New Renaissance For Podell

MERGING FROM THE RECENT restructuring of International Creative Management's music division, the agency's former worldwide music chief, Jon Podell, has partnered with Renaissance Entertainment prexy David Zedeck to form a new agency.

The creation of the soon-to-benamed company confirms Podell's departure from ICM as well as the exit of agents Sam Kirby and Mike Krebs, both of whom are joining the new project. Kirby is also a partner in the venture.

Renaissance agents Craig Bruck and Marc Katz have also enlisted with the company, which presently operates out of Renaissance's location in New York.

According to a statement, a sample of artists on the new agency's roster include a combination of ICM and Renaissance acts. Among the ICM clients mentioned were The Allman Brothers Band, Fuel, Fun Lovin' Criminals, Gipsy Kings, Meat Loaf, Morcheeba, and Bijou Phillips. Renaissance acts mentioned were Backstreet Boys, 'N Sync and Britney Spears. Beyond that, details are still sketchy. The new agency name and official artist roster should be announced shortly.

ODB Arrested In Police Shootout

L'DIRTY Bastard remained in police custody last week after the Wu-Tang Clan rapper was arrested January 15th for allegedly shooting at Brooklyn officers.

Police in New York claim shots were fired from the driver's side of the Chevrolet Tahoe ODB was driving after plainclothes officers pulled him over for a traffic violation — no headlights. Police returned fire as ODB drove off, but he was stopped and arrested a few blocks away.

No one was injured during the incident.

ODB's attorney, Peter Frankel, disputes the police allegations. "Our version is that he was pulled over by an unmarked police car. Undercover police came at him with guns drawn.... He drove off and they fired shots at him. He feared for his life," Frankel said.

New JERSEY SPORTS and Exposition Authority chief Dennis Robinson (L) responds to questions about a rock concert at the Meadowlands which will benefit a convicted cop killer. Standing by is Attorney General Peter Verniero.

The rapper, who police say was wearing a bulletproof vest during the alleged shootout, pleaded innocent the following day to charges of attempted murder of a police officer and criminal weapons possession.

A passenger in the rapper's car was questioned and released without being charged.

Bail for ODB, whose real name is Russell Jones, was set at $150,000 bond, and a court appearance was ordered for January 21st.

Police continued to investigate the incident last week, and were trying to locate the gun ODB allegedly used during the shootout. Four spent shell casings were found at the scene, but it was not yet determined if all came from police guns.

ODB submitted to a paraffin test, used to detect gun powder residue on the hands, to determine if he fired a gun. Results of the test were not available at press time.

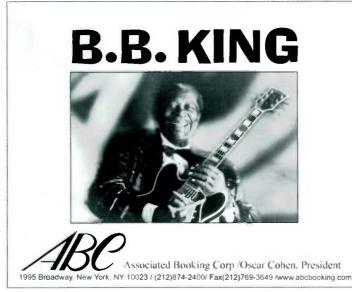

A grand jury was reviewing the case last week.

Cops Rage At The Meadowlands

EW JERSEY STATE OFFICIALS last week denounced a benefit concert for a convicted cop killer, but cited the First Amendment and a federal court ruling in allowing the show to go on.

The sold-out January 28th concert at the Meadowlands features Rage Against the Machine, Beastie Boys and Bad Religion. A portion of proceeds will benefit the defense fund of Mumia Abu-Jamal, a black journalist on Pennsylvania's death row for the 1981 killing of a white Philadelphia police officer. Abu-Jamal has many supporters who feel he was unjustly convicted.

Drummer Max Weinberg will soon begin a lengthy hiatus from "Late Night With Conan O'Brien" as preparations proceed for the Bruce Springsteen and the E Street Band reunion tour. The Max Weinberg 7 will continue as the show's house band under the direction of guitarist Jimmy Vivino. Mighty Max's last night on the show is scheduled for February 26th. The reunion tour comes at a time when another E Streeter has just discovered a new career in acting. Miami Steve Van Zandt is a regular on the new HBO series "The Sopranos." His portrayal of a New Jersey mobster is amazingly solid and he appears to have become a made man in the acting business.

Motley Crue drummer Tommy Lee faces a court date next month to answer allegations that he consumed alcohol, a violation of his probation that could land him in prison. Recent news stories reported Lee was drinking with bandmates in Florida, which prompted an investigation last week. Judge Lawrence Mira, who ordered the February 4th hearing, sentenced Lee in May to six months in jail and three years probation after the rocker pleaded no contest to felony spousal abuse.

Troy Collins has joined Electric Factory Concerts in Philadelphia. At EFC, Collins will pursue new venue opportunities, develop additional markets and explore equity positions in sports, musical, family and theatrical entertainment. Prior to joining Electric Factory, Collins was director of event development for Radio City Productions in New York. From 1989 to 1996, he was with SMG.

Two lucky Rolling Stones fans will have the honor of "guarding the band" during a stop on its No Security tour of North America. VHI, the tour's " official media presenter," was scheduled to launch a 10-day competition January 25th. The winner and a guest will join the Stones' security posse during the March 3rd show in Tampa, Fla. After the job is complete, the duo will travel with the band to its March 5th stop in Ft. Lauderdale and will get to watch that show simply as fans. The tour kicks off January 25th in Oakland, Calif.

The PNC Bank Arts Center in Holmdel, N.J., has canceled its Concert Club program due to "changing business conditions within the concert industry." The 17,500-capacity venue reported that the Concert Club accounted for less than 3 percent of total sales last year — a decline over previous years. Concert Club members were allowed to purchase tickets to most performances prior to the public on sale date. The venue will continue to sell box seats and season tickets.

Charlie Thomas has settled his lawsuit seeking a share of the royalties for the sale of recordings by The Drifters, according to a statement released on the singer's behalf. Thomas, who sang and recorded with The Drifters from 1958 until 1967, will receive an unspecified amount of past royalties plus a percentage of future royalties. The defendant in Thomas' case was The Drifters Inc., a dissolved corporation that receives royalties from Atlantic Records. The Drifters Inc. had filed a counterclaim against Thomas. That claim was dismissed pursuant to the settlement.

An investment group purchased the Concord Hotel in the Catskills for $10.25 million at a federal bankruptcy auction last week. The Concord, the largest of the famed Borscht Belt hotels in New York, closed its doors in November after operating under Chapter 11 for more than a year. The investors plan to reopen the 1,220-room Concord as a modern hotel. Another famed Catskills hotel, Grossinger's, will hit the auction block in Manhattan this week.

The Georgia officer who shot Atlanta Rhythm Section frontman Ronnie Hammond last month was cleared of any wrongdoing by a police review board. Hammond was shot December 28th after police responded to an attempted suicide call at the singer's house. The frontman was expected to be released from the hospital last week. Authorities said the officer fired after Hammond lunged at officers with a hammer and guitar neck, which police initially thought was an ax. our hands are tied," Attorney General Peter Verniero said at a news conference in Trenton January 21st.

New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority President and CEO Dennis Robinson said he became aware of the concert's cause only about a week before tickets went on sale.

"I would have preferred to know about this benefit well in advance," he said. "We were forced to make a very pragmatic, legal decision."

Ticketholders who are no longer interested in attending the concert will be reimbursed by promoter DelsenerSlater, Robinson said.

