Staggering of Employment in Theatres

For the Information of Locals and Members

IN former articles I have explained that in the different Codes employment is only created for more workers by reducing the hours of those who are employed. As a general rule, a maximum of forty hours has been set for workers, thus several millions of them who formerly worked longer hours had such hours reduced which created employment for several millions of unemployed. However, this did not lead to the additional employment of a single musician, as our working hours on permanent engagements, as explained in a previous article, in very few instances exceed forty hours per week. Finally, the administrator, after discussing the matter with the president of our Federation, made a demand upon us in the form of a suggestion that in the employment in theatres, being the industry over which he had Code authority, the employment of our members be staggered, and with this he combined the suggestion that our organization take immediate action to enforce such policy. As a result, conferences were held with representatives of the larger theatrical corporations, such as Loew's, Paramount, Warner Brothers, R. K. O., etc., and they, even though formerly refusing to permit staggering in their houses, this time readily agreed, provided that it could be done in such a manner as not to interfere with proper theatrical performances, or result in the disruption of the ensemble of their orchestras in such a manner as to reduce the standard of their services. Their reservations as a result of our fair consideration of same had to be agreed to. As a result, the Federation was obliged to stipulate the following rules under which staggering should take place:

Staggered Employment of Musicians in Theatres

- (a) Employment of musicians in every theatre presenting dramatic, musical or burlesque shows, picture, vaudeville and/or any other character of performance or entertainment, shall be staggered so as to give employment to additional musicians at least to the extent of twenty-five (25%) per cent of those regularly employed, without increasing the employer's expense; therefore, during at least one week out of each four weeks the musicians of each orchestra shall be replaced or substituted by other musicians not regularly employed elsewhere.
- (b) The staggering system shall not apply to leaders, since they are responsible for the efficiency of the orchestra.
- (c) The substitution may be carried out in the employer's discretion over any part of each four-week period, so long as an equal number of other musicians are employed at least one week out of each four weeks, thus permitting
- (1) The use of a different orchestra every fourth week;
 - (2) Substitutions during any part of each four weeks; or

(3) Substitutions of one or more parts of the orchestra at a time, provided the same result is had.

(d) Musicians replaced or substituted shall not be employed for any part of the substituted period in any place where the staggering plan is required. The same substitutes may be used in the same orchestra in different four-week periods, but no musician other than the leader shall be employed in the same theatre more than three out of every four weeks.

(e) These rules shall control the employment of all musicians in theatres located in the territorial jurisdiction of all locals.

(f) One extra rehearsal by the regulars and the substitutes, if made necessary by the staggering system, shall be free of same members. That is, if one member has a week's employment in a theatre during four weeks, he must not accept another week's employment, as doing so would interfere with the purpose of staggering to give relief to as many unemployed as possible.

In reference to the entire proposition it must be said that same had to be treated in a national way, as leaving it to the option of locals would have made uniform compliance with the rule of staggering impossible. Furthermore, it would have continually created embarrassment for the local unions and their officers, who could not reasonably be required to decide which particular members should benefit by staggering. Such a condition would have led to unrest among the mem-the past has refrained from staggering employment, except to a very limited degree and in but a few local jurisdictions. The present attempt will take our organization out of this position, which will avoid much criticism we have been subjected to in past and all of which was not confined to our members.

As to staggering in other employment such as dance jobs, hotels, etc., it presents a more difficult problem and whether it will be advisable to make such an attempt is still under consideration.

Staggering in bands which have a certain style or ensemble, such as Olsen's, Whiteman's, Rudy Vallee's and many hundreds of like character appears impossible. Such bands cannot change their ensemble each week and in every jurisdiction that they may visit and, therefore, an attempt to stagger them would result in such chaos as would threaten destruction rather than division of employment.

However, this matter also is receiving the serious consideration of the Federation, and whether it may be found possible to do something in connection therewith I am not in a position to say as yet.

The next issue of the International Musician will contain further reports concerning the Codes and the NRA activities in general, as well as the position in which our organization finds itself from time to time in reference thereto.

Supplementing the statements concerning Codes appearing in previous issues of the International Musician, let me say that the Radio and Moving Picture Industry Codes have not as yet been signed by the President, but doubtless they will have received his signature before this issue of the International Musician is in the hands of locals and members.

HOTEL CODE

As to the Hotel Code, it has been signed and is in effect now. The National Recovery Administration refuses to have any labor organization named therein as being exempt from its provisions. This is of special interest to us, as these provisions stipulate very low minimum wages, which cover all employes and, as even the National Recovery Administration cannot deny, musicians who are often and for long periods employed in hotels can be considered as hotel employes under this Code. This may lead to attempts to have the wage provisions of the Code apply to musicians. However, our Federation is in possession of written assurances that it was not the administration's intent that wages and conditions of skilled workers should be lowered. These assurances were received by reason of our continued protests that employers under this Code would have the right to employ our members under its minimum wage provisions, more espe-

Change of Convention Date

Official Notice to All Locals:

Locals are hereby advised that the International Executive Board was constrained to change the date of the Convention from June 11th, 1934, to June 18th, 1934.

The change was made for the reason that satisfactory hotel accommodations could not be secured in the City of Cleveland during the week of June 11th, 1934.

Fraternaly yours,
JOS. N. WEBER,
President.

charge, so that the employer's payroll shall not be increased by reason of the staggering plan.

(g) In runs of musical shows in the towns in which such show is organized and produced, the four-week periods shall start from the commencement of the second week of the show.

(h) All existing by-laws and regulations of locals to the extent that they do not conflict with the provisions hereof, shall continue in full force and effect.

For a clear understanding of the extent of the staggering, the following example is submitted:

For instance, the wages of a member are $70 per week. In four weeks he would earn $280. It is expected of him now to be satisfied to earn $210 and give some unemployed member, possessing the same musical qualifications as he, an opportunity to earn $70 during said four weeks.

It is, of course, understood, that the staggering must not be done by the members, claims of discrimination, dissatisfaction with local officers, all of which would have placed them in an awkward and unfair, if not impossible position. Furthermore, as an employer has a right to insist that the quality of the services rendered for him must not suffer through staggering, that is that he must not be embarrassed by having inferior services given him, the person responsible for the proper performance of the orchestra (who is the leader) is the person upon whom responsibility must continue to rest as to the nature of the services of the orchestra. Therefore, it is he and no one else who has a right to select the man who should do the staggering, with such reservations as are included in the rules, which have for their purpose the employment of the greatest number of members possible.

In connection with the matter, I will say that our organization is the only one among the larger organizations of the American Federation of Labor which in cially in cases which the contract under which they had been employed had expired and other members were to be engaged. Whether the assurances we received from the administration will suffice to protect our interests in this situation remains to be seen, as, after all, the provisions in a Code speak for themselves. However, by reason of our having received the assurance that it was not the intent of the Code to lower the wages of skilled workers, any attempt by an employer to apply the Code's minimum wages to our members will be followed immediately by the exercise of our economic strength to prevent it, and all resources of our organization—which may include resort to court proceedings—will be employed to protect our interests. We hold steadfastly to the principle which, as we understand it, underlies the NRA as well as the President's Agreement, that wages should be increased and not lowered, and shall maintain that the minimum wage in the Hotel Code has for its sole purpose the ending of sweatshop conditions. We shall maintain that an employer, under same, has no moral right whatsoever to use the hotel minimum wage for the purpose of tearing down existing higher minimums, because if we were to permit this without protest, resentment and defense, it would mean the weakening of our organization and the reduction of its economic strength to such an extent as would make it questionable whether its exercise in future would be of benefit to us. The minimum wage in the Hotel Code, as already indicated, is low, and, compared with the wages paid to our members for services in hotels, is extremely so. The comparison between the two is positively ridiculous and this fact will stand us in good stead to maintain our position in the matter, that is, that we will in all ways employ our resources to prevent the lowering of the economic standard of our members working in hotels the same as we do in all their other employment. Further explanations concerning the Hotel Code and our activities in reference thereto will appear in the report which the president will make to the next convention.

