ICM May Tap Promoter As New Booking Chief

Sources indicate ICM topper Jeff Berg is on the verge of naming Louis Messina to the worldwide head of music position formerly held by Bill Elson. Messina interviewed for the position several weeks ago and an offer is reportedly on the table. Sources say an agreement could be wrapped up by the time you read this. Messina was unavailable to comment but if the deal goes through, he would be the first major concert promoter ever hired to run a major booking agency. Messina started Pace Concerts in 1975 and built it into one of the top five concert promotion companies in America. He is an equity owner in Pace and would have to divest his interests in order to take a position with ICM. Sources familiar with the situation predict that Messina, or whoever ultimately takes the position, will likely be based in Los Angeles in what may signify a shifting of booking authority and staffing from East Coast to West Coast. Berg and other top ICM execs are based in Los Angeles. Elson was based in New York but had maintained offices on both coasts.

The U2 Tour

The strange details behind the bidding war for next year's U2 tour continue to emerge. A number of offers were presented to manager Paul McGuinness and from those, two "finalists" were selected and invited to Dublin to make presentations to the band. The two finalists were a consortium of Premier Talent Agency, Metropolitan/Ogden, Harvey Goldsmith and Marek Lieberberg and one consisting of CAA and Bill Graham Presents. On about March 9th, the two groups went to Dublin and made their pitches. But on March 28th, a fax from McGuinness stunned both finalists. Michael Cohl had been selected and the band wanted him to work with CAA on the upcoming tour; BGP was not part of the plan. The forced pairing of Cohl and CAA has produced an awkward situation for both parties and one which may or may not hold together. Premier Talent, which had been with U2 since its very beginnings in America, was left out of the picture. Premier's Frank Barsalona told POLLSTAR, "We assembled a tremendous team and made a strong presentation to Paul and the band. We were told we were one of two finalists and Cohl and the other bidders had been eliminated. We now find out that was all bullshit. Quiet honestly, none of this makes any sense. And despite what you may have read elsewhere, neither finalist was ever given an opportunity to rebid. After we and the CAA/BGP team made our proposals, I think Paul flew off to Toronto and obviously showed Cohl both our proposals. Our numbers were based on 50,000 capacity per show as instructed. I've not seen Cohl's proposal but I understand his was based on 57,000 and that's where he got the extra $15 million to up his offer." When asked about why U2 decided to abandon the traditional agents and local promoters it had always worked with and why the two "finalists" were told Cohl's bid was dead, U2 manager Paul McGuinness told POLLSTAR he would not confirm or deny anything about the tour. "There is a question of client confidentiality here and I don't see why people expect U2 to reveal the deals that they do.... I don't discuss my clients' affairs in public. I don't want to be unhelpful but it's private." McGuinness went on to say, "Obviously, we have an album to complete before we commit to a tour. But the album's going very well and I expect it in July. At that stage, we can hit the button and green light the tour." Ian Flocks of Fair Warning Wasted Talent, who has been U2's agent in Europe for many years, said, "It's been regularly acknowledged from within the U2 camp that Frank Barsalona, Barbara Skydel and I have represented U2 very well over the last 18 years. It's therefore

Jars of Clay

Christian musicians have had tremendous successes within their essentially separate industry yet many accomplished Christian acts have difficulty crossing over to reach the secular audience. Jars Of Clay is a definite exception. This Christian rock band is charting on both adult alternative and modern rock radio charts. Jars' video for its first single, "Flood," was named best new artist clip at the 1995 Billboard Music Video awards and the band has been featured on MTV, VH1 and it also landed on Hits' "Vibe-Raters" chart.

The band's success in the Christian music field is practically unmatched. A list of awards ranging from New Artist of the Year by the Christian Research Report to a ton of Dove Award nominations are just the tip of the iceberg for this band that can easily be mistaken for a secular pop band.

Matt Odmark, Jars' guitarist and background vocalist, told POLLSTAR the potential for the band to be labeled a Christian crossover act makes its members a little uneasy at times. He said, "There has been this kind of stereotype in mainstream and alternative music against Christian music; some of it's deserved. So there's definitely this hesitation when people want to label us that way." Odmark said at the same time, being labeled a crossover Christian band is an honor because it is virtually unprecedented in some people's eyes.

With or without a Christian foundation, many bands project heavy messages in their music. Odmark said he's noticed in the '90s, there is a lot more music with some lyrical depth, especially in the alternative genre. "Artists have a desire to say something more than just write a pop song," he said. "I listen mainly to alternative modern rock stations and a lot of what you see is deep lyrics and artists that want to say something. But most of what they have to say is pretty bleak and pretty hopeless."

Odmark said Jars is in the unique position where it can offer something that's true and genuine in its lyrics; and the band has something to say that's not so bleak. Whether or not you agree with the band's religion, the jangly pop music can definitely be uplifting. In fact, some people need a few listens before they realize the positive message is the word of the Lord.

