From the moment the first words were spoken on WLS April 12, 1924, the station has been dedicated to a policy of effective friendship and kindly service to listeners. As we approach our twentieth anniversary, I like to look back. Our most satisfying accomplishment, to me, is the place WLS has earned in the hearts of Midwest American listeners. I like to look back on the $217,000 which listeners sent to WLS for relief of tornado sufferers in 1925; on the food and clothing stations established by WLS for the needy in the depths of the depression; on the $45,000 listeners have contributed to the WLS Christmas Neighbors Club, to equip children's hospitals and orphanages. These are only a few of the projects in which WLS has been the leader; but in each case, WLS has been only the intermediary for the radio listeners and those in need. In every instance, it has been the radio listener showing his trust in and loyalty for WLS—evidence of the effectiveness of our policy of friendship and kindly service. As we now enter our twenty-first year, I reaffirm the same pledge I gave on taking over WLS in 1928: to hold sacred this trust, this obligation to constructive service, for all the years to come wherein I am given the privilege of serving.
"Mommie told me not to do it . . . if I do it, I get a whippin' . . . I dood it!"

Thus might Red "Junior" Skelton speak if that imaginary understudy to a juvenile delinquent were confronted with the 910 challenging feet of climbing which WKY's new antenna would offer him.

And while "Junior" clung to the topmost girder of this, the second tallest radio tower in the Western Hemisphere, and "Mommie" tore her hair 910 feet below, he could look out over the rolling plains, cities, towns and villages of Oklahoma and see farther than some stations can be heard. From this height, engineers tell us, you can see for 50 miles; not a bad spot for FM and Television antennae which, come peace, will surely be perched there.

But WKY's new tower and transmission facilities are being built to be heard, and not seen. When completed and in operation, more people in Oklahoma will be able to hear "Junior" and the scores of other personalities and programs over WKY than ever before. And this is adding increased coverage to the already largest coverage of any Oklahoma City station.

TWO GOOD GRIPS on the NEW YORK MARKET

WOV's firm hold on two great and responsive audiences gives this important station a continuous, impressive, around-the-clock audience that results in satisfied sponsors anytime of the day or night. In the daytime, according to January Pulse, WOV dominates metropolitan New York's Italian-speaking audience, reaching as many as 76% of the 520,000 Italian radio homes. And in the evening, between the Hooper checking hours of 7:30 and 10:00 p.m., WOV reaches more radio homes, at the lowest cost per listener, than any other New York Independent station.

WHO IS RAY HENLE?

Ray Henle is a well known Washington newspaperman, Blue Network radio commentator and political correspondent for Newsweek Magazine. He brings to the organization of the Washington Bureau one of the widest backgrounds of Washington news experience known to radio. Ray Henle began his Washington reportorial work with the Associated Press in 1926, and since then has covered all major assignments in the national capital, including the White House and both branches of Congress.

Ray Henle has a wide acquaintance among the leadership of both political parties, and he has covered every Republican and Democratic Convention since 1924. He traveled extensively with Presidents Coolidge, Hoover and Roosevelt, as well as making many transcontinental tours with Presidential and Vice-Presidential candidates. For 15 years prior to engaging more extensively in radio Ray Henle was Washington correspondent of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

WHO IS MALVINA STEPHENSON?

Malvina Stephenson, one of the national capital's well-known women reporters, is a member of the Washington staffs of the Kansas City Star and Cincinnati Times-Star. She began her career on the Tulsa (Oklahoma) Daily World.

Interested in women in politics, she came to Washington in 1940 in time to get in on the political conventions and the campaign. Two years later found her in Mexico on a special assignment, including an interview with President Camacho for King Features. Malvina Stephenson has contributed frequently to the North American Newspaper Alliance, and she is corresponding secretary of the Women's National Press Club.
The West Virginia Network
Announces the Opening of Its
WASHINGTON BUREAU
UNDER THE DIRECTION OF RAY HENLE
ASSISTED BY MALVINA STEPHENSON

The West Virginia Network takes pride in being the first radio organization in the nation, with the exception of the four major networks, to open its own bureau for West Virginia coverage of wartime Washington.

The purpose of this Washington Bureau is to give West Virginia listeners larger and more intimate coverage of Washington news in which West Virginians are primarily interested.

Ray Henle as chief of The West Virginia Network’s Washington Bureau will give a detailed, factual and interpretative report of the activities of the state’s Congressional delegation and will review the activities of prominent West Virginians in national service and report on economic, industrial and other subjects of especial interest to our listeners.

Says—“We have used spot broadcasting effectively from Alaska to Mexico”

That’s a nice little word, that "effectively", Mr. McDougall. It points up a thought that we’ve wanted to get across for a long, long time. To wit:

Spot-broadcasting isn’t the glamour gal of radio. It almost never employs the services of great stars, or holds down the choicest bits of evening time. It rarely brings "Honor Awards" to sponsor, agency or program director. But boy, oh, boy—how it gets out into the foxholes and bomb-pits of Selling, and effectively does its job!

Where radio effectiveness is required, we of F&P have a great deal to offer—from Alaska to Mexico!
FCC Draws Sharp Rebukes From Congress

Status of Bill to Revise Law in Doubt

CAUGHT in a legislative jam, the FCC last week was subjected to Congressional lambasting, with the restoration of the two-million-dollar cut in its 1945 fund all but a forlorn hope.

As the Senate clipped approximately $2,164,000 from the FCC's recommended $8,000,000 (see page 11) appropriation, the House Select Committee to Investigate the Commission spent most of the week in hearing rebuttal testimony of FCC Chairman James Lawrence Fly and General Counsel Minority R. Denny Jr. Repeated clashes between Committee members and FCC witnesses occurred.

Meanwhile on the Senate side the status of the White-Wheeler bill (S-514) remained in doubt, although the co-authors, Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont.) and Sen. White (R-Me.), acting Majority Leader, conferred during the week. The Wheeler revisions to the measure were believed generally unacceptable to Sen. White. [BROADCASTING, March 20.]

Dix-Winchell Feud

Reports were current, however, that another revision might be submitted to the full Committee of 21 members this week. Despite that, however, informed observers felt the road toward legislation at this session is a torturous one.

Radio news vied with the headlines in other respects, too, with the Congressman Dix-Walter Winchell feud consuming considerable time in the House debates. While Rep. Dix (D-Tex.), chairman of the House Committee to Investigate un-American activities, appeared to be satisfied with the 15-minute allotment of time following the Winchell broadcast Sunday night, Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich.) kept the issue alive with allegations against Winchell and his sponsor, the Andrew Jergens Co.

Chairman Dix, in his Friday testimony before the House Committee, hinted he had read secret testimony taken by the Committee, as well as the public record, and admitted the Commission had considered establishing a high-powered "presumably" Government-operated standard broadcast station in Alaska.

Mr. Fly's disclosures came during cross-examination on his pre-August 1942 testimony and before the Interdepartment Radio Advisory Committee, during which he denied he had ever interfered with IRAC charges before the Committee. Mr. Fly opposed new radio legislation with reference to Presidential authority to grant frequency allotments to Government agencies, although he told the Committee that "if a conflict arises, it might well be defined by legislation."

Ordered to Answer

Several times Committee Chairman Clarence F. Lea (D-Cal.) had to instruct Mr. Fly to "answer the question." In several instances questions put by Harry S. Barger, acting Committee general counsel, were the basis of Mr. Fly's objections to "this line of questioning". Reps. Warren B. Magnuson (D-Wash.) and Richard B. Wigglesworth (R-Mass.) Committee members, also cautioned Mr. Fly to answer direct questions.

Among developments of last week's hearings, which saw Mr. Fly, Mr. Denny and George E. Sterling, assistant chief engineer in charge of the Radio Intelligence Division, as witnesses, were these:

- Rep. Louis E. Miller (R-Mo.) charged FCC "bungling" sent a Naval task force into Alaskan waters and resulted in an "accident". Chairman Fly and Mr. Sterling categorically denied any "bungling". Mr. Sterling explained how the RIC functions with respect to giving "radio bearings" to the military.

- Mr. Fly again declined to submit letters to the Committee between himself and President Roosevelt regarding a unified international carrier study on the grounds that the correspondence was that of the Board of War Communications and not within the Committee's jurisdiction.

U.S. Prepares to Count Farm Radios

Important Market Data Will Be Collected In 1945 Census

By JACK LEVY

A VERITABLE gold mine of information useful to broadcasters, advertisers, agencies and market researchers will be collected by the 1945 quintennial farm census of the United States now being given a sample test by the Census Bureau.

In addition to determining the number of radios on farms in each county of the nation, with related information which will show electric and battery operated sets, the census will provide stations and advertisers with comprehensive data indicating potential markets for specific lines of merchandise by counties and possibly by city divisions.

Under the direction of Zellmer R. Pettit, Chief Statistician for Agriculture, the Bureau is now conducting a test census of the schedules to be used in its extensive 1945 survey of farm operations. This test, covering 3,000 farms in 46 states, will provide, among other statistics, a rough estimate of the number of radios on farms in the country, with a breakdown by geographic divisions. Mr. Pettit expects to have this data tabulated by June.

Involving the employment of at least 26,000 enumerators who will personally visit every one of the nation's 5,000,000 farms, the 1945 census will include information on 205 questions listed in the schedules. These include data on farm ownership and tenancy; value of machinery, automobiles, trucks and tractors; value of land and buildings; crops grown and cash sales during previous year; production of poultry, eggs, fruit, vegetables, dairy products, beef, mutton, pork, wool; electric, telephone and running water facilities; persons living on farms, outside help employed.

From the mass of data collected, the Bureau will be able to provide information from which it can compute the number of farm radio owners served by each station, the size of farms served, the income levels of farm listeners, and market potentialities. Data obtained by the census will enable advertisers to determine specific markets for farm equipment, feeds, fertilizers, insecticides, automobiles, plumbing, building materials, and numerous other items.

Moreover, the information will provide a basis for special studies for stations, such as have been made previously by the Bureau, covering areas served by stations, volume and value of farm production by commodities, gross income of farms in particular counties, and sales by farmers and value of farm-produced goods consumed on farms.

Once the information on farm radios is obtained, Mr. Pettit said, the Bureau will be in a position to undertake sample surveys by mail.
PROGRESS SHOWN IN BLUE SALES

BLUE NETWORK has made commercial advancements for four counts, according to a February-March progress report released last week by Edward F. Evans, research manager. The report showed a total of quarter-hours sold in network optional time at night in March 1944 was 76.2, compared with 62.5 in the same period last year, while the daytime percentage figure is 45.2 as against 28.4.

A total of 74 daytime quarter-hours were sold in February of this year, while 51 were sold in February 1943 and 38 in 1942. Total nighttime and daytime figures for the past month were 157.

Average number of stations per commercial daytime day increased 75% over last year's average. There is a 40% increase for nighttime sponsored programs. With the addition of new stations and programs, the number of total sponsored station hours for a sample week in March amounted to 6,197 this year, as compared to 3,325 last year, and 2,066 in 1942.

At the concluding session on Wednesday, the station service committee met, with Charles Godwin, assistant director of station relations, presiding. Speakers were Robert Fry, research and engineering manager, George Chambrel, and station traffic manager, and Andre Poole, engineering traffic manager.

Among those present at the New York Conference in addition to network officials were:

What an Agency Wants in Radio Surveys

ANNOUNCEMENTS by Cooperative Analysis Board and Hooper Reports of plans for wider coverage, more data and more interviews are an aftermath of a controversy that has been raging since Hooper opened his doors a decade ago.

Those of us in agencies have been explaining for years the difference between the basic radio measurement by Nielsen and the second-by-second measurement by Hooper. There is a growing demand for the latter, especially by radio writers who are inclined to be a little impatient in such details, and we felt justified in making recommendations for the exclusive use of one service or the other based on our judgment of the validity of the method. Our task was complicated by the fact that as soon as we got the CAB successfully explained, they changed their method.

Now CAB has abandoned the telephone recall altogether and before we begin all over again, perhaps we had better think it over pretty carefully.

What do we want in radio research, what are we getting and where are we going?

Basic Need

The primary need of all research, regardless of the special field, is continuous, adequate measurement. This quantitative information ranges all the way from circulation, sales and production statistics to measurement of magazine reading and radio listening. The need for quantitative data was recognized early and services were established that prospered because they fulfilled it. But research can not afford to remain static, other needs must be met if management is to continue to accept its research personnel into a full-partnership status.

The general trend of new needs has been toward qualitative data. Although we know that our product is being sold we can do a more effective selling job if we know who buys it and why they prefer it to some other brand. Or to be more to the point in radio, after we know approximately how many people listen, we have to know how long they listen, what else they listen to, how many times they listen in a week or a month, etc.

A beginning has been made in the field of marketing toward the development of continuous qualitative information through the introduction of the consumer panel technique and I believe that now is the time to fulfill the need in radio.

It may be one of the times because the recent announcement of the CAB to drop the recall method proves that the radio industry has made its choice between the two qualitative techniques. When these were available, and the CAB was faced with the alternative of ceasing operation, continuing with an unpopular idea, or changing to the better-accepted thing.

If the board of governors had determined to follow the first alternative and suspended operation entirely, it would have been an honorable decision. Fifteen years ago they led the crusade to do the job that badly needed attention, and it is a pity, but they lacked the courage to establish a cooperative operation (always the most difficult to administer) and immediately began to deliver the statistics that helped raise a new medium from the dark of guess and "genius" to the light of scientific evaluation. With the need for a continuous qualitative service as great as the need for the quantitative data was 15 years ago, isn't it time for the CAB to polish up its armor again?

A Double Bill

If the CAB continues with its present plan to remain in the quantitative field they will undo all the good that their courageous leadership accomplished before. They will force the industry either to pay a double bill for an unnecessary duplication of service or to choose between the services, with a consequent decrease in revenue for both. This will tend to curtail further research on refinements of the technique and limit future expansion. I don't believe we need to fear the boogy-man cry of "monopoly"—if prices get too high free price competition has a way of taking care of situations like that. And besides, the original purpose of the CAB was to provide for our intellectual welfare, not to look after our pocketbooks.

In addition to the double burden on the industry, consider the double burden on the telephone lines. If CAB and Hooper expand to include approximately 80 cities in each sample, there is a great possibility of duplication between the two samples. Think of the unhappy plight of the citizens of some town with 50,000 souls with 5,000 residential telephones and two crews of industrious researchers probing for program listening via those phones! It would be folly in wartime and is needless waste in peacetime.

With the establishment of a private measurement service that has met with such widespread approval that the CAB itself admits that the telephone technique is better, their interest in the CAB is over. I hope that we will then again accept the challenge to provide the leadership in the development of a new service that will raise the standards of radio research still higher. In my opinion, this new service, this qualitative analysis of radio audiences, should include information on individual programs showing continuously:

a. Distribution of Listeners by Economic Groups.

b. Distribution of Listeners by City-Size and Farms.

c. Duplication of Audiences between Programs.

d. Source and Flow of Program Audiences.

e. Cumulative Audiences by Weeks and months.

f. Audience Turnover.

g. Frequency of Listening.

