DEL AMITRI

NOVEMBER 13, 1995

THE ONLY THING STANDING
BETWEEN TORONTO
AND MONTREAL, IS THE NEW
PALLADIUM
...AND TWO MILLION PEOPLE.

Opening January 1996, the glittering, new 18,000 seat Palladium (configurable to 8,000), will be a concert goer and promoter's dream. Two hours to Montreal, four to Toronto, one hour from the American border lies the largest untapped, (until now), entertainment market in North America. An event-hungry audience of two million people. Highest disposable income, lowest unemployment, highest family income in Canada. Ranking in the top five in North America.

Modelled on the Palace, (and by the same architects!), it will be state-of-the-art, user friendly, and always open.

The Palladium, easy to get to, and definitely worth the trip.

started throwing punches, he said. Judge Halker decided that it is common knowledge that concerts by acts such as Love's band Hole contain intense physical interaction in mosh pits therefore participants could reasonably expect to get hurt. Throughout the trial, defense lawyer James Russ maintained the plaintiffs filed the criminal charges to lay the groundwork for large damage suits against Love. Under cross-examination, Lukas said he was considering filing a damage suit but had not decided. After the verdict, Love said she thought Florida was a violent state where rock 'n' roll stars constantly get in trouble. "Even the state of Florida is shaped like a gun," she said. As with Love's concerts, the trial may have been prone to controversial moments as well. The singer caused a brief stir in the courtroom at one point when she whispered from the defense table to prosecutors, "Hey, prosecutors. Psssst. Are you the prosecutors? Can I be O.J. and you be Christopher Darden?" In another instance, the judge was forced to dismiss the initial panel of jurors ruling they were tainted by comments made by a local disc jockey who was in the courtroom. As the jury walked past WJRR radio personality Zippy, he reportedly remarked that it must have been hard to find a jury of Love's peers — 12 people who had used heroin. Zippy, whose real name has not been disclosed, is facing contempt of court charges.

Ozzy Mayhem At The Open Air

The crowd got out of control during an Ozzy Osbourne performance October 28th at the San Diego State University Open Air Theatre. The university's director of facilities and operation, John Kolek, told POLLSTAR Ozzy incited the crowd to get crazy. "Before he started his last song, he stopped and told the crowd that ... if they expected him to play another song, they'd better get a lot crazier." Kolek said as the crowd started to get out of control rushing the stage, Ozzy "continued to tell them that whoever was the craziest would get to come backstage and party with him after the show." At that point, Kolek said people from the two upper levels of the facility began jumping over rails, through hedges and rushing the stage. He said numerous audience members made their way onto the stage and security was unable to control the situation. Ozzy continued to play until he finished that last song. "When we finally got him off stage, we were able to regain control of the crowd and that basically ended the concert," Kolek said. "The crowd was relatively cooperative at that point in leaving the venue." Five people were taken to the hospital, treated for minor injuries and released. Kolek said the venue suffered about $2,000 worth of damage in broken chairs and mounting brackets — a bill that was paid for by promoter Avalor Attractions. As for whether Ozzy will be invited back to the Open Air Theatre, Kolek said though there is no Ozzy ban in place, the university administration approves all acts and "it would be extremely difficult for Ozzy to be approved again." Ozzy was touring out of the country at press time and was unavailable for comment.

Courtney Cleared Of Clobbering Teens

Anyone who attends a Courtney Love concert should expect to get punched, according to a decision by a Florida judge who dismissed a battery case against the singer. Judge Janis Halker threw out the criminal charges November 7th before the defense presented its case. Love was accused of hitting two teenage males during a Hole concert in March at The Edge nightclub in Orlando. One of Love's accusers, Robert Lukas, 19, testified that Love told the crowd she would not start playing until there were more women in the front. She then jumped off the stage and

Black Back At The Pond

For the second time in the arena's 27-month history, Clint Black migrated to the Arrowhead Pond of Anaheim for an Indian summer concert. Hanging out backstage before the September 16th show are (L-R) the Pond's John Nicoletti, Nederlander's Mike Garcia, Black and the Pond's Tim Ryan.