The members of Jars Of Clay — Odmark, Dan Haseltine (lead vocals), Stephen Mason (guitar, bass and vocals) and Charlie Lowell (synthesizer, organ, piano, vocals) — formed the band out of strong friendships. When they started jamming, it was simply because they enjoyed making music together; they never had any intention of pursuing a career in music. But after they won a new band contest sponsored by the Gospel Music Association, it became apparent that people wanted to hear their music. Label interest began to surface and the band, now based in Nashville, decided not to pass on the opportunity.

But making a name in the music business was never a life-long priority for Jars. "A lot of us have a lot of other things that we'd like to do someday," Odmark said. "I think that all of us really felt like we never needed to be on MTV or to have a hit record. In fact, we never were even really dreaming of it or chasing after it that hard." However, Odmark said as long as it's obvious the band's music is being appreciated by the public, the members will continue to record and tour.

Living in Nashville, Jars began to get attention from some serious industry players — specifically John Huie who has long had his hands in both the secular and Christian music industries. "He heard our original demo before we even inked our record deal," Odmark said of Huie, who is now the band's responsible agent. "He was excited about what we were doing even at that point. But we knew at the outset of our career that John was probably gonna be a little out of our league but ... we continued to try and keep in touch with him as things were going along, hoping that maybe someday it would make sense for us to work together." That day came about a year ago. Rendy Lovelady Management rounds out the business team.

Jars ultimately decided to sign with Essential Records to record its self-titled debut. Silvertone Records picked up that CD for release to the secular market. The album features veteran guitarist Adrian Belew, who produced two tracks, "Flood" and "Liquid," for the release. Belew, who now lives in Nashville, also contributed guitar tracks to the songs.

Today, the band is far from the recording studio. It has been supporting its debut release on a very successful, extensive outing with Michael W. Smith, playing arenas across the U.S. since early February. Odmark said the band has had a great time on the tour but he and his band mates are looking forward to doing something a little more intimate, like maybe a club or theatre tour. The band is also interested in touring with secular acts. "We're open to working with any band, be it a Christian or secular act, as long as it feels like the right band and a good match," Odmark said. "There would be lots of bands that [match] musically. [For example], it would be a pleasure to share the stage with bands like the Dave Matthews Band or Collective Soul."

Now that Jars of Clay is making its mark in the sometimes slimy secular rock world, how can they be sure the Christian message doesn't get lost? Odmark said, "From the very nature of how our career began — who we are and how ridiculous it seems that we're even in the position that we are — we, as a band, really do feel like ... it's been the Lord's work that has brought us to this point. And a large part of who we are is our background in Christianity and those beliefs. So we feel like if we're continuing to put ourselves in situations that allow us to be who we are and we feel like we're able to express that, our music will continue to express [our Christian beliefs]. As soon as we feel like we have to be somebody other than who we are in order to maintain this career ... then it's lost its value and its interest." ★ difficult to understand the impulse to change, especially to Michael Cohl, given the current questions about his business practices." Cohl is under investigation in Toronto over allegations he may have misled numerous artists (including U2) about the collection of non-existent local taxes for shows at the CNE. Cohl has vehemently denied any wrongdoing and has threatened to file a lawsuit against the Toronto paper that raised the allegations. The loss of the U2 tour is especially hard for Barsalona and Premier which had booked the band since the days when Bono used to take turns behind the wheel of the band's rented van. To help break the act in America, Barsalona even took the unusual step of calling in favors from radio programmers to get them to give early U2 records a chance. When asked why he thought the band might have opted for a change, Barsalona could only guess it related to the fact that the band did not make much, if any, money on its last tour. "I sent them two wires advising them I was concerned about the money they were spending on production. It was brilliant but very expensive. They wanted a politically correct ticket price, which for them at the time was under $30, and they didn't want to use a corporate sponsor. We took a quick look at the tour budgets and became worried that the band could actually lose money on stadium sellouts. We asked them to consider doing something but nothing happened. In America, they did end up making some money but I understand that the expenses in Europe and the Far East were much higher." Barsalona said, "I'm proud of what U2 has done. They are a wonderful act and I'm really pleased we were part of their success. I'm sorry it had to end like this because I really can't understand why."

Nothing Tragic About It

No Doubt's "Tragic Kingdom" was a little less tragic recently as the band happily accepted plaques certifying the album's newly-found gold status. The plaques found their way down the road and into the arms of the rightful owners after No Doubt's performance at Tingley Coliseum in Albuquerque. Pictured (L-R) are the band's Tom Dumont and Gwen Stefani, Trauma Records' Paul Palmer and Rob Kahane, the band's Tony Kanal, Interscope's Ted Field and the band's devilish member, Adrian Young.

A Monster Move

Gabe Bloom left Atomic Music Group to start his own agency, Monster Talent, based in Los Angeles. Agents Jon Finberg and Dean Van Lith have also parted ways with Atomic to join Bloom in his new venture. Bloom told POLLSTAR, "I've taken all the clients that I represented when I left F.B.I. as well as any of the bands that I signed when I was at Atomic. So we've got quite an extensive roster." The initial client list includes Butt Trumpet, Paladins, Stuck Mojo, The Untouchables, Alice Donut, Candye Kane, DOA, Machine Head, and Buck-O-Nine. Monster Talent is located at 5152 Sepulveda Blvd., Suite 203, Sherman Oaks, Calif., 91403. Phone (818) 787-9282, fax (818) 787-9283.

