SFX Acquires Half Of Haymon

SEX ENTERTAINMENT IS AGAIN expanding its horizons, adding a new component to its empire and reorganizing parts of its business.

The mega-promoter has agreed to acquire 50 percent of A.H. Enterprises Inc., the country's top urban music promoter and a major force in national tour promotions.

Owner Al Haymon has been the leading promoter of urban music for nearly two decades. He has presented national tours with Whitney Houston, Janet Jackson, M.C. Hammer, Boyz II Men and many others. Haymon will join the SFX team.

SFX also recently completed a realignment of its businesses. Previously organized on-a geographical basis, the company is now split into four separate segments: music, theatrical, family entertainment and sports.

SFX's sports operation, which previously ran as independent companies, will unite. The company's Sports Group includes The Marquee Group, which houses ProServ, Sports Marketing & Artists, and other sports- and entertainment-related businesses. Also under the SFX Sports Group umbrella are F.A.M.E. and Integrated Sports International.

Television International, Athletes and

David Falk will continue as chairman of the sports operations, with executive VP/COO Curtis Polk and executive VP Bill Allard sharing overall responsibility for the group.

As part of the reorganization, SFX and Marquee

Group CEO Bob Gutkowski will part ways. Gutkowski plans to pursue other opportunities.

Replicating the model that made his intimate Big Apple venue popular among artists, band representatives and fans alike, Michael Dorf said he plans to have clubs open in each city during the first quarter of 2000.

"We will be bringing into town stuff that wouldn't otherwise probably play in Los Angeles," Dorf told POLLSTAR. "Then we'll be sort of filling out some of the gaps in the areas where there's already a healthy scene."

Dorf, who once managed the rock band Swamp Thing, founded the Knitting Factory in 1987 as a home to the city's jazz community. Soon after, the club and its artistfriendly operating methods became well known among bands and music industry professionals.

As an artist manager, "I sort of knew all the deals that I got screwed on, and used that as a way to decide what I did not want to do or become," he said. "I think that honesty has given us a relationship and a pretty good reputation in the industry as being a good place to perform."

Dorf is putting that belief into building not only the new venues, but also the Knitting Factory brand name, which includes a strong independent record label with an aggressive online presence.

"In that sense, we're much bigger in terms of the name than if we were just a brick-and-mortar type of operation," he said. Further plans call for eventually constructing clubs in San Francisco, Tokyo and London, as well.

The 300-something-capacity Los Angeles venue, which will also have a separate space of less than 100 capacity, will share a similar format to its New York sibling, with a strong dose of rock and jazz. "There's certainly a pretty healthy underground avant-garde scene that we want to support," he said of the region's jazz cats. "And we know that there's obviously a very strong pop-alternative rock circuit that needs to play in Los Angeles."

Veteran agent James Yelich has left CAA's Nashville office after three years. Yelich plans to take a sabbatical to spend time with his family in Montana, as well as to pursue other interests. He has worked in the country music industry for 15 years. Before joining CAA, he had his own agency, Chief Talent, where he represented Alan Jackson. Prior to that, he helped open the Nashville office of Triad Artists.

Bill Silva Presents has moved from its San Diego digs to be closer to its Universal Concerts parent. The company, formally titled Universal/Hewitt/ Silva, is now located at 8981 Sunset Boulevard, Suite 303, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. Phone is 310-246-5200 and fax is 310-246-5201. Universal Concerts remains at its headquarters in Universal City.

Edward Gaylord has retired after 25 years as head of Gaylord Entertainment Co. and has handed the chairman reins to his son E.K. Gaylord II. The elder Gaylord now serves as chairman emeritus of the company which owns the Grand Ole Opry radio show, the Opryland Hotel, a music publishing company, a gospel music label and other holdings. His son previously served as vice chairman and has been a director of the company since 1991. In addition, Joseph Crace has been promoted to the newly created position of executive VP and COO of Gaylord. He will continue to serve as the company's CFO as well.

The original lineup of Genesis – including Peter Gabriel and Phil Collins – is in a U.K. studio recording a new track for the group's upcoming "best of" compilation, according to the Los Angeles Times. Producer Trevor Horn would only say, "amazing," when asked about the group's efforts so far. There's no word yet on any tour plans.

Dorf isn't concerned about the competition in the Los Angeles market. "I don't think there's one venue currently in Los Angeles that would hear the Knitting Factory is coming in [and say], 'Oh, no. I'm nervous,' because we don't step on people's toes that way," he said. "We really are a very nice complement to the musical segments that are already existing there. I don't really think we're going to take away business from anybody."

The synergy created between the clubs and the growing Knitting Factory label, which acquired fellow indie Shimmy-Disc some 18 months ago, will facilitate the operations' success, he said.

"When we open in Los Angeles, we'll have an e-mail list of over 10,000 people who we know like the music that will be appearing over the first couple of months," he said. In terms of marketing, "We're going to be able to deliver a relationship with the customer that is a little bit beyond the typical club." The company's move into the European club market reflects the success of its original venue. "Part of what New York has given us access to is this tremendous and vivacious music community that has earned a living essentially in Europe and not necessarily in this country."

The Berlin venue will feature two stages and receive management support from the operators of the Stadtgarten in Cologne, Germany.

"It's hard enough doing one successfully and now doing three is going to certainly be a challenge," Dorf said.

A New Way To Hard Rock

THE ENORMOUS ATLANTA Motor Speedway will soon be overrun by alternative rock bands and their fans. On June 5th, the Hard Rock RockFest presented by Oldsmobile Alero will showcase 11 popular modern rock bands.

Scheduled to appear are The Offspring, Everlast, Third Eye Blind, Live, Sugar Ray, Collective Soul, Eve 6, Marvelous 3, silverchair, Better Than Ezra, and Mighty Mighty Bosstones. Attendance for the show is expected to exceed 150,000.

While one-off fests are commonplace, RockFest is offering a different take on the concept. All 11 bands will play nearly their full sets for a ticket price of $28.50. It's also worth noting that not all the artists are currently promoting a new release.

The all-day event is coproduced by the new Hard Rock Productions division of Hard Rock Cafe International and veteran special event producer Warner/TBA. This RockFest is the first of three such events the Hard Rock - Warner/ TBA partnership will produce.

"This is initially a three-year arrangement," said Chris

Tomasso, director of Hard Rock Productions. "Hopefully, it will become an annual event and it will grow each year."

Hard Rock Productions is the parent company's official move into the mainstream concert business. The Hard Rock name has long been associated with clublevel concerts but the new division marks a deeper involvement and RockFest is its biggest undertaking so far.

"This is a really important branding effort for Hard Rock Cafe. We really want to attract the next generation of music fans," Tomasso said. "We're taking a big step in producing this event. We're dealing with the agents and the bands directly."

