CIC-3 Sold Out

For the third year in a row, the Concert Industry Consortium has sold out all of its available registration spaces in advance of the event. Tickets still remain for the Concert Industry Awards Party on January 31st at the Wilshire Ebell Theatre. A waiting list has been established for the CIC to fill any spots that might come open due to last minute cancellations. Meanwhile, Ron Stone of Gold Mountain Entertainment and Donald Tarlton of Donald K. Donald have been added to the "Touring Triangle — Policy Makers" panel. Larry Vallon of MCA/Universal Concerts will help facilitate the "Amphitheatre Managers" session and Steve Buchanan from the Ryman Auditorium will assist with the "Small Venue Managers" meeting. The focus session on "Corporate Sponsorship Deals" will be conducted by Lisa Fremer-Tenner with an assist from Bill FitzGerald of Momentum IMC, Jane Hoffman of Speed Of Sound, Kevin Lyman of Kevin Lyman Production Services, and Randy Peskin, president of the sports division at Baker, Winokur & Ryder.

ARTISTdirect Makes Major League Debut

ARTISTdirect, the new music business venture launched by Don Muller, Marc Geiger and Bill Elson, is off to an amazingly fast start in its first few weeks of existence. The multifaceted company has immediately established itself as the newest major booking agency in the industry. The initial client roster of 35 acts includes major headliners like Pearl Jam, Soundgarden, Red Hot Chili Peppers, Beck, Beastie Boys, Alice In Chains, Rage Against The Machine, and Foo Fighters. See page 10 for the complete roster. Muller was the head of the contemporary music division at William Morris up until the end of 1996 when he left to start the new company. Elson was the worldwide head of music for ICM until his departure from that agency last year. And Geiger was most recently a VP with American Recordings but made his mark in the industry as an agent with Triad Artists prior to its purchase by William Morris. Although Muller and Geiger were two of the founders of Lollapalooza, they will not be involved in the 1997 edition of the festival. In addition to the three partners, Rachel Tanzer, who formerly worked for Cellar Door and on last year's Lollapalooza tour, will be booking colleges and clubs west of the Mississippi. Kio Novina, the former head of the Van Go Agency, has also joined the company and will book colleges and clubs east of the Big Muddy. The new agency promises to add a unique approach to the business. "One of our hopes is to streamline the booking process for all promoters and agents," Geiger said. Details about the agency's new concepts will be unveiled for the first time at the CIC's February 1st panel on "Re-Engineering The Concert Booking Process." But ARTISTdirect is much more than just a booking agency. The company wants to help develop artists globally by providing a direct connection between artists and consumers through live performances, electronic marketing and distribution via the Internet. Under the ARTISTdirect umbrella is Kneeling Elephant Records, the firm's new label that will be distributed worldwide by RCA/BMG. No acts have been signed to the label as of yet and the partners are not looking to represent acts for both booking and recording. Kimberly Jones, who had been Geiger's assistant at American, will oversee much of the day-to-day business for the label. ARTISTdirect is also the new home for the Ultimate Band List (<http://ubl.com>). The consumer-oriented UBL — a joint venture with Rick Rubin — is widely regarded as one of the Internet's preeminent music sites and is doing 3 million hits per week. The company is also developing its own business-to-business Web site (<http://artistdirect.com>), which will formally launch after the CIC. As for what prompted the three partners to join forces, Muller said, "I love being inspired and challenged by bright people. This was a great opportunity to work with Marc again like we did at Triad and I've always admired Bill, dating back to the days when I was first starting out as an assistant at ICM." Geiger added, "Having been part of Lollapalooza, Don and I both felt like if we were to be involved in a new venture, whatever it is, we would like to own a part of it." As for the style of business they hope to adopt, Elson said, "The three of us have long admired what Dan and Fred did with Monterey Peninsula Artists in terms of the integrity with which they run their business and the quality of life they've been able to achieve." ARTISTdirect is located at 17835 Ventura Blvd., Suite 310, Encino, CA, 91316. Telephone is 818-758-8700 and fax is 818-758-8722. ## Nyuk, Nyuk, Nyuk

The Concert Pulse ranks each artist by their average boxoffice gross per city and is based on data reported within the last three months.

The partners in ARTISTdirect recently sent out a card with the Three Stooges on the cover to selected industry pros as a way of announcing their new venture. (L-R) Don "Larry" Muller, Marc "Curley" Geiger, and Bill "Moe" Elson. Shemp was not pictured since he was too busy building their new Web site.