SHIPPING CODE

Some members insisted that the wages of musicians playing on passenger boats should be regulated under the Shipping Code. The attempt to do so was not made for the reason that the result would unquestionably have been the stipulation of an extremely low wage in said Code, that is, such wage would have been considerably lower than the wages paid now to musicians for such services. For other reasons, conditions under which musicians render services on steamships do not lend themselves to regulation by a Code. As in the case of almost all other industries, we must depend upon our economic strength to regulate same. The reasons why this is so will be more fully explained in the president's report to the next convention.

LEGITIMATE THEATRE CODE

In connection with this Code we have experienced some interesting developments. I have explained in a previous article concerning Codes that this Code contained a stipulation to the effect that employers and employes should work together for the purpose of amending or easing some rules and regulations which in the past, it is alleged, resulted in the creation of prohibitive production costs tending to create unemployment among other workers. This stipulation was insisted upon by the National Recovery Administration and hence we had no alternative except to agree thereto. However, disputes arose from the very beginning concerning its application. From the outset employers in the legitimate and combination theatres insisted that our demand that musicians be employed for dramatic performances, no matter in what house given, led to prohibitive production costs. As we demurred against such an allegation, the employers finally turned to the NRA with the request that the Code be reopened and be amended so that an employer, who otherwise lived up to all the stipulations of the Code, need not employ any worker whom he felt he did not need. Their proposition to amend the Code is as follows:

"As long as the producers faithfully observe all terms and conditions of the dramatic code that a producer shall not be compelled to employ any particular class of labor if in the judgment of that employer such class of labor was not necessary."

The above, of course, makes it plain that the employer should be left the sole judge as to the number of musicians to be employed and when and where it should be done. Our position was, and is, that if the Code should be amended as proposed by the employers, it would lead to the use of fewer musicians, with a resulting loss of employment opportunities in the theatres, and that this was certainly not within the spirit of the NRA. Furthermore, we would not agree that our members be subject to call in theatre employment, that is, obtain work only during such weeks as the employer imperatively needed them and be subjected to layoffs during other times of a season. We contended that our wage was a season's wage, therefore we were entitled to a season's employment. We contended, too, that if the employer would not agree to this that we would have to at least double our wage scales for the services of our members in case the employer did choose to employ them. The employers immediately demurred to such an arrangement. The stipulation in the Code, which provides that employers and employees work together to amend rules which led to unemployment of other workers, carries with it the provision that it must be proven that such is the case. Yet during the hearings in only one individual case was it, in the opinion of the administrator, obvious that conditions demanded by the local caused the employer to go in the red. All arguments of the employers that this was the general situation left out of consideration the fact that attendance in theatres is affected by the present economic crisis of our nation, the lowering of the purchasing power of the masses, the exceedingly small incomes that millions are able to earn at the present time and the inability of millions of others to earn anything at all. Their attention was called to the fact that in lower income and absence of profits they were not in any different position than almost all other industries. It was pointed out that during good times when many of them amassed their fortunes, they did not voluntarily raise the economic standards of their employes, and, speaking especially for ourselves, we stated what is positively true, that only through our economic strength through many years of efforts have we been successful in raising the wages of the musicians to be somewhat, even if not entirely, commensurate with the value of the services which they render.

After the hearing the administrator took the matter under advice and finally informed us that it was determined as follows:

(1) Further negotiations should take place between representatives of the employers and the local unions under the jurisdiction of the American Federation of Musicians with respect to the proposals of the employers.

(2) In the case of stock dramatic houses maintained at popular admission fees, it was suggested that local unions consider a differentiation in wages so that same be somewhat lower in such houses than wages paid the musicians in dramatic or musical show houses maintaining a higher admission fee.

(3) In the event of failure to agree between the local unions affiliated with the American Federation of Musicians and the employers, the American Federation of Musicians pledged itself, if requested by the local unions or employers, to use its best efforts to have the matters amicably adjusted.

As to above proposition No. 3, it is, of course, well known that our national organization has always been willing to use its best influence to have misunderstandings between our locals and employers amicably adjusted.

As to the one case in which the administrator held that the employer had conclusive proof that he was not in a position to employ musicians for his dramatic stock performances, the matter was adjusted by a compromise reached under his supervision and agreed to by the local union involved.

The entire development in this case is sufficient proof without the need of saying more about it that inasmuch as no employment is created for musicians as a result of the codes, we are best off without being mentioned in them, as being left in such position avoids entanglement and embarrassment which always follows as the result of employers' attempts to offer the least possible employment and the smallest possible wage.

Somewhere Along the Road

The road I know is full of hate;
Of envy and of wrong.
Where life is still a scrap with fate
As seasons move along;
And yet amid the bitter trail
Now lighter grows the load
When one can hear a friendly call,
A friendly hail across the wall
Somewhere along the road.

The world is full of knots and such
That toss one in a hole.
When fate maintains its deadly clutch
Upon the weary soul;
And yet when life is full and bare
How little seems the good
When some mate has a smile to spare,
A friendly grip that on the square
Somewhere along the road.

—E. J. DEVAUX.

CELEBRATED BRASS SECTION OF CASA LOMA ORCHESTRA

ESSEX HOUSE HOTEL, NEW YORK

100% BACH

Tune in on Station WABC, New York, and enjoy the marvelous tone which these artists produce with their BACHS. Listen to Bobby Jones whistle those high E's and F's. Note the exceptional smoothness of Bill Rauch's tone and the ease with which he reaches the high F (concert) in the theme song.

Bach trumpets, cornets and trombones are remarkable for their fine playing qualities and mechanical perfection. They produce an enormous volume of tone with a minimum of effort, yet they respond to the most delicate pianissimo and give the player the utmost support in the extreme high register. The appearance of the BACH is artistic. Free of all unnecessary attachments of no practical value to the professional, it is the ne plus ultra of brass instrument construction.

Bach instruments are not only used by the Casa Loma Orchestra, but also by the Isham Jones, Benny Meroff, Rudy Vallee and many other "name" bands. For their exacting work none but a BACH will suffice. Write for our trumpet or trombone catalog.

Labor-Displacing Machinery

A NEW interpretation of the relationship of labor-displacing machinery to the workers whose jobs are destroyed and to general social progress is raised by the proposal of President I. M. Ornburn of the Cigar Makers' International Union that a tax be placed on machines to provide a fund to assist in sustaining the jobless workers until they are absorbed in other industries.

In approving Mr. Ornburn's proposal, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said:

"The machine, if introduced merely for the sake of saving labor without regard to the repercussion of this saving upon the general welfare, is now well understood to be an enemy. If, on the other hand, it is introduced in an orderly and responsible manner, it may well be looked upon by all as a friend.

"As labor has often said, we must make a servant of the machine instead of allowing it to become a master over our economic destiny.

"There is no greater tyranny than that exercised by wholly impersonal forces once they have escaped control. Once the dislocations brought about by them become set, they can not be corrected without great and painful effort. Therefore, the sooner the effort is made the less it will cost."

Step by step organized labor's contention that machinery in production must be brought under social control to protect the right of all workers to earn a living is marching ahead with an emphasis that will brook no retreat.

