Reinventing A Sell Out

The Concert Industry Consortium's Reinventing The Business conference February 3-5 at the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles is now sold out. A waiting list is being established in case any spaces open up. As we go to press it is also possible that the CIC may be able to make a few additional one day only registrations available for the three Sunday panel sessions. Call for details. New panelists who have just been added include Irv Zuckerman (Contemporary), John Huie (CAA Nashville), Arny Granat (Jam), and Aerosmith manager Tim Collins. Plus, Leisure Management Int'l has signed on to sponsor the Sunday brunch for conference attendees. Due to the heavy number of building managers registered for the event, an informal Facility Managers Meeting has been scheduled for Friday, February 3rd from 2:30 pm to 4:30 pm. The meeting will be chaired by Pat Christenson from the Thomas & Mack Center and will give venue managers a chance to sharpen their focus for the CIC sessions to follow. The CIC is also proud to welcome three new partners to the consortium. Radio City Music Hall Prod. has joined the venture and the addition of MusicCentre Prod./Centre Mgmt. and LMI means that the industry's four largest private facility management groups are now part of the consortium. And finally, the CIC scholarships have been awarded to Jason Colton (management assistant with Dionysian Prod.), Jim Ahearne (owner of Whirly Gigs in Maine), Madina Salaty (assistant to Andy Somers at ICM), Corey Humpage (assistant at TBA Media), Lou Ornelas (MCA Records marketing intern), Chris McBride (assistant to Brett Steinberg at APA), and Joseph Sofio (William Morris mailroom).

Courts Do The Copyright Boogie

The revival of a lawsuit against ZZ Top for allegedly copying its hit "La Grange" from a John Lee Hooker song has the judiciary disagreeing about copyright law. A federal appeals court is giving the co-writer of Hooker's "Boogie Chillen," Bernard Besman, a chance to try and prove he obtained federal copyright protection for the song in 1970 before ZZ Top recorded it. But at the same time, the court ruled in ZZ Top's favor finding that a songwriter who allows a record to be made without attaching a copyright notice, forfeits exclusive rights to the song. That standard falls under current copyright law which took effect in 1978. The disagreement among the courts is whether that standard applies to the 1909 Copyright Act, which governs this ease. The appeals court agreed that versions of "Boogie Chillen" recorded in 1948 and 1950 are in the public domain since their renewable 28 year copyright periods would have expired before the suit was filed. So the question now lies in whether a 1970 version of the song was copyrighted. Even if ZZ Top is found guilty of violating the copyright on that version, the band could only be sued for allegedly copying something that was new in that version, according to ZZ Top attorney, Joseph Schleimer, who said he was pleased with the recent court ruling. In court papers, Schleimer had argued that allowing authors to keep exclusive rights of pre-1978 songs without copyright notice "would revive the copyrights to tens of thousands of publicdomain songs thus subjecting the music industry to untold new risks of costly litigation."

Twenty Years Of This Stuff

DiCesare Engler Productions recently celebrated its 20th anniversary with a sell-out crowd for Andy Williams at the A.J. Palumbo Center in Pittsburgh. On stage before the concert, the two men responsible for two successful decades in the promotions business (and the wives who put up with it) are honored with plaques. (L-R) Cindy and Rich Engler, and Kathy and Pat DiCesare.

Nailing The Soul Of Moline

An upcoming Nine Inch Nails concert recently came under attack from a Baptist minister who said members of his church are so upset about the band's "satanic" message, they're considering picketing the January 19th concert at The Mark of the Quad Cities in Moline, Ill. The Rev. Tennessee Ernie Smith of Grace General Baptist Church in East Moline said the willingness of performers in Nine Inch Nails to associate with those openly involved in the occult shows that they too may be doing the work of the devil. Steve Hyman, executive director of The Mark, said he received some inquiries about NIN's alleged satanic ties but because the arena is publicly owned, it cannot deny rental of the building to the group. Hyman told POLLSTAR he had a meeting January 6th with Churches United, an organization comprised of ministers representing various faiths and their churches. Though Churches United doesn't condone the NIN concert, they fully understand and support the building and what they're doing, Hyman said. "They have a problem with it but they understand that making an issue of it doesn't do it justice,"

🔺 Insider News Briefs

he said. Hyman said only one gentleman, who is not affiliated with the organization, is still upset about the concert. "I had one gentleman representing that he was with a group that was not really fully understanding.... His statement to me at the end of my conversation was that, 'All rock, including Christian rock, was satanic.' So that pretty much blew his reputation out of the water." Hyman said there could be protestors at the event but he believes they will represent a very small minority. The Mark may beef up security a little but beyond that, "It'll be just another rock'n'roll show," Hyman said. Nine Inch Nails couldn't be reached for comment as of press time.

An Arena Tale Of Two Cities

Plans to build a new arena for the Denver Nuggets have hit a snag because of the city's concern over lost seat tax revenue if the team leaves McNichols Arena. The City of Denver must agree to release the Nuggets from its lease, which runs through 2008, in order for the new, privately funded arena to be built. The two sides have "come 98 percent of the way" and agreed on virtually all major points, according to Peter Bowes, co-chairman of the mayor's Sports Facilities Task Force. But if annual payments to cover lost revenues don't keep up with the rate of inflation, the city apparently won't release the Nuggets from its lease. However, the city is still willing to negotiate, according to Bowes. The city also is reportedly concerned about lost seat tax revenue from the Denver Coliseum, which the Nuggets would have also managed under the proposed agreement..... Meanwhile, Abe Pollin has decided to scrap attempts to have D.C. residents finance a bond issue for a new 23,000-capacity arena in the nation's capital and said he will finance the $180 million himself. Pollin, who owns the NBA's Bullets and NHL's Capitals, which currently play at USAir Arena in suburban Landover, Md., thinks he can have the new venue open for the '97-'98 seasons.

