CIC Sets Sillerman Keynote

OBERT F.X. SILLERMAN, THE chairman of SFX Entertainment, will present the keynote address at the CIC 5.0 gathering in February. Sillerman will share his vision for SFX and the future of the concert industry prior to the start of the major panels on February 12th at the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles.

The CIC speech will apparently be Sillerman's first industry appearance since SFX started its aggressive acquisition spree. In a little more than two years, he has changed the way the entire concert business looks upon itself. Understanding the dynamics at work in the SFX business strategy has clearly been the most talked about topic within the industry.

The CIC has sold out every year and in order to maintain the industry-only event's intimate character, the size has not been expanded. Judging by the influx of registrations so far, the 1999 event could well be at capacity before the end of the year.

Universal Concerts President Jay Marciano hands over a $75,000 check to benefit the Elton John AIDS Foundation. The check presentation was made after Sir Elton's sold-out show at The Coors Amphitheatre near San Diego.

Beach Boys Double Vibrations

S THE CONCERT INDUSTRY BIG enough for two incarnations of The Beach Boys? It's a question that may soon be answered as Mike Love goes out using the moniker and Al Jardine goes forward with plans to start touring in November as The Beach Boys as well.

The Beach Boys booked by talent buyers would depend on which agent they work with. The Mike Love version, which also includes Bruce Johnston, is booked by ICM and the Al Jardine version is booked by Paradise Artists.

While the whole thing may seem a bit confusing, Paradise's Bill Monot said there shouldn't be a problem. He told POLLSTAR that advertising for Jardine's tour will make it very apparent who the audiences will see.

However, longtime Beach Boys manager Elliott Lott isn't all that familiar with Jardine's plans and is concerned about confusing buyers. "It's something I have to investigate," he said.

Monot claims both Love and Jardine have been issued nonexclusive rights to tour as The Beach Boys but at press time, Lott wasn't so sure that was the case.

Dubbed the Family and Friends tour, Jardine's Beach Boys will include his sons, Matt and Adam; Brian Wilson's daughters, Carnie and Wendy; Dennis Wilson's son, Carl Benton Wilson; Mama Cass' daughter, Owen Elliot; and Captain & Tennille's Darryl Dragon.
Also in the lineup are longtime band members Ed Carter, Richie Cannata and Billy Hinsche.

Monot said the reason Jardine and Love aren't touring together is simply creative differences. "It's on a very friendly basis. They both really care about each other. It's all good vibrations."

A press conference to announce Jardine's Beach Boys tour is set for this month. The opening engagement of the tour is scheduled for November 5-11 at the MGM Grand in Las Vegas.

Pros On The Move

Steve Macfadyen's position as director of operations at the Oakland Coliseum was eliminated as of October 1st. Macfadyen had been with the California venue complex since 1995 and prior to that, he spent 15 years as one of the top production people at Bill Graham Presents. He is currently freelancing through S.M. Productions and can be reached at 510-530-9211.

PR veteran Ellyn Solis has launched a publicity firm, Flamegirl Productions. The New Jersey-based company handles publicity services, media coaching and consulting for clients including Melissa Ferrick, The Samples, Maceo Parker and W.A.R.? records. In her 14 years of experience, Solis has worked for 550 Music, Atlantic Records, Epic Records, The Howard Bloom Organization and Rogers & Cowan.

Christian Alexander has been appointed general manager of NEXT Ticketing. Alexander, a graduate of Denison University in Ohio, was previously the general manager of a Charlotte, N.C., Ticketmaster office. He replaces Ben Liss who departed October 1st.

International Festival. As executive director, he replaces Wes Brustad who resigned after serving 10 months in the position.

Holt starts October 15th at the helm of the nonprofit cultural organization, now in the most debtridden year of its 22-year history.

"I realize ... a lot of challenges lie ahead, and yet I feel very confident we're going to have a successful festival," he said.

The festival's biggest money maker is the Beale Street Music Festival. MIM's problems began last November when Mid-South Concerts was ousted as Beale Street's promoter over a revenue dispute. The festival, which traditionally split Beale Street profits with Mid-South, switched to a booking fee-only arrangement and hired Cellar Door to help out.

Mid-South prexy Bob Kelley worked to stage his own event to take place the weekend before MIM but when Kelley died in March, his alternate event was canceled.

Even without the competition, attendance at the Beale Street fest dropped by some 30,000 people, resulting in a $400,000 deficit. Brustad resigned days after MIM concluded.

Holt was most recently with Mike Atkins Management in Nashville. He was VP of Mid-South for 12 years then ran his own promotions firm, Holt Entertainment, for three years.

Political Showdown At The Apollo

N AN EFFORT TO HALT THE alleged mismanagement of Harlem's Apollo Theatre, New York Attorney General Dennis Vacco has filed suit to remove six members of the theatre's governing board including its chairman, Rep. Charles Rangel.

The October 1st lawsuit, filed in state Supreme Court in Manhattan, charges six of the Apollo Theatre Foundation members with poor management, leaving the Harlem venue in financial ruin. The complaint seeks to hold the members personally liable for the losses.

In response to the allegations, Rangel blasted Vacco's suit during an October 5th press conference where he accused the attorney general of playing politics to win votes for re-election.

The suit resulted from an investigation that began in May concerning the Apollo Theatre Foundation's financial relationship with Inner City Theater Group, the venue's primary tenant and producer of "It's Showtime at the Apollo."

According to the suit, the directors approved a contract in

JOHN FOGERTY puts a spit shine on his brand new star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame. The singer was honored October 1st for his contributions to American music as a founder of Creedence Clearwater Revival and as a solo artist.

December 1992 that allowed Inner City to pay less than it should have to produce the syndicated television show.

The directors are also accused of failing to collect money owed to them by Inner City, which is headed by Percy Sutton, a close friend and political ally of Rangel.

Earlier this year, the foundation reported it had received about $250,000 over five years from the production of the television show. However, the foundation's staff estimated the total should be closer to $3 million.

"As a consequence of these breaches of financial duty, the defendant directors and officers have permitted, and are personally liable for, financial harm caused to the foundation and to one of Harlem's and New York City's greatest assets," Vacco said in a statement.

The suit alleges when Inner City renewed its syndication contract in August, the directors did not act in a timely manner and never collected a $1 million payment owed to them. The attorney general's office said it resulted in the foundation suspending its operations, firing half of its staff and using reserve funds which left the theatre in poor financial status.

Coincidentally, the day the lawsuit was filed, Inner City paid the foundation the $1 million and will pay another $600,000 by year's end, according to Jim Capel, Rangel's chief staff assistant. The payment will allow the Apollo to rehire its laid-off employees and resume operations.

Yet, the rising battle between Vacco and Rangel may prove more heated than the lawsuit. Rangel has called the complaint "lousy," saying that Vacco has a "political job to do on me."