Sony And MJ Marry Publishing Catalogs

Sony Music Entertainment has long been looking to increase its publishing division and last week, it met those desires by entering into a joint publishing venture with Michael Jackson. MJ will merge his ATV Music Publishing catalog with Sony's catalog effectively creating the world's third largest publishing venture. Time Warner's Warner-Chappell, which retains the rights to MJ's own songs, is the largest publishing company in the world followed by EMI Music Publishing. MJ's ATV holds the rights to approximately 250 Beatles songs as well as compositions by Elvis Presley and Little Richard. MJ bought the catalog in 1985 for approximately $48 million, a price tag Paul McCartney balked at. Now McCartney must be kicking himself since the catalog has proven itself to be worth at least $100 million — maybe twice that. Details of the financial arrangements in the new partnership between ATV and Sony were not disclosed. However, the joint venture reportedly holds about $500 million in assets. The new company, Sony/ATV Music Publishing, will be overseen by a board of directors on which both parties will be equally represented. Sony Music will manage and operate Sony/ATV on a day-to-day basis.

Tupac Shakur Settles Wrongful Death Suit

Rapper Tupac Shakur's lawyer hammered out an out-of-court settlement with the family of Qa'id Walker-Teal who was slain at a school playground in 1992. The parents of the 6-year-old Marin City, Calif., boy filed a wrongful death suit against Shakur and his half-brother, Maurice Harding, claiming the two were responsible for the youngster's death. The day of the shooting, Shakur was nearby posing for photographs and signing autographs. A scuffle reportedly broke out between members of Shakur's entourage and some residents of Marin City, where Shakur lived briefly as a child. Shakur's defense attorney Dennis Cunningham blamed the boy's death on rival rapper Dimitrius Striplin and his friends who confronted Shakur. Cunningham said the gunshots were "legitimately" fired above the heads of a crowd after Harding and Shakur were attacked. Shakur reportedly dropped a concealed weapon when the fight broke out, according to the plaintiff's attorney Jane Lovell. The rapper then yelled to his half-brother, Harding, to "get the gun," Lovell said.

Several shots were fired from the gun that authorities say is registered to Shakur. However, testimony as to how the gun discharged and who fired it varied greatly. The Walker-Teal family reportedly had received a $150,000 from Marin City agencies and the school district in an out-of-court settlement over the boy's death. The settlement reached November 7th is confidential but is reportedly between $300,000 and $500,000. Shakur's record company is coughing up the cash, the San Francisco Chronicle reported. No criminal charges have been filed against either Shakur or Harding and the case remains open.

Agency Expansions

The Agency Group's Neil Warnock announced the company will be changing its American operations to better service an expanding U.S. client base. Steve Schenck has been named chief of operations, responsible for extending the company's client roster and handling management duties. Steve Martin will oversee the current artist roster and ultimate expansion thereof..... Creative Artists Agency has announced the formation of two new departments specifically designed to monitor developments and implement strategies within the new media and technology-dominated entertainment fields. Entertainment Ventures Group, headed by CAA's James Griffiths, will assist clients in creating content and businesses for traditional entertainment outlets, such as television. Hassan Miah of CAA will direct the New Media Group which will represent creative and technical talent in new media outlets such as CD-ROM and interactive services.

DEL AMITRI

Scottish pop band Del Amitri's latest album, Twisted, reveals an artistic maturity that comes from dedication to recording and touring. With its third A&M release, Del Amitri continues the headstrong course plotted at its inception in the early 1980s.

The recording of Twisted signals that the band may have taken to heart the title of its 1992 release, Change Everything. Del Amitri departed from the traditional recording studio, instead opting for a communal living and working situation rolled into one. The radical alteration of environment seems to have paid off for the five members of the band as the single, "Roll To Me," remains on the pop chart's top 10 for the third month running.

Following in the footsteps of such legendary acts as Led Zeppelin and Traffic, Del Amitri decided Twisted would be written and recorded at a house set in the inspiring British countryside. The band's vocalist, bassist and chief songwriter, Justin Currie, explained that the idea of doing everything in a house came out of concern for economy and logistics as well as for craft. "We were all living in Glasgow, London and Madrid, and we found this amazing [woman] who'd been renting [a house] out to different bands over the last couple of years," he said. "It had a big, oak-panelled drawing room which was just big enough to rehearse in and five bedrooms for everybody in the band. It was just perfect. The phone was so far away down a long hallway that you could never hear it ring, which is important. In a short period of time, we ended up writing a lot more songs than we would normally."

