REGINA BELLE: Making It Like It Was

Her first album started the buzz, the second album is creating an explosion. Regina Belle has finally arrived and is proving that she has the talent of which legends are made. Contributing writer Charles R. Bouley II interviewed this up and coming artist.

Please see page 49.

• The impact of the Quiet Storm format is being felt throughout the industry. David Nathan examines this development.

Please see page 52.

• Gap Band members Charlie, Ronnie and Robert Wilson explain how they successfully survived the "Gap" between albums.

Please see page 30.
As we look back on the 80's we have witnessed: Michael Jackson re-write the book on selling hit records, Disco music going from the White House to the outhouse—only to return hotter than ever as Dance music, Rap emerging and flourishing, and Quiet Storm become a major musical dimension in our industry.

Based on population statistics, it's no mystery why Quiet Storm has developed into such an important format. From the inception of The R&B Report we have carried its banner. And in this, our year-end issue, key radio and record executives share their views on the growth of Quiet Storm.

In review of this past year, we would like to thank the radio and record community for your support of The R&B Report. We also appreciate your contribution in making our Chicago Forum '89 convention the success it was, and look forward to seeing all of you on June 27th back in Chicago for Forum '90. And last but not least, thank you for your encouragement and comments on our new magazine, The R&B Music & Entertainment Monthly™. Our distributors say that we're breaking on newsstands across the country. However, we are investigating to see if they're ex-record promotion men before getting too excited.

We wish you and your family a healthy, safe and happy holiday season.

Graham Armstrong and Tom Cossie

SEASON'S GREETINGS
From The R&B Report Staff

A Dance club diva, Sybil, received kudos with the release of her first album, Let Yourself Go, which spawned three international hit singles. She has since gone on to do the same in the States with her first hit cover, “Don’t Make Me Over.” From Paterson, NJ, Sybil is on her way to receiving even more success with another classic, “Walk On By.” Radio is jammin’ to the new oldies at: WOCQ, WXYV, WDKX, WRKS, WDAS, WUSL, WCDX, WMKY, WIZF, WJMO, WJLB, WPZZ, WTLG, KPRS, KCMX, KATZ, WATV, WPEG, WWDM, WAAA, WKXI, KRN, WEDR, WXOK, WYLD, WOWI, WJHM, WPLZ, WMJH, WHJX, WANT, KJMJ, WLOU, KDKO, KGJF, KRIZ, KKLQ.

As producers, writers and recording artists in their own right, the Full Force team is one of the most talented and creative outfits in the music business. Renowned for their work with artists such as Lisa Lisa & Cult Jam, James Brown and Cheryl “Pepsii” Riley, the Brooklyn-based group has been steadily building their own reputation as hitmakers. “Friends B-4 Lovers,” the latest single from the group’s fourth album, is soothing listeners at: WXYV, WDAS, WUSL, WCDX, WMKY, WKYS, KMOJ, WIZF, WZAK, WDDD, KPRS, KPRW, KATZ, KJMJ, WVEE, KKDA, KRN, WEDR, WHQT, WQXL, WYLD, WOWI, WTMP, WHJX, WANT, WHJS, WLOU, WMGL, KJMH, KDJM, KRIZ.

Special, the title cut of their latest Motown album and the group’s current hit single, is indeed an appropriate description of the legendary Temptations. Recording since 1961, the group’s line-up includes: Otis Williams, Melvin Franklin, Richard Street, Ron Tyson and Ali Woodson. The Temptations continue to offer the special brand of vocal magic that has endeared them to audiences the world over through some 50 albums. Radio luv’s ‘em at: WTUG, WXYV, WDAS, WUSL, WCDX, WMKY, WUR, WLN, KMOJ, WBLZ, WIZF, WJMO, WVGO, WJLB, WDDD, WPZZ, KCMX, KPRW, KATZ, KJMJ, WATV, WENN, WQMG, WKXI, WTT, KRN, WEDR, WQQK, KQXL, WYLD, WOWI, WPLZ, KGJF, KDJM, KRIZ.

Will Downing knocked the socks off the European market with his rendition of Deniece Williams’ 1977 hit “Free,” from his debut self-titled album in 1988. The album achieved gold status within three months of its U.K. release. A string of sell-out concerts followed, with a command performance for England’s Prince Charles. This New Yorker’s second LP entitled Come Together As One, has radio in support at: WTUG, WXYV, WDAS, WIL, WAMO, WCDX, WMKY, WBLZ, WCKX, WVKO, WTLG, KPRS, KPRW, KCMX, WVEE, WENN, KJMJ, WZAZ, WEDR, WBLZ, WTMP, KACE, KJLH, KKFX, WKS, KQXL, WYLD, WOWI, WPLZ, WANT, WLOU, KDKO, KGJF, KDIA.

Michel ‘Le (pronounced Michell-AH) is one very unique addition to the foray of female vocalists on the current music scene. With an almost child-like speaking voice and hip, lady-like demeanor, her vocals roar through the 11 tracks on her self-titled debut album. Produced by Rap kingpin, Dr. Dre, with a little help from labelmate—The D.O.C., Michel ‘Le is one young artist to keep an eye on. She’s heating up the airwaves at: WTUG, WOCQ, WILD, WDKX, WUSL, WAMO, WBBM, WIZF, WJMO, WPHR, WVGO, WJLB, WPZZ, KCMX, KATZ, WATV, WENN, WWDM, KKDA, WAAA, WMJ, WKXI, WJTT, WEDR, WQQK, WOWI, WPLZ, WMJH, WHJX, KJMJ, WLOU, KDKO, KGJF, KKLQ.

“Owww!” declares larger-than-life Chunky A, “younger brother” of renowned talk show host Arsenio Hall, on his first MCA single. According to his official bio, Chunky ended up in the recording studio only after losing various jobs in Hollywood’s television industry because he began throwing his more-than-substantial weight around and “injured crew members on the set.” Well, T.V.’s temporary loss is music’s gain as radio is acknowledging Chunky A at: WTUG, WVKO, WDKX, WMYK, KMOJ, WCKX, WZAK, WJLB, WPZZ, WJLC, KPRW, WCKZ, KDKA, KIPR, WJTD, WBYD, WQQK, WJHM, WPLZ, WTMP, WJMH, WANT, KHYS, WLOU, KDKO.

Is it possible to have a six-year old hit single? Ask Marcia Griffiths, a former member of Reggae superstar Bob Marley’s back-up group the I-THrees and a Jamaican star in her own right. “Electric Boogie” (which has sparked the massive East Coast popularity of the “Electric Side” Dance craze) began life as a No. 1 hit in Jamaica in 1983. After being a staple on the playlist for several Washington, D.C. “oldies” digs, “Electric Boogie” became the most requested record in the history of the D.C. club circuit. With a hot new re-mix, “Electric Boogie” is electrifying radio at: WBSB, WOCQ, WAVQ, WRQX, WIOQ, WRVQ, WJMH.

A "STORMY YEAR" FOR R&B MUSIC

By Don Tracy
International Editor

The Quiet Storm format that has been so successfully brewing in the United States has only just begun to stir in Europe. Quiet Storm or Black A/C artists are not only being mixed into the European airwaves, but in the UK they are receiving their own programming time slots.

Michael Shaft, program manager for SUNSET Radio in Manchester, England, says that acts like Luther Vandross, Miki Howard and Maze are receiving fantastic reactions from the stations' listeners. "Here we have at least two hours every evening (of Quiet Storm) and a mix-in during the days. In the evening and on weekends I have to say we are heavily into the Quiet Storm format or 'Mellow Moods,' as we call it over here." Shaft went on to mention that the host for the Sunday show, which airs from 6-10 p.m., is Richard Searling. The nightly host is Hayley Brooks and her show runs from midnight till 2 a.m.

"Around these times, people are getting tired of the constant drum beat of the disco groove, which we have to play during the day to get the large, popular audience. People just want to mellow out that time of night," says Shaft.

I asked Christopher Roberts, international product manager for Polygram Records, what he felt was happening in Europe with the Quiet Storm format and its individual artists. He replied, "I would say up till now that the UK has had a very regional response to these records. Like in the case of Vanessa Williams—one of the artists who has far and above the others, achieved an international base. Sharon Bryant did pretty well with Atlantic Star, in the past, but not as well with this year's solo effort."

Roberts added, "Looking primarily at Germany, perhaps Holland and France which are the major markets for continental Europe, as well as the UK, a couple of tracks from Vanessa Williams seem to have gone down well. 'Dreaming,' I think, is a good example. It got a lot of air play and D.J. response all over the UK, and in Holland it had some good air play, as well." He went on to say that with the recent European release of the Main Ingredient's album it was much too early to tell how the record was going to do.

"I think we're going to find that with this format it's only going to get bigger and better," stated Roberts. Quiet Storm will make its mark in Europe. It's only a matter of time. And now, with the breaking down of communist boarders in Germany, Poland and in the USSR, American music, especially Black A/C is bound to be heard by a larger international audience. Almost anything Western will become popular in these nations, and what's more a part of original Western culture than Black music?

