Real Bad Company

HE NAME BAD COMPANY IS certainly synonymous with classic rock. The supergroup comprising former members of Mott The Hoople, Free, and King Crimson had a string of huge hits in the 1970s and was part of the Swan Song label family along with Led Zeppelin.

The original lineup of Paul Rodgers, Mick Ralphs, Simon Kirke and Boz Burrell disbanded in 1982. A few years later, Kirke put together a new band fronted by singer Brian Howe. The Bad Company name was resurrected and the new Bad Company recorded and toured under that name well into the '90s.

At that point, there was no real conflict over the use of the Bad Company name. The trouble started only after Bad Company version two broke up in 1994 and Howe continued to tour using the Bad Company name. That didn't sit well with some of the original band members.

According to lawyers on both sides, lawsuits were exchanged and last year, a federal judge for the 2nd District in New York decided that Howe did have the right to use the Bad Company name - with certain restrictions.

For the First time in more than a decade, Bruce Springsteen takes the stage for a full show with the E Street Band. Seen flanking The Boss are Garry Tallent and Steve Van Zandt. The March 18th performance was a rehearsal benefit concert at the aging Asbury Park Convention Center in New Jersey. The band begins its world tour next month in Spain.

The problems continue, however, and now that the original four members of Bad Company are reuniting for a summer tour, Howe's use of the name has come under even closer scrutiny. The situation spilled into public view shortly after it was announced that the original lineup would play a pay-per-view show at the new Hard Rock Live club in Orlando, Fla., on May 21st.

Coincidentally, Howe had an April 19th date scheduled at the House of Blues in Orlando. The original Bad Company was concerned that fans in that market would think that Howe's show was actually their show and issued a press release explaining that "Howe's shows may be falsely advertised as Bad Company shows."

Those concerns seemed to be justified when the Orlando Sentinel newspaper ran an item about the Howe date and published a photo of the original band along with it. A few days later, the paper printed a retraction stating that the photo was used "because of incorrect information supplied to the Sentinel."

INSIDER NEWS BRIEFS

John Meglen of Concerts West, which is producing the upcoming Bad Company tour, said he didn't think there was anything particularly underhanded going on with Howe's Orlando date. "I don't think anyone was necessarily trying to get away with something. Promoters always want to emphasize the highlights when they're advertising a show. Sometimes these things happen out of ignorance."

Meglen said he is more concerned about getting the truth out about the two acts and making sure fans know who they are seeing.

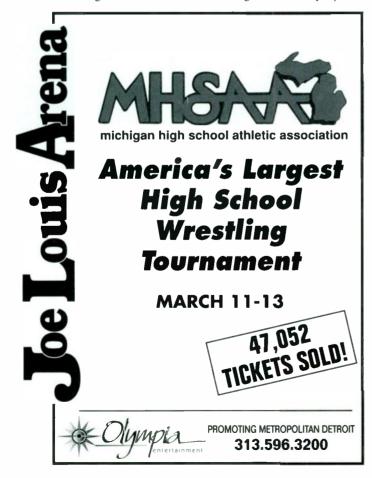

That's what Howe's representatives want to do, too.

Howe's manager, Vincent Wolanin of TopNotch Entertainment, said he thought the Bad Company press release was misleading.

"It shaded the truth," he said. "Brian has the right to use the Bad Company name. There are people in the marketplace, especially younger people who heard his voice on the radio hits from the '80s and '90s, who identify Bad Company with Brian. He sings all the songs – the ones he wrote as a member of Bad Company and all the other songs. That press release gave the impression that he is not allowed to do that and it's not true."

To emphasize the point, TopNotch issued a press release of its own confirming Howe's right to use the band name. The release stated that fans should "buy a ticket for a show that reads 'Bad Company former lead singer Brian Howe' [and] if a ticket is bought for any other show, they will not be hearing any of the Brian Howe written and sung Bad Company hits from 1986-1994."

A lawyer representing members of the original Bad Company said,

The campaign is not expected to run in the U.S.

The Catholic Archdiocese of New Orleans will accept Master-P's $250,000 donation to save his alma mater, St. Monica's Catholic School, from closing. Church officials made the decision after one day of deliberations March 18th, according to a UPI report. At issue was the propriety of accepting money generated by the rapper's music, which contains some violent lyrics. The New Orleans native, whose real name is Percy Miller, has apparently been quietly making local school donations for several years.

Charles Sawtelle, 52, died of complications related to a bone marrow transplant he underwent as part of his battle with leukemia. He passed away March 20th in a Southern California hospital. Known as "The Bluegrass Mystery," Sawtelle was a founding member of the group Hot Rize, which formed in 1978 and disbanded in 1990. The same band lineup also played in the group Red Knuckles and the Trailblazers, in which Sawtelle played a character named Slade. A memorial event is being planned for next month in Boulder, Colo.

indeed, Howe can use the Bad Company name. Attorney Fran Miller said he is free to use Brian Howe, former lead singer of Bad Company, in advertisements and promotional materials. But Howe has been using the band name before his, and that's a real bone of contention.

Miller said that when the singer uses Bad Company former lead singer Brain Howe, his name has to be at least 75 percent larger than the name Bad Company.

INSIDER NEWS BRIEFS

She said that, "Additionally, the judge ordered that if we could present evidence that Brian violated the agreement by passing himself off as Bad Company or by violating certain restrictions regarding the size of the type used in advertising, she would sanction him in the amount of $10,000 per violation."

According to Miller, Howe has racked up several thousand dollars in sanctions because of violations to the trademark agreement.

Howe attorney Jim Hacker confirmed the restrictions on the use of Bad Company former lead singer Brain Howe and said those restrictions have been upheld by his client. "We want to adhere to the judge's order and we want to adhere to our contract," he said.

"There has been a smattering of people who have advertised Brian incorrectly. We have done everything we can to assure that doesn't happen and I think, for the most part, we have been successful. There have been mistakes but they have been no fault of Brian Howe or his people."

The litigation continues. Meanwhile, the original Bad Company is gearing up for a tour commencing June 24th in support of the new Elektra CD box set The "Original" Bad Company Anthology. Howe continues to tour as Bad Company former lead singer Brian Howe.

NY Club Owner Gets Jail Time

N EW YORK NIGHTCLUB impresario Peter Gatien has pleaded guilty to grand larceny and tax evasion and will spend 90 days in jail and five years on probation.

Gatien's attorney, Benjamin Brafman, said the guilty plea covered only charges relating to the Palladium, a club that closed in 1996. He said it did not involve the Tunnel or the Limelight, two other Gatien clubs that are still operating.

Furthermore, state Supreme Court Justice Bruce Allen signed a waiver allowing Gatien to be eligible for liquor licenses to operate his nightclubs even though he's a convicted felon.

Gatien and his wife, Alessandra Kobayashi Gatien, faced a 15-year prison term each for grand larceny.

The two pleaded guilty in January to charges that they skimmed $1.3 million in state and city sales taxes and $110,000 in corporate taxes between 1991 and 1996. They were also accused of evading more than $250,000 in personal income taxes.

The plea deal will keep Mrs. Gatien out of jail but calls for 300 hours of community service and five years probation. The couple must also pay $1.75 million in back taxes and fines.

