SINGLETON HEADS MCA BLACK MUSIC DIVISION

As has been speculated, Ernie Singleton has been appointed President, Black Music Division at MCA Records. Singleton worked at MCA from 1983-1987, departing as Vice President of Promotion, Urban and Jazz Music. Since 1987 he has been at Warner Bros., and he leaves the label as Senior Vice President of Black Music Marketing and Promotion.

"It is tremendously exciting to have Ernie Singleton return to MCA," said MCA Music Entertainment Group Chairman Al Teller. "Ernie is the consummate music business executive and his appointment to the presidency of the Black Music Division ensures the preeminence of MCA in this area."

Singleton began his career in radio, working as Air Talent, Music Director and Program Director. He moved over to records and worked in Promotion Departments at Fantasy, Mercury, Casablanca and PolyGram, before joining MCA in 1983. While at Warner Bros. he staffed and headed the Reprise Promotion Staff. He's a founding member of the Young Black Programmers Coalition (YBPC). He's worked with the greatest names in music, including Quincy Jones, Prince, Bobby Brown and Gladys Knight & The Pips.

"The Black Music Division of MCA Records has always set a standard of excellence in the industry," said Singleton. "I am delighted to return to MCA as part of Al Teller's executive team, and I look forward to working with such a rich and diverse artist roster."

CEMA TO MANUFACTURE / DISTRIBUTE I.R.S.

I.R.S. Records and CEMA Distribution have struck a long term deal which has CEMA manufacturing and distributing all future I.R.S. product. In addition, all I.R.S. titles currently released through MCA will shift to CEMA. The agreement does not affect production deals in effect with both MCA and A&M.

"We are proud to have I.R.S. become a member of the CEMA family and look forward to working with them to achieve new levels of success in the future," said CEMA Dist. President Russ Bach. Added I.R.S. President Jay Boberg, "CEMA is building one of the best distribution systems in the business...I.R.S. is very excited about joining this winning team."

FCC Attacks "Indecency"

The FCC has decided it will enforce a 1978 Supreme Court decision that would levy fines against local radio and television broadcasters who air what they consider "indecent material." Cable will not be affected.

"Indecent material" in this incarnation is, "language or material that, in context, depicts or describes, in terms patently measured by contemporary community standards for the broadcast medium, sexual or excretory activities or organs."

As with labeling legislation and the obscenity ruling against 2 Live Crew, this move is being cloaked in the by now familiar "we're protecting our children" statements. And although the commission has not said exactly what would be considered indecent, (is thirtysomething okay? is Married With Children too much?), a Kansas City TV station reportedly was cited for airing Private Lessons, a movie about the seduction of a 15-year-old boy.

It is assumed that the ruling will be challenged by broadcasters.

GOODMAN'S DUTIES EXPAND

Although RCA's second Nashville-based label has yet to be named, staffing has begun. Randy Goodman, currently Vice President of Product Development has been appointed to the newly-created position, Vice President Promotion and Product Development.

This promotion will be in effect on September 1. In addition to his current role, Goodman will oversee both radio and video promotion.

"In the nine years that Randy has been with the Nashville operation he has built a department around him and lead them to higher levels of success each year," said Nashville Entertainment and Music Operations (NEMO) President Joe Galante when making the announcement. "He (Goodman) understands how to focus on the challenge and apply all his energy to it in order to reach the goal."

Goodman has been with RCA since 1981. The as-yet unnamed RCA/Nashville label was formed two weeks ago.

"Although a surprise, I'm very excited about this new position, its opportunities and the confidence demonstrated by Joe (Galante)," said Goodman. "My ability to take this job on is due entirely to Joe's support, the incredible team Jack Weston has built and the excellence of my current Product Development staff."

GERSON GETS POWER PROMOTION

Power 99 FM-Atlanta Promotions Director Tobi Gerson has stepped up Operations Manager.
In her two years at the Top 40 outlet, Gerson has engineered some of its most successful promotions, including the WingDing, an event that draws 30,000 people.
"When Tobi joined us as Assistant Promotions Director two years ago, we were at the bottom of the ratings," said station GM Bill Phippen. "Almost immediately she earned a promotion to Promotions Director. And now she's in a position where her next step would be General Manager!"

Crump Joins EPIC

Former Warner Bros. Director, National Promotion Trupiedo A. Crump, Jr. has joined Epic Records as Vice-President, Black Music Promotion.
Crump spent 11 years at Warner Bros., where he helped establish such acts as The Time, Al B. Sure! and James Ingram. Prior to that he worked in Armed Forces Radio and as Morning Announcer at KLAS-Little Rock.
"I'm very pleased to have Trupiedo join us," said Epic Senior Vice President, Black Music, Hank Caldwell. "I'm sure that his energy and experience will bring enhanced achievements to the Epic Black music roster."
Also at Epic, Michael Goldstone has been appointed Vice President, A&R, Epic/Associated Labels. He comes to the label from PolyGram, where he spent two years as Vice President, Talent Acquisition, West Coast.
"I am delighted Michael is joining us," said Epic/Associated President Richard Griffiths. "His background and critical ability in judging and working with talent will help us develop a powerful roster."

ROTATIONS

After 20 years at Warner Bros., VP, Promotion George Grity has resigned...Also at WB, look for mega-changes in the Warner-Reprise Black Music Dept. in the wake of the departures of Ernie Singleton, Oscar Fields and Trupied Crump.... In a statement issued this week, WEA Corporation President Henry Droz deplored the "restrictive, unconstitutional and wholly unnecessary record labeling legislation currently under consideration in Louisiana." As a result, "WEA will remove from active consideration New Orleans or any other city in Louisiana as the site for any future convention to be held by WEA should this legislation, in fact, become law." WEA has, in the past, held what Droz considers "highly successful" conventions in New Orleans....Lots of doings at RCA these days.
Among them is the promotion of Ray Cralton to National Director of Field Promotion. Carlton remains at his Cincinnati base, and will continue as Cincinnati area Promotion and Marketing Rep...Lee Ann Nye has been appointed Regional Promotion Director of Sisapa Records. Lee Ann was formerly at Y108-Denver. Call her at 303-988-1158...Maxanne Sartor has been named to the newly-created position of Director, National Album Promotion for Chameleion. Maxanne was most recently MD and Air Talent at KMBY-FM-Monterey, CA. Many of you will remember her from her on air stints at WNEW-FM-New York and WBCN-FM-Boston...

Adult Alternative station KIFM-San Diego marked its 15th anniversary on Sunday, July 1 with a day-long celebration that featured jazz greats Dave Grusin, Patti Austin, Fatburger, the Jim Weisberg Band, Rutaka and Lauren Wood. Record company execs and out-of-towners luminaries joined the celebration. Three MDs who obviously had a great time were KFMs Tony Schonel, KTWW-Los Angeles' Monica Logan and WNUI-Chicago's Michael Fisher.

