INSIDE TOP 40 WITH DAVE SHOLIN

Like many of you, I'm still recovering from Bourbon Street and the heat of New Orleans. Enjoyed the chance to meet, in person, many of you who I talk with via phone each week and of course say hello to longtime friends as well. B.J. Hunter at KOOL in Phoenix brought up an excellent point during one of the meetings that I think bears repeating. That is, that the camaraderie among radio staffs that used to exist in the 60's and 70's has disappeared for the most part. Of course that's a generalization but getting together for events, late hours in the production room etc. tends to help create a winning team atmosphere. And as always there was lots of networking going on including a number of job interviews. If budgets prevent you from attending industry functions and you're looking to move up from a small or medium market situation it may be worth giving some thought to splitting the cost with your GM. The old "who you know" adage will always be present. Good time to plan now for February in San Francisco at The Gavin Seminar.

Make way for the women headed into the Top Ten...CYNDI LAUPER's hit factor goes wild...from 27% to 58%. She's already in the Top Ten at WBEN /FM, WZON, 106X, WBIZ, WJXQ, WHNY, KATD, KBBZ, KTUF, etc. In a virtual tie with CYNDI is TINA TURNER who has a slight edge in hit factor but not quite as many total chart points (16 less to be exact).

Several groups have made their third single release their biggest and that seems to be happening in the case of JOURNEY. Moves into the Top 20 at WATT, WPST, KIXS, KZFN, KMJK, KFIW, WHYT, WLGA, WWFX, WFBG, etc. Unstoppable is the operative word for HUMAN LEAGUE...debuting in the Top 30 for Daryl Kelley WHSB, Greg Lawley WDBR, Walker & Davis KYNO, John Purdy OK95 etc. 41 adds for one of the fastest moving records of the year. RIC OCASEK is off and running going over 200 total reports. Chart debuts include #28 Z-94, #25 WNSL, #30 KKEG, #25 KZZK, #29 FM104, #22 KTXV etc.

Strong second week for BRUCE HORNSBY and all indications are this will be his first big hit. Those jumping on the case include Rick Gillette and Chris Collins FM102, John Shomby and Ed Budanauro KZPS, Jeff Davis WPFM, Bob Beck KYYY, J.J. "Hitman" Mckay 100KH etc. Oran "Juice" Jones checks in with an 11% hit factor with Top Ten West Coast action at KMEL, KSTN, FM102.

17 adds for last weeks Record To Watch, THE BANGLES. Due to the NAB I went to press early and neglected to mention that Jay McCall KOZE Lewiston had it at number one and it's there again for the second week. Unusual entry FAR CORPORATION is one of the most talked about records of the week.

IN MEMORY OF...

Gordon McLendon, who died last week at the age of 65, left a legacy that anyone in radio might envy. Named Gavin's first Man of the Year in 1960, he had already earned another title: "The Father of Top 40." Although he certainly did not invent the format single-handedly, McLendon's flair for showmanship and his sense of what the listeners wanted transformed a medium, dragging radio out of the celluloid-collared era and into the age of playin' the hits.

Ken Dowe, who began working for McLendon as a 21-year-old announcer at KLIF-Dallas and ended up as the McLendon Radio Group's first and only executive vice president, says, "Genius is not a term I use often. The only one I've ever known is Gordon McLendon. He was uncommonly bright and creative, with an innate ability to have a lot of fun doing things other people either didn't think of or didn't have the nerve to do.

"It was Gordon's promotions that brought us radio as we now know it--treasure hunts, releasing thousands of balloons downtown," says Dowe. "Many of the FCC's rules on things you can't do on radio are there because Gordon did them first. But then, it's probably a good idea folks don't go around digging up people's yards looking for $50,000!"

Besides Top Forty, McLendon also pioneered Easy Listening, transforming San Francisco's KROW into KABL, with its distinctive cable-car bell i.d. that linked the station to its city of license. But Dowe recalls even laid-back KABL was not safe from McLendon's irrepressible gusto for hoopla: "All of a sudden, we'd go from Les Elgart and Mantovani to a St. Patrick's Day snake race."

Not every McLendon experiment succeeded. His plans for KOST-Los Angeles was to put it on the air as K-ADS, airing only classified ads--a format that's now doing well on cable TV.

Another idea ahead of its time saw McLendon paired with with the unlikely duo of Arthur Godfrey and Pierre Salinger in the Sixties, on a project called "Car Teach"--audio cassettes like today's "talking books." The problem, says Dowe "was that nobody owned cassette players back then."

Dowe remembers an even more ambitious project that took form while the two were vacationing in Mexico: "Gordon said, 'I want you to do something when we get back.' I thought he was being facetious, but I got out my pen. He said, 'I want you to call the Pentagon and buy the Armed Forces Radio Network.' He wasn't kidding--we made them a cash offer and they took six months kicking it around before turning us down. Gordon said, 'What the heck--it may work, and if it does, we'll put on great programming all over the world!'"

McLendon may have fallen short of his dream of a worldwide empire, but his place in American radio history is assured. If you're looking for his legacy, just tune in to the top music station in your market--chances are it got there by following his example.

THE GREATEST PROBING QUESTION IN RADIO SALES

How many times have you heard these lines in the past week:

*"Your rates are too high."
"Radio doesn't work for me."
"Your station doesn't reach my customer."
"I don't like the way your station has treated me."*

Let's assume a few important things are working in your favor as a salesperson: You have a sales system in place at your station that addresses the six elements of sales management I've discussed in an earlier column. You understand and use good human techniques. You are organized and have firm direction, due to a well-founded set of priorities. To get on with business, the most important building block you'll rely on is the phrase "Compared to what?"

The lines I quoted at the beginning of this article may sound negative, but they are, in fact, buying signals. When someone doing the buying makes a statement that sounds like it requires an immediate response, that is a buying signal. A degree of interest exists, or there would be no statement.

"Compared to what?" communicates two important things in the process of getting business. It keeps buyers talking about what they want, and it elicits correct information about what you need to do to get their business.

Here's an example:

Buyer: Your rates are too high!
Radioperson: Compared to what?
Buyer: Well, to my print ad cost.
Radioperson: That's very interesting. May I ask you how you compared our rates to newspaper? Or do you mean the cost of my schedule is high compared to the cost of a print ad?
Buyer: Yeah, that's what I mean. Print ads cost $500 a week, and your radio schedule costs $550. You're too high.
Radioperson: see what you mean. What if I showed you a way to lower your weekly cost in line with print? Would you reconsider radio?

Simple, but effective. Buyers can't help but compare media—it's their job! The biggest mistake in the scene above would have been to begin an assault on the buyer with regard to station rates. No matter how tempting it may seem, you must resist addressing these types of statements directly, or you'll miss an opportunity to unlock the door that stands between you and getting money! "Compared to what?" evokes another response from buyers. With reckless abandon, they tell you what it is they want or prefer, and why your product isn't satisfying them. Mostly, they do this by telling you what they love about your competition, be it radio or another medium.

Here's another example:

Buyer: Your radio station doesn't reach my customers.
Radioperson: Compared to what?
Buyer: Compared to my print ads, which always do!
Radioperson: So you have compared the results of a radio and a print campaign? When?
Buyer: Oh, that must have been ten years ago.
Radioperson: That's interesting. How did you do the comparison? Was it on the basis of traffic?
Sales? Awareness? Research?
Buyer: It was traffic. This place was dead the weekend I used radio.
Radioperson: Really! Do you remember which weekend it was?
Buyer: How could I forget! It was Labor Day. We didn't sell a single air conditioner.
Radioperson: I take it that since then, you've always had an air conditioner sale at the end of the season on Labor Day. And print has always worked?
Buyer: No way! That was the last time we tried to sell air conditioners on Labor Day weekend.
Radioperson: So what you're telling me is that, up to now, you've always compared the results of print on regular weekends to that of one radio campaign, selling a product you've since stopped selling on that weekend because of poor response. Have you ever compared a regular weekend of print to a regular weekend of radio?

Again, the statement by the buyer had nothing really to do with what was needed to get the business. These "decoy statements" by buyers are very easy to detect, and are just as easily ignored with a direct response from the salesperson. Don't be lazy--stay mentally sharp at all times, and you'll begin to pick up on these very important buying signals.

"The most important building block you'll rely on is the phrase 'Compared to what?'"

