Guerinot Drops An Industry Time Bomb

While major labels like MCA and Warner Bros. spend megabucks realigning their top execs in order to maintain their dominance in a mercurial business, Jim Guerinot's new BMG-backed Time Bomb imprint is taking a distinctly non-major label approach. Guerinot's business sense was fresh enough to warrant a feature in the November 24th L.A. Times. "What I intend to do is pull the rip cord on the existing system," he said in the article. Guerinot's numbers speak much louder than the usual re-

Buddy Lee Gets World Class

Buddy Lee Attractions acquired World Class Talent last week. BLA exec Tony Conway told POLLSTAR World Class would cease to exist in a week or so and operations would shift over to Buddy Lee's building. World Class owner JoAnn Berry told POLLSTAR she would be working in a consultant capacity with Buddy Lee. "I couldn't have picked a more reputable and prestigious organization to acquire my company. I look forward to a long and profitable association with this new venture," she said. It is not yet known if the other World Class agents, David Kiswiney and Carrie Moore, will make the move to Buddy Lee. As for World Class clients, Conway said the agency has been meeting with them and their managers and, "It looks like the majority will become part of our client list."

The CIA And CIC

The 1995 Concert Industry Awards ballot is enclosed with this week's issue. Please take a few minutes to give us your opinion on the best of '95. A prestigious international panel of 70 industry professionals made this year's nominations. The nominating committee will be unveiled along with the winners at the 7th annual Concert Industry Awards Party February 3rd at the Santa Monica Museum Of Flying. The evening will be hosted by Elayne Boosler and will be a benefit for the Bobby Brooks Foundation. And we should warn everyone — Elayne has attended the last three awards parties and she has devised her own innovative strategy to make sure she holds everyone's attention. Amidst the vintage planes and an elaborate food and drink spread during the post awards party, attendees will also have a chance to try their hand at the controls of a real flight simulator — preferably before ingesting too much food or drink..... The CIA Party will be preceded by the Concert Industry Consortium II at the Century Plaza Hotel February 1-3. Recently confirmed panelists include U.K. promoter Harvey Goldsmith, William Morris exec Peter Grosslight, SoundScan's Mike Shalett, SMG's Neil Sulkes, the Nashville Arena's Russ Simons, BGP prexy Gregg Perloff, Warner Bros. exec Larry Butler, Gold Mountain's Ron Stone, Sunshine Promotions' Dave Lucas, Stormy Shepherd of Leave Home Booking and Larry Weintraub of A&M Records. In addition, ICM exec Bill Elson is putting together a special panel and demo on "Concert Promoters, Digital Technology & The Web," which promises to be an eye-opening experience. Among those joining Elson will be American

ani difranco

Ani DiFranco's manner of giggling and cursing in the same breath reveals a dichotomy that runs throughout her life. DiFranco, whose first name is pronounced Ahh-nee, is a punk rock poet who embraces the sound and spirit of folk music. At 5'2", the New York native and her acoustic guitar surprisingly rock like a volcanic explosion. Her look changes from lesbian-chic to alterna-hip at will and her bisexuality could be read as a contradiction in preferences.

The title of her newest release, Not A Pretty Girl, also evokes conflict when people try to interpret it. DiFranco said the song from which the album gets its title is symbolic and metaphoric but people neglect to look beyond the surface. A typical perplexed comment is, 'But she is a pretty girl.' But it's the contrary nature of her career's development that has thrust this hard working songstress into the public's eye. People want to know how this independent performer has sold more than 175,000 tapes and CDs and how she packs venues that range up to 2,000 capacity without embracing the established recording industry — at all.

DiFranco is fiercely independent. She's released seven albums on her own label, Righteous Babe Records, and has turned down offers from virtually every record company. It seems the industry is eager to embrace the woman who started performing Beatles songs in bars when she was just 9-years-old and launched her own record label at 19. "It's a nice feeling for me to prove that somebody can get to whatever this level is ... without that industry strategizing that goes on with bands," DiFranco told POLLSTAR during a roadside stop from a town she called "Butt Fuck, Colorado."

