HIT FACTOR

Hit Factor is a percentage of stations playing a record which also have it Top 20.
ie: 100 stations playing the record—60 stations have it in their Top 20—Hit Factor = 60%.

SERIOUSLY FOLKS!

"Big Reaction Record. Surprisingly big early phones from our pop listeners."

-Joe Bohannon, B96 Chicago

"On its way to Top 10 Sales! Good phones. Early response has been good. Should cross over to CHR."

-Brian White, KITY San Antonio

"Donna Allen is in POWER rotation. Top 5 requests, so get serious and play a hot one."

-Big Jack Armstrong, KF95 Boise

"Strong appeal Women 18-24. Building a good teen phone base. It's a serious record."

-Dave Allen, WSSX Charleston

INSIDE TOP 40

with DAVE SHOLIN

Lots of hard work and planning has gone into every event at this year's Gavin Seminar, and it's heartening to know so many of you have planned your schedules and budgets to include "The Gavin." Our Top 40 format session of last year was a no-holds-barred discussion that covered a myriad of subjects. Expect even more this time around as scheduling affords the opportunity for programmers from other formats to be present. As mentioned several weeks ago, Guy Zapoleon, Co-National PD of Nationwide Communications and PD of KZZP Phoenix, will help me moderate. Also joining us will be programming consultant Buzz Bennett. Buzz's creative genius was responsible for lifting dozens of stations from the cellar to number one ranking virtually overnight. However, in keeping with our "Panelbusters" theme, the three of us will be thought-starters, directing the focus of discussion, but the real participants are those in the room. This is your chance to get that "question" answered or that comment off your chest. For those asking about The Super Bowl of Rock Trivia, check the tail end of this column.

That unstoppable STARSHIP crew is right on target with one of the fastest climbing records of their career. Last week's HIT FACTOR was 6% and it zooms to 26% showing every indication of going all the way to the top.

Plenty of go power for WANG CHUNG who showing a similar trend to "Everybody Have Fun Tonight." Currently Top 15 at KKEZ, KGOT, WBEN, 3WD, WKZQ, Z94, WCLG, KVYN, KVFM. KBBZ, while moving into the Top Twenty at WKTI Milwaukee, KEZY Anaheim, KMOK and KOZE Lewiston, KHYT Tucson, etc.

A big North American welcome for EUROPE logging some of the biggest increases of the week. Up a solid nine places for Gina Shurts KFMY 30-21...also hot with Roger Christian WBEN/FM 27-13, Bill Sellars WZY 22-14, Ric Lippincott Z95 26-17, Alix/Webster WJXQ 21-12, McCann/McKeighan WLRW 21-13, Boogie Summers KZZO 31-22 etc.

Vaulting over 200 total reports, EXPOSE turn in Top Thirty debuts at B106 Washington, Q99 Burlington, KC101 New Haven, WHYT Detroit, WBAM Montgomery, Q105 Tampa, KZZP Phoenix, Y95 Dallas, KDWZ Des Moines, WIAL Eau Claire, KQLA Manhattan, KMGZ Lawton, etc.

Continuing to perform well, CROWDED HOUSE is convincing more folks each week. Doing very well here in San Francisco at KITS 9-6 and KMEL 18-12, also on the move in Denver with Y108 charting it Top Ten, KIMN Top Twenty Five and KPKE adding. Also new at WIQQ, LG73, WFBG, KC101, WBBQ, WATT, KWTX, KZZU, etc.

Good airplay growth for STEVE WINWOOD moving onto the Top 40 with 52 new believers and closing in 200 stations. Debuts #19 for John Purdy OK95, #25 Jay Hall KBLQ, #23 Jim Gilles WTBX, #29 Mickey Lees KLKT, #29 Roy Williams KJOY...new on KHIT Seattle, KXFM Santa Maria, KTAG Cody, K106 Beaumont, KVIC Victoria, KIZZ Minot, G105 Durham/Raleigh, Z94 Boston, etc.

Easily earning honors as Most Added, ARETHA FRANKLIN & partner GEORGE MICHAEL debut as a CHARTBOUNDER, sure to make their way onto the Top 40 next week. Those going right on it include WNCI & 92X Columbus, Z93 & 94Q Atlanta, Z100 New York, B97 New Orleans, Y106 Orlando, Y100 Miami, KCPW Kansas City, Q104 Gadsden, KNBQ Tacoma/Seattle, KHIT Seattle, FM102 & KWOD Sacramento, 93Q Houston, B94 Pittsburgh etc.

THE BANGLES may have struggled to get "Walk Like An Egyptian" off and running, but the early groundswell this time is another story. Programmer belief and initial airplay is strong as Steve Kingston and Amy Kronthal B104 Baltimore debut it at #29 and Marty Dempsey B106 Washington list it #28 the first week.

DONNA ALLEN has had quite a busy week since being RECORD TO WATCH this past Friday. Noteworthy West Coast action includes a move of 25-21 at KROY Sacramento, and debuts of #25 crosstown at FM102, #21 KMEL San Francisco, #26 KYOS Merced, #28 KFIV Modesto. Added by KCPW, KAGO, KWIN, WXKS, Q105, WDEK, WBBQ, 95XXX, WRCK, KCPI, etc.

Renewed interest in RATT gets them into UP & COMING with Tony Waitekus WCIL Carbondale charting it #24. New on Z93, Y94, KS103, KZZU, KMOK, 95XXX, Y106, WDBR, KSYZ, Y106, Y100, WJXQ, KHTZ, etc.

PAUL LEKAKIS was first mentioned in our January 30th edition. This obscure novelty is an instant phone item (due to obvious teen appeal) and moves 12-8 at Y100 Miami, 25-22 KZZP Phoenix with Z100's Scott Shannon debuting it #22. Also charted #2 at KITY San Antonio. It's on the ZYX label. If you need further info call Guy Zapoleon at KZZP (602) 964-4000, Brian Thomas BJ105 Orlando (305) 629-5105, or Steve Masters KITS San Francisco (415) 626-1053.

If you're interested in being a contestant in this year's SUPER BOWL OF ROCK TRIVIA showdown, be sure to fill out your entry form (which you'll receive with your registration pack) and drop into the designated box in the registration area. All entries must be in by 9 AM Friday February 20th. GEFFEN RECORDS AND MJI BROADCASTING (Suppliers of Radio Trivia Quizzes) will have a well-marked location, or just ask anyone at the reg desk to point you in the right direction.

FROM HERE TO INFINITY:

WBCN-Boston VP/GM Tony Berardini has been named to the same position at Infinity Broadcasting's newly-acquired KROQ/Pasadena, meaning he'll be making the Logan-to-LAX hop twice a month for the foreseeable future. "You can't compare the two stations," says management's answer to Tom Joyner, "but they are both New Music leaders. It's a privilege to be working at them." Tony retains his Boston residence and his Celtics allegiance. He's piling up a few more Frequent Flyer miles to take part in the Cutting Edge Show at the Gavin Seminar Friday, February 20. Hosted by 415 Records' Howie Klein, the session will also feature Lindsey Buckingham of Fleetwood Mac, Columbia Records Senior VP/Marketing Bob Sherwood, LIVE105-San Francisco hot MD Steve Masters and Alternative folkster Mojo Nixon, half of the Nixon/Roper duo.

PERIPATETIC TOM JOYNER

will pull off a three-market hat trick to make it to the Gavin Seminar. After his morning shift at KKDA-Dallas and afternoon at WGCI-Chicago, Tom plans to enplane for San Francisco in hopes of catching up with the hospitality suiters on the Seminar's opening night.

TWELVE INCHES TRIMMED FROM CBS WASTE-LINE:

An innocent-looking letter sent out by CBS Records last week contains a revolutionary announcement for Album programmers. The notice from Columbia and E/P/A Records keeps Paul Rappaport and Harvey Leeds says the two labels "will be moving towards eliminating a good part of our twelve-inch releases." Henceforth, promotional twelve-inchers will be confined to newer artists and tracks released prior to album releases. CBS will go back to promoting albums to Album Radio by reservicing complete albums with special notated stickers. C'wag kudos to CBS for the new policy. Not only does it eliminate waste (after all, a twelve-inch uses as much vinyl as an LP), it will also help clear the clutter in a lot of radio stations. But the best outcome may be getting Album Radio back in the habit of listening to, thinking in terms of and broadcasting albums. We look forward to this policy becoming a trans-label trend.

LEADERS OF THE PLAQUE:

Chinwag congrats to WFNX-Lynn, MA, selected by Boston Globe readers as their favorite Pop/Rock and FM station...And to KOME-San Jose, CA, named the best small-market radio station in the country by readers of Rolling Stone--a classic triumph of perception over reality. In case you haven't checked lately, San Jose is a top 30 market, with a mere one million residents.

THE MAN WITH TWO BRAINS:

Former KNX/FM-Los Angeles MD/air personality Lou Simon is now at the programmer's helm of both sides of Price Broadcasting's oldies/Top 40 combo, KBUG/KCPX-Salt Lake City. "Thank God they're not in separate buildings," says Lou, promising, "Half my brain will go to the AM and half to the FM." No staff changes are planned, though some shifts have been moved on the AM.

