Universal Concerts In Play

T APPEARS THAT SEAGRAM CO. topper Edgar Bronfman Jr. is seriously considering shedding all, or at least large parts, of Universal Concerts in order to lighten the huge debt load the company acquired along with its purchase of PolyGram.

SFX is only one of a reported five active bidders making a run at Universal's live music assets. The New York Post reported last week that Ogden Entertainment, which owns half of Metropolitan Entertainment, is the front runner. Another bid is rumored to be coming from the mega-millionaires behind the construction of the new Staples Center arena in Los Angeles.

The price seems to be headed north of $200 million and that has made some of the early bidders squeamish. While Universal's array of sheds would look nice as part of Ogden's portfolio, it's hard to imagine SFX would let this deal get away.

Universal virtually owns the Canadian concert business from coast-to-coast and operates the Molson Amphitheatre in Toronto. It jointly owns with SFX the Starplex Amphitheatre in Dallas and Lakewood Amphitheatre in Atlanta.

Universal operates the Fiddler's Green shed in Denver which competes with SFX/BGP's efforts in the Mile High City. The same is true in Washington state where Universal has the award-winning Gorge amphitheatre and SFX/BGP is attempting to build its own shed in Seattle.

A Universal purchase could also give SFX the new Coors Amphitheatre in San Diego, the lease on Blossom Music Center in Cleveland, plus new shed development efforts in Portland, Ore., and San Jose, Calif.

It's not clear if the Universal Amphitheatre, which is located on the Universal lot in Los Angeles, is part of the discussions. In any case, sources indicate that if Bronfman doesn't change his mind, a deal could go down before the end of the month.

N.Y. Ticket-Scalping Debate Continues

s New YORK'S ATTORNEY general issued a 60-page report on ticket scalping and called for tougher penalties last month, state lawmakers were on the verge of passing an extension to the state's current scalping law, which many consider ineffective.

Following the assembly's approval of the extension May 26th, just days prior to its June 1st expiration, the state's Senate and governor were ready last week to approve a one-year extension of the ticket-scalping law, which restricts the resale markup on a ticket to $5 or 10 percent above face value, whichever is higher.

However, advocates for tougher restrictions say the law is rarely enforced and lawmakers should instead strengthen the statute. The latest actions dealing with the issue of ticket scalping are part of the state's efforts to combat the practice, which included last year's arrest and conviction of a Jones Beach Amphitheatre box office manager for diverting tickets.

In his detailed report on ticket scalping, New York Attorney General Eliot Spitzer said consumers suffer most from ticket brokers who pay bribes to those who control tickets.

"You shouldn't have to be wealthy or well connected in order to get good seats to entertainment shows and events," Spitzer said. "But unfortunately, that's often exactly the way it is in New York because the ticket-selling industry is rife with corruption and bribery."

The attorney general called for harsher penalties, among other suggestions, in his report titled "Why Can't I Get Tickets?"

Pros On The Move

Longtime artist manager Ken Kragen has been named president and COO of Dreamcatcher Entertainment's management division. At Dreamcatcher – the multifaceted company started by Kenny Rogers and Jim Mazza – Kragen will oversee the management roster, which includes Rogers and Diamond Rio, among others. Kragen said he will not shutter his Los Angeles-based Kragen & Co. operation, which features a diverse roster of comedians as well as a comanagement deal with Rogers. He hinted at the possibility of the two operations folding together, but not in the immediate future. Kragen will continue to operate from his existing Los Angeles offices.

Lou Mann has been named president of House of Blues Media Properties. In the newly created post, Mann will oversee HoB's globally distributed media properties including its interactive broadcasting initiatives. He will also step up the company's development, programming, and distribution of television and radio specials and series broadcasting, while leading efforts in emerging distribution technologies such as satellite radio, DVD and digital downloading. Mann previously served for more than 10 years as senior VP and GM of Capitol Records.

After seven years with the H.O.R.D.E. Festival, tour director Heidi Kelso has left the Blues Traveler-led outing. Last February, she joined the Woodstock camp as a department head for the Village, which includes onsite sponsorship, craft vendors and the cyber cafe. H.O.R.D.E. hasn't formally announced it yet, but 1999 tour plans have been abandoned.

Pete Fisher has been named GM of the Grand Ole Opry, where he will oversee the activities of the live radio broadcast beginning June 28th. Most recently, Fisher was a partner in Fisher Raines Entertainment where he managed artists Paul Brandt and Carolyn Arends.

Marcie Allen has departed Crescent Moon Talent to form her own Nashville-based agency, Mad Booking. Mandy Strudler will assist with booking and Anna Ross is head of marketing.

According to Spitzer's recommendations, the payment and receipt of a bribe, which is a misdemeanor, should be a felony; the diversion of tickets by venue officials, even without proof of bribery, should be a felony; and brokers who sell tickets totaling more than $1,000 above the statutory limit should be convicted of a felony, similar to larceny.

"Civil and criminal penalties must be increased so that they are no longer seen as just a potential cost of doing business," the report stated.

Last July, former Jones Beach box office manager Joseph Nekola was sentenced to 60 days in jail for diverting a reported 400 tickets per show from 38 events during 1996.

Spitzer also recommended that the actual number of seats available to an event be publicized and that tickets contain a code to show where they originated. "The integrity of the entertainment industry is important because it is part of New York's culture," Spitzer said. "It's obligatory that they live by the same rules as everyone else, part and parcel of that is maintaining a flow of tickets that is honest and open to everybody."

Among the advocates of tougher laws is Russ Haven of the New York Public Interest Research Group, who called the current law's extension a "knee-jerk" approach to what is a serious consumer issue.

"Taxpayers have the right to a credible ticket distribution system and the current system is anything but credible," he said.

summer. The 65-year-old International Amphitheatre has been slated for demolition to make way for an "industrial purpose," according to the city's planning and development department.

The indoor-arena facility housed the infamous 1968 Democratic National Convention and the Beatles' 1965 Windy City debut. The arena also was home to the Chicago Bulls dating back to the team's first season in 1968 up until the opening of the United Center a few years ago. It deteriorated as years passed and newer buildings such as the Rosemont Horizon lured away events before the opening of the United Center put the final nail in its coffin.

The city announced May 28th that it had reached a deal to buy the building from Sports and Entertainment Complex LP for $3.9 million. Plans for the 12.9acre site have not been determined but a planning department spokesperson said it will be part of the South Side Stockyards Industrial Corridor revitalization.

Gersh & Silva Enter DEN

GARY GERSH AND JOHN SILVA have taken their partnership to the next level by signing on as co-presidents of DEN Music Group. The company is a subsidiary of Digital Entertainment Network Inc., and on the surface, it looks like an Internet-based record company. But the key initiatives outlined by DEN Music Group set it apart from the standard record company in several ways.

For starters, the music group will offer artists higher royalty rates and 50/50 partnership deals that will grant acts half-ownership of their master recordings – unthinkable for most labels (especially the majors). The company will also offer shorter-term artist contracts, allowing acts freedom to pursue new opportunities.

DEN Music Group is well integrated with its parent company's adventurous Web site, www.den.net. DEN is creating youth-oriented programming for broadcast on the Net, allowing the music division to market its artists directly to the viewers.

In a prepared statement, Gersh, a former president of Capital Records, and longtime artist manager Silva called DEN "... the definitive entertainment network of the future – one where music will have a role in every initiative."

The parent company will be able to create new marketing opportunities for music by creating original Internet video programs starring its recording artists as well as performers signed to other labels. Silva told the Los Angeles Times these programs would be cheaper to produce than most music videos and they could bolster sales for any label involved.

Gersh said he's negotiating with several acts but hasn't signed any yet. The first DEN release is expected in a few months.

