Harborlights Finds A New Home

Doston's HARBORLIGHTS Pavilion has found a new home. The concert tent will be up and running by next spring at Wharf 8 on the harbor, according to promoter Don Law.

"We shouldn't miss a beat," he told POLLSTAR.

When Harborlights was dismantled following the summer season last month, there was some uncertainty as to when or if it would be erected again. The fiveyear lease on the venue's original Fan Pier location had expired and the owners of that site were intent on developing it for other uses.

Law was looking at a few different locations but said Wharf 8 was the most accommodating. "It has all the same advantages in terms of spectacular views and being right on the harbor," he said. "It's one of the few parcels left of open space right on the inner harbor and it's much easier for us to develop."

Law said the site is centrally located and is largely vacant. "It's really basically ready to go. All we have to do is take down a couple of small vacant buildings and put it up."

TAKING ADVANTAGE of the U.S. government's lift on a ban preventing citizens from going to Beirut, Lebanon, brothers Stewart and Ian Copeland visit some of their old stomping grounds, or what's left of them anyway. The brothers Copeland 'including Miles' went to school in Beirut for nine years and left as teenagers in 1966. You'll have to buy lan's book, Wild Thing, for all the sordid details.

When Harborlights is erected at Wharf 8 next spring, it will undergo improvements including a capacity expansion to more than 5,000, Law said. The tented facility will also have no posts inside, providing for an unobstructed view from all seats.

With the new improved venue, Law expects to extend the length of Harborlights' concert season, as well. "I think we'll probably have more dates and a longer time period to be open," he said.

Law and parent company SFX Entertainment have a 10-year lease on the Wharf 8 site.

Mark Nieto filed suit October 19th in Contra County Superior Court in California. He is seeking unspecified damages for medical expenses and lost wages.

Nieto contends he was "not aware of warnings for ear damage" when he attended the Boston band's show last October at the city-owned shed in Concord. He says his ears ring continuously as a result.

"We'll look into it, but this is a new one," said City Attorney Richard Doyle. "This is a first." According to the San Francisco Chronicle, the suit also names as defendants unidentified sound techs and a concert promoter, presumably Bill Graham Presents.

El Marquee de SFX

Ew YORK Yankees rookie pitcher Orlando "El Duque" Hernandez has signed with El Marquee, a Marquee Group company.

The pitcher, who gained worldwide attention when he defected from Cuba late last year, will be represented by Marquee for all marketing opportunities.

El Duque was the star pitcher of Cuba's national team when he was banned from the sport in 1996 for allegedly planning to defect.

"El Duque was one of the athletes we had in mind when we formed El Marquee earlier this year to provide comprehensive marketing services to Hispanic personalities and performers," said Robert Gutkowski, president and CEO of Marquee. El Duque's

Darin Murphy has shuttered his Darin Murphy Associates booking agency to go to work for CAA Nashville. CAA's Tom Ross told POLLSTAR Murphy is in the process of either finding new homes for his clients or familiarizing CAA with their music. Those clients include Jimmy Dale Gilmore, Mary Cutrufello, Jolene, Marah, and Pernice Brothers. Murphy's booking territory at CAA will be determined shortly.

Tacoma Dome Director John Croley has joined Full House Sports & Entertainment as director of entertainment. Full House is the business arm of the NBA's Seattle SuperSonics. Croley will work on expanding the company's concert, event and entertainment business. He spent the last four years as executive director of public assembly facilities in Tacoma, which includes Cheney Stadium, the Tacoma Convention Center and the Tacoma Dome.

Tina Pollini has left her post as head of the artist relations department at Maverick Records and has joined the team at Bill Silva Presents. Pollini worked at Maverick for three years. Prior to that, she was with Universal Amphitheatre/MCA Concerts for four years. Pollini also spent a year on the road with Depeche Mode as tour liaison. Details of her responsibilities at BSP will be announced in coming weeks.

Michael Ovitz is attempting to recruit two of Hollywood's top managers for a new "multifaceted entertainment venture," the Los Angeles Times reported. The former CAA super agent is luring managers Rick Yorn and sister-in-law Julie Silverman Yorn, both of whom are attempting to break their contracts with Keith Addis and Nick Wechsler's Industry Entertainment to join the project. The Yorns represent numerous hot young actors including Cameron Diaz, Leonardo DiCaprio, Steve Buscemi, Matt Dillon and Minnie Driver. Ovitz has reportedly guaranteed the two a stake in his new business.

Yankee teammate Jorge Posada is also a client of El Marquee.

In other news, SFX Entertainment and the Marquee Group have amended the merger agreement regarding the proposed acquisition of Marquee by SFX.

In the amended agreement, Marquee shareholders will receive 0.1111 shares of SFX Class A stock for each share of Marquee common stock. However, the number of shares may change due to fluctuating stock prices.

The transaction remains subject to approval by Marquee shareholders as well as certain regulatory requirements. It is anticipated that the Marquee shareholders' meeting will be held in December.

Arena Demolition Delayed

THE ARENA IN ST. LOUIS, which was known as the Checkerdome for much of its life, will remain standing — for the moment. A judge ruled October 14th that the city cannot level the vacant building without approval of the Board of Alderman.

Opponents of the demolition would like to see the structure house an aquarium while Mayor Clarence Harmon plans to seek aldermanic support for his plan to flatten The Arena and develop an office park on the site.

The city bought the 69-year-old landmark for $15 million, still owes $6 million on the property and is paying $50,000 a month on its mortgage, so it's easy to see why Harmon has sought demolition and development.

Those against the demolition, however, filed suit last month alleging that a redevelopment plan adopted in 1986 forbids The Arena's destruction. Circuit Judge John Riley rejected the city's contention that the plan was broad enough to allow demolition of the structure.