Now For Ten Million

THE American Federation of Labor has granted eight hundred and twenty-four charters to national and international unions, federal labor unions, and local unions since July 1, Frank Morrison, secretary of the Federation, announced.

The new unions are located in every part of the United States and Canada and include all classes of working men and women.

Long terrorized and enslaved by the arrogant practices of anti-labor employers who forced the notorious company union down the unwilling throats of their employes, the workers have sensed their freedom under the National Recovery Act, which guarantees the right to organize in bona fide trade unions without interference from employers, and have come to the American Federation of Labor and its affiliated unions by hundreds of thousands.

"Now for ten million members!" is the slogan of the A. F. of L., with good prospects for the realization of this goal.

Hitler Continues Foolish Course

ADOLF HITLER is determined to continue his ruthless anti-Jewish campaign, Berlin dispatches say. His Minister of Economics, Dr. Kurt Schmitt, wiser and more far-sighted than the Nazi boss, sought to show Hitler the supreme foolishness of his determination to oust all Jews from key positions in German industry and business. But Herr Hitler thinks he knows more than Schmitt and stuck to his determination, despite the fact that Schmitt told him that ousting of Jewish executives was slowing up German industry.

Hitler seems impervious to reason on some matters and he apparently has made up his mind to dismiss all Jews, no matter how valuable their services may be. Germany is suffering from the Nazi's anti-Jewish policy and will suffer more unless it is changed. But her suffering may be her salvation, rousing her in the end to get rid of the Nazi despotism.

The Eighteenth Amendment

ON November 7th enough States voted for the repeal of the prohibition amendment to bring the total up to thirty-six, the number required to strike the amendment from the Federal Constitution.

This decision of the voters is a complete justification of the American Federation of Labor's position on this question.

In their report to the 1933 convention of the American Federation of Labor, the Executive Council of that organization, in discussing the progress made in ratification of the repeal amendment, said:

"From the inception of this legislation we have opposed the enactment of the Eighteenth Amendment and after its adoption manifested clearly that it was an unwarrantable attempt in the enactment of organic law and would prove to be a failure. The experience under the operation of the law has fully demonstrated our claims. We are happy to note that the consistent attitude of the A. F. of L. in opposition to the Eighteenth Amendment is about to be realized in its complete repeal."

The convention was right. The final verdict of the American people in repealing the Eighteenth Amendment reflects the persistent agitation which organized labor has carried on for years and again exemplifies the broad, constructive and correct views of Labor when expressed through its responsible organization.

Work, Not Charity, at Last

LABOR'S oft reiterated demand for work for the unemployed, not charity, is at last put into effect in the Federal Government's plan for taking 4,000,000 men from relief rolls this winter and giving them employment on a nation-wide civil works program.

The latest government move is a long step forward in civilized and intelligent handling of the relief problem. It is a big contribution to the maintenance of national morale. Nothing is so demoralizing as charity. It saps initiative and self-respect and can only be justified if there is no other possible way to give help. Fortunately, the administration has found a way to remove men from charity lists and give them the work which they have long desired and sought in vain.

One of the best features of the plan is that it will end supervision of millions by relief organizations. It is emphasized that the administration is determined that American citizens shall no longer be compelled to live under the auspices of charitable agencies. "That means," Federal Relief Administrator Hopkins said, "that investigations will stop and we need no longer pry into the personal and private lives of these people."

The plan is indeed a "fundamental change" in the Federal program to deal with the depression, as President Roosevelt said, with safeguards to prevent it from being used in any way to depress wage and working standards, it should prove of immeasurable benefit to the nation.

The Duke Millions

MUCH slush has been appearing in the daily newspapers about Miss Doris Duke, called the richest girl in the world. Miss Duke, daughter of the late James B. Duke, tobacco magnate, came into possession of some $30,000,000 on her twenty-first birthday on November 22. She has "five palatial homes, a corps of servants and every luxury that wealth can bring," to quote the tabloids.

How much better it would have been if Miss Duke's father had left her less and during his lifetime given more to his employes and to the farmers who raised the tobacco used in his factories. His daughter has many, many more millions of dollars than she has any use for. Distributed in the form of higher wages among the Duke employes and in the form of higher prices for tobacco, the money would have been productive of infinitely more good to society.

Labor Queries

Questions and Answers on Labor: What It Has Done; Where It Stands on Problems of the Day; Its Aim and Program; Who's Who in the Ranks of the Organized Toilers.

Q.—Does organized labor favor retirement systems for public school teachers?

A.—Yes. The 1933 American Federation of Labor convention recommended that efforts be continued for the establishment by law of sound retirement systems for teachers in the public schools.

Q.—Did the 1933 A. F. of L. convention act on old age pensions?

A.—The convention declared for compulsory old age pensions by Federal or State law.

Q.—Who said: "Abuses affect the morals of the worker adversely and in a manner which possesses portentous social consequences?"

A.—Dr. John McDowell.

Out Beyond the Surf

Where thought, un-hastened by necessity or trepidation, sometimes penetrates to truth. Here, where the shallows throw no spray, let us ponder and enjoy the lessons of the art and the work and play of life.

In the Journal of the American Bankers' Association there is a most remarkable confession.

A well displayed article recites the list of bond issues floated by Wall Street in the United States for South American nations.

The total runs to about a billion and a half and of this total some 77 per cent is in complete or partial default.

The Senate Investigating Committee has shown that the bankers knew in advance that a good deal of defaulting would take place.

Now these bankers are the gentlemen who have thought they should be allowed to run the country. They are still clinging to that idea.

They sent some seventeen billion dollars to Europe in the ten years ending in 1929 and most of that is destined never to come back.

They put other billions into over-financed American ventures and that will never come back.

All in all this nation has been subjected to about as thorough a cleaning as could well have been devised.

All of these billions of dollars were skimmed from the workers of the United States.

Men and women who tumbled out of bed in the early morning and who plugged through day after day of hard work kicked in to make up the enormous jackpot of money that went into Latin America, into Europe and into high financing in the United States.

Recent testimony has shown how millions were made, without the investment of a cent, in certain oil stock pools.

It's a queer thing and an interesting thing that the era of grand robbery coincided with the era of prohibition and gangsterism.

While the machine gunners worked their side of the street, Wall Street worked the other side. Wall Street worked for the big money.

It seems that the nation was about skimmed dry. All the cream was lapped up by the robbers.

In the Mid-west the farmers say they have had enough of it. The wage-earners, fighting for fair provisions in codes, say they have had enough of it.

All over the country people are saying, "Such robbery has got to stop—or else."

There is a deep note of determination running through the population.

In Washington the New Deal keeps inching closer to the heart of the trouble. The New Deal, however, is being sabotaged by some of its own personnel. There are plenty of administration people who don't have any particular sympathy with any kind of a New Deal.

This is not the time for half measures. The robbery has been complete. The remedy will have to be complete.

The National Association of Manufacturers doesn't like to face the necessary change. Neither does the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Well, whatever they don't like ought to be worth examining among the rest of us. They have shown us what they like and what they like hasn't been good for the rest of us. While they were getting what they liked the rest of us were getting robbed.

Wall Street must be deprived of its power to use the money and the credit of the nation and its millions for the enrichment of a few who have neither conscience nor social intelligence.

The Wigglin-Insull-Mitchell kind of business must be wiped off the slate.

Cigar Makers Show the Way

THE Cigar Makers' International Union, which has been at the forefront of every labor advance since the days of its organization, is again taking the lead in labor progress.

The Cigar Makers are proposing that when the machine displaces workers in the cigar industry, it must bear a share of the burden of that displacement, by a contribution of cash per machine to help tide the displaced workers over until they can be placed in other occupations.

