Concert Industry Awards

THE IOTH ANNUAL CONCERT Industry Awards were presented February 13th at UCLA's Royce Hall. Nearly 1,000 industry executives attended the awards presentation, which was hosted in grand style by the legendary Firesign Theatre.

The evening was a benefit for the Bobby Brooks Foundation and POLLSTAR is pleased to be able to donate $10,000 from this year's event to the foundation.

Among the surprises (not counting the fire alarm going off) this year were guest appearances by Little Richard and Elayne Boosler.

Complete details on the award winners and scenes from the gala after-party can be found starting on page 25 of this issue.

High Winds Cancel Stadium Show

IGH WINDS AND BLOWING dust interrupted the George Strait Country Music Festival's March 7th stop in El Paso, Texas.

The concert was aborted when winds gusting to more than 60 mph struck the Sun Bowl stadium. The crowd of about 33,000 was sent home shortly before 8 p.m., about three hours before the show was due to end.

Since neither Strait nor Tim McGraw had performed, ticket holders will get refunds. At this point, it doesn't look like the show will be rescheduled.

One fan was apparently hit in the head by flying debris and was treated at an area hospital. No other injuries were reported. A spokesperson for tour organizer Pace Concerts told POLLSTAR that authorities were faced with "a dust bowl situation" and the concert was halted "more out of concern for the fans than for the artists." The high winds knocked down power lines in parts of the city and disrupted traffic signals.

A New Lesh On Life But No Furthur

SINCE HIS SUCCESSFUL LIVER transplant operation last December, Grateful Dead bassist Phil Lesh is back on the road to good health, announcing a threedate stint with members of Phish in April.

How compatible are Marilyn Manson and Hole fans? At the tour's March 6th stop at the Rose Garden Arena in Portland, Ore., the answer was apparently, "not very." Courtney Love cut Hole's set short after failing to get more than a tepid response from the audience of about 8,500 fans, many of whom were wearing the standard goth attire of black lipstick, chains and spikes.

Ticketing firm ETM Entertainment Network announced a merger last week with ICON Software. The combined company, yet to be named, plans to go after the market for advance sale of movie tickets by utilizing ICON's theatre clients and ETM's Internet presence, kiosks and phone center. With ETM Ticket Machines, customers will be able to see movie previews and then have their tickets printed on the spot. ICON clients include the AMC, Hoyts, Edwards Theatres, Pacific Theatres, Village Road Show and Wehrenberg Theatre chains. Competition in the flick tix industry stiffened last month when MovieFone merged with America Online to provide consumers with Internet-based movie-guide services. One of their strategies involves a broadband data delivery, which would enable MovieFone to deliver film trailers to users with cable modems.

Bobby Darin's son is suing the Hard Rock Hotel & Casino for return of his father's belongings. In 1996, Dodd Darin lent the Las Vegas showplace several mementos of the late 1950s teen idol, according to the Los Angeles Times. In his lawsuit, Darin reportedly claims he agreed to loan the items for as long as they were publicly shown. But after the hotel-casino changed hands, he learned the memorabilia was no longer on display, the Times said. Apparently, Darin has been trying for a year to recover his father's bow tie, acoustic guitar, music charts and photographs. But neither the former owners of the Hard Rock nor the current ones seem to know where the items are. Darin is reportedly seeking payment of $200 for each day the items remain lost, as well as punitive damages.

Rapper Luther Campbell is suing a Chevron station because his running Mercedes was stolen when he stopped for gas. 2 Live Crew's former 37-year-old front man claims the Miami Shores, Fla., station's owners should have provided better security. The "defendant had a duty to maintain the premises in a reasonably safe condition for the protection of the guests," says the suit. According to Campbell, the 1993 500 SEL was snatched Nov. 9th and contained $20,000 in jewelry and clothes, as well as his credit cards and ID. The car was found stripped 17 blocks from the station. "Luther allowed the theft to occur by leaving his keys in the car," said Chevron attorney Daniel Shapiro. Campbell is also suing his insurance agent for not telling him his policy didn't cover belongings.