Gersh and Silva said they hope to work with new artists and established acts, so it's only natural to wonder if they will look to sign artists from their GAS management company's roster. So far, the answer is no. GAS client Foo Fighters is a free agent and has just about finished a new album, but Gersh has said the timing is wrong for the act to sign with DEN.

Timing was crucial in the two execs' signing with DEN. The announcement came six weeks after they turned their backs on a reported $50 million label deal with Michael Ovitz. Instead, they chose DEN, a company founded eight years ago by Internet pioneer Mark Collins-Rector. According to the Times, DEN has raised million of dollars in venture capital from investors, including WELCONE to their DEN. Company co-presidents Gary Gersh and John Silva passed up the big Ovitz bucks and opted to take the leap into cyber music.

Microsoft, and is expected to announce an IPO later this year. Not bad timing.

W.C. Handy Blues Awards

B.B. KING AND KOKO TAYLOR were among the big winners at the 20th Annual W.C. Handy Blues Awards. King was honored as blues entertainer of the year and also won contemporary album of the year for Blues On The Bayou. Taylor picked up her 18th Handy – tying record-holder Buddy Guy – for traditional blues female artist of the year.

Etta James, Keb' Mo', and relative newcomer Susan Tedeschi also took home multiple awards during the May 27th ceremony at the Orpheum Theatre in Memphis. James won in the soul/blues female category and took the soul/ blues album award with Life, Love & The Blues. Keb' Mo' took the contemporary blues male and acoustic blues artist accolades, while Tedeschi won for contemporary blues female and best new blues artist.

Other Handy winners included Rod Piazza & The Mighty Flyers, Bobby "Blue" Bland, Robert Lockwood Jr., and W. C. Clark.

The evening was packed with special performances as Kenny

Mystery Of Missing Musician Solved

THE SKELETAL REMAINS OF Philip "Taylor" Kramer were discovered May 29th in a Los Angeles-area canyon. Hikers found the skeleton inside a wrecked Ford Aerostar van at the bottom of a ravine. The vehicle identification number matched that of the van Kramer was driving when he disappeared more than four years ago.

Before the body was identified by the coroner's office, one of the hikers told the Los Angeles Times that police had found a wallet at the scene containing Kramer's driver's license.

Kramer joined Iron Butterfly in 1975. He later worked in the aerospace industry and at the time of his disappearance, was chief technology officer at now-defunct Total Multimedia.

He disappeared February 12, 1995, while driving home from the Los Angeles airport. Police have said Kramer, who was 42 when he vanished, probably committed suicide. On the day he disappeared, he reportedly called 911 from his cell phone and said he was going to kill himself.

According to the Times, 1995 court records show that Kramer was deep in debt and his company was emerging from bankruptcy.

His family had suspected he met with foul play and that his disappearance was related to his work in the high-tech industry.

Waikiki Shell Shock

THE CITY OF HONOLULU GOT its acts together – too close together – when pianist Michael Feinstein and blues-rock guitarist John Mayall simultaneously performed in outdoor concert venues across the street from each other, filling the air with raucous noise.

The Waikiki Shell audience had just enjoyed the first set by the Honolulu Symphony Orchestra on May 21st, and Broadway show singer Feinstein was beginning his performance on the same stage. Meanwhile, next door at the Honolulu Zoo, Mayall began belting out his blues-rock classics.

"It was a cacophony of sound, like the radio and CD player playing loudly at the same time," said

Jim Mancuso, orchestra operations manager.

Veteran performer Feinstein maintained his sense of humor, getting the disgruntled symphony fans to laugh and applaud when he asked, "Could someone turn down the radio?"

Wrestling Bus Driver Assault Claim

WANNABE PRO WRESTLER has gone to court alleging that he sustained real injuries from real blows in what was to have been a fake match.

Three hundred seventy-four pound Mass Transit claims that 6-foot-tall George Young criminally assaulted him at a match at Wonderland Greyhound Park in Revere, Mass., in 1996.

Mass Transit, whose real name is Erich Kulas, testified May 27th that Young hit him twice with a wooden crutch, struck him in the head with a toaster and cut him with a razor. Kulas, 17 at the time of the alleged assault, required 50 stitches to his forehead after the match.

The incident occurred after the giant teen-ager, dressed in a light blue bus driver's uniform, accepted an invitation from tiny 4-foot-2-inch-tall wrestling brothers Douglas and Jason Tunstall. He reportedly seized the opportunity to take on the dwarves in front of 800 fans.

However, the brothers stopped at ringside, and Young, 36, and his partner, Mustafa, entered the ring instead.

STUDENTS PAY ATTENTION when Hootie & The Blowfish go to the head of the assembly at Wateree Elementary School in Lugoff, S.C. Band members (L-R) Mark Bryan, Darius Rucker, Dean Felber and Jim "Soni" Sonefeld chat briefly during their concert May 27th, honoring the school for participating in the Governor's Compact with Our Children program, which sets standards for high performance.

In the second day of Young's criminal assault trial in Chelsea District Court, Young's attorney, James Merberg, said Kulas willingly participated because he wanted to break into Extreme Championship Wrestling. He also said Kulas was free to leave the ring at any time.

Kulas testified that he was afraid to leave because he saw a fan attack a wrestler who exited the ring at a previous match.

Under cross-examination by Merberg, Kulas described some of the tactics extreme wrestlers use during matches. Some of the maneuvers Kulas was familiar with included taking aspirin to thin the blood in order to bleed more freely and cutting rivals' foreheads with razors.

The defense attorney showed jurors a photo of Kulas with his lips pursed together and his cheeks filled with air during the match. He suggested Kulas knew he was going to be cut and did that to make the blood spurt farther.

Kulas also said a guitar smashed over his head was made of balsa wood and a folding chair that hit him was made of rubber. He said the bout left him with recurring nightmares, welts, bruises and other physical ailments.

Red Rocker's Ire Arising

ROCKER SAMMY HAGAR temporarily succeeded in blocking the sale and distribution of an unauthorized biography about him the day the book was to go on sale.

After Hagar testified for nearly three hours in a Kansas City, Kan., federal court, Judge Thomas Van Bebber issued an order prohibiting author David Huff Jr. from selling the bio.

"Red Storm Arising," penned by Huff using information supplied by Hagar, was set to go on sale the same day the May 27th ruling came down. Huff had already printed 1,000 copies of the self-published biography for sale to bookstores and on the Internet, reported The Kansas City Star.

The first-time biographer told POLLSTAR that he and Hagar, friends since 1979 when he first interviewed the singer, originally collaborated on the book, which Huff proposed in 1995.

However, after a dispute in 1997 over Huff's share of the advance and final payment – $15,000 to write, research and conduct the interviews – which the writer refused to accept, Huff said Hagar pulled out of the project.

The week before the court-ruled injunction, the 51-year-old writer filed a breach of contract lawsuit against the former Van Halen singer. According to Huff, Hagar admitted during testimony that "he broke his oral agreement."

However, in compliance with the ruling, Huff must relinquish possession of all his taped interviews with Hagar since 1979. "I have to mail it off tomorrow," Huff said of the confiscated material. "They want it by June 7th."

Hagar's biggest concern lies with the book's description of his time with Van Halen and their well-publicized split, reported MTV News. Huff confirmed the report. "He'll never be able to go back with that band again."

According to Huff, another Van Halen-related party doesn't want to see the book distributed and sold. Manager Ray Danniels has threatened legal action against the former University of Oklahoma reporter.

"This could become a major First Amendment issue," said Huff, who blasted Hagar's attorneys for citing the Lanham Act, which guards against trademark infringement, and false and misleading promotional presentation.

The next hearings are scheduled for July 27th and 28th in Kansas City. If Huff loses the right to sell his book and ownership of his book-related collateral, he said he will appeal.

Calls to KP Management, Hagar's management company, were not returned at press time.

