and firecrackers set off panic among the 15,000 rap fans who attended. Thirty people were injured as they fled the debut "Hoodshock" show in Harlem June 27th. The four-hour outdoor concert held in front of the State Office Building featured The Fugees, NAS, Biggie Smalls, Junior M.A.F.I.A., Doug E. Fresh, Goodie Mob, Wu-Tang Clan and others. Apparently, unexpected fireworks started the commotion among the crowd and then a gun shot sent people fleeing, fearing for their lives. One witness said concert goers got hurt when they toppled a barricade as they tried to run from the scene. Reports said as people fled, one of the groups continued to play, disregarding police and using a backup generator after authorities cut the power. One state official laid partial blame on organizers for letting too many people on the plaza. Mayor Rudolph Giuliani said the state had issued a concert permit to Refugee Project, which is headed by rapper Sister Souljah, but the permit was for only 5,000 to 10,000 people. Giuliani said the site can really only safely hold 2,000. But Fugees manager Peter Malkin told POLLSTAR he didn't think the show was overcrowded. "It was actually very orderly and fine until that firecracker went off, which was at the very end of the show," he said. Officials also pointed a big finger at a Westchester parolee. Christie Conway, 20, was seen firing the

Taxing Times As I.R.S. Shuts Down

After 17 years of operations in the U.S. and U.K., Miles Copeland's I.R.S. Records is closing up shop. A source told POLLSTAR that within the next couple of weeks, I.R.S. will cease to exist "as we've known it." All I.R.S. assets are the property of EMI, but the fate of I.R.S. artists and employees was not known at press time. I.R.S. Records includes the imprints El Dorado, Gai Sabar, Pangaea and Tribal America. The company has offices in Culver City, Calif; NYC and London.

Hootie & the Blowfish has a clause in its rider forbidding the holding back of tickets in the first 10 rows for comps or any type of promotion. When the band booked a pair of shows with Delsener/Slater for August 3-4 at Jones Beach in New York, Mitch Slater both verbally and in writing notified the boxoffice that they couldn't withhold any seats, according to a spokesperson for the promoter. When it was discovered that scalped tickets were being sold for the shows, the band and promoter asked Ticketmaster for a log of the sales. The log revealed that 534 choice tickets were held back from sale and then slipped to ticket brokers. The entire boxoffice staff was reportedly fired and Ticketmaster declared the scalped tickets null and void. In a Manhattan press conference, a spokesperson for Fishco Management said that ticket holders will be reimbursed for the ticket's $25 face value. "We know that some people will be inconvenienced by this and we apologize, but they bought them through unconventional outlets and the chances are good they knew the tickets were being scalped." Holders of the scalped tickets were encouraged to try to get their money back from the place the tickets were purchased. If that doesn't work, it was suggested that a complaint be filed with the New York Attorney General's Special Ticket Complaint Hotline. The circumstances around the Jones Beach ticket sales is now part of the state's ongoing investigation into the ticketing business.

gun that set off the panic, according to police. He was tackled by police and charged with weapon possession, reckless endangerment and inciting to riot, authorities said. Giuliani said the rap concert was a recipe for disaster from the start. "You have a state agency granting a permit for a much larger group of people than should be the case, and not consulting the police department," he said. "You have individuals illegally using fireworks. You have a person who is a parolee ... shooting a gun off in the air. And you have the operators of this thing who will not close down the music. That isn't the way this should happen." But Malkin said The Fugees felt the event was very successful up until the end when the final act, Wu-Tang Clan, was playing and the commotion started. "Unfortunately, out of 15,000 people, 14,999 were great and then one bad apple really hurt it," Malkin said. The rest of the series was cancelled. Three more concerts had been scheduled to raise awareness for the Refugee Camp Project for kids. Malkin said The Fugees want to try the charity shows again after a little more planning to avoid any similar problems. Meanwhile, Mayor Giuliani said the city will seek money from the state to cover police overtime and other costs.

Red Hot Rockin'

The Rockin' Horse Saloon in Scottsdale, Ariz., was destroyed by fire June 22nd, but the nightclub is already back in action in a new location. About 100 people were in the club watching Dale Watson when a fire in a nearby bakery spread to the building. No one was injured, but the club was destroyed and all of Watson's gear went up in flames. Within days, Rockin' Horse owner Tucker Woodbury struck a deal with the Gekko, a competing club about a quarter mile away. "I went over, we worked a deal, signed a five-year lease, and we were open eight days later," said Woodbury. "We missed one date. We had a Lowen & Navarro show the day after the fire that we moved to a competing club, and Kevin Welch was scheduled to play the following night but we couldn't accommodate him. Other than that, we're back up and running." Woodbury said he's working with his insurance company to cover Dale Watson's $11,000 worth of lost equipment. Watson was able to scrape some gear together and play a show the night after the fire. Otherwise,

Woodbury said he's only upset about one thing — the loss of around 600 autographed 8x10 photos from bands who played the Rockin' Horse during its five years on Indian School Road. "You can always find a building, chill some beer and put a band on stage," he said. "But we lost everything that had made the Rockin' Horse special. We lost some history."

SMG's director of productions, Troy Collins, is leaving the company to go to work as a buyer for Electric Factory Concerts effective July 15th. Collins had been with SMG for seven years. He told POLLSTAR his official title at Electric Factory is undermined as of yet and a replacement for him at SMG has not yet been named.... CAA officially announced last week that James Yelich has joined the company's Nashville office. As expected, Yelich shuttered Chief Talent, and took most of the clients with him to CAA; Alan Jackson, Merle Haggard, Bellamy Brothers and Charlie Major are among the acts moving to CAA. Yelich, who formed Chief Talent in 1992, also took his assistant, Amy Hughes, with him while agent Bernie Driscoll moved over to William Morris. Driscoll had worked at Chief for three years. Prior to that, he was an agent at Triad Artists. Driscoll said Chief's other agent, Andy Barton, is "checking his options and checking his golf swing, too" and is expected to surface in a new venture very soon.... Bill Bennett was upped to president of Geffen / DGC Records, succeeding Ed Rosenblatt who was named chairman/CEO of the labels in April of 1995. # HotStar Of The Week

Ash may have shot straight to number one in the U.K. charts two months ago with their first album, 1977, but as far as Tim Wheeler is concerned, success has been a long time coming. After all, when you've been playing together for as long as seven years, you could be forgiven for thinking it was time to listen to your parents and get that serious day-job.

Ash's album is called 1977 because it's the year when Wheeler (lead vocals and guitarist) and bass player Mark Hamilton were born, which would put Ash in the glow of wunderkind pop success. "It's been four years now since we've been playing as Ash," Wheeler said. "But myself and Mark really started the band when we were 12, actually — with the aim to be famous — and it's taken all that time."