Currie said the recording process turned out to be considerably cheaper than actually going to a studio. The band was able to avoid the common conflicts that can come with bandmates living together. The intimate working quarters doubling as accommodations might have spelled disaster for some musicians, but Currie said the members of Del Amitri never spent any time together except for touring or studio hours so everything worked out fine. "It's very important when you're writing songs to have everybody there," he said.

As usual for Del Amitri, Currie wrote all of the material with the band's co-founder, guitarist Iain Harvie, while guitarist David Cummings, keyboardist Andy Alston and drummer Chris Sharrock grappled with arrangements. Currie said the band prefers writing together rather than resorting to solo computer-aided composing which he calls "a very soulless way of arranging music."

To say that soul is a vital ingredient to Del Amitri's music would be an understatement. Del Amitri's conversational-style lyrics are traditionally melancholy and dark with uplifting melodies to contrast. Currie attributed the sullen tinge of his material to the dynamics of pop music as a whole, claiming it's generally easier to write convincing sad songs than happier ones. "If you give a six-year-old child the job of writing a poem, then they'll write fairly bad poems until you actually clue them into saying, 'Stop writing about what a beautiful spring day it is today. Try writing about the tree that used to be in the garden that's been chopped down or something.' So, instead of writing [about] what a pretty garden you have, you've immediately got a kind of dramatic angle to whatever you're writing," he said. "Smokey Robinson and Stevie Wonder are the real exceptions. But [generally] you'll wind up with some extremely cheesy songs trying to express wonderment and the beauty of life."

The band always looks forward to touring, viewing the road as its prime vehicle for communication. While Currie jokingly accredited Twisted's retail success to his tour manager's shotgun, the band's live performances in smaller venues likely did the talking. "As members of an audience, we're not big fans of seeing shows where there's more than 3,000 people. That's really a ridiculously safe benchmark. But on the whole, once you get past 2,500 people it becomes a different thing. It becomes a matter of gesture and spectacle rather than communication."

As for the sometimes complicated issue of scheduling, Currie said that the band's most recent American tour was easier to swallow than most because the group had the unusual luxury of performing multiple nights in selected cities. "Every band moans about why we're going from Detroit to Atlanta when we could be going from Detroit to Cincinnati." Currie said bands should realize that touring is a job. Bands that whine about the road should, "get on with it and shut up," he said.

While gearing up for an American acoustic tour in December, Currie reflected on Del Amitri's slow but constant rise to success. "Sure it would be wonderful to be 19 years of age and have a No. 1 single and be the pop star. But it didn't happen that way and if it doesn't happen when you're 19, then it's never gonna happen that way. It's kind of advantageous in a lot of ways. The head is never turned by the meritorious aspect of the entertainment industry," Currie said.

Currie's head is not turned by the concept of being an artist either. "We don't really consider ourselves artists. I never really liked that word to tell you the truth. We're just guys in a band. I mean, ['artist'] is a convenient term for people who make things and show them to other people, which is what we do. I don't feel any different from anybody else in the world in that respect. What we do is a job and we work hard. I think the creative side of it can be terribly exaggerated by singers and musicians. It's fucking pop music. It's not the most profound form of communication of ideas that you can find. In fact, it's probably the least profound."

Del Amitri is managed by John Reid of JPR Management in England. Progressive Global Agency's Scott Clayton books the band in North America while G.A.A.'s Bob Gold takes care of booking abroad. ★

