Big World Goes Bust

EW HAMPSHIRE CONCERT promotion company Big World Productions has embarked on a new venture in the wake of filing for Chapter 7 bankruptcy liquidation. Big World has joined with new investors to form Concerts North. The new company will cover some of the same ground as Big World and will also venture into new territory.

"We have the opportunity to develop new venues and other larger projects," said Joe Fletcher, who ran Big World for five years.

He told POLLSTAR that the new company will not assume Big World's debts. "The investors want to start fresh."

The new ventures could include venue and real estate development. Fletcher said. "We're looking at things that are a bit less risky than promoting concerts." Concerts North will, however, continue to promote throughout the New Hampshire region.

Fletcher has also launched Fletcher Management, an artist management company that has signed a country group, the Don Campbell Band. Fletcher said he expects to announce four more signings in the near future.

investor capital that started Concerts North came shortly after Big World filed for bankruptcy. According to the filing, the company is $596,000 in debt and lists assets worth only $2,000. Among the creditors is the husband of the state's governor.

INSIDER NEWS BRIEFS

The company owes $200,000 to a twoperson investor group, Cutter Investors, which is co-owned by William Shaheen, husband of New Hampshire Governor Jeanne Shaheen.

During the past five years, Big World promoted shows by Bob Dylan, Lyle Lovett, Third Eye Blind, Bill Cosby, Gregg Allman and several others. It utilized venues including the Whittemore Center at the University of New Hampshire, Lowell Auditorium and the Capitol Center for the Arts in Concord.

FROM MUSIC TO BASEBALL and now acting? Garth Brooks appears at a news conference in Hollywood May 10th to promote his alter ego and new pop-rock album, In The Life Of Chris Gaines, to be released in October. The country crooner is set to star as the fictional rock idol in the movie, "The Lamb." In order to make believers out of the audience, there is no mention of Brooks on the album. Behind the star hangs a poster of himself as movie character Chris Gaines.

Big World assigned an April concert series to Beach Hill Productions, a company owned by Mr. Shaheen's partner, Matt Cutter.

The debt was not incurred overnight and illustrates how an undercapitalized promoter can suffer dire consequences from a handful of unprofitable shows. Fletcher said his biggest losses came from bookings with Ray Charles and B.B. King last year at the Sugarbush Resort in Vermont. He said he also lost money last fall on the Neville Brothers, Travis Tritt, and Tori Amos, and suffered "a dismal failure" with a 1997 summer series at Loon Mountain.

Tunnel Of Trouble

THE COURTS AND THE CITY are playing a game of tugof-war with troubled Manhattan nightspot the Tunnel, which is closed for now. The club was set to reopen May 7th following a court ruling that would have entitled owner Peter Gatien to a hearing before the city could shutter the Tunnel. But at the last minute, the city won another order to keep the nightclub closed.

State Supreme Court Justice Robert Lippmann originally reversed the city's finding that alleged drug trafficking had made the Tunnel a public nuisance that should be closed immediately.

The State Liquor Authority pulled the club's liquor license in April after more than a dozen people were arrested on drug charges at or near the club.

The SLA held a hearing in the case April 27th. Meanwhile, the city went to another judge and asked her to close the nightspot under the city's nuisance abatement law.

According to Gatien's lawyer, Benjamin Brafman, Justice Phyllis

Lippmann said the city's action in going to another judge was reprehensible.

But the city's attorney argued that the SLA and the city cases were unrelated, although Brafman said lawyers for the liquor board and the city used the same witnesses and the same facts to get the club closed.

After Lippmann's decision to allow the Tunnel to open its doors, Gangel-Jacob turned her case over to him. However, she suggested that a hearing be held on the public nuisance issue before allowing the club to reopen. Lippmann decided otherwise.

The battle of the dueling judges ended May 7th when the case was reassigned to Gangel-Jacob, who quickly reinstated her closing order. She will hear the city's suit to shut the club permanently.

In other legal problems for Gatien, he and his wife pleaded guilty to state tax-evasion charges in January and he is expected to begin serving a 90-day jail sentence May 24th.

Abe Pollin Sells Caps

ASHINGTON, D.C., SPORTS figurehead Abe Pollin has announced intentions to sell the NHL's Capitals and a minority interest in Washington Sports & Entertainment to America Online executive Ted Leonsis.

A MUSICAL AND NOW ACADEMIC GENIUS, David Bowie receives his honorary degree from Berklee College of Music President Lee Eliot Berk during commencement exercises May 8th in Boston. Bowie wished the graduates "the same lusty life force" that music has brought him.

The estimated $200 million deal, announced May 12th, will place Leonsis, along with investors Jonathan Ledecky and Capitals prexy Dick Patrick, in control of the money-losing hockey team, which costs roughly $85 million.

The remaining cash will go to the minority-interest purchase of the Washington Sports & Entertainment operation, which includes the MCI Center, USAir Arena, Ticketmaster franchises in Washington and Baltimore, and the NBA's Wizards. Pollin will also offer the new investors first shot at owning the whole enterprise.

The potential sale comes as many of Pollin's assets, such as the Capitals and the MCI Center, reported major financial losses recently. According to the Washington Post, the Capitals projected a $20 million loss before this season started, while the Wizards lost $16 million during the NBA lockout.

The $200 million MCI Center, which Pollin financed around three years ago, suffers from a less-than-expected number of non-sporting events as well as this month's closing of its Velocity Grill restaurant. The classy eatery

So I understand the power of marketing."

Though the NHL must approve the purchase of the Capitals, it shouldn't be an issue considering the league commissioner's encouraging words: "Based on everything we have been told, we are not anticipating any problems," the Washington Post reported.

The University of Denver has entered into an exclusive five-year partnership with Universal Concerts to promote live shows at its new Daniel L. Ritchie Center, which includes the Magness Arena and the Hamilton Gymnasium. The university plans to host a minimum of 150 events annually at the center, which is set to open in September. About 20 to 40 of those shows will be produced by Universal. The Magness Arena will house 7,000 theatre-style seats when converted into a concert venue while the Hamilton Gymnasium will seat 3,200 utilizing retractable seats.

SFX Entertainment, which currently trades on the NASDAQ National Market, has received preliminary approval to list its Class A common shares on the New York Stock Exchange. Pending final approval, the company expects to commence trading on or about June 7th under a ticker symbol yet to be determined. SFX also issued a statement concerning speculation over an insider stock sell-off. While the updating of its prospectus "seems to invariably trigger speculation as to sales of common stock by members of senior management ... to date, no founding shareholder of SFX Entertainment has sold a single share of SFX Entertainment common stock," company chief Robert FX. Sillerman said. A number of SFX employees from acquired companies have, however, filed to sell some or all of their stock.

Chrysalis Music Group and CAA have entered into a strategic alliance to expand Chrysalis' presence in country music publishing. On the heels of their nine-month-old co-publishing initiative, the two have broadened their original pact, including the appointment of CAA as agent for all of Chrysalis' publishing activities in Nashville. CAA is expected to provide new avenues for the company's music in motion pictures, television and new media.

Charles Koppelman's CAK Universal Credit Corp. has completed the music industry's first AAA music-related securitization, originating a $29 million loan to Nashville-based performing rights society SESAC. The financing was provided on a 10-year, fixed-rate basis and backed by SESAC's share of revenue generated by its portfolio of public performance rights royalty payments.

