Pearl Jam Supports Fans' Right To Mosh

Pearl Jam postponed the last of its three sold-out concerts at the University of Colorado November 28th because of a dispute with campus security. Bill Bass of Fey Concerts told POLLSTAR that for the three concerts at Balch Fieldhouse, campus police had agreed to not enter the barricaded mosh pit, except in the case of a medical emergency. But towards the end of the second night's show, Eddie Vedder spotted blue uniforms going into the pit, and he wasn't pleased. Both Bass and the tour manager were standing near the barricade and did not see anything out of the ordinary going on in the mosh pit. At the end of the set Vedder criticized the security, complaining that the fans were not being treated right. After negotiations with university officials the next day proved futile, the band decided a few hours before showtime to postpone the third night's concert and move it to another venue. Bass said the university would have let the show go on, but the irreconcilable differences with the campus police made the postponement the best decision. Fey Concerts expects to reschedule the concert in March, at which time the original tickets will be honored. Bass said two days after the postponement, he had only been asked to refund about 20 tickets.

City Anticipates Riot At Soul Asylum Concert

City officials in Jackson, Wyo., are warning of a riot situation later in the month when L.A. Sun and Ski Tours comes to their city with nearly 4,000 high school students from California for a ski vacation package which includes a concert by Soul Asylum. The officials claim that the Snow King Center, which is reserved for the December 21st concert, only holds 2,000 people. But promoter Griff Emery said that, according to the state of Wyoming's fire marshall codes, capacity of the facility is 3,500 with the stage. He said there are only 3,500 people signed up for the trip. However, Emery said, two months after he had made the agreement with the Snow King Center and been informed of the size of the facility, city officials decided they would impose a 2,000 capacity limit. Emery said he's in negotiations with the city and he hopes to get approval for the show to go forward.

Axl Feels The Heat For Charles Manson Cover

Axl Rose, who often sported a T-shirt featuring the mug of Charles Manson during Guns N' Roses' last tour, croons an acoustic version of a Manson-penned song on the band's new album. The song, "Look At Your Game Girl," is the 13th track on the new album, and isn't listed on the packaging. David Geffen, who knew two of Manson's victims, lashed out at Rose for recording the song. "The issue is not the song itself," Geffen told the L.A. Times. "The fact that Charles Manson would be earning money based on the fame he derived committing one of the most horrific crimes of the 20th Century is unthinkable to me." At the song's conclusion, Axl says, "Thanks, Chaz," and the name "Charlie" appears in the album credits. A friend of Axl's said Manson, who masterminded the 1971 killings of Sharon Tate and six others, stands to make about $60,000 if GN'R's "The Spaghetti Incident?" goes platinum. There is no legal way for prison authorities to stop Manson, who is serving a life sentence, from earning royalties. But Axl seems to be hearing the criticism. He issued a statement saying that he recorded the song because he liked it. "The song talks about how the girl is insane and playing a mad game," he said. "I felt that it was ironic that such a song was recorded by Charles Manson, someone who should know the inner intricacies of madness." Rose also explained that he wore the Manson T-shirt on tour to make a statement. "I wore the T-shirt because a lot of people enjoy playing me as the bad guy and the crazy," he said. "Sorry, I'm not that guy. I'm nothing like him." Rumors are circulating that the song will be removed from future pressings, but Rose's statement made no mention of that possibility. Axl said he intends to donate his personal profits from having the song on the album to charity. Geffen president Ed Rosenblatt issued a

Bette Breaks Another Boxoffice Record

For Snoop Dogg, Any Press Is Good Press

Sales of Doggystyle, the long-anticipated debut album from Snoop Doggy Dogg, lived up to the hype. The rapper's album sold nearly 803,000 copies in its first week, according to SoundScan. It's the first time in history an artist's debut has entered the charts at number one. Doggystyle's first-week sales are second only to Pearl Jam's Vs., which last month sold more than 950,000 copies in its initial week. Snoop Dogg, who has been charged with murder in the August shooting death of a man in Los Angeles and is free on $1 million bail, was featured on the cover of Newsweek November 29th. The magazine ran a story analyzing the gangsta rap phenomenon. Snoop Dogg has been getting press since his debut with Dr. Dre on the song "Deep Cover" from that movie's 1992 soundtrack. His reputation grew with the success of Dr. Dre's triple platinum album, The Chronic, for which he wrote most of the lyrics and performed on most of the tracks. Doggystyle dealt a double-whammy to Guns N' Roses. It outsold GN'R's new release, "The Spaghetti Incident?", by a margin of more than 4-to-1. It also bumped GN'R's 1991 album Use Your Illusion II, which sold 770,000 copies its first week, to number three in initial-week sales. Despite its own share of controversy, "The Spaghetti Incident?" charted at number 4 with nearly 190,000 copies sold, just beating out Beavis and Butt-Head. Pearl Jam's album continues to fly out the doors, with 205,000 units moved last week — good for number two on the chart. And being on tour hasn't hurt Mariah Carey's Music Box, which was third, selling 193,000 copies — nearly 80,000 more than in the previous week.