He added that RockFest is his company's top marketing initiative for 1999 and Hard Rock Cafe is putting all its muscle behind it. "We are funding the event. We are showing these bands' videos in Hard Rock Cafes all over the world. We're giving [the artists] tremendous exposure in a variety of ways."

Corporate sponsors of RockFest, including title sponsor Oldsmobile Alero, Circuit City, Discover Card, Entertainment Weekly and Certs, have generated more exposure for the bands, created a variety of cross-promotions and made the low-dough ticket possible.

"Our radio partner in Atlanta, 99X, has been outstanding," Tomasso said. "We had a sponsor meeting at the speedway in Atlanta and I was absolutely blown away by how into it the sponsors were and how much they wanted to cross-promote in order to add value to the show."

The value-added experience is inherent to Hard Rock Productions' business philosophy. "I hope this is a new trend," said Tomasso. "We've really been concentrating on the details in order to give the fans more of what they want."

His division has more at stake than just the one huge event. It is also working on a subsequent concert series in conjunction with Warner/TBA.

"It's a long-term investment," said Warner/TBA chief Brian Murphy. "The real motivation is to find a better way to market music. What we've been able to do with RockFest is engage the right combination of commercial involvement with benefits back to the artists and the fans. Festivals are expensive to produce and expensive to the fans. It's essential that we reinvent the way these events are produced and presented to the public."

Murphy said the same principles will apply to the concert series that will hit the road later this summer. "We're going to go into six Hard Rock Cafe-specific markets at a minimum and do smaller shows. They will be promotionally driven shows to maintain the low ticket price."

The smaller concert festivals may be held in the Hard Rock Cafe parking lots. "We're not interested in competing with amphitheatres or arenas," Murphy said.

The production partnership has been careful to respect the local promoters in its promotion of RockFest as well. In the final weeks before this year's SFX-produced Music Midtown festival in Atlanta, RockFest went into what Murphy called a "quiet period" where it did no media advertising.

"The whole idea right now is to cultivate relationships. That means with the communities, the artists, their representatives, the fans – everyone," he said.

Fighting For Latino Stars

ATIN MUSIC IS BIG AND getting bigger as was dramatically proven last week when Ricky Martin's new album sold more than 600,000 units in its SoundScan chart debut. With the bigger numbers comes increasing pressure from media outlets to obtain exclusive appearances.

Spanish-language television network Telemundo is accusing rival network Univision of pressuring Enrique Iglesias and Shakira to cancel appearances on a talk show, the Los Angeles Times reported.

The host of the Telemundo program "El Show de Jaime Bayly" claims representatives of the two Latin pop stars canceled appearances out of fear that Univision would punish the artists, according to the paper.

Alleged threats made by Univision – which has nine times as many viewers as Telemundo – reportedly include canceling upcoming specials about Shakira and Iglesias.

Univision and Telemundo would not comment on the alleged dispute; however, reps of the two singers reportedly substantiated Telemundo's claims.

Iglesias' manager, Fernan Martinez, said Univision contacted him after discovering the singer would appear on Telemundo, prompting the cancellation. "There is nothing strange, nothing funny there," Martinez told the Times. "That means 40 points in SFX has lathered up a deal with Johnson & Johnson to sponsor the first ever kids music festival. "Nickelodeon's All That Music and More brought to you by Johnson's Kids Hair Care" will play about 35 SFX venues. The tour, which is adapted from Nickelodeon's hit television series "All That," will bring together the show's cast members with pop music stars like Monica and 98 Degrees, as well as a rotating lineup of groups including B[®]Witched and Tatyana Ali. As part of its promotional campaign, J&J will provide an "All That" magnet and key chain in the packaging of its retail products. The company will conduct product sampling during shows as well. Kids can also enter a sweepstakes to win prizes such as tickets and backstage passes.

Natalie Cole had to cancel her appearance at the St. Lucia Jazzfest because of damaged vocal cords. Erykah Badu replaced her at the open-air concert May15th on the Caribbean island nation. Cole was told by doctors to rest her voice for seven to 10 days after a series of performances in Las Vegas.

No Doubt has filed a trademark infringement lawsuit against apparel manufacturer No Fear, which produces a line of clothing bearing the band's name. The group's suit claims that having "No Doubt" printed on clothing manufactured by the company can cause confusion relating to the affiliation between the two entities, according to various reports. No Fear, however, reportedly owns the trademark to the No Doubt name, although the band has used the name on products since the mid-'80s. The suit seeks to halt the company's use of the No Doubt mark as well as sales of its current clothing line bearing the name.

Coolio has pleaded innocent to charges he carried a concealed handgun in his car. The rapper, whose real name is Artis Leon Ivey Jr., entered the plea May 19th before a Torrance, Calif., Superior Court judge, who set a July 7th pretrial hearing. Coolio pleaded innocent to the charge in February, changed the plea to no contest in March, then withdrew it in April. No explanations were given. He was driving his Humvee in a suburban area last September when a sheriff's deputy stopped him for allegedly driving on the wrong side of the road. He told the deputy he had a gun in a door pouch, prosecutors said, and the deputy seized a 9 mm semiautomatic pistol.

Elvis Crespo was the big winner at the Premio Lo Nuestro Awards in Miami with five trophies May 6th. In the tropical category, Crespo took album of the year for Suavemente, male artist of the year, group or duet of the year with Milly, new artist of the year, and song of the year for "Suavemente." Behind Crespo was ranchero star Pepe Aguilar, who won three awards in the regional Mexican genre, including album of the year, male artist of the year and song of the year. In pop, singer Shakira shared honors with the band Maná. Mexican regional female artist of the year went to Ana Gabriel, while Olga Tanon won in the tropical category. Heartthrob Ricky Martin won pop male artist and pop song of the year.

Folk-singing legend Pete Seeger was recently honored at an annual event in Croton-On-Hudson, N.Y. This year's observance of shad run (when the oily little fish detours from the ocean to spawn in the Hudson) also celebrated Seeger's 80th birthday, which was May 3rd. He has long been associated with Clearwater, the clean-river organization. The white-bearded Seeger played for a crowd at Riverlovers Shadfest that sang and swayed to tunes like "If I Had A Hammer."

As the conflict in Yugoslavia continues to rage without an end in sight, the United Service Organizations launched a concert series to deliver a "touch of home" to troops stationed near the Balkans conflict. Operation Allied Entertainment commenced earlier this month with a comedy tour hitting bases in Spain, Greece and Italy. Country crooners Paul Brandt and Claudia Church were scheduled to wrap up a weeklong outing in the region May 23rd. The USO-produced effort has scheduled a June 6th Reba McEntire concert at Aviano Air Base in Italy. Upcoming tours also include Joan Jett, Larry Gatlin, and Blues Traveler members John Popper and Chan Kinchla. The Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders will also tour military bases between July 1-10.