There are at least three ways of obtaining this qualitative analysis: The automatic recorder method used by the Nielsen Radio Index, the consumer panel, diary system, and personal interviewing. It is not my purpose to choose between the two but merely to point out that it is not an impossible task. During the war it may be difficult to make the best of these techniques operate with its maximum effectiveness, but we can test and evaluate now and lay our post-war research plans on a solid foundation.

I believe that the industry would be willing to pay more than it is paying for this additional information on a continuous, rapid and nationwide basis. If the CAB is willing to pioneer this new undertaking, it will again earn our whole-hearted respect and admiration.

Mr. WEBBER service, this qualitative analysis of radio audiences, should include information on individual programs, showing continuously:

Senator Votes to Sustain Cut of $2,163,857 in FCC Budget

OVERRIDDING pleas of Administration spokesmen, the Senate last Monday voted to sustain its Appropriations Committee recommendations and cut a total of $2,163,857 from the 1945 fiscal year budget request for the FCC. The House previously had pared $1,645,857 from the President's request and Senate added another $509,000 reduction.

Should the House concur in the additional Senate reduction, the Commission will be restricted in its radio intelligence activities, particularly that portion involving military intelligence. Reports on Capitol Hill were that the House likely would concur in the extra Senate slash, thus leaving the Commission a total of $6,207,843 for the 1945 fiscal year, as compared to $6,371,700 requested by the President.

A surprise supporter in behalf of the full amount for the Commission was Sen. Robert M. LaFollette (P-Wis.), who made a two-hour impassioned plea against stripping the Commission of what he termed activities of "vital importance," read from a letter from FCC Chairman James Lawrence Flynn, urging that the Senate restore the cuts made by the House. He cited instances in which the FCC allegedly saved lives of Army airmen and located enemy alien stations.

Sen. LaFollette, who a year ago argued against reduction of $100,000 at WEMP Milwaukee, at one stage declared that the "Senate is not interested in this subject. The votes have already been lined up to kill this amendment [in amendment by Sen. Mead (D-N. Y.) to restore the full amount for radio intelligence work]." But I want the record made here so that when some one of these planes, or worse, goes down at sea, and the crews are not rescued, those who are primarily concerned may be able to turn to the roll call on this amendment and find out who is responsible for it."

Estimate of Population Shows Increase In Year

ESTIMATED total population of the United States, including armed forces abroad, was 136,486,282 on July 1, 1943, according to an estimate released March 24, by Director J. C. Cape of the Bureau of the Census. Estimated increase between July 1, 1942 and July 1, 1943 was 1,820,358, or 1.4%. This rate is higher than that for any year since 1930 and is chiefly the result of the war increase in births.
Full Labor Board Is Expected To Study AFM Hearing Plea

Panel Board Now Being Reviewed and May Be Put On Board Calendar Within Next Few Weeks

The FULL membership of the National War Labor Board is expected to give consideration soon to the request of the American Federation of Musicians for further hearings by the Board before it acts on the recommendation of the WLB panel terminating the AFM recording strike.

The panel report, along with briefs filed last week by attorneys for the AFM and the transcription manufacturers, is now being reviewed by Board staff members assigned to summarize the case for consideration by the Board in executive session. It is probable that the case will be placed on the Board's calendar within the next few weeks.

Objections Filed

As expected, objections to the WLB panel recommendations outlawing the 20-month-old strike, which were included in the AFM brief filed after the panel issued its report [BROADCASTING, March 12, 19], a formal request for hearings before the Board, was filed by AFM counsel Joseph A. Padway and Henry A. Friedman, charged that the panel's recommendation is "contrary to law and fact" and is "beyond the jurisdiction of the Board to adopt."

That the Board will grant the AFM request for hearings was regarded as likely because of the importance of the case. But in view of the lengthy hearings held before the panel, in which more than 1900 pages of testimony were taken, it is expected that oral arguments before the full Board will be of short duration.

Comments of the transcription companies, requesting that the panel recommendations be adopted as presented, were filed by Robert P. Myers, attorney for the Radio Recording Division of NBC and RCA Victor Division of RCA, and Ralph E. Colm, attorney for the Columbia Recording Corp.

With the exception of that portion of the report in which Chairman Arthur S. Meyer of the panel stated that the principle of payment by employers directly to a union for the benefit of its unemployed members might not be objectionable under proper safeguards, the companies' brief was in full agreement.

"The issue here," the brief declared, "is one of general social philosophy—interestings as that matter may be. In any case, the question is whether the companies, these employers, should be forced to pay a tax to this Union, measured by a per piece levy on the manufactured product or a percentage of gross sales, for the creation of a fund to benefit unemployed members of the Union who are not, never have been, and in all probability never will be employees of the companies."

"The companies point out, however," the brief stated, that "they concur with the decision of the panel in all other substantial respects and that there is no disagreement whatsoever between them and the industry member on the one hand, and the chairman of the panel on the other, that the Board should not and cannot order these companies to make payments to this union under the circumstances of the case and at this time—that there is no disagreement between them on the only ultimate issue in this case. Here there is neither a factual justification for the Union's demand, nor jurisdiction in the Board to order the companies to accept it."

A summary of the brief concluded: "In summary, therefore, the opinion, findings, conclusions and recommendation of the majority of the panel are endorsed and supported by the companies, except in respect to a few items, none of which are controlling on the decision, the more important of which exceptions are set forth in Schedule A."

"The companies respectfully request that the panel's recommendation be adopted and that the Board 'exercise its power to terminate the strike to the end that the condition jointly prevailed on July 31, 1942 be restored'".

(1) The companies believe that under any circumstances the principle of payment by employers to a fund for the benefit of unemployed members of industry is not, and was not, and will not be, employed by the employers in question, industry labor, and the public. (Majority opinion page 337)

(2) The majority opinion, at page 337, refers to the estimate of $600,000 as the amount which was to be collected through the phonograph companies for the unemployment fund created by the recommendation on the demand's union and goes on to maintain that the companies object to their payment on the amount of payroll asked by the union but that the payment is addressed to the essence of making an allowance for unemployment in a business which is only partly true. While it is true that under the union's present fund a demand of $600,000 per year would be collected, Mr. Petrillo has already stated publicly in the 1943 annual report to his members that there is no reason why in a few years the annual fund collected should not be $2,000,000. With such a possibility in mind the companies have not only objected to the principle of making such a fund but also to the potential dangers of establishing a fund on such a magnitude.

The materiality of the potential size of the fund to the validity of the principle is indicated by making reference at page 18 to the possibility that an industry fund for unemployment "has a duty, in modern industrial life, to provide...a basis on which the Union can, with propriety, insist on the fulfillment of that obligation."

It is the companies' view that finding here no such technological unemployment of any magnitude as even Mr. Trill's own statements indicate how far is this principle (and the principle of making provision "in moderate measure")

(3) The companies do not admit, as stated at majority opinion page 337, "the evidence does not indicate a large number of employees suffering from general unemployment with available records."

Ryan Names Felits To NAB Research General Manager of KFAB Experienced in Air Data

APPOINTMENT of Hugh Felits, general manager of KFAB Lincoln, as chairman of the NAB research committee, was announced last week by H. B. Ryan, NAB president-elect. Mr. Felits succeeds Mr. Ryan, who as NAB president, serves ex-officio on all committees.

Added significance and impetus has been given the research committee's work in view of the current controversy over audience measurement. Mr. Felits, in collaboration with Dr. Thompson, dean of psychology and research at the U. of Omaha and a member of the American Psychology Research Foundation, is using out a new technique for the survey of listening audience in a territory beyond normal limits of telephone and telemeter surveys.

The research committee will meet jointly with the NAB sales managers executive committee in Cincinnati April 4-5, during the annual meeting of the National Retail Dry Goods Assn. Chairman of the sales managers committee is Dietrich Diks, KTRI Sioux Falls.

The sales managers and research groups will present to the NAB convention an elaborate program on retail advertising by radio, with Lewis H. Avery, NAB director of broadcast advertising, as the principal speaker. Cincinnati stations are cooperating in the presentation.

Well Qualified

Mr. Felits, a graduate of the U. of Idaho, started in radio at KVOS Bellingham, Wash., in 1929 and first came to prominence while manager of KQX Wenatchee, Wash., in 1931. From 1935 to 1937, while commercial manager of WGRX Seattle, he used extensive studies prepared by independent research organizations such as Ross Federal and Facts Consolidated, Inc., first of their kind on the West Coast.

As a member of the AAMA committee in 1935, Mr. Felits participated in the plan which resulted in the formation of the Hollywood station audience report and signed the first cooperative station contract for KOMO-KJR. He was president of the Seattle Advertising Club in 1941. In 1942 Mr. Felits was in the station relations department of the Blue Network, New York.

Esquire Adds

ESQUIRE Inc., Chicago (Coronet), sponsor of the Coronet Story Teller and Coronet Quick Quiz, has added the National Retail Dry Goods Ad Forum Slated for Cincinnati April 6

All-Day Forum on radio as an advertising medium for retail stores will be held April 4-5 at the NAB convention.

Special feature will be a program by the Quiz Kids at the Wednesday luncheon meeting.

Main topics of discussion will be the question: "What is being done to help retailers benefit from radio?" and what are the best means of using radio?"

A second question: "What is television going to mean to retailers?"

The topics will be discussed and questions from the audience answered by a panel of six experts, three broadcasters and three department store publicity directors.

Chairman of the forum will be Mr. W. A. Avery, chairman of KFAB management, commercial manager, KARK Little Rock; Walter Johnson, commercial manager, WTIC Hartford; Arthur Hull Hayes, general manager, WAGC New York; Paul McCarthy, J. N. Adam Co., Buffalo; E. Davis McCutcheon, D. H. Holmes Co., New Orleans; Richard G. May, J. W. Robinson Co., Los Angeles.

In the afternoon, John M. Oulter Jr., commercial manager, WSB Atlanta, will act as radio chairman, with Sam H. Bennett, commercial manager, KMBC Kansas City; John E. Snarr, general manager, WLW Cincinnati; and one more expert not yet named, as the radio panel members. The department store executives who spoke during the morning will continue through the afternoon session. All of the stores represented have had considerable experience with the use of radio.

Program was arranged by Lewis H. Avery, general manager, NRDGA, and Lewis H. Avery, director of broadcast advertising, NAB.

Blue Developing New Sales Technique

Kobak Tells Women’s Advertising Club

ONE of the most important jobs of a radio station is to get more people to listen more hours per day, according to Edgar Kobak, Blue network executive vice-president, speaking before the Women’s Advertising Club of Washington last Tuesday. This can be done, he said, through advertising.

"The man who really believes in advertising is the one who digs in his heels and sticks it out," Mr. Kobak said. And working on this premise, the Blue sales staff has planned an approach that, Mr. Kobak told, first sells the idea of advertising to the clients. Then, he said, the next step is to sell the broadcast advertising idea, and when that is done, follow up by selling the Blue Network.

"Don’t mention your competition ever, when selling your product,” he advised strongly. "It only places doubt in the mind of the client, or else it puts the name of your competitor in his mind, maybe for future use.” The Blue executive stressed the fact that “after you sell, go back for another order. If you can’t sell more, relist what you’ve already sold.” Illustrating the efficacy of that system, Mr. Kobak pointed out several Blue accounts that have expanded and expanded their schedules, mainly through salesmen going back to resell the network.

"Blue is building a broadcasting system that gets away from doing things the same way they have always been done,” the network executive stated. "With new ideas of all our staff on the table, we can develop new policies instead of clogging to the old, ones that perhaps have grown for no reason at all. Among new ideas of Blue programming are the daytime programs, composed mostly of news, variety and comedy.”

Ivoryne Correction

GUM LABS, Clifton Heights, Pa. (Ivoryne chewing gum), on March 15, will do new DJ spots on 13 stations, handled by McJunkin Advertising Co., Chicago, and not McCan-Erickson, as erroneously reported in Broadcasting March 20. Hal R. Makelim, vice-president and radio director of McJunkin, personally handles the account.

The quarter-hour program, Hello Sweetheart, on Saturdays, featuring Nancy Martin, vocalist, began Dec. 18 on 38 Blue Network stations. Broadcasting regrets the error in agency identity.

New Palmolive Show

COLGATE - PALMOLIVE Peet Co., Jersey City, on April 1 replaces The Million Dollar Band on NBC with Palmolive Party, a weekly half-hour variety show featuring a Hollywood star each week. The Million Dollar Band will continue to provide the musical accompaniments. Barry Wood, singer, will also continue with the new show, and Patsy Kelly, comedienne, is a new addition. The diamond ring give-away has been discontinued. Agency is Ted Bates Inc., New York.

KSJB to 600 kc With Local Power

Conditional Grant Provides Mixed Assignment to Outlet

A PROPOSED conditional grant to KSJB Jamestown, N. D., for assignment to the regional channel of 600 kc but with local power, was introduced Wednesday by the FCC, and is expected to reopen the issue of such mixed assignments as contrary to the FCC’s own regulations. John W. Boler of Minneapolis, staunch defender of the FCC’s regulatory policies, is head of the station.

The proposed findings would authorize a modification of license to change the assignment of KSJB from 1440 kc, 250 w unlimited time, to 600 kc, with 100 w night and 250 w day, with the condition that as soon as materials and talent become available, the station will make "full use of the frequency in accordance with the Rules and Regulations of the Commission.” WMT, Lakeland, Fla., of which successfully protested a previous grant of the facility without hearing, and subsequently appealed from a "special service" authorization granted the station on the Commission’s own motion, is expected to protest the proposed grant on interference grounds as well as violation of the FCC’s regulations.

Eligible for CBS

The conclusions said that assignment of KSJB on 600 kc will provide increased service and enable the station to secure a CBS affiliation contract. Although increased interference will result to WMT, the Commission said it will not occur within the normally protected (2.5 mv) contour. A slight increase in interference also will result to CQFG Saskatchewan, Canada from nighttime operation of KSJB as proposed.

Mr. Boler, who is also president of North Central Broadcasting System of St. Paul, earlier this month wrote Rep. Case (R.-S.D.), a member of the House Appropriations Committee, alleging that he was “using the FCC as a political football.” He defended FCC Chairman Fly, and cited the “inestimable service he has rendered hundreds of small independent radio stations.” [BROADCASTING, March 20.]

Salt Promotion

GENERAL FOODS Corp., New York, is conducting a test campaign of industrial Crystal Salt in Toledo with several days of 62 live announcements on WSIP and another on WTLR, in addition to other local stations. The campaign started earlier this month and will last for ten weeks on WSIP and one week on WTLR. Campaign is backed up by merchandising. Product is regularly promoted through cut-ins on G-F’s When a Girl Marries on NBC. Agency is Benton & Bowles, New York.

