INSIDE TOP 40 WITH DAVE SHOLIN

While this has been a banner year for Urban crossovers you'd never know it by looking at the current Top Ten and for that matter, the chart itself. Biggest ever for BON JOVI and they show no sign of letting up...Number One for Mann/Dixon KOKZ, Chris Bailey WPKY, Darrell Kelley WHSB, McQueen/Shedlock WYDD, John James WZY, Pat Gillen JLK/FM, Mike West WTIC, Mac/Andrews WNYZ, Jim Martin WOAY, Mark McCain KKYK, Paula McCartney KIXS etc. Healthy hit factor growth for BANGLES with nearly half of those playing it now charting them Top 20..among them K104, KZHR, KMJK, KHTY, KEZY, KPKE, WFIW, KRIT, WQLK, WLGA, WPST, WKZQ etc.

KANSAS closes in on the hard to get to 200 report level..new on WJET, KC101, PRO/FM, WIZM, WSMT, WQID, WNKS, KJLS, KS103, KZZU, KSLY, WVBR, WSPT, KIZZ, KCPI, KUAD, KZHR, KKOS, etc. Mentioned GREGORY ABBOT back on October 17th when it was the Number One Urban Contemporary record. This week he zips right by Chartbound with a hit factor of 26% charting Top Ten at KRRG, WPKY, WROQ, 94Q, WBLU, WKZQ, Z100, etc.

Continued chart growth on last weeks Record To Watch NANCY MARTINEZ. Hottest on the West Coast at KMEL 4-2, KMGX 6-5, also moves 21-18 WWHB, 29-24 KKSS plus adds at XKS Boston, Z100 New York, FM104 Modesto, WXXQ Freeport etc. Good airplay increase for BENJAMIN ORR with 19 adds including KNOE, WBBQ, Q99, WSPK, WEBE, KSWB, KITS, KEYP, KKRC, WWYO, KITI etc.

Records sometimes get overlooked...is that what's happening to the BURNS SISTERS? WVBR's Jessica Ettinger moves it 11-10 and folks seem to like it in Arizona where Tuscon's KHYY and KRQ both chart it Top Twenty as well as KZZP Phoenix where it goes 22-20. Strong move on the Urban side for JEFF LORBER climbing 38-22 while pulling a Top 40 hit factor of 10%. Charts #20 at KRQK, 39-29 KSWB, with adds at KFIV, KRRG, KOZE, and on at FM102.

Steve La Beau, KFI-Los Angeles Program Director has announced his resignation from that post to form "AM Media Consultants," a consultancy for AM radio stations. "My objective will be to devote my attention exclusively to AM radio stations and provide them with programming strategies that will enable them to survive and thrive in today's complex AM market place," states La Beau. "Somewhere in between the philosophies of trying to 'out program the FM competitor' and 'Don't know it it'll work, but we've gotta do something' is real programming that does work." AM Media Consultants is based in Los Angeles at 22910 Styles, Woodland Hills, CA 91364. (213) 857-8402. Check it out.

"I'm just rejoining my ole boss." is how former WIP/WMMR GM Hal Smith sums up his latest assignment--VP/GM of KOKY/KZOU-Little Rock. Smith will be working with former Metromedia boss George Duncan, who is buying the Capitol Cities radio chain which includes those two stations in Little Rock plus properties in Shreveport, Baton Rouge and Austin. Smith joins KOKY/KZOU in advance of final approval of sale which should clear some time in January. Congrats Hal.

Ruthless people: It was Saturday morning in San Francisco, Baghdad by the Bay, the morning after Halloween. Halloween is to SF what St. Patrick's Day is to Boston and Chattanooga--a big deal. Playing that night was Iggy Pop, tearing it up at a crowded nightclub. Saturday morning, who turns up on KMEL doing the morning show, but PD Steve Rivers and MCA's Prince of Mischief Billy Brill. It's 7AM when Rivers and Brill decide to try a little on-air wake-up call action. First victim was A&M Records' Charlie Lake. Brill calls his room claiming to be the hotel manager concerned that Lake's credit card wasn't good. Next victim: Mel Delatt of IRS Records. Brill did his best Michael Plen impression, wanting to go over General Public stats at 7:30am. The next KMEL victim was a long distance call to Sunny Joe White of WXKS-Boston, claiming to be the KAMEL Chamber of Commerce welcoming a sleepy Sunny Joe to San Francisco. The final call was to KBEQ-Kansas City's Steve Perun with Brill claiming to be the station maintenance man calling that the radio station was on fire. All this foolishness was in celebration over a KMEL high school promotion. They received 12 million postcards from Hillsdale High. Grand prize was a performance by the Jets, whose song "You Got It All" went over big at the gig.

Warner Bros. Records has made an important promotional commitment to the modern music they constantly release to radio. Steve Tipp, who works out of the Warner's National Dance Promotion department (headed by Craig Kostich), will be shifting his responsibilities to the newly created position of National Modern Music Radio Promotion Manager. "I'm still in the same department, but I'm locked in with our field staff and with George Gerrity's Album staff as well," said Tipp. "I've been working on my tracking sheets for weeks." Tipp's territory will include college and commercial Album/Alternative radio outlets. Mr. Best Dressed will be spreading the word on Warner's most progressive releases, gathering airplay.

Radi-O-Rama... Rick Shaw, afternoon drive personality of KNX/FM-Los Angeles has been named Music Director of said station. Wayne Michaels of WHSY/FM in Hattiesburg, MS will be doubling as OM and MD until a suitable replacement is found. If you're interested (and suitable) call Wayne at 601-545-1230. The MD job includes an AM Drive shift. Also, WHSY has a new afternoon jock. He's Barry Chase...Kevin Hendrickson has been promoted to MD at KKXL/FM-Grand Forks, ND and Bob Lewis arrives from HIT105-LaCrosse, WI as air personality...Ron Gallagher is now PD at MOR outlet KEDO-Longview, WA and over at the FM (KLYK), Randy Roadz now fills the 10pm-2am slot...Juan Velasco has left KOBE/KOPE-FM in Las Cruces, NM (A/C and Album Radio). Dave Watkins (known as "the Zipper") takes over as OM. Pam Hopper is promoted to MD and John Lamay is upped to Production Director... All star line-up at Top Forty KDWZ/FM in Des Moines: Max Schaeffer (morning drive) formerly a PD of KVIC-Victoria, TX. Mike Blakemore (mid-days) from Z104 in Madison, WI. Tom Oakes (afternoons) is the PD and comes from WZOK-Rockford, IL. Steve Hooker (nights) arrives from ZZ99 in Kansas City, MO and "Latenight" Kate Austin ditches her cowboy hat for the hits. Go get 'em folks!

Radio veteran Thom O'Hair takes on the Program Directorship at KALX, the controversial station on the UC Berkeley campus. O'Hair describes his new post as more of a "referee" than a programmer. "Instead of offices, we have a bunker too." Basically a halftime position, O'Hair will continue with his half million other creative projects, but looks forward to working with the cantankerous KALX crew. Said O'Hair, "I told them before they hired me that they have an opportunity at either a haircut or some history. What I hope to accomplish is to bring in energy a half a step ahead of the chaos." Thom's trademark ponytail is still intact.

Arista Records has added one of America's #1 club deejays to the position of Manager, A&R East Coast. He's Richard Sweret. Prior to joining up with Arista, Sweret spent two years at Rockpool. As a record spinner, Sweret had few rivals. He was head D.J. at the Palladium in New York City.

THE PROBLEM EMPLOYEE AND THE OSTRICH

I think it's safe to say that if you're in a management position, you probably have a "problem employee", or maybe even more than one of them. That person is probably a pain in the neck for you and may indeed be a pain in the neck for other employees. "Problem employees" can really be a nuisance for a manager. Their work might not be up to par, they may be chronically late, or their habits may be inappropriate. Or they come across as abrasive, devious, manipulative, or arrogant. Either way, "problem employees" get in the way of optimal productivity. On top of that, they often wind up irritating, disrupting, alienating, or even hurting other people in the organization. You probably think about your "problem employee" even at home, alternatively gnashing your teeth in anger or frustration, or worrying about what you can do about the situation. Well, then, what can be done about this person?

Let me ask a rather naive question: I wonder if you have ever sat down with this person, looked him/her straight in the eye, and talked about the "problem" in a straightforward, no-nonsense manner. I ask this naive question because in a large majority of the cases, nobody talks straight to the "problem employee". In fact the "problem employee" may not even know that he/she is a "problem" if the manager does not confront the problem up front.