Ash is this year's Brit teen sensation — unless you want to quibble over the fact that drummer Rick McMurray is the ripe old age of 21. Consider Ash the Take That of punk rock (as described by one German promoter), and their boyish appeal combined with top 10 songwriting abilities are the best antidote to Britpop to emerge in the last 12 months. Ash is moving large quantities of albums in the U.K. — 271,000 copies and rapidly approaching platinum status.

And the band is not doing too badly in the rest of the world either, averaging sales of 25,000 in Germany and Scandinavia. Ash is even the biggest British band in Thailand at the moment, with 40,000 copies of 1977 sold.

Ash-awareness in America is stirring, so it would seem that global domination beckons. "It would be nice," Wheeler said with a soft spoken confidence that sets Ash well apart from the Lads-R-Us school of Britpop. "I don't really care about being the world's biggest band, but I don't see why not. If we can, it would be fun.... It certainly would — especially when you only left school last summer."

The boys did in fact listen to their parents and finish school. They toured on weekends and school holidays ("a Jekyll and Hyde existence") until they had a big enough hit to suggest that major success was just around the corner.

Hailing from Northern Ireland, Ash refuses to be lumped in with Britpop. Wheeler said though he respects Oasis, Ash turned down a support slot on the band's mammoth summer open air shows at Loch Lomond and Knebworth because "there's a whole wave of bands which are sort of underneath Oasis and we don't want to be a part of that. We're Ash, doing Ash's thing and it's got nothing to do with anything else."

He's not wrong there. Though Ash's music has plenty of familiar references, it's hard to point the finger at them and direct them to a specific rock pigeonhole. Wheeler and Co. have hewn a distinctive sound from influences as far apart as Black Sabbath and Abba and they're not shy about their mongrel musical tastes. "We're proud of it, in fact," Wheeler said. "To some people, both bands are cool, but it just seems a bit incongruous to put them together. I think it's just because we're so young, we can actually like both bands at the same time."

And don't go looking for Irish consciousness in the lyrics of hits like "Girl From Mars," "Goldfinger" or "Oh Yeah." "The only thing about Northern Ireland that shaped us is the escapism and wanting to get away from it. It's such a dull country," Wheeler said. And the band has no wish to jump into the political wave of music that has come out of Ireland. "It's boring and anybody who's done it before has proved that it's a bad idea. Politically, Northern Ireland is such a complicated situation and it's so patronizing when people like U2 and the Cranberries have tried writing about it. We don't want to be like that; there's no need. We've grown up with apathy, believing that those mindless idiots [doing the fighting] are never going to change their minds."

Ash has more than made up for all the touring the guys missed when they were in school with a punishing live schedule to support the album. The band has graduated through the venue circuit via fairly traditional routes — playing local clubs in Northern Ireland plus occasional jaunts across the water to England, supporting Elastica in autumn 1994, which was a major turning point, and the latest landmark — a headline U.K. tour in May of 1,500+ capacity venues. The tour ended with a euphoric gig at The Forum in London (the best night of mum and dad Wheeler's life). The band then kept up the momentum in Europe, where it was back to clubs; but it felt like a good contrast, not a comedown, Wheeler said.

The band's agent for the world excluding North America, Steve Strange at Solo, said he has turned down more support slots than he can remember. He has managed to work a hefty world tour around Ash's U.S. dates with Muzzle. The band's engagements include a 7,000-capacity show in Thailand plus dates in Japan and Australia before the end of the year. Meanwhile, Stateside, Michele Scoleri at Premier Talent Agency has Ash in the U.S. through July before the band pops back to Britain for the Reading Festival and then returns to the States in September.

Wheeler is philosophical about breaking the U.S. "It's not the be all and end all," he said. "But I think if we're big in the U.K., why can't we be big in the States, too. We're making good music so I don't see why not. Our music should make sense to Americans; we should have more appeal than most British bands." But if this smacks of shoot-em-down swagger, realize, Ash is prepared for hard work.

The band members might be young, but they're not impressionable. All career decisions are jointly made and loyalty is important. "We don't want to be working with wankers," Wheeler said in no uncertain terms. Strange used to promote Ash when he ran the Limelight club in Belfast before becoming an agent. And manager Steve "Tav" Taverner fell in love with the band's demo tape and signed it to his own La La Land label before the band's deal with Infectious and Reprise in the U.S.

As for the future, Wheeler is optimistic. "We've spent so long at it, we keep developing all the time — keep getting better. We know we've made the records to justify every inch of our success. From early on, we were really cynical about anything that happened until it actually did. Now we're super confident." ★

EURO NEWS*United Kingdom

● SOLO-ITG has now reverted to being simply SOLO, following the closure of ITG. JOHN GIDDINGS told POLLSTAR: "We are Solo -again. It's sad in a way, but good in another - I wouldn't have worked with some of the acts I've done in the past few years if I hadn't been part of ITG, and it's the best move MICHAEL FARRELL could have made." Giddings is currently putting together the European side of the U2 tour with MICHAEL COHL - plans so far include an open air tour of Europe next summer, which will follow the US tour in the spring.

● WEMBLEY STADIUM had only seven days to strip the venue of its Euro 96 tournament branding before the THREE TENORS arrived for their only UK show. It was a swift turnaround for the stadium, which has gone back into full musical gear after the football championships, with shows every weekend in July. With a seated capacity of just over 50,000 for the Three Tenors concert, the venue was very nearly sold out - even though ticket prices started at £110 with the top price at £350 - but it was the cheap seats, furthest away under the canopy, which didn't get wet! Each tenor was reportedly being paid £650,000 for the performance. The stage was the largest ever seen at Wembley, and it was the first concert to play the stadium with the stage on the north side, a format which is being repeated for the EAGLES.

● Four years after selling Virgin Records to EMI, RICHARD BRANSON is back in the business. Tentatively called V2, Branson's new label will focus on "quality rock" and may eventually diversify into classical music. The new imprint will be lead by Jeremy Pearce, former head of Sony's foreign and independent music division. Branson's deal with EMI carried a four year exclusion clause which has now run out, allowing him to enter the fray again.

● CONCORDE INTERNATIONAL ARTISTES has expanded its roster with the addition of JODY SHARP and acts previously being booked via the Icon Agency, a dance oriented agency. Concorde can also lay claim to representing three of the top 15 earners in the British music business - Tony Mortimer of E.17, Boyzone and The Prodigy.

● A total of £380,000 was raised at the 21st annual NORDOFF ROBBINS SILVER CLEF LUNCH at the end of June at the Inter-Continental Hotel in London. Around 800 music industry executives attended as well as celebrities Gary Glitter, Lisa Stansfield, Chris Eubank and Robbie Williams. Winners of the Silver Clef Awards included Wet Wet Wet, Supergrass (for most promising newcomer) and AC/DC for best international act. Among the items that were auctioned to raise money were a guitar signed by the three remaining Beatles, a customised Land Rover and a customised Harley Davidson bike.