The aldermen voted unanimously to support the citizen group's lawsuit but that won't keep Harmon from seeking their support.

"If a convincing argument is made, I suspect that the mayor could get his votes to demolish the building," Aldermanic President Francis Slay said.

Improper Autograph Method

ETHOD MAN WAS arrested in Memphis October 18th when he fled from police after what was apparently an impromptu autograph signing session in the middle of a busy street. He had performed earlier at the MTV Sports & Music Festival.

According to the police report, the rapper, whose real name is Clifford Smith, ran from officers as a crowd tried to block his arrest.

Police said the episode began when officers saw Smith standing in the street, holding what appeared to be an alcoholic beverage.

"The defendant was walking between all three lanes of traffic on Third, causing traffic to stop, enticing bystanders to crowd into the street," the report said.

When police approached, Smith refused to stop. He cursed at officers and then ran into a nearby restaurant where several people held the doors shut against the police, the report said. He then ran into a hotel through a connecting door as an officer pursued him.

Smith stopped, turned and raised a plastic flashlight in his right hand, according to police. Fearing he would be struck, Officer W. Cleveland sprayed the rapper with pepper gas.

Cleveland said Smith refused to be handcuffed and about two dozen people approached, with some trying to pull Smith from the officer's grasp, according to The Commercial Appeal.

The paper said Cleveland backed the rapper out the door while the crowd followed, growing to about 100 people. Five officers reportedly arrived to help.

Smith disputed some points of the police report. He said he went into the hotel but started back out "to see what the problem was.... And before I can say anything, he just maced me."

He said the plastic flashlight was a promotional tour item and he was trying to wipe the pepper spray from his eyes, not resist arrest.

Smith said police overreacted and breaking out the pepper spray was "highly unnecessary."

However, the rapper reportedly pleaded guilty to misdemeanor charges of obstructing traffic and resisting official detention. He was sentenced to one day in jail and released on time served.

He had spent two hours in the Shelby County Jail after his arrest.

CHARGES AGAINST RAPPERS Big Pun and Fat Joe were dismissed in a Bronx courtroom October 16th when the supposed victim refused to continue with the case.

According to a spokesperson for the Bronx District Attorney's office, the victim did not want to testify; subsequently, the charges were dropped.

The performers were charged with numerous misdemeanor and felony crimes stemming from an alleged beating of a man during New York's Puerto Rican Day Parade in June.

In other legal news, one of Big Pun's security guards faces a pretrial hearing in an Oakland County, Mich., court November 24th, a court spokesperson said.

Security guard Felix Cabrera is accused of firing a gun inside

The Industry nightclub in Pontiac, Mich., during Big Pun's July 9th show.

If convicted, Cabrera faces up to four years in prison.

Buffett's Cheesy Rift

IMMY BUFFETT WAS IN HAWAII last week hoping to settle a lawsuit against a couple of restaurant owners.

The singer filed suit last year against the owners of the Cheeseburger in Paradise restaurants on Maui and Oahu, accusing them of using the title to his song without permission.

Also at issue is the public's perception that Buffett is somehow involved with the restaurant.

Last month, a federal judge in Los Angeles ruled that a trademark on the name held by the restaurant owners was invalid. However, the judge did not rule out allowing the owners to keep using the name.

Buffett was expected to meet with the restaurateurs last week to discuss a possible settlement.

He told the Honolulu Star-Bulletin, "I want them to pay my legal fees, and I want my name back."

Advantix Inc. has announced the acquisition of Madison, Wis.-based Protix Inc., a ticketing software and service company. The combined companies will serve an estimated 1,400 venues worldwide, processing more than 100 million tickets and generating gross sales of $2 billion. The recently acquired company will be known as Advantix-Protix; Peter Hanson will remain as president. Protix's clients include the Texas Rangers and the Daytona International Speedway.

Guitarist Robert "Waddy" Wachtel pleaded no contest October 15th to possessing child pornography on a computer. He was given three years probation and ordered to pay $100 restitution and make a $2,500 donation to a children's charity. He was also ordered to register as a sex offender and undergo six months of psychological counseling, according to the L.A. City Attorney's office. An identical misdemeanor charge against Wachtel's wife, Annie, was dismissed. The couple had been arrested in July by the police department's Sexually Exploited Child Unit.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer agreed last week to purchase PolyGram's film library from Seagram Co. for $250 million. The deal covers 1,300 of the collection's 1,500 films, giving MGM the world's largest film library. Seagram had wanted to sell the movie division in order to help offset the company's $10.4 billion purchase of PolyGram. The MGM-PolyGram deal comes after weeks of roller-coaster talks between Seagram and the studio owned by Kirk Kerkorian.

Ex-Marilyn Manson guitarist Scott Putesky, known to fans as Daisy Berkowitz, has settled his $15 million lawsuit against his former band. Though exact details of the October 8th settlement were not disclosed, Putesky told allstar online magazine he was "very satisfied" with the results. He filed suit in September of last year alleging he was "wrongfully excluded" from Marilyn Manson's album AntiChrist Superstar. Since leaving the band, Putesky has joined up with Risk Records group Jack Off Jill.

The Wu-Tang Clan and its Loud Records imprint are facing a reported $6 million lawsuit filed by a woman claiming she was imprisoned by the hip-hop artists during a video shoot. According to SonicNet, Bridget Gray is suing for assault, false imprisonment and battery, among other charges. Details of the lawsuit, filed October 6th in Los Angeles County Superior Court, were not available. Loud Records could not be reached for comment.