LOOKING BACK AT R&B INTERNATIONAL FOR THE YEAR 1989: World Records

—Starting off the year in the No. 1 spot on the UK charts was the U.S. band Inner City. Discovered by the British arm of Virgin Records, this Dance music duo featuring Kevin Saunderson and Paris Grey became a worldwide hit with the singles, "Big Fun," "Good Life" and "Ain't Nobody Better."

—Young British soul singer Mica Paris hit the R&B charts this year with the singles "So Good" and "My One Temptation." She began singing at age 14 and now, at age 19, she's a European and educational process. It's going to take some time. Right now it's the harder edge—Rap and Dance oriented club stuff that's making in-roads in Europe," stated Roberts.
U.S. success.

—One of R&B's biggest phenomena of the year was the Hip-Hop, Pop, R&B duo, Milli Vanilli. Rob Pilatus and Fab Morvan have made a name for themselves with millions of fans all around the world. The duo began pursuing their careers in Munich, where they sang background vocals for several bands. Morvan was born in the French-speaking Caribbean island of Guadeloupe and Pilatus was born in New York City, but raised in Munich, Germany. The group now calls London their home.

—One of the fastest and most persistent chart climbers of the year, was Paula Abdul. It was Virgin records that gave the well established choreographer and ex-Laker Girl the chance to make it as a recording artist. Already a huge success in the states, Abdul's single, "Straight up" peaked at No. 3 on the British charts and stayed on the Top 5 for five weeks. Abdul has been a great success all over ... Scandinavia, Germany, England, Australia, New Zealand and France.

—Fellow Virgin Records recording star, Swedish-born Neneh Cherry had her first hit this year with the album Raw Like Sushi. The first single "Buffalo Stance," was a hit in clubs all over the world. The single received enormous air play in Canada, Holland, Sweden, Norway, England and the United States.

—With the unbelievable success of Rap music in 1989, artist Tone-Loc left his mark on both the R&B and Pop charts. With the success of "Wild Thing," the 23-year old West Los Angeles Rapper spent the early part of 1989, comfortably in the Top 5 of the British charts; and climbed to the No. 1 spot in Iceland, Japan and the Netherlands. Loc received both the Rap Artist of the year and Rap 12" of the Year at this year's First Annual Metro Awards, presented at the R&B Report Forum '89.

R&B INTERNATIONAL'S QUOTES OF THE YEAR

—When asked about Virgin Records' great success with signing artists, Paule Micallef, international manager for Virgin Records replied, "Virgin has a lot of people on the streets, finding out what is appealing, what is happening and what is the upcoming thing. If we see something on the streets, if there's a buzz in clubs or something going on with imports, we go ahead and develop the project. That's how we are able to be on the edge."

—I asked The System about their future plans for a European tour. Mick Murphy answered, "We want to play every nook and cranny in Europe and we're looking forward to it. We're doing the universe." And partner David Frank added, "We're going to be the first R&B band in Moscow."

—R&B artist Kashif, on his thoughts about Rap music, "I love Rap music. It permeates a lot of boundaries. I think Rap music should be looked at as a very successful expression of the Afro-American plight and lifestyle."

I would like to take this time to thank all the readers of R&B International and to wish all of you a healthy and happy holiday season and a wonderful new year.
We Wouldn’t Be Where We Are Today Without Innovators.

In appreciation of that fact, we established The Sony Innovators Program—a celebration of the unique creativity of young Black artists who share Sony’s spirit of innovation. This year, Roberta Flack and Ossie Davis served as Master Innovators for the program. Gifted filmmaker John Perry III and brilliant jazz stylist Bob Baldwin were the Sony Innovators Award winners for 1989.

Now, we are searching the country for talented innovators in sight and sound for the 1990 awards. The categories are Music (writers, performers, arrangers, producers) and Film/Video (writers, producers, directors, filmmakers, program developers and performers).

THE STORY OF MODERN RECORDS

By Kevin Tong

Much of the public today (especially the younger generation) does not realize that most (if not all) of the current Rhythm and Blues music on the market is the result of years of trial and error, knocking down doors, overcoming prejudice and just plain practice. I mean, Regina Belle, New Edition, Troop, Stephanie Mills and Janet Jackson could not get to where they are today if they were not for artists like Billie Holiday, Nancy Wilson, The Temptations and Dinah Washington. They paved the road for today's youngest artists, overcoming the many obstacles of previous decades. The early part of the 1940's saw the popular development of some new forms of Black music, Blues, Gospel and the like. Even with restrictions on music recording during World War II, the public still desired to be entertained as a means of a "getaway" from the ravages of the war.

At the time, the major labels did not know quite how to handle the onslaught of this new music. While Decca Records referred to them as "sepia," and most others "ebony," and race" records, subsidiaries within the majors were created to carry the new artists categorized within this realm. But along the sames lines, many independent companies were given the change to emerge. One in particular—Modern Records—became a forerunner of this new styling, and developed an illustrious reputation, especially in the field of Blues. The whole Modern roster had an amazing array of distinguished artists.

Through the years, their impressive roster involved many famous and accomplished Blues artists like Jimmy Witherspoon, John Lee Hooker, Etta James, Z.Z. Hill, Ike and Tina Turner, Lowell Fulsom, Jimmy Reed, Bobby "Blue" Bland and the company's icing on the cake, Mr. B.B. King.

Besides Blues though, the Modern complex managed to record an immense number of different artists in almost every area of music, including Big Band (Earl "Fatha" Hines, Stan Kenton and Benny Goodman); Jazz (Stan Getz, Errol Garner and Dave Brubeck); Rock/Pop (Little Richard, Neil Sedaka and Ritchie Valens); Pop vocalists (Kay Starr, Nat King Cole and Pearl Bailey); and of course, your down-home R&B (Rufus Thomas, Brook Benton and The Isley Brothers). Many of these artists set the stage and standards for generations to follow. Their recordings remain timeless artpieces that embody a whole perspective of feeling, strength and true grit.

Modern Records was founded in 1945 by the Bihari Brothers (Jules, Joe, Saul, and Lester) in Los Angeles, CA. The whole family had migrated from Oklahoma in 1941 and settled on the West Coast. Their father was a feed grain farmer and salesman, so hard work almost seemed destined for the family. Little did they know, their rewards would be paid in full.

The venture into the record business began while Jules worked in the jukebox business. Many times when stocking the jukeboxes, he noticed that he could not get many R&B records—supply always fell short. As the story goes, the demand for one particular record, "I Wonder" sung by Cecil Gant, and its subsequent lack of supply, was the final straw that made the ball roll. Jules decided to start his own company. Eventually the whole family became involved in the operation. Along with three sisters, Ray, Florette and Maxine, Jules did most of the behind the scenes work and Joe did most of the recording.

The first record that Jules cut was a tune entitled "Swingin' The Boogie" by pianist Hadda Brooks. Brooks was an accomplished pianist who had her own groups including her own trio and a quartet. Jules met Hadda at a restaurant she used to frequent in the Japanese Town area of L.A. The record proved to be a minor hit, and the company was on its way. Even without major promotion, the records would sell. It was the jukeboxes that helped the records become hits. In the next few years, Hadda would have some wonderful instrumental hits with "That's My Desire," "Out Of The Blue" and "What Have I Done?"

The company had an amazing early growth period during the late 1940's as many of their releases achieved national success. Vocalist/guitarist Pee Wee Crayton had a No. 1 Race (as the chart was called before 1949) hit entitled "Blues After Hours." Crayton had moved to California during the Depression, and while playing at the New Orleans Swing Club in San Francisco, Jules Bihari was invited by a friend to hear him perform. Impressed with his performance, Jules flew Crayton and his piano, David Lee Johnson down to L.A. to record some sides. Along with Crayton, many other artists had hits including guitarist/pianist/vocalist Smokey Hogg ("Long Tall Mama"), bassist/vocalist Jimmy Witherspoon ("No Rollin' Blues"), The Floyd Dixon Trio ("Dallas Blues"). Little Willie Littlefield had a monster smash with a tune entitled "It's Midnight," which remained on the R&B chart for 13 weeks.

Blues guitarist extraordinaire John Lee Hooker began his illustrious recording career on Modern in the late 1940's. Hooker had played with Robert Nightawk and other Blues legends in Memphis before moving to Detroit. In 1949 he was on his way to international notoriety with the million seller "Boogie Chillen." (sounds like a Rap tune, doesn't it?)

B.B. King, perhaps the company's most successful artist, joined the roster of R.P.M. after he was signed by talent scout Ike Turner. King was born in 1925 in Itta Bena, Mississippi. After moving to Memphis in the mid 1940's, he had his own radio show where he earned the name "The Beale Street Blues Boy." For the next decade, his electric Blues guitar style garnered an impressive repertoire with a hit streak that began with his seventh release, "Three O'Clock Blues." King proved to be a very durable artist and consistent hit maker, having many No.1 R&B hits during his tenure with Modern. In 1961, King wanted out of his contract, but was only released after he recorded many more sides for the company. Releases on Kent continued through the 1970's. King is indeed the world's greatest Bluesman.