World Radio History

Moist has been on what they call a "perma-tour" since August 1993. During a recent tour stop in Cleveland, the band's vocalist David Usher told POLLSTAR, "We are the endless touring band.... But it's not that long ago that we were an indie band from Canada, pounding away, touring to nobody, building up a following." But for this Vancouver-based touring machine, playing to nobody may be a thing of the past.

The band's guitarist Mark Makowy said, "We're going to keep coming to people's towns until they come out and see us. And we mean to be pretty relentless about." Moist's relentless pursuit of an audience has paid off in its home country. The band's boxoffice history reveals a nearly sold-out headlining tour of Canada playing to more than 1,200 people a night in large markets.

The band was formed about two years ago in Vancouver. "We did our first demo after one show," Usher said. "We were becoming really popular in Vancouver [and] we were getting tons of hype across Canada just on the basis of our demo." The band played the Music West conference where it was spotted by Steve Blair of S.L. Feldman and Associates. Though the band had yet to secure a recording contract, Blair became quite interested in Moist and said he wanted to book a tour for the band. "It was a very natural progress," Usher said. "We wanted to go on the road and Steve could help us out."

Blair and the band's manager, Keith Maryanovich, got together and fulfilled Moist's desire to become more than a local Vancouver band. Maryanovich was also instrumental in inking an alliance with Frank Riley at Monterey Peninsula Artists to book Moist's U.S. dates. "I think Frank saw our Music West show and he introduced himself to us and to Keith and he just kept in touch until things started happening in the U.S.," Usher said. "He's the man, you know. He's a great agent and he's been there from the beginning for us."

Despite Moist's early affiliations with established agencies, the band didn't jump headfirst into a recording contract. Moist signed a publishing deal with EMI/April Music Canada Ltd. in October 1993, eight months after recording and mixing its self-titled cassette. The band released its debut CD, Silver, on its own indie label and also created, co-directed and independently produced its video for the first single "Push."

The band landed a much-coveted spot at the South by Southwest conference in March of 1994 where, as a totally-unknown act, it won the praises of critics. Two months later a U.S. recording deal with Chrysalis Records was finalized. Silver was released in the U.S. in August '94 just as the band recorded it — no re-mixing or re-mastering or re-editing. "The only thing that was changed for the release of that record was the color of the "Moist" from purple to blue," Usher said. The indie video for "Push" went to the top of MuchMusic's charts — one of two indie videos to hit that #1 spot. And Silver has sold nearly double platinum in Canada. Usher said, "EMI in Canada has done a great job making it explode. Everyone's coming on board — radio — everybody. It's been really cool."

Despite the support of the record company and the band's manager and agents, it's a tough gig, Usher said. Moist is coming from a place where it is very successful and venturing into new, unknown territories. And like so many new bands, Moist has already discovered the schedule is grueling. "We do not sleep. We do not rest," Usher said of the band's touring and promotion momentum. When Usher spoke to POLLSTAR, the band had recently returned from Germany where they did two days of press. They were scheduled to go back to Canada for a respite before the next tour started but Usher and Markowy had to sacrifice their precious few days off for another press trip to England. Usher said, "You sit in a room and people come in and you do interviews all day long. You can be at a hotel anywhere in the world. We went from the airport in a car to the hotel and that was it. But make no mistake, we're not complaining at all. We all give each other stupid smiles everyday and go, 'Ah, this is pretty cool'."

In addition to writing, recording and performing, Moist has its proverbial hand in all aspects of its career. Moist's manager, Maryanovich, is considered an integral part of this "band's band," as is road manager, Ian "Stan" Wardle. The members of Moist and their key players decide on each and every detail that affects the band. But with success comes a compromise and Moist has begun to face the issue of giving up a bit of the "total control" that many band's live for.

"It's sort of a balance," Usher said. "A strange thing [happened] when we first became a signed act. We were used to having total control over everything. But you can't do everything well once you're spread out and touring this much. So you do have to let some things go and you have to trust some people to do some things for you. But certain things we want to stay very close to, like what music goes out, what image of the band goes out, what mixes go out, who mixes, who shoots (the videos and photos), who does this and who does that. It's important to us that we're involved in that."

Moist has garnered some great notices from the Canadian press. The Record asked, "Could this be Canada's Pearl Jam?" and also called Moist "a shoe in, surely, as most promising group at the '95 Junos, or perhaps a strong candidate for group of the year." Moist landed in the top 10 Canadian retail albums for 1994, only being topped by the likes of Celine Dion, Crash Test Dummies, Sarah McLachlan, Bryan Adams and Loreena McKennitt.

So, as the band begins to break out of Canada, there is one thing to remember — being on stage is the most important thing for Moist and they plan to maintain their quick pace in '95. "We don't have lives. We don't have apartments," Usher said. "We don't have homes or anything like that. That's not a tragedy but it's quite funny. You really have to like playing in order to do that." statement declaring "Enough is Enough!" The reports, which were picked up by various media outlets including "Hard Copy," allege the tape captures MJ and a 13-year-old boy in a compromising sexual situation. In a statement, MJ said, "I have instructed my attorneys to immediately file lawsuits against those persons who continue to spread vicious lies and rumors about me in their attempts to make money, benefit their careers, sell papers or to get viewers to watch their programs." Additionally, the stories about the alleged tape were accompanied by reports that the Los Angeles and Santa Barbara district attorney's offices were reopening the sexual molestation investigation. However, a spokesperson for the Los Angeles District Attorney's office said they have heard the reports about a tape but are not searching for it and have not reopened the investigation. And in unrelated news, a Superior Court judge in Modesto, Calif., said the woman who claims MJ fathered her child is an annoying litigant. The judge ordered Michelle Flowers, who has filed a series of lawsuits against MJ since 1982, to put up a $15,000 bond if she wishes to pursue any further legal action.