Try it yourself. In addition to looking for the opportunity to probe with "Compared to what?" practice set-up questions that lead the buyer into a decoy statement that leads back to "Compared to what?"

Here's an example:

Radioperson: If you could narrow it down to one thing, why won't you buy me?
Buyer: Your rates are too high!
Radioperson: Compared to what?

Or how about:

Radioperson: Lately, you've been spending all your radio dollars at young adult stations. What's the single biggest reason these stations have been getting the business?
Buyer: The promotions and merchandising they include with their schedules are better.
Radioperson: Compared to what?
Buyer: Well, you never offered me a promotion.
Radioperson: What do you consider a good promotion?

In either case, it took a set-up question to evoke the decoy statement, which led to the super-probe "Compared to what?"

The statement, "To be a good salesperson, you must be a great listener" is overused. If you use the super-probe, you'll find that getting buyers to listen to themselves is much more effective than just being a good listener. ●

A/C ANALYSIS

Genesis closes in on Huey as Collins & Co. now have 91% of their airplay in HEAVY rotation.

Toto has now cleared more than 200 A/C stations and shows a healthy 85% HIT FACTOR in only five weeks.

Carly Simon is for real. She's now HIT FACTORED with 71% of her 157 stations. The David Pack has a similar profile with 139 stations and HIT FACTORED at more than two-thirds.

Former RECORD TO WATCH (August 22nd) Janet Jackson's "When I Think Of You" debuts at #24 on the strength of 112 stations, including 19 ADDS, and a HIT FACTOR of 69%.

Ric Ocasek's "Emotion In Motion" will, without question, finish top five in A/C radio but is just now showing the signs of a hit. Adds = 31, Hit Factor = 40%, stations playing = 102. Among those 102 who've put it in motion are KKLTV, B100, KAT/FM, WSB and KLTR.

Peter Cetera & Amy Grant duet to it, as they were clearly the MOST ADDED record in the format for the second week in a row and have moved from zip to #30 on our chart in those two weeks.

Four great, yet slightly misunderstood records in CHARTBOUND this week. None of the four acts have a strong rep with A/C, but open ears hear them all.

Last week's RECORD TO WATCH, Human League's HUMAN has less than one third of our A/C stations reporting, but we'd bet anyone a bus ticket to Minneapolis that it'll finish top five.

This week's RECORD TO WATCH, Boston's "Amanda" heralds the triumphant return of one of the 70's most important musical units. It's well-deserved MOST ADDED status in Top 40 also earned it second MOST ADDED status in A/C with 40 first week believers.

RECOMMENDED FOR A/C RADIO

Madonna

True Blue (Sire/Warner Bros.)

Madonna reprises the girl group sound of the sixties in a safe love song with moderate tempo. No preachin' here.

Lionel Richie

Love Will Conquer All (Motown)

Hopelessly romantic. Eternally optimistic. Chord progressions and theme are strikingly reminiscent of "Love Will Find A Way" (from his previous album). This one cannot miss appealing to any adult ears.

Kenny Rogers

They Don't Make Them Like They Used To (RCA)

This pretty Bacharach/Sager ballad is just perfect for the voice of Kenny Rogers. It's from the movie "Tough Guys."

Ben E. King

Stand By Me (Atlantic)

Originally released more than twenty-five years ago, it actually sounds timeless in the Rob Reiner film of the same name which, by the way, has received rave reviews and major ticket sales.

Crowded House

Don't Dream It's Over (Capitol)

This is the new band fronted by Neil Finn of New Zealand's Split Enz. The song has been a home-tapping fave of mine for weeks now and I encourage your consideration.

Christopher Cross

Loving Strangers (Arista)

On loan from Warner Bros., Christopher contributes a rhythmic, appropriately A/C song produced by Madonna's Patrick Leonard.

HIT FACTOR

Hit Factor is a percentage of stations which have it in Heavy or Medium rotation. ie: 100 stations playing the record - 60 stations have it in Heavy or Medium rotation - Hit Factor = 60%

by Keith Zimmerman, Joe Belden and Kent Zimmerman

In years past, the National Association of Broadcasters' fall conventions have been designated as Programming Conferences, to distinguish them from the management and engineering-oriented meetings in the spring. This year's get-together in New Orleans was titled simply "Radio '86," a semantic distinction that proved to be based in fact. Most PDs we talked with complained that the convention has lost its original focus. "The event may have gotten too big for program directors," reports Tony Waitekus, PD at WCIL-Carbondale, IL. "Now they've got engineers, salespeople and all kinds of GMs running around." And Gary Berkowitz from WHYT-Detroit says, "I had a good time, but I wish there had been more roll-up-your-sleeves programming sessions. They were so few and far between that you had to get there and hour early to get a seat." Berkowitz says he seriously questions whether he will attend next year. Kipper McGee, PD at New Orleans' B-97, agrees there were "too many sessions on how to rust-proof your AM directional antenna," but adds, "Socially, it was great." Most schmoozing took place in the lobby of the Marriott Hotel, since the hospitality suites high above were effectively blockaded by elevator gridlock. Rollye Bornstein, president of Mediatrix, says many convention-goers simply bypassed the hors d'oeuvres for the pleasures of the French Quarter: "Why go to the 32nd floor and not know when you're going to get down, when you can walk out the door and have a nice dinner?"

Morning Madness: KSRR-Houston has ended its search, as Bobby Mitchell slides down from WHYT-Detroit to fill the seat once warmed by Moby. PD Andy Beaubien says Mitchell was "our top choice--he's got a positive young-adult style that's 180 degrees different from Moby's." Also making a segue is KKRZ-Portland PD/morning zookeeper Gary Bryan, who will take over programming chores at Seattle's KUBE on Oct. 1.

Other media movement of note include the resignation of Bill Perasso, WEA branch manager in San Francisco for more than 15 years. Jack Shue, WEA's Seattle honcho, will replace him... KFRC-SF assistant program director Jack Silver is off to work SuperSpots in the Windy City...Boston's WFNX announces the addition of Local Music Director Bill Abbate and overnigher Neal Bastas, who replaces Deb Brady, now at WXXP-Pittsburgh...Jonni Erickson is promoted to full-time at KSND-Eugene, OR. Blake Patton is the new PD/MD at KCLD-St. Cloud, MN as part-timer Neil Phelen moves into afternoon drive...Congratulations to Kevin O'Neal, PD at WRNS in coastal North Carolina, for winning Beasley Broadcasting's Programmer of the Year award... And finally, Get-Well Wishes to Motown's Vicki Leben, who has just gone through major back surgery. She's recovering at Valley Presbyterian Hospital, 15107 Vanowen, Box 9102, Van Nuys, CA 91409.

New York Sights...Wanna hear the latest tunes? A good way is to hop the redeye to the Big Apple, which Chinwag invaded on a combination Goodwill/Search and Destroy Mission. Gavin Marketing legend Bob Galliani was looking to-o-o-o bad in his combo cashmere/wool sportscoat. First stop was the palaces of Atlantic where Vince Faraci, fresh from the WEA Miami trip, spun some Bad Company. Later, Judy Libow spun us a videotape of Genesis, Peter Frampton and Roger Daltrey jamming with the entire Atlantic Promo team (dubbed "The Atlantics"). Danny Buch is a kill piano player in the vein of Leon Russell. David Fleischman sang a mean "Mustang Sally." Lou Sicurezza looked at home behind a Yamaha DX7. Tunc Erim on congas and more. They oughta make Phil Collins work an Atlantics record. P.S. Judy. Don't give up your day job...We talked hits and baseball with Marc Nathan and Margo Knesz. Nathan has a steel-trap mind when it comes down to hit record trivia. Ask him to recite the entire Playboy Records catalogue sometime...Charlie Prevost is a man with an interesting past (having managed Supertramp during their heyday).