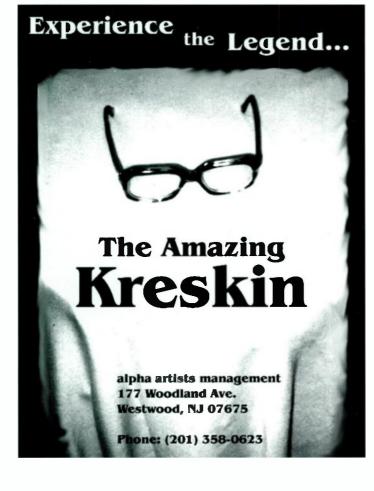

Under the circumstances, New Jersey police are concerned that troopers, who normally back up security at the Meadowlands' Continental Airlines Arena, may have to face a hostile crowd. Verniero said security may be heightened for the concert. Rage Against the Machine publicist Lisa Markowitz said, while the opposition to the concert is not deterring the band, the members are also concerned about patrons' safety.

Bad Religion singer Greg Graffin said the show is an opportunity to raise awareness about the "evils" of the death penalty.

"We also believe that Mumia should be given a fair trial," he said. "...we would like to call attention to the racial inequities of the capital punishment system."

Abu-Jamal contends police coerced an eyewitness to testify against him, unfairly stacked a jury with white people and railroaded him to a guilty verdict in the shooting of Philadelphia Police Officer Daniel Faulkner, who had stopped Abu-Jamal's brother for a traffic violation.

His jailhouse writings, including the 1995 book "Live from Death Row," have made Abu-Jamal a celebrity around the world.

GRAMMY awardwinning rapper Byron "Bizzy Bone" McCane of Bone Thugs-N-Harmony faced assault and disorderly conduct charges in a Columbus Obio courtroor bus, Ohio, courtroom last week.

McCane has been accused of dragging a student barber, Terrance Harden, down a flight of stairs after confronting him about spreading rumors.

McCane and two associates went to Hair Experts Barber School September 16th looking for Harden after hearing he had made disparaging remarks about the rapper, according to The Columbus Dispatch.

Harden's attorney, Robert Caplan, said, "After a brief discussion, my client was attacked near a stairwell and suffered a back injury," the paper reported.

"According to our client, he was cutting the hair of an acquaintance of Mr. McCane, and he said something that this person took back to Mr. McCane, and Mr. McCane took offense," Caplan said.

Assistant City Attorney Nathan Akamine told jurors that Harden wanted to get into the comedy business and had met the rapper at a local club and later in a mall parking lot, according to the Dispatch. He had reportedly asked the rapper if he could help him with contacts in the entertainment industry.

Months had passed and there was no contact until after Harden cut the hair of a man who said he was McCane's producer, the paper reported. The rapper's attorney, Randall Treneff, said the alleged attack was in self-defense and Harden's "sole motivation is to acquire money from a man who potentially has a lot of money," the paper said.

According to Treneff, when McCane and two bodyguards went to the school to talk to Harden, the barber asked if they wanted to step outside, the Dispatch said.

The rapper reportedly thought they were going to talk but instead, he was attacked. The bodyguards then subdued Harden, Treneff said.

McCane's attorney also told jurors, "People in the rap industry get murdered by people like Mr. Harden," according to the paper.

McCane could face up to six months in jail and a $1,000 fine if convicted. Harden's attorney said he plans to file a civil suit against the rapper, the Dispatch said.

The suit sought triple damages and a court order requiring TM to stop such practices.

A federal judge in St. Louis dismissed the claim for damages, saying the ticket buyers lacked legal standing to sue. The 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals agreed, although it said the ticket buyers still could seek a court order to bar any future violations of law.

Under Supreme Court precedent, damages for price-fixing can be sought only by someone who directly bought something from a seller. Indirect purchasers do not have a standing to sue.

The appeals court said concert venues are the direct purchasers of TM's services. Ticket buyers are indirect purchasers and therefore they cannot sue, the court concluded.

In the Supreme Court appeal acted on last week, the ticket buyers' lawyers said the 8th Circuit Court ruling effectively makes TM immune from such lawsuits. The concert venues have no incentive to sue because they reap a share of the ticket fees, the appeal said.

Justice Department lawyers agreed with TM's attorneys that buyers cannot seek damages from the company.

Weiland Released From Jail

S COTT WEILAND SPENT FIVE days in jail last week after his arrest on a possible probation violation.

The Stone Temple Pilots singer was placed on three years probation last summer after pleading guilty to felony heroin possession. He spent 90 days at the Impact Drug and Alcohol Center as part of his probation requirements.

Weiland was arrested January 15th after a drug rehabilitation program director told a judge he hadn't been following the rules. A spokesperson at the L.A. County Sheriff's Department told SonicNet Music News the singer was taken into custody because he failed to provide a urine sample for a drug test.

However, his probation officer reportedly told the court that other than that slip-up, Weiland had been fulfilling all aspects of his probation properly and had been testing clean for drug use.

At a January 20th hearing, Superior Court Judge Larry Fidler released Weiland, put him back on probation and reinstated him in an outpatient rehab program. Fidler warned that "rules are rules," and he would not cut the rock star any slack — if Weiland breaks the rules again, he's likely to land in state prison.

Weiland also faces charges in New York from a June 1, 1998, arrest for drug possession and trespassing.

Stone Temple Pilots will reportedly start rehearsing for its new album this month, with hopes of a tour to follow.

Wrasslin' Over Vegas Fans

WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP Wrestling is pile-driving into the themed restaurant business with the launch of the WCW Nitro Grill, scheduled to open in Las Vegas in March or April. The WCW hammer lock on Vegas comes on the heels of the rival World Wrestling Federation's purchase of the Debbie Reynolds Casino at a bankruptcy auction last year.

Banking on the popularity behind the live events and cabletelevised series, WCW and the Sitka Restaurant Group have teamed to create the first in an expected chain of wrestlingthemed restaurants around the country.

"I look forward to coming here and drinking free," said wrestling star "Big Sexy" Kevin Nash during a January 12th wall-breaking commemoration.

Other wrestlers, including "Hollywood" Hulk Hogan and Randy "Macho Man" Savage, wielded sledgehammers during the ceremonial event at the restaurant site, located inside the Excaliber Hotel and Casino.

WCW President Eric Bischoff was also on hand. "We know the Nitro Grill is going to be a can'tmiss destination for wrestling fans among Las Vegas' 30 million annual tourists," Bischoff said in a WCW statement.

"The concept is defined as a sports dining and entertainment complex." The soon-to-be mecca for wrasslin' fans skips the typical shovel-full-of-dirt groundbreaking, opting instead for a wall-smashing commemoration ala "Hollywood" Hulk Hogan, January 12th. The WCW Nitro Grill is slated for a March/April opening inside the Excaliber Hotel and Casino in Las Vegas. The 16,000-square-foot eatery will feature big screen televisions showing nonstop wrestling, a memorabilia gift shop and sections named after WCW pay-per-view events — The Road Wild, Bash at the Beach, and Spring Stampede.

According to "Diamond" Dallas Page, the Nitro Grill won't be another Planet Hollywood or Hard Rock Cafe, which are devoid of the stars who make up the restaurants' images.

"We're live and in color and we talk," said Page, "and I guarantee we'll be drinking."

Universal Pink Slips

S EAGRAM-OWNED UNIVERSAL Music Group issued its first round of approximately 500 pink slips last week as the world's largest music company begins its massive restructuring campaign.

The layoffs of employees and dropping of artists, who would be released from contracts over the coming months, came down in New York and Los Angeles as PolyGram labels and distribution operations fold into the Universal umbrella.

INSIDER NEWS BRIEFS

The job cuts are aimed at "eliminating broad duplication of activities," a Universal Music statement said.