SERIAL WAR ROLE BOOSTED BY KESTEN

DAYTIME SERIALS, favorite target of the critics of broadcast entertainment, received an accolade in plaudits of the accustomed blockbuster last week. In the annual report of CBS [BROADCASTING, March 20], Paul W. Kesten, executive vice-president, pointed out that early last year research revealed that "America was not psychologically prepared to receive any sort of television entertainment.” One result of the pull against demoralizing shock was "urgent." From perhaps a least expected source," he continued, "cane an important contribution to this need—from a CBS daytime serial program, "in millions of homes through five-day-a-week broadcasts. Delthy and convincingly, moved familiar characters through the news of missing-in-action and the shock of death-in-action, using the vast power of the imagination. It was the news to all people, in terms of fortitude and courage. Heartfelt response from listeners attested the service which it rendered." Series referred to but not identified in the report is Bachelor’s Children, sponsored by Continental Baking Co. and placed by Ted Bates Inc., on CBS Monday through Friday, 10:45 a.m.

Standard Time Return Provided in House Bill

Unlike several other measures, introduced in both Houses of Congress the last year, the Cannon Bill would provide for Standard Time throughout the nation, whereas others would revert to Standard Time in certain zones.

Video Commercial

DUREZ PLASTICS & Chemical Co., North Tonawanda, N. Y., will present a 15-week television series on WXYZ New York starting April 1. The series features Walter Teague, Raymond Loewy and other industrial designers who will forecast the plastic and electronic devices of the post-war world. Series will be produced by the television workshop of the Norman Bel Geddes Design Service.

Du Mont Forecasts Widespread Video
McClintock Tells Marketing Group of New Radio Arts

ALLEN B. DU MONT, president of Allen B. du Mont Labs and also head of the recently organized Television Broadcasters Assn., and Miller McClintock, president of MBS, gave their views of present day television and the significance of video and FM to postwar advertising last Thursday at the March radio luncheon of the American Marketing Assn., held at the Murray Hill Hotel, New York.

The Bright Side

George Allen, newly appointed manager of the Cooperative Analysis of Broadcasting and AMA radio chairman, presided at the meet, attended by more than 300 advertising and market research executives.

The brakes applied by the war to television, which for two years had convincingly demonstrated its potential entertainment qualities to several thousand set owners in the New York metropolitan area, have turned out to be a good thing, Mr. du Mont said, pointing out that a television broadcaster's concept of material and personnel from a mountain to a molehill.

"We have developed the telecasting technique to the point where genuine entertainment can be handled with facilities and manpower that are well within the reach of any community that now supports a regular broadcasting station," he said. "Whereas formerly we thought of television in terms of millions of dollars, we now consider it in terms of tens of thousands." Only on a national wide basis is television worthy of your attention as marketers, he added.

Mass Production

The war also was almost a necessity to bring about mass production of telesets. Mr. Du Mont said, pointing out that because of war requirements, notably radar, cathode ray tubes are now produced by the thousands instead of by the dozens as in prewar days.

Urging advertisers to prepare for the inevitable challenge of television and FM in the post-war era, Mr. McClintock pointed out that these new developments, despite their glamour, "will grow only by retaining the fundamentals which have made radio great." FM and television are not so much a change in the functions of radio advertising as they are in their organization to serve more effectively, he said.

Television will add graphics to radio advertising's intimate and personal appeal, he said.

Mutual Network Has Leased the Famous Theatre at Radio in of Radio Advertising as they are produced war requirements, notably production of thousands."

The Man Who HIRED Arch McDonald ten years ago, A. D. (Jess) Willard Jr. (right), former manager of WJSV Washington (now WTOP) and present manager of WBT Charlotte, returns to WTOP to congratulate Arch on the completion of a decade of sports broadcasting for WTOP. Manager Carl Burkland (left) and Arthur Godfrey, another WTOP ten-year man, were on hand during the anniversary program.

NBC War Clinic Ends; Plans Completed With BBC for Radio Invasion Coverage

CULMINATION of arrangements with BBC to pool resources for radio coverage of European invasion was announced by Sheldon B. Hitchcock Jr., manager of NBC station relations department, during third annual War Clinic held at Los Angeles Biltmore Hotel, March 20 through 22. CBS also will share in the arrangement. Mr. Hitchcock pointed out that special NBC personnel has been selected and trained to follow United Nations armies (Broadcasting, March 13). These men, he added, will start broadcasting from Rome, Copenhagen, Paris and Oslo, when and if those capitals are liberated. Special mobile units go into combat zones with troops and pick up noises of war for transmission.

Agenda for the Los Angeles sessions which wound up series of cross-country NBC War Clinics, covered network reports on campaigns conducted on behalf of the war effort; net sales figures for 1943; programming; plans for television and frequency modulation operations; advertising, promotional, technical and legislative phases of broadcasting. More than 50 executive representatives of affiliated western stations met with NBC New York officials for discussion of common problems.

Net Sales Up

Roy Witmer, vice-president in charge of sales, disclosed that net sales in 1943 showed an increase of 15% over previous year and no recession is expected until after the war. He warned that sales would fall off somewhat, six months after the war, but declared that NBC will be well cushioned against any such eventuality.

During panel discussion of proposals drafted by delegates, the network representatives held out against extending station break time from 20 to 30 seconds. Niles Trammell, president, however, promised the issue would be considered in due time.

During key address on opening day of sessions, Mr. Trammell assured film studio heads that the motion picture industry has nothing to fear from television, adding that like radio, this new medium will add, not subtract from the show business. He asserted that radio has contributed as much, or more to motion pictures rather than the other way around and pointed out, that films would have much to lose if radio if ruptures relations should develop from the present guest star controversy. Radio, Mr. Trammell said, nurtured its own stars, many of whom went on to cinematic greatness, whereas few radio stars have come from the motion picture industry.

La. Outlet Sought

Prior to the War Clinic sessions, Mr. Trammell conferred with both Earlie C. Anthony, owner of KFI-KECA Los Angeles, and G. A. (Dick) Richards, owner of KMPC Hollywood, but denied that NBC would buy a station in that area during his current stay in Southern California. It is well known that NBC is desirous of owning a Los Angeles outlet. With Mr. Anthony reportedly unwilling to dispose of KFI, assumption is that network officials are initiating other proposals, presumably with Mr. Richards for KMPC, or J. Frank Burke, owner of KPAS Pasadena. Both stations operate on 10,000 watts.

National Board of Consultants of the CBS School of the Air will hold its 15th annual meeting March 29 at the network's New York headquarters.

Experiment in Quiz Planned by Macy's

Direct Selling on the Air to Be Tested by Retailer

R. H. MACY & CO., New York department store, owner of WOR New York, since 1929, has in the past used radio mainly for institutional advertising, sponsoring such programs as Consumers Quiz, Shopper's Club, baseball broadcasts in 1942 to sponsor with General Mills and keeping its commercials generally on the advantages of shopping at Macy's rather than suggesting a particular item of merchandise. Store's current series of chain breaks on four New York stations—WMCA WHN WNEW as well as WOR—are largely novelty announcements stressing the savings made by Macy shoppers.

Thematic Commercials

But beginning this week Macy's is going commercial. Using the Answer Man on WOR each Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 7-7:15 p.m., the store will advertise on each broadcast three specific radio spots. Under no circumstances will there be no other advertising for the next three days, giving Macy's a check on the efficiency of its radio sales talks.

Commercial will follow the program's style, being presented in question and answer form. Program will be backed up by an extensive merchandising campaign, encompassing window displays, posters, in store promotion, envelope stuffers and other advertising, all carrying a special "Q-4" symbol. Contract begins March 27 and continues into May. Series is placed direct, although the Macy announcement campaign is handled by Young & Rubicam, New York. The Answer Man is broadcast on Tuesday and Thursday for Trommers beer and on Saturdays under the three-way sponsor- ship of New York Telephone Co., Save-A-Co. (Savarin coffee) and Ex-Lax.

WPB May Query Radio On Advertising Appeals

STATIONS MAY soon be queried by WPB as to how they are handing retail broadcast selling in line with last summer's declaration of policy on retail promotion prac- tices, it appeared likely last week (Broadcasting, Feb. 14).

While no one in the War Production Board's Office of Civilian Requirements, the office which would logically handle such a survey, was speculating on publication, it seemed evident that such a questionaire to the industry, possibly combining "summarized questionnaires" was being contemplated. It was discovered by Broadcasting that the Government agency had solicited the cooperation of NAB in making plans for such a survey.
It's 10:45 P. M. and the curtain is up on "Bob Shannon's Rumpus Room," the Monday through Saturday WTMJ program that's as distinctive as it is sound.

In the special "Rumpus Room" in Milwaukee's Ultra-Modern Radio City, a cross-section of the city's youngsters and oldsters have packed the studio for over an hour of unadulterated fun. They are laughing at the mad antics of youthful, handsome Bob Shannon. They are meeting the stars of screen and radio who regularly drop in to say hello. They are listening and dancing to the records around which the program is built.

And all over Wisconsin families are enjoying the nonsense, the music and the commercials. Yes, they actually enjoy the commercials, for each one is woven right into the program's format.

"Rumpus Room" is another example of WTMJ programs built to the wants and needs of Wisconsin people. It is another of the programs that have made WTMJ Wisconsin's most skillfully programmed, most popular, most "selling" station.

Britain Nurses Radio Sponsorship Idea

THE INTRODUCTION of sponsored radio has been periodically mooted in Britain, and as often frustrated. Today again, a wave of public and financial interest in commercial radio has forced the topic into highlights. Half-a-dozen influential syndicates are pushing this way—the BBC says—and newspapers, long antagonistic are now throwing their weight behind sponsored stations. A decision must be made and within a reasonably short time.

It is obviously impossible to make an authoritative comment on the future of the industry, although it is quite possible that the progress towards commercialism is already completely cut and dried in the minds of those who intend to control its operations here. What can be done is to give the most recent authoritative comments and the line-up, as we see it here.

Bracken’s Views

The BBC (according to Brendan Bracken, Minister of Information, speaking at the 21st birthday party of that body) will not accept advertising. He would be surprised if the British public approved of the introduction of commercial broadcasting. But he added, as though aware that public favor is not entirely pro-BBC, that post-war, a system of inter-area or inter-sectional stations operating under BBC control in the regions, might develop a competitive system which would dispose of the charge of monopoly.

So much for the official position. Despite that denial of interest in commercial sponsorship, British rumor has it that executive opinion at the BBC is violently split on the subject, the younger section urging such a development, and the older statesmen anxious not to soil their lily-white purity with tainted money, which would also “call the tune.” An economic factor is also involved which cannot, however, be ignored, even by the purists.

After the war, it is estimated that Britain will require at least 30 television stations to cover the country for vision. That money must be found, either from increased listeners’ licenses, or from sponsorship—or from both jointly.

Already Philco Radio & Television Corp. of Great Britain has bought the factory and control of the manufacturing organization of General Aircraft, thus acquiring a potential production plant for post-war years. The Radio Industry Council with the Government Council on Television has advanced a scheme whereby 85% of British homes could be linked up to television within nine months of the end of the war and operated through 12 stations relaying a main BBC program.

The first and main factor is that of public demand. British listeners are confined to two stations, the one definitely ‘heavy’ on educational, cultural and national propaganda, the other, devoted to entertainment and tending to monotony. A Gallup poll by one newspaper, the News Chronicle of London, showed approximately 50/50 demand for commercialisation and did not include the vast listening public now in the Forces, and all likely to vote for faster and more varied entertainment.

The British public will dial, say, a sponsored Bob Hope programme, even if some of the new British programmes are only a wrist turn away. Evidence of this is seen in the immense boost which Hope, Benny, Dinah Shore, and Malt City have had since they went over the BBC. They are “national” billings in Britain today, whereas they were nonentities before.

The question of public preference for brighter entertainment, the position, as given by one expert, must develop along these lines. Immediately post-war, British radio must get into action to produce war work, will leap back to mass-produced domestic radio. All-wave cheap receivers are a certainty.

Will Be Surrounded

American interests will establish themselves in Ireland, France, Belgium, Luxemburg, North Africa, and so on. Britain will be ringed by “foreigners” either on the short-wave, direct from the U. S. A. or on older type mediumwave sets, from Ireland and the Continent. British firms, denied radio publicity, will see their markets fished by the growing popularity of sponsored products from the U. S. A. and Europe, which cannot be kept out of Britain any more than can their radio publicity. In this emergency the British Government would be required to act.

That action would result in the allocation of wavelengths for commercial broadcasting. The BBC would be retained as a cultural and non-sponsored national vehicle. Two other networks are promised by the prophets, to offer alternative programmes sponsored by advertising money.

It is also confidently anticipated that British newspapers will acquire controlling interest in such networks. While this routine is given as speculative development of the situation, it is so logical, and is supported by evidence which I shall quote, as to guarantee its accuracy, within limits of probability.

The public attitude is actually in the difference on the subject. But the BBC has been repeatedly attacked in Parliament, has many critics of its methods and has lost a host of editorial and newspapermen who find its “red-tapeism” too limiting, after working on newspapers.

Typical supporters of sponsored radio who have so far declared themselves are Edward Hulton (Picture Post), Harold W. Eley (Dunlop Rubber), Christina Foyle (Foyle’s Bookshop), J. T. Henderson (D. P. R. Ministry of Supply). Meeting at a recent convention and discussing this topic, they pointed out that Bernard Shaw might be one giant to be heard over sponsored radio. The fact that much which is banned by the BBC might be offered regularly by commercialized radio is perhaps one main reason why the intelligent Briton, as distinct from the rank and file of the nation, is supporting sponsorship.

The mass production of radio sets has been promised by leaders of the industry, but is self evident. So much for the mechanism of reception.

American Plans?

American commercial interests are already believed to be planning for post-war encirclement of Britain. Niles Trammell and John Carstens have recently been in Britain. Capt Plugge, the businessman who built up prewar continental commercial broadcasting, entertained plugs. Perhaps at a reception at which members of the company attended on these quests, with, as well, Members from the Commons and the Lords.

Capt. Plugge has shown himself ready to cooperate with established interests in this sphere. He is a man of great ability, initiative and proved achievement in the sphere. Apart from this specific example of Anglo-American cooperation other Britishers are planning to enter the field, some six groups known to have ambitions in that direction.

The advertising agencies and entertainment agencies are solidly behind commercial radio, since it offers an obvious competitive market to the limited and low priced market which the BBC now offers. The proposal to create two more networks, operating perhaps on the lines of British Overseas Airways, has already a precedent in New Zealand where commercial and State services have been in operation for seven years while Canada has an alternative system much on the same lines. Australia while more approximate to the American model, has also had a state service. There is no reason to assume that it will work any less efficiently in Britain.