Mall Rap Riot

Two men speeding away from thousands of rioters outside an Oakland rap concert featuring Tha Dogg Pound died when their car plowed through a fence and smashed into an empty school building. Saul Beltram, 24, of Hayward and Daniel Thrower, 21, of Oakland were traveling at 100 mph when they slammed into the Sister Clara Mohammed School in east Oakland, police said. Their two passengers were in stable condition. A resident who witnessed the riot outside the Eastmont Pavilion shopping mall said she heard gunshots and saw cars spinning donuts in the street. Frustrated concert-goers were blamed for the incident. "Security was trying to search everyone going in the door and [fans] couldn't get in fast enough," promoter Sundjata Kone said. He said off-duty police officers hired to patrol the Pavilion parking lot failed to control traffic during the melee. For three hours, rioters threw rocks and bottles at police officers and passing cars. Several women also had their clothes ripped off during the ruckus. Rioters also surrounded a fire station across from the shopping center. The station was taken out of service during the melee, fire officials said. Pavilion spokesman Bob Bridwell said the mall would review the incident to determine ways to prevent a recurrence before allowing another rap concert.

Golfing Is No Bluff For Gill

Vince Gill had a chance to enjoy his two favorite pastimes during his March 21st visit to Arkansas. Not only did he get to perform in front of a sold-out crowd at the Pine Bluff Convention Center, but he got to practice his putting backstage after the gig. Seen presenting Gill with a new putter is the venue's executive director, Steve Arrison.

Short Items Of Note

The Red Roper Country Center survived the devastating tornados that ripped apart downtown Ft. Smith, Ark., last week. A club spokesperson said the 800-capacity nightclub wasn't damaged and remained open and active. A Nazareth concert held there last week sold out and a dollar from each ticket was donated to the Red Cross..... The Entertainment Insurance Agency has announced a new business alliance with EMAR Group of New York/New Jersey. The alliance is intended to give EIA's Florida and Los Angeles facilities a stronger New York area presence..... The Kansas City, Mo., City Council has passed $20 million in bonds to expand and refurbish Kemper Arena and Municipal Auditorium. Kemper will add 1,500 new seats bringing capacity up to 20,000. A new lobby, concourse and additional women's restrooms will be among the improvements. Municipal Auditorium improvements will include all new riser seating on the floor level, new restrooms and ADA-related improvements. The $20 million in bonds will be financed by an increased user fee on tickets for events at the two facilities. Both venues will remain operational throughout the construction process..... In yet another run-in with the law, Bobby Brown was arrested on drunken driving charges April 22nd. Police said a woman was in the car with the singer when he was stopped at around 3 a.m. — and it wasn't Whitney. Brown allegedly admitted he had been drinking but refused to take a breath test. Apparently, he had difficulty performing other sobriety tests. When police read him his rights, Brown reportedly became hostile and belligerent. He was taken to jail and released on bail later that day..... Martin Lawrence was hit with a $3 million lawsuit by a disc jockey who claims he was hit in the head with a champagne bottle after proposing a toast at Lawrence's bachelor party in 1995. Fentreal Ferebee, who filed the suit in Circuit Court in Virginia Beach, Va., contends he required stitches in his head after he was hit with the bottle. Police said they did not believe Lawrence was involved in the incident and no one was charged.

Pros On The Move

Alien Booking founder Richard Levy has joined Atlanta-based Concert/Southern Promotions as vice president. Levy will primarily be involved in promoting shows in theatres and arenas across the Southeast. He will also book The Point as an exclusive venue for the house of Cooley and Conlin and will be involved in booking the Cotton Club. In its three-year existence, Alien Booking has been responsible for putting together national tours for artists such as Low Pop Suicide, Dillon Fence and Sky Cries Mary, as well as booking several Atlanta venues such as The Point. Alien Booking will continue to exist as an artist management firm for the bands Starbilly and Skirt..... Ted Kurland Associates has promoted Panos Panay to full agent. Panay, a native of Cyprus, has been with the Boston-based company for the past two years assisting with the booking and coordination of European tours..... O'Keefe Centre general manager Elizabeth Bradley's contract has been extended two years and she has also been named CEO of the Toronto venue. Bradley joined the O'Keefe Centre in 1991 as programme and development manager.

Bronfman Makes Biondi Head Of MCA

Former Viacom Chief Frank J. Biondi Jr. was named head of MCA Inc. April 23rd after being released from a noncompete clause by his former boss, Viacom Chairman Sumner Redstone. Since acquiring MCA last June, Seagram's Edgar Bronfman Jr. .... (Continued Page 8) needed to replace the longest running management team in the entertainment business: Lew Wasserman and Sidney J. Sheinberg. Biondi, who was CEO of Viacom from 1987 until January, has the experience in the entertainment industry that Bronfman needed to fill the gap at the top of the company. He will work with No. 2 executive Ron Meyer to oversee Universal Studios films, TV productions, theme parks, MCA and Geffen Records, as well as MCA's publishing and concert interests. Biondi, who was reportedly fired from Viacom for his "less-than-aggressive" management style, was in the middle of a prolonged standoff between Redstone and Bronfman. Redstone had reportedly been looking for concessions from MCA in order to allow Biondi out of his one-year noncompete clause. But Bronfman apparently stood firm and Redstone eventually agreed to waive the clause unconditionally.

