. They're receiving exceptional response across the board from the most prudent Alternative stations to the most radical. Expect a big jump again next week.

Speaking of huge gains, UB40 scores a giant CERTIFIED leap from #24 to #9!

UB40's current shows, MIDNIGHT OIL. The band's live performances are undoubtedly helping secure their airplay. JOHN VAN CITTERS of WUSC in COLUMBIA, S.C. drove 20 hours to see them and says it was worth it.

A large number of independent releases are acquiring excellent airplay and deserve special recognition. ZEITGEIST and the RETURN OF LIVING DEAD sound-track both continue to climb up the chart. The DEAD MILKMEN, PAINTERS & DOCKERS, UPTONES and ELECTRIC PEACE are all heating up, ready to move onto the next level.

WTUL in NEW ORLEANS is off the air until August 17th, due to a recent fire. You may contact M.D. IVAN BODLEY at 504-866-4851.

SPOTLIGHT LP

Basia/Love Planet/Love Hate Love-PAINTERS & DOCKERS (Big Time)
Over the past few years Australian bands have been invading this continent on many levels (Pop, Heavy Metal, and Alternative). The latest immigrants are the PAINTERS & DOCKERS, a group named after their local painters and dockers union. Lead vocalist Paul Stewart doubles as a journalist in Melbourne when he's not singing about planets and suss! The band avoids becoming pigeon-holed in the neo-psychedelic category by offering a well-rounded sound with songs which vary in tempo and intensity. PAINTERS & DOCKERS captures the excitement of garage rock music without suffering from the problems that plague many of those bands (e.g. poor production and a series of songs that sound alike).

COUNTRY SUMMARY

All three of last week's (7/26) CHARTBOUND debut into our Top 40, and we foresee this week's (8/2) CHARTBOUND doing the same. Requests for MARIE OSMOND and DAN SEALS have doubled, supporting earlier signs that "Meet Me In Montana" will be a Top Ten record. The most talked about single this week is JUICE NEWTON's "You Make Me Want To Make You Mine". Initial requests at WOKD-Arcadia are coming in as fast as they did for MILSAP'S "Lost In The Fifties Tonight". Juice is receiving good response at WXRQ-Mt.Pleasant, and is very big at WDVA-Danville, KBUY-Amarillo, KDIN-Pueblo and KVCK-Wolf Point. GRIP's stats show that three stations have her charted 1-5, two stations 6-10, nine stations 11-20, and forty-four stations 21-30 - all in less than a month! The ladies FORESTER and SYLVIA are coming on strong at KNIX-Phoenix. MERLE HAGGARD's "Kern River" jumped 32-22 at WAXX-Eau Claire due to sales, juke box play, and requests. SOUTHERN PACIFIC's appeal has spread to include those within hearing distance of KOLO in "The Biggest Little City In The World". T.GRAHAM BROWN is showing his power at WWRK/FM in Elberton, GA. JOHN ANDERSON "Tokyo Oklahoma", now a single, has been the number one request item at KXEL-Waterloo from album play alone. The listeners of KGRT-Las Cruces have been telling DENNIS GOODNIGHT - "If you call yourself country, then play more of MOE BANDY and his "Barroom Roses". By the by BIG RED has returned from Colorado to do mornings again at KWMT-Ft.Dodge. Welcome back, big fella!