● The final line-up for DONNINGTON's second Kerrang stage is Cecil, Everclear, Honeycrack, Redd Kross, 3 Colours Red, Type-O Negative and Korn, bringing the total number of bands at the August 17 festival to 13.

Spain

● The SEX PISTOLS were forced to cancel their show at the AQUALUNG in Madrid less than 24 hours before showtime, when the venue pulled out of the deal. Promoter GAY MERCADER told POLLSTAR that he received a fax at 11 p.m. the night before the show on July 2, saying that all previous agreements were cancelled and the venue manager who had done the deal had been fired. Mercader says the venue has issued no further statement regarding the cancellation and all tickets (around 2,500) are being refunded at point of purchase as the show will not be rescheduled. It is a very unusual situation and the venue has recently changed ownership, so Mercader says this could be behind the action of the management. However, cancellation insurance won't cover this sort of incident and Mercader is currently talking to his lawyers - it will almost certainly end up in court. However, he stressed that he and agent JOHN GIDDINGS of Solo were not in dispute over this cancellation. "The whole situation would have been much more of a nightmare if John Giddings hadn't been involved," he said. Giddings says the band were ready and waiting to do the show so it was disappointing, but that financially, it was all settled.

Ireland

● The SEX PISTOLS July 17 show in Northern Ireland was snuffed out when the Belfast Council refused to grant the necessary permit citing the band's allegedly "blasphemous content." The Belfast cancellation caused the band to postpone its July 18 show in Dublin because of the "economic unfeasibility" of playing just one show on the Emerald Isle.

● The OASIS ticket frenzy moved across the Irish Sea to Dublin when MCD went on sale with an August 14 show at the Pairc Ui Chaoimh. By noon on June 29, an extra show had to be added on August 15, and both shows had sold out within a day. With 70,000 tickets sold in eight hours, the shows were the fastest selling gigs ever in Ireland and number crunchers calculated that tickets were selling at a rate of 146 per minute.

● THE EAGLES kicked off their European tour in Dublin with two 36,000 capacity sell out shows, promoted by JIM AIKEN at the RDS Showgrounds. The band will play to over half a million people over 19 shows in nine different countries, ending up at Murrayfield Stadium in Edinburgh for the last show in Europe. There's some interesting figures as well as the high percentage of sell out shows on the tour. The 12 truck tour is transporting 300,000 lbs worth of equipment around Europe, which includes 2,000 flight cases, 74 guitars, a stage which measures 250 x 60 x 70 ft, 780 lights and two video screens.

● THE CRANBERRIES have been threatened with a lawsuit by another Irish band, BLINK. Blink is claiming that the Cranberries track, "Forever Yellow Skies" on the To The Faithful Departed album is a rip-off of their song, "It's Not My Fault". Blink brought in musicologist, Ivan Chandler to analyse the songs and he has backed up their claim. It's the old "where there's a hit there's a writ" story again, except, as Lewis Kovac at The Cranberries' management company, Left Bank pointed out, "There's been no writ." Kovac said he referred Blink's management to Island Publishing which has subsequently brought in its own musicologists who have said there is no case. The two parties are continuing discussions. Meanwhile, Dolores O'Riordan is having physiotherapy following her injury in Australia, which forced the band to cancel 12 dates on the current world tour. Kovac says the tour will resume in the US next month.

● Plans for IN THE CITY are shaping up for its first gathering outside Manchester, from September 7-11. The conference will be located in venues in and around the Temple Bar area of Dublin. MCD is co-ordinating the major live gigs which will coincide with ITC and there will also be a full dance showcase programme in over 12 clubs, being co-ordinated by Michael Associates. The conference sessions will include panels specifically on the host country, plus sessions on radio, new trends, drugs, new technology, masterclasses on compilations and taxation in Ireland and topical debates on the collection societies, music in TV commercials, government subsidies and more.

Germany

● The SEX PISTOLS had to cancel the June 29 show at the HAMBURG SPORTHALLE due to slack tickets sales. The promoters GTC did say there were technical problems but tour producer John Giddings told POLLSTAR that the show had only sold 4,500 out 7,000 tickets. "We thought it would be a better vibe to cancel and combine it with the open air at Munster," he added. All other Sex Pistols shows in Germany remained intact and did better business.

● The new HARD POP DAYS festival (July 6) had an audience of 14,000. Promoter Carlos Fleischmann at Blue Star was happy with the turn out for the debut event.

● POPKOMM (15-18 August) has lined up a packed live programme for the five nights of the conference, which is Germany's biggest music convention. The conference will take over every available live venue in Cologne with just about every genre of music. Highlights include a Metalheadz jungle night, the Bizarre Festival featuring Iggy Pop, Offspring, Garbage, Nick Cave, a headlining show by the Manic Street Preachers, a Rock for Bosnia night with top German acts the Fantastischen Vier and Fury in The Slaughterhouse, and plenty more.

Denmark

● Copenhagen will have a new arts complex in September. A 1,400 capacity venue, with a 300 capacity club space is currently being fitted out in a classic, listed 1956-designed building in the city. The project has the working title of the RHYTHMIC MUSIC HOUSE and will fill a long-standing gap in the Copenhagen venue circuit. "There hasn't been a venue of this size in Copenhagen since the Saga closed in the early 90's," said the press officer Lisbeth Moellegard. Moellegard promises state-of-

Bennett got his start in the music business at CBS where he worked for 13 years at both the Columbia and Epic labels. Bennett's post as director of promotions is expected to be filled shortly, however, the GM post will remain vacant.... The Atkins-Muse management firm has announced a spin-off company — Mike Atkins Management. Atkins-Muse continues to operate and Pamela Muse takes Atkins' place as president/CEO. Mike Atkins' new venture will represent Point Of Grace, 4HIM, Petra, and others. Muse said the company had been functioning as two separate divisions for some time and the formal separation of operations was a natural one.... New Jersey's recently privatized Garden State Arts Center has been renamed "PNC Bank Arts Center." PNC Bank will pay $8.5 million over a 10-year period for the naming and marketing rights and an additional $750,000 will be earmarked for the venue's Ethnic Heritage Festivals. The total payment of $9.2 million will be split between the New Jersey Highway Authority, which owns the 10,802-capacity facility, and GSAC Partners, which now operates the center. Part of the funds will go to significantly expand the seating capacity before next season.... The government of Puerto Rico has chosen SMG to manage the island's new $70 million indoor sports arena scheduled to break ground this fall. SMG will also play an active managing role during the development and 18-month construction phase of the facility. The estimated 18,000- to 20,000-seat arena is being built on a 16-acre site in San Juan adjacent to the existing Roberto Clemente Coliseum.... EMI Christian Music Group has acquired ForeFront Communications Group, the record label that is home to DC Talk, Audio Adrenaline, Big Tent Revival and teen singer Rebecca St. James. A purchase price was not released. ForeFront will remain autonomous and CEO Dan Brock and VP Eddie DeGarmo will stay on.