Browne At Bryce

The Bryce Jordan Center at Penn State University thanked Jackson Browne and Vonda Shepard for including a March 29th show at the venue during its debut season. (L-R) Shepard, promoter Jack Utsick and Browne.

Bernard Edwards

Record producer, composer and bassist Bernard Edwards, 43, died in Tokyo April 18th. Edwards, a co-founder of the disco band Chic, was found dead in his hotel room by band mate Nile Rodgers. Edwards had complained of feeling ill but the cause of death was undetermined. Edwards and Rodgers formed Chic and hit big in the late '70s with the songs "Le Freak" and "Good Times." After Chic broke up in 1982, Edwards went on to produce Diana Ross, Sister Sledge, Robert Palmer and Rod Stewart. He had just completed work on the latest album by Power Station. Chic reunited in 1992, released the album Chic-ism and had been doing concerts in Japan at the time of his death.

Manny Greenhill

Folklore agency founder Manuel "Manny" Greenhill, 80, died of heart failure April 14th in Los Angeles. Greenhill was a versatile music businessman, starting out as a concert presenter in Boston in the late '50s and serving as an artist manager as well as an agent. Greenhill worked with many legendary artists including Lightin' Hopkins, Odetta, Bob Dylan and Mahalia Jackson. His management clients included Pete Seeger, Joan Baez and Doc Watson. "Manny was committed to a political world view," said son Mitchell Greenhill. While working with Baez, the elder Greenhill marched with the singer in Selma, Ala., and insisted the seating at her concerts be racially integrated in southern states where that practice was then illegal. Greenhill moved Folklore to California in 1976. Mitchell, who runs Folklore, said his father had not been actively working as an agent during the past few years, choosing to work on music publishing instead.

Deep Pockets Live

Live has been named in a $30,000 lawsuit accusing the band's stage manager of punching a college student last summer. Matthew Raley, 25, said he and a friend met Live singer Ed Kowalczyk and stage manager Matthew Gracey last July at The Gingerbread Man in York, Pa. Gracey and Kowalczyk dared Raley's friend to throw a table off the restaurant's balcony into a creek and when Raley's friends took them up on the dare, a bouncer threw him out, Raley's lawyer Jack Elliott said. Elliott said when Raley left the restaurant, Gracey punched him in the mouth and opened up a cut that required stitches in his lip. Raley's face now has a permanent scar, the lawyer said. Raley said he isn't seeking publicity by suing Live. "I just got hit in the face by somebody and I want to be compensated for it," he said. "I wish I hadn't even gone out that night." Representatives of Live's management companies had no comment.

Branson Faces Sexual Harassment Charge

A former employee is suing Virgin empire founder Richard Branson for sexual harassment. The suit was filed in Manhattan federal court by Elizabeth Hlinko, a former public relations manager for Virgin Atlantic Airways. The suit also charges the airline and Virgin executive VP David Tait with discrimination leading to Hlinko's dismissal in July 1995. Hlinko claims that Branson fondled her breasts and made other unwelcome sexual advances towards Hlinko in front of other employees and guests during a press event at Branson's estate in May 1994. The suit alleges that Tait discriminated against Hlinko by underpaying her, denying her information necessary to her job and preventing her from traveling to events related to her work. Tait is also accused of harassing and publicly ridiculing Hlinko. According to the suit, she was replaced by a man with much less public relations . . . . . (Continued Page 11)

U.K. News Report

■ The big event announcement of the week has confirmed those reunion rumours about THE WHO. Under the banner of the "MasterCard Masters of Music Concert for The Prince's Trust," Pete Townshend will present Quadrophenia, with Roger Daltrey in the lead role and John Entwistle playing with 20 other musicians - well, it's probably about as close as The Who will get to reforming. Zak Starkey, who got his first drum kit from the late Keith Moon, will be behind the skins that night. The event on June 29 will be the first major rock show to take place in Hyde Park since Queen played there in 1976. The site capacity will be a record-breaking 150,000; about 145,000 tickets will be general admission and 5,000 will be corporate hospitality. Despite reports that ERIC CLAPTON was taking the summer off, he has been confirmed as headliner for the day, with BOB DYLAN and ALANIS MORISSETTE also appearing and other artists to be announced. The show has a double role as the biggest event to be staged in the four-year history of National Music Day, plus, the proceeds raised will be in aid of The Prince's Trust charity. The tickets are priced at the bargain rate of £8 and the show will be filmed for worldwide television broadcast. It comes as no surprise that Harvey Goldsmith is behind the show. Doubling up as event producer and promoter, he stated: "I've waited 20 years to have the opportunity to present a major rock event in Hyde Park, and this event captures the essence of the National Music Festival. London is the biggest ticket-selling city in the world for music and I'm delighted that MasterCard has come on board to allow this event to happen." The production brings together Unusual Staging, Jonathan Parke as set designer, Tom Kenny as lighting designer and Mick Double as production manager.