Jerry Garcia's second wife, Carolyn "Mountain Girl" Adams Garcia, has accepted a $1.5 million settlement from the late Grateful Dead frontman's estate. The settlement ends Adams' dispute over her divorce from Garcia. A judge awarded her $5 million last year in a case that pitted her against Garcia's widow, Deborah Koons Garcia. That judgement was under appeal when Adams Garcia agreed to end the fight and accept the lesser amount.

Johnny Cash has been released from a Nashville hospital after a stay to determine how to best treat his Shy-Drager's Syndrome, a disease that attacks the nervous system. He spent about a week at Baptist Hospital before his release October 17th.

The PGA Tour has enlisted the services of the Nederlander Organization to provide design and production services for golf tournaments. The company will develop a number of interactive golf-themed attractions. Nederlander will be a part of the upcoming World Golf Championships being held in San Diego, Akron and Spain.

The Rock and Roll Hall of Fame lost $1.37 million last year, according to its first annual report. Revenues for 1997 totaled $16.8 million which was down 17 percent from 1996. Attendance dropped from 867,000 in 1996 to 615,000 last year. The numbers are not cause for alarm, according to Don Tomoff, finance director of the hall. He said 1996 was a big year because the museum had just opened, "so some dropoff is expected."

Toni Braxton wants to make it clear that the missing BMW roadster is not her car. "This suit does not involve any car of mine, but rather one leased by Cosandra Calloway, a young woman who used to work for me," the singer said in a statement. Earlier this month, Braxton was named in a lawsuit filed by Financial Services Vehicle Trust, which is trying to repossess the $31,000 vehicle because payments are a year overdue. Braxton had co-signed the lease for Calloway.

HARLEM'S FAMED APOLLO THEATRE

struggles to be a viable venue and landmark in the area. In its heyday, the Apollo was the Gotham showcase room for many top-name acts. However, the venue's deteriorating condition is a sign of the hard times it is currently experiencing.

Hard Times At The Apollo

N SPITE OF NEW YORK CITY'S economic boom, Harlem's Apollo Theatre has seen better days.

A crumbling facade, deteriorating interior and an allegedly incompetent board of directors are just a few of the problems facing the historic venue.

"It's a 1,400-seat theatre that's used twice a week. There's something wrong with that," state attorney general Dennis Vacco said.

The attorney general is leading a fight to remove six of the 10 board members of the Apollo Theatre Foundation, which manages the venue. Vacco claims mismanagement has cost the theatre some $4 million in revenue.

And money seems to be the theatre's greatest problem. The venue has two running shows, "Showtime at the Apollo" and an amateur-night gig. Occasionally, the Apollo will host gospel productions and religious revivals.

However, a lack of funds is leading the theatre to a slow demise.

Last year, the foundation kicked off a five-year campaign to raise $30 million for renovations and the creation of a preservation trust fund. Records show donations have fallen woefully short. Meanwhile, state and city officials have held up loans and grants over questions about the use of state and federal aid.

Alter i a

"The Apollo is falling apart and looks like it's about to die," said Evelyn Cunningham, one of four board members Vacco wants to keep.

The theatre opened in 1914 and went on to host big-name stars such as Count Basie, Nat King Cole, Billie Holiday and Bill Cosby. Yet, acts began to stray from the Apollo and the venue closed and declared bankruptcy during the '70s.

In 1982, the theatre was granted landmark status and reopened but has struggled ever since. "This is almost like taking a couple of stars out of the American flag," James Brown said about the theatre's potential demise. "That's like tearing down the White House."

A Mammoth Shed Idea

SMALL CONCERT promoter in Mammoth, Pa., is hoping to build a 23,000seat amphitheatre for country music at the Westmoreland County Fairgrounds.

Dennis Cerilli has already had some success with events including a rib-cooking contest and an Oktoberfest at the fairgrounds through his company, Mid-Atlantic Promotions.

Officials say Cerilli is hoping to duplicate the success of the nearby Star Lake Amphitheatre in Washington County, which attracts crowds of more than 20,000 for Pittsburgh area concerts.

Promoter Rich Engler of DiCesare Engler Productions called the idea of a second, similar venue "brave."

"This area would definitely not support another amphitheatre of that size," he said.

The fairground board will vote on the $7.2 million proposal

October 26th and may hear from opponents, including neighbors who have concerns about noise and traffic.

Judge Takes No Jive From Rapper

FTER A MONTH'S TIME, Keith Murray remains a fugitive from the law in Connecticut and now, Jive Records says the release of the rapper's upcoming album, It's a Beautiful Thing, has been pushed back to December 15th because of sample clearance problems.

Murray was ordered to turn himself in by September 24th to begin serving three years of incarceration for an assault charge but apparently, no one has heard from the rapper in a month.

He was convicted after a May 1995 melee at The Sting nightclub in New Britain, Conn., during which he struck a 16-year-old with a bar stool. The victim, David Hughes, was left with disfiguring scars on his head.

Murray had been free pending appeal but that was rejected by both the state Appellate Court and the state Supreme Court. When the rapper didn't show up to do his jail time, Judge Frank Iannotti imposed a new $2 million bond and ordered Murray rearrested.

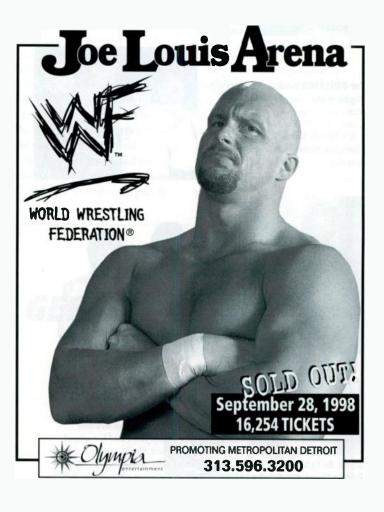

He had been given a five-year sentence, suspended after three years, with an additional three years probation. Now, he could face an additional five years for first-degree failure to appear.