Following Seagram's acquisition of PolyGram last year for $10.4 billion, the parent company of Universal Music announced it would consolidate operations as part of a plan to save $300 million annually by merging more than a dozen labels into four groups.

Eventually, some 3,000 jobs — 20 percent of Universal Music's combined workforce — are expected to be lost and numerous artists dropped from their labels.

Among the consolidation plans is the combining of the Geffen, A&M and Interscope labels into one group on the West Coast. According to the Los Angeles Times, A&M's workforce would decrease from about 170 employees to 30 while Geffen would shed more than 100 workers. Corporate trimmings of the labels' artist rosters were expected to be comparable.

Other Universal Music labels facing severe layoffs include Motown, whose workforce will reportedly decrease from 75 to less than 10. Mercury is reportedly expected to lose about 60 employees, including VP of international Dave Lory and West Coast GM Alison Hamamura.

However, some labels — including MCA, Interscope and Def Jam — were expected to glide through the layoffs virtually unscathed.

Fixing A Hole Where The Rain Gets In

CONTINUING PROBLEMS with the new roof on the UNI-Dome at the University of Northern Iowa are forcing the relocation of certain events. The roof is leaking at points where the fabric center portion of the roof meets the surrounding steel panels, said Morris Mikkelsen, director of facilities planning at UNI.

UNI officials were forced to move a women's basketball game January 14th to the university's West Gym.

Mikkelsen said, "This is a new hybrid system and we are in the process of working through it to ensure that the new roof system fulfills the maintenance advantages for which it was originally designed.

"Obviously we'd like to have the situation resolved as rapidly as possible," he said, "but at this point, we can't say exactly when that will be."

Mikkelsen said a permanent solution might not be found until the weather warms up. However, he said the university hopes to control the leaking well enough to allow events to go on as scheduled.

Trademark Crusaders

Los ANGELES JURY recently turned in a unanimous vote giving jazz musicians Wayne Henderson and Wilton Felder exclusive rights to the name The Jazz Crusaders.

The decision ends three years of trademark infringement litigation filed by Crusaders Productions Incorporated (CPI).

Henderson and Felder, who have performed as The Jazz Crusaders for decades, established CPI in the late '60s with "Stix" Hooper and Joe Sample. Several years later, Henderson left the company to pursue other projects. Hooper also left.

once again, Sample, who is president of CPI, objected. He contended the right to the name The Jazz Crusaders remained with the corporation, according to Henderson's attorney, Rickey Ivie.

"To further complicate matters, Wilton Felder decided to perform with Wayne Henderson under the name Jazz Crusaders," Ivie told POLLSTAR. Felder is a director in CP1.

Sample contended that since Felder was an officer in the company, "it would be a violation of his fiduciary duties owed to the corporation to work with someone else in competition to the corporation," Ivie said.

But a U.S. District Court judge disagreed, ruling that as long as product exists in the market, the rights to the original band name remain with the original band members on a non-exclusive basis.

Ivie called the case significant, saying "it clearly establishes the circumstances under which original band members have a right to use the band's name."

He said it was a sorely needed legal definition that has been long overdue and he expects it will impact similar cases that are ongoing.

Law & Politics Move Harborlights Forward

THE RELOCATION OF Harborlights Pavilion to Boston's Wharf 8 may have been announced a bit prematurely last year, but it now appears that owner Don Law is well on the way to getting the approvals needed to launch a 1999 concert season. On January 19th, the Department of Environmental Protection gave the project an initial green light.

However, the DEP withheld final approval for the 5,000-seat venue, according to the Boston Herald. It set a mediation period through February 5th.

Opponents of the move (the most vocal being the Boston Shipping Association and the Boston Harbor Association) worried that putting the music tent at the waterfront location would be the beginning of the end of a working port. Environmentalists reportedly fretted that allowing any structure in that area would short-circuit rules on building close to the water. The site generally allows only industrial or maritime use, according to state regulations.

However, state secretary of environmental affairs Bob Durand told the Herald that "because of all the construction going on in the city, Wharf 8 has been used as a staging area for work on the Central Artery and really doesn't have much maritime use at this point."

He said he did not require Harborlights to prepare an environmental impact report because it's a temporary site.

Durand reportedly expects the venue to be approved for two years at Wharf 8 followed by a review for the remainder of a five-year deal.

In a letter to Law, assistant DEP commissioner Arleen O'Donnell said the department "is offering the parties an opportunity to meet and explore all outstanding issues, obtain commitments which may allow the project to proceed and avoid delays associated with appeals," the Herald reported.

Durand has asked Law to meet with shipping interests and port activists to establish conditions for construction of the venue, according to the Boston Globe. Those conditions are likely to be promises by the city that will preserve the long-term maritime and industrial functions of the area, the paper said.

Law told POLLSTAR that talks with the concerned parties are well underway and he expects everything to be resolved shortly.

Boston Redevelopment Authority Director Thomas O'Brien reportedly put a $2.5 million price tag on the site's preparations, $1 million of which would be paid by Law. The rest would come from rent Law pays to the city, O'Brien said.

For now, the promoter is on a tight schedule to get final approval and get his summer schedule booked. According to the Globe, under the terms of the sale of his company to SFX Entertainment, Law stands to lose millions if Harborlights isn't up and running this summer.

THE ALLTEL ARENA is not even complete and manager Michael Marion is already adorning the Little Rock venue with graffiti. Actually, Marion was signing a banner that will be hoisted to the highest point of the arena, which is set to open in October. It was all part of ALLTEL's "Topping Out" ceremonies January 13th.

The DEP reportedly said it will issue a formal decision by February 12th, possibly followed by a 21-day appeal period.

Law said he is delighted with the DEP's initial go-ahead and expects to be booking Harborlights for the summer season shortly.

The Phantom Of The Scenery

TRAILER CONTAINING scenery from a touring production of "The Phantom of the Opera" has been recovered, more than a month after it was stolen in Hartford, Conn.

The 48-foot trailer, stolen December 3rd from the vacant jai-alai arena, was found January 15th in a lot in Linden, N.J., according to Bushnell theatre spokesperson Joan Levine. She said the show's 2.5 ton gilded proscenium — which frames the stage to make it look like the Paris Opera House — was discovered intact inside the trailer.

The theft of the scenery, valued at $500,000, threatened the show, which was scheduled to open for a monthlong engagement at The Bushnell just weeks later. Levine said the touring company borrowed a proscenium from another site for its run, which ended January 23rd.

The trailer was to be shipped to Fort Myers, Fla., where the show is scheduled to open January 27th.

Stage Call, which owns the scenery, offered a $1,000 reward for the trailer's recovery. Levine said the trucker who found it turned down the money.

lt's À GAS

CORMER CAPITOL RECORDS prexy Gary Gersh and former Gold Mountain artist manager John Silva have announced some details regarding their new management company, GAS LLC.

Artists who have signed to GAS (Gersh And Silva) from Gold Mountain include Beastie Boys, Beck, Foo Fighters, Rancid, Sonic Youth, Soul Coughing, Girls vs. Boys, Paul Westerberg, and Phil Cody.

In addition to Silva, other former Gold Mountain employees joining the Los Angeles-based company are John Cutcliffe, Bethann Buddenbaum, Melissa Farmer, Doug Jaymes, Michael Meisel, Lavonne Murlowski, Aaron Blitzstein, Shauna O'Brien, and Johanna Ingalls. Other staffers at the management firm are Michele Beeby and Chris Kelly.

Rumor has it Gersh and Silva are busy shopping for financial partners and that GAS will also include a record label and other divisions when it is fully operational.