■ The Hyde Park event will be paired with another major musical MasterCard sponsorship. As part of the Euro '96 celebrations SIMPLY RED will headline an all-day event at the 60,000 capacity Old Trafford football ground in Manchester. Other artists on the bill are still to be confirmed.

■ OASIS have got two potential lawsuits on their hands as Ignition Management prepare to initiate legal action against a former crew member for a "kiss-and-tell" book about the band, and against a new, unofficial fanclub. The band's former security co-ordinator, Ian Robertson, has written a book, "What's The Story", due to be published in June and if the excerpts in the News of The World, are anything to go by, he has gone for the sex, drugs, and rock and roll angle in no uncertain terms. The band reacted swiftly to the excerpt which appeared in the Sunday tabloid, denying all the allegations of drug abuse, violence and sexual escapades in a statement which said they were "deeply shocked and saddened and were seeking legal action." Robertson reportedly worked with the band for a year and according to the statement, was allegedly fired during the 1995 tour "following several warnings regarding cocaine and alcohol abuse whilst on duty, including an incident when he participated in the trashing of a hotel room in Atlanta and the verbal abuse of a female record company executive." The final straw was a drunken argument ending in fisticuffs with one of the Gallagher brothers. Insiders say that the band were not surprised that Robertson has reacted in this way. The course of legal action to be taken has yet to be confirmed. Meanwhile, an unofficial fanclub is battling to stay afloat after Oasis threatened legal action to close it down. Oasis FC stands accused of exploiting fans as it has been set up without any authorisation from band or management. "The group would never give their support to any organisation which would attempt to profiteer from Oasis fans by charging for information and services that are already available," said a statement issued by Creation Records. But Oasis FC is planning to fight back.

■ With barely 10 days to go until the Mean Fiddler's TRIBAL GATHERING, event organiser Melvyn Benn was still waiting for a license appeal hearing. Due to take place on April 24, the date for the hearing has been put back twice in the past two weeks in what looks like delaying tactics on the part of those opposed to the event. The license was initially refused on the grounds of noise pollution and traffic congestion - although the noise pollution has been resolved, the issue of traffic is being negotiated with the local police force. The 30,000 capacity event, due to take place on May 4 sold out weeks ago.

■ New AGENCY SIGNINGS this week are Amanda Marshall to Andrew Leighton-Pope at LPO and ex-St. Etienne singer, Sarah Cracknell, to Rupert Tracy at MPI.

■ EUROPEAN FESTIVAL UPDATE: La Iguana Internacional in Spain is promoting a new festival, FESTIMAD (May 3-4) near Madrid.

experience. Hlinko is seeking unspecified compensatory and punitive damages, back pay and reinstatement. During the opening of the Virgin superstore in NYC April 23rd, Branson told reporters he expected the suit to be thrown out of court within two months. "To allege something happened when my wife was present, my parents were present and a lot of the world's press were present...., it has taken her a long time to come forward about it." A Virgin Atlantic lawyer said the suit was the work of a disgruntled employee and is totally false.

Academy Of Country Music Awards

Brooks & Dunn took home the top "Hat" honor of entertainers of the year — and duet of the year — at the 31st annual ACM Awards broadcast April 24th from the Universal Amphitheatre. Shania Twain continued her award-winning streak taking album and best new female singer of the year honors. Other winners at the ceremony included Bryan White as new male singer and Lonestar as new group. The nightclub of the year award went to the Crazy Horse Steak House & Saloon in Santa Ana, Calif., while George Moffett of Variety Attractions took the talent buyer/promoter of the year award. A special achievement award was presented to Jeff Foxworthy and the Pioneer Award was bestowed upon Merle Haggard.

PBS To Go "On Tour"

"On Tour" is a new weekly concert television series that will be filmed at venues all across the country. Beginning in June, "On Tour" will air Saturday nights on public television with full scale crews on the road filming entire concert performances. "On Tour," with its animated host, will feature only a small portion of each live performance so as not to hurt the potential ticket sales for the artist. The show has gathered an experienced team to launch the series. On board are producer John Diaz, who has produced concert specials for HBO, MTV and the BBC; executive producer Tim Nye is the founder of the Sunshine Interactive Network; and talent coordinator Sam Brumbaugh has been the talent buyer for the Middle East Club in Cambridge, Mass., and a founding partner of SonicNet, one of the most popular alternative music sites on the World Wide Web. The program is being underwritten by AT&T. "On Tour" says it has secured initial commitments from artists such as Sting, Smashing Pumpkins, Spacehog, No Doubt, Sheryl Crow, Cypress Hill, Joan Osborne, the Cranberries, Bush, Gin Blossoms and many more.