According to Shakira's manager for Latin America, Patricia Tellez, an exec for Estefan Enterprises told her "if she did this show, Univision wouldn't do a series of programs [featuring Shakira] that were scheduled for this year," the paper said.

A spokesperson for Estefan Enterprises, which handles Shakira's appearances outside of Latin America and produces her music, reportedly denied the claim and blamed the cancellation on scheduling conflicts.

Cardinals Don't Rule

THE NFL'S ARIZONA Cardinals still have no place to call home after Mesa voters rejected a $1.8 billion convention center and sports complex.

A 30 percent voter turnout, twice as big as expected, provided for a one-sided blowout May 18th. The vote was 60 percent to 40 percent against a sales tax increase to help pay for the Rio Salado Crossing project; nearly the same percentage quashed the project itself.

Voters in Mesa were asked to authorize a quarter-cent sales tax and extend an existing quartercent sales tax beyond its 2006 expiration date to help pay the public's $507 million share of the project, which would have included a 67.000-seat stadium that could expand to 78,000 for big events like the Super Bowl. Rio Salado's rejection created immediate speculation that the Cardinals might move the franchise. The team has played in Arizona State University's Sun Devil Stadium for the 11 seasons since it moved from St. Louis. The Cardinals are the only franchise in the four major professional sports that plays on a college campus.

However, team VP and general counsel Michael Bidwill refused to suggest the team would consider moving to another city.

Plus, Arizona House Speaker Jeff Groscost suggested that Rio Salado is not dead, that it could be revised and brought back to voters. He said a new proposal would likely feature little or no local sales taxes and emphasize user fees and money recaptured from a state sales tax. He also said more communities would have to be involved.

Any new vote would have to come by the end of October because the state law that would authorize it would expire then.

Taxpayers Against Rio Salado spokesperson Manny Cortez said any move by Groscost to revive the project "would be political suicide."

"It's not just the Cardinals' stadium, it's the fact people are getting tired of taxes," he said. "I've always said we're being nickeled and dimed to death. It's time to say enough is enough."

Meanwhile, voters in suburban Scottsdale approved forming a stadium district which could lead to a new 20,000-seat arena for the NHL's Phoenix Covotes. The Covotes say they can't make money at America West Arena in downtown Phoenix, where they have limited revenue capability and more than 4,000 seats have an obstructed view of the ice. A second vote on a financing package for that effort is planned this fall. If the Coyotes are successful, their new home would become the fourth arena in the Phoenix market.

Both projects are the result of an Arizona law that lasted two years before it was recently repealed by the legislature. Under that law, if two or more cities form a stadium district for a project, half of the sales taxes generated by that project would be funneled back to it.

Fan Fair Ticket Sales Slow

ORGANIZERS FOR THIS year's annual International Country Music Fan Fair have an unusual problem on their hands — unsold tickets.

While $90 tickets to the weeklong event once sold out by February, the Nashville music fest may not sell out at all this year.

But it's not for lack of top-notch talent. Brooks & Dunn, George Jones, Alan Jackson, Randy Travis, John Michael Montgomery, Faith Hill, Wynonna, and Deana Carter are expected to join the hundreds of country acts signing autographs and performing at the Tennessee State Fairgrounds beginning June 14th.

SAXOPHONIST David Sanborn, accompanied by bassist Hiram Bullock, gets a groove going on the second day of the St. Lucia Jazz Festival. The event took place on the Caribbean island May 14-16.

Many blame the slump on the closing of the Opryland USA theme park. The ticket price used to include admission to the park before it closed in January 1998.

The dip in popularity of country music at radio was also cited by industry observes as a factor for declining ticket sales. Ratings are down, according to M-Street Journal Publisher Robert Unmacht. "In 1994, 12.7 percent of radio listeners were tuned into country music stations. By 1998, it was 9.8 percent."

Unmacht thinks rock star level success may be catching up with the country music industry.

"They are getting more remote," he said of some stars. "Garth Brooks and Reba McEntire only play big venues since they got so big. Country stars used to play local venues and a fan had a pretty good chance of meeting them. That's not the case now. And the younger stars come and go so fast that fans don't have time to bond with them."

On the bright side, Opry Mills, a $230 million entertainment complex of shops, bars and restaurants, is set to replace Opryland USA in spring 2000. Also, ground will be broken next month on a new, larger building for the Country Music Hall of Fame. So things may look up for Fan Fair in the future.

In the meantime, reports have suggested that Fan Fair 2000 will move from the fairgrounds to the Nashville Arena. However, CMA Executive Director Ed Benson told POLLSTAR that changes to next year's event have not yet been determined.

He said Fan Fair is currently undergoing a strategic study by the CMA, as is the case every three or four years. The CMA will evaluate the event considering the current climate in the Nashville tourism market and in country music before a final decision is made.

Court Props Up

CINCINNATI APPEALS court has upheld a lower court ruling that Joe Diffie's hit country tune "Prop Me Up Beside The Jukebox If I Die" is indeed original.

The court ruled that while Diffie's chorus is similar to that of songwriter Everett A. Ellis' ballad "Lay Me Out By The Jukebox When I Die," the songs were written independently.

Ellis sued Diffie, his publisher, record company, three songwriters and several others, claiming his chorus was stolen.

Diffie's song reached No. 3 on the country chart in 1993.

According to court records, the Ellis song was a revised version of "Aunt Belle," about an aunt who wanted to be laid out when she died by the jukebox in her tavern. Diffie's song was a revised version of "Double Two-Steppin" Honkeytonk," which included a line about being propped up against a jukebox after death.

The district court found that Ellis could not provide adequate proof that the writers of the Diffie song had access to his, and found that evidence suggesting that the two songs were written independently outweighed the evidence of plagiarism.

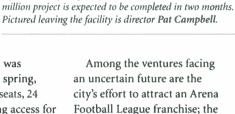

Punishing Arena Construction

N INDIANA JUDGE'S RULING halted an estimated $30 million expansion plan for Fort Wayne's Memorial Coliseum and jeopardized major events and projects slated for the site.

DeKalb Circuit Judge Paul R. Cherry found the Allen County Council in contempt of court May 12th for breaking an agreement not to pay for the coliseum expansion with food and beverage tax revenues, and violating its own 1986 ordinance. In August, the council voted to pay for the expansion with the previously earmarked revenues.

While Cherry's decision doesn't bar officials from using the money to pay for construction, it places them in the position of disobeying a court order if they do so. He reserved the right to punish the officials later.