British newspaper interests have perhaps the power to make or break commercial radio and it is true they tried to do so in its early days and failed, there has been a complete reversal of opinion. Newspapers and owners

The Gadsden Purchase

The Big Buy of 1853
$10,000,000

The Big Buy of 1944
$72.00*
A Daytime Quarter-Hour on Three Stations

Measured against the copper hidden in its mountains and the fertility hidden in its unirrigated soil, the dollars that acquired the Gadsden-Purchase territory from Mexico were few indeed.

There's no way of hiding the tremendous resources of the rich mid-west region served by the Cowles Stations. In bushels of corn, in pork and beef, it out-produces any area of equal size, anywhere in the world. Yet for relatively few dollars, Cowles group-rates enable advertisers to extend their influence over this vast market, including:

- 16 wholesale centers, over 25,000.
- 80 retail centers, 5,000 to 25,000.
- 601,543 farms, each a war-industry in itself.
- 1,887,690 radio homes (daytime primary) with population-total far above 6,000,000.

To this entire region, Cowles Stations beam your advertising at group-rates as low as $72 for a daytime quarter-hour on three stations... truly the BIG BUY of 1944.
are now backing sponsored radio as something which will be complementary to their own advertising medium, and believe there is room for both.

Edward Hulton, of Picture Post, said recently that sponsored advertising by radio had not hurt American publishers and he did not think that here, they would hurt the press in any way. Today great British newspapers are at an all-time high. They have lost their fear of commercial radio. They are even ready to encourage it and discreetly place themselves in anyway the papers owned by the bigger publishing groups, suggesting that commercial radio must come.

Cooperative Basis

The press peers are obviously intending that it will come and this week a prominent publisher stated off the record that the Newspaper Proprietors Association and the Newspaper Society must make up their mind to take a share in the control of this new development and assure control of the air for themselves. It is confidently believed that, because of their ability to gather news and features, this development must of necessity eventually work with a British newspaper-radio combine system operating harmoniously and profitably on a cooperative basis.

How soon can these changes be made—as it is confidently believed they will have to be—if present trends are any indication? The BBC monopoly ends Dec. 31, 1946, when its charter expires. It the war ends soon, a move may be made before that date, dependent on how definitely the move has progressed in the interval. An internal struggle is proceeding meantime and must continue to fester until the ultimate setup is known. Each of the interested groups is jockeying for position and in the two years which must intervene until a positive change can be effected, much may happen. Some may be killed off, others may develop. Some positive arrangements have recently been completed, involving U.S. participation in Ireland or on the Continent, and other groups are striving to duplicate these. Sponsored radio will undoubtedly come, and by 1947, there is going to be a lot of excitement in financial circles meantime.

Charter Problem

Asked for an official statement as to the possibilities of sponsored radio in Great Britain, BBC officials refused to give any positive answer except to say: “The BBC cannot make any official statement about the possibility of commercial radio in Britain nor can it express any opinion. By the terms of the charter of the BBC the corporation is charged with the responsibility of carrying on broadcasting according to its present constitution. The charter of the BBC is renewable in 1946; it is dependent ultimately on any new measures that Parliament may see fit to introduce or confirmation in its present form, whether there will be any commercially sponsored radio.

The system of monopolistic broadcasting gives a very positive power to the Government policy which it follows and that a very active minority opinion may be entirely overlooked or at least given scant attention.

There have been criticisms even that we in Britain while sneering at the state-controlled Nazi broadcasting propaganda weapon have ignored that we in this country have just as powerful a propaganda machine, although it has been proved to be a truthful machine in actual operation.

For these and many allied reasons public opinion here is tending towards some system more on the lines of the RCA plan. That does not deny the valuable work done by the BBC in the cultural, educational and similar spheres, and the occasional brilliant efforts of particular occasions. But it does mean that we are less inclined to be spoonfed than we were and more anxious to allow competitive talent an opportunity to offer its wares on the radio as well as in the press and by public speech.
No other broadcaster can make this claim!

EARLY BIRDS!

Earl May founded KMA in August, 1925. That made him a real pioneer in radio—and he’s been pioneering ever since. Almost immediately he inaugurated a system of regular USDA releases with Sam Pickard, then Assistant to Secretary of Agriculture Jardine. In October, 1925, he originated an early morning program at 5:30 a.m. Its success startled almost everyone but him—and a new radio field was discovered!

In 1926 he developed audience participation shows when most broadcasters were trying to keep their listeners out of their studios. That same year he won the Radio Digest’s national poll for “the most popular announcer”.

In 1927, he built the KMA studio auditorium which seats 1000. In 1928 he arranged for KMA newscasts compiled direct from press wire services—which most broadcasters have done since the past 8 years. No wonder KMA is the “No. 1 Farm Station in the No. 1 Farm Market”. No wonder KMA devotes 70% of its time to the specific needs of its regional audience—that listeners send KMA 500,000 pieces of commercial mail each year! No wonder KMA is the station to deliver this rich farm market for you!

V-Mail and SPARS Subjects on OWI Radio Bureau Packet for Week April 17

TWO SUBJECTS return to the OWI Domestic Radio Bureau packet for the week beginning April 17 after several months of absence, three are continued from the previous week, and two others reappear after a short lapse.

Scheduled for Network Allocation, the V-Mail campaign is again a leading subject as the increasing number of troops now overseas causes further demands upon postal facilities. Messages will emphasize the vast amount of cargo space made available in ships and planes from the accumulated savings of millions of V-Mail letters.

More than 5,000,000 pounds of cargo has been saved through use of the V-Mail forms since the service was inaugurated in June, 1942. This is the equivalent, OWI points out, to two full Army divisions, more than 1,000,000 units of blood plasma, or 500,000 Garand automatic rifles.

Appeals for SPARS

Also back on the packet is the recruiting campaign for SPARS, the Women’s Reserve of the U. S. Coast Guard. Transcribed messages, scheduled on the station announcement plan, will urge women, aged 20 to 35 inclusive, married or single, with no children under 18, to call at their nearest Coast Guard Recruiting Station for information about this branch of the service.

Sponsorship possibilities for the announcements include women’s stores supplying uniforms, general advertisers who buy time or space for War Bonds, and other business firms in non-critical labor areas.

Campaigns carried on from the previous week are War Bonds, Play Square With Gasoline, and Victory Gardens. The last named subject is again scheduled for transcribed messages available for sponsorship by hardware, department, seed, variety and nursery supply stores.

Ceiling Price Lists, assigned for Station Announcement allocation, is another phase of the overall Home Front Pledge campaign which emphasizes paying only ceiling prices, consulting ceiling lists, and paying points in full.

Save Paper, scheduled on National Spot, continues previous appeals to save every type of waste paper and sell it to a junk dealer or donate it to a salvage organization.

Barbasol Discs

SUPPLEMENTING its two network news programs Gabriel Heather Mutual, and Deane Dickenson, CBS West Coast, Barbasol Co., Indianapolis, producer of shaving cream and other shave products, last week began a quarter-hour transcription The Arthur Godfrey Show in 20 major markets throughout the country. Mr. Godfrey, who has two early morning live one-man variety shows on WABC New York, serves as m.c. of the Barbasol program, musical variety feature with music supplied by Ray Sinatra’s orchestra, Lillian Lane, soloist, and the Barbasol Quartet.

Series started Monday, March 20 on a thrice-weekly basis in selected markets in the South, West Coast, East, Midwest, with heaviest concentration in the two latter areas. The schedule includes WTOP KMOX WABC WEEI WBAL KGW WWL WCAU KRLD WICC WISH WBPM WJAS KLZ. Agency is Erwin, Wasey & Co., New York.

Tavern Series

LOCAL tavern associations will join in a nation-wide campaign late this month in an effort to combat the belief that local tavern owners contribute to juvenile delinquency by serving liquor to minors. Taverns will sponsor local spot announcements and newspaper ads prepared by Allied Liquor Industries, New York, under supervision of Clarence DuBro, field educational director. Helen Sprakling, head of the Women’s Division, will supply materials to women program directors. Allied will distribute weekly news letter along the same lines to liquor advertisers for use in their advertising. Blow Co., New York’s, is advertising agency of Allied Liquor.
Touching the tips of Lakes Michigan and Erie is a round region of 2,300,000 people, divided about evenly as farmers and city dwellers, and served by Westinghouse Station WOWO, Indiana's most powerful station. Near the center of the nation's population, this area is a circular segment of Typical America—the ideal spot in which to groom your radio program for the networks. In fact, sagacious advertisers often use WOWO for such testing.

In addition to a market that is primary and by no means secondary, WOWO offers programming facilities that mesh marvelously with those of your agency. Ask NBC Spot Sales about WOWO.

New York 22, N.Y.

Dear Mr. Deutsch:

I have been telling you how pleased we have been with the various aspects of World Library Service. Our program department has furnished me with a list of the programs which we are now using for commercial and sustaining purposes. At the present time, 30 programs a week, using your transcriptions, are being aired over our station with 19 of these sold to advertising sponsors.

I have instructed our program department to audition at least one World show in every sales meeting and to discuss other World programs at the same time. The idea has clicked. Our salesmen definitely are enthused as the list of programs grows.

With the results already obtained we are confident that within the near future we will secure additional sponsors.

Sincerely,

Howard T. Keegan,

Clark Calls for Law to Curb Petrillo
Interlochen Camp Head Tells Committee Of AFM Curb

PROPOSALS for specific legislation to prevent James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, from interfering with broadcasts of school bands and orchestras were asked last week by Sen. D. Worth Clark (D.Ida.), chairman of the Senate subcommittee investigating the AFM.

Following testimony by Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, president of the National Music Camp, Interlochen, Mich., that Mr. Petrillo had stopped the summer programs which had been broadcast from the Camp for 12 years, Chairman Clark called upon Rosel H. Hyde, assistant general counsel of the FCC, and J. Joseph Herbert, counsel for Interlochen, to prepare legislative drafts for submission to the Dept of Justice for study.

Platter Turners
The Committee also heard testimony regarding network contractual negotiations with the AFM on the employment of platter turners. Ralph Collins, CBS counsel, read into the record a telegram sent to J. Harold Ryan, newly-elected president of NAB, that the network had agreed to recognize AFM jurisdiction over platter turners in all CBS-owned stations with the stipulation that no jurisdictional dispute would be involved. Mr. Ryan was advised by Frank White, CBS vice-president, that President William Green of the AFL had transferred this activity some years ago from the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers to the AFM.

At the outset of the hearing, Chairman Clark explained that he had reconvened the Committee to hear the testimony of Dr. Maddy and that no further sessions were in prospect for the present. He referred to the WLB panel recommendation to terminate the AFM strike against the transcription industry, expressing satisfaction that the "spade work" done by the Committee resulted in the Board taking jurisdiction. He stated, however, that inasmuch as the case is still before the Board he would not comment on the panel's findings.

Dr. Maddy told the Committee that his appearance had no relation with the AFM ban on transmissions and recordings and that he had no commercial purpose in testifying on the Interlochen situation. Pointing out that Mr. Petrillo has extended his action in Michigan to all schools bands and orchestras in the U. S., the witness declared the issue presented a challenge to the authority of the Government.

"I am here," he said, "because I believe it to be the duty of Congress to see to it that private interests shall not monopolize this great new facility to the exclusion of its benefit to the public welfare in the field of music education."

Dr. Maddy quoted from Mr. Petrillo's published report in the International Musician, official journal of the AFM, in which the union leader asserted: "Nor was there in the year 1943 any other school band or orchestra on the networks and there never will be without the permission of the AFM."

The witness emphasized he was in full sympathy with the AFM efforts to obtain maximum employment for its members, that he himself has been a member of the AFM for 35 years, that he has played with the Minneapolis and other symphony orchestras, and still maintains membership in the AFM local in Richmond, Ind.

Chicago Situation
He recalled that during 1917 and 1918, during which time he was in close contact with an AFM local in Chicago, the AFM membership in that city was about 3,000, of whom 900 earned their livelihood by music. The others had other employment and joined the union to supplement their earnings by occasional musical work.

In 1943, he continued, Mr. Petrillo reported that the Chicago AFM membership was 11,000, of whom 6,000 were regularly employed. "Apparently in Chicago there were eight times as many fully employed union musicians in 1943 as there were in 1918, before the advent of radio, sound film and the juke box," he said.

Dr. Maddy said "no other country in the world has experienced such a musical awakening as has the United States during the past quarter-century."

He said that as a leader in the school band and orchestra movement and as past president of the Music Educators National Conference he had worked harmoniously with Mr. Petrillo's predecessor, Joseph N. Weber. But Mr. Petrillo, he said, has maintained a hostile attitude toward school music for many years. He quoted the present AFM leader as telling the treasurer of the National Music Camp in 1941: "Maddy and all other music educators are murderers. They are training musicians to take the bread and butter from union musicians, causing them to starve to death."

"Petrillo decries the cultural value of music," Dr. Maddy asserted. "To him music's only value is to provide a means for members of the musician's union to earn money."

While in charge of an NBC sustaining series to demonstrate the achievements of school music groups, Dr. Maddy testified, Mr.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW JERSEY

PUTS THE

ESSO REPORTER on WSPA

WSPA proudly announces that as of March 27 we begin broadcasting the Esso Reporter four times daily and twice on Sunday.

By adding WSPA to the list of 37 stations already carrying the Esso Reporter, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey points up the fact that during recent months the radio coverage picture in the thickly populated Piedmont section of the Carolinas has greatly changed.

Spartanburg is the "Hub City" of the Piedmont. With over a million people and 148,000 radio homes within our good service area, WSPA serves the heart of this prosperous section of humming textile mills and fertile farm lands.

Hooper, in its recent Spartanburg survey, found WSPA had over one-half of the listening audience day and night (57.3 per cent). Hooper also found that all outside stations combined had only 8.3 per cent of the radio listeners.

Standard Oil of New Jersey, like many other advertisers, were interested in full coverage of this important market. They investigated, gathered all the facts and ordered WSPA for the Esso Reporter.

And, so, WSPA welcomes Standard Oil of New Jersey as our 132nd advertiser.

Petrallo forbade any school instrumental musician to take part when the program originated in Chicago.

He said that Mr. Petrallo even refused to permit student demonstrations of educational procedures at the Chicago convention of the Music Educators which were for the convention only and were not being broadcast.

No regard for Codes

 Counsel Bingham asked the witness: "Suppose you had just ignored Petrallo and gone ahead with the demonstrations?"

Dr. Maddy replied that the convention was at the Palmer House where the union had a closed shop contract and Petrallo could call off the hotel musicians.

He testified that Mr. Petrallo has no regard for the codes of ethics established in several states to eliminate misunderstandings between school groups and union musicians. He said that codes in Ohio and New York were broken by Mr. Petrallo's orders in 1942 when the AFM leader prohibited the broadcasting of programs from the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and the Eastman School of Music in Rochester. N. Y. Dr. Maddy testified Mr. Petrallo's action in 1942 in banning the summer broadcasts from Interlochen did not have the approval of the majority of the union musicians. He said he talked to a great many of them who expressed themselves substantially as follows: Of course we do not favor the banning of broadcasts from Interlochen, but we dare not say so in public for fear we will be thrown out of the union.