"We contend," said President I. M. Ornburn of the union, "that the time has passed when a machine can come along and throw workers into the discard without compunction and without relief."

The proposal is well described by President Ornburn as the first constructive plan for meeting the issue of unemployment caused by the introduction of machines. It shows the way for all industry and it merits the most serious consideration by those administering the national recovery plan.

OVER FEDERATION FIELD

(By Chauncey A. Weaver)

The waning year brings another strutting upon the stage of those disseminators of blather whose specialty is a demand for calendar reform. They clamor for a thirteen-month year. What promotional zeal there is for this particular nuisance seems to have originated with the old cent-per-cent crowd which claim it will be easier to "keep a set of books." Their inspirational slogan appears to be: A golden calf on every mantelpiece; a cash register in every home. With the adjuncts to advanced materialism safely ensconced, what are sacred festivals, cherished traditions, and historic days to them? Christmas, Thanksgiving, Independence Day and all the rest—even the baby's birthday—would be lost in the statistical welter substituted by the money-grabbing cent-per-centers. To this eagle-squeezing crowd the only Elysium they can appreciate or comprehend is contained within the four walls of the counting room. To their auricular sensibilities the raucous clatter of the market place transcends in sweetness even the music of the spheres. If a tear-gas of some kind, too weak to be fatal and yet sufficiently potent to be effective, could be made to descend gently upon this tribal horde of public nuisance-mongers, we feel sure the public response would be a resultant mental and spiritual exhilaration quite beyond measure.

"Buy your Christmas presents early," is the plaintive call of the merchandise vender. Heaven pity and comfort the multitudes who will not be able to buy them at all!

Among the sectional movements for consideration and improvement of music conditions may be mentioned the New York State Conference which had its initial gathering recently at Albany. Delegates from twenty of the leading locals of the State were present. Organization was perfected by the election of Leonard Campbell, Local No. 66, of Rochester, as chairman, and George A. Keene, of Local No. 809, of Middletown, secretary-treasurer. Fred W. Birnbach of President Weber's official staff, was present and addressed the meeting.

Delegates presented their local problems. Great interest was shown and much speculation manifested in the probable effect and influence of the N.R.A. movement on musical conditions.

The everlasting school band issue also received attention.

From the printed proceedings we glean the following interesting observation:

The N.R.A. code when established will compel non-union bands, if they wish to be N.R.A., to conform with fair competition. Juvenile bands and all under sixteen years of age will be barred from N.R.A. bands and orchestras because of the Child Labor Clause in the new recovery act and which the strongest and most arrogant industry has not even tried to put out of the codes. N.R.A. bands would have a great advantage in competition with juvenile bands because nearly every person, firm or organization are N.R.A. consumer members and could not dodge the obligation to employ N.R.A. music.

Local No. 14, headed by President Frank Walter, gave the delegates a hospitable welcome and received the thanks of the conference. The conference was a big success and will undoubtedly become an expanding institution as time goes by.

Colorado Springs musicians, Local No. 154, held a big meeting recently. Brother J. D. Byrne, state officer and president of Local No. 69, of Pueblo, was present and told the members their short-comings and good qualities. The latter seemed to appreciate the face-to-face and heart-to-heart discussion and all voted the meeting a big success.

The Salem (Mass.) Evening News of recent date contains a nearly two-column story entwined around the long-time professional activities of two widely-known New England musicians—Jean Missud and Henry Woelber. The occasion was a luncheon affair under the auspices of the local Rotary Club. Bandmaster Missud has been a leader, publisher, composer and arranger since a time before the oldest of us can remember and his notable career was deemed eminently worthy of review by one qualified to speak. Commenting upon the Missud capabilities, Mr. Woelber said:

His genius commands respect; his compositions are known throughout the world. As a bandmaster he was a strict disciplinarian, both in deportment and in playing, and the American bandmen owe him much.

After dwelling upon the distinction which came to Missud and his far-famed Salem Cadet Band, musician Woelber gave the following expression of sentiment:

Music does something to the soul that passes all understanding. It inspires; it softens each blow as it falls. It creates a necessary atmosphere for events that are legion. May not music be that immortal, that mysterious essence we call an indication of the soul?

In the long ago how well we recall playing "Manana," the "Sixth Massachusetts" and other melodious compositions bearing the name of Jean Missud. We had to go to Boston to learn that in the pronunciation of his name the accent belongs on the first syllable instead of the last.

The local election period is about here. Some of the contests will be exciting. Others will be characterized by an unusual spirit of unanimity. Locals anxious to get out a crowd should place "wage scale revision" on the official program.

Doubtless for the purpose of spreading the N.R.A. gospel the Federal government sent the Marine Band to the Chicago Century of Progress Exposition.

The Philadelphia Musician submits the following problem "to be solved in two minutes":

A French horn player upon arriving on a job noticed that his crook was stuck in his instrument and he was unable to remove or adjust same. The only part available at that time was an "E flat trumpet" part, which was handed to him.

When trying to tune his instrument he discovered that the piano was in strict concert pitch, while his horn was built in international. The singer requested the orchestra to play 2½ tones lower than was written. The horn player's previous job left his crooks stuck in "E" horn and the trumpet part handed him was in "D" minor. Question: In what key was the horn player playing?

From what we have long heard about the ability of "a Philadelphia lawyer to unravel things" local talent among the legal profession in the City of Brotherly Love should be able to make quick work of the above outlined horn-playing dilemma.

For the commendable purpose of arousing public interest in band music in northern Vermont, the Orleans County Fair, held at Barton during the late autumn season, secured a combination of ten bands, aggregating one hundred and fifty musicians, and secured the services of our old friend, W. A. Barrington-Sargent, to wield the conductor's baton. The success of the enterprise is attested in the management announcement that it was the first time in five years they had been able to show a cash balance on the right side of the ledger. In this episode of Northern New England is suggested something worthy of serious meditation in other localities.

The national administration is undoubtedly doing its best, but the pathetic fact remains that the closing of the year finds thousands out of employment through no fault of their own. This is the great sociological problem which the mind of man has not yet solved.

When a bassoon player enjoys some unusual distinction aside from that of contributing heavenly harmonic tone-color blend to the general ensemble we are always happy to aid in giving the same as wide a range of notice as possible. Hence we reproduce the following from the Los Angeles Overture:

It will be of interest to know that Max Fuhrmann, bassoonist with the Philharmonic Orchestra, was the first German-born musician permitted to become a naturalized citizen of the United States following the World War. He, at that time, was first assistant bassoonist and contra-bassoonist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

In the closing days of the Chicago Century of Progress Exposition an editorial paragraph on the Chicago Tribune mournfully meditated:

Almost the end of the great fair celebrating a "Century of Progress," and the favorite song of the radio howlers is "A Cup of Coffee and a Sandwich and You." When we think of the music of Bach, and Beethoven, and Brahms, and Mozart, and Handel, and Chopin, we wonder as we hurriedly tune out "A Cup of Coffee, a Sandwich and You" whether much progress has been made in music.

So far as the exploitation and the promotion of high grade music is concerned the exposition must be decreed a failure and a frost. The directors, however, have voted to continue the show another season, so there will be opportunity for the management to redeem itself.

It will be interesting to know what degree of popularity the Twenty-first Constitutional Amendment will be enjoying thirteen years hence—the period in which the much eulogized and much execrated Eighteenth Amendment lived, and had its being.

How can the taxpayers feel hopeful with so many State Legislatures in session?

From Canton, China, comes a press dispatch to the effect that a Cantonese girl has married a rooster. This will doubtless be an incentive to Hollywood to try and pull a matrimonial stunt equally original.