Not A Good Deal

Kelly Deal, guitarist with the Breeders, was scheduled to have drug-related charges heard by a Dayton, Ohio grand jury January 11th. According to Entertainment Weekly, Deal was arrested November 30th after accepting an overnight package containing several grams of heroin. Deal could face a possible fourth-degree felony charge for possession which is punishable by a $2,500 fine and up to 18 months in prison.

Pros On The Move

After 2^{1/2} years with MCA Concerts in Los Angeles, Neil Jacobsen is packing up and heading to Philadelphia to join Electric Factory Concerts. Jacobsen told POLLSTAR, "I was born and raised in the Northeast and worked for Don Law in Boston for 14 years and decided to seek my fortune out in Los Angeles and this opportunity came up with Electric Factory that was simply too good to pass up." Jacobsen's official start date in his new position was January 9th..... Paul Mercs also recently resigned from MCA Concerts Canada and has reestablished his own Paul Mercs Concerts in Vancouver..... Tim Borror has joined Artists & Audience as an agent..... Sara Vale was promoted to VP of operations at the Tahoe Agency and Lucy Kerley has been promoted to full agent. Prior to joining the agency as an assistant, Kerley was the talent buyer for John Henry's in Eugene..... Radio & Records founder Bob Wilson announced he is stepping down from his day-to-day duties. Wilson has served as the magazine's publisher for most of its 22 years and will remain on as a consultant for R&R Online.

Will They Go For 15?

For the 14th consecutive year, the Oak Ridge Boys celebrated New Year's Eve at the Star Plaza Theatre in Merrillville, Ind. To commemorate the special event, Star Plaza Theatre added an Oak Ridge Boys memorabilia display to the venue. On hand for the occasion are (L-R) Richard Sterban and Duane Allen of the Oak Ridge Boys; Star Prod. prexy Charlie Blum; the band's Joe Bonsall and Steve Sanders; and Star Plaza Theatre GM Mark Bishop.

Legal Griefs

Ruth Webb Enterprises filed a lawsuit against Mickey Rooney January 9th claiming the entertainer owes more than $500,000 in unpaid commissions. The agency claims Rooney failed to pay the agreed upon 10 percent for helping him land roles in five productions from '87 to '94, including "The Will Rogers Follies" and the British production of "Sugar Babies."..... Frank Sinatra's former lawyer, Milton Rudin, failed to convince an appeals court that he was harmed by being listed as a source in a tell-all biography about Nancy Reagan. The biography, written by Kitty Kelley, alleges Mrs. Reagan had an affair with Sinatra while she was first lady. Rudin has claimed that his practice collapsed after Kelley named him as one of 611 sources for the book. He said he refused to answer Kelley's inquiries for the 1991 publication and his inclusion as a source falsely implies he disclosed personal information about Sinatra. Still, the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of (Continued Page 9)

Appeals upheld a lower court ruling that dismissed the suit..... Rodney Dangerfield has filed a libel suit against The Star tabloid for publishing a report that said he used drugs and drank heavily during a 10-day stay at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas in 1988. The story, written in 1990, was headlined "Rodney Dangerfield 'Swills Vodka by the Tumblerful, Smokes Pot All Day and Uses Cocaine.'" The article also alleged the comedian ran around nude in his hotel suite with a pair of naked women. Dangerfield contends the story described "fictitious incidents." But The Star's attorney argued the article was written without malice and contained "substantive truth, broadly defined." The tabloid's story was based on court testimony and documents from a lawsuit Dangerfield won against Caesar's for an incident where hotel security guards allegedly threw him against a wall.

Short Items Of Note

After objections by her Music Row neighbors, Reba McEntire withdrew a request to build a helicopter pad atop her new Starstruck Entertainment headquarters building, which is due to be completed in about a year. Members of the music industry voiced concern that helicopters would interfere with recording sessions and rather than fight for zoning approval, Starstruck withdrew their application..... The Atlantic Group's video and television subsidiary, A*Vision Entertainment, will be renamed WarnerVision Entertainment as of March 1st. WarnerVision will become a separate division of Warner Music U.S., also effective March 1st, and will be headed by current A*Vision prexy Stuart Hersch who also takes on additional responsibilities as a newly named executive VP of Warner Music U.S Tracy Lawrence's wife, Frances, recently underwent facial surgery due to a fireplace accident at her father's Colorado home. Apparently, a glass fireplace screen exploded December 27th sending shrouds of glass through the air. Ms. Lawrence underwent extensive facial surgery requiring 40 stitches at Baptist Hospital in Nashville. She was released December 29th and while recuperating at home, complications in her pregnancy resulted in a miscarriage. Lawrence's father-in-law was also injured in accident..... Atlantic Records. Celtic Heartbeat will specialize in authentic Irish music and its first release, The Celtic Heartbeat Collection, will be a compilation of the label's initial artists, Anúna, Frances Black, Máire Breatnach, Alec Finn and Clannad..... Reports claiming Martin Lawrence and his bride, former Miss Virginia-USA Patricia Southall, had to move their January 7th wedding from a church to a hotel because of bomb threats are untrue. The wedding in Portsmouth, Va., was moved because the crowd had grown so large that safety was a concern, according to police.

Grammy Nominations

Sheryl Crow received five Grammy nominations including nods for best new artist, best record and best song for "All I Want To Do." Crow tied for the most nominations with Babyface and veteran performers Elton John, Bonnie Raitt and Bruce Springsteen. Nominated alongside Crow in the best new artist category was Green Day, Ace of Base, Counting Crows and Crash Test Dummies. Album of the year nominations went to Tony Bennett, The 3 Tenors, Eric Clapton, Bonnie Raitt and Seal. The 3 Tenors in Concert 1994 was also nominated for pop album of the year alongside records by Ace of Base, Seal, Bonnie Raitt and Lyle Lovett.

