last six or seven years, we have promoted and produced a number of tours on a worldwide basis, which is really where we wanted to focus our energies. It seemed to make sense that since they didn't want to be involved on an international basis and we did, we should go off and do our thing and they should remain and do their thing here in Canada." He said the new company was formed at this time because "various issues" had been resolved. TNA will handle next year's Rolling Stones tour of Asia and South America. The company is also involved in Paul Simon's upcoming theatrical venture. Fogel would not comment on the rumors that TNA has been courting U2, which will launch a world tour next year. BCL's parent company, Labatt Breweries, announced on the same day that Donald K. Donald president Donald Tarlton has been appointed CEO of BCL Entertainment Corp. Tarlton immediately named a new management team for BCL comprising Nick Phillips as CFO and senior VP of BCL; Mark Norman, VP of Perryscope Productions; Riley O'Connor, VP of CPI Concerts; Ronald Andrew, VP of CPI Theatre; and Eric Kert, VP of business affairs and general counsel at BCL. Donald K. Donald, Perryscope and CPI are all part of the BCL group of companies, which also includes Brockum. As head of BCL Corp., Tarlton said his first order of business will be establishing the responsibilities of the management team. "The

CIC Adds More Heavies

Premier Talent Agency founder Frank Barsalona, the architect of much of what we today call the concert business, has been confirmed as a panelist for the February 1-3 Concert Industry Consortium II at the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles. Also joining the previously announced panelists are CAA agent Rob Light, Epic Records exec Steve Rennie and Offspring/Rancid manager Jim Guerinot. The CIC's first day will also feature a series of special focus sessions that will be less formal discussions allowing delegates of similar interests or backgrounds to meet and discuss issues of mutual concern and to help sharpen the focus for the panel sessions to follow. For those new to the industry, a special "Introduction To The Concert Business" session will be conducted by Barbara Hubbard. The "Facility Managers Forum" will be facilitated by Thomas & Mack Center director Pat Christenson. Larry Weintraub of A&M Records will pilot a meeting for record company tour marketing execs. Aerosmith manager Tim Collins will host a meeting of artist managers. The North American Concert Promoters Association will also hold its private membership meeting on February 1st. And for all those who like to do business out on the fairways, the second annual CIC / Bobby Brooks Open golf tournament has been set for 11:30 a.m. January 31st at the Malibu Country Club. Registration details for this MIGA-produced benefit will be announced shortly. For complete information on the CIC panels and schedule, please see page 3 of this week's issue — and remember, the deadline for advance discount CIC registrations and Concert Industry Awards Party tickets is December 20th.

The Next Adventure For Canadian Promoters

Michael Cohl and his partner William Ballarc announced December 1st that they have left BCL to form a new entertainment company, The Next Adventure (TNA). Arthur Fogel, who had been CPI president, has been named president of TNA and former BCL staffers Stephen Howard and John Meglen have signed on to the new venture as well. TNA will initially focus on international touring. The new venture is currently promoting and producing the David Bowie tour in Europe. The future will likely hold new endeavors in theatrical events and other types of entertainment. Explaining the split, Fogel said, "Over time, it has become clear that the majority shareholder in BCL, being Labatt, was definitely pursuing a direction of maintaining and expanding the Canadian operations. BEN HARPER

It's the middle of the night when Ben Harper calls from a truck stop in Italy. A short while ago, he was on stage in front of an adoring audience in Florence. Now he's taking a break on the way to Milan. His voice is sleepy but his mind is very much awake, still feeding off the adrenaline of the show. "It was a great concert. The audience was really good. We had a great time playing," he said. In spite of the late hour and the usual road drudgery, Harper has no trouble expressing his enthusiasm. He's opening for P.J. Harvey during her European tour, as he did during her recent U.S. dates. "This feels like the right tour to be on; it's very comfortable. Her crew and her band are very accommodating. It's working out really well."