On Atco, where quality is JOB 1
As I scanned USA Today last Monday (7/16), the headline "R&B Drives Out Rock On The Pop Chart!" got my attention. What the public relates to as R&B, of course, is now labeled "Urban" by our industry, but the story was correct in its assessment that Rock has fallen on hard times in the Top-40 arena. What the article didn't point out however, is the shrinking supply of new, quality Rock releases. What happens when the strong material is available was seen most recently by the instant acceptance of new songs by Poison, Nelson, Aerosmith and just last week by Jon Bon Jovi and Cheap Trick. But it can be argued that, overall, Top 40 stations and audiences haven't been given a lot of choices lately. Closing on a positive note, the story takes the position that "the R&B invasion is color blind" citing Michael Bolton, Mariah Carey and New Kids On The Block as examples of white artists with strong R&B influences. Nice to see someone express the opinion that Soul is a state of mind and emotionally charged. Several pages later in the same edition of the paper was an unoffical poll of various artists (all white by the way, except for Vanessa Williams) and their view of Rap music. The attention Rap has been getting in the media lately may well end up hurting it more than helping it with its core audience. Packaged, sanitized and commercialized Rap is a favorite choice of many suburban white teens but passe among some musically aware inner city street kids who are already on to new forms of expression. Historically, it's been a case that if you want to know what the culture at large will be doing and saying a few years down the road, find out what the Black community is into right now. David Bowie's quote on Rap said it best, "I love it. I find it the cutting edge. It does poke and offend, and it has all the qualities I so admired in music when I started out. It has its place in being a communicative music for Black and Hispanic America. It's something they cultivated very much themselves that (whites) are bound to plunder sooner or later. I like the vitality of it an awful lot." But whatever the trend or the public mood, radio still has the ability to react quick to changing tastes.

July's music focus is on Minneapolis with this week's release of the new Prince single and his buddies The Time scorching up charts with their first release in six years. Hit Factor more than doubles from 11% to 24%. Top twenty at WZOU, X100, KITY, KZOU, POWER 98, WPJL, WCKZ, KKSS, B96, Y108, KDWB, HOT 97, Q104, KXXR and Z100 Portland.

Added only last week, CFTF Toronto moves NEW KIDS ON THE BLOCK to #3 this week!

Highest debut of the week at WKQD Huntsville #25 and WRCK Utica, NY #30 with "number one requests." Big gains at KC101 27-19, POWER 99 20-16, plus top twenty listings at WHYT, WDFX, EAGLE 106, Z100, KDWB, KOYE, POWER 96, Y108 and KISN.

A TOP TIP back on June 22nd, LIGHTNING SEEDS bounds onto the Top 40 with a super strong 37% HIT FACTOR. Fletcher Keyes, MD at Z104 Madison, WI reports it 20-17 and calls it, "a good balance record that's getting adult phones and curiosity calls." Top ten at WBQ 11-10, WJZQ 8-5, WGQR 12-8, 99KG 11-9, SL.Y96 10-8, KSND 11-10, 93Q 6-5 and WIXX 11-8. Adds include WDFX Detroit, WAQA Melbourne, FL, KROC Rochester, MN, WIBW Topkea, WMME Augusta, ME, WSPT Stevens Point, WI, etc.

Certain markets feel a heavy impact from MTV exposure. That's the case in Lewiston, ID where KMOK MD Kevin Chase credits the channel with being the sole reason for massive sales on BELL BIV DEVOE. With no airplay in the area, it debuts #1 in singlesales. Hot at WWCK 21-14, KPSI's highest debut #23, Q105 26-21, KISS 108 19-15, KYS 13-9, WDFX 14-10, KCGI 12-9, KISU 5-4, POWER 106 16-9, WTC/WMJ 31-26, HOT 9723-17 and Q106 12-9.

A month and a half after it was RECORD TO WATCH (June 8th), FAITH NO MORE earns CHARTBOUND status. Gary Cummings at ZFUN Moscow, ID is the first to take it to the top 6-1. Also strong at Q104 7-4 "as hot as they get," WDEK 18-12, Z95 18-12, PIRATE RADIO 9-6, K106 5-2 and KPRX 23-18. Highest debut of the week at #22 for Z104.5 Tulsa, OK where MD Tim Smith says it's the second best-testing record in its first week of callout. Added at WLLI/FM Willimatic, CT after winning "Rate At Eight" five nights running.

Solid chart and airplay growth for MAXI PRIEST who gets added at WAPE, KBQ, WQOQ, WSKM, Y108, KHTK, KOY, KYYA, WSGM, WXTQ, WKQD, etc. Top thirty at KISS 108 28-23, KZPP 27-23, KKS 29-25, X100 28-23, KROY 25-22 and KSIQ 27-24 where PD Tony Dee says he's getting "top five phones, top ten callout and top three retail in just three weeks."

AFTE7's "Can't Stop" explodes at KMEL San Francisco 23-18 with more than 20 new believers including KXXR Kansas City, Q104 Gadsden, KS104 Denver, KQK Tucson, X102 Reno, WBBQ Augusta, KHTK St. Louis, etc.

WDFX Detroit takes KYPER all the way...2! Also racing ahead at G105 Durham/Raleigh 24-14, B96 Chicago 17-11, KSS Albuquerque 30-21, Q106 San Diego 4-2, KOY Phoenix 19-12, WWCK Flint 29-17 and KHTK St. Louis 23-13 where it's "pulling number one requests—every other call is for this one."

Impressive results starting to appear for ADVENTURES OF STEVIE V. who is on the
The weekend of July 12-15 brought record numbers of broadcasting and music professionals to the fifteenth annual Upper Midwest Communications Conclave '90 held in Minneapolis. As has been the case with each of its preceding sessions, Conclave '90 was an extremely worthwhile convention/seminar that furthered the synthesis of radio broadcasting and contemporary music.

Set at the Radisson South Hotel, its largest venue to date, Conclave '90's agenda was packed with a non-stop schedule of workshops, presentations and format sessions during the day and networking opportunities for suite-hoppers and power-dinners during the evening. Glib and youthful keynote speaker Bob Costas from NBC Radio and Television paced the Friday schedule which began with format breakfasts (A/C, Country and Album Radio). Afternoon sessions focused on the insides of radio and the music industry. The day was capped off by an updated journey through the strategic minefields of radio's programming options in a meeting hosted by one of broadcasting's most interesting thinkers, Kurt Hanson of Strategic Radio Research.

Saturday morning began with four more format sessions (Top 40, Gold, Full Service and Jazz/NAC). Singular sessions continued throughout the remainder of the day and were highlighted by the annual Awards ceremonies, a session with music producer David Z, a two-hour marketing session hosted by Filmhouse’s Jeff Green and a seminar on creativity without walls.

DIGITAL RADIO

With the NRSC curve and C-Quam stereo, AM radio can sound (to the average consumer) "equivalent to FM" in audio quality—although few receivers are available yet to take advantage of this. But FM, with modern processing and high modulation, itself doesn't sound the equal of well-made vinyl records, let alone DCS, although some who transmit with it say that FMX stereo can improve FM's multipath and fringe-area reception problems.

If radio is to keep up with the state of the art in recording, some form of digital transmission will have to evolve, and a few years back I noted in this column that eventually "digital compression" techniques might make digital transmission practical on conventional broadcast bands. I also suggested that the band most likely to implement it would be AM—not only because it would eliminate reception problems to which AM is more prone than FM, such as static, fading and interference from other stations, but because the FM band is considered too valuable at the moment to risk transmitting a signal which conventional receivers would not be able to receive. (Although perhaps SCA subcarriers might somehow be used to transmit a digital version of the analog signal conventional receivers receive.)

All of this was, and still remains, purely speculation because to date none of the developments in "digital compression" have yet yielded a way to reduce the needed bandwidth of the transmitted digital signal drastically enough to fit into the assigned channels of AM and FM stations. But I wouldn't bet that it won't ever be done!

In the meantime, the future of radio broadcasting is showing some signs of veering off in a different direction. Although the FCC has until now resisted efforts by broadcasters to obtain additional high-frequency bands for new broadcast services ("FM-2" to accommodate AM broadcasters, and so forth), serious attention is now being paid by the FCC and broadcasters alike to different conceptual concepts in what is being called "DAB"—Digital Audio Broadcasting—proposed for North America.