An associate press dispatch recently carried the interesting information that "Prof. Albrecht Mendelssohn Bartholdy, grandson of the great composer, had been dismissed from the University of Hamburg because of his Jewish nationality. Notwithstanding the man's distinction as an authority on international law, there could be no side-stepping of the infamous decree. What a far time it seems from the period of the gentle-spirited composer of "Midsummer's Night Dream" to the Hitlerian nightmare which is now threatening the peace of all Europe!

If he keeps it up Uncle Sam may succeed eventually in making kidnapping unpopular.

Arthur Pryor, according to the election returns, resident of Asbury Park, has been elected "freeholder" in Monmouth County, New Jersey. The office of "freeholder" is unknown to most commonwealths. However, whatever kind of a political job it is, it can be said that if Pryor holds the office as well as he used to hold and play a slide trombone his constituents will have every reason to be satisfied.

Mr. LaGuardia, the newly-elected Mayor of New York, is the son of a bandmaster—probably the secret of his ability to harmonize so many fusion elements into a winning campaign.

In the death of George W. Bope, Local No. 103, of Columbus, Ohio, the American Federation of Musicians has lost another member who was long active in its ranks and had an acquaintance far beyond his home jurisdiction. He served as local

WONDERFUL NEW IMPROVEMENT

Trumpet Mouthpiece with Double Cup

By playing natural this mouthpiece gives you that full, beautiful ringing trumpet tone, especially in the upper register. Responds extremely easy, increases endurance, gives more resistance and balanced breath control.

Illustration shows a mouthpiece cut in half with inside view of cup.

A—Indicates upper cup for lip freedom.

B—Indicates lower cup for tone production.

president for seventeen consecutive years. He was a native of Ohio, and had lived in Columbus for forty-three years. He was a graduate of the law college of Ohio State University and was active in the practice of the legal profession for many years. Brother Bope took a keen interest in politics and was in demand as a speaker in many campaigns—often speaking under the auspices of the national committee. He had a keen memory and was well versed in public affairs. Local No. 103 feels his loss deeply. He had been afflicted with heart trouble for the past two years and which finally resulted in his death. He is survived by his wife, Blanch Wiseman Bope.

And now we near the curtain fall of 1933. It has been a hectic year in many ways. Anxiety has weighed heavily on many hearts. The powers that have been profuse in promises of better days. We can only await and hope. Your humble servant, who endeavors to make some contribution to the cause through these columns month by month, brings his yearly undertaking to a close by wishing every Federation reader—yea, every Federation member who may refuse to read—best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

And Gus, old boy, that includes you!

Remarkable Things Said

The volume of poverty and suffering have become so great that it indicts the system of economic life under which we have been living.—Senator Robert F. Wagner.

You judge a country not by what it is in times of prosperity, but what it is in hard times.—Paul Claudel, French diplomat.

All nations are marching to the battlefield with the dove of peace embroidered on their banners.—David Lloyd George.

Would to God we could exchange a thousand politicians for even one statesman.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler.

The surest way to be miserable is to expect always to be happy. To count on unbroken joy is the most tragic miscalculation of which the human mind is capable.—Rabbi Solomon B. Freehof, Chicago.

Race prejudice, oppression, religious persecution have no right to exist anywhere in this world, and we have no right to condone or countenance them.—Bishop William T. Manning of New York.

The Seven Mistakes

There are seven mistakes of life that many of us make, said a famous writer, and then he gave the following list:

1. The delusion that individual advancement is made by crushing others down.
2. The tendency to worry about things that cannot be changed or corrected.
3. Insisting that a thing is impossible because we ourselves cannot accomplish it.
4. Refusing to set aside trivial preference, in order that important things may be accomplished.
5. Neglecting development and refinement of the mind and not acquiring the habit of reading and study.
6. Attempting to compel other persons to believe and live as we do.
7. The failure to establish the habit of saving money.—Ex.

What Next?

A 328-foot experimental section of a steel-surfaced highway has been opened to traffic in Germany. The steel surface consists of zigzag-shaped, high-edged grate rods running crosswise of the road, prepared in the factory in sections of six meters long and one meter wide. The sections are solidly anchored and fastened together with bolts or by welding, and the voids are filled with macadamized tar, which insures a level surface not subject to waves or depressions, as normal traffic presses the tarred gravel into the grating. The metal sections are laid on a basaltic gravel foundation and rest on a longitudinal wide base to which they are welded or bolted.

THE DOG

I've never known a dog to wag
His tail in glees he did not feel,
Nor quit his old-time friend to tag
At some more influential heel.
The yellowest cur I ever knew
Was, to the boy who loved him, true.

I've never known a dog to show
Halfway devotion to his friend,
To seek a kinder man to know
Or richer; but, unto the end,
The humblest dog I ever knew
Was, to the man who loved him, true.

I've never known a dog to fake
Affection for a present gain,
A false display of love to make,
Some little favor to attain.
I've never known a "Prince" or "Spot"
That seemed to be what he was not.

And I have known a dog to bear
Starvation's pangs from day to day
With him who had been glad to share
His bread and meat along the way.
No dog, however mean or rude,
Is guilty of ingratitude.

The Acid Test

"How old are you, sonny?" asked the inquisitive old man of the little boy on the beach.
"Six," came the brisk reply.
"Six," echoed the old man, "and yet you are not as tall as my umbrella!"
The boy drew himself up to his full height. "How old is your umbrella?" he asked.—Ex.

Unionized Labor Means Better Business

Some day all business men will realize that unionization of labor is to their advantage.

Certain Philadelphia employers have yet to learn that lesson.

In Washington recently, they staged a spectacle that does little credit to their intelligence.

They asked the National Recovery Administration to end textile and hosiery strikes in this city.

Note that they made no effort to come in under the blanket code as proposed by President Roosevelt.

In other words, these employers made no attempt to raise wages and shorten hours.

They did not agree to cut down production or to hold down prices pending the adoption of a code.

BUT—

They did ask the President to thwart his own purposes by an unconstitutional and illegal attempt to keep their workers from fighting against sweatshop wages and sweatshop hours.

In other words, they wanted the privilege of producing as much as possible at as low wages as possible and at as long hours as possible—in order to make as much profits as possible as prices rise.

That kind of greed brought on the depression.

That kind of greed will not end the depression.

They are sadly mistaken who think the return to prosperity will be a parade along an avenue lined with fat bull market profits at the expense of worker and consumer.

Recovery demands sacrifices.

And the first sacrifices must come from employers.

Workers have done more than their bit since 1929.

This hypocrisy is neatly illustrated by the statement distributed by the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce at Washington.

The same Chamber of Commerce which fought at Harrisburg to perpetuate sweatshop standards and to kill labor legislation now declares itself actuated by the desire "to properly protect the employment and purchasing power of the city of Philadelphia."

In a city of child labor, long hours and low wages, it sees "no adequate cause" for strikes and it complacently assures the President that, as for the unions, workers "have no desire to join such organizations."

The Chamber not only asked that strikes and lockouts be forbidden until the new codes go into effect—it says nothing of accepting the temporary blanket code—but makes a more astounding request.

It wanted the NRA to outlaw strikes in the future "if employers are not living up to the spirit of the industrial recovery act so far as their employes are concerned.

All praise is due to John M. Hancock, General Johnson's executive secretary, for nipping the scheme in the bud and for telling the Philadelphians to "go home and set their own house in order" before asking aid from the Federal Government.

The Chamber of Commerce would like to take away labor's only weapon against unfair treatment.

It would like to have the cake of higher prices and profits while holding on as long as possible to the penny of lower wages and longer hours.

A Minor Point

His Wife—So your client was acquitted of murder. On what grounds?