Gatien's sentence was postponed until May 24th to allow for surgery to correct a chronic eye problem.

Besides his imminent jail time, Gatien has a public relations challenge on his hands as he tries to quash the Limelight's reputation of having a negative impact on the neighborhood. He blames last year's drug trial for ruining his image. The Limelight and the Tunnel figured into federal narcotics charges against Gatien but a Brooklyn jury acquitted him.

Black Promoters Plan Next Protest

THE BLACK PROMOTERS Association of America is preparing to launch a second protest march against the William Morris Agency and Creative Artists Agency headquarters in Beverly Hills.

The April 9th rally is expected to be larger than the group's previous February 11th march, said BPA President Leonard Rowe. He added that various religious leaders and activists of the community have pledged their support for the planned event.

"After 24 years in the entertainment business, I believe more strongly than ever that our cause is just and now, the influential ministers of this city whole-against 40 major agencies and promoters. The lawsuit alleges racial discrimination and monopolistic business practices by the defendants.

THE PATRIARCH of The Staple Singers, Roebuck "Pops" Staples, sings the blues at the Governor's Excellence in the Arts awards ceremony in Mississippi on March 19th. The recipient of the lifetime achievement award was recognized by his home state for his contributions to blues, gospel, R&B and rock music.

Rowe and other members of the Atlanta-based BPA converged on Los Angeles earlier this month to meet with approximately 75 church leaders and civil rights activists.

Insider News Briefs

"Once we explained the problem to them, they were overtaken by it," Rowe said. "They just couldn't believe that at this day and time, we still have that type of segregation going on."

The BPA has enlisted the support of several community churches, which will provide buses, food and other services to the protestors, Rowe said.

"It won't stop. We're not going away until this matter is cleaned up and until justice prevails," he said. "I just want to do the right thing I hate to fly to California to do picketing and marching; I hate to do that. It's 3,000 miles away from my home but I don't have any other alternative."

William Morris declined comment and CAA representatives could not be reached at press time.

Last month's march included about 50 protestors led by the Rev. Joseph Lowery, who unsuccessfully attempted to deliver letters addressing the alleged discrimination to the heads of WMA and CAA.

Out In A Blaze Of Glory

D LAZE MAGAZINE EDITOR D Jesse Washington was fired March 16th and according to reports, he said he all but asked for it.

Washington said the ousting stemmed from an unpublished editorial he wrote about Montoun Hart, who was acquitted in the murder of Jonathan Levin after testifying that police forced him to sign a phony confession. Levin was the son of Time Warner Chairman Gerald Levin. Time Warner founded Vibe magazine, the parent company which spawned Blaze.

Washington and Hart are friends and earlier this month, the editor hired Hart as an $8-an-hour intern at Blaze.

The editorial in question, in which Washington apparently asserted that Hart's confession was forced and false, was spiked. He then wrote a second editorial "lambasting the owners of the magazine for killing the first editorial," Washington said.

He added that he knew the second editorial would not run. "I was just venting my anger."

To make matters even more interesting, Washington reportedly submitted an invoice for Hart to be paid for work he had done at the publication as an unpaid intern since earlier this year.

Blaze disputed Washington's account of his departure but said it had a policy of not publicizing the reasons behind personnel decisions.

"We disagree with his characterization of the reasons for his termination," the magazine said in a written statement. "We are fully comfortable with the decision to terminate his employment."

The former editor has been the center of media attention plenty during his employment at Blaze, which lasted less than a year.

In November, Washington was allegedly kicked in the head by four men in his office. Rap producer Deric "D-Dot" Angellettie and Anthony Hubbard have been charged with assault in that case.

Last summer, Washington accused Fugees member Wyclef Jean of pointing a gun at him inside a recording studio because Jean didn't like Blaze's review of an album he produced. Jean denied the incident and called it a publicity stunt.

Washington, a former assistant chief of bureau for The Associated Press in New York, said he is working on several book projects and is weighing other job offers.

Tejano Music Awards

HE 19TH TEJANO MUSIC Awards ceremony hosted a whole lot of Latin groove and even a little controversy March 20th at the Alamodome in San Antonio.

Jennifer Pena, who won best female vocalist and entertainer honors, pulled out of performing at the last minute. Her manager parents said in a prepared statement that TMA officials told them Pena couldn't go on stage with mariachis because another artist already was performing with mariachis.

TMA board prexy Robert Arellano said he didn't know what the misunderstanding was, but said it was unfortunate. "We want every artist to participate in the show, and we want to put on the best show we can," he said.

Houston's La Mafia returned to the stage after unofficially boycotting the ceremony for nearly a decade. The group went home with the lifetime achievement award.

Hard Knock's Good Life

AFGE SCALE HIP-HOP TOURS have been few and far between in recent years. Though album sales in the genre have been phenomenal, tours to support those records have either been nonexistent or less than spectacular moneymakers. The Hard Knock Life tour has set out to change that and so far, it's proving to be quite the success.

The 50-city tour, which kicked off February 27th in Charlotte, N.C., features Jay-Z, DMX, Method Man, Redman and special host DJ Clue. It was organized by Roc-A-Fella Records, Def Jam Recordings and Ruff Ryders Entertainment.

Most of the shows, in arenas ranging from 10,000- to 20,000capacity, have sold out, drawing a mostly teenage multicultural crowd. But booking the tour was quite a challenge for organizers who had to contend with the many reservations that come with rap shows.

The Hard Knock Life tour was the brainchild of Jay-Z and Roc -A-Fella Records CEO Damon Dash. Dash told POLLSTAR he and his acts were tired of agents telling them they had to tour with R&B acts to make the shows presentable to venues. "And we were like, 'Why would we go with an R&B act? It would be a misrepresentation of everything we are. It would contradict what we say we are."

When the package was developed, it turned out that there was so much potential money, "the promoters were willing to deal with any problems," Dash said.

As the rap labels and artists expected, the tour hasn't had to deal with many difficulties so far. But just in case, Dash said the organizers took measures to put the promoters at ease, such as beefing up security, keeping the show moving and making a no backstage policy. "We know what's being expected and we knew we were under the magnifying glass," Dash said.

Jerry Ade of Famous Artists, who is booking the tour, told POLLSTAR it wasn't easy to find believers.

He pointed out that other rappers have had public conflicts that would make a peaceful tour seem unlikely. However, "every artist on this tour is on the same label, Def Jam, or a company distributed by Def Jam. The labels all made an effort to make everybody peaceful and happy about going on this tour," Ade said. "Certainly, Kevin Liles [president] at Def Jam and [label CEO] Lyor Cohen were highly instrumental in making everybody feel comfortable about doing something like this. And they worked very hard with the promoters in convincing them that they believed there would be no problems. And it's turned out to be a love fest."

Many arena managers who have seen the tour pass through their buildings have voiced their agreement.

For Hampton Coliseum Director Joe Tsao, hosting the rap show in Virginia March 19th was an educated risk. Not only did he preview the event its opening night, but he also called all the buildings that hosted the show thereafter to hear about their experiences.

"There were certain rap tours that had trouble, so automatically, our defense mechanism reared its ugly head as professionals, as it should have," Tsao told POLLSTAR. The first thing he did was voice his concerns to Atlanta-based promoter Jeff Sharp. "Having Jeff involved, somebody I know, somebody I'm comfortable with, really helped in resolving my concerns at the beginning," Tsao said.