Rosemont Becomes Allstate

THE NEARLY 20-YEAR-OLD Rosemont Horizon arena in Illinois is undergoing extensive renovations and coming back with a new title sponsorship. On August 6th, the facility will reopen as the Allstate Arena.

Venue director Harry Pappas told POLLSTAR the Allstate deal has been approved by the city and will become official at a June 9th board meeting.

The sponsorship agreement with the Northbrook, Ill.-based insurance company is reported to be worth $15 million for up to 20 years. However, Pappas said exact details would not be released until after the board meeting.

He said some of the money would undoubtedly help pay for the Horizon's $20 million renovation, but the sponsorship is not tied to that financing.

Feds To Study Violent Media Marketing

PRESIDENT CLINTON announced last week the launch of a federal investigation into the marketing of violent movies, music and video games by the entertainment industry to American children.

The Federal Trade Commission with the Department of Justice will conduct a $1 million, 18-month study that many observers have compared to the government's investigation into the tobacco industry and its use of Joe Camel and other cohorts to lure children into smoking.

However, as the New York Times reported, federal investigators don't expect legal action to result because violent forms of media are legal. And advertising is protected under the First Amendment, unless it's found to be false or deceptive.

FTC Chairman Robert Pitofsky said his staff will, as in probes of the tobacco and alcohol industries, look into the entertainment companies' internal marketing records even if it takes subpoenas.

"I would hope we could talk to these companies and get voluntary compliance. But certainly if we feel that we can't complete our responsibility here, we're going to turn to compulsory processes," Pitofsky said.

During the June 1st announcement in the Rose Garden, Clinton asked the FTC and Justice Department to investigate whether the entertainment industry abides by its various forms of self regulation, such as ratings on movies and video games, as well as parental warnings on CDs.

"If underage children are buying violent video games or getting into R-rated movies, the rating system should be enforced to put a stop to it," Clinton said. "The time has come to show some restraint, even if it has a shortterm impact on the bottom line."

The recently announced study will focus only on the entertainment industry, while a bill passed by the Senate last month calls for a study into both the entertainment and gun industries.

Truce In L.A. Football Stadium Battle

s MICHAEL OVITZ dazzled the National Football League last month with his design for revamping the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, his biggest competitor, billionaire Eli Broad, was on hand to tell league officials why the plan could not possibly work. Now, Broad has invited Ovitz to join forces in bringing an NFL team back to Los Angeles. Broad wrote a letter to Ovitz and grocery magnate Ron Burkle May 27th suggesting they "join our effort to obtain the expansion franchise."

The letter did not say who would lead the combined effort, but implied it would be the Broad team.

"We still have those last few yards to go before reaching the end zone," Broad wrote. "To help us all get there, [developer] Ed Roski and I would like to extend an invitation for you to join our effort to obtain the expansion franchise.

"Gentlemen, your joining us will send a clear message to the National Football League that we are committed to the success of professional football in Los Angeles."

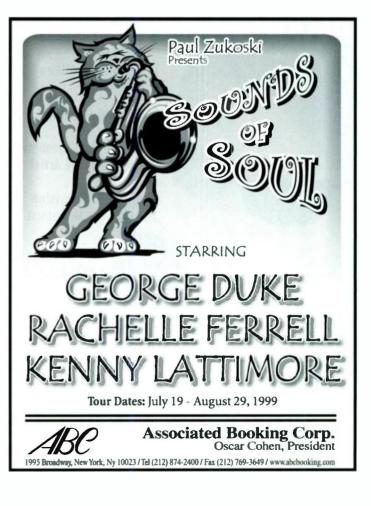

Broad alluded to his rival's star power, telling Ovitz his "talent for marketing and promotions is world-renowned and will advance our mutual efforts."

Ovitz, contacted by the Los Angeles Times on his way to the Bahamas late last month, declined to comment on joining Broad's group. However, he said, "If Eli has something that makes good sense, I'm willing to listen."

Sports business analyst David Carter believes both sides need the other – Broad for his money and Ovitz for his creativity.

"Clearly, both have suffered setbacks...," Carter said. "Obviously, if Broad was in a real position of strength, you would not have expected him to extend the olive branch to Ovitz."

The NFL has said it intends to put a team in a reconstructed coliseum. It has yet to name a price or choose an owner. But the league told Los Angeles it needed to come up with a viable plan by September 15th.

Ovitz unveiled an impressive plan to NFL owners in Atlanta recently. Unfortunately, the idea came with a possible cost of more than $200 million in public financing. Government officials have made it clear they will not support a subsidy of that magnitude.

"Ovitz's plan has some financial holes in it; Broad's plan doesn't have the sizzle that Ovitz's plans have," Carter said.

"[NFL Commissioner] Paul Tagliabue has talked about plan A and plan B; what he's hoping to do is have those two parties work together to have a plan C – pull the marketing elements out of Ovitz's plan and the financial elements out of Broad's plan.

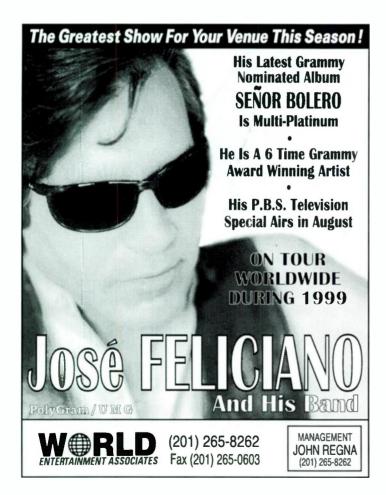

"The NFL is clearly trying to make these guys work together in order to maximize the amount of money to the NFL."

To make matters more interesting, another potential challenger recently stepped onto the playing field. Billionaire Marvin Davis has obtained a signed option agreement from the Hollywood Park racetrack for 100 acres of land to develop a football stadium.

SFX Snaps Up Livent

TROUBLED CANADIAN theatre company Livent has agreed to sell most of its assets to SFX Entertainment.

Though terms of the transaction were not disclosed, bankruptcy court papers filed by Livent indicate the price to be about $115 million. SFX, which is paying about $77.8 million of the purchase price in cash, expects to close the deal by September 30th.

As part of the agreement, SFX would acquire the Ford Center for the Performing Arts in New York, the Pantages Theatre in Toronto and the Ford Center for the Performing Arts/Oriental Theater in Chicago. The entertainment giant would also assume rights to current Livent productions including "Fosse," "Ragtime" and the Canadian production of "Phantom Of The Opera," as well as productions in development.

The Ford Centre of the Performing Arts in Vancouver and Livent's Toronto headquarters are not part of the deal, but SFX expects to lease the theatre company's headquarters.

The promoter is already a major player in the theatre world, producing, coproducing or investing in current tours including "Cabaret," "Evita" and "Chicago" through its Pace Theatrical subsidiary.

SFX would move Livent away from its role of producing original Broadway musicals, focusing on touring shows and concert promotions instead, company chief Robert F.X. Sillerman told Newsday.

"While we do regularly invest in many shows, we do so to help feed our pipeline, which is principally the out-of-town circuit," he said. "While we will continue that, people should not be expecting us to ... perpetuate the Livent methodology, which was to source and to create new first-run musicals."

The transaction is subject to approval by bankruptcy courts in the U.S. and Canada – and creditors may have something to say about the price. With the deal valued at $115 million, it will likely cover less than half of what Livent owes. That means new owners, including Michael Ovitz and investment banker Roy Furman, are unlikely to recoup much, if any, of the more than $20 million they invested in Livent.

The theatre company filed for bankruptcy protection last November after its new owners said they discovered massive accounting fraud by Livent founders Garth Drabinsky and Myron Gottlieb.

U.S. authorities filed fraud and conspiracy charges against the founders in January but they have refused to appear in court. The two remain in Canada and deny any wrongdoing.