The potential offensiveness of DiFranco's trashy mouth is cut with what seems to be an incessant urge to break out in laughter as she tells stories of stereotypical industry types trying to buy a piece of her DIY pie. "I spent all these years building this wonderful house to live in and they say, 'Oh look at this beautiful little place. How much?' And I say, 'No, you don't understand. This is where I live. This is my home and it's not for sale.' It's amazing. They're so into this image-hype thing that it doesn't register with them that it's real — that I actually don't have a price." DiFranco said, one after another, industry executives ring her and say (in a stereotypical industry schmooze voice), "The independent thing, we love it. We love it. The kids, they're really into it. It's great, the whole image thing." DiFranco said those execs think her musical quest has been a means to an end to make herself as powerful as possible when she goes to the bargaining table with a major label. It's not. "My brain just does not occupy itself with that kind of contemplation at all. It's so not the point."

DiFranco said people think she sees the music business as an evil empire but she actually sees the business for what it is — business. "I have a healthy, overly-active disrespect for business in general. The profit motive is always at work no matter how many good people there are working within it who really believe in the music. The system itself couldn't care less about the music."

For DiFranco, the purpose of her career is standing on stage, singing her heart out. "I'm not one of those studio people who likes to cloister themselves in a suburban basement and turn knobs. Music is about an exchange between people." DiFranco describes herself as a road warrior. "My life doesn't have the typical industry rhythms of put out the album, release the single, do the publicity, hit the road for four months and then go back home again. I'm more in the vein of the working musician — the fucking traveling wayfaring troubadour. I'm always out there working."

DiFranco's audiences range from long-haired folkies to young girls exploring their sexuality. "There certainly are tons of shaved-head girlies out there discovering their own voice through better living, through folk music," DiFranco said while chuckling. As can happen with any fan, the voice they actually discover is DiFranco's.

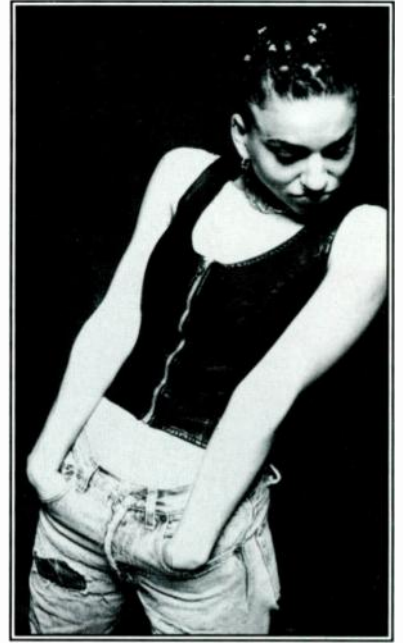

"That's something that bugs me all the time. I'm more than happy to be a bridge for someone. But to go from a place of silence or inaction and then to decide that they found me and that's good enough doesn't work for me. That's only half way. I definitely prefer the dynamic relationship of inspiring each other rather than the blind adulation thing, which I don't think is very useful to anyone."

To dissuade the blind adulation, DiFranco plays down the "star" thing. "I get up on stage and try to be as fuckin' goofy and pathetic as possible and try to convince everybody that that's indeed what I am, because it's oh so true. I try to not indulge the rock star thing and just try and be a person. There's nothing else I can be. But [I have] to try and convince other people that's actually what they're looking at, even despite the platform and the pretty colored lights."

DiFranco performed as a solo artist before she decided to take her drummer Andy Stochansky on the road a few years ago. The duo's sound is so immense, one would swear there was a tape loop or synthesized tracks along with the acoustic guitar and drum kit. But DiFranco confirms the huge sound emanates solely from the two players. She said the low notes come from the way she plays guitar. DiFranco also said it's important to EQ and amplify the sound to make it colossal, but occasionally sound engineers don't get it. "We need tons of wattage and these rock sound company guys see acoustic guitar and drums [and say], 'Oh, that's some pansy ass folk show' and they very often show up with insufficient gear. They just don't understand that this is a really heavy loud sound. And I'm notorious for blowing speakers. It's amazing. I blow amps all over the place — the little fuckin' folk girl."