I've worked with many managers who have given me terrific reasons why they simply can't confront a "problem employee". All those reasons are excuses. I know that confronting is a difficult and stressful experience to have to initiate, but that's what you're being paid to do. When you put on the hat of manager, you take on some liabilities as well as the status and perks. One of the liabilities is the necessity of confronting "problem employees". I call it a liability because most people don't particularly enjoy the experience of giving people negative feedback, especially when the recipient of the feedback might be defensive or hostile. It's a tough thing to do. It's unpleasant. It can be scary. But our only other alternative is some variation on what I call the "ostrich" approach to communication. The "ostrich approach" is based on the assumption that if you do nothing, the problem will go away. If you avoid the problem, if you look away, (or if, like the ostrich, you stick your head in the ground), things will get better on their own. Seriously, how likely is that to occur, either for you or the ostrich? Yet this is the approach that so many managers take.

Several years ago I observed a small organization of one director and six professional staff members. Four of the six staff members were highly motivated and dedicated individuals who worked long hours and did exemplary and creative work. The two "problem employees" were often late, they did the bare minimum to avoid getting fired, they avoided "extra" work in evenings or weekends and were constantly complaining. The director took the ostrich approach; do nothing, say nothing. Unsurprisingly, the "problem employees" did not change their behavior. The people that did change their behavior were the four high-performers. They became angry with the director for not confronting the slackers who they believed were holding the team back. Their respect for the director lessened. They started to wonder why they were putting in extra energy into their work. They became more dissatisfied with their jobs. A couple of them began to look for other jobs. One even confronted the director with the director's failure to confront the "problem employees!" The director then promised that she would confront the slackers, but of course never did, although she did issue a very vague, sugar-coated statement to all six employees that everyone has to pitch in and work hard for the team. This is what I call the modified-ostrich approach: The manager appears to be doing something but in reality is only smoothing over the problem rather than meeting it head on. (A variation of this theme is the manager who waits for annual performance review time, at which point he/she gives the "problem employee" vague, indirect, and--by definition--nontimely feedback which often has little impact.) Unsurprisingly, it doesn't work. In fact, the four high-performers in this case were rather upset that the director lumped them into the general statement that she made to everyone.

Similarly, I remember a manager who did not confront a salesperson who was abusing expense accounts. Rather, the manager created a new set of stringent and restrictive expense account rules that applied to everyone on the sales force. This had the effect of alienating all the salespeople who weren't abusing the expense accounts and probably did nothing to enlighten the abuser himself. Again, the modified-ostrich approach...

One last thought: Remember that confronting does not mean attacking. Confronting means that you, the manager, sit down with your "problem employee" and discuss frankly the difficulties that the employee's behavior (not "personality") is causing, and then work out some viable plan of action to address that problem. Let me confront you with this fact of life: If you fail to confront "problem employees", you are not being fair to your non-problem employees, you are not being fair to the organization that employs you, you are not being fair to yourself, and--believe it or not--you are not being fair to the "problem employee" him/herself. The ostrich approach only buys you some time. But if, meanwhile, your group's productivity suffers or if you're chewing yourself up about it then it's not even good time that you're buying. ■

"If you fail to confront 'problem employees', you are not being fair to your non-problem employees, you are not being fair to the organization that employs you, you are not being fair to yourself, and--believe it or not--you are not being fair to the 'problem employee' him/herself."

A/C ANALYSIS

As Lionel takes it to the top, a quintet of underlines from #3 through #7 show us the future.

Billy Ocean has now clipped the 200 station mark in only four weeks and is already flashing an 82% HIT FACTOR.

Sergio Mendes & Brasil '86, on the strength of vocalist Joe Pilullo, shows a solid 71% HIT FACTOR.

Miami Sound Machine debuts nearly halfway up the chart (and in only three weeks). HIT FACTOR is already 57% from 176 reporters.

The other CERTIFIED record, Benjamin Orr's STAY THE NIGHT, debuts at #23 with a 61% HIT FACTOR.

Another spectacular growth story is the Ronstadt & Ingram track from the yet to be seen Spielberg movie, "An American Tale." Somewhere out there are 140 Gavin A/C's who don't need a movie to play a record.

Our MOST ADDED A/C record Billy Joel's THIS IS THE TIME should prove to be one of the big A/C draws from The Bridge.

Amy Grant, having recently shared the top slot with Peter Cetera, might be able to do it alone as her new single is this week's third MOST ADDED. Sounds good on the air too.

Last week's RECORD TO WATCH, William Lee Golden's has a 38% HIT FACTOR and among its early ears are: WAHR, WALG, WCHV, WQHQ, KGLO, KROC, KWEB, WJON, WMT/AM, WIBA, WISN, KSL, KVEC, KGY, KMAS, KNOX, WBTH, WJER and WMRN.

This week's RECORD TO WATCH, Paul Simon's GRACELAND has 71 reports in its first two weeks. So far, so good. But how can more than 150 A/C's not playing the record ignore the album's near-platinum status. R&D

RECOMMENDED FOR A/C RADIO

ANITA BAKER

Caught Up In The Rapture (Elektra)

Her song "Sweet Love" has been spinning at 45 RPM since last spring, peaking first in Urban, then A/C, then Top 40. The pattern on this one may be similar in sequence, but it won't take nearly as long this time.

BOB SEGER & THE SILVER BULLET BAND

Miami (Capitol)

A song about the boat people, not the dope people. Miami's horizon and city lights were the first signs of hope for people who's quest for freedom was paramount.

TINA TURNER

Two People (Capitol)

If Tina has a soft side, this is it. This song's philosophic lyric and the arrangement's patient rhythm make it better for A/C than the last single.

LINDA RONSTADT

When You Wish Upon A Star (Asylum)

The original version of the song is from the 1939 Disney classic Pinocchio. But it certainly has grown up since then. Linda and the late great Nelson Riddle's orchestra provide the definitive reading.

BRUCE HORNSBY'S Honest Approach To Success

by Kent Zimmerman

In an industry riddled with imitation and mimicry, historically it's been the true individual who is eventually crowned the innovator. Occasionally John and Joan Q. Public have an uncanny knack for giving the nod toward those who create the original, heartfelt artwork. After a half dozen years experimenting and dabbling in trends and expensive studios, Bruce Hornsby found his musical voice only after cheaply cutting a 16 track demo purely for his own amusement, out of a longing to play more acoustic piano. Since, Hornsby and the Range have found themselves home with a hit album born from the seedlings of that original demo diversion. Hornsby and his band are now traveling the world in support of their LP which is turning into one of the most successful debut efforts of 1986. Currently Hornsby's single and album both entitled "The Way It Is" is leading a hot assault on three Gavin charts simultaneously.

KZ: You're on your way to Europe.

BH: "The Way It Is" went to number one in Holland. We had a bunch of requests to do some TV shows over there and in England and Germany. We'll do some lip synch stuff for a few days.

KZ: Was "The Way It Is" a single in England before being released as a single here?

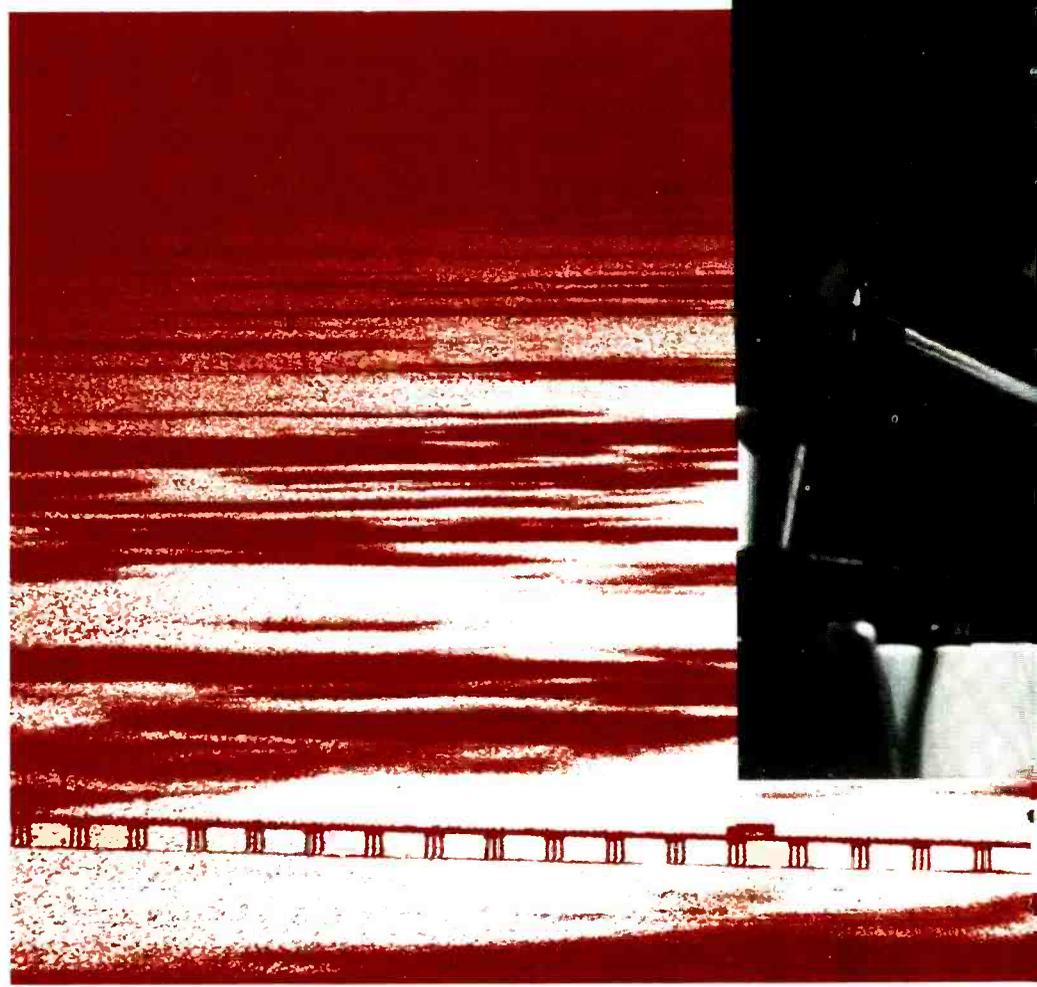

BH: Yes. It was the first single there and the second single here. I guess it was a sign of things to come. It got to number 15 there before moving on to Holland, Belgium, Germany and now Israel.