The show drew a very large but orderly crowd, he said. Tsao was surprised by the quick sellout. "We expected the tickets to sell last minute as all urban GA type of shows do, but this one didn't. This one sold out a couple of weeks before the show, which is unusual."

Providence Civic Center Executive Director Lee Esckilsen said his show March 18th also went very well. "We didn't have any major incidents. I would say it was on the par of any other rock concert – a couple of broken chairs maybe but nothing significant." Both the Hampton and Providence venues chose not to serve alcohol at the rap show, as have many other buildings.

With the success of the Hard Knock Life tour, one might question why a tour like this hasn't gone out sooner. Ade said it's because label support is essential, and that's rare nowadays.

"All the labels have been in transition for the past five or six years," he said. "Def Jam is one of the few labels that's had very little turnover. It's consistent; the boss is the same. Kevin Liles has been there; he's the president of the company; he's the same. The promotions staff is the same. There's reliability and dependability. The continuity is there. You have a group of people that can be trusted and when they put their mind to trying to help create a tour and support it, the artists believe in it. When you have companies where the executive staff is in transition and constantly moving, it's very difficult to have any kind of stability."

The consensus among all involved is that the Hard Knock Life tour is opening the door for other rap tours to follow. "These are, on the East Coast, the hardest rappers doing it," Dash said. "And if we can put a tour out with these guys and have no incidences and be successful and make money, you could basically put anybody out as long as they have the record sales to back it up."

Tour organizers are hoping the success and professionalism displayed on this outing will encourage more major rap tours to hit the road.

TicketWeb Makes Nobody Deal

TicketWeb has acquired TicketChoice, the Colorado company founded by concert promoter Nobody In Particular Presents.

TicketWeb has also signed a long-term exclusive deal to handle ticketing for all Nobody In Particular Presents events and venues including the Ogden Theatre and the Bluebird Theater.

"These deals give us another stronghold in a major U.S. market and are additional building blocks in our vision of a global Internetpowered ticketing company," TicketWeb President Andrew Dreskin said.

Cuban Music Summit

DOZENS OF FAMED AMERICAN and European musicians were in Havana last week, working with their Cuban counterparts on collaborations which were to culminate in a March 28th concert at the 5,000-capacity Karl Marx Theater.

The Music Bridge Around the World program, founded by California songwriter Alan Roy Scott, included Gladys Knight, Peter Frampton, Mick Fleetwood, the Indigo Girls, James Taylor, Jimmy Buffett, Bonnie Raitt, Peter Buck, Montell Jordan, Duncan Sheik, Ziggy Marley, Stewart Copeland, Lisa Loeb and Burt Bacharach.

Cuban participants included some of the island's best known music-makers: Chucho Valdez, Isaac Delgado, and the groups Irakere, Los Van Van, NG La Banda and Sintesis.

While the U.S. embargo against Cuba has made such interaction illegal until now, the rules were loosened thanks to legwork by San Francisco attorney Bill Martinez, according to the Los Angeles Times. He represented Music Bridge before the U.S. government and got permission for the event to take place.

Most of the visiting artists were matched with Cuban artists by pulling names out of a hat. The teams then worked for a week to fuse their different styles, composing new songs to be performed at the concert.

Scott said the reason for the exchange on the communist island was purely artistic, not political.

However, a political issue was made out of the near absence of U.S. Latino artists from the Music Bridge roster, since Latin music is the fastest-growing genre in the States.

Scott told the Times he had invited "several people from that community," but "they thought it would hurt their careers to be here because of political reasons."

He was likely referring to the protests of prominent Cuban exiles, such as jazz trumpeter Arturo Sandoval, who recently said, "This [project] sends the wrong message. It says we're willing to accept what Castro is doing to my country," the Times reported.

The pressure may have also gotten to The Mavericks' Cuban-American singer, Raul Malo, who had reportedly been on a preliminary list of participants but dropped out.

Garth's Field Of Dreams

THERE'S A DEFINITE REASON why musicians have road managers. Just ask Garth Brooks, who showed up at the wrong ballpark March 20th, where two other teams were playing. It wasn't until a fan asked Brooks why he was there that he realized his mistake. He hightailed it to the right park but was an hour late.

However, on March 21st, the San Diego Padre-in-training went from 0-for-10 at bat to 2-for-2 when he managed to both show up at the right ballpark and get his first hit. The pinch-hit single came in the second inning against the Chicago White Sox in Peoria, Ariz.

On March 22nd, the Padres said they might take Brooks – who has no chance of making the roster – to the season opener April 4th against the Colorado Rockies in Monterrey, Mexico. At press time, Brooks, who has signed numerous autographs during spring training but has also had to absorb taunts like "Heh, it's Brooke Shields," was batting 1-for-13 or .076.

Marilyn's Armey

ARILYN MANSON'S "RAW and unhinged" concerts, where "there's fire and there's violence and there's sex," had House Majority Leader Dick Armey trying to ban the group's appearance in his home district, according to The Dallas Morning News. Pointing out that he was quoting Manson, the Republican leader and father of five protested the group's March 23rd concert at Reunion Arena in Dallas.

Voicing his concern as a citizen – not as a politician – and using his personal letterhead, Armey wrote to Brad Mayne, president and CEO of the Arena Group, asking him to "take a second look" at the concert.

Reunion Arena GM Dave Brown issued a written response saying that while the venue's operators appreciated Armey's concern, the arena lends itself to all acts because it is a public building. He did write, however, that security would be enhanced.

Armey, R-Irving, urged Mayne to consider Manson's past concert problems and the potential consequences that could arise during the upcoming show. Despite Armey's reservations, the concert went on as scheduled and without incident.

Patriotic Settlement In Paradise Stage Dive

VERCLEAR, NEW ENGLAND Patriots Drew Bledsoe and Max Lane, and the Paradise Rock Club reached a settlement with the woman who sued them over injuries sustained during a concert.

Tameeka Messier reportedly agreed to a $1.2 million settlement March 19th, said The Boston Globe. The article reported that Paradise and Everclear would each pay $100,000; quarterback Bledsoe would contribute $400,000; and lineman Lane would pay $600,000. However, the defendants' lawyers said those figures were inaccurate.

Messier's suit accused the defendants of negligence and recklessness after the football players dove off the stage and into the crowd during a November 13, 1997, show. The plaintiff underwent surgery to remove two damaged disks from her neck as well as hip bone fragments to fuse her spinal column. Messier alleged that Everclear invited the 200-plus-pound players onstage and that frontman Art Alexakis encouraged them to leap from the stage. The band denied having any control over the football players.

LAPD Faces Crowd Control Rap

HE AMERICAN CIVIL Liberties Union contends the Los Angeles Police Department overreacted when controlling a crowd attending a Venice Beach hip-hop exhibition last month.

The February 28th event, which featured dancers and DJs, erupted into a rock- and bottle-throwing clash between law enforcement officers and spectators. Police became entangled in the fray after officers chased two suspected vandals onto the festival site, inciting some of the crowd.

Approximately 1,000 concertgoers were attending the gathering when nearly 150 police officers – many wearing riot gear – were called in to disperse the flock. No injuries were reported, although some patrol cars and vehicles in the vicinity incurred damages.