Woodstock Could Go To Rome

voodstock Ventures, organizers of Woodstock '99, are looking at Griffiss Business & Technology Park in Rome, N.Y., as a possible site for the 30th anniversary concert.

A spokesperson for the concert organizers said last week that Griffiss has been mentioned as an alternative site if organizers cannot reach an agreement with officials at the primary site in the Hudson Valley south of Albany the 800-acre Winston Farm in Saugerties.

"Our priority remains the Saugerties site, and we have every hope that Saugerties will come through," said Ilene Marder Hinchey of Woodstock Ventures. "We ... want to have it in Saugerties."

The concert is scheduled for Friday through Sunday, July 23-25, and is expected to attract 250,000 people.

Rome Mayor Joe Griffo said having the concert in his city would be an economic boon that is sorely needed. "Our hotels, restaurants, gas stations and convenience stores would greatly benefit, as well as the city and county, from the sales tax revenues such an event would generate," Griffo said. "However, we will evaluate all aspects before we reach any formal agreements."

Woodstock Ventures' principal, Michael Lang, who organized the 1969 concert, said some performers are booked for the Woodstock '99 concert in Vienna, Austria, and he expects bands to play at both locations. The five-day Vienna show will be held one week prior to the U.S. show.

Lang would not comment on the lineup but officials were told the concert would feature music that attracts a college-age crowd.

Utsick Under The Radar

ACK UTSICK DESCRIBES himself as one of the biggest promoters in the concert business without a home territory. Utsick now lives in Miami but was once a regional promoter in Maine. He managed to make a fortune in the drug business (the legal kind) but that's a hair-raising story of another kind. Today, he cherry picks his music investments and has placed his money behind a broad array of situations in the U.S. and abroad.

Utsick has financed the start-up of a major new promoter in the Northeast, promoted a number of Janet Jackson dates last year, had a piece of the Fleetwood Mac reunion tour, and formed his own record company. This past year, Utsick also launched a co-promotion arrangement with Kevin Jacobsen in Australia that did the Kenny Rogers/Reba McEntire tour, the Shania Twain tour, and the big Bee Gee's date in Sydney. He also has a part ownership interest in the Steel City tour of America with Australian promoter Garry Van Egmond. Utsick has also done numerous projects in Europe and is the financial force behind the new amphitheatre in Berlin.

He may pride himself in being under the radar but now that he has been accepted into membership of the North American Concert Promoters Association, his profile will likely continue to grow.

HE DETROIT TIGERS WILL play ball at Comerica Park and the Lions will toss the pig skin in a stadium named by Ford Motor Co. So, it's no wonder the subject of corporate naming has arisen for Joe Louis Arena, where the Red Wings hockey team resides.

It doesn't look like Joe Louis will be traded in for a commercial name any time soon.

"Somebody brought the issue up to me," said Lou Pavledes, director of Detroit's civic center department."I told them it was effectively dead because it's not sellable to the public, the mayor or the council."

City officials believe a move to replace the name of the late Detroit boxer would upset many in the community, according to The Detroit News.

Comerica Inc. paid $66 million to name the Tigers' ballpark and Ford is forking out $40 million to have its name on the new Lions stadium.

Spin And Fire

S PIN MAGAZINE FIRED ITS TWO top editors last week in an executive shakeup that was reportedly motivated by poor financial performance and a change in the publication's direction.

Editor In Chief Michael Hirschorn and his second-incommand, Craig Marks, were ousted. Alan Light, formerly editor of the magazine's sister publication, Vibe, has replaced Hirschorn.

"It was over creative differences and really nothing more exciting than that," Spin spokesperson Jason Roth said.

Both editors have recently been involved in controversies with top-level artists. Marks has filed a $24 million lawsuit against Marilyn Manson, accusing his bodyguards of beating him backstage after a show. And Hirschorn apologized to Courtney Love last fall after running a potentially inflammatory cover story headline about her.

Hirschorn, who had been Spin's editor since June 1997, reportedly said his unexpected dismissal was tied to financial problems rather than editorial decisions or the lawsuit. However, other reports have indicated that revenues at the magazine are up 11 percent. And Hirschorn reportedly claimed circulation was up as well.

Marks, who was with the company for seven and a half years, reportedly said his ousting was completely unexpected as well.

TBA Completes Real Estate Exit

BA ENTERTAINMENT CORP. has finalized the sale of the former Nashville Country Club.

TBA, which sold the one-anda-quarter-acre property for approximately $3.2 million, closed The Nashville Country Club in November 1997 following its original announcement for hotel development on the site. "This sale completes TBA's divestiture of all fixed assets, an aggressive plan we've executed since May 1998, and it further strengthens our position as a diversified entertainment services company," said corporate chairman/CEO Thomas Jackson "Jock" Weaver III.

TBA sold its West Coast promoter and amphitheatre operations to SFX Entertainment in May 1998 for $10 million. And it sold The Village at Breckenridge to Vail Resorts Inc. in July 1998 for $3 million.

In that same time period, it acquired four companies: Magnum Communications, Corporate Productions, Image Entertainment and Titley/Spalding & Associates. The company has also formed a joint venture with Frank Productions and established TBA TV, a television production operation.

Boz Scaggs Speaks Out

Boz SCAGGS RECENTLY granted his first interview since his son Oscar died of an accidental heroin overdose in a seedy San Francisco motel on New Year's Eve.

Scaggs, occasionally wiping tears from his eyes as he spoke, told the San Francisco Chronicle he has resolved to use his celebrity to warn kids and parents about the heroin epidemic. Still shellshocked and grief-stricken over his son's death, Scaggs told the Chronicle people need to become aware of "the plague of heroin threatening San Francisco."

"These dealers are selling death," he said. "Kids need to be given the means to defend themselves. They've got to know that they're under attack so they can take care of each other."

Oscar, 21, reportedly first tried heroin shortly after his friend, musician Nicholas Traina, Danielle Steel's 19-year-old son, died of an overdose.

Carmella Scaggs, Oscar's mother, said her son told her in January 1998 that he had tried heroin and was afraid that he would have a problem. She took him to a drug counselor and he went immediately into rehabilitation. He later spent time at drug treatment centers in Montana, Louisiana and Northern California. But Carmella said Oscar could not give up the temptation of heroin.

"Oscar was working hard," she said. "But there was always that urge, that tremendous call to try it again."

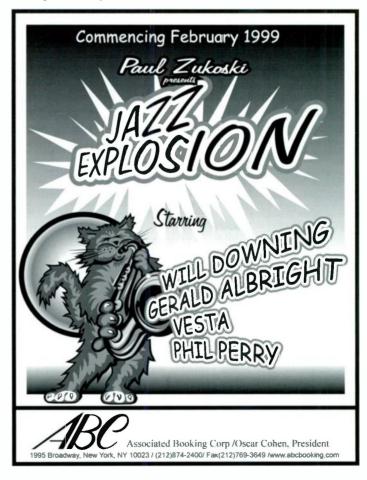

Scaggs, who divorced Carmella in 1980, said being the son of a celebrity did not isolate Oscar from the drug influence on the streets. He was privileged, going to some of the better schools in some of the better San Francisco neighborhoods, Scaggs said. "But he was a San Francisco kid. He lived his life all over this town. He hung out in the park, he was a

"The city of San Francisco that we love and call our own is getting a very dirty reputation," Scaggs said. "My son is like many other sons, and there are going to be more deaths until we respond as a community. Heroin is far more seductive and lethal than other addictions. It's the most dangerous, unpredictable and volatile drug of all."