RADI-O-RAMA: One of Houston's most visible air talents, p.m. driver Dayna Steele, moves up to assistant PD at KLOL, trading her midday shift for p.m. drive. Harvey "Dr. K" Kojan takes over as Music Director...WBLX-Mobile, AL, morning man Ty Bell has been upped to Program Director...Mark Standriff signs on as PD/morning host at WTWR (TOWER98)-Monroe, MI...NBC Radio Network reaches a record high 385 affiliates with the signing of WGSW-Saginaw, MI...The ABC Entertainment Net has its first full-time female sportscaster: former CBS stringer Linda Cohn...David

Weinfeld is new General Manager at WKPE-Cape Cod...Coming to morning drive at WKLI-Albany, NY: Ric Mitchell, a veteran of wakeup duty crosstown at WTRY...Steve Davis moves up to MD at WNVZ-Norfolk, VA...Mike O'Brien departs KYNG/FM-Coos Bay, OR, to take over as MD/ evenings at KREO-Santa Rosa, CA...KZOU-Little Rock hires Bill Squartino as General Sales Manager...KRQU-Laramie moves up GSM John Makl to replace departing GM Ken Keating...Mark Chernoff gets PD stripes at WNEW/FM-New York...Veteran Country programmer Ted Cramer is back in radio, this time at WKY-Oklahoma City...Benny Foster moves to middays at KWWK-Rochester, MN, from KROC crosstown...WFNX-Lynn, MA, late-nighter Tai Irwin is a new father, as wife Pam gave birth to Christian Dean Feb. 3.

TOP 40 PIONEERS HONORED:

The National Association of Broadcasters has named Gordon McLendon and Robert Todd Storz to its Radio Hall of Fame. The posthumous honors will take place at the NAB's annual convention in Dallas March 30. Also scheduled for induction is newsman Robert Trout, who introduced FDR's "Fireside Chats," covered the London blitz for CBS, and is now semi-retired and living in Spain. Says NAB Radio Board Chairman Bev Brown: "These three spent their careers providing their audiences with the best of radio. Their resourcefulness and leadership enriched the American scene."

RECORD ROTATION: Daniel Glass's departure from Chrysalis Records turned into a U-turn. Word is that all it took was some air-clearing discussion to get him back at his desk as Vice President/ Promotions...Russ Titelman, who co-produced Steve Winwood's "Back in the High Life," is now Vice President for A&R for Warner Brothers Records. WB

WHODUNIT? "Mystery Minutes" is an ambitious radio promotion package from St. Louis-based Contemporary Marketing, Inc. For 47 episodes, listeners are put in a detective's gumshoes and asked to solve a crime. Top sleuthing prize is a trip from London to Paris and back on the Orient Express, with runners-up winning a VCR and tape library of Alfred Hitchcock thrillers. A/C KS94-St. Louis test-marketed Mystery Minutes last year. The verdict from PD Bill Garcia: "I was very happy. It was quite unique, and no-muss, no-fuss. Production was first-rate, and the top prize was perfect for our demographic. We ran two episodes in the morning and two in afternoons for two weeks--it was a great way to recycle the audience." Album-rock KRQR-San Francisco plans to air the promo in April. VP/GM Carl Dickens says, "Our listeners are very action oriented, and we think it will appeal to them." Mystery Minutes is available on a cash basis. # A/C ANALYSIS

On his way to number one, Bruce Hornsby has picked up 124 HEAVY rotation commitments in the past two weeks.

Janet Jackson is now HIT FACTORED by 89% of her stations in just four weeks. And another four-week wonder, Paul McCartney's Only Love Remains, shadows Janet with an 80% HIT FACTOR.

Daryl Hall has finally found a popular A/C track off the solo album. Someone Like You HIT FACTORS at 72% of its stations.

Jennifer Warnes debuts on the chart with only 74 stations, but 49 of those reports have her in solid rotations. HEAVY rotation reports include: WGHQ, WHYH, WCHV, WDNG, KGLO, KLOH, WJON, WFMJ, WRCO, KAZM, KLOV, KRVV, KVEC, KMAS and WMT.

Our other debut, Steve Winwood's The Finer Things, is this week's second most-added record, thanks to: WELI, WQHQ, WZNY, KRIB, WMGN, KPUR, KQIP, KVEC, KXRO, KLOO and 28 others.

Last week's RECORD TO WATCH, Arizona Sky by China Crisis, adds 24 stations to its skyline. Among them are: KASY, KDES, WJER, WASK, KWEB, KNOX, WSTU and WWMJ. HEAVY rotations already from WSKY, WJON, KVRN, KLOV, KLYQ, KKIQ and KTIM/FM.

This week's RECORD TO WATCH, Come Share My Love by Miki Howard, was an A/C pick on this page on October 10th, 1986. Four months later it's 48 reports strong and HIT FACTORED at 52%. Calls include KORT, KEZR, KRNO, KALE, KKLK, KYJC, WKYE, WFFX, WGSV, WKYX, KWLO, WIHN and WTRX.

Seminar Notes: The A/C format session is scheduled for 10 AM Saturday. A light continental breakfast will be available. Also, the registration desk will be open Thursday afternoon and evening until 8 PM and will re-open at 8 AM Friday morning.

itself quickly with A/C radio. Fortunately it doesn't sound like a show tune. It sounds like a great radio ballad.

ATLANTIC STARR

Always (Warner Bros.)

Valentine Day (Groundhog Day for Lovers) has just passed by, but the spirit of the day lives on in this singing Hallmark card featuring Barbara Weathers and David Lewis.

SMOKEY ROBINSON

Just To See Her (Motown)

After a quarter of a century on Tamla, it's a little strange to see him release a record on Motown, but that's the only thing strange about the record. Smokey's touch is easy on the senses. The song flows nicely and the lyric's third-person frame could only be sung by one person.

DAN SEALS

I Will Be There (EMI America)

After showing us how to "Bop" in pop radio last year, Dan returns for another generic entry, though less a novelty and more similar to his work as part of England Dan & John Ford Coley.

CLIVE DAVIS RECIPIENT OF LIFE ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

At the climax of this year's American Cancer Society dinner, honoree Clive Davis was joined onstage by a host of friends who offered a star-studded rendition of "That's What Friends Are For." Participants included (from left) Davis, Carole Bayer Sager, Dionne Warwick, Russell Hitchcock (Air Supply), Jermaine Jackson, Patrice Rushen, Cissy Houston and Graham Russell (Air Supply).

WALLS OF CHEERS FOR K.T.

MIKI GOES TO CHICAGO

(then at WBMX), Doug Harris (WJMO), Miki Howard, Jerry Boulding (WBMX/Gavin Report), Sylvia Rhone (Atlantic), Lee Michaels (then at WGLI), an unidentified guest and Jerry Simmons (BRE).

BOSTON

Boston's re-entry into the rock n roll stratosphere has been one of the major musical events of the Eighties. Legal hassles among former band members and record labels helped to delay the release of Third Stage for six years. They've also made Boston's Tom Scholz reluctant to talk to interviewers. Three months after our first request, Boston manager Jeff Dornfeld and MCA Records' Steve Meyer arranged the interview, on the condition that we confine our questions to the musical and creative aspects of Third Stage. Once we talked to him, Scholz was courteous and obliging, patiently detailing his laborious recording techniques and explaining the different strategy he used for recording Third Stage. It's difficult to differentiate where Tom Scholz the musician ends and Tom Scholz the engineer/inventor begins. In 1981, he formed SR&D (Scholz Research & Development) and invented and marketed the Rockman, a guitar amp "the size of a peanut butter sandwich." What started as a novelty evolved into a staple piece of equipment for many of the world's top guitarists. Its application in the rock world has gone from practicing and composing to actual inboard studio use. More recently, SR&D successfully marketed the Rockman Modular Amplifier, which Scholz describes as a "high-tech version of a guitar amp" capable of onstage stereo effects and 32 selectable sounds. The future of Boston as a performing/touring entity was our first question.

A DOWN-TO-EARTH

by Keith Zimmerman

KZ: I was surprised to hear talk about Boston touring on the new album.

TS: Well that's all it is at this point (laughs). We are talking about it. I'm confident that we can put on the show and do it technically, but I got hurt playing basketball pretty bad last year. You'd have to call it a flagrant foul—somebody decided to stop me from scoring the only way they knew how and I ended up with an injured disc. I'm playing basketball again, but the twelve-hour days it takes to put in on a tour is a horse of a different color. It's still up in the air, depending on how my own recovery goes.

KZ: Were you satisfied with the last tours you did, back when the first two albums were out?

TS: I might as well be honest—it was so long ago, who cares?—I was very happy from the standpoint of the production and audience reaction. I listened to the tapes of the shows afterwards and I was less than delighted with the level of confidence of onstage musicianship, myself included. I think we were doing the music justice in the halls we were playing, but it wasn't what I was looking for. Frankly, to do Third Stage live, we're going to have to be a step above that. I'd love the chance to perform the album complete onstage. It's a challenge for me.

KZ: Do you have a set of players to do it the way you want it?

TS: We haven't chosen who the live players would be. Certainly Gary Pihl would fill one of the guitar slots. We got very lucky there. When Sammy Hagar left his band to join Van Halen, we grabbed him as soon as we found out. He would also take an enormous technical load off me. Gary helps me out with the line of Rockman products we've been developing.

KZ: We spoke to John Fogerty just before he put out Centerfield. He was scared that his music would sound obsolete. Did you feel that way prior to releasing Third Stage?

TS: I had no way of knowing what current music sounded like because I literally hadn't listened to any, for years. I would hear something once in a while if somebody brought a blaster to the outdoor basketball court. Outside of that, I didn't listen, for various reasons. I didn't want to be influenced in any way by what anyone else was doing. I was certainly well into the middle of this thing by 1981. I liked the way I was going and I didn't want to have anything else enter into it at all. If everyone said, "What you're doing—nobody's bought that for years," I really don't think I would have cared. It wouldn't have stopped me from finishing it. People do change their tastes, but the changes are not that dramatic after a certain age. I was happy to see Third Stage well accepted by teenagers because I wasn't sure what kind of acceptance we were going to get from them. Somebody who is sixteen this year was eight when the last album came out (laughs). Boston was literally starting from scratch with a large segment of the audience.