"What happened on Venice Beach was a sweeping violation of free speech and basic civil liberties," said ACLU Executive Director Ramona Ripston. "The police treated this as a riot but there was no riot."

In announcing its legal representation of festival organizer Asia Yu, the ACLU released a videotape of the incident showing officers aiming shotguns and using batons to disperse a seemingly peaceful crowd.

The tape captures Yu, who is accused of inciting a riot, trying to dissuade a police officer from dispersing the crowd. "We have a permit," she told the officer, holding up a piece of paper.

Insider News Briefs

THE GRAND OPENING of the Hard Rock Live concert venue in Orlando proved to be more than a big of party. The occasion was a benefit for the Elton John AIDS Foundation. Presenting Sir Elton with a fat check March 12th are Seagram chief Edgar Bronfman Jr. and Hard Rock's Rita Gilligan and Jim Berk.

BILL CosBY has an awful lot of friends in the Twin Cities. His one-day stand at the Mystic Lake Casino in Prior Lake, Minn., March 7th was a two-show sellout. According to talent buyer David Julian (pictured with Cosby), the ducats were "the hottest tickets in town."

"I don't have time to read your permit right now," the officer responded. "We have other things going on. We'll deal with you when we're done here."

ACLU lawyer John Duran, who is representing Yu, said police plan to bill his client for $3 million, the cost of deploying riot police. Yu, who spent five hours in police custody following the incident, may also face a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

"One look at these tapes and it is clear that the LAPD reacted with fear and force to what was obviously a minor problem," Duran said.

State Sen. Tom Hayden, whose son attended and videotaped the festival, issued a statement after viewing the tape, saying, "I am of the opinion that the LAPD overreacted."

However, LAPD Chief Bernard Parks disagrees. "When officers come to take action, they cannot be subjected to people throwing rocks and bottles," he told the Los Angeles Times.

Duran voiced concern over how police will respond during future events.

"Our message to Mayor [Richard] Riordan and Chief Parks is we're having the Democratic convention here," he said. "There will be protestors. We don't want Chicago in 1968 to be repeated here."

ODB Busted Again

L' DIRTY BASTARD WAS arreseted in Brooklyn last week for possessing crack cocaine, authorities said.

Officers allegedly found the narcotics inside of the Wu-Tang Clan rapper's 1996 Range Rover, which was without license plates and double-parked in front of a store in the Bushwick section of New York.

A patrol unit reportedly spotted the rapper's illegally parked car around 1 a.m. on March 22nd. Authorities questioned ODB, who initially said he was Robert Diggs - Wu-Tang rapper RZA.

After ODB confessed to his true identity, police ran a background check that revealed the rapper had a suspended driver's license and was wanted for failure to pay child support. A subsequent search of the vehicle allegedly yielded the drugs and he was taken into custody.

ODB reportedly posted $750 bail the same day and now awaits an April 22nd court date. He faces charges of possessing a controlled substance and driving with a suspended license.

The rapper also appeared in a Los Angeles courtroom last week in regards to his felony arrest for wearing body armor. "I'm innocent," he declared during a brief hearing March 24th. He's due back in court April 19th for another hearing on those charges.

Rapid Ball Movement

DON'T BET AGAINST R.E.M.'S Mike Mills when it comes to NCAA hoop action.

The bassist was one of eight people who accurately predicted the men's Final Four in an Atlanta Journal-Constitution newspaper contest. He walked away the winner of a tiebreaker by selecting seven of the final eight – missing only on Gonzaga.

Mills, who didn't attend any college basketball games this season, was one of more than 1,100 people who entered the contest. "I keep up," he said. "I read. I watch games on TV."

While Duke, Connecticut and Michigan State were all No. 1 seeds in their region, South regional winner Ohio State was only a fourth seed. When asked why he favored the Buckeyes, Mills simply replied, "Scoonie Penn."

Even the band's manager, Bertis Downs, shared in Mills' obvious excitement. "This will be one of the highlights of his life – right there with the Grammys," he said. R.E.M. launches a world tour in June with U.S. dates beginning in August.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS

EUROPEAN NEWS

Reported by Camilla Phelps 0956.113.562 Fax 171.359.1131 E-mail: camilla@pollstar.com

United Kingdom: THE FIRST OF the summer festivals has gone on sale, and although it is getting late for confirming artists, there are still more new events which may materialise. The biggest wave of newcomers appears to arrive on the back of summer's astronomical event, the total eclipse of the sun on August 11. Although the eclipse will amount to only a few brief minutes of entertainment, many newcomers appear to be jumping on the bandwagon and trying to create festivals around it, particularly in Cornwall, which will have the best view.

The most significant contender comes from the new partnership of Harvey Goldsmith Entertainments with Mega Dog and Essential who will be pooling resources and experience to stage a six-day camping event in the neighbouring county of Devon. The Total Eclipse Festival will take place the week of August 6-12 at Newnham Park near Plymouth. The event is expected to attract 20,000 fans and the format, in terms of numbers of stages and tents, has yet to be finalised.

Mega Dog's Bob Dog said that although the festival is happening at the time of the eclipse, the partnership is looking to develop the site, in the long term, as a regular summer festival. "We have options on the site for the future," Dog told POLLSTAR. "We've got a good relationship with the local council, and the site is keen to progress as a venue. It is set in a beautiful parkland with a natural amphitheatre setting."

No artists have been announced yet, but Dog said that around onethird of the lineup has been secured, and the musical content will have the traditional Mega Dog stamp on it. "Our intention has always been very clear-cut," he added. "We want to present one of the most prestigious events of the summer."

Other Eclipse contenders are focusing on events in Cornwall, where local residents are already unhappy about the prospect of travelers and festival-goers descending on the county. However, no event has received the official go-ahead at this stage. The most widely talked about event at Carlyon Bay has recently had its license for a 16,000-capacity festival turned down.

In the one-off big-gig stakes, it is being strongly rumoured that Robbie Williams and Blur may do headlining open airs. Williams is performing at several festivals, but the date being talked about is a major show at Slane Castle in Ireland. And although Blur has said it doesn't intend to tour behind its new album in the conventional way, it would not be surprising if a major on-off was announced. With the release of its new album, 13, which went straight to No. 1, it could be the summer's hottest ticket.

 DETAILS OF BRYAN ADAMS' London concert are still being confirmed, but it looks like a major show will be announced in the next few weeks. Adams will tour the festival circuit April 30 to August, starting in Madrid. The format for the shows remains a mystery. Following the success of his brief promo tour last month, in which Adams played as a three-piece band in small clubs around major European cities, Adams' agent, Carl Leighton-Pope, said he is waiting to see if this format will be used for the summer tour. Most of the European dates are on sale.

• THE SILVERCHAIR BOYS ARE BACK in Europe for their first tour in two years, and agent Emma Banks at Helter Skelter has been upgrading shows due to the demand for tickets. Shows have been moved to bigger venues in Berlin, Zurich and Manchester. Banks says the response has been great throughout Europe and added that being able to upgrade the shows is a great opportunity for a band that has traveled a long way to play for as many people as possible.