The Ultimate OnCenter Fight

Syracuse, N.Y., police have denied a permit for the staging of the controversial Ultimate Fighting Championship in their city. The UFC had a September 20th engagement at the Oncenter's War Memorial Arena but Mayor Roy Bernardi lobbied authorities to reject the application to hold the event. UFC matches allow experts in various fighting disciplines to test their skills against one another using nearly every tactic. Only biting, eye-gouging and throat blows are prohibited. There is a medical opinion that the matches are dangerous and not properly regulated by the state, Bernardi said. "In addition to that, we cannot guarantee the security of the people in attendance or what may spill out into the streets of Syracuse. I also find it morally repugnant," he said. Oncenter executive director Jerry Gallagher told POLLSTAR the venue didn't see a problem with the UFC. "We had investigated and viewed tapes of the event provided by the promoter and did not perceive any public safety or crowd control problems with the event." Tickets had not gone on sale.

Commodore Ballroom Goes Dark

The Commodore Ballroom in Vancouver shut its doors at the end of June. Commodore owner Pensionfund Properties Ltd. and building manager Morguard Investments reportedly evicted long-term leaseholder Drew Burns. Early reports said the eviction was expected because of unpaid back rent. But Burns told POLLSTAR, "We have a lawsuit against them. We're the ones who started it all." Unless a deal can be worked out between the parties, the 1,100-capacity hall is expected to remain dark at least until the new year. For now, the string of lawsuits surrounding the Commodore prevents the B.C. Liquor Board from issuing licenses to prospective new tenants. But Morguard has reportedly cited the Ross Patterson Group as Burns' successor. A former Vancouver resident, Patterson is now based in California where his company specializes in theme discos, pool halls and restaurants. He reportedly said his company would keep the Commodore as a live venue.

Pumpkins (2 shows), "Quadrophenia" (6 shows), KISS (4), Celine Dion (1) and Hootie & The Blowfish (2).... Two CD purchasers in Knoxville have filed a class action lawsuit against Sony, EMI, WEA, UNI, BMG and PolyGram. According to news wire reports, the suit alleges the big six have kept CD prices artificially high since the cost of producing CDs has dropped significantly during the past several years. Since the suit was filed as a class action, other consumers can join in. A specific damage figure was not mentioned in the suit but it does seek to limit each individual claim to $5,000.... A cashier who allegedly embezzled $647,000 from Dolly Parton's Dollywood theme park in Tennessee got as far as Reno before police caught up with him. Authorities recovered the missing money, minus about $1,000, after arresting John Joseph Rightsell Jr. July 5th at the hotel where he was staying. Rightsell, a supervising cashier at Dollywood, disappeared several days earlier, after which the money was discovered missing. He was jailed without bail pending extradition to Tennessee.... A man was accidentally shot in the thigh July 5th during the Essence Festival at the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans. Landers Hall II was shot shortly before 10 p.m. when he and his wife were on their way down the escalator outside the suite area. Authorities found a .38-caliber gun but had not determined the identity of the owner. "Whoever it was should not be carrying a weapon inside the Superdome," police Lt. Marlon Defillo said. Hall was taken to the hospital and was reportedly in stable condition.... Fans of the South African act Boom Shaka vented their displeasure when the group failed to show for a concert in Namibia. The audience at the Independence Arena July 6th rioted when it was discovered that Boom Shaka wouldn't play. Angry fans destroyed several cars, television broadcast equipment and wrecked parts of the outdoor arena. Damage was estimated at about $230,000. Several people were injured trying to get out of the arena and a police spokesman said security was simply overwhelmed. There were only six officers on duty and they were there to handle minor incidents. No word yet as to why Boom Shaka didn't perform.

Chick Corea Gets U.S. Support For German Battle

The head of the International Relations Committee in Congress, Chairman Benjamin A. Gilman, is joining Chick Corea's fight against alleged religious discrimination by the German government. Congressman Gilman has asked Secretary of State Warren Christopher to intervene on Corea's behalf due to his "concern about practices of the German government that adversely impact the rights of American citizens who are Scientologists." In 1993, Corea's performance at the World

Athletics Championship Concert in Baden Wurtemberg was abruptly cancelled apparently because Corea is a member of the Church of Scientology. And just recently, when Corea was to perform at a festival in the Bavarian city of Burghausen, a member of parliament publicly asserted the musician should be barred from performing because of his religious beliefs. Due to a rapid counterattack by Bavarian Minister of Culture Hans Zehetmaier, the concert went forward. The following month however, Zehetmaier reversed his position and blacklisted Corea from performing at state subsidized events in Bavaria. Corea said his religious beliefs have never been a part of his concerts. "I consider this artistic apartheid," he said. "As an American, I cannot stand by and do nothing about it."

The Wicked Pickett

Wilson Pickett must get help for his drug problem or go to jail. That was the choice a New Jersey judge gave the legendary singer after he pleaded guilty on two counts of being under the influence of cocaine in violation of his parole. The judge postponed Pickett's sentencing until August 5th so the singer could do some European dates. He could be jailed up to 18 months, a penalty the prosecutor is seeking. The charges against Pickett stem from urine tests administered in April and May by the Bergen County Probation Department. He was put on five years probation for drunken driving and assault in 1993. Pickett's lawyer said his client plans to enroll in a 28-day

THE ALBUM NETWORK HOTTEST SALES NATIONWIDE

● Audio Analysts is having a busy summer with Dwight Yoakum and the Kansas/Styx tours which started in May and are continuing through the early fall. Natalie Merchant is out as well doing two week mini-tours, in between opening for Sting. Natalie has been on tour since '95. Meanwhile at the home office, Colin Beverage, operations manager is retiring after 15 dedicated years to go fishing. He's passing the baton to Mario Leccese, senior road engineer who is retiring his Billy Joel, Bruce Springsteen, Van Halen and John Mellencamp laminates. (Retired laminates have many uses around the house...you can scrape dried food off the stove without scratching the enamel, they make interesting key chains, our kids take them for show and tell and our annual Christmas party has our bar tree dedicated specifically to retired laminates. Unfortunately, a few have met an untimely end by becoming a chew toy for our Australian Shepherd.)