Atlantic Records co-founder Ahmet Ertegun will serve as keynote speaker for the May 18-22 Emerging Artists & Talent in Music conference, showcases and festival. John Denver's children and mother believe a malfunctioning fuel-selector valve caused the plane crash that took his life in 1997. The heirs filed a lawsuit against the valve's manufacturer last October, reported The Monterey County Herald in its March 3rd edition. The suit claims Denver's plane lost power when the valve stuck. It names Imperial Eastman Corporation, Mark IV Industries and others as defendants. More than one entity was listed because Imperial Eastman has had numerous owners, said the family's Los Angeles attorney, Bill Wimsatt. In January, the National Transportation Safety Board ruled pilot error contributed to the fatal plane crash, which occurred off the Central California coast.

because, obviously, we were waiting to see how Phil would turn out, how his health would turn out," longtime Dead publicist Dennis McNally told POLLSTAR.

Lesh underwent surgery last year, reportedly as a result of his battle with hepatitis C. "By the time we were confident that he could get back on stage, it was really too late to book Furthur," McNally said.

Many are now eagerly awaiting Lesh's upcoming gigs with Phish guitarist Trey Anastasio and keyboardist Page McConnell.

The April 15-17 shows at San Francisco's Warfield Theatre, billed as Phil Lesh and Friends, will be the musician's first public performances since his surgery.

In the meantime, McNally said Lesh has been back in the studio, remixing old Dead tapes as well as performing the occasional jam with Hot Tuna's Jorma Kaukonen.

Cher & Share Alike

CALC ORMER CHER MANAGER BILL Sammeth has filed suit against the entertainer, alleging he was wrongfully terminated earlier this year and is owed profits from her latest album, Believe.

In the suit filed March 8th in Los Angeles, Sammeth claims he was unjustly fired in January, just days before Cher's Super Bowl rendition of the national anthem. Sammeth says he is entitled to 15 percent of the album's profits according to an oral agreement with the singer.

"Cher, like many talented, creative people, can be stormy," Sammeth's lawyer, Henry Gradstein, said. "The only problem is that he is still entitled to be paid."

Sammeth is credited as manager and given special thanks in the album's cover, according to the lawsuit. The album ranked No.7 on last week's Top 200 chart and sold almost 113,000 copies, according to SoundScan.

Following a nearly 22-year friendship with the performer, Sammeth said he was fired without explanation. He had been working on Cher's upcoming tour before he was canned.

"They had an intense personal friendship," Gradstein said.

Cher had no comment on the pending lawsuit, according to publicist Toni Howard.

The suit reportedly cites breach of oral contract, among other allegations, and seeks unspecified compensation and fees.

ODB Faces Body Armor Rap

RAPPER OL' DIRTY BASTARD was jailed pending payment of $115,000 bail after pleading not guilty to possessing body armor during his arraignment in Los Angeles Municipal Court March 10th. The court-appointed lawyer for ODB argued that the rapper was at risk for his life and needed the protection.

"He has been in gun battles before. That's why he was wearing body armor," said Deputy Public Defender Mearl Lottman.

The Wu-Tang rapper, whose real name is Russell Jones, was allegedly wearing a bulletproof vest February 16th when he was stopped by police in Hollywood for parking in a red zone. A new California law makes it illegal for some felons to use or own body armor. ODB was convicted of felonious second degree assault in 1993 in connection with an attack on a man in a New York bar.

ODB arrived in court last week without a lawyer and requested a public defender, claiming financial hardship. His bail was raised because of his previous felony conviction and two felony terrorist threat cases pending against him in Los Angeles.

ODB STARES at his lawyer during a March 10th court hearing in Los Angeles where he was arraigned on charges of being a felon in possession of body armor.

Deputy District Attorney Mary Ganahl suggested ODB was the head of a street gang named Wu-Tang Clan. "I think that is a musical group," Judge Kevin Brown said with a smile. "I have three children. That's how I know that."

His next hearing is scheduled for March 23rd. If convicted, ODB faces up to three years in jail.

Blaze Lays Jerk Rap On Robinson

PIONEERING RAP RECORD label founder Sylvia Robinson has filed a $15 million lawsuit over an article in Blaze magazine. In its February issue, the hip-hop magazine listed what it called the greatest rap executives of all time and ranked Robinson No. 10.

Robinson founded Sugar Hill Records – the first rap record label – and helped launch the careers of Sugarhill Gang, Melle Mel, the Furious Five and many others. According to the Blaze article, she also "jerked many artists."

Apparently, it was the use of the word "jerked" in particular that offended Robinson.