IRON

KZ: Did you ever experience writer's block during the six years making Third Stage?

TS: I have writer's block every day of my life (laughs). I don't know how you guys do it on a schedule and survive. I'd starve if I had to do an every-week thing. I'm always amazed by writers with publications who manage to meet deadlines and get it done on time. I've never been much at creating on schedule.

KZ: You have a reputation for being such a technically-minded person, yet you shy away from a lot of the Midi-computer-synthesizer aspects of music.

TS: It is ironic. I've often thought how ironic it is that if I hadn't invented a Rockman, I'd probably be the last musician on earth to try one (laughs). I think that comes from being in engineering for a while. I'm very skeptical about anything that has the tag of innovative or new. I think there's good justification for that. Many, many companies have roomfuls of engineers that just keep pumping out stuff that you really wouldn't want to have in your home or office because it's not well thought out. I do think that if I heard a Rockman at this point, that I would own one (laughs).

KZ: Could you explain some of your electronic innovations, like the Rockman?

TS: The things that would interest your readers the most would be the music-related stuff. I did have a patent-applied-for on a portable house motor once, but you probably don't want to hear about that (laughs). Most of these musical instrument devices are outgrowths of things I've learned over the years about the art of getting a sound out of an instrument. They tend to be centered around guitar equipment because that's my primary interest. The Rockman is a culmination of things I've learned over a twelve- or fifteen-year period, packed into a little box with most of the adjustable controls removed so that when you pick it up, you get a basic good guitar sound on the average guitar. It's intentionally non-adjustable so that the price would be low. Also, if you knew exactly what was inside of it in terms of the number of filters and compression stages, you'd be lost. I would be lost. It took a long time before I even got the ballpark ideas of how to tune things in. When I was happy with the overall sound of the Rockman X100 portable, I went on to what I needed--a more adjustable form of the same thing. There are adjustments that should be made available so that it works with everybody's guitar and you can make changes to taste. We call them Rockman Modules. They're rack-mountable little boxes, and foot-switchable for onstage. I used them for most of the album and was real happy with it. I don't even want to think about how long it would have taken for me to do that record if I hadn't had them.

KZ: What other new devices are you working on? Can you give us a preview of what's on the drawing board?

TS: I can't with a lot of them. The Japanese competition is so fierce, we were hounded when we came out with the Rockman. Instantly, six copies--all from overseas--appeared on the market within months. They're very, very fast. In anything we do now, we have to be careful not to talk about it too much. When we go to one of those equipment conventions, we don't send anything until we are ready to go into production. They show up with their cameras, get the brochures, and the next thing you know, they're making it before you. Overseas competition is frightening when they adapt American ideas to their manufacturing concepts.

KZ: So you're not at liberty to discuss any other new products?

TS: We built something I've called an Octopus, which lets you switch a whole bunch of devices with just one foot so that you can change sounds drastically for your keyboard or guitar with punching pedals on fourteen different floor effects. That was a necessary item in order to do Third Stage because there were some extreme changes on the guitar sounds during the course of a song. Doing that onstage would require doing lots of changes all of a sudden. This device allows you to push one button and change a whole bunch of settings on different equipment at one time. You preset ahead of time how you want everything to change when you hit a button. Years ago, I had a very crude rendition of it that I made from parts out of the junk barrel at Polaroid that I used in clubs. Somehow I found myself touring the world using the same device built from thrown-away parts. One of the big things in designing the Octopus was to make it ultra-reliable. I knew I was possibly going to use this device in front of a hundred thousand people, day after day. Believe me, I've had enough of those things lose their data and die, and just start blinking their lights. Can you imagine that happening on stage in front of a lot of people? The trick was to design it with no microprocessor. In fact, there's not a lot of electronics in it. It's mostly a mechanical system. Believe it or not, it's like the theory of designing airplanes. Things will work even when most of the electrons stop going.

KZ: What do you think is the reason you're so active in inventing and marketing these products? Is it entrepreneurial or what?

TS: I don't really know. I liked engineering long before I went to school and became an engineer. I've always built things. I like having an idea about how to do something that hasn't been done before, and making it work. Incidentally, I have lots of ideas that don't work (laughs). I'm not in it to make money for myself. That would be obvious if you saw my car. That's as much fun to me as playing or recording music.

KZ: Is it a break away from recording?

TS: It very definitely is. Just before Boston broke I was working at Polaroid. When I left, I kept working on ideas on the road and on planes. It's been an ongoing thing. I started Scholz Research & Development in 1981 so that I would have a job to go to when I wasn't working in the studio. I started SR&D specifically to give me a place to go in the morning. I could do some engineering work and then I could leave early and nobody would yell at me. When I went to the studio to work on music it wasn't like I was going there to do my job. I was going there to play music. It was very crucial to have Third Stage done for the music and artistic endeavor. The other thing that helped was basketball! (laughs) I didn't want to think of music as work. I did that on the second album. That was exclusively what I did and I approached it like a job. I don't know. Maybe if I had time to finish that album the way that I'd liked, I would have been happy with it. As it came out, I was happy with the first side, not with the second side.

KZ: You feel the second Boston album was an unfinished album?

TS: That's exactly what it was. It was literally pulled out of my hands before I was done with it.

KZ: Brad was telling me about the precise way he would have to do vocal tracks. He would redo his parts almost exactly and just change one note.

TS: That's right. Brad worked on the vocal tracks very much the way I work on the other instruments. We don't know exactly how the song goes when he comes down to do it. When I pick up a guitar, I don't know how the part goes. I'm sitting there, and the tape deck is the rest of the band. I push the play button and they start. It's the same situation with vocals. I will have lyrics laid out with a melody line and/or a few different ideas, then we'll start in. Sometimes what we do right off the bat sounds great, and the very first time we get a line when the feel is right, that line is never changed or erased. That exact performance is the one that goes on the master. We work on a copy. When a track is done, say, on a verse that has the magic that we're looking for, that's dubbed back onto the master. It's not a matter of figuring out what the melody is going to be or what the harmony parts are going to be and then studying it and performing it. All those intermediate steps are removed. The parts were very studied. They were extemporaneous in the sense that we thought of them once. But when we had them, we'd practice them, perform them and lay them down on a master. It's ironic. When people talk about Third Stage, I say, "I don't know how I played that lead. I did it one day in the basement and went on to something else." The performances on Third Stage are, by and large, first-time. The exceptions were drum tracks, which were what you needed to start with to put all the other parts on.

KZ: And Brad works with you the same way?

TS: Brad would come in and sing a line. I'd say, "That line sounds great except the tag is all wrong at the end." Then we'd go back and he would sing exactly the same line and put a different tag on the end. We'd do it ten different ways. The phenomenal thing about Brad is that the musical grasp he has is instantaneous. I could croak out a melody line an octave or two below in a barely discernable pitch—I'm not a great singer—and he could repeat exactly over and over again. He would double up parts to go into the real dramatic stereo harmony things. He would sing four different harmony parts in a section of a song and then we would move on to another verse. Then we would go back and decide to change one of the harmony parts somewhere in the middle. He wouldn't even have to listen to it. I would just say, "It's the second one above the fundamental," and he would sing it as if he was doing it every day of his life! An amazing grasp of music! He's there to try all different things and he has real good ideas of his own. That's why his name shows up as co-author all over the place.

"During the course of the last six years, when I wasn't in the frame of mind to be optimistic or inspirational, I would do more mechanical things. I had to specifically cut myself away from working on music."

"I was happy to see Third Stage well accepted by teenagers. Somebody who is sixteen this year was eight when the last album came out."

KZ: A bit of the Boston myth is debunked here. Some of us had this image of you doing the parts on Third Stage over and over again.

TS: It still is a matter of doing it over and over. But the difference on the first album is that there was this kind of drudgery of trying to reproduce a part that you did once before on a so-called master. A lot of times you lost what made it feel so good in the first place in that transition. There was probably more playing done on each part on Third Stage than on either of the first two records. This time I allowed myself carte blanche at experimenting. If I had an idea, I was determined to carry it through and see what it sounded like. I did many, many things where I'd play a whole lead section and change chords underneath it, actually restructure the song. Then I'd throw the whole thing away and start on another one. There was an enormous time spent just trying out musical ideas. You think you have an idea how the song goes. Then you try some lead parts and a little singing and you realize the chorus is in the wrong place and the lead into the solo doesn't do anything for the song. After all these problems, you literally have to rearrange the song. There was an enormous amount of effort that just went into the wastebasket. I think the reason it took six years, outside of the uncontrollable events, was the fact that there were so many things tried. Entire songs that took months were thrown away. One person primarily had to do it, and you can only do one thing at a time, with the exception of the vocals. But the vocals can't be worked on while something else is being worked on, because I had to be there for the production and engineering part of the vocals. Having one guy involved at every step, in every single thing really slows it down. On the other hand, I can't imagine any other way to do it. I'm glad I can't sing. It would have taken longer (laughs).

KZ: Today we have Tears For Fears and Wang Chung--two players in a studio who call themselves a band. Was Boston way ahead of that concept?