Lawyer—Insanity. We proved that his father had spent five years in an asylum.

His Wife—But he didn't, did he?

Lawyer—Yes. He was a doctor there, but we had not time to bring that fact out.—Ex.

The Disease Toll of the Depression

The New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor made a survey of a certain area of that city in 1930, and again last year. They found an 83 per cent increase in sickness as a plain result of unemployment. The number of families in which illness was reported had increased 61 per cent, and the number of families reporting no full-time work for any member had increased 68 per cent.

Children, as might be expected, were the worst sufferers; 260 were found ill in 1932, as compared to 91 in 1930. This is an increase of 185 per cent—and the first census was not taken until the depression had been running for a year.

This announcement should end the absurd argument that public health in some mysterious manner is better when a large share of the people do not have enough to eat. The death rate has gone up through the depression—and why? Because the war on contagious and preventable diseases had gained such headway that even the depression could not stop it at once.

If anything were needed to spur the country on in its fight to end the depression, this story of the ravages of disease among helpless children should suffice.

Johnson Orders Blue Eagle from Loft Stores

WASHINGTON, D. C.—General Hugh S. Johnson, Recovery Administrator, struck a definite blow to violators of the President's Re-employment Agreement by ordering all Blue Eagle insignia removed from the five Washington stores of Loft, Inc., a concern operating a large chain of candy stores and restaurants throughout the United States.

The action of the NRA was brought about by the continued refusal of the Loft concern to pay waitresses in the tea rooms the 27 cents hourly minimum prescribed in the substitute for the President's Agreement pending the signing of the restaurant code. The waitresses made affidavits that Loft only paid them 14½ cents per hour. Loft admitted the truth of the charge, it was stated, but explained that his customers paid the waitresses enough in tips to bring their hourly compensation up to the 27 cents prescribed in the substitute agreement, ignoring the fact that a recent ruling of the National Compliance Board reaffirmed a previous order that tips could not be considered as a part of wages.

Workers Charge Coercion By Steel Company

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In affidavits filed with the National Labor Board by President William Green of the A. F. of L., employes of the Weirton Steel Company at Weirton, W. Va., charge they are being coerced into voting for a "company union" at the election to be held under the direction of the Labor Board on December 11. The workers are to vote on spokesmen to represent them in collective bargaining.

The workers charge they are being informed by company officials that customers of the company will refuse to buy their products if the concern deals with union labor. They say that the Weirton Company officials have told them that the following purchasers of Weirton products have made such threats: Ford Motor Co., Chevrolet Motor Co., Pontiac Motor Co., Budd Wheel and Manufacturing Co., American Can Co., Crown Cork Co., Michigan Steel Co. and Ames Baldwin Shovel Co.

Obligation Senses

When a man possesses a deep sense of obligation to humanity he will take advantage of every opportunity to render service to his fellow men. Selfishness can have no part in his life. He is mindful only of the well-being and happiness of others. His sojourn, however, fleeting, is filled with achievement and the value of his goodly deeds can not be measured by the mere space of time. Co-operate. Organize.

COMMENT ON World Events

A little Washington girl, just turned 4, says, "After a few little days Christmas will be here—just a few little days." The little girl speaks truer than she knows. Nothing goes faster than time, as most persons realize when they begin to accumulate years, and Christmas will be upon us before we know it.

Which behooves all who are in a position to do any Christmas buying to get busy at once and give early assistance to Santa Claus. Unfortunately, some millions are unable to help Santa and others are able to give only a little assistance. But those who can will benefit themselves and others by doing their shopping without delay, before the last grand rush begins.

By buying now (of course, in stores that advertise in the labor press) Christmas shoppers will have the advantage of better stocks and better attention from sales people. They will also have the advantage of an unhurried selection. Even more important, they will be helping the store clerks, who are always overworked at the height of the holiday season.

Much has been heard of the vigorous fight waged against German Fascism in Austria by the Austrian Chancellor, Dollfuss. It is true that Dollfuss has fought Hitler's brand of Fascism at every turn, but he has a private brand of his own which seems just about as bad as the German variety. Dollfuss aims at a state in which democracy will be virtually nonexistent and the masses of the people will do as they are told. In pursuance of his aim, the Chancellor has warred on trade unions and other democratic organizations that he doesn't like.

Reporting on the situation in Austria, the International Federation of Trade Unions throws light on Dollfuss' tactics, saying:

"Arrests and persecutions are continuing in Austria. Meetings are broken up on the most trivial pretexts; persons distributing broad-sheets are condemned to eight months' imprisonment as if they were hardened criminals. Tyranny is rampant. An attempt is already being made to suppress the trade unions; the Policemen's Union which, though not a member of the national centre, yet hold the same views, has been dissolved on account of 'the way in which its journal was written'."

The I. F. T. U. further reports that the highest representative bodies of Austria are being suppressed, exactly as in Germany.

Massachusetts is showing some regard for the safety of pedestrians, by using part of the Federal money coming to the State for the building of sidewalks along the main highways. This will give an opportunity for pedestrians to keep out of the road and will facilitate motor travel.

The time will come when all highway construction will include provisions for sidewalks. The sooner this comes, the quicker will there be a reduction in the appalling list of motor deaths.

GATHERED FROM THE FIELD OF LABOR

Union Roofer Elected Mayor Of Bridgeport

BRIDGEPORT, Conn.—Jasper P. McLevy, journeyman roofer, former President of the Connecticut State Federation of Labor and long a fighter for labor legislation, was selected mayor of Bridgeport on the Socialist ticket, carrying with him into office the entire Socialistic ticket. Twelve Socialist aldermen were elected in the sixteen districts and the Socialists have control of the city government. McLevy's plurality over the Republican and Democratic candidates was 6,070 in the heaviest municipal election vote ever polled here.

Moves to Push Winter Work

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Moving to provide the greatest possible amount of road improvement work during the winter, Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the Public Roads Bureau, has called upon all State highway departments to join with the effort of his bureau and the Federal Relief Administration to put men to work under a $400,000,000 appropriation.

In a telegram to State departments MacDonald has outlined road building work that can be carried on during the winter months, and says Federal funds will be available for purchase of absolutely necessary small tools and materials.

The work specified includes grading and draining streets and roads, widening shoulders, widening inside curves and flattening bank slopes, laying tile underdrains, cobble gutters, fencing right of way, dry masonry guard walls, surfacing and resurfacing with local material, roadside clean up and selective cutting of brush and trees, footpaths of local materials on outlying streets and suburban roads, clean up of streets and trimming trees, production of road and maintenance materials, and planning projects that can be undertaken with the coming of spring.

British Labor Inaugurates Fund For Austrian Workers

LONDON.—At a recent meeting the General Council of the Trades Union Congress gave full consideration to the situation in Austria, where the trade unions are threatened with destruction.

It was decided to set up a special fund to help the Austrian workers.

The General Council is making a contribution for this purpose, and affiliated unions are also contributing.

Ohio Approves Old Age Pensions

COLUMBUS, Ohio—Ohio voted overwhelmingly in favor of an old age pension law, a proposal to establish such a law carrying by more than 858,000 majority. The law provides for pensions to indigent citizens of 65, who have resided in the State fifteen years and do not have property valued at more than $3,000. The grants are limited to $25.00 monthly.

Tugwell Urges Higher Wages

CHICAGO, Ill.—Higher wages were advocated by Rexford G. Tugwell, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, in speaking before the Adult Education Association.

"Nothing but higher wages and farm incomes, together with moderate retail prices, can redress the maladjustments which continue to exist in the structure of our prices," Tugwell said. "Profits will have to follow from new efficiencies. To put them first is to put the cart before the horse."