J. Garvin Warden, the Penguins' interim chief executive officer, acknowledged Spectacor's concessions but said more are needed for a team that lost nearly $40 million the last two seasons. "The scope and duration of those concessions pale to the requirements we have asked for," Warden said.

U.S. Copyright Law Changes

THE HOUSE APPROVED bankruptcy legislation October 9th that omitted a section designed to prevent recording artists from breaking their contracts through bad-faith bankruptcies.

Without creating a special provision in the bill for recording artists, the legislation addresses the issue of performers who threaten to break contracts by filing bankruptcy. When introduced earlier this year, the provision was criticized for unfairly scrutinizing artists.

The legislation, which passed the House with a vote of 300 to 125, will apparently make it tougher for people to erase their debts.

"Congress is sending a strong message that no one should be allowed to act irresponsibly and simply wash their hands of the consequences, leaving others to pay the price," said House Majority Leader Dick Armey.

In other legislative news, Congress approved a bill to bring U.S. copyright protections in line with international standards and the Internet age.

The Sonny Bono Copyright Term Extension Act extends copyrights to the life of the author plus 70 years. Lawmakers said without the change, many American works would become widely available at dates earlier than their foreign counterparts, jeopardizing millions of dollars in export revenue.

Tagged to the bill was the Fairness in Music Licensing Act, which allows some 70 percent of bars and restaurants to use radio or TV music for free, according to the Congressional Research Service.

BMI and ASCAP have condemned the bill's passage, saying it will reduce songwriters' and performers' earnings by millions annually.

Congress also approved the Digital Millennium Copyright Act which updates copyright protection to deal with emerging Internet issues.

NFL Does Bowie Style Bonds

THE NATIONAL FOOTBALL League is using a strategy similar to David Bowie's by launching a $600 million bond offering backed by revenues from its $18 billion contract with television networks and other club assets.

The bond sale is the NFL's first foray into the market for assetbacked debt based on sports and entertainment earnings.

While individual sports teams have used bonds tied to some source of revenue — such as ticket sales — to build arenas, this is only the second time that an entire league has floated a deal.

Earlier this year, Major League Baseball floated a deal similar to the NFL that used future revenues from such things as media contracts and merchandise sales to borrow $405 million.

The NFL deal is being backed largely by the $18 billion, eightyear national television contracts with ABC, ESPN, Fox and CBS. Revenues from merchandise and ticket sales are also on the line.

The football bonds will be sold privately to investment firms. The 31 NFL teams (including the Cleveland Browns, who join the league next season) can use the money for general expenses.

Unlike the Bowie bonds, or traditional asset-backed securities, the revenues being pledged for the NFL offering aren't being funneled into a special account dedicated to paying off investors.

The league is setting up a trust that will issue the notes to investors. Ball clubs will then borrow money from the trust by pledging their assets as collateral. The arrangement allows the teams to borrow money cheaper than if they floated deals on their own.

Tyson Feels Manager's Bite

NE DAY AFTER MIKE TYSON was given the green light to return to the ring, his former comanager filed suit against Tyson's adviser, Shelly Finkel, seeking a stake in the boxer's future fights.

World Radio History

INSIDER NEWS BRIEFS

THE GQ "THEN OF THE YEAR" award winner for television comedian, Chris Rock, accepts the honor from The Artist (R), who was stylin' so hard nobody could recognize him. Sting won the award for music/solo artist October 21st at Radio City Music Hall in New York.

The lawsuit, filed October 20th by John K. Horne, seeks a 10 percent share of any money Tyson makes from his next five fights. It claims a breach in the former manager's contract with Tyson.

Named in the suit as defendant is Finkel, who used to promote concerts in Connecticut with partner Jim Koplik. Tyson himself was not named but could be added to the suit later.

According to the plaintiff's attorney, Horne, co-manager Rory Holloway and promoter Don King entered into a series of contracts with Tyson. Under the agreements, the three, known as Team Tyson, were to handle the boxer's first 10 fights following Tyson's release from prison on rape charges.

It was during the fifth fight that Tyson bit Evander Holyfield's ears, a move that prompted a $3 million fine and a ban from boxing.

That ban was lifted on October 19th and Tyson is expected to hit the ring as soon as December.

The lawyer said the lawsuit was filed against Finkel and others yet to be named because of "efforts of the new team to interfere with those rights, and to encourage Mike Tyson not to complete the contract." It was also recently revealed that Magic Johnson will have a role in promoting future Tyson fights. But Tyson is also under contract with Showtime and that company might push to have another former concert promoter,

Cedric Kushner, involved with upcoming promotions. As a further example of Tyson's tightening showbiz connections, his new legal adviser is said to be noted music business attorney John Branca.

High On Jail

RESH OUT OF JAIL, BOBBY Brown has another warrant out for his arrest.

According to reports, the singer was drunk and had smoked marijuana just before he turned himself in to Florida's Broward County Jail September 28th to serve a fiveday sentence for drunken driving.

Corrections officers also said Brown violated several conditions of his parole, including leaving his home county in New Jersey to go to California without court permission.

Brown was to check into a 30-day drug treatment program October 20th as a condition of his conviction.

His attorney Fred Haddad asked the judge to allow Brown to return to Broward County after completing the drug program in Minnesota. Judge Leonard Feiner agreed and signed the order allowing Brown to go into rehab.

However, once the singer finishes the treatment, he must return to Broward County Jail, where bail is set at $2,500. "He's not going to jail; he'll post bail," Haddad said.