The first of these was demonstrated at April's NAB Convention by a European entity called "Eureka," which has already conducted in-field tests of their system in Europe. A Canadian pilot project is underway, in cooperation with the CBC, the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, and Rogers Broadcasting. And two groups in the U.S. have put forward proposals of their own; one, from Satellite CD Radio Inc., proposes allocating 70 MHz of spectrum to a new DAB service, providing 100 channels for broadcasting, some direct to the consumer by satellite, with local services making use of the remaining channels across the country in the new band to serve local areas; and the other, Radio Satellite Group, proposes to use existing satellite frequencies to broadcast ten channels of programming nationally to motor vehicles directly from "high power" satellite transponders.

Experts rate this last proposal the more likely to get on the air first, since no new frequencies need to be allocated—although the service as planned will be restricted to vehicles, whose antennas should be unobstructed (most of the time) from receiving a signal from above. The extremely high frequencies involved, and the relatively low power of the signals, are thought to prevent reception of these signals, even in houses and wooden structures, without an external antenna. This proposal does not take into account local broadcasting, however, which in my opinion is the heart and soul of radio broadcasting.

The proposal by Satellite CD Radio Inc. does provide for local broadcasting, and presumably would provide sufficient channels for that to accommodate most, if not all, current local broadcasters on the AM and the FM bands. (The early thinking is that local broadcasters would simulcast on their DAB frequencies what they're transmitting on the conventional broadcast bands until the public has generally converted to DAB receivers, which, we are told, will not be any more expensive than today's radios.) However, the proposal of having some national satellite services sharing this band would seem to be troublesome in promoting and encouraging local broadcasting, an urgent matter for local broadcasters, as well as a concern of the FCC.

The Canadian broadcasters are hoping to introduce DAB in their country within five years, and consider that about 20 MHz of frequency space would be needed for some 50 to 75 channels, to accommodate all existing local broadcast stations, and to add some new specialties and minority program sources as well.

So it now appears certain that at some point in the future, and in some manner, today's analog radio will become digital. It seems likely that existing broadcasters will be accommodated in the new digital plan, and it seems undeniable that both AM and FM broadcasters will receive this opportunity. This leads to the interesting conclusion that today's underpriced AMs may yield the same sort of startling future bonanza that yesterday's underpriced FMs (20 years ago) have become today. Even those AM operators who believe they cannot succeed today in competition with FM (a view with which I do not share) may regret in a few years having sold their station for a song, given it away, or gone dark and turned in the license, when they see the remaining AMs upgraded to an equal footing with FM stations on the future DAB band. As always, tomorrow's greatest opportunities lie where few see them today!

We'll keep an eye on these developments for you. The face of radio seems to be approaching the first major change since FM passed AM in listener appeal. And it will be a change of even greater scope and potential than the last one was!
years of experience with the Johnny Winter Band and drummer Damon Duwhite. On July 27 and 28 the band will round out their first leg of touring in Salt Lake City at the Utah Jazz & Blues Festival and the Winthrop Blues Festival. Welcome back, stranger!...

The Allman Brothers Band recently released their first studio album in nine years, entitled Seven Turn. The band introduces three new members: guitarist/vocalist Warren Haynes, keyboardist/vocalist Johnny Neel and bassist Allen Woody. They join the four original members: Gregg Allman on keyboards and lead vocals, Dickey Betts on guitar, and Butch Trucks and Jaimoe on drums. Tom Dowd produced the album at Criteria in Miami. The band is heading your way with George Thorogood and the Destroyers...

Carl Anderson's acting career has been in overdrive since he appeared in "The Color Purple." He's been on TV a number of times and will be in Steven Bochoe's (L.A. Law) fall show, "Cop Rock," a fast paced TV cop drama that combines police work and rock. Now there's more. Carl's currently starring in the stage version of "Jesus Christ Superstar" in Los Angeles and celebrating his debut album on GRP Records entitled Pieces Of A Heart, which features guests Joe Sample, Kirk Whalum and Brenda Russell. Wow! That's also Carl singing the theme song on the daytime TV soap "Santa Barbara."

Aerosmith has been approached by some top Hollywood film directors who are interested in filming a documentary about the group for theatrical release. However, they're touring the U.S. this summer before heading overseas for dates in the U.K., Europe, Japan and Australia. A spokesman for the group said, "It has to be the right situation, otherwise the group won't OK the project."

The "Beach Boy Convention '90" is slated for July 28 in San Diego at the Haggerty-Stardust Hotel and Country Club. This annual event, produced by Endless Summer Quarterly (America's #1 Beach Boys magazine), brings fans from all over the world to revel in the latest on their favorite group. This year guest speakers include drummer Hal Blaine who has over 200 gold records and has worked on over 35,000 singles with artists like Elvis, Frank Sinatra, Simon and Garfunkel and, of course, the Beach Boys. Blaine has just released his new book about his experiences entitled, Hal Blaine And The Wrecking Crew.

INSIDE URBAN

Third week for KEITH SWEAT at number one! MARIAH CAREY looks threatening, as do ANITA BAKER and THE TIME. Congratulations to THE BOYS, who make a twelve-point jump on the chart to get the "Hot" listing. Most Added, Lalah HATHAWAY, gets even more comments from programmers this week than she had last week. Frankie Darcel, WPEG-Charlotte, says "Great response after only one week of airplay! Real smooth, good vocals." Roscoe Miller, WXVI-Montgomery, says, "Strong vibes—this song turns me on!" Terry Base, WMGL-Charleston, comments, "Anyway you turn it, it's a smash that's going to the top." Greg Samson, WQMG-Greensboro, says "Gonna be very hot!" and he's not talking about the weather! Darryl Moore, WXOK-Baton Rouge, remarks, "That record is a serious record." Chuck Harrison, KFXZ-Maurice/Lafayette, says, "Same frame as Stansfield and should be a top hit too." Lynn Hill, WWDM-Columbia, likes "Bad Habit" from WHISTLE. "It's funky—great summer song," Don Michaels, KMZX-Little Rock, recommends BLACK BOX, "If you're looking for a great dance record." Chris Clay, KQXL-Baton Rouge, recommends THE AFROS, saying, "Good gimmick record, a novelty song that has a catchy hook that will leave your audience laughing. Getting good teens response." Thomas Bacote, V103-Atlanta, pulled the "Sometimes I Get Lonely" cut from THE TIME album and worked it into their Quiet Storm and says, "It was great—great response!" Speaking of album cuts, Greg Diggs, WKYS-Washington, turned over a commercial copy of the JANET JACKSON single and played "The Skin Game," and says, "It was incredible how the phones lit up!" OLETA ADAMS' new single, "Rhythm Of Life," is getting good response for Edward Sargent, WICB/Ithaca, who says, "Very good single." Deacon Baker, KKFX-Seattle, agrees, saying, "Nice jazz and funk combo—going to get good reaction." Anyone care to bet what next week's Most Added single will be? See reviews for clues.

Ciao for now, Betty
NEW RELEASES by Brian Samson and John Martinucci

PRINCE - Thieves In The Temple
(Paisley Park/Warner Bros.)
Chances are you’re already on this. If you’re not, realize that Prince’s musical style is as unpredictable as his appearance. He’s always coming up with unique creations, and never disappoints his fans. Thieves In The Temple is the first release from the double-album “Graffiti Bridge.” A must view is the video that accompanies this song. Too cool! JM

SINBAD - I Ain’t Lying’ (Wing/PolyGram)
Here’s a fun novelty record by a doubly-funny guy. I first saw this song’s video during a segment on BET a few weeks ago. M.C. Lyte’s Rap narration adds spice to this track as comedian Sinbad finds himself lying and into a pickle. JM

ONE MAN'S CRAFT...

by Kent Zimmerman

icky, picky, picky. We're talking about being picky, about maintaining a high standard when it comes to songwriters and the songs that they produce. Jude Cole is on the other end of the conversation, and is just now enjoying his very first hit single from his high-quality Reprise release, A View From 3rd Street. And I'm telling him what a picky bastard I've become. Bands are disappearing. Robotics are in. Hit songs are being written from the drum track up instead of from the melody line down. It's a subject that Jude has obviously thought about a lot.