Don't be surprised if you read an interview with him in a future Gavin issue...Elektra Records is alive and thriving madly. Mike "Attention, K-Mart Shoppers!" Bone downplayed his rack-mount super stereo. College whiz Harry Levy looked on with quiet admiration as Bone pontificated on the virtues of Metal Church. Brad Hunt was especially cocky, since it looks like the Red Sox aren't gonna fold until the playoffs...To pay us back for having their names projected on the Oakland A's scoreboard, Island's Bob Catania and Andy Allen enlisted the lovely Kathy Kenyon and held a Rumanian steakhouse hostage. Allen sipped frozen vodka while B-boy Galliani drank Fox's U-Bet Syrup mixed with chicken fat. In the background, the restaurant sang "Happy Birthday"...Getting Epic/CBS's Steve Backer, Jack Isquith, Michelle Block and Dane Venable together isn't that hard. They came bearing a tape of the new James Brown album featuring a track with Steve Winwood called "How Do You Stop?" New Amsterdam flowed...Jaye Reggio was too bashful to let us visit sans make-up. Later, Galliani stormed the Manhattan offices and saw Jack Satter work magic on the phone... Eddie Mascolo and Mike Becce are enjoying the success of Bruce Hornsby. Also enjoying herself at RCA is Lisa Velasquez, showing off the calluses on her dialing finger. Album utility man John Siegler first thought we were process servers. Once he realized we were the Men from Gavin, he was all smiles...East coast IRSman Paul Brown downed three cups of java as we talked about "life, sex and madness." He's quite enthusiastic about just joining IRS, spreading havoc on the airwaves. PB's a future star of our biz, a bright chap...Paul Rappaport finally admitted to being a Hunter Thompson fan and thus will receive a weekly column for his honesty. Along with Linda Kirishjian and Lisa Wolf, Broadway and Times Square was a little less safe. All are anticipating five discs of live Bruce...NYC is a rap song, a folk song, and a rock n roll song combined. The person who blends those elements together in a song will capture the magic of the Big Apple. Go see "She's Gotta Have It." Thanks to Upside Records' John Rosenfelder for insisting we pick up Oliver Nelson's Blues And The Truth. It is truly amazing, bub.

TV OR NOT TV (II)

Like all good Americans, we've spent much of the past week previewing the network pilots for the new TV season. As far as we're concerned, it's the same old pap and filler. OUR HOUSE is LITTLE HOUSE ON THE PRAIRIE revisited. THE WIZARD is a product of some TV guy who'd had too many Scotch Mists when he conceived it, and a bunch of worn-out old Loni Andersons and Andy Griffiths are back to lull us again. Cable ain't much better with all the pay channels repeating Brat-Pack sagas and Schwarzenegger Terminator-clone epics. Gary Shandling and David Brenner, (who are really the same person with the same lips), Joan Rivers, and God knows who else are inflicting new late-night yap shows on a numb public, and dead people are arriving back in droves on the night-time soaps on which we thought they'd expired. Monday Night Football is now as boring as Monday Night Real Estate Seminars (due to How-Wad's retirement), and only OUR business demonstrates a modicum of creativity via a few inventive videos...and THOSE are becoming few and far between. Baseball's pennant races are virtually over...no, they ARE over and have been since June, and the tube, in general, is a giant blob of goo. That is to say...ALMOST a giant blob of goo, as once again, RTV (RICHLAND TELEVISION NETWORK) has arisen to fill the void. RTV is available in select areas, and for those of you whose systems receive it, we thought we'd preview a sampling of some of the coming year's offerings:

HAM-MAN! "Walk softly, but carry a big schtick" is but one of the mottos of the wisecracking private dick, Bob Hamilton, who moonlights as a San Francisco PD and in reality is a Shamus-By-The Sea. Known to most Bay Areas as the major domo of KYA/KSFO, the not-to-be-denied-HAM-MAN (!) hits the streets at night, arresting bad guys and traffic girls on sight, even if they haven't done anything wrong. HAM-MAN (!) operates on instinct. This crusading radio guy/private eye strode into crosstown rival K101 last week and busted the entire staff for charges ranging from Lack of Seals & Crofts to Over Helen Reddy. HAM-MAN's (!) scraps lead him into heart-stopping situations week after week, as he utters this tight-lipped greeting to all competitive programmers, "Go ahead. . . Make My Daypart!!"

CUTE-KID 'n' FAM'LY: An adorable little 42-year-old black child, (played by Billy Bass) moves into the white middle-class condo owned by a yuppie A/C couple (played by Dino Barbis and Diane Rufer). The humorous juxtaposition of lines such as "Yo Mama" and "I Heard That," from little Billy, to Dino and Diane's "Let's get the BMW oiled" and "Where's my Reeboks?" makes for a fascinating and yock-filled mix. In the pilot episode, Billy strides into his adopted parents' family room, rips Michael Franks off the stereo and replaces it with The Best Of Run DMC...and THAT'S when the hi-jinks begin!

PET SHOP GOYS: A wacko and wildly diversified bunch of promo persons (Jack Silverstein, Pat Martine and Tom Jodka) operate a combination animal shelter and record store in a Boston loft upstairs from CHEERS. Zany happenings are the order of the day as each episode trades on the natural conflict between the disc and dog businesses. In one segment, EMI's Jodka sells a trained seal to a man requesting Dan Seals, and the resulting confusion puts the trio in a trick bag which puts the laugh in a state of hysteria. MCA's Martine is uproarious as the resident goofball, a fact certain to be recognized when EMMY time rolls around.

DEES WERE THE DAYS: KIIS/FM's Rick Dees may appear to be a normal high-rated a.m.-drive guy, but only viewers will be aware of his real status as a weird jive-spouting alien from the planet GARYOWEN. Dees' extraterrestrial state enables him to read the minds of fellow morning guys while schmoozing in the lobbies of record conventions. Competitors such as John Lander and Scott Shannon are amazed when Dees uses uncopyrighted phrases like "Pick O' The Pack in Wax Shellac" without offering royalties.

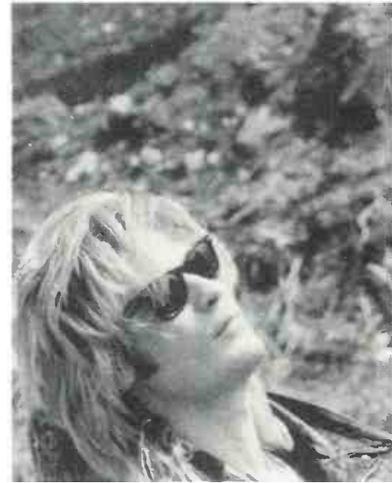

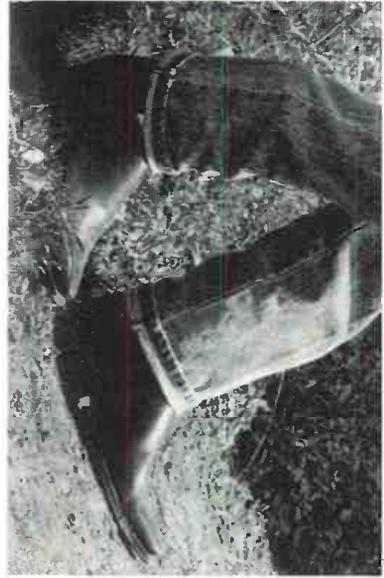

54 MINUTES: Presenting an even FASTER-paced version of his wildly successful 59 MINUTES of last year, Indie record exec Don Anti gets right to the heart of the matter with scalpel-like investigations into such controversies as MADONNA'S BRAS: WHO SCULPTS THEM? and RAZZY BAILEY: THE MAN AND THE NICKNAME. The Anti-Man's hidden cameras respect no scam or sham and all of America (except Billy Brill) will be semi-spellbound as they wonder...WHAT NEXT?

Space has permitted but a few summations of RTV's programs for '86. The rest of our schedule is equally compelling and further detail will appear in this space. We'll probably resume with comments about our Hill Street Blues-type series, "Charlie Minor: His Lives, His Loves, His Resnick." Peace! ●

by Kent Zimmerman

It all started with a press release—a rather strange press release. Instead of the usual facts and figures (which in Daryl Hall's case could be immense and impressive), included was a 25-line, third-person description titled "Daryl Hall."

One-liners included: "He likes to hunt." "He brews his own ale." "He is a nice guy." "He is honest."

Admittedly, it took about five minutes to write, yet it was a refreshing departure from the usual bios boasting mounds of self-congratulatory accomplishments. We talked to Daryl at what is obviously an exciting and challenging crossroads in his career. Though Hall released a prior solo LP (Sacred Songs produced by Robert Fripp), Three Hearts in the Happy Ending Machine is, in his eyes, a definite break with the past. We discussed his new solo career in relation to the future of Hall and Oates in addition to the merits of home-brewed ale.

ACCIDENTALLY

DREAM TIME

"I want to develop my own individual ideas, as I'm sure John wanted to. But that doesn't mean we can't have a reunion once in a while."