The last performance at the Burt Reynolds Dinner Theater in Jupiter, Fla., drew 200 people to bid on the star's memorabilia. The six-hour auction May 4th raised "a drawer full of money" for the theatre's new owner, Christ's Church of the Palm Beaches. One hotly contested item was a picture of Reynolds and some of the Rat Pack. Dean Martin apparently wrote something on the photo too profane to repeat. "We had to get rid of it," said Chelly Templeton, the church's children's program director. "We couldn't put it in the church, not even in the coffeehouse."

Ray Stevens will undergo prostate cancer surgery next month and he hopes to be back to work by the fall. The 60-year-old singer announced he had prostate cancer in April. "I have been very encouraged by my physicians' diagnosis and I should be well on my way to recovery following my surgery in June," Stevens said. He has canceled his summer season at Nashville's Acuff Theatre but hopes to resume performing there in September.

Billy Ray Cyrus made an unscheduled stop May 7th in Malhull, Okla., 95 percent of which was destroyed by recent tornadoes. After his concert in Little Rock, Ark., Cyrus took his bus – including his manager, the driver, band members and crew – to a local Wal-Mart, where they stocked up on blankets, pillows, clothing and other staples, and then delivered them to victims.

Windham Hill is set to launch its Summer Groove '99 campaign to support the label's jazz artists with new albums and tour dates. The three-month program will include a national retail and media blitz that will blanket retail, radio, national and local print, television and the Internet. Artists featured in the campaign include The Braxton Brothers, Tom Scott & The L.A. Express, The Rippingtons featuring Russ Freeman, Spyro Gyra, Michael Franks, Ricky Peterson, Earl Klugh, and Double Scale.

A previously unreleased single by The Beatles will be put out later this year, along with refurbished versions of the "Yellow Submarine" movie and soundtrack. The single features all four Beatles singing, said Geoff Baker, a spokesperson for Paul McCartney and Apple Records. The soundtrack to "Yellow Submarine" is being remixed, dropping seven instrumental tracks from the film score by Sir George Martin, the group's producer, and replacing them with previously released Beatles tracks, Baker said.

AFTER 50 YEARS in show business, Eddy Arnold announces his retirement at a May 11th press conference at The Orleans hotel-casino in Las Vegas. His final performance was set to take place at the hotel May 16th, the day after he turned 81. The country singer first performed in Las Vegas in 1949 at the El Rancho Vegas, the first hotel-casino ever built on the strip.

at River Parks Amphitheatre. The impact sent singer Ed Roland to the floor, enraging him and his brother Dean as well as ending the band's set.

According to a representative of Spivak Entertainment, the band's management company, Roland suffered a minor injury during the May 8th show and it will not affect the band's tour.

A report from the Tulsa World newspaper said the group left the stage following the incident and a "hearty 'F— you'" to the crowd. With a towel on his bleeding temple, the singer reportedly expressed his anger backstage by exploding at anyone around, including his managers and the show's promoters, 462 Inc.

Estimates said the lighter was thrown from about 40 feet away. "It hit him like a bullet," a security guard said.

Although police apprehended the alleged lighter pitcher, who experienced a barrage of verbal abuse backstage, the group left the venue without filing a police report, the paper said. The group's management would not comment on potential charges against the boy.

"I saw the kid. He's probably 16. You can't get too pissed off at him," bassist Will Turpin told the Tulsa World. "He's probably drunk or high for the first time in his life, and we've all done stupid things."

Collective Soul was the featured headliner for the radio station-sponsored festival, which also included Marvelous 3, Dovetail Joint, a handful of local acts and some 10,000 concert-goers.

Beck Battles Back

BECK HAS FIRED BACK IN the contract battle between him and Geffen Records, filing a copyright infringement suit against the label.

The lawsuit claims that Geffen improperly seized control of Beck's latest album, Mutations, from Bong Load Custom Records, according to the Los Angeles Times. Bong Load had Beck under contract when he joined Geffen in 1993.

The singer reportedly contends that he paid for the recording of Mutations with the understanding that it would be released by Bong Load to fulfill his obligation to that indie label.

Media reports quote court papers as saying Beck allowed Geffen execs to hear the album "as a matter of courtesy, and because of his good relationship with Geffen."

The suit reportedly goes on to say that "Geffen decided it must copy Mutations for release and distribution for the financially critical Christmas season, although [the label] knew it had no right to do so."

It also claims that Geffen failed to pay the artist an advance or any royalties for the more than 400,000 copies of the record sold in the U.S. since its November release, according to the Times.

Just as well, Beck reportedly contends that in November 1997, Geffen agreed that he would be released from his exclusive obligations to the label and allowed to "create and own one as-yetuncreated record album." Apparently, that was the album the singer intended to release on Bong Load.

Beck's countersuit was filed two weeks after Geffen and Bong Load sued the performer for breach of contract, the Times said. Those suits were a response to Beck's threat to scrap the existing contracts by citing California's statute limiting personal services contracts to seven years.

Bong Load is reportedly not a defendant in Beck's countersuit.

Richey Dropped From Wynette Lawsuit

TAMMY WYNETTE'S daughters removed her manager/fifth husband from their $50 million lawsuit alleging he and the singer's physician contributed to her death.

Although George Richey was dropped as a defendant May 6th, Tina Jones, Jackie Daly and Georgette Smith – the original plaintiffs, who were later joined by sister Gwen Nicholas – continue to seek judgment against Dr. Wallis Marsh of Pittsburgh.

"Today, my nightmare has ended," Richey said. In exchange for getting his name dropped from the suit, "George Richey did agree that he would not bring suit against the daughters for libel, slander or injury to reputation because of false statements made by them prior to May 5, 1999," said his attorney Robert Ritchie.

Richey also relinquished his share of any money the daughters may win in their case against Marsh. Under Tennessee law, he would have collected one-third of the awarded damages, even though he was a defendant.

Amid questions of other concessions Richey made as part of his deal, the daughters' attorney, Ed Yarbrough, said, "It would be reasonable to assume there would be other inducements, but I am not allowed to comment."

On April 14th, Wynette's body was exhumed and an autopsy performed at Richey's request. Results are pending.

The daughters insisted money was not their motivation for filing the lawsuit April 5th, originally accusing both men of malpractice and negligence in caring for Wynette and in the administering of narcotics.

Their mother, who died in April 1998, left most of her estate to Richey; however, her will stipulates it be divided among her four daughters and his two children when he dies. Any challengers get nothing.

Richey continues to support Marsh, who listed the cause of death as a blood clot and who has denied all accusations.

JOKER WITH A WATER balloon broke the hearts of thousands of screaming girls who hoped to meet the members of 'N Sync in Bloomington, Minn., May 6th.

TEEN-AGERS at Minnesota's Mall of America are overcome with frustration after the members of 'N Sync were whisked away from an autograph session. Some of the girls had been waiting since 5 a.m. to see the group.

A mob of about 20,000 teenagers wept, Beatlemania style, before and after the group walked out during an autograph-signing event at the Mall of America.