As times improved for Modern, the brothers purchased a pressing plant from Mercury Records on Robertson and Santa Monica Boulevards in L.A. With the huge success the company was experiencing from its releases, Modern grew into one of the only self-contained record outfits, doing everything from recording, producing and pressing, to artwork, jacket production and distribution.

Through the years, Modern branched out to form other subsidiaries. Among some of the more successful were Kent, Flair, Crown (a budget line), R.P.M. and United Superior (used for later releases). The Biharis even had a couple of Spanish labels.

Besides the many artists that would pass through the company's doors, others like Ike Turner, who got his start as a talent scout for Modern, made several recordings along with Tina. Lester Sill, Jerry Leiber and Mike Stoller also received their chance. It was Sill who helped Leiber and Stoller when he auditioned the pair of Fairfax High School kids. With members of the group The Robins looking on, Stoller (playing the piano) and Leiber went through a rendition of "That's What The Good Book Says." The Robins liked the tune and decided to record it. Although their success ranged from many outside projects like The Coasters for Atlantic and later their own Red Bird outfit, they found the time to help with the Modern roster including Jimmy Witherspoon.

Between 1954 and 1956, record sales (and chart success) eluded many companies because of white cover versions that would often fair better than the original. Still, the Bihari Brothers held their own ground. Shirley Gunter and The Queens (of which Zola Taylor of the up and coming Platters was a member) recorded the cute "Oop Shoop" and found themselves on the charts. However, the record was soon surpassed by The Crew Cuts' cover just a week later. Etta James (who was discovered by R&B band-leader and Modern talent scout Johnny Otis) recorded "The Wallflower" for Modern. The record became a R&B chart topper early in the year, but a more successful cover version by Georgia Gibbs on Mercury (as "Dance With Me Henry") robbed record sales from their own. In the end, though, the Biharis collected on healthy royalty checks from both of their releases.

Modern held its own with the release of "Eddie My Love" by The Teen Queens, Betty and Rosie Collins. Competing against Dot's Fontaine Sisters and Cadence's Chordettes, The Teen Queens' sophisticated version scored high on the R&B chart (No. 2) and successfully crossed over onto the Pop side (No. 14). Betty and Rosie's brother, Aaron, was part of The Cadets (also known as The Jacks), who had a tremendous hit with "Stranded In The Jungle." B.B. King added his own input with "Ten Long Years," "Bad Luck», "Sweet Little Angel" and "On My Honor" to round out an astonishing period. The Biharis decided to go south to New Orleans to experiment on the already successful sound that had been emanating from the city. Although the venture proved to be unsuccessful, vocalist Richard Berry, pianist Jimmy Beasley and guitarist Eddie Lang recorded some wonderful sides. In 1956, a pivotal year for the Biharis, they decided to turn to releasing LPs with the advent of Rock 'n Roll. Crown became the main subsidiary for album releases, while Kent was guided toward single releases.

Modern remained active throughout the 1970s, and was one of the last surviving companies from the old R&B era. A new subsidiary, United Superior Records was created to handle the reissues of songs from the old catalogue. Today, the company is owned by Frank M. Dileo, former manager for Michael Jackson. He recently purchased the Modern catalogue from Mouri Alexander (a former president of Modern), who purchased it from the Biharis in 1985. Dileo plans to start a major reissue campaign from the past catalogue of hits, as well as with never-before-released recordings.

Looking back, the Modern label was a tremendous factory that created incredible music. Its devotion to great sounds helped forge and shape the music of today—from Country to Rock 'n Roll, from R&B to Blues... Many of the artists that have passed through the doors are still around today, actively recording and singing. The influence and historical importance of Modern Records has had a remarkable impact upon the music world, and will continue to do so for future generations to enjoy.
For weeks now, one of the biggest products of the Black music rumor mill has been the whispers regarding Motown and its president, JHERYL BUSBY. If the street has the fate of the label and its head in hot water.

The mill has concocted a number of scenarios, among them: that Boston Ventures, the investment firm that with MCA owns Motown, is anguished at Motown’s lack of hits and is disillusioned with Busby; that Busby, in the wake of this supposed crisis, is considering going back to MCA; that Busby will take a VP position at IRVING AZOFF’s new Warner-distributed label (where virtually every Black music A&R exec in L.A. is rumored to be heading).

According to an inside source, nothing could be further from the truth. “Busby is just getting started,” insisted LEE YOUNG, JR., whose dealings with Motown as an attorney and manager give him a bird’s eye view of the label’s current situation. According to Young, the rumblings are simply part of Busby’s continuing company re-organization, plans that include replacing the, as-of-presstime, empty slot left by the recent departure of R&B exec RONNIE JONES. Also reportedly slated: inserting a strong Pop promotion staff and Motown’s direct involvement in the marketing and promotion of its product. Bubsy is also exploring the idea of Motown overseeing the manufacturing of its product. Currently, MCA, which distributes Motown recordings domestically, farms out to manufacturing plants both MCA and Motown product. “With Motown being responsible, you’d probably see label product in the stores faster,” Young reasoned.

In Young’s view, Motown could be doing better, but is in anything but trouble. “It took Busby four years to prove Motown can work,” he said. “No one thinks about that. Most of what’s going on there Black music-wise are his signings. Give the guy a chance.”

And, said Young, the Boston Ventures people aren’t upset. “Why should they be?” Their plan was to give Busby five years to get Motown on track. He’s only been in office about 18 months. And considering the recent sale of A&M to PolyGram for half a billion dollars, they now feel they acquired Motown at bargain basement prices.”

As for the notion that Busby could jump ship: “That doesn’t make sense,” said Young. “simply because the man owns a percentage of the company.”

Nevertheless, DIANA ROSS’ recent Working Overtime LP is among the failed efforts Motown detractors point to most.

Moreover, Young said Busby is strengthening the label by building a staff of in-house producers/songwriters and a Rap repertoire. “He’s worked Motown with new STEVIE WONDER and LIONEL RICHIE albums, which he’ll keep in ‘90,” said Young, despite rumors that neither artists have seen eye-to-eye with the “new” Motown. “When the label turns around, everyone will come running,” Young concluded.

MEANWHILE, BACK AT THE RANCH: ROGER DAVIES, who manages, among others, Tina Turner, is now interested in JANET JACKSON’s career, but only in regard to her upcoming tour; his office says. CHUCK BOOKER has been selected to head her band...that on-again-off-again-on-again-off-again TIME reunion is reportedly back on again, including previous hold-out JESSE JOHNSON. Word has the group opening for PRINCE on his upcoming tour, with some dates augmented by TAMARA AND THE SCENE, which just finished an LP for Paisley Park. Speaking of Paisley, SHEILA E. has left the label and is recording an LP for Warner. Last word didn’t have Prince involved in any way...looks like producer/songwriter BRYAN LOREN will make his record at Arista...BOBBY WOMACK reunited with manager J.W. ALEXANDER, has signed with Solar. So has choreographer and ex-SHALAMAR member JEFFREY DANIELS...Former Solar artist OTIS STOKES’ Curb debut LP, Wishful Thinking and single “A Woman Like You” is gradually picking up steam. This must ease the pain of picking up a Solar “Best Of” CD of his former band LAKESIDE and finding his lead vocals on the classic, “I Want To Hold Your Hand” deleted and replaced by those of a new member...the new look that producers-turned-artists REGGIE and CINO-VINCENT CAL-LLOWAY sport in their “I Want To Be Rich” video, on their ALL THE WAY Solar LP cover is a perfect example of what image development is all about.
After an eight year absence, Quincy Jones comes back hard, as his recent release Back On The Block leads this week's list of debuts entering at No. 14. Bustin' a move with a slammin' singles album is Bobby Brown also debuting on the Top 30 chart at No. 18. Season shoppers will help maintain Janet Jackson's No. 1 status throughout the holidays.

THE GAP BAND: Surviving The Gap In Time

By David Nathan

A glance at the current Black music chart and, in the words of Dionne Warwick’s 1979 hit, you could accurately call it “Déjà Vu.” Prominent late ‘70s/early ‘80s groups like The S.O.S. Band, Mother’s Finest and The Gap Band seem to be reclaiming their hit status without, for the most part, altering the basic style that originally catapulted them to recognizable acclaim.

In the case of brothers Ronnie, Charles and Robert Wilson, the return to chart favor is particularly rewarding since they were locked into litigation with previous recording affiliation (Total Experience) for some time. As Ronnie notes, “Our last legitimate album was Gap V (spawning the hit single ‘Party Train’) and that came out in 1983. The albums we had out were, for the most part, out in between, such as Straight From The Heart and the other three records, were composed of material that we did not write and produce ourselves. There was some music taken from old sessions and some music that was never meant for my first solo album.”