DiFranco has considered adding a bass player but the expansion of her band would stop at a trio. "Three people, to me, is plenty on stage. If you can't do everything you need to do and then some with three people, then you're just not trying hard enough. I'm not into that wall of sound, big band thing."

With increased demand, independent booking had gotten out of control. DiFranco said there was only so far she could expand her touring without an agent so for the past couple of years Jim Fleming of Fleming Tamulevich & Associates has been handling booking. Scot Fisher at Righteous Babe is her manager. Though DiFranco values those ties, she has a warm — albeit sarcastic — message for the industry. "You tell them that I send a warm wet one their way. You give them my undying love." She added, barely holding back her laughter, "Tell them if they want to come work for Righteous Babe Records, they're always fucking welcome."★ engineering rhetoric. The standard industry wholesale price for a CD is about $10.30; Time Bomb will charge $8.50. While the majors shell out enough money on overhead to buy a third world country, Guerinot expects to spend less than $250,000 on salaries for the label's seven employees this year. There won't be any monster cash advances, either. Guerinot said Time Bomb acts are going to receive about $150,000 per album for recording costs, touring and living expenses. According to the Times, Time Bomb is looking for acts that have their egos in check enough to spend a realistic amount in the studio and then tour like crazy. "They realize that if they work hard and sell some records, they're going to make a hell of a lot more money over the long run with me." Time Bomb acts will receive a royalty rate of 24 percent of the suggested retail (not wholesale) price. Those kind of points are virtually unheard of except in superstar circles. But Guerinot has already proved that these generous figures can reap big returns. Just look at the astronomical dollars generated by The Offspring's low budget Smash album. "I got the idea [for this business structure] from Epitaph Records," Guerinot told POLLSTAR. "It sounds so simple; there's a supply and there's a demand and the product costs two dollars less [than a competitor's]." He said the current wave of major label reorganizations won't really change anything in the long run. "They're locked into this way of doing things. The people at the top are very smart, but they're working under a three-year contract; they don't own the company. There isn't much room for long-term vision." Time Bomb's first signings are No Knife and Elevator Drops. Both groups are expected to have albums out early next year.

R.Rapid E.mergency M.ove Tour Comes To End

Doug Morris Confirms His Supporting Cast

New MCA Music Entertainment Group chairman Doug Morris wasted no time reorganizing the company's top management tier. On November 28th, about two weeks after he got the job, Morris named Mel Lewinter as vice chairman and Zach Horowitz as president of MCA Music Entertainment Group. MCA Music Publishing prexy Jay Boberg was named president of MCA Records. Like Morris, Lewinter was a casualty of Michael Fuchs' short reign at Warner Music. Lewinter had been with Warner for 25 years and was president and CEO of the company's domestic unit when Fuchs terminated that division. Lewinter is suing Time Warner for $15 million for breach of contract. Horowitz has been with MCA for 12 years and was the entertainment group's COO when he got the reaffirmation from Morris. Lewinter will be stationed at corporate headquarters in New York and Horowitz will stay in Los Angeles. Boberg, former longtime president of I.R.S. Records, joined MCA last December. The names on the executive suite doors may not be the only things changing at MCA. Doug Morris' new Rising Tide label may soon be renamed Universal and merged with the Uptown Entertainment imprint to form Uptown Universal.