KZ: Three Hearts In The Happy Ending Machine was recorded overseas. Did that have anything to do with Hall & Oates recording so much of their music in New York?

DH: I wanted to get out of the States because I associate New York with Hall & Oates' sound. That's where John and I really got most of our influence, other than our Philadelphia roots. I figured that since I write very spontaneously and react to my environment, by removing myself from the States, I'd automatically have a different sound and a different slant on things.

KZ: When did Dave Stewart become involved in the album?

DH: In the very beginning, to tell you the truth, I just went to England with nothing in my head. I decided I was going to see who I could meet and bumped into Dave Stewart. We hit it off so well that we decided to just start writing some songs and go into the studio together. He was only involved in the beginning of the album. He really wasn't there for the whole thing. We were trying to decide whether to put Dave's name on as co-producer. I wanted to because I thought he played an important part in getting things started and getting a direction happening. But physically, he wasn't really around. It was mostly done by (bassist) T-Bone Wolk and me. Dave had so much going on this year. So I said, "Just stop in and throw some ideas my way and step out of it." It was more of a friendly collaboration than anything else.

KZ: My favorite track is "I Wasn't Bom Yesterday." It alludes to leaving behind cynicism and city life. Are you a former cynic?

DH: I think being a cynic is like being an alcoholic: You never really leave it. It's always there looking over your shoulder. But you can try to stay away from it a little bit. By making a musical break with New York, I also made kind of a mental break after all these years. By staying not only out of the city, but out of the country, I was trying to rearrange my brain a little bit. I think that shows up on the lyrics. I can only now tell what I was really writing about. I wasn't sure what I was saying. Now I can look at it in retrospect. A lot of things seem to have culminated over this year both musically, artistically, and personally--everything.

KZ: On the liner notes, you mention "happy accidents." What were some of the happy accidents that made this record special?

DH: God...so many things. Meeting Dave Stewart was a happy accident. I didn't have him in mind at all. It was pure chance for that to happen. Things like Joni Mitchell being on the same airplane, winding up in England with me saying "Come on down to the studio." (laughs) So many things like that. I felt like a juggler. Every time I put my hand out, the ball would just fall in. It was one of those effortless projects. Sometimes it's like pulling teeth, but this time it was just flowing along. I think a lot of it had to do with good luck.

KZ: Was recording "Right As Rain" with Joni Mitchell an easy collaboration?

DH: Real easy. I've known Joni Mitchell for a long time. I've always wanted to sing with her. We talked about it a lot and finally found an opportunity to do it. I'd like to do it again. I love singing with her. She's the greatest.

KZ: On that song, there's a droning effect in the beginning, followed by the drums that kick in towards the end.

DH: That drone is an ancient instrument called a vielle. It's also called the hurdy-gurdy, not the hurdy gurdy like you see in a carnival. This one is a pre-medieval stringed instrument that you crank. I found this guy in Paris who could play it. They're very hard to find. It's a great sound, a haunting kind of sound.

KZ: Was this the same person who was the French percussionist on the LP?

DH: No. That was somebody else--a percussionist named Michel de La Port who was an amazing find. He's another lucky accident. I went to Paris, again with nobody in mind, and just decided to look up some musicians. I asked for an African percussionist, and they wound up giving me an ex-Foreign Legionnaire who had spent years in North Africa and India. He made his own drums and had studied with African and Indian drum masters. He added a lot to the rhythm and the feel of album. It was different from Afro-American rhythms I'm used to using. I've never really explored North African. I mean, I know North African music but I never used it on record. It's very sensual and an amazing kind of groove. I'm surprised more people don't use it.

KZ: What countries does this music originate from?

DH: Algeria, Tunisia, Senegal...places like that.

KZ: How did you manage to control the technology on your album?

DH: I didn't use any. (laughs) That's the best way to do it. I used sampling, but I used an Emulator 2 and that was almost like punching out sounds out of a synthesizer. There's not one MIDI instrument on this album, which I'm proud of. (laughs) I used all real people. The percussion is real. The drummer is real. I wanted to get away from all that synthesizer stuff. I always felt that I had a pretty good grip on that stuff anyway with John (Oates). We always felt that we used them as tools. I just didn't feel like using those textures on this album. I wanted to get more into those string kind of sounds--guitar, mandolin and this vielle. Things like that make it all a little bit more organic sounding.

KZ: At what point did the string arrangement end up on "Dreamtime"?

DH: Pretty much at the end. A guy named Michael Kamen did it. He works a lot with Eurythmics. I had known him in New York years ago. He's a New Yorker living in England now, so we just called him up. He's great.

KZ: Did the "Ruthless People" theme come out of your sessions?

DH: Yes, right at the end of the sessions. Right before we went in and started mixing, somebody called me up from New York and asked if we wanted to do this. Dave had re-emerged, and we called Mick (Jagger) up and we all got together and pretty much jammed it out and wrote the song and produced it three ways.

KZ: Do you still habitually walk into recording sessions with next to nothing prepared in advance?

DH: Yes. Sometimes I have a year or whatever between albums. I'll put down little things on tape, just little snips of ideas, maybe a half of a chorus or something like that. Then I listen to all those things before I go into the studio. Actually, on this album I went in with nothing. Four of the songs were written in the studio with nothing at all in our heads beforehand.

KZ: You say environment affects you so much when you're making music spontaneously. What was the environment like for you in Europe?

DH: Different cities have different influences around them. London has a feel all of its own. Beyond music, it gets into a subliminal environmental kind of thing. As far as Paris, that has its own connection due to colonization of Northern Africa. The musicians are influenced by different things. All of those things combined pile up in your brain and you just spit them out.

KZ: I've noticed a lot of African records are released on French labels. What is it about France and African music?

DH: It has to do with colonization. The French were in Algeria and Morocco for years and years. People are always influenced by their imperialist activities. (laughs). That's the exchange that usually goes down. That's the roots of a lot of French music.

KZ: You've written that you grew up "with" the ghetto as opposed to "in" the ghetto. What did you mean?

DH: Well, I think that the ghetto has grown up a lot, too. I think I grew up along with the ghetto. I see a giant change in the black community and black music since I was a teenager and younger. It certainly has influenced the way American music is going. You know soul music has always been an integrated thing for me due to my particular environment and experiences. It's starting to happen more and more now. For the first time, you can really say that the black community has actually at least ventured into the middle class. I see things changing.

"Being a cynic is like being an alcoholic. You never really leave it."

KZ: When you were a lad in Philadelphia, were there two kinds of music to grow up to? For instance, there was the Italian stallion, greaseball kind of guy like Fabian, and then there was black music.

DH: Well, I'm too young for Fabian and all that stuff. That whole Frankie Avalon/Philadelphia sound was completely manufactured with no ties to the streets except that they grabbed these guys off the streets. The kind of music I listened to was the music of the city, which was an integrated music. It was black-oriented, but it was really made by blacks and whites, generated mostly by blacks. At that time, there was a lot of interplay between all groups of people in Philadelphia. I hope it's still the same way there. It certainly was that way when I was a kid.

KZ: You've also written that you don't care much about winning, yet you've had so much success. Does that kind of attitude help when it comes to succeeding?

DH: It always helps when you don't have to think about it. It's like saying you don't care about money if you're rich. I'm not a person who worries a lot. I'm not competitive by nature. I have standards that I set upon myself. I'm driven by other things than "being number one." I want to be successful at what I do because it's a challenge to me, but it's not the point of what I do.

KZ: Did this album actually feel like your first solo album, more than the Sacred Songs LP?

DH: In most ways it was because it's the beginning of something, basically a new career. I'm still going to work with John occasionally, but it's up in the air at this point. There's no schedule or plans, so it really feels like this is it for me. I feel like a new artist. The other album (Sacred Songs) was really an extension of a lot of experimentation I was doing all through the seventies, trying to find out what the hell I was doing. There was a lot of stabbing in the dark with John and me, both together and separately, through the seventies. I think we finally found our focus. I found my focus in the beginning of the eighties. This album isn't a departure like the other album. It feels like a whole new generation for me.

KZ: Is Hall and Oates history?

DH: Naaaaah. It's part of history. (laughs) I don't think so. I don't want it to be, John doesn't want it to be, and I don't see why it should be.

KZ: Isn't Hall and Oates a bit of a contractual jumble?