"It's tough out there, especially for rock n rollers. I mean, let's talk about making a great record. You've got to have money behind you to make a record that, sonically, is going to compete. Unless you want to be REM, whose early records are great, the odds are one in thousands, maybe millions, of breaking through."

Mind you, we're talking about rock n roll on the mass appeal airwaves, as in competing head to head with the Madonnas and the Janets.

"You have to get a budget, which is not an easy thing to do. It takes a lot of faith from a record company. I found that a lot of companies want their rosters filled with established artists. They also need to make some quick bucks, which is a helluva lot easier to do with an Expose than it is with the next REM. That's a career move. It has always taken three or four albums to break a band. But it's hard for bands these days. There's a lot of exposure for Rap and R&B on MTV and Urban Contemporary radio, and for dance music in all of the clubs in America. There's a lot of exposure for the Tiffanys of the world because of Top Forty. Then you have your Damn Yankees format, bands which Album Radio can break. But if you're just a rock n roller that doesn't have that long hair thing going for you, it's tough. That's why I'm amazed at my Album Radio acceptance. That's not an easy gig to break into."

Old dreams die hard. Making it on his own terms is something that Jude Cole has been working long and hard on.

"Look at all of the things you have to do now. You spent your time as a kid practicing your guitar eight or ten hours a day. Then you figure you have to learn to sing if you want to be anybody. Next if you want to make any money in music, you had better start writing. By then you're playing guitar, singing and writing, honing all of those talents. You get your record deal and you find out, oh a video. I have to look good, too. I've been sitting here eating Dorritos every night, now I have to be a model for MTV. Excuse me while I go work on the Stairmaster for about fourteen hours a day. The visual side is very important. That's why I admire people like Madonna. They've got the whole thing down."

A View From 3rd Street is Jude Cole's sophomore Reprise effort. Sophomore, as in jinx. Again, harken back to the dinosaur days when bands roamed the earth. The first album was something you got out of the way. Cutting through the corporate red tape, working with an assigned producer, fighting over cover concept, learning the political ropes. There was a time when the sophomore album was a prime piece of work, an important crossroads where you finally convinced the company to let you do it your way, acquiring some creative breathing room. Somewhere along the line that concept got reversed.

"It can be a real jinx for bands who have had only three or four years to collect material for the first album. When it's successful, they don't have anything left. In my case, I've had a lot of years to write a lot of songs. I wrote eighty-eight songs for this album alone."

I had the luxury of not really knowing whether I'd ever get the chance to make another record. It was a blessing in disguise. I had some people to prove wrong. That's not an easy place to write from.
The latest, Young Lions, reached number one. While inordinately modest about his past collaborations, Adrian Belew is bubbly and happy about the present, especially his success with Young Lions and Mr. Music Head.

"The past ten to twelve years has been leading up to this. And I don't feel I've peaked yet. This all began when I was sixteen. I took up guitar with my goal being to make a brand of pop music that would have a lot of appeal, yet be artistically satisfying and adventurous."

For a guitarist known best for twang bar foolery and rhino sounds, it's surprising that it's been his melodic side that's brought Belew the most success. His 1989 single, "Oh Daddy," (sung by his daughter Audie), was unabashed and honest, bringing him close to having a hit single. After over a decade of riding a progressive wave, Adrian Belew is thrilled about seeing the other side of the commercial rainbow.

These two albums on Atlantic represent phase two of Adrian Belew's solo career. He had previously recorded three esoteric albums on the Island label. The last of the three, Desire By The Tail, cost him his recording contract. His next move was to form the Bears, a club band that extensively toured small venues across the country. When the Bears didn't strike commercial honey, a sobering reality began to set in.

"Right as I was doing Mr. Music Head during 1987 and 1988, I was very shaken up. I'd lost my deal with Island. I had no record deal. The Bears were floundering. There was a point there that lasted about six months where I wondered whether I was going to make it in the music business. Was I over? I wrote the song '1967' about that, 'what's a father to do with all these monster debts.' It was really like that. I used to sit on my porch and think, 'is this over?' I'm worried. I don't know how to make it work anymore. I've done the best music I know how all along and it doesn't seem to be good enough.' So I made a terrific extra effort with Mr. Music Head to try and break through. Fortunately Atlantic signed me and took a great interest in me. I made my first real video, 'Oh Daddy.' That surprised me. That record sold four times more than any of my previous solo albums. So I was back. Since then, things have really been working out."

The release of Mr. Music Head lured an old acquaintance out of the bushes. According to Belew, the renewed association with Bowie started with an innocent phone call.

"During the Mr. Music Head tour David called several times. We talked about his upcoming tour. But it started with him just calling to tell me how much he liked Mr. Music Head and that he was announcing my video for MTV. It was just a friendly, get-to-know-each-other conversation. The next conversations concerned this Sound + Vision tour. We discussed at length how not to make this just a sideman role for me. He understood that my solo career was going great. We scratched the idea of me as an opening act. So we thought about making some new music together. I figured I'd record another album before the tour. He agreed to appear on it and do some of the music during the show. Going one step further,
Right now I could probably go into a room and write three or four good songs. But that’s because my inspiration is up, my confidence is up. It’s a lot easier to come up with songs in that frame of mind.

“If I had had a band, I’d have probably known better what worked and didn’t work, as far as songs go. I made the transition from band guy to studio person mostly out of poverty. I couldn’t afford a band. But I knew I wanted to be a solo artist because the bands I’d been in, with all the diplomacy and democracy, weren’t working for me. I was writing a lot of my own songs and I knew where I wanted them to go. I was coming off cocky to the other members. So I didn’t need a band. What I needed was to communicate information and music onto tape, get it down and see if it worked that way.”

“That way” meant making ends meet taking on sideman gigs and tours, which is what Jude was up to before becoming a solo act.

“I’d done a lot of road work with other people. There was a lot of drugs and weird scenes going on out there, lots of promiscuity. So I came back soulless, penniless, out of money. I felt like my energy had been spent on someone else’s career. That was the last tour for me. I gave myself six months and I was going to do something else. I wanted to have something to fall back on even though I’ve always hated that term. I do music. What’s to fall back on? I was thinking about going back to Colorado where my folks live and opening up a music store or something like that. After that fifth month, I got my deal with Warner Brothers. Another sign. Keep going, kid. Keep fighting.”

Okay. Jude Cole spent a lot of years playing in bands as a sideman. He was the young guitar player, naive and fresh from the Rocky Mountains, alongside Moon Martin, who was famous for writing “Bad Case Of Loving You” later covered by Robert Palmer. Then Jude joined an English band, the Records, whose “Starry Eyes” is arguably the very first “new wave” record of the seventies. Lead guitar and singer for a band from Great Britian, somewhat of a dream come true for an American kid. When he first tried his hand as a songwriter, one of Jude’s first nibbles was a cover by Dave Edmunds. The two met when Moon Martin toured with Rockpile. Then came a debut solo album, followed by his latest, A View From 3rd Street. Then came the Top Ten Gavin Top Forty single, “Baby, It’s Tonight.” What separates 3rd Street from the gaggle of other singer/songwriter albums about dating relationships is the heart and emotion put into the songs, the singing and the playing. On the surface, you get ten songs about relationships and people. Guitar, bass, drums, keyboards, vocals. That hardly qualifies as unique. “I’ve always felt…” Jude’s voice trails off. “Actually, this goes into a much more spiritual thing. I think I’ll spare you…”

Do tell. What spirituality?