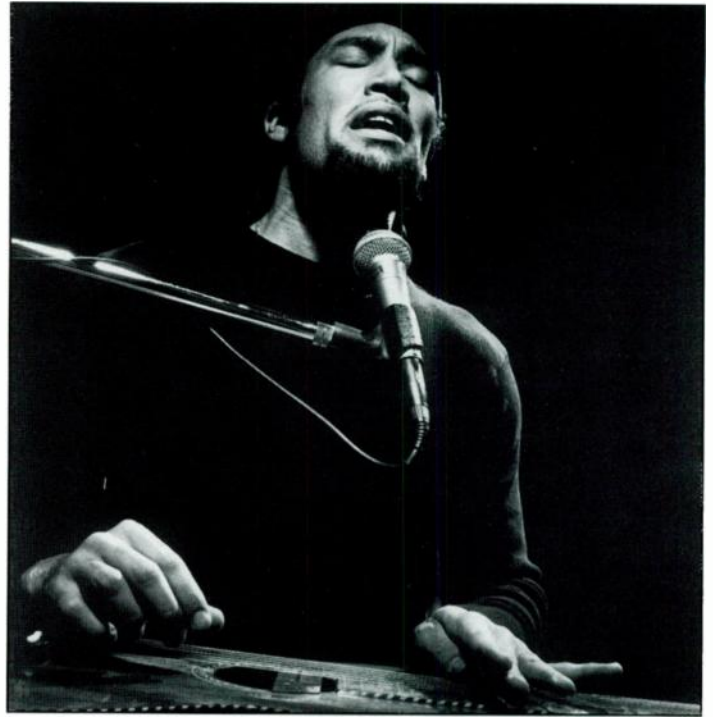

The paring of Harvey's theatrical psycho-drama blues and Harper's politicized, spiritualized, acoustic folk explosion seems a little too weird. Not to Harper. His tastes veer from the seminal styles of Bob Marley and Jimi Hendrix to groundbreaking L.A. punks like X and the Minutemen. To him, it's not at all strange that he has shared billing with The Pharcyde, Pearl Jam and many other genre benders.

Harper's art comes from a place that transcends stereotypes and labels. He simply has no use for them. "The power of music is far beyond humanity's ability to comprehend it, and I think that's good. The power of music is beyond science. We don't know everything about what music can do. The power of words and notes together as one — it's a life force. It's an organic force from the earth. Music can bring people together to move and act."

Harper's social conscious and spirituality are not some folksy facade. His convictions are evident in his music (even in the title of his latest Virgin release, Fight For Your Mind), the way he lives and the way he plays his music. "Who you are will come out in your music whether you like it or not," he said. Harper has a gift for conveying the strength of his beliefs through his music. Given the opportunity, he'll play way past the usual 60- to -80 minute set length. Time and time again, his performances have been described as possessing an almost transcendental quality. He's not necessarily trying to bring his audience to a higher plane, but if that happens, great.

"I am out there to challenge myself to make the best music and go beyond my limitations," he said. Every time we go out and play music it's Ben Harper and the Innocent Criminals: Juan Nelson on bass, Oliver Charles on drums and Leon Lewis Mobley on percussion. Our objective is to play a song better than it's ever been played. Each time, that's what we reach for."

Harper said he is by far his own worst critic, and that may be because the music is almost overwhelmingly important to him. His booking agent — The Rosebud Agency's Tom Chauncey — said Harper is keen on knowing what's up with the business end of his career and Harper, himself, said he tries to learn as much about the industry from as many people as possible. But the music, not the music business, is his message and that's what Harper is all about. "Music is emotion and communication and beliefs. Things you know, things you see, things you feel. You can't compromise on that. Music has always been part of my life. Every day has been an evolution and music is a big part of that evolution. The more I played music, the more I had to play music."

The old cliché claims it's only rock 'n' roll and in some cases, that's all there is to it. But Harper is not content to stop there. With the talent comes responsibility. "Music has brought me to where I am. I don't say I know the truth, I don't say I have the truth. But I seek a common truth in humanity. There are common truths in which I believe and celebrate and try to bring about. There is a struggle going on and we are all involved whether we know it or not. It's the struggle for human kind."

He may share the mysticism of an earlier era, but Harper is no hippie throwback. His songs and even his touring schedule address the shrinking global village. He raps up the European P.J. Harvey dates in late December, headlines a North American tour in January, then it's back to Europe and on to Japan. "It's going so strong for us in Japan. It's tremendous. It shows how music really has no boundaries except the ones people put in front of it and around it."

Harper illustrates that point every time he plays. He chooses to communicate his thoroughly modern concerns with the very old fashion Weissenborn guitar, a hollow-neck acoustic he holds on his lap. "The Weissenborn is the greatest sounding acoustic instrument ever made," he said. "I play it for that reason." It's doubtful his fans care why he plays it. They just know his sound is like nothing else. "The way the music sounds and the way I sing are not necessarily a conscious thing; it's part of who I am," he said. "I want a greater understanding of music to evolve in the spirit of song. Being on the road so much helps that happen. I don't feel comfortable sitting in one place for any length of time."