Construction, which was scheduled to begin this spring, included adding 2,500 seats, 24 skyboxes and improving access for the disabled.

scheduled to hold its women's basketball tournament there from 2000 to 2002; and the Fort Wayne Komets, which may be forced out of the International Hockey League if additional seats aren't added to increase team profits.

"This probably is the final nail in the coffin," said Michael Franke, president of the Komets.

Added coliseum GM Randy Brown, "In many ways, just about everything arena-related is affected by the decision."

The 1986 ordinance established the one percent food and beverage tax to pay off a previous coliseum expansion. The tax was set up to expire two years after the debt had been retired.

The broken agreement refers to the settlement of a 1992 lawsuit filed against the county by a group of restaurateurs. The owners sued to keep the money from funding further expansion. The settlement said the county could not amend or change the 1986 ordinance.

County officials said that because the Indiana General Assembly passed a law in 1998 allowing Allen County to use the tax revenue for the expansion, the county is not violating the settlement, reported the Fort Wayne Journal Gazette. The council and the county commissioners remain undecided about whether to appeal the ruling.

Entertainment Violence Debate Rages

ASHINGTON CONTINUED to put pressure on the entertainment industry this month with the U.S. Senate ordering a probe into violence in media and the president calling on Hollywood to curb violent images.

"By the age of 18, the typical American will see 40,000 dramatized murders," President Clinton said in his weekly radio address. "There are still too many vulnerable children who are steeped in this culture of violence, becoming increasingly desensitized to it and to its consequences..."

The government's increasing efforts to address the alleged violent influence of music, movies and video games on American children follow last month's Columbine High School massacre and a handful of "copycat" incidents, including last week's shooting at a Georgia high school where six students were injured.

The president issued his radio address during a recent Democratic fund-raising trip through the West Coast, which included an event organized by DreamWorks partners Steven Spielberg, Jeffery Katzenberg and David Geffen. The fund-raiser generated more than $2 million for Democratic congressional candidates in 2000.

In his address, Clinton issued three challenges to Hollywood. He called for banning guns in movie ads or previews, enforcing ratings systems at video stores and theatres, and re-evaluating the ratings system, especially the PG rating.

"Our administration is fighting to do all we can to protect children," Clinton said. "The entertainment industry should do everything it can, too."

The Senate took greater action, voting unanimously for an investigation of the impact on children of violence in entertainment, the Los Angeles Times reported.

The Senate's efforts, headed by Kansas Republican Sam Brownback, reportedly called for a study to determine whether the entertainment industry markets violence to children, as well as researching the effects of violent images and themes on children's behavior.

On a state level, a Michigan Senate committee recently passed the latest version of a bill aimed at labeling concerts with a parental advisory warning.

The bill calls for voluntary action from venue operators and promoters to label concerts by artists whose most recent recordings bear the parental advisory brand with an explicit content warning.

Music venues that choose to comply with the bill would be placed on a list which would be made available to the public.

Denver Clears DMX

DMX last week of all possible criminal charges in connection with a late-April stabbing. A White Plains, N.Y., judge ordered the rapper to surrender to Denver authorities when the stabbing case came to light during a court hearing on unrelated charges that he beat a motorist in Yonkers.

Judge Daniel Angiolillo also ordered the defendant held on $105,000 bail – $5,000 for the charge in Yonkers and $100,000 for the fugitive-from-justice warrant pending in Colorado. DMX, aka Earl Simmons, went to Denver voluntarily to be interviewed.

Witnesses in Denver said the rapper was among gang members who attacked and stabbed a man at the Skyline Cafe April 28th. The fight reportedly happened after a benefit show in which DMX and other performers on the Hard Knock Life tour raised more than $100,000 for victims of the Columbine High School massacre.

Defense lawyer Ian Niles maintained that neither Simmons nor anyone in his camp had been told about the warrant, which was issued May 3rd. He also said the stabbing victim was not claiming that Simmons himself had committed the crime.

After interviewing Simmons and several witnesses to the incident, police reportedly decided they could not build a case against the rapper beyond a reasonable doubt.

As for the Yonkers incident, Niles said his client was justified.

Simmons was arrested for assault and harassment May 13th for allegediy punching Norman Brown as Brown sat at the wheel of his car in Yonkers. Words had been exchanged between the two beforehand, prosecutor Michael D'Addario said.

According to the complaint, Simmons chased Brown into a building and continued to punch him, inflicting cuts and bruises that were treated at Yonkers General Hospital.

In court, Niles said Simmons' wife had been attacked by Brown.

THE LEAGER of the Parrotheads shows his serious side to reporters in Tallahassee, Fla., May 19th. Jimmy Buffett met with Florida Gov. Jeb Bush that day to personally express his concern over escalating manatee deaths, many of which are caused by boats hitting the gentle creatures. He said laws to protect manatees are not being enforced. Buffett also informed the governor that a coalition of more than 20 environmental groups is threatening to sue federal and state agencies.

The rapper is reportedly due to answer to misdemeanor charges in that case June 22nd.

Simmons last appeared in a New York court in August, when rape and sodomy charges filed against him by a stripper were dismissed on the basis of DNA evidence.

Sun Rises On Desert Inn

SUN INTERNATIONAL HOTELS Limited, which operates casinos in Atlantic City, the Bahamas and Connecticut, reached an agreement with Starwood Hotels & Resorts to buy the Desert Inn property for $275 million.

The May 18th announcement came one month after Starwood sold its Caesars World properties to Park Place Entertainment Corp. for $3 billion. That deal will reportedly close by year's end.

The newly announced all-cash purchase, expected to close by the second quarter in 2000, marks Sun's initial foray into the Las Vegas gaming industry; the unloading of the 715-room hotel and casino, reportedly on the market for more than a year, terminates Starwood's involvement in the gambling industry.

Starwood, owner of the Westin and Sheraton hotel brands, acquired the Desert Inn as part of its $10.2 billion acquisition of ITT Corp. last year.

The transaction is subject to various conditions, including licenses and Nevada regulatory approval. Sun reportedly does not have a casino license in Las Vegas. The asking price for the property was once as high as $400 million, reported The Wall Street Journal. Other sources reported that singer Michael Jackson and a business associate explored the possibility of purchasing the hotel in 1998.

The famed 25-acre hotel, casino, spa and country club includes a 140-acre championship golf course and another 32 acres of undeveloped land adjacent to the hotel and casino.

Longtime patrons remember the "D.I." as the place where Frank Sinatra debuted live in Las Vegas in the 1950s and where billionaire Howard Hughes once lived in the penthouse suite.

The Scalping Judge

Texas JUDGE was recently reprimanded as a result of his arrest for ticket scalping at a football game between Texas A&M and the University of Texas.