Illinois Jobless Aid Bonds Approved

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—The Illinois Legislature, in special session, approved bills authorizing a $30,000,000 bond issue for unemployment relief, advocated by Governor Henry Horner. The bills were passed by a narrow margin in the House of Representatives, after a three weeks' deadlock between the House and Senate.

Senator Wagner to Remain As Labor Board Chairman

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Senator Robert F. Wagner, Chairman of the National Labor Board of the NRA, has announced that he will not resign the chairmanship when Congress convenes.

That the principal Congressional champion of the Recovery Act has decided to stay with the job of adjusting labor disputes is interpreted to mean that the President has asked him to remain. Senator Wagner has answered all similar queries in the past by saying that his Senatorial duties would require his full attention when Congress meets.

Seeks to Settle Textile Strikes

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Robert W. Bruere, Chairman of the Cotton Textile National Industrial Relations Board, went to Augusta, Ga., to preside over the board's conciliation efforts to settle strikes in the cotton textile industry involving between 60,000 and 70,000 workers in Georgia and South Carolina mills.

The strikes began about October 20 at the Riverside mill in Augusta and spread to eleven other mills. Among causes of the strikes were alleged violations of the cotton textile code.

Molders' Union Reports Big Gains

CINCINNATI, Ohio—Four new local unions have been organized by the International Molders' Union, headquarters here reports. The new unions are at Waterbury, Conn.; Winston-Salem, N. C., and two at East St. Louis, Ill. Twenty-three new local unions have been formed since July 1 and hundreds of new members have joined old unions.

The increase in membership in the past quarters has been the greatest for any quarters since June, 1923. The increase includes new members as well as old members reinstated.

Building Industry Gains

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The construction industry in thirty-seven States for the first half of November showed a 35 per cent gain over the same period last year, largely traceable to the public works program, L. Seth Schnitman, chief statistician of the F. W. Dodge Corporations, reports. Contracts totaled $71,350,700, he said, a gain of 10 per cent over the first half of October.

Again Advocates Shorter Hours

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Division Administrator A. D. Whiteside of the NRA, who has urged shorter hours, told a group of manufacturers at the wholesale code hearing "if immediate improvement is not noticed in industry it will probably be necessary—I speak unofficially—giving my own opinion—to reduce the hours of all industries whether they are operating under the codes or not."

Boards Are Named

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Roosevelt has named two three-man emergency boards to investigate the disputes between the Southern Pacific Railroad lines in Texas and Louisiana and employees of the company and the disputes between the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, the receivers of the company and its employees.

15,000 Children Leave Jobs for School Desks

HARRISBURG, Pa.—Approximately 15,000 boys and girls have been returned to the schools because of NRA codes barring children under 16 from industry, Dr. James N. Rule, Superintendent of Public Instruction, reports. Since the opening of schools in September these children, who otherwise would have been working and attending school only about eight hours a week, have been in schools on full time.

Broader Program for Reading Labor College

READING, PA.—Continuing a record of five years of service to the local trade union movement, the Reading Labor College has opened with a teacher and a revised program. The wave of organization that struck Reading this summer has made the Reading Federated Trades Council realize the importance of labor education and for the first time the college is under the direct sponsorship of the organized labor movement.

This new tie-up has enabled the college to broaden its program to meet the increased needs of the movement. Aside from continuing the regular weekly classes, plans are being made to carry the educational work to the union meetings themselves, in the form of lectures, study classes, labor dramatics and song. The regular classes this year will emphasize a course in the history of the trade union movement, especially for the benefit of the many new recruits to the unions. Classes are being arranged in morning, afternoon and evening sections to take care of the varied needs of the day and night shift workers and of the unemployed groups.

Union Sues Theatre Owners On NRA Violation

NEW YORK CITY.—Charging that 150 independent theatre owners and corporations have violated the President's Re-employment Agreement, Local Union 306 of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Motion Picture Machine Operators has filed suit against the owners and corporations for $1,000,000 damages and an injunction. The defendants operate 420 neighborhood theatres in the New York area.

The union charges that the defendants signed the re-employment agreement to better business conditions by hiring more men, increasing wages and cutting working hours to thirty-five, but instead they cut staffs in half, reduced pay and increased the working week to fifty-two.

"With astounding brazenness, before the ink of their signatures to the President's Re-employment Agreement had a chance to dry, many of the defendants discharged from their employ members of Local 306 because of their membership therein," President Harry Sherman of the union said.

The injunction application seeks a restraining order pending the trial of the action prohibiting the defendants from continuing an alleged conspiracy against the union and its members, excluding them from employment, cutting their pay, increasing their working time, disorganizing the union and taking advantage of an oversupply of projection men.

Sherman said that he took his charges first to Grover A. Whalen, local NAR administrator, who investigated, he said, and found them to be true. The defendants promised Whalen to cease the acts complained of, but have broken the agreement, it is alleged.

James Wilson Is Named to Public Works Board

WASHINGTON, D. C.—James Wilson of Cincinnati, president of the Pattern Makers' League of North America and vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, has been named member of a Board of Labor Review of three appointed by Secretary of the Interior Ickes to consider and arbitrate all labor disputes arising on projects financed with public works funds.

The other members of the board are Prof. Lindsay Rogers of the NRA staff and Ernest John Russell of St. Louis, president of the American Institute of Architects.

The board will operate under the direction of Senator Robert F. Wagner, chairman of the National Labor Board.

Ruling Holding Tips Are Part of Waiters' Wages Reversed

NEW YORK CITY.—Following vigorous protest from Labor, New York's local N R A Compliance Board reversed its decision that waiters' tips may be included as a part of their wages. The change followed protests from organizations representing 150,000 waiters in the metropolitan district, who demanded that minimum wage scales under P R A (the Presidents' Re-employment Agreement) remain in force. These scales set minimum wages for men at $15.12 and for women at $13.40. The board's new ruling followed instructions from Washington that tips cannot be taken into account in fixing wage rates for restaurant and dining room workers, including kitchen help. Labor organizations pointed out that the board was dealing with a labor and wage question and challenged its jurisdiction under N R A rules.

All exceptions granted to New York restaurateurs and hotel men under P R A were rescinded in the decision. The board, presided over in this instance by Local N R A Administrator Grover A. Whalen, ruled that "it be the declared policy of the board that no cases for exceptions in the restaurant industry shall be considered by the board unless compliance with the P R A is clearly established."

Union Head Defies Labor Board

BROCKTON, Mass.—The assertion that the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union will not comply with the National Labor Board's decision in the W. L. Douglas Shoe Company strike here was made by John J. Mara, president of the union, following a conference at Washington with Chairman Wagner and other members of the labor board.

Mara said that the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union had found a peaceful policy "not agreeable" to the labor board and that thereafter his organization would seek to win its demands by strikes and would not submit any further disputes to the board. "I intend to pull out any B. S. B. and S. W. U. members who will come out anywhere," he said, adding, "We will settle through economic strength."

"The members of the B. and S. W. U. have not surrendered their rights as members of that organization to any governmental agency and will not comply with the National Labor Board ruling," he declared.

Mara filed a vigorous protest with the board against the decision, which upheld a union dual to the Boot and Shoe Workers.

Small Building Increase

WASHINGTON, D. C.—There was an increase of eight-tenths of 1 per cent in building construction projects in October as compared with September, according to reports received by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor from 758 identical cities having a population of 10,000 or over. To these reports which, cover permits issued by local building officials for private building, is added the cost of all State and Federal buildings located in these cities. Indicated expenditures for total building operations decreased 7.4 per cent.