"I didn't 'jerk' anybody," she told the New York Daily News. "It is an untrue statement and I don't want people believing that about me. I was always honest in dealing with my artists."

Her suit was filed February 10th against Blaze parent company Vibe/Spin Ventures in U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York. It alleges libel and defamation, and claims the magazine "meant and intended to defame" her and tarnish her name in the music business "by impugning fraud and dishonesty."

The charges may be difficult to prove since the definition of "jerk" is a bit subjective.

SFX Emphasizes Corporate Dollars

S FX ENTERTAINMENT APPEARS to be working hard and fast to increase the level of corporate sponsorship dollars flowing into its evolving revenue model.

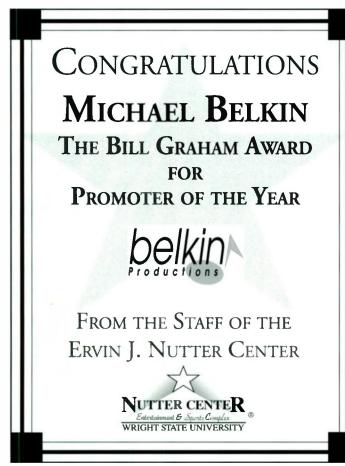

Last week, the company announced a venture in which Levi Strauss & Co. will sponsor secondary stages on the concourses at SFX amphitheatres. The jeans maker, which is the first corporate sponsor of SFX sheds, will spend $15 million over the course of the three-year deal.

Levi's officials said the company will spend close to half of its entire marketing budget on music tie-ins. It sponsored Lilith Fair last year and is currently the sponsor of Lauryn Hill's first national solo tour.

Levi Strauss hopes that tying its name to emerging talent will help the company win back teenage customers. The Levi's First stages, as they will be called, are expected to serve between 750,000 and 1 million music fans per year, a company spokesperson told the San Francisco Chronicle.

Twenty-five stages for upand-coming acts are reportedly being built for this summer.

The venture also includes a national radio program presented by Levi's, which will showcase emerging artists. That program will be syndicated through SFX's radio distribution division.

SFX also last week announced agreements with multiple corporate sponsors to promote its stadium tour featuring George Strait.

The Nokia Presents George Strait Chevy Truck Country Music Festival tour will also include Brown & Williamson's sponsorship of the GPC Straitland Festival area.

The country music festival has several other corporate backers including Bud Light, Jack Daniels, Justin, Pemmican, Resistol and Wrangler.

The Las Vegas Convention and Visitors Authority, which has a promotional alliance with SFX, will also have an extensive presence at each of the tour's venues. The festival kicked off March 6th.

In other SFX Entertainment news, the company is anticipating closing its merger deal with Marquee immediately following the meeting of Marquee's shareholders March 16th. That is assuming that the holders of the majority of outstanding shares vote to adopt the merger. As of last week, Marquee had received enough revocable proxies to approve the deal.

Each Marquee share will be converted into the right to receive 0.0815 shares of SFX Class A common stock. Upon completion of the expected merger, SFX will issue approximately 1.5 million shares of SFX Class A common stock to Marquee stockholders in exchange for their shares of Marquee stock.

Bush Faces $40 Million Trauma

TRAUMA RECORDS HAS FILED a $40 million breach of contract lawsuit against Bush, claiming the band has completed its next album, The Science Of Things, but has not delivered it to the label.

TOMMY LEE turns his attention to his lawyer at a March 8th hearing in Malibu Municipal Court, where he was accused of violating terms of his probation. The New York Post reported Lee had been seen drinking at a Miami nightclub. Before dropping the charges, Judge Lawrence Mira reminded Lee he was not to enter any establishment that sold alcohol.

The complaint also accuses Bush of shopping the record elsewhere.

"That album belongs to Trauma and the band is signed to Trauma," attorney Skip Miller told POLLSTAR. "That's why Trauma's filed suit to enforce its contractual rights."

The suit, which names the band members and their U.K. corporation, Vineland Limited, claims the band did not fork over the album by the deadline defined in its contract and additionally, failed to provide a recording budget.

Trauma alleges that Bush has made repeated demands to rewrite its 1996 agreement with the label following the success of the band's first two albums.

The label is reportedly seeking an injunction barring any other record company from distributing the album, a court order directing Bush to deliver the album to Trauma and a declaration forcing the band to acknowledge its record contract is valid until 2003.