Judge Steve Mansfield, one of nine judges on the state criminal appeals court, was arrested November 27th after a plainclothes UT police officer warned him to stop peddling his complimentary tickets on the school's property. Mansfield allegedly ignored the warning, and minutes later, another officer witnessed him "give one or more tickets to another individual and receive money in return for the tickets," reported the State Commission on Judicial Conduct.

The Houston Chronicle reported that Mansfield was asking for more than $100 per ticket. He had received the tickets, valued at $38 each, free of cost from UT. The school traditionally gives the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals judges reserved seat tickets.

Police arrested Mansfield and charged him with trespassing, a misdemeanor punishable by up to 180 days in jail and a $2,000 fine. He has not been tried for that offense.

The commission ruled that the judge committed criminal trespass and ticket scalping. When asked if he wanted to present his version of the incident, Mansfield declined.

Rather than remove Mansfield from his post, the commission opted to reprimand him.

Obituaries

Former Music City booking agent Dan Wojcik, 44, died from cancer-related complications in Nashville May 17th. During the '70s and '80s, Wojcik worked at the Shorty Lavender Agency and his own Entertainment Artists agency, representing well-known artists including Hank Williams Jr., Sawyer Brown, and Bachman Turner Overdrive. He left the agency business in 1996, and most recently, served as a Nashville-based consultant.

The death of superstar producer Bruce Fairbairn, 49, shocked the music industry last week. His body was found in his Vancouver, B.C., home May 17th by studio manager Sheryl Preston and Yes singer Jon Anderson. He apparently died in his sleep; the cause of death was unknown at press time. In a career that spanned 25 years, Fairbairn worked with scores of major acts including Aerosmith, AC/DC, Van Halen, KISS, The Cranberries, Loverboy, Bon Jovi, Scorpions, INXS, and Chicago. He was working on a record with Yes at the time of his death and had just finished a swing album by The Atomic Fireballs.

Guitarist, songwriter, producer and performer William Tucker, 38, died in his Chicago home May 14th, an apparent suicide. Tucker was known as an accomplished remixer, film scorer and his work appeared on several soundtracks. Some of the artists he recorded, toured or produced include Ministry, Chris Connelly, My Life With The Thrill Kill Kult, KMFDM, and Chemlab. The last major project he worked on was the Chainsuck album, Kindly Stop For Me, which was released last summer.

Jazz singer Leon Thomas, 61, died of heart failure resulting from leukemia in a New York hospital May 8th. Famous for his wordless yodeling style, the Illinois native developed the "soularphone" singing technique and "kosmigroov" type of soul-jazz used in recordings like "The Creator Has A Master Plan." During his career, Thomas performed with Count Basie, Mary Lou Williams and Pharoah Sanders; recorded albums for the Flying Dutchman label; spent two years with Santana; and most recently, sang at the Lenox Lounge in Harlem. for votes between the 44-year-old Harvard-educated incumbent and the 50-year-old college dropout who supports the National Rifle Association and the ballistic missile defense system.

"He is a strong supporter of the NRA. I could see why the NRA would want to field a candidate against me, given my background on gun-rights issues," said Sherman, a CPA and tax attorney. "There is a reason Jim and Sarah Brady have supported me."

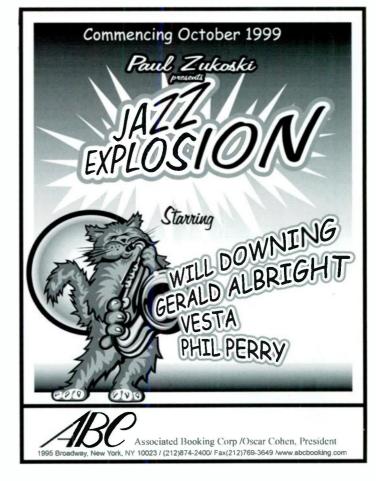

"He's still deciding whether to run, but from my perspective, it looks like a great opportunity for him," said Baxter's consultant, Dale Neugebauer. "He has natural appeal. The rock star image plays to the younger voters, and he was in a band that is very familiar to baby boomers."

According to Neugebauer, Baxter would run as a moderate Republican supporting abortion rights and using his Spanishspeaking skills to win Hispanics' votes.

The guitarist, who also played with Steely Dan, is no stranger to politics; he earned a reputation in Washington as a staunch advocate of ballistic missile defense after heading a civilian advisory board, reported the Los Angeles Times.

The Times also said that his advisory work for Rep. Curt Weldon (R-Pa.) on the topic resulted in trouble for both men when Baxter admitted that his resume falsely stated that he served in a similar capacity for NASA and the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory.

Seagram's high share price, which has increased nearly 50 percent this year. The company's debt is reportedly around $8.5 billion, mostly the result of its $10.4 billion acquisition of PolyGram.

Rumors that Seagram was in active discussions to sell all or parts of its Universal Concerts division appear to be much more than smoke. The most likely suitor, SFX, already has a part ownership in the Starplex Amphitheatre in Dallas and the Lakewood Amphitheatre in Atlanta. The latter facility is the subject of litigation between the parties.

As Seagram moved to reduce its debt, a trust benefitting company co-chairman Charles R. Bronfman and others announced it will sell as much as $500 million for "financial and estate planning purposes," the statement said.

Although it has been reported that Bronfman was skeptical of nephew Edgar Bronfman Jr.'s move into the entertainment industry, the action is apparently unrelated. "I remain very supportive of the company's leadership, its strategic direction and performance," Charles Bronfman stated.

The Journal reported that the actions of Bronfman's trust, which also benefits his family and charitable Canadian foundations, will decrease his holdings from 13.1 percent to 10.95 percent.

United Kingdom: FOLLOWING the historic elections in Scotland earlier this month, Regular Music announced its official celebration plans for the opening of the first Scottish Parliament on July 1.

Mark Mackie at Regular explained that Edinburgh's main street will be closed to traffic and the festivities will focus on two concerts in Princes Street Gardens in the centre of Edinburgh. One gig will feature Garbage as the headliner – chosen because Shirley Manson hails from Edinburgh – and the other will be an opera, with a diverse programme of street theatre linking the two events.

• RUFUS WAINWRIGHT ENDED HIS European tour in London on May 18 with a sellout show at the Embassy Rooms. The singer's European fan base has been building steadily, and this latest two-week tour was built around six key dates in France.

Promoter Alias was keen to follow up Wainwright's performance at the Inrockuptibles festival last autumn, said agent Dave Chumbley at Primary Talent. Wainwright also played one-off dates in Belgium, Switzerland, Italy and Ireland.

• MTV HELD ITS SECOND "FIVE Night Stand" at the Shepherd's Bush Empire from May 9-14. The series of sellout gigs was so successful that it became a six-night stand when Catatonia stepped into the empty Monday-night slot.