R&B SUMMARY

No one waited to see what kind of response ANDRE CYMONE received from major, medium or ANY markets...everyone made it happen at the same time - instantly! It gets "Certified" with very little effort and a lot of time on the air - most stations have it in heavy rotation already. Other major moves up chart or from light or medium rotation to the heavy-weights are POINTER SISTERS, PRINCE, and 9.9, which coincidentally happen to be last week's trio of "Certified's". After the two debuts for CON FUNK SHUN and ANDRE CYMONE at #26 and #27 respectively, NEW EDITION drops in at a strong #29 - should prove its staying capability since it has already been out several weeks and "maintained" with all the competition. While FREDDIE JACKSON's first single is getting Top 40 attention around the country his second is going to be "Chart-bound" this week, just missing our R&B Top 30 chart by one. "You Are My Lady" should do as well, or better than "Rock Me Tonight" did for us. Eleven more new stations on it, as well as the BOBBY WOMACK - which were both in our "Most Added" category last week. They could have duplicated that listing had it not been for THE O'JAYS and MADONNA. If you read "Bio-Feedback" last week, you'll recall that this new O'JAYS single is the first release of the infamous production duo of Gamble and Huff for Manhattan Records, and many of you have already commented that it's a great combination of talent. Lots of favorable comments, too, from many of you about the BOBBY WOMACK. At first the comments were "great lyrics...we need more cuts with lyric content like this..." and now the comments say that the listeners are voicing their approval of lyrics with meaning to them by giving this one a good show on the request lines. Look for both to chart with good numbers next week. BILL WITHERS continues his moving trend by getting additional chart numbers this week from WLUM #5, WVEE/V103 #8, WJAX #15, WVOL #17, KDAY #17, etc. Others to watch of the newer sides is the JENNIFER HOLLIDAY, which after a few listens gets more and more appealing. FAMILY is still picking up in the adds category and so is HERB ALPERT. Congratulations to JOE BULLARD and his team at WANM in Tallahassee, who are still partying after their great new ratings...and to ROSHON at Z16 (KXZZ) in Lake Charles, who must be doing the same as they went from a .9 to a 6.8. Keep it up...we like to hear about our "Gavin" stations getting great ratings!

P.D. NOTEBOOK by Eric Norberg

SO TAKE A VACATION!!

Here I am, dispensing advice like that, and I guess I've taken fewer than half the vacations I've been entitled to in my career, myself. Nowadays, older and wiser, I take them every year.

Admittedly, it's easier to skip them, unless family pressures force a trip out of town, because the work does accumulate. You can prepare and you can delegate, and you are still going to return to a huge heap of work on your desk, and you'll work like a dog to catch up. No fun.

But vacations are really necessary. You need a change of scene. A change of perspective. The refreshment of not thinking constantly about the concerns of the station (although as an executive, periodic calls in from the road are permissible, if you must). You'll be more productive when you get back. And you'll be finding out something important: How well the place can run without you.

That's important. Some insecure types among us don't like the thought of the station carrying on regardless, but this is the true test of an executive that is effective: How well have you trained? How well have you anticipated? How well have you delegated? You're just as essential as the motivating force behind this activity, as you would be if you had to do it all yourself. And no station can survive indefinitely dependent upon one person without developing major problems eventually.

Encourage your staff to take their vacations as well--and not just a day here and there, though that is easier to manage in the schedule, and many people seem to prefer to take them that way. They, too, need a change of scene and perspective--a chance to get away and refresh themselves. For that, several days in a row work best.

While we're on the subject, what sort of hours do you keep? Earlier this year, we had reader input on a question I posed--whether you can be an effective PD and air personality too. The consensus seemed to be that you could, but time management becomes more critical. If your duties tend to accumulate towards the end of the day, do you stop at a fixed time whether you're through or not--or do you put aside "quitting time" and get the job done? This has to do with your own personal psychological makeup; some people need a finish line to cross to end their day, and rapidly lose their efficiency if they have to continue past it; others get really tense trying to shoot for a stopping time that seems impractical. Find your own comfort level, and then stick to it. Avoid tensions, but leave yourself some time to yourself and your family after work. Again, if you are the Indispensable Person at your station, either you are fooling yourself and your family after work. Again, if you are the Indispensable Person at your station, either you are fooling yourself, or the structure of the station's management could use some rearranging. It's nice to be needed, but you don't need the hassle of carrying the weight of the whole station on your shoulders! But for right now....take a vacation! ■

by Lisa Smith & Betty Hollars

▲ CHAIRS FOR FEARS

To help promote the Tears For Fears concert in Salt Lake City, KCGL dreamed up its "Chairs For Fears" promotion. To enter, listeners were asked to make the best chair that they could. The only rules were that the chair had to have KCGL and the initials TFF somewhere on the chair. Exceptional entries included a huge rocking chair, a living chair with two people making the base and seating area, and a chair with a cake as its center piece. The winning entry, built by Nathan Heaps and Chris Durrant, was an electric chair. For their winning entry, Chris and Nathan won dinner, a hot air balloon ride, tickets to the concert, and met the band after the show.