Minnesota have teamed under the banner – appropriately named – The Lost Cities Tour.

"What we've been able to do is, hopefully, bring the quality entertainment that the major markets are getting and helping them pick up pay days in between those major dates," said Jim Walczak, GM of the Rushmore Plaza Civic Center in South Dakota.

Staffers at the group's participating venues have pooled detailed information including the specifics of each facility, mileage between cities, the areas' marketing demographics and media contacts. The information is distributed to interested agents and promoters who may consider routing tours through the region.

Although the concept seems similar to the recently formed ArenaNetwork, which also gathers and distributes touring information for its participating buildings, the Lost Cities are geographically focused, creating options for secondary market tour routing between major cities.

"Ours is about information; here's where we are, this is what it takes to get to us, these are the number of people we serve collectively," Walczak explained. "You can get a good pay day when you're trying to get from point A to point C and use us as point B in between."

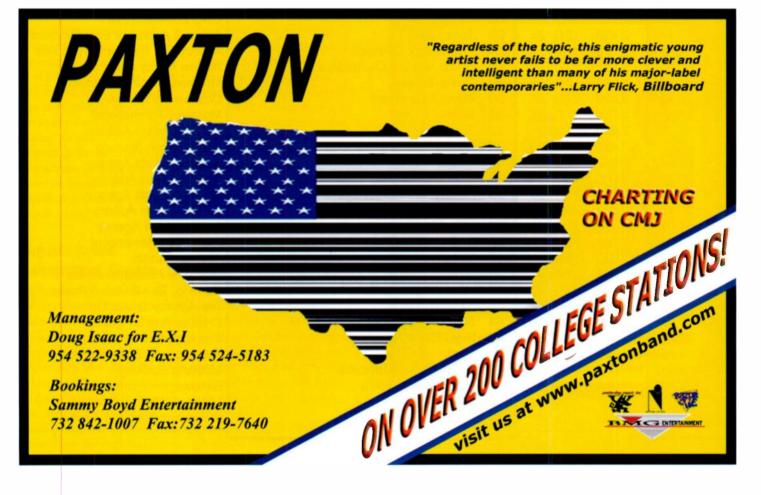

Walczak is not in unfamiliar territory explaining the idea; he has served as GM of the Kellogg Arena in Battle Creek, Mich., as well as the Casper Events Center in Wyoming, among other buildings. "When I came out here and accepted this job, I got on the phone to let people know that this is where I was [and] I kept hearing this recurring theme, 'Oh, yeah, you're back in the lost cities,'" he said.

The concept for the tour routing dates back to 1985 when Walczak headed the Wyoming venue. He created Tours West, an 18-facility network similar to the Lost Cities group. "The whole premise behind it was let's connect the dots; we want to show you we are on your beaten path," Walczak said. "We want to make it as easy for you to find us and consider us for a place to do business."

After recently sharing the idea with agents from William Morris, Monterey and ICM as well as various promoters, Walczak committed to the idea again.

"Basically, [we're] just trying to make the jobs easier for the agents, the managers, the decision makers and the promoters as to where we are and what we're capable of doing on their behalf to help make business go to places it may not normally go to," he said.

Among the venues currently enlisted are the Beasley Performing Arts Coliseum in Pullman, Wash.; Veterans Memorial Auditorium in Des Moines, Iowa.; MetraPark Arena in Billings, Mont.; Mayo Civic Center in Rochester, Minn.;

Texas-based promoter Danny Eaton got the bug early on. He started throwing parties for his high school friends in Paris, Texas, when he was about 16. Then, a character known only as "Satan the barber" inspired him to throw his first concert at a hotel ballroom.

After serving as social chairman for a fraternity at the University of Texas, Danny was sure the concert industry was his calling. He met his present partner, Mark Lee, in the late '60s and they put together Flower Fair 1968, which drew more than 30,000 music fans. After a six-year stint working with ZZ Top's management, Danny got into the club business. His company, 462 Inc., started in 1980 out of an alternative music venue in Dallas called the Hot Club. In the beginning, Danny and Mark put in a lot of legwork, pinning up posters to promote their bands which were largely ignored by local radio.

The company has since branched out into many types of live entertainment in many places. Plus, 462 has developed an ongoing relationship with Universal Concerts.

While Danny was deeply honored to win this award, he was sure to point out that he is only as good as the dedicated staff around him. "These guys are the ones that really make it happen," he said.