Hard-core addicts seldom die by overdose; sporadic users and those trying to kick the habit have a lower resistance to the opiate which can push them into respiratory arrest, according to the Chronicle. Oscar, who never used enough to suffer from physical withdrawal, belonged to the latter category, Scaggs said.

Asked if his own experience with drugs may have affected his ability to raise his children, Scaggs said his only drug since 1967 has been alcohol.

"At the most successful point in my career, I could have been termed an alcoholic because I used hard liquor every day, and at times it took control over me," he said.

"And Carmella and I were among a generation of people who used drugs and alcohol socially. That was in the '60s. It was part of the culture. As far as its being around in the presence of the boys (Oscar and his younger brother, Austin), I would say emphatically no."

Scaggs said he did not know how his son, who was living with his mother at the time of his death, discovered heroin.

"This is a parent's worst nightmare," he said. "It's as though there were an explosion and everything was blown to smithereens. There is nothing left of the world as I knew it."

Stolen Guitar Returned

UEENSRYCHE GUITARIST Michael Wilton plans to bring a long-lost friend on tour this summer — his stolen ESP Vintage Plus guitar.

Wilton's white custom-made ax disappeared five years ago following the band's European tour reportedly when equipment was shipped back to the group's home in Washington.

Several ads were placed in guitar magazines after Wilton lost his guitar, but nothing panned out. It was considered lost.

Two years ago, the guitar landed in the hands of musician Bill Brumlow, whose band Dream Train happened to be in a Washington studio this month.

Studio co-owner Todd Walker spotted Brumlow's fancy guitar, recalling that Queensryche once endorsed by ESP — had some equipment stolen. So on a chance, he phoned Wilton "and the serial numbers checked out."

Brumlow returned the lost instrument to Wilton and asked for nothing in exchange.

"There are so many rats in the music business that when something like this happens, it just gives me hope," Wilton said. "I'm elated."

Brumlow said he purchased the guitar for $500 from a collector in Maple Valley, located southeast of Seattle, but he didn't know how to contact the dealer.

Carnegie Hall Adds Third Stage

N EW YORK'S CARNEGIE HALL has announced a $50 million project to transform the historic venue's lower level into a high-tech performance space.

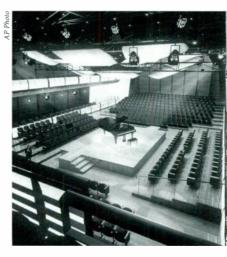

With construction expected to commence this summer, the 640-capacity hall will be located below the main stage and is expected to be completed by the 2001-2002 season, according to a statement from the venue.

The completion of the building's new hall, which was most recently used as a commercial cinema, will return Carnegie Hall to a three-venue facility; the building currently houses the 2,800-seat main hall and the 270seat Weill Recital Hall.

Plans for the new facility call for flexibility, with options for a center-stage, end-stage or flat-floor configuration. The venue will also accommodate equipment for recording and transmitting events, which will include artistic as well as educational programs, the statement said.

Some $40 million of the total price tag has been pledged, with nearly $13 million from city funds and $2 million from state contributions. The rest of the funds have been raised privately, including a $10 million donation from Arthur and Judy Zankel, the largest gift in Carnegie Hall history. The new hall will be named in their honor.

PLACEBO

Brian Molko, flamboyant frontman for inventive London psyche-rockers Placebo, swears that North America is safe from his band's reported debauchery. His agent, Rob Prinz of Creative Artists Agency, need not worry about his client. Despite U.K. press reports of excessive behavior in all matters sexual, pharmaceutical, alcohol and rock 'n' roll, the singer/ guitarist said, "It can safely be said that we've pretty much done it all by now. We got a lot out of our systems."

It's not clear what he means by "a lot." When the singer – whose band's second Virgin album, Without You I'm Nothing, has spawned the hit single, "Pure Morning" – was queried about the nature of this so-called "deviant" behavior, he didn't go into detail. "It's just a big sensationalist exaggeration of everything that is rock 'n' roll," he said, stoking one's imagination.

"All the stories that you hear about rock 'n' roll are all true – all the cliches are true and you realize that after being in a band a while, except that in real life they're usually sicker and more extreme. We were just incredibly honest about what life is like when you're in a band.

"We did nothing else that young men in their 20s with a bit of money wouldn't do. We were in a band. We were getting a lot of success in Europe. We had never been in a band before. We'd never had a deal. We'd never been recognized in the street before. We bought into the whole rock 'n' roll thing with great vigor and had a really, really good time.

"The only difference is that we did it in public and the other thing is we weren't particularly that bashful about being honest about it, so it earned us a reputation as being international hedonists. We've all had our problems and we've all had our ups and downs and we've all felt the brunt of our actions. We're all quite philosophical about it really."

The "we all" refers to his bandmates, Stefan Olsdal (bass, guitar, keys) and Steve Hewitt (drums), and together they are quite willing to put in the hard work to make Placebo successful. That means spending the better part of 1999 on the road. The trio played some radio dates just before Christmas and will return in late February/ early March. "It's just the beginning, really," says Molko, who met his management team, Alex Weston and Dave McLean of Riverman Management, back in 1995. They were local promoters and the unsigned trio approached them for gigs. "There's a lot more time that we need to put into playing North America. It's what we have to do. You have to take your music to the people, otherwise, they're not going to care about you. They have to feel your presence."

While European tours with David Bowie and U2, behind its 1996 eponymously-titled debut album were successful, Placebo didn't get such a warm reception the first time it hit these shores as opening act for Weezer. "When people throw coins and scream, 'You f**kin' faggot!,' it just makes you angry, and confrontation is something that gives you energy and a real drive and a real spiritual f**k-you and you just plow through it," says Molko.

When the fiery sets were over, Molko didn't even bother assessing what went wrong. "You usually just get drunk," he laughed.

Back home in London, there is no doubt that Molko, who usually appears wearing makeup and some feathery get-up, is a rock star – recognized in the street, stared at in restaurants and clubs, followed home by autograph hounds and adored. And he certainly fuels the persona.

Asked if he ever instructs his road crew to select pretty girls to go backstage as true rock stars are mandated to do, he says, "Oh, sure. It happens, yeah. It happens with all bands really. Touring is a very frustrating lifestyle but it's also a kind of lifestyle that's almost responsibility-free.

You end up getting into a bit of rut after a little while. You have to spice things up in order to not go insane. There's a lot about the lifestyle that's incredibly boring. It's also filled with extremes."

He likes to test his celebrity status back at home in order to avoid plebeian customs like standing in a queue that curves around the block and paying pricey dance club cover charges. "I do that all the time in London," he said. "It's important to never say, 'Don't you know who I am?' We promised ourselves we'd never ever say that. It's all got to do with your attitude. Sometimes, if you behave like it's your God-given right, then people will allow you that right."

Still, Molko claims even if Placebo explodes worldwide, he'll never turn into a terror of a rock star. "I'd like to keep my soul intact," he says. "It's only for the time that you're onstage that you're this magical rock star. The rest of the day, you're just the same asshole that you always were." *

Reported by Camilla Phelps 0956.113.562 Fax 171.359.1131 E-mail: camilla@pollstar.com

United Kingdom: UK PROMOTER Triple A is to stage an ambitious series of concerts in London's Hyde Park over three weekends commencing July 16. In the past, there were a number of restrictions making the staging of concerts within royal parks difficult. But the parks have been charged by the government to make themselves commercially selfsufficient, which is being undertaken by Simon Petherick, the chairman of Cardington, the commercial leg of Royal Parks Enterprises.