"I'm surprised that Dennis Vacco would stoop to this kind of politics," Rangel said. "I had no idea his re-election campaign was in such bad shape that he would attack the Apollo Theatre to gain votes upstate."

During the press conference, Rangel said the accused directors may file a countersuit. That decision should be announced this month.

The other board members named in the lawsuit are Arthur Hill, George Dalley, Rev. William James, Lloyd Williams and Richard Greene.

KPMG-Peat Marwick, the accounting firm that was recently hired to audit Livent's finances, is conducting the foundation's audit.

Bobby Did His Time

THE STOCKADE SUPERINtendent was peeved when Bobby Brown was released from the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., facility a few hours early.

Brown was to have been released from the stockade at 6 a.m. October 2nd after serving five days for drunken driving. But when facility superintendent Donna Stone arrived to see him off, he was already gone.

"I was angry when I came in," Stone said. "I came in purposely for this. We set it up yesterday."

Instead, Brown was released from the stockade at one minute past midnight, then taken to the main Broward County Jail. He sat in a holding cell for about two hours during final processing and was freed at 2:25 a.m., Stone said.

The singer surrendered at the main jail September 28th — arriving in a white convertible Rolls Royce.

Stone said Brown did little during his stay at the stockade, which houses 700-plus inmates. He went out to the recreation area on his first day and did not participate in anything else, she said. "He got a lot of rest."

Brown was visited by his brother, aunt and bodyguard but not his wife, Whitney Houston, according to the superintendent's secretary.

He slept in a dormitory-style setting along with 50 other inmates. Stone said the other prisoners were fascinated with Brown at first, but that wore off quickly. "I guess the inmates saw he was in there just like they were," she said.

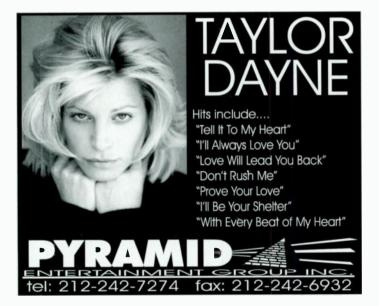

In addition to the jail time, Brown was sentenced to 12 months probation, fined $500 and his license was suspended for one year. He was ordered to spend 30 days in a residential drug and alcohol treatment center, undergo random drug testing, attend a DUI school and perform 100 hours of community service.

Brown must also pay for, produce and appear in a public service announcement about the dangers of drugs and alcohol.

A Slightly Different Shed

while the 1998 summer shed season was generally lackluster at best, some promoters achieved success by redefining their focus rather than just booking every event that came down the pike. Such was the case with the Merriweather Post Pavilion in Columbia, Md.

Seth Hurwitz and his company, I.M.P., book the Merriweather Post in conjunction with the Nederlander Organization. Blessed with no debt service, the booking team elected to only buy shows they felt confident about. Most sheds tend to book nearly every headliner offered in order to fill their limited operating schedule.

Compared to other sheds, the Merriweather Post Pavilion didn't host very many shows. Among the acts I.M.P. and Nederlander brought to the facility were Pearl Jam, Metallica, Widespread Panic, Third Eye Blind, Gipsy Kings, Creed and matchbox 20. They also booked the B-52's/Pretenders package, Lilith Fair and, with Metropolitan Entertainment, the Backstreet Boys. Other shows stopping at the venue this summer included Phish, Jimmy Buffett, Summer Jam '98, Capital Jazz Fest, Aretha Franklin, Allman Brothers Band, Newport Folk, and Mana — 18 concerts in all.

Similar sheds traditionally book far more than 18 shows per season.

Some of the events that stopped at many amphitheatres this year but not at Merriweather were the H.O.R.D.E. festival, Earth Wind & Fire, Rod Stewart, Santana, Lynyrd Skynyrd, Stevie Nicks, Steve Miller Band, and Van Halen. Merriweather does compete with Cellar Door's larger capacity Nissan Pavilion and a number of those shows opted to play that venue.

"Our goal is your basic quality verses quantity type deal," Hurwitz said. "Buying everything in sight is obviously the traditional amphitheatre booking policy.... We just [didn't want to] waste our time with shows that aren't very important." Hurwitz added that focusing on fewer shows made the Merriweather/I.M.P. shows the concerts not to miss during the summer.

In addition to selective booking, the Merriweather Post Pavilion has made several improvements to create a more enjoyable atmosphere. Hurwitz said, "It's about doing better business. We're already getting the acts, so now the focus is on making the Merriweather experience one of total enjoyment and escapism at every turn. While today's new sheds are huge concrete and steel behemoths, we have the advantage of taking Merriweather's 30-year history as a traditional, deep-in-the-woods atmosphere, and building on that."

One of the unique features added to Merriweather which really sets it apart is a bank of telephones that allows customers to make free local phone calls. "It really doesn't cost much and the fans really love it," Hurwitz said.

Some of the other improvements at Merriweather are a people-watching boulevard of benches connecting the concessions to the lawn area, redesigned parking facilities, an upgraded box office, restroom upgrades, widened pathways and gates throughout the property, improved sight lines, landscaping improvements, and an expanded general admission area to be used for festival villages.

Singer Sues Over Pothole Injury

AMOUS '40S AND '50S POP singer Margaret Whiting has filed a $3 million lawsuit after allegedly falling on a Manhattan street and breaking her knee and her sex life, as well.

Whiting is asking for $2 million for damages from her injuries while her husband, ex-porn star Jack Wrangler, is asking for $1 million for the loss of conjugal relations.

The songstress was apparently forced to miss several performances following the accident and still has to use a cane, according to attorney Jerome Katz.

Whiting, 73, contends that she suffered a broken knee when she stepped in a pothole in Manhattan on April 24th. Katz said she underwent surgery and was hospitalized for three weeks after the alleged accident.

The lawsuit, filed in Manhattan's State Supreme Court, alleges negligence and names the city, Consolidated Edison, and City Wide Asphalt Paving Co. as defendants.

Whiting starred in the 1997 Broadway musical "Dream," based on the songs of Johnny Mercer. Several of Whiting's hits were written by Mercer, including "Moonlight in Vermont" and "Black Magic."

Cotton Bowl Dome Plans

N LIGHT OF A potential bid to host the 2012 Olympics, Dallas Mayor Ron Kirk has halted the latest plans to renovate the Cotton Bowl in hopes of something more grand.

For the past three years, a private, nonprofit organization called the Cotton Bowl Dome Foundation has been working to make the stadium into a first-class facility. In August, the city's Parks and Recreation Board voted unanimously in favor of the foundation's "master agreement" for the stadium's upgrades.

The foundation hoped the renovation would increase the use of the 68-year-old stadium for concerts, trade shows, conventions, rodeos and an eventual Super Bowl or Final Four.

However, Mayor Kirk saw the opportunity as a chance to turn the Cotton Bowl into an Olympic-caliber venue.

"The Olympic bid is a very positive development that would bring about support for our project we might not otherwise get," said attorney Darrell Jordan, head of the foundation. "It gives new meaning and urgency to the whole thing."

