The suit, filed in New Jersey June 2nd, alleges mental anguish, sleeplessness, aggravation and loss of property. Attorneys for Houston and Brown denied the incident ever occurred.

The 9:30 nightclub in Washington D.C., celebrated its 14th anniversary with its own tongue-in-cheek awards ceremony. Here, the club's co-owners receive a bogus POLLSTAR magazine's (should be) 1994 Nightclub Of The Year award. Co-owner Seth Hurwitz was so excited about the honor, he went and got so toasted he couldn't keep his eyes open. ## A Lollapalooza Of An Escort Settlement

The Ford Motor Company agreed to quit running advertisements for its Escort GT which make reference to Lollapalooza. And the auto company will make an undisclosed donation to a rain forest charity at Perry Farrell's suggestion. The Ford ad in question said, "It's like taking center stage at Lollapalooza. Hitting the whammy bar at the end of a hot riff. ... And that's just in first gear." Farrell's attorney, Eric Greenspan, told POLLSTAR that he contacted Ford immediately to let them know Farrell planned to protect the use of his "Lollapalooza" trademark. Ford replied, saying it didn't do anything wrong but would discontinue the spot anyway. "From the point that they did that, there wasn't any reason to sue them, other than to look for money," Greenspan said. Farrell's main objective was to protect the servicemark on Lollapalooza. Their second goal was to let the public know Farrell certainly would not license the Lollapalooza name to Ford Motor Company, especially since the tour has been dogged in the media for becoming too corporate, according to Greenspan. "The last thing in the world we would do is associate ourselves with Escort," he said. And the third goal was specifically not to profit from Ford's error. "Rather than put money in our own pockets, which again creates the implication that we're looking for bucks, we said, let them give the money [to a good cause]. Let us turn this into something positive rather than something negative," Greenspan said. "They stopped running the ad and they gave money to charity at our suggestion. Obviously that's a win."

Whitney's Caribbean Adventures

Whitney Houston filed a suit against Pro Rok Concerts June 3rd accusing the Puerto Rican concert promotion company of fraud. The suit alleges the promoters of Houston's April 24th show in Puerto Rico defrauded the singer out of a percentage of concert receipts. A statement from Houston's attorneys charged that Pro Rok "conspired with certain suppliers to inflate expenses and invoices so as to falsely show no profit from the performance." The suit seeks more than $300,000, according to the statement. At press time, spokespersons for both Houston and Pro Rok could not be reached for comment. Meanwhile, a Long Island couple has filed a $4.4 million law suit against both Houston and husband Bobby Brown over an alleged confrontation with the couples' bodyguard. Barry and Alice Baum claim that as they were videotaping near the singers in Puerto Rico, the bodyguard threatened them with a wooden stick and demanded they erase

Merchandising The Pope's Fame

The organization that brought Pope John Paul II to Denver last August, World Youth Day Inc., filed a lawsuit May 2nd against the official merchandiser of Pope paraphernalia, Famous Artist Merchandising Exchange. In the suit, WYD claims F.A.M.E. failed to pay a guaranteed minimum royalty of approximately $850,000 and also failed to pay 60 percent of net proceeds as agreed upon. WYD lawyers say the only money the organization

COLLECTIVE SOUL

Collective Soul's lead singer and songwriter, Ed Roland, describes the band's sensational climb up the rock 'n' roll ladder as a 12 year overnight success story. That's not too far from the truth. During the past four months, Roland has signed a record deal with Atlantic and watched his band's first release shoot to the top of the charts. The video for Collective Soul's first single, "Shine," is splashed all over MTV and the Georgia-based band's audiences know all the words to Roland's songs. But during the 12 years prior to the overnight success, Roland's days were filled with repeated attempts to get someone in the music industry to notice his music.

Roland told POLLSTAR he had been sending out demos for years with no response. Attempting to get recognition, he changed players, musical styles and band names. With no luck and no industry interest, Roland disbanded Collective Soul just two months after its official launch. "I really just quit," Roland said. He abandoned attempts to get signed to a recording contract and started thinking about another avenue — publishing.

He hooked up with Bill Richardson, who Roland describes as an entrepreneurial-type guy who was looking for a venture in the music business. Roland credits Richardson for the turn-around in his musical fortune. "We're basically partners," Roland said. "He's the man behind everything. He really is." But Richardson, who is now Collective Soul's manager, said Roland deserves all the credit. He said if he hadn't come along and recognized Roland's talent, someone else would have. Richardson talked of Roland's career in nearly poetic terms. He said it is Roland's destiny to have his music heard and it would have happened regardless of their affiliation.