Tour Bus Investors

WO INVESTORS WHO purchased the tour bus belonging to slain Tejano star Selena sued the singer's father for wrongfully keeping the bus earlier this month. A week later, Abraham Quintanilla Jr. said Julio Giraldo and Armando Cardenas Jr. can have the bus.

The two men purchased the 1964 Silver Eagle bus after Selena's death in 1995 and planned to use it for promotions. They leased it to filmmakers for use in the movie "Selena" and that's when the trouble started.

According to Quintanilla attorney Darrell Barger, the film crew thought the bus was in good running condition when it was leased but that was not the case. He said $12,000 in repairs had to be made. Giraldo and Cardenas were billed for that amount and refused to pay, saying the bus was roadworthy when leased. The bus was then put up for public auction and Quintanilla bought it back for the amount owed.

The attorney said Quintanilla won't demand the $12,000. However, an attorney representing Giraldo and Cardenas said his clients are seeking damages for the money they lost because they were unable to use the bus.

Shaq Attack

WALT DISNEY WORLD employee has filed a complaint against Shaquille O'Neal, claiming the basketball star grabbed her by the neck. Kim Grant told authorities she was approached by O'Neal and two other men as she stood outside the B.E.T. Soundstage at Disney's Treasure Island. She said O'Neal asked her name and inquired if she had any friends.

She claimed O'Neal's companions said they were going to look for girls and she said, "Be my guest." At that point, the complaint states that O'Neal grabbed her by the throat, pulled her to him and said, "I was just playing. Can't you take a joke?" He then held her by the arm and wouldn't let go until she threatened to file charges against him, according to the complaint.

Grant was not injured and no charges have been filed. O'Neal has not made a statement regarding the complaint but was quoted in the New York Daily News saying, "As a celebrity, you're prey to a lot of rumors." *****

• BRITISH ROCK STAR STING will make a return to India for a performance at the annual awards for Channel (V). He will be joined by heavy metal rockers Def Leppard, Aqua, and 911 for the November 21 performance. A host of Indian stars will also perform. Sting last played in New Delhi with Bruce Springsteen in 1988.

• THE PROMOTERS OF PHILIPPINEbased R&B group South Border has announced that their U.S. tour have been postponed until March. The band, which has been making waves in Asia and the U.S., was originally to do a two-city tour next month. With the rescheduling, South Border will now play in six places including Seattle, Florida, New York, Los Angeles and Chicago.

• THE REUNITED COLD CHISEL'S The Last Wave Of Summer national tour sold more than 100,000 tickets during first day on sale. Extra shows were added in Melbourne and Sydney; 7,000 tickets were snapped up in 10 minutes in each city. Chisel's last tour, The Last Stand in 1983, still holds the attendance record for an Australian act. The reunion could be even more successful. It could even suggest that the reunion will outlast the album, tour, video and movie that are planned, although no one will confirm that.

"I always believed there was a huge groundswell of support out there for Chisel," says manager Rod Willis, who instigated the reunion. "The heartland has voted with their pay packets." In Perth, fans began gathering outside the box office on October 12 even though the tickets didn't go on sale until the 16th.

Promoters SEL (Sports & Entertainment Ltd) reportedly guaranteed the band $6 million.

The group is currently busy doing rehearsals in Sydney. These have been punctuated by loud arguments as they tried out more obscure album tracks and b-sides. They had forgotten how some of the tunes went so a roadie was dispatched to a nearby record store to buy old Chisel records!

• THE AUSSIES ARE COMING, THE Aussies are coming. They're heading for the Big Apple's cabaret scene. David Campbell, son of Cold Chisel's Jimmy Barnes, is currently on a run at the Rainbow Room. The three-piece Combo Fiasco are returning after a well-received stint last year (the New York Times called theirs a "polished, lighthearted act") which included an ode to the joys of Viagra set to the tune of "Maria."

Maree Johnson who, like Combo Fiasco, was in the Sydney run of "Phantom Of The Opera," won her trip to New York to attend the Cabaret Convention as part of her prize from Sydney's Cabaret Convention. She'll play Eighty Eights and Danni's Skylight Room, among other NYC venues.

• NEIL FINN WAS DISQUALIFIED from this week's Australian Record Industry Association awards because he no longer fit the criteria of an Australian citizen after relocating to New Zealand. He travels on a New Zealand passport, and spends less than six months per year in Australia.

As polling begins for the People's Choice Awards (November 27) the organisers faced the same dilemma. Can Finn be too much of a New Zealander? They came to the conclusion that it was a people's choice, and that if the Australian public saw him as an Australian, so be it.

• VETERAN PROMOTERS KENN Brodziak, 85, and Edna Edgeley, 87, were honoured at the inaugural J.C. Williamson Awards last week. The awards were created to recognise outstanding contributions to the local entertainment industry. Brodziak brought the Beatles to Australia in 1964 after signing them up a year before and getting them at pre-Beatlemania fees.

Ms Edgeley, who began dancing in opera productions at age six, began touring acts overseas with her late husband, Eric. These included visits by Rudolph Nureyev (whom she ticked off for swearing), the Great Moscow Circus and the Bolshoi Ballet.

The awards were handed out by the premier of Victoria, Jeff Kennett. The Pratt Foundation awarded two $10,000 annual scholarships for people in the backstage professions.

• SAVAGE GARDEN, WHOSE "TRULY Madly Deeply" was most played track on U.S. radio this year, has received an award from European magazine FONO commemorating the track hitting No. 1 in Europe. On the same day, the act received the Outstanding Achievement Award in Sydney at the music industry's prestigious ARIA awards.