New Games, New Rules, New Park

Veteran promoters Bill Rogers, Sid Payne, Larry Ahearn and Jo Nguyen have joined with U2's tour business exec Bob Koch to launch a new concert promotion firm, New Park Entertainment. The new venture intends to compete head on with Electric Factory Concerts in the Philadelphia-area and Mid-Atlantic region. Payne, Rogers, Ahearn and Koch are all industry veterans who worked for many years at Electric Factory. Nguyen has also had her finger on the market's pulse after booking The Trocadero in Philadelphia for the past five years. Both Payne and Rogers left Electric Factory January 6th. Payne had spent more than 21 years at EFC and Rogers more than 17 years. Ahearn, who once worked for Avalon Attractions on the West Coast, left Electric Factory last spring to consult for Valley Forge Music Fair. His two stints at EFC were from '76-'81 and '88-'96. Koch's employment at Electric Factory dates back more than 12 years ago. And though Koch is a shareholder in New Park, he will retain his full time position with U2. Ahearn told POLLSTAR, "There's five of us and we intend to put more attention towards fewer shows than many of the established promoters do. But other than that, we just intend to use our talents more fully, whether it be in advertising or production or promotion. New games. New rules. New Park." Ahearn said New Park will also explore alternatives to traditional markets and venues. "There's a lot of under served facilities and markets out there that we intend to utilize as well as in Philadelphia which is the fifth largest market in the country." New Park will have two offices, one in New York City and one in the suburbs of Philly.

Pros On The Move

S O U L COUGHING

Soul Coughing exists to play live. Life is that simple for this New York-based band — take the stage and convert fans with sonic inventions that mix hip-hop beats and an arsenal of keyboard sounds over fluid acoustic-bass lines. That phat, gritty groove driven by lead vocalist M. Doughty's electric guitar and distinctive beat-poet voice motivated one critic to call Soul Coughing the most adventurous experimental band in the '90s.

Doughty told POLLSTAR, "We're really all about playing live. And we screw a lot with the tunes on stage — not so much in a jamming way [but] sort of in a dance remix way. I think what we aspire to is something that's halfway between the Chemical Bros. and Phish. It's a very ambient, very social experience that's less based on soloing and more based on re-contextualizing everything and trying to change it up as much as possible. We're all about the dance floor."

Soul Coughing may be all about the dance floor but as far as categorizing the band, Doughty said it's rock all the way. "I just think we're sort of a rock band basically because we all grew up listening to rock music. That's where our conception of what music is and what bands are comes from," he said.

So where did this rock band come up with all the hip-hop, jazz-influenced experimental noise? Doughty said, "The beauty of the band is that it's about four very different people with very different agendas trying to find a common ground." So the Soul Coughing sound is the sum of its four parts — Doughty; Mark De Gli Antoni on keyboard sampler and backing vocals; Sebastian Steinberg on upright bass and backing vocals and Yuval Gabay on drums and backing vocals.

"They're all amazing players coming from very different parts of the musical sphere," Doughty said. "Yuval is Israeli. His parents are Moroccan [and he] grew up playing a lot of Middle Eastern music [then] got really into Deep Purple. And I think at that point, decided he wanted to move to the U.S. [He] has been playing hip-hop and house music and all kinds of basic dance music since he got to the U.S. in the early '80s."

Doughty said Gabay is such an incredible drummer that he can actually play jungle beats. "It's really astounding," he said. "When he plays them, it's not, 'Oh, look how fast this guy's playing.' You actually think about the groove, not just that he's got the ability to play this fast."

Bassist Steinberg grew up playing a lot of disco, reggae and funk. Doughty said, "[Steinberg has a] really deep sense of what the foundation of a groove is, what the foundation of a melody is. You can pretty much give him any fragmentary piece of crap and he'll find totally what the harmonic center of it is and the rhythmic center of it."

Keyboardist De Gli Antoni grew up listening to prog-rock but eventually got into classical music. "He went to conservatory and was really, dare I say, classically trained," Doughty said. "And actually, at the time I met him, he was doing stuff with the sampler but also writing pieces for small ensemble. It's funny, the bulk of what he samples are his own pieces, stuff that he's actually written for and conducted for orchestra."