KZ: Why wasn't "The Way It Is" the first single here?

BH: You do a record in a vacuum. When you throw it out there to the public, hopefully it will get enough airplay so you can get a little feedback from it. Pretty much from the get-go, we were getting feedback that "The Way It Is" was the special song on the album. But that doesn't always mean commercial. Especially with "The Way It Is." It really isn't your obvious pop single. It's almost jazzy with all the piano. Maybe that's why RCA waited. I think "Every Little Kiss" helped set everything up. Frankly, I feel that if "The Way It Is" had been first, it might not have gotten as good a shot as it's getting now.

KZ: I tend to agree. I think "Every Little Kiss" set up an important Album Radio base enabling you to tour some clubs and get out there with the live show. In fact,

"You've got your whole life to write your first album and about two months to write the second."

one of your earliest fans, Dawn Atkinson with Windham Hill used to work here at Gavin.

BH: Dawn really got this whole thing started for me. She started the ball rolling. I'd been kicking around Los Angeles for four or five years and a couple of years in Virginia before that trying to get something going--trying to get a deal and get my own music off the ground and beating my head against a brick wall that wouldn't break. During that time, I'd been trying in my own way to fit in with the trend of radio as a keyboard player. Synthesizers have dominated pop radio for so long now, but I'm really a piano player first. That's really what I do. The piano is my true love. Finally out of frustration because I couldn't play that much piano, I made this tape with just piano, bass, drums, accordion and vocals--a solo tape, a one man band. I just made it for myself. I didn't think any major label would have any interest in it. Then I heard that

Dawn, whom I'd met through a Lucas animation project, was an A&R person at Windham Hill. We had worked together on this Lucas film that featured a song that my brother John and I wrote. I sang on the opening part of that movie. So I thought that maybe my tape would work for them. I'd heard that they were branching out into a vocal direction. We'd remained friends, so it wasn't a complete call out of the blue, but I sent her the tape. They asked me to send some more. Then one night Will Ackerman called me up and said, "I'd like to sign you." I was elated. I thought, "This is great! This must be my niche." I was all set to record when the tape was leaked to a couple of major labels by my lawyer. Ironically, the tape that I did as a reaction against commercial music and major labels attracted two companies who offered

BH: There's a couple of different mixes now, but basically they did it to change the artwork. It was a gradual process. The Europeans asked for a different cover. They thought the first one was a little too country, too rural looking to work in Europe. They came up with a few ideas that were cringeworthy. They looked like Moby Grape or something. It looked psychedelic, which was pretty silly. We rejected that. But then they came up with another idea. I was out on the road when my manager called and told me they'd like to change the cover in America and have the same cover worldwide. I thought to myself, "Man, there's already 60,000 records out there now. This seems a little crazy." I kept an open mind, looked at it and sure enough, hell, I liked it better. I said run with it.
KZ: What's your working relationship with come up with an idea that's not happening. It's such a personal thing, you feel you're gonna piss somebody off. So you end up settling for a lot of mediocre shit. With John, we know each other so well and we're past all that, being brothers. We can tell each other frankly how we feel about things. That makes for better songs. We're tough editors of our songs. We don't rest until it's just right. That makes for a good writing relationship.

KZ: You were a staff writer at 20th Century Fox.

BH: I was a writer at 20th. I was there for two years and John was there for one year. It was the same sort of publishing thing where you write these formula pop songs. They come to you and say, "Write a song that sounds like 'Physical' for Laura Branigan or someone." We found we were neither very good at it nor very interested in it. After a couple of years, we threw all that out and tried to write some songs that meant something to us rather than another turn on "I love you." Our journey to find our own vision has led us to this point. The second album will be more evolved than the first by a long shot.

KZ: Did bassist Joe Puerta (from Ambrosia) play with Sheena Easton at the same time you toured with her?

BH: Actually, Joe got me that gig. That's what we did in the dark years of struggle. It was a good gig, though. Sheena and I are friends. She's a real supporter. I had a good time. She was easy to work for.

KZ: What about David Mansfield from the Alpha Band? He's a talented composer and instrumentalist.

BH: Mansfield used to play with Dylan. He's our multi-faceted talent. The bad news is that he couldn't do our tour. He's scoring the new Michael Cimino picture, "The Sicilian." It's hard for us to compete with Michael Cimino's dollars. The good news is that we got one of my old schoolmates from the University Of Miami named Peter Harris who's blowing everybody out. As great as David is, Pete is doing well. That's a tall order because Mansfield's a giant. There's three of us in the band from University of Miami, where I went to college. The drummer John Molo is from there. Also George Marinelli is the spiritual guru of our band. He's a prankster.

KZ: Did you recently work with Robbie Robertson?

BH: We met when he became a fan of the record. People ask me my big influences. He is one of the main ones along with Dylan and early Elton and Taupin--Tumbleweed Connection. Robbie and I hooked up and we had a few ideas for songs we were starting. Then I got waylaid trying to get our record off the ground and he started his solo album. He's got some great songs. I heard some of the demos. Great songs. Hopefully we'll hook back up to finish some of the things we started or start some other things. It's open ended. We just both got too busy.

KZ: Did a lot of people pass on your demos?

BH: We put the band together about two and a half years ago--January of '84. The same band on the album. It was a little more of a rock n roll band. I was playing more accordion and I wasn't playing any piano. It was very guitar-based as evidenced by a couple songs on the record like "On The Western Skyline," "Wild Frontier," "The Long Race" and other things. We were just the Range. Then we did a lot of showcases in LA to drum up record company interest. We had a bunch of labels offer us demo money. So we picked Epic. It's a deals right away. It was a wild thing. I certainly don't know the formula. If there is one, I certainly can't figure it out. People try to do so much calculating in this business. "The Way It Is" is an example that less calculation is better. I almost didn't even bring that song out because it didn't have the classic big chorus. That shows you how much I knew.

KZ: The album has been reissued with new artwork. Has the sound been changed as well?

your brother John like?

BH: We're very close. I have an older brother and a younger brother, John. I'm the middle boy. John and I, growing up together, had similar backgrounds and similar senses of humor. It works well for us to write together. When I first moved to LA, there's a whole thing in LA about putting songwriters together. That never worked for me. They'd put you together with these people you don't know very well. You feel funny when they funny thing. We did the demo and it was okay and Epic passed on it. It wasn't great. It wasn't bad. It had a lot of energy and sounded like a live tape. I guess Epic felt they couldn't get it on the radio. Then we shopped it around to other labels. But when you do this "first right of refusal" trip with record company demo money, all the other labels know that if you come around to them, they know the first label passed. So it's a psychological black mark. Consequently seven or eight other labels all passed. That set us back so Joe and I went out with Sheena again. During my time with Sheena, I'd had a lot of time to reflect. We'd really given it a good shot and it was disappointing. Finally I made this solo tape with real piano dominating, unlike the Range tapes. That's what got us over. The tape was better. It was special and unique. Hence several tracks on the record reflect that. That's more the direction we're now headed.

KZ: With a little more time and perspective, what on this album are you going to carry over stronger onto the next LP?

BH: You see what's working when you sit back, when you gain a little distance from it. What we find is that people like more piano. Next time I'm going to stretch out even more. "The Way It Is" and "The Red Plains" are the only songs on the record that I stretched on. They're the most progressive cuts on the record. And they're the favorites. Obviously "The Way It Is" is the consensus favorite. I'm gonna flow a lot more lyrically and on piano. Our next record will be what we call our Southern slice of life. It'll be our version of Randy Newman's Good Ole Boys record. One song that we'll record is "Jacob's Ladder" which Huey recorded. We didn't write it for him, he just liked it. That song is exactly what I'm talking about when I say a "Southern slice of life."

