Ticketmaster Lawsuits Keep Flooding In

The Ticketmaster legal eagles may be drowning in the plethora of lawsuits that have hit the company recently but Fred Rosen (top) has other things on his mind here. Things like wading through all 7,196 entries from unsigned bands into TM's Music Showcase which kicks off July 27th in Boston. (L-R middle) Tom Mooney, showcase production supervisor; Sheila Scott of Scoop Marketing; TM executive VP John Ruscini; and (bottom) TM Music Showcase assistants Divita Elliott, Joanne Jaworawski and Heidi Gregory.

Variety Moves To Solid Ground

Bob Engel and Lloyd St. Martin are packing up Variety Artists International and moving the agency out of the Los Angeles basin and up the central California coast to San Luis Obispo. The new offices of Variety Artists will open in SLO following the July 4th weekend. Engel and St. Martin are leaving Southern California in search of a better quality lifestyle, much as Dan Weiner and Fred Bohlander did with Monterey Peninsula Artists. The current Variety offices are located in Sherman Oaks and that, you may recall, was essentially ground zero for last January's earthquake. Joining Engel and St. Martin in the San Luis terra firma will be agents John Harrington and Heather Boyd, who was recently promoted to full agent after being an assistant for the past two years. Variety Artists was established in Minneapolis 20 years ago. In 1978, it opened a branch office in Southern California. Eight years ago, it closed its Minnesota office and moved the entire operation to Los Angeles. The address for the new office is 846 Higuera Street, San Luis Obispo, CA, 93401. The new phone is (805) 544-1444. Fax: (805) 544-2444.

Mr. Rosen Goes To Washington

Rep. Gary Condit (D-Calif.) called for a House subcommittee hearing, which has been scheduled for June 30th, to look into the allegations of monopolistic business practices levied against Ticketmaster. The politicians got interested in concert ticketing practices after Pearl Jam filed a letter of complaint with the Justice Department in May. TM's CEO, Fred Rosen, has been scheduled to appear at the hearing. And an unnamed member of Pearl Jam will also appear. The subcommittee will also bring together a panel of "industry insiders." A subcommittee spokesperson said the panel will be made up of managers, agents, promoters and stadium managers. As of press time, no confirmation was made as to which member of the band would be present at the hearing nor were the names of the industry insiders available. And in related news, a lawsuit was filed in federal court June 20th accusing TM's operation in Philadelphia of conspiring with sports teams to arbitrarily set excess charges to tickets purchased through the agency. It also accused TM of paying kickbacks to the city's major professional sports teams and concert promoters in exchange for exclusive rights to sell off-site tickets to their events. The class-action suit, brought by brothers Paul and Wolodmyr Tyshchenok of Philly and Chris Rovegno of N.Y., also named the Philadelphia Eagles, Flyers,

Hole's Bass Player Found Dead In Seattle

Kristen Pfaff, 27, the bass player in Courtney Love's band, Hole, was found dead in the bathtub at her apartment in downtown Seattle June 16th. A friend of Pfaff's, who had spent the night at the musician's apartment, said he broke down the bathroom door when he discovered that Pfaff hadn't left the bathroom since the night before. Syringes and other suspected drug paraphernalia were found near Pfaff's body, which was kneeling in five inches of water with her upper body lying outside the tub towards the room. A spokesperson for the group said Pfaff had completed a drug rehab program last winter, something her family later

MEAT PUPPETS

The Meat Puppets are Arizona-bred but their musical career was born in the early days of the Los Angeles punk scene. The trio, brothers Curt and Cris Kirkwood and drummer Derrick Bostrom, were one of the first bands signed to SST. Along with Black Flag, the Minutemen and Hüsker Dü, the Meat Puppets consistently kicked butt on the underground punk scene of the 1980s. And in the 90s, major labels started hunting for the next punk band for the budding commercial alternative market.