Doughty was working at the Knitting Factory in NYC when he met his band mates. They didn't plan to create a hybrid sound but bringing divergent forces together ultimately created harmony. Doughty said, "It wasn't really like, 'Let's come up with this incredible new formula that combines hip-hop and rock music.' It was like, 'This is what we like. This is what we can play.' It was all just based on the joy of the moment, not trying to scientifically combine two different elements."

Soul Coughing spent much of the past two years on the road supporting its critically acclaimed debut, Ruby Vroom, on Slash/Warner Bros. During that time, the band discovered that it could easily turn strangers into fans via live shows. Doughty said, "One thing about this band is, generally, we've found anywhere we're exposed, people start liking us." Many who have reviewed Soul Coughing concerts concur. Nearly every bit of media about the band says its concerts are pivotal in converting non-believers.

Despite the fact that Soul Coughing's follow-up to Ruby Vroom, Irresistible Bliss, has gotten some radio play, Doughty said mass radio or MTV exposure is not essential to success. "People come to Soul Coughing shows because of the vibe and experience of it, not just to hear some damn song [they heard on the radio].... I think with very little media exposure, we've gained a whole lot. I think we're now happily experiencing people turning around and noticing. Just from being on the road, we've gotten a whole lot of people into this."

Doughty said the band members try to know as much as possible about the business side of touring but they've grown to a level where agents and managers are essential. Doughty said, "You have to delegate those tasks to people you trust because otherwise, dealing with all of the business and then trying to go home and write a song would just be a nightmare. I was incredibly relieved when we finally got a manager and a booking agent and it was all very much easier than me having to basically manage the band and do everything."

Doughty said Soul Coughing's manager, Roger Cramer from Side One Management, is a great match. "He's very much about New York musicians, Vernon Reid and guys like that, that are sort of coming from a jazz standpoint but working in rock music."

The band is equally pleased working with its agent, Frank Riley from Monterey Peninsula Artists. "Frank is the man," Doughty said. "Frank is absolutely amazing. I learned that you meet somebody in the music industry and you sort of have these basic conversations and they're like, 'Well, who's your booking agent?' And when the name Frank Riley is uttered, everyone just sort of takes a step back." ★

The Downhill Slope Of Artists Development

The first Aspen Artist Development Conference was a raging success. Not only did attendees benefit from round table discussions on topics like "Marketing and Artist Development in the New Century," but some fresh powder allowed participants to show off their downhill finesse. Ready to put the business away and hit the slopes are (L-R) Keith Sarkisian of William Morris, Michael Pontecorvo of Mercury, Monterey Peninsula's Chip Hooper, conference co-coordinator Jim Lewi, A&M's Larry Weintraub and (front) Deborah Davis-Bonk from Geffen.

Presidential Talent

The line-up for the 53rd Presidential Inaugural Balls is an interesting and eclectic mix. The 14 official Inaugural Balls will feature artists of various musical genres including R&B, oldies, gospel, alternative, country, jazz, hip-hop and pop. Among the acts invited to entertain President Clinton and his guests are Bela Fleck, All 4 One, Michael Bolton, Chuck Berry, the Doobie Brothers, Aretha Franklin, Jewel, LL Cool J, Bo Diddley, Kenny Wayne Shepherd, Joe Walsh, Grover Washington, Trisha Yearwood, Junior Brown, Carly Simon, Meat Loaf, Bruce Hornsby, Hootie & The Blowfish, Bob Weir, Julio Iglesias, The Isley Brothers, Sponge, and Thelonus Monk Jr. The Presidential Inaugural Balls will be held January 20th at various sites in Washington DC. The President and Mrs. Clinton and the Vice President and Mrs. Gore are expected to briefly attend all 14 of the balls. Also on hand will be some interesting acts just outside the mainstream like Christafari, a Christian reggae band, and Liquid Soul, a jazz/funk/dance hybrid. Another unusual performer will be Woody Harrelson. Organizers said the hemp lobbyist and star of "The People vs. Larry Flint," will sing for the President and his supporters.