Harper has managed to hold still long enough to record two acclaimed albums and acquire a manager in the process. J.P. Plunier co-produced both releases and he and Harper are so like-minded, he became the singer/songwriter's manager. "I love touring; it's a privilege to do that," said Harper. "But when me and J.P. get in the studio... Well, to be honest, he and I make the best production team in music today and we will smoke any producer on any style of music," he said with total conviction. But then for Ben Harper, that's how he does everything. ★ initial objective is to get in a room, lock the doors and decide what we want to be, who we want to be, how we want to operate and how best to reinvent ourselves," he said. "We'll decide what we want to achieve together." Even though Tarlton has worked with the members of his new team for years and knows their personal styles, he has told them to "rewrite the script; come up with new, novel, exciting ways to do business." For the foreseeable future, Tarlton will split his time between DKD's Montreal headquarters and BCL's home office in Toronto. The departure of Cohl and the appointment of Tarlton had been anticipated for months, which explains how Tarlton was able to announce the new BCL executive staff so quickly. Still, the December 1st announcement came as somewhat of a surprise. "These are things that were contemplated in the past on a particular time table," Tarlton said. "However, there were particular instances that happened last week that accelerated that time table." He indicated there had been a public dispute between Cohl, Ballard and Labatt, which has since been resolved. Cohl and Ballard's new company, TNA, is now operating out of BCL's offices but will relocate elsewhere in Toronto later this month. BCL will not be competing with TNA over international tours. "The theme of the company is a Canadian coast-to-coast concert company," said Tarlton. "We were all born and bred in the agency system of doing business and we support that system. We are national Canadian promoters. We have mutual non-competes with the departing members of the BCL team."

Reba's Itinerary Hits Raisin City

Denver Issues Its Own Ultimate Fighting Challenge

After a threat by Denver Mayor Wellington Webb to cancel a scheduled pay-per-view event, the Ultimate Fighting Challenge, and a counter threat by promoter Semaphore Entertainment to sue the city, the show has changed venues. The December 16th event was originally booked into the National Western Events Center, which is owned by the city of Denver and operated by the National Western Stock Show and Rodeo. Denver's city and county director of theatres and arenas, Gary Lane, told POLLSTAR there is a contract between the city and National Western stipulating that events not traditionally hosted by the horse arena require approval of the city. "But they did not seek our permission so when the mayor found out about that, he decided that he had the right, based on the contract, to tell them

... that the event contract was null and void," Lane said. Mayor Webb has said the raw combat event, which features a series of hand-to-hand fights between martial artists, wrestlers and other skilled fighters, "is not the image of Denver we want to portray locally, regionally, nationally or internationally." Now, the event has moved to the privately owned Mammoth Events Center and is out of the city's control. The irony is that if the event had been booked into a city owned and operated facility, the Theatres & Arenas Division couldn't turn it down based on content because that would create a first amendment conflict in a governmental entity. But according to Lane, the city council and mayor are looking to set a new standard for Denver by passing an ordinance banning the Ultimate Fighting Challenge from coming back to Denver. Litigation over the matter is likely.

Sony Brass Take The Reigns As Schulhof Departs

Tokyo-based Sony Corp. essentially took back control of its U.S. operations last week when Michael Schulhof "resigned" as the company's top U.S. executive. In a terse statement issued December 5th, Sony announced Schulhof was leaving the company "to pursue new business interests in the new technologies and entertainment arena." Sony chairman/CEO Norio Ohga and president/COO Nobuyuki Idei assumed control of Sony Corp. of America, which includes Sony Music Entertainment, Sony Pictures and Sony Electronics, as well as the interactive, movie theatres, merchandising, radio network and new technology divisions. Schulhof, a protege of Sony founder Akio Morita, became president and chief executive of Sony Corp. of America in 1993. He was the architect of Sony's $8 billion foray into the American entertainment industry. He spearheaded the 1988 purchase of CBS Records, including Epic and Columbia, which has been profitable for the Japanese electronics firm. In '89, Schulhof negotiated the acquisition of Columbia Pictures. But Sony's movie division, which accounts for 7 percent of the corporation's revenue, took a multibillion dollar loss a year ago. In the restructuring of management, Idei will become chairman of Sony Electronics in addition to vice chairman of Sony Corp. of America; Ohga will continue as chair of the American corporation and will resume his role as chairman of Sony Music Entertainment and Sony Pictures Entertainment.

APA Nashville agents Bob Kinkead and Rob Battle are joined by Danny Watkins with the Oak Ridge Boys, and Great American Talent's Bob Younts during the annual fair managers coniab.

CAA Nashville's Jeff Pringle (L) shows Illinois promoter Brad Altman the CAA booth, which he apparently finds lip lickin' good.

Stage Craft's John Procaccini discusses the proper way of lighting the crimson locks of a mega country star with agent Mike Allen of Starstruck Talent.

America West Arena's Bob Machen browses booths with Insight Management's Maria Cooper Brunner.

POLLSTAR's Brad Snavelly says howdy to Artist & Audience agents Barry Weisblatt and Ken Fermaglich. Despite their presence at the IAFE, don't expect to see Nine Inch Nails on the '96 fair circuit.

★ Scenes From The IAFE

Jim McCue from the Palace of Auburn Hills, Phyliss Parsons from The Parsons Company, Jeff Pringle from CAA in Nashville and Ann Steiger from the California State Fair in Sacramento get up close and personal at the IAFE.

Caught in the middle of a conversation about Buddy Lee's acquisition of World Class Talent (which was announced earlier in the day) are Lori Renfrow of the Houston Livestock Show, Buddy Lee's Tony Conway and Joan Saltel and Leroy Shafer of the Houston Livestock Show.