● The 90's are confusing times full of ironies and juxtapositions. You've heard the rants before about remembering when "enabling" was a good thing and being "politically correct" was a bad thing, and to further illustrate these points, Tim Rozner has run away and joined the circus — and folks it's a good thing!

It has been a circus, in the nicest possible way, for Tim Rozner in launching the wildly popular flagship outing of the summer, the KISS full-makeup reunion tour. Rozner is a man of many hats on this mega production. Not only is he the tour and production manager, he also had a hand in the lighting and set design for the $7 million, multi-continent production with dates scheduled well into '97.

Tim will wear the hats but he wasn't wearing the make-up when the KISS tour kicked off June 28th at Tiger Stadium in Detroit; however, the itinerary shows mostly arena venues, which are being set up for a 270 degree show which is more "fan friendly."

According to Rozner, "The band made a conscious decision right at the beginning to try to stick to arenas and not get into stadium situations where people are so far away that even with video they look like ants. In the arenas they know they can get close, they know they can have personal contact..."

The band's relationship with the fans is what drives the overall "vision" for the production. "It is very similar to the mid '80s in big productions with the large set pieces and the big lighting and video systems — it's very fan oriented."

The KISS anthem for this tour is spectacle and flash as opposed to the present trend for road tours toward leaner, more understated productions. "Now everything is pared down," said Rozner. "... The stage is barren — bands don't think for the most part that they have to go out there and entertain — that their music carries the entire load, and I think to a certain extent there are some bands who can get close to pulling it off."

But evidently, the time is ripe to return to the huge "spectacular" productions of the '70s and '80s and KISS is carrying the banner. "They want it to be the greatest show on earth," said Rozner. "They want it to be a three ring circus... they want things to constantly keep your attention and entertain you all the way through the show."

As Ace Frehley put it, "No more wrinkled shirts, please God, I'm tired of going to see a pissed-off therapy session in front of me." You want spectacle? — We got spectacle! As Rozner puts it, "... it's like the Ringling Brothers & Barnum and Baily of rock and roll."

The KISS reunion tour revives not just the band but the heavy metal "glam elements" that are disappearing from today's no-nonsense tours. "More is more" is back along with the KISS signature makeup and — yes Virginia — Gene Simmons will spit fake blood and Paul Stanley will demolish a few hundred guitars. To add to the flash, the production will be using over $900,000 in pyrotechnical effects (handled by Pyrotek, with Randy Bast and Chris Ladziak).

Running with KISS's vision, Rozner designed the "techno-hell" set which was built by Stage Craft on a Tait rolling stage. "KISS is a band that works very well with the in-your-face, symmetrical black and white chrome and metal look with speaker cabinets, moving amp wall, video wall, drum riser and the lighting wall that flies in," says Rozner. "They don't need asymmetrical art looks, they don't need screams, colored cycs, that kinda thing — they're very 'effectoid.' They're very straight forward with square angles oversized pieces — moving pieces have always worked well for them."

Light and Sound Design is handling the lighting with a system using Icons but supplemented by Vari*lite moving mirrors (VLM's) and other special effects. LD is Bryan Hartley with crew chief Bill Staton and crew members Dave Grayson, Bill Boyd, Russ Felton and Mike Wheeler. Sound is by Showco with houseman Toby Francis and monitors by Kurt Springer with a crew including Mike Allison, Mike Adams and Jacob Mann.

The response to the KISS revival has been very strong at the boxoffice. Evidently, the fans are more than ready for a nostalgic return to the self-indulgent era of concert extravaganza... back to the audience in ripped jeans and T-shirts and the performers in sequins and platform shoes rather than the other way around. And it's not just the original KISS fans who today are engulfed in the trappings of adulthood. According to Rozner, the appeal is even larger now.

"There's an element of people who missed them the first time around who want to see this kind of a show," he says. "The audience is made up of a fairly wide demographic — from the little sisters and brothers of the first KISS generation as well as some totally new fans, all they way up to the original KISS fans. The devotion of these fans is unparalleled to anybody other than maybe the Grateful Dead."

So, if Tim Rozner is the ringleader, then he has certainly chosen a few "stunt riders" for his touring personnel. No clowns allowed. He points to road veterans for success; artist manager Doc McGhee, co-production and stage manager Thomas "Rocko" Reedy, and tour accountant Paco Zimmer are the front line command but the crew is made up of other tour veterans as well. "We have had the opportunity to hand pick professionals, not just based on their talents, but also on their personalities."

This coupled with the technical advances since the big shows of the '80s with computerized lighting, audio advances, and "forethought" of design elements. According to Rozner this "forethought" in design is a key improvement in organizing the production since it factors together how the different elements will combine and transport for both the domestic end of the tour but more significantly for the international venues. These are important differences when you are talking about 12 semis and five tour busses to transport crew and equipment.

Rozner also indicates that even the production companies have become more compatible. Specifically, Light and Sound Design and Vari*lite have developed a "positive working relationship" which has proven to be mutually beneficial.

One of the biggest differences in the KISS shows of the 70's and the huge production for the reunion tour is seasoning and safety. On board is a stash of 6000 condoms — the estimate for "personal" use for band and crew. It is nice to know that they are practicing safe sex — a lot.

In a time of shrinking candy bars, smaller tax refunds, and fewer allowable deductions "less is — just less." It's refreshing to harken back to a time of excess. Ah the smell of the grease paint, the roar of the crowd. Just what the '90s needs, a trip to the circus and a little KISS action... with protection, of course!

Let's see, 6000 condoms divided by 60 crew members plus band is 100 condoms apiece for, let's say 365 days — that's everybody twice a week — not factoring in attrition, married [and faithful] crew members, fraternizing within the production (which would double your supply)...

Quote Of The Week: When referring to his hand-picked touring professionals, "I said they were seasoned, I didn't say they were mature." —Tim Rozner.

Van Halen vs Sammy Hagar An Interview With Ray Danniels

Sammy Hagar recently told the press he blamed manager Ray Danniels for his exit from Van Halen. Hagar said if longtime manager Ed Leffler was still alive, the split would have never happened. Hagar said the dispute with Danniels stemmed from the manager's idea of releasing a "best of" package; Hagar vehemently opposed the idea. Hagar said Leffler and the entire band had agreed to focus on new material rather than look back. Hagar refused to go into the studio for a "best of" release but did agree to record two songs for the "Twister" soundtrack. When he discovered that one of the songs was being used for the "best of" record, he said he felt conned. Then, when he got into a dispute with Eddie Van Halen over one of the song's lyrics, he discovered his band mates had already been "secretly" recording, with David Lee Roth. Hagar said he was devastated and disappointed, especially since the band brought Roth into the studio. "I've been with this band for 11 years and I know that David Lee Roth was the enemy," he said. "The three of the guys in the band hated him more than anyone on the planet." In a rare interview, Danniels answers some of Hagar's allegations.