The Bunny Wants The Goo Goo Dolls

Warner Bros. Records is suing the Goo Goo Dolls for breach of contract. Though the band is not signed directly to Warner Bros., its album A Boy Named Goo is distributed by The Bunny through an arrangement with the band's label, Metal Blade. Recently, the Goo Goo Dolls sued Metal Blade for signing the band to an unfair contract and nonpayment of royalties. At that time, the band released a statement saying it would enter into discussions with other record companies. But Warner Bros. claims the Dolls agreed to be represented by Warner Bros. proper should they

● Camping out overnight in a dingy parking lot, hoping to buy choice seats for the next big show may eventually become a thing of the past. Last week TICKETMASTER (www.ticketmaster.com) announced it had sold about $650,000 worth of tickets online during the month of December. A little over 17,000 tickets were sold via cyberspace with Broadway shows accounting for over 4,000 of the sales. Through its traditional outlets and phone orders Ticketmaster sells about 5 million tickets per month. That means that the December cybersales figures only accounted for about one third of one percent of all sales. That's a drop in the bucket, but it's a start and will grow this spring when Ticketmaster starts allowing fans to buy tickets on the first day of sales.

● What's the busiest Web site on the Net? According to PC-Meter (www.pcmeter.com), an audience measuring company, AMERICA ONLINE (www.aol.com) took the top honors for 1996's fourth quarter. Categorized as a "commercial online network" AOL beat out contenders like Yahoo (www.yahoo.com) and Netscape (www.netscape.com).

● One of the factors attributed to the growth of the Web are the FLAT RATES ISPs charge their customers. Ranging as high as $39.95 or as low as $10.00 per month for unlimited access, flat fees are one of major reasons people cite for switching from one of the commercial online services to a local Internet provider. In fact, it's one of the main reasons that America Online, switched from an hourly charge to the flat rate of $19.95 per month, Internet access included. Now it doesn't take a rocket scientist to figure out that a flat rate means users are going to connect more often and for longer periods of time. The problem is, while these users hog the dial-ups, other users will be hearing nothing but busy signals. Difficulty in connecting may just be the price one pays for cheap access. "Like anything that's a great value, consumers are flocking to it," said David Gang, AOL's VP of product marketing. "Sometimes that means they have to wait a bit, but it's worth it. Think about Disney. People will wait in line for hours to get into Disneyland."

● That may be so, but we haven't heard about any lawsuits filed because of the wait to get into Splash Mountain. Five individuals have filed a CLASS-ACTION SUIT on behalf of all AOL subscribers in California. The suit claims that AOL's new flat-rate pricing plan has overloaded the system, preventing AOL users from logging on. In other words, the suit claims that AOL advertises unlimited usage for a flat rate, but does not have the equipment to provide such a service for all of its customers. The suit is seeking $20 million in damages for what it contends is "fraudulent and malicious misrepresentation."

● What do flat rates and hourly charges mean to the MUSIC INDUSTRY? Virtually every major record label, movie studio and television network has a Web page. Almost all of those Web pages offer video and sound files that can take up to an hour to download at 28.8k. If the norm changes from a flat rate to an hourly charge, those high overhead Web pages could be the loneliest sites on the Internet until larger bandwidths are more commonly available.

● Rupert Murdoch's News Corp. has greatly scaled back and revamped its Web site, formerly called the iGuide, by structuring it around Murdoch's best selling publication, TV GUIDE. The new address is www.tvguide.com.

● Can't get there from here? Several Web sites offer TRAVEL INFORMATION, including maps, addresses and directions for locations in the U.S. Two sites you'll want to bookmark are The Vicinity Corporation (www.vicinity.com) and MapQuest (www.mapquest.com) With both services, you can punch in an address and receive a map that includes the address and the surrounding area. You can zoom in for a close-up of the neighborhood or zoom out for an overview of the area. You can even print it. You can also get directions between two cities, including mileage and drive times. Another site, Zip2 (www.zip2.com) allows you to enter a business and receive a map showing the address and location. Sites like these could well become the road manager's best friend. Especially when he gets one of those late night calls from the band saying, "We don't terminate relations with Metal Blade. Warner Bros. spokesman Bob Merlis told POLLSTAR, "We have no axe to grind with the group. It's just to literally go on record that our interpretation of this contract is as follows: If they are free and clear of Metal Blade, then they are contracted to Warner Bros. directly." Warner Bros. is seeking unspecified damages and an injunction prohibiting the Goo Goo Dolls from negotiating with other record companies. A spokesperson for the band said it has no comment at this time.

The Local Paper Said It All

General Motors Place in Vancouver and Reba McEntire rang out the end of the year December 15th, the final concert of 1996 for both McEntire and the venue. Commemorating the special occasion are (L-R) Orca Bay's John Chapple, McEntire and Sue Griffin of General Motors Place.