Delsener Slater's Todd Frank chats with John Ade of DSA Entertainment about the clients Ade is now managing.

Sending out fireworks without the benefit of pyrotechnics are Danabeth and Marcy Zambelli of world famous fireworks company Zambelli Internationale.

The Agency Group's Dave Kirby and Steve Schenck chat about the success of the agency's client the Stanford Prison Experience.

Performers Of The World's Bob Ringe and Terry Rindal share the California vibe with Jan Peters from the Kansas State Fair as Jan asks what it's like to have an office in such a sedate area of West Hollywood.

Checking out the Route Book for dates of the Peter Noone/Mark Lindsay tour are POLLSTAR's Jeff Stone, Kell Houston of Good Music Agency, Lindsay, manager Tony DeLauro, Noone and GMA's Brian Knaff.

The two Japanese executives reportedly continue their support of Sony Pictures president/COO Alan Levine. But the future of Schulhof's right-hand man, Jeff Sagansky, is not clear. Some speculate Sagansky, who had been second-in-command, will be tapped as Schulhof's successor in an attempt to stabilize the U.S. operation. However, Sony reportedly insists there are no plans to promote Sagansky, who now reports to Idei and Ohga. Those close to Sony's brass reportedly said Ohga and Idei have also told Sony Music chief Thomas Mottola he has their support. But others speculate Mottola's departure is imminent and names like Al Teller are being bandied around as his possible replacement. Although Sony has indicated it would not replace Schulhof, that hasn't stopped rumormongers from floating names like recently fired Warner Music exec Michael Fuchs as a possible successor. Some Wall Street observers speculate that Schulhof's departure is more than a restructuring of upper-management and may reveal Sony's intentions to follow Matsushita's lead in scaling back its investment in the U.S. entertainment industry. Sony is expected to sell all or part of its movie division but keep the music company in its fold. Despite the tenuous nature of Sony's future role in the U.S. entertainment industry, one thing is clear — as it is at other mega-corps, upper-management execs get paid very well but few of them will be around long enough to grow tired of the view from their office windows.

McGraw Rams Them Into Ramsey

One Night Only Is Too Much As MJ's Hospitalized

Michael Jackson's sudden collapse during rehearsals at the Beacon Theater in NYC last Wednesday forced the indefinite postponement of his much ballyhooed HBO special, "Michael Jackson: One Night Only" — scheduled to air this past Sunday. Doctors at Manhattan's Beth Israel Medical Center North said MJ would "require several days of critical care, monitoring and treatment." They said an irregular heartbeat might have caused his fainting spell and that he also suffered from dehydration, gastroenteritis and an electrolyte imbalance affecting his heart, liver and kidney functions. Ambulance workers called to the theater found a semiconscious MJ lying on the side of the stage, dehydrated and with dangerously low blood pressure. Emergency Medical Service spokeswoman Marie Lamberti said at first, MJ's blood pressure measured 70 over 40; a typical healthy reading would be 120 over 80. There was so much pancake makeup dripping off the superstar's face that the medics had to lift up his shirt to check his pallor, EMS technician Kevin Barwick told the N.Y. Daily News. The King of Pop had been scheduled to appear that same night at the Billboard Music Awards. Tina Turner accepted the Billboard Hot 100 Award for career achievement on MJ's behalf saying she "wished for him a speedy recovery, from all of us." Shaquille O'Neal accepted the Artist Achievement Award for Janet Jackson, who also missed the show, saying she was "chillin' with Michael." With MJ facing several days in intensive care, his room is apparently undergoing a makeover as framed posters of Topo Gigio, Shirley Temple and Mickey Mouse were delivered to the hospital late last week.

Atlanta Olympic Committee Scraps Shed

The Atlanta Committee for the Olympic Games has cancelled plans to build a temporary amphitheatre in the under-construction Centennial Olympic Park. The committee wasn't able to make a deal to have a promoter build the venue, present and promote the shows, and share the profits with the Olympics. The amphitheatre was to host a series of 22 concerts, some of which were already announced including James Brown, Gloria Estefan and Trisha Yearwood. ACOG spokesperson Margaret Doyle told POLLSTAR the committee still hopes to accommodate those acts. "We're going to go back to them and probably, on a case by case basis, see if we can work something out for them to appear either [on other stages] in the park or elsewhere." She said the park's sponsor, AT&T, may present some of the artists.