A Different November In 1995

The parent company to November Records, Mickelberry Communications, bought out co-founders Jamie Biddle and Rob Holt effective January 1st. Biddle decided to leave the label where he was president and Holt will continue at the helm of the company. Holt, who previously held the VP of A&R title will now serve as executive VP and GM. The company also let-go its marketing and promotion staff. As far as the label's acts, Biddle can exercise options for David Broza, The Syrens and Storyville, Holt said. But Biddle hasn't exercised those options and for the next two years, those artists will remain on November. Holt said the parent company is pleased with the label's image and its successes but it feels November needs to be refocused. "We will probably [get out of AAA] and focus on more alternative rock, college rock, reggae, rap — the kind of street driven stuff that's done well for us," Holt said.

Between The Dates

Three weeks into the new year, and the "really big shews" are already at the starting gate. R.E.M. announced North American dates last week. The PAGE/PLANT tour was announced just in time to make this issue, and by the time you read this TOM PETTY & THE HEARTBREAKERS should be announcing their travel plans for 95. The Page/Plant tour, which begins February 26th in Pensacola, is being sponsored by Miller Brewing Company which is guaranteeing that the arena tour will raise at least $100,000 for the Second Harvest food banks around the country. Tickets go on sale January 21st. The tour moves to Europe in June but will return to the U.S. for more dates at the end of summer..... Another concert is betting on the planned closing of Denver's Stapleton Airport. "ROCK THE ROCKIES" will feature Lynyrd Skynyrd, Foreigner, Tanya Tucker, Smithereens, Freddy Jones Band, Charlie Daniels, John Berry, Bad Company and Jeff Foxworthy. Produced by Pace Concerts Southeast, the music festival is scheduled for May 28th. Last year an organization of Denver businessmen, known as The Boyz Events Group, attempted to produce a Memorial Weekend music festival at the airport, but had to cancel when Stapleton remained operational and Denver International Airport did not open on schedule. That organization is now suing the city as noted in last week's issue. DIA, which has yet to open, is now scheduled to begin operations February 28th. Pace Concerts Southeast's Steve Hauser told POLLSTAR it now appears that the airport will open late next month. If not, the city has until March 15th to give a written commitment for the May 28th show. Just to be on the safe side, Hauser has a list of alternate sites so the show can go on no matter what happens to the airport..... Life imitates art as "THE COMMITTED WORLD TOUR featuring Stars From The Commitments" tours clubs throughout the world. Featured from the movie about an Irish band performing R&B songs, is lead singer Dave Finnigan as Mickah Wallace, Drummer Dick Massey as Billy "The Animal" Mooney, and Kenneth McCluskey as Derek "Meatman" Scully, as the bassist. Joining the three original cast members are various Irish session musicians, some of which played on the soundtracks and albums. The tour is being booked by U.S. Marketing at (800) 452-9949..... Something different from BRANFORD MARSALIS is what BUCKSHOT LEFONQUE is all about. Featuring a combination of rap, hip hop, dance music and poetry, the tour boasts a combination of 14 musicians and vocalists plus rapper DJ Premier. Look for dates in this week's Route Book STEVIE WONDER let bygones be bygones with the state of Arizona last week when he performed at Gammage Auditorium in Tempe. In the past Wonder refused to perform in Arizona because of that state's repeal of its Martin Luther King holiday. In 1986 then-Governor Evan Mecham canceled the holiday by saying the state couldn't afford it. It was reinstated in 1993 after the state lost convention business and a Super Bowl It was a hunk of burning love for ELVIS PRESLEY that caused a fire at Pearl's Oyster Bar in Austin, Texas. To commemorate what would have been The King's 60th birthday, the nightclub set up a shrine to Elvis in the back room. No one knows how the fire started, but sheets, candles, doughnuts and sterno may have been the combustible culprits. Though no one was in the "shrine room" when the fire broke out, there were about 15 people in another part of the club. All made it out safely. The final results? Austin Fire Department spokesperson Cathy Brandewie said, "It was pretty much gutted... About 40% fire damage, but heavy smoke and heat damage to the rest of the building." When calling Pearl's, one hears a recorded message announcing the club hopes to reopen soon Woodstock in a box: BACK TO THE GARDEN-BETHEL 95, a Woodstock 26th reunion theoretically set for August at the original Yasgur's farm site, appears to literally be a "do-it-yourself" music festival. The press release sent out by a Richie Suraci of Fine Art Productions of Newburgh, NY, asks that people bring sheets of plywood, nails and, "... shovels, 55 gallon garbage bags, musical instruments, staging needs, lighting of all kinds and sizes..." As for minor details like permits, it appears the event organizer plans on relying on the constitutional right to assembly. Somehow, we don't think this will be a Ticketmaster-serviced event.