The project is on hold for a couple of months while organizers determine which upgrades would be most beneficial. Some of the options include a retractable roof instead of a permanent one, a third deck to boost capacity to more

LEADING THE EFFORT to renovate the Cotton Bowl, attorney Darrell Jordan, head of the Cotton Bowl Dome Foundation, shows off a drawing of what the aging stadium may look like with a dome covering it. than 100,000 and the addition of luxury suites and club seats.

The United States Olympic Committee won't need specifics on the venue until 2000, which is around the time the foundation had hoped to commence its renovation. Organizers plan to finish construction in 2002.

With the added upgrades, the price tag is expected to exceed $200 million. But the foundation is not worried.

"If I can get the mayor to say to the corporate community, 'It's time to step up and help the Cotton Bowl Foundation fulfill their plan,' ... I think I can raise the rest of this money in a month or two," Jordan said.

The project, which requires no city funds, would pay for itself by putting back in every dollar it makes, he said.

So far, some $30 million has been pledged for packages of luxury suites, club seats and advertising in the stadium. Additionally, an in-the-works deal with Coca-Cola could bring in up to $18 million, Jordan said.

Death Row Book Generates Libel Actions

HREE MUSIC BUSINESS figures have sued the author and publisher of a new book about Death Row Records.

Former Ruthless Records business manager Jerry Heller, former Death Row Records exec Doug Young and one-time Funky Enough Records investor Tom Kline all allege that author Ronin Ro wrote a book that contains "statements [that] are false and tend to portray plaintiffs in a false light," according to SonicNet Music News.

They each sued separately for $20 million in general damages and an unspecified amount of punitive damages.

The book, "Have Gun Will Travel: The Spectacular Rise and Violent Fall of Death Row Records," was published by Doubleday in May. It examines the infamous gangsta-rap label and its CEO Marion "Suge" Knight. In the book, Ro tells stories of alleged beatings by Knight and his gangmember associates and quotes many unnamed sources.

Heller's suit alleges that the book falsely suggests that he cheated artists out of royalties, that he is "dishonest and not to be trusted" and that he is a criminal, according to SonicNet. The suit also questioned Ro's descriptions of Heller, claiming the book says he has "beady eyes," that he is "greedy and jealous of [Dr.] Dre" and that he employed "thugs."

Heller claims his good name, character, and personal and professional reputation have been held up to ridicule and contempt. He contends that Ro and Doubleday invaded his right to privacy and portrayed him in a false light. Heller's suit also claims he has suffered mental anguish, physical anguish, embarrassment and humiliation, in addition to the loss of prestige, respect and standing in the community. He claims the book has adversely affected his marriage, as well.

The other two suits contain similar allegations, such as exposure to ridicule, invasion of privacy and false portrayals. An attorney for the plaintiffs said a number of other people have contacted him about joining one of the suits, but no one has committed.

from "The Phantom of the Opera" shouldn't go to trial has been rejected by the Supreme Court.

Lloyd Webber was sued in 1990 by songwriter Ray Repp, who claimed the composer copied the melody of Repp's 1978 song "Till You" for "Phantom Song."

Lloyd Webber then filed a counterclaim contending that "Till You" was copied from his song "Close Every Door."

In seeking dismissal of Repp's suit, Lloyd Webber submitted a statement from a musicologist who said the disputed phrases of melody in "Phantom Song" came from Lloyd Webber's own songs that predated "Till You."

A federal judge dismissed Repp's lawsuit but the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals reinstated it. Both lower courts dismissed Lloyd Webber's counterclaim.

The appeals court said that although Repp presented "little, if any" evidence that Lloyd Webber had heard his song, Repp did provide enough evidence that the songs were similar to warrant taking the case to trial.

In the appeal acted on last week, Lloyd Webber's lawyers said that when two songs are similar, someone who sues still must give some evidence that the alleged plagiarizer heard the original song.

Two of Kenny Chesney's former supporters are suing him for half a million dollars. John Staley and Bob Thomas say Chesney signed a contract in 1992 assigning 20 percent of his income to their firm, Paradise Management. They say the singer breached his contract. Despite the lawsuit, the opposing parties are negotiating a possible settlement, according to a spokesperson for Staley and Thomas.

Johnny Cash is out of the hospital after his latest bout with pneumonia. The singer was released October 2nd from Nashville's Baptist Hospital, where he spent a week and a half. Cash nearly died from pneumonia last November. He is also battling Shy-Drager syndrome, a progressive nervous system disease that causes blackouts, tremors, and muscle stiffness, making it difficult to move.

Developers of a Fayette County, W. Va., entertainment complex have permission to expand their plans to include a new amphitheatre, among other things. Sun Mountain Enterprises learned September 30th that the Fayette County Commission approved business zoning for an additional 400 acres near Mount Hope. In addition to an amphitheatre, the proposed four-star Sun Mountain Resort along U.S. 19 would include an 18-hole golf course, a hotel and helicopter port.

A fire erupted in the early morning hours of September 18th, gutting a Portland, Ore., warehouse full of theatrical staging materials. No one was injured during the incident at the warehouse leased by R.A. Reed Productions, a Portland-based staging and scenery company. Damage has been estimated at around $900,000. More than 130 firefighters responded to the four-alarm blaze, the cause of which was undetermined.

CBS talk show host Tom Snyder had to wing the second half of "The Late, Late Show" September 23rd when Waylon Jennings hit the road moments before his scheduled live appearance. The singer was set to go on after talk show shrink Dr. Laura Schlessinger but apparently, her segment cut too much into his allotted time. When the commercial ended and Snyder introduced Jennings, there was only an empty chair. The host joked about interviewing his staff and then filled the time by taking calls. "I've been doing this for 40 years, since I was a kid in Milwaukee, and I've never had a guest walk out before I introduced him," Snyder said. Jennings claims he was told his segment would be at least 45 minutes. When it became apparent he was going to get less than 20 minutes of airtime, he left the studio.

The ground-breaking ceremony October 5th in the parking lot of the former theme park marked the launch of the 1.2 million-square-foot Opry Mills complex to be completed in spring 2000.

The Opry Mills project is expected to draw 17 million people in its first year, making it Tennessee's main tourist attraction. Opryland drew an average of 2.4 million people a year.

Anchor tenants will include a Virgin Megastore and an 18-screen Regal Cinemas movie theatre. Other tenants will include the Alabama Grill, which features the country band's music memorabilia, IMAX 3D Theatre, the Rainforest Cafe and Wolfgang Puck's Cafe.

Grand Ole Opry performers including Porter Wagoner were on hand for the ground-breaking along with Gaylord employees and city and state officials.

Opryland's January closure has drawn sharp criticism, especially from Nashville businesses that have seen a resulting slump in tourism. Mayor Phil Bredesen acknowledged that he was saddened by the announcement the park would close but now, he believes it was the right decision.