Was Hagar conned into doing a song for the "best of" release?

No one was tricked into doing anything. Sam knew for a year there were discussions about a "best of" record. The reason he didn't like the idea was based on not wanting to have his material on the same record as Roth. Throughout Leffler's tenure and since Sam came into the band, he (Hagar) had done everything he could to ignore that part of the group's history. He felt that this was going to expose that and create comparisons and [make people] pick singer one or singer two. I, on the other hand, felt that was insanity. After 10 years plus, get over it.

Hagar says a "best of" record will make the band look tired.

That's just absurd. He did his own greatest hits record right after Ed Leffler passed away. [And] within their contract, Warner Bros. had the rights to a greatest hits record. Sammy had signed that deal. Ed Leffler had signed that deal. The other guys had signed that deal. I didn't create something that wasn't already there. And there are many active artists with greatest hits records. Elton John has got at least three of them. Eric Clapton has numerous. Billy Joel has numerous. And what about Bruce Springsteen; is that a dead act? I don't think so.

What instigated the work on a collection at this time?

Eddie brought it up saying, "How come we've never had one. I can't believe it." It became a topic of conversation and I picked up on it and said, "Let me check your contract." I came back to them and said, "One day this is going to happen. Do it now. Why not? You're coming off a successful record. What I didn't want was this to be something that happened later. That may have suited Sam's purpose. It didn't suit the band's purpose as a whole.

Hagar said Roth was viewed as public enemy No. 1 to his band mates. Then Hagar said he had no ill will towards Roth. How do you see it?

At the point that these guys separated 11 or 12 years ago, they were 12 years younger and ... it was a very different time. There were at least two alcoholics in the band and things were said that the three guys I'm still working with certainly would not say today. I can only tell you that Sam was very much behaving like the second wife in a marriage that wanted the first wife to not exist — no pictures, no reference, don't mention the word. And when Ed was alive and he managed them, they pretty much successfully eliminated David.

Did you want to do a "Sam and Dave" tour?

I certainly didn't suggest a reunion tour and I didn't suggest they get back together. But I wasn't going to treat a guy who'd been part of their initial success and sold 35 million records with them as a bad word. To me that was childish. But they will not tour until they've made new music with whoever the singer is. If the chemistry with David is right, and David wants to go forward, and they want to go forward, then we'll see. It would be very easy to go out and just do it, but that's not where we're coming from.

Everyone agreed to a "cool down" period after the split but Hagar took it to the press, saying he was devastated and disappointed.

I understand him being upset and angry. This is a guy who somehow managed to blow being a member of the biggest American rock band, period, and he's smarting. But unfortunately, he's created this situation for himself. He's been his own worst enemy and he continues to be.

What about the claim that Van Halen is becoming a retro band?

The only ground rule we had is, we are not going to make this a nostalgia band. This is a band that's selling out arenas and sheds and coming off a record that's sold well over 4 million copies. They're a current band, whether David's the singer or somebody else is. We're not going to trade that in.

Hagar said the tensions were fueled when you started managing.

I'd like to go on record as saying when Ed died, it was Sammy Hagar that changed the rules. It was Sammy Hagar that immediately went to Geffen Records and did new songs for a greatest hits record of his. It was Sammy Hagar that re-did an old deal at Warner Music and started to write and provide songs for Meat Loaf and various other acts. And it was Sam who seemed more focused on his outside projects then he was on Van Halen. And you know what? Ed Leffler probably wouldn't have allowed that, either. Maybe that's the difference between Ed Leffler and Ray Danniels; Ed Leffler could have stopped Sammy Hagar from doing some of the things he did that caused friction. I didn't have the ability to do that. I didn't have the history with them. So from that standpoint, he's absolutely right. But he fails to recognize he's the cause of the friction. The truth of this, more than anything else, is Eddie Van Halen got sober and is capable of making judgement calls today and cares about things that he probably let go for many many years. The boy became a man. And he took his band back. It's as simple as that.

For the record, who's idea was it to start working with Roth again?

David made a call to Ed. These were two guys who had spoken twice in 11 years. Once by sheer coincidence, they bumped into each other on the street in New York and exchanged pleasantries. One other time, David had been gracious to call Ed and Al when their father passed away seven years ago. So there had been no communication. Warner Bros. had sent Dave a courtesy letter telling him about the "best of" package. He called with his encouragement and talked to Ed and they hashed an awful lot of things out on the phone. And the timing was right. But this was after this situation with Sam had deteriorated to the point that it is now. Unfortunately, Sam seems to think that somebody had this great idea that we would divorce wife number two and go back with wife number one, and that is as far-fetched as it can get.

So one was not the cause of the other.

Oh God no. Absolutely not. If things with Sam were good, why would you want to disrupt a band that had survived the onslaught of new bands and new music and was one of a handful of elder bands that still had the juice? Why would you mess with that?

The Eagles set the record for the highest grossing single event at the Greensboro Coliseum June 17th. Manager Irving Azoff celebrated the $919,020 gross by giving promoter Danny Eaton of 462, Inc., and the venue's Matt Brown and Scott Johnson a T-shirt in lieu of cash.

The Louisiana Superdome became one of the nation's largest movie theatres June 19th as 65,000 people pile in for a screening of Disney's "The Hunchback Of Notre Dame." (L-R) Superdome's Glen Mon, SMG's Maureen Ginty, Disney's Michael Eisner and SMG's Wes Westley.

He still faces additional drug-possession charges stemming from his latest arrest in April, when police found a half-naked and bleeding woman running away from his home. The woman told authorities she was injured when she fell on a glass-top table.

The Moody Rose

More than 12,000 Moody Blues fans saw the band's recent concert at Portland's Rose Quarter. (L-R) The band's John Lodge and Justin Hayward, Cindy Kamimae from MCA Concerts NW, the venue's Jim McCue, the band's Ray Thomas, ICM agent Robert Norman and the band's Graeme Edge.