Australian News Report

(Sydney) The 1995 MELBOURNE NATIONAL MUSIC INDUSTRY CONFERENCE February 12-13 is being promoted under the banner Visions 2000 - New Music, New Technology. Amongst the speakers are a Canadian contingent including the producer of Vancouver's Music West Festival, Laurie Mercer..... ZAP MAMA's first tour of Australia commences in Adelaide on February 25th at the Womad Festival. Tour promoter is Adrian Bohm KULCHA (who are supporting Janet Jackson's Oz tour) have had three hit singles in Australia and New Zealand, along with winning two Australian Music Awards, one for Most Popular New Act and the other for Most Popular Single. Now comes what they and EastWest/Warner are claiming is a world first - the first CD-ROM album to be released by a major Australian artist, and the first one that combines a computer game and a music CD. On top of all the music'n'interactive stuff consumers will have access to the shareware (first edition) version of DOOM, one of the most popular PC games in the world over the past few years. Aaah, and what a good marketing caper for the DOOM people owners of the Kulcha CD-ROM who want to move on to the second and third editions of DOOM can follow the instructions within the CD and by a phone call and an admission fee can unlock these editions. Release date in Australia is February 6th Still no news on the line up for the Easter festival that's being touted as an Antipodean version of LOLLAPOLOOZA. The event is a first joint venture between Frontier Touring and Michael Coppel Presents with the inside tips being that it'll be headlined by the likes of the Red Hot Chili Peppers and the Violent Femmes..... There's the odd rumour doing the rounds that NANCI GRIFFITH will be making her first Australian visit sometime around the middle of the year. Also, on the country front, GUY CLARK and son Travis will be arriving in March, along with special guest, Texas singer Kate Campbell. Immediately after that tour JIMMIE DALE GILMOUR and his combo arrive. Dates for both tours should be announced in the next fortnight The HILTON HOTEL chain has a long history of presenting "Hilton-like" performers at their joints around the country. Latest of these is AL JARREAU whose tour includes a stint at the Sydney Hilton April 10-16 Whilst figures aren't available for other states, the Sydney leg of THE BIG DAY OUT has sold out three weeks before show time with 30,000 tickets moved Promoter Adrian Bohm has added a second Sydney show for the INDIGO GIRLS February visit to the State Theatre..... Frontier touring have added a third "and final" Sydney concert for R.E.M. who now play the 12,000 seat Sydney Entertainment Centre January 18-20. Meanwhile special guests GRANT LEE BUFFALO are also doing a number of small club shows (average capacity around 600) and selling them out very quickly indeed THE CRUEL SEA make their American debut with The Honeymoon Is Over scheduled for release on A&M Records on January 24. The title track is the first single and that'll be serviced to album rock college and alternative stations..... Long standing DIED PRETTY drummer Chris Welsh has parted ways with the band. The split was reportedly amicable with long standing family illness being cited as the main reason for the departure. Welsh now intends to concentrate on session work and production After some delay, SILVERCHAIR's (currently Australia's biggest new "grunge" band with sales of over 100,000 copies of their debut) Tomorrow EP is now available on 7" vinyl. A limited edition of the four-song EP was released on January 9 and will only be available until the 2,000 copies are sold with no repressing The COMMUNITY RADIO SATELLITE is now able to beam live broadcasts all over the country from some of Australia's biggest music and arts events. On January 22nd it will carry a live broadcast of the first Big Day Out '95 show in Melbourne. That broadcast will be heard by an estimated one million listeners on over 30 radio stations all over the country. There's also plans in the works to beam the Tamworth Country Music Festival later this month and the WOMADELAIDE show in early February.

Buck Williams Swings His Own Club With PGA

Veteran agent Buck Williams resigned from Monterey Artists earlier this month and on June 8th he opened the doors to his own company, the Progressive Global Agency. He brings with him the six acts he originally brought with him from F.B.I. to Monterey: R.E.M., Boingo, The Specials, The Connells, Hoodoo Gurus, Widespread Panic and Queen Sarah Saturday. Also joining the fledgling agency's staff are Brian Hill, who had been an assistant to Mike Piranian at CAA in Beverly Hills, and Scott Clayton, who worked in the D.C. area office of Cellar Door Entertainment. Clayton has brought two other groups into the agency; From Good Homes and Everything. All of these acts will be working in the fall except for R.E.M. which has announced no tour plans but is widely expected to tour in 1995. Williams' history with the members of R.E.M. actually dates back to the late '70s. When he was working at the Paragon Agency in Macon, Ga., Williams was always nice to the guys in the agency's mailroom and one of those bottom-of-the-totem-pole employees, Bill Berry, never forgot that. When asked about his decision to base his new agency in Nashville, Williams said, "There's a lot happening here. I've got no problem with booking rock n' roll out of this town. I've got a cool staff and we're ready to go." PGA is located at 1025 16th Ave. South, Suite 200, Nashville, TN, 37212. Telephone is (615) 327-4004 and fax is 321-0241.

More Shots At Ticketmaster

Three women from Seattle filed a lawsuit against Ticketmaster June 8th over the company's alleged antitrust law violations and monopolistic business practices. The plaintiffs also named the North American Concert Promoters Association in the action, alleging TM has entered into long-term exclusive contracts with NACPA members to fix service fees. While many NACPA members probably do have individual contracts with TM, the trade association itself has never made any kind of a deal with TM. The plaintiffs are seeking an injunction against TM and are asking that the case be declared a class action for all TM customers in the states of Washington and Oregon. The legal action was reportedly provoked by Pearl Jam's complaint to the Justice Department and the suit cites the complaint to support its claim. The Justice Department's antitrust division last week confirmed it is investigating "possible anti-competitive practices in the ticket distribution industry." But a department spokesperson declined to say whether TM was a target of its probe. A spokesperson for TM said the lawsuit is the latest of six filed recently around the country that are "meritless" and "frivolous."..... One of the hottest rumors floating around the industry is about a possible foray by Sony into the computerized ticket distribution business. The buzz is that Sony is thinking about setting up a distribution network using ATM machines and would seek to challenge TM's exclusive contracts in court. It took some effort to find anyone who could comment on the rumor but eventually a corporate spokesperson said Sony was definitely not getting into the event ticketing business.

JUNIOR BROWN

Even with all the forces working against him as a young boy, Junior Brown was still determined to learn how to play guitar. He found rock and country music especially attractive since his parents were opposed to those genres. And while all the other kids in junior high had electric guitars (Brown's parents thought the electric guitar was evil), he had to borrow equipment in order to learn to play his music. But hard times or not, the self taught guitarist wrote his first song at age 14 and dropped out of school in 1969, at about age 17, to start working in the honky-tonks, and he's been playing country music ever since.

This 42-year-old Texan is influenced by the deep down roots of country and throws in some bluegrass, Memphis-style blues, and rockabilly. And don't be surprised to hear a Hendrix riff or two. His is the kind of down home music that seems to be lost in much of today's country music — the kind written to put a smile on your face. He acknowledges one of his biggest influences in his song, "My Baby Don't Dance To Nothin' But Ernest Tubb." But Brown doesn't think of his music as totally traditional. "I do use a traditional base format but I expand that with my wild guitar playing. I try to think of it as being futuristic as well as traditional." And his instrument may look a bit futuristic on stage since it is one of a kind. Brown invented his own personal combination of steel and electric guitars. The "Guit-Steel" allows him to switch back and forth between the two sounds very quickly. The idea actually came to him in a dream.