Bendix Stromberg Co. Yields to Affiliated Union

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—Officials of the Bendix Stromberg Company here seem finally to have given up their bitter and prolonged fight to kill Federal Labor Union No. 18347, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, in favor of a company union scheme, and are meeting with officials of the A. F. of L. in an effort to iron out the difficulties.

The Cherry Tree

Where with our Little Hatchet we tell the truth about many things, sometimes profoundly, sometimes flippantly, sometimes recklessly

Well, here comes old man John Barleycorn, stalking back among us, big as life, standing up in his own lawful boots, saying Howde.

Of course, in a way, John has never been away, as far as most of the American area is concerned. But he has had to go skulking around like a criminal.

Now he comes back by invitation, by declaration, by the determination of the people to have him around.

Funny the way a nation can experiment and fool around, trying to get some place.

Those who think the Roosevelt method of experimentation is new might have a look at the experimentation which began with prohibition, with which Roosevelt had nothing in particular to do.

There's a lot of fooling around to be done with the method of handling this newcomer. Some of it will be utterly idiotic and some will be sane. Perhaps most of it will be not so sane. But there are still a lot of folks who don't have anything to do except carry out a self-imposed mission to run the lives of others. And how busy they are right now!

So we shall add a few more to the thousands upon thousands of laws which we now have and which no single person can understand or begin to remember.

Without doubt there will be a lot of experimentation with the idea that liquor may be served to those who sit at tables, but not to those who stand at bars, which puts liquor within the reach of those who can afford to sit at tables, out of the reach of those who either cannot afford the luxury or who do not at the moment care for food.

As we welcome John Barleycorn back among us in his newly-achieved legal right, we look upon the recapitulation of the results of the late visit of Mr. Maxim Litvinoff.

The further away Mr. Litvinoff gets the more we wonder whether he wasn't a pretty smooth article while he was here.

The effort to dig out of the agreement which he signed any real guarantee against soviet propaganda leads only up a blind alley.

Somehow the words, when examined in the cold gray dawn of several mornings after, don't seem to contain any guarantee at all, because of the unique structure of the soviet machine.

Well, if Uncle Sam gets fooled it won't be the first time. He has been fooled before, will be fooled again—seems to be fooled this time.

Big business and its trained parrots and trained seals is hot after NRA, intent upon doing to death that revivifying tonic for what so recently was a very sick nation.

The first criticism is cautious—just a friendly word in the ear. A little later on it will be less friendly and then pretty soon it will be hot lead in the ear instead of friendly words.

Partly it is a political battle that is being steamed up and partly it is a desire on the part of Big Business to protect its ancient fiefs, to hang onto its old proprietary right in the business of soaking the people for all the traffic will bear.

NRA has been far from the perfect thing, but history reveals few perfect things in the way of human endeavor. It has done tremendous things and we can very well stand some more of the same. Beware of the Greeks when they come bearing gifts of "friendly" criticism.

Great was the beating of tom toms when Dr. O. M. W. Sprague resigned as a United States treasury factotum.

Here was a big man of the world of money who took it on the lam when he couldn't have his way.

Unlike others who have crept away from the Roosevelt cyclone, he didn't go quietly out into the night. He made a big noise and the big noise newspapers helped make the welkin ring.

Soon Mr. Sprague will be a forgotten man. But let us not forget what the thing means.

Sprague is a man among big money men. The newspapers talk about sound money, but really it's big money they mean. That's what Mr. Sprague means, too, little lambs. BIG MONEY with a capital B and a capital M.

There is every reason to believe that Dr. Sprague's important friends are in Wall Street. It is clear they are not in the White House.

It is clear that this event draws to a finer point the bitter hostility between Wall Street and Roosevelt.

The nation isn't paying enough attention to that hostility.

Unless all signs are wrong, the present occupant of the White House is determined to shear Wall Street of its power to rule American industry and politics. In other words, he intends to give Wall Street a sharp cleave across the neck, completely severing the head. Wall Street is just about dead now and doesn't know it.

Thumbs are down on excess profits, unlicensed privilege and the general whoopee with which Wall Street got that way. Unless that is considered along with the Sprague exit the story isn't half unfolded.

Labor is for sound money, too. Make no mistake about that. Labor wants no tin dimes or shrinking dollars. Labor's trouble has been to get enough good dollars to be good for anything.

But labor has no intention of being tricked into worrying about the fate of sound money just because a Wall Streeter doesn't stick around to see the New Deal worked out.

Unquestionably Wall Street is shedding tears in the hope that it will create an example for the rest of us, so that we will dig in and help the Royal Gorge of New York save its bacon.

Capitalists have always tried to put a square cap on Labor's head, to make him look like that kind of a blockhead, but it just doesn't work out that way. Labor is wiser than its foes give it credit for being.

Anyway, be these things as they may, there is going to be fun in the land.

There is going to be a vast flying of fur and feathers.

Not for nothing has the banking investigation been put through its paces.

Not for the sole purpose of parading old facts has it run its course.

The trick in that move was to provide a staging of the horrendous nature of Old Man Wall Street just as the new Congress comes into being.

Who, let us ask, can befriend such an unspeakable institution as it has been shown through these weeks to be?

Mr. Sprague should have given thought to that before he penned his love note to Wall Street and mailed it to the President.

These be perilous times for the Big Money boys, ladies and gentlemen.

Stop, Look and Listen, should be their motto!

Move On will be the order to them.

Taking No Chances

"I see you advertised your saxophone for sale," said the friend.

"Yes," he sighed. "I saw my neighbor in the hardware store yesterday buying a gun."—Ex.

Growing Callous

"Does my practicing make you nervous?" asked the man who was learning to play a saxophone.

"It did when I first heard the neighbors discussing it," replied the man next door, "but I'm getting so now I don't care what happens to you."—Ex.

FIFE AND DRUM CORPS

Perth Amboy Post No. 45, American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, Perth Amboy, N. J.

LABORGRAMS

After getting these inside tips on how bankers play the market, with stock of their own banks, it is difficult to refrain from wondering just what methods they would follow in playing cards or throwing dice.

You'll have to admit that General Hugh Johnson has a way of putting some new colors into the English language, with his inventions of "synthetic dead cats" and teasing the fellows who "yammer at their own scarecrows."

And How!

"Madam, if you buy this car, we will put your initials on free."
 "Yes, but my husband says it's not the initial cost that matters—it's the upkeep."
 —Ex.

Had Buried His Talent

At one time during the Civil War, General George M. McClellan, then in command of the Union forces, was conducting a waiting campaign; and, so careful was he to avoid mistakes that little headway was evident. President Lincoln, thereupon, wrote him a letter:

"My dear McClellan: If you don't want to use the army I should like to borrow it for a while. Yours, respectfully, A. Lincoln."—Ex.

Safety First

Two pickpockets were strolling along the road together.
 Every now and then one of them would stop, pull out his watch and look at it. His companion began to get annoyed.
 "I say, Jim," he said, "what's up with you? Why d'yer keep looking at your ticker? Ain't it going, or something?"
 "I'm not looking at it to see the time," said the other; "I'm looking at it to make sure that it's still there!"—Ex.

Among the Newcomers

Teacher—Who can name some things that didn't exist fifty years ago?
 Little Pupil—Airplanes and motors.
 Teacher—Correct; and what more?
 Little Pupil—Me, Miss.—Ex.

One Disturbance

Landlord (to prospective tenant)—You know we keep it very quiet and orderly here. Do you have any children?
 "No?"
 "A piano, radio, or victrola?"
 "No."
 "Do you play any musical instruments?"
 Do you have a dog, cat or parrot?"
 "No, but my fountain pen scratches a little sometimes."—Ex.