Legal Grievs

Singer Betty Wright challenged a Montgomery, Ala., sheriff's deputy to deliver notice of a lawsuit during a show November 20th, and the deputy obliged. Sgt. Steve Parker said he tried to arrange to serve the notice backstage at the Montgomery Civic Center, but Wright wouldn't have any part of it. "She made a big announcement, and told me to come out into the crowd to serve her," Parker said. "So I did." The lawsuit by local DJ, transmission shop owner and sometime promoter Roosevelt Pettway seeks damages from the singer and her manager, Rodgers Redding, alleging the Cleanup Woman backed out of a contract to perform in July. A spokesperson for Redding said Wright was within her rights to cancel the appearance..... The Hollywood Palladium is feeling heat from its neighbors again following a November 20th melee outside the venue. The disturbance broke out prior to a salsa concert when hundreds of people were told that their tickets for a Sunday show would not be honored on Saturday. Some of the crowd smashed the glass entrance doors and rushed into the ballroom. Three people were injured during the outbreak. Police called a tactical alert and officers in riot gear were summoned to quell the violence. In the wake of the incident, neighborhood residents are again demanding better security. A curfew has already been imposed on the facility, but the neighbors argue that it doesn't really address the crowd control problems outside the venue.

Short Items of Note

Thirty minutes after the opening act took the stage at a November 28th Reba McEntire concert, hundreds of people were still standing in a three-block-long line outside of the Hirsch Memorial Coliseum in Shreveport, La. Coliseum manager Sam Giordano said employees did everything they could to funnel people into the auditorium as fast as possible. The doors to the facility were opened only 45 minutes before the 7:30 p.m. show. They originally opened three turnstiles, but two more were opened later. That still didn't sit well with fans who missed the opening of the show..... Larry Stein, the promoter for Michael Jackson's cancelled Puerto Rican concerts scheduled for last month, announced November 30th that refunds will be available to fans holding tickets to the cancelled concerts. Stein said he had been "negotiating" with MJ's lawyers in Los Angeles to iron out the legal aspects of the cancellation. Stein also said the refunds will only be processed at the stadium "for security reasons."..... Meat Loaf has lost his identity while on a publicity tour in France. His bag containing credit cards and ID were stolen while he waited near the British Airways counter at

One of Branson's original theatres has been torn down to make room for a hotel/condo project. The Foggy River Boys Music Show Theatre opened in 1974. The city council in San Diego November 30th approved construction of a $155 million sports arena to be built near the city's convention center. At this point, the proposed 20,000-seat arena does not have an NBA or NHL franchise for an anchor tenant and that worries some project opponents. Some of the arena's costs would be offset by selling the 38 acres of land the existing 27-year-old, 14,500-capacity San Diego Sports Arena sits on..... Before they are booked to play in Baltimore again, a British military band will be investigated by the mayor's staff to see if any performers are involved in military operations in Northern Ireland. Irish-American city officials claimed the December 8th show by "Royal Regiments On Parade" at the Baltimore Arena conflicts with the city's support of the MacBride Principles, which call for fair employment standards in No. Ireland. Mayor Kurt Schmoke refused to cancel the show.

Tupac Claims He Is Being Railroaded

Tupac Shakur's lawyer said November 29th that the sexual assault charges against his client are part of a police vendetta because of his lyrics about police brutality. Shakur, his road manager Charles Fuller, and Ricardo Brown were indicted November 24th on charges of sodomy and sexual abuse stemming from a November 18th incident at the Parker Meridien Hotel in New York City. In a search of Shakur's suite at the posh hotel, the police found a videotape of Shakur and another woman having sex in the same room as the alleged attack. The attorney said law enforcement sources told the media that the videotape showed the rapper with an underage woman who seemed to be on drugs. But attorney Robert Ellis, who represents Fuller, denied the tape revealed any illegal activity. He said the woman was 17 years old, which is the age of consent in N.Y., and claimed she wasn't intoxicated at the time. He also said she was aware that Shakur was taping their sexual liaison, and he did it with her consent. Shakur is free on bail. And in an unrelated case, Shakur pled innocent December 1st to charges alleging he shot and wounded two off-duty police officers in Atlanta last month. One of the officers, Mark Whitwell, also has been charged. Witnesses said after an argument erupted between Shakur's entourage and the officers, Whitwell fired at the ground and Shakur returned fire. A Fulton County grand jury will now decide whether to indict Shakur and Whitwell.