Bredesen said the theme park brought the city $1.2 million in sales taxes, while Opry Mills is expected to bring $7 million.

In other Gaylord news, it looks like Texas may get a touch of Opryland in the future. Gaylord Entertainment has announced plans to build the Opryland Hotel-Texas in Grapevine, between Dallas and Fort Worth. The plans call for a 1,500-room hotel and a convention center with 350,000 square feet of meeting and exhibit space. Pending approvals from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and Gaylord's board of directors, the estimated $300 million project could be completed in early 2003.

Also, Gaylord has dropped its plan to purchase the site of Jim and Tammy Faye Bakker's former Heritage USA theme park in South Carolina, citing the results of its due diligence process.

New Seattle Stadium Moves Forward

MASHINGTON STATE AND representatives of Seattle Seahawks owner Paul Allen have signed lease and development agreements for construction of the NFL team's new 67,000-seat stadium.

The agreements allow construction of the project's exhibition hall and parking garage to start immediately. The Kingdome is expected to be demolished in March 2000, clearing the way for construction of the stadium. The $430 million project is scheduled for completion July 31, 2002.

The state will own the stadium, parking garage and exhibition hall. Allen, who is putting up $100 million plus overruns, will build the complex and, as master tenant, operate it once it's finished. Allen had previously paid $200 million to buy the team and keep it in Seattle.

Allen's stadium development organization, First & Goal Inc., agreed to a 30-year lease with options for three 10-year extensions under the same terms.

The lease agreement allows Allen to establish ticket prices, select the concessionaires and retain nearly all revenue from stadium operations.

First & Goal also agreed to pay $1.75 million to buy art for the stadium. Actual building costs for the stadium will total about $335 million, according to state Public Stadium Authority spokeswoman Barbara Stenson.

First & Goal also guaranteed that Allen, who is worth about $21 billion, will be personally liable for its development obligations. The development company also agreed to $210,000 in annual premiums for earthquake and flood insurance, which would cover 40 percent of construction costs.

Officials with the Public Stadium Authority said they believe the lease and development agreements will protect the public's investment in the 67,000seat stadium, parking garage and exhibition hall.

"Assurances are in place to make sure the public is not unduly exposed," said Phil Kushlan, PSA's executive director.

Some PSA board members reportedly felt Allen's willingness to put his personal wealth on the line was the most noteworthy aspect of the agreements.

"I think it shows good faith on the part of both the public and private partners," PSA chairman Lorraine Hine said of the lease and development agreements.

Marilyn Manson's Parental Advice

ARILYN Manson has shocked his way into the limelight but Los Angeles Times writer Robert Hilburn said now that the rocker has grabbed everyone's attention, he is "proving to be an artist of substance."

In a recent interview with the Times, Manson had a few things to say to parents. "Anyone who blames music for their kids' problems

Manson served as quite the whipping boy last year as a wave of dark rumors about the band threatened to wipe out concert bookings and disrupt Manson's career.

But cities that wanted to ban Manson found themselves in a court battle. "If we hadn't fought back, I think there would have been the domino effect," manager Tony Ciulla told the Times. "What I was worried about was that if the opponents of the band said they don't want the band in the city, they might then say we also don't want the record in the stores."

After all was said and done in last year's battles, Manson is still touring and his new record, Mechanical Animals, is in stores. And surely it's no surprise that the album cover has shocked many with its depiction of the singer as a nude, androgynous mannequin.

But so be it, Manson said, even if it's just a wake-up call to get parents to talk to their kids.

"Every house that has a Marilyn Manson record probably also has a Bible and a history book and William Shakespeare's 'Romeo and Juliet," he said. "If anything is taken out of context, it can cause damage."

College Wants Arena Concerts

HE STUDENT-RUN entertainment commission at the University of Iowa has a message for the concert industry: The Carver-Hawkeye Arena is open for business.

The 15,500-capacity arena has not hosted a concert since Nine Inch Nails in 1994. "They had issues with the rigging not being up to OSHA standards," the commission's Ryan Barker told POLLSTAR. But a $300,000 renovation in the summer of 1997 brought the facility up to acceptable standards.

The student production company hopes to get back into the concert business as soon as possible. The organization thought it had landed the Dave Matthews Band last December but a scheduling conflict with commencement ceremonies halted those plans.

Barker said nothing is in the works at the moment but the students are working with Jam Productions and are looking forward to bringing concerts to Carver-Hawkeye soon. "We're just kind of getting in touch with the agencies and letting them know we're out there," he said.

However, he realizes competition is stiff. In recent years, major acts have skipped lowa City to perform at the Mark of the Quad Cities in Moline, Ill., the Five Seasons Center in Cedar Rapids and Hilton Coliseum in Ames.

Phillip Jones, VP of student services and dean of students, said the university supports the students. "You've got a group of college students trying to compete in an industry not known for being gentle," Jones said. "We are committed to helping students. At one time, the arena was considered the No. 1 venue in the region and I think it still can be."

Canadian Country

ONTINUING HER STREAK OF success, Shania Twain triumphed at this year's Canadian Country Music Awards, winning six of her eight nominations.

Twain's Come On Over garnered awards for best and top-selling album, while her hit "You're Still The One" earned single of the year. The artist also walked away with top female vocalist honors, best video and the fans' choice award.

The ceremony was hosted by Terri Clark and was held September 14th at Calgary's Jubilee Auditorium.

Twain's latest CD managed to beat out such country heavyweights as Garth Brooks, Tim McGraw, Trisha Yearwood and LeAnn Rimes for top album honors.

MAKING A RUN at the "Guinness Book of World Records" for playing 100 shows in 50 days, Jackyl puts on a parking-lot concert in Omaha, Neb., September 17th. The group, which recently released a greatest hits album, performs its set on a 48-foot trailer. Jackyl's roadtrip started September 11th in Chicago and is tentatively scheduled to end in Greenville. S.C.

Other winners of the event included Leahy for group of the year. The Celtic band has gained much public exposure in recent months, opening for Twain on her tour.

Paul Brandt was named top male vocalist for the second year in a row, Bruce Guthro received the Wrangler Rising Star Award and Jason McCoy's "Born Again In Dixieland" won the SOCAN song of the year. *

Bruce Springsteen arrives at London's High Court October 6th as he attempts to block the release of songs he recorded in 1972.

United Kingdom: BRUCE

Springsteen took a British music company to court October 6, seeking to prevent the release of a collection of early songs. Masquerade Music claims it has an agreement with a New York company with which Springsteen had a relationship. Masquerade says that agreement gives the company the rights to songs the Boss recorded in 1972. It wants to release the material on a CD titled Before The Fame.

Springsteen's lawyer, Nigel Davis, said the rock icon left most of those songs behind because they didn't meet his standards. He told the court that Masquerade's attempt to release the material was damaging to Springsteen because it was an attack on his artistic integrity.