He said the National Music Camp had broadcast weekly programs for 12 years without a protest from anyone and that the broadcasts had become a traditional summer feature, coming at a time of year when professional symphony orchestras were disbanded and thus serving a national cultural need.

"Except for one season when the program was commercial, under arrangements with a previous AFM leadership to help the Camp raise much-needed funds, the Interlochen programs have been public service sustaining, he pointed out. A paid standby orchestra was always maintained in the NBC New York studios for all the broadcasts, so there is no basis for any claim that the programs interfered with employment of union musicians.

"The flood of indignation against Mr. Petrallo's act in banning these broadcasts is indicative of the attitude of the people of the United States toward such an exercise of the freedom of the air in broadcasting", he declared. "No man can deny that this ruling is in direct violation of the law governing radio broadcasting, which states that all broadcasting shall be in the public interest, convenience and necessity."

Ignored Appeal

He testified that Mr. Petrallo ignored appeals by students of Interlochen asking his reasons for banning the broadcasts. The AFM president, in a letter to Chairman Flipple of the FCC on July 30, 1942 stated: "It is easy to understand that the more free music the radio stations receive, the less need for the professional. That was the primary reason for opposing the broadcasting of the concerts from Interlochen."

Dr. Maddy testified that a Government agency investigated the charge of Petrallo that Interlochen is a commercial project and found that the National Music Camp is a "non-profit educational institution in the strictest sense of the word". He said that after 15 years of operation the Camp is still striving to pay off the original construction costs. He pointed out that the camp is affiliated with the U. of Michigan and that the State of Michigan contributes to its support.

"If the National Music Camp is a commercial proposition, so are Yale and Harvard, the U. of Michigan, and all other colleges and universities," Dr. Maddy asserted.

"I challenge Mr. Petrallo," he continued, "to cite a single instance within the past 10 years when the broadcasting of any school band or orchestra has deprived any union musician of a (Continued on page 32)

(12.4) in thirteen weeks

THIS is Ben Willet, the star of Union Oil's "Point Sublime." No wonder he's smiling. His show has the highest Hooper rating of any regional show on the Pacific Coast. "Point Sublime," until recently, was on one of the other major networks with a Hooper of 8.9 in the 4 regularly Hooper rated cities. In only 13 weeks on Don Lee, same show, same cities—Hooper 12.4.

With a 12.4 in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, and Seattle, imagine the job this show is doing outside these cities, where Don Lee controls 60 to 100% of the tune-ins in many markets. (This fact was established by a recent 276,019 coincidental telephone survey by C. E. Hooper). It just goes to prove what we've been telling you all along ... a good show will reach more people on Don Lee than the same show on other networks. In fact, unless a show is broadcast on Don Lee it can't reach all of the people on the Pacific Coast no matter how good it is.

lenge Mr. Pettrillo to cite one instance wherein his rulings of the summer and fall of 1942, banning groups from the air, have resulted in a single dollar of additional income to any member of the musician's union."

Sees Dangerous Trend
He declared that if the present situation is not curbed, "in the not too-distant future no speaker will be permitted to talk over the air unless he is a member of, or obtains permission from, some union."

Dr. Maddy said he had received many letters from members of Congress, all of which say that there is nothing that can be done about restricting Mr. Pettrillo.
Sen. Vandenburg (R-Mich.), who attended the hearing, pointed out that students at Interlochen come from every state in the Union. He said that Dr. Maddy was much "too modest" in describing the camp.
The Senator called it one of the great institutions of the nation, "a great romance" in musical education. He said that he was proud that his daughter, a concert pianist, was one of its students.

FCC Investigated
Mr. Hyde told the Committee the FCC had sent an investigator from its Chicago office to Interlochen as a result of protests against the Petrillo ban on the broadcasts to determine whether the camp is commercial.

Questioned by Sen. Vandenberg,

Mr. Hyde said he could not testify for the Commission but that his own opinion was that the camp is not a commercial enterprise.

In calling for legislative proposals, Chairman Clark recalled that previous measures had been offered but were regarded by the Dept. of Justice as unconstitutional.

"I believe the Congress is thoroughly out of sympathy with Petrillo's action in the Interlochen case and would like to remedy the situation," he said. "I assure you we won't let the matter drop if we can find some legal way out."

ALL NIGHT

to WBAL in 22
Eastern states

Since WBAL has been on the air all night every night, even we at the station have had some surprises.

When we began to get mail—including "cash enclosed" orders—from 22 Eastern states we realized that WBAL was really blanketing the East from midnight to dawn.

Here's how we figure it out: There are a lot of people listening to the radio at different hours of the night—not only in the big industrial centers, but all through the country.

It happens that WBAL is one of the few stations that can be heard clearly in these "wee" hours—and one of the few who broadcast something worth listening to! It is the ONLY 50,000 watt station on the Atlantic seaboard outside of New York on the air all night, every night. And its ALL NIGHT STAR PARADE is building a fine audience—widely scattered, but huge in the aggregate.

The 22 Eastern states covered by WBAL at night have a population of more than 75 million. You need only reach a very small percentage of that number to make your advertising at WBAL's low midnight-to-dawn rates pay off in a big way.

Talk it over with the Petry representative.

Non-Sponsored Use of Movies for Video Provided Under New War Dept. Plan

APPROVAL of arrangements whereby War Dept. motion pictures and newsmag release will be made available for television broadcasting on a non-sponsored basis and for simultaneous release was disclosed last week, with the service immediately available to NBC.

Pool Suggested

Col. Curtis Mitchell, chief, Picture Branch, of the Army’s Bureau of Public Relations, advised John F. Royal, NBC vice-president, that procedures had been approved working toward handling of future as well as present requirements for telecasting. Copies of the letter, responding to an inquiry from Mr. Royal, also were sent to Gilbert Selles, CBS television director, and Edmund (Tiny) Ruffner, Mutual, who had made inquiries.

The department requested that television broadcasters form a “television film pool” representing all broadcasters who want Army film, with which the Department could deal as a whole. This parallels arrangements made in other pictorial and news fields. The release date for television War Department film, it was specified, will not precede the date on which the same material is available to the American public through motion picture theatres.

Col. Mitchell’s letter follows in full text:

Your company has inquired into the availability of War Dept. motion pictures and newsmag release for the purpose of television broadcasting.

We appreciate your interest and also are aware of the potentialities of the medium you represent. We are attempting therefore to initiate procedures in connection with supplying you with the film material that you now request which will satisfy future requirements as well as those of the present.

The War Dept. has two types of film material in which you are interested. The first of these is represented by those complete pictures which have been produced by, or for the Army such as “Battle of Russia,” and “Price of Denver.” We are now assembling a catalogue of appropriate titles and will inform you within a few days of film content as well as how those films may be obtained in New York City.

The second type of film is that contained in our War Department newsmag releases. As already explained to you in person, we are required by War Dept. policy to give equal treatment to all. It is obviously impossible to supply a copy of all our releases to each television station which desires one. Our busy facilities and lack of time prohibit it. So we must ask that you as well as other television broadcasters form a television film pool, representing all broadcasters who want our film, with which the War Dept. can deal as a whole. In this way, we will be able to give your industry access to our films with a minimum of raw stock waste and lost motion due to separate contacts between us and the individual members of your group.

Pending this formation of a television film pool, we can begin almost immediately to supply NBC with a complete fine grain duplicate of all official War images...

Wiley Co. Sponsors
GEORGE WILEY CO., Clay Center, Kan. (Wiley’s Fishing Calculator) began sponsorship, March 6, of a schedule of varied five-minute to hour-quarter hour live announcements on the following stations: KWTX, San Antonio; KVI, WIGY, WDCY, WRK, KMA WMMN, HFE, KSOS KMMJ, WEAU, WADK, WDIS, WOZT, WWDC, with $750 added. Contracts run through June. Agency is First United Broadcasters, Chicago.

Dept. releases subject to the following conditions:

a. At the earliest opportunity, you will undertake to form a television film pool consisting of all television companies who wish to utilize Army film material, with agreements regarding sharing of processing and release dates suitable to War Department.

b. You will receive this film at credit for all stations and will give them equal access to it provided they agree to bear their proportionate share of operating expenses.

c. It is also understood that you and other prospective users will agree on a simultaneous release date so that no one television may enjoy an advantage over any other.

d. Until the pool is established, the cost of processing fine grain dupes will be charged to National Broadcasting Company at established library cost based on footage released by Signal Corps Photo Center at Astoria, Long Island, and we understand that you will take responsibility for full payment until such date as the pool itself is organized and assumes responsibility.

e. There will be no sponsorship of War Department film by commercial advertising.

Schenley Shift
ADVERTISING for Cresta Bianca wine, product of Schenley Import Corp., New York, now handled by William H. Weintraub & Co., New York, will be shifted to BBDO, New York, June 1. Shift is believed to be tied with a reorganization of Schenley’s marketing and distribution set-up, details of which are not available. Agency change would affect Cresta Bianca Carnival, the CBS program, while Dubonnet Date, the Xavier Cugat show, will continue under Weintraub, which retains Dubonnet and Coronet wines. Parent company is Schenley Distillers Corp., New York.

Blue Outlets
THREE MINNESOTA stations organized recently as part of the Dairyland Network, have been added to the Blue Network as basic supplementary outlets, available only with WTCN Minneapolis-St. Paul, Blue-DN. The total number of Blue affiliates now amounts to 181. The new stations, all operating full-time with 250 watts are: KATE Albert Lea, 1,450 kc, owned by Albert Lea-Austin Broadcasting Co.; KWLM Winona, 1,340 kc, owned by Lakeland Broadcasting Co.; and KWNO Winona, 1,230 kc, owned by Winona Radio Service. Networkper evening hour for the three stations, available and sold only as a package, is $120.

WOOD in Grand Rapids is the only Western Michigan station that can deliver the unbeatable combination of POPULATION — PROGRAMS — and POWER in Michigan’s greatest market outside Detroit.

GRAND RAPIDS
is larger than the next three Western Michigan cities - Kalamazoo, Muskegon and Battle Creek — combined. Recent listener surveys in Grand Rapids show that WOOD continues to average better than 2 to 1 over any other station anywhere. That’s why 69 National Advertisers are currently using WOOD to sell the Grand Rapids Market.

The BLUE’s Mr. Swing Wins
The Alfred I. DuPont Radio Award for a Commentator

On Saturday, March 11, 1944, broadcast announcement over the Blue Network was made of the winners of this year’s Alfred I. DuPont Radio Awards.

Because of the deep significance of these awards (they are the Pulitzer Prizes of Radio), The BLUE salutes Station WLW (NBC affiliate in Cincinnati, O.) and Station WMAZ (CBS affiliate in Macon, Ga.) for the services which earned them their awards.

The third and final award in the series—which is bestowed upon a radio commentator—went to The BLUE’s Raymond Gram Swing, who is sponsored by Socony-Vacuum Oil Company and associated companies.

The BLUE is particularly proud of this—first, because Mr. Swing is such an inveterate winner of awards, but more particularly because of what the DuPont award stands for and because its winning carries so great a measure of approval.

In his short speech of acceptance, Mr. Swing, with characteristic modesty, pays tribute to his brother commentators, and extends that tribute to include all American journalists who have done so much in the service of their country and the people. Said Mr. Swing in part:

"They (i.e. journalists and commentators) have to qualify for their vital role in democratic life by their individual sense of responsibility... And if the liberties of a people are safe, as the liberties of this country continue to be, this is because individual journalists have known their responsibility, and have measured the fullness of their freedom to the measure of their responsibility."

Perhaps The BLUE may be forgiven for believing that the selection of Mr. Swing is, in a way, a recognition of The BLUE’s own policy in news—which gives to its commentators all the freedom they are guaranteed under the Constitution—a policy we feel to be in the best interests of the American people.

Net Time Sales of $14,536,000 For 1-2½kw Regionals in 1943

Increases of $189 to $128,631 Reported By 111 of 125 Stations Filing

REGIONAL broadcast stations in the power category of 1,000 to 2,500 w in 1943 reported net time sales totaling $14,536,000, representing an increase of 22.2% over the preceding year, according to a statistical analysis made public last Wednesday by the FCC accounting department. The study was the third in a series covering financial reports from broadcast stations for 1943, previous reports having dealt with 50,000 w stations and stations of 5,000 to 20,000 w [BROADCASTING, Feb. 28–March 13].

A total of 160 stations are in the 1,000-2,500 w category, the report said. Of the 125 which reported, 14 showed a decrease in net time sales and the remaining 111 showed increases ranging from $189 to $128,631. Net time sales were described by the Commission as station receipts minus regular advertising agency, station representatives and other commissions.

Reports still to come will cover stations in the 500 w and 250 w local categories.

Following is the text of the FCC compilation:

During the year 1943, there were 160 standard broadcast stations operating with power of 1 to 2½ kw, 51 of which operated with reduced power at night. Two of these stations were located in Alaska and one each in Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the District of Columbia, and 105 were in 42 of the States. There are no stations operating with power in the States of Delaware, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, South Dakota, and Utah. Included in the 160 stations are 31 non-commercial stations. Twenty-six of these stations operate on clear channel frequencies and 194 on regional frequencies and may be grouped as follows:

One hundred twenty-five of these stations have filed revenue reports for the year ended Dec. 31, 1943, reporting “net time sales” amounting to $14,536,000, and the same stations reported $11,897,000 for the year 1942, an increase of $2,639,000 or 22.5%.

This population shift has altered the primary market conception in Ohio. Dayton has moved up and now supplants Toledo as the fifth ranking city. Dayton, heretofore relegated to secondary market importance by the proximity of two larger markets, now takes her place among the leaders as the fastest growing, better than average income city. With these facts we believe Dayton merits first consideration in the Ohio market.

Dear Mrs. Howard:

Probably by this time you have already been informed by the Blue Network that Station WSAI has won first prize in the Breakfast at Sardi's Party Contest.

While the fact that you have won this award speaks for itself, we want you to know that we are very much impressed by your effort in promoting the show and were very much pleased with your exhibit of the results. We greatly appreciate all the time and effort you and your associates put towards making the local Sardi show a success and assure you that the Belknap Company is equally grateful.

Sincerely yours,

Where Do We Stand

IT'S HIGH TIME for broadcasters to learn the facts about pending radio legislation. Since hearings closed on the White-Wheeler Bill last December, a revised draft has been prepared by Chairman Wheeler of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

According to those familiar with the terms of the revamped bill (it hasn't been made public) it is far worse than the existing law. It is supposed to be merely a preliminary draft, and Chairman Wheeler has invited and received comments from interested parties. But he has expressed impatience over the lack of unity among broadcasters and several times has said there won't be any legislation.