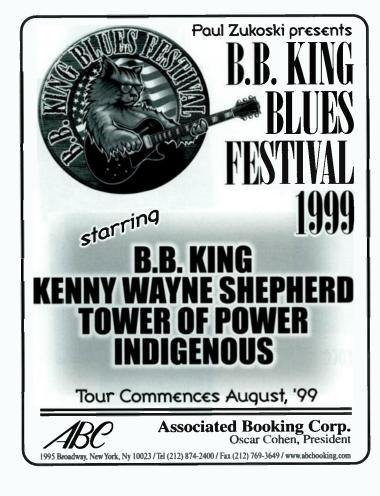

A water balloon thrown from a balcony spooked 'N Sync's security staff so they cut the visit short by a half-hour.

The five singers signed posters, shirts and even underwear starting at 1 p.m. in the mall's rotunda. The water balloon landed near them an hour and a half later.

No one was hurt and the water-bomber was not caught.

The incident happened in the afternoon prior to the group's sold-out concert at the Target Center.

Those teenyboppers lucky enough to receive autographs were overwhelmed. For Jessica Pung, 12, of Minnetonka, the chance to make eye contact with the five heartthrobs "made this the greatest day of my life, including the day I was born."

George Jones Pleads Guilty To DWI

GEORGE JONES PLEADED guilty May 12th to charges of drunken driving and violating Tennessee's open container law. The plea came after a Williamson County grand jury indicted him May 10th in connection with his near-fatal car crash in March.

Jones was fined $500 for the driving while impaired charge and $50 for the open container violation. Under Tennessee law, a DWI conviction carries less weight than driving under the influence. Consequently, he will not serve jail time, and he will keep his driver's license.

The subpoenaed results of Jones' blood-alcohol test were not released. However, in Tennessee, a DWI charge applies to drivers with a blood-alcohol level of at least 0.08, who haven't been convicted of drunken driving for at least 10 years.

"I don't remember much about the day of the accident, but I do know that I was drinking, and obviously, my driving was impaired," said the Country Music Hall of Famer.

After he undergoes inpatient alcohol abuse treatment, and if he avoids being arrested for one year, a reckless driving charge will be dismissed.

"I did wrong that day, and I take full responsibility for what happened," Jones, 67, said.

The singer slammed his Lexus sport-utility vehicle into a concrete bridge pillar near his Franklin home and suffered critical injuries, including internal bleeding, a ruptured liver and a collapsed lung. He was flown to Nashville's Vanderbilt University Medical Center, where he was put on a ventilator.

District Attorney Ron Davis said prosecutors agreed to a plea because obtaining a conviction by trial would have been difficult.

"It was a very difficult case factually because the investigation from the Highway Patrol contained a lot of contradictory evidence and information," he said.

Although a half-empty pint of vodka was found in Jones' vehicle, the initial investigating trooper said he crashed because he was distracted while talking on a cell phone. Also, a motorist at a rest area reportedly said there was no sign of intoxication when Jones stopped to offer assistance only minutes before the crash.

GEORGE JONES LISTENS to District Attorney Ron Davis during a court hearing May 12th in Tennessee. Jones entered a guilty plea to two alcoholrelated charges stemming from his car accident in March and was issued fines totaling $550.

Evidence to the contrary included two 911 calls by motorists who reported seeing Jones' vehicle weaving minutes before the crash. And employees of a liquor store told the jury that he purchased the vodka the day of the crash, said the Nashville Digest.

Those close to the star originally denied that alcohol was involved, but Jones said that was because they were unaware he was drinking again. The entertainer's addiction to alcohol and drugs has been well-publicized over the years, and in 1982, he pleaded guilty to two drunken driving charges.

According to Jones, he was sober for 12 years prior to the March accident. "I don't know what got into my mind that day, but I know I'll get my mind straight now," he said.

According to the organizers of the Minnesota Millennium Celebration, fears of Y2K-related computer glitches had potential sponsors staying a safe distance away. The six-day, $8 million fiesta was to encompass the Metrodome and Minneapolis Convention Center with numerous concerts and family activities.

The cancellation was announced May 7th by the Design Group, a Minneapolis-based company that produced extravaganzas for the 1992 Super Bowl and last year's World Figure Skating Champions.

"We felt we had a salable and marketable product, and nobody from the city or corporate America came forward," said Fred Shepherd, national director of sales for the Design Group. "I think they stayed away because of fear."

The demise of one New Year's bash shouldn't cause any worries among Minnesota's populace. The Minneapolis Star Tribune newspaper reported that city officials are organizing a two-day downtown party while other events in nearby St. Paul are being planned.

Electric Factory Concerts co-founder and co-owner Herb Spivak is retiring from the business and selling his share of the company to his nephew Adam Spivak. Herb has been an instrumental figure in the Philadelphia-based company and in the concert industry for 31 years. In 1967, he and his brother Allen Spivak and partner Larry Magid opened one of the world's first live halls for rock music, Electric Factory. Adam Spivak has worked as VP of operations, director of finance, property manager and special projects coordinator at Electric Factory Concerts for more than eight years. He will continue to oversee daily operations and finance, and now becomes part owner along with his father, Allen, and Magid.

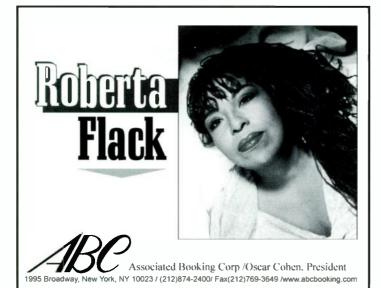

Dennis Ashley has joined CAA, where he will focus on urban contemporary music with plans to expand the music department's R&B division. Ashley opened his own company, The Ashley Agency, in 1994. Prior to that, he was an agent with ICM.

Alan Hopper has been named public relations manager of the Las Vegas Hilton, the crown jewel of the massive Park Place Entertainment gaming company. Hopper, who most recently handled publicity for Circus Circus, is a 14-year veteran of the concert industry. He has worked as a William Morris agent as well as personal manager to Chris Hillman's Desert Rose Band, Boy Howdy, and Suzy Bogguss, among others. Following the approval process, PPE is expected to complete its $3 billion acquisition of Caesars World in the fourth quarter.

Make It Happen, an event and entertainment marketing company, has set up shop in Atlanta. Founded by Joe Lewi, its clients include Feld Entertainment, for which the company coordinates marketing efforts for Ringling Bros. and Disney On Ice, as well as the Indoor Professional Football League. Prior to his entrepreneurial endeavor, Lewi served as VP of advertising and promotions for the Atlanta Knights, headed group sales for Coca-Cola Olympic City during the 1996 Summer Games and was regional marketing director for Feld Entertainment.

film. The movie was based on an unauthorized biography about her titled "Child Bride."

Last year, Presley obtained a defamation judgement against Currie Grant, one of the primary sources for "Child Bride."

Presley sued publicists and film producers including Solters, the Lee Solters Company, Bud Grant, Robert Burge and Third Coast Entertainment over a press release and other publicity claiming she had been offered an official consulting position on the film. The Santa Monica, Calif., court entered the judgement on April 6th after a nine-day trial.