Is The Color Purple Actually Red?

Prince's Paisley Park studio complex has been shuttered for what was described as updating but appears more like downsizing. Most of the company's staff was laid off recently and previously booked studio time has been cancelled. A spokesperson for the Purple One said the studios will be closed until mid-June for a company reorganization. "He's upgrading the facility. He wants to have everything up to speed," publicist Kirsten Poe said. Engineer/producer Tom Tucker, who formerly worked as Paisley's director of studio operations for five years, said he has seen this turn of events coming for a while. "[Prince] let his band go last month.... He's been talking about making big changes, wiping the slate clean and starting over. He's always trying new people; it's part of his deal."

Between The Dates

Yeah, those Detroiters sure ate up those KISS tickets. About 38,000 tickets were sold within 47 minutes, selling out the tour's opening night at TIGER STADIUM, making it the fastest sell-out of any concert in the venue's history. Since Tiger Stadium is one of the oldest baseball parks in the country, you would think that must have been a lengthy list of acts KISS had surpassed. Right? Well, not exactly. So far, there have been only two concerts ever held at the stadium, with the first one being Rod Stewart in 1993. The second was The Eagles.

A caller phoned in a bomb threat to the MIAMI ARENA on April 19th as GARTH BROOKS prepped for a concert on the one year anniversary of the Oklahoma City bombing. No bomb was found, but some people did leave after learning of the threat. The crank call came just as opening act Chuck-N-Rodeo took the stage, prompting security officials to make a row-by-row search during the opening act and the following 40 minute intermission. Brooks finally came on stage about 10 minutes late, and announced that if anyone wanted to leave, he would refund their money. Though a few people did leave, almost all of the capacity audience stuck around for Brooks's second of three sold-out shows at the arena.

A press conference was held last week to announce that STONE TEMPLE PILOTS would not be able to do the three dates that were scheduled for Chicago, New York and Los Angeles to promote their new album. According to a refreshingly candid statement released by the band, lead singer Scott Weiland "has become unable to rehearse or appear for these shows due to his dependency on drugs. He is currently under a doctor's care in a medical facility." The band still plans on opening for KISS at Tiger Stadium in June. Stone Temple Pilots had originally planned three free shows, taking place at the Riviera Theatre in Chicago, New York's Roseland Ballroom, and the Wilmeton Theatre in Los Angeles.

One of the most popular TV game shows ever is hitting the road for a tour that will run well into 1998. WHEEL OF FORTUNE - THE LIVE TOUR, produced by P.S. Productions and booked by Paradise Artists, will feature long-time game show host icon Bob Eubanks. Each game will consist of two halves," said Paradise Artists' agent Bill Monot. "The first segment will be made up of three to five minute lighting rounds." Monot explained that the lightning rounds will involve both on-stage contestants and audience participation. "The audience will be given game cards on which they can write down what they think the answer to the puzzle is. After the onstage contestants guess the puzzle the cards will be drawn from the audience. If the drawn card has the correct answer, the person wins a prize. During the second segment contestants will play for a grand prize commiserate with the prizes handed out on the TV show. This is one tour that won't suffer from any lack of pre-event publicity. Playing in the same markets as the syndicated television show, each local affiliate is sure to give each date plenty of press. Plus several affiliates are planning promotions to go along with the show — including Vanna White look-a-like contests, or other contests to fill the all-important job of "letter turner." Paul Stanley, of P.S. Productions, said, "We're taking the number one show for 12 years, and is watched by 100 million worldwide, and we're giving the fans a chance to play the game." Paradise Artists' Howard Silverman added, "They've been watching this, saying that it's easy and how they would win if they got the chance to go on the show. Now they can buy tickets and step up to the plate."

Over 5,000 motorcyclists choppered into St. Louis for the Harley Owners' Group First Annual Ride From The Heartland. H.O.G.'s 20 mile parade featured celebs John Goodman and Peter Fonda. The parade ended at the RIVERPORT AMPHITHEATRE where the festivities peaked with the venue's season opener featuring Bill Engvall, Neal McCoy, Rhett Akins and Joe Diffie. Proceeds went to the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Attention Deadheads. The itinerary for THE FURTHUR FESTIVAL has been released. For you uninitiated trippers, that's Furthur with a ur on the end — as in the destination sign on the front of Ken Kesey's legendary psychedelic bus.

■ Vari*Lite Nashville provided the moving lights for the DOVE AWARDS April 26th for TNN with Joe Schweickert as operator. Cathy Berberna-Lloyd out of the Nashville office was also operating for the Gospel Music Awards last week.

■ MD Sound Systems has equipment out with MARTY STUART, COLLIN RAYE and MARTINA McBRIDE.

■ Steve Wood will be handling the tour management for the forthcoming SOUNDGARDEN tour with Frank Stedler as number one production manager. Good luck guys, and don't forget to pack your sunscreen and umbrellas.