• MICHAEL Flatley was back in the limelight last week when he appeared at the High Court in London, where he is being sued for around £10 million by his former manager. John Reid (who also managed Elton John until earlier this year) claims he was sacked by Flatley after helping the former Riverdance star launch the hugely successful rival show, Lord of the Dance.

Reid says he was fired early in the British run of the show, in January 1997, barely seven months after he was appointed. The contract in question was reportedly not due to expire until October 15, 1998. At the opening of the hearing, Flatley, who is worth an estimated £60 million, was described as a "well-known dancer of some considerable repute and undoubtedly a considerable talent in the dance field." The court will also hear Flatley's counterclaim against Reid for alleged deceit, and against his former solicitors for alleged professional misconduct.

As part of his defense, Flatley's allegations against Reid have stated that the management agreement was "procured by undue influence." He has also alleged that the contract represented an "unconscionable bargain" and was the result of "economic duress." Flatley is also claiming "repudiatory breaches" of contract of "such gravity that (he) was entitled summarily to terminate this contract."

One issue of complaint cited by Reid's counsel, John Englehart QC, was a fax from Flatley to Reid in December 1996, a few weeks before the sacking, in which he expressed his disappointment that no one from John Reid's office had called him to congratulate him on the Lord of the Dance video reaching No. 1. The case is expected to last about five weeks.

• ROBBIE WILLIAMS' FORMER manager, Tim Abbot, has called for an industry-regulated arbitration system to rule on disputes between management companies and their clients following the out-of-court settlement of his legal battle with the singer. Lawyers for Abbot's Proper Management and Williams reached agreement last month on a confidential settlement which is understood to have involved a six-figure payout to Abbot.

Abbot started legal proceedings against Williams two years ago, claiming £1.2 million in unpaid commission. The ex-Take That member claimed he had signed the management contract while drunk and without proper advice. Although satisfied with the outcome. Abbot commented that a formal arbitration process could save time and money for all concerned in such cases. Abbot started managing the singer in early 1996 and Williams signed to Chrysalis in June of that year, when he scored his first solo No. 1 with "Freedom." Williams terminated his management contract with Abbot that October, subsequently hiring IE Management.

This is one of three post-Take That lawsuits for Williams. Take That manager Nigel Martin-Smith sued him successfully in 1995, resulting in a £100,000 settlement with the boy band's record company, RCA. There is also the ongoing claim by Kevin Kinsella, who managed Williams just after the Take That split, before Abbot came on board.

• ASH PRECEDED THEIR IMMINENT U.K. road trip with a 24-hour tour of promo gigs. The band jetted around the country, courtesy of Virgin Airlines, playing four gigs at Virgin Megastores in London, Cardiff, Edinburgh and ending up in hometown Belfast.

This whistlestop tour will tie in with the release of their second album, Nu Clear Sounds, and they embark on a two-month European tour October 12. Earlier this year, Ash supported U2 at Belfast's Waterfront Hall in a concert to support the yes vote on the Northern Ireland referendum.

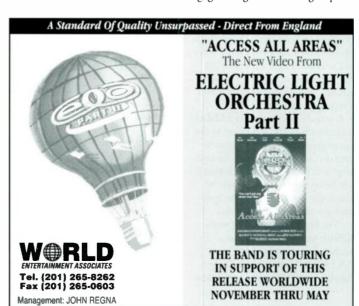

- DESPITE SUMMER SEEMING A VERY long way ahead, the first of next year's big open-airs (apart from the Rolling Stones' postponed shows) has gone on sale. Celine Dion announced her summer concert plans for 1999 at a Fort Lauderdale press conference. The first on-sale day for the July 10, 1999, Wembley Stadium date moved 20,000 tickets and news of a second concert can't be far away. The European tour so far includes nine dates around the continent.
- OTHER NEW TOURS ANNOUNCED this week include Duran Duran who will play 14 dates in the U.K. this December. Fellow Brummie stars of the '80s, UB40, will also embark on a pre-Christmas tour.

Getting more votes than even the Beatles, David Bowie was named the most important act of the last three decades in a poll conducted by London's Time Out magazine. Bowie, 51, released his first album 31 years ago and has reinvented himself many times during his influential career.

The Beautiful South will be back in arenas next spring, with the Barenaked Ladies supporting them, and Garbage have announced arena dates in January. Adding extra dates to existing tours are Rod Stewart, who is now playing 10 U.K. shows; The Corrs, who have added shows to their January tour; and Culture Club who have added an extra show at Wembley and one at the NEC in Birmingham for their pre-Christmas nostalgia tour with The Human League and ABC.

The Philips Monsters of Rock 1998 at the Pista de Atletismo do Ibirapuera in Sao Paulo, Brazil, was quite a show. More than 25,500 metalheads turned out to see Slayer, Megadeth, Dream Theater, Savatage and others. Celebrating the news that the gig grossed US$567,558 are Dave Kirby of The Agency Group, Dream Theater's John Petrucci, local promoter Jose Muniz Neto of Mercury Concerts, and Dream Theater tour manager Bill Barclay.

June. The Spice Girls, including Geri Halliwell, got the order after Attridge speculated in a newspaper story about the reasons Halliwell left the group.

He was ordered not to disclose any information about the Spice Girls' love lives, business affairs or spending habits. The Girls had sought jail time for Attridge, claiming he violated the order by failing to hand over confidential material in his possession.

A ruling had not been issued at press time.

Germany: The AUTUMN SEASON looks buoyant for Klaus Boenisch who set up independently as Boenisch Consulting only nine months ago. With Deep Purple back for 11 shows after a successful summer tour and Page / Plant playing four dates in Germany, it is a solid autumn outlook in a very busy and competitive market.

Boenisch was pleased to add dates at Oberhausen and Frankfurt to the two original Page / Plant shows he went on sale with. However, he says despite ticket sales for international acts being very healthy across the board, the market can still be quite unpredictable in certain areas.

"I'm finding it more and more difficult to estimate the local markets," he explained to POLLSTAR. "For example, Deep Purple played Hamburg – traditionally a good rock and roll city – but the 2,700 ticket sales were disappointing. Then in Dresden on a Tuesday night, the band sold 8,500 tickets. I wouldn't have expected that."

Boenisch is not restricting his consulting activities to music alone. He will be promoting five nights with the Harlem Globetrotters, who are looking to relaunch themselves as a family act, and he has a second boxing event in Munich coming up. He has also produced a classic car exhibition and is working with a major sports marketing agency on future projects.

• MODERNE WELT ARE FIELDING offers for Tangerine Dream who have announced European tour plans for next year.

Holland: This Year's Heineken Night of the Proms sold out in three hours. The concerts, featuring Wet Wet Wet and Lisa Stansfield, sold 100,000 tickets altogether over 10 shows. Although the timing didn't beat the 1997 sell out record of one hour, there are two additional concerts this year and only 10 tickets were allowed per ticket buyer, which slowed the process down just a little – by around two hours!