Virgin And Kravitz Pay Off For EMI

After a shaky honeymoon, EMI Music's nearly $1 billion purchase of Virgin Music is beginning to pay off. EMI's total profits jumped 48 percent in the first half of the 1993/94 fiscal year. Virgin contributed about $54 million to EMI's $136 million profit. Lenny Kravitz did his part with the "Are You Gonna Go My Way" album. Kravitz is flanked by (L) Virgin Records America proxy Phil Quartararo and Virgin Music Group Worldwide chairman and CEO Ken Berry during the presentation of a platinum album award at UCLA on October 21st.

Another Depressing Week For Michael

As Michael Jackson continues to keep his whereabouts a closely guarded secret, a bevy of lawsuits continue to produce damaging news for who some are calling "the falling superstar." Five of MJ's ex-security guards have filed a suit claiming they were fired from MJ's employ because they knew too much about his nighttime visits with young boys. Two of the guards, who worked at the Jackson family compound, claim that Jackson surreptitiously brought young boys into his quarters at the family home. The guards also contend that most of the young boys spent the night with MJ, and that there were never any adults visiting, either men or women. One of the guards, Leroy Thomas, also alleges that MJ had once asked him to destroy a Polaroid photograph of a nude young boy that was pasted up on MJ's bathroom mirror. No trial date has been set for that civil suit. But a judge did set a date, March 29th, for a suit MJ has brought against his former personal cameraman, Steve Howell. MJ claims that Howell violated an agreement by selling professionally made home videos of the Jackson family without permission. MJ is demanding $250,000 and the return of the tapes. And in another suit brought against MJ, three men, Reynaud Jones, 43, and Robert Smith, 45, both of Gary Ind., and Clifford Rubin of California, claim the singer used parts of three songs they "delivered personally to Michael Jackson for him to listen to" on three of his hit songs, "Thriller," "We Are The World," and "The Girl Is Mine." The men are seeking millions in damages. A December 7th court date has been set for that trial. A judge had denied MJ's attorney's request to delay the copyright infringement trial, saying that the singer would not be required to appear in court. And in the civil suit brought against MJ by a 13-year-old boy who alleges MJ sexually molested him during a four-month long relationship, the boy's attorney questioned MJ's chauffeur in a five-hour deposition November 30th. Allegedly, the driver said he had brought MJ to spend the night at the boys home on a continuous basis for about a month. It was also reported that the driver, Gary Hearne, was instructed to go to MJ's Century City apartment the day that police conducted searches of that apartment and MJ's Neverland Valley ranch and remove a briefcase and a suitcase from the apartment. Hearne, in his deposition, alleges MJ instructed him to take the items to his private investigator's home, and that he never looked inside the cases. It was also reported that the teenager's attorney, Larry Feldman, has subpoenaed 12 other people, including the maids at MJ's Neverland Ranch. And contrary to previous reports, officials in Santa Barbara County have not called a grand jury in the sexual molestation case. No criminal charges have been filed, however, police are still investigating the allegations and plan to talk to Ben Brown, founder of Steeltown Records and former president of the now-defunct Jackson Records, founded by family patriarch Joe Jackson. Brown has known the Jackson family for 25 years and ran MJ's home studio at the family's Encino compound. He has publicly expressed his concerns about MJ spending so much time with children without any of the "basic safeguards that one should take in dealing with children." Jackson's siblings continue to stand by their famous brother. Janet Jackson kicked off her tour with a moment of silence for her brother at her sold-out show in Cincinnati November 24th. And Jermaine Jackson said he will sue a London tabloid for reporting that he doubted the innocence of his brother. Jermaine said he never even talked to the reporter to whom he purportedly gave the "exclusive" interview. If the London Daily Express doesn't print a timely retraction, Jermaine said he will sue them for $200 million.