DH: Well, we're really lucky in one way. We could have had hassles because there could've been record company pressure for Hall and Oates to make another record right away. But we have the lucky situation of Hall and Oates being on Arista and me on RCA, which is basically the same thing. (Editor's Note: Both companies share the same distribution.) So it's all been worked out. I have the pleasure and luxury of doing what I want now with myself. When John and I feel like making a record every once in a while, whenever that might be, we can just go in and do it. It'll be fun for us. I'm sure it will be interesting because we'll really want to do it. It'll be something special.

KZ: That may be the only way to keep a long partnership fresh.

DH: We've gone through a lot together and I think it's time for a new slant on everything. I want to develop my own individual ideas, as I'm sure John wants to. But that doesn't mean we can't have a reunion once in a while. You know, that's fun too. I don't want to just be one of those groups that just goes on and on and on, that just keeps lingering on. John and I inspire each other a lot, but at a certain point, if I hadn't stopped it, I think we would have started getting stale on each other. I think this is the best thing that could've happened.

KZ: Any thoughts on radio? Are you a listener?

DH: Yeah, I listen to radio.

KZ: Any comment on some of the formats—Top Forty, Album, Urban, A/C?

DH: I don't know. I listen mostly in New York or out of the country, like London, places like that. Right now isn't the most interesting time in the world for radio. That could change within a month, so you never know. I think that '84 was one of those rare things that had a combination of the New York scene exploding and this kind of neo-English invasion happening. So things were interesting, but now both of those have kind of revolved into themselves.

KZ: As in being absorbed.

DH: Yes. Yes. It's been absorbed by everybody. It's real mainstream, so it's lost some of its interest. But you never know when something new is going to happen. I'm certainly trying to do something new. "Dreamtime" doesn't sound like anything else on the radio. I guess that's good.

KZ: Was the Apollo gig with the Temptations an ultimate high?

DH: It was. I don't even know how to describe that because that was another one of the reasons that I decided to do what I'm doing right now. I felt that everything had been tied together so neatly and succinctly. You go back to your roots with your heroes on the stage that they started on. It caused me and John to do a lot of thinking right then and there. Combined with everything else that was happening around us at that time, Live Aid and all those other things, it was a pretty heady moment in time—June of '85.

KZ: Is it true you really brew your own ale?

DH: Yeah, because I like English beer and you can't really get it here. Actually the West Coast seems to be making good ale. I know Seattle makes good ale. The thing about ale is that it doesn't really travel. Real ale is a living culture. Once it gets bottled and pasteurized and all that stuff, it changes the whole nature of the beer so that it doesn't keep very long. You've got to make it locally. I keep my vat going up here.

"This LP was one of those effortless projects."

KZ: Is your own personal brew your favorite brand?

DH: I've been experimenting with different recipes. Right now I'm doing the Fullers London Pride recipe. Each one is slightly different. I have a book with about 150 different English recipes.

KZ: Fullers has a wicked aftertaste.

DH: Yeah, well with my stuff, I fool around with it a little bit so that I've got it pretty well the way I like it.

KZ: I have trouble picturing you as a game hunter.

DH: I grew up in the country. My father and my uncles were all hunters so I did some hunting as a kid. I eat meat so I do my own dirty work. I don't hunt for the thrill of the kill or anything. I hunt because I like to test my skills and I like to eat game. I like rabbit, pheasant—all those things.

KZ: Do you feel threatened by some of these pressure groups and religious organizations protesting rock n roll and lyric content?

DH: Yes, more than by anything else in a long time. It's starting to have an effect on the fabric of American society, and when anything like that happens, it has to be addressed. It's dangerous, it really is. I think that people coming to grips, realizing it and taking steps even by talking about it is at least something. It's a hard thing to fight because it's many-headed. It's something that's changing America and not for the better. I'd hate to see it go much farther. If we get a block of politicians who are appealing directly to that kind of thinking, we have big trouble.

KZ: What's the significance of the title of your album, Three Hearts In The Happy Ending Machine?

DH: I look at life hopefully as a happy ending machine. I think this is an optimistic album. I see the creative mind as a happy ending machine, too.

KZ: Why did you thank Bob Dylan for the line in the single?

DH: He wrote one of the original lyrics to "Dreamtime" when we wrote the song. We gave him a tape and asked him if he'd write a lyric for it. He sent me a tape with him singing on it. I decided that what he was talking about really wasn't what I wanted to talk about, so I scrapped the lyric. But I kept one phrase that he did use, "movie star eyes."

KZ: So you have a tape of Bob Dylan singing to the tune of "Dreamtime"?

DH: I sure do! (laughs) That's pretty funny.

KZ: I'll bet that one makes the archives.

DH: (laughing) That's locked away.

BIO FEEDBACK

by RON FELL

POLICE

They regrouped in the studio long enough to re-record "Don't Stand So Close To Me" for their upcoming greatest hits package. A new video for the song has been filmed by directors Godley & Creme.

MONKEES

Michael Nesmith finally made it a foursome when he joined Mickey, Peter and Davy onstage at an appearance of the Monkees' Reunion Tour at the Greek Theatre in Los Angeles earlier this month.

AL JARREAU

While a student at Wisconsin's Ripon University, Al was an all-star basketball and baseball player. He was even offered a tryout with the National League's Milwaukee Braves.

BILLY JOEL

An episode of the television series "Moonlighting" will be based on Billy's song "Big Man On Mulberry Street" from Joel's latest album, "The Bridge."

LEE GREENWOOD

In both 1983 and 1984, Lee was designated Male Vocalist Of The Year by the Country Music Association.

REGINA

She's a native of New York State and her real name is Regina Richards.

FRANK SINATRA

Nine CD's from "The Chairman Of The Board" will be released in time for Christmas on Reprise via Warner Bros. Included will be the ultimate Sinatra set, "Sinatra At The Sands."

PRETENDERS

A new album from Chrissie and Company, "Get Close," is scheduled for release in late October.

LOU REED

The new James Earl Jones movie "Soul Man" will feature a title track sung by Sam Moore (of Sam & Dave) in a duet with Lou Reed. Another duet on the soundtrack will pair Sly Stone with The Motels' Martha Davis.

RUBY TURNER

If the name sounds vaguely familiar, she was the one who replaced Helen Terry on the last Culture Club album and tour.

NEIL YOUNG and CRAZY HORSE

For the first time in eight years, Neil and his old band Crazy Horse are out on tour. Billed as the Third Best Garage Band In The World, they began in Rochester, New York, September 15th.

CHERYL LYNN

She has signed with Manhattan Records and will release her new album in November.

CARLY SIMON

Though her new song "Coming Around Again" is from the soundtrack of "Heartburn," there's no album planned.

JOHNNY CASH

The newly crowned Miss America, Kellye Cash, is Johnny's grand-niece.

STEVE EARLE

His album "Guitar Town" was so named because that's the CB'ers code name for Nashville.

NEW EDITION

The original version of "Earth Angel" was recorded in 1954 by The Penguins. Original Penguins lead vocalist Cleveland Duncan still performs with a group known as The Penguins, though only he and one other member are originals.

HUNTERS & COLLECTORS

This Side of Heaven - Ric Ocasek (Geffen)

With his need for experimentation aside, Ric Ocasek enlists an impressive cast to conjure up This Side Of Heaven. The album is a homerun for Album Radio. Check the list of players: Steve Stevens, Roland Orzabal (Tears For Fears), Tom Verlaine, Tony Levin, G.E. Smith and Cars Hawkes, Orr and Easton. Co-produced by Chris Hughes and Ross Cullum, Paradise has the commercial flow of their work with Wang Chung. The material is non-stop. Highlights include the whole of side one, backed by "Mystery" and "Hello Darkness."

"To Be A Lover" - Billy Idol (Chrysalis)

Billy Idol or Billy Preston? A bold opening move for Billy Idol. "To Be A Lover" features Elvisized gospeling by keyboardist Richard Tee and vocalist Jocelyn Brown. One of the most anticipated releases of the year. After one spin, it's checkmate.

"Dream Operator." Now take a break, guys and gal.

Break Every Rule - Tina Turner (Capitol)

It's almost as if Tina's new LP was split between sides. There's Top Forty on side one, produced by Terry Britten. Side two holds all the cards attractive to Album Radio, especially the opener, "Back Where You Started," starring Tina backed by Bryan Adams and band. Aside from that bonus, there's Rupert Hine's fixation, "Break Every Rule," plus Mark Knopfler's "Overnight Sensation." Even though Break Every Rule doesn't, it's a skillful follow-up that'll keep Tina's legions twisting by the pool.