KZ: That line in "The Way It Is," where you sing about "the law of 1964," is that referring to the Civil Rights legislation?

BH: Yes.
KZ: What about "The Long Race" ?
 BH: Just what we were talking about—the years of struggle. It's about having patience with your goals and sticking to them in the face of rejection. "The Long Race" is a metaphor for that.

KZ: Is it true that you made a bet with Huey Lewis on the golf course that if you beat him, he'd have to produce those tracks that appear on the album?

BH: Yes! We play and we're both at about the same level of lameness. We're both about low 90 shooters. I beat him in this golf game. Of course he's got this different story. He doesn't want to admit that I took him. I must admit that it took a lucky 25 foot putt on the last hole to take him. But from that, the rest is history (laughs).

"'The Way It Is' is an example that less calculation is better."

KZ: Tell me, does Huey Lewis replace his divots?

BH: Oh yes and there are a pack of them. We both tend to pock up a golf course.

KZ: The bet was that he'd win three bucks but if he lost, he'd produce the album.

BH: He had to listen to the tape and if he liked it, he had to produce me. I produced the rest of the tracks with Elliot Scheiner. Elliot is an engineer who did all the Steely Dan stuff like "Aja," "Gaucho" and "Nightfly" off of Fagen's solo record. That's his background.

KZ: Before recording, you had a lot of famous fans like Huey, Bernie Taupin and Michael McDonald. But that really didn't bring it home for you.

BH: No, it sure didn't. We thought it would, especially with Huey getting so big and originally with Michael. We thought that was what we needed. It was that tape from a 16 track joint. When we were doing our tape for Epic, Huey had the number one album at the time, "Sports." He called up Epic and said, "Hey, this is Huey Lewis. Sign the Range." Epic called and asked, "So, are you gonna have Springsteen call us tomorrow?" It was great! It didn't work. It didn't mean that much. We always thought it would. Huey was great for trying and really went for it, but it wasn't what got us over. Frankly, that's gratifying. When you're looking for a record deal, you'll take it. Even if it's HUEY LEWIS producing Bruce Hornsby, that's okay. Whatever it takes to get your foot in the door. The way it happened for us was an honest reaction to an honest approach to music.

KZ: How did Michael McDonald first come to hear you?

BH: He heard us in Virginia. We had a band back there playing clubs. The Doobie Brothers came through about 1979. Mike came to this club. We sought him out in his hotel lobby. We were a bunch of cocky kids. He came over and really liked us. We became friends. He was a great first contact for Los Angeles.

KZ: Tell me about the photo on the inner sleeve of the album.

BH: I'm from Virginia and we write a lot about that area. A lot of people think we have a preoccupation with water. If they knew where we grew up, they'd understand. Tidewater, Virginia is surrounded by the James River, the York River, Chesapeake Bay and the Atlantic Ocean. It's water mania. The first line of the first verse of the whole record on "On The Western Sky" goes "about this time of evening, out by the bay, they turn the road lights on the bridge, a diesel rolls in silhouette." I was looking through this book that was called "An Aerial Portrait Of Virginia." My in-laws had it at their house. I saw this picture and it was amazing. It was that first verse. We got in touch with the photographer who lives in Virginia, out in the Blue Ridge Mountains. He gave us permission to use it.

KZ: When can we expect the next LP?

BH: It's hard to say if this thing keeps going. We may be working this one until the spring. We'll start the next record so that by next September the next one could come out. I'm trying to be realistic because things always happen that pushes a release back. You've got your whole life to write your first album and about two months to write the second. We're trying to hedge our bet and write some new songs. I've got a tune about basketball that I'm psyched about. I must say I'm a Larry Bird freak. When I was a kid, basketball was my whole thing. I wanted to be the next Bill Bradley. I'm six four. (laughs)

KZ: Here's how I see your success affecting our industry. I see a bunch of A&R people feverishly scuffling to find talent songwriters who can play piano.

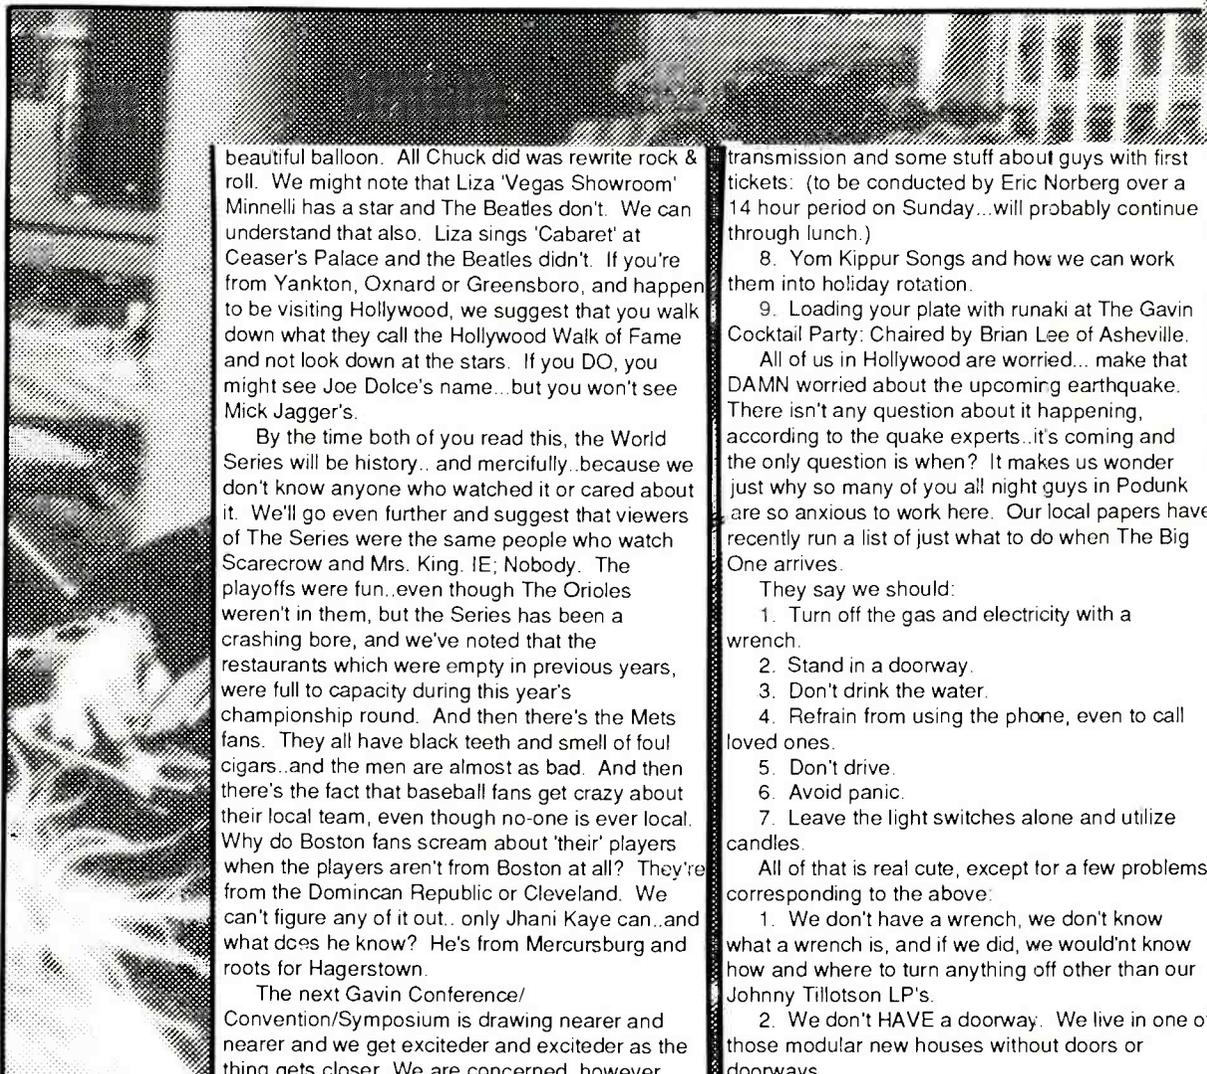

BH: A promo friend of mine told me he ran into a guy from another label who called up his A&R guy and said, "Hey, why don't you send somebody out to Virginia and comb the backwoods." (laughs) I don't know what effect this will have. Maybe it'll make some of these people look past their latest demographic study or whatever the latest trend is. I gotta take my hat off to Paul Atkinson who signed me to RCA. He told me, "I don't know if this is commercial at all. I don't know if this is going to sell one copy, but I like it." That was great.

KZ: I don't think the essence is finding another Bruce Hornsby. It's finding somebody who's going to be themselves.