Austria: THE AUSTRIAN MARKET was shocked by the sudden postponement (more likely a cancellation) of Woodstock Europe. A shareholder meeting this week will decide the event's future. In an official statement, Woodstock guru Michael Lang said, "Following discussions with our European producers, it became clear that for Woodstock to be a safe and successful event in Europe, more time was needed. We are currently considering whether to reschedule the event for the summer of 2000 or 2001."

Tagged as the biggest ever festival in Europe, Woodstock '99 was to have taken place July 16-18 at Wiener Neustadt. 40kms outside Vienna. The ambitious project, which was aiming for an audience of 250,000, was also unique because it involved the joint cooperation of four major European promoters (Rock Production from Austria, Mojo from the Netherlands, Coco Tours in Germany and Dr. Music in Spain) with

SOUTH AFRICAN PRESIDENT Nelson Mandela and Michael Jackson greet reporters in Cape Town, where MJ announced two concerts to benefit the Red Cross, UNESCO and Mandela's children's fund, which helps homeless, disabled and abused kids. Jackson will perform June 25 in Seoul, Korea, and June 27 in Munich, Germany. Luciano Pavarotti, Stevie Wonder, Boyz II Men, Eros Ramazotti and the Scorpions will also reportedly participate.

Michael Lang in the U.S.

The local concert industry felt the effect of Woodstock's announcement, which had caused smaller festivals to move dates or postpone events to next year. With the media focused on Woodstock, it was feared the market would not be able to support more than one major summer event.

Some sources have said that advance ticket sales were not high enough, but no details were available at press time. However, ticket-buying patterns in Austria lean toward the last minute, so low advance ticket sales aren't indicative of public perception. The original intent was to draw audiences from neighbouring countries into the central European location. Other sources have said that the promoters could not secure the right deal for the TV rights. However, with a bill that included Metallica, Iggy Pop, Zucchero, Skunk Anansie and Faithless - all of whom are playing several other European festivals this summer - perhaps it just wasn't unique enough to draw the audience size required.

Whatever the reasons, the absence of Woodstock leaves a hole in the Austrian summer market. Although traditionally, multi-day festivals are not as popular in Austria as in other European countries, now there will be only a small number of open-air shows. Two of the major dates are the Rolling Stones at Imst on May 31 with Bryan Adams and Zucchero, and the Steel City festival at Linz on June 18, featuring Aerosmith, Lenny Kravitz, the Black Crowes, and the Guano Apes. Although these shows stand to benefit from Woodstocks' cancellation, in terms of ticket sales, the shows' promoter, Richard Hoermann at Artist Marketing, said that the cancellation could have negative repercussions. "Things like this shake the market, which is bad news for everyone."

Germany: MAREK LIEBERBERG Konzertagentur has announced a fourth Metallica open-air. The June 26 date at Minden will be another mini-festival, said Lars Vogt at MLK. "It's a beautiful site, and we weren't covering it with the existing tour schedule, so we decided to go there." The site had been used by the Vans Warped tour.

Meanwhile, Vogt says the two big festival dates, Rock am Ring and Rock im Park, have confirmed the last few names on the bill, adding Lauryn Hill, Cypress Hill and Shawn Mullins. Tickets have been on sale since the announcement of Metallica as headliner was made before Christmas, and sales, so far, have been very good with about 20,000 sold for the twin events. Netherlands: THIS YEAR'S PINKPOP (May 22-24) will celebrate the festival's 30th consecutive year. It's a feat which has landed the event in the Guinness Book of Records since 1990 as the oldest annual European open-air rockfest. This year's festival includes Alanis Morissette headlining with Faithless, Jewel, Kula Shaker, Lauryn Hill, Manic Street Preachers, Robbie Williams, Skunk Anansie Underworld, Jon Spencer Blues Explosion, Frank Black and the Catholics, and many others.

Denmark: AT MIDTFYNS, TICKET sales appear to be up around 40 percent compared to the same time last year. It seems to be a clear vote of confidence for this year's bill, which features Aerosmith, Bryan Adams, Garbage, Iggy Pop, The Black Crowes, Fun Lovin' Criminals, Bloodhound Gang, Backyard Babies from Sweden and Danish acts Baal, Hotel Hunger, Pretty Maids and The Dawn, said Nina Faergermann. More acts are due to be confirmed in the next few weeks.

• THE FESTIVAL SEASON IS ALWAYS very crowded in Denmark and this summer is no exception. John Christophersen has been busy booking acts for the Langelands, Skanderborg and Jelling festivals. At Langelands, Mike Oldfield will headline with Angelique Kidjo, ALANIS MORISSETTE belts one out during "Wetten dass?" (Bet you), a televised game show in Germany. The March 20 performance took place at Saarland Hall in Saarbruecken.

Robben Ford, Andrew Strong, and the Oysterband. For Skanderborg, Christophersen has confirmed the Crash Test Dummies and Dr. Hook, and for the Jelling festival, Del Amitri.

In the pop department, Christophersen has two Boyzone concerts coming up this summer, with one show at the 4,000-capacity Scandinavian Congres Center in Aarhus on June 5 and the other the following day at Tivoli Garden in Copenhagen. The Aarhus date is well on its way to being sold out, said Christophersen.

Another big pop event for the Danish summer season will see All Saints headlining a series of seven concerts around the country. The annual charity-sponsored series, called the Green Concerts, takes place between July 9 and 18 at seven different open-air sites and features mostly Danish artists. The audience capacities usually vary between 25,000 and 50,000, and last year's headliner was Aqua.

Norway: AT TALENT FARM, RECENT shows promoted by Trygve Kvandal at the Rockefeller included Ani di Franco and Fun Lovin' Criminals, both of which sold out to a 700strong crowd. Coming up in April will be a week of shows around the country with Jason and The Scorchers, Kelly Willis in mid-May and Steve Earle at the Rockefeller. Kvandal has also expanded his domestic agency roster with the addition of Norwegian rock band Madrugada. With a heavy rock sound and English vocals, the band has created a buzz around the release of its first EP. Signed to Virgin, Kvandal said he anticipates a lot of interest beyond Norwegian borders. The band is set to play festivals through the summer and will tour extensively in the autumn.

• McCAIN Foods LTD. HAS AGREED to stop using The Parachute Club's '80s political anthem, "Rise Up," in a national self-rising pizza-dough commercial. The Toronto group commenced legal proceedings in January 1998. The members of The Parachute Club felt the integrity of the song and its creators "have suffered damage within the sphere of public credibility and our personal reputations."

EMI Music Publishing predecessor Screengems entered into an agreement with The Parachute Club's management and publishing company, Current Sounds, in 1987. The contract The Parachute Club signed – and for which it received a sizable advance – allowed the company to license its music in all commercials and films except for political endorsements, religious messages and X-rated motion pictures – no word about pizza dough.

McCain Foods, based in Florenceville, N.B., said the company "purchased the rights in good faith from EMI."

• UNIVERSAL CONCERTS CANADA has announced R.E.M.'s first concert in Toronto since 1995. The band will play its only Canada date (so far) at the Molson Amphitheatre on August 24. Tickets have already gone on sale.

• IT WAS A BUSY WEEKEND FOR Universal Concerts at the 2,000capacity Warehouse in Toronto. Starting March 18, three shows in a row sold out – Collective Soul with Marvelous 3; Stabbing Westward, Placebo and Flick on the 19th; and silverchair, Lit and Grinspoon on the 20th.