Though a portion of his interest in country music comes from rebellion against his parents, their influence in raising a moral, upstanding man comes out in his music. Unlike much of traditional country music, he's not into songs about immorality and wrongdoing. "I just don't like to hear stuff about going out and cheating on the wife and getting drunk and kicking the dog." He feels lyrical content should not be taken lightly. "I think it's really important that people realize what they're doing and what they're saying with their music. I don't think a lot of people realize what comes out of their mouth. They don't think before they talk or before they sing or anything else. And what you say pretty much establishes what you are, the way you live and what people think of you."

Brown's less than faddish style leads to the question of what audience he's seeking. He said he's being marketed to all audiences. "I'll play the Grand Ole Opry one night and then I'll open up for Widespread Panic or [some alternative rock band] the next." He said different audiences basically have the same reaction to his performance. "Everybody seems to walk away from the show liking it."

Brown put out his first solo album on his own indie label and he released it as a cassette and sold it locally in Austin. One day British rocker Nick Lowe hitched a ride with someone who had the tape. Brown said, "I'd never met him at that time. He heard it on the way to the airport in somebody's pick-up truck and flipped out about it. And the next thing I knew I was getting a call from Demon Records over there in London and they wanted to put it out as a CD." So that was the second release of his first album, 12

Shades of Brown. Now a third release of that album has been put out by Curb Records. Curb double released it with Brown's latest album, Guit With It.

Brown said he made the right decision when he chose Curb. "They're very dedicated and they understand that I'm a unique artist and I can't just be put in this slot with other artists. It takes some sort of tailoring as a long term project [in order] to get to the audiences that will appreciate what I'm doing."

Curb has planned a long term, low key marketing strategy for Brown. That approach stems from Brown's good ole boy purity and honesty. Curb wants people to discover him from those qualities rather than creating hype around him. "We don't want to just ram it down people's throats," Brown said. "We like to take sort of a softer approach and build our fan base as we go."

In building that base of fans, Brown's agent, Bobby Cudd at Monterey Artists, keeps him out on the road quite a bit. Brown said touring is great. "We get new fans every time we play." Things really got started for Brown when he met Cudd at the South by Southwest convention a few years ago. It was Cudd who brought him to the attention of Curb.

Also as part of his business team, Brown has PR firm Myers Media and manager Miles Copeland working for him. He said Copeland, who also manages Sting, has helped a lot to improve his career. "He can open up all of the European markets which are very, very important and not so much what a country artist would be able to do. I mean, I'm going to have some opportunities that other people don't just having him as a manager." Copeland approached Brown when he saw him on a New Year's Eve TV special in London.

Also working on the business side of things is Brown's wife Tanya Rae. Not only does she help handle the business but Rae is also the rhythm guitarist and vocal partner in Brown's band. Brown said having his wife in the band makes things a lot easier but it also puts a certain amount of strain on the relationship at times. "There is some tension because we're together 24 hours a day. There's bound to be some minor tensions but we work them out."

Junior Brown will tour the East Coast through the end of June. He will then do some dates in Tennessee, Indiana and Ohio through the middle of July before taking off to Europe for dates in France and England. At the beginning of August, he'll return to crisscross the U.S. and already has dates booked in California and New York.

World Radio History

Ranks, Joe Cocker, The Cranberries, Crosby Stills and Nash, Cypress Hill, Bob Dylan, Melissa Etheridge, Peter Gabriel, Green Day, Metallica, The Neville Brothers, Nine Inch Nails, Porno For Pyros, Red Hot Chili Peppers, Rollins Band, Santana and Spin Doctors are the acts already secured for the August 13th and 14th concert. Organizers expect to announce more musical artists as well as comedians in the days ahead. Each act will reportedly perform a full set from one of the two main stages which will be going simultaneously from about noon to 2 a.m. each day. The festival has initiated an unusual ticketing plan to facilitate smooth access into and out of the venue site. The first block of tickets went on sale June 15th as part of either an air or bus travel package. Concertgoers who travel to the show directly on a bus or on a bus via a New York City flight will be the only people to have direct access to the Woodstock '94 site. For those not interested in mass transportation, tickets tentatively go on sale through Ticketmaster phone lines June 26th. The cost per ticket is $135 and they will only be sold in blocks of four with one parking pass per block. Auto parking will be at satellite lots with busses shuttling back and forth to the site. Costs of the travel packages will vary and all ticket buyers will have access to onsite camping facilities. And if a concertgoer needs medical attention while at the show, organizers are doing everything they can to assure the proper attention is available on-site. Organizers have put out a call for 900 volunteers needed to work at least two eight-hour shifts at medical facilities around the site. Two emergency mini-hospitals, each with 52 beds, will operate roundthe-clock at the site and 15 other small emergency facilities will be sprinkled throughout the 840-acres. Each of those 15 facilities will have a doctor, nurses and paramedics on hand. Fifteen ambulances and a medical evacuation helicopter will also be stationed on the grounds. All medical volunteers must be registered medical professionals in New York state. For their efforts, medical volunteers will receive a free ticket to the concert, a bed to sleep in, meals and an armful of Woodstock paraphernalia. For those people who don't want to join 250,000 others for a weekend of peace and music in a cow pasture, the concert will also likely be available on pay-per-view.

Up Periscope At Polaris

The grand opening of the Polaris Amphitheater in Columbus, Ohio, was postponed due to construction delays and heavy rain. The June 15th opening night show, featuring the Moody Blues and the Columbus Symphony Orchestra, was cancelled nine hours before its scheduled start. A June 16th Bette Midler concert also was postponed because the singer has bronchitis. Midler's show was not immediately rescheduled and the Moody Blues show was moved to June 20th. The new amphitheatre was rescheduled to open June 18th with a Billy Ray Cyrus concert.