BH: I hope they don't find anyone else, either. They might find someone who does me better than me. ● beautiful balloon. All Chuck did was rewrite rock & roll. We might note that Liza 'Vegas Showroom' Minnelli has a star and The Beatles don't. We can understand that also. Liza sings 'Cabaret' at Ceaser's Palace and the Beatles didn't. If you're from Yankton, Oxnard or Greensboro, and happen to be visiting Hollywood, we suggest that you walk down what they call the Hollywood Walk of Fame and not look down at the stars. If you DO, you might see Joe Dolce's name...but you won't see Mick Jagger's.

By the time both of you read this, the World Series will be history.. and mercifully..because we don't know anyone who watched it or cared about it. We'll go even further and suggest that viewers of The Series were the same people who watch Scarecrow and Mrs. King. IE; Nobody. The playoffs were fun..even though The Orioles weren't in them, but the Series has been a crashing bore, and we've noted that the restaurants which were empty in previous years, were full to capacity during this year's championship round. And then there's the Mets fans. They all have black teeth and smell of foul cigars..and the men are almost as bad. And then there's the fact that baseball fans get crazy about their local team, even though no-one is ever local. Why do Boston fans scream about 'their' players when the players aren't from Boston at all? They're from the Dominican Republic or Cleveland. We can't figure any of it out.. only Jhani Kaye can..and what does he know? He's from Mercersburg and roots for Hagerstown.

The next Gavin Conference/ Convention/Symposium is drawing nearer and nearer and we get exciteder and exciteder as the thing gets closer. We are concerned, however, that sessions might sink into cliché, and therefore offer our suggestions for new subjects to be explored in the coming meeting:

1. AM STEREO: How soon will it be here, and why do we want to hear Paul Harvey coming from TWO speakers.
2. Good Lunch and who gives it: Moderator: John Fagot
3. Zamfir and The Pan Flute: Why has MTV ignored it.
4. Mednick and The Zimmerman Bros.: Who reads them and what do they mean?
5. The Dee Ann Metzger Theory: Why records newer than 12 years old should never be played.
6. Great restaurants of Cleveland. (This session is scheduled from 2:00 to 2:01 on Saturday)
7. A bunch of stuff about FM signal transmission and some stuff about guys with first tickets: (to be conducted by Eric Norberg over a 14 hour period on Sunday...will probably continue through lunch.)

8. Yom Kippur Songs and how we can work them into holiday rotation.

9. Loading your plate with runaki at The Gavin Cocktail Party: Chaired by Brian Lee of Asheville.

All of us in Hollywood are worried... make that DAMN worried about the upcoming earthquake. There isn't any question about it happening, according to the quake experts..it's coming and the only question is when? It makes us wonder just why so many of you all night guys in Podunk are so anxious to work here. Our local papers have recently run a list of just what to do when The Big One arrives.

They say we should:

1. Turn off the gas and electricity with a wrench.
2. Stand in a doorway.
3. Don't drink the water.
4. Refrain from using the phone, even to call loved ones.
5. Don't drive.
6. Avoid panic.
7. Leave the light switches alone and utilize candles.

All of that is real cute, except for a few problems corresponding to the above:

1. We don't have a wrench, we don't know what a wrench is, and if we did, we wouldn't know how and where to turn anything off other than our Johnny Tillotson LP's.
2. We don't HAVE a doorway. We live in one of those modular new houses without doors or doorways.
3. We don't drink water ANYway. We drink trendy things like wine-coolers and herb-tea.
4. We'll HAVE to use the phone, despite the advice. We're a promotion man and the earthquake might come on a Monday when we're trying to wrap up Tom Cuddy on the new Dead Kennedy's single/and or twelve inch.
5. We don't drive anyway. We sit behind a desk typing these columns and pleading notes to K101's Jack Kulp.
6. How can we panic?? Not when our Kyo Sakamoto single went into light rotation at KHJ!
7. We don't have light switches. We don't have lights. We're an Alternative rock kind of a guy, and we sit in the dark listening to Sigue Sigue Sputnik all day.

That's the Hollywood story. Try and have a good week...you almost deserve it. ■

Along Hollywood Blvd. here in Tinseltown, there are stars embedded in the sidewalk with the names of legendary film, music and other entertainment figures printed on those stars. It's sort of a tourist attraction, for those brave tourists who have the courage to walk the mean streets of Hollywood. A committee of chamber of commerce types and Shriner-ish people vote upon just who will be immortalized with 'A Star.' Last week the committee voted the Fifth Dimension a star and turned down the nomination of Chuck Berry. We can certainly understand why. The Fifth Dimension has contributed more to musical history than Chuck. They floated over L.A. in their

"War"-Bruce Springsteen (Columbia)

If you're playing the spoken intro, you're getting the full impact of the song. That first "War!" hits like a shovel to the face. Plus it's a damn good bit of advice for young listeners to hear that there's another side to the Rambo myth. Rave on.

"Experiment IV"-Kate Bush (EMI America)

Nice, nice, nice...very nice. When we ran Kate Bush on our cover last year, that issue was one of our most popular and long out of print. "IV" is a new track to be included on the greatest hits album and video. The storyline deals with an imaginary weapons project emitting deadly sounds of music. That's Kate Bush's originality at work.

Toby Redd (Nemperor/RCA)

From the same label and city (Detroit) that brought us The Romantics, here's Toby Redd. Like their crosstown counterparts, Toby the quartet are armed with the same general artillery--Fender guitars, tight arrangements and bright simply-structured material. A few obvious derivations includes a vocalist who sounds very close to Roger Daltrey in range and tonality. "Never Make Her Cry" is a stone rip from the guts of the Yardbird's "Heart Full Of Soul." Yet after a stern listen, I grew fond of this LP because of trax like "Everytime I Run," "Looking For You," "Hiding Inside" and the emotional send-off instrumental/chant "Lona Vigi."

Distressed Gentlefolk-The Jazz Butcher Conspiracy (Big Time)

If somebody spiked our A/C chart with blotter acid, Jazz Butcher could have a shot at numero uno. The Butcher is at times easy on the tempo and instrumentation but wiggly and wacked in the senses--especially trax like "Falling In Love," "Big Bad Thing" and "Domestic Animal." The songs are generally of a satirical nature, though my fave is when they get serious on trax like "Still In The Kitchen."

NEW Releases

Electric Cafe-Kraftwerk(Warner Bros.)

There was a time when Kraftwerk was years ahead of the pack. After a five year layoff, do they retain their lead? The answer is an emphatic yes. Aside from Japan's Ryuichi Sakamoto, Kraftwerk are the toastmasters of active technology. Kraftwerk's direction is now stark and industrial rather than disco-ed and sequenced. Strange and independent as it is, Electric Cafe stands alone in its innocent beauty. This time less is more. The cover graphics surely should win some kind of award.

This Ain't No Outerspace Ship-Love Tractor (Big Time)

One of those soundtracks-to-life albums. Love Tractor has up to now been an instrumental group. Their music is wispy Southeastern easiness. Out of necessity LT now dabbles in vocals. But it's trax like "Rudolf Nureyev" and "We All Loved Each Other So Much" that say so much more than words and lyrics dare utter.

Almacantar-8 Seconds (Polydor)

Lemme see...what takes about eight seconds? Produced by Rupert Hine, Eight Seconds has been gaining a smattering of attention with their single "Kiss You When It's Dangerous." While "Kiss You" is definitely the star of the album, the following track "Call And A Cry" ain't too shabby either.

Between Two Fires-Paul Young (Columbia)

Between Two Fires is Paul Young's evolution away from being tagged as a cover artist/interpreter. Eighty percent of this LP is self-penned with band members. Beginning with the groove oriented single, "Some People," through the last track, Between Two Fires twists and turns through a maze of diversity. My favorite track is the first English single, "Wonderland." Other stand out key trax include "Prisoner Of Conscience" which opens side two. "In The Long Run" has some familiar keyboard ingredients reminiscent of some of his earlier work. The addition of drummer David Palmer (ABC, YMO) will strengthen the band's live edge. In many ways, Between Two Fires is a transitional album with Paul Young testing the waters as a writer, initiating change in sound, style, production and execution.

Shelter-Lone Justice (Geffen)

After two albums, Lone Justice's sound is still in major transition. With the sacking of the entire band, that leaves Maria McKee as the lone survivor. A promising front vocalist, here voice still careens with unbridled energy. "Shelter" is still the most polished, finished track the album has to offer. The remainder of the disc produced by a tribunal consisting of Jimmy Iovine, Little Steven and the band continues to lead Lone Justice down a path that favors edge over warmth and chaos over complete control.

Leather Jackets-Elton John (Geffen)

The opening track is a concoction of guitars and synths. "Leather Jackets" have always been a staple of our trade. Unlike the biker image on the back of the cover, Leather Jackets' most endearing side is some of the album's softer moments like "Paris" and "Slow Rivers" with Cliff Richard. Using a base of real drums and guitars, Leather Jackets benefits from some beautiful keyboarding. Check out "Don't Trust That Woman" and "Angeline" in addition to the single, "Heartache All Over The World."