Other artists appearing were Suede (whose performance coincided with its new album crashing into the No. 1 slot), Supergrass, Reef, Ocean Colour Scene, and Faithless.

The £13 tickets were a great value for the audience who, in addition to seeing some of the top acts of the moment in the Empire's intimate surroundings, also got strong support packages with Ultrasound, Gene and others on the bill. The success of the shows, which have also been shown on TV, has clearly established the event as a strong live-music brand. Show promoter Dave MacLean at Riverman said there are plans to continue the format as an annual event.

Last year's event featured The Smashing Pumpkins, Gomez, and Placebo. "Seeing this level of bands at a venue like the Empire makes it special," explained MacLean. "It's good for the bands, too, as they get lots of promotion and advertising, which is great for an album campaign. And with a capacity of around 1,700, the shows don't have an impact on any of the big summer gigs or festivals."

• MAJOR TOUR CANCELLATIONS always have a domino effect, and the unfortunate illness of Celine Dion's husband forced the singer to interrupt her tour and that forced some awkward changes in terms of production logistics.

Being a 25-truck tour, it was not an easy task for Edwin Shirley Trucking (EST) to reorganise that number of vehicles on relatively short notice. The tour was to start in Dublin, and the first upheaval involved cancelling 50 Irish ferry bookings.

"This was not a small tour," said Del Roll of EST. "However, it's not all bad news ... [because of the] rescheduled dates around mid-June and again in early July."

It could have left a disastrously large hole in EST's summer schedule during a season with few major artists touring, but Roll said the situation isn't as bad as it originally looked.

"A few one-offs came in out of nowhere," reported Roll. "Michael Jackson is doing a big show in Munich, a benefit for the Red Cross. The Moody Blues are doing a show in Spain, and Kenny Rogers is taking a three-truck production around the U.K. and Europe for a month and a half."

Other summer-festival tours for EST include Eagle-Eye Cherry, Prodigy (in Eastern Europe), Bryan Adams, and Orbital. R.E.M. has a six-truck production from mid-June to the end of July, and Jethro Tull is out for a month.

"Shuffling the truck schedules around is what's tricky," said Roll, "but when you've been doing it as long as we have, it's second nature."

Italy: AN ITALIAN JUDGE RULED that Michael Jackson, in composing his song "Will You Be There," plagiarised Italian songwriter Al Bano. The judge suspended a $2,200 fine against Jackson but ordered him to pay court costs, which are likely to be considerable since the case took years to progress through the slow-moving Italian judicial system.

The criminal trial began in 1995, two years after Bano claimed that Jackson stole part of his song, "I Cigni Di Balaka" ("The Swans Of Balaka"), produced in 1987. Jackson's Dangerous album, which includes "Will You Be There," dates back to 1991.

Jackson's lawyer, Alberto Seganti, said, "There is no proof of plagiarism." However, at a Rome hearing two years ago, Jackson told the court there was some similarity between the two songs, calling it "completely coincidental."

The court heard an analysis by an expert, who found that 37 notes were the same in each song. The case is further complicated by the fact that in a separate civil suit last year, the Italian singer lost a copyright infringement case against Jackson and was ordered to pay expenses.

Jackson was cleared of other plagiarism allegations in the United States involving his Dangerous and Thriller albums.

• THE NATO CONFLICT IN THE Balkans has gone on long enough to require a bit of morale-boosting entertainment. U.S. military personnel based in Italy will get to see Reba McEntire and the Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders at a free concert June 6 at Aviano Air Base, home to a large percentage of the U.S. Air Force planes involved in the Yugoslav air campaign.

The cheerleaders are scheduled to put on several shows July 1-10 at U.S. installations throughout the Balkan region. Other performers taking part in Operation Allied Entertainment, organised by the United Service Organizations (USO), include rocker Joan Jett and country-bluegrass star Larry Gatlin. France: R&B ARTIST BRANDY starts a European tour May 24 with a date at the Zenith in Paris. She'll continue on to Germany to play the Philipshalle in Dusseldorf and the Arena in Berlin. The German market was slow on ticket sales, but other territories were selling well.

On May 29, Brandy will play the Royal Albert Hall in London, with her final show at the Ahoy in Rotterdam.

The tour was booked direct by The Concert Organization in the U.S., which worked with local partners IZB Productions in France; The Concert Organization's German subsidiary, C&F Konzerte, as well as GmbH (Da Joint) in Germany; Kennedy Street in the U.K.; and Mojo Concerts in the Netherlands.

The Concert Organization has brought R&B and rap music to Europe for the past five years, including artists such as Blackstreet, Puff Daddy, Mary J. Blige, Dru Hill, Public Enemy, Faith Evans, 98 Degrees, Keith Sweat, and Usher.

Germany: MODERNE WELT celebrated a historic landmark in pop-promoter diversification when the Chippendale Review finished its ninth German tour in four and a half years. It was another near-sellout tour for those beefy boys, and for this outing, promoter Henning Toegel secured a pay-per-view TV deal. The Chips will return to Germany in autumn for a second time this year as part of an 18-date tour.

Further spring-tour successes for Moderne Welt include 17 shows with the John Lees interpretation of Barclay James Harvest and seven further festival appearances this summer. A long-running German package is Eric Burdon & The New Animals and Canned Heat, which played 19 dates to about 2,500 people a night.

Upcoming tours include 11 shows with The Beach Boys and dates with Deep Purple, Alannah Myles, Ten Years After, Luciano Pavarotti, and Manfred Mann's Earthband.

Denmark: WHEN MOTOR DK TOOK on Peter Sorensen, he was charged with developing the world music market. The first season of shows under the new WorldMusicLive banner is over, and Sorensen reported that it went down very well. The shows were nearly all sold out and included performances by Cesaria Evora, Natacha Atlas, Njava, Eliades Ochoa & Cuarteto Patria, and Yulduz Usmanova, who played to nearly 10,000 people in an open-air May Day concert.

Sorensen said media support was great, with all the concerts co-promoted by national radio and local world music magazine Djembe. The next series of concerts will feature Transglobal Underground, Ladysmith Black Mambazo, Orquesta Aragon, and Musafir.

Scandinavia: EMA TELSTAR WILL promote a new music and sports event this summer. Probably 99 is sponsored by Carlsberg and will feature that ever-popular combination of street sports and rock music, with the Red Hot Chili Peppers (whose album will launch this summer), silverchair, and Orgy sharing the stage with skateboarders, bladers and BMX riders.

The gigs will take place outdoors in Stockholm, Sweden, on August 22 and will keep the same format indoors in Denmark, aiming at an audience capacity of 12,000 per show. As promoter Thomas Johansson explained, "These types of shows give more to the younger audiences."