▲ ON THE ROAD AGAIN

In celebration of Disneyland's 30th anniversary, the WCLR-Chicago morning team will broadcast live from Disneyland. As the culmination of WCLR's month long contest promotion, the live broadcast will include special interviews and the announcement of the winners of forty trips to Disneyland.

WKLS-Atlanta sent two lucky listeners to the greatest event in auto racing... the 1985 Indianapolis 500. The trip featured four days in Indianapolis, round trip air transportation, $96.00 spending money, and, of course, tickets to the 1985 Indianapolis 500.

Q107-Washington, D.C. listeners can win trips to Rome, Paris, Frankfurt, London, and Mexico by calling the "Q107 World Tour" line when they hear the sound of the Q107 forty-seven taking off. Correct callers will qualify for one of the trips and win a Q107 travelers check and Prince's new album "Around The World In A Day".

KNAC-Long Beach, CA listeners were recently given the opportunity to win an all-expense paid trip for two to Hawaii. Montages of songs were played for two weeks, and at the conclusion of the contest, listeners who kept track of all thirty songs were asked to mail in post cards with their answers. A drawing was then held for the grand prize.

▲ READY FOR MURRAY

ANNE MURRAY made a recent concert appearance in HUNTSVILLE, AL and WAHR/FM was there with prizes for its listeners. They had over three thousand entries for the chance at two front row passes, dinner for two at a local "hot spot," an Anne Murray album library, and of course the chance to meet Anne after the show. WAHR/FM also gave away Anne's latest LP and concert tickets to twenty other winners.

DAVE SHOLIN'S

Personal Picks — SINGLES

RON FELL'S

Personal Picks — ALBUMS

WHITNEY HOUSTON - Saving All My Love For You (Arista)

Talk about singing with feeling! April 26th saw the debut of the crossover picks section, and "You Give Good Love" had the distinction of being the very first pick. Now with one of the biggest songs of the summer under her belt, Whitney follows up with an even stronger effort that may earn her that elusive across the board number one hit.

JOHN COUGAR MELLANCAMP - Lonely Ol' Night (Mercury/PolyGram)

Doin' what he does best...simple, ol' straight ahead rock 'n' roll. Always a nice bonus when radio gets a mention, which fit into these lyrics very nicely. Looking ahead both this tune and aforementioned Whitney Houston record are perfect sounds for fall.

SCRITTI POLITTI - Perfect Way (Warner Brothers)

Alternative guys get funky. An unusual innovative three piece band that has had huge success with several dance oriented 12" releases. Lead vocalist and writer John Green has put together the kind of song that will undoubtedly help make Scritti Politti one of Top 40's brightest young hopes.

Eddie & The Tide - "Go Out and Get It" (Atco)

First the Beach Boys, then Billy Ocean, then Katrina & The Waves...now Eddie & The Tide. What gives? Actually, Eddie Rice and his band have. No strangers to either Northern California clubs or MTV, E & the T's have made their mark even prior to this premiere/debut LP. Produced by fellow Bay Arian Eddie Money, "Go Out and Get It" goes for broke. And like their mentor, the gang plays hard and tight possessing a healthy blend of natural energy, youthful enthusiasm and positive lyrical enforcement. By the time the album reaches the high water mark Eddie & The Tide will be in - in with the "names" currently cruising on their rep. ONE IN A MILLION, IT'S A GIFT, CALL MY NAME, THIS COULD BE THE ONE.

Cheap Trick - "Standing On The Edge" (Epic)

Ten years ago these guys, plus or minus a member, went into the studio for the first Cheap Trick LP. Their producer was Jack Douglas, a man who made a comfortable living raising the roof of rock-us, volume-intensive popular music. Both Cheap Trick and Douglas have layed low the past couple of years, but have rejuvenated their respective careers with a relevant, collaborative re-entry. The album rocks with conviction and relies heavily upon the tiered vocals of front face, Robin Zander. LITTLE SISTER, TONIGHT IT'S YOU, LOVE COMES, SHE'S GOT MOTION, COVER GIRL.