But one cannot deny Richardson was a tremendous asset to Collective Soul. He built a studio in his basement and encouraged Roland to write and record. Roland planned to have Richardson shop the demo for a songwriting deal but Richardson suggested they make the recording so it could also be shopped to record companies and radio stations as well. Richardson financed the pressing and began his quest for interested parties. The November 1993 independent release of Hints, Allegations and Things Left Unsaid caught the attention of a couple of DJ's in the band's home state and in Orlando, Fla. By February '94 the band had sold 16,000 units of its independent release. At some stores, the CD's sales rivaled releases by major label, multi-platinum artists.

Literally by demand, Roland decided to reform Collective Soul. The line-up was secured with Roland, his brother Dean, and Ross Childress sharing guitar responsibilities. Will Turpin and Shane Evans were added to the mix to hold down the rhythm section. The band was scheduled to perform a showcase in Orlando when they realized they had generated some major label interest. But it was a senior VP at Atlantic whose quick reaction clinched the deal for his company. "Jason Flom flew down to see us [in Orlando]. The next day he flew me to New York and the next day we had worked out a deal," Roland said. Atlantic took Hints ..., remastered it and released it immediately.

Collective Soul's music touches a positive spring — one that 20-something-teen-angst rock stays far from. The band's music and lyrics are uplifting with spiritual overtones. However, Roland is quick to differentiate between spiritual overtones and religious dogma. "I'm a spiritual person as well as the rest of the members of Collective Soul," Roland said. "During the time I was growing up, [my father] was a southern baptist minister of music. I grew up in church; I was [there] from the minute it was open to when it closed."

Because of the way Roland was raised, he developed a vocabulary that contains a wealth of religious references. "My jargon seems to be more biblical than it is street language [for instance]. Rappers [growing up on] the streets, talk street language [but] I'll use the word salvation before I will [say], 'wow, that felt good.' That's just the mentality of how I was raised and it just stuck with me." But Roland said he doesn't want to come across sounding preachy. "To me, if you feel good about life in general, that's spirituality. And [spiritually and religion] are two totally different things."

Roland said somebody asked him, not too long ago, why he doesn't write the kind of angry songs that many of his contemporaries do. He logically responded "I'm really not angry. I have no reason to be. I'm the luckiest person in the world right now." And that feeling goes for the rest of the band members also. They have been on a whirlwind of a career catapult and they couldn't be more delighted. And those close to the band say it couldn't happen to a more deserving, sincere bunch of guys.

Collective Soul is currently out headlining a club tour and just inked a deal to support Aerosmith on some summer dates. Phil Ernst at ICM is the band's responsible agent. Manager Bill Richardson's company is Rising Storm Productions in Atlanta.

received was the $30,000 F.A.M.E. paid up front. However, Jules Zalon, attorney for F.A.M.E., said the merchandising company did not renege on any guarantee. In December 1992, F.A.M.E. reportedly sent a letter of intent to WYD officials saying gross sales of merchandise were expected to be $25 million, with roughly $4.2 million going to World Youth Day. But no contractual agreement was drawn up after the letter was sent, according to Zalon. There were a series of preliminary understandings, the attorney said, but things kept changing and no formal agreement was ever signed. Zalon also said there were no profits from the event because "World Youth Day kept stepping on their own feet....They publicly encouraged the sale of bootleg merchandise." He said F.A.M.E. not only plans to fight the suit in court, but will file a counter-action against WYD. "We have a very strong counter-claim. Some of the things that were done by people at World Youth Day virtually destroyed the merchandising opportunities," Zalon said.

NACPA Commentary On National Tour Advertising

Ben Liss, the executive director of the North American Concert Promoters Association, sent POLLSTAR the following addendum to his comments about the national advertising campaign created for the Meat Loaf tour which we published several weeks ago:

The April 18th edition of POLLSTAR contained an editorial written by me concerning the need, engendered in great measure by the lagging rock tour business, for new and innovative ways to help market touring talent. Allen Kovac and Left Bank Management have demonstrated the courage to develop and implement a new and creative approach in this regard. Therefore, the editorial naturally focused on the innovative national marketing campaign created by Left Bank for use on Meat Loaf's current tour. Since throughout our industry local concert advertising is a well established and accepted component of touring, there was no need for editorial comment on that aspect of Meat Loaf's campaign.

Since the publication of the editorial, it has been suggested that I clarify the manner in which local concert advertising was used in connection with the Meat Loaf campaign. I am happy to do this to round out the picture and to ensure that my remarks are considered in the proper context.