MY 2 CENTS

Not all that much overlap between the Album Radio Top Ten and the Top Forty Top Ten. That thought came after a phone call from a reporter scouting similarities between the Gavin radio formats. After eyeballing this week's chart, Album Radio seems to be doing a good job of leading. One of the acts that Album Radio has been taking charge of is the Pretenders, who maintain a stranglehold on the number one spot. There's also action on the Jimi Hendrix track, "Room Full Of Mirrors," produced by Steve Lillywhite. Billy Idol's album took a healthy jump thanks to increased attention on the best track, "Don't Need A Gun." Steve Miller is another artist who is enjoying semi-exclusive airplay on Album Radio. The single is doing tremendously on our airwaves while the blues side is getting respectable response. As KBC releases THEIR single to Top Forty, "It's Not You, It's Not Me" enjoys strong Top Ten status, lodged at #8, KBC is still definitely on the move upward. Plus there's plenty of life left on two trax, "Song For America" and "Mariel." "Hold Me" will please the softer Album stations wishing to cash in on Marty Balin's voice. Besides the Steve Miller debut at #6, the Color of Money soundtrack (with added support from the 12 inch versions of Don Henley and Eric Clapton) takes major jumps (39-22-10) and is also an Album Radio exclusive. Methinks the folks at Top Forty will soon catch up once they discover the merits of Henley and Clapton via seven inch releases. Peter Gabriel, yet another Album Radio pet artist, makes an impressive turnaround--21-15. Currently on the road, Gabriel should close out 1986 as one of this year's biggest stars. My bet is that SO just might score number one on the 1986 Gavin Year End Album chart. We shall see...A future

Album Radio hit has entered the chart at #35. I'm talking about Jason & The Scorchers' "Golden Ball And Chain." After being last week's Most Added, Bob Geldof turns add points into rotation points. He crashes the chart at #32. A big week for "One Simple Thing" by the Stabilizers. Kansas' comeback is assured as their album makes big impact at #29 scoring Certified status as well. Another steady climber, World Party, makes a slow but sure jump to #37. Each and every week, believers in World Party increase, especially on the Alternative chart where it stands a good chance of debuting next week...Stevie Ray Vaughan's rockin' version of Stevie Wonder's "Superstition" received out-of-the-box confirmation. This double live album will be one of this year's biggest live LPs...No doubt you're already feeling the effects of the five LP Springsteen Live Box Set. Retail accounts are reporting that this is the first album in years to have a reservation list for anxious customers. Years isn't the right word. Try decades. The last album to receive such a welcoming was the double white Beatles LP. Springsteen is surely the 80's equivalent of that phenomenon. Have a good time weathering the storm of phone calls and airplay.

ALTERNATIVE ACTION

New Order maintains a very narrow margin (about 3%) over Love & Rockets as both albums increase their total stations and airplay chart points. BAD enjoys the most dramatic increase within our Top 10 as they leap-frog over five others and in the process pushing four acts down one notch. Billy Bragg and Shriekback share Certified honors. I expect both to burst through to the Top 10 immediately. Both albums are receiving airplay at: 91X, KVMF, KCMU, WXRT, WOXY, KBSU, KUSF, KDVS, KCPR, WXYC, WUSC, WUOG, WRAS, WXCI, WUNH, WPRB, WDCR, WHFS, WLIR, etc. The Fall and Robyn Hitchcock round out a big week for debuts, four in total! World Party is gaining more and more new stations each week and is on the verge of debuting. They could stand some company in the World Party - Maximum rotation club which currently includes: KTCL, KABL, KJET, WUOG, KBVR, etc. The Mighty Lemon Drops are our Most Added album behind the ground-swell of support from: WBNY, WDCR, WPRB, WTSR, WUNH,

SPOTLIGHT LP

Scarred But Smarter-DRIVIN' N CRYIN' (688)

Drivin' N Cryin' is a flammable trio from Atlanta led by vocalist/ guitarist Kevin Kinney, Tim Nielson on bass (and mandolin!) and Paul Lenz on drums. Nielson and Lenz were members of the Nightporters before joining Kinney to form Drivin' N Cryin'. They unify impulsive music with passionate lyrics. Drivin' N Cryin' elicits emotional responses, which makes their music the magical medium that it is. "Scarred But Smarter", "Watch The Fire/To Coin A Phrase", "Scarlet Butterfly", "Count The Flowers" and "Stand Up And Fight for It" are all stellar cuts. The low-key, acoustically-oriented "Saddle On The Side Of The Road" and "Bring Home The Bacon" are just as impressive as their electric counterparts. Call Cathy Hendrix of 688 Records at (404) 874-2451.

September Bowl Of Green-THE GRAPES OF WRATH (Capitol)

Besides being the name of John Steinbeck's famous novel, The Grapes Of Wrath was also - for you trivia fanatics - the name of Eddie Money's first band in New York (check out his amusing interview with the KZ's in next week's issue). I was first introduced to the G.O.W. through an article in Vancouver college station CTR's program guide a few years ago. Even though the "new music" scene has been one of the most underated, Vancouver (along with Toronto) is suddenly emerging as a hub of upper North America. 54-40 and The Lucy Show (now based in London) are both natives of this Canadian city. "Love Comes Around" is enamoured with the best of G.O.W.'s talents, with "Misunderstanding" and "And I Know" representing excellent alternative tracks. Peter

WBAP's WAGON TRAIN ▲

A lot has been happening in Texas this year during its 150th birthday, and WBAP-Dallas/Ft. Worth has been right in the thick of it. A Sesquicentennial wagon train pulled out of Sulpher

Springs, Texas on January 2nd for a 3,025 mile ride around the state. The train consisted of authentic covered wagons and outriders on horseback. WBAP sponsored a wagon as the official voice of the wagon train. They gave away trips to listeners who would spend a couple of days and nights on the wagon throughout its journey. WBAP accommodated reporters from all over the country, as well as the BBC and a crew from China! WBAP also did live remotes with Hal Jay and the morning show from the Wagon Train campsites in Austin, San Antonio and El Paso. Then, for the finale, they broadcast the parade "live" as it rolled into the Fort Worth stockyards. John Schneider co-hosted the parade with Don Day. During the parade, a "WBAP Says Welcome Home Sign Contest" was held. Listeners spotted in the crowd with signs were the recipients of cash and prizes. ■

WJLB's MORNING TEAM JOINS ◀ THE CIRCUS

WJLB-Detroit's morning team of Mason and "Tune-Up Man" Walter Neal recently ran off and joined the circus. WJLB sponsored a night at the Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey Circus to help raise funds to purchase coats for needy Detroit children as part of their 1986 "Coats For Kids" campaign. Mason was "guest ringmaster" while the "Tune-Up Man" participated in the "Clown Walk-Around!" WJLB's "Coats For Kids" received 50 cents from every ticket purchased that evening, and netted nearly $5,000 for the worthy cause. ■

GOVERNOR FOR A DAY ▼

WORC-Worcester used Election Day '86 to their advantage. Starting in September, they put WORC campaign signs all over town by registering people in their "Governor For A Day" contest. When listeners called to register, WORC took the "Worcester Country Cruiser" to their house and put up a sign. On Election Day - November 4th - WORC drew from all the entrants and sent the winner to Boston in a limousine to tour the State House, dine at a political hang-out, and gave them one days worth of the Governor's salary! ■

Last week I began a retrospective on the late Gordon McLendon, pointing out that it is unlikely that anyone reading the column would have had the job they have today, were it not for Gordon. I told a bit about his early successes in networking the recreated play-by-play of baseball games; then his development of the Top 40 format that sustained radio and set it in a new direction to success—after television was thought to have dealt it a death blow in the early and mid 1950's. That alone would qualify him for a very special place in the Radio Hall Of Fame. But there was much more to come.

Gordon had built a chain of exciting and successful Top 40 stations by the late 1950's, when he bought KROW in Oakland (San Francisco) in 1959 with the thought of entering the Top 40 wars there as well. At almost exactly the same time, the group owner that had proven most successful in copying his ideas on its own stations, Crowell-Collier, bought KLX in Oakland for the same purpose. KROW was at 970kHz; KLX at 910kHz. McLendon believed he could outprogram and outpromote any competitor, but he recognized it would be hard to make a lot of money in such a dogfight. He read the articles in the San Francisco Chronicle and Examiner which confidently and angrily predicted that he was preparing to unleash his "particularly unsavory version of the dreaded rock and roll", as Crowell-Collier had already announced they were also about to do. McLendon also hated to play into anybody's hands, so he invented a new format instead. In due course, KLX was changed to KEWB with several days continuous reading of the phone book and many promos (the first DJ on the air on KEWB was Gary Owens), and then it was time for the announced change of KROW to KABL.