Pros On The Move

Michael Donovan is leaving The Agency Group to join The Metropolitan Entertainment Group as a talent buyer. Donovan will officially take his new post January 2nd and will be based out of Metropolitan's office in New Jersey. Before becoming a full agent, Donovan was Steve Martin's assistant dating back to his days at William Morris.... Shelley Lazar, the czar of backstage passes, has been promoted to VP of artist relations at Bill Graham Presents. Lazar is also the administrator of the Bill Graham Foundation, which is a non-endowed public charity funding projects that involve education, music and the cultural arts. Lazar has supervised VIP credentials and backstage security for countless worldwide tours..... Atlantic Records officially announced the appointment of Steve Davis as VP of tour marketing last week. Davis, who is based at Atlantic's New York HQ, has worked as a booking agent at William Morris and Premier Talent..... Arthur Levitt returns to Disney as president of Location Based Entertainment, a new division that will develop entertainment businesses such as sports restaurants. Levitt was most recently with The Rank Organisation PLC, where he guided the opening of 20 Hard Rock Cafes in the U.S. and abroad.

William Morris Hears The Word

Short Items Of Note

Doug Morris' new Rising Tide label is going to Nashville, in title at least. Speculation began last week that Rising Tide would merge with MCA's Uptown Entertainment subsidiary and the combined labels would be called Uptown Universal. There's been no word on that front but last week, Morris announced that Ken Levitan has been named president of Rising Tide, which was referred to as MCA's "new Nashville label." Levitan had headed VSOP Management along with Will Botwin, where he has been involved with the careers of Los Lobos, Lyle Lovett, Nancy Griffith and others. Emory Gordy Jr. was named senior VP of A&R..... Warner/Reprise Nashville will split into two separate labels effective January 1st. Reprise Nashville and Warner Bros. Nashville have operated as one entity until now..... Jones International Networks said it will launch a 24-hour cable TV country music video network, Great American Country. The new channel will debut on a number of Jores Intercable systems December 31st and will offer cable system operators equity participation in the new venture.

Legal Grievs

Prosecution witnesses in the Snoop Doggy Dogg murder case can't seem to keep their stories straight. During the second week of the trial, one witness said he saw Snoop and bodyguard McKinley Lee drive past several times before stopping and firing on Philip Woldemariam. He said he saw smoke coming from the murder weapon. However, under cross-examination, the same witness said he was more than 100 yards away from the crime scene and did not see the actual shooting. Another witness said he saw Lee walking through an alley with a gun several hours before the shooting. Later, he said the man he saw was larger and fairer-complected than Lee. A third witness said he initially lied to police when he told them he had seen the gun go off. He told jurors he was high on pot and wasn't wearing his glasses at the time of the shooting. The prosecution said it is typical for people frightened of gang retaliation to say they lied to police once they get on the stand. Defense lawyers said the contradiction in the stories "speaks volumes to the weakness of the prosecution's case."..... Billy Joe Armstrong won't be prosecuted for baring his butt during a November 21st concert at the Mecca Arena in Milwaukee. The city attorney's office said the indecent exposure case would be hard to prove because stage antics are known to be a part of Green Day's performance. However, chief prosecutor Charles Theis said the city intends to warn concert promoters that such actions in the future probably will be prosecuted..... Before closing arguments took place, a lawyer for Hank Williams Jr. Enterprises in Tennessee moved to voluntarily dismiss a lawsuit seeking $31,000 for damage to the singer's airplane. Attorney Roy Miles argued the airplane was damaged when it was hit by an object thrown by a bush-hog. The suit contended that Tillman C. Paschall III and O.C. Nichols III, who held the grass-mowing contract for the Henry County Airport in June 1994, and Eddie Casey, who did the actual mowing, were negligent. By dropping the lawsuit when it did, Williams' company can still refile at a later date..... About $2.3 million in claims have been filed against the late Jerry Garcia's estate, including one from a high school sweetheart who says he proposed to her in 1992. Barbara Meier claims the Grateful Dead guitarist agreed to pay her $3,000 per month for three years after he broke off their engagement, according to court papers. Meier said she loaned Garcia money for rent and expenses when he was starting his career in the early '60s and even bought him his first 12-string guitar. Meier got all but $21,000 of the $108,000 Garcia promised because the woman he eventually married, Deborah Koons Garcia, cut off payments in May, court documents say. Other claims include one for $2 million from West America Bank and one by Ice Nine Publishing Inc., which says it loaned Garcia $188,745 in 1992 to buy a home.... The Colorado Supreme Court has agreed to hear John Denver's plea to throw out his drunken-driving case. Denver claims a trial would constitute double jeopardy because he already faced an administrative hearing on the incident. The singer was charged with drunken driving in August 1994 after he crashed his Porsche into a tree. Authorities said Denver's blood-alcohol level was .128 more than two hours after the crash. Colorado law says .10 is considered to be driving under the influence. And at the time of the incident, Denver was on probation for an earlier DUI. At the administrative hearing, an examiner refused to revoke the singer's license saying the blood alcohol test was inadmissible because it was taken more than two hours after the accident. A judge then dismissed the DUI charges but another judge later overturned that decision.