The bill, as now drawn, would give more rather than less authority to the FCC, we are told. It would require allotment of equivalent time over identical facilities to those in public interest, and would penalize those who feel that they have been attacked. It would impose fines or penalties for violations which do not warrant revocation proceedings, which sounds innocent enough, but would give the Commission a bludgeon a thousand-fold more potent than the extreme revocation process.

We think the bill, whatever its terms, should be brought out into the sunlight. Let the full committee consider it. Other members of that committee have their views. And the House, too, has some ideas on new legislation.

Audience Yardstick

WHEN last Feb. 28 we published on this page a short editorial headed "Unsound Dollars," we had a feeling it would stir up the cats. But we didn't expect wildcats.

There came the article by C. E. Hooper berating money giveaways. A number of broadcasters rushed to the support of Hooper; others took a contrary view. Agencies, program builders and men in the armed forces pitched in, producing a forum discussion that would do credit to Town Hall.

In our view, the discussion, pro and con, has been sound. It focuses attention upon the need for an integrated, fool-proof method of establishing audience measurement, stripped of the "come-ons" and the furbelows.

There are charges hurled against Hooper's proposed method of coping with money-giveaways, alleging that he is simply seeking to outlaw perfectly proper programming to further his own interests. Others contend that the whole scheme is contrived to assist network stations against the independents, which have used money programs effectively.

Our only purpose is to build sound radio. We hold no brief for Hooper or CAB, or net-work affiliates versus independents. There is much to be said, for example, in favor of the argument that Hooper does not provide an adequate sample for conclusive results. On the other hand, the element of possible Government intervention in such types of giveaways as running counter to the lottery laws certainly should be considered.

Now that all sides have had their say, how best to cope with the situation? Let's coordinate. The NAB has a Research Committee, the chairmanship of which recently was turned over to J. Harold Ryan, new trade association president, to Hugo Feltis, general manager of KFAB Lincoln. NAB also has a Sales Managers Committee, headed by Dietrich Dirks, of KTRI Sioux Falls. Both committees are staffed by practical broadcasters. They have met in the past with committees of the American Association of National Advertisers, who represent radio's customers. They have talked with CAB and Hooper.

Now these committees have the evidence—a sort of catch-as-catch-can survey—on the money issue, in any event. Considerable data already have been gathered on the broader subject of over-all audience surveys. These NAB committees meet in Cincinnati April 4-5. It is hoped they will develop a plan to pursue the whole subject of audience measurement—and of post-war building—at that time.

Radio: Here & There

OVER HERE, ever so quietly, the campaign moves ahead toward Government domination of radio. Over there, in England, where radio is nationalized, the trend is toward the American Plan after the war. That move, however, is out in the open.

As reported in this issue, the British public, having heard our kind of radio [commercial], wants it. There already have been changes in British Broadcasting Corp. program policies toward the more sprightly American style. Studies looking toward a "dual" system of both Government and private commercial radio in England are under way.

Contrast that to what goes on here. Pressure groups are at work. One of our nation's elder statesmen, former Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio, makes no bones about accusing FCC Chairman James Lawrence Fly of driving toward Government ownership, step by step.

And what about our friends and in Sucessors, who have been exposed to British radio? Maj. Andre Baruch, who has just returned from the Mediterranean theatre, reports they miss the commercials in their overseas broadcasts. So, when the big network programs are transcribed, the Army Morale Branch dubs in its own commericals for the GI troops. For example: "Joe Quartermasters droopy drawers with drop seat and real pleat now presents".

Glad 'Tydings'

IN THE MIDST of the tugging and hauling about free radio time for Congressmen to answer their radio critics comes a refreshing item. Senator Tydings of Maryland has announced he will discontinue his Sunday talks over WBAL during his campaign for reelection because it wouldn't be fair to his opponents and because the station might become involved in political controversy.

It's rare, but it can happen here.

William Brothers Smullin

POTENTIAL POWER—or radio, a city, an individual—is recognized only by far-sighted minds that are usually ahead of their time. It was William Brothers Smullin who saw the possibilities of the small city of Eureka, Calif., and its station KIEM, and through initiative and hard work found ways of developing them.

When Bill Smullin reached the point in his career when he decided to get into radio—at the very bottom of the depression, 1933—he studied the entire West with his customary thoroughness, for the best location for a new station. He chose Eureka, despite the fact that two stations had previously failed there.

Mr. Smullin and Bill Hanseth together established the 100 w daytime transmitter in May 1935. Today KIEM is a 1,000 w fulltime Don Lee Mutual affiliate with the highest day and night Hooper average rating of any station on the Coast, as evidenced by its daytime audience of more than 98% of the total tune-in and 72.3% of the night audience.

And due largely to Bill Smullin's personal initiative in the interest of his city, the market itself has grown by an estimated 25% since the 1940 census.

There is money behind this area expansion.

Long before the outbreak of the war, Mr. Smullin was seeing Eureka not as an unimportant small town on the Coast, but as an integral part of a country that he knew was soon to need the combined power of all its component parts. Sensing the increasing tension with Japan, he made his first trip to Washington early in 1940. Strictly on his own time and money he contacted the Civil Aeronautics Authority and the Army and Navy to point out the strategic importance of Eureka as a military and civilian air base, since it is about the western-most point in the U. S.

Aided by Rep. Clarence F. Lea (D-Cal.), chairman of the House Interstate & Foreign Commerce Committee, and supported by engineering data and city and county interest, Bill Smullin put over his idea. Following his first trip, Eureka got a large airport, which later became an auxiliary Naval Air Station.

In 1941, partly influenced by the geographical location of Humboldt Bay, and partly by their satisfactory relationship with the adjacent communities, the Navy designated Eureka as a Section Base and started construction, dredging and harbor improvement. Since then a Seaplane Base has been established, as well as a special Navy Airport at Crescent City, 90 miles north of Humboldt Bay. Naturally, (Continued on page 48)

JIM WYATT

JAMES TREMONT WYATT, known to radio listeners as Jim "What-A-World" Wyatt, has had a long and colorful career as a newspaper and radio personality.

Born and educated in Canada, he served in the Canadian Army in France in World War I. Upon his return to civilian life he started a theatrical career and toured many parts of the United States with legitimate productions.

Wyatt relinquished the stage for newspaper work and became a successful reporter and a "by-line" writer.

He settled in Portland, Oregon, some twenty years ago where he became a naturalized American citizen and pursued first his newspaper and later his radio career.

Jim was first known on the air in a story-telling program of which he was the writer and producer, titled "The Night Watchman". This was a successful series which he abandoned to inaugurate "Five Star Final" on KOIN in 1937. He writes and broadcasts "Five Star Final".

...of how... by sheer force of writing and broadcasting personality... backed by complete news service... Wyatt has achieved on KOIN one of the most remarkable audience-building feats in the history of radio.

His writing is vivid, vigorous, colorful and humorous. His "What-A-World" sign-off has become a by-word in the KOIN territory.

Wyatt is another outstanding personality whose many years' service to radio listeners contribute to KOIN's dominant position in its community.

following these developments, there was a tremendous influx of both military and civilian population into the area.

Throughout the whole period of growth of the city and county, Bill Smullin worked closely in cooperation with the authorities in his position on innumerable civic committees, and later as president of the Eureka Chamber of Commerce, to which position he was elected in October 1945. More trips to Washington followed.

As he explains some of the difficulties encountered during the time of the mushrooming, "The first thing we had to do was to keep five or six different cities in our county from fighting each other for Government money to pave some cow pasture." But the civic spirit caught on and several local agencies actually gave property outright, totaling into six figures, as a contribution to the war program.

Many Activities

Bill Smullin's part in these developments becomes more clearly defined with the listing of his affiliations. They are the activities of a man who feels the individual's responsibility to his community and does something about it.

He is a member of the NAB Executive Committee of Small Market Stations, associate of the Institute of MTCE Engineers, member of the Eureka City War Council, chairman of the War Services for Eureka, information officer for Humboldt County, Radio Communications Officer of the Humboldt County Defense Council, chairman of the Humboldt Air Base Committee, Executive Committee County USO, member of Aircraft Warning Service, member National Aeronautic Assn., California State Guard, 1942-43 county grand jury. Add to these, his club membership including Masonic Lodge, Royal Arcanum Temple, San Francisco Press Club, Elks, President of the Eureka Chamber of Commerce, past president of Eureka Kiwanis Club. And there are other affiliations too numerous to list.

No more eloquent testimonial to Mr. Smullin's value to his community than the naming of his activities. Along with them, has gone a keen program understanding in the operation of KIEM, particularly on events and campaigns connected with the war. Among other things he established the first ESMWT course in Northern California, which has already supplied many technicians to the armed forces.

To those who do not know Bill Smullin personally, his tremendous enterprise may give the impression of a back-slapping, promoting type extrovert. Exactly the contrary is true. He is modest to a fault, and extremely diffident regarding his activities and accomplishments.

Bill Smullin was born in 1907 in Pennsylvania. Shortly afterwards his family went West to the Hood River Valley. He received his high school education at the Columbia River in Oregon, where he attended public schools. In 1929, he took his college degree at Williamette U., where both managed and edited the college paper.

Upon graduation, he decided to stay with journalism a while, and there followed several years of newspaper work including reporting with the Sales Oregon Statesman, managing editor of the Southwestern Oregon Daily News at Marshfield and advertising manager of the Oregon Oregano Bulletin in Portland.

Then in 1938 he got into radio with KIEM. And in 1937, in partnership with the Humboldt Standard and Humboldt Times, Eureka's two daily newspapers, he acquired controlling interest in the Redwood Broadcasting Co. Having decided to go on further in his radio career, he established KUIN in 1939 at Grants Pass, owned equally by Amos Voorhies of the Grants Pass Daily Courier and the Redwood Broadcasting Co. As secretary-treasurer of the owning corporation he directs the operating policy of KUIN, whose transmitter and plant is located exactly at the northern terminus of the Redwood Highway.

He married the late Harriet Fuller, of Hood River in 1932. Her death six months ago, leaving him with two young daughters, Shirley and a six-month son, William David, has perhaps increased Bill Smullin's driving ambition towards the development of his community.

Willie H. WILLIAMS, sales representative of WWVA Wheeling, W. Va., has been inducted into the Navy. He is presently stationed at Great Lakes Naval Training Base.

BENEDICT GIMBEL, Jr., president of WIP Philadelphia, has returned to the station after a long illness.

J. ERIC WILLIAMS, salesman, WDRC Hartford for the past eight years, has returned to become commercial manager of WPFO Providence. Mr. Williams is well known in the Hartford area among agencies and accounts.

KEN CHURCH, general manager of WKRC Cincinnati, is commanding the first new company of the expanded Ohio state Guard unit in Cincinnati. He has served as Captain in the Missouri State Guard for several years.

KMB Educational Post To Dr. C. F. Church Jr.

KMB Kansas City has retained Dr. Charles F. Church Jr. to conduct research in determining the full potentials of radio in the field of education, according to Karl Kropner, managing director of the station. The results of Dr. Church's survey will be used to aid Kansas City broadcasters in serving schools and to provide the public with better educational programs.

Dr. Church, who received his Ph.D. at Ohio State, and who has previously been in radio educational fields, will visit cities throughout the country to obtain a 'beter perspective of radio in education.'

GEORGE V. Denny Jr., president of Town and Country Advertising, and moderator of America's Town Meeting of the Air on the Blue Network is engaged to Jeanne Searcy, production assistant on the program. The marriage is expected to take place around the first week of April. The future Mrs. Denny will accompany her husband when the program goes on its annual summer tour.

DAVID and PHYLLIS TAYLOR are the parents of a girl, Mr. Taylor, now a private in the Army Air Forces stationed at Salt Lake City, was formerly a commercial manager of WBBB Burlington, N. C. Mrs. Taylor until recently was associated with WMFG Hibbing, Minn.

JAMES H. Mcknight is a new account executive of WTAD Worcester. His wife, Martha, for the past seven years chief accountant of WGBX, will leave that station April 1 to join her husband.

Located near Chattanooga is Fort Oglethorpe, an historic landmark in the military history of the United States. Situated on the outskirts of the city, Fort Oglethorpe has had men and women in the service of our country during four major wars of our national history . . . Civil, Spanish-American, World War I, and World War II.

Today Fort Oglethorpe has become the largest WAC training center in the country. The people of Chattanooga are proud of the new role Fort Oglethorpe has assumed in moulding young women of America into invaluable units of our army.

(Oh course, need we mention that these young women represent quite a bit of additional buying power for the Chattanooga market?)

JOHN MacKNIGHT, WDGY,
Minneapolis production manager and program director, is to be inducted into the Navy, and the story goes like this—
On the morning of Thanksgiving
John got notice that he was to be reclassified, on Christmas it came (1-A), but on his sixth wedding anniversary he reported for his pre-induction physical, and on April 1, his birthday, he will be inducted.

David Sarnoff Recalled
To Active Duty in Army
DAVID SARNOFF, RCA president, has been recalled to active duty as colonel in the Army Signal Corps on a special overseas assignment, it was announced last Monday. Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord, retired, chairman of the BCA Board of Directors takes over the management of RCA during Col.
Sarnoff's absence.

Shortly after Pearl Harbor, Col.
Sarnoff was on active duty with the War Dept. to launch the electronics -radio production program.
He reverted to inactive status a year ago when he returned to his position as RCA head. Col. Sarnoff is also a member of the Advisory Council to the Chief Signal Officer, composed of top executives of the armed forces and motion picture industries who are reserve officers with the Signal Corps.

John Daniel Falvey
JOHN DANIEL (Jack) FALVEY,
49, owner and operator of KBIZ
Ottumwa, Ia., died of heart disease at Ottumwa on Feb. 18. Hammer had sufficiently recovered to resume work but suffered a second attack last fall and since then had been confined to the home in his home. Mr. Falvey was born in Easton, Pa., April 10, 1894. He arrived in Ottumwa in 1920 to organize KBIZ. A member of the Ottumwa park board, American Legion, Kiwanis club, Chamber of Commerce, and Masonic, Mr. Fal-vey served in the first World War as a lieutenant, first in the Canadian air force and later in the U. S. Army Air Corps. He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth.

Application has been on file with the FCC since prior to Mr. Falvey's death to sell KBIZ for $60,000 to James J. Conroy, who with his wife, Victoria, have applied for relinquishment of their control in WDSM Superior, Wis.

Now Lt. Col. Rorke
PROMOTION of Harold R. Rorke, asistant chief of Army Air Forces public relations, to a lieutenant colonelcy, was announced last week.
Col. Rorke, former assistant director of publicity of CBS in New York, was called to active in the Army Air Forces Reserve in July, 1942. He was promoted to major in February, 1943. Prior to his 49 years old. In November, 1941, Col. Rorke for five years had served as director of publicity of CBS in Hollywood.