With their new Capitol Records deal, an immediate hit single in “All Of My Love” and strong response to Round Trip (their debut LP for the label), the Wilson brothers are putting the last few years behind them. “We tried to do some road work,” says Ronnie, “and our fans appreciated us being out there but we didn’t want to do any major touring for those last few albums that were put out. We did some overseas touring—we went to Germany, Holland, the U.K. and last year, we went to Japan. But it was a real trip because when we were in Europe, it seemed like a lot of folks didn’t even know we were there.”

Proud that they are regarded as a primary influence by many of today’s acts, Ronnie says that the group regards their role providing the inspiration for some of the New Jack Swing artists “as a compli-ment. The group Guy openly says that they listened to us when they were coming up and you only have to turn on radio and make your own decisions about other groups who did the same thing—even though some of them might not admit it!”

“Burn Rubber On Me,” “Yearning For Your Love” and “You Dropped A Bomb On Me,” The Gap Band established a niche for themselves with their distinctive R&B-based Funk-flavored music. Charlie Wilson says the group is gratified that, with Round Trip “We didn’t have to change our basic sound. Music changes all the time and it seems like the music industry came back to us in a way. But then, we’ve always thought of ourselves as trendsetters rather than people who follow trends.” Brother Ronnie adds that the group deliberately doesn’t pay attention to the radio—”We don’t listen to it because we’re not interested in trying to keep up with what’s going on. Anyway, by the time you’ve finished recording an album and it comes out, the trends have changed.”

Reluctant to single out any particular cuts, Charlie, Ronnie and Robert feel that their Capitol debut is really strong. “Of course, all the girls have been waiting for us, so now it’s time to get busy!”

Step Johnson, Capitol’s Black Music Division Vice President and General Manager, comments on the company’s decision to sign the band, “We feel that The Gap Band is one of the most talented groups to have come along in the last ten years and the immediate response we got on the first single even went beyond what we had anticipated. The Gap Band is a very high priority for us and we’re extremely pleased to have them as an addition to the roster.”

Once the group became free of their previous contractual obligations last year, they began talking with various companies but settled on Capitol “because it felt right. There was an abundance of enthusiasm at the company and a real belief that we were capable of doing it again as a hit group.” Charlie adds that, in the light of the reaction to The Gap Band’s return to hit status, “I bet the other companies we talked to are kicking themselves in the you-know-where!”

As The Gap Band continues to kick it with their hot new album, they say future plans include a Charlie Wilson solo album and a major tour due to kick off once he returns from his current stint performing on the road with Pop act Eurythmics. Says Charlie of the group’s current ‘roundtrip’ to the charts, “As far as we’re concerned, we never went anywhere. People didn’t have a clue as to why we didn’t have any records out. They’ve just been waiting for us, so now it’s time to get busy!”

A TRIBUTE TO "THE CONSUMMATE ENTERTAINER"

George Schlatter Productions in conjunction with Wilkinson/Lipsman, ABC television and American Honda Motor Co., are to be applauded for producing, promoting and sponsoring such a spectacular event as the one held in November at the Los Angeles Shrine Auditorium.

In honor of a man whose personal and professional contributions for over the past 60 years have been phenomenal, the stars of today and yesterday performed for and gave praise to the man who makes reference to himself simply as "a saloon entertainer." The man is none other than Sammy Davis, Jr.

Hosted by Eddie Murphy, the affair (to be telecast as a two-hour special on the ABC television network) was an all-star affair with such luminaries saluting the legendary entertainer as: Bill Cosby, Quincy Jones, Stevie Wonder, Michael Jackson, Bob Hope, Dean Martin, Frank Sinatra, Whitney Houston, Gregory Hines, Clint Eastwood, Anita Baker, Rev. Jesse Jackson and countless others.

Sammy Davis, Jr.'s contributions have been many and he has continued the tradition as the proceeds will benefit the U.N.C.F. —Thea T. Austin

THE TWENTY-SECOND ANNUAL NAACP IMAGE AWARDS

Decked out, checked out and clamored about were Oprah Winfrey (Entertainer of the Year) and Sammy Davis, Jr. (Hall Of Fame Award) at this year's 22nd Annual NAACP Image Awards. A Konigsberg/Sanitsky production, the show was held this past December 9, 1989 at the famed Los Angeles Wiltern Theatre.

To be aired on January 6, 1990, the show's line-up of celebrities was something to behold as they gathered together in the spirit of achievement. Spike Lee, Paula Abdul, Herbie Hancock, Rosie Perez, The Boys, George Clinton, Karyn White and Mike Tyson were among the many in attendance, supporting the struggle, unification and success of the NAACP and positive Black entertainers.

The energy level was high as super talents such as the Nicholas Brothers, Stephanie Mills, Soul II Soul, The Winans, Savion Glover and Christopher Williams took to the stage.

Chalk up another successful year for Blacks acknowledged by the organization largely responsible for getting them there. The NAACP still gets the job done.

A good time was had by all at Quincy Jones' listening party for his album Back On The Block. Sharing the warmth of the limelight are (l-r) Herbie Hancock, Quincy, Sarah Vaughan and Tevin Campbell, all of whom performed on the album.

THE "Q" IS BACK

The first major musical happening of the 1990's, the listening party and press conference for Quincy Jones' latest and much anticipated album, Back On The Block, was well attended by both the heavyweights and the hottest newcomers in the music industry, most of whom Quincy has either produced, composed or arranged for during his expansive career.

At the outset of the affair Quincy introduced an all-star panel of some of the performers on the album, who then fielded questions from the press. The panel consisted of Take 6, Siedah Garrett, Sarah Vaughan, Herbie Hancock, Andre and Sandra Crouch, Tevin Campbell, Bruce Swedien, Melle Mel and Ian Prince.

With such a magnificent cast of superstars and Quincy's musical midas touch, this album, his 51st involvement, promises to be an overwhelming success.

MICHEL 'LE

(Ruthless/Atco)

Current Single: "No More Lies"
Current Album: Michel 'Le

BACKGROUND:

Among the foray of female vocalists on the music scene to date is the 18-year old newcomer Michel 'Le. Born and raised in Los Angeles, CA, Michel 'Le (pronounced Michell-AY) was introduced to the recording industry by Rap music producer, Dr. Dre. Although producing female vocalists is not his forte, Dr. Dre was convinced that Michel 'Le had what it takes to be a winner after she auditioned for World Class Wrecking Crew and subsequently became a featured vocalist.

Dr. Dre went for the challenge and as a result, he's placed another "star in the making" notch in his belt. Michel 'Le's vocal diversity and wide musical range soar throughout the 11 tracks on her self-titled debut album proving that she is well on her way to becoming the star that Dr. Dre imagined.

Michel 'Le On Her Career Intent:

"I was never really one to want to be out front because I was really shy. But I enjoy singing and this is where I am now. So, what I'm most looking forward to, although I'm a little nervous, is getting out there—mainly to let people know that if you practice and work hard that your dreams can come true. It's true that anything is possible."

These brothers are Black and proud and saying it loud! The messages they send are real, deep and never spoken enuff. "Escape From Reality" is a cut that slices straight to the heart of the matter (social problems). This single contains a storyline for all and it's much more than "just" a rhyme.

RAP AROUND

According to my man Van Silk, D.J. Productions is presenting a salute to the 15th anniversary of Rap that should blow the minds of all the anti-Rap folk out there. It will be shown on a pay-per-view basis and will salute the pioneers and the superstars that have emerged over the last 15 years. According to Van, "The show will consist of an audio visual retrospective on the evolution of the Hip-Hop Rap culture. It has engulfed the entire planet with a rhythm and rhyme analysis of what is right and what is wrong as determined by their perception of what's going on." The taping location of the two part event will be the famed Apollo Theatre in the Big Apple and an underdetermined site in Los Angeles. It is set to take place during the Christmas school break. If this goes over as planned it will feature everybody who was ever somebody in the Hip-Hop world, and might even rival the Grammys as far as excitement goes.

One group of ladies that are sure to be included are L' Trimm, the sexy tosome of Bunny (19 years old) and Tigra (18 years old) who recently took out a few minutes to chat with me. According to Bunny, "We are trying to bring a feminine image to the Rap scene and trying to make it universal because there are enough guys out there."

Some of their favorite ladies are M.C. Lyte, Latifah, and The Real Roxanne. I'm outta of here!
The D.O.C. takes care of business as his album, No-One Can Do It Better, takes over the No. 1 position on this week's Top 30 Hip-Hop Chart™. No debuts, but three re-entries still kickin' include: Rob Base, Too Short and M.C. Hammer. And the hot mentions are: Redhead Kingpin, Young M.C. and Gang Starr.

Who’s New

TYLER COLLINS: A Star In The Making

A new artist enters the music scene. Her background speaks for itself, having worked extensively in theater, dance and opera. And having written the first release, “Whatcha Gonna Do?,” off of her debut album, Girls Nite Out, Tyler Collins not only challenges herself, but others as well, as the single represents a turn around in the personal life of Tyler—the end of a rocky relationship.