TS: It was never what I had started out to do. My object was just to be a guitar player in a band and hopefully do well enough at that so I could do it for a living instead of working nine to five. It never worked out that way. In order to make it happen, I had to do more and more things. The songs weren't available anywhere else. I had to write them. It was one thing after another until it ended up being this way, Brad on vocals and me handling the rest. I have a hunch that there's a lot of bands that fall into that same category and we don't know that much about them. You mentioned John Fogerty (with Creedence Clearwater). That was obviously the same type of a situation. In those circumstances, where you're looking for creativity, it's almost hard for me to imagine how it could come from a committee of people. I think more often than not, it might come from a core within a group. In any case, there was no doubt this one did not start as a band but as a studio effort. From day one, it was Jim Masdea laying down the drum tracks. Back in those days, he did help me some with the arrangements. It was he and I alone laying down a drum track and then me working for days or weeks laying down various instrument tracks until I was happy with the sound of the arrangement, then Brad coming down to do the vocals. Even back then, for instance on the six tapes that eventually landed the Boston deal, Brad never knew who played on the tapes he was singing. I never discussed it with him. He didn't know that I had played every part, but there was no need to ask. Jim had no idea really what the song was going to sound like when he played the drums to it until he heard it months and months later. That's the way it always was. We stuck to that pretty much, but didn't make a big public deal about it on the first and second records. I thought it was a liability, to tell you the truth. Back in those days, I thought people would not understand the concept of individuals making music outside the context of a band. I thought the public would not understand. Now I don't think that's true. Now there's less magic associated with how music gets onto a disc. (Editor's note: A few days after the interview, Scholz called back to credit former band member Barry Goudreau with some lead guitar arrangements on the early Boston tracks "Long Time," "Used To Bad News" and "Let Me Take You Home Tonight.")

KZ: What do you think of the fact that Third Stage has sold

"On the six tapes that eventually landed the Boston deal, Brad never knew who played on the tapes he was singing. I never discussed it with him."

"This time I allowed myself carte blanche at experimenting. If I had an idea, I was determined to carry it through and see what it sounded like."

extremely well on Compact Disc?

TS: I definitely take that as a compliment. People who buy CDs are usually buying something for very high performance systems. There's not too many other reasons to pay the money. I'm sure having something that won't scratch is nice, but I think they buy it for frequency response and a few other things. That's a big compliment.

KZ: Each of the three albums have a cornerstone song that touches you emotionally. Don't Look Back was an inspirational song to me if I ever felt down or overworked. Is that your formula, getting that basic emotional response?

TS: If it was a formula, I'd put it into a computer and get the songs spit out a lot faster! It's very deliberate, but it doesn't come easy. I absolutely refuse to put something on a record that's anything other than an attempt to be inspirational. I'm certainly not going to claim that I succeed at that all the time, but it's very much what I want to do. I keep trying and every now and then I come up with something that works. During the course of the last six years, when I wasn't in the frame of mind to be optimistic or inspirational, I would do more mechanical things like mixing or working on a sound. I had to specifically cut myself away from working on anything that was intrinsic to the music or the feeling of it. I'm glad you felt that way about some of those songs. ●

BOSTON'S UNMISTAKABLE VOICE VOCALIST BRAD DELP TALKS ABOUT THE SIX YEARS OF MAKING "THE THIRD STAGE"

KZ: A lot of musicians worry about being out of the public eye. Has it worried you?

BD: In all this time, quite honestly, it never occurred to me. It certainly wasn't a worry. I didn't think in terms of having to have a product out or having somebody remember this. Creating the music for all three of the albums was more of a personal experience. It was more important for us to have things be completed the way we wanted than to have it out on any given schedule. We were certainly conscious that people were waiting for it.

KZ: Were you scared when Third Stage came out after a six-year gap?

BD: I don't think I was ever scared about it. A bootleg of "Amanda" got released two or three years before the record came out. At first we thought that was going to be disastrous, but in a backhanded way, it turned out to have a somewhat positive effect. We found that, on every station that had managed to get a hold of it, it was the top requested song. It was the last thing we would have planned to do, and I don't know how it ever got out to people. MCA certainly made sure it didn't stay out long. If we had any fears about being accepted, I think that sort of relieved them.

KZ: Do you know where it was played?

BD: I know it was played in Tucson, Florida and in South Carolina. I heard it myself in Boston on the radio. Someone told me it was out here in Los Angeles as well. We had completed "Amanda," but it wasn't the finished mix. It was pretty close to the finished mix.

KZ: Do you remember the early stages of "Amanda"?

BD: My recollection is that we had about two or three versions of that song. I remember writing one at my house. Tom had given me the same changes that are in the existing song. I wrote a whole different set of lyrics and brought that in. At that time, he was working on another set himself. We sifted through those and decided which things fit the best.

KZ: What kind of reaction did you get from people on the street during that six-year period of no Boston record?

BD: Most people didn't know. I live fairly quietly up in New Hampshire. Kids around know, I guess. I pretty much go where I want anonymously. Most people that do know are pretty supportive about it. When I first moved up to New Hampshire after getting off the road on the last tour, a lot of people would come up and say, "When's the record coming out?" I had a checking account at a local bank up there and I'd say, "Well, gee. It should be out next year." Then time would go by and they would kind of look at me. It got to where I'd get a little inhibited about going to the bank because I knew what they were going to ask. I would go to the drive-up and shield my face with a hat or something.

KZ: What happened when you finally brought in the finished product to MCA?

BD: We hand-delivered it. We came out to L.A. specifically for that because we thought that they were particularly good about the whole thing. We've been signed to them for two years now. They were very patient. They said, "When it's finished, bring it in." There was never any pressure. We actually didn't tell them when it was completed. We flew out to Los Angeles unannounced.

KZ: Who did you hand it to?

BD: Mr. Azoff. We had set up a fictitious meeting for him with one of his staff so that we knew that he would be there. Then we just came in and he had no idea we were coming. He was a pretty happy guy at the time. ●

BIO FEEDBACK

by RON FELL

PHIL COLLINS

He'll be portraying Great Train Robber "Buster" Edwards in an upcoming film called "Buster."

BONNIE RAITT

Her father, John Raitt, starred in many Broadway musicals, including "Pajama Game" and "Carousel."

BEASTIE BOYS

Their first album, "Licensed to Ill," is the fastest-selling debut album in Columbia Records history.

BEN E. KING

He will close the show on this year's Grammy telecast by leading an all-star performance of "Stand By Me."

BUNNY DeBARGE

She is the eldest of the DeBarge siblings.

KRIS KRISTOFFERSON

As a songwriter in Nashville during the late 60s, Kris had two hits--"Sunday Morning Coming Down" (Johnny Cash) and "Me & Bobby McGee" (Roger Miller and later Janis Joplin).

BILLY VERA

He had a hit with a Bobby Goldsboro song "With Pen In Hand" back in the late 60s.

JOHNNY CASH

He's filming a made-for-TV remake of the John Wayne classic, "The Angel and The Badman."

PET SHOP BOYS

Their next album will feature tracks produced by Cameo's Larry Blackmon and a guest appearance by Dusty Springfield.

EXPOSE

In 1985, (Ann Curless (left), Jeannette Jurado (middle) and Gioia Bruno), had their first 12-inch single, "Point Of No Return," which reached the #1 spot on the dance charts and then it went on to be named "Dance Record Of The Year" at the National Dance Music Awards.

MADONNA

Her next movie, "Slammer," will cast lady Madonna as a girl on the streets of Manhattan with a pet cougar. Jamie Foley, who directed Madonna's videos for "Papa Don't Preach" and "Live To Tell," will direct the film.

THE CANNONS

Larry Cannon practices law in Nashville as well as performing and recording with his twin sisters.

LOU GRAMM

Though still a Foreigner, Lou is a native of Rochester, New York.

RAY CHARLES

He'll perform at the closing dinner of this year's National Association of Broadcasters convention in Dallas on March 31st.

KEITH WHITLEY

Keith and Lori Moran, his wife, will do at least one duet on his next album.

MADHOUSE

Leader Eric Leeds was the saxophone player in Prince's band, The Revolution.

ROBBIE NEVIL

He's co-written songs for Al Jarreau, The Pointers and Sheena Easton.

NANCI GRIFFITH

She graduated from the University of Texas as an education major, and taught kindergarten and first grade for two years.

BILLY JOEL

At one time he was an amateur boxer with twenty-two wins out of twenty-eight fights to his credit.

The Hidden AGENDA

In scanning the agenda for the upcoming Gavin Seminar for Medium Professionals, we, your comprehensive Hollywood column, have noted that certain meetings, conclaves, discussion groups and other activities were inadvertently omitted. You've read about the various format breakouts, the Super Bowl of Rock Trivia (which should be more interesting than the real Super Bowl with all those nose guards and tight ends), the Grand Cocktail Bash and the Awards Luncheon. You're all aware of the fact that Larry King--and not a tape of Larry King--will be delivering the Keynote Address (does anyone know what a Keynote Address is?), and you're prepared to chortle, giggle and snicker at the bon mots of Gary Owens, who will be hosting the big luncheon with hand attached to ear.

What you might NOT have heard about are the following scheduled activities:

HEAVY METAL & ALTERNATIVE IN-DEPTH RAP SESSION & GRILL

There's not even a chance that Wynonna Judd will be present at this ambitious concert/session to be hosted by Gavin's golden ears, Kent and/or Keith Zimmerman. Metal groups TENDER DRILLBIT, BRAINSCAN and JELLO-MOLD MOTHER will perform in a no-safety-pins-barred super jam session, followed by questions from any members of the audience who still possess powers of articulation. DRILLBIT lead head-banger Johnny Death will MC the open-end rap. Gerbil canapes and Type O Bloody Marys will be served to the assemblage. Attendees Walt Pinto, Pat & Linda McCoy and someone who knows Kerry Jackson have their reservations in.