• KYLIE BURTLAND WAS NAMED songwriter of the year at the Australian Songwriters' Association for her song "Circles." Her prize is the chance to work with some US writers. Burtland was part of the backing band for Sydney's Trout Fishing in Quebec for five years. She tours Europe next year with Universe, the new band formed by former Noiseworks bassist, Steve Balbi.

• THE ENTERTAINMENT INDUSTRY Employers Association held a conference in Melbourne's Crown Towers on October 15 to discuss the local industry and the global entertainment market. Attendees included London promoter Harvey Goldsmith; Leo Schofield, director of the Sydney and Olympic festivals; Robert Lau of Singapore's Esplanade Arts Centre; award-winning producer John Frost; and Wayne Harrison, director of the Sydney Theatre Company.

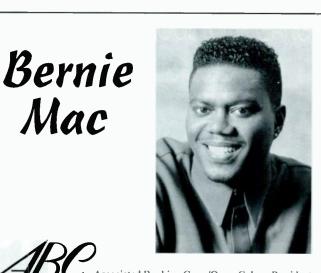

The following day saw a meeting of arts companies, arts centres and festivals, including Michael Lynch, head of the Opera House and Tim Jacobs, chief executive of the Victorian Arts Centre. The talking point – not surprisingly – was an Australia Council report in June, which found that the country's 20 leading arts companies lost a combined $12.3 million between 1992 and 1997.

Lynch attacked the federal government for its "cynical and hamfisting" campaigning in New South Wales which claimed that a vote for its opponents, the Australian Labour Party, would be a vote for "elite arts funding." Alas, the attack was not heard by the Minister for Arts, Senator Richard Alston, who was there to make his own speech to the gathering but came too late to hear Lynch's.

• BRITISH MERCURY PRIZE winners Gomez canceled their mid-October promo visit due to exhaustion.

• MUDHONEY HAS BEEN ADDED TO the Blondie-headlining Falls Festival in Melbourne on New Year's Eve. Also added to the bill are locals Nancy Vandal, Even, Bodyjar, Something for Kate, Area 7 and 99 Reasons Why.

• JOHN FARNHAM, ANTHONY Warlow and Olivia Newton-John met the press last week to launch their two-month The Main Event tour. "We've spent an hour together and we still like each other," Farnham announced, faking a surprised look, before breaking open a pack of chewing gum and sharing it with his buddies. The 150-minute show includes Farnham's band, a 40-piece orchestra and a diamondshaped stage. The stars will sing solo, duets and threesomes. Newton-John, who flew back from Los Angeles a day earlier, said that she'd known Farnham for 30 years and had always wanted to work with him.

Farnham: "Olivia has had a lot of hits, I've had some hits..." Warlow: "And I've had one (chart) hit." Farnham: "Which he's going to sing 12 times."

The press was most intrigued about Olivia's new boyfriend, 42-year old pony-tailed U.S. cameraman Patrick McDermott, who the singer is heavily rumoured to be marrying while in Australia. Newton-John refused to comment. "These are my only men in my life right now," she said, grabbing the hands of Farnham and Warlow.

The mischievous Farnham couldn't help bringing up the subject again. When Newton-John was asked who would take the John Travolta role when Olivia sang numbers from "Grease," he quipped, "Well, neither of us has enough hair. Actually, Olivia's bloke has got more hair than the two of us put together."

The Main Event, a subtle tribute to the Ultimate Event starring Sinatra, Minnelli and Davis Jr. is promoted by SEL (Sports and Entertainment Ltd) which also handles "Grease" and Cold Chisel.

• THE STDNEY DANCE COMPANY IS touring its production of "Free Radicals" in North America and Europe through '99, and returns to Europe with "Salome." It received a grant worth $60,000 from the Austrade association, under the $150 million a year Export Market Development Scheme.

• TORONTO'S NEW AIR CANADA Centre arena, the joint home of the Maple Leafs and Raptors, will open February 20, 1999, with a Leafs vs. Montreal Canadiens hockey game. The following night, the Raptors and Vancouver Grizzlies will christen the basketball court. A series of concerts – to be announced November 10 – will occupy the venue for the coming months. Beyond concerts, there will be a tremendous amount of booking diversity from family shows to championship wrestling.

Costing almost $260 million (Cdn.) to build, the arena seats close to 20,000 for basketball and hockey games. Concert capacities vary from the full 15,000 -20,000-plus, to 5,200 for a theatre setup. The facility can be cut down to a self-contained theatre complete with wall-to-ceiling curtains and carpeted floors. More than 10 shows have been booked for that configuration already.

According to director of entertainment Brad Parsons, the Air Canada Centre is very fan-friendly. He describes it as "very pushed in and pushed down. When you get in there, you won't believe it holds 20,000; it doesn't look that big."

Other special extras are an on-site microbrewery; four full restaurant/ bars – two of which offer a view of the action – and a tunnel leading directly from Union Station to the venue.

• CANADIAN POP CLOWNS Barenaked Ladies will interrupt its American tour to play two Canadian cities, Toronto at Massey Hall on November 26 and 27, and Vancouver, at Queen Elizabeth Theatre on Oct. 26. All three show are already sold-out.

• CORE AUDIENCE, THE PROMOTION company started by former Universal Concerts Canada VP Steve Herman, was offered Alanis Morissette's only Canadian club date because of his past working relationship with manager Scott Welch.

The Halloween show at the 1,000capacity Phoenix Concert Theatre sold out instantly at $35 (Cdn.), tax included. The show was announced on local radio stations at 8 a.m. October 3rd and went on sale at the SkyDome ticket outlet at 11 a.m. To curb scalpers, a voucher system was used, whereby ID was presented at the time of purchase and must be presented again at the show. • CORE AUDIENCE HAS ALSO stepped up to promote 42 shows on the Lord Of The Dance tour, which will hit every nook and cranny of Canada. At $55 to $88, tickets are selling well. The eastern leg just got underway; the west will start in January.