A Stellar Week For Capitol

Capitol Records was sitting pretty last week when two of its releases, The Beatles Anthology Vol. 1 and Garth Brooks' Fresh Horses, debuted at No. 1 and 2 respectively on SoundScan's top current albums chart. The much-hyped Beatles Anthology sold about 855,000 units and, as expected, Brooks made a significant impact with nearly 500,000 copies in the first week. Pearl Jam's 1993 release Vs. holds the SoundScan sales record with 950,000 copies sold the first week. In comparing the Beatles Anthology to other double albums, it's easy to see the Fab Four kicked Michael Jackson's butt; MJ's HIStory debuted last summer with 391,000 units sold in the first week. Other significant releases that debuted in the top 50 during the first big week of Christmas shopping were Bruce Springsteen at No. 11, Vince Gill at No. 13, DC Talk at No. 16 (the biggest selling Christian album debut), L.L. Cool J at No. 23, and Don Henley at No. 48. But it was the Beatles that really captured the dollars of the buying public. Catalogue sales of Abbey Road went from about 7,200 the previous week to 27,600. And of SoundScan's top 100 catalogue albums, 17 Beatles releases showed significant increases in sales the week Anthology was released and broadcast on ABC. Charles Koppelman, chairman/CEO of EMI Records Group NA, told the L.A. Times he estimates that up to 500,000 copies of older Beatles albums were sold last week. Sales of the 17 Beatles releases in the top 100 totaled 237,000. In England, Beatlemania is yielding big bucks for Apple Corp. The six-hour

"Anthology" television special was sold by Apple to ABC in the U.S. for an estimated $20 million and in the U.K. to Granada for $7.9 million, according to the Financial Times Of London. ABeatlesC hyped the three-night special to no end only to be disappointed with mediocre ratings that accounted for only about one in five households. But the money machine doesn't stop there. In '96, Apple will release an "Anthology" book, a radio series and an expanded video series. And a new worldwide merchandising deal between Apple Corps and Sony Signatures is expected to generate sales of up to $200 million over the next two years.

Concerts & The Cost Of Police Protection

The question of whether or not state police can force concert promoters to pay for extra police protection was put in front of the Connecticut State Supreme Court last week. The case stems from an October 1990 2 Live Crew concert at The Palace nightclub in Stafford Springs. The state police commissioner assigned 15 police officers to the concert and then tried to bill promoters close to $2,000 to cover the overtime incurred. Club owner David Morascini and the Connecticut Civil Liberties Union sued the state over the issue, contending if police can pass along the cost of protection with few limits, it would violate free speech in that the state could literally shut down a specific show, club or promoter. The plaintiffs have since been joined by lawyers from Real Art Ways of Hartford and a group called National Campaign for Free Expression. The state maintains the decision for extra police was based in part on the expected attendance, fire code issues, a past history of trouble at 2 Live Crew shows and information that some gang members may have been in the audience. Asst. Attorney General Robert Werner said the call for extra police had nothing to do with the government's hostility toward the message of the performer. "What the state is saying is taxpayers shouldn't have to pay for public safety concerns derived by a commercial activity," Werner said. Though no decision was made, several court justices said they were concerned that the guidelines used to determine whether police protection was needed might be too vague and arbitrary. Some justices showed concern that state officials may not be familiar enough with rap music to effectively determine the amount of police protection that is "reasonable" and "necessary."

Execs from the Lawrence Joel Veterans Memorial Coliseum in Winston-Salem, N.C., were happier than a hog in a slop bucket when Tim McGraw, BlackHawk and 4-Runner sold out all 10,594 seats. Pictured after the November 17th show (L-R) are promoter Alan Presley of Kaleidoscope Prod., coliseum director Bucky Dame, McGraw and the venue's Jeffrey Bowen.