"It is unfortunate that the dispute arose between Ms. Presley and the production company, and we were caught in the middle," said Solters, who had been retained by Third Coast Entertainment to issue press releases about the film. "As a publicist, I'm in a precarious position," he told POLLSTAR. "They've shot the messenger in this situation." He is appealing the decision.

Real-Life Saga Of Kane & Abel

DENTICAL TWIN RAPPERS Kane & Abel have been charged in a wide-reaching New Orleans drug case. The pair are accused of being big cocaine customers of drug kingpin and convicted cop killer Richard Pena. The brothers were charged with buying wholesale quantities of cocaine from Pena, who is serving a life sentence in federal prison after pleading guilty to eight drug-related murders.

David and Daniel Garcia, 22, the chart-topping twins, pleaded not guilty during their arraignment May 11th.

"I'm convinced that the government has brought this case based on a bunch of lies from convicted drug dealers and thugs who are eager to lessen their sentences," said Richard Westling, the Garcias' attorney. "Unfortunately, the impact on David and Daniel's careers is something we can't repair. But they're confident that they will be vindicated by a jury at trial."

As Kane & Abel, the Garcias released the album, Am I My Brother's Keeper, on Master P's No Limit Records label last July. The album debuted at No. 1 on SoundScan. No Limit Records declined to comment on the Garcias' arrests.

Shortly before their arrests, the brothers' first book, "Eyes of a Killer/Behind Enemy Lines," was published. The book contains two novellas, one of which tells the story of a teen caught up in the New Orleans drug underworld.

Teen Violence Prompts Action

THE GOVERNMENT-LED attack on the alleged violent influence of music, movies and video games on America's youth has advanced with a MTVpartnered campaign and a White House summit.

During the White House's May 10th meeting, President Clinton convened with a group of some 60 panelists to explore the causes of violence in youth. Participants included gun manufacturers, entertainment figures, television execs, the religious community, students and parents.

Just days earlier, MTV teamed with the U.S. Education and Justice Departments to announce a youth-aimed campaign against violence.

A RECENT NEW YORK NEWS CONFERENCE to announce MTV's anti-violence campaign brings Attorney General Janet Reno together with Goo Goo Dolls members John Rzeznik (L) and Robby Takac. MTV along with the Departments of Justice and Education teamed to promote the campaign to the American youth.

At the White House, the president asked those who manufacture movies, music and games to consider their products' possible influence on children and the consequences. Although no blame was placed, the absence of Hollywood's leaders was noted by Clinton in comments made following the three-hour session.

"We cannot pretend that there is no impact on our culture and our children that is adverse if there is too much violence coming out of what they see and experience," the New York Times reported Clinton as saying.

Supporting Clinton's comments, ABC Chairman Bob Iger said, "When the finger is pointed at [the entertainment industry] about violence, they say their media has no influence; but they turn around and say just the opposite to advertisers," the Los Angeles Times reported.

Among the actions reportedly cited during the meeting, the president called for the surgeon general to draft a report on youth violence, computer-related companies vowed to limit children's access to mature video games and gun manufacturers supported tighter gun control laws.

The White House gathering followed the announcement of MTV's anti-violence campaign. Attorney General Janet Reno, MTV President Judy McGrath and members of The Goo Goo Dolls attended a May 7th press conference for the "Fight For Your Rights" crusade.

Contrary to the White House and Congress' efforts to curtail violence in entertainment, Reno stated, "You cannot just point to the Internet or movies or music videos or guns as the single reason why children or teen-agers commit violent acts and you cannot just talk about more rules or regulations." The MTV-government partnership entails distribution of a CD-ROM that includes songs by Dave Matthews Band and Lauryn Hill, among others, along with educational material. Accompanying the CD is a 24-page resource guide that shows how to avoid violence through mentoring and art programs.

"If we're going to talk about communicating with youth, we need to be sure to get the message out through the medium they listen to," Reno said. "Music that does not promote gratuitous violence ... that helps people come to grips with violence that has become a part of our life, I think, is one of the greatest forces for solving it."

In support of the effort, The Goo Goo Dolls plan to distribute the CD and booklet during its summer tour.

"This is actually a great opportunity for music in all its many incarnations to continue to provide connectivity (for teens) and even hope," McGrath said.

Eminem Raps Heckler

RAPPER EMINEM WAS ONLY 20 minutes into his show at The Fillmore in San Francisco when the house lights came up. With fellow Detroit homie funkmeister George Clinton at his side, Eminem got into a verbal exchange with a persistent heckler. When a second malcontent got involved, he opted to settle the dispute with his fists. Eminem dove into the crowd, followed by one of his roadies and members of the venue's security team.

The incident was over in two minutes and Eminem was escorted backstage while the heckler was removed from the building. Shortly thereafter, the rapper returned to the stage and continued the show, warning the crowd of about 1,000 that anyone who disrespected him would pay the price. #### More Than A Nickel's Worth Of Trouble

N AMUSEMENT PARK'S Cinco de Mayo promotion got out of hand when thousands of people tried to take advantage of a once-in-a-lifetime admission price.

Knott's Berry Farm in Buena Park, Calif., was letting folks in for a measly 5 cents on May 5th. The promotion was well advertised on radio and television, and attracted thousands of people, including hordes of teen-agers who had skipped school.

By 10 a.m., the park was jammed with 35,000 to 40,000 people, according to police. Knott's spokesperson Bob Ochsner said the park was not full and estimated attendance at less than 30,000. In any case, the park stopped selling tickets and a minor melee ensued.

About 250 police and law enforcement officers had to disperse the crowd, estimated between 2,000 and 4,000, waiting to get in. Fights broke out and six teen-agers were arrested for investigation of disturbing the peace and assault, including two who allegedly threw chunks of concrete at officers.

Park officials said ticket sales were cut off to accommodate guests who would leave but return later. The park is normally open until 9 p.m. but closed at 5 p.m. to avoid further problems, according to police.

The park also has to reimburse the Buena Park Police Department for its crowd control services.

Penguins In Flight?

THE NHL'S PITTSBURGH Penguins may waddle their way across the country to become the Portland Penguins.

The hockey organization has confirmed the receipt of an $85 million bid from an unnamed buyer to move the Penguins. The mystery bidder is believed to be Seattle billionaire Paul Allen, who owns the NFL's Seattle Seahawks and NBA's Portland Trail Blazers.

The announcement is the latest in the bankrupt hockey team's struggle to solve its financial situation, which calls for a quick answer as preparations must be made for the 1999-2000 season. Although Allen's representatives have denied the rumor, the Microsoft co-founder has been evaluating NHL teams for possible relocation to his Rose Garden arena in Portland, Ore.

However, before the team jumps out of Pittsburgh and its alleged financially constricting Civic Arena lease with SMG, any sale of the Penguins to an out-of-town buyer must be approved by U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Bernard Markovitz.

The judge has ruled that the team is bound by its arena lease, which expires in 2007. But if a buyout plan by Hall of Famer Mario Lemieux falls through, then the team has a fallback position.

"The club is not viable in Pittsburgh without a new lease," NHL Commissioner Gary Bettman said. "We would like to have the Pens reorganized in Pittsburgh, but if [the Lemieux plan] fails, we have to look at alternatives."

A hearing has been scheduled for May 19th, less than two weeks before the NHL's deadline for resolving Penguins ownership.