Italy: THE LIVE LINEUP FOR THE 1998 MTV Europe Music Awards was revealed last week and performers will include Madonna, Rammstein, R.E.M., Robbie Williams, Aqua, Five and multiple award nominees All Saints, who are currently looking for a temporary replacement for Melanie Blatt who will be maternally indisposed for their performance.

There will be a total of 10 performances taking place throughout the evening. There are 16 awards, including two new categories, Best Pop and Best Album, which will make it a long night.

MTV Europe President and Chief Executive Brent Hansen commented, "The music industry needs all the support that we and our viewers can give it, and MTV is proud to provide such a great showcase for existing and emerging talent." The awards show takes place at the Fila Forum in Milan November 12 before a live audience of 7,000.

Scandinavia: HULTSFRED FESTIVAL has announced the first artists on its summer 1999 bill. Sweden's biggest festival will run from June 17-19 and the Cardigans will be appearing alongside Linton Kwesi Johnson, Barusta and Yvonne.

• THE VENUE FOR THE WOMEX '98 showcase concerts has been changed to the München Exhibition and Conference Centre in Stockholm. The venue will have four stages dedicated to live world music performances. The programming of showcases and seminars will follow a similar format to previous WOMEX events in Marseilles, Brussels and Berlin.

The target group of the conference is the international world music market and therefore has a fairly broad remit. The 20 showcases will primarily feature new talent, with a variety of national influences, from Nordic to Mediterranean.

The München Brewery Exhibition and Conference Centre used to be the home of Sweden's largest brewery. In addition to the three stages located in the main exhibition halls, some showcase concerts will take place in the Riddarfjärds Theatre, a separate venue operated by the Royal Academy of Ballet in The München Brewery complex.

• SINGAPORE HAS FINALLY RELAXED its stringent laws covering concerts in the island republic. Audience members will finally be able to dance and stand up during concerts – but only if it is not violent or offensive. In the past, the country banned such behaviour to prevent any unrest or violence.

Rules governing attire worn by entertainers have also been relaxed. They will now have greater freedom in dressing as long as their breasts, buttocks and groins are not exposed. In May, Taiwanese singer Sherry Cheng A-mei ran afoul of the authorities when she left the stage to mingle with fans. Concert promoters were left liable to a $$50 fine for each hand she shook and the threat of their $$10,000 deposit being forfeited. The case is still under investigation.

• THE CHANGNING SHANGHAI OPERA Troupe recently introduced a unique share holding system to the opera production of "Women's Eyes" by selling shares at a price of 1,000 yuan each inside the troupe. With their playwrights, directors and performers as shareholders, rehearsal time was shortened and costs reduced.

"Women's Eyes" was performed over the Chinese National Day celebrations last week in Shanghai, Jiangsu and Zhejiang. It has taken the troupe two years to make preparations for the introduction of the new financial arrangement. Shareholders include playwright Zhang Wenlong, the director Du Yanqiu and leading performers Gu Chunrong, Fang Peihua and Wu Meiying. The new plan also attracted investors from the private sector. The share holding arrangement managed to pull in 120,000 yuan.

• ONE OF CHINA'S BEST-SELLING POP singers, Mao Amin, has been fined by the Beijing tax authorities and ordered to pay back taxes worth 1.4 million yuan (US$169,000), according to a report by the Liberation Daily. Mao, who made a name for herself singing television theme songs, was found by authorities to have under-declared income from performances she made between 1994 and 1996. This is the second time she has been accused of tax evasion.

China launched its crackdown on tax evasion by performers in the mid-1990s and has fined a number of prominent actors and actresses. However, Mao is the first to be prosecuted in court. If found guilty, she could face three to seven years in jail along with further fines and taxes.

• THE REUNITED COLD CHISEL DID its first "real" show in 15 years at Fanny's club in Newcastle. It was to be a low profile "word of mouth" return but a local radio station blabbed and 1,000 people packed the tiny club. The atmosphere was just like the old days, the band reported. They even had to get dressed on the staircase backstage because there were no dressing rooms.

The set went down so well that normally-reserved keyboard player Don Walker jumped on the piano and stomped on the keys at the end of the set. Chisel was the biggest band in Australia in the '80s, releasing records in the U.S. on Geffen and Elektra. They broke up at their peak in 1983 and turned down offers of up to $5 million to re-form. Their new album, The Last Wave Of Summer, had an advance order of 100,000 – an unprecedented achievement downunder.

Big Day Out, which broke Soundgarden, Tool, and Prodigy in this country, took a year-long break, with promoters Ken West and Vivian Lees citing exhaustion. The Beastie Boys were originally tipped to headline but put their visit back by some weeks until band member Adam Yauch's wife delivers their baby.

- BLONDIE RETURNS TO HEADLINE the Falls '98 festival in Lorne (an hour out of Melbourne) on New Years Eve. The band will do some club dates in other states.
- GOO GOO DOLLS WERE IN Australia this week to promote their Dizzy Up The Girl album after signing a fortnight ago to Festival Records. Coming next week are British swamp blues rockers Gomez.

- COLIN JOHN LATHAM, FORMER manager of the Cactus Club in Melbourne, has been jailed for 27 months for sexually assaulting a sleeping woman during a party.
- * Aussie Band Mr. Brown's CD master tape was stopped by U.S. customs on the way to a New York studio. It seems customs believed there was digital encryption on the master which, under U.S. law, is classed as munitions, an illegal import. Mixmaster Scott Hull (Springsteen, Garbage, Cure) had to play the CD, entitled Gooda, to the customs guys before they let it in.
- OLIVIA NEWTON JOHN IS BEING wooed by the ARIA organisers to arrive in Australia before her November tour begins to be a presenter for their October 20 awards night. Newspaper reports also have it that host Paul McDermott breathed a sigh of relief when he heard silverchair wouldn't appear this year. Last year, during the 'chair's set, a drumstick accidentally flew out of the drummer's hand and whacked the comedian right in the eye.
- FORMER REDGUM SINGER JOHN Schumann polled so well in the close-run Australian elections that it is possible he might topple Foreign Minister Alexander Downer in the South Australian seat of Mayo. Schumann, whose Redgum songs were highly political, might become the minority Democrats party's first House Of Representatives member.

- YOU WOULDN'T EXPECT AC/DC TO admit liking Johnny Cash. So it's strange that Screaming Jets all tattoos, leather pants and powerful guitar riffs are on the charts with a country song called "Cunnamulla Feller." The song is taken from a tribute album to bush legend Slim Dusty, whose 50-year career has yielded 90 albums.

Said singer Dave Gleeson, "I'm actually a country music fan. I've got Garth Brooks' autograph. I went to see him twice on his last tour here. When it came time for us to doing the Slim track, I wanted to do his song 'The Biggest Disappointment (In The Family Was Me).' That's been my personal theme song since I was 12."