Drying Out The Pioneer

The Pioneer Center in Reno, Nev., is cleaning up flood damage and getting ready to get back to business. Flood water overran the orchestra seating and stage of the 1,446-capacity theatre when the building's sump pumps couldn't keep up during the recent string of violent storms. Pioneer Center executive director John Shelton said four local productions were rescheduled or relocated and one nationally touring ice show had to be cancelled. The Broadway production of the "Sound Of Music" will go on as scheduled January 27-29. "We're drying out seats and carpets and getting ready to replace the stage," Shelton said. "We expect things to get back to normal pretty quickly."

The Big Man Responds

Saxophonist Clarence Clemons called charges that he beat his girlfriend "ludicrous" and said counter-charges would be forthcoming. Sharlene Smalley accused the former E Street Band musician of pushing her to the ground, throwing her into a wall, kicking and punching her in a December 6th incident. But statements from witnesses are completely contradictory to the charges against Clemons, according to his reps. Clemons was said to be recuperating from surgery and unable to walk without crutches on the date of the alleged incident. "We have done a preliminary investigation which reveals that Mr. Clemons, Monroe County sheriffs office, and the courts have been the victims of a monstrous fraud," Clemons' attorneys, Chip Muldoon and John Rotolo, stated. "The alleged victim's motivation and its monetary component will be revealed in the course of litigation." Clemons said he hopes to go to court as soon as possible to dispel the allegations. "To be associated with charges of this nature is a violation of the very principles by which I live my life," he said. Clemons will continue to perform all of his scheduled engagements and live appearances.

Ticket Company Goes South

Mid-Atlantic Select-A-Seat recently notified the Florence Civic Center in South Carolina it would cease operations January 15th. The facility will now use the Capital Ticket system for all upcoming events. Capital Ticket is operated by the University of South Carolina in Columbia. The Florence Civic Center had settled all of its existing business with Select-A-Seat at the time of its surprise closure so there were no financial losses. The venue was given just seven days notice of the ticket company's impending closure.

The Court Sides With Mountain Girl

The estate of Jerry Garcia must honor the $5 million divorce agreement he made with ex-wife Carolyn "Mountain Girl" Adams-Garcia, a judge ruled. The late Grateful Dead guitarist had already paid Adams-Garcia about $400,000 but his widow, Deborah Koons-Garcia, cut off payments after his death. Koons-Garcia and six other heirs claimed Adams-Garcia took advantage of the drug-fogged guitarist by manipulating him into signing the 1993 divorce agreement giving her $250,000 a year for 20 years. But in one of the trial's most emotional moments, Adams-Garcia read love letters Garcia had written her to try and prove the couple had a genuine loving relationship. In an interview with the New York Times, one of Garcia's daughters by "Mountain Girl," Annabelle Walker-Garcia, said, "The problem is that Mom and Dad had a real hippie relationship, and you cannot explain a '60s relationship in legal terms." Lawyers have reportedly said that in the last months of his life, Garcia continued to support present and past wives and girlfriends to the tune of $50,000 a month, even though he was in debt. With multiple claims from an assortment of lovers and business partners against the Garcia estate totaling more than $30 million, it is not clear if Adams-

Garcia will get all her money. Koons-Garcia, who is the co-executor of the estate, reportedly said there are only a few hundred thousand dollars left. She is likely to appeal the ruling.

A Pyramid Scheme

Dill Records recording artists MU330 stopped by POLLSTAR's headquarters when passing through town for an October 23rd show at Fresno State. The band was coaxed into demonstrating its team-building pyramid of success in our atrium while staffers looked on. (Standing L-R) POLLSTAR's Brad Rogers, James Dooms, Eric Mecum, and Marlene Jones. Forming the pyramid from top to bottom are MU330's Rob Bell, Teb Moll, Dan Potthast, Jason Nelson, Chris Diebold and Nick Baur.