Legal Grievs

Depeche Mode singer David Gahan was charged July 8th with possessing and using cocaine. He pled not guilty at his July 9th arraignment in Beverly Hills Municipal Court. Gahan was arrested in May after an apparent drug overdose in a West Hollywood hotel. He has been free on $10,000 bail. The singer was ordered to return to court July 30th to determine when his preliminary hearing will be held. He faces up to four years in prison if convicted.... A judge ruled last month that Burt Reynolds must pay the William Morris Agency more than $140,000 in commissions plus interest. The agency sued Reynolds last year, claiming he failed to comply with an agreement to pay $5,850.63 a month for two years to pay his debt, which piled up after the cancellation of his TV show, "Evening Shade," and his divorce from Loni Anderson in 1994. Reynolds pleaded poverty when he sought a court reduction of his $15,000 monthly support payment to his ex-wife.... A Tennessee judge has dismissed a lawsuit against the daughters of Conway Twitty. The executors of Twitty's estate were seeking an accounting of his finances — specifically whether he had money in Switzerland when he died in 1993. Lawyers for the singer's daughters, Kathy and Joni Jenkins, said they had no relevant information. A Sumner County Chancery Court judge dismissed the suit saying it should be filed in Probate Court instead, which will soon be done, according to an attorney for the executors.... A freelance journalist won't say who told him about a videotape allegedly showing Michael Jackson having sex with a teenager. A judge will decide whether Victor Gutierrez should be penalized for disobeying a court order to reveal his source. A hearing is set for July 25th. Last year, MJ sued Gutierrez for slander, saying the journalist lied when he claimed he saw a 27-minute video tape of the King of Pop having sex with a 13-year-old boy. The judge had ordered Gutierrez to reveal his source by June 25th. Gutierrez's lawyer, Robert E. Goldman, said his client is keeping quiet. "He has an agreement with his confidential source and ... he will honor that agreement.".... Martin Lawrence has filed legal papers denying allegations that he beat up a guest at his bachelor party in January 1995. Fentreal Ferebee of Virginia Beach, Va., filed a $2 million lawsuit against Lawrence, alleging the comedian grabbed him by the throat and smashed a bottle of Dom Perignon over his head. "Martin Lawrence never touched the guy," attorney Edward J. Powers said. "I'm not sure how the guy hurt himself, if he hurt himself at all." Ferebee reported the incident immediately but police concluded his report was unfounded and no one was charged. In Lawrence's reply to the lawsuit, he said Ferebee was injured by his own negligence but offered no alternative version of events. Powers told the Virginian-Pilot newspaper that Ferebee crashed the private party, grabbed a microphone and began making nasty remarks.

I Want My MTV Two

MTV announced it will create a new cable channel that will focus more on music and target a slightly older audience. The new channel, M2: Music Television, is scheduled to start August 1st, which is the 15th anniversary of MTV. MTV Networks chairman Tom Freston told the New York Times the audience targeted by M2 typically finds MTV a bit too mainstream. M2 is not expected to air MTV's game shows and features. It will have a "free form" playlist that will cover a much broader group of performers and genres than MTV. However, the new channel will not duplicate VH1 programming, which typically favors "adult" music. So far, M2 has only been sold to satellite TV services. Sales to cable operators were expected to begin this week at the cable television convention in Boston. But because of the limited capacities of most cable systems, it is likely that only satellite owners will initially have access to the new channel. M2 will also be the first cable channel to provide a 24-hour computer supplement, InterCast, to display M2 video, text and graphics on personal computers.

Van Cliburn Palimony Suit Dismissed

A Texas judge has dismissed a multimillion dollar palimony lawsuit filed against pianist Van Cliburn by a man who claimed Cliburn exposed him to the AIDS virus during a 17-year sexual relationship. District Judge Fred Davis ruled that Thomas Zaremba's suit was defective and said he agreed with Cliburn's lawyers that no part of the arrangement between Zaremba and Cliburn was in writing and therefore nothing was binding. After the ruling, Zaremba said he hadn't determined the next legal step but added, "This is not finished by any measure." When the suit was filed in April, Zaremba's attorney, Mike McCurley, said his client did not have the AIDS virus and that he had no reason to believe that Cliburn had HIV. But he accused the pianist of having sex with other people who were HIV positive during his relationship with Zaremba. The lawsuit contended the pair agreed to share Cliburn's income in exchange for Zaremba's services as a business and personal consultant. Cliburn's lawyers called the lawsuit a cheap attempt to extort money from their client. Zaremba's attorneys have until later this month to appeal.

Tupac Settles Limo Driver Dispute

Tupac Shakur settled an assault and battery lawsuit brought by a limo driver who claimed the rapper and his posse severely beat him in a Fox Television Studios parking lot after he confronted them about using drugs in the back of his vehicle. The confidential settlement on May 30th barred either side from disclosing terms. Court records reveal that limo driver David Deleon and the defendants went to an arbitrator for a month before the settlement. The arbitrator said Fox wasn't liable and recommended Shakur and Interscope pay $3,000 in compensatory damages and $50,000 in punitive; those figures were not binding, however. Deleon had originally sought $25 million when he filed the suit in '93. Following the settlement, a judge formally dismissed the assault and battery suit against Shakur, Fox and Interscope. Shakur was arrested at the time of the alleged beating, but no criminal charges were ever filed. And since Deleon asked the court to dismiss the suit, the complaint cannot be filed again.

Between The Dates

■ The RED HOT CHILI PEPPERS have cancelled their planned late-summer tour of the U.S. The band still plans on doing the Molson Ice promotion wear the group will perform on an icebreaker in the Arctic Ocean.

■ If it was a Rolex, do you think he still would have complained? Don't expect the BUTTHOLE SURFERS to return to Corpus Christi anytime in the near future. A concert by the Surfers came to a sudden close after lead singer Gibby Haynes told the audience of about 5,000 to "shut up and go home." Haynes told the crowd that an audience member threw a wristwatch at him while the band was playing and injured his hand. According to the Corpus Christi Caller-Times, Haynes yelled at the audience member and urged the rest of the audience to keep people from throwing objects on the stage and to physically punish anyone they saw throwing anything. "I want to see somebody hurt," Haynes said. The four-hour show at the Texas Sky Festival Park also featured The Toadies and the Rev. Horton Heat, but it was the BH Surfers that ran into trouble. Before leaving the stage, Haynes called Corpus Christi a city of "white trash" and said he didn't care if people refused to buy the band's newest album. "We've got your money already," Haynes yelled. The group's label, Capitol Records, was quick to counter Hayne's remarks with a press release quoting BH Surfer guitarist Paul Leary saying, "We meant no disrespect to our fans and fellow Texans. We enjoyed performing in Corpus Christi, but the Buttholes believe that everyone at our shows deserves respect and should not suffer any bodily harm." Leary also pointed out that the line "shut up and go home," is the last line to the Surfers song, "The Shah Sleeps in Lee Harvey's Grave," and was the last number performed before the band left the stage.

■ Suspected space alien JOHN TESH will be spending the time between legs of his current tour co-hosting the NBC coverage of the Olympics. It was while performing in Detroit last month that Tesh was accused of being not of this earth.

■ Speaking of space aliens — An estimated 11,000 people managed to pull themselves away from the movies theatres showing Independence Day, to attend WILLIE NELSON'S somewhat annual 4th Of July Picnic. This year's event, held in Luckenbach, Texas, was a benefit for Farm Aid and raised about a buck a head.