► Selling CDs online, already a highly competitive growth biz on the Web, will become even more prolific with media giant Bertelsmann AG's announcement of an agreement with bookseller Barnes & Noble. The companies are entering into a joint venture to sell books and music through the latter's Web site (www.barnes&noble.com).

Bertelsmann will pay $200 million for a 50 percent share of the Barnes & Noble online operation and will contribute U.S. resources from its previously announced BooksOnline service. Both parties will contribute $100 million in capital. The new venture was cited as the reason for postponing barnes&noble.com's planned IPO.

With more than 700,000 customers worldwide, Barnes & Noble generated sales of $22 million for the six months ending August 1, 1998. Bertelsmann plans to launch its BooksOnline next month in several European countries and will work with Barnes & Noble in offering shoppers a multitude of books in several languages.

While a major player in the physical world, Barnes & Noble has not been as successful in cyberspace, coming in second to Web merchandising pioneer Amazon.com (www.amazon.com), which only recently started selling CDs through its established online bookstore site.

▶ Maybe it was already planned, but talk on the street was that the Barnes & Noble / Bertelsmann deal was the impetus for the current merger talks between N2K's Music Boulevard (www.musicboulevard.com) retail site and CDnow (www.cdnow.com). Both companies have acknowledged they are talking but no deal has been made. A merger of the two sites would result in the largest online music retail store on the Net, with about 45 percent of all online CD sales going to the new mega-merchandising entity.

But it's not enough to sell the most CDs. All the online companies have been battling for turf, striking costly deals in attempts to increase brand recognition. And none of them have been operating profitably. Part of the motivation for the merger may be because Wall Street is rumored to be hesitant about an additional round of financing to keep N2K afloat.

CDnow reported an $8.9 million loss on sales of $11.6 million during the second quarter. N2K reported a loss of $16.4 million on sales of $10 million. CDnow and N2K are selling a lot of CDs but both companies are also spending lavishly. They have attempted to increase name awareness on the Net through special deals with online services like America Online (www.aol.com) and exclusive positioning with search engines.

▶ The Walt Disney Company wants to be exempt from a proposed law aimed at keeping online pornography away from children. Disney, a name synonymous with family entertainment, is objecting to the wording of the proposed law which would require commercial Web sites to verify an adult's age before showing material "harmful to minors."

Disney, as well as the Motion Picture Association of America and other groups, is lobbying Congress to try to change the wording so that the law would only affect companies that display pornographic material "as its primary or principal course of trade or business." The concern is that the proposed law's original wording might hamper entertainment companies and their operations on the Net.

- ▶ Motorola wants to get into the Internet Radio swing of things. According to Reuters, the technology company has formed a subsidiary, RadioWave.com (www.radiowave.com), which will operate as a separate entity. Motorola was an early investor in broadcast.com back when it went under the name AudioNet.
- ▶ An early chapter of Web history came to a close as Lycos Inc. (www.lycos.com) acquired Wired Digital for $83 million in stock.

Once upon a time, Lycos was among the first search engines on the Web and Wired Magazine, under the tutelage of co-founder Louis Rossetto, was the only magazine that mattered to the digerati of the early '90s.

Faced with mounting losses, Rossetto stepped down as CEO of Wired Ventures in July 1997 and the magazine was eventually sold to Conde Naste Publications last May. Rossetto then devoted his energy to the online side of Wired but apparently, his services won't be needed once the Lycos deal is completed.

Lycos, which positions itself as a Web portal, offering free e-mail, shopping, chats, news and travel info, will acquire the popular HotBot search engine plus other Wired Digital features such as Suck.com, Web Monkey and Wired News, which attract 5 million pairs of eyeballs each month.

ack home in Australia, The Superjesus represents the creme of the new rock crop. The band is a big headlihing act with two ARIA awards, a smash hit album night as a new challenge to get these people on our side.

and radio airplay galore. In the U.S., The Superjesus opens for other bands in clubs and small theatres and singer/ guitarist Sarah McLeod couldn't be happier.

"I love it. I look forward to going out on stage every night. I see each night as a new challenge to get these people on our side," she said. Once the band is a couple of songs into their set, McLeod takes a moment to talk to the crowd and answer the calls of "Where are you from?"

The Superjesus was spawned in Adelaide three years ago but they became famous on a national scale without ever hitting it big on the hometown scene. Frankly, McLeod, guitarist Chris Tennent, bassist Stuart Rudd and drummer Paul Berryman could hardly get a gig in Adelaide. When McLeod would call clubs asking if they wanted a demo tape, the answer was almost always, "No, we're not interested." But it wasn't long before The Superjesus was avenged.

"We played live maybe eight times before we were suddenly on the Big Day Out tour, got played nationally on the radio and got a major record deal," McLeod said. "We didn't break in Adelaide." Instead, they broke all over the country. A couple of the songs on the demo tape nobody wanted were suddenly getting heavy radio airplay and would go on to win major national awards. Their debut album, Sumo, entered the Australian charts at No. 2 and has gone well beyond platinum downunder.

Now, when The Superjesus tours in Australia, they do it their way, with a full-on production, a big PA and a light show befitting a rock band of their stature. Touring the U.S., however, is another matter. "The first time we really toured in America was earlier this year," McLeod said. "Some gigs we'd do with bands that were quite well known and we'd do OK, and other times, we'd do shows on our own and obviously, no one would come because no one knows who we are."

The band's most recent U.S. tour was a much more positive experience. They just ended a stint opening for Local H, a gig that was right up their alley. "This tour was way better because Local H is great. Their crowd is totally our type of crowd and really got into the music. There were tons of people to watch us play, so it was much easier. It was a really great tour for us to be on," she said.

When The Superjesus returns to the States for an early 1999 tour, McLeod hopes the band will be opening for another cool act. "We're not ready to headline here. It's still too early. Our career in America is going like we thought it would. We're just going to stay on the road and tour."

Don't underestimate this band's commitment to breaking in the U.S. The four bandmates have a house in Los Angeles and one of their managers has relocated to L.A. to better guide their Stateside career. "Our managers (Dan Hennessy and Steve Betts of Aloha Management) are totally on the ball," said McLeod. "If we didn't have them, we probably wouldn't even be touring nationally in Australia. They've had it all sussed out from early on. Originally, they were both based in Sydney but Dan moved to L.A."

She said the band members are equally pleased with their U.S. booking agent, David Viecelli – better known as Boche – at The Billions Corp. "Boche is really well-respected and we liked The Billions Corp. better than anyone else. People booked the band on Boche's word even if they didn't know anything about us."

The bandmates themselves didn't think twice about relocating to the States for an extended stay. "It wasn't really a decision. From the time we signed the record contract, we knew we would come to America and do this. We have this great opportunity, so why the hell would we not do it?" McLeod even gave up her home in Australia. "I have a car there and that's about it. I'd like to have a home but, hey, you can't have everything."