Also nominated were Jeff Fortier, Sue McLean, Jesse Morreale, John Peters, Glenn Smith and Dave Werlin.

Nobody gets more excited about winning a Concert Industry Award than Rod Essig. After taking this honor for a third time, you'd think it would be old hat for Rod. No way. He told POLLSTAR, "I was just blown away. I'm totally, totally honored." Rod kept busy in '98 putting LeAnn Rimes on her first headline tour, having Tim McGraw headline and perform on the George Strait Country Music Festival and getting Randy Travis back on the road.

He also stayed active in signing fresh talent such as six-brother group the Clark Experience. The brothers are working on an album and a television show for 1999.

In addition, Rod is developing a new 15-year-old DreamWorks recording artist named Jessica Andrews.

Even with all the hard work he's put into his six years at CAA, Rod can't believe that his peers would recognize him with this honor. "I'm pretty awed by that," he said. "All my peers are my friends."

Also nominated this year were Ron Baird, Bobby Cudd, John Huie, Joey Lee, Keith Miller, Rick Shipp and Buck Williams.

With Joel Peresman heading the Concerts and Entertainment Department at Madison Square Garden, the facility saw its most successful year ever in 1998. Not only did the Garden host the most concerts it's ever done, but it saw a wider variety of acts come through than ever before.

Joel started the year with three Rolling Stones shows in the arena while in the same week, MSG's theatre was hosting Bob Dylan and Van Morrison. Other performances that stood out were six nights with Billy Joel, four with Elton John, four with Phish, three with Eric Clapton and two with Depeche Mode.

"We were lucky," Joel said. "Things that were doing single dates in some places were able to do multiple dates in our venues."

The Spice Girls, Andrea Bocelli and the Beastie Boys also graced the stage of MSG. Plus, Joel said, "We expanded our Latin business with sold-out shows by Mark Anthony, Ricky Martin and others."

Joel and staff are at it again this year, preparing for multiple nights with Grammy darling Lauryn Hill, Neil Young and Kirk Franklin.

Others norminated in this category were Bob Howard, Paul Johnson, Buck Martin, Jim McCue and Tim Ryan.

1998 Award Winners

Keeping one step ahead of the curve is what Vince Bannon does best.

As 550 Music's senior VP of artist development, Vince uses his indie ethics with the support of a major label to bring relatively unknown acts into the limelight as well as

PERSONAL MANAGER OF THE YEAR

Behind the sold-out shows, year-round road trips and platinum-selling records, a critical component to the success of the Dave Matthews Band lies in its manager, Coran Capshaw of Red Light Management.

Despite the band's huge stature and fanbase, Coran remains hidden in the shadows — a true behindtherscenes person. Fortunately, his actions make up for his obscurity. develop the careers of the label's veteran artists.

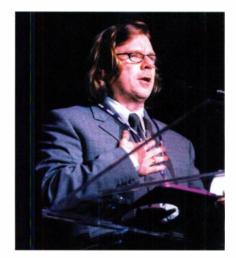

To stay ahead of the curve, Vince keeps his ears close to the street, noting trends happening in the various club scenes around the country.

Vince's history as a promoter carries over at 550 Music, where he preserves the importance of touring in not only breaking any new artist but maintaining long-term success.

The Sony-owned label had recent successes in breaking younger acts such as Fuel, Ben Folds Five and Ginuwine while maintaining its more seasoned artists ranging from moe. to Celine Dion.

It also hit paydirt with the Ally McBeal soundtrack, propelling a very un-commercial Vonda Shepard into a commercial success.

Also nominated for Artist Development Executive of the Year were Larry Butler, Steve Davis, Liana Huth, Nick Light and Larry Weintraub.

Coran believed in the potential of the Dave Matthews Band while the group was still a young act in the Virginia club scene during the early '90s. He soon became the group's manager and began guiding the careers of the five-piece act.

Over the year's, Coran's relentless touring demands rapidly increased the band's popularity and following. Like a seed in fertile soil, the Dave Matthews Band has grown into a monster touring act.

As a testament to the band's success, the group with the support of Monterey Peninsula Artists provided the second highest grossing tour of North American during 1998. Additionally, the band's numerous albums have been received with critical acclaim.

Others nominated in the Personal Manager of the Year category included Rene Angelil, Jon Landau, Terry McBride, and Arthur Spivak.