Pennsylvania Gov. Tom Ridge has hinted at a new arena for the Penguins if new local ownership is secured.  $\bigstar$ have lost none of their drawing power, with more dates on sale for their live excursion in December. After selling out four arena shows within two hours, SJM Concerts announced two extra dates at Earls Court and Manchester Evening News arenas. Tickets for the additional shows December 7, 8, 14 and 15 continue to sell steadily.

• AMONG ALL THE BIG-NAME millennium eve plans being bandied around, Eric Clapton has thrown his hat in the ring and is reportedly planning a party for people who don't want to greet the new year in an alcoholic haze.

Clapton told the BBC that he will play with a band at an invitationonly party, which will be held at an as-of-yet undisclosed location in the English countryside. Clapton has been very public about his recovery from alcohol and drug addiction, and said the idea was prompted by past New Year's Eves, which he called "the worst night of the year for people who don't drink."

• DESPITE HOPE THAT CELINE DION would be able to fulfill her European tour commitments this summer, her European agent, Solo's John Giddings, was forced to cancel several shows due to husband Rene Angelil's illness. Dion cancelled dates in nine cities – Birmingham, Belfast, Dublin, Frankfurt, Cologne, Gothenburg, Vienna, Lyon and Marseille – and they will not be rescheduled.

The singer said in a statement, "My fans have always been a big part of everything, and I am so sorry to disappoint them, but Rene is naturally my first priority. I don't know when I will be touring Europe again, but when I do, I will do everything possible to include the cities which I miss this time around."

• THE SECOND CAPITAL RADIO Party in the Park (July 4) sold out almost immediately, with 100,000 tickets snapped up within days. Organised by Solo in conjunction with Capital Radio, the concert will be broadcast live on radio and televised at a later date.

Artists announced, so far, include Texas, Boyzone, The Corrs, Martine McCutcheon, Madness, Culture Club, Honeyz, Roxette, Westlife, UB40, and Shania Twain. The fundraiser benefitting the Prince's Trust will take place in Hyde Park. It sold out May 9 after just two and a half days. More artists are due to be announced the first week of June.

• POSSIBLY THE MOST SUCCESSFUL tribute act in the world, Bjorn Again celebrates 10 years of performing Abba's greatest hits this year. The band has notched more than 1,500 live shows in 40 countries worldwide and started its current run of U.K. dates with two nights at the Forum in London on May 7 and 8.

The band continues to enjoy the Abba revival with the newly launched "Mamma Mia" musical adding more fuel to the fire. Agent Paul Franklin at Primary Talent said its touring schedule is pretty much nonstop, with festival bookings through summer, including a slot on Catatonia's Port Talbot open-air and appearances at the Glastonbury, Werchter and Gurten Festivals. This will be followed by a U.K. theatre tour through autumn, plus upcoming dates in Australia and North America.

The band has long enjoyed the approval of the original Abba members, and Benny Anderson earlier this year commented, "Fans had better make the most of Bjorn Again because that's the closest they are going to get to seeing Abba. Abba will never reform."

Meanwhile, Agnetha Faeltskog was recently reported as saying that she has kept out of the limelight and away from music for the past decade in order to recover from years of superstardom. "It was fever; it was hysteria; it was sweaty, obsessed crowds," she said in a TV documentary to be aired.

Germany: The 13th Bizarre

Festival (August 20-22) in Cologne has returned to its alternativerock roots after accusations of becoming a "wheelchair festival" featuring Page / Plant as headliners last summer.

This year's bill is a bid to recapture the attention of a younger market, with The Offspring, Red Hot Chili Peppers, Die Fantastischen Vier, Faithless, silverchair, Type O Negative, Mercury Rev, Supergrass and others due to perform. The festival is promoted by Peter Rieger Konzertagentur and Concert Cooperation Bonn.

Concert Co-op has also confirmed details of the summer Rockpalast open-air at Loreley Freilichtbuhne with Van Morrison, Dr. John, Keziah Jones, the Brandos, Olu Dara, and Hazeldine playing the filmed-for-TV event July 9.

Another popular summer season promoted by Concert Co-op is the Museumsmeile concert series in Bonn. The open-air stage is set in the picturesque inner-city square between two museums. After a successful 1998 season, Concert Co-op will be promoting 20 concerts this year. The season starts June 2 with Shirley Bassey and other artists who will perform there, including Mike And The Mechanics, Suzanne Vega, Mike Oldfield, Nigel Kennedy, Jethro Tull, and the Kelly Family.

• CONTOUR HAS ANNOUNCED the bill for its new festival, Phaze 99 (June 25). The one-day dance festival in Cologne will feature Massive Attack headlining, with The Roots, Asian Dub Foundation, Urban Dance Squad, Lo-Fidelity Allstars, Urban Species and other acts to be announced.

Denmark: IF THE '90S WAS THE decade of mega-festivals, the millennium could see festivals going back to their roots. Certainly, this looks to be the case at Roskilde (July 1-4). A few years ago, the festival hit 100,000 in capacity, but this year, organisers have decided to restrict the capacity to 65,000, while keeping the site the same size.

Roskilde Festival has always prided itself on paying attention to what the audience wants, and this year's event will reflect the audience's viewpoint in the smaller capacity. More than 30,000 replies to the annual questionnaire have been received via e-mail this year – in contrast to about 4,000 postal replies in the pre-Internet era.

Although last year's event didn't sell out for the first time in years, the overwhelming audience response was that the shorter queues and more elbow room afforded were advantageous. The use of e-mail has meant greater contact with festival fans, and the Roskilde Web site gets about one million hits a week. This is a double advantage, as it means the festival is less reliant on major newspapers picking up on big-name artists in order to sell tickets. However, the smaller capacity doesn't mean a smaller bill.

This year's lineup features around 160 artists from all sectors, with legends and innovators alike. The list includes Marilyn Manson, Robbie Williams, Metallica, R.E.M., Suede, Blur, Barenaked Ladies, Blondie, Al Green, Stereophonics, and The Divine Comedy, to name a few.

With ticket sales up by 7,000 compared to the same time last year, the formula seems to work. Festival organiser Leif Skov commented, "Based on the dialogue with the audience, we have created an event that the audience wants, and the ticket sales show it."

Some might query whether the festival's charitable donations will suffer from the reduced capacity, but Skov keenly stressed continuing support for humanitarian and cultural causes. The organisers have decided to make a pre-festival donation of 1 million Danish kroner to the people of Kosovo from previous years' surplus funds. To underscore this, the logo for the "festival for peace" will convey an appropriate anti-war message, which Skov hopes other festivals will adopt.

Belgium: TWENTY-ONE THOUSAND tickets snapped up after two and a half weeks on sale means Herman Schueremans is a happy promoter. The T/W 99 (July 2-4) festival has changed its format to a one-site, three-day festival at Werchter, and the public seems to have taken to this old-style festival concept very well.

They seem to approve of the excellent bill and the ticket price, which is a bargain at £47 for the weekend. Artists include a broad range of rock, pop and dance acts, such as Blur, Pavement, Mercury Rev, The Chemical Brothers, Fatboy Slim, Marilyn Manson, Bryan Adams, Skunk Anansie, Texas, Suzanne Vega, Everlast, Lamb, Gus Gus, Placebo, Manic Street Preachers, Robbie Williams, Lenny Kravitz and R.E.M.