In other SFX news, the promoter has entered into a sponsorship agreement with the United Distillers & Vintners North America for its ready-to-drink line including Jose Cuervo Frozen Margarita, TGIFriday's Mud Slide and Smirnoff's Frozen Lemonade.

The sponsorship will include backlit signage at venues, advertisements in concert program books and on-site sweepstakes promotions.

Elton Does Wyoming Anti-Hate Benefit

ELTON JOHN'S JUNE 1ST concert in Laramie raised a reported $250,000 for anti-hate groups including the Matthew Shepard Foundation, named in honor of the gay university student who was bludgeoned to death last year.

John dedicated his University Of Wyoming show to Shepard and the victims of the Columbine High School tragedy, while advocating a love-for-all attitude to the packed audience.

"When I fly over America on my broomstick, as I often do a lot, I get to feeling what a big country this is – it's big enough for everyone," he said during the concert. "And despite all the progress that has been made in rights and tolerance, we are still living in a world of hate."

Although the superstar pleaded for more tolerance and understanding, John had denied the request of a gay rights group asking him to call for stronger civil rights laws in Wyoming. New York-based Queer Watch had asked the singer to promote the abolition of capital punishment and the passage of a gay rights state law during the concert.

A spokesperson for John said the performer has a long-standing policy of avoiding political statements. "We are not endorsing any politics. We are not endorsing any political stances," Sarah McMullen said. "We just want to go into Wyoming and raise money for these organizations."

Queer Watch spokesperson Bill Dobbs had e-mailed John, informing him that Wyoming doesn't provide legal protection for gays. "If Mr. John lived in Wyoming, he could be fired from a job, evicted from housing and refused medical care – shocking but true because there is no Wyoming law to stop discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation," he wrote.

"Elton John is not an American citizen," McMullen said. "He cannot endorse an American policy, but he can raise money ... for things on another level." Six tolerance-promoting charities benefitted from the concert.

Jacko Bows Out Of Pavarotti Benefit

ICHAEL JACKSON canceled a performance in Italy June 2nd to stay by his 2-year-old son's bedside. Prince Michael Jackson Jr. was unconscious after a seizure caused by a viral infection. "Friday night, the child ... lost consciousness, and his legs and arms were paralyzed because of a high viral fever," Sony Records spokesperson Jonathan Morrish said from Modena, Italy, where MJ was to have shared the stage with Luciano Pavarotti for a children's benefit.

"Michael would have wanted with all his heart to be in Modena but as all parents can understand, he could not leave his son at this moment."

Jackson's wife, Deborah Rowe Jackson, downplayed reports of her son's illness in an interview with KNBC-TV in Los Angeles.

"He's fine. He is not dying," she said. "To hear that your child is dying and to find it on the news and it not be true is terrifying, especially when I've spoken to his father and he told me he was OK."

Mrs. Jackson was planning to travel to New York to be with the boy.

As MJ stayed with his son at an undisclosed New York hospital, Pavarotti reportedly choked back tears as he told the crowd that Jackson Jr. may be dying. "It would be best if we think of him and send him our prayers," the tenor said.

Morrish said it was the third time the child has suffered a seizure this year. In January, he was rushed to a hospital and treated for a viral infection accompanied by fever and dehydration.

Concert Rating Law Update

ICHIGAN'S ATTEMPT at creating a parental advisory warning for potentially controversial concerts has won a major victory.

The state Senate recently passed the bill, which calls for parental warnings on tickets as well as radio, television and newspaper advertisements for artists whose albums within the last five years have been labeled explicit. In the weeks following the tragic Columbine High School shootings, increasing concerns about the effects of exposing children to controversial material, including music, movies and video games, has spurred many communities across the country to consider drastic action.

Some observers view Michigan's parental warning proposal as extreme – a step toward censorship. But the state's course of action may pale in comparison to other communities, where calls for outright bans on controversial acts are growing louder.

The latest version of the Michigan bill requires that promoters and venues comply with the legislation or face up to a $5,000 fine; an earlier version called for voluntary compliance.

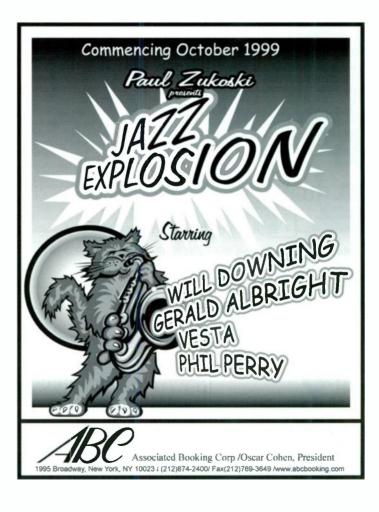

"The recording industry already puts warnings on CDs that contain explicit lyrics promoting violence, rape, suicide and illegal drug use," said the bill's sponsor, Sen. Dale Shugars. "For consistency, that advisory should be extended to concerts."

The warnings do not apply to artists who are not advertised or promoted, according to the legislation, which faces a vote in the House of Representatives.

Following the recent rejection of a proposed ban on certain shows in Charlotte, N.C., county commissioners in Alabama want to enact a similar proposal at the Birmingham-Jefferson Convention Complex.

"I think we've got to clean up our act in this country in all the ways that we can," said commissioner Bettye Fine Collins, who proposed the resolution.

Supporters of the proposal see the move as the only sensible action in the wake of the recent school shootings and an April 2nd KORN / Rob Zombie concert, which some said contained violent images and themes.

Collins said acts such as Rob Zombie, whose songs include "I Am Hell," only encourage young people to get "off track."

Civic center board members have convened with their attorney to discuss the feasibility of the proposal; similarly, the proposed ban in Charlotte was shot down due to concerns of First Amendment violations.

Civic center director Frank Poe is uneasy about the possibility of having to select which acts are too violent or crude for Birmingham. "To put us in a role of determining what is appropriate for a community to view is a very difficult and challenging position," he said. Zombie obviously would fit the commission's criteria, but other events such as professional wrestling, with its violence and scantily clad women, or the sexy Broadway musical "Chicago" are not so easily defined.

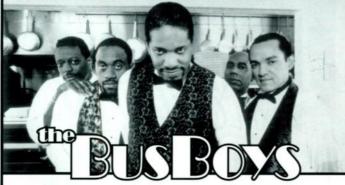

"The only tried and true way is to let the public decide what it wants to see and vote with its pocketbook," Poe said.

Woodstock Watch

U A CRITICAL PRESSURE TO MEET a critical deadline or face a possible demise to the three-day festival, Woodstock '99 organizers reached a last-minute agreement with New York State Police over security issues.

Reached during face-to-face negotiations, the agreement called for the deposit of $1.3 million by the organizers into a state police escrow account to cover food, lodging, salary and equipment costs for the troopers.

With a capacity of 250,000 people, the festival will require hundreds of peacekeepers; nearly 800 state troopers were used during the 25th anniversary Woodstock show in 1994. More than 100,000 tickets at $150 apiece have reportedly been sold for the July 23-25 event.

The deadline with the state police had been twice extended by the county. According to the Rome Sentinel newspaper, unnamed sources said the divisive issue was a $550,000 difference in the cost estimates submitted by the cops and promoters.

Other upcoming obstacles on the road to Woodstock included construction of the concert site; solving concerns about off-site parking, estimated for about 20,000 cars; securing licenses to sell alcohol; and finalizing the selection of about 40 non-Ogden Corp. food vendors, the paper said.

Meanwhile, the site of the original Woodstock festival has announced Britney Spears will kick off a summer concert series July 4th. Max Yasgur's Farm in Bethel, N.Y., will host the teen sensation for an Independence Day festival, which includes arts and crafts, food booths and a fireworks display.