Much of the success behind the most recent tours by the Rolling Stones, U2 and Pink Floyd can be attributed to Michael Cohl and The Next Adventure, the Torontobased touring company he founded in late 1995.

Michael's company continues to guide the Stones' seemingly endless touring schedule, which wrapped up the Bridges to Babylon road trip last year and began the No Security dates this year.

TNA's past involvement in U2's PopMart tour and Pink Floyd's Division Bell outing have truly displayed the company's vast wealth of experience.

Michael's roots in the concert industry run deep. He and partner Bill Ballard's Toronto-based Concerts Productions International (and later BCL Entertainment Corp.) were for many years the behemoth of concert promotion from coast to coast in The Great White North.

Longtime associates of Michael, including former CPI president Arthur Fogel and BCL exec Steve Howard, also contribute to making TNA a leading promoter of international tours.

Also competing for International Promoter of the Year were Michael Chugg, Barrie Marshall, Tim Parsons, Leon Ramakers, Phil Rodriguez, and Scumeck Sabottka.

1998 Award Winners

For the third year in a row, Universal Concerts' Melissa Miller has risen above the competition to earn the award for top talent buyer.

"It's truly great to receive an award for a job that I truly enjoy doing," Melissa said during her acceptance speech, in which she also praised her Universal Concerts peers.

Melissa's work contributes to the continuing

Her efforts also reach other Universal venues including the Staple Amphitheatre in Dallas, Blossom Music Center in Ohio and Lakewood Amphitheatre in Atlanta.

Melissa received her baptism by fire in the concert industry when she started working in 1987 for Seth Hurwitz at the 9:30 Club in Washington, D.C. Later, stints at Triad Artists and DelsenerSlater led her to Universal Concerts, where she has worked since 1995. Not surprisingly, while Melissa worked at DelsenerSlater, she was named Talent Buyer of the Year for 1993.

Others nominated in this category included Jodi Goodman, Randy Henner, Bob Roux, Ken Scher, Lee Smith, and Larry Vallon.

Starting as a small family-operated business during the mid-'60s, Belkin Productions has evolved into a premier promoter in Cleveland and large parts of the Midwest.

Belkin Productions was responsible for hundreds of events last year, hitting venues ranging in size from the intimate Ludlow's Bar in Columbus, Ohio, to the Palace of Auburn Hills in Michigan.

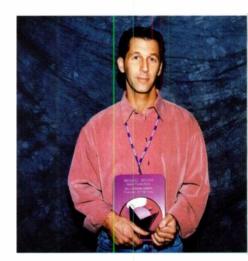

The company also produced an equally wide array of shows including Pantera, Backstreet Boys, Lord Of The Dance, Elton John, Chris Isaak and Joe Satriani.

Helping take the day-to-day point of this still independently owned Midwest promotions company is Michael Belkin, whose father, Mike, and uncle, Jules, founded the operation many moons ago.

Though Michael was recognized as the recipient of the award, he recognizes the importance of the entire Belkin staff in this accomplishment.

"This is one for the little guy," Michael proclaimed while accepting the award last month at Royce Hall in Los Angeles.

Also nominated for the Bill Graham Award were Don Fox, Rick Franks, Seth Hurwitz and Irv Zuckerman.

Tom Ross is certainly no stranger to the concert industry.

Spanning three decades, Tom's career grew from the flower-power generation of the '60s. He is responsible for founding as well as leading the highly successful music department at Creative Artists Agency.

Over the years, Tom has become associated with many of recent history's top performers including Fleetwood Mac, Eric Clapton, Bob Dylan, Bette Midler, and Madonna.

"If you ask any of his clients who their agent was, it wasn't ICM or CAA, it was Tom Ross," said CAA's Rob Light during this year's Concert Industry Awards.

Tom's commitment to music and artists — as opposed to the bottom line — makes him one of the most influential agents in the industry. He is also one of the most outspoken members of the concert business.

His landmark keynote address during last year's CIC questioned the direction the concert industry is taking as a result of consolidation. "Corporations, suits, Wall Street, they're going to replace all of you," he told the CIC audience.

Less than a year after delivering his wake-up call to the industry, Tom surprised many by retiring from CAA and the booking agency business in general — ending a 30-year agency career.

"I've loved being an agent but this is something I needed to do," Tom said of his departure. "I have experienced a full deck's worth of excitement and I've seen all 52 cards and played mostly winning hands."