Short Items Of Note

President Clinton signed the Digital Performance Right in Sound Recordings Act of 1995 November 1st giving record companies and artists royalty rights for music used in digital performances. The law requires interactive digital services to obtain a license from the person who owns the copyright to a performance. Traditional radio and TV broadcasts and future over-the-air digital radio broadcasts are reportedly exempt from the provisions of the law..... Last week's Globe tabloid featuring color photos of Selena's autopsy was pulled from hundreds of stores in Southern Texas. The slain Tejano singer's father, Abraham Quintanilla Jr., said he was sickened by the photo spread. Police were trying to find out how the Globe got the pictures which were taken by a police photographer. Globe VP Terry Raskyn said someone in Corpus Christi approached the magazine with the photos. She refused to say if the tabloid paid for them..... The bidding war over Rockefeller Center has been won. An investment group made up of the Wall Street firm Goldman Sachs and David Rockefeller announced an agreement to take control of the landmark property November 7th. The Goldman group clenched the deal after offering $306 million in cash to the center's mortgage holder. That proposal beat out a bid by investor Sam Zell, Walt Disney and General Electric. Rockefeller Center will be able to keep its name if the new deal goes through..... Long-donnant Zappa Records has been reactivated and will issue Frank Zappa's previously unreleased works as well as a new album from Z, the band founded by his sons Ahmet and Dweezil. The indie label is headed by Zappa's widow, Gail..... The Rhythm & Blues Foundation will award $225,000 to 13 legendary proponents of the genre at its Seventh Annual Pioneer Awards ceremony to be held February 29th in Los Angeles. In addition to presenting the Ray Charles Lifetime Achievement Award, the Foundation will honor eight individual artists with monetary grants of $15,000 each and four groups will each receive monetary prizes of $20,000..... Long distance giant MCI went into the music business November 8th launching an 800 number that lets the public sample and purchase CDs and cassettes. Callers can browse through 20,000 music clips in 14 genres and make purchases from 5,000 titles. One advantage to shopping by phone: "You don't have to worry about going into a music store and being sneered at by a clerk with a blue mohawk when you go to the counter to buy Neil Diamond," said MCI VP John Donoghue. The retail service is expected to be available via the Internet around November 20th.

Legal Grievs

James Brown, who was recently arrested for domestic violence, is planning to divorce his 45-year-old wife, Adrienne, according to his personal assistant Larry Fridle. Brown said his wife, who called 911 to report she had been hit, is a mentally abusive addict who will do anything to get her drugs. A spokesperson for Brown said Adrienne Brown entered a drug rehab program November 3rd. Following Brown's most recent run-in with the law, the Godfather of Soul said he is leaving Aiken County because of the way sheriff's deputies treated him during the arrest. Brown said he feared sheriff's deputies would have killed him if he resisted the October 31st arrest. The sheriff's office said Brown's claims were baseless. Brown is free on a $940 bond and will appear in court on the domestic violence charge November 27th..... Prosecutors dropped murder charges November 6th against Snoop Doggy Dogg's co-defendant Sean Abrams. Judge Paul Flynn dropped the charges "without prejudice," meaning prosecutors could later refile charges against Abrams. Charges against Snoop and McKinley Lee still stand and jury selection for their trial is expected to begin November 13th..... Hootie & The Blowfish have reportedly settled out of court with Bob Dylan's music publisher who said Hootie used lyrics from Dylan's song "Idiot Wind" without authorization. The band apparently included the lyrics in its single "I Only Wanna Be With You" as a tribute to Dylan. Management for Hootie & The Blowfish had no comment on the situation. Hootie and Dylan are both expected to perform at an 80th birthday tribute concert to Frank Sinatra November 19th in Los Angeles.

Weekly Rap Roundup

Rap critic C. Delores Tucker said she is the only one being sued by Interscope and Death Row Records because the labels want to silence her "loud and vigorous protest" against the rap music they release. In August, the two labels filed suit against Tucker and various Time Warner entities and executives, accusing them of multiple violations of the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act, plus other violations of state and federal laws. Since then, Interscope and Death Row have ended their relationship with Time Warner and all charges have been dropped except those against Tucker. She called the litigation "nuisance suits" and said they were "designed to shut me up. They were designed to harass me." Death Row attorney David Kenner said the companies settled with the other defendants but the terms of those agreements are confidential. He denied that the lawsuit against Tucker was meant to silence her.... The controversial debut album from Tha Dogg Pound on Death Row Record entered the charts at No. 1 with a bullet. Dogg Food moved 278,000 copies during its first week, according to SoundScan. The album had been eagerly awaited for weeks but its fate at retail was questioned when Death Row and Interscope broke ties with Warner Bros. and its huge distribution arm a few weeks ago. But Priority Records stepped in, inking a deal to distribute this one album. Los Angeles-based Tha Dogg Pound received a huge amount of publicity well before the album came out thanks to anti-gangsta rap critics C. Delores Tucker, Robert Bennett and Bob Dole.