Gordon led up to it by playing the same terrible rock and roll record over and over for a week -- a ploy he preferred, to attract attention, which the FCC eventually found "not in the public interest", until the practice was recently deregulated. The announced day and hour arrived, and to the astonishment of the newspapers and the general population, the station did not rock and roll -- it played soft instrumental music, clustering spots at 10-minute intervals, and producing the breaks with harps and San Francisco Bay Area poetic thoughts. "Beautiful Cable Music, In The Air, Everywhere, Over San Francisco". The format defused all opposition, caught the imagination of the area while playing up to its snobbishness, and was a perfect counterpoint to the despised KEWB. It became an immediate success. KEWB was also a success, but it never could defeat KYA, and the advent of KFRC as a rocker doomed it. Today KEWB plays country music as KNEW. On the other hand, through many changes of management and ownership, KABL still plays "Beautiful Music", although the harps, poetry, and strong formatting is long gone (more's the pity).

McLendon had shown the business a way to save radio. Now he had shown that there were many ways to do it -- all requiring formatting and imagination, but not necessarily rock and roll music.

That was 1959. Two years later, Gordon, ever intrigued by unconventional possibilities, obtained the U.S. sales rights to a Mexican radio station in Tijuana, 120 miles south of Los Angeles. XEAK was tightly directional towards Los Angeles, with 50 kw fulltime at 690 khz, and with Southern California's high conductivity it put a decent, listenable signal into much of Los Angeles. It was an early imitator of the McLendon Top 40 approach as "The Mighty 6-90", with listeners all over the West Coast at night, but had fallen on hard times with the success of KFWB and later KRLA. With a strong local signal, Los Angeles listeners wouldn't tune in XEAK.

Though he had bought just the sales rights, Gordon was free to program the station as he wished. The radio industry in Los Angeles was abuzz; what could Gordon possibly do with XEAK that could compete in Los Angeles? KFWB and KRLA pre-empted the Top 40 possibilities, and KPOL was hugely successful with its harped-up imitation of KABL. The date for change was announced; the newspapers speculated at great length; a terrible rock and roll record was played over and over for a week, each time announced as a different familiar hit by the original artist. On Saturday, as promoted, the station played the 1951 Giants-Dodgers playoff game by "The Old Scotsman" in which the Giants won the pennant with Bobby Thompson's epochal home run. The Dodgers had lost, but it was a classic game, and the audience was big. Probably very, very few of those listening realized they were hearing a 10-year-old tape of a McLendon recreation of the game, by wire reports from the ballpark.

At the end of the game, the station changed call letters to XETRA, called itself X-TRA News, and became the world's first successful all-news radio station! Again, Gordon's idea was not totally unique; KLIQ in Portland, Oregon, had briefly tried it earlier, and KJBS/KFAX in San Francisco had made a noble try at it in the late 1950's, but both had failed. Gordon made it work. The concept was very simple: Continuous 15-minute back-to-back newscasts, all simply wire copy read by major-league quality air talent, updated continuously, 24 hours a day. "Tune in anytime; you'll be updated completely in 15 minutes." Realizing that he would have a hard time with long listening spans with such a specialized format on such a distant station, he went for CUME, figuring if he could get in the top 10 LA cumes he'd have a very saleable product. He was pleasantly surprised to find that many people did listen for long periods of time, not wanting to miss any important new developments; and with the giant cume and sizeable listening spans, X-TRA News was consistently in the Los Angeles 12+ "Top 6" for six solid years, until Westinghouse, new owner of KFWB, went all-news in 1967.

"McLendon found something new to promote for X-TRA: AM stereo! As early as 1968 it became the world's first continuous AM stereo station, using the Kahn system."

KFWB lengthened the turnover ("give us 22 minutes, and we'll give you the word") and added features and actualities, with a huge staff and high overhead, all of which Gordon felt was unnecessary and financially counterproductive. But with the audience split, and his the weaker signal, he felt there was no profit in that, and he switched the Mexican station immediately to the KABL "Beautiful Music" format ("X-TRA Music"), with no news whatever. He eventually combined it with KOST ("Coast") FM in Los Angeles, which had been KGLA when he had recently bought it and he made much money with the combo until he eventually sold out of both.

Two interesting footnotes to the XETRA/KOST story. McLendon found something new to promote for X-TRA: AM stereo! As early as 1968 it became the world's first continuous AM stereo station, using the Kahn system. It was promoted on buscards in Los Angeles, but the lack of proper receivers (he was reduced to describing mistuning two radios high and low to obtain a minimal stereo effect) kept it from being a more potent promotion. However, there certainly was awareness that the station was different and special.

And he originally bought KGLA not to make it a soft-music station of it, but to develop a new format. Gordon got his money's worth from it -- he successfully petitioned the FCC to let him program

COUNTRY SUMMARY

We'd like to thank you all for your co-operation during our "changeover" week. As you undoubtedly know by now, we now want you to report your playlist by rotations rather than by a numbered chart. The decision to change to rotations was based on two things - the first being that many of you were already reporting rotations to us, and the other being that we believe this will reflect a more accurate description of what is really going on at Gavin Country stations. For those of you who are still confused by the change, it's really quite simple. We'd just like to have your Heavy, Medium and Light rotations, along with your adds, drops, requests, and LP cuts. If you still need to do a numbered chart for your station, then just report your Top Ten as Heavy, Gainers as Medium, and your extras as Lights. If you foresee any problems reporting your list by rotations, just let us know. Now, on to the chart. It was never of matter of

"if" Alabama would reach #1, it was just a matter of "when." Now the question is how long will their reign at the top last? Speaking of Alabama, be sure to mark your calendars on November 28th to watch their first network television special on CBS. Entitled "My Home's In Alabama", the show was shot on location in and around Ft. Payne and features Willie Nelson, Charlie Daniels, The Judds, and John Schneider. Should be a good one!! There are some big changes as we move on down the chart, and these could be attributed to the aforementioned change in reporting this week. By next week, the chart should have settled down a bit. But in the meantime, the change caused a bit of housecleaning. The records that have been around for a while are having to clear off the chart to make room for this week's big moves. Some records to watch in Action Sides include the Lionel Richie/Alabama (Diane Rufer and Ron Fell tell us that this song is starting to get some A/C play), Tim Malchak (Steve Small at KKAA -Aberdeen reports immediate phone requests), and Rodney Crowell (Tom Sleeker at KKIX-Fayetteville is getting instant feedback on this one).

We'd like to congratulate Bill Mayne and the folks at WBAP-Ft. Worth on winning the Distinguished Programmer Award from the Texas Association of Broadcasters for their Texas Sesquicentennial promotion. You can read more about it in this week's "Promotions" on page 40. And finally, WHTL-Whitehall, Wisconsin is looking for an Oldie library. If you can be of any help, contact John Simonson or Ed Paulson at 715-538-4341 weekdays from 9AM to 6PM. Thanks! Talk to you next week! Lisa and Elma an all- ads station, demonstrating that it would be in the public interest, despite the FCC rule limiting advertising to 18 minutes per hour! He changed the call letters to K-ADS; he sold want ads to private parties, each produced in a different style. I heard it; it was very interesting to listen to and very well formatted. After nine months he pulled the plug and changed to "KOST" and Beautiful Music. He said at the time he was giving up because it required too much of his time to develop and steer it, not because it wouldn't succeed, at least financially. The radio industry said "Oh, sure", and dismissed it as Gordon's first failure. But those of us who heard it knew it was not a failure; Gordon could have made it another remarkable success story had he allowed himself the time and effort to develop it. The recent huge success of All-ADS TV programming (Home Shopping Network, and the like) demonstrates that.

Gordon McClendon proved that when you find a consistent service that will appeal to the public, and present it in a consistent and exciting format structure, you can format anything with wide appeal and succeed with it. Anything.

In a published interview in the late 1970's, Gordon said that he felt there was at least one obvious programming void that a successful radio format could be developed to fill. As far as I know, it's never been published what it was, and it's stimulating to speculate on. I've always thought it might be "Personal Advice Telephone Talk", and if so, the great audience success of NBC's "Talknet" and various personal advice programs on major talk stations demonstrated that such a concept could succeed. But it's probably better we never know for sure, because it will stimulate us to look for that unconventional, overlooked idea that Gordon McClendon thought would make for another killer format. And certainly, there are many possible, if we have the imagination to discover them.

Gordon McClendon's legacy is you and me and everybody in the modern radio and record industries. The very industries themselves are his heritage. It is superfluous and trivial to say simply that we will miss him. But we certainly will.

by JERRY BOULDING

THE SIGHS AND THE PRIZE OR "CONTESTS MAKE CUMES COME" OR "MOVERS AND SHAKERS OFTEN MOVE TO WHERE SOMETHING'S SHAKING"

As most researchers and consultants will tell you contests can help capture cumes, if they are done right, placed right and if the other ingredients, (including timing) are on your side. What prizes do most people prefer to win? It's still cash and cars, with cash having a definite edge. It seems although the dollar doesn't go very far these days, what it lacks in distance, it makes up in speed.