Cetera Hits Glitter Gulch

A Smashing Debut Due At 9:30

The 16-year-old 9:30 Club in Washington, D.C., is moving to a new building. Promoter Seth Hurwitz's company, I.M.P., bought and completely gutted the old WUST Radio Music Hall to create a new and improved 9:30 Club while preserving the club's long-standing character of being at the forefront of new artist development. At the new building, it was important to keep the intimacy of the old 300-capacity club, Hurwitz told POLLSTAR. But at the same time, the club didn't want to lose bigger acts. With the stage, sound and lights on motorized tracks, the new building is designed as a 500-capacity room that can be expanded up to 1,200-capacity as needed. "It is not, and I emphasize this, a large room that gets cut down," Hurwitz said. "The main thing we did not ever want to have was a cut down room ... We think this will be the best club ever built." The grand opening of the new 9:30 is scheduled for January 5th and 6th with the Smashing Pumpkins. Other acts booked for the opening month include Tony Bennett, Fugazi, They Might Be Giants and the Mighty Mighty Bosstones. December has become a farewell month for the old building with acts that have played at the 9:30 for years including Helmet, Shawn Colvin, GWAR, and Rev. Horton Heat making one last visit. The old building officially closes New Year's Eve. Hurwitz said it's sad to leave the building, famous for its rats and smell, but "it's kind of like a pair of old shoes that you've had for years, you love and they're very comfortable but then they start to wear out and it's time to buy a new pair."

Obituaries

David Knight, 50, died of cancer November 19th in Los Angeles. Among his varied career positions, Knight was talent booker at the Starwood club in Hollywood from '73-'78. In 1979, he and Jerry Brandt opened The Ritz in New York and from 1980-82, Knight booked talent at The Savoy in NYC for Ron Delsener. From late '92 until last summer, Knight was a VP at the MCM International Group where he helped coordinate the global broadcast rights to events like Woodstock '94. Most recently, he and partner Paul King had formed a new event promotion company.... Greg Alliapoulos, 42, died at his home in Los Angeles November 24th from AIDS-related complications. Alliapoulos, a veteran manager and publicist, joined JoAnn Geffen & Associates as a VP in 1985. In '89, he founded Greg Alliapoulos & Associates representing clients John Stamos, Dave Koz and others. He also served as manager for Chaka Khan from '88 to '92.... Record producer David Briggs, 51, died November 25th of lung cancer at his home in San Francisco. He was best known for his 26-year association with Neil Young for whom he produced 18 albums. Briggs also worked with other artists including Alice Cooper and Nils Lofgren in the late '60s and worked more recently with contemporary artists such as Royal Trux.... Actress Roxie Roker, 66, best known as Helen Willis from "The Jeffersons" and as Lenny Kravitz's mom, died of cancer December 2nd in Los Angeles. Roker's character on "The Jeffersons" was one of the first black women on TV in an interracial marriage. Kravitz had recently postponed a number of upcoming concert dates because of her illness.

We are pleased to announce the signing of Janis Ian and Boston-based singer/songwriter Martin Sexton to our roster. /// Agent Lawrence Lazare is leaving the agency this month for computer-related pursuits. We're glad to welcome Lynn Zampino to our staff. She will oversee the Midwest and Southeast. /// Dar Williams completed a successful tour of Europe opening for Joan Baez. Dar will join Joan again in February/March before doing her own album release tour in April. /// Ani DiFranco will be in the studio working on her eighth release for her own Righteous Babe Records in early '96. She'll tour in support of the album in the South/Southeast in February, eastern U.S./Canada in early spring, and western U.S./Canada in early summer. /// The "On A Winter's Night" bill of John Gorka, Patty Larkin, Cheryl Wheeler and Cliff Eberhardt have decided to do some shows as "On A Summer's Night" and have limited avails in August. /// There are a few avails for the East Coast tours of June Tabor in March and Dougie MacLean in April. /// Wolfstone's new album is due for a spring release with summer festivals in the works. We'll also see new albums in the first half of 1996 from John Gorka, Garnet Rogers and Connie Kaldor. /// In the funny business corner, Second City will be touring this coming spring through fall with "Truth, Justice, or the American Way." Capitol Steps' calendar is filling up, especially just prior to the November election. /// Our friend and client, Utah Phillips, has retired from the road. His doctor advised him that his heart was too weak to take the continued stress of touring. When Utah was told, unknown to him, that he had apparently had a heart attack some time ago, his response was: "It must have been some lousy day, to miss a heart attack."

After 13 years, the amazing Les Dudek is promoting a new album, Deeper Shades Of Blues, and tour aptly named "Getterdun." Les Dudek has southern avails through March 1st and is taking West Coast offers for May-June. /// "The Making Blues History Tour '96" featuring John Lee Hooker's keyboard player, the zippy Deacon Jones, and Cold Blood's Lydia Pense is taking West Coast and Northwest offers through March and South to Southeast for summer dates. /// The sizzling Blindside Blues Band is launching its first national tour in February to promote its new album, Messenger The Blues, on the Blues Bureau label. The group boasts a rhythm section of former Badlands members Jeff Martin and Greg Chaisson. /// Jon Butcher's Barefoot Servants are on tour, after a 1995 layoff, working on the new album and tour entitled Positively The Blues. The band is looking for West Coast dates through February and eastern dates in the late spring/early summer. /// D.V.O.C. is Aynsley Dunbar, Mike Varney, Michael Onesko and Mark Chole. They call themselves a "Power Blues Band" and are available for bookings.