Concord Pavilion Goes Under The Knife

A November 4th "Demolition and Groundbreaking Party" heralded the beginning of a $20.7 million facelift and expansion for the Bay Area's Concord Pavilion. The Pavilion's re-design is being masterminded by architect Frank Gehry, who planned the original venue 20 years ago. The facility required changes because it was losing business from acts looking for larger staging and seating capacity. The new Concord Pavilion, set to open in June 1996, will have an additional 4,000 fixed seats increasing the capacity to 12,500. The stage itself will be enlarged and moved back and will have a proscenium configuration. The new stage coupled with the increased reserved seating means larger productions can be accommodated without sacrificing the Pavilion's intimacy. The remodeled shed will have an extra entrance on the south side of the bowl with entrance ramps on both sides for more mobility. Parking facilities and road access will also be upgraded. Handicapped access will be greatly improved and will be available at every level of the facility. And of particular interest to female patrons, the number of restrooms is to be tripled. Finally, more comprehensive concession plazas and an enlarged backstage area with two private hospitality lounges will top off the improved Pavilion. BGP, which books the venue, had planned to build a new amphitheatre in Benicia, located north of Concord, but shelved the proposal when plans to expand the Pavilion were confirmed.

Pros On The Move

Following Mike McGee's move to LMI's corporate headquarters as full-time chairman, Gerald McDonald was promoted to VP/GM of The Summit in Houston. McGee has served as The Summit's president and GM for the past 16 years. McDonald, who takes his new post December 11th, currently holds the VP/GM post at The Pyramid in Memphis. Victor Cohen, formerly with the Miami Arena, has been named as McDonald's replacement at The Pyramid.... Borman Entertainment has hired former PRA Records label manager Ellyne Citron as a management associate to work with Dwight Yoakam. Citron also worked for Capitol, Elektra and Maverick Records.... Lovester Law was officially named VP of marketing at Bill Graham Presents October 27th. Law joined the BGP family July 11th after spending nearly six years at the S.F. Convention & Visitors Bureau where he was VP of the marketing division. Prior to that, Law was manager of international advertising and marketing programs for TWA in London.... Mammoth Records founder Jay Faires has officially been appointed to VP of A&R at Atlantic Records. He'll continue his duties as prexy of Mammoth.

King Trial Concluding

Don King doctored a $350,000 contract in order to reap a big insurance payoff, said Assistant U.S. Attorney Craig Stewart in his closing statement November 8th. King is charged with nine counts of wire fraud for allegedly faking a contract to collect $350,000 from Lloyd's of London when a 1991 fight between Julio Cesar Chavez and Harold Brazier was canceled after Chavez was injured. Stewart said King was the only one who stood to benefit from asking Lloyd's for increased training expenses. "This is a one-man show, and he's the show," Stewart said, describing how the promoter insisted on knowing about every financial move made at Don King Productions Inc. The prosecutor said King's testimony, in which he said he didn't know that his employees were asking Lloyd's for $350,000 in training expenses, was "patently absurd." But defense attorney Peter Fleming argued that King's former accountant, Joseph Maffia, made up the bogus training expenses without King's knowledge. Maffia had earlier testified that King told him to designate $350,000 in the insurance claim as training expenses even though Chavez had only received $80,000. But the wild coiffed promoter emphatically denied he ever saw the part of the contract that prosecutors say was faked until the federal investigation was underway. Closing arguments were expected to wrap last week. Now it's up to the jury to decide if King is telling the truth. If the jury doesn't believe he's being forthright, and convict him of the five counts of wire fraud, the boxing promoter could face up to five years in prison and a $250,000 fine on each count.

Tour Bus Troubles, Again

Doug Supernaw and his band, the Possum Eatin' Cowboys, recently had sentimental valuables stolen from their tour bus for the second time in less than a year. The band members were on a layover in Richmond, Texas, when thieves broke into the bus. The perpetrators stole Supernaw's Epiphone acoustic gut string guitar. Also stolen was lead guitarist Justin White's left-handed Epiphone, and multi-instrumentalist Don Crider's fiddle, which had a prized 120 year-old bow. Also stolen were wireless microphones, two VCRs, two 19" color television sets and a video game system. Because the bus bore Supernaw's name, the band's publicist feels "whoever broke in knew it was Doug's bus." The bus was ransacked in a Ohio hotel parking lot several months ago. At that time, keyboardist Alan Huff's antique accordion, a family heirloom, disappeared as did a suitcase bearing tapes with over 300 of Supernaw's songs dating back to the beginning of his career. Neither item was recovered. The search continues for the perpetrators of the latest robbery and no arrests had been made at press time.