The three weekends start with multiple performances by Sir Cliff Richard and Triple A is currently in negotiations with Simply Red – also likely to do more than one show – Bryan Adams and Sting.

"Cliff is on sale and has started off very strong. We hope to get one more show on sale by the end of the month and then announce in fortnightly blocks," said Triple A's Dennis Arnold, who is overseeing the production side. Aztech's Tony Wheeler is managing the site and production manager for the series is Nick Levitt. Star Hire's Roger Barratt is supplying the staging for the arena-style layout, which will seat 18,000.

Arnold told POLLSTAR, "We've taken a step further than Feet of Flames. We've said to the park, we could leave the infrastructure in place for a three-week run. I think it'll be massive, myself, and it's right smack in the heart of London."

The series continues the high profile success of Triple A, which was formed at the beginning of last year by Dennis Arnold, Pete Wilson and Martin Stanger, who previously worked with Harvey Goldsmith. Other Triple A promotions this year include Steps and Lord of the Dance (March), Boyzone (May) and autumn tours with B*witched and Sive.

• THE PRODUCTION SERVICES Association is to have its annual general meeting, conference and council re-election ballot under the banner of this year's Live! Show & Awards, which takes place at London's Alexandra Palace February 10 and 11. Keith Ferguson of the PSA said the third session in the day will look at "What future live touring and events?" with speakers including IMF chairman Jef Hanlon, agent Nigel Kerr of ABS, Wembley technical director Andy Young and Sony Music's tour co-ordinator Matthew Sztumpf. Ferguson says he wants to examine whether there is a downturn in mid-range touring. He adds, "The millennium is distorting what people want to do this year. Artists are holding off on tours until they know what other people are doing."

The PSA's work with Loughborough College on the BTEC awards is bearing fruit, with a number of courses on live music production coming on stream this year. Dr. Daniel Clark of Loughborough College will be speaking, as will PSA's Dave Smith and Ioe Aveline from the Association of British Theatre Technicians (ABTT). An announcement that both British theatres (through their training arm AETTI) and Plasa have come on board the PSA as "principal training affiliates" will be made at the show. The theatres will be using the PSA template to create its own theatre BTEC awards and Plasa will enable a measure of industry funding to facilitate take-up of the courses.

The Live! Show itself was around 95 percent sold out by the end of the year, with exhibitors including Allen & Heath, EAW, LSD, Martin Professional, PCM, Screenco, Soundcraft, Spirit and Star Hire. Also at the February 10 show, Soundcraft is to host a series of free lectures and discussions on the subject of monitor engineering with production professionals such as Chris Lantz and Chris Trimby.

For this year's Live! Awards, which take place at the Royal Lancaster Hotel, Rick Wakeman is taking over master of ceremony duties – a fit replacement for Jools Holland.

• WEMBLEY ARENA HAS announced its Promoter of the Year 1998. Harvey Goldsmith was the outright winner with 31 shows including 10 with "Barney's Great Surprise," Lord of the Dance (21 performances), Depeche Mode (2) and Hanson. Next was Marshall Arts with 18, Phil McIntyre with 7, while both Kennedy Street and Metropolis had six shows apiece. SJM Concerts followed next with Triple A. Finally, all with 3 shows each: ITB, Solo and High Crest Enterprises.

The news will be particularly welcome in the Harvey Goldsmith camp as the company has had a tough year with ex-employees forming new company Triple A and carrying with them acts previously promoted by HGE. Time and energy was also spent on a complex reverse takeover with Tring, due to involve Raymond Gubbay. That deal eventually collapsed at the close of the year. Promoter MCP, usually in the Wembley top 10, is notably absent this year.

• THE SAGA OF MICK JAGGER AND Jerry Hall's divorce is set to provide the U.K. tabloids with enough material to see them into the next century. Jagger's latest shot has been to claim through his lawyers, Smyth Barkham, that the couple's marriage in Bali, Indonesia, in 1990 wasn't legal. The statement is presumably made in the hope Jagger, notoriously prudent financially, would save money on the divorce settlement, albeit at the expense of his image.

However, whether or not the marriage will prove to be illegal is seen by many legal commentators to be irrelevant to the settlement of upwards of £30 million expected by Hall. The couple had been together for more than 20 years and has four children.

Though Jagger's infidelities have caused the couple to split before, the news of the pregnancy of Luciana Morad, the Brazilian model reported Reya – the firm which also acted for Princess Diana in her divorce from Prince Charles – on January 15.

Perhaps it's our proximity to the millennium, the largest celebration of time's passing, which has sent us scurrying to confront the personal questions. Maybe this is why there seems to be an otherwise coincidental clutch of ailing and failing highprofile marriage break-ups - in the film world and now in the world of aging rock stars. The news of Jagger and Hall's divorce follows close on the heels of Rachel Hunter leaving husband Rod Stewart and ex-Queen member Brian May's recent split from his wife Anita Dobson.

• FOLLOWING ELTON JOHN'S SPLIT with his long-time manager John Reid, the star is suing Andrew Haydon, the former managing director of John Reid Enterprises; and John's former accountants Price Waterhouse Cooper, in respect of £20 million.

An audit of his business carried out last year by KPMG, which alleged the missing millions, resulted in Sir Elton issuing a writ against the parties alleging breach of trust, breach of contract and negligence. Mr Haydon has denied any impropriety and said he and Price Waterhouse Coopers will vigorously defend themselves against the action.

• ALSO IN THE BRITISH COURTS, boxing promoter Frank Warren agreed in court January 13, to pay U.S. boxing promoter Don King £7.2 million to end their partnership. Warren appealed last March's High Court ruling that King was entitled to a share of fights the two co-promoted and that Warren should not have walked out of the partnership.

In court, Warren, who may have to sell his house to make the first in a series of payments, acknowledged his obligation to compensate King and withdrew all allegations about King and his company. The two appeared reconciled after the judgement, shaking hands, with Warren saying, "it was cheap at the price" to settle their dispute.

• IT WAS ANNOUNCED JANUARY 12 that contracts for the £103 million sale of Wembley Stadium have been exchanged between Wembley PLC and the English National Stadium Development Company.

Wembley spokesman Martin Corrie said, "Paul Sergeant will remain venue director at the stadium and, along with the rest of the stadium team, will be moving over to the ENSDC - the arm of the English Football Association which will oversee the running of the stadium for the next 12 months."

Shareholder approval for the completion of the deal is expected to follow within the next two months.

Croatia: CROATIAN PROMOTER Marijan Cnaric of Vinil Promotion is unlikely to promote many events, if any, in Croatia this year after a string of financial problems. But, he does intend to put on some concerts in neighbouring Slovenia and its capital, Llubljana. Cnaric told POLLSTAR, "In a country – any country – which is dealing with the basics, entertainment is not very important at the moment."

He said, "Our policy so far is not to promote anything here (in Croatia). Slovenia was once part of our market and I promoted shows there and it is actually where I'm planning to work." Cnaric is looking at potential shows with Status Quo and, toward the end of the year, Pet Shop Boys.

Ironically, he said he had his best year in Croatia in 1998 in terms of artists, promoting dates with the Rolling Stones, Joe Cocker, Julio Iglesias, John Mayall, Santana, Page & Plant, James Brown, the Kelly Family, The Cramps, Slayer, Manhattan Transfer, and more.