Legal Grievs

Former Go-Go's drummer Gina Schock has reportedly filed suit against the band, claiming she hasn't received income from album sales since 1986. The lawsuit also individually names guitarist Charlotte Caffey, according to the Los Angeles Times. Schock claims she signed a contract with Caffey in 1982 entitling her to a percentage of income from their musical compositions. Schock's attorney did not return calls for comment..... Wilson Pickett has been indicted on cocaine possession charges nine months after an incident in which a partially clad woman ran bleeding from his home. Police said they found two grams of the white stuff in a bedroom nightstand at his Englewood, N.J., home after responding to the call last April. The woman involved declined to press charges and told police her injuries occurred when she fell on a glass table. If convicted, he could be sentenced to up to five years in prison..... Notorious B.I.G. dozed in a Camden, N.J., courtroom last week as his lawyer tried to dispute allegations that the rapper beat and robbed a man over a canceled performance in 1995. Nathaniel Banks, a driver for the concert's promoter, contends the rapper and his manager, Mark

Pitts, assaulted him. Both sides agree Banks was beaten, but B.I.G.'s lawyer Robert Kalina said, "We have no idea who it was." Banks suffered a broken jaw that required surgery, a physician said during testimony. B.I.G. napped through much of the testimony January 14th. His attorney said the rapper suffers from a sleep disorder..... The Smashing Pumpkins have filed a lawsuit against Chrysalis Music seeking to void their publishing deal with the company. The band alleges it entered into a 32-song publishing deal with Chrysalis in 1992, according to the L.A. Times. But after delivering twice that many songs, the band was apparently informed by Chrysalis that it still owed the company one more album. A spokesperson for the band had no comment..... Rapper Keith Murray was sentenced to three years in prison for hitting a 16-year-old over the head with a barstool. The Jive Records artist was convicted of second-degree assault in December after a May '95 melee at The Sting nightclub in New Britain, Conn., during which he struck David Hughes. The incident left Hughes with scars on his head. In handing down the sentence, the judge cited the rapper's lengthy criminal record, which includes assault and three drug convictions. The judge rejected the defendant's suggestion that he lecture students about civic responsibility as an alternative to jail, a proposal that the prosecutor described as "reprehensible." Murray, whose first album went gold in 1994, said he plans to appeal. Hughes and his family have also sued Murray in New York civil court.

Short Items Of Note

Apparently, Courtney Love has given up booze and drugs for another pastime — working out. The singer, infamous for her years of hard living, told Premiere magazine that she hasn't had a drink in seven months. That's not to say that the widow Cobain has taken on the role of responsible adult. She twice blew off scheduled photo shoots with the magazine while promoting her new film, "The People Vs. Larry Flynt." So what happened? "I don't mean to be a diva," she explained, "but some days you wake up and you're Barbra Streisand."..... About 500 fans who came out for a Marilyn Manson autograph found themselves in a near riot at a Vancouver record store. The crowd was dispersed after a storefront window collapsed about an hour after the autograph session began. More than 200 fans were jockeying for position outside the store when the window imploded and people leaning against it fell inside. No one was injured..... RCA Records VP of corporate relations Marilyn Lipsius died December 27th in NYC after a long battle with leukemia. She was in her early 50s.

AUSTRALIAN NEWS

• The final line-up has been announced for the annual WOMADELAIDE FESTIVAL which is held in Adelaide from February 28 through March 2. Appearing are: Salif Keita (Mali), Paul Kelly (Aus), Midnight Oil (Aus), Richard Thompson (UK), Loudon Wainwright III (USA), Christine Anu (Aus), Radio Tarifa (Spain), Fun-Da-Mental (UK), Shooglenifty (Scotland), Telek (PNG), Kev Carmody (Aus), Afro Celt Sound System (UK, Ireland, Africa), Guo Yue & Guo Yi (China), Joji Hirota (Japan), Terem Quartet (Russia), Tenores Di Bitti (Sardinia), and Luna Drive (USA/UK). More acts will be announced during the next few weeks.

• LEANN RIMES arrived in Australia mid-January for a promotional visit leading up to her March tour. Aside from an appearance in the Sydney suburb of Blacktown and a Sony Music boat cruise performance around Sydney Harbour, all of her public appearances are at the annual country music festival held in the town of Tamworth at the end of January.

• Promoter Paul Dainty has announced April dates for HARRY CONNICK JR. and his Funk Band, "plus an all-star horn section." A full schedule wasn't available at press time but Connick will play the Sydney Entertainment Centre April 8. The venue will be in its "intimate" mode which means it will be curtained off to allow around 6,000 seats rather than the usual 12,000 seats.

• SUZI QUATRO is about to begin a national club tour which sees her playing the large Sydney nightclub, Panthers, on January 22. Quatro is a regular visitor to Australia and always seems to pull good crowds.