Wright and Kelly
Elevated By NBC
New Production Setup Will Conform to Net Expansion
WYNN WRIGHT, eastern program manager of NBC, has been appointed to the newly-created post of national production manager, it was announced last week by Clarence L. Menser, vice-president in charge of programs. Mr. Men-sen also announced that N. R.
Rorke, former western program manager, Mr. Wright has been named manager of production facilities of NBC's television operations, in line with a general expansion in this field.

Before entering radio in 1930 as drama director of WWJ Detroit, Mr. Wright was active in theatrical work for 16 years. He joined NBC's central division in Chicago as production director, in 1934. In 1935 he went to WWJ as a program and production manager. He went to London in 1936, to study British production methods, and in 1938 rejoined NBC's central division as production director. He became production manager of the division in 1939.

Mr. Kelly came to NBC from the Gulf Oil Co. in 1930. He ordanized and developed the sound effects department, and in 1937 was made national manager of sound effects development. He was transferred to the production division in November 1942, and two months later became assistant production manager of the eastern division. He was appointed production manager of the division in May 1943.

Sixteen hours daily CBC networks, covering the five time zones of Canada, bring to listeners outstanding programs from seven great broadcasting systems.

The Trans-Canada, Dominion and Quebec networks of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation are made up of 75 privately and publicly owned stations linked by the circuits of the Corporation. These networks supply a blended and balanced schedule of entertainment, news, instruction and information from the CBC, the BBC and the four leading networks of the United States.

The network program service rendered to the public through the co-ordination of these services is only made possible through the utmost degree of co-operation between the CBC, its affiliated stations and these other great networks every hour of every day throughout the year.

Member stations place a high premium on their affiliation with CBC networks because the sustaining and commercial network service brought to them daily by the CBC means improved program standards, larger and more consistent station audiences and an unusual degree of satisfaction and contentment.

Blue Expansion Plans for Television

PLANS FOR Blue Network expansion into the fields of FM and television as well as for construction of its own studios and the ownership of standard broadcast stations in Los Angeles, Chicago and New York, were disclosed by Mark Woods, network president, at an all-day meeting of department heads and management executives from Washington, Detroit, Chicago and New York held March 18 at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York.

Mr. Woods told the Blue executive vice-president, who called and conducted the meeting, announced that in the coming year the Blue will concentrate on programming and not merely ride along on the profits accruing from the present "radio year." He declared: "By that I mean that we will refuse business if we do not think the program offered is up to our standards. We will not accept a program merely because the time is available and the time sale represents revenue." The expansion planned.

Sites are now being surveyed and plans made to erect studios in these four cities, from which most network programs emanate, as soon as conditions permit, Mr. Woods said. He continued: "Coincident with the construction of our own studios, the Blue expects to own its own broadcasting stations in Washington and Los Angeles and a full-time outlet in Chicago in addition to the stations we now own. Negotiations to that end are under way. He added, however, that there is no immediate prospect for completion of these negotiations.

Blue currently owns WJZ New York, WBNR Chicago (sharing facilities with WLS); WOAI San Antonio and KOE San Francisco, and operates WAML Washington under lease from the Washington Star. On his recent Western trip, Woods conferred with Earl C. Anthony, owner of KECA, Blue outlet in Los Angeles, and Burridge D. Butler, owner of WLS Chicago, regarding acquisition of these stations by the Blue.

Hailing FM as "the coming business in sound broadcasting," which will give the Blue an opportunity to assert leadership in this field, Mr. Woods said that applications have been filed or are being prepared for FM stations in key cities. He issued a warning, however, that one in every five will be forced to ignore television and disclosed that plans for a complete Blue television system are nearing completion.

"While we own no television stations today," he stated, "I am convinced that television will prove to be the greatest medium ever developed for entertainment and advertising. The Blue Network is planning to file for its own stations in New York, Washington, Chicago and Los Angeles. We are encouraging Blue affiliates to file, as soon as possible, for the construction of both FM and television transmitters. Just as soon as material becomes available, both the Blue and the Blue network will be prepared to move into both these fields."

Urging a militant program policy as a necessity if the broadcasting industry is to maintain the prestige and leadership it now enjoys, Mr. Kobak pointed out that programming is not a one-man job. "I want all employees to listen to radio," he declared, "not just Blue shows, but all radio. Too many do not.

Other speakers at the session included: Phillips Carlin, vice-president in charge of programs; Keith Kiggins, vice-president in charge of stations; C. Nicholas Priaulx, vice-president in charge of finance; Charles Rynd, treasurer; Robert Sayres, counsel and secretary; G. W. Johnstone, director of news and special features; M. R. Schoenfeld, assistant general manager of the Chicago division; C. P. Jasper, general sales manager and John McNeil, manager of WJZ, Blue Key station in New York.
A highway connects Alaska with the states. Planes leave on schedule from Seattle daily. Steamship schedules leave several times weekly. A network of inter-Alaska highways is under construction. Thousands of people have migrated to Alaska to take part in the war effort—thousands are staying permanently. Hundreds of soldiers have applied for homesteads. * Strategic metals are being mined in no small quantity to take their place beside Alaska's gold production in value. Alaska's farmers have had very profitable seasons and are pulling themselves out of the hole in spite of their handicaps. The thousands of acres of forested lands are beginning to be developed and have already contributed hundreds of square feet of spruce for America's airplane industries. * A vast network of airbases has been established and will be used in civilian aviation following the war. Alaska will then be on world air routes to the Orient. * Alaska is engaged today in the building of a great state, one that will far surpass the most vivid imagination of most of us today. Its importance in world strategy, in commercial value has just begun to be realized. It is the fastest growing area on the American continent and one of the richest possessions of the United States. * Higher wages provide Alaskans with two to four times the buying power per capita as in the states. These people depend today upon their radio for their news, entertainment and contact with one another and with the world at large. Nowhere does the radio play such an important part in their daily lives as in the many Alaska communities. A test campaign will convince you of these facts. Costs are low for reaching this rich market. Write or wire for availabilities.

If you have any questions regarding Alaska, her present and expectations for the future, drop me a note and I'll send you all information that may be released. * I still have a few more copies of our Annual Pictorial Edition of Alaska Life left. Had a lot of requests already which we were glad to send to those requesting it. It really will give you and your clients a clear picture of the Territory today. And if your clients are progressive and interested in new business and more markets, you won't let them pass over Alaska.

SEATTLE 4, WASHINGTON
DEVELOPMENT of ideas in the Americas is the theme of the second "semester" of Land of the Free, historical series of NBC's Inter-American University of the Air. First broadcasts describe relationships between white men and Indians; the following six describe contributions of European peoples, and the remaining ten highlight individuals who have influenced life and thought. Tapes of these programs will originate through the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. Background material is made available to listeners in the form of a handbook published by the Columbia U. Press.

WTAG First

WTAG Worcester claims credit for conducting the first radio interviews from the Army's newly constructed Cushin General Hospital, Framingham, Mass., which is described as the "most efficient and best-equipped hospital in the world". The program, presented in behalf of the Red Cross on the weekend of March 25, included interviews with men returned from action over seas, and originated from the inner room of the Hospital, which was equipped by the Red Cross.

Defense Series

REVIEW of working conditions in Los Angeles area war production plants is presented in the weekly quarter-hour program An Ounce of Prevention on KECA. Interviews with workers are conducted by KECA's station special events director, and transmitted for later release. Series is presented jointly by public service department of radio division of Earle C. Anthony Inc., and Los Angeles city and county defense councils.

Italian Aid

WOW New York has started a series of daily broadcasts designed to help establish contact between Italian prisoners of war interned here and their American relatives. Names of war prisoners are broadcast in Italian during the five-minute program. All information is cleared by arrangement with the Red Cross Foreign Inquiry Service. It is believed that the program will intensify sympathy of Italians for the allied cause.

Victory Gardeners

KSD ST. LOUIS has begun a series of ten weekly programs to help Victory Gardeners featuring gardening and nutrition specialists from the U. of Missouri, who will give advice on such matters as soil care, crop selection, insect control, orchard care and canning and preservation of foods. Questions will be answered by the experts on the air by mail.

Imitations

VOICES of leading headline personalities of the day are imitated by Nat Hale, "the man of 1000 voices," in a series of twice-weekly quarter-hour program Drama in the News on WEVD New York. Mr. Hale duplicates the voices of Churchill, Stalin, Hitler, Tojo, and other well known world figures.

REPRESENTATIVES of National Association of Manufacturers and Committee of Industrial Organizations are among those taking part in a six-week series of broadcasts on Youth Faces the Post-War World on WOR New York. The weekly half-hour series started March 25 and originates from the meeting house of the Ethical Culture Society of New York, as part of a course for young people.

FBI Cases

ACTUAL cases from FBI files are now dramatized on WINX Washington, D. C. in an effort to show the Real - juvenile delinquency. Titled The F.B.I. Reports, program is broadcast Sundays in cooperation with J. Edgar Hoover and the F.B.I. Recreation Assn. No specific curative measures are presented but emphasis is placed on the elimination of conditions proved to foster youth crimes.

Wish-Wish

SOLDIER'S wishes have a pretty fair chance of coming true on Behind the Dog Tag, KYGO Portland, Or. G.I. show designed for that purpose and broadcast from Camp Gruber, Okla. Wishes of soldiers which already have come true include a screen test, date with a princess, ride in a submarine and a chance to conduct a symphony orchestra.

WELI Forum

SPONTANEOUS forum series conducted by WELI New Haven, Conn., is known as the Connecticut Forum of the Air and is heard every Thursday evening, 8:30-9:00 p.m. Yale U. personalities and other well-known people living in Connecticut participate on the unrehearsed discussion program.

Idaho History

IDAHO history and folklore that commonly isn't known highlights Pioneer Parade now heard on KIDO Boise, Ida. Half-hour Sunday evening full cast production portrays the life and problems of the early Idaho settlers. Program is sponsored by a local department store.

WBBM Show

STEEL and the war complete the format of a new WBBM Chicago half hour sustainer, Workshop for War. The weekly series sata lute the home front service men and women in steel, railroads, shipping, agriculture, meat packing, and aviation industries.

Sports Tips

WEEKLY quarter-hour Spent Spinner program with news of interest to sportsmen and fishermen has started on CKWX Vancouver. A noted local sportman-columnist is producer of the program.
Universal takes pride in producing these three types of Microphones at the request of the U. S. Army Signal Corps. U.S. NETWORK shows are most popular in Canada according to ratings for March released last week by Elliott-Haynes, Toronto. With a rating of 46.6, Charlie McCarthy, made the lead of the first 15 evening national network shows. Fibber McGee & Molly came second with a 41.7 rating and Lux Radio Theatre ranked third with 40.8. Other top English language programs were rated in the following order: Benny, Andy, Andy, Bob Hope, H. N. L. Hockey, L. for Langley, Treasure Island, Family, Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, N. H. L. Hockey, Andy, Andy, Andy, Andy.

NAM Disces

Within four to six weeks the National Industrial Information Committee public relations subsidiary of the Advertising Association, will release a series of transcriptions to put over the idea that the nation means more jobs. Titled Business Men Look to the Future, a series of quarter-hour panel discussions by business leaders will cover the future of the discs are being offered to stations on request, for local broadcast. Radio plans are part of a nation-wide "Better America" promotion campaign originally announced by Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the board of General Motors Corp., and NAC chairman. [BROADCASTING, Dec. 27, 1943]. There are no plans to date for direct radio advertising.

MBS Adds Two

MUTUAL has acquired two new stations in Florida and the other in Wyoming, making a total of 231 MBS affiliates. WDLP Panama City, Fla., operated by Panama City Broadcasting Co., with 250 watts on 1230 kc, and owned by John H. Perry, started operations on Mutual’s Mutual, March 13. The Wyoming station, KXV, holds the name April Broadcasting Co., with 250 watts on 1400 kc.

Franklin Simons Series

FRANKLIN SIMONS, women's specialty store in New York, starts its annual institutional campaign on WQXR New York April 17. Store will sponsor a twice-weekly half-hour program at 10 p.m., titled Musical Milestones. Recorded music will be selected to tie in title or mood with the early days of the store. Franklin Simons plans to continue a series of 21 live announcements weekly on the same station for particular products and services, currently its fur storage facilities. Agency is Hiram-Garfield, New York.
Smith in New Post

HASSELL W. SMITH, vice-president in charge of radio for Botsford Constantine & Gardner, West Coast agency, has resigned to become general manager of Hillman-Shane-Breyer, Los Angeles, effective April 1. Mr. Smith has been with Botsford, Constantine & Gardner since December 1, 1941. Prior to that he was for six years San Francisco manager of Long Adv. Service. For three years previous he was sales manager of KFRC San Francisco. In his new capacity Mr. Smith will coordinate all activities of Hillman-Shane-Breyer.

Fitzgerald Named

EDWARD J. FITZGERALD, formerly vice-president of Erwin, Wasey & Co. and vice-president of Donahue & Co., where he specialized in drug accounts, has joined Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample, Chicago, as an executive handling the American Home Products account. From 1936 to 1938 Mr. Fitzgerald was in charge of copyrights at the NAB.

Titus Named

KEN C. TITUS, formerly with WCCO Minneapolis, and prior to that a radio timebuyer for several years with Knox-Reeves Advertising, Minneapolis, has been named head of the radio department of McCann-Erickson, Minneapolis. Evelyn Vanderploeg, for the past year a radio timebuyer at McCann-Erickson, Minneapolis, has been transferred to the Chicago office radio staff.

Morse Revision

CHESTER SLAYBAUGH, former timebuyer of Morse International Inc., New York, who succeeded Richard Nicholls as radio director a month or so ago, bears the title of manager of the radio department under a general reorganization. C. Coleman Dawson, independent producer for several years and formerly associated with CBS, has been named director of programs. Two new timebuyers have joined the agency-Walter W. Simonson, and Eurice C. Dickson, formerly of WBAL and NBC respectively.

Eddie Cantor came to town during the 4th War Loan and in a sun-up to sun-up broadcast over sold $40,130,075 in War Bonds... to folks as far north as Canada... far east as Illinois! An all-time peak for one-day, one-station War Bond marathons! Thanks lots, Eddie, for showing again how KPO really reaches.

Lea Committee Probe

Army and Navy and that from March 25, 1942, to Nov. 25, 1943, the prints were sent direct on War Dept. instructions.

Rep. Miller announced he wanted to question Mr. Fly on subjects that would take "about one week" to cover. Mr. Barger objected to a statement offered the previous week by Mr. Fly on the ground that it was "argumentative and repetitious", but Rep. Miller suggested the statement remain in the record.

Mr. Barger reminded the Committee that the FCC chairman was requested to furnish copies of letters between himself and President Roosevelt regarding a "unified" international communications system. "May I suggest that the Committee has an inherent and constitutional right to save these documents from Mr. Fly under whatever capacity he professes to be acting?" he said.