With seven full-length releases, the Meat Puppets secured a contract with London Records. "We had a chance to move to a label that had a little more capital and better distribution," Cris Kirkwood (bassist/vocalist) told POLLSTAR. The Pups' music was fiercely independent but the band didn't find leaving the indie side of the business problematic. And it didn't get the sell-out flak. "We actually got that years ago," Cris said. "The sell-out thing back in the punker days was way nastier. It was fascistic, flat out. If you didn't look like they did, you were gonna get gassed." Punk rock was supposed to be the last bastion of individuality in the art world, Cris said, but it ended up "the fuckin' monkey heard."

Once signed to London, the band's underground notoriety and strong indie sales weren't enough to immediately lift it from commercial obscurity. While many performers from the Pup's era, including Bob Mould from Hüsker Dü and Henry Rollins from Black Flag, crossed over with a certain amount of commercial longevity, the Meat Puppets were having a difficult time garnering London's support. "It seemed like our company wasn't focused on pushing this old band in this new market as a new band," Cris said. "And then the tide shifted, some nice things happened and magic blew in the window and the next thing you know [the record company] got into it."

The magic manifested itself in a myriad of forms. Independent promotion man Bill McGathy saw the band perform at a festival for WAVF-FM in Charleston, S.C., and he told Sky Daniels, who was VP promotion at PLG at the time, that the band was hot. Following that, the PLG muscle started to line up behind the band. Then Kurt Cobain blew through the window with a cache of his own fairy dust. The Nirvana front-man, a long-time fan of the Meat Puppets, heard that London wasn't totally gun-ho over the band so he asked the Pup's to support Nirvana on the road. "He heard a live bootleg of us and realized that it wasn't anything we were doing wrong," Cris said. "It was Cobain's intention, flat out, to help the Meat Puppets establish a better relationship with their record company. It was a cool move on his part and it worked. And he made magic happen. He made a band that rocks — a band to live by — a lot more visible."

Curt Kirkwood (singer/songwriter/guitarist) said he was surprised and flattered when Cobain asked his band to tour with Nirvana. "I had a lot of respect for them as musicians," the elder brother said. "And before I even knew that they liked my band, I had this really strong feeling that there was something way similar about the [two] bands. I felt like, 'wow, this other three piece from somewhere totally else has come across this same strange spirit thing that we're doing, even though it doesn't even sound that much the same.'" When Curt learned Nirvana was influenced by his band, he understood why he felt that kinship.

Cobain's influential hand also reached out to the brothers Kirkwood when he asked them to join Nirvana on their MTV Unplugged set. Together, they performed two Meat Puppets songs. When the Meat Puppets' eighth album was released (their London debut Too High To Die), Cobain's words were stickered on the cover of the CD — "The Meat Puppets gave me a completely different attitude towards music. I owe so much to them." Cris said, "[The stickers were] crass exploitation but what isn't?"

Looking at the band's increased popularity, Curt said, "I think the [Unplugged segment] definitely provided a touchstone to another place. A testimonial by Kurt causes people to turn their heads and then we were there to meet the occasion." The Meat Puppets finally reached that other place and crossed-over into mainstream consciousness. The new CD is firmly established in the top 100. The song "Backwater" continues to be in the top five on rock radio charts and the "Backwater" video is in solid rotation on MTV.

The band is spending its summer supporting Stone Temple Pilots. "[Touring is] a pretty heavy trip. You have to bare your soul to strange people every night," said Curt. "At the same time, in the middle of the performance, you know there's nothing else like that. [But] the live show wouldn't be anything without the original material."

Besides his musical duties, Curt has a hand in all business decisions, working closely with the band's agent, Frank Riley of Monterey Peninsula Artists. "He is my oldest partner outside of the band," Curt said of his 10-year relationship with Riley. The Pups recently joined Gold Mountain with Peter Rauh as their manager. Curt said he was drawn to the firm because of the way it handles several different bands, including the Beastie Boys, Sonic Youth and Nirvana. "They can get things done and get them wholly done," Curt said. Management style also is important to Curt since the band was self-managed for years. "I don't need to be babied," he said. "I thrive if I'm just watched."