Sony Fires Back At Rob Kahane & George Michael

Lawyers for Sony pounded away at George Michael's manager's finances during week six of testimony in the artist's attempt to get out of his contract with the label. Sony attorney Gordon Pollock tried to poke holes in manager Rob Kahane's credibility by accusing him of trying to obtain an advance from Sony when he knew Michael didn't intend to deliver an album. Kahane said he asked for the advance from Sony, but said he didn't know Michael wouldn't deliver the album. Kahane admitted he accepted a $360,000 advance from Michael to quell his company's financial troubles after his business partnership with Michael Lippman went sour. Tony Russell, Michael's commercial solicitor, said Kahane had contacted him to say he needed $400,000, and that he informed Kahane that he shouldn't ask for money from the label until contract negotiations were closed. Russell denied that Michael hoped to deliver a final album to Sony in exchange for a release from his contract. In the previous week's testimony, Columbia execs denied that they "killed" Michael's Listen Without Prejudice album with a lack of promotion. Columbia VP/GM Fred Ehrlich admitted that only $23,000 was spent on promotion of the album during the first quarter of 1991. Ehrlich also said that the budget for MTV advertising and test marketing of Listen was $188,000, compared to $650,000 spent on advertising for Michael's previous album, Faith. Ehrlich attributed the reduced promotional and advertising support to more efficient spending in those areas.

Grand Ole Opry star David Houston, 57, died in a Bossier City, La., hospital after suffering a ruptured brain aneurism on Thanksgiving Day. ## Between The Dates

PINK FLOYD announced its European stadium tour dates last week. The dates range from July 22nd through September 9th and the band promises an "optimum live experience," with 48 trucks transporting the massive stage and equipment. In addition to the dates listed in this week's Route Book, Floyd will be doing shows in Belgium, Greece, Turkey, and Israel. Expect the band to tour North America in April and May. Even though those shows will be come before the European leg of the tour, it probably will be quite some time before the dates are announced here..... January means summertime for the folks "downunder," and one of the big tours for Australia is the "BIG DAY OUT" extravaganza featuring Bjork, Soundgarden, The Ramones, Smashing Pumpkins, Teenage Fanclub and The Breeders..... The Chairman of the Board and Mr. Warmlub will headline a special pre-Super Bowl performance at The Omni in Atlanta on January 29th. Tickets for FRANK SINATRA and DON RICKLES, who have been appearing together throughout the year, are priced from $35 to $75 dollars. This will be Old Blue Eyes sixth Super Bowl concert..... DAN FOGELBERG and the COWBOY JUNKIES will be performing on National Public Radio's E-Town program, December 12th. E-Town, which usually tapes its programs in Boulder, will be moving to the larger Ogden Theatre in Denver for this performance. Watch for a Junkies tour in February..... PAUL McCARTNEY got the VIP treatment in Mexico City. Traffic came to a standstill while a 60 man police motorcade escorted McCartney to the Autodromo Stadium. But it wasn't only ground traffic that was affected. The fireworks for McCartney's concerts were so unusual that air traffic over the venue had to be suspended. Local air traffic controllers decided it would be safer to stop flights over the stadium until the show was over..... Her brother Michael may have his problems, but it appears LATOYA JACKSON can't get "arrested" in South Africa. Well, figuratively anyway. Her tour there reportedly ended with a thud November 24th in Cape Town before less than 700 fans. And that was the biggest crowd she played to during her tour of the country..... During "SYMPHONY OF HOPE," the sold-out British benefit to mark World AIDS day on December 1st, featuring David Bowie, George Michael and Simply Red's Mick Hucknail, Bowie broke with British protocol by asking the audience to give a round of applause for Princess Diana. A follow-spot then picked out an embarrassed Di in the Wembley Arena audience. The princess was wearing a prominent red ribbon to mark AIDS awareness. And where was Charles? At the opera, of course..... Making magic on New Year's Eve will be DAVID COPPERFIELD at the Peabody Auditorium in Daytona Beach. Home town boys BIG HEAD TODD & THE MONSTERS are at Denver's Paramount Theatre. CRACKER stomps the Hard Rock Cafe in New Orleans. LUTHER VANDROSS is at the Greensboro Coliseum. TRAVIS TRITT does Atlanta's Omni, while FRANKIE BEVERLY & MAZE play the UIC Pavilion in Chicago. The most interesting bill, however, is DURAN DURAN along with those macho guys, THE VILLAGE PEOPLE at the Great Western Forum in Los Angeles.