• IRELAND'S THE CRANBERRIES, whose singer Dolores O'Riordan is married to a Canadian and reportedly keeps a cottage north of Toronto, are playing the Phoenix Concert Theatre on May 8. Tickets are on sale via the Internet only.

"You go to the Cranberries' site (www.cranberries.com), and the site refers you to Ticketmaster to buy tickets," says Universal's central region alternative talent buyer Elliott Lefko.

That is apparently the procedure for the entire North American tour. The intention, presumably, is to drive traffic to the group's Web site. Offline fans have a few days to arrange a hookup, find an online friend or a Web café, because the ticket announcement will occur on a Monday and go on sale the following Saturday.

• STEVE HERMAN, PRESIDENT OF Core Audience Entertainment, also manages Toronto rock band I Mother Earth, which last year replaced its original singer with newcomer Brian Byrne. The platinum-selling band, formerly signed to Capitol/EMI, is now in the mixing stage of its Universal Music Group Canada debut at Quebec's Morin Heights studio with David Bottrill (Tool). It was co-produced by IME guitarist Jag Tanna and producer/ engineer Paul Northfield (Rush, Moist, Hole).

Because Byrne has basically been thrown into one of Canada's most successful bands with little touring experience, the band is embarking on a 15-date tour of the Maritimes and smaller markets to work out the kinks.

"The idea was just to get the band to play more dates before the record comes out [in June] because they haven't played very many dates as the new band," explains Herman. "So that's the strategy. They're like little rehearsals." The band plans to play the new material.

However, Core will not be promoting the shows. Universal Concerts Canada is doing the Lakehead University date in Thunder Bay, Ontario (April 12), the Ramada Ballroom in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. (13) and Café Campus in Montreal, Quebec (17). The remaining dates are promoted by the colleges or bars themselves: Nippissing University in North Bay, Ont. (15); Big Thunder in Sudbury, Ont. (16); Le Kasmir in Quebec City (19-20); Centre Social in Chicoutimi, Que. (23); Le Masquisart in Trois Rivieres, Que. (24); Exhibition Grounds in Fredericton, NB (25); Chevy's in Moncton, NB (26); Myrons Pub in Charlottetown, PEI (28); Marquee in Halifax, NS (29-30); and Smooth Herman's in Sydney, NS (May 1).

"Universal has promoted the band in the past, so we felt that if they were interested, we should work with them," says Herman. "I'm liking that idea for that project. And some of the promoters on the tour have worked with them, as well, from different colleges."

Byrne did a few warm-up gigs last summer in Kingston and North Bay before officially debuting at Summersault at Molson Park in Barrie, Ont., before 25,000 people. From the moment he bounded onstage, he was greeted with cheers and the devil-horn rock salute from dedicated IME fans.

 Shoot him; he's the piano player. When Ben Folds Five appeared on TV's "The Midday Show" two years ago, Folds climaxed his set by bashing a stool on the show's piano. That raised the ire of musical director Geoff Harvey, who banned the act from the show. But last year, the two made up over drinks. Now Steinway Pianos, which froze Fold's endorsements, has also offered the peace pipe. But Fold has to show more respect toward the instrument and have a clause inserted in his contract stating that he'd have to pay for damages if he ever tries that again.

• GRINSPOON HAS DELAYED ITS return from the U.S. until September/October. The group intended to do a run through Aussie regional cities in late April/May. Recent shows included a team up with good buddies silverchair in Chicago.

• RETURNED SERVICES LEAGUES (RSL) clubs tend to be conservative and somewhat hostile to rock and rollers. But promoters Andy Cassell and Andy Kelly couldn't resist the superior facilities, and they launched a new club called Goldmans at the Newton RSL Club in Sydney. The cultural differences are quite obvious. The RSL committee has told them no patrons wearing "offensive clothing" will be allowed in.

• STADIUM AUSTRALIA, SITE OF the Sydney Olympics, is in the red for $21.8 million after construction costs proved to be greater than anticipated. In the previous year, Stadium Australia posted a $584,000 deficit. The stadium officially opened March 7 and will host sports and music concerts.

Chief executive Chris Chapman would not predict when it would financially turn the corner, saying, "When we have only been open for two weeks, it's nonsense for us to speculate on profits. People will run away and get excited about the loss but not understand we are coming out of a construction period." The stadium was floated on the Australian SX in 1996 to help meet the cost of the $615 million building. The initial float was considered something of a disaster when it was under-subscribed by $236 million. The $10,000 gold package, which included seats to the Olympics, membership in the stadium, and shares in the trust and management company, fell as low as $2,200.

• KIDDIES ROCK PHENOMENON The Wiggles sent a cease-and-desist letter to a look-alike and sound-alike group called the Giggles. The latter, a group of charity workers from regional Victoria, began giggling to raise money for the state emergency forces. But The Wiggles' Paul Field said it was important that their young audiences not be confused by imitators.

• KYLIE MINOGUE – FROM SITCOM star to rock star to gay icon to ... Shakespearean thespian. She plays Miranda in an 11-night run of "The Tempest" put on by British businessman Johnny Kidd and his wife, Wendy, in their 17th-century plantation home in Barbados. Tickets range from $17 to $9,000 for a season box.

• As THE STATE OF NEW SOUTH Wales prepared for the March 27 elections, the Opposition party promised to sponsor a $1 million "battle of the bands" competition as part of a $34.5 million grab for the youth vote. The prize was free studio time and an introduction to a record company A&R person. The idea harks back to the '60s when the Twilights, Groop and Groove won a national competition called the Hoadley Battle Of The Bands and got their fare to London paid.

• EVEN IS UNDERTAKING GLOBAL dates between March and May. They've lined up shows in Los Angeles, New York, Chicago, Seattle and Austin before crossing the Atlantic to France and Germany, where their BMG Come Again album has been issued, as well as the U.K. In May, a month of dates in Japan will follow the album's issue.

• MELBOURNE POWER PUNKSTERS Eddie Would Go are doing 23 dates through the U.S. in April since their Groundwork EP got airplay on U.S. college radio.

• WE GOT LETTERS ABOUT THE David Bowie / Split Enz New Year's Day show in Gisborne, New Zealand. Check for details at www.gisborne 2000.co.nz.

• ROBERT FORSTER AND GRANT McLennan tour Australia through April to coincide with the release of their previous band's, the Go-Betweens, best of set, Bellavista Terrace. The Oz dates will be followed by shows throughout Europe and the U.S.

In recent years, the Go-Betweens have begun to achieve legendary status especially in Europe, where in 1997, a writer's poll conducted by French music magazine Les Inrocktupitibles voted them Best Band Of All Time. The yearlong shows in London had them called back for four encores, while The Guardian newspaper wondered how much R.E.M. had been inspired by the Go-Betweens.

These days, Forster lives in Germany, and McLennan in Brisbane, where the band emerged in 1977.

• AUSTRALIAN BUSINESSMAN AND billionaire philanthropist Richard Pratt has set up a new musical theatre company that is modeled after New York's Encore Series. The Production Company, as it's called, will "rediscover" lost Broadway shows, give actors work and make the public aware of the quality of local talent. The chairperson will be Pratt's wife, Jeanne, and GM will be Nick Gałloway. The first show opens in June with "Mame,""She Loves Me" and "Funny Girl."