George And Tammy Take The Opry

Nashville's former "Mr. & Mrs. Country Music" — George Jones and Tammy Wynette — mesmerized the Grand Ole Opry for a three-hour performance October 19th that included separate sets and a finale showcasing their classic duets and songs from their latest release. Celebrating the historic union are (from left) MCA/Nashville chairman Bruce Hinton, Jones, longtime Jones/Wynette producer Billy Sherrill, Wynette, current producer Norro Wilson and MCA/Nashville president Tony Brown.

Obituaries

Music publisher Lou Levy, 84, died October 31st in New York City of congestive heart failure. Levy formed his publishing company, Leeds Music, in 1935 with lyricist Sammy Cahn and composer Saul Chaplin. Leeds published the Beatles' first American hit, "I Want to Hold Your Hand," as well as Bob Dylan's first songbook. Levy also once managed the Andrews Sisters. He served on ASCAP's board of directors from 1958 to 1970..... Florence Greenberg, 82, who helped discover The Shirelles and The Kingsmen, died November 1st after suffering a stroke in Hackensack, N.J. Greenberg, one of the first women to run a record company, formed Scepter Records in 1959. For 17 years, she helmed A&R and administrative duties at Scepter, which gleaned classic songs from the Isley Brothers ("Twist and Shout"), The Kingsmen ("Louie, Louie") and B.J. Thomas ("Raindrops Keep Falling On My Head").

Between The Dates

Those who plan on seeing the RED HOT CHILI PEPPERS will have to wait until 1996. Drummer Chad Smith broke his left wrist while playing baseball last week, causing the postponement of the Peppers' upcoming tour, which was scheduled to start November 13th in Denver. The band's agent, William Morris' Trip Brown told POLLSTAR, "Chad is facing at least six weeks in a cast plus two to four weeks for recovery and rehabilitation. Depending on his recovery, we hope to reschedule the tour for early '96." Smith was playing first base when he collided with another player.

What would you do for PEARL JAM tickets? That's what a San Jose radio station, KSJO was asking listeners who wanted to win a pair of tix for PJ's November 4th show. San Jose police were called to a busy downtown intersection after receiving several calls reporting indecent exposure, and found a bikini clad woman pretending to whip a man wearing a leather G-string. Police reported there was nothing they could do since the couple weren't breaking any laws. The stunt caused traffic to be backed up for a half mile. One minor traffic accident occurred at the scene when one onlooker crashed into a parked car. Oh yes, the couple, I.D.ed only as Elizabeth and Mars, won the tickets.

We've been seeing a new venue pop up on the Route Book itineraries — FOURTH & B in San Diego. The 1,500 seat nightclub, located in downtown SD at, where else, but the corner of Fourth & B Streets, is owned by former Bacchanal owner Bob Speth and is booked by Bill Silva. The club opens on November 30th with Crosby, Stills & Nash. Other performers slotted for December include Boy George, Ratdog Featuring Bob Weir & Rob Wasserman, Chris Isaak and The Gregg Allman Band.

Being a household name isn't all it's cracked up to be when your O.J. SIMPSON. According to the New York Post, Simpson requested, and was denied tickets to LUIS MIGUEL's shows in Los Angeles. The Post quotes an anonymous source close to Warner Music who said that the organizers didn't want any negative publicity. Failing to get tickets for the L.A. performances, The Juice supposedly asked for tickets for the Latin star's San Jose appearance, only to be turned down again. According to the Post, a Warner Music spokeswoman said she wasn't aware of any requests for tickets from Simpson.

NEIL YOUNG is considering a solo acoustic tour that would play medium size theatres in early '96. Nothing was definite at press time, but expect more info on this shortly.

Radio Station Christmas shows seem to have become a permanent part of the concert landscape. This week's POLLSTAR cover artist, DEL AMITRI, is playing the Xmas show circuit throughout December. With a different lineup on every show, by the end of the season Del Amitri will have appeared with a very diverse assortment of acts including Lisa Loeb, Bruce Hornsby, The Rembrandts, Melissa Etheridge and Sophie B. Hawkins.