As is the case with the tour of any artist, local promoters throughout North America involved in the Meat Loaf tour have expended significant amounts of time, money and energy in local advertising efforts. To this extent, I believe promotional efforts for the Meat Loaf tour have been very similar to past and present promotions of other touring artists.

In my view, what made the Meat Loaf promotional efforts unique was the step of conducting a national promotional campaign in addition to the traditional local campaigns. An April 5, 1994 "Wall Street Journal" article noted that, "For several years now, only a few artists have been able to fill those cavernous cement boxes where basketball or hockey teams play." In that article, Allen Kovac is quoted as saying that he wants to correct all of this with "synergy." I couldn't agree more. The editorial was intended to stimulate thought by offering suggestions on possible ways to build upon and improve the national campaign initiative (for example, by improving communication and input into the national campaign strategy by those involved at the local level).

As I explained in my editorial, it is my opinion that Meat Loaf's management deserves kudos for being creative and taking such a bold step at a time when the touring industry critically needs fresh ideas and approaches in this regard. I am hopeful that our industry will recognize the value of building upon this initiative in the future and will work to achieve the "synergy" that Mr. Kovac has so aptly set forth as the goal for all of us.

I Fought The Law...

One of UB40's crew members and a trombone player with the band were stopped at Auckland Airport June 8th for allegedly bringing a small amount of marijuana into New Zealand. A "sniffer" dog nosed the pot in their pockets after the men got off a plane from Sydney. Both men were given official police warnings but they will not face any charges, a police spokesperson said. At press time, Kiwi officials had not decided if the pair could enter the country..... Christopher Babbington was found guilty of second-degree murder May 2nd for shooting to death the road manager for Boyz II Men. Babbington had been charged with first-degree murder but claimed he was acting in self defense when he killed Roderick Rountree in May 1992. He said Rountree pistol-whipped him in an elevator. Babbington was also convicted of aggravated battery for wounding Poison's drummer, Rikki Rockett, said this isn't the first time something like this has happened to Michaels. "Bret has been living way out of control lately. He is lucky to be alive this time," Rockett said.

During the presentation, Berry, who previously had been represented by William Morris Agency for 26 years, re-signed with WMA's Dick Alen. "I'm a 'new Berry,'" the rock legend said speaking of his renewed relationship with the agency. "I'm relaxed, more professionally focused and anxious to prove myself with concert promoters."..... Brad Delp and Barry Goudreau, formerly of the band Boston, want everyone to know they aren't involved with the band's new MCA release Walk On. Delp sang vocals on all previous Boston records but he and Goudreau are now working together on their own album. Tom Scholz, the driving force behind Boston, wishes his ex-mates good luck and says the album's liner notes make it clear who is singing on the record. Actually it's three different people — Fran Cosmo, David Sikes, and Tommy Funderburk..... Lorrie Morgan and husband Brad Thompson finalized their divorce recently. Morgan gave Thompson $65,000 and a pickup truck as part of the settlement. They were married in October, 1991 while Thompson was a bus driver for Clint Black. It was the third marriage for both..... Martin Onrot has been named senior VP and operating head of MCA Concerts Canada. Onrot, will leave his position as GM of the O'Keefe Centre, and joins MCA July 15th. MCA also promoted Don Simpson to senior VP/CFO..... BMG and Tele-Communications Inc., the nation's biggest cable system operator, have abandoned plans to launch a music video and home-shopping cable network. The companies planned to combine music and retailing, and intended to give MTV a run for its money. But when Warner Music Group, Sony Software, EMI Music, PolyGram Holding and Ticketmaster announced similar plans for a new music network, analysts reportedly said the competition might be stiffer than BMG and TCI could handle. But if BMG and TCI can't beat the competition, there's the distinct possibility that they will join them — and wouldn't that make a formidable foe for MTV?

Deals, Deals, Deals

Viacom shareholders must be watching the sports pages closely. With its Madison Square Garden unit and sports teams up for sale, one has to wonder how much more Viacom will profit if both the Knicks and Rangers become world champions?..... Dorothy Hamill's Ice Capades has been sold to International Family Entertainment, the parent company of The Family Channel cable network. IFE, which is run by religious broadcaster Pat Robertson, also owns three theatres in Myrtle Beach, S.C. Hamill and her husband, Dr. Kenneth Forsythe, will serve as prexy and CEO respectively of a new IFE subsidiary created to acquire the assets of the 55-year-old ice show and also to produce ice show programs for broadcast. Hamill and Forsythe acquired the Ice Capades in June 1993. Apparently IFE found out in March that the show was back up for sale and acted quickly to close the deal..... Geffen Records plans to introduce a CD-ROM game that turns music videos into high tech jigsaw puzzles, according to the June 7th Wall Street Journal. Vid Grid will debut in the fall with videos from Geffen artists as well as artists from rival labels. Reportedly, Epic has licensed a video by Ozzy Osbourne, Elektra has licensed a video by Metallica, and A&M has licensed Soundgarden's video for the hit single "Spoonman." The game is expected to sell for $30 at book .....