In closing, Cris had this to say about the Meat Puppets as commerce. "People put the roads down and keep the lights on. I pay for that and they pay me for music. It's functional but who gives a crap."

denied. Police reported that there were no signs of suicide. A June 17th autopsy was unable to determine the actual cause of death and toxicology tests are pending. Pfaff had been the bass player in Hole for nearly a year and a half. She was originally from Buffalo and was a classically trained pianist who had never played rock music until she was 22 years old. Pfaff had reportedly been planning on moving to Minneapolis until Hole resumed its touring schedule. A friend of Pfaff's said the musician wanted to get away from the drug scene in Seattle. But Love and other friends of Pfaff reportedly think a heart murmur may have been responsible for the death rather than a heroin overdose. Despite the tragic deaths of her husband and now her bass player, Love plans to continue working with Hole as a band. "We are obviously very shaken by the tragedies affecting our band in the last months but have decided to continue on as we regroup, collect our thoughts and mourn the passing of a very loved person," the band said in a statement.

Sony Wins Landmark Case vs. George Michael

George Michael failed to have his long-term recording contract with Sony Music nullified when the U.K. High Court ruled against him in his 10-month long court battle with the recording giant. Michael claimed the eight-album contract he signed in 1988 was unfair under British and European Union law. He said it bound him to the company for up to 15 years and gave him no control over how his music would be marketed. Michael had originally signed to CBS Records as part of the duo Wham! Wham! broke up in '86 and when Sony acquired CBS in 1988, it renegotiated with Michael as a solo artist. The court ruled June 21st that the singer's $12 million contract with Sony was not a restraint of trade and the judge called the contract reasonable and fair. Michael had also claimed he was short changed on his royalty rate but the judge said the singer always had access to expert legal advice and the fact that he had renegotiated terms more than once and had requested cash advances, which Sony paid, meant he affirmed his '88 contract and could not go back on his agreement. Michael had also claimed that Sony deliberately tried to sabotage his release, Listen Without Prejudice, because the singer didn't want to continue sporting the teenybopper, butt-wigglin', sex symbol image associated with his release Faith. But the judge said he was satisfied there was no such deliberate policy on Sony's part. The judge also said that as Michael gave his evidence, it became progressively more apparent that his views of Sony's attitude, motives and competence derived less from first-hand experience than from reports made to him by his closest advisers, particularly his manager, Rob Kahane, according to Britain's PA News service. Despite concerns about the promotion and marketing of Listen Without Prejudice, Michael never sought a personal meeting with the relevant Sony executives and left Kahane to fight most of his battles. The judge said he could not help feeling that, had Sony seen more of Michael and less of Kahane from 1990 onwards, events might have turned out differently. Justice Jonathan Parker said Kahane had "an obvious and intense dislike" of Sony. "By the end of his evidence, I was left in no doubt that [Kahane's] advice to Mr. Michael during 1991 and 1992 was coloured to a significant extent by his own financial difficulties at that time," the news service quoted the judge as saying. Justice Parker reportedly said Kahane was motivated "to an unacceptable degree by self-interest and a desire to protect his own position." But Kahane told POLLSTAR, "I'm shocked and appalled by Mr. Justice Parker's characterization of me in his judgement and his groundless assumptions about my motivations and my testimony. I've managed George Michael through his entire solo career which has seen him become a worldwide superstar, selling millions of records and playing before millions of adoring fans. I have always acted for George Michael with the highest degree of integrity and in accordance with his wishes." In a statement, Sony said it has great respect for Michael and it looks forward to a continued relationship with him. However, Michael has vowed to never record for Sony again, even though he owes the company six more albums. Michael discredited the judges decision saying it put performers in a position of "professional slavery." Michael said he plans to appeal the decision immediately. Some observers think the singer will have a better chance to win the appeal than he did the opening round. Justice Parker also ordered Michael to pay Sony's legal costs, a figure estimated to be around $3 million, although the acceptable costs for the years of trial preparations and 74 days of court time have not yet been determined.