• CRANBERRIES' SINGER DOLORES O'Riordan told this column that the band is planning to tour Australia in the southern spring.

• SWEDISH DEATH METAL BAND Entombed does seven clubs (and a festival) around the country between April 15 and 24.

• AMERICA'S 22 JACKS ARE UNABLE to come out in April to join Frenzal Rhomb's Do You Want To Fight Me tour. Ironically, 22 Jacks pulled out due to internal hassles, according to Trading Post Agency GM Owen Orford. Frenzal Rhomb hits the road with Toe To Toe and picks up an opening act in each state.

• THE DOGBITE FESTIVAL IN Newcastle (April 17) confirms the bill includes Custard, Pollyanna, Frenzal Rhomb, Violetine, Eskimo Joe, Canadian punk act Chixdiggit, Toe To Toe, The Testeagles and Swedish metal merchants Entombed. Local acts include The Local Mongrels headed by Chinchen, Purplene, Audiophile, Dostumlar, Arms Reach, Mischling, the Clockwork PR Team, Bias, ShankD, and Army of Prawns.

Dance-oriented types will be catered to by Endorphin, Groove Terminator, Atone, Mark N, Phat Ali, Hedonist, Subsonic, Neotoke, and Throb Goblin. Sydney act iOTA and Screaming Jet Paul Woseen will be performing acoustic shows on the fringe stage. There are also BMX displays, info stalls and fair rides. 4

The Internet's Most Requested Concert Tours

Artists are ranked by the number of times their itinerary is requested by fans visiting the pollstar.com Web site on the Internet. This site receives more than 23 million hits per month. The Power index is determined by ranking the artists as a percentage of the chart leader.

GIGS BYTES

► One of the most highly anticipated concert events of 1999 has to be the reunion tour of Bruce Springsteen & The E Street Band. Given the presumed computer literacy of a substantial part of Springsteen's audience, you would think he'd have a prime piece of Internet turf staked out to spread the word to the faithful.

But a search for an official Web site for The Boss only yielded a trip to www.sonymusic .com/artists/BruceSpringsteen and it wasn't as cool as a drive down the Jersey shore. The Columbia Records site is hardly the place for fans who want updated information on The Boss or this year's tour plans.

True. the site does list the original itinerary of European tour dates, but it does not include the additional dates that have been added in the past few days. In fact, the site doesn't appear to have been updated since March 4th, when the first list of dates was released to the world. And as of March 24th, the site still speaks of Springsteen's Rock and Roll Hall Of Fame induction as a future event and makes no mention of the Asbury Park rehearsal shows that took place March 18th and 19th. In short, the official Springsteen site is probably not the first choice for fans hungry for the latest info.

But Net savvy fans have several, albeit, unofficial Web sources that are plenty upto-date on Bruce. On Usenet, there's alt.music .bruce-springsteen and rec.music.artists .springsteen. Browsing those groups, we were able to obtain the set lists for the Asbury Park shows, descriptions of the concerts, and even information on how to obtain a couple of unauthorized MP3 files — bootlegs of "Youngstown" and "The Promise" purportedly recorded at the rehearsal shows.

In short, there's a lot of Bruce on the Net. You just won't find it at official sources at this point.

Is a search engine responsible for the content it finds? Earlier this year, Lycos licensed MP3 search engine technology from Norwegian company FAST Search & Transfer ASA. Now the International Federation Of The Phonographic Industry in London has launched proceedings against FAST, saying that the search engine is guilty of "contributory infringement under copyright law." And IFPI may just go after Lycos itself. Yet, neither company actually stores MP3 files. Instead, like all search engines, FAST merely points to where the files may be obtained.

According to Reuters, FAST managing director Espen Brodin said, "This is sort of shooting the messenger boy rather than looking at those who are putting out the stuff."

► AMP3.com has announced a joint venture with AudioSoft to develop an e-commerce reporting and payment system. This new system will be a totally secure environment and will sell music singles for 99 cents apiece. The new system will enable AMP3.com to track purchases, allocate copyright payments and report back to the artists. One difference between other Web retail music outlets is that AMP3.com will also have free downloads of songs, yet the artists will still receive a royalty payment even though the listener hasn't bought the song. The plan is for artists to receive a 2 cent royalty payment for each download.

"In addition to the downloading royalties, we split our advertising income with the artists," said AMP3.com CEO Michael Sharp. "If a potential advertiser decides to sponsor a particular song by placing a short jingle ad to be played before the song, AMP3.com and the artist split the profits 50-50."

▶ It takes a brave soul to view pix of Rolling Stones axeman Keith Richards au naturel. But the Internet Entertainment Group (IEG), which gained notoriety for marketing a naughty Pamela Anderson/Tommy Lee video and unleashing naked pictures of radio talker Dr. Laura Schlessinger on an unsuspecting world, is betting that mucho eyeballs will get satisfaction with pictures of Keith in his birthday suit. IEG claims to have obtained the pictures legally and plans to show them free of charge to subscribers of its "adult entertainment" sites. ★

Congrats and welcome to our new associate, John Webb. John ran the Shire Road Pub in Sacramento and has operated his own agency, Star Attractions. ~ We are happy to be working with legendary Bay Area act The Sons Of Champlin. Led by Bill Champlin (a member of the band Chicago), the Sons were easily one of the best live groups to come out of the mid-60s San Francisco scene. Due to Bill's touring schedule with Chicago, this act has very limited avails. They recently sold out the Fillmore and the Aladdin in Portland, and have a live recording out on Grateful Dead Records. We are also happy to report western U.S. representation of Jay & The Techniques, featuring Jay Proctor, and the original line up of The Box Tops, with Alex Chilton. Both representations are through an arrangement with Rick Levy Management. These two groups seldom play the West Coast. ~ Pablo Cruise has many summer dates open. I've seen the band twice recently and this version is as good as the original, with the addition of female background vocalists and extra percussion. Founding members Bud Cockrell and Dave Jenkins lead the group through their many hits. They can sell hard tickets and are always a big hit with crowds. 🗢 We continue our association with Elvin Bishop, who is taking selected festival dates this summer in support of his recent CD, The Skin I'm In on Alligator Records. 🗢 Don't forget Robert Sea & Key West (the Jimmy Buffett tribute band), Heatwave (a tribute to Linda Ronstadt) and The Dynatones with a new release, Shake This Mess, out soon. Most of our acts are still available for New Year's Eve and we're not quoting ridiculous prices, either.

We are proud to announce the signing of Sugar Hill recording artist Mollie O'Brien for U.S. and Canadian bookings. Mollie has built a reputation as one of the best vocalists performing today. Her current release, Big Red Sun, as well as her work with brother Tim O'Brien, have garnered her accolades from the public, critics and fellow musicians alike. Mollie will be on tour in Australia and New Zealand with guitarist Nina Gerber through April 15th. Mollie has scattered avails throughout 1999 and early 2000 with her band. as well as duo avails with Nina. ~ Trout Fishing In America have taken a few weeks from their heavy touring schedule to wrap up recording on their next album, set for a fall 1999 release. This will be the ninth album release for the prolific duo since 1990. They have limited avails for festivals and performing arts centers through 1999 and the spring of 2000. 🗢 Sugar Hill recording artists The Austin Lounge Lizards have a few avails in the Northeast in mid-May and in the Southeast in August. 🔊 Red House Recording artists Hart Rouge have scattered avails in the U.S. through the summer and fall. ~ Irish-born ialing up Orgy frontman Jay Gordon, the reporter on the phone looks forward to outrageous stories of sex,

GWe're going to tour

drugs and rock 'n' roll. The band's name is Orgy, after all.