“I think that there’s an angel on this record. For a long time I’ve been asking for some answers as far as what I was even doing out here. I’ve had so many struggles, so many times in my car with nowhere to go, wondering where I was going. Then, something would happen. I would get a job as if someone up there was giving me just enough of a break to keep me going. There were many times when I just wanted to leave Los Angeles. Just when I was ready to quit, I got signed to Warner Brothers. I got my first album deal and I’m really excited about that. Just as I’m starting the record, I pick up a fatigue syndrome, and it knocked me out. My life consisted of sleeping fifteen, sixteen hours a day. But I got through it. That’s why this record was the most important record I had to make in my life. People were beginning to write me off.”

“Does ‘Get Me Through The Night’ sum up those feelings? Especially that strong reference to Jesus just before that first monster chorus?

“I was born and raised a Catholic. I was an altar boy, so it’s ingrained in me. When someone says ‘go to hell,’ under my breath, to this day, I say ‘blessed begot the Holy name’ because that’s what I was taught. You don’t know how many times I walk around each day saying ‘blessed begot.’”

“Most of the songs have to do with relationships because that was what I was going through at the time. I know there’s a lot happening in the world other than love. I even had a song called “Cry To The City” that was about homeless people. I had a lot of different types of material, but I didn’t want to bring up too many different topics. I like consistency. Either sing about social issues or sing about love. On ‘Get Me Through The Night,’ I was meeting someone in a park. It was completely innocent. I was in a relationship, and here I was meeting someone else. What the fuck am I doing? I must not be very happy. As a matter of fact, I wrote that song and didn’t even realize I was writing about myself. I think I write subconsciously sometimes.”

Many writers who start out trying to test the boundaries of their imaginations often return to the roost, subconsciously writing their own self portraits.

“It’s funny. A lot of writers who are hailed as geniuses have invariably lived their art. So I find you have to use your own experiences. That’s why this is my most important record. I wrote eighty-eight songs, the first forty of which were scrapped because I was down on my luck. I was listening to a lot of outside people and trying to find a formula. Finally, I was talking to THIS palmer who told me I was looking around too much. Stop looking around. You’ve got your own formula. You’ll make it your own way. That made so much sense to me. So I scrapped the first forty songs that had all the right hooks and choruses in the right places and all that stuff. There was something missing.

“So when I listen to ‘Time For Letting Go’ or ‘Compared To Nothing,’ I’m really glad I gave myself the time to create the extra forty-eight songs.”

3rd Street in Los Angeles was supposedly the birthplace of many of the ideas—ideas that come during a period of solitude. Sort of Apartment Living put to music.

“I really sat in that apartment on 3rd Street and wrote every set of lyrics that’s on the record. This was obviously what I saw from my window. Los Angeles can be very inspirational in that sense. Around five, six or seven o’clock in the evening, especially during the Fall, there’s something about the streets that I find inspirational.”

Songs like “House Full Of Reasons” and “Stranger To Myself” sound like rooms, part of a larger floor plan that constitutes this superbly crafted ten song effort. The songs are works of a bonafide people watcher. Ultimately A View From 3rd Street is about growth, personal growth while finding your place in the order of things, in this case Los Angeles, Southern California culture and the music industry.

“I’ve been on a mission all these years to at least get my foot in the industry to the point where I feel like I can at least breathe. I’m just accomplishing that now. I feel like I’m finally going to be able to make another record after this one. In fact, I’m more into making my records than getting involved in a lot of extra curricular activities. This business has turned into a glorified high school. Some musicians are zoning in on everybody else’s projects, being a part of nineteen different things. It reminds me of when I was in high school and you’d look at the back of the yearbook. Next to someone’s name was nineteen pages of pictures. President of the glee club, captain of the football team. I was the guy with just the one mandatory picture. In a way I’ve held on to that mentality. •

INSIDE A/C

by Diane Rufer and Ron Fell

Seldom does an artist make it to number one with his or her first single, but MS. CAREY has done it. With 209 HEAVY reports and 223 stations she steals the show.

ANITA BAKER has the stations (210) for a future number one. Her time will come at about the same moment as WILSON PHILIPS. It's BAKER's current HIT FACTOR of 97% that gives her the lead.

NIKKI'S "Notice Me" moves 5 to 6 with an underline (see HIT FACTOR). The underline is deserved because of his 27 station increase in HEAVY rotation and an 8% increase in HIT FACTOR to 94%.

HOTTEST record in the format is PAUL YOUNG's "Oh Girl." Its move from 37 to 21 to 12 is one of the year's biggest two week leaps. Twenty-nine more ADDS includes stations which brings its total to 61.

FLEETWOOD MAC's "Skies The Limit" remains upward bound in a big way. It's at number 18 after two chart weeks and 72% of the stations on it more than a week are HIT Factor ing.

DION'S Ford-cover "Sea Cruise" is creating more positive interest in Adult music radio than the movie from which it comes, Andrew Dice Clay's "The Adventures Of Ford Fairlane." Among the 23 new A/C this week are WQAD, CKFM, WEBE/FM, KTDY/FM, WMXO, WJLK/FM, KCMJ/FM and KWLO.

SINEAD O'CONNOR's "The Emperor's New Clothes" is this week's highest chart debut. This week the new include WNYT, KRKO, KBOL, WQMI, KQYN/FM, J107 and CKFM.

Our TOP TIP is BILLY JOEL's ballad side, "And So It Goes" (not to be confused with the Top 40 track also called "That's Not Her Style"). The A/C cut is Mark's most ADDED with 49 new including WFS/FM, WEBE/FM, WFFX/FM, WRC/F, WAKR, WELI, KKOR, KMJC/FM and KFOR.

MAXI PRIEST's "Close To You," our RECORD TO WATCH last week, stepped closer to debuting on the chart. Picking up 18 stations which brings its total to 61, MAXI is prominently positioned in CHARTBOUND. New on are CKFM, WQBE, WLKI, KLSS, KRDI/FM, WHIZ, KHTH, KWUN and Q92/FM to mention a few.

RECORD TO WATCH this week is CHRIS REA's "Let's Dance," which is such a good sounding single that it has been available on both of his albums released on Geffen. CHRIS' dancing suggestion has new stations with WMBA, WPXZ, WMB, WRC/F, WVVY/FM, WRCO, KSNN, KQYN/FM, KQRE, and KWUN among others. Already CHART-BOUND in its second week of release, look for CHRIS to do some high-stepping in the weeks to come.

LINDA RONSTADT
Adios (Elektra)

Dropping Aaron Neville like a hot potato for Beach Boy Brian Wilson, Ms Ronstadt's latest single, written by Jimmy Webb, is hardly a swan song. It's a sunset desperado's gentle let down.

ALANNAH MYLES
Lover Of Mine (Atlantic)

Ms. Myles' "overnight" success story is continued by this powerful, slow-to-boil love song from her epic, self-titled State-side debut album.

SANTANA

Gypsy Woman (Columbia)

An Impressionable Curtis Mayfield classic from 1961 re-worked to '90s expectations by producer Peter Wolf and the Santana band. Many of Santana's past hits have been covers and this one stands as tall as any. Should do well with adults of all ages.

TAYLOR DAYNE

Heart Of Stone (Arista)

Ms. Dayne has become an automatic artist in our format and this single, the fourth from her "Can't Fight Fate" album, will be no exception. For those of you who might think this is a cover of Cher's single by the same title, one listen will clear that up.
EVERTHING BUT THE GIRL.