Legal Grievs

The widow of Bo Diddley's manager, the late Martin Otelsberg, has to cough up $400,000 because a federal judge ruled that Mr. Otelsberg breached his fiduciary duty to Diddley and diverted and misappropriated funds. Lila Otelsberg is the executrix of her husband's estate. The judge also placed Otelsberg's estate in trust and froze its accounts until it is determined if more money is owed, according to Diddley's lawyer. Also, the judge ordered Lila Otelsberg to turn over books and records dating to 1972, when her husband became Diddley's manager. A spokesperson for the Otelsberg family said the decision is under appeal and no comment could be made at this time..... Yet another lawsuit has been filed over the "Jackson Family Honors" concert. One of the concert's investors, Joseph Iny, wants a return on his investment so he's suing the Jackson family and various other companies involved in the fiasco. The suit, filed in New Jersey Superior Court, charges the defendants with depriving Iny of a profit on his investment, which he claims "rescued the performance." Iny did receive his investment of $1 million back after the show but didn't get any more than that, as he says was the agreement. A spokesman for the Jackson family said the concert lost money.

A Giant Rift?

Giant Records prexy Irving Azoff is rumored to be on the verge of ending his joint venture with Time Warner, according to a report in the Los Angeles Times. The article says Azoff and Time Warner Music Group chairman Robert Morgado have already held preliminary divorce talks but remain far apart on terms. Other sources say Azoff has quite a dilemma facing him since he's with a company that clearly doesn't want him but also might not let him go easily — unless its for the right price. Some think Time Warner's part of the Giant deal will be picked up by BMG, the label's overseas distributor. Other speculation has Azoff talking with New World Communications Group, which is reportedly looking for an entree into the music business. Sources contend that Azoff would jump at the chance to go into business with New World's Ronald O. Perelman. But others say Perelman wants to invest in a record company giant like Thorn-EMI — not Giant Record company. A spokesperson for Giant said the company has no comment.

Commission to investigate CD pricing in May 1993. Its investigations followed complaints that CD prices were being kept artificially high because a small group of manufacturers and distributors had a strangle hold on product flow in Europe. Consumer groups complained that CD's cost much more than cassettes even though the two products cost almost exactly the same to manufacture. They also complained that British prices were almost double U.S. prices. But the MMC report stated that prices for recorded music in the U.K. are set at levels determined by effective competition in the U.K. market. Acknowledging that complex monopoly situations exist with the five major record companies, the MMC report said they did not operate against the public interest. The report also said no manufacturer or retailer was making excessive profits.

With the upcoming movie "Airheads" comes another hot soundtrack release. Artists featured on the 12-song Fox/Arista record include White Zombie, Prong, 4 Non Blondes and Candlebox. The soundtrack hits the streets July 19th and the movie starts in theatres a few weeks later. Posing with music supervisor Lonn Friend are the warped members of the unusual trio whose re-recording of Motorhead's "Born To Raise Hell" appears on the record. (L-R) Ice-T, Ugly Kid Joe's Whitfield Crane, Friend, and Lemmy Kilmister of Motorhead.

The World Cup Of Staging Gaffes

Stars performing at the opening of the World Cup competition in Chicago fell head over heels for the audience — in a hole that is. Jon Secada crashed through the stage at Soldier Field June 17th as he was walking on to perform to a global audience of around one billion people. His band already started his song so he began singing with only his head and shoulders visible above stage level. He made it to center stage to finish his performance after security helped him out of the hole. He was then immediately taken to a hospital by ambulance and treated for a dislocated shoulder. And Secada wasn't the only one. Oprah Winfrey also took a spill due to the weak point in the stage after introducing Diana Ross. Though Winfrey had to be helped off stage, she was able to resume her duties as master of ceremonies.

The New Face Of Canadian Country Music Video

Canada's new cable channel, The Country Network, will give Canadian musicians an incentive to produce broadcast quality country music videos. According to a report in The Record, TCN will pay Canadian artists $150 per play for each video shown on the network. Payments will range from a minimum of $4,500 to a maximum of $15,000. There are reportedly only less than 120 Canadian country music video clips of broadcast quality and that's obviously not enough to sustain an operation which has pledged that a minimum of 30 percent of clips shown will be by Canadian artists. The Country Network is scheduled to launch in January. Since the new network will use a similar format to Country Music Television, the American service which has been operating in Canada for 10 years, CMT will no longer be available to Canadians. In a statement, CMT said it is doing what it can to encourage the Canadian Radio and Television Commission to return CMT to Canada. CMT also said, "In view of the fact that the United States does not discriminate against Canadian television services, we find this action to be unneighborly." Canada's MuchMusic and CBC will soon be available in the U.S. to compete with American programming.