HERSCHEL FREEMAN AGENCY

Native American flutist R. Carlos Nakai has just surpassed the 2 million record sales mark. For 1996-97, Nakai is available for solo concerts, a Christmas show with guitarist William Eaton and with the "Feather, Stone and Light" trio of Nakai, Eaton and percussionist Will Clipman. /// The Klezmatics are featured on Yitzhak Perlman's PBS special about Klezmer music which is currently airing. Klezmatics' fiddler Alicia Svigals just completed playing on the Page/Plant tour. The group will be in the Southwest and West Coast in February and are looking for summer festivals and concerts. /// Ireland's Sharon Shannon, fresh off her most successful U.S. tour this fall, will be going into the studio in February but will return in May/June for a festival concert tour. /// Finland's Vartina is also recording this spring and will return for a festival tour this July/August and a concert tour in November.

ENTERTAINMENT IS OUR BUSINESS.

/// We have several Celtic tours this winter/spring. Reeltime from Ireland will be returning February 16th - March 17th. Arcady, featuring vocalist Niamh Parsons, will tour March 1-17. "Celtic Fiddle Festival II," the second version of the successful master tour, will tour April 11th - May 5th. Irish "supergroup" Patrick Street will be touring May 2-26 in support of its new Green Linnet album. /// Cajun legend D.L. Menard is playing selected dates and is available for February Mardi Gras shows. /// Slack key guitar master Keola Beamer, following the success of the "Hawaiian Music and Dance Festival" tour, is now accepting solo dates in support of his Dancing Cat album, Tales From The Dream Guitar.

BSO: Brad Simon

Shining Time Station - Live! featuring "Thomas the Tank Engine" continues to do great box office. The fast-paced musical adaptation of this popular daily PBS children's series is a major hit with family audiences. There are still a few prime weekend dates available in early '96. Please check this week's route book. /// We are delighted to announce the exclusive representation of Marc Weiner's Weinerville Live. The touring show is based on his daily Cable Ace Award-winning children's program on Nickelodeon. Whether bringing his unusual half-man/half-puppets to the stage or assuming the role of one of his unique characters on "Saturday Night Live," Marc captivates his audience and always leaves them laughing. A new Weinerville Chanukah Special will air on Nickelodeon December 14th. The show will be touring throughout 1996.

Between The Dates

- The first string of rescheduled dates for the RED HOT CHILI PEPPERS have been announced. The Peppers were going to be the big fall tour of '95 before drummer Chad Smith broke his left wrist while playing baseball. The Flaming Lips and silverchair were set to support on the fall tour, and at press time silverchair was firm for the new dates and The Flaming Lips were a "maybe." See Route Book for the new dates.
- Lights! Camera! Courtney!... Courtney? COURTNEY LOVE is reportedly set to make the move to the silver screen. The widow Cobain will play Hustler magazine founder, Larry Flint's late wife in an upcoming film bio. Woody Harrelson is set to star as Flint. Ms. Love will play Althea, who was "discovered" by Flint when she was a 17-year-old runaway. Althea was a drug addict and was infected with the AIDS virus when she drowned to death at the age of 33.
- MEAT LOAF, who was originally scheduled to hit the road in January, has now rescheduled his tour for mid 1996 after the completion of his European dates.
- Will Garthmania happen again in 1996? GARTH BROOKS' first string of U.S. dates since 1994 will start in March. Expect dates to be confirmed and tickets to go on sale in early January. However, one date has been announced — Garth is confirmed for Cheyenne, Wyoming's 100th annual Frontier Days on July 22. Other performers appearing during the week-long festival include Vince Gill, George Strait, Wynonna, Randy Travis and Kathy Mattea.
- A couple of U.S. dates for ROD STEWART went on sale last week, with one of them being a special pre-Super Bowl performance in Phoenix. Whether the two dates mark the beginning of a U.S. tour for Rod is anyone's guess. During 1995, dates were put on sale, postponed, rescheduled, then finally cancelled because Stewart reportedly decided that he just didn't want to do a U.S. tour at that time.
- BOB SEGER will kick off his first tour since 1987 at the No. Charleston Coliseum on January 19th. See Route Book for the dates.
- Three of the most popular ladies in country music will team up for a 33 city tour starting in May. With corporate sponsorship from Kraft Foods, the tour by LORRIE MORGAN, PAM TILLIS and CARLENE CARTER will help benefit Second Harvest, the national food bank network. Expect tour dates to be announced within the next couple of weeks.
- Sony 550 Music's FOR SQUIRRELS has decided to regroup as a trio following the tragic deaths of bassist Bill White and vocalist Jack Vigliatura in an automobile accident. Guitarist Travis Tooke and drummer Jack Greigo have recruited bassist Andy Lord and Tooke will take on Vigliatura's lead vocal duties. The Sony 550 Music group's debut release has been getting airplay action and the new lineup will reportedly make its debut at SxSW in March.
- Russia's Beer Lovers Party hopes to lure MICHAEL JACKSON to Moscow to perform just prior to the December 17th parliamentary election campaign. But don't book your Aeroflot tickets just yet. The political party has offered to finance a Russian tour by the King Of Pop to the tune of $17,500. With more than 40 parties, blocs and movements fighting for electoral attention, Russian politicians are making every effort to attract voters, especially the disaffected youth. Prime Minister Viktor Chernomyrdin's party has already sponsored concerts by MC HAMMER and guitarist GLENN HUGHES. The Beer Lover's party considers itself an alternative to mainstream politics. One of its campaign themes is: "If you're sick of them, vote for us." MJ, a nondrinker, has not formally said nyet to the offer.