• UNIVERSAL CONCERTS CANADA reports that KORN's Family Values tour sold 6,000 of the 8,000 tickets available in one week for its November 2 show at Toronto Arrow Hall.

• SONY MUSIC CANADA SOUL/ pop signing The Philosopher Kings has SoundScanned some 75,000 units. The group will play its first theatre show at the 1,100-capacity Music Hall on November 21, and word is, it will sell out.

• SLOAN, THE HALIFAX-FORMED POP darlings whose Twice Removed was named best Canadian album of all time by a Chart Magazine poll, has sold out four shows at Toronto's two-tiered, 900-capacity Concert Hall in early November. The four-piece band will continue its cross-country tour next month.

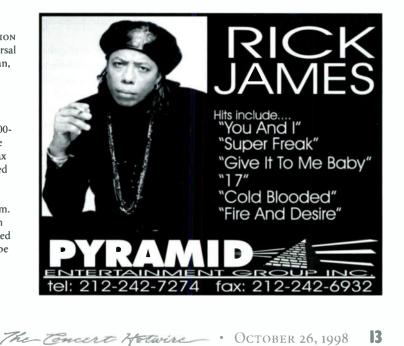

• ANOTHER SURPRISE SELLER IS The Watchmen / Big Wreck bill. Both managed by The Management Trust (The Tragically Hip), the rock bands have been booked into a variety of venues, from small arenas to conference centres to large clubs, beginning October 28. Their SRO show at Toronto's 2,000-plus Warehouse necessitated the addition of a second night.

 UNIVERSAL CONCERTS CANADA launched a swing tour with Colin James & The Little Big Band and Johnny Favourite Swing Orchestra on October 6 which ended in Ottawa on the 24th after hitting 14 markets. Appropriately called Full Swing, the bands jumped and jived in as many ballroom-type venues as possible. Before the show, fans were treated to professional swing dancing lessons and could browse through vintage clothing kiosks. Tickets were $25 to $27 and went fast in major centres, while, in secondary markets like North Bay and Kingston, it was more a labour of love for the artists.

• A DOUBLE BILL FEATURING Jann Arden and Sony's makeover Melanie Doane will hit 25 Canadian cities in November. Many dates have sold out already; others have just gone on sale and more dates are being added.

• JUST DAYS BEFORE LENNY KRAVITZ was set to play Montreal and Toronto, Universal Concerts Canada announced the rocker was forced to cancel both dates due to throat problems. A Toronto soundcheck party and in-store appearance were also canceled. 🕊

▶ On behalf of the RIAA (www.riaa.com) and AARC (Alliance of Artists & Recording Companies), a federal judge has issued a 10-day restraining order blocking Diamond Multimedia Systems (www.diamondmm.com) from producing the Diamond Rio, a hand-held device that plays MP3 music files.

The recording industry trade association claims the Rio violates the 1992 Audio Home Recording Act which provides for royalty payments from manufacturers of recording devices and recording media, such as audio and video tape. Court filings by both Diamond and the RIAA can be viewed at each party's Web site or at MP3.com (www.mp3.com).

The RIAA claims the Rio is a recording device and is subject to the Audio Home Recording Act, while Diamond maintains that the Rio is a storage device and is exempt from the 1992 law. According to Diamond, the Rio merely stores MP3 files and cannot be used to facilitate mass copying or distribution of music files.

The storage device is at the heart of the MP3 debate. The Rio stores MP3 files in flash memory and can hold up to 60 minutes of music. Additional memory, providing up to 30 additional minutes of music, can be purchased for $49.95 and a larger upgrade providing an additional 60 minutes will cost $99.95. In its court filing, Diamond states that because of the high price of additional memory, plus the original $199.95 cost for the basic player, the Rio is hardly a device that promotes music piracy -not when CDs cost in the neighborhood of $15.

Press releases from both the RIAA and Diamond make for some interesting reading, as do the court papers filed by both parties.

The RIAA press release quotes president and CEO Hillary Rosen as saying, "While we are gratified by the court's action today, it is unfortunate that we had to resort to legal action to deal with this issue. Our preference has always been to work together with the many computer and consumer electronics companies to arrive at solutions to legitimize the commercial marketplace for digitally distributed music in a manner that protects the rights of artists."

However, the brief Diamond filed in U.S. District Court tells a very different story. Diamond's version of the dispute could be summed up as, "contacted on Wednesday, sued on Thursday."

Diamond says the RIAA first contacted the company on October 7th " ... to discuss a letter they had sent but Diamond had not yet received." Diamond also states that the company's general counsel discussed the RIAA's concerns about music piracy on the Net and offered to "work with RIAA to share information for the purpose of joining in the attack on illegal distribution of music, but RIAA officials deflected Diamond's offer by saying their efforts were confidential."

Diamond claims that the company offered to execute a confidentiality agreement that would allow both parties to share information. According to the Diamond court brief, "RIAA's president agreed to furnish a confidentiality agreement but never did so."

Diamond claims the RIAA's director of litigation called the company the next day at 5 p.m. California time, and told Diamond about the lawsuit. The Diamond brief notes that the RIAA did not furnish Diamond with a courtesy copy of the complaint, nor did the RIAA furnish a case number or identify the counsel of record.

According to the brief, "Only after Diamond's counsel specifically requested a copy of the complaint and motion papers did RIAA furnish Diamond any of its litigation papers, on Friday October 9."