Short Items Of Note

Earlier this month, Barry Fey bought himself some nice new walking shorts. Last week, he had to have them altered to make the pockets deeper as Fey Concerts completed a record setting week. Fey did six nights of shows between June 13-19 for a total gross of more than $9.5 million in ticket sales. The five Eagles shows (in Denver, Las Vegas and Phoenix) coupled with Pink Floyd's one night at Mile High Stadium made for a landmark week for Fey's cash flow. And presumably, the bands let him keep a little of it.... Michael English is having a hard time leaving his Christian music career behind. Shortly after being named artist of the year by the Gospel Music Association, it was discovered that he was having an extramarital affair so English retired from Christian music. Despite that, he has now been nominated for favorite male artist in the new America's Christian Music Awards.... Virgin tycoon Richard Branson and his family escaped a major auto accident with only cuts and bruises June 18th in Oxfordshire, England. Branson lost control of his Range Rover just after midnight, while trying to avoid another car. The car overturned several times and ended up on its roof in the fast lane of the M40 motorway. Branson said a police woman smashed in the car's windows and rescued the family while traffic swerved around the accident.... Abe Pollin, the owner of the aging USAir Arena (and the NBA's Bullets and NHL's Capitals), signed a "memorandum of understanding" June 20th locking him into exclusive negotiations with D.C. business leaders to build a new $150 million arena. The exclusive lasts for 30 days. The proposed arena at Gallery Place in downtown D.C. now lies in the hands of local government officials which have until mid-July to give Pollin proper approvals. Maryland officials have said they are going ahead with their plans, which might include a new arena next to the existing building..... After their recent battle with the Idaho Transportation Department, Festival at Sandpoint organizers are going ahead with plans to hold a Willie Nelson concert at the Cocolalla Ranch July 17th. The state had wanted the promoters to install a paved turn-lane on I-95 in order to avoid a dangerous traffic jam. That would have cost close to $100,000 and wouldn't have fit well in the show budget. Highway officials eventually relented and are allowing a temporary turn-lane to be marked off with cones.

Skating Their Way To Top Billings

The tour of World Figure Skating Champions was given a hearty welcome June 16th when the show played before a sell-out crowd at MetraPark Arena in Billings, Montana. "This is the most prestigious event our building has ever hosted," said MetraPark GM, Bill Chiesa. Pros On The Move Creative Artists Agency moved into the fast lane of the information superhighway when it hired AT&T's multimedia chief, Robert Kavner, to head the agency's multimedia division. At CAA, Kavner will facilitate the rapidly converging markets of entertainment and technology. Michael Ovitz said Kavner primarily will focus on creating new-media opportunities for CAA's clients. Kavner said he plans to form alliances between technology companies and CAA and he didn't rule out the possibility of future equity investments for CAA in new-media companies. Kavner and Ovitz, who have known each other for two years, started discussing the idea of Kavner leaving AT&T to join CAA just two weeks before the June 16th announcement. The conversation reportedly arose when a joke turned into contemplation about working together. Kavner, a well paid veteran of ten years, supervised more than 50,000 people at AT&T. When he starts at CAA, Kavner's staff will be made up of roughly 10 people..... Larry Stessel has been named senior VP and GM of EMI Records. He will oversee marketing, sales and publicity for EMI, Chrysalis, SBK and all associated labels. He has previously held senior positions with Epic and Mercury Records..... The Agora theatre in Cleveland recently went through some major changes. Agora founder, Henry LoConti, has stepped down after 28 years at the helm. He will become a consultant and his son Henry LoConti Jr. has been named prexy and will be responsible for operations and talent buying.

George White resigned from his position as GM to pursue his own marketing company. And the Agora's infamous marketing director, Johan, who left the theatre earlier in the month citing "irreconcilable differences" with then-management, returned to his position and also assumed the role of GM..... Tami Blevins recently joined Gold Mountain's management team and is based out of the company's New York office. Blevins previously was a manager at The Hornblow Group USA..... Bryan Switzer has been promoted to VP/GM of Atlantic Nashville. Switzer has been with the company four years and was VP/promotion..... Dick Wingate has been named senior VP/marketing of Arista Records. Wingate has previously held positions with inTouch Group, PolyGram Records, CBS Records and Epic.