Snoop Dogg Trial Gets Underway

The murder trial of Snoop Doggy Dog and his bodyguard McKinley Lee commenced in Los Angeles November 27th. In their opening statements, prosecutors accused Snoop (real name Calvin Broadus) and Lee with virtually hunting down and killing Philip Woldemariam on August 25, 1993. "The evidence will establish that this was not a chance encounter. They were looking for a fight. The claim of self defense is contrived," said Deputy DA Ed Nison. The defense maintains that Woldemariam was in the process of pulling a gun out of his waistband when he was shot by Lee, who was in the passenger seat while Snoop was behind the wheel of his Jeep Cherokee. In spite of eyewitness testimony during the trial's second day, the prosecution already faces some major obstacles. Jurors shook their heads and rolled their eyes while Nison explained how evidence, including the victim's clothing and a bullet casing, had accidentally been destroyed by police. Police also neglected to record interviews with some of the witnesses and the suspects. At first, police discounted Lee's statement that Woldemariam was armed because two of the victim's friends said he didn't have a gun. One of the friends later said that statement wasn't true. During the defense's opening statements, attorney Donald Re depicted Woldemariam as a volatile, territorial gang member who had been drinking malt liquor and neglected to take insulin for his diabetes the day of the shooting. Re said, "Mr. Lee had no reason to shoot Mr. Woldemariam except in pursuit of his job." David Kenner, attorney for Snoop, told the jury that Woldemariam had a record of weapon offense convictions, including firing a gun in a schoolyard and carrying a loaded weapon on a commuter train. The prosecution said there was no evidence Woldemariam had a gun with him when he was shot.

Short Items Of Note

Flagstar has reportedly signed an agreement to sell its Volume Services unit to a new company, VSI Acquisition II Corp., formed by its core management and backed by the Blackstone Capital Partners II investment group. Volume Services provides food and merchandise services at more than 80 venues..... A Bronx taxicab driver accused of stalking Roberta Flack was ordered to undergo a psychiatric exam after he began a rambling diatribe in which he called the judge a "lunatic" and declared that Flack destroyed his mind. Tennyson Charles, 48, was to have been sentenced to seven years in prison after pleading guilty to menacing, attempted burglary and contempt of an order to leave Flack alone. This is not Charles' first time in court on the matter. He had been found unfit for trial in the past after being diagnosed as a schizophrenic with paranoid delusional symptoms.

Boot Scootin' In Saskatoon

Saskatchewan Place execs thank Brooks & Dunn for bringing more than 11,000 concert-goers to their Western Canada facility. Pictured before the November 10th show are (L-R) the facility's Scott Ford, Kix Brooks, Gold & Gold Productions' Ron Sakamoto, Ronnie Dunn and facility GM Ken Wood.

Obituaries

Led Zeppelin manager Peter Grant, 60, died of a heart attack November 21st while traveling to his home in southern England. Grant began working in the British music industry in the late '50s. He was managing the Yardbirds by the end of the '60s. When the Yardbirds split in '68, guitarist Jimmy Page and Grant recruited drummer John Bonham, bassist John Paul Jones and singer Robert Plant for a new group — Led Zeppelin. Grant pioneered stadium tours and the concept of 90/10 deals. He retired when the group split up following Bonham's death in 1980..... Motown sax great Junior Walker, 53, died November 23rd of cancer at his home in Battle Creek, Mich. Walker and his band, The All Stars, had several hits including "Shotgun." Walker recently toured with the Legends Of Motown package but his condition worsened soon after the tour ended.

After a recent reorganization, we are back with a new phone number (818) 893-1896 and fax 893-2796. We welcome agent Randy St. George who brings The Etouffee' Band from Crescent Lake, Ore., to the roster. Our mailing address is unchanged. // Strawberry Alarm Clock with Spencer Davis has avails into '96 and is based in L.A. The package is also available separately. // Our recent signing of Davie Allan & The Arrows brings the king of fuzz guitar back on the road out of L.A. This trio is best known for the instrumental classics on movies like Peter Fonda's "The Wild Angels." The group performs these themes as well as hard instrumental music for the '90s. // Shawn Phillips has immediate avails in the upper Midwest and the East Coast. // Van Dyke Parks, who recently finished his sixth album for Warner Bros., Orange Crate Art (with Brian Wilson on vocals), wants to tour in support of the CD. He is West Coast based with plans to be on the East Coast in March. // Meisner, Rich & Swan features Randy Meisner from the Eagles, Allan Rich and Billy Swan. // After a break while restructuring, we represent largely the same roster now as in our first six years. We also represent a number of groups on a non-exclusive basis.