• The BIG DAY OUT extravaganza continues to sell well with full houses reported for Brisbane and Melbourne. The annual January festival, which is the last for promoters Ken West and Vivien Lees, traditionally sells out around the country.

• Melbourne-based independent singer/songwriter/performer WALLY GUNN, will head off to Manila for a two week solo tour of the Philippines in February. The tour was researched and actualised by manager Jo Stanley from Jupiter Publicity & Promotions and is financially supported as a result of an application for financial assistance under the Victorian Strategy For The Arts. The project is one of only 13 funded in the latest round of International Export and Touring Programs announced recently by the Premier of Victoria and Minister for the Arts, Jeff Kennett.

• Promoters Sultan International have announced a run of February dates for BAD RELIGION.

• David Bridie and John Phillips, formerly of Not Drowning Waving have just finished producing an album for TELEK from Papua New Guinea for ORiGiN to be released in February to coincide with Telek's appearance at WOMADELAIDE this year. Telek appeared on the 1990 NDW album Tabaran and later toured with the group a couple of times including last years Sing Sing concerts.

• The annual EAST COAST BLUES AND ROOTS music festival (March 28, 29 and 30) has established its own World Wide Web site for up-to-date information on the festival. Check out what's happening in Byron Bay this year by logging on to <http://www.aim.com.au/bluesfest>

Between The Dates

■ The second in a string of sold out TOM PETTY concerts at San Francisco's Fillmore Auditorium was stopped abruptly when an audience member let loose with a can of pepper spray in the crowd of 1,250. Apparently, the incident occurred when one concertgoer starting pushing people around. "The person who asked him to quiet down and stop pushing, so to speak, then pulled out a can of pepper spray and sprayed that individual and other people in the immediate area," Bill Graham Presents spokesman David Mayeri told POLLSTAR. The band left the stage and a few hundred people went outside to get some fresh air, he said. Though some Petty fans were severely irritated by the spray, no one went to the hospital and no one wanted to leave. "The show was incredible and I think that kept people from leaving," Mayeri said. The ventilation system at the Fillmore cleared out the pepper spray quickly and a round of drinks was served on the house to help turn the mood around. Petty retook the stage about 40 minutes later to continue with his blistering set, Mayeri said. Police arrested a pepper-spraying suspect who was pointed out by eyewitnesses.

■ The latest place to catch your favorite up-and-coming country music star is the local WAL-MART. That's right. CMT and the retail giant are presenting concerts in Wal-Mart parking lots in more than 260 cities this year. The "Parking Lot Tour" will feature two different performers in a different city each week night. Among those participating are Deana Carter, George Ducas, Wade Hayes, Cledus T. Judd and Bryan White. Following the concerts, Wal-Mart will host an in-store album signing and meet-and-greet for the fans. While that's great for country music, don't expect similar treatment for Sheryl Crow or Marilyn Manson.

■ When PORNO FOR PYROS cancelled its upcoming tour and a benefit at The Whiskey in L.A., rumors started flying. The club was reportedly told that the band simply wasn't ready to do the date. The record company said the band had decided to record new material instead of tour but that didn't stop the rumor mill from going into overdrive. Some guessed that Perry Farrell was afraid fans were expecting a Jane's Addiction reunion since former Jane's member Dave Navarro was reported to be on the tour. Navarro's participation proved false but the fact that Jane's still outshines Porno For Pyros endured as a reason for cancellation. Others guessed that Farrell had gone on a drug binge or that the band had lost its tour support from the label. Some supposed that the band was concerned with the health of guitarist Pete DiStefano, whose cancer is in remission at this time. Whatever the real reason (does anyone ever know the real reason?) the plug was pulled and Porno For Pyros will be staying off the stage — at least for now.

■ The reports stating that KORN was kicked off the METALLICA tour are mistaken. The band was only scheduled to open the first part of the tour and had other dates in Europe already booked.

■ BUSH will be returning to the U.S. in March for a full-scale arena tour. No word on opening acts yet but the band has indicated it would really love to take Moby out as an opener.

■ The 1997 AIRWALK SNO-CORE tour kicks off February 14th in Providence, R.I. The tour, which is the first major package with a snowboarding lifestyle focus, will feature Face To Face, The Pharcyde and Voodoo Glow Skulls. Band members will be on hand for the daytime on-mountain festivals as well as for the evening concerts. There will also be exhibitions by Airwalk pro-riders and contests for amateurs. The tour, which is the brainchild of the Tahoe Agency's Rick Bonde, will feature evening concerts within driving distance of the mountain resorts. In addition to the snowboarding events and the concerts, which will be set in a "thematic mountaneousque stage setting," the tour will feature the "Sublime Mini-Movie," in honor of last year's Sno-Core headliner.