I Fought The Law And...

Tracy Lawrence had nothing to say in his own defense June 20th in a Tennessee court, as he waived a preliminary hearing on weapons and assault charges. The singer was arrested April 4th for allegedly firing a .357-caliber Magnum in the air on Interstate 40 and following three teens, who were in another car, home and threatening them. He is charged with two felony counts of aggravated assault plus misdemeanors for possessing a prohibited weapon and criminally impersonating a government official. The police said Lawrence was carrying a fake ID and police badge. Lawrence said he felt threatened by the teens, who he said made an obscene gesture to start the incident. Arraignment is set for July 21st..... Lisa "Left Eye" Lopes has reportedly entered a rehab program in Atlanta after her alleged arson attack on her boyfriend's house. Lopes, a member of TLC, turned herself in to police a day after fire destroyed the $2 million dollar estate of Andre Rison. She was released on $75,000 bond..... Prosecutors in Miami have dropped charges of aggravated assault against Luther Campbell. Campbell had been accused of waving a gun May 17th at Tina Barnett and threatening to kill her. Barnett didn't press charges and prosecutors had no other independent evidence..... Jamaican singer Prince Ital Joe was released from jail without being charged after he was arrested for allegedly raping a 17-year-old German girl while in Cologne June 13th to make a television appearance. "I am absolutely innocent," the singer told reporters. "I have no reasons to rape a woman. It is

KISS-FM in Boston uses proceeds from its 15th anniversary concert to help the Genesis Fund. The June 6th concert at Great Woods showcased 31 diverse acts including Meat Loaf, Kenny G, Salt-N-Pepa, Tom Jones, Color Me Badd, The B-52's, ZZ Top, Village People, Tony! Toni! Toné!, and Crash Test Dummies. NKOTB were scheduled but ended up a no show. Tickets were priced from $35-150. PolyGram Expands Island As PLG Disappears

Island Records will become a free-standing, fully autonomous label once again. Previously, sales, marketing and promotions for Island were handled by PolyGram Label Group which is now in the process of being disbanded. John Barbis, the current executive VP of PLG, will become the new prexy of Island U.S. Island's U.S. headquarters will stay at 400 Lafayette Street in New York. Island will apparently join Mercury, A&M, and Motown as the major labels for PolyGram artists. Current PLG president Rick Dobbis will relocate to London to assume an unnamed senior management position. At present, there are a large number of PLG artists and staffers who are uncertain of what the PolyGram reorganization will mean to them.

Peter Gabriel's Quest For A Peaceful Concert

Peter Gabriel's concert for peace, originally scheduled to be held at the Egyptian Red Sea resort of Taba on the Egypt-Israeli border, was moved to the port of Eilat, which is only a few miles across the boarder in Israel. The concert was planned to bring together performers and spectators from the two countries. But when Egypt pulled the plug because of security concerns, the Israelis reportedly saw it as another example of the "cold peace" with their neighboring country. The director-general of Israel's Foreign Ministry, Uri Savir, said, "It seems that whenever we go two steps forward, we sometimes also take one step back." The Israeli Embassy in Cairo reportedly told the Egyptian Foreign Ministry that the cancellation of Gabriel's concert would "damage Egyptian-Israeli relations." But an embassy spokesperson said no official complaint was made. And while in the Middle East, Gabriel visited a refugee camp on the West Bank. He talked with a family whose home was sealed by Israel nine years ago and who now lives in a cramped room in the camp. Israel seals homes of those accused of anti-Israeli activity. Gabriel was saddened by the conditions but he tried to make everyone laugh.