Plus, band members Jay Gordon, Amir Derakh, Ryan Shuck, Paige Haley and Bobby Hewitt look the part of a wicked rock band, with multicolored hair, heavy gothic makeup and fashion directly off a Paris runway.

Surprisingly, the man who picks up the other end of the line is not the ringmaster of a decadent touring sexcapade. He's a well-spoken professional who is repeatedly forced to put the conversation on hold to take care of business. Whether it's a question of a band expense or equipment specs,

Gordon is obviously the man with the answers.

When probed for scandalous tour stories, Gordon told POLLSTAR there are good times on the road but it's not a day-in, day-out party. Maintaining his professional demeanor, Gordon said his bandmates realize it's important to treat a musical career with respect.

"We want to win right now," he said. "So we're all really digging in and doing all we can to keep our heads on straight."

Gordon knows winning takes more than keeping it together mentally, however. In addition to a compelling sound, image is important when developing a career as a musician.

During the mid-90s, bands often forgot they were in show business, Gordon said. "We want to make it a big thing," he said about Orgy. "It's got to be a little bit of the hype, a little bit of the show."

Bands that came out of the Seattle scene didn't really make a lasting impression, he said. "It was like, 'Hey, here we are in flannel and we're American and we're Bruce Springsteen and Neil Young. Here we are doing that again and it's about apple pie and grunge.'

"They were really stars in their way but people forgot about them, too," Gordon said. "They didn't really make an impact. They probably didn't care to but I think as quick as that whole movement came and [went], they needed to do a little bit more.... I'm sorry. That's the way I feel."

Gordon said a band's ability to keep its music and visuals interesting is an important factor for sustaining a career. "I want this to go on for a while," he said. "You have to be creative enough so you keep reinventing some kind of coolness. There has to be that factor there to maintain longevity."

It's obvious Gordon is talking about rock's first chameleon - David Bowie. When Bowie's name is mentioned, Gordon's response is immediate. "My hero," he said with conviction. "My pop-icon hero." The love of Bowie – and the glam look – might lead some to think Orgy is "Bowie - The Band." Others expect a KORN clone because Orgy was the first band signed to KORN's Elementree Records.

Orgy is neither Bowie nor KORN, however. The sound is metal hard, but like one reporter said, it doesn't go thud. One of the best descriptions is: "Marilyn Manson and Duran Duran raging against the pretty hate machine."

It's pop music, though; "death pop" as Orgy says. "What we do is real. We don't have a gimmick. We're not satanic. I'm not redoing Spiders From Mars." Gordon said his band is "blending a bunch of different stuff to see what kind of juice" it comes up with.

The mixture of musical styles in Orgy's music inspired the band's name, Gordon said. With influences ranging from Bauhaus to Duran Duran, the music is a collage of sounds, like his favorite bands engaged in an orgy.

Orgy joined some of its favorite bands, including KORN, on last year's Family Values Tour, an outing that featured an eclectic lineup of acts ranging from Limp Bizkit to Ice Cube.

The styles of those artists may be varied, but they have something in common: managers Jeff Kwantinetz, Peter Katsis and Gayle Boulware of The Firm.

Gordon said the company is in an admirable position, having KORN, Ice Cube, Limp Bizkit and now, the Backstreet Boys on its roster. "It's making them one of the most powerful management firms in the business."

That comment doesn't come from a rock novice. Orgy's band members have worked in various projects within the music business for a long time. Despite knowledge of the concert industry – or because of it – Orgy decided to pass up years of club hopping to build its fan base.

Instead, the band recorded its debut CD, Candyass, and then hit the road playing big venues with Family Values.

"There's kind of a mystery behind the thing," Gordon said. "We didn't need to play clubs and just beat a dead horse."

Orgy is building a fan base, Gordon said, but it's just happening in a different way. The band hit the airwaves hard with its debut single, a cover of New Order's "Blue Monday."

It touched hundreds of thousands of fans during the Family Values Tour. Now, the band is on a North American outing with Love and Rockets. "We're going to tour until we're all dead," Gordon said.

Life on the road may be serious business for Orgy but voyeurs need not despair. Gordon finally conceded that he and his bandmates do indeed live up to their band name.

"We're definitely freaks," he said. "Crazy shit happens all the time. Obviously, we weren't afraid to call our band Orgy. we have no problem with any kind of organized event at all."

B.B. KING

A COLORFUL MARQUEE

► If talk of the Marilyn Manson / Monster Magnet tour wasn't already banned from conservative dinner tables, it probably will be now. Another band with a name guaranteed to raise eyebrows and elicit gasps has joined the lineup - Nashville Pussy.

The band - which hails from Atlanta, not Music City - will join the tour April 2nd at the Memorial Coliseum in Winston-Salem, N.C. The two-woman, two-man outfit boasts a fire-breathing bassist and other newsworthy onstage antics in addition to its memorable name. In other words, the band ought to fit right in.

Since Hole dropped off the bill March 14th, Monster Magnet is getting second billing on the tour and its set has been increased to 50 minutes. Aside from the three dates canceled when Manson injured his ankle during the March 14th show, the tour has continued as scheduled.

The tour will mean an upgrade for Nashville Pussy, too. The band has been playing clubs and small theatres but is now busy shopping for new arena-worthy equipment. The three-year-old group finished its scheduled solo dates last week but has delayed plans to return to the studio, according to a Mercury Records spokesperson. Nashville Pussy's 1998 release, Let Them Eat Pussy, was nominated for a best metal performance Grammy,

HAND-PICKED FOR FRESHNESS

► R.E.M. has hand-picked the opening acts for its summer tour of the States. The band's first outing in four years starts August 9th at the Greek Theatre in Los Angeles with Mercury Rev in tow through August 17th. Wilco joins the bill for Mercury Rev's last night on the tour and stays on the bill through September 2nd.

Wilco won't appear at two of the three shows in Atlanta. Those special "hometown" dates will feature Elf Power on August 29th while Olivia Tremor Control has the pleasure on the 31st.

Spacehog replaces Wilco on September 4th and will stay on for the remainder of the tour, which wraps up September 11th at the Great Woods Center outside Boston.

METAL FOR THE MILLENNIUM

▶ Two more acts have announced their plans for New Year's Eve. In what may look like an unusual co-bill, Metallica and Ted Nugent usher in the new century at the Silverdome in Pontiac, Mich.

It just so happens that Metallica bassist Jason Newsted and Nugent are Michigan homeboys.

"The show has a lot of sentimental value to me," Newsted said during the press conference to announce the gig. "I'm very proud to be playing the biggest place in my home state on the biggest day of the century."

Nugent expressed his enthusiasm for the show with a hearty "Y2K this!"

Concert promoters Cellar Door/ Belkin said at least one more band will be added to the show. Tickets go on sale October 23rd.