Was It A Guaranteed Sell-Out?

Two fledgling concert promoters in Madison, Wis., who lost money booking a James Brown concert in Milwaukee, failed to persuade a judge to eliminate their liability for cancellation costs. Wanna-be promoters Gregory Stutzel and Steven Harle said ticket sales were extremely low for the September 1991 gig at the Marcus Amphitheater and they were forced to cancel the show. The men had asked a judge to rescind an order making them pay $31,750 to Universal Attractions, Brown's agency. The promoters had claimed they were "taken advantage of by a large organization" and had sued the agency for allegedly misrepresenting Brown's boxoffice potential. The promoters went to court seeking the return of their $15,000 deposit. Universal then filed a countersuit claiming the promoter's decision to cancel the concert had cost their client $31,750 and the judge agreed with the agency.

The Electric Godfather & One Of His Disciples

The House of Blues in No. Hollywood was the setting for a May 19th tribute to the "Godfather of the Electric Guitar," Les Paul. The evening included appearances by Jeff Healey (pictured with Paul), Slash, Steve Vai, Johnny Rivers, Dave Edmunds, Stephen Stills and Graham Nash. The festivities were filmed by Time Warner Television and will be included in a documentary series called "The History of Rock 'N' Roll," which will air next year.

he's there. Month two... the same thing happens, only you will have to type in metaverse.com, and then click." Curry added that after the two months, mtv.com will not have a forwarding link, just the notice that the service has moved to a new address. Among the original charges was that Beavis & Butt-head transcripts had been on the mtv.com computers along with the MTV logo. Last month, Curry said the Beavis & Butt-head dialogue came from an MTV press release and he just passed the information along to the users of his service. Curry also claims that the MTV logo was a scanned image of one of the early MTV logos and was uploaded from a user. Once it was noticed, he removed it. Curry says, that as part of the interim agreement, all references to MTV have been removed from the service. It remains to be seen what will happen to the address mtv.com. Even though Curry has agreed to move his operations to the new metaverse.com address, he is still defiant when it comes to giving up mtv.com. Internet tradition says that once you've registered an address with the InterNIC, it's your's - forever. Over the last month, several questions have been raised by the citizens of the cyberspace community. Can an Internet address constitute a trademark violation? Would the InterNIC, which overseas the database of Internet addresses, be charged with researching every address request to insure that it doesn't conflict with any already existing corporation name or product trademark? Curry says he still has to be careful with his new name. "When our new metaverse address appeared in New York Magazine, their [MTV] attorneys immediately sent a letter saying that in any way, shape or form, if you enhance the letters M, T, and V in metaverse.com, we'll sue you again."

WOMAD Falls Victim To Arab-Israeli Tension

Peter Gabriel was forced to reschedule a planned concert on the border between Israel and Egypt after Egyptian officials called off the show because of security concerns. The concert was to be presented by Gabriel's World of Music, Arts and Dance (WOMAD) organization as a sign of support for the Arab-Israeli peace process. The show was originally scheduled for June 18th at the Egyptian Red Sea resort of Taba, one of the border sites where Israeli and PLO negotiators hammered out the peace agreement. The concert was planned to bring together Arab and Transportation will be provided from the Egyptian border for those coming from Egypt to attend the concert. Tickets have been sold in Saudi Arabia, Egypt, Jordan and Israel. Gabriel and musicians from Israel and Egypt were scheduled to hold a small party June 17th at Tabu to make up for the canceled concert.

Stern also said he expects Top Rank to now sue the franchise. But a Top Rank spokesperson said the group hasn't decided if it will go to court to try and enforce the validity of its multi-million contract with Timberwolves owners Marv Wolfenson and Harvey Ratner. Figuring it would strike the first blow, the NBA filed a lawsuit in federal district court in Minneapolis to reaffirm the league's right to control the location of its franchises..... Left Eye Shows Rison Some TLC

Lisa "Left Eye" Lopes, of the group TLC, was accused of setting fire to the two-story mansion that belongs to her boyfriend, Atlanta Falcons wide receiver Andre Rison. Rison's home, north of Atlanta, was destroyed in the June 9th blaze. Police issued an arrest warrant for Lopes the day of the fire and the singer turned herself in the following day. In addition to felony arson charges, Lopes faces charges of criminal damage to property for allegedly smashing three of Rison's vehicles, a Mercedes-Benz sedan, a Mercedes-Benz roadster and a Toyota 4-runner. Lopes reportedly was at Rison's home when he returned at 6:30 a.m. from a night out on the town. Police said the singer was enraged and she set fire to cardboard in a whirlpool tub. The couple exchanged hostile words and Rison said Lopes started hitting him on the head. Rison said he had to slap Lopes to get her to stop. In an interview with WAGA-TV, the football player said he then went for a walk, "before it went any further." All of Rison's possessions were destroyed in the fire but he said he still loves Lopes and he plans on going to bat for her. Lopes' bond was set at $500,000 for the arson charge and $10,000 for the criminal damage to property charge. The bond was later reduced to $82,000, which Lopes posted. Police said they were also going to charge Lopes with a misdemeanor drug charge because a small amount of marijuana was found in Rison's charred home. This isn't the first time Rison and Lopes' relationship put them in the line of the law. Last September, they both were arrested after an altercation in a grocery store parking lot. Rison allegedly hit Lopes and fired a handgun. And Lopes was arrested for fighting with police. Lopes was arrested later that month for fighting with police again, this time at the Georgia Dome. She had to be removed from the facility and she was charged with disorderly conduct while intoxicated, criminal trespass and simple battery against an officer. All those charges were dismissed except the criminal trespass charge, to which she pleaded no contest and was forced to pay a $200 fine. She also was given a 12-month suspended sentence and was ordered to undergo counseling.