However, he said, "On the financial side, it was the worst year in my 20 years in the business." He said some artists just didn't prove to be popular enough in the market and there were other reasons."The situation with the Stones was bad as I was one of the promoters who had to postpone dates (from May 28 to August 20). A weak market like this suffers from various negative effects in such a situation. The new date was in a high tourist period, so people were on holiday. Some saw the show in the meantime somewhere else, I had more promotion costs and I had the cheapest ticket price in Europe (US$31)."

He added, "Out of normal promoters' risk – the number of ticket sales – from last year we have very high taxes: 22 percent of VAT and five percent of local cultural taxes, plus 10 percent of PRS. With a bad economy, a low standard of living and such taxes, it's not strange my results are very, very bad."

Spain: Robert

Grima at La Iguana in Spain will concentrate on tours more than festivals this year, saying he will be involved in this May's Festimad but won't be booking it. He saw success in 1998 with a number of special concerts, including Smashing Pumpkins outside the Guggenheim Museum in Bilbao, dates with Lou Reed. Portishead, Asian Dub Foundation and Mexican band

Sweden: NO HEADLINERS ARE confirmed so far for Hultsfred Festival (June 17 - 19). However, the festival's Gunnar Lagerman has a number of Swedish bands confirmed, including The Cardigans. Linton Kwesi Johnson will also be playing this year. Last year, the band's drummer broke his arm and was unable to play the festival as scheduled.

auto show when 63 fibreglass panels gave way. The stadium has been plagued by roof trouble. Workers setting up the auto displays complained "the roof has been raining on us" for days but had been told there was nothing to worry about. When it was built for the 1976 Summer Olympics, the retractable roof didn't work and was being replaced by a Teflon fabric cover at the time of the latest failure. U.S. firm Birdair had virtually finished installing the new roof at a cost of $37 million (Cdn) but apparently has a bit more work to do now.

• NINE-HUNDRED FANS BRAVED the snow emergency in Toronto January 14 (for which Mayor Mel Lastman called in the troops) to see Atlanta's Black Crowes strut its Southern stuff onstage at the Phoenix Concert Theatre. The venue, which normally runs line-ups down the street while security searches bags and checks tickets and ID, opened the doors early so people wouldn't freeze outside. The promotional show was put on by Universal Concerts Canada and local rock station Q107.

Sony Music Canada arranged for radio contest winners from across the country to be flown in. The band's day of press to support its new album, By Your Side, also ran on schedule despite the city's shut-down and people clamouring for home.

 Five hours east of Toronto by car, the godfather of rap, Gil-Scott Heron, didn't land in Ottawa from New York City until 3 a.m., missing his scheduled gig at the Mercury Lounge. But for the dozen or so fans who patiently stuck around, Heron played a two-hour set. When conditions prevented him from making his two Toronto shows at the El Mocambo the next evening, he stuck around the nation's capital to perform another show at the Mercury Lounge on the 16th. The Toronto shows, put on by promoter Dave Redfern of Mushroom Enterprises, will be rescheduled.

• UNIVERSAL CONCERTS CANADA will soon announce details of Shania Twain's long-awaited national tour. The homegrown superstar will hit 12 cities in March. Word began leaking of Twain's tour when tickets went on sale for a date in Fargo and Universal Concerts Canada wanted to let nearby Manitobans know that the feisty country singer would be coming their way and to save the gas money for tickets.

• ANNE MURRAY WILL PERFORM a benefit concert at Toronto's Elgin Theatre on January 27 in support of Sheena's Place, a local drop-in clinic for people with eating disorders. The cause is of personal interest to the Canadian singer, whose 19-year-old daughter, Dawn, has been battling anorekia. Tickets are priced at $200, $125 and $70 (Cdn.). There are two galas receptions, one prior and one after the concert.

"We're hoping to raise about $200,000 (Cdn.)," says Maggie Wygant, executive director of Sheena's Place, who managed to secure a charitable rate from the Elgin Theatre for the event.

• LOCK UP YOUR DAUGHTERS! Universal Concerts Canada might bring teen dreams N' Sync to Toronto in March and are trying to organise a national summer tour.

• MONTREAL NATIVE RUFUS Wainwright, son of Loudon Wainwright III and Kate McGarrigle, will play some eight Canadian cities on his upcoming North American tour. Universal Concerts Canada confirms the "popera" artist will headline Canadian theatres in March with a full band.

• REBEL ROCK BANDS ARE MAKING a comeback with a cleaned-up act in Singapore, according to a recent report by Reuters. Bands died down in the island republic in the late '60s when the government clamped down on nightclubs and nightspots where rock bands thrived. These days, bands such as The Boredpucks, Force Vomit and Rudra are signed to independent labels and have been scoring some success around Asia and even the United States.

The Padres have had the widest release in eight Asian countries with Night but disbanded last year. Last July, Rudra sold about 1,000 copies in the U.S., totaling more than 4,000 records in 24 countries. Rudra producer Hermie Abdul Raman's Candlelight Productions will merge with U.S.-based Abyss Records and Romania's Bestial Records this year to form Sonic Wave International, which will distribute records in the United States and Europe.

• ON ANOTHER MUSICAL FRONT, the Chang & Eng musical has proven to be a great hit in Singapore and organisers have added another eight performances for the two-act song-and-dance show. The homegrown show – produced by Action Theatre and directed by Ekachai Uekrongtham – is about the lives of the famous conjoined twins.

Performances began January 7 and were scheduled originally to end January 31. The extra performances add up to a total of 39 for the production's month-long run. The musical stars Passion 99.5 deejay Robin Goh, Singaporean actress Selena Tan and Australian actors Roseo Jose Rosales, Brendan Hanson, Mary-Anne McCormack and Helen Searle.

• CHINESE OFFICIALS destroyed 200,000 pirated compact discs in a ceremony at the Shanghai Gymnasium last week. Official sources said the event "emphasized that this city will intensify its attack on smuggling of illegal publications." Although there is no report on the origin of the CDs, China's recent crackdown on piracy has driven pirates to neighbouring places such Macau, Hong Kong and Taiwan. China is in a seven-month nationwide crackdown on smuggling and has opened a branch of a new anti-smuggling police force in Shanghai.

 ALSO IN SHANGHAI, A LARGEscale charity activity – '99 New Year Cultural Charity Night – was held in Tian Chan Peking Opera Centre early this week, attended by city and provincial leaders. This activity was a continuance of "Love under the Blue Sky." Shanghai Peking Opera Troupe performed "Change the Leopard Cat for the Crown Prince."

There's another copyright infringement case developing and it has nothing to do with posting unauthorized song files on the Web. Instead, it's about posting song lyrics.

The National Music Publishers Association (www.nmpa.org) and its licensing subsidiary, The Harry Fox Agency, announced that several American music publishers have brought suit against the International Lyrics Server (www.lyrics.ch), claiming that the site contains more tham "100,000 songs available to the worldwide public via the Internet, without the permission of the songs' creators or copyright owners."

The suit was originally filed in November in Basel, Switzerland, home of the ILS. In December, a Swiss court ordered a temporary injunction barring the site from using the songs named in the suit pending a scheduled hearing for January 22nd. But after an additional filing of a criminal complaint by the copyright owners, Swiss authorities ordered the seizure of the computers and their contents.

NMPA president Edward P. Murphy stated that at least one publisher spent more than a year trying to work out a licensing deal with the site. The NMPA also reports that an ILS rep stated in writing that the Web site was "not willing to either cease the distribution of the songs nor to close the server."

"It was soon after that point that several of our music publisher members sought our assistance in enforcing their rights through the Swiss courts," Murphy said.

As of last week, the ILS Web site reported that the "server is temporarily shut down. Our servers have been confiscated by the police."