“When I wrote the chorus I was frustrated because I didn’t understand it,” recalled Tyler. “I was angry so I thought of this chorus. ‘You’re being a jerk now, what are you going to do when I’m gone?’ I was like, ‘You don’t even bother to call my name until the lights go out.’ That’s how I felt. It’s like that’s when I’m important. So I felt like, I’m going to get you all and put it in my song. But when I started to write the verses, the song wasn’t so much about this particular relationship, as much as it was about dating and guys in general.”

Already having worked with such artists as Stevie Wonder (who produced the duet “You & Me,” performed by Tyler and labelmate Grady Harrell and the cut, “Two In Love”) and Jeff Lorber (who produced the song “Beyond A Shadow Of A Doubt”) Tyler says that surprisingly they allowed her to do her own thing. “It was wonderful because they really allowed me to be myself, which I didn’t expect. So I felt like, I’m going to get you all and put it in my song. But when I started to write the verses, the song wasn’t so much about this particular relationship, as much as it was about dating and guys in general.”

Born in Harlem, New York, Tyler says she was inspired by some of the best including: Dorothy Dandridge, Aretha Franklin, Barbra Streisand, Chaka Khan and even Betty Boop. But the words of wisdom she remembers most come from her parents, who she says helped in shaping her career.

Crediting her mother for her independence and her father for perseverance, she learned to never rely on a man or anyone, for that matter, for things that she wants in life. Most of all Tyler learned that ultimately she must be happy with her life—rest assured, she’s all smiles.

records. And then I had the opportunity of meeting her and immediately was convinced that she possessed this really special quality. We stepped right up and said we’ll do an album with her because I believe she is a superstar in the making."

Many in the industry echo that thought. When you hear the name Tyler Collins you not only hear kudos for her work, but her sexy image, as well. And this, says Tyler, can have some pros and cons associated with it.

“‘If nothing else, I want people to say, ‘She’s a good singer’—and I’m getting that, which I’m really glad about. But I’m starting to hear things like, ‘Why are you doing this sex kitten image, by taking these sexy pictures? You don’t need to do that because you have talent.’ But what I want people to understand is that being sexy is not something that you do if you’re not talented. And I don’t understand why the two have to be separate. I’m not going out of my way to be sexy, and I don’t think that it’s something I need to be ashamed of. I like taking sexy pictures and wearing sexy dresses because I like it.”

This self assuredness, according to Skip Miller, Vice President, Black Music Division, RCA, is just one trait which makes Tyler stand out from the rest. “The first thing you get about Tyler is that before you speak to her you have a tendency to look at her. You feel a presence when she comes into a room. She also has a drive that’s hidden behind all of the quiet soft spoken parts of her. She definitely has her eye on winning. And those are the ingredients that it takes to get beyond the entry-level of this business.

When RCA Records Label President, Bob Buziak met Tyler, he noted a unique style of a different sort. “Superstars in this business always possess a certain kind of charisma that most people either hate or they don’t have. And when we first signed Tyler Collins it was based on a demo tape. We had signed her on a 12 inch basis to do a couple of 12 inch

Black AC is Here To Stay
By: Alyssa J. Shepherd

The current success of Black Adult contemporary formatted radio stations represents a positive change in programming strategy.

For years, many Black formatted radio stations, especially AM outlets, found themselves locked in a fierce battle with one or more similarly formatted stations competing for the same audience. The results were predictable; somebody would win, somebody would lose. Black AC has provided radio station owners and programmers an alternative format to reach the very desirable and growing 25+ adult market which may no longer wish to listen to the same station as teenagers and young adults.

Rap music may have inadvertently helped to make Black A/C successful. Steve Harris, Program Director for WJMO 1490, "No Scratch, No Rap," of Cleveland, suggested, "Adults don't necessarily want to hear the same music as teenagers. Yet, until recently very few Black stations wanted to stand toe-to-toe with the Top Black CHR station in their city." I spoke with three key Black A/C personnel who are part of the change and discovered that Black A/C may very well set the standard for other Black formats to follow.

Steve Woods, Program Director for "Smooth Hits" KACE of Los Angeles, pointed out that, "A/C in this city is filling a void." Willis Davis, owner of KACE and 3 other stations on the West Coast heard an A/C station in Chicago (V103) and very much wanted to bring the idea to Los Angeles. "Each station serves a different purpose," Woods added. "Only two of Davis' stations are A/C, however since KACE was notorious for its chronic changes, one more change could have hardly hurt the station. In this case the gamble paid off. KACE has been consistently A/C for more than a year and their Arbitron rating has increased to 1.6". Woods stated. "This A/C is it for the duration. We have no intention of changing for a long time."

Harris, of WJMO, stressed the importance of information gathering, "We have the largest news department of any Black Urban station in the country, because A/C listeners want news." As the "baby boomers" come of age their attention seems drawn to current events, "unfortunately," Harris stated. "Teenagers aren't as interested in newsworthy events as they should be." Stations that direct their attention toward teenagers are less likely to satisfy the need for news. Woods agreed. "When I'm looking for air talent I want someone who can relate to the adult audience with maturity, someone that keeps abreast of current events."

Understanding their audience, these A/C stations have created a distinct personality for their stations. In doing so they have had to make hard-lined decisions. "Adults are more open to a variety of music." Woods explained, "However, we chose music with a particular texture." So, at KACE you may hear Gospel in the morning, Blues in the afternoon, Sybil's "Don't Make Me Over" in the evening and Jazz all night. But you won't hear Janet Jackson's "I Miss You Much." Woods remarked, "It was rumored (through the industry grapevine) that KACE would be crucified for not playing 'I Miss You Much'... the beat was too up tempo for our format so we chose to play the smoother cuts from her album." WJMO's tabu affair was turning down certain contests that Harris felt did not reflect the station's image. Harris stated, "There was a time when Black radio didn't get very many promotional items, so we would take whatever we got, not realizing how an item could impact the audience's perception of the station... be it A/C or Rap, Black radio has to take pride in itself and not butcher the station with clutter." Harris went on to give an example. "It's hard for a listener to get excited about having to drive down to the station and show their driver's license for a tube of grease." There is little room for compromise in the development of a station's sound.

And while the switch is on all over the country to pay more attention to adults, Mike Archie, Program Director for WHUR (The Quiet Storm) says, "A/C may be new for other areas, but for us it is just a new name." WHUR has been playing music with adult appeal for more than 17 years. "At first we were called 'Progressive 96', "Archie recalled, "and our slogan was '360 Degrees of Blackness.'" According to Archie, and most advertising agencies, adult demos make up the bulk of the market. Adult listeners tend to be less fickle and collectively spend more money.

Having radio cater to a particular demo is reflective of our society as a whole. Narrowing the focus in marketing has become very important. The magazine industry no longer has entire families relying on Look or Life magazines to supply them with all of their information. Now, a family can choose between Self, Seventeen, or magazines designed specifically for car stereo buffs. In radio that means stations for Rap, Black CHR, Jazz, Top 40 and A/C.

Barry Mayo, General Manager for V-103 in Chicago stated, "WGCI is our biggest competitor, however, because of Doug Bank's excellent programming GCI hasn't suffered much from our format change. Mayo seemed convinced that no matter what the format, the station has to know their audience to succeed. As society becomes more specific in its focus, so does art, literature, sports, science and entertainment. Black A/C is a positive reflection of Black radio's diversity. Black A/C is certainly here to stay and although some may want to view it as a threat to other types of Black music, Black A/C is merely an extension.

Black AC is Here To Stay
By: Alyssa J. Shepherd

The current success of Black Adult contemporary formatted radio stations represents a positive change in programming strategy.

For years, many Black formatted radio stations, especially AM outlets, found themselves locked in a fierce battle with one or more similarly formatted stations competing for the same audience. The results were predictable, somebody would win, somebody would lose. Black AC has provided radio station owners and programmers an alternative format to reach the very desirable and growing 25+ adult market which may no longer wish to listen to the same station as teenagers and young adults.

Rap music may have inadvertently helped to make Black A/C successful. Steve Harris, Program Director for WJMO 1490, "No Scratch, No Rap," of Cleveland, suggested, "Adults don't necessarily want to hear the same music as teenagers. Yet, until recently very few Black stations wanted to stand toe-to-toe with the Top Black CHR station in their city." I spoke with three key Black A/C personnel who are part of the change and discovered that Black A/C may very well set the standard for other Black formats to follow.

Steve Woods, Program Director for "Smooth Hits" KACE of Los Angeles, pointed out that, "A/C in this city is filling a void." Willie Davis, owner of KACE and 3 other stations on the West Coast heard an A/C station in Chicago (V103) and very much wanted to bring the idea to Los Angeles. "Each station serves a different purpose," Woods added. "Only two of Davis' stations are A/C, however since KACE was notorious for its chronic changes, one more change could have hardly hurt the station. In this case the gamble paid off. KACE has been consistently A/C for more than a year and their Arbitron rating has increased to 1.6", Woods stated. "This A/C is for the duration. We have no intention of changing for a long time."