The Diamond brief notes that while the RIAA wasn't exactly keeping the company up to speed, it was a bit quicker to notify the press and apparently posted its complaint and motion papers on its own Web site before sending copies to Diamond.

Although the RIAA claims its main interest in blocking production of Diamond Rio is to prevent music piracy, Diamond speculates in its brief that the RIAA merely wants to maintain the status quo of large labels controlling the lion's share of music distribution channels. Diamond states, "It is the loosening of the grip by the RIAA on recorded music distribution that is its major fear."

Both parties will appear in court on October 26th when the judge will consider whether to issue a permanent injunction against Diamond preventing production of the Rio until the judge can rule whether or not the unit violates the Audio Home Recording Act.

THANKS FOR ТНЕ НУРЕ

> People who don't want Marilyn Manson visiting their towns are once again creating a lot of free publicity for the band.

The mayor of Syracuse, N.Y., and a local Catholic group are the first to attempt to derail a show on the upcoming tour. They are trying to block the band's November 19th concert at the Landmark Theatre.

Mayor Roy Bernardi said he would seek to have the theatre's entertainment permit for the show denied. Local officials have also threatened to cut $30,607 in funding for the theatre if the show isn't canceled.

That puts the theatre in a tough spot. The contracts have been signed, so the building has a legal obligation to host the show. Tickets are already on sale, and Landmark administrator Dennis Snow said all the publicity now virtually guarantees a sellout.

But the mayor has met with opposition among the ranks and the fate of the show and the theatre's funding remained unresolved at press time.

In Charlotte, N.C., anti-Manson local authorities didn't even get that far. After hearing about the goings on in Syracuse, the Coliseum Authority met to decide what to do about the Manson show slated for Ovens Auditorium November 10th. The Charlotte Observer reported that the Authority agreed October 11th that the show would go on, ending a week of public debate on the subject.

Considering all the civic outrage and public condemnation generated by the last Manson tour, the latest uprisings are pretty minor. It appears the new glam look has made the frontman a bit more palatable. Not using the word "antichrist" in the new album's title probably hasn't hurt, either.

LOST & FOUND

► B.B. King was on time for his October 18th gig in Kingston, N.Y., but his trusty guitar, Lucille, had some trouble finding the venue.

The bluesman was ready to hit the stage but the bus carrying Lucille was lost — so lost, in fact, a police cruiser caught up with it as it was heading out of town.

Mayor T.R. Gallo, who was in the waiting audience, dispatched police to find the missing bus and bring it to the theatre. It only took 10 minutes for the cops to find the bus and get the driver's attention. It was probably the first time the driver had ever been happy to see a police car pull up beside him.

Lucille was 45 minutes late but the audience was torgiving. Cheers went out when King thanked the mayor for hishelp.

FLASHBACK TIME

► This week's new tours include a few names you probably haven't heard from in a while. Men At Work get back to it for a club and theatre tour in November. Everybody will get to Wang Chung again starting November 4th in Seattle. Bad Brains have reunited for a tour under the name Soul Brains, And Brandon Cruz is doing some West Coast dates and probably hates the fact that anyone might remember him as Bill Bixby's fiveyear-old son on the '60s TV show 'The Courtship Of Eddie's Father."

HOT NEW TOURS

► Iron Maiden plays Japan in November and South America in December..... Enrique Iglesias returns to the U.S. for shows starting in late January ..... Maceo Parker has started an extensive world tour .. The Black Crowes play Europe then return to the U.S. for December dates ..... The Offspring return to the road November 15th ..... Neil Finn tours the U.S. starting November 6th ..... The Stuttering John Band plays for the Howard Stern crowd into December..... Suicidal Tendencies hits the road November 3rd ..... The Outfield plays clubs in November ..... John Hiatt has theatre dates next month..... The Beautiful South has announced a U.K. arena tour for next spring..... Also watch for Francis Dunnery, The Flys, Cadillac Voodoo Choir, Money Mark, Glenmont Popes, Leah Andreone, Roach Motel, Bob Log III, E.A.R., SNFU, The Prissteens, Tribe 8, And You Will Know Us By The Trail Of Dead, and Solex. &

Last week was a busy time for the folks at Amazon.com (www.amazon.com). The online book / CD store has been running a "What's that song?" contest featuring RealAudio clips of musicians' favorite tunes. Beastie Boy' Mike D's choice tune was judged so difficult to identify that Amazon raised the daily prize money from $1,000 to $5,000. Mike D's choice was set to appear on Amazon.com toward the end of the week.

Amazon.com also did a deal with OnRadio (www.onradio.com), which maintains a network of more than 500 radio stations. The agreement will direct customers from OnRadio's sites to Amazon.com.

Oh, and one more thing. Amazon also was facing some heavy litigation as Wal-Mart (www.wal-mart.com) filed suit against the online retailer, claiming that the company had stolen Wal-Mart trade secrets. In a lawsuit filed in Benton County, Ark., Wal-Mart asked for an injunction against Amazon.com to prevent the company from allegedly trying to duplicate proprietary technology.

Aside from the massive growth Wal-Mart has experienced over the last two decades, the chain is also known for its revolutionary inventory tracking system, Retailink, which automates purchase tracking and relays the information back to Wal-Mart's wholesalers. Wal-Mart contends that Amazon.com recruited former Wal-Mart execs and targeted its vendors in efforts to learn more about Wal-Mart's information database, described as second in size only to the U.S. government. Amazon.com is often referred to as the "Wal-Mart of the Internet."

Wal-Mart also named Amazon.com's venture capitalist affiliates Kleiner Perkins Caufield & Beyers and its new Drugstore.com site in the suit. 🛥