Other artists performing at Yasgur's Farm will be announced in the coming weeks.

Venue Managers Confab

THE INTERNATIONAL Association of Assembly Managers is expecting more than 3,000 industry leaders to attend its 74th Annual Conference and Trade Show July 23-27 at the Metro Toronto Convention Centre in Canada.

The conference will present 30 educational seminars taught by experts in the facility management field. Topics include surviving Y2K and entering the millennium with technology; the convergence of sports venues and themed entertainment; legislation and legal issues affecting facilities; an ADA forum that will address pending changes in accessibility guidelines; how university venues can maximize revenues from sponsorship and advertising dollars; and new revenue gathering ideas through signage.

The keynote address will be given by Pulitzer Prize-winning biographer and historian David McCullough. The closing speaker will be world-renowned trendspotter John Naisbitt.

The IAAM Trade Show, the largest industry show of its kind, will showcase more than 550 exhibition booths displaying products and services in the public facility market.

The event also kicks off a yearlong celebration for the IAAM's 75th anniversary.

summer concert season kicked off with the first of its major festivals, Homelands. Early reports said the festival nearly sold out its 35,000 capacity, judging by very strong advance ticket sales.

Headliners The Chemical Brothers and Fatboy Slim provided the musical talking point for the weekend. That, plus good weather and a positive buzz about the festival, could have a knock-on effect on ticket sales for upcoming events, which are reportedly off to a slow start.

• ROBBIE WILLIAMS SCOOPED the two top awards at the annual Ivor Novello songwriting awards ceremony. Williams won songwriter of the year and most-played song, both of which he shared with co-writer Guy Chambers.

The largest haul of prizes was won by the six British songwriters who wrote "I Believe" for Cher, taking the best song musically and lyrically, and two awards for sales – international hit of the year and best-selling U.K. single.

Rod Stewart picked up a lifetime achievement award and Chrissie Hynde was honored for her outstanding contribution to British music.

Other awards went to Harriet Wheeler and David Gavurin of The Sundays for best contemporary song; Jamiroquai won the outstanding song collection award; Martin Gore picked up the international achievement award for Depeche Mode; and the Ivor's dance award went to the hit "Horny" by Mousse T and Errol Rennalls.

Also, the legendary Hal David won the special international award, and songwriting team Mitch Murray and Peter Callander were given the Jimmy Kennedy award for maintaining the heritage of the songwriting industry.

• A BOMB THREAT FORCED THE evacuation of more than 3,000 people at a Kenny Rogers concert at the Royal Albert Hall on May 30. The concert would have been the last stop on a 10-nation tour but it looks like it will be rescheduled for autumn.

A statement from the RAH said, "Due to a security alert at 8 p.m., the Kenny Rogers concert was abandoned. The building was evacuated and it was not possible to restart the show."

The RAH's Eve Hewitt confirmed two phone calls threatening a bomb explosion but no explosive device was found and the hoax was being investigated. She added that the police reacted swiftly and the evacuation was handled well by the staff and audience.

The last evacuation at the RAH occurred two years ago as a result of a power failure during the proms.

Rogers expressed his disappointment about the cancellation. He was about to take the stage when police ordered an evacuation. "I don't understand who benefits from this," Rogers commented. "It's an unpolitical gathering of people who are out for a night of good fun."

• A CHARITY CONCERT TO BENEFIT victims of the Balkan conflict ended the weeklong BBC Music Live festival in Glasgow. The lineup for the May 31 show at the SECC included Simple Minds, Gun, Jimmy Somerville, Teenage Fanclub, and Big Country.

A group of 100 Kosovar refugees attended the concert. BBC Music Live festival director Bill Morris said, "We've all been touched by the tragic scenes from the Balkans and while Music Live promised to be a wonderful celebration, it is appropriate that our last event should be a special concert in aid of the Kosovo refugees."

• THE MUSIC BUSINESS MOURNED during the funerals of two significant industry figures. New Order manager Rob Gretton, 46, died suddenly May 15. A key member of the '80s Manchester music scene, he is credited with transforming the city's image.

Jean Eavis, wife of Glastonbury founder Michael Eavis, died of cancer May 16, just five days after her 60th birthday. The couple were an inspirational team, always part of the festival and attending ILMC conferences together. Michael Eavis said that this year's event will be celebrated as a tribute to her life.

 DUSSELDORF IS set for its new venue. Local promoter Bernie Lewkowicz at Concert Team has secured a 10-year lease on the newbuild venue, which will have a capacity of around 2,500 unseated. Lewkowicz said construction will start in August and the venue will open in October 2000.

Wonder sang "Happy Birthday" to Sweden's King Carl XVI Gustaf for his 50th birthday. Last Monday, the king gave Wonder the Polar Music Prize and a check for $125,000.

The Royal Swedish Academy of Music picked Wonder and composer Iannis Xenakis as this year's winners. The award is an endowment from the late Stikkan Andersson, the former manager of Swedish supergroup Abba.

The honor is presented annually to one popular and one classical musician. Xenakis is a Romanianborn Greek who lives in Paris. He couldn't accept the award in person due to illness.

Previous Polar Music Prize winners include Paul McCartney, Ravi Shankar, and Dizzie Gillespie.

Germany: Two SOLD-OUT BRUCE Springsteen & The E Street Band concerts opened the summer season at the Wuhlheide amphitheatre in Berlin. The 17,500-capacity shows May 29 and 30 sold out well in advance – as most other shows on the tour have – and kick-started a second season for the venue, which reopened under new management last summer following a refurbishment.

The Wuhlheide summer season continued with three "Oldieparty" concerts featuring a mixed-revival lineup of Uriah Heep, Middle Of The Road, Kool & The Gang, Hot Chocolate, B.C., Sweet, and Karat (from Germany).

Spain: THE FIRST EUROMETAL festival drew an estimated crowd of 5,000. Speaking for promoter Encore, Marc Picanyol said the company was happy with this firstyear event figure. He said that the big impact band-wise over the weekend was made by Stratovarius and Angra, but the overall crowd reaction to the event was very good.

Netherlands: THE DUTCH festival season kicked off the weekend of May 21-23 with the Pinkpop and Dynamo festivals. Pinkpop celebrated its 30th anniversary with artists such as Alanis Morissette, Faithless, Jewel, Kula Shaker, Skunk Anansie, Underworld, Lamb, and others, but details of audience numbers were not yet available.

At the more hard-core Dynamo festival, Metallica dominated proceedings with new skate bands Static and the Status Playboys creating a buzz. For the second consecutive year, the festival was held at a new site but organisers hope this location at Meerlo will be a long-term home.

The attendance at Dynamo was 42,000 at the 50,000-capacity site,

Meanwhile, The Hague is gearing up to host Europe's biggest free festival with a capacity of up to 400,000. This year's Parkpop will celebrate its 19th anniversary June 27, with the now-traditional format of two main stages. Headliners are Blondie, 3 Colours Red, and Robben Ford.

Italy: AT THIS SUMMER'S AREZZO Wave festival (June 30- July 4), the lineup spans all types of music by artists including David Byrne, Audioweb, Soul Coughing, Youssou N'Dour, dEUS, Tricky, Dover, Apocalyptica, Angelique Kidjo, The Jon Spencer Blues Explosion, Spiritualized, Space Monkeys, Candy Dulfer & Funky Stuff, the Bobby Byrd Show, and many others performing 50 free concerts over five days.

With loyal support from local and international cultural institutions and private sponsors, the festival continues to open its gates free of charge to the public, with an average attendance over the past years of around 15,000 per day.

Belarus / Russia: AN OUTDOOR festival in Minsk was followed by tragedy when 52 people were crushed to death as crowds poured into an underground train station entrance after the show. Three police officers who were trying to stop the stampede were also trampled to death. A sudden rainstorm is apparently what prompted the crowd rush into the confined public space, which was well outside the concert area.