U.K. News Report

GERMAN PROMOTERS have united with British agents in their opposition to new withholding TAX LAWS which will cost touring artists a third of their income when they tour Germany. As one of the largest European touring markets, the industry will be severely affected if the German government goes ahead with plans to implement the new program on January 1st. The new tax will be levied on gross earnings at a rate of around 30% with no tax deductible production costs. The general opinion is that artists will not want to play Germany if it means losing one third of their income in taxes. A meeting of British agents and managers is taking place in London, and German promoters are meeting with their ministry of finance on December 11 to discuss the problem. NEIL WARNOCK at The Agency has co-ordinated the London meeting to appeal to the Department of Trade and Industry to represent them at the European Parliament and get the tax overturned. Warnock told POLLSTAR, "There is no tax anywhere else like this. Nobody is opposed to paying tax as long as it is levied on a fair and equitable basis. This is an untenable situation." Warnock says he has had an overwhelming response from other agents and promoters who want to oppose the legislation. "I am absolutely certain that if they are unable to do anything about this, every single artist will refuse to tour Germany." German promoters are worried about the affect on their business. They have been campaigning since earlier this year. Klaus Boenisch of Mama Concerts expressed his concern about the new tax and says they will be asking for the government to make production costs tax deductible. This latest meeting with the German department of finance is effectively the last chance for the government to change its mind.

The latest big open air announcement is THE EAGLES. It's one of those tours which has been heavily anticipated for about two years now and Harvey Goldsmith Entertainments was due to go on sale December 8th with a Wembley Stadium show for the Eagles. The date is next July - a week after the Three Tenors perform there, which will also be promoted by Harvey Goldsmith. The stadium format will keep the same 55,000 all-seated configuration as for the tenors, with the stage located crossways in front of the Royal box.

Another new concert announcement from Harvey's is WOODY ALLEN, who will play the Royal Festival Hall with his jazz band. Ticket sales are going very well for this one-off show. It will be Allen's first musical visit to these shores and agent Ian Flooks at Fair Warning Wasted Talent has booked a full 20-date European tour.

MORRISSEY has been forced to drop out of his support slot for David Bowie due to a "mystery illness". The remaining four dates on Bowie's tour went ahead with different opening acts each night. Morrissey is still expected to continue as Bowie's support act on the continuing leg of his European tour. A spokesman says it is hoped that he will have recovered in time to resume the tour on January 17.

DAVID BOWIE gave the new Ogden-run NEWCASTLE ARENA its rock and roll inauguration on December 7, followed by BLUR the next evening. The arena opened with a basketball game, but most of the event days in this first month will be concerts. Newcastle has shows by Rod Stewart, M People, Joe Satriani, Wet Wet Wet, Madness, Beautiful South and Gary Glitter all taking place before Christmas and family shows with the Power Rangers and Nutcracker On Ice will play the arena before the new year.

PAUL WELLER wound up his sell-out UK tour which sold over 70,000 tickets, with a phenomenal four consecutive nights at Brixton Academy. At the last two shows, Noel Gallagher of Oasis did a solo-acoustic support slot, bringing together two generations of British music. Weller has had a brilliant year and although he has never really gone away from the scene, in business terms he has made a massive comeback, gaining a whole new audience of 14-year-olds to go with the fans he has had since 1977. Agent Martin Hopewell, who has also been with Weller since '77, is looking at more touring plans for 1996.

Neil Warnock has signed up THE CRANBERRIES for European representation and is working on a tour which will start next April.

LOUIS PARKER, managing director of CONCORDE AGENCY, has responded angrily to the departure of three members of his staff to MPI. He claims the agents are still under contract to Concorde until the end of December and is disputing the representation of some of the acts said to have followed them to MPI. He told POLLSTAR: "I have still 19 people in my office who are forging ahead and we have lost nothing."