The Superjesus is about to return to Australia for a national tour and they're taking some distinctly American memories with them. There was the show in Las Vegas

Warner Bros. 818.846.9090 where their set was followed by a contest where bikini-clad women rode a mechanical bull. And in Cincinnati, they played in a laundromat. "Actually, it was a half bar, half laundromat where people would put in their wash then sit back, have a beer and watch a band," said McLeod."I had all my stuff in the washing machine while we were doing the gig. I was joking to the crowd about how we always tell our management to get us hotels with laundry but maybe they went too far this time."

Next year, when McLeod and company come back to the States, they'll have to make the transition from famous rock stars to little-knowns all over again. That's a good thing, she said. "Yeah, I like that aspect of it. It makes us have to find that thing in the music that was there from the very beginning. It's really made us dig deeper and rediscover what really makes us want to do this." *

Everclear has limited avails and wants to play colleges across the country between mid-February and mid-March. Dead Can Dance will be touring in the spring, primarily during the month of May in major markets across the upper East Coast through the Midwest and down the West Coast. They will accept a few choice school dates, so call for them now. Sunny Day Real Estate are back together and selling out everywhere. They have avails from limited West Coast in December through April across the country. They are particularly interested in schools in spring. Asian Dub Foundation return to the States fresh from supporting the Beastie Boys. Their debut album will be released November 2nd on London Records, coinciding with several CMJ dates in New York on November 5th and 6th. Then they'll hit the road in mid-January through February to play major markets and are looking for support or to package. ~ Love & Rockets are back! Their new album, Lift, hits the streets October 13th and their single "Holy Fool" is hitting the airwaves now. After their Bauhaus commitments, they'll be touring in early 1999 and are looking to package. Watch out for some special holiday radio show appearances in December.

ABA:

MICHAEL KELLEY

Fresh off the Voodoo Glow Skulls tour, Dr. Dream/PolyGram recording artists Welt have avails in the East just after CMJ. Agent Orange are available for select dates in the West. Black Oak Arkansas featuring founding members Jim Dandy, Rickie Reynolds and Pat Dougherty are generally available everywhere for the holiday season and the coming winter. Just off an amazing club tour and heading out for more is Zappa / Vai guitarist, Mike Keneally and Beer for Dolphins. ~ At the finish of The SKAvaganza tour, Moon Ska recording artists Mobtown and Regatta 69 will be separately available for dates in the West and East respectively. Justice recording artists Carolyn Wonderland & The Imperial Monkeys are available in the South beginning November 10th. Fear has two avails left on their West Coast tour for the central California area. After they finish their tours with Mike Watt and Built to Spill, Alias recording artists Caustic Resin are available in the West or as part of a cool package. Amphetamine Reptile recording artists Chokebore are available in the West beginning in November, as are Honky featuring Jeffrey Pinkus of the Butthole Surfers. Australian punk legends The Saints will be touring in the winter on their new Triple X record and dates are being booked now and support solicited. Lastly, Pavement recording artists Malevolent Creation have a new record coming at the end of October and tour plans are in effect for after the holidays.

METRO TALENT GROUP: CASS B. SCRIPPS

The Blue Dogs continue to win fans on the Atlantic Coast and look forward to a much deserved break in December after logging over 200 dates this year. Gibb Droll is back on the road with a new band and a new sound thanks to recent work with producer John Kurzweg (Creed). Gibb heads to the Rockies and Midwest in December. Skwzbxx has been enthusiastically welcomed at festivals and clubs all summer. Look for a quick trip to the Northeast, then regional touring until the end of the year. Vallejo tours east of the Mississippi with Brother Cane through the end of the year in support of their sophomore release on TVT Records. Beautiful Life.

BETWEENTEDates

A Very Charmed Tour

➤ Third Eye Blind is making the most of its fall tour. The band will have fellow modern rock faves Eve 6 in tow and MTV is backing the outing, which will stop at more than 20 colleges across the country.

At each stop, MTV will host a daytime interactive festival where students can preview new music videos, audition for MTV shows and experiment with computer-generated music applications.

The tour starts October 24th at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, but MTV will get a jump on things when a tour kick-off special airs on the music channel October 22nd. The TV show will feature new videos from both bands, interviews and ticket information. Highlights from the MTV Campus Invasion tour will be broadcast throughout the fall

HOTTER THAN ROCKABILLY

➤ The rebirth of swing has been very good for the career of one former Stray Cat. The Brian Setzer Orchestra will embark on its biggest tour ever starting October 27th in St. Louis. The group will be on the road through mid-December playing major theatres, ballrooms, casinos and even a few small arenas.

A Pause For Refreshments

➤ Citing drug problems, The Refreshments have announced their breakup after five years together. The band recently dismissed guitarist Brian Blush for drug-related reasons and bassist Buddy Edwards left the group earlier this year.

The Tempe, Ariz.-based four-piece had recorded three albums, selling more than 500,000 copies, and penned the theme song to Fox's "King of the Hill." The two remaining band members are reportedly working on a new project together.

The Second Age Of Aquarius

➤ Thirty years after its premiere, the original creators of "Hair" are reviving the rock musical for a three-year, 27-city tour. This time around, the show will be part of Hair - The Festival, a performing arts village with entertainment activities and vendors complimenting the hippie atmosphere.

The announcement of the tour was made by the musical's original producer, Michael Butler, who with Paul Leighton, serves as co-chairman of the Tribe management and venture capital firm.

The traveling extravaganza will include musical performances by established and new artists, speeches by political and social activists, recreations of Greenwich Village and Haight-Ashbury, and a multimedia retrospective narrated by Walter Cronkite, among other things.

Organizers will work with local producers to customize the environment for each stop on the tour.

Hair - The Festival will debut in San Francisco next spring. Other cities on the tour include San Diego, Phoenix, Chicago, New York City, Boston, Washington D.C. and Los Angeles.

Hot New Tours

➤ The Bouncing Souls visit Australia for two weeks starting November 21st..... Midge Ure does the U.K. starting early next month Jello Biafra is in the midst of a spoken word tour in Europe..... The Warren Brothers have dates through next month.. Econoline Crush is out through October Neko Case plays clubs into November The Waltons are out on a Canadian tour Rick James has dates through the end of the year... The Statler Brothers are on the road into November The Mekons play clubs this month and next Diva Des'ree tours Europe in November and December..... A Christmas Celebration, featuring Twila Paris, Crystal Lewis, Avalon and Anointed, starts November 27th.... A December To Remember with Point Of Grace, 4Him, Wayne Watson and Scott Krippayne has some dates in November and December Rob Zombie takes his tour to Europe in December..... Celine Dion has announced a European stadium tour commencing June 3rd in Frankfurt, Germany.. Look for tours by Madball, Starfish, 12 Rods, Anotha Level, Buddy Greco, Cobalt 60, Push Stars, Cornelius, Deicide, Kenny Neal, Liberator, Ian Moore Band, The Cruel Sea, The Church, and the Debbie Davies Band. *