The Magna cigarettes-sponsored event was a small "beer concert" outside Minsk's Sports Palace and was attended by about 2,000 people. The event was part of a celebration for the 2-year-old Mir radio station.

About 150 others were injured in the crush the night of May 30 and 78 were hospitalized, said Vladimir Yermoshin, head of the Minsk City Council. Seven victims were listed in critical condition the following day and 32 were in intensive care, according to the Health Ministry.

The biggest consequence for the country's event industry is the stadium closure and the cancellation of the Minsk Rock Festival, scheduled for June 27 at the venue. who recorded Moxy Früvous' new album, Thornhill (due July 27), at The Tragically Hip's studio, The Bathhouse, outside Kingston.

In the U.S., Thornhill will be released through New York's Bottom Line Records, distributed by BMG.

The band – Jian Ghomeshi, Michael Ford, David Matheson and Murray Foster – formed in 1991 and became a Canadian novelty hit with its vaudevillian pop satires. Remarkably, its 1992 self-titled indie debut went gold (50,000) in Canada and its Warner Music Canada follow-up, Bargainville, was certified platinum (100,000).

With its second major-label album, Wood, the foursome got subtle and serious, but Canadian listeners had already pigeonholed them as parody and political, and largely turned their backs, much as they did with Barenaked Ladies until the U.S. embraced it.

Moxy Früvous began working America and while it never had a major radio hit there or graced MTV, it developed a grassroots following of "Früheads – thousands of people who follow us from show to show," said Ghomeshi, "much like Phish and Dave Matthews."

Reported by Bryan Jones Fax 613.9499.7786 E-mail: bryan@pollstar.com • TERENCE TRENT D'ARBY WILL BE INXS' guest singer when the band plays three songs at the official opening of the 110,000-capacity Stadium Australia in Sydney.

It seems the reunion was prompted by cricket great Dean Jones. Last October, Jones' company, Left Field Solutions, won the tender to provide entertainment for the stadium opening. "We could have gone for anyone in the world but I wanted INXS (because) I'm a fan," Jones said.

His celebrity as a cricket legend gave him access to the band. So, too, did the fact that he attended school in Melbourne with David Edwards, INXS' management consultant.

Six weeks ago, the band agreed to play because "They are sports nuts and they understand the importance of the Olympics and they wanted to cement their names in history," said Jones.

Apparently, U2 singer Bono was also keen to front INXS. Like Bono, D'Arby was a close friend of INXS' late singer, Michael Hutchence. D'Arby flew to Sydney last week to rehearse.

However, the band emphasized that the D'Arby collaboration is a one-off. The show will be televised nationally on the 7 Network, and broadcast on the Internet on the band's Web site, INXS.com.

In the meantime, there are a number of upcoming INXS projects - a book and a film documentary covering its 20-year history are set for release, while an album of previously unreleased tracks featuring Hutchence is scheduled for issue late '99.

• HAVING TOURED EUROPE AND the U.S., silverchair has announced eight auditorium dates between July 31 and August 15 for Trading Post Agency. British glamsters Placebo, who just visited Australia when they played clubs in May, will join silverchair, as will new Melbourne trio Pre-Shrunk, which has the unusual lineup of two bass players and a drummer.

By the time silverchair plays its homeland, it will have played 70 shows to more than a million people this year.

Drummer Ben Gillies flew his parents to the Spain show because it was his mum's birthday. He's also told his girlfriend that if the Neon Ballroom album hits the half-million sales mark, he'll take her to the Maldives for a holiday.

Gillies was asked if he knew where this scattering of islands in the Indian Ocean was. "No," he replied. "Do you?"

• THE FIRST MAJOR CONCERT IN 2000 is named First Moment – First Light and will be held in Gisborne, New Zealand. David Bowie and a re-formed Split Enz will play the 24-hour event, which is expected to attract up to 40,000 people.

Because of the tilt of the Earth on its axis and Gisborne's position on the international date line, the sun's rays will strike Gisborne before every other city on the planet – 12 hours ahead of London, 17 hours ahead of New York and 20 hours ahead of Los Angeles.

Millennium City is being constructed on the 70-acre waterfront Awapuni Grounds. The event and telecast will be produced by the Gisborne 2000 Festival Entertainment Company. Executive producer of the event is Charles Gayton. Wayne Baruch is executive producer of the telecast.

Gayton said, "This will be a starstudded celebration but we are also going to use some spectacular effects to make this occasion unforgettable for the live and television audiences. After all, beyond this, it won't happen again for a thousand years!" First Moment – First Light has three important events within its first 12 hours. It is divided into "Last Sunset"; the festival's opening ceremonies, "Last Midnight – First Moment Of The New Year" (during which the Enz will play for only the second time since splitting up in 1984); and the spiritually moving "First Light Dawn Performance," during which Bowie will present his specially written song as the first pink streaks of dawn shine.

Worldwide television distribution of the event is being arranged by The Big Events Company, which has designed a schedule to present it in live, short delay and edited formats.

For more information on the event, visit Gisborne2000.com.nz.

• AT THE OPENING OF THE VAULT Bar in the Rocks section of Sydney, those on the star-studded guest list sipped champagne on the balcony and watched something exciting: Two masked men were on a nearby roof trying to open a skylight, not realising they had an audience. The cops were called and guests were further entertained as the two geniuses were hauled away.

• AFTER 15 MONTHS OF NEGOTIAtions (surely, a record), Screamfeeder has signed to U.S. label Time Bomb Recordings, which is distributed through BMG.

In August, Screamfeeder heads to Wales to record its next album, then flies to America to promote its current album, Kitten Licks, scheduled for Stateside release shortly.

• USHER, WHO DELAYED HIS TOUR from May to June because of a broken shoulder, has canceled his Oz tour plans.

• IAN FRASER, CEO OF THE Sydney Superdome due to open in September, resigned his post for personal reasons after less than a year. He is reportedly staying on as a consultant.

Ceberano, who is part Filipino, saw her single, "Pash," rocket to No. 5 in Thailand and get high rotation on MTV Asia and radio stations. Last October and November, she toured Singapore, Hong Kong and the Philippines.

• CANADA'S CRASH TEST DUMMIES could return in October on the back of airplay for the new single, "Keep A Lid On Things." The band first toured Australia in 1992.

 Police did a routine check of local pawn shops and found the $3,000 axe at a place on Parramatta Road.

Also pleased with the police are Sydney hard-core merchants Bunt, who were aghast when thieves broke into their rehearsal studio in Surry Hills and made off with $13,000 of the band's gear. Police raided a pawn shop in Rozelle and recovered most of the equipment.

As a result, Bunt told the cops that anyone on the force may enter its upcoming gig in North Sydney for free and its next tour will be called Cops Are Tops. • THE CAMERON MACKINTOSH music theatre group, which closed its Sydney office to work out of London, will finish two local productions shortly. "Les Miserables" winds up in Brisbane on August 8, and "Rent" in Melbourne in late June. No new productions are expected to be announced in the near future.

• SAM DUANN, PRESIDENT OF Taiwan-based Rock Records, was given the MTV-Billboard Pioneer Award on May 24 for his outstanding service to the music industry. The award was presented to Duann by last year's winner, Norman Cheng, chairman of Universal Music (Asia Pacific), at the conclusion of the second annual Asian Music Conference.

This year's event was co-organised by MTV and Billboard at the Ritz Carlton Millenia in Singapore.

"Sam's contribution to the Taiwanese music industry in the last 20 years has been immense. His achievements have truly earned him the title 'pioneer,'" said Cheng.

Rock Records has some of the top Taiwanese singers in its stable, including Emil Chau, Sandy Lam, Alex To, Tarcy Su, and rocker Wu Bai.