RATFISH ARTS: Bill Benson

The Drovers have arrived! Little High Sky Show is the band's first full-length release in over three years. With the Irish element still present, they've eagerly entered into a more cryptic terrain. AAA radio has already embraced two cuts off the new release. They are wrapping up a small club tour (playing with the Cointails, Southern Culture on the Skids, Blue Mountain, and Leftover Salmon) and are routing through the Northeast in late January and Southeast in early February.

Between The Dates

■ The current acoustic tour by BRUCE SPRINGSTEEN may be the only tour that comes with audience instructions. Springsteen has been laying down the law at the shows — no clapping, no singing along, no whistling, and no shouting song titles. He told the audience of 2,400 at New Brunswick's State Theatre that if everyone would cooperate, "that'll stop me from going out in the crowd and slapping a few people around, ruining my nice-guy image." In addition to a sold out house, The Boss also had the attention of a 60 Minutes film crew, that was shooting footage for an upcoming profile on the Jersey boy.

■ BILL GRAHAM PRESENTS and APPLE COMPUTER will launch their new alliance with a New Year's Eve bash that will encompass seven square blocks of San Francisco's waterfront. Santana and the Gin Blossoms will headline the event. Along with live entertainment, Apple will debut its interactive on-line concept, Quick Time Live, which creates a broadcast medium on the Internet. The technology will allow party-goers to tap into other New Year's Eve celebrations. Digital cameras will record the event letting computer users watch performances from their homes on the Web at: <http://live.apple.com>.

■ At one time no one thought they'd ever perform again. Now it seems as if THE EAGLES won't stop touring. The boys, currently performing in Australia, plan on continuing their tour throughout the world in 1996. The band plans on playing Europe, and then some more U.S. dates before the year is over. Don Henley told a news conference, "We are one of the only bands of our generation where we are all still here now. That is a feat in itself."

■ Due to a family illness, LENNY KRAVITZ has cancelled the first few dates of his upcoming tour. Cancelled dates are Pittsburgh, December 29th, Auburn Hills, on the 31st, and Ottawa, January 8th. December 30th, scheduled for Toronto, has been postponed and will be rescheduled. Kravitz plans on doing a short string of U.S. dates between January 26th through February 13th before heading across the pond for a European tour.

■ While on their way to Los Angeles, CHICAGO almost became one of those "musicians/airplane" statistics when the plane carrying the group experienced engine trouble over Omaha and was forced to make an emergency landing in Sioux Falls, South Dakota. The band later boarded another flight to Los Angeles. Robert Lamm, who lives in L.A., was the only bandmember not on the flight.

■ The LILY'S IN THE FIELD CONCERT, a benefit for the war orphaned children of Bosnia, took place at New York's Irving Plaza on November 21st. The benefit concert featured an all-star lineup of classic rockers including The Moody Blues' Justin Hayward, Steve Howe of Yes, Gary Brooker from Procol Harum, members of Cheap Trick, Phoebe Snow, and was organized and hosted by Renaissance lead singer Annie Haslam. With only 800 seats available, funds raised were expected to be modest, but an anonymous British foundation donated $5 MILLION to the cause. Carl Freed of Metropolitan Entertainment promoted the show, and all the proceeds went to the Holy Family Adoption & Relief Services. An album and video of the show will be released next year.

■ OZZY OSBOURNE starts a major U.S. arena tour on New Year's Eve in Denver and to help coordinate the marketing of all the dates, manager Sharon Osbourne has hired L.A.-based indie promoter Jennifer Perry.

■ Though he hasn't made up his mind about touring North America, BRYAN ADAMS does plan on playing European dates next summer. In the meantime, fans can catch Adams playing at two special Canadian events. On January 15th, he will open up the new 18,500-capacity Ottawa Palladium. The show is being promoted by Bass Clef in partnership with CPI and Donald K Donald. Two days later, Adams will be singing for the folks in Hamilton as they kick off their year-long Sesquicentennial celebration, the 150th birthday of their city.