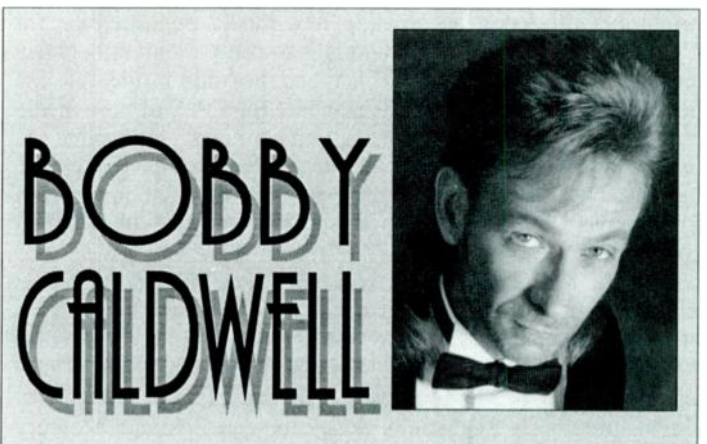

Gabriel, who was not recognized by most of the people in the camp, was reportedly asked if he was Michael Jackson when he visited there. When Gabriel left the troubled Mideast area, he headed for a country in which a peaceful environment was expected, France. However, an annual music festival on the streets of Paris was marred by drunken people rampaging through the streets. Paris police reported that two people died in the revelry. The "Fete de la Musique" included rock, classical, world and military music. Gabriel was among the hundreds of performers who participated in the nationwide street event.

Columbus Discovers Its New Shed

Although it was a few days late in opening, the Polaris Amphitheater in Columbus, Ohio, was received positively by fans attending the grand opening concert by Billy Ray Cyrus on June 18th. One attendee said, "People are tired of going to Cleveland or Cincinnati for shows like this." On the other hand, the $15 million Polaris project was not welcomed by some neighbors who circulated petitions and challenged zoning laws. One group tried to ban alcohol at the site. They submitted petitions with 12,000 signatures in order to get the issue on the May ballot. Although the election was held, U.S. District Judge Sandra Beckwith ordered the election results impounded. She ruled that Ohio laws allowing voters to deny liquor permits to convention centers are unconstitutional. With that ruling, the amphitheatre is allowed to proceed with selling beer at concerts.

Celebrating their 35th year in show Business, Alvin and the Chipmunks will have an array of new audio, video and book releases and cable/network TV appearances including the release of their new pop Christmas album, Merry Chipmunk. Frank Cappelli (an A&M Records' artist with 6 audio and 2 video releases), is the star of the Emmy Award winning TV series "Cappelli & Co.," which airs daily on Nickelodeon. Discovery Music/BMG Kidz recording artist Joanie Bartels is a "mega-star among the tricycle set," with over 2 million audio sales, 2 full-length videos and Kid-Vid on Nickelodeon and the Disney Channel. Joanie will be performing a playful selection of holiday songs from her ever popular Christmas Magic audio recording. // BSO is pleased to announce the following additions to our roster: Roberto Perera (Heads Up, Int'l), 1994 winner of Billboard's contemporary latin/jazz album of the year for his most recent release, Dreams & Desires. A native of Uruguay, his nimble hands and unique approach turn the traditional Paraguayan harp into an instrument of amazingly rhythmic sounds and exciting syncopation, incorporating elements from all of the Americas. A dynamic performer, Roberto has lead his sextet at festivals, concerts and clubs throughout the U.S. and Latin America. There's fall and winter avails including dates for his annual "Holiday Tour." // Also joining our roster is Verve/PolyGram pianist Rodney Kendrick. His debut album, The Secrets of Rodney Kendrick, has gained rave reviews for displaying some of the most unique styling and phrasings heard in recent years. His dazzling show of advance harmonics, sensitivity to nuance, rhythm and space, as well as his ability to deeply swing, mark Rodney as a musician to watch.