THE LOU GALLIANI BABY SEMINAR

Gavin's beloved Lou and his lovely wife, Tina, will conduct a question & answer info session, giving you all the data you'll ever need about raising a toddler. Polyester diapering, teaching a nine-month-old how to behave at business lunches with Mike Schaefer, and pacing the floor at 3 a.m. while the kid is waiting for a daiquiri are only part of this Donohue-like self-help panel. Although Lou disagrees, we feel that those of you who are parents could use the Galliani's common-sense input, gathered by experience and extensive meetings with Dr. Spock, Dr. John and Julian Lennon. Mother's milk and sushi (blended) will be served.

ELMA'S MAKEOVER

WPIX's Wendy Silvershein, WSNi's Stephanie Barsamian, KOST's Liz Kiley and KHOW's Dee Ann Metzger are but a small sample of the A/C music directors who have signed up for Ms. Greer's clothing & makeup transformation class. Anticipating that many of the softer music ladies may be switching to the alternative rock format in the future, Elma has assembled work kits containing plaid hair coloring, mismatched and/or torn hosiery, shredded silk mini-skirts and leather sweat togs. Wendy O. Williams and Helen Reddy will co-chair this meeting.

SUPERSTAR 10K RUN

Fitness freaks Danny Davis, Dave Sholin and Michael (KWAV) Reading are the innovators and guiding forces behind this Sunday a.m. activity. Surmising that many of you will be wasted from three info-packed days of chatting with Eric Norberg about signal transmission, Danny and Michael have planned this jog through the City By the Bay. Participants should gather in the lobby bar at 6 a.m., where they will be served screwdrivers--REAL screwdrivers, donated by Mr. Goodwrench. After exchanging pleasantries, you'll be asked to run through town, up and down hills the likes of which have never been seen in Yankton. As angina attacks take their toll, our team of Gavin nurses, led by Diane Rufer and Lisa "Mouth-to-Mouth Resuscitation" Smith, will run mint-flavored smelling salts under your nose while reciting old Dr. Oren Harari columns.

OLDIE/GOLDIE FORMAT BREAKOUT/BREAKDOWN

Gavin's Dave Sholin and Music Group's Marty Wekser will chair a session designed to bring expert advice to those of you just getting into this sure-fire ratings grabber. Shole-Man and Weks-Guy (once music director of Gotham's legendary WWRL), will tell you how to daypart each of the only nine records used in this format, including Bobby Day's "Rockin' Robin" and "Hang On Sloopy" by the McCoys. This session was a big hit the last time it was presented, at the 1967 Las Vegas Riviera Gavin Conference, where the main items of discussion were also "Rockin' Robin" and "Hang On Sloopy". Refreshments will consist of egg creams, gefilte fish and Screaming Yellow Zonkers.

TAKING GENE SANDBLOOM TO LUNCH: WHEN, WHERE, AND HOW MUCH?

Many Top 40 promotion persons have asked for a seminar covering this complicated problem. Does one bring KIIS-FM's Gene to trendy French chalets where the daily special is goat cheese on radicchio and kiwi quiche in raspberry vinaigrette? Or does one opt for upscale burgers at the Hard Rock Cafe? A get-down repast at the House of McNuggets? How about bringing IN food, so the Gene-guy can listen to his Beastie Boys CD in the privacy of his office? The possibilities are endless, and an expert panel of West Coast promo people will toss around the options. Warner's Chris Crist, Capitol's Susan Epstein and Columbia's Bob Garland are among the early confirmations. Speaking of confirmations, we're also confirmed, as we may have noted previously, at the San Francisco Mission District YMCA. We'll be arriving Friday via Challenger Limos, the OFFICIAL limo service of the Gavin Seminar. Check for us in the bar. We'll be the one with the rose in our teeth and the scotch in our mouth. ●

TIPS ON ATTAINING GOALS

In the last two columns I've talked about goals--why they're so important and how they differ from "desires." Now we're going to consider the really tough part: getting those goals accomplished. There's no magic technique, I'm afraid. Often what separates those who achieve goals from those who fail is simply brute persistence. However, I can share with you a few tips that may make the difference as to whether or not you are one of the achievers.

1. As I discussed at length in my last column, make sure your goals are specific, verifiable, time-phased and challenging but realistic. The reason is to provide you with a clear, concrete standard, a benchmark of achievement, rather than a vague wish or desire. Hence, the desire to "get in better shape" can be translated into the goal of "taking part in some form of physical exercise for a half-hour every day."

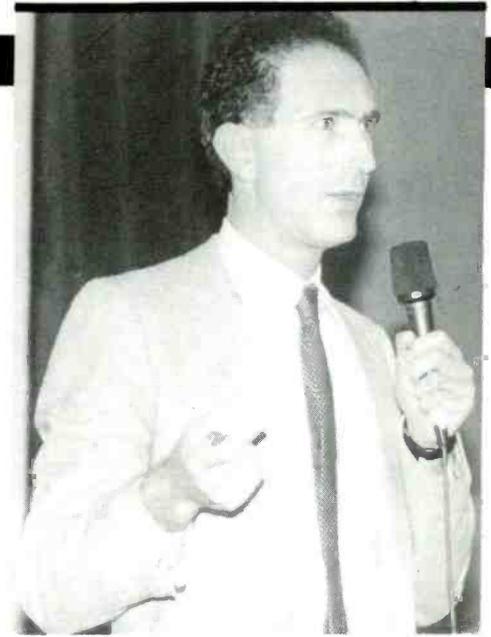

2. I am convinced the secret of success in goal attainment is "chunking"--breaking down the goal into little steps that can be accomplished every day. The important thing is to do something, however small, that gets you closer to your goal. Suppose your goal is "to increase market share 12 percent within six months." The next thing to do is determine which particular little actions you need to take every day to get closer to that goal. I emphasize the words "little" and "small." If you always swing for the fences, you're bound to get a lot of strike-outs. Instead of home runs, try for bunts and singles, with an occasional double. Therefore, to get that 12 percent increase, plan to do something every day--meet with sales reps, write to a supplier, conduct a focus group with customers, hold a conference with fellow managers--which concentrates on that goal. Nothing is too small--make a phone call, read a magazine article, talk up the goal with subordinates over lunch or send a short thank-you note to a staff member who comes up with a good idea. The trick is to do something consistently. Now imagine what happens when you're chunking, and everyone else in your department is chunking, and all those little action steps are focused on that 12 percent increase in market share. Your department is more likely to attain your goal than a department that delegates the goal to a committee which meets periodically and ultimately generates a big report that few people will read anyway.

3. Anticipate future obstacles or "blocks" to your goal. The obstacle may be yourself, other people or practices within your organization. For example, have you developed any personal habits that might make it difficult for you to exercise a half-hour every day? Are there certain outdated policies in your organization that would make it difficult for you to court customers aggressively in order to achieve that 12 percent market share increase? The point is not to give up on your goal, but to be aware of the forces around (and within) you, and then work to ensure that those forces don't sabotage your goal. In the examples above, you may need to change certain habits or policies before you can seriously expect to achieve your goals.

4. As long as you're going to be aware of the forces around you, don't ignore the positive forces. We often fail to notice potential sources of help all around us. Colleagues, employees, friends, acquaintances and family may all provide us with information, experience, advice, time, effort, material, money or just plain emotional support. Whether the goal is losing weight or increasing market share, we are more likely to achieve it if we plan for potential sources of help, and if we're constantly alert to noticing possible sources of help. It may very well be that the security guard in your building succeeded in losing 40 pounds last year, or has a brother whose company increased its market share by 20 percent--but you'll miss out on that valuable information if you're not looking for it.

These four tips won't guarantee that you'll achieve your goals, but they'll increase the probability of success. So start specifying, start chunking, and start anticipating. That and a bit of brute persistence is all you'll need. Good luck!●

"If you always swing for the fences, you're bound to get a lot of strike-outs. Instead of home runs, try for bunts and singles, with an occasional double."

BITS AND PIECES

Last September, I did a column on classic call letters, and invited comments. I got one immediately from Robb Westaby, program director at WMBD-Peoria, IL--and have been waiting for more ever since! Now that I have concluded that there are to be no more with which to make a second column, I do want to at least print Robb's letter, and again invite more. Call letters are the brand names of the product we create--and there's a lot of history there. So I renew my invitation to contribute to another future column on the subject.

Robb wrote: "I have two stories. First, for whatever reason, Theodore Roosevelt was touring central Illinois, which features some pretty bluffs overlooking the Illinois River. He was being driven along a road named Grand View Drive--featuring the ritziest real estate in the area, for reasons best described by the name of the street--when he is said to have proclaimed that what he was seeing was 'The World's Most Beautiful Drive.' All this, remember, when radio was still just figuring out what the international standard distress code should be! But someone remembered the phrase when Peoria's first radio station was due on the air in 1927, and the rest of the story you will find on the letterhead of my radio station."

Teddy Roosevelt was eminently quotable because of his expansive habit of enthusiastically overstating his emotions. Many people know he was drinking a custom blend of coffee at the Maxwell House restaurant when he proclaimed it "good to the last drop." The restaurant was able to capitalize rather enduringly on that pronouncement, too!

Robb's second story: "I used to work at WOWO-Ft. Wayne, Indiana. That city's residents believe that the call letters mean "Wayne Offers Wonderful Opportunities." But the truth is that they mean nothing--they just sounded good to the founding father back in the twenties. It was some time in the forties when the station ran a contest to find the best phrase using the call letters. That was the winning phrase, so the contest created the tradition. And we all know that perceptions last a long, long time!

"And then there was WIND-Chicago, which so many believe stood for Windy City, but which actually stood for INDIana, since the original city of license--and still the transmitter site--is Gary, Indiana."