Inside - Matthew Sweet (Columbia)

Whatever you do, don't let Matthew Sweet fall between the cracks. He's accomplished the impossible by recording a cohesive album with eight different teams of producers. Without laundry-listing all of the names, they are people who have worked with artists as diverse as REM, The Cure, OMD, Cliff Richard, The Bangles and many more. Rather than being overly shaped and molded, Matthew Sweet bows as very much his own man. I particularly liked how the technology was held in check, used as shade and drama instead of dominating the compositional impact of the material. My faves include "Save Time For Me," "This Above All," "Blue Fools" and "Quiet Her."

Georgia Satellites (Elektra)

Though they hail from the jangled Southeast, Georgia Satellites sure ain't your usual REM clone. In fact, I'd give them a raunch factor that surpasses ZZ Top. These guys are playing some serious scratch & sniff raucous and roll. The album's opener and pulse track, "Keep Your Hands To Yourself," has a vocal track not unlike Delbert McCClinton at his smokiest. "Hands" into "Railroad Steel" is a deadly one/two hit to the body. After nine trax of unrelenting rocking honky-tonkin', the elpee closes with a barnstorm cover of Rod Stewart's "Every Picture Tells A Story." After just one high decibel audition, you're gonna need some Windham Hill. Good luck.

High Octane Revival - Scruffy The Cat (Relativity)

I talked to a lot of college stations excited about Scruffy The Cat. When WBCN's Danny McCloskey deified them, that was it. High Octane Revival is a six-song EP. By investing just a little time, the return will be manifold. The band's from Roxbury. The label is Relativity. Call Patrick Cooney at 213-643-9783 and ask for a stray copy.

"(Forever) Live and Die" - OMD (A & M)

I agree wholeheartedly with the buzz line being circulated about OMD. That is, just as "Breakfast Club" helped launch Simple Minds, "Pretty In Pink" was the final push for OMD. After years of being underrated, this is their time in the sun. Either get into them or get out of the way.

"One Simple Thing" - Stabilizers (Columbia)

Not a week passes when someone doesn't report the Stabilizers. "One Simple Thing" looks like the cut that could break them into the Outfield, i.e. platinum status. Simply put, give a listen.

TRUE STORIES

True Stories - Talking Heads (Sire)

David Byrne, who has his hand in every art form and medium, has another unique idea: His latest movie is supported by a multiple soundtrack release. One will feature the musical score. Another has songs sung by the actors. The third issue is the Talking Heads version of the movie songs. Musically, the band carries further the ethno-Louisiana flavor of Little Creatures. Cut in Hollywood and Texas, the performances sound spontaneous, the interpretations sharp and punchy. While True Stories may be a David Byrne brainchild, the Heads' versions of the songs sound like a happy group effort. Trax include "Love For Sale," "Radio Head" and the slower but surer with Huey, you'll note that Hornsby has been kicking around for some time. Don't overlook the contribution of his band, The Range. Two familiar faces include ex-Ambrosia bassist Joe Puerta and ex -Alpha Band and Dylan sideman David Mansfield. Next, at #19 steps 'Til Tuesday, who jump sixteen places. Expect even more action once the album sees the light of day this week or so. Heavy week for Boston. They pull off a triple crown by winning the Most Added, Certified, Gavin Album Frontline derby. Retail is getting the nudge from your listeners already ... I gotta shake Jovi's hand (or hands). Considering the station sa his progress is unbelievable...Expect a new push soon on Don Johnson. What's your vote? Mine w be "Last Sound Love Makes"... Due to last week's deluge of Add candidates, was the Cyndi Lauper overlooked? I feel she was. If you have doubts, like these four trax: "Boy Blue." "What's Going On/Iko "Change Of Heart," and the Blue Angel remake "I He'll Know." I'm confident you can make a suitable judgement on the strength of those four trax. And you give them a fair shake, I think you'll admit to th album's merit. Give it a solid ear. Other happening records include Iggy Pop, Richard Thompson, Bil Squier, Gene Loves Jezebel, and the Woodentop Frankie rages onto Chartbound this week as did t OMD and the Aretha Franklin. Lots of diversity to t the world go round. That's all for now. Stay calm. ' pal, KZ.

REM maintains a 25% lead but The Woodentops push UB40 aside and continue to close the gap (REM lead by 30% last week). Gene Loves Jezebel and Timbuk 3 each jump three positions inside the suddenly solemn top ten. Hunters & Collectors break the top ten with the following stations reporting it in MAXIMUM ROTATION: WTSR, WUNH, WFNX, WRAS, WUOG, WUSC, WWVU, WXYC, KABL, KCPR, KDVS, KUNV, KUSF, KBSU, KBVR, etc. Easterhouse's growth requires some patience, but it's quickly gaining momentum with the support of commercial stations like: KABL,

SPOTLIGHT LP

In Your Face-FISHBONE (Columbia)

Ska music was a substantial factor in Alternative music about five years ago, with bands like the English Beat, The Specials, Madness, etc., holding a large share of the market. Today, that sound has become diffused in a variety of subgroups. Bands like the Crazy 8's have stayed truer to their roots with a style described as "World Beat" (incorporating African, reggae and American Urban rhythms). Other groups like General Public or FYC have aimed their songwriting skills in a pop music direction. Fishbone falls somewhere in between these two camps. "When Problems Arise," "Give It Up," "Turn The Other Way," "Cholly," are characteristic of their tightrope walk which interweaves intricate rhythms with a conscious balance of solos.

Blood & Chocolate-ELVIS COSTELLO & THE ATTRACTIONS (Columbia)

EC releases albums at a bewildering pace. "Blood & Chocolate" is his second this year and has a tough act following one of 1986's best, "King Of America." Such a high volume of songs is susceptible to the law of diminishing returns. Elvis is well into his poetic years (and albums), and Blood & Chocolate is no exception. Not as serene as "King Of America," the Attractions are back and he follows a course closer to his recent release "Goodbye Cruel World" with the best including, "Tokyo Storm Warning," "Home Is Anywhere You Hang Your Head," "Crimes Of Paris," "Blue Chair" and "Next Time Around."

KTCL, KCGL, KJET, 91X, etc. Paul Simon is reaching a crossroads on the chart and could use some added airplay to the following non-commercial stations, WPRB, WUSB, WUSC, WXYC, WTUL, KWWC, KBSU, etc. Our three Certified records all have very different profiles. Ric Ocasek is bringing in intense commercial radio play, while The Fall are on the other side of the fence and the Sid & Nancy Soundtrack is drawing from both. Watch five records that are just out of the gate and will be big contenders: Richard Thompson, Frankie Goes To Hollywood (MOST ADDED), Elvis Costello, Iggy Pop and Everything But The Girl.

COUNTRY SUMMARY

It's housecleaning time inside the Top Ten, with only four underlines appearing there. Look for a lot of movement there in the next couple of weeks. There are a lot of strong records in the middle of the chart that are ready to jump into the Top Ten, but the story of the week has obviously got to be Alabama. With a jump from 40 to 21 on our chart and 154 out of 172 of our stations playing the record, it was a pretty easy choice for Certified this week. Last week's Certified, The Gatlins, continue on their road to the top of the chart, with good moves at WCHK, WKAK, WLAT, WQYK, KKIX, WKYQ, WQSB, KBMW, KMIT, KQKD, WNAX, etc. Bill Cardoza at KYAK-Anchorage reports that it's been one of his most requested records for over a month. George Jones just barely missed charting, so look for a nice debut for him on next week's chart. Mike Doty at KERR-Polson says he can't keep up with the phone calls asking for George. Our Most Added record, Michael Johnson's "Give Me Wings" is already threatening to enter the Top Requests category. Joel Muller at KROW-Reno noted that he's already getting great calls for it, and Kevin Carlisle at WFPR-Hammond said it was among his top three requests the first day he played it. Billy Joe Royal's "I Miss You Already" recently took on a whole new meaning for him. While performing in Atlanta, his "faithful car" was stolen, and the police have failed to turn up any trace of the car!! Lots of positive comments from programmers on the new Johnny Cash/Waylon Jennings duet (written, by the way, by Tom T.Hall). It's great to see so much great new product out - check out all the Recommended Records we have this week. Billy Lee at WXYK-Milan, TX is getting great reaction to the "Graceland" cut from Paul Simon's new LP of the same name, and Dennis Edwards at KTDO-Toledo reports fantastic response to "Someday" from Steve Earle's LP. But the most popular album cut by far that's currently being played on Country station's is still Lionel Richie's "Deep River Woman". While there's a lot of good product out there now that's getting great listener reaction, many station's are reporting that Randy Travis' "On The Other Hand" is still one of their most requested records. We're hearing "Record Of The Year" predictions. What do you think? Talk to you next week!!