EMA has a very busy summer with shows aimed at all levels of concert-goers throughout Scandinavia. The shows include Metallica, Alanis Morissette, Black Sabbath, and Bruce Springsteen to name a few. Sweden is one of the few lucky territories to get a couple of dates with Tom Waits, who comes to Europe for a brief promo tour in July.

 MICHAEL JACKSON ANNOUNCED he will head a star-studded lineup for a charity concert in Seoul, Korea, to raise funds for needy children all over the world. The four-hour Benefit Concert For Needy Children: Michael Jackson & Friends, "What More Can I Give?" is scheduled to be held at the Olympic Stadium on June 25.

"I've wanted to help these suffering children for a very, very long time. These innocent children are in such pain because of the greed and political disagreements of us adults," said Jackson in a recently released statement.

A host of international stars will reportedly join Jackson, including Gloria Estefan, Kenny G, Boyz II Men, Lionel Richie, Diana Ross, Luther Vandross, Stevie Wonder, Vanessa Mae, Roxette, Modern Talking, Alla Pugatchova and Philip Kirkorow, Scorpions, and Asian singers Andy Lau and CoCo Lee.

Featured Korean artists have yet to be named. However, Jackson's close friend Elizabeth Taylor, as well as Slash are expected to make appearances.

The benefit, touted as "the biggest charity concert for the needy children of the world," with tickets prices of $250, $185, $100 and $66, is being organised by Cheil Communications Inc. Proceeds will go to UNESCO, Red Cross International and the Nelson Mandela Children's Fund.

Jackson will also do a similar concert in Munich, Germany, on June 27.

 LATIN HEARTTHROB RICKY Martin was named breakthrough artist of the year at the inaugural 1999 CCTV-MTV Music Honors in Beijing on May 7. The music honors marked the first collaboration between MTV and premier mainland television station CCTV. Also honored were Michael Learns To Rock , which was named best band in Asia, and Celine Dion for best song of the year ("My Heart Will Go On"). "Rush Hour" action star Jackie Chan was honored as Asia's biggest superstar.

Other honorees included Hong Kong singers Faye Wong, Jacky Cheung, and William So, as well as Taiwanese stars Emil Chau Wah-kin and CoCo Lee.

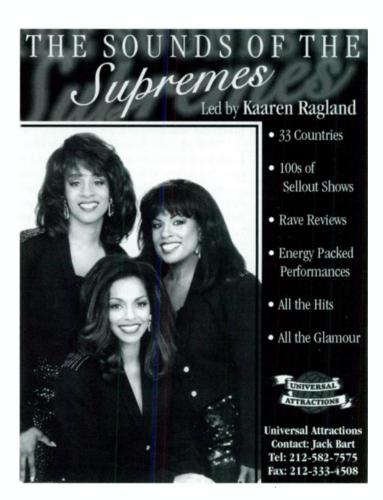

The award ceremony was scheduled for broadcast to more than 300 million households in China and Asia, but NATO's bombing of the Chinese Embassy in Yugoslavia resulted in CCTV pulling the program off the air until further notice. It was reported that CCTV asked MTV to also delay screenings in Southeast Asia.

 More than one show was cancelled due to Chinese unrest following the NATO bombing, including Heineken Beat '99, originally set for May 14-16 in Beijing's Ritan Park.

Among the artists expected for the event were The Robert Cray Band, Zap Mama, The Dirty Dozen Brass Band, and Jocelyn Brown. Concert organizers hope to reschedule.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra reportedly cancelled two shows in Beijing amid fears of instability in China after protestors demonstrated outside the U.S. and British embassies. The orchestra was slated to perform at the Great Hall of the People on May 13 and 14, after completing four performances in Japan. Premier Zhu Rongji and President Jiang Zemin had been expected to attend. 🕊 usic City wanted to make a star of Kelly Willis but she didn't want to be a Music City kind of star. It's true, she tried for a while. She released three albums on MCA Nashville in the early '90s that – on the surface, anyway – should have at least earned her a foothold on the country charts.

She certainly had the voice and the look of a surefire country singing sensation.

But that wasn't enough for Willis or her record label. "I'm grateful that I got a shot like I did," she said. "But it became obvious over the years that something just wasn't clicking [with the label]. We weren't out to achieve the same things. I felt like I was achieving nothing. It felt really empty to me – like I was letting myself down."

Trouble was, Willis was at the vanguard of what would become the Insurgent Country movement. She just couldn't conform to Nashville's expectations. The way she saw it, she was a singer fronting a band and the harder she was pushed to become something else, the more ambivalent she became.

"I was 20 years old and I didn't know what I wanted. It was my second band and we were a band. I was used to contributing one-fifth to the creative ideas and direction."

By the time Willis made her second record, MCA decided the band had to go and she found herself even further adrift. "It was like getting thrown into the fire. I didn't even know how to communicate what I thought I should do. I wanted to take a lot more time to figure that out."

The music business is not known for its patience so it was no surprise that MCA dropped her in 1994. She was picked up by A&M Records two years later but her supportive A&R rep was let go – and consequently, so was Willis – before she could release another full-length LP.

There was no way the tenacious singer was going to quit music but she did quit Nashville.

Willis returned to her roots, playing clubs in and around Austin. She had never really left that fertile scene and being back in the center of it reinforced her reasons for not compromising her artistic vision.

"In Austin, so much respect is paid to people trying to do music with integrity – to people trying to do something that is ambitious in an artistic way," she said. "That has been a goal of mine. That has been the only goal I've needed. I didn't need to make a lot of money or be really famous or anything like that. That's all so empty. And where I live, it's not very valued."

Playing at The Cactus Cafe, Stubb's Bar-B-Q, The Mucky Duck and the like kept Willis in front of audiences. More importantly, the audiences were interested in her as a musician, not as a commodity. It also provided her a nurturing, familiar environment, which was a treasured thing for a singer who, by her own account, is not a real comfortable performer.

"I've always been a club musician. That's my world, playing live. I feel very fortunate that I never had to get a day job. I just played clubs and even though there weren't that many people hearing or seeing me, it kept me around."

There were times when Willis wished she could have taken a break. She said it would have been nice to take a step back and find a fresh approach to the music. "I would have enjoyed not having to work as hard as I did, but in retrospect, I really am proud of myself for how I dealt with the situation. It was rough but I think I handled it well."

It was a learn-as-you-go process. With no record company support and no other substantial revenue streams, Willis became her own road manager and crew. "I learned how everything works, inside and out. I've done everyone else's job and I value their skills more now than I used to. I appreciate the fact that the road manager has to answer a question every two seconds. I appreciate that everyone's job is hard and I think that's helped me prepare for the road ahead," she said.