Thanks to Robb Westaby of WMBD, and I hope he jogs others to bring us tidbits of call-letter history.

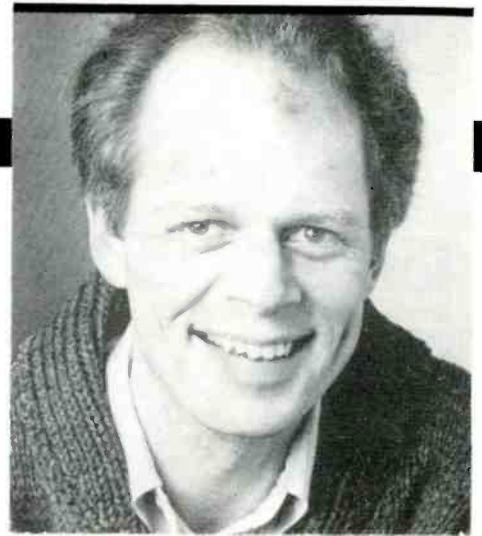

As language evolves, words change their meaning, and it would be interesting to know if any other station has found itself in the same fix as a station in Salem, Oregon. It was the first Country music station in the state, and still the longest in the format. When it started out, it wanted a word meaning "cheerful, happy, carefree," so KGAY seemed a good choice. By 1986, the station was grimly sticking to the call letters simply because they were familiar in the marketplace. But the station finally bit the bullet and changed its name. It's KYKN now.

As an interesting sidelight, Salem may have had two unique radio distinctions. As far as I can tell, this market of 250,000 may be the largest in the country with only one FM channel assigned to it by the FCC, and it may have also been the largest distinct market with no directional AM station. Until KYKN installed two more towers last year and went fulltime with a directional nighttime signal, none of Salem's six AM stations--four of them already fulltime--was directional. One was started in the late thirties, nondirectional fulltime from the start; one was Class IV; one was granted fulltime in the breakdown of the clear channels several years ago and was able to operate fulltime at night; and one got fulltime last year by being on a Canadian clear channel, being granted a bit over 100 watts for nighttime operation. And there were two nondirectional daytimers. Now there's one of those.

Speaking of daytimers, the FCC in December announced a freeze on new applications for daytime AM stations, apparently with an eye to eliminating the category eventually. This raises interesting questions about what the FCC may contemplate as a solution for the remaining daytime stations. Some have been granted at least nominal fulltime status on Canadian clear channels with low power; others have added odd power levels for fulltime, installed directional antenna systems and changed to a usable fulltime frequency. But a lot of daytimers still have no prospect of fulltime broadcasting, and, as long as the FCC was authorizing new ones, there seemed no commitment to eliminating the old ones. The cutoff suggests that such a commitment may be in the offing.

After 1990, a new section of the AM band will open up: 1610 to 1700kHz. There has been considerable discussion about daytimers getting the preference for those new frequencies, with daytime power up to 10 kw. But nighttime power will have to be restricted if even a substantial percentage of the daytimers are to be accommodated on the ten new channels--and, of course, other Western Hemisphere nations have an interest in making use of those channels, too. So far, neither the FCC nor Congress has mandated that receiver manufacturers incorporate the new frequencies--and no manufacturer has made a point of doing so voluntarily. That means there will be a period of time when the potential audience for those stations will be limited. So there is a strong possibility that daytimers moving to the new frequencies will be allowed to remain--daytime only--on their former frequencies for an extended period of time, while simulcasting on the new band. (This will not be cheap, since it will require two transmitters and either a second transmission system or a diplex network to allow both transmitters to use the same tower.)

"The FCC in December announced a freeze on new applications for daytime AM stations, apparently with an eye to eliminating the category eventually."

One daytimer has filed a petition with the FCC requesting that a few megacycles just above television channel 13 be reallocated for a second FM band, on which daytimers would be allowed to operate fulltime with lower power than the regular FM band permits. Coverage would be limited further by the propagation characteristics of the higher frequencies, so the petition requests simultaneous daytime AM/fulltime FM operation for an extended period of time--after which each station would have to sign off the daytime AM frequency permanently. Apparently the FM band in question is virtually unused in the United States, and the petitioner suggests that this would be a means of disposing of the daytime station category and improving the remaining AM fulltime service by reducing interference on the AM band. An interesting, if ambitious, idea. ●

GAVIN ALBUM FRONTLINE

LOS LOBOS

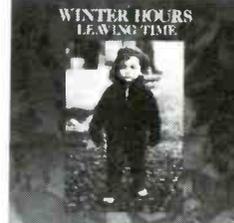

JULIAN COPE

LOU GRAMM

HUSKER DU

WINTER HOURS

PSYCHEDELIC FURS

CHRIS ISAAK

Chris Isaak (Warner Bros.)

A year in the making and even longer in the waiting, Chris Isaak's new LP is one of the jewels of our format (alongside Los Lobos, that is). Simply titled "Chris Isaak," this is one helluva follow-up to 1985's swampy classic debut, Silverstone. Chris and his gang took their sweet time piecing this one together and the TLC shows. It is a brilliant collection of songs and moods. Chris' nightbreak groove is sustained and glorified with a streak of marvelous material. Without knowing (or caring) what the push track is, here are my faves: side two's "Wild Love" is a step-sister to "Radar Love." It must be that bassline. Then there's "Fade Away," "You Owe Me Some Kind Of Love" and a San Francisco Isaak chestnut, "Blue Hotel." Yardbird fans will respect his sincere cover of "Heartful Of Soul." The remaining trax are ballad groove songs that bolster the Isaak mystique. I don't hear one fill track. Isaak has been rejecting lucrative movie roles to finish this baby. This is truly dangerous hoodoo music. Under its spell, who's really safe? Everytime I put this record on, the moon gets full.

Peter come as you are Wolf you are

"Come As You Are"-Peter Wolf (EMI America)

After paying homage to some acquired Roxbury roots, Peter Wolf cranks back the guitar to full volume. This is rock n roll, but it's still party music. Peter Wolf and E.T. Thorngren (whose knob work helped Robert Palmer) get it down crisp and tight. It's a house party at 2:43. You can't beat that.

Over The Top Soundtrack (Columbia)

If it's big, Sylvester Stallone's involved. The soundtrack from his new movie is a collection of contemporary Album Radio rock. Besides the Hagar/Moroder/Van Halen track, expect airplay reports on Asia's "Gypsy Soul" and Eddie Money's "I Will Be Strong," an apt theme for an arm wrestling flick. Now will this huge mound on the front cover turn Sly's rotator cuff to hamburger? You can let me know.

SANTANA

Freedom-Santana (Columbia)

Ever notice that an album sounds better than three minutes yanked out of context from a body of songs? Case in point is Santana's "Freedom". Maybe it's a matter of having more information, but "Veracruz" (with some wicked bass work by Alphonso Johnson) sounds much more interesting as the opening track to an album. Besides Johnson, the rest of Santana's band maintains the highest standards of free expression and discipline. Especially significant is the return of the mad Maltese keyboardist Tom Coster. On "Freedom," Carlos continues to discover the value of technology enhancing his brand of multi-ethnic firepower. The album, sonically, sounds like a million bucks. Now tell me, isn't that Buddy Guy singing right next to Buddy Miles' voice on "Veracruz"?

LITTLE AMERICA

"Walk On Fire"-Little America (Geffen)

I won't bore you with some corny life story, but when Joe, my father, drove us all west in a '55 Chevy, all the across the country were signs: 2500 MILES TO LITTLE AMERICA, 1550 MILES TO LITTLE AMERICA, 2 MILES TO LITTLE AMERICA. Up to now, Little America was either an outpost in the South Pole or a station in Wyoming with 1000 gas pumps. Now it's a band. This song grew on us all week. It's a pounder and its hook is its simplicity.

Midnight To Midnight-Psychedelic Furs (Columbia)

Once you venture past the single, you begin to notice even more what a fine band the Furs have evolved into. I'm especially partial to the rockin' side of this album. Trax like "Shadow In My Heart," "Angel Don't Cry," "Midnight To Midnight" and "All Of The Law" testify to the resiliency of the band, who, by the way, are getting quite huge in this country. The Furs stand firm in returning the saxophone to their sound. For my money, "Shadow In My Heart" is an Album Radio natural.

"Dear God"-XTC (Geffen)

Oops. Although it does deal loosely with religion and politics (naughty, naughty), the coolest song culled from XTC's Skylarking sessions was left off the LP by producer Todd Rundgren. After pulling number one phones at KROQ and 91X, "Dear God" is being specially serviced on a multi-play EP. Next the song will be repressed onto the album, side one, cut one. That's a quite a graduation--from import B-side to prime cut. Two additional notes: this 12 inch spins at 45 RPM and contains three more tracks, including "Earn Enough For Us."