Harris, of WJMO, stressed the importance of information gathering. "We have the largest news department of any Black Urban station in the country, because A/C listeners want news." As the "baby boomers" come of age their attention seems drawn to current events, "unfortunately," Harris stated, "Teenagers aren't as interested in newsworthy events as they should be." Stations that direct their attention toward teenagers are less likely to satisfy the need for news. Woods agreed, "When I'm looking for air talent I want someone who can relate to the adult audience with maturity, someone that keeps abreast of current events."

Understanding their audience, these A/C stations have created a distinct personality for their stations. In doing so they have had to make hard-lined decisions. "Adults are more open to a variety of music," Woods explained. "However, we chose music with a particular texture." So, at KACE you may hear Gospel in the morning, Blues in the afternoon, Sybil's "Don't Make Me Over" in the evening and Jazz all night. But you won't hear Janet Jackson's "I Miss You Much." Woods remarked, "It was rumored (through the industry grapevine) that KACE would be crucified for not playing 'I Miss You Much'... the beat was too up tempo for our format so we chose to play the smoother cuts from her album." WJMO's tabu affair was turning down certain contests that Harris felt did not reflect the station's image. Harris stated, "There was a time when Black radio didn't get very many promotional items, so we would take whatever we got, not realizing how an item could impact the audience's perception of the station... be it A/C or Rap, Black radio has to take pride in itself and not butcher the station with clutter." Harris went on to give an example. "It's hard for a listener to get excited about having to drive down to the station and show their driver's license for a tube of grease." There is little room for compromise in the development of a station's sound.

And while the switch is on all over the country to pay more attention to adults, Mike Archie, Program Director for WHUR (The Quiet Storm) says, "A/C may be new for other areas, but for us it is just a new name." WHUR has been playing music with adult appeal for more than 17 years. "At first we were called 'Progressive 96', "Archie recalled, "and our slogan was '360 Degrees of Blackness." According to Archie, and most advertising agencies, adult demos make up the bulk of the market. Adult listeners tend to be less fickle and collectively spend more money.

Having radio cater to a particular demo is reflective of our society as a whole. Narrowing the focus in marketing has become very important. The magazine industry no longer has entire families relying on Look or Life magazines to supply them with all of their information. Now, a family can choose between Self, Seventeen, or magazines designed specifically for car stereo buffs. In radio that means stations for Rap, Black CHR, Jazz, Top 40 and A/C.

BARRY MAYO

BARRY MAYO, General Manager for V-103 in Chicago stated, "WGCI is our biggest competitor, however, because of Doug Bank's excellent programming 'GCI hasn't suffered much from our format change. Mayo seemed convinced that no matter what the format, the station has to know their audience to succeed. As society becomes more specific in its focus, so does art, literature, sports, science and entertainment. Black A/C is a positive reflection of Black radio's diversity. Black A/C is certainly here to stay and although some may want to view it as a threat to other types of Black music, Black A/C is merely an extension."
In the '80s we saw the emergence of the Quiet Storm/Black AC radio format. Here several key label executives share their thoughts on the impact of this programming trend.

Ruben Rodriguez, Sr. VP Black Music / Columbia

The Quiet Storm format is a tremendous vehicle which enables the listener to hear more than the current singles, out on the marketplace. That's important because the listeners want to know that they're buying an album filled with potential hits. This format has played a major role in the development of Surface, Regina Belle and Alyson Williams. I also expect good things from Oran "Juice" Jones, Cheryl Pepsii Riley, Johnny Kemp, New Kids On The Block, L.L. Cool J., Third Base, Full Force, Grover Washington, Jr., Terence Trent D'Arby, Earth, Wind & Fire, The Chimes, George Michael, Lisa Lisa, Perfect Gentlemen, Slick Rick and The Superiors, just to name a few. Look for big things to happen from Columbia in the '90s.

Doug Daniels, VP Urban Promotion / Elektra

The Quiet Storm format, especially the adult-oriented records which are passive in nature, is the perfect format. Reason being—if a record is passive it's not going to receive a lot of phone calls. It will take 4-5 weeks to develop, and that's the place to get it started. Because with playlists being as tight as they are, and with the amount of product in the marketplace, everybody is pressed for space. That puts pressure on a record to perform, and a passive record may not perform in a 3-4 week period. If it weren't for the Quiet Storm format those records would not get a true shot at radio. This has been a good year for artists like Tracy Chapman, Anita Baker and Teddy Pendergrass. Look for new product from them as well as Jevetta Steele, a new artist with the potential to be a major talent.

Step Johnson, VP/GM Black Music Division / Capitol

As America gets older Quiet Storm has the tendency to lend itself toward adults in a 25+ type market. We're very competitive people so there's more work and more stress. Everybody's looking for that easy way to relax. And that's why you see these formats surviving. For people that work hard everyday, the Quiet Storm means a chance to cool out with artists like Ashford & Simpson, BeBe and CeCe Winans, Peabo Bryson and Norman Connors. And as we enter the '90s, look for new product from The Whispers, Angela Bofill, D'Atra Hicks, Freddie Jackson and Peabo Bryson as well as many others. And also be on the look-out for a solo album from Charlie Wilson (Gap Band) and solo artist Raheem (former lead singer with G.Q.) The Quiet Storm/Black AC format can only get bigger.

Sharon Heyward, VP R&B Promotion / Virgin

I think it's great that as we go into the '90s Afro-American music can go into it with a diversification of lots of formats and different kinds of music. It doesn't have to be just one tempo and there is a good adult market out there for this kind of music. Quiet Storm can only increase in the coming years—basically because the baby boomers are of age. And as more people become 35+, it's a format that lends itself to being stressed out and able to turn on the radio. I think that Virgin did very well in the Quiet Storm format, considering the success of E.U. with "Taste Of Your Love," After 7 with "One Night," and Cheryl Lynn's "Whatever It Takes." And in the '90s look out for After 7, Laylah Hathaway, Kipper Jones (formerly with the group Tease) and a Quiet Storm sampler from Deja.

Ernie Singleton, Sr. VP Black Music Marketing/Promotion / Warner Brothers

A large part of our success has been due to Black radio making Quiet Storm music a major part of their format. One of our most outstanding records that has performed and broken out of that area was Karyn White's "Superwoman." Right now we are seeing the new Randy Crawford record and we had tremendous success with Al Jarreau, Take 6, Benson, Miles and Joe Sample. And although "Scandalous" by Prince is across the boards, the Quiet Storm has become an avenue for exploiting ballads. My only caution to the industry is that there are so many great Quiet Storm-type songs that are often times unfairly categorized as less than general market, when in reality they are major cross over records. So there is a danger that a lot of records may be pigeon holed into this format.

Increasingly it seems that Black Adult Contemporary and Quiet Storm artists are providing what consumers across the nation want to hear. That doesn't negate the influence and effect of Rap and other new music forms; it simply suggests that a balance is finally being created and adult consumers are no longer being disregarded in the constant push for greater sales.

There's room for everything from Jazz, Rap, Gospel, Blues and Black Adult Contemporary if we just stay open-minded; after all, Black music is one of the most diverse art forms and the artists who make Black Adult Contemporary and Quiet Storm records are reflecting yet another aspect of that great diversity. □

By Charles R. Bouley II

The music industry is filled with many stars shining brightly. Some shine for the moment, flare up and then disappear. Others start out shimmering and build in intensity until their light is so bright it illuminates the entire industry. Regina Belle is such a star. Ever since her debut Columbia album All By Myself hit the stores three years ago, anyone lucky enough to hear her unique phrasings and timeless style has known that her future is spelled s-u-p-e-r-s-t-a-r.

That claim is being demonstrated by the strength and musical excellence of her second album Stay With Me. It is an album that expands upon her sultry Jazz style, powerful, emotional sense of delivery and ability to transform from ballad/Jazz singer to a contemporary R&B/Funk artist. The album has a variety of sounds and will find a niche in each format. Many will find it hard to categorize the project, which is fine with Regina.

"I hate categories," Regina commented. "If we didn't have labels we would just have music. I make music—good or bad—and I respect a person for however they feel in relation to that as opposed to 'She's a Pop artist or an R&B artist.' Because I'm a musician making music. I make music—good or bad—fine with Regina.

Stay With Me is an exercise in versatility for Regina. Each song creates a definite mood and she has expanded on her already considerable range. Many of the cuts are intense love songs and deal with human relationships. The choice of material is something Regina feels very strongly about. Each song must fit like second nature.

"I have to have concept when I sing. The song can't be something that I don't know anything about or else I can't sing it. The message has to be something—not something that I have necessarily gone through in my life because God knows I wouldn't want to have lived through everything I've sung about—but I do want to have some type of understanding about what I'm singing. A singer without concept isn't believable. It is important to bring messages across to my audience through my music—ones that everyone can relate to," Regina said.

Regina is obviously getting her point across. The new album is being received with open arms by retail, radio and the public alike. "Baby Come To Me" went straight to No. 1 and the album soon followed.