P.D. NOTEBOOK by ERIC NORBERG

CLASSIC CALL LETTERS

Ron Fell has suggested more than once that I do a column on this subject, but I have balked a bit because I don't consider myself a radio historian, and any column of this sort I wrote would undoubtedly leave out a great deal that should be in. But I thought I'd touch on a few classic calls in the hope that you might find the subject interesting and fill in some of the more gaping holes yourself!

Call letters can be selected from any four-letter combination starting with W (east of the Mississippi) or K (west of it) that is not already assigned to a station; many ships are given such four-letter calls, have no real interest in them, and willingly give them up to a commercial station if requested. In the 1920's, the rules were not so well-defined. Stations could have either three or four letters, and quite a few "K's" were allowed in the east, and some "W's" in the west---a few of them remain today. In fact, the first modern licensed station, KDKA in Pittsburgh, is such an exception. (Though KDKA got the first license, it is not the oldest continuously operating radio station: KCBS in San Francisco can trace itself back to a station founded at San Jose State College in 1909.) Three-letter calls are precious to most stations that retain them: they're easy to remember and distinctive. (Some younger people assume that there must be a fourth letter and misunderstand the call, but a little promotion usually fixes that.) They are no longer issued, and were not so highly prized when they were. In fact, at least one nationally famous three-letter-call was a begrudging second choice: KGO in San Francisco. The station went on the air in the 1920's, owned by General Electric, and based in Oakland. The company wanted the calls KGEO, for "General Electric Oakland," but they were unavailable, so they settled for KGO instead.

Although new three-letter calls have not been issued in nearly 60 years, stations that had them and gave them up can get them back again since they will not have been re-assigned elsewhere.

WMGM in New York established the precedent when it got permission to go back to being WHN. Since then, some other stations have reverted; KRE in Berkeley, CA, returned to that call after being KPAT for a while. KNBR in San Francisco could go back to being KPO if it wished, though I'm sure KGO in the same city would be quite upset if it did.

By the time the first FM station went on the air, three-letter calls were history, but I know of two FM stations that have them: KYA in San Francisco, and WRR in Dallas. In both cases, the FM calls were KYA-FM and WRR-FM because they were commonly owned with AM's that had those calls--and when the AM's dropped the calls, the FM's applied for and got permission to drop the FM suffix. A TV station could do the same thing.

Since call letters can be freely chosen from among those available, many were selected to stand for something. Most of us are aware that WGN stands for "World's Greatest Newspaper" (the Chicago Tribune) and WLS for "World's Largest Store" (Sears), but there are hundreds of similar stories in markets large and small. KFWB was owned by WB--Warner Brothers...the former KAFP in Petaluma, California, stood for "Krowing Always For Petaluma." (Lotsa chickens in Petaluma.) The most common choices are owner's or corporate initials, city or regional abbreviations--WACO in Waco, TX, may be unique in spelling its city of license exactly--and format. How many different ways are there to get Rock in the call letters?

And of course a lot of call letters don't stand for anything at all--the letters were selected for ease of pronunciation or memory, or to convey a mood--or were just assigned by the FCC at random and retained! There's a curious footnote since the Top 40 era began--rock stations would copy the call letters of major stations as closely as they could, and later the "hot letters" from such stations--as if having a Q or a Z in the call letters was the magic formula to success with listeners!

A modern phenomenon has been the slogan identifier--in which the call letters are secondary in identifying the station. James Gabbert, the brilliant innovator who singlehandedly saved FM in the late 50's and pioneered much of its later technology (and the man who formed the NRBA from a specialized prior organization), also innovated the slogan call letter idea. Twenty years ago, he changed his famous KPEN, San Francisco, call letters to K101--so he could call it "K-101." Nowadays it is common for stations to have call letters unrelated to the slogan, except for a letter in common. I have been critical of this for years, since it leads to rating confusion and listener confusion, too, since listeners--especially adults--are conditioned to expect a K or W to start a station name, and letters to follow. Bright people need years to learn call letters, which is why stations change them at their peril, as we've discussed before in this column. It seems really dumb to complicate the process further by using a name that is not even obviously the sort of "name" a station would have. It worked well for K101--it was first, it was original, and it was at the time the only leading FM station in San Francisco. The idea has since become stale, and I'm pleased to see the trend gradually reversing. Got any call letter stories or anecdotes? Want to catch me for a mistake or omission? Drop a line, C/O the Adult Contemporary Music Research Letter, and I'll do another column! The address is 1837 SE Harold Street, Portland, OR 97202-4932. ●

"URBANIZING"

by JERRY BOULDING

"BEEFING UP FOR FALL" DEVELOPING THE CALLOUSNESS TO COPE

For those of us lucky to have careers in the radio industry, Fall is an important time. It is one of two key rating periods in the year. It is for some, the most important book of the ratings year. Did I say lucky? Lucky is the person who plots a course through life and ARBitron that is smooth sailing all the way. Have you ever known or sensed that there were some people who got all the breaks? Theirs was the high-powered FM'er with no competition, whose management understood, and provided them with all the tools needed to win, including time. With their seemingly charmed lives, such individuals never seem to encounter riptides, choppy seas or sudden storms--even "quiet storms." Some of them really are the sweetest taboo. They never seem to lose their bearings or their ratings, no matter what happens. The majority of us, however, are not so fortunate. From time to time, most individuals find themselves floundering or, even worse, lost at sea. Although certainly not a comfortable experience, losing your way is a natural and normal function of life. In fact, it can be said with confidence that most individuals will find themselves at the helm of a rudderless ship periodically throughout life. Certainly in our business, this happens to the best of us and often happens again and again.

Learning to navigate emotionally under such trying circumstances is a crucial life skill. Learning to cope with slipping ARBitron shares can be very stressful, and yet there are some who fare better than most. What can we DO? Well, for one thing, we can recognize that there are times when sailing is most critical and prepare for the journey as best we can. We can "beef up" for those crucial trips by using logic and a little extra effort.

WHERE'S THE BEEF?

Let's look at some of our listeners as those whose diets may vary depending on their mood, the time of day. What would most satisfy their palates? For many, radio is a lot like food. They wake up to it, they take it with them to work, they go to sleep with it on. Many housewives still listen to the radio while they're watching television. They've just gotta have it. Now, if you are such a person and if you live to eat, if your house is the last refuge of meat and potatoes, gravy and salad...if you're one of those who feel uneasy when you're out of arm's reach of a burger...if you're one of those who places his order and then waits outside for the number on the McDonald's sign to change, the question of "where's the beef?" may have another special meaning.

Most studies show that Americans still like variety in their life. Further studies show that many among us like variety within a speciality. In other words, we want a hamburger with the works, but we want to determine what the works are. We may want mustard or relish, but we want to choose from a lot of flavors and colors and tastes. Think of how many specialty shops and businesses have soared in the last few years. So it is with radio. For those of us in urban radio--and most important, those of us who want to succeed in urban radio--variety is not a word we can take lightly. Variety may mean increasing the number of researched oldies we play. It may mean stretching out and considering some air talent that we might not have considered a year ago. It could mean considering some songs that we once thought were marginal. But it means broadening our outlook and being more flexible in our choices.

THE LUNCH BUNCH

Let's look at lunch, for instance. That's the one meal that many people have away from home. Since it is often a social event, what are you going to offer your listeners for lunch? Will it be the same menu you served at breakfast, or plan to serve for supper? Or will it have a little more variety and spice in it? Nobody needs to tell you in this business, lunch is where deals are made...an invitation or a brush-off. In the latter case, when someone says, "let's have lunch," and they have no intention of calling you, that's almost cruel and unusual punishment. For some people, lunch is their life. There are some folks, it seems, who only have an office downtown so they'll have some place to go before lunch.