stores, computer software retailers and video outlets.... Blockbuster tycoon H. Wayne Huizenga got the okay from Florida legislators to go ahead with plans for Blockbuster Park, a sports and entertainment complex. The governor let the measure become law without his signature. The law establishes a special district on 2,500 acres in Dade and Broward counties where Blockbuster Entertainment Corp. has the authority to collect taxes and condemn land where it plans to build the park. The proposed complex will cost more than $1 billion to build and is probably still 18 months away from breaking ground.... Continuum Records has signed an exclusive North American distribution agreement with Uni. The first release to be distributed under the new agreement will be Roger Daltrey's tribute album to Pete Townshend, recorded live at Carnegie Hall earlier this year.... Russ Freeman launched a new label, Peak Records, to be distributed by GRP Records through Uni. Peak's prexy, Andi Howard, said he and Freeman wanted to develop a pop oriented label that would be an adjunct to GRP's existing market. Peak's first release, Mark Williamson's Time Slipping By, ships this month.... Globe Facility Services has been selected to manage the West Palm Beach Auditorium. The Florida venue is GFS first U.S. management client, although the fledgling company already has building deals in Malaysia and Thailand.

Bolton And The Belles Of Tupelo

After selling out the Tupelo Coliseum in Mississippi in less than four hours, Michael Bolton was given a commemorative Elvis stamped envelope. Bolton also allowed the usual catering rider to be given a more southern touch. The crew dined on black-eyed peas, corn bread, collard greens, baked ham and banana pudding. (L-R) Vicki Carlisle, Bolton, Betty Baxter & Jeannie Friday.

Legal Grievs

Tanya Tucker filed a lawsuit against a promoter for triple damages over $201,000 the singer says she is owed for shows in Las Vegas and Spokane. Tucker's suit, against Comedy Concepts and its operator Jerry Hamza of Rochester, N.Y., alleges the promoter stopped payment on one check and allowed another check to bounce. Comedy Concepts was operating as Riverhorse Productions at the time of the original booking, according to the suit. Hamza, through another company, manages George Carlin.... After Rob Kahane inked a management deal with the Moody Blues, the band's business manager, Lisa Fremer, reportedly sent a letter to the members of the group questioning the move. The band apparently showed the letter to Kahane and Kahane reportedly reacted by retaining powerhouse attorney Don Engel to extract legal retribution.... In reforming Traffic, Steve Winwood and Jim Capaldi had to first correct a small problem they created for themselves decades ago.

The pair had proceeded with plans for a tour and a new Traffic album on Virgin Records when Chris Blackwell popped up to inform them that they didn't own the rights to the name. They didn't remember the deal but Blackwell was able to produce a document which assigned Island Records U.K. the rights to the name. They ended up having to buy the name back from Blackwell and the legalities reportedly delayed the release of the album.... Ticketmaster is being sued for antitrust violations again. This time, three Georgia plaintiffs are bringing a suit against TM and Atlanta's pro sports teams. The suit claims TM has paid kickbacks to sports teams to corner the market for off-site ticket sales. The plaintiffs are seeking class action status. One interesting note is that the plaintiffs' attorney in this case is also involved in similar suits recently filed against TM in New York, New Jersey, Texas, Florida and Massachusetts. TM's attorney Ned Goldstein said he was unaware of the Georgia suit but described the other suits as "uniformly meritless."