It's not likely that political pundit, GEORGE WILL gets mentioned in this space, but Will's words caught our eye a couple of weeks ago when the columnist wrote about replacing the one dollar bill with a metal coin. Will's piece referenced a report by John F. Kelly of the Washington Post saying that there is one part of the entertainment industry that wants the paper dollars preserved — TOPLESS DANCERS. Kelly quoted an expert in the field of topless dancing, DON WAITT, publisher of the Exotic Dancer Directory as saying that the custom of tipping the ladies by tucking paper money in the dancer's G-strings and garter belts would be threatened if metal coins replaced greenbacks. Wait, who in addition to his exotic dancer duties, also finds time to act as publisher and editor-in-chief of Performance Magazine, said, "Girls have been dancing topless and nude since caveman days. They'll find a way to adapt whether it's to carry a cup or something else. But it definitely destroys the whole mystique and the whole give-and-take of the industry. When you tip the girl a dollar, there is a brief bond there or an imagined bond, between the girl and the guy. To just drop a dollar into a cup, it's just not the same idea."

U.K. News Report

❑ OASIS packed out Earls Court earlier this month for the biggest indoor shows this country has ever seen. The two shows, co-promoted by MCP and SJM, broke all previous Earls Court box office records with an audience of 20,000 both nights. The standing capacity was increased to 13,500, the promoters negotiated to allow drinks into the arena - and everything went very smoothly. Although a seismology unit said reported earth tremors in the immediate area can only be attributed to the mass effervescence of the crowd... In the weeks running up to the shows, all the reports about Oasis seemed to be one cancellation after another, and there was a big question mark over whether bassist Paul McGuigan would be able to play following the departure of his stand-in Scott McLeod. But the band fulfilled their own prophecy by performing what has been generally regarded as the gig(s) of the year. The band will play two further UK dates this month at Leicester and the Nynex Arena Manchester, but two dates at Whitley Bay Ice Rink and Ingleston Exhibition Centre have been postponed to January 19 and 22 respectively.

❑ Major artists announcing tours for 1996 include MICHAEL BOLTON, who will be in the UK in March and AC/DC who arrive in April on their world tour. Full tour schedules for both artists are going to be announced any day now.

❑ BJORK has also lined up dates for 1996. Iceland's hottest export will be playing four UK arenas at the end of January before going out to Asia and Australia. A new territory for Bjork on this leg of the tour will be China, where agent DAVID LEVY at ITB is hoping to confirm two dates. Promoter ANDREW BULL in Hong Kong is co-ordinating the shows with the Icelandic embassy in China as a cultural exchange. The singer has a large fanbase in China partly due to local artist FAY WONG, who has made a bit of a name for herself as a Bjork-alike - she has been invited to perform at the shows. Bjork has just completed a sell-out tour of Europe which sold over 90,000 tickets across 14 countries.

❑ David Levy has recently taken on the very wonderful D'ANGELO, who will be in the UK for a full tour in February; RED SNAPPER who has dates scheduled for March/April and THOMAS RIBEIRO, doing clubs dates until Easter. Levy is also booking '96 dates for Goldie, Ruby, Soul II Soul and 808 State.

❑ The man who originally founded London's JAZZ CAFE is opening up a new jazz venue in Loncon. Jon Dabner, with his partner Richard Cook is opening THE RHYTHMIC, a 450 capacity club with a 200 capacity bar/restaurant on December 1st. Bookings in the first busy month include the Christian McBride Quartet, and Roy Ayers and Ubiquity.

❑ THE CIRCUIT, which has created a promotional niche in getting newly signed bands off the ground, is set to expand its activities into Europe. MARTIN TIBBETS, formerly an agent with Solo-ITG for seven years, will be taking Le Circuit to European promoters and record companies. The concept co-ordinates all the marketing for the band's product and the live shows and contributes to the promoters' publicity costs. The concept has been used successfully in the UK for bands such as Moist, Bush, Supergrass, Longpigs and Whale to name but a few.

❑ JEFF CRAFT at Fair Warning Wasted Talent has taken on Swedish band THE WANNADIES who are generating quite a bit of interest here right now.