Charles Brown wears a blues ballad like Humphrey Bogart lit cigarettes-- perfectly. One More For The Road was this week's secret treat. The opening track, "I Cried Last Night" lays down the cards. Here's a voice that's seen and felt it all. He's a contemporary of Nat King Cole and Ray Charles with equal the soul. What you get on this record is the bare essentials, the bottom line--a swinging, bluesy set of high standards. This is one of Elvis Costello's favorite blues singers. You must hear this record and it's superfine version of "Route 66." What a voice. KZ

MY 2 CENTS

Congratulations to Los Lobos on their first number one airplay album. One point for the good guys, a truly deserving bunch. I can see them holding on to that top slot for quite a while. Barring some pending monster superstar automatic, the closest person with an outside chance of dethroning them is Lou Gramm, whose record is getting an incredible stretch of airplay on five and six trax. That's a good early sign for longevity. Now will his success and direction on the solo album influence the direction of Foreigner? Not that it matters. One of my all time favorite songs is "I Wanna Know What Love Is." World Party makes its third consecutive move upward inside the Top Five. Just below him, a few rotation points away, is Alan Parson's latest Project. Julian Cope maintains incredible strength considering what is being broadcast is but a slice of his upcoming album. Just wait until "Trampoline" gets bouncing. Another high jumper is Steve Winwood's "Finer Things" with a growth pattern of 33-27-12. Gregg Allman just took this month's biggest jump. Mr. No Angel completely bypasses the midsection of the chart, leaping 38-18. Please note a couple of lateral moves that matter. Benjamin Orr at 17, Genesis at 21 and China Crisis at 34. This week's trio of Certifieds are three veterans of the airwaves. Gregg Allman, we've already covered. Santana, as expected, stormed the chart at 25. Paul Simon's "Boy In The Bubble" looks like it could be the highest charted song off of the Graceland album. Other notable debuts include Over The Top at 33 and Paul Simon at 30. Crowded House's story continues to get bigger, much bigger than its 35-32 move indicates. Most Added by a country mile was Joan Jett and the Barbusters. Next came the Cutting Crew. Bob Geldof looks like he'll re-debut next week. His "Love Is Like A Rocket" is gathering steam...Four more new welcomes to the Gavin Album Section. Starting in the East is Boston adult rocker, WMRQ.

ALTERNATIVE ACTION

A rejuvenated XTC bounces back into the driver's seat behind strong airplay of the newly released single "Dear God." The The didn't lose play but they didn't gain any either, thus their drop in the chart. The Stranglers and Husker Du are both coming on very strong, as are our top ten debuts the Psychedelic Furs and Winter Hours. The Godfathers, China Crisis and Andy White are all on the march too. The Damned, our Most Added record - Siouxsie & The Banshees and the C.S. Angels share triple Certified honors. The upper-half of our chartboard is getting very competitive. Look for Hipsway and the Some Kind Of Wonderful soundtrack to debut high next week. Colin Newman is also gaining steam. It's been in the works for twelve months and now The Gavin Seminar is only days away. We've just confirmed the guests for The Cutting Edge Show. Joining host Howie

SPOTLIGHT LP

"Love's Easy Tears"-COCTEAU TWINS (4 A.D./Relativity)

The Cocteau Twins have made a mark for themselves over the past few years as one of the most dignified Alternative acts around. Instead of obvious hooks and dance beats, the Cocteau Twins draw you into their music with graceful vocals (by Elizabeth Fraser) and dreamlike instrumentation. Along with the lead track, "Love's Easy Tears," the EP includes the tender "Orange Appled," previously available only on a Melody Maker sampler 45. The flagship group for England's highly respected 4 A.D. label, the Cocteau Twins have licensed this domestic EP to Relativity Records in the States.

Pure Joy-PURE JOY (Dwindle Music)

KCMU's Faith Henschell said I'd like this local Seattle band, and she was right. Pure Joy's strong points are melodic songwriting and Rusty Willoughby's affectionate vocal demeanor. The prime cuts, "The Attempt" and "Words Conceal," blend acoustic and electric guitars with synthesizers carefully woven into the background. In the lengthy (8 minutes) "Courage," the band shows us an introspective view that may be a clue to their future. This is their debut EP and they're in the process of recording an entire album, scheduled for release later this year. Seattle's response to Winter Hours, Pure Joy are a first-round pick in our draft of new bands across the country. Call Akira for further info @ (206) 325-1437

COUNTRY SUMMARY

Randy Travis has a short stay at #1, as Steve Wariner's "Small Town Girl" makes its way to the top. George Strait's eight point leap to #5 should come as no surprise. The Bellamy Brothers' tribute to the yuppie continues to get positive reaction, moving 18-14. The Bellamys just completed some 30 and 60 second radio spots for Budweiser, so be on the lookout for them. No slowdown predicted on Highway 101 - Shane Krag reports that KCLK-Clarkston's listeners "love it" and Rick Stewart at KRAK-Sacramento is already reporting great sales in the Sacramento area. Waylon's "Rose" cracks the Top 20 - Jesse Lee at KORD-Tri-Cities has it in hot rotation after only three weeks of play, and Jim Tabor says it's "going gangbusters" at WMC-Memphis. One glance at this week's debuts gives you a good indication of the good product currently available by women. K.T.Oslin comes in at #36, and she's already showing up on quite a few stations' Most Requested lists. The Girls Next Door debut at 37. Rod Sinclair at WYGC-Gainsville says it's really "taking off", and Nate Graham at WTRS-Dunnellon dubbed in some thunder and rain sound effects at the beginning of the song, and the listeners love it. He's getting overwhelming requests for it. Nanci Griffith debuts at 39, and Tom Sleaker at KKIX-Fayetteville reports it as one of his top requests. And finally, The Trio rounds out the debuts at 40, with many programmers anxious to receive the LP. Both of our Chartbounds look like shoe-in's to chart next week. Art Jackson at KJJR-Whitefish says "Judy Rodman is hot - she's our top request." David Allen Coe is getting a lot of response wherever it's played. Greg Cole at WPOC/FM-Baltimore says it's drawing early calls - already #2 in requests.

Changes On The Country Horizon.....As you may have heard, Tim Goodman - lead singer for Southern Pacific - has left the group to pursue a solo career. His replacement is David Jenkins, former lead singer for Pablo Cruise. And Conway Twitty has returned to MCA Records. The first single is currently being released and it's titled "Julia."

On the radio front, we're pleased to announce that the newest member of the WSIX-Nashville "Morning Zoo" is Diane Richey (yes, the same Diane Richey that does record promotion.) Diane's co-host at the zoo is, of course, our hero - Crazy Eddie Edwards.

Well, the countdown is on for Gavin Seminar '87. We're looking forward to seeing many of you there. A final reminder - the Country Session will start Saturday morning at 10AM, and a continental breakfast will be provided. The Session will break at 11:30 so that we can all attend the Gavin Awards banquet, then we'll reconvene from 2-4PM. Of course we'll also be seeing you during the sessions and Celebrity Cocktail Party on Friday. Early registration starts Thursday afternoon - look for us there.

We'll miss seeing many of you at the Country Radio Seminar in Nashville. Unfortunately, there was a scheduling conflict involving hotels, and the Country Radio Seminar and the Gavin Seminar wound up being scheduled for the same weekend. Frank Mull and the folks at the Country Radio Seminar are working closely with us here at Gavin to make sure this conflict doesn't occur in the future. So next year, plan to attend both.

Talk to you (and see you) next week. Lisa & Elma

THE NIGHT SHIFT

A few months back, we dedicated this space to the morning players—or teams—in black radio. This time, we thought we'd take a look at the unheralded hitmakers who work at night. Whether the shift extends from six to ten or seven to midnight, the feeling following drivetime is different. But the need for a combination of fun and funk is still there.

Someone once linked these zany performers to legendary circus acts. They both embody qualities that are prized for generations. Even at small-market stations, they can turn into global center-ring attractions. And, like their counterparts under the big top, balance is the key to success.

FUNK FORMULA

Not so long ago, in a galaxy nearer than you might think, there was a radio station with the programming philosophy of “Belt 'em with the best boogie in town.” And they won—big! Yes, it was an up-tempo show with few, if any, ballads before ten o'clock. Just as key as the sizzling songs was the pumping patter of the DJ, who just kept rockin' and talkin'. Then there was Melvin Lindsey and WHUR and the original “Quiet Storm.” There are some who feel that a more laid-back approach is the way to win those high cumes. Actually, either approach can work, depending on the timing and the market.

What really happens to the night-shift jocks that's different from the daytimers? For one thing, in many markets the shifts following afternoon drive have to compete directly with television and a host of other distractions. So the successful station has to have someone cookin' in the hit “kitchen” after sundown.

Top night personalities have not been available in abundance for the same reasons that morning, midday and PM drivers have been in short supply. They just have not been allowed or encouraged to develop. During the past few years of over-researched, abbreviated talk-sets, DJs' individual contributions were trimmed back. They played ten, twelve, up to sixteen songs in a row as more and more stations went to the liner-card, less talk/more music philosophy. Anyone who had a heart or voice wound up very frustrated, resulting, naturally, in a rather severe shortage of jocks who were hip, funny and clever, and could be trained to say relevant, topical things on the radio. Those more experienced jocks who were daring enough to work in their humor even with a more-music format rose to the top or got out.

HOW MUCH PERSONALITY?

That question probably has as many answers as Whitney Houston's “How Will I Know?” While there is a strong need for more personality, even on music stations, it is not the old-style personality of the 60s and 70s. Aimless talk, just because the mike is open, will not get it. Today's winning personality has to relate—and the music still has to be right. A strong personality playing weak songs or trying to break too many new records will not get it either! The way to go is usually well-anchored image liners coupled with some topical show prep and a sprinkle of humor—if you have the talent who can habitually pull it off day after day.

Your overall music format, especially after sundown, should win you about 70 to 80 percent of your numbers. But the other 20-30 percent depends on your air talent's execution, and how much freedom they are given. If listeners just wanted the time, call letters and song intros, automation would be the ticket. The most effective jocks, according to our studies, clearly understand how to execute the basics for continuity purposes, and how you want the station promoted. With proper guidelines, you could probably leave the execution and phrasing to the talent, and let their individual personalities take over the show. But therein lies the problem. You must be clear as to just what is expected. The format must be explained, and the air talent must be sold on it. Then they can be part of it and sell it on the air.