A New Island Venue

The $28 million Maui Arts & Cultural Center celebrated its grand opening last month with a sold out Santana concert at the center's new amphitheatre. The 12-acre arts and culture center is Maui's most comprehensive performance venue. It has an open-air 4,000-capacity amphitheatre, a tri-level 1,200-seat state-of-the-art theatre and a 300-seat theatre. Pictured, MACC executive director Mark Nerenhausen presents Carlos Santana and his daughter Angelica a Hawaiian koa-wood box to commemorate the venue's debut event.

Legal Griefs

A lawsuit that former manager Steve Fargnoli brought against Prince has been settled out of court. Fargnoli claimed the track "Jughead" from Prince's Diamonds & Pearls album was about him. The $5 million dispute was reportedly settled for an undisclosed amount just days before an L.A. court hearing Jefferson Airplane filed a lawsuit in San Francisco last week claiming a computer software company stole the band's 1973 Thirty Seconds Over Winterland album cover for a "flying toaster" design that is used as a screen-saver computer program. Berkeley Systems, Inc. denied the claims saying the "After Dark" screen-saver program with the "flying toaster" design was independently created. Berkeley Systems' "flying toaster" design has been used since 1989 but the suit claims the Airplane first became aware of the program last year. The lawsuit filed June 14th says Berkeley Systems copied the toasters consciously or unconsciously creating the false impression that Jefferson Airplane was associated with the program..... Rick Rubin's American Recordings filed a breach of contract suit April 21st against Phonogram Ltd., which distributes the label outside the U.S. and Canada. American claims that Phonogram failed to fulfill its end of a joint venture agreement and is claiming damages in excess of $10 million..... Simon Le Bon was awarded substantial libel damages from two London newspapers over false allegations that the singer cheated on his wife. The Daily Mail and Today falsely reported Le Bon had an affair with a woman in Rome while his wife was home looking after their two daughters. For the distress and embarrassment caused to Le Bon, his wife, Yasmin, and the woman who was named in the stories, the two papers apologized in London's High Court. The amount of damages the two papers have to pay was not disclosed..... Da Lench Mob rapper Terry Gray, otherwise known as T-Bone, pleaded innocent June 10th to murder and attempted murder in a bowling alley shooting. Gray is accused of killing one man, attempting to kill another, and wounding a woman. Gray also pleaded innocent to one count of assault with a deadly weapon in the February shooting. Deputy DA Gregory Jennings said there is a gang connection that is being investigated. Gray is currently free on $1.5 million bail posted by fellow rapper Ice Cube.

Between The Dates

Claiming a need for more prep time, the opening date on the LOLLAPALOOZA '94 tour has been pushed back a day. The festival/tour will now debut on July 7th at the Sam Boyd Stadium in Las Vegas instead of July 6th. The Weber County Fairgrounds date in Ogden, Utah, originally scheduled for the 7th has now been cancelled, but may be rescheduled for a later date West coast dates, all two of them, for W.O.M.A.D. USA '94 are cancelled due to "scheduling problems." The dates, which were the only two on the tour not headlining Peter Gabriel, were to feature Midnight Oil, Primus, Arrested Development and Live..... JOHN MELLENCAMP is expected to announce his tour shortly with a national ad campaign financed in part by a six-figure sum from Mercury Records that will lead up to a uniform on-sale date for all shows You've heard about those high-priced "gold circle seats" for the Eagles concerts, and Barbra Streisand's high end $350 ticket price was a sure-fire conversation piece, but what about $25,000 for a ticket? The event was a special PAUL SIMON performance in Dallas at the Morton Meyerson Symphony Center benefiting The American Foundation for AIDS Research where tickets ranged from $25 to $25,000. What does a $25,000 ticket provide? Preferential seating and a small reception. The June 10th show, which also included Ladysmith Black Mambazo, raised over $900,000 which went to AmFAR and other Dallas-area AIDS organizations. The only other 1994 performance on Simon's agenda, another charity benefit, is planned for Montauk, N.Y., later this year. No word yet on prices for that show..... BARBRA STREISAND is reportedly still considering adding an additional date to her upcoming five-night stand at Madison Square Garden. Even if Babs agrees, she is determined to end her tour July 24th in Anaheim. Two films, "The Normal Heart", and "The Mirror Has Two Faces," plus a TV commitment have Streisand booked solid through the end of this year..... Expect the EAGLES to head up to the Pacific Northwest after the October 8th Rose Bowl concert. In November the boys play Australia, New Zealand, Japan, and the Far East..... Critically acclaimed San Francisco Bay area band The Call are back. This time the act is being billed as MICHAEL BEEN & THE CALL. Look for the dates in this week's Route Book DAVE EDMUNDS has a new album, Plugged In, and plans for a September tour are in the works. Edmunds played all the instruments on the new release STEVE PERRY has a new album, For The Love Of Strange Medicine, his first solo effort since 1984's Street Talk. Look for a tour in the fall..... Speaking of fall, that looks like it may well be a great time period for acts to tour. While it seems like everyone is touring this summer, there appear to be very few major acts planning to work during the last quarter of this year. Artist managers might want to think about whether their acts would have just a bit more impact in the marketplace if they toured during a time period when there weren't 100 other headliners competing for the public's financial adoration. Just a thought..... For the last few months the rumor mill has been crankin' overtime listing acts that might play WOODSTOCK '94. Now that the initial list has been released, it's time to cross off a few of the acts that will definitely not, we repeat, not play at the 25th anniversary of the festival. R.E.M. will not play Woodstock, as rumored last spring, and original Woodstock participants The Grateful Dead will also not be appearing. For the Dead, Woodstock is not a very happy memory. Although it's a lot of dead brain cells ago, bandmembers apparently still recall playing their set during a rain storm, receiving electrical shocks from their equipment and hearing people in the wings yelling, "The stage is falling, the stage is falling!" Ah, memories. Where would we be without them?