■ Proving you're never to old to rock n roll, December 14th marks two milestones. Motorhead's LEMMY turns 50 that day, and the band itself marks its 20th anniversary. The party is at The Whiskey in West Hollywood, where KLOS-FM will be hosting the celebration which includes either appearances or video happy birthdays from Ozzy Osbourne, Slash, Dweezil Zappa, Bobcat Goldthwait, Gene Simmons and Johnny Depp. On that night of "spotlights and leather" Lemmy will be crowned the "King Of Metal."

U.K. News Report

While OGDEN CORP. is streamlining its US business interests, moves are afoot to expand the company's European leisure operations. Ogden Entertainment Services has announced plans to take over a 25% share of the APOLLO LEISURE GROUP, the largest theatre operator in the UK. The move will afford both parties opportunities for mutually beneficial expansion - Ogden in Europe and Apollo in the US. Noel Penrose, managing director of Ogden Entertainment Europe, told POLLSTAR, "Ogden has so far grown organically in the UK and we now plan to grow by acquisition. We are looking beyond venue management now - there are other opportunities in the entertainments and leisure industries." The key rock venues operated by Apollo Leisure are the LABATTS APOLLO HAMMERSMITH and the MANCHESTER APOLLO. The group has a total of 56 venues in the UK, including 21 theatres and 10 cinemas, although the deal will not affect the day-to-day running. The deal is likely to be concluded within the next month.

DAVID BOWIE has announced an extra performance, as part of Tribute's Big Twix Mix event. It is the fifth show to be announced at the Birmingham NEC, but will be the first of the five multi-bill party nights starting December 13. Bowie headlines, supported by Alanis Morissette, the Lightning Seeds and Echobelly to make a very strong line-up. The shows will be recorded for worldwide TV syndication this Christmas.

The MTV EUROPE AWARDS generated more than music press when award winners and presenters turned the ceremony into a platform for anti-nuclear protest. At the November 23 ceremony in Paris, not only did Greenpeace, France's public enemy No. 1, receive the special "Free Your Mind" award, but the French president Jacques Chirac and the Nuclear testing programme in the South Pacific received a thorough lambasting from BONO when U2 picked up the Best Group Award, from JON BON JOVI when he picked up Bon Jovi's best rock group award, and from GEORGE MICHAEL who presented Greenpeace with its award. Others who made vocal protests were Madonna, The Cure's Robert Smith and R.E.M.'s Michael Stipe. The fourth French nuclear test since September had been carried out only two days before the MTV Awards. French government officials were not only a little piqued at the public criticism (which pushed the awards into many more media outlets than it might have done without the controversial remarks) but also at the lack of French nominees. The only French winner was Michel Gondry for best video director on Massive Attack's "Protection." The awards, which took place at the Zenith venue, suffered a few logistical difficulties when French air traffic controllers and railways decided to go on strike that day, which caused most of the bands and artists to be re-routed via Belgium.

The WORLD AIDS DAY CONCERT due to take place on December 1 at Wembley Arena was cancelled with only seven days to go due to lack of sponsors. The show had Wet Wet Wet headlining and Princess Diana was due to attend. But only around 5,000 tickets were sold. It seems that sponsorship from Levis, Planet Hollywood and London's Capital Radio was not sufficient to carry the show. The official line is that the event is being rescheduled for 1996, but it looks like it will be put off until next December's World Aids Day.

Meanwhile all proceeds from QUEEN's new album, "Made In Heaven," sold on World Aids Day will be donated to the Mercury Phoenix Trust which was set up in Freddie Mercury's memory.

MPI AGENCY has taken on three new agents and expanded its roster by 35 acts. In an unprecedented joint move, Alex Hardee, Cris Hearn and Tom Symmons have left the CONCORDE AGENCY to create a whole new dance division at MPI. The agents jointly represented a substantial portion of the Concorde dance roster ranging from techno band Underworld to reggae legend Gregory Isaacs and a number of top DJs. MPI managing director Steve Parker says, "I have wanted MPI to get into the dance side of the business for some time. Finding the right people has taken some time, but it's been worth it." This brings the number of agents at MPI to nine and the total roster to 120. "But MPI's basic philosophy and relatively low ratio of artists to agent hasn't changed," stresses Parker.