Between The Dates

The VAN HALEN management derby is over and Canada's S.R.O. Productions, which also handles Rush, has been given the nod. The band is said to be going into the studio, but there are no tour plans at this time..... Add NEW EDITION to the list of acts planning to work in '95. The current game plan calls for the single to come out in October, the album in November, and the tour to start in January. Bobby Brown is said to be undecided about taking part in the reunion..... First, as "Daltrey Sings Townshend," the tour was scheduled to start in mid-May. Then with the release of the album, recorded last winter at the Townshend tribute at Carnegie Hall, pushed back, the tour was renamed ROGER DALTREY, and rescheduled to start at the end of June. Now the latest delay results from an injured John Entwistle. The bassist was reaching for a glass, which fell and shattered, cutting his right hand. No stitches were needed, but with a heavily bandaged hand, playing the bass is no fun. Of course this causes a major Excedrin headache for the agent booking the dates, APA's D.J. McLachlan. He had already booked the tour twice and now he had to go back to his routing sheets, remove most of the July dates and tack them on to the end of the tour. Most of the existing August dates stayed the same. The Roger Daltrey tour, with Entwistle on most dates, is now scheduled to open July 30th at Red Rocks in Denver. Actually, this all may work out in everyone's best interest. With a late July start date, Daltrey can look forward to a bit less competition and more time for promotion. Daltrey's management, InVision Entertainment, is planning a special promotional concert that will also serve as the tour's full dress rehearsal. Daltrey, Entwistle, and orchestra, will play an intimate show for about 200 fans selected via contests with radio stations and other media outlets in tour markets..... "Reality Bites" star and director Ben Stiller is planning to shoot a concert film of the upcoming ROLLING STONES tour that will combine performance footage along with a storyline about two male fans and their quest to get backstage to meet the band. The plans are for Stiller and Brad Pitt to play the fans. Reportedly, the idea comes from Mick Jagger and Keith Richards, who approached Stiller with the idea. Fans might remember that a film documentary of the 1972 Stones tour, "Cocksucker Blues," was never released theatrically. Speaking of the Stones — remember that New Orleans ad exec who offered to give $50,000 to charity if the band would let him play bass on one song? Ain't gonna happen. Herb Montalano, Jr. says that the band's publicist gave him the bad news last week, agreeing that allowing him to jam with the band "could establish a troublesome precedent." He said he'd give the money to charity anyway. "You can't always get what you want," Montalano said, "No pun intended." Yeah, right..... The other "Woodstock," Sid Bernstein's "BETHEL '94" has snagged its first headliner — Fleetwood Mac. Other acts include Ray Charles, John Sebastian, Richie Havens, Judy Collins, David Clayton-Thomas and Blood, Sweat & Tears, and Melanie. This festival is already off to a late start, with Bernstein receiving the necessary permits only two weeks ago. Tickets are expected to cost $150..... WHITESNAKE is back on the road, touring Europe. Joining David Coverdale will be guitarists Adrian Vandenberg and Warren DeMartini, Rudy Sarzo on bass, former Heart drummer Denny Carmassi, and keyboardist Paul Mirkovich. If you're still holding your breath in anticipation of that Coverdale/Page tour, you can exhale. It appears that relationship is at an end..... What would you do with $5,000? Buy a speed-demon multi-media computer? Have a 40" big screen TV with home theatre sound installed in the family room? Or you could get one ticket for the THREE TENORS; Jose Carreras, Placido Domingo, and Luciano Pavarotti, conducted by Zubin Mehta July 16th at Dodger Stadium along with a special post concert supper to benefit the establishment and operation of the Elizabeth Taylor AIDS Center. The $5,000 price includes a $1,000 concert ticket and $4,000 tax deduction..... On the other hand, how about catching an act in an intimate setting for only $10? A Los Angeles radio station is presenting The KIIS-FM MUSIC CLUB series at the trendy Roxbury club on Sunset. Last week the club presented Melissa Etheridge and future shows include Stevie Nicks on July 14th, Sheryl Crow on August 9th and Crowded House, August 25th. All ticket sales will benefit various charities and will be sold on-site, day-of-show only..... A shed in Alaska? Paul Kantner's JEFFERSON STARSHIP will be gaining a little "Northern Exposure" when it plays the Borealis Amphitheatre in Palmer, August 29th & 30th..... In next week's MID-YEAR double issue will be the 3rd draft of the 1994 Summer Amphitheatre Datebook, the top 25 grossing tours for the first half of 1994, and our exclusive mid-year concert business analysis. Since it's a double issue, there will be no issue dated July 11th although our offices will remain open except for the 4th.