TicketWeb (www.ticketweb.com) is aiming for a more global presence with the announcement of its latest venture, TicketWeb UK (www.ticketweb.co.uk). In a joint venture with the McKenzie Group, owner of London's Brixton Academy and Shepherd's Bush Empire, TicketWeb is claiming the title of the U.K.'s most inexpensive, full-service ticket distributor taking orders over the Net, by phone or fax.

In a deal worth $2.8 million, African Media Entertainment acquired 20 percent of TicketWeb to form TicketWeb South Africa (www.ticketweb.co.za), which began selling tickets on September 21st. AME owns Big Concerts, the largest promoter in South Africa.

Sick of hearing about MP3 and how it will change the record biz? Now there's MP4, developed by Global Music Outlet's MP4 Technologies Group and utilizing technologies licensed from AT&T Labs. GMO claims that MP4 allows for smaller files and shorter download times than MP3, and that a three-minute song is approximately 2.3 MB in size, a 30 percent reduction from MP3. The format also promises better accountability for copyright owners.

The first song available in the MP4 format is "Swindler's Lust" by Public Enemy's Chuck D. You can find it at mp4.globalmusic.com as well as the Public Enemy site (www.publicenemy.com). The track will not be available in stores until the spring release of Chuck D's There's Poison Goin' Down. Toward the end of 1998, Chuck D was forced to remove his own MP3 songs from his unreleased Bring The Noise 2000 remix project from the Public Enemy Web site.

Meanwhile, in the land downunder, Australia's OZEmail announced that its online music channel, CMM (www.cmm.com .au), has released 15 tracks utilizing the MP4 format. Included are songs by Public Enemy and David Crosby, plus Australian artists The Whitlams, James Morrison, TISM and Karma County.

At the site, you can hear the man who breathed life into the role of Captain James T. Kirk display his spoken word prowess on the track "In Love." In describing Fear Of Pop, Folds writes, "Often it was a vehicle to work with rock legends such as William Shatner, Caleb Southern and John Painter." 🛥

BETWEEN ates

IT'S A SOUTHERN THING

Lynyrd Skynyrd and Hank

Williams Jr. are teaming up for a major road trip. The Southern fried co-bill will do a 50-date tour between late April and the first week of October. The two acts did a 20-show tour together in 1996. Hank Jr. agent Gregg Öswald at William Morris Nashville said he and Skynyrd's reps at QBQ are working out the details.

He said the package will take some breaks along the way and will be off the road for most of June. However, Skynyrd will also have its own dates in addition to this tour.

Oswald said he's eager to see the right support act sign on to open the show. "We'd love to see a really talented act with great enthusiasm get on board. Anyone who thinks they have the perfect support act for this tour should call us or our friends at QBQ."

MUST BE THAT TIME OF YEAR

➤ Singer/songwriter John Hiatt has been sidelined by a cyst in his throat. Hiatt has canceled all tour dates scheduled for February so he can have the bothersome thing removed. The cyst is not life threatening and Hiatt is expected to fully recover within three months.

Brian Wilson will reschedule a number of dates on his highly anticipated tour. According to Wilson's publicist, a member of his wife's family is extremely ill and it's not possible for him to tour until early March. New dates for the four shows affected have not been announced.

Tenor Andrea Bocelli missed his West Coast debut when a throat infection kept him at home in Italy. He was scheduled to perform at a San Francisco cancer center benefit on January 13th. James Taylor and Robin Williams were called in to fill Bocelli's slot.

Beck canceled his January 14th gig at the Tropicana Hotel & Casino in Las Vegas after drummer Joey Waronker became ill. The make-up date is May 6th.

The official announcement regarding two postponed Black Sabbath shows said guitarist Tony Iommi had the flu. But rumor has it that the axeman actually slipped and fell, injuring his hip. Maybe that geriatric-sounding reason clashed with Sabbath's immortal image.

WHEN FROGS FLY

A handful of blues and roots musicians known for their ability to tear it up on stage are joining forces for a few dates in February. The side project is called Frogwings and comprises Blues Traveler frontman John Popper; Allman Brothers Band members Butch Trucks, Marc Quinones and Oteil Burbridge; Butch's nephew Derek Trucks; Oteil's brother Kofi Burbridge; and former Aquarium Rescue Unit player limmy Herring.

Frogwings plays the East Coast February 7-13. Those will be especially busy nights for Derek Trucks; his band is opening on all dates.

HOT NEW TOURS

► Lots of new 1999 tour schedules have been announced. The super-hot Jay-Z / DMX package starts a lengthy arena tour February 27th ..... The Offspring is in Europe for a month, then plays some North American dates..... Vince Gill has announced his '99 schedule which starts March 4th and runs through December .... The Steve Miller Band starts its tour March 31st in Fresno, of all places ..... The first few dates on the George Strait Country Music Festival have gone on sale ..... Collective Soul returns to the road this week ..... Howard Jones tours the U.K. in March ..... Sir George Martin is doing a multimedia tour on "The Making Of Sgt. Pepper"..... Squeeze returns to America in February ..... Southside Johnny & Friends tours next month..... The Allman Brothers Band's annual run at the Beacon Theatre in Boston takes place March 4-20..... Terri Clark has an extensive tour schedule ..... Also watch for The House Jacks, Indigenous, The Gap Band, The Workhorse Movement, Zuba, Buck Cherry, Sweet Honey In The Rock, The Kennedys, Ivan Neville, Kai, Rockapella, Linda Davis, Skavoovie & The Epitones, Jimmy Eat World, Block, Gov't Mule, Melissa Ferrick, Enemymine, Lee Ann Womack, Sleater-Kinney, Ominous Seapods, Lapwagon, God Street Wine, and Arlo Guthrie. 🕊

LIVE SHOTS

KEEPING WITH his unorthodox style, Minnesota Governor Jesse Ventura dresses as his pro wrestler persona, "The Body," during his People's Celebration January 16th in Minneapolis. During the sold-out inaugural event at the Target Center, Ventura also joined Warren Zevon for a duct on "Werewolves of London."

JENNIFER PAIGE belts one out at KISS 108's soid-out Jingle Ball concert. Fans who attended the December 16th show at Boston's Avalon had to win their tickets. Also performing were Cher, Bryan Adams and Seal.

NOCHE FLAMENCA singer Rafael Jimenez (L) falo dances with group guitarist Jesus Torres during their opening number at Philadelphia's Wilma Theater January 13th.

LEANN RIMES joins Elton John in singing "Written In The Stars" January 9th at the People's Choice Awards in Pasadena.

FANS DECIDED it was definitely worth the wait as they hung around Foxwoods Casino until 1:30 a.m. to see Mya, who ran into storm delays on her trip from L.A. to Mashantucket, Conn. MTV also stuck around to film the event for its "Fanatic" show.

DETROIT WAS NEVER HAPPIER to see Garbage (snow is another story) as singer Shirley Manson honored the 10,000-plus crowd at Joe Louis Arena by wearing an official Detroit Red Wings "Made in Hockeytown" tank top. It was all part of The Night 89X Stole Christmas concert December 21st.

IT WAS A REUNION many country performers wouldn't miss as the Grand Ole Opry returned to its original home, the Ryman Auditorium, the weekend of January 15th. Here, Stonewall Jackson performs on the sacred stage that hosted the Opry for 31 years.

CELTIC ROCK BAND Ceili Rain puts on a "global living room concert" at Planet III studio in Lexington, Ky. The band taped a performance November 30th for the Woodsongs Old-Time Radio Hour, which is heard on 31 radio stations in North America and Europe.