Australian News Report

❑ Michael Coppel is understandably delighted by sales for American singer/songwriter JOSHUA KADISON who tours late November/early December. Sales are particularly strong in Sydney with four dates at the 2,000 seater State Theatre announced. Following on from Joe Cocker's very successful run, Coppel will have no difficulty buying Christmas presents!

❑ THE HIGHWAYMEN arrive in Australia by promoter Paul Dainty on November 13. They've restricted themselves to just one media press conference for the national tour. But that's probably hardly surprising given that all concerts have, as always, sold extremely well.

❑ Arriving just a couple of days earlier, on November 9, are BON JOVI who are touring for the Frontier Touring Company. They too are giving a press conference but, in a curious move, it's at the town of Richmond, over an hour's drive from the centre of Sydney.

On November 3, the following press release was issued by Shock Records: "BODYJAR and FRENZEL BOMB would like all and sundry to know their reasons for pulling out of The Tyranny Of Distance/ Australian Music Day festival in Sydney. As of late last week one of the major sponsors, being Sprite, pulled their financial support only to be replaced by none other than the Department Of Defence!!! Neither Bodyjar or Frenzel Bomb wish to be associated with the armed forces recruitment drive and therefore have decided that they need to make a stand and not perform at the festival. They would like to apologise to all their fans who were looking forward to seeing them and want AUMUSIC to know that this is by no means any reflection on their organisation which both bands continue to support." My information tells me that some information in this release isn't exactly so straightforward. Certainly Sprite and organisers of that aspect of Australian Music Day failed to reach an agreement after protracted discussions. Yes, the Department of Defence has offered financial support - but I hear there's another potential sponsor being discussed.

At the October 30 launch of AUSTRALIAN MUSIC DAY the Minister for Communications and the Arts - Michael Lee - announced the Federal Government will allocate $500,000 in funding to establish a unique INVESTMENT PROGRAM operating exclusively for the development of Australian contemporary music artists and product. This national development program will be operated by a non-profit foundation with a Board of prominent industry personnel. The Minister's department will now work with the foundation to develop a target funding pool of some $2 million. Contributions are expected from major industry organisations who will ultimately profit from the various MIDAS programs, ARIA companies, collection agencies, broadcasters, etc. The foundation will also negotiate with State governments to bring their various music programs under the MIDAS umbrella. Some of the programs should also prove attractive to corporate sector investors.

The business and assets of well-known Australian music retailer EDELS have been sold to Classic Two Pty Ltd, a company controlled by former Edels Managing Director John Whale. C.R. Campbell, appointed receiver and manager by Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu, has advised that funds from the sale of the business and assets will not be sufficient to repay secured creditors in full, therefore no funds will be available for distribution to pre-receivership unsecured creditors. Seven of the 10 Edels stores in the chain have been closed but the receiver states that the business will continue trading.

During her early November promotional tour, K.D. LANG will be making in-store appearances in Sydney and Brisbane - and one of Australia's most deserving charities will be the beneficiary. At both in stores lang requested her Australian fans to bring food - either tinned or packaged - to be donated to the Salvation Army.

On November 2, a statement was issued saying that the Attorney General, Trevor Griffith, has given support to a proposed scheme to warn potential purchasers of CDs and audio tapes about OFFENSIVE LYRICS: "These can range from the odd expletive to the explicit street dialogue in some 'rap' recordings including how to kill police and how to perform oral sex." Australia's Attorneys General are considering a self regulatory approach to the issue of offensive audio material after community concerns about the lyrics of certain 'rap' and heavy metal bands. Last July the Attorneys agreed that such an approach should encompass a Code of Practice, standardised labelling and some consideration of appropriate treatment for the most offensive material. Consultation has now taken place with ARIA which has prepared a paper in response to community concerns. It has developed a Code of Practice which asks record companies to label all CDs and tapes containing explicit lyrics with a standard form label. There is also a complaints mechanism whereby the public will be able to ring a complaints line number at ARIA to report any unlabelled product which they believe should carry a warning. A complaint will be investigated and the ARIA Labelling Complaints Sub Committee will direct the record company to label the product if considered appropriate. If no action is taken by the company ARIA will report the matter to the police or expel the member.