Obituaries

Derek "Lek" Leckenby, 51, lead guitarist of Herman's Hermits, died June 4th of non-Hodgkin's lymphoma. Leckenby had been battling the disease for three years though he continued to perform with the group until late last month when he was admitted to a hospital.... Jimmy Fernandez, 28, the bass player for the U.K. band God Machine, died May 20th after he was admitted to a London hospital suffering from a severe migraine. An autopsy revealed the cause of death to be a malignant brain tumor.... Wally Fowler, 77, drowned June 3rd while fishing at Dale Hollow Lake in Tennessee. Fowler, a singer, songwriter and concert promoter, was known as "Mr. Gospel Music." He was inducted into the Gospel Music Hall of Fame in 1988. He founded the Oak Ridge Quartet, which eventually became the Oak Ridge Boys.... Earle Warren, 79, a saxophonist in the original Count Basie Orchestra, died of a stroke June 4th. Warren was with Basie's orchestra until 1950 and later managed such performers as James Brown and the Platters. He retired in 1992.... Jazz clarinetist Willie Humphrey, 93, died at his New Orleans home June 7th, apparently in his sleep. Humphrey was the oldest regularly performing musician in the Preservation Hall Jazz Band. He suffered a mild heart attack after a May 27th show at Preservation Hall, but had been expected to recover.

Between The Dates

Changes on the "DALTREY SINGS TOWNSHEND" tour. First off, forget the title. It's now being referred to as the Roger Daltrey tour. Also, the tour has been heavily re-routed because the album's release, Roger Daltrey A Celebration: The Music Of Pete Townshend & The Who was pushed back to June 28th. Daltrey will be performing with local symphony orchestras, and Who bassist John Entwistle will be joining Daltrey on a number of dates. Daltrey's band includes Zak Starkey (Ringo's son) on drums, and Peter Townshend's brother, Simon, on guitar. Plus there will be several old "Who hands" — musicians who have performed on past Who tours, including Jody Linscott on percussion and John "Rabbit" Bunbrick on keyboards. The first night of the tour is now June 27th at Boise's BSU Pavilion..... Maybe this will be the week when the folks behind WOODSTOCK '94 announce the artist line-up. On the other hand, maybe it won't be. While the official announcement has been pushed back, almost on a weekly basis, several acts are now adding either one, or both of the festival's August 13th & 14th dates to their schedules. It's official for Aerosmith and Melissa Etheridge. There are also reports that Bob Dylan will perform. USA Today initially reported last week that Dylan would be performing with The Band, but the following day issued a correction stating he was negotiating to play with his band, not The Band..... THE GRATEFUL DEAD are set to play at the site of Franklin County Field Days located at Franklin County Airport in Highgate, Vermont near Burlington. The airport, by special permission of the FAA, will be closed that day. It is estimated that the concert, set for July 13th, will draw up to 60,000 Deadheads, which would be about 20,000 more people than the county's population. Grateful Dead spokesperson, Dennis McNally said, "We're excited and I hope the citizens of Vermont are ready for a little traffic. Anybody who runs a campground, motel or hotel within a 20-mile radius will be guaranteed to get some business." The local promoter, All Points Booking, was required to put $75,000 in an escrow account by July 6th. The money will be used to cover the anticipated expenses of law enforcement and medical agencies. Officials in neighboring Swanton have said extra police and fire protection will cost them $28,000. "We ask people not to show up if they don't have tickets, but there are always people who do," McNally said. "But generally our fans heed the request. Town selectman Dennis Feeley said, "We've got to expect some change up here, we can't expect to stay the same. If it was a Guns N' Roses type band I know I would have had second thoughts."..... BOINGO, formally Oingo Boingo will do a short series of dates in July. Los Angeles fans should watch for a special, surprise club appearance sometime in June..... Along with more than 10,000 Irish soccer fans coming to the U.S. to cheer on the Irish National Soccer Team as they compete in the World Cup tournament, comes after-the-match entertainment by Irish singer MARY BLACK. Black will be performing at local nightclubs and theatres in World Cup host cities. See Route Book for dates and venues..... BILLY JOEL pounded the keys for the men and the women of the U.S. Military at Soldiers Field in Nuremberg, Germany on June 12th. "The military audience is like no other audience I've played to," said Joel. "They are so appreciative, and I'm proud to perform especially for them." The special USO performance was made possible by grants from AT&T and American International Underwriters, longtime patrons of the USO tour program.

What are Mr. Byrne, Ms. Dement and Mssrs. Biohazard doing in the same ad?

GOING ON TOUR, THAT'S WHAT

Not together (pew). Imagine the scene backstage ...

SHOW'EM THE PRODUCT, BOYS:

david byrne davidənyd

The man with the biggest suit in the world returns to the spare and spiky sound that made heads roll. Headlining small clubs, solo, hard ticket, et cetera. Starts in Red Bank, New Jersey at the Count Basie Theatre on June 11, then heads North, then West, jogs up North, then South, then West, then East again.

 BIOHAZARD State Of The World Address

Just four guys from Brooklyn talking about the world they grew up in. On tour with Pantera and Sepultura, starting June 14 in Springfield, Mass.