Billed as Britain's most successful girl group, ETERNAL have announced a 15-date UK tour next February/March booked and promoted by Solo-ITG. The tour culminates in their first headlining Wembley show. Since their first release in 1993, Eternal have sold nearly 1.5 million albums and have just released their second album, Power Of a Woman. This was recorded mostly in the US and in the new three-member format since singer Louise went solo earlier this year.

Other new tours for 1996 announced this week are TORI AMOS (booked and promoted by ITB), MIKE & THE MECHANICS (booked and promoted by Solo-ITG) and LENNY KRAVITZ is doing a one-off show at Wembley Arena on March 23. COOLIO has announced a one-off date on January 4 at The Grand in London. Coolio's "Gangsta's Paradise" single is currently at No. 2 in the charts. Meanwhile, MICHAEL BOLTON appears to have a lot of fans in Birmingham as he has added another date at the NEC.

London Arena's BOB SCHWARTZ is returning to the US to take up a position as VP of Sales and marketing at the Corestates Spectrum in Philadelphia. SMG is currently looking for a new marketing director to carry on with the progress made in re-establishing the London Arena in the market.

Australian News Report

Promoter Michael Coppel and Golden Sounds (who are presenting the Summersault Festival in December/January) have linked up and announced a March tour by the SMASHING PUMPKINS who were last in the country for this year's Big Day Out extravaganza in January. A full schedule wasn't available at press time but the band play the 6,000 capacity Hordern Pavilion in Sydney on March 14.

It was a curious way to announce a tour when the weekend papers of November 25-26 carried an extensive article, presumably paid for as an ad, written by noted rock commentator Glenn A. Baker about NEIL DIAMOND. It stated that Diamond's promoter Paul Dainty will be putting tickets on sale for his next tour on December 7. The actual dates will be in March. Diamond was last here for Dainty four years ago. Hot August Night spent 224 weeks on the Australian charts and was, per capita, more successful here than in any other market.

BILLY BRAGG has been added to the line-up for January's Big Day Out.

With MARIAH CAREY apparently having confirmed live dates for Japan on March 7-16, Sony Music are speculating that she might continue on to Australia after that.

SOUL ASYLUM have just completed their first promo tour of Australia. While in the country they shot the video for their forthcoming single "Promises Broken" on location in the sand dunes in Port Stephens in New South Wales. The video will also include live footage shot at the Metro Theatre show in Sydney.

Frontier Touring Company has announced an early '96 return tour by CHRIS ISAAK. His July promo tour obviously worked. He played the 1,800 seat Enmore Theatre but this time around in Sydney he's at the 11,500 capacity Entertainment Centre.

The AMAZING RHYTHM ACES are virtually confirmed for an Australasian tour at the end of January. In between New Zealand dates they'll do just two shows in Sydney and one in Melbourne.

G LOVE & SPECIAL SAUCE will be in Australia during December for their first ever tour.

A report in the Australian newspaper says that property developer Andrew Richardson's purchase of Jimmy Barnes' $1.4 million BOWRAL MANSION could be more of a bargain than he originally thought. Barnes had spent millions of dollars improving the original house, extending it to a 70 square mansion, adding a 17m swimming pool, sauna, gymnasium, two pool rooms, a loft apartment and a $750,000 sound studio. Because the property was used as an income-producing asset, Jimmy Barnes' company legally was entitled to claim tax deductions on improvements it had made to the property. At the rate of 2.5 percent a year these would amount to $50,000 yearly for 40 years on an assumed improvement cost of $2 million. Those tax benefits will now pass to Richardson - who bought the mansion last year - if he decides to operate the property as a business or lease it out.

THE EAGLES arrived in Australia on November 24 for their Hell Freezes Over tour and held a brief press conference which was well attended by all major TV stations and newspapers.