With very few exceptions, DJs on today's urban contemporary music stations are adjuncts to the music and other involvement elements. Many have been trained to lower their personality profile as part of a “laid-back” image.

While we're not saying that those who work the night shifts should sound like a part of the morning team, they can add to the station's overall strength when they do talk—provided they have something to say. There's still nothing better than someone who so compliments the format that you're waiting for a somewhat controversial song like Shirley Murdock's “As We Lay” to hear the jock say something hip and funny that everyone can relate to. In this case, he or she performs a vital entertainment service for a music station, rather than just trying to be a star.

The best way to develop such personalities is to hold talent development sessions with them. (We used to call them critiques.) The whole idea is to make the air talent more effective, to save time and money—and rating points. In many cases, program directors or operations managers spend very little time on upgrading. Sometimes, that's because they are on the air themselves and in ego-competition. Many PDs are so busy that they aren't able to attend to the day-to-day problems of talent motivation and development. The jocks are left to their own devices with little or no input from the person in charge.

Local, daily countdowns are often the key to the night shifts. They force the air talent into direct contact with the audience, and a sharp jock can fit some humor into the show with a bit or interplay with a listener.

“Many PDs are so busy that they aren't able to attend to the day-to-day problems of talent motivation and development. The jocks are left to their own devices with little or no input from the person in charge.”

Many listeners still tune out, if only mentally, when they hear something other than music on the radio. If they're in a car, it's just a one-button motion to move to your competition. So give them another reason to listen besides the music. That way you minimize tune-out and maximize tune-in—and both can cause your cumes to rise. And climbing cumes will not only lead you to higher ground, but to the next rung on the career ladder. The night shift is important...it can be enlarged like a snapshot, but, like a snapshot, if it's out of focus, everything becomes a blur. ●

URBAN CONTEMPORARY SUMMARY

Just had great news from Terrl Avery - Tom Joyner will be "joining" us at our session on Saturday morning at 10:00 AM - should we make him the Gavin Report Frequent Flyer award nominee of the Seminar? He's going to stay around for the rest of the weekend, we hear, and since the Gavin Awards Luncheon follows the Urban session and Tom is once again nominated for Air Talent... The airlines have come through for us once again with "Air Wars" similar to last year's at this time. So, if any of you are borderline, between "I can't afford it" and "all my friends are going to be there," check out the latest reduction in air fares offered by many airlines - some as low as $59 and $99 with only a two-day notice required. Thank you, airline moguls. Speaking of moguls, ARETHA FRANKLIN & GEORGE MICHAEL make a great team if you like to be the Most Added couple with 37 adds and then they make that magic leap to Chartbound with a single bound. What happened to be interesting about the next Most Added was the tie - at the end of Tuesday night's reports (77) GREGORY ABBOTT and SMOKEY ROBINSON were tied for second place. Then at the end of Wednesday morning's reports (108) they were still tied - at 28 all!

Looked like a Warrior/Celtic game all week! Had a surprise from the Top 40 section this week - MILLIE SCOTT had a total of 32 Top 40 reports - making it our winner of Pop Crossover. One of the Certified's goes to CLUB NOUVEAU's "Lean On Me" - James Alexander, WJLB-Detroit reports requests for it - all demos; Licia Torres, KJLH-Los Angeles says she's getting calls from 6-to-60-year-olds, and the story continues. Melvin Jones, KRNB-Memphis reports the DONNA ALLEN "...is getting 'Serious' and is a smash - yes, indeed." Then Rick Thomas, KUKQ-Phoenix called in requests for it - male demos. Melvin also says the new LUTHER INGRAM is his pick to be the next smash - says it's hot. Donnie Deane, WKIE-Richmond says the new SMOKEY ROBINSON is his choice and got instant phones as soon as he added it. Danny Harris, KDKO-Denver reports that JODY WATLEY had her best week yet - requests for it, all demos, really hot! Then Frenche Be, WQIM-Montgomery called and reported that JODY is getting calls from the 18-34 crowd. Not bad for her first solo project since leaving Shalamar; she's going for the same record as her former Shalamar-mate, Howard Hewett.

Don Edwards, WQIC-Meridian phoned in the same message, basically, saying as far as the request line goes, JODY's hot! Then Bill St. John, KIIZ/AM-Killeen phoned in and said he started playing the JODY and it's doing surprisingly well already after just a few days play. Then that sweetheart Ray Boyd, V103-Atlanta reported in that BEASTIE BOYS' cut "Brass Monkey" is getting lots of requests as is CLUB NOUVEAU's "Lean On Me." Speaking of sweethearts, Jay Riley, WNOO-Chattanooga called in about a promotion they're doing to raise money for a very worthy cause. It seems that Jackie Wilson's grave does not as yet have a marker and they've set up a fund to collect money to buy one. Tax deductible contributions may be sent: c/o WNOO RADIO, P.O. Box 5156, Chattanooga, TN 37406. Check or money orders should be made payable to "Jackie Wilson Marker Fund." Thanks. Reports again next week - we'll be open Monday. Betty

PROMOTIONS

by LISA SMITH and BETTY HOLLARS

HAPPY EVER-AFTERING ◀

Reba McEntire helped WSM-Nashville and Camelot Records celebrate Country Music Month. The multi-award winning singer took part in a remote broadcast from the record store tied to a promotion that saw every cassette buyer receive a free tape crate and qualify to win the Grand Prize of a Jeep Comanche. Two hundred Camelot record stores nationwide took part in the celebration.

A LITTLE HELP FROM HIS ▼ FRIENDS

When KBCO-Boulder, CO, morning man Dennis Constantine took a week's vacation, he found plenty of volunteers to fill in. Among the local celebrities that helped newsman Peter Finch handle the wakeup chores were local rock promoter Barry Fey, TV news anchor Bill Stewart, the Dirt Band's Jimmy Ibbotson and Denver Post columnist Dick Kreck.

CRACKING DOWN ON CRACK ▶

Before a local concert appearance, Whodini and Doug E. Fresh, both members of New York Governor Mario Cuomo's "Operation Crackdown Campaign," took part in WDKX's "Stay Strong Rally" on a blocked-off portion of Main Street in downtown Rochester, NY. WDKX took a stand against drug abuse in the community by inviting all local teens to the "Stay Strong Rally," with Double Dutch jumping demonstrations and rapping performances from area teens. At the end of the rally, Dana Dane, Doug E. Fresh & The Get Fresh Crew and Whodini all took the stage and entertained the crowd with anti-crack messages and songs.

KIIS-MAS CAR CONTEST

KIIS/FM-Los Angeles gets our nod for the "Car Contest Of 1986." In order to win, listeners had to correctly identify the "Twelve Songs of KIIS-MAS," keeping track of a dozen records played throughout the week. At 7 AM on three consecutive Fridays, the twelfth caller who correctly identified the twelve songs had to choose between a Rolls-Royce Silver Spirit, Lamborghini, Ferrari, Jaguar XJS, Porsche Carrera, Mercedes or BMW. Tough choice, huh? The three winners were awarded the car of their choice at a ceremony that afternoon.

TOTO KEYNOTER ◀

KKIS-Concord, CA, staffers were among those attending this year's Northern California Songwriters Association Symposium at Foothill College just south of San Francisco. Program Director Ravi Peruman says one of the highlights was keynote speaker David Paich of Toto. Gary Leuenberger, the master programmer at Yamaha International, gave a seminar on MIDI technology and revealed that he also programs David's keyboards for Toto performances. Says Peruman, "I attended as a member of the NCSA and a Bay Area Program Director interested in the up-and-coming talent which abounds in Northern California. You never know where the next Grateful Dead is practicing!"

DAVE SHOLIN'S

Personal Picks — SINGLES

PATTY SMYTH - Never Enough (Columbia) Hits the mark in terms of contemporary, mainstream rock appeal. Patty gets writing and playing assistance from the Hooters, and together they cover all the bases. Sounds like it's gonna take at least a few hundred spins before I've had enough.

PETER WOLF - Come As You Are (EMI America) Take a good amount of J. Geils and sprinkle generously with extract of Stones, and you have a potent combination. Wolf has built his reputation on raw, earthy excitement and it sparkles in this good-time rocker.

FARRENHEIT - Fool In Love (Warner Bros.) The spelling may be a little off, but they're sure to raise a few temperatures. This exceptional debut effort was skillfully produced by Keith Olsen, who put extra effect into highlighting all the elements of the composition and the track.

GLASS TIGER - I Will Be There (Manhattan) Imagine, it was just last July 4th when they debuted as the Most Added song of the week with "Don't Forget Me." In little over a half-year, Glass Tiger has proved to be much more than your average overnight sensation. LP and CD versions feature Bryan Adams on vocals, but, due to legal considerations, his voice was lifted from the single. You may want to listen to all versions before deciding which to play.

RON FELL'S

Personal Picks — ALBUMS

ORIGINAL SOUNDTRACK - "Over The Top" (Columbia)

Another superstar package similar to the '86 blockbuster, Top Gun. With acts like Asia, Sammy Hagar & Eddie Van Halen, Kenny Loggins (who always seems to have a piece of the good rock soundtracks) and Eddie Money, it looks good on paper. And like the Top Gun soundtrack, it'll prove to be big airplay for extracted singles. My early favorites include Hagar's hit, WINNER TAKES IT ALL, Loggin's MEET ME HALF WAY, Asia's GYPSY SOUL and the movie's love theme, ALL I NEED IS YOU, performed by a new band, Big Trouble, who'll likely take our breath away. Four hits off of any album is a tough act to follow, but Over The Top has the muscle.