BANK IT AND CRANK IT

You know how we're always trying to come with clever titles for new contests, or some new concepts from old contests? This particular contest involves direct mail pieces and while it is not cheap, it can be very effective. First of all, image is immediately aided by direct mail. Continuing studies show that the perception of a radio station that does a clever, well-worded direct mail piece gives that station an immediate bigger image. And along with image comes pride, listenership and hopefully ARBitron numbers. Direct mail is perceived as being more effective, according to these new studies, than television or billboards.

Actually the words "Crank It and Bank It" have to do with what the listeners need to do to win. He/She has to "crank it up" to (the station's frequency) and then "bank" on winning! The actual contest involves sweepstakes numbers, which is a pretty popular trend in most cities. The whole idea was one that could not have been carried out without the direct mail piece. Someone once asked me how many direct mail pieces were needed to be truly effective. The answer of course, depends on a number of factors, not the least of which is the overall programming budget and the particular budget you have for this particular contest. But I personally feel that in most medium or major market cities, you need at least 250,000 direct mail pieces. This takes into account the number that will be discarded or go to wrong addresses, etc.

THE CUTTING EDGE

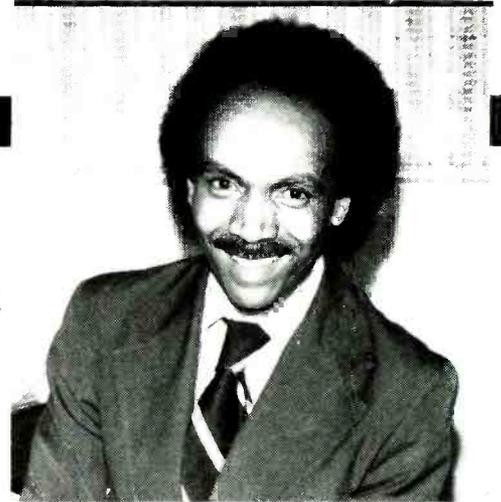

Keeping sharp requires constant attention and you must keep your cutting edges keen. This is true for many things, but certainly for doing successful contest and promotions. Every programmer who keeps rein on an actively-programmed station must walk a thin line between keeping up with the market's tastes and being too far in front of them by overanticipating their needs and desires. The whole concept of keeping 'fresh' often leads to disaster. To take over a new station or a new situation and and try to make either an image or positioning change with what is often a small budget is a pretty tough goal, especially when you consider you often only have one or two books (ARBitrons) to do it, depending on the number of ratings sweeps taken in your particular market. One of the things that a station must do today to remain strong and really competitive, is to "sell" itself to its audience and naturally, its potential audience. You not only have to sell the contests and promotions, you must also sell the music, commercials, promos, one-liners, etc. Salesmanship and promotion are both a game and a business. The affinity between the two is evident. Then you add the spirit of competition, the indispensibility of training and preparation, the willingness to sacrifice self and the ability to bounce back after defeat. Sometimes the ratings don't immediately reflect the changes and efforts we've made. If you are talented and continue to give a total effort and persevere, you will eventually enjoy the exhilaration of victory and the enjoyment of victory's rewards.

LESSONS IN FUTILITY

Sometimes, you find yourself working for an organization that does not believe in spending huge amounts of cash on promotions. They don't want to make the product better, nor do they want to advertise once it's been improved. Their idea of a winning team is one that can take nothing and make something happen. And they go through team after team. They're always looking for new people. They're the ones who are always advertising for new people. And if you find yourself, at some point in your career, working for this kind of station or these kinds of people, the burden and responsibility for the air-personalities and program and music directors is even greater. They must take full advantage of every little bit of useful facts from every possible source. That takes a whole lot of motivation, often with little pay. You see these people frustrated and looking for answers.

Sales-oriented and profit-motivated owners and managers, whose primary thrust is to maintain the lowest possible operating costs, replace air personalities at an alarming rate, hoping to find someone whose thinking aligns with theirs. Then they finally decide that there are no talented program people and they either sell, change formats or their minds. What is wrong with these lessons in futility is that they have lost sight of the fundamentals of not only of radio, but of business. First, you must make certain that you have a good product and then you must try to promote it. If you're giving away a new car and/or some cash awards, you must tell people about it...people who may not be listening to your radio station at the time. This is one way to build cume. It's the combination of all the elements- the music, the personalities and the promotions-which make people talk about you and listen to you. A station in a market we recently consulted did a million dollar giveaway. They got a huge cume together, but their overall product wasn't right. So they were checked out by the audience and they left. It's like going into a store. You often get only one chance at giving them good service or food, and if you don't, they might not come back. So it definitely takes more than just a huge prize, regardless of its size...to get the 'sighs' translated into ARBitron numbers. Success in life and in our business is a kind of game. We make a living by what we get (like strong ARBitrons) but we make a life by what we give. Some people treat life like a slot machine-putting in as little as possible while hoping for the jackpot! ●

"...an actively-programmed station must walk a thin line between keeping up with the market's tastes and being too far in front ..."

URBAN CONTEMPORARY SUMMARY

Yo! Yo! While Betty leads a group of high school students around the landmarks of Washington D.C., Gavin pulls in their second string—it was a tuff game but it looks like everyone has come out a winner. Our first move was to deal with the jam that Betty left for us at the top of last week's chart. As you may have noticed there was no movement in the top eight, which can get pretty darn boring. So this week... Freddie Jackson (without Melba Moore) "shakes down" Gregory Abbott, who retained the number one position for a surprising three week duration. But in less than three weeks we've seen incredible movement from Vesta Williams (31-17), Bobby Brown (35-18), Levert

(30-20), Isaac Hayes (34 -21), Jeff Lorber (38-22), and Kool & The Gang (40-27, and a whopping 65%). Last week's Chartbounds, Janet Jackson and Klymaxx, become this week's Certified, and probably won't stop until they get into the top ten. Until the second string's services are called upon again.... John and Joel

the GAVIN REPORT

DAVE SHOLIN'S Personal Picks — SINGLES

RON FELL'S Personal Picks — ALBUMS

BRUCE SPRINGSTEEN & THE E STREET BAND - War (Columbia) Should come as no surprise that this forthcoming 5 record live set from the "BOSS" has received initial orders totalling upwards of 30 million dollars. This release is the recorded music event of the year and possibly the decade and will easily be the most sought after item for Christmas from the nations retailers. Besides all that this is a chilling version of Edwin Starrs 1969 hit. Though it's longer, I recommend the version with spoken intro. Bruce helps to explain why he's singing this song, adding emotion to a powerful performance. Without that intro he's just doing a great rendition of a great oldie.

TINA TURNER - Two People (Capitol) An album this "deep" with potential singles puts Tina in a can't miss situation. As the holidays approach the songs message of togetherness will be a welcome one for many couples.

GEORGIA SATELLITES - Keep Your Hands To Yourself (Elektra) What the world needs is a good meat 'n potatoes rocker! It's always refreshing to hear a band originate a distinct style, sound and personality. If you haven't guessed by now...I'm in love with this entry. Give it a listen and I'll bet you won't take it off your turntable.

GRACE JONES - I'm Not Perfect (But I'm Perfect For You) (Manhattan) Though she's achieved movie stardom over the past couple of years, Grace has yet to capture that elusive hit single. While the number of those who wonder why continues to grow, this Nile Rodgers production may unlock the magic door that houses the Top 40.

THE JETS - You Got It All (MCA) In a relatively short span of time The Jets have built a solid audience base that grows with each successive release. It seems like the time is right to demonstrate versatility. They squeeze all the emotion out of this pretty, pretty Rupert Holmes ballad. If quality makes a difference in the hit equation this should be their biggest.

ELTON JOHN - Leather Jackets (Geffen) The picture on the back of this LP looks like Elton and mates are set to give a motorcycle escort to Mel Gibson's Mad Max. Fortunately they stick around and play some strong music. Most noteworthy, in my humble opinion, are the title track, LEATHER JACKETS (which has a great, Wham-like track to it) and the hot new single HEARTACHE ALL OVER THE WORLD.

JENNIFER WARNES - Famous Blue Raincoat (Cypress Records/PolyGram) My first bet of the year. IF WE TAKE MANHATTAN will be a hit single if it's released from this LP. How about dinner in Manhattan if I'm wrong? The LP is a collection of Leonard Cohen songs. That's good and bad. Good that someone remembers him as one of our finest lyricists. Bad that it has been years since anyone has remembered him. And that's only bad 'cause the name Leonard Cohen is not likely to excite a portion of the new generation of music programming decision-makers. If they'll only employ the lost art of auditioning music, we'll be okay. For the impatient and uninitiated, a sampler of IF WE TAKE MANHATTAN, BIRD ON A WIRE and AIN'T NO CURE FOR LOVE will just make 'em more curious for the rest of the Cohen collection. Thanks to Jennifer for having the foresight and courage to cover a cult hero. Everybody wins on this one.