"EVERYTHING BUT THE GIRL."

"LOVER OF MINE"
Alannah Myles'

stunning follow-up single to "BLACK VELVET" from her debut album ALANNAH MYLES. Going for reports on July 23rd.

"TAKE ME"
Everything But The Girl's

latest single from their hit album THE LANGUAGE OF LIFE. Breaking out at A/C. Debut in Up & Coming 41/27

NEW RELEASES

by Lisa Smith & Cyndi Hoelzle

MERLE HAGGARD - When It Rains It Pours (Curb)
Merle's debut release on Curb is a simple, sad love song complete with a few thunder-shower in the background. At the foreground, though, is Haggard's incredible voice, and it's hard to remember when he's sounded better. One of this week's Most Added records.

THE JUDDS - Born To Be Blue (RCA/Curb)
Wynonna and Naomi really let loose on this rockin' new single, which includes some of the hottest piano playing we've heard in a while.

TEXAS TORNADOS - Who Were You Thinking Of? (Warner Bros.)
Ay ya ya! Many folks have been anxiously awaiting the first single from this group of all-stars, featuring Flaco Jimenez, Freddy Fender, Augie Meyers and Doug Sahm. It's a smoking Tex-Mex number, that asks the age-old question, "who were you thinking of when we were loving last night?"

TIM MENSY - Too Close To Tulsa (Columbia)
Singer/songwriter Mensy has come up with a winner here. He co-wrote the song, which has a memorable melody and lyric line.

TAMMY WYNETTE - Let's Call It A Day Today (Epic)
On this first single from her upcoming album Tammy does what she does best: slow, pleading heartbreaking singing. This time the First Lady's had enough of standing by, and is leaving her man.

CHRIS AUSTIN - Out Of Step (Warner Bros.)
Austin gets a chance to show off his expressive voice on this one. He does what she does best: slow, pleading heartbreaking singing. This time the First Lady's had enough of standing by, and is leaving her man.

BOOTSACU - THE BROWN ALBUM (POLYGRAM CANADA)
If you're into heavy funk grooves along the lines of Shriekback or The Red Hot Chili Peppers, slap this puppy on immediately! Although this Montreal outfit travels many of the same roads as the bands mentioned above, the resulting journey is a unique one. There are many different moods and facets to explore within each song, which in my book is a plus because the tunes still sound fresh even with repeated listens. Tracks to spend some time with include “Sex Marine,” “Everyone’s A Winner” (yes, the Hot Chocolate song) “Let’s Eat Out” and “Play With Me.”

THE PERFECT DISASTER - UP (FIRE RECORDS)
Britain’s The Perfect Disaster have embraced the less brash side of guitar Pop on this, their third full-length release. Rather than exuberantly bashing out hooks, TPD hoards their energy carefully to create a taut, anticipatory Pop environment. Their restraint works especially well with the repetitive, stretch-into-infinity grooves of the band’s motorin’ road tunes, “55” and “B52.” And they might be Brits, but TPD seems to have a healthy respect for their Scottish Pop comrades as well: “Hey Now” smells a bit like the Mary Chain, and “Shout” features the punch-then-laze-about manner of the Pastels. However, The Perfect Disaster doesn’t limit themselves to just Pop. They get moody, if not almost ambient on some of the slower tracks. “Down (Falling)” and “Down (Down),” for instance, merge peaceful guitar with swelling strings, and their tone whispers that death by drowning might be a peaceful, if not blissful, experience.

THE HEART THROBS - CLEOPATRA GRIP (ELEKTRA)
Three years ago The Heart Throbs suffered the indignity of being critically tarred as part of the “Blonde Movement”—a rather disparate catchment of bands with blonde female singers (Primitives, Darling Buds, et al). Thus, less attention was focused on their charming music than on blonde sister vocalists Rose and Rachel Carlotti. Now, thankfully, that whole episode is over, the Throbs are unleashing their debut album, and it’s as stirringly evocative as its risque title. What underscores the Throbs potent, direct Pop is the joy and pain of sensuality—on “Tossed Away,” “I Wonder Why,” and “Dreamtime,” you can positively feel the tension brimming below.

Other highlights (and there are twelve) include the helpless “In Vain,” the cold anguish of “Blood From A Stone,” and the sheer rapture of the delightfully baroque “Kiss Me When I’m Starving.” Well worth the wait.

PSYCHIC TV - TOWARDS THEE INFINITE BEAT (WAX TRAX)
1988 and acid house irrevocably altered the sound and directive of Psychic TV. Always arch experimentalists, Genesis P. Orridge’s mob fervently embraced the techno-house explosion—at first anonymously with the Jack The Tab pseudo-compilation record—and now, at last, openly. Towards... is a consummate genre-bender of an album. The tracks are based around hypnotic, repetitive beats and basslines, and house keyboards and samples are interrupted by Gen’s intrusive, droning vocals. This one’s best consumed in small doses. With “IC Water,” a moving tribute to Ian Curtis that owes more than a little to New Order, Towards... reaches its apogee. More fun, though, is “Beyond...” or “The Ravemaster Mixes,” several reworkings of Towards... tracks by upcoming DJs. Far more expansive and instrumental than the originals, “Horror House,” “Stick Insect,” “Money For E,” and “S.M.I.L.E.” save this from being for converts only. AC
THIS IS ONE TIME WE FEEL THE PRICE OF THE SONG WAS TOO GREAT.

MEN IN HELICOPTERS

wouldn't it be great...to see the african plains before they lay them to waste... and only the bones remain wouldn't it be poetry...to shoot holes in the poachers we see with an elephant gun... men in helicopters fly shooting rhinos from out of the sky why do we always assume the planet is ours to ruin what a legacy...we're leaving behind... what a legacy wouldn't it be something...for the men killing dolphin to be caught up by their necks... in their greedy fishing nets wouldn't it be irony...if the tuna fish canneries were to fall into the sea... dolphins and the whales still left alive cry to the stars in the deep blue night 'there's nowhere to hide, the people on earth will not be denied' what a legacy...we're leaving behind... what a legacy wouldn't it be odd...if there really was a God and He looked down on earth... and saw what we've done to Her wouldn't it be just...if He pulled the plug on us and took away the sun... men in helicopters fly shooting rhinos from out of the sky why do we always assume the planet is ours to ruin oh, and all the dolphins alive are crying to the deep blue night 'there's nowhere to hide, the people on earth will not be denied' what a legacy...we're leaving behind

POPEALOPES - KEROSENE (SKYCLAD
6 Valley Brook Dr., Middlesex, N.J. 08846)
For some odd reason, this record elicited thoughts of ancient Britain—the Arthurian legen ds, Stonehenge, dragons and the like. Could be the medieval-ish woodcuts that grace the album’s sleeve, but more likely it’s the pregnant, mysterious, sorcery-tinted air that PopeAlopes Steven Dueker and Pete Lohströh weave with their guitars. Their base, a tonal, almost Sonic-Youthish hum, provides a ready backdrop for bursts of buzz-saw (“Lionheart”), spacyness (“Rosalium”), or winsomeness (“Red Reaction”). Producer Russ Tolman has shown a decided affinity for washing, rich guitar records, and Kerosene is no exception. Sometimes, unfortunately, the melodies lose themselves in the dense guitar fog, and vocalist Dueker can resemble a whiney(er) Michael Stipe. But on the standout cuts, PopeAlopes curb their urge to meander (“Violet”), or allow the bass to carve a clear path through their menacing, mist-enshrouded forest (“Another Black August”). Note that the CD includes a ninth, unlisted track, so don’t miss it.