■ PRINCE has cut the cord on three of his scheduled shows. At press time, The Artist/Symbol Man/Whatever had pulled the "Love 4 One Another Charities Tour 1997" out of the January 15th date at Hampton University, the January 17th show in Charlotte, and the January 18th show in Birmingham. There was no official reason given for the cancellations.

● The Obie Company is starting the new year off well by providing the lighting for the Bette Midler "Experience the Divine" tour which will continue in California this month. Peter Morse is the lighting designer for the tour and lighting technical support includes Donnie Clifford, Kevin Cassidy, Steve Crandall, and Ryan Nicholson. Obie is also the general lighting contractor for the continuing run of Metallica designed by John Broderick. And let's not forget the mega production of Michael Jackson with lighting design by Peter Morse, direction by Merle McClain and tech support provided by Kenny Ackerman, Dave Larrinaga, Jeff Spencer, and Rich Casarez. Hey guys, did you get a few days of Hawaiian sun after the final shows at Aloha Stadium or did they make you immediately load the gear on those big Russian cargo planes for the flight back to Neverland?

● Jon Bray, who many of you road veterans remember as "Happy" Bray is alive and well and doing that ceiling thing as the man behind the steel for Summit Steel. Summit recently won the contract for the Phil Collins world tour and will provide 36 hoists and a computerized control system. The tour is scheduled to begin in February. Summit Steel's stock of top quality rigging gear is based exclusively behind CM Lodestar... "The Lodestar is robust and well proven for touring work but is often let down by the control system," says Bray. "My aim from day one was to build a complete system that was safe, reliable and tourable." To achieve this, Summit Steel designed their own control and multicore systems as well as flight cases that pack more easily into a truck. Summit started in 1994 with Pink Floyd and its roster of clients now includes the large outdoor venues for Oasis at Loch Lomond, Knebworth and Cork as well as the tours of Chris de Burgh, The Cure, Pearl Jam, Jamiroquai, Jackson Browne, Squeeze, and Heathcliff plus a duplicate system for Gloria Estefan's European Tour.

● Mark IV Audio has announced the appointment of Charlie Winkler to the post of vice president, Pro Audio Group (PAG), U.S. Winkler began his career as a professional musician at the age of 14 and has been involved with professional audio since then. He has held prominent positions at Electro-Voice and Audio-Technica, as well as his own rep firm before coming to Mark IV PAG. "Charlie's experience is unique and his talents have been well-demonstrated," Paul McGuire, president of Mark IV Audio commented. "We are fortunate to have him on our management team." Mark IV PAG product lines include Midas and DDA consoles, Klark Teknik audio processors and Electro-Voice Concert Sound speaker systems. For more information contact Brian Blackmore at 800-234-6831.

● Dizzy Gosnell, newly installed at Bandit Lites in San Francisco informs us that the minions at 3Com Park were "pissed" (as in U.S. pissed rather than U.K. pissed - see footnotes below) about our reference to "Candlestick Park." The term "knee-jerk liberal press" was banded about as was a mild threat to uncom my computer. Frankly, I'm flattered. Dizzy suggested that 3Com "buy" the rights to rename the Candlestick bird for which the original park was named to "3Com" birdies and be done with it. Or better yet, why not just rename 3Com to "Candlestick, Inc." and then they wouldn't have to shell out all that money for expensive signage or take the abuse of bemused columnists? Hey, psst...I hear the Presidential Defense Fund is willing to change the name of the First Daughter to "3Com" for a price.

● Footnotes For Road Warriors: Since the U.S. and U.K. are two countries divided by a common language we offer the following definitions to improve the communications between Bloody Yanks and Limey Tea Bags: Pissed (pis'd) adj. — United States slang meaning ticked-off, upset, out of joint. Pissed (pis'd) adj. — United Kingdom slang meaning shit-faced, drunk, polluted, deep-in-ones' cups, sloshed.

● Quote of the Week: You know that a road warrior is in love rather than just "in lust" when he (or she) requests a laminate rather than a stick-on pass for their potentially significant other.