Although Tom has vowed to return to the business in some capacity, the Concert Industry Awards honored the veteran agent as if it were for his formidable lifetime achievements. Tom was not only named Agent of the Year in this, his final year of eligibility for the award, but he was also presented with the first-ever Master's Award, which POLLSTAR gives to honor those who have demonstrated exceptional leadership within the industry.

In accepting the Master's Award, Tom said, "It's an amazing thing to get an award like this because it indicates that you're a master. And one of the things I always professed is that in this business, no one is a master; it's constantly changing."

Also nominated for Agent of the Year were Marty Diamond, Rob Light, Don Muller and Frank Riley.

BETWEEN | THE DATES

BACK TO OZZ

➤ This year's OZZfest lineup promises something for the purists and po-mo metalheads alike. The tour will feature Rob Zombie, Deftones, Slayer, and Black Sabbath on what Ozzy Osbourne is calling the band's farewell tour. Also confirmed for the OZZfest main stage are Primus, Godsmack and System Of A Down.

The second stage acts include Judas Priest, Nashville Pussy, Puya, Pushmonkey, (Hed)pe, Buck Cherry, Slipknot and unsigned bands Flashpoint and Apartment 26, which features Geezer Butler's son.

An official itinerary is expected shortly but right now, it looks like the tour will kick off May 28th in Florida and wrap up July 17th in Los Angeles.

Virginia's Favorite Road Hog

➤ Dave Matthews must really, really like life on the road. When he finishes his current acoustic tour with longtime collaborator Tim Reynolds, he has a slew of new Dave Matthews Band tour dates to look forward to.

Last year, the band played 85 shows in North America; its final 33-date leg ended in December. Its dedication to the road earned the band POLLSTAR's 1998 Major Tour Of The Year Award. Nineteen days into 1999, Matthews returned to the read with Reynolds for almost two months' worth of dates.

The DMB tour announced last week begins May 1st in Tampa and is projected to run through early August.

Presents With The Cake

➤ As reported last week, Cake's European tour has been delayed while frontman John McCrea recovers from a hand injury incurred while he was moving furniture in his home. Since his clumsiness has caused all kinds of problems, McCrea's bandmates have decided to punish him. The singer/guitarist has been ordered to personally fulfill every order placed at the Cake e-store (www. cakemusic.com).

McCrea has been doing some spring cleaning and will include items he's found around the house with the orders. Cake fans can look forward to surprises like postcards, trinkets or maybe an old toaster instruction manual. Cake will get back to business as usual when its European outing commences in London on April 16th.

Madonna's Tour Tease

➤ Two months after titillating fans and promoters with talk of a fall tour, Madonna's people have confirmed the diva has opted to stay home. In January, Madonna started talking openly about her tour plans, which seemed on track as recently as Grammy night, February 24th.

But last week, word came from Maddy maven Liz Rosenberg's office that the tour was off. No reason was given but the multimedia mom has made a big deal about her commitment to her daughter, which may explain the change of heart.

ANY SUPERHEROS OUT THERE?

One-of-a-kind person needed for one of the toughest jobs in the music biz

PRODUCTION MANAGER UNIVERSAL AMPHITHEATRE (Los Angeles)

This is one crazed gig - about 175 shows a year and you PM them all. All the negotiating, budgeting and financials. All the organizing union dealings and follow-through. All the ego trips and other hassles. And you never blink and always make every show come off without a hitch. Can you live with a job like this and love it?

If so, we've got the opportunity of a lifetime for you. Universal Amphitheatre puts on more shows than anywhere, outside Radio City. Make this happen here and your future's pure gold.

If you want a shot, you've got to have mucho experience (3-5 years) in road touring and building management -BOTH! And the building part of that experience was managing a serious (read that significant) arena, theater or concert venue. And then there's you, personally. Do you have the grit and savvy to take over from day one, be on call always, and multitask till your brain fries? Do you have the technicals down? Can you rock and roll to endless details, details and more details? And can you handle tough talent and negotiate tougher contracts? Is problem- solving second nature? Are you a superhero, able to leap through major problems in a single bound and come up for more?

If so, zap us your resume. Universal Strategic Staffing Attn: PSR-99-198 100 Universal City Plaza Building 502-01 Universal City, CA 91608 E-mail: Jobs@unistudios.com