THE DARKSIDE - HIGHRISE LOVE EP (BEGGARS BANQUET/SITUATION TWO, 274 Madison Ave., Suite 804, NY, NY 10016)
Ex-Spacemen 3 bassist Pete Bain and drummer “Roscoe” Boswell’s mesmerizing rhythms tug at your hips, and acid-soaked, in-flight guitar blasts your brain on this EP’s title cut. It’s not dancey in any traditional sense, but “Highrise Love” features an irrestable, trancy, primitive groove. The B-side, which is more meditative than hypnotic, has two cuts, “The Killing Ground” (“homage to The Sis therhood “Giving Ground”?”), and “Can’t Think Straight.” Both B-side tracks make use of repetitive, structured (but not sterile), percussion and riffing to build tension throughout the verses but then cut loose—during each song’s bridge or end—for maximum cathartic effect. SB

WEIRDOS - CONDOR (FRONTIER RECORDS, P.O. Box 22, Sun Valley, CA 91333)
Let’s face it, Punk is dead. I mean, Johnny Rotten has driven P.I.L. to an embarrassing level of pretentious boredom, Mick Jones’ B.A.D. has recently put out the same record for the third time, and Joe Strummer has just managed to fake his way through his recent burned out solo effort. Punk, R.I.P. But what’s this? L.A.’s Weirdos haven’t resurrected punk’s droning, four-chord, damn-mad fire—they’ve been doing it all along. Since the late seventies, in fact. Somehow, the Weirdos only very sporadically documented their progress with a series of records, so they’re catching up now. Condor reflects a band’s punk to post-punk development. The earlier cuts are pretty much young, loud, and snotty, but later ones wax more mature and a bit more metallic. The Red Hot Chili Peppers’ Flea reportedly plays bass on a hefty percentage of this album. Check Out “Terrain,” “Night After Day,” and “Something’s Moving.” SB

MUDHONEY - “YOU'RE GONE” (Sub Pop,
P.O. Box 20645, Seattle, WA 98102)
For most of this seven-inch’s title track, a huge, black, shadowy guitar demon lurks behind Mark Arm and Steve Turner. It’s big, and from the sound of things, they’re fighting it.
the grinding, bulky presence of their guitars seems continually stronger as they thrust and parry with frequent tempo changes. When Mark and Steve finally shake the demon off, the band settles into a mellower, buzzy, more psychedellic groove. Guitar god Kent Steedman of the Celibate Rifles produced both “You’re Gone” and the first B-side track, “Thorn,” which features Mudhoney doing what they do best—pummelling themselves to a pulp. Is that Steedman’s guitar throwing a few power-packed punches way down in the noisy fray? On the final cut, “You Make Me Die,” the band turns over vocal duties to Billy Childish (Thee Milkshakes, Thee Headcoats), who also did the song’s final mix.
The result—somewhat of a departure for Mudhoney—might almost be a vintage, twochord, sneering Brit punk single. Although this band pretty much defined a sound and trend, the bit of diversity on this 7” might indicate they’re not content to stick strictly in the formula. We’ll see... SB

COURAGE OF LASSIE - SING OR DIE
(C'EST LA MORT, P.O. Box 91, Baker, LA 70714)
In a past existence, Cowboy Junkies often opened for Courage of Lassie, and indeed their music is similar. Courage of Lassie are delicate and unforgettable. Their vocals, interpretations and arrangements create and share personal visuals. The songs strike contemplative moods of love, hope and fear.
They’re often desparing, but never morbid.
Mostly covers, but nonetheless creatively rendered, these songs segue easily. Tracks:
“Bang Bang My Baby Shot Me Down,” “Big Town,” “Ophelia,” “Down By The Sally Gardens,” “Hope and Fears,” “Sag Mir Wo Die Blumen Sind” and “La Rose.” Dedicated to Leonard Cohen. ROBERT BARONE

SMERSH - EMMANUELLE GOES TO BANGKOK (KK-RECORDS, P.O. Box 35, South Plainfield, NJ 07080) Smersh’s noise is so powerful that mere adjectives can get in the way. This band is raw but it has a strangely pleasant kind of pain. Whatever song they create or cover, the music creates intrigue and generates curiosity. Get pulled into the world of Smersh. Volume helps to properly illustrate this noise. Tracks:
“A Touch Of Venus,” “Armed Man Dub,” “Brown Out,” “Titanic Fantastic,” “Riding
With The Pharaohs” and “Discoteca.” Hang on. RB

VARIOUS - SOMEWHERE IN THE SKELETON (BODY RECORDS-CD)
It’s the kind of music that a club deejay might start playing late at night—or is that early in the morning? The sweat will pour off your body as this release’s mega-sound assaults your senses. While each track is singularly bizarre, the album has a coherence that makes it unique. The vocals are usually hard and painful, and combined with the music some of these tracks might serve as a soundtrack for a horror film. These bands are serious. Bordering on noise, but closer to industrial dance, these 16 groups will have you on the edge.
The bands are from Japan, France, Sweden, Holland, Norway, U.K., with several from Germany and Belgium. Try: DRP, Operating Strategies, Voice Of Mute, The Splatters, Vita Noetics and De Fabriek. Some interesting concepts here. RB

HANDFUL OF SNOWDROPS - LAND OF THE DAMNED (C'EST LA MORT, P.O. Box 91, Baker, LA 70714) Handful of Snowdrops’ talent comes from their diversity. Their music ranges from cycclonic tones, not unlike Philip Glass, to tracks that might have been composed by Erasure or Xymox, but all of it is dramatic and pulsating.
The combination of synthesizer with the bands' other elements creates a riveting sound.
Bass, guitar and percussion cut through its driving, often Gothic creations. But the vocal is never lost as it weaves intriguing stories.
Check: “When Comes Day Light,” “Gabrielle,” “Scream Cry or Fall” and “Land of The Damned.” RB

he gave me ‘Pretty Pink Rose’ and did the video with me. It’s worked for both of us. I think it was generous of David to do all this for me.”

The opportunity to tour with Bowie stirred Belew’s creative juices. If he was to travel around the world playing both Bowie’s and his own music, it seemed natural to record a new solo album that he could simultaneously promote to a mass audience. But time was tight.

“I had ten weeks to do Young Lions. I also had thirty-three of David’s songs to work out. And I even crammed some time to appear on a large show in Germany with Mike Oldfield that went out to seven hundred million people. Huge.”

Soon the Belew work ethic was in full motion.

“I would fervently enter the studio, working from 10 AM to 7 PM. Then I would go home to be with my family for dinner into the evening. After they went to bed, I would work on what was coming up the next day. It became like an ongoing cycle. I would study my own music at night and the next day I would make changes. The excitement level got very keen. I never thought I could make this record in ten weeks time. But I needed to do it. I had to have this record to promote on such a big tour. I also had from October to January to finish it. The rehearsals started with David on January 12. “Pretty Pink Rose” was actually the last song I finished. David sent it to me January 6th, I recorded it on the 7th and 8th and on the 12th, I was in New York with David rehearsing for his tour.”

“Pretty Pink Rose” has since become the centerpiece for Young Lions. It is a strange poem put to some grinding rock n roll that originally arrived in polished demo form.

“Pretty Pink Rose”, according to David, is about socialism. He studies current political and modern history and talks about it frequently. I think he’s very concerned about what’s happening around the world. He had sent me a demo which members of Bryan Adams’ band had played on. I spent two days recording it, took it to New York where we were preparing for rehearsals. Late one night, after rehearsals, we went into the studio and popped in the vocals.

“It was very exciting for me, standing microphone-to-microphone with David Bowie singing a song.”