■ The Obie Company has equipment out on LENNY KRAVITZ, designer is Jon Pollak; High End Systems is providing Cyberlights and Intellabeams. Obie is also handling THE MAVERICKS with lighting designer David Hamilton and lighting direction by Paul George. (Hey, that's half the Beatles). The Obie-ites are also the general contractor for NEIL DIAMOND, lighting design by Marilyn Lowey and direction by Jim Smith. The tour is currently in Australia but is scheduled for UK/Europe in May and is selling out quite nicely.

■ Ralph Perkins is designing for the TRAVIS TRITT / MARTY STUART revival of the "No Hats" tour with lighting provided by R.A. Roth. R.A. also has equipment out with LYNRYD SKYNYRD, designer Bob Looney and the DOOBIE BROTHERS, lighting designer Steve Owens.

■ The Rodney King Award goes to the ongoing HIGH END vs. VARI*LITE series of suits and counter suits for trade secret misappropriation. "Can't we all — just — get along?" Whatever happened to the VLHiss, steam powered light by Gersh? Now there's an idea to misappropriate... then again that is just my opinion.

■ REBA McENTIRE has chosen The Obie Company as the general contractor and has spec'ed over 200 Vari*lites. Crew chief is Jeff Boldenweck with lighting techs David Arch, Kevin Royan, Mark Anthony, Mark Swartz, Jim (not Ed) Norman, Bruce Heard, Ed Green, Matt King and Ben Sepeda. Obie also has equipment out on DC TALK, with Andrew Dunning handling the lighting design.

■ Hey, how about that OZZY show in Fresno? Two dates — two cancellations "day of" just before show time. That makes at least four cancellations altogether for Fresno. Yikes! My other half (my Ozzie) and I were down doing that "hang" thing and talking to Bobby "BT" Thomson and the Chavarrias. Ozzie has a great crew out there, a slick production and a well-oiled production team including Stan Crocker, Greg Price, David "Gunque" Selg, among others.... A real solid bunch especially good at securing the buses and battering down the hatches prior to cancelling. Under the circumstances, I felt that the Fresno audience's reaction to the last minute cancellation to a make-up date was understandable and actually pretty low key. I hope Ozzie comes back. I'd like to see the Liberace of Heavy Metal actually make that triumphant walk up the stairs and onto the stage in Fresno. After all, sooner or later all those local TV news interviews that aired with ticket holders dissing their former hero will fade from memory.

■ NOTE: Have you just landed a cushy gig and you want your fellow compadres to know about it? Call or fax us and we'll help spread the word. We're also compiling a "WHO IS DOING WHAT FOR THE OLYMPICS" column so lets us know what you are doing. We'd also like to include a "WHATSOEVER HAPPENED TO..." feature to hunt down "touring personnel" that have dropped out of site or changed hats. Please include phone & fax contacts so we can call and chat.

■ QUOTE OF THE WEEK: Hey, I thought YOU packed the corner blocks for the trussing....

U.K. News Report

The Smashing Pumpkins and Rage Against The Machine are topping the bill. Both bands are also playing sell-out arena shows in the same month, but it hasn't dented the demand for the festival — advance ticket sales were going so well that the capacity has been increased from 15,000 to 20,000. Other bands playing the two-stage festival include Jesus & Mary Chain, Terrovision, Cypress Hill, Cocteau Twins, Rancid, The Posies, the High Llamas, Mucky Pup, and Marion.

Australian News Report

Traditionally, April signifies the slowing down of the AUSTRALIAN TOURING SEASON — but after extremely heavy traffic over the last six months there appears to be no noticeable reduction in the number of tour announcements or, more importantly, punters prepared to pay for tickets. Although a full schedule wasn't available at press time, Michael Coppel has just weighed in with a July tour by The Presidents Of The United States who'll play Sydney's Hordern Pavilion on July 31.

Overseas visitors to Australia are often shocked by the TICKET PRICES for international touring acts. Here's a run down of the cost per ticket for current and upcoming tours — and it also gives an indication of current touring volume. All prices are in Australian dollars — at time of writing one American dollar buys approximately 80 cents Australian: Melissa Etheridge ($42), Link Wray ($25), James Brown ($64.90), Santana ($51.80), George Thorogood And The Destroyers ($35), Alanis Morissette ($41.90), Coolio, Naughty By Nature and House Of Pain ($51.70), Emmylou Harris ($42.90), Jethro Tull ($52), Loudon Wainwright III ($43.80), Red Hot Chili Peppers ($43.80), Spain ($20), k.d. lang ($62.60), and The Presidents Of The United States ($35.90).

The second week of April saw Sydney as the venue for WARNER MUSIC's five day worldwide conference, entitled "To The Year 2000 And Beyond." The managing directors of each Warner Music affiliate come together every three years to discuss the company's affairs, both current and future. This is the first time that the conference, which attracts 120 delegates, has been held in Australia. The conference was chaired by Ramon Lopez, chairman and CEO Warner Music International, and featured showcases by two Australian acts — East/West artist Max Sharam and new signing Annie Crummer. On some levels it wasn't the best time for the conference as Warner Music was receiving a media pasting for recently increasing their CD prices by 74 cents.