"Everybody has been a partner, really involved in the success of Regina Belle—the press, retail, radio, television, booking agents, promoters and most importantly the public. That is what makes it such a wonderful experience," stated Ruben Rodriguez, Senior VP/Black Music/Jazz, Columbia Records. "This is a major artist development story and keeps getting bigger and bigger. Regina Belle is a superstar in the making, she is a star not only on stage, but off. She feels she can't give enough on stage and then carries that love to her fans off stage. She is sensitive and very intelligent and stays highly informed on what's going on in the world around her. That is why it is so easy for the entire company to be behind her. Everyone involved knows the scope of the project and is excited to be working on it," he concluded.

Sarah Melendez, Vice President, Marketing Black Music/Jazz Columbia Records, agrees. "We are looking at an artist with staying power. She is an all around artist. She is an excellent stage performer and her range and ability to sing transcends all categories. We are not missing a beat. All of the tools are in place and working at 100%," she stated.

Regina appreciates the company's dedication because she too feels that she is going to be here "longer than a minute."

"This is not just a job for me. It is my life. This is what God put me on earth to do. As long as I do the right thing with it, I'll be able to do it for a long time. And I'm much more concerned with that. You take away a person's livelihood and that takes their spirit. My spirit lies in music and that's something that can never be taken away," Regina commented.

One person helping her to make the right decisions to ensure longevity is Jazz great Nancy Wilson.

"Nancy is my show business mom. She looks after me from an industry standpoint. Nancy does things that my own mom would help me out with if only she was in the business. I am really blessed to have someone like Nancy that cares."

This sense of longevity is seen in everything Regina does. Her image is a classy one, opting for subtle colors, costumes and makeup.

"When I think of my image I think of my song 'Make It Like It Was.' I love old movies and their stars—Lena Horne, Marlene Dietrich and Nancy Wilson.

QUIET STORM:
A Major Force In Black Music

By David Nathan

"I never realized that!"—The words of a young A&R executive at a major record label when briefly perusing a recent issue of The R&B Report™ Black Singles Chart and discovering that six of the Top 10 records were ballads or mid-tempo groove tunes. That particular exec is part of the "new breed" of A&R folks in the Black music industry and his natural tendency had been to assume that New Jack Swing and Rap were still the predominant forces in Black music this year. But what about Surface, Regina Belle, Jermaine Jackson, Luther Vandross and Stephanie Mills, all lodged—at one point—in the Top 10 at the same time?

Is Black Adult Contemporary—or as it was originally known Quiet Storm becoming the most dominant format in Black music? Is it simply seasonal or is there a genuine trend away from New Jack Swing, Hip-Hop and other derivations back to real songs? Indeed, is the strong positive response that radio, retailers and record company executives report to Black Adult Contemporary and Quiet Storm artists a reaction in itself to the glut of same-sounding, producer-oriented records that threatened to take over the Urban airwaves late last year?

Talking with major figures in each area, the consensus is that while Rap in particular continues to have its own loyal constituency, Black Adult Contemporary music is taking a significant and large share of the market in terms of sales. Want some proof? How about four million-plus sales on Anita Baker's two Elektra albums (Rapture and Giving You The Best That I Got)? Luther Vandross, the undisputed "King" of the genre has guaranteed sales now of over one-million plus with each album and his "Best Of Love" Greatest Hits package has made more than a few folks happy this Holiday Season. Jermaine Jackson's wistful "Don't Take It Personal" single was a No. 1 single, to be replaced by Stephanie Mills' poignant rendering of "Home" and then Mr. Vandross' tender "Here And Now."

The whole Quiet Storm movement can trace its origin back to the mid '70s when Washington, D.C. jock Melvin Lindsey at WHUR was providing the perfect combination of mellow sounds for students not wishing to be distracted but in need of aural comfort while at the nation's prestigious Howard University. Visiting D.C. from New York City back in 1975, 1976, you couldn't help but be seduced by the perfect balance of romantic album cuts and singles by all manner of great artists—Norman Connors, The Isley Brothers, Phyllis Hyman, Leroy Hutson, Zulema and the man whose hit single gave the format its name, Smokey Robinson.

Through the years, Quiet Storm (originally just an evening program that Lindsey originated) became more than simply another part of the day's broadcasting, spreading across the nation to most major markets. In a more recent notable move, key radio stations have adopted a format tagged Black Adult Contemporary, differing only from Quiet Storm because it can and does include some uptempo material. Stations in Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia and New York have watched as listenership grows and record stores report increased sales.

Tony Brown, Program Director at WBLX-AM and FM in Mobile, Alabama, says that their AM station has been programming Black Adult contemporary since September and "The initial response has been great: people listen to the station in their workplace in particular, we have a target audience of 25-54 and the word on the street is that they love it."

Brown says that the type of music played in the format is also spilling over to listeners to the station's FM outlet: "Aside from the morning drive, we're finding that a large percentage of our daytime listeners want to hear more laidback music. Teens are in love with records by Regina Belle ("Baby Come To Me") and Randy Crawford ("Knockin' On Heaven's Door"); we're playing three ballads off the Babyface LP and a lot of Isley Brothers' cuts. We play Rap from 6:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. and then it's back to Quiet Storm, so I'd say that the trend is toward Black Adult contemporary across the board and yes, it could be a reaction to New Jack Swing and Rap. In fact, the AM station's slogan has been "no Rapping, no scratching, just good adult music" and it hasn't hurt us."

While not wholeheartedly endorsing Brown's sentiments about the move in Black Music toward Black Adult Contemporary away from other formats such as New Jack Swing, Program Director Ray Boyd from New York's WBLS agrees that "Black programmers are finally realizing the different approaches we can have toward our audiences ... there's a greater awareness, a better understanding of the different Black audiences we have today."

WBLS' format is tagged Contemporary R&B and Boyd says his aim has been to make the outlet the top adult station in New York.

Retailers say that Black Adult Contemporary and Quiet Storm are definitely impacting sales. George Daniels, owner of George's Music Room in Chicago reports that with V103 as a major radio outlet in the city, "the sales on records by Black Adult Contemporary and Quiet Storm acts have surpassed Rap sales. I've definitely noticed a difference over the past six months so it isn't simply a 'winter' phenomenon, when traditionally, ballads get played more often anyway. Not only is the sales increase for more mellow music showing up in current records, but as the station plays classic oldies—which are mostly ballads—we're seeing strong catalog sales too."

(Please see page 56.)
Karyn White (WB)
While many may have thought of Karyn as a Dance artist, her solo debut album, Karyn White, yielded more hits with an AC flavor than dancefloor rhythms. Fans listening to every format like AC, Top 40, Power, R&B and Quiet Storm sang along as Karyn kept singing to “Love Saw It” (a duet with the album’s co-producer Babyface) and the latest single “Slow Down.” But the smash hit “Superwoman” became an anthem for working women across America and established her as one of R&B’s sweet balladeers.

Vanessa Williams (Wing/PolyGram)
Vanessa Williams has proven that she has got The Right Stuff to make a successful recording career; determination, tenacity and unsinkable faith. This multi-talented entertainer has not always had it easy, but disturbing controversy seemed only to intensify her drive to succeed. Williams strives to the highest level of achievement in every endeavor undertaken, be it theatre, film or television. That fact is evidenced in her Wing/PolyGram debut album The Right Stuff, which was certified gold, and enjoyed across-the-board success.

The O'Jays (EMI)
As a collective musical force, Eddie Levert, Walter Williams and Sammy Strain have emblazoned a trail of innovation and excellence in the music industry. From their beginnings as teen-aged Gospel singers in the late 1950s, they have enjoyed the fruits of an expansive career overflowing with success, continually updating and sharpening their music. The latest release, Serious, is a testament to the energy and insight that has enabled them to enjoy such tremendous success and longevity.

Luther Vandross (Epic)
There are stars and then there are stars. Luther Vandross is definitely the latter, and add to that “super.” One of the most emotionally rich voices on the R&B music scene for the last ten years. Luther Vandross has been touching the hearts of many as far back as 1972 (The Wiz), then on to work with the group Change in 1980. His Epic debut in 1981, Never Too Much, garnered him two Grammy nominations and international acclaim. Vandross is truly the undisputed King of Soul, and 1990 is sure to be another successful year.
Anita Baker
(Elektro)

If anyone is responsible for reemphasizing Black Adult Contemporary music into mainstream Pop, it is this classy lady of song. The phenomenon started with her second solo album, Rapture and fans have been caught up in it ever since. While the music contained on her last release, Giving You The Best That I've Got, could definitely be classified Quiet Storm/AC, it blazed a trail straight over into mainstream. This subsequently opened doors for many other Black AC artists.

Maze
(WB)

Maze has been a hit making locomotive since the early 70s. Comprised of Frankie Beverly, Vernon Black, William Bryant, Robin Duhe, Wayne Lindsey, Roame Lowry, Ron Smith, Michael White and McKinley "Bug" Williams, the group has risen to international acclaim as a dynamic recording and performing unit. Maze's debut album for WB, Silky Soul, is breaking new ground for the 90s and proving that Maze is a formidable musical force of the past, present and future.