Before the economic crash in Asia, Rock was working on massive expansion plans, including establishing a base in Sydney, Australia. These plans are now on hold.

Last month's Asian Music Conference looked at the convergence of technologies and its impact on the music industry, as well as whether the Internet poses a serious threat to video stars.

Among the speakers were MTV Networks Chairman and CEO Tom Freston, Thailand's Grammy Records CEO Khun Visit Tantisunthorn and Malaysian rap band KRU. KRU also performed at the closing party, as did Code Red and Honeyz.

• FERHAD'S MUSIC VIDEO "SOUL In Me," directed by Farouk Aljoffrey, took the award for best music video at the fourth annual Malaysian Video Awards held at the Balai Seni Lukis Negara in Kuala Lumpur on May 28.

"Soul In Me" beat three other entries: "Everything Changes" by Poetic Ammo, "Always" by Ning Baizura and "Syurga Di Hati Kita" (Heaven In Our Hearts) by Ziana Zain.

Other awards given out that night included trophies for various categories of television commercials.

Also in Malaysia, this time on the island of Penang, '70s funk band Boney M made an appearance at the Sheraton Hotel last Tuesday for a performance sponsored by the Klang Hospice Association.

• THE HONG KONG COURTS sentenced the former head of the Customs Department's prosecution bureau to four years in jail for tipping off a manufacturer involved in "the biggest pirate copyright operation in Hong Kong."

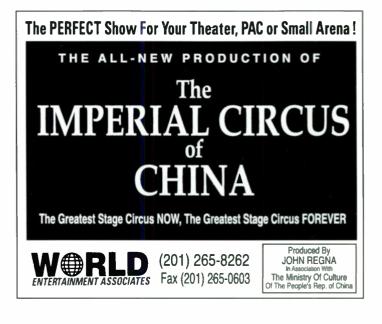

Acting Senior Superintendent Gregory Wong Pui-sham was charged with solicitation of a $50,000 loan from a pirate video compact disc manufacturer and warning him of impending raids.

Wong's sentence struck at the core of the Hong Kong Customs Department, which has been battling serious understaffing while maintaining its effort to wipe out music and video piracy in the Special Autonomy Region.

Wong is expected to appeal the decision.

• STILL RIDING THE WAVE OF popularity for rave parties, DJ Paul Oakenfold will make his first Asian tour in two years in July. Brought to Asia by SPACE, he will appear in Hong Kong at the Regal Kowloon Hotel on July 17 before appearing in mainland Guangzhou (30) and Shanghai (31).

The former resident of the U.K.'s Cream Club, who earned a place in the Guinness Book of Records as the most successful DJ in the world, has started his own record label, Perfecto. ***

SIXPENCE NONE THE RICHER

"iss me out of the bearded barley/nightly, beside the green, green grass," from Sixpence None The Richer's blockbuster hit, "Kiss Me," is not your average pop lyric. Then again, this Nashville-based group is not your touring really hard and there wasn't much to back that up. average pop band. In fact, it's not a pop band at all. The rest of the songs on its eponymously titled third album are pastoral and pensive, more mood music than instant hook.

Fronted by the angelicvoiced Leigh Nash, rhythmically grounded by drummer Dale Baker and composed mainly by guitarist Matt Slocum, Sixpence None The Richer's music is textured by cello, violin, hurdygurdy, muted trumpet, mellotron, accordion and pedal steel. The lyrics are dense – poems of stand-alone beauty – even "Kiss Me," with its whimsical singsong words.

"It was written about three years ago," said the 22-year-old Nash. "[Matt] wrote it in his hotel room in Holland. We were doing a couple of shows out there and he wrote it after reading a story by Dylan Thomas. I was so excited. I knew when he played it for me that it was so different from anything I've heard him write before but it was very catchy. I knew it could do something."

And it has. The song has landed in such TV shows as "Dawson's Creek," "Party Of Five," "The Young And The Restless," "Trinity," "Cupid" and the feature film "She's All That," which ultimately helped Sixpence None The Richer sell some 200,000 copies of its album to date.

The band had waited a long time for such recognition. The Texas-formed band signed its first record deal in the early '90s with Rex, a Nashville-based Christian indie label. Nash was just 16. Although the music isn't gospel or blatantly religious, Nash said they signed with a Christian label because, "We're Christians and that's the way we see the world. What Matt's writing about is coming from a Christian human being."

The group released two albums – its debut, The Fatherless And The Widow, and follow-up, This Beautiful Mess – and toured extensively with such bands as 10,000 Maniacs and The Smithereens. In 1996, Slocum relocated to Nashville to be closer to Rex, but as soon as he arrived, the label filed for bankruptcy.

"We weren't aware of what a record company could do for you. We were very young and naive and they weren't doing much," Nash said. She moved to Music City, along with Baker, three months after Slocum. "They had a lot of bands and were putting out a lot of stuff and spending a lot of money and we were touring really hard and there wasn't much to back that up."

To make matters worse, a huge conglomerate called Platinum bought Rex and expected Sixpence None The Richer to fulfill its contract, Nash said. "We thought that was absurd and we fought that and eventually got out of having to record for them, but that was after about two years of not being able to do anything."

During those two years, Nash got married and the band maintained its enthusiasm for the music it produced, even if its enthusiasm for the business had waned. "Matt and I are really in love with this music, so that's absolutely what kept us together – and faith in God," she said. "He's definitely put us together for a reason and this is kind of our calling, for now, anyway. I couldn't give up on this music."

One of Sixpence None The Richer's record label showcases was at the infamous Viper Room in Los Angeles. It was there that A&R guru John Kalodner heard "Kiss Me" and eventually landed the song on the soundtrack of the teen flick "She's All That."

Meanwhile, Slocum continued to write new material and the band waited for major label offers to materialize. It wasn't long before the trio was approached by Nashville Christian artist Steve Taylor to be the inaugural signing on his Squint label, which is distributed by ADA in the U.S.

"[Steve] had an idea of putting out this label and we were fans of his music and he had been fans of ours for a while, too. He hated to see it dying because of this ridiculous situation, so he really put himself out there and worked really hard to make the label happen as we were getting ready to make our new record. It was really wonderful how it worked."

Nash, Slocum and Baker didn't have any concerns giving another indie label a shot. The band liked and trusted RECORD COMPANY Squint Entertainment 615.457.1250 Taylor and shared the same vision. Sixpence None The Richer recorded its self-titled album with Taylor at the production helm and released it on Squint. It was later remixed by Bob Clearmountain.

While the placement of "Kiss Me" in film and television projects has contributed immensely to Sixpence None The Richer's current popularity, the trio has always gone the extra mile, hitting the road on a shoestring budget for the sheer love of playing together.

"We toured an incredible amount the first four years we were together. With the album before this, This Beautiful Mess, we really knocked ourselves out for that one and it didn't really go anywhere," she laughed.

The trio is still knocking itself out, performing an estimated 16 dates a month, Nash said, but under much better circumstances. "The label's really on top of things, so that helps us out a lot. We know they're working hard and that helps us to be motivated and work really hard, too, and it pays off." *****

▶ You can't tell who the players are without a scorecard. And make sure that scorecard is up to date because with all the recent deals and acquisitions going down, the Web is remarkably different from what it was only six short months ago.

► In an effort to bite off a big chunk of the online music biz, America Online has purchased Web music providers Spinner Networks Inc. and Nullsoft Inc. Spinner is a Net broadcasting site boasting more than 170,000 songs in 20 different genres. Nullsoft makes the popular WinAmp player software and the SHOUTcast system, which utilizes WinAmp to allow anyone to receive or broadcast music files.

AOL plans on creating custom-branded music services and offering live and Internetonly radio, sporting and other events, along with downloadable music. The acquisitions mark AOL's first major foray into the online music world.