Radio, these days, is a lot like those lunches. Depending on what's on the menu, you may want to make another musical choice. When the platters are served up (although most songs are on tape or CD these days), many people will go with their favorite station every time. They want no surprises. Others will want a little spice and variety in their meals, especially if someone else is paying, and they will tend to experiment and be willing to try something new. And, as you might imagine, it's different between males and females. Frequently, there is the feeling among programmers, particularly Top 40 programmers, that 12-24 males have some resentment to black songs and/or black artists, even though studies show that the same female age-group loves them. Well, where the girls are, the boys will soon follow. So playing the right combination of songs for today's modern urban station could be the trail that leads to the top...to the beef! It could also mean looking for some "meaty music" for fall.

EMOTIONAL NAVIGATION

While the thoughts about how to best beef up for fall may vary, one thing that is certain is that you need to remain as emotionally stable as possible.

"Learning to navigate emotionally under such trying circumstances is a crucial life skill. Learning to cope with slipping ARBitron shares can be very stressful, and yet there are some who fare better than most. What can we DO?"

There can be little question that the world is rapidly changing, and many of the changes to come cannot be predicted with any certainty at all. For this reason, personal security that is excessively dependent on a stable and predictable environment is less and less possible in our business with every passing year. Research is still the key word. Finding answers that will allow us to make better decisions rather than guessing, will take us through Fall, Winter, Spring and endless Summers of the future. To live well emotionally, we must develop an internal base of security as a buffer against accelerating external change. Some of us are going to get fired, others are going to leave the industry and pursue other interests. Still others will leave and come back. But, to know the whereabouts of the "beef" is to be the healthy achiever who is able to stop, look, and listen insightfully to what the emotional self is communicating. The listeners you are trying to serve are telling you what they want with their beef. And really, what is their beef? Is it the same safe songs over and over again? Is it the same contests over and over again? Maybe 16 songs in a row are too many? Maybe a "goof record" or two could make a difference in the meal. To really beef up for Fall, you must keep your eye on the long term instead of the short run. When you do, you continue to grow and when you do not, a tricky but possible passage often ends up as a shipwreck. And a shipwrecked sandwich can not be tasty, even if it has all the right ingredients. ●

URBAN CONTEMPORARY SUMMARY

JUICE ran up and did a Rambo on Janet and went to number one with his first single hit as ORAN "JUICE" JONES. He said when he left Houston that he'd come back a star and he could be right. CAMEO is determined to overtake JUICE and go to #1 next week. Few songs are beating any of the above in requests but now the answer records to "The Rain" are getting calls. Howard Thomas, KMYX-Ojai, says that MISS THANG's "Thunder & Lightning" gets requests, mostly women, and Don Cody, WGIV -Charlotte had a cute line about his tons of calls: "We had a major drought here for so long...now we're getting all kinds of 'rain' with 'thunder & lightning' requests." Cute, Don. We like that! JERMAINE STEWART's 12" seems to be spreading out the airplay. It moves 30-23 on our chart and is getting requests says Dave Allen, OC104/FM-Ocean City; Frank Barrow, KRIZ-Seattle said "definite requests" for it, too. GENERAL KANE's "Crack Killed Applejack" is getting calls, says J.C. Floyd, WQQK/FM-Nashville. Gary Weiler, WBLZ-Cincinnati highly recommends the dance edit because of the Arthur Baker re-mix on "Jody." The two most added this week went to FREDDIE JACKSON's beautiful ballad "Tasty Love" and ARETHA FRANKLIN's "Jumpin' Jack Flash" which has Keith Richards from the Stones accompanying her. Saw ARETHA's video with Whoopi Goldberg the other day and it's great with Lady Soul dominating the show. Check out the 12" or the reel-to-reel Arista sent out for the differences in these that are not in the 7" single that was mailed first...more ARETHA, less Keith for our format. The other contender for Most Added was JESSE JOHNSON featuring SLY STONE "Crazy" which only missed the big one by 4 adds. However...the calls are already starting at the stations that have been on it for only one week: L.D.McCollum, XHRM-San Diego says instant phones on it, Danny Harris, KDKO-Denver checked in to say "all demos - instant on this one", and Frank Barrow, KRIZ-Seattle report the same. THE MOVIES continues to pick up adds...Gary Weiler, WBLZ-Cincinnati takes almost all the credit for this one...he's believe in it since day one. MILLIE JACKSON had a good week with what is probably her most outrageous title to date: "Hot! Wild! Unrestricted! Crazy Love." Mike Archie, WHUR-Washington mentioned the I-THREE single that he's playing, featuring Rita Marley...it's getting good phones. Jay Riley, WNOO -Chattanooga reports phenomenal requests for the BILLY GRIFFIN, with good phones, too, for the JAMES BROWN, who it also a newcomer to the page, but not to the world. Doc Foster, WQMG-Greensboro, NC reports early phones for JEFFREY OSBORNE's "Room With A View" after only one week. And last but not least, Licia Torre KJLH-Los Angeles reports they're testing t FINZY KONTINI "Cha Cha Cha" and reports t already.

DAVE SHOLIN'S Personal Picks — SINGLES

MADONNA - True Blue (Sire/Warner Brothers) All those who said this track would be my favorite prior to the LP's release were right. Scores of programmers refused to wait for the single with good reason....it's an out and out smash. Shades of the sixties living on in the eighties.

LIONEL RICHIE - Love Will Conquer All (Motown) Just one glance at the trio of writers (Lionel, Cynthia Weil, & Greg Phillinganes) and it's impossible to imagine anything short of spectacular. Richie delivers the style, creativity, and sound his fans have come to expect. Sure to be one of radio's staples during the last quarter of '86.

BILLY IDOL - To Be A Lover (Chrysalis) If you're reading this before you've heard this entry...stop and check it out now! If you've already listened to it you're probably playing it. I detect traces of my idol, Elvis, in parts of the vocal. No question, this is Billy's best.

BEN E. KING - Stand By Me (Atlantic) A number of folks have covered this classic over the years, but none have come close to matching this original. Now as the title song from Rob Reiner's current hit film it's been resurrected in the same way that "Ferris Bueller" breathed new life into "Twist And Shout". The great ones never grow old.

JAMES BROWN - Gravity (Scotti Brothers) JB spells another winner. Familiar ingredients that helped "Living In America" expose the artistry of one of our genuine class acts, gets a work-over with the assistance of producer Dan Hartman. How can anyone forget the phrase "The Big G"...hit me again?

WANG CHUNG - Have Fun Tonight (Geffen) How many groups can successfully integrate their name into a song? Wang Chung shows how it's done in the context of one PPP..Powerful Party Production. For those who need a "pick me up" at the end of the day, here it is.

WHAM! - Where Did Your Heart Go? (Columbia) Clever chorus is matched by an intriguing melody with a very continental flavor. Smooth and slick as always.

RON FELL'S Personal Picks — ALBUMS

RIC OCASEK - This Side Of Paradise (Geffen)
Ocasek's highly stylized treatment of music has never, to my knowledge, fostered imitation. Strange, in that he's proven to be a consistent hitmaker for both his solo albums and nearly everything done by and for The Cars. His awkwardly tall and gangly physique, parallels his relatively high-end vocals which are almost spoken rather than sung. All of that lends a sense of theatre or drama to his sometimes quirky lyric. Side one of the album is its strongest. Betcha three tracks are hits at 45 RPM: EMOTION IN MOTION is already in the fast lane, but KEEP ON LAUGHIN' and LOOK IN YOUR EYES (with great club mix potential) are also special.

CYNDI LAUPER - True Colors (Portrait)
While you don't need Kent Zimmerman's recent Gavin cover story on Cyndi to "get" this LP, another important aspect of her attitude towards her music comes more clearly after reading it. The tone on the LP is set with its opener, CHANGE OF HEART. A mean bassline, harmony vocals from The Bangles and Nile Rodgers' signature guitar strokes play to the song's lyrics of expencancy and impatience. The first single, TRUE COLORS, has Cyndi singing as though she's doing so while walking through a minefield. In search of some elusive perfection she takes the song one word at a time with equal quotients of precision and heart. Side two opens with a devastating update of Marvin Gaye's WHAT'S GOIN' ON. It took courage to release a re-make of this classic, but its vindication is clear. Her message is what Marvin's was... Love is the answer. Another track on the LP, IKO IKO (an old Dixie Cups track) sounds like it could have been on the Paul Simon LP, Graceland.