Schueremans admitted he can't predict whether the festival will sell out its maximum capacity of 65,000,

International News

but judging by the early response, he was confident. "My reaction is that I was right to restrict the festival to one location," he told POLLSTAR. "It reduces the set-up costs and the costs of paying bands to play at two different venues over a weekend. So that has allowed us to bring in more top-level bands. We have achieved a combination of quality music and specialist acts for a reasonable price. It's the only way to attract a big audience in a small market.

"When we announced the changes in mid-February, the message we put out was, 'Let's make sure that Belgium stays on the map in an increasingly busy festival market. Let's reorganise the form of T/W and come out stronger."

• THE COULEUR CAFE FESTIVAL

(June 25-27) will celebrate its 10th anniversary this summer with a bill covering the full spectrum of world music. Artists from the spheres of Latin, Rai, rap and funk music will pass through the post-industrial setting of the old Customs House in Brussels, otherwise known as the Tour & Taxis.

The festivities will start with an evening featuring Zap Mama, Urban Species, Salif Keita and others. The second night, titled Furia Latina, will present Ruben Blades And Friends, and artists playing the Planet Rai night will include Cheb Mami and Khaled.

This year's festival space will be larger and under cover, due to the unpredictable summer weather in recent years. There will also be three marquee stages of 2,500, 4,000 and 12,000 capacity.

Finland: WELL DONE OY WENT ON sale last week with a Bryan Adams open-air show, which will be the only open-air concert on the company's summer schedule this year. With no major acts taking summer shows to Finland, promoter Risto Juvonen said it was important to do at least one small stadium show in order to maintain some continuity in the open-air market.

Adams will play an 18,000capacity show in a Helsinki stadium, and Juvonen said he expects the concert to sell well. However, he explained that the lack of big openair shows leaves a significant hole in the concert season, as it means older audiences are not being catered to. "Traditionally, tours would either start or end in Finland, but now, the Russian and Baltic markets are opening up. It's not so crucial, so we sometimes miss out on the big tours. Most of the Finnish festivals cater to the younger rock, pop and metal markets, and although these look like they will do good business this summer," Juvonen said, "I would have liked to go on sale with something for the bigstadium audiences."

• LEFT FIELD SOLUTIONS, WHICH is coordinating the entertainment at the June 12 grand opening of Stadium Australia (Sydney), has scored a coup. INXS will make its first official performance since the death of singer Michael Hutchence 18 months ago.

Which microphone-wielder will join them that night won't be announced for a few more weeks. But press speculation has everyone from British-born Terence Trent D'Arby and Mick Jagger (wishful thinking on someone's part!) to Jimmy Barnes; Suze DeMarchi, formerly with Baby Animals; and Jack Jones, previously with Southern Sons. INXS backed Barnes when he appeared last October at Mushroom's 25th anniversary concert.

Altogether, 800 entertainers and crew are involved in the event, including Men At Work, Wendy Matthews, Rob Guest, Michael Cormick, Rhonda Burchmore, Jane Scali, David Dixon and Kelley Abbey.

Says Left Field Solutions MD, Graham Halbish, "The opening of Stadium Australia has been designed to illustrate the long-term benefit of Sydney, NSW and Australia. This is a new cultural and sporting theatre for all Australians, and the opening will illustrate this."

• THE JACOBSEN ENTERTAINMENT Group opens "Fame The Musical" July 29 at Star City Casino in Sydney, before running it throughout Australia into 2000. The company, run by brothers Kevin Jacobsen and Col Joye, is set to announce dates for Elvis The Concert.

Jacobsen is reportedly negotiating with Michael Jackson about playing Sydney on New Year's Eve. Jackson wants to fly directly to Hawaii after the Sydney appearance to do a second show as dawn breaks there, almost 24 hours later. But it's said he's having second thoughts about flying on New Year's Day.

• FRONTIER TOURING BRINGS Scottish trio bis back for five dates between June 8 and 12 at the Metro in Sydney, the Atrium at Macquarie University, the Adelaide University Bar, the Hi-Fi Bar in Melbourne, and the Arena in Brisbane.

• IN ADDITION TO POLLSTAR'S May 3rd item about Luciano Pavarotti's appearance at the November 6 gala opening of the Sydney SuperDome, the venue's hiring manager, Daniel Ballantyne, advised this column that the $600 ticket price referred to is for an invitation-only charity fund-raising banquet where the maestro will join guests for an after-concert dinner. Tix prices for the actual show range from $32.50 to $287.50.

• A TWO-YEAR DROUGHT ON THE south island of New Zealand that devastated farming communities has prompted local promoter Terry Hannan to set up a Farm Dance concert November 20. Inspired by Farm Aid, the show will be held in the city of Dunedin's Forrester Park, a beautiful amphitheatre surrounded by forest and farmland. It occurs on the same weekend as the FIFA Under-17 world soccer cup quarter final, which will be beamed via satellite to 320 million people worldwide.

Ten New Zealand acts have agreed to play the concert, with more from Australia and North America showing interest. Hannan wants to know if more bands will donate their services. "Those international acts who support the Farm Dance will be thanked in a uniquely New Zealand way," he said.

Hannan can be contacted at 28 Tedder St.; St. Kilda, Dunedin, New Zealand; phone/fax: 64-3-4557 548. NZ is about 17 hours ahead of U.S. Central Time.

• MELBOURNE CLUB BOOKER Richard Moffat sliced his former booking duties to include only the Corner Hotel, due to new work commitments. He was tapped to run the Melbourne office of Steve Pavlovic's tour company, Pav Corporation, and book acts for a new Channel 9 variety show, which begins in July, hosted by comedian Mick Molloy. Moffat continues to operate his Way Over There indie label.

• LAID-BACK SHAWN MULLINS, here for a promo tour, was chilling out at the Sydney Zoo recently. Alas, he was spotted by schoolgirls on an excursion and unceremoniously chased out of the place as they descended on him, autograph books aloft.

• WHO WILL SING AT THE OPENING of the Olympic Games next year? The prestigious gig before a billionstrong viewing audience could launch a global career. Christine Anu apparently tops the list being assembled by the committee, although the decision will not be made until early next year.

Anu said she's heard the rumours, too, and added, "Whether it's asking me to sing or write a song, I'm yet to get an offer, but I'm open to that sort of thing."

Among those reportedly under consideration are Mandawuy Yunupingu of Yothu Yindi; Archie Roach; Human Nature; country singer John Williamson; a teaming of John Farnham, Olivia Newton-John and Anthony Warlow; and a duet by the king and queen of Aussie country, Lee Kernaghan and Gina Jeffreys.

• THREE DAYS AFTER REPORTING that insurance giant Colonial Mutual would probably buy the naming rights to the new Dockland grounds in Melbourne, Herald Sun newspaper journalist Tony De Bolfo paid $35 to reserve the name before Colonial could. The newspaper tried to resolve what its editor called "a conflict of interest" and axed De Bolfo when he refused to withdraw his claim to the name.