■ AC/DC, which is playing mostly indoor arenas in markets it missed during its winter tour, is in the midst of trying to reschedule a number of dates this month so the band can be a part of the new HOWARD STERN movie.

■ Artists planning on performing in Israel may want to take a tip from DAVID BOWIE. The British rocker wowed fans by addressing his Tel Aviv audience in Hebrew. "Tov li po (It's good for me here)," said Bowie to the crowd. It was Bowie's first trip to Israel.

■ A slew of free concerts by major artists will held during the OLYMPICS in Atlanta's Centennial Olympic Park. The list of performers for the 17 nights of concerts was announced July 2nd and includes Jon Secada, Faith Hill, Travis Tritt and Marty Stuart, Santana, Ladysmith Black Mambazo, Joan Osborne, Angelique Kidjo, Al Green, Little Feat and many others. Paul Shaffer will conduct the all-star jam during the closing ceremonies.

■ Remember when your mother use to tell you to be sure to wear clean underwear? You know, just in case... Mom would have been proud of the country music fans who attended the ALL-STAR COUNTRYFEST '96 at the Atlanta Motor Speedway on July 13th. The audience had to buy new underwear to get through the gates. "You buy seven men's underwear or seven ladies' underwear for the price of six," said Fruit Of The Loom CEO Bill Farley. "But you also get a ticket to this concert." The show, held a week before the Olympics, was billed as the largest ticketed event in country music. Headlined by ALAN JACKSON, other performers included Patty Loveless, Tracy Byrd, Hank Williams Jr., Alabama, Pam Tillis, The Charlie Daniels Band, Lee Roy Parnell and Kenny Chesney. Organizers were expecting a crowd of up to 300,000 people. That adds up to a lot of skivvies.

the art facilities for both artists and punters and says the technical specifications will be confirmed in the next few weeks. The venue, soon to be given an official name, will be booked by PETER SORENSEN, formerly working at the Grey Hall in Copenhagen.

Well, the SEX PISTOLS have been leaving a trail of filthy lucre as they romp across Europe and bar the odd cancellation or two, it's all been good harmless fun. But at ROSKILDE FESTIVAL (June 28-30), an otherwise entirely peaceful weekend for 100,000 people, it was a different story. ### Bosnia

Well, CHINA DRUM made it to Bosnia in the end, with the help of SHOWTRANS which supplied a splitter bus and driver to get the band and its gear to the war torn country. The band could well be the first of many British bands to make the effort to organise self-funded concerts for the local people there. The next band embarking on the Bosnia trail will be DODGY, currently in the top 20 with their latest album. The band will play August 9 in Tusla and August 10 in Sarajevo. Dodgy will be taking their touring big top tent with them for one of the shows and are organising the shows in conjunction with Artists for a United Bosnia (AUB) and the Serious Road Trip charity, which has been organising aid for the country since 1992. The AUB is taking a convoy of 97 people and is planning a five-day arts festival which it hopes will become an annual event. Meanwhile Serious is trying to establish the KUK CLUB as a working venue and part of a music therapy programme. The club is currently being run by SIMON GLINN, who is better known as stage manager of the second stage at Glastonbury. Both groups are hoping to get second hand PA equipment to take out there and leave behind to start rebuilding the Bosnian entertainment scene.

France

Promoter ALAIN LAHANA says he may have been a little disappointed by the ticket sales for the SEX PISTOLS July 4 show at the ZENITH in Paris (5,000 tickets sold in 6,000 capacity format), but it was a smooth running show, and a great gig which got rave reviews in the French press everywhere from the music papers to the daily Le Monde.

Italy

BARLEY ARTS reports that attendance figures for the third SONORIA FESTIVAL (June 28-30) were up on last year with 30,000 people over the weekend. The third new big top stage, featuring new bands met with a good reception, with Dog Eat Dog stealing the show. Surprises included PJ Harvey turning up with Nick Cave & The Bad Seeds and they performed two songs together and also Iggy Pop, who nearly exchanged blows with an abusive Italian punter - but it was all good clean fun in the end!

Greece

Promoters HALF NOTE expressed disappointment at attendance figures for the 2nd ROCKIN ATHENS festival (July 1-2). Around 15,000 people turned up on the first day, but only 4,500 came to the second day, with Simply Red headlining. It's not fair to compare figures with last year's festival, which was a one day event, but Half Note says that while they are definitely committed to doing the festival next year, they may look at a different format.

for the Indonesian tour of the 5-piece Australian band RUN SILENT. The group has gained tremendous popularity among the Indonesian audience, making two No. 1 pop hits in Indonesia this year, one of which was performed in the native Indonesian language. This tour will be the most extensive one for any band which has toured in Indonesia, covering 26 cities from August 27 to September 30.

● TIEN SQUARE from Beijing was headlining the July 4 celebration at the American Embassy in their home town. Their promoter, Interstar Records, just signed a license deal with DYNA, the oldest and largest independent distributor in the Philippines, marking an official end to its relationship with its last distributor, Quantum, which is Warner's distributor in the Philippines.

● RONNIE LAWS signed an exclusive deal with Interstar for China, Hong Kong, Taiwan, the Philippines, Singapore, Korea, Australia and New Zealand. This deal marks a pleasant reunion of Ronnie Laws and Jeffrey Cheen, CEO of INTERSTAR, since they worked together in the '70s and '80s. August 1 will see the beginning of Ronnie's "Natural Laws" Tour of Asia with two other saxophone players. Interstar also took part in Pepsi's recent pre-production meeting for the Music Festival Tour in China to be held for three weeks in October.

● MELANIE GARSIDE will be at Hong Kong's HMV in Causeway Bay and Tsim Sha Tsui on July 15. She is also scheduled to perform at the Music Union's 4th Anniversary Concert at the City University on July 18.

● Swedish Grammy winner SOPHIE ZELMANI performed at the Hard Rock Cafe July 7 and at the Party House July 8 in Bangkok. She played the Heineken Gallery at the Fringe Club in Hong Kong July 11.

● While it is relatively quiet in the concert scene during the hot, sticky July weather in Hong Kong, things are definitely looking up for next month. RYUICHI SAKAMOTO will give one performance at the Concert Hall in the Hong Kong Cultural Centre on August 15. ANDY LAU, one of the "four Canto-pop Kings," will be giving 20 shows at the Hong Kong Coliseum August 6-25, followed by SANDY LAM's concerts tentatively scheduled for August 30 - September 2. STING's two dates at the Coliseum, October 7 and 8, have been confirmed while ALANIS MORISSETTE is scheduled for a show at the Queen Elizabeth Stadium in November. KENNY G will bring Hong Kong a "saxy" Christmas season, performing one show in December.