Maybe not surprisingly, but on the heels of the AOL announcement, PlayMedia settled its copyright infringement suit against Nullsoft and MP3.com. PlayMedia charged that Nullsoft was using PlayMedia programming code in its WinAmp software. PlayMedia also included MP3.com in the lawsuit because its Web site actively promotes WinAmp.

PlayMedia announced that Nullsoft had received a paid-up license for the AMP 0.7 MP3 playback technology. PlayMedia President and CEO Brian D. Litman said, "This license allows Nullsoft to put the AMP back into WinAmp."

PlayMedia also announced that its lawsuit against MP3.com has been "amicably resolved" and that the two companies have entered into a business relationship.

▶ Big things are brewing at ARTISTCIPECT — big as in $15 million in equity financing from high-profile investors such as Chase Capital Ventures, Bowman Capital, Flatiron Partners, Cassandra Capital, Psilos Group Ventures, and Constellation Ventures, which is one of Bear Stearns' venture capitol funds.

ARTIST direct owns the Ultimate Band List and iMusic, as well as several official artist merchandising sites, including online stores for The Rolling Stones, Tom Petty, Beck, and Beastie Boys. Oh, yeah, they also have a pretty good talent agency.

The financing will help ARTISTdirect increase awareness of its Web sites through marketing and advertising to build brand awareness, launch additional artist-specific channels and online stores, develop strategic distribution partnerships and launch its own platform for digital distribution. The company is widely expected to announce an IPO in the coming months as it strives to be the No. I music site on the Net.

"This investment will allow ARTISTdirect to expand our leadership in online music content, community and e-commerce, as well as aggressively move forward with our plans to become the ultimate digital music distribution hub," said company president Marc Geiger.

ARTISTdirect has also announced a new music-themed auction site. Located at the Ultimate Band List, you'll find it at auctions.ubl.com. More than 25 items are up for bid including guitars signed by members of Oasis, Green Day, and Heart. Other items include a Lilith Fair guitar signed by Paula Cole, Meredith Brooks, and Tracy Bonham; a black and white checkered Versace suit from Elton John's personal wardrobe; and a framed, autographed photo of Aerosmith. Bidding runs through June 10th.

► Reciprocal has announced a working relationship with London's Point Group in a market test of Reciprocal's digital rights management system. Point Group, one of the largest independent music marketing companies in the industry, will use the Reciprocal system to distribute jazz and classical music over the Net. Testing will use Reciprocal's DRM back-office solution combined with Microsoft's Windows' Rights Manager. During the trial period, which runs through June 15th, registered users can access Stan Getz, Art Blakey, Levantis and a large classical catalog at no charge.

Point Group's digital music files will be stored on Reciprocal's Web site at content.reciprocal.com, which will receive a license to play them. After the introductory trial, users will be able to purchase a selection of Point Group's 65,000 songs over the Net.

▶ With all the hubbub about secure digital music distribution, one might wonder why the music industry isn't borrowing some techniques from the software industry, which has been selling its own products via downloads for the past few years. Atomic Pop is utilizing BroadCast Software Corp.'s technology to distribute the latest album from Public Enemy, There's A Poison Goin On, calling it the "first ever Internet release of an entire music album in the MP3 format by a multiplatinum selling recording artist."

R&B Tour Derailed

► R. Kelly's tour with Foxy Brown and Nas met an early demise May 16th. An R. Kelly rep said four weeks of the tour were nixed because of problems between Kelly's management and the tour's production company. The management company, Blackground Enterprises, had not returned calls at press time.

Other media sources said poor ticket sales and lackluster promotion were to blame for the cancellations. The tour got off to a decent start with a May 11th show at the Continental Airlines Arena in East Rutherford, N.J. That show grossed $321,113 with 84 percent of the tickets sold. But the tour, which also featured Kelly Price and Deborah Cox, ground to a halt in Detroit five days later.

The road trip was scheduled to run through June 13th but it had problems before the bus left the station. Busta Rhymes bailed out of the lineup the week before the tour was to start, saying he couldn't produce the show his fans deserved.

Then some of the tour routing was changed after the itinerary was announced and several early shows were canceled, including the original May 5th start date.

Kelly still has some festival gigs on his summer itinerary and his people say the R&B star is putting together a new tour. A spokesperson for Foxy Brown said the rapper would consider opening for Kelly again if the new tour happens.

KRAVITZ OVERHEATS

➤ According to one fan's post on an AOL message board, Lenny Kravitz "rocked the roof off" during his May 31st performance. Unfortunately, he also collapsed backstage during that gig.

Kravitz was 40 minutes into his set at the PNC Bank Arts Center in Holmdel, N.J., when he went backstage and succumbed to heat exhaustion. His band continued to play for another 15 minutes without him before the show was stopped. He was treated by a house doctor and left on his own.

The concert was the last stop on Kravitz's tour with Everlast and The Black Crowes. Even though the temperature was in the low 90s, Kravitz was wearing a long-sleeved coat and put on his trademark high-energy show.

A Virgin Records spokesperson said the retro-rocker was under doctor's orders to rest but he is expected to be well in time for a June 12th show in Hamburg, Germany.

Bunnymen Not Dead

➤ The world will have to wait a little longer to see if Echo And The Bunnymen really is the "greatest live band on the planet" as frontman lan McCulloch claims. The group that helped pioneer shoegazer rock in the early '80s has postponed its North American tour, which was to commence June 4th in Toronto. The band's publicist was quick to denounce earlier reports that the tour had been canceled.

There have been some additions to the Bunnymen lineup and the band has scheduled studio time for an upcoming greatest hits package. The tour will be rescheduled for the fall. The band's seventh studio album, What Are You Going to Do with Your Life? on London Records, is due in American stores June 22nd.

BroadCast Software's Broad-CastSoft Suite 4.0 acts as the delivery vehicle for the new album. BroadCast's "digital wrapper" allows fans to download a sample of the music before purchasing. Fans download a single file called an "Unlocker." This allows people to listen to a short sample of the music. If fans decide to buy it, within three minutes or less, they will receive an unlocking key via either e-mail, phone, or by snail mail.

A new name and the addition of a music industry veteran are just some of the changes in the offing for GoodNoise. The Internet record label, which will change its name to Emusic.com pending stockholder approval, will also be traded on Nasdaq.

Other changes include former Geffen head honcho Ed Rosenblatt taking a seat on the board of directors and a licensing agreement with King Biscuit Entertainment which will include the addition of more than 60 albums from the label's four imprints.

"We believe that Emusic is an ideal name from a variety of perspectives," said Emusic President and CEO Gene Hoffman. "In addition to its simplicity and memorability, it also defines our focus ---- the electronic distribution of music. As we expand from our initial focus on modern/alternative rock and into genres such as jazz, world/fusion and classical, Emusic provides a flexible brand that will work across these categories." 🛥

ust ask some of the biggest stars in the business including Elton John, Eric Clapton, Fleetwod Mac, Tina Turner, the Dave Matthews Band, Bette Midler, Billy Joel, and Mannheim Steamroller. Nestled between Chicago, St. Louis, and Minneapolis our convenient location in the heart of the Midwest makes us ideal for any event. The MARK of the Quad Cities offers:

- intimate seating configurations from 2,000 to 12,000
- convenient routing from major Midwestern markets
- a metro area of 400,000 and a TSA of 1.3 million
- Exclusive catering by Ogden Entertainment
- a river-front location with over 4,000 parking spaces
- over 5,000 hotel rooms within ten minutes

- a location adjacent to a world-renowned Radisson Hotel
 - an innovative and supportive staff (marketing, booking, group sales, event staffing, box office, and catering) with the abilities and experience to promote and copromote

Don't take our word for it, see for yourself why we're a perfect fit.