Strange but true - JETHRO TULL's fan base just doesn't go away. Paul Dainty has announced a third Sydney show for the band at the State Theatre on May 14.

ARIA (the Australian Recording Industry Association) released figures mid April which suggest that the Australian recorded music industry is not in as bad a way as industry pundits, myself included, have suggested recently. In terms of wholesale record sales for the year ended December 31, 1995 total sales were up 11.78 percent from $447,055,495 in 1994 to $499,740,711. With regard to unit sales for the year ended December 31, total units were up 6.51 from 42,083,993 in 1994 to 44,823,339. Still, one can't help but wonder how much greater the sales increase would be if consumers weren't being slugged so much for their recorded music, particularly CDs.

There were strong initial sales for EMMYLOU HARRIS' May tour with a second Sydney date at the Enmore Theatre on May 8 already being added by promoter Michael Coppel.

There's certainly been no official announcement but the rumour mill has been speculating about a MICHAEL JACKSON tour of Australia in December, but on national TV Ian 'Molly' Meldrum, Australia's media friend of the stars, suggested on April 20 the tour was now likely to occur in September.

The rumour mill is also suggesting that the SEX PISTOLS will tour Australia in October/November and that the promoter is likely to be Frontier Touring.

The Australian industry was shocked to hear of the April 16 death

of well known record company figure FRASER SANDEMAN. Initial reports suggested a heart attack as cause of death but at press time it was confirmed that Fraser died after being overcome by toxic fumes at Strip Off, the paint stripping business he'd bought in Tasmania. Much liked by everyone who knew and/or had worked with him, Fraser spent the majority of his industry career working at Festival Records, having started with the company in Melbourne before relocating to head office in Sydney. From there he moved to Warner Music, and then ABC Music where he played an important role in building up that label's contemporary country music roster. Deciding to, at least temporarily, take a break from the hustle and bustle of the industry and city life, Fraser moved to Launceston in Tasmania. He was aged just 42.

Well known financial world figure RENE RIVKIN has signed on as an investor for the "COOL NAUGHTY PAIN" hip hop concert tour which is being billed as Australia's biggest ever tour of this nature. The tour features Coolio, Naughty By Nature, House Of Pain and LV. So far his investment is paying off; the first show at the Hordern Pavilion has sold out and tickets are now onsale for the second.

Asian News Report

THE CRANBERRIES will be playing at the Hong Kong Coliseum on May 8. This Hong Kong stopover is part of their "Free To Decide" world tour. Their other destinations in the region include Bangkok, Manila, Taipei, Seoul, and Japan. After finishing in Asia, they will go on to Australia and New Zealand for dates at the end of May and in early June. To the Hong Kong audiences, The Cranberries are no strangers since their debut single "Dreams" was covered by Hong Kong pop singer FAYE WONG in Cantonese.

China's jazz fusion band TIEN SQUARE has just sold out 300 seats at the SUNFLOWER CLUB, Beijing's newest performance venue. The club is playing China's top bands and is also looking for American acts to play in Beijing while they are on tour in Asia. Anyone who is interested in more information about the Sunflower Club can contact Sar in Beijing at (fax/phone) 8610-403-2860.

Australian 4-piece pop group CDB is now on a promotional tour in the Asian region and will stop in Malaysia, Singapore, Korea, Hong Kong, Taiwan, Thailand, Philippines, and Indonesia. CDB will be playing at the Hong Kong HMV from May 6-8.

London duet SHAMPOO has been nominated as the Best New Act by Radio Television Hong Kong in their 7th International Pop Poll. They released their debut album We Are Shampoo last year. The girls were in Hong Kong for the award presentation show of RTHK pop poll held at The Hard Rock Cafe on April 14. They just finished playing to over 8,000 Thai fans in Bangkok, 18 concerts in Japan, and showcases in Indonesia before coming to Hong Kong. Shampoo originally was supposed to go to Korea and Taiwan after Hong Kong. However, the girls felt sick in Hong Kong and left for London on April 15. Half of the planned promotional activities in Hong Kong were canceled.

Hong Kong pop singer CASS PHANG will be launching her first series of eight concerts at the Hong Kong Coliseum starting April 26. A total of HK$8 million is being put into the production of these eight concerts.

"SNOW WHITE" the musical has just finished its 10 performances at the Drama Theatre in the Hong Kong Academy of Performing Arts. This HK$5 million production was presented and produced by James Mark's High Noon Production Company. According to James, the two mobile sound systems alone cost HK$1 million. The role of the princess was played by former Miss Hong Kong Theresa Lee. It was Theresa's debut stage performance and she was a big attraction to local audiences.

With less than a month to go, MIDEM ASIA '96 will launch in The Hong Kong Convention & Exhibition Centre May 14-16. More than 200 companies from 28 countries will participate in this event, and more than 20 concerts and showcases are planned in many of the best known performance venues in Hong Kong. If you are coming to Midem, please stop by the POLLSTAR BOOTH (M9-M11) and say hello. The Midem Asia opening night party will be held at the Cafe Deco Bar & Grill located on The Peak of Hong Kong on May 13.