Belew’s role on the Bowie caravan is certainly a switch from his debut during Bowie’s 1978 Heroes tour, which resulted in the live album, Stage.

“Twelve years ago I felt very much in awe of David. I was the young, green, naive guitarist behind the legendary superstar. Now we hang out together and go to art museums. We crack bad jokes together.

“Music Director is the role that I’ve assumed. It’s a very casual role. David needed someone who would put the arrangements together, making it simple to take this great production to go on the road.”

During Sound + Vision, Belew performs some of the new songs from Young Lions, an album featuring many creative bursts. One of the high points of Young Lions includes a composition called “Phone Call From The Moon,” a lonely ode to being away from home on the road, playing rock n roll.

“’Phone Call From The Moon’ was written particularly about the touring I did with The Bears. We did seven United States club tours! While they were fun and exciting, there were times when I felt a bit old. I would call home from a phone booth feeling like I might as well be on the moon. I was so far away from my real life. You do get homesick and despondent. So I created this mental image of someone stranded on the moon a la Major Tom. When we were recording the song, I dialed my wife long distance via satellite from the studio. I woke her up. In a sleepy voice, she said, ‘Hello.’ When I explained that I had recorded her, she said, ’Well call me again, I think I can do it better’.

Songs like “Men In Helicopters” and “Looking For A U.F.O.” fall into the category of “global concerns.”

“Both songs deal with issues that continue to bother me, global issues, ecological issues dealing with endangered species and the poisoning of our world. Being a father, I’m attuned to that. Sometimes, as a writer, I get fed up. I’m horrified that someone would still sit in a helicopter with a high powered rifle and shoot an elephant or a rhinoceros.

“The rhino still fascinates me, as do whales, dolphins and elephants. There’s something about the ugly beauty that those animals exhibit. Over the years they’ve served as convenient motifs, to utilize animal sounds and behavior patterns as a metaphor for human conditions. When I write about a lone rhino being captive in a zoo, it’s also about a person who feels that way, trapped in their own life.”

In addition to writing new songs for Young Lions on short notice, Belew was forced to reach into his bag of tricks for an obscure tape he’d been carrying around for many years. The recording, given to him by a folk musician, features an authentic radio recording of a raving evangelist, The Prophet Omega. The cut became Young Lions’ “most philosophical” statement, the Popeye-esque “I Am What I Am.”

“I can’t say that I’ve had the pleasure of meeting The Prophet Omega. I’m not sure he still exists. I don’t know the age of these tapes. My friend Al Kooper from Blood Sweat & Tears gave me thirty minutes worth of his radio shows. I used to play them for people all the time. The Prophet Omega was an evangelist who worked out of his apartment in Nashville. He gives the address on one of the shows. His basic sermon is sort of the Popeye Manifesto, I Am What I Am. I fell in love with the sound of his voice, the things he was saying. It was very contagious. And when I had this farcical guitar track with no idea what to sing on it, I decided to give The Prophet Omega a place to live on this record. And though I’ve never met him, in my mind’s eye he looks like a cross between Stevie Wonder and Don King.”

Rounding out Young Lions are two unlikely cover tunes. One is the Traveling Wilbury’s “Not Alone Anymore,” one of the last songs Roy Orbison wrote before his fatal heart attack. The other is “Heartbeat.”

“Heartbeat” is one of the only songs that I brought to King Crimson that everyone added their parts to. But I still felt it was my own song. Legally I had to wait seven years to record it. It was a typical publishing agreement stating that we wouldn’t re-record these songs for another label. Eight years later, I’m cutting Young Lions, looking for songs that are already written that I can include on the album. I hope everyone likes it. I’m sure Robert Fripp will like it when he gets a royalty check.”

Whether it’s his pop side or progressive side, rest assured Adrian Belew will always be a man in demand. Aside from his impressive credentials, he’s an extremely likeable sort who sounds equally at home playing on Paul Simon’s Graceland, King Crimson’s Discipline or his own progressive pop experiments.

“Musically, I fit into a lot of areas. My guitar work is flexible. Mostly I offer sounds, sounds that I have a huge variety of that can fit into a lot of settings. As a person, I’m easy to get along with. I try to have a sense a humor about the outcome of things. I’m not a difficult guy to get to know.”

“It seems that a niche for a guy like me becomes smaller all the time. But I can’t let that affect me too much. I can’t really contrive music. I play the music I want to hear. Fortunately my sensibilities are going back to my roots, which were the Beatles, British invasion, Motown, Beach Boys, Hendrix—things that were and still remain popular. That’s her heritage. And rather than hide those influences, I’d rather show that I’m proud of them.”

PERSONAL PICKS

SINGLES by Dave Sholin

PRINCE - Thieves In The Temple (Paisley Park/Warner Bros.)

Exactly what you’d expect from one of this generation’s most innovative and provocative artists. Taking us on our first musical journey across his “Graffiti Bridge,” Prince sets a mood of anticipation, gliding along and picking up intensity along the way but never losing control. The remarkable video, which is more of a mini-movie, features an extended mix highlighted by top-notch instrumentation. The master has done it again!

TAYLOR DAYNE - Heart Of Stone (Arista)

Whatever the tempo, Taylor’s brand of Pop is that rare variety that wins me over in one listen. That’s the case with this well-crafted effort co-written by Elliot Wolff, whose music helped Paula Abdul climb the chart last year. One of the hottest hooks to come along in awhile guarantees that Taylor’s successful string of hits will remain unbroken.

WAS (NOT WAS) - Are You Okay? (Chrysalis)

Was (Not Was) is contemporary music’s most consistently unpredictable group. Their Mottstown sense of Soul and their Martian sense of theatre make for plenty of contradiction, but even more, great music. I thought their 1988 album, “What Up, Dog?” was one of the best of the year. Its production was exhausting and inventive. On this first sequel in the nineties, The Was Bros., Sir Harry, Sweet Pea and the rest of the motley crew carry forward their peculiar batch of reverential and irreverent storyboards. The album’s centerpiece is its tough remake of The Temptations’ classic PAPA WAS A ROLLING STONE, complete with a def-defying rap from G Love E. Later on we get Leonard Cohen waxing poetic on a Was original, ELVIS’ ROLLS ROYCE, The Roches harmonizing on a disturbing MARIA NOVARRO, and an absolutely goofy I FEEL BETTER THAN JAMES BROWN.

EVEERYDAY PEOPLE - Headline News (SBK)

Stop the presses! Better yet, pop in this CD now and check out one of the most ingenious efforts of the year. Liner notes correctly point out that the music defies any kind of label but one—it’s just damn good. The trio, fronted by vocalist Desy Campbell, opened for Lisa Stansfield on part of her abbreviated tour and deserves to get plenty of ink in the months ahead.

PHIL COLLINS - Something Happened On The Way To Heaven (Atlantic)

Looking at the “When You Play It Say It” sticker on the CD single, I can’t help but think that anyone who can’t figure out this is Phil Collins has probably been in a cave for the last five or six years. Few artists are as immediately recognizable or as consistent in turning out multi-format hits. Here’s his latest hevenly example.

THE LONDON QUIREBOYS - I Don’t Love You Anymore (Capitol)

Nearly reaching the Top 40 recently with “7 O’Clock,” The London Quireboys alter the hot rockin’ approach of that release for their follow-up. This emotionally-charged power ballad should generate lots of interest from listeners who will no doubt call asking for the new Rod Stewart record.

TlMES 2 - Set Me Free (EMI)

It was overnight success for Shanti Jones and Johnny (now called John) Dollar in 1988 when they scored with “Strange But True.” Making their first appearance on the music scene this decade, the duo comes charging back with a cool groove that allows them to put their slick production skills to good use in the process.