Vesta
(A&M)

Vesta has one of the biggest voices in R&B today. Her power and emotion are almost unmatched, and the album Vesta 4 U demonstrated her versatility and astounding commitment and understanding of the artform of R&B. While her album contained numerous Dance tracks, the biggest responses came from "Sweet Love" and the AC and Pop smash, "Congratulations." Vesta's sound is destined to become legendary.

Regina Belle
(Columbia)

Regina Belle is an AC artist and the fact that AC has come into its own at radio and retail is working to her advantage. Now that a broad base of listeners are accepting Jazz flavored, emotional love songs (thanks mainly to Anita) there is no stopping Regina. "Baby Come To Me," from the album All By Myself, soared to the No. 1 position and the album soon followed. The latest single, "Make It Like It Was," is following in the same vein. Regina is a singer with a unique and timeless quality.
Surface
(Columbia)

By placing emphasis on extending the scope of their music through innovation, Surface has garnered wide acceptance in the industry. Each of the group's members, Dave "Pic" Conley, Bernard Jackson and David Townsend, have an extensive musical history. Thus, diversity they possess collectively, as well as independently, commands attention. Their current smash LP, 2nd Wave, further reveals their astounding creative depth and imagination.

Babyface
(Solar/Epic)

This time last year, Kenny "Babyface" Edmonds was receiving great kudos as Producer of the Year. Along with Antonio "L.A." Reid, he's penned major hits for The Whispers, Karyn White, Bobby Brown, Pebbles, The Deele and many others. Nowadays, his solo career is receiving the spotlight. His album, Lovers, has already generated two chart-topping singles, "Tender Lover" and "It's No Crime," and it continues to dominate the airwaves. He's got just what it takes to make the hits of today.

Stephanie Mills
(MCA)

Nobody can send you Home like MCA's sizzling superstar, Stephanie Mills. She became the favorite little girl from "Oz" back in the 70s smash Broadway play, The Wiz. With her Tony Award winning success, she went on to become an even bigger star receiving great success as an actress and a recording artist. The success of her albums, as well as several TV and stage appearances, are evidence of the popular demand for her incredible talent. With fans the world over, she is a sure bet for continued success in the 90s.

Guy
(MCA)

1989 has been quite a year for Teddy Riley, Aaron Hall III and brother Damien Hall—the men behind the moniker Guy. The innovative sound and beat of hits like "Groove Me," "I Like," and "Piece of My Love" has set a new standard of sound—best known as the New Jack Swing. This street-wise, Urban/Pop blend of music and lyrics has been the magic formula to skyrocket these three guys to new career heights.

Dietrich. I like class. I like to leave things to the imagination. I think people need that. They are wanting things to be like they used to be and that's how I want it—classy and sophisticated, yet fun and enjoyable. Personal image also reflects on your music, so I try not to present a conflict. Singing the types of music that I do, I couldn't see myself in outlandish or skimpy costumes," she laughed.

Part of the success of the new album is due to the excellent production work by Nick Martinelli, Narada Michael Walden and Barry Eastmond. The hookup with Narada almost didn't occur.

"Working with Narada was great. I worked with him on the 'All I Want Is Forever' duet with James 'LT.' Taylor, previous to my album. Before I had worked with him on the duet he told Columbia that he wouldn't be able to do any cuts for me. Then we did the duet and he liked my voice and made time for me. I was thrilled about that. He made it so easy in the studio. Part of being a good producer is being an excellent cheerleader. He is an excellent cheerleader. He had candles, beautiful flowers on a white grand piano and set such an ambience for 'Baby Come To Me' that I had to do a great song."

Regina's next single is the powerful ballad "Make It Like It Was." It follows her success with "Baby..." and her other chart topping effort with Surface on their "You Are My Everything." She is touring and doing numerous television dates, including a second performance on the Carson show (December 12). It seems the producers were so impressed the first time, they asked her back.

Often compared to Billie Holiday, Regina feels flattered that they would put her in such company. She is also expanding her horizons and has read for the role of another Jazz great, Josephine Baker, in an upcoming HBO special on her life. If all of the notoriety continues, it could well elevate her into the status of her idols Nancy Wilson, Lena Horne and La Baker—the divas.

"I don't know if I can be a diva," she laughed. "To be a diva—Lena Horne, Billie Holiday, Ella, Betty Carter, Nancy Wilson—you have to have gone somewhere, done something, made some milestones first. I don't think I've been enough places to be a diva."

Maybe not yet. But look out. Regina Belle is going places, mainly, straight to the top.

Daniels says it isn't just the adult demographic that's purchasing, "We get younger consumers who come in and buy music by Jazz-oriented acts like Alex Bugnon, Bobby Lyle and Joe Sample."

From his Boston and Cambridge stores in Massachusetts, owner Skipp White agrees that a good proportion of his sales come from artists who fit into the Black Adult Contemporary and Quiet Storm mold. "Our stores sell music that doesn't always hit the charts—like the new Bobby Bland album, LPs by Ruth Brown, (sax player) Walter Beasley, records that don't always get a lot of airplay. I find that whereas a Rap album may sell quick-
DAVID BENOIT
Waiting For Spring
(GRP)
Known as an up and coming contemporary stylist and outstanding session man, David Benoit switches gears and records an album of traditional sounding originals and standards. Upon listening to this collection and reviewing the titles, it becomes apparent that Benoit is paying somewhat of a tribute to the late greats, Bill Evans and Vince Guaraldi. Sometimes overlooked and underrated, Emily Remler lends exemplary support on guitar. My favorite track was “Some Other Sunset,” featuring some spirited interaction between Benoit and Remler with some resounding bass work from Luther Hughes. Bob Benoit (David’s brother) plays a great rhythm guitar on Sammy Fain’s and Paul Francis Websters’ classic, “Secret Love.” This album is truly a nice piece of work.

GROVER WASHINGTON, JR.
Time Out Of Mind
(Columbia)
Grover Washington, Jr. received his first saxophone from mom and dad at the age of ten. By sixteen he left Buffalo after graduating from high school to play and tour with The Four Clefs. In 1971 after playing with some of the best in the business Grover went solo and continues today to be a major force in Jazz. His current album, Time Out Of Mind, has something for everyone. “Sacred Kind Of Love” with Phyllis Hyman in a mid tempo groove, has already garnered extensive play. “Brand New Age” is an up-tempo groove number that is also receiving lots of attention. “Gramercy Park” and “Fly Away” are both soft and warm tracks done in typical Grover melodic style, and the title track “Time Out Of Mind” is an excellent Steely Dan cover.
—Kelvin Ellis Sutton

JOHN SERRIE
Flightpath
(Miramar Records)
On his second album, Flightpath, John Serrie exerts an impressive command of synthesizer technology and technique, yet wields this control in an imaginative, exciting manner. Serrie has honed his skills contributing to projects by Laura Branigan and NAC fave David Lanz, a plethora of major commercial music and composing themes for planetariums. Flightpath finds Serrie looking skyward in a series of compositions designed to portray the feel and exuberance of flight. The buoyant title track exudes an engaging melody and touch rare in electronic music. “Outreach” and its syncopated programs are tastefully framed by clever synthetic patterns and shapes. Serrie’s ultimate destination can only be success and Flightpath is a trip you’ll want to join him on!

ANGELA WINBUSH
The Real Thing (Mercury/PG)
838 866-4

There's no doubt about it ... Angela Winbush is The Real Thing as her current album will prove with vocals that magnify the depths of each lyric and fingertips that bring about each rapturous chord and sensuous stringline. It moves, it soothes and tantalizes the core of thought with much more than mindless words and non-directional music. Angela has outdone herself this time as the ace producer, arranger, writer, composer, performer and vocal talent on the album's nine tracks. The LP's first sassy Dance single, "It's The Real Thing," was the perfect intro for Angela to the new and old generation of buyers, and that familiar spunk and downright chutzpah Funk flows throughout the album with the same energy—whether up, mid or ballad. Ronald Isley's smooth vocals lock with Angela's again on the duet, "Lay Your Troubles Down." This LP is an example of excellence in the making.

JERMAINE JACKSON
Don't Take It Personal (Arista)
ARCD 8493

Jacksons, Jacksons, everywhere you look, there's a Jackson. Is there no end to the first family of R&B talent? Obviously not, Jermaine's latest release is his best and most comprehensive in years. From the opening groove of "Climb Out" (one of the best cuts) to the romantic duets "Make It Easy On Love" (featuring Miki Howard) and "Rise To The Occasion" (with La La), Jermaine displays vocal diversity and ability to capture a variety of sounds. Expert production work by Dave "Pic" Conley and David Townsend (Surface), Kashif, Preston Glass, Dave Z and Lewis Martinee highlights the album but does not overshadow Jermaine's talents. While the album is musically sound, it is also Jermaine's most commercial project in some time. Cuts destined for airplay success include: "So Right," "Rise To The Occasion," "Don't Make Me Wait," and "(C'mon) Feel The Need." If all of this great music keeps coming, the '90s could be a tribute to the entire Jackson clan.