• BETWEEN 1990 AND 1994, the Skyhooks recorded a number of tracks for an album. The plan was scrapped, but eight of those cuts are due to be released May 17 as a two-CD set, The Collection, through Mushroom.

Two of its members, singer Shirley Strachan and guitarist Red Symons, have continued their careers on TV. Songwriter Greg Macainsh is studying law; guitarist Bongo Starkie is vacationing in Rio and hanging out with good buddy, train robber Ronald Biggs (about whom he made a documentary); while drummer Freddie Strauks is reportedly involved in making a "porn comedy CD," whatever that is.

• THE FOURTH NATIONAL Entertainment Industry Conference (August 6-7 at ABC Radio Centre in Sydney) has replaced the "Re-gear Your Career For The New Frontiers" panel with one that involves broadcasting; looking at the new, higher quotas for Australian music; the impending digital broadcasting revolution; new radio licenses; radio stations on the Net; and airplay opportunities.

"The Revolution Will Be Digitized – Radio & Records, Pay TV & The Internet – Sending Australian Music To The Millennium" is slotted for August 7 at 4.30 p.m. Aside from six top radio names from Australia, the panel also taps Rick Riccobono, BMI vice president, writer-publisher relations Los Angeles.

• ACTS ON THE ROAD IN EUROPE include the Powdermonkeys, which were joined onstage in Sweden by the members' idol, Wayne Kramer of MC5, for a rendition of "Kick Out The Jams," and the Tendrils, which finishes its three-week jaunt through England May 24.

• MOST OF THE PANELISTS AT Vancouver's New Music West conference (May 7 and 8) were content with a priority-access delegate pass as "payment" for their time. But not Lemmy from Motorhead. He requested a bottle of Jack Daniels, and permission to smoke and drink J.D. and Coke during his Fridaymorning panel titled "The State Of The Industry." It was moderated by Donald Tarlton and included Elliott Lefko, alternative talent buyer at Universal Concerts Canada.

• THE FESTIVAL COMPONENT of NMW99, which ran May 6-8, consisted of 201 bands, including two from the U.K. and Australia, one from Denmark, 22 from the United States, 102 from British Columbia, and a number from the rest of Canada. About 150 of the performers were "showcase bands" that applied for the festival. The balance were artists that NMW99 booked, such as Motorhead, Colin James & The Little Big Band, Run-D.M.C., and Social Distortion's Mike Ness.

• VANCOUVER'S FIRST LEGAL RAVE, planned for 2 a.m. to 6 a.m. May 8, was canceled at the last minute because the Vancouver City Police did not grant approval for the event. There is a bylaw that prohibits dancing and bowling after 2 a.m. in the city.

NMW99 producer John Donnelly said he and his staff jumped through political "hoops and hurdles" to get the rave happening. NMW99 paid $10,000 to bring in top talent like the U.K.'s DJ Heaven and Florida's Hardware. The acts performed but on a shorter schedule.

"We put the city on notice that we may have to sue them for the balance of money that may be outstanding from the event," said Donnelly.

• ORANGE COUNTY LEGENDS Cadillac Tramps almost didn't make it across the Peace Arch border for their NMW99 show May 8 at the Starfish Room. According to John Donnelly, "We flew them to Seattle because they had a performance, then we had to drive them from Seattle to Vancouver, then drive them back, and they got stopped at the border because five out of six members had previous DUIs."

Donnelly was hosting the SOCAN songwriter workshop at the conference when he got a frantic wave from one of his assistants. He ran to and from the onstage workshop to a cell phone in order to coax the immigration officials into letting the Cadillac Tramps cross.

"We had to explain the festival, the government sponsorships and the importance of the band. We said, "We're begging,' and in the end, we won. We had to pay some extra fees to begin the process for them to have their [DUI] records expunged."

• UNSIGNED CANADIAN BUZZ bands from the festival included Nickelback, Thurston 5, Templar, Rhythmus, Hellenkeller, Velvet, Jar, Lena, Jordan Cook, and Kelly Brock.

• SUMMERSAULT, THE FESTIVAL founded by multi-platinum Toronto rock band Our Lady Peace and Toronto-based promoter Core Audience Entertainment, will skip a year because OLP is still working on the follow-up to its Clumsy album.

"We worked together to create this. We did really well with it. We decided we wouldn't force it to happen at the wrong time," said Core president Steve Herman. "So it will come out in the summer of 2000. We also know that other festivals, like [The Tragically Hip's] Another Roadside Attraction, have gone out biannually and have been quite successful."

HOTSTAR

ark eyes and heavily pierced eyebrows frame his tattooed body. A pentagram hangs around his neck. And he's a practicing witch in the Celtic tradition.

L-R: Robbie Merrill, Tony Rombolo, Sully Erna & Tommy Stewart Godsmack founder Sully Erna seems to be the perfect frontman for a heavy metal band. He has the look.

But Erna is more than a headbanging, crowd-surfing madman. He's full of positive energy, often speaking of karma as a personal belief, a business philosophy and the inspiration for his band's name.

Erna's belief that "what you put out comes back to you" is rooted in his Wiccan religion. "A true witch doesn't believe in a devil or any kind of evil, or ghosts and goblins," Erna said. "We believe that this is your test. We believe in reincarnation – that if you don't get it right or you're a shit head all of your life, you might have to come back and do it all over again.

"Basically, the dogma is that the religion represents the power of the earth. It represents nature, karmic beliefs, spirituality, natural healing products," things that help Erna stay balanced.

"I use [witchcraft] as a tool for the times that I'm not feeling so well, or if I'm stressed out or feeling a little bit out of control, not dealing with a situation well," he said. "[I] use that religion or meditations – whatever it is I've learned through witchcraft – to help me feel a little more centered. It mellows me out. It reminds me to be a nice person."

Erna said he and his bandmates – Tony Rombolo, Robbie Merrill and Tommy Stewart – value a positive attitude in themselves and in others, including business associates. In business, people who act with kindness and respect ultimately prevail over those who use a heavy hand and have a negative attitude, Erna said.

"This band is definitely blessed with an unbelievable management company. Everyone has the nice-guy approach. No one is like a bulldog," he said. "They don't muscle people around.

"I'm really happy about that because that's how we are as a band. We don't step on any toes. We don't try to do the rock-star thing and in return, we just want to work with the right people who are going to deliver this thing the same way as we do."

Godsmack's management team is headed by former Extreme band member Paul Geary, with Pure Entertainment's Arma Andon and Steve Fargnoli as backup. Paul Geary Entertainment co-manages many artists with Pure, including Cyndi Lauper and Sinead O'Connor, so Godsmack benefits from triple the experience.

"These guys have been around and they know what's going on," Erna said. "Even when we think they're going to be wrong, they're usually right. So it goes to show you where experience will get you."

Erna said when he first approached Geary, a longtime friend, the former Extreme drummer wasn't ready to represent the band. "The reality was we weren't quite ready for him – although we thought we were."

After a few years, the Boston band was "red hot" in the New England area, gigging regularly. Godsmack's indie release caught the attention of WAAF radio and with local airplay, the CD started selling nearly 1,000 copies a week.

It was time for Erna to approach Geary again. "We had done as much as we could possibly do. We had sold almost 20,000 records on our own and the buzz was huge in our area, but it was going to fizzle away unless we got some real help," he said.