Six years passed between Willis' third and fourth albums but she never stopped playing. By the time she signed with Rykodisc in 1998, she was much more sure of RECORD COMPANY Rykodisc 978.825.3200 herself and of the record she wanted to make. The release of What I Deserve has brought her new acclaim, respect and healthy record sales. It's a strange and wonderful experience for an artist who worked so hard to make music on her own terms.

"My booking agent, Davis McLarty, he and I laugh about it because I have a whole team of people now. Davis has done so many different jobs for me; he helped out a lot. We remember when it used to be so lonely. Things are really busy and good right now but I don't care if next month it's just me and Davis again."

Right now, Willis is adjusting to the attention, her tour schedule and having her name mentioned alongside other difficult-to-market-but-brilliant artists like Lucinda Williams and Emmylou Harris.

"It's a little strange," she said. "But it feels good. It really does, I have to say. I feel embraced and that's a great feeling when you've been pushed away for a long time." *

"I've always been a club musician. That's my world, playing live.

There are good days and bad days and lately. MP3.com has been experiencing both. The online digital music vendor has been enjoying a lot of press for its sponsorship of the upcoming Alanis Morissette / Tori Amos tour, for example, not to mention its upcoming IPO.

On the negative side, the company has been named in the $20 million lawsuit PlayMedia Systems filed last month against Nullsoft Inc., makers of the popular WinAmp MP3 player software. MP3.com promotes the software on its Web site and makes it available for free downloads. PlayMedia has charged that Nullsoft illegally used programming code written by PlayMedia programmers in its development of WinAmp and has accused MP3.com of using WinAmp as part of its success strategy.

According to the Los Angeles Times, MP3.com was added to the lawsuit on April 23rd but serving Michael Robertson, MP3.com's chairman and founder, was a bit more difficult than downloading a file from MP3.com. An attorneys' service tried several times to serve Robertson at home, but it wasn't until five days after MP3.com was named in the suit that it was able to make contact and serve Robertson the papers.

According to the persistent attorneys' service employee, Robertson "looks like Bill Gates' younger brother."

The Times also reported that MP3.com failed to disclose that it was a defendant in the lawsuit in the May 14th SEC filing for its IPO and that could be a problem.

► Tickets.com has signed an exclusive agreement with Sitematic Corporation, which provides online business solutions to small businesses. The agreement calls for Sitematic to bring Tickets.com's client base of entertainment organizations up to speed for commerce on the Web. Starting this summer, Sitematic will offer entertainment and sports organizations the ability to have their own four-page Web site built by Sitematic, and to have that site listed for free on Tickets.com.

Media mega-company Viacom is acquiring The Box, the pay-as-you-view music video channel. Box owner Liberty Media Group will hand over the music video channel along with three Internet holdings, Addicted To Noise, SonicNet and Streamland.com. In return, Liberty will get a 10 percent chunk of MTV Networks Online Music Ventures. MTV Networks plans on launching a new Internet initiative in June.

TCI Music, which is controlled by Liberty and will be renamed Liberty Digital, was the major dealmaker on the project. At the same time the news about Viacom and Liberty broke, a Hollywood Reporter item said that TCI Music's president and CEO, Thomas McPartland, had resigned. McPartland joined TCI when it acquired his company, Paradigm Music Entertainment.

Remember that scene in "Citizen Kane" where young Charles Foster Kane hires away the staff of a competing newspaper? A high-tech version of that scenario recently took place when Reciprocal Inc. lured some top talent away from AT&T's a2b Music. AT&T is downplaying the mass defection but Reuters reported that nearly half of the a2b team made the leap to Reciprocal. Reciprocal issued a press release saying that it hired the a2b division, including co-founders Larry Miller and Howie Singer, who will serve as president and senior VP of business development, respectively.

Regardless of how many former a2b coders are now at Reciprocal, it does shake things up a bit for a2b. With the arrival of the a2b expatriates, Reciprocal announced the formation of Reciprocal Music with the goal of establishing an "end-to-end" digital download solution that will benefit "music companies, artists, retailers, publishers and royalty management organizations."

▶ Internet record company GoodNoise has signed a definitive agreement to acquire the Internet Underground Music Archive (IUMA). GoodNoise is backing the deal with about 448,000 shares of common stock. IUMA was the premier indie site on the Net during the Web's infancy, but was overshadowed when major music players started to stake out their own Internet turf. After the acquisition, IUMA will operate as a wholly owned subsidiary of GoodNoise, which plans on changing its own name to Emusic.com in the near future. The acquisition allows GoodNoise to add a larger array of music for its customers in addition to its own growing roster of acts. 🛥

New Jersey Bound

➤ Ticket mayhem broke out just two days after the first U.S. dates for Bruce Springsteen & The E Street Band were revealed. On May 18th, five shows at New Jersey's Continental Airlines Arena were announced. Then the ticket lottery process for the July 15, 18, 20, 24 and 26 shows began.

In order to keep the ducats in the hands of hometown fans, numbered wristbands were issued at ticket outlets on May 20th. The start number was drawn May 22nd and the person holding the corresponding wristband got to be first in line to buy a max of four tickets, which were priced at $37.50 and $67.50. Those with subsequent numbers had the privilege of standing in line but were not guaranteed tickets.

The first 17 rows for each show were sold only by phone and to thwart scalpers, hard tickets are not being mailed out. Fans will have to go to the Meadowlands box office the night of the show with two forms of ID and the credit card used for the purchase. From there, they will go directly into the arena.

Dates for the rest of the U.S. tour had not been released at press time but Springsteen's camp said the band will play multi-night stands in select major cities. The current overseas dates end June 27th and by the time the band returns for its first U.S. tour in more than 10 years, it will have already played for more than 775,000 fans.

Red Hot And Relevant

➤ The Red Hot Chili Peppers are wrapping up a five-city tour promoting teen tolerance. The band has been performing all-ages shows where the price of admission is a suggestion on how to end hatred among high school students.

Initially, this was supposed to be a high school spirit tour where the biggest fan in each city would win a Peppers show for their high school. But the Columbine High School shootings caused the band to rethink that idea at the last minute.

The band has also been playing radio festivals during the tour, its first since 1996.

CRANBERRIES REV UP

➤ The Cranberries and Collective Soul hit the road in August under the auspices of SFX Entertainment and the Ford Motor Co. The two companies have combined forces for the Rhythm On The Road tour, which will play a part in the 35th anniversary of the Ford Mustang.

The largely SFX shed tour will feature on-site activities designed for Mustang enthusiasts, including a display of vintage models of the car and a Mustang Fender guitar giveaway at each stop.

The tour starts August 5th in Tampa at the Sun Dome and ends September 18th at the Shoreline Amphitheatre in Mountain View, Calif.