Geary put together a business team and he helped the band land a record deal with Republic Records/Universal. "[Geary] is really the hidden hero," Erna said. "He's really responsible for taking this thing to a whole new level.... He's done the right thing for this band. Look at us so far. We went gold in seven months."

Erna said it all comes back to karma. "We get rewarded left and right for doing what we do and being as good as we can be to [other] people," he said. "I respect every individual that walks this earth and I respect the earth. I feel that even when life throws its little curveballs at you ... instead of retaliating, sometimes it's good to suck it up, do something good in return. You'll be surprised how you get rewarded.

"When you first start as a band, you're going through all this crap and you're playing these lousy gigs and people are stepping all over you. You can go in there with the wrong attitude and piss people off or you can go in there and deal with it because that's what you have to go through no matter who you are at the beginning. Then the next thing you know, we're getting offers like OzzFest, and the record sales are going up, and every radio station added us. Things like that are our reward."

Erna said it is the value of how you live your life each day that's important. "Ted Nugent said it the best: 'You're born at point A, you die at point B. You've got to kick ... ass in between.' Other than that, what's the sense in being here if you're going to be miserable and always stressed out? What way is that to live?"

Quoting Nugent can mean only one thing: Sully Erna is the singer in a wicked rock 'n' roll band despite all the good karma – or perhaps because of it. a

We had sold almost 20,000 records on our own and the buzz was huge in our area, but it was going to fizzle away unless we got some real help.

▶ The Grateful Dead, a longtime advocate of concert taping, has put its stamp of approval on MP3 file trading. Not only have the band's followers been trading concert tapes for years, but they were also responsible for the formation of one of the first online communities when fans started to congregate at The Well.

It's only natural that Deadheads get involved with MP3 trading, but there are some ground rules. The Dead's front office will not stand for MP3 profiteers, nor will it condone the trading of copyrighted recordings, such as the band's albums. The announcement came after the band had discovered a Web site that was trading concert MP3s and was clocking some dollars selling banner ads. After some legal sparring, the owner of the site removed the links to the songs.

► Sony Music has done a deal with Microsoft to sell digital downloads over the Net utilizing the MS Windows Media 4.0 software. The Japanese recording conglomerate hopes to have all its ducks in a row and start selling digital downloads this summer.

Using a 28.8 modem, which is already a symbol of life in the slow lane, a person using Windows Media 4.0 can download a three-minute song in less than five minutes. With Windows Media 4.0, the user won't be able to play that song until certain conditions are met — like paying for the song.

Sony is not withdrawing its participation from the Secure Digital Music Initiative (SDMI), the collaboration between the major record companies and hardware manufacturers which is working to set standards for digital downloads. The company said it will not start selling downloads until the standards are released next month.

According to The Wall Street Journal, Microsoft's Windows Media 4.0 software wasn't as secure as the record companies would have liked and it has promised alterations in the product to meet security needs.

► SFX Entertainment has made a sponsorship deal with MindSpring Enterprises, which makes the Internet access provider the official ISP for SFX venues in 10 major markets. MindSpring will enjoy backlighted signage at each venue plus program ads and a banner ad on an SFX Web site which has yet to launch. MindSpring will also be able to distribute promotional material and subscription software at those venues.

► USA Networks has canceled its plans to buy Lycos. CEO Barry Diller had planned on creating a company worth $22 billion by combining his television networks and Ticketmaster Online-Citysearch interests with the popular Net search engine portal. But ultimately, Diller couldn't win over the day traders who own a major chunk of the company, nor could he keep the support of Lycos' largest shareholder, CMG Information Services, which owns about 20 percent of the company.

The deal may have made great sense as a long-term play, but on Internet time — at least until the market crashes — most investors seem concerned with only short-term stock swings and not the ultimate path to real profits from a real business. Under the termination agreement, Lycos must pay USA Networks $35 million if it agrees to be acquired by someone else before July 15th.

Yahoo!, which acquired Broadcast.com last month in a stock deal worth almost $6 billion, has launched Yahoo! Radio. Through agreements with Broadcast.com and Spinner.com, the new service provides 10 stations of music programming every day of the week. Genres include classic rock, alternative, classical, country, electronica, jazz and oldies.

How popular is RealNetworks' RealJukebox? The company reports more than I million downloads during the first 10 days the product became available. RealJukebox is probably the most user-friendly package available for listening to and creating your own music files including MP3. According to RealNetworks, the product made the I million download mark faster than any other new software product in history.

► The latest MP3 music label on the Web could very well be referred to as a "people's label." Musicosm.Com will accept demos from artists the world over, post the songs on its Web site and let users vote each month on the best recordings. Musicosm.Com plans on signing the bands with the most votes for promotion and digital download sales. Ac

Congrats to New Orleans' Big Easy Award winners Boozoo Chavis for Lifetime Achievement, The Iguanas for Best Roots Rock Band, and Steve Riley & The Mamou Playboys for Best Cajun Band. A The Iguanas have just been added to six Dave Matthews Band dates in Indiana and Wisconsin. Thank you very much, DMB and Chip Hooper. The following artists are also on tour with new releases: Alejandro Escovedo, The Backsliders, Big Sandy & His Fly-Rite Boys, Chris Smither, Los Straitjackets, and Reggae Cowboys. Packaging ideas are welcome. The are settled in our new offices in Fairfax, Calif. Phone: 415-485-5100. Fax: 415-485-5105.

TABLE TOP PRODUCTIONS:GEORGE GOSLING

Late last year, we received a five-song CD from Heatwave, which is a tribute to Linda Ronstadt. The songs knocked our socks off and we signed the group instantly! Great musicianship and the bigger-than-life vocals of Ms. Robbie Cox! We have summer avails. The Boxtops with Alex Chilton have their first public West Coast shows in 30 years with their August 8th booking at the California Dry Bean Festival in Tracy. They are back on the coast again for a big K-Earth radio show at the Greek Theatre in L.A. We're looking for support dates there for the Boxtops and for Jay & The Techniques. Key West, the Jimmy Buffett Tribute Band, returns to the West at the end of July. We have July 31st open en route to Salem and also need a Southern Oregon or Northern California routing date! ----- Select August dates are available on The Sons Of Champlin. I keep shouting to people about this act. If it can sell out the Fillmore three times, what can it do for your venue?

Good Time Entertainment: Todd Miller

We are pleased to welcome to our roster Day By The River from Athens, Ga., and Michael Ray & The Cosmic Krewe from New Orleans. Congrats are due to both bands: to Day By the River for their release of the world's first MP3 project on a CD, Watermarks, which contains more than four hours of music on one disc, and to Michael and the Krewe for taking home the Big Easy Award for Best Funk Band at this year's New Orleans Jazz Festival. DBR is accepting Southwest and West Coast club and festival offers for early and midsummer, and the Krewe has East Coast avails going into the fall. We would also like to congratulate Blue Miracle on their recent signing with Severn Records, as well as Foxtrot Zulu on their third release, Frozen in Time, out this week on the Phoenix Rising label. Blue Miracle has mid-Atlantic club / festival avails through the summer. Foxtrot is available in the Midwest and Southwest through early July, and on the East Coast going into the fall. 🛥