"In that same connection," interposed Rep. Miller, "I would like to ask the counsel for the FCC to furnish a copy of the letter that was written by an Undersecretary of the Navy in reference to the demotion of Adm. Redman.

... It was with reference to this transaction: Adm. Redman had testified before the staff of this Committee. He had given certain testimony regarding Pearl Harbor and regarding an accident that had occurred to the task force operating in Alaskan waters. After this testimony was given by Adm. Redman, a copy of that testimony was requested by the White House.

"After the contents of the statement had been learned, thereupon Chairman Fly read, in the presence of Commissioner Craven, a letter presumably from the White House in which it was stated that certain things might happen to Commissioner Craven and others who testified in secret before the Committee investigating the FCC. A copy of this alleged letter or note from the White House was shown to Commissioner Craven."

When Mr. Denny said he had no information "on any such letter", Rep. Miller asserted that "if the Navy Dept. will relax its rules and permit me to, I will produce that letter". Mr. Denny said he had been "begging and pleading" for information on the alleged task force incident and Rep. Miller replied: "I suggest you get in touch with Adm. Hooper... You don't have to beg and plead any longer. Adm. Hooper can tell you what task force it was, where it went and what happened as a result of the bungling of the FCC."

"Mr. Chairman, that is a terribly serious charge," said Mr. Denny, addressing Chairman Lea. "There is no evidence on it whatever."

"Of course there is no evidence because Adm. Hooper has been silenced by executive order," shouted Rep. Miller. "You know that and I know that and everybody here knows that," Mr. Denny categorically denied such an incident and said he thought he could convince the Committee "no such thing ever happened".

Offers to Produce Witness to Incident

Rep. Miller continued that he hoped to produce "one or two boys" on that task force, one of whom has been disabled as a result of the bungling of the FCC. Chairman Lea interrupted the exchange to instruct Mr. Denny to proceed on rebuttal of foreign-language broadcaster charges.

In a public statement Tuesday night, Chairman Fly accused Rep. Miller of "throwing sneaky punches at the Commission in the form of unsupported innuendoes" and said "Mr. Miller is carrying on the pattern of character assassination devised for him by the former counsel of the Committee. [Eugene L. Garey]. He continued:

If Mr. Miller has any evidence that FCC men were responsible for any 'incident' as he hinted... he should bring his case into the open. This charge in the form of a duplicate has been tossed at us at least five or six times during these hearings.

I can say further that neither Adm. Hooper's secret testimony nor that of any other official sets forth facts to substantiate such an irresponsible charge. Miller knows that. We have had 18 months of this sort of abuse from certain representatives of an investigative body presumably charged with the obligation of maintaining something in the nature of a judicial attitude. Yet Miller continues to grab the headlines by planting the daily booby trap. Congressman Miller is clothed with something more than arbitrary power. He has the same quality of public trust that I, as a public official, am sworn to preserve.

Both Miller and the press know that the FCC chairman has given the hearings into the open and permitted to answer them with overwhelming facts, the charges evaporated in thin air. But we are not playing for the headlines; Miller can have them. All we ask is something slightly resembling fairness and a judicial attitude.

Denny Denies FCC Employed Communists

Mr. Denny said when this country entered the war some 400 stations were broadcasting in foreign languages, the great majority of which was in German and Italian. He read from a mimeographed statement and Rep. Miller suggested the statement be incorporated in the hearings without being read by Mr. Denny to save time. Following an argument between the FCC counsel and Rep. Miller, Chairman Lea suggested "I will be permitted to proceed as he desires in making his presentation.

Mr. Denny offered to submit the statement and summarize it orally.

Mr. Denny denied, in answering Rep. Miller, that the FCC employed Communists in any station;
Out of this war has come a better way of doing things—speeded production... more efficient designing... better ways to keep equipment on the job longer. Out of Gates' expanded production facilities are coming exciting, new things for the postwar radio industry... new developments and engineering efficiencies that are creating America's outstanding line of transmitting equipment.

If you are faced with equipment problems entailed in keeping your system on the air, let us know about them. Our engineering staff is ready and willing to assist and advise—whether you are Gates-equipped, or not.

saying the Commission did not employ "anyone in ar:... station any place". He denied the FCC had ousted "good Americans" from jobs to make room for the employment of "aliens". He also denied the Commission had suggested to station management that certain employees be dismissed and others hired.

Rep. Miller asked if it was proper for a "member of the Commission to take a trip and to charge that trip up to Government expense... if for, example, you went to a city in order to repay a debt to someone to get a station in return for something that had been done," Mr. Denny objected to answering "hypothetical questions" and in the exchange that followed Rep. Miller wanted to know if it would be "proper to charge the Government for 16 bottles of seltzer when you were not on a mission of the FCC?" Again Mr. Denny protested that the question was hypothetical.

Miller Says Denny Gives Personal Conclusions

Further argument about the relevancy of Mr. Denny's testimony brought from Rep. Miller the statement that the FCC general counsel was giving his personal conclusion. "The Committee is well able to draw its own conclusions from the evidence in the record," Rep. Miller asserted.

"That is what I am afraid of," replied Mr. Denny. "If you draw your conclusions from what is in the record, I am afraid you will draw wrong conclusions." Rep. Miller asked if Mr. Denny knew 12/20ths of the record was made up of testimony by Commission employees.

Mr. Denny told the Committee that of 10 foreign-language broadcasters on the air when war broke out, the Dept. of Justice interned eight, adding: "If, in the opinion of the Dept. of Justice, they should be interned, my judgment follows that without further check they certainly should not be permitted access to the microphones of this country."

"In view of the failure of the FCC to turn over to the Dept. of Justice the fingerprints that were taken, aggregating some 250,000, until June 27, 1942, I submit, therefore, that what the gentleman has to say about the Dept of Justice at this time is just as much evangelical bellywash," interrupted Rep. Miller. Chairman Lea told Mr. Denny to proceed.

Rep. Miller asked if Mr. Denny had become familiar with Axis espionage. Mr. Denny replied: "Yes, it was the FCC who discovered Axis espionage and broke it. The FBI picked up the PPL circuit. Incidentally this is a very ticklish question."

"I want to ask one question at this point," interjected Mr. Barger. "What agency of Government has jurisdiction over espionage and sabotage?" Mr. Denny replied: "Radio espionage, the FCC." He said authority was under the Fed-

"Scared to Death!"

CHARLES R. DENNY JR., FCC general counsel, last week told the House Select Committee to Investigate the Commission that he was "scared to death" of the Committee's record. Rep. Miller (R-Mo.) challenged a statement by Mr. Denny as "personal opinion" and demanded: "Are you afraid of the record?" Mr. Denny leaped to his feet. "Afraid of this record?" he shouted. "You bet I am. I'm scared to death of it!"

...eral Communications Act. He said he planned to present two days' testimony on espionage—one in open hearing and one in executive session.

Rep. Hart questioned Mr. Denny's statement about pre-war broadcasts and said: "Do you contend there were no broadcasts praising Fascist and Communist broadcasts that after Pearl Harbor the "principal attention was devoted to Nazi and Fascist propaganda? That is all we had time to do."

Explains Views On Section 326

He promised to provide excerpts of scripts in which any Communist propaganda appeared if the records of the FCC were disclosed. Mr. Denny criticized foreign-language stations which, he said, sold blocks of time to time-brokers whom in turn, sold the time to sponsors while the "station licensee would sit down and pocket the money and do nothing about it". Such operation, he said, amounted to turning over his station operation to another.

Rep. Magnuson posed the question that if a broadcaster were in doubt about something on his station and he asked the FCC for advice, would he get it? Mr. Denny cited a form letter which said the FCC would advise him whether he had sole power to determine what should be broadcast. When Mr. Barger directed attention to Sec. 326 of the Communications Act, which expressly prohibits the Commission from exercising any control over program content, Mr. Denny remarked:

"If you don't have any arguments have crept into this record to the effect that Section 326 has been overruled by the Supreme Court decision in the chain broadcasting case. I don't quite place any such interpretation upon the Supreme Court decision. In other words I agree with you."

Explaining license renewals, Mr. Denny said that if a license came up for renewal after Pearl Harbor and the licensee had permitted known Fascists to "come in and say things that are pro-Fascist, that presents a question of proper use of the wavelength". Rep. Wigglesworth asked:

Claims Noncompliance With Monitoring Rule

"No licensees have been lost because most station operators have been amenable to suggestions," Mr. Denny replied: "When you read this statement I think you will be convinced that no suggestion has been made by the Commission to those operators."

As Mr. Denny resumed the stand Wednesday he placed in the record seven additional statements covering various phases of the foreign language situation and the history of the War Problems Division. "There is some confusion," he said. "There have been charges that the War Problems Division was abolished in name only. The situation is simply that foreign language broadcasting is handled by various departments of the FCC. The War Problems Division was simply a shell of our Law Department."

Mr. Denny explained that in a reorganization of the Law Department the Commission was able to save $137,000 of a $260,000 appropriation. "In the present appropriation there is no fund for a War Problems Division," he said.

On foreign language broadcasts Mr. Denny said the Commission conducted a survey of one week in February 1943 and learned that 28.4% of the programs on the air were not made in accordance with the Censorship Code, and that no review was reported for 14.6% of the hours broadcast. He later changed his testimony to "non-compliance" rather than "violation" because, he said, the Code was a voluntary one.

Rep. Wigglesworth remarked that the Office of Censorship was "pretty well satisfied" with the job radio was doing, and Mr. Denny asserted: "I know that Censorship did not make a nationwide survey." He added, however, that the Commission made no survey other than the one week in February 1943 because "surveys cost money."

Mr. Denny said the Commission had no "express legal authority" to issue temporary licenses but did have "legal authority" under the Communications Act. He pointed out that temporary licenses were started by the old Federal Radio Commission.

Denies Charges of Conspiracy With OWI

"In a two-year period," he said, "463 stations were on temporary licenses at one time or another." He said many of those grants were due to filing for renewals by applicants. Mr. Denny charged that Committee former counsel had mailed each of the 463 stations a questionnaire, a copy of which he inserted in the record. When he testified that many of the questionnaires were returned to the FCC, some with comments, Mr. Denny wanted to know how the Commission got possession of them and if the FCC had suggested they be returned to it rather than the Committee.

"When the people got these questionnaires they recognized the temporary license as a Godsend," said Mr. Denny. He offered a 46-page memorandum, embodying the replies of all except two licensees, he said, those two not being "proper for the public record". He offered statistics showing that of the 463 temporary licenses, 46% were

Mr. Denny added that the FCC would advise the Department."
DENUNCIATION of the FCC and its chairman, James Lawrence Fly, was delivered by Eugene L. Garey, who recently resigned as counsel for the Congressional committee investigating the FCC, last Wednesday before the Kiwanis Club of New York.

Describing the Commission as “One of the most powerful and ruthless agencies of government,” which “lusts to make its broad powers broader and is constantly grasping powers never granted it,” Mr. Garey declared that the inquiry into its activities “has shown that the FCC operates not as an independent agency of the Government, allocating frequencies among the radio operators and policing the frequencies allotted, as the Commission was designed to do, but as an arm of the administration to smash and subdue freedom and independent radio operation. Chairman Fly,” Mr. Garey continued, “is just the man for such a task. He is subtle, smart, ruthless and he is convinced that private operators of radio stations should live only in the shadow of and by consent of the FCC and then only so long as they remain completely subservient to him and do his bidding. He is by taste, by calling and commitment an advocate of the theory that the bureaucrats in Government are more to be trusted than the American people.”

Declaring that the commission has interpreted the “public interest, convenience or necessity” clause of the communications act as authority to do whatever it pleases; Mr. Garey said “it is used primarily to reward political friends and to punish political opponents… The result is that radio has a weak heart for all its powerful voice in America. It has no independence, no freedom, and he has conspired with fear of its life. It dies a thousand deaths every presidential campaign in expectation of the revenge of some political power group.”

“Call it what you will,” he concluded, “the activities of this Commission have destroyed free radio and that step leads to dictatorship. There was no free radio in Germany, there was none in Italy or in Russia. Unless this dangerous man is stopped and stopped now, there may be none in America tomorrow.”

In the foreign-language field only 10 stations have been on temporary license since Pearl Harbor,” he explained. “At the present there are none.” Mr. Denny corrected his testimony and said that only 10 foreign language stations were placed on temporary licenses because of personnel handling the broadcasts.

Quoting Sidney Spear, now Pvt. Spear of the Army and a former FCC attorney, Mr. Denny denied charges of Robert K. Richards, assistant to J. Harold Ryan, assistant director of Censorship in charge of broadcasting, that Mr. Spear had told Mr. Richards “the Commission had conspired with OWI to put stations on temporary licenses and keep them there until the station did what Lee Falk of OWI wanted it to do with respect to the hiring and firing of station personnel”.

Mr. Denny said he personally did not talk to Mr. Spear but that Nathan David, a former assistant general counsel now in the Navy, had done so. He placed in the record a speech made on the House floor Nov. 2, 1943, by Rep. Coffee (D-Wash.), defending Mr. Spear and attacking the testimony of Mr. Richards before the Committee.

With reference to personnel of WCOP Boston, Mr. Denny said denaturalization proceedings had been instituted against a former employee named Gallucci, who had been discharged by WCOP. “Did the station complain about the discharge of Gallucci?” asked Chairman Lea.

“We didn’t tell them to fire Gallucci,” replied Mr. Denny.

“You don’t suppose they had any idea that if they discharged certain personnel they would get a renewal of their license, do you?” queried Rep. Hart. “Of course they did,” replied Mr. Denny. Following an exchange with the general counsel, Rep. Hart said:

“The record as it stands is not complete with your answers.”

Alphonse Lambiase, former Italian announcer on WCOP whose letters to the Commission pleading that he be given a clean slate after having been discharged from the station, was given a clean bill of health by Mr. Denny. “I know nothing against Lambiase,” he said. “We can’t take a position one way or the other, but so far as I know, there is nothing against this man. Apparently the Office of Censorship was behind this.”

“It’s perfectly evident in the record, isn’t it,” queried Rep. Wigglesworth, “that Mr. Lambiase was persona non grata with the FCC and it helped the station to get a license by getting rid of him?”

“We did ask about Lambiase and all the other foreign-language personnel,” replied Mr. Denny. “I don’t know of any reason why Lambiase shouldn’t be on the air.”

“Yet Lambiase is off the air because the FCC won’t make that statement,” persisted Rep. Wigglesworth. Mr. Denny said “there’s a gap in the law—a hiatus”. He recommended the establishment of a Government group, composed of representatives of the FBI, Army and Navy, OWI and Office of Censorship which would act on qualifications and loyalty of various foreign-language announcers.

“If the Commission had held a hearing and evidence was discovered that Lambiase was distributing subversive information…” Rep. Lea started to ask, and Mr. Denny interrupted: “Then WCOP would have lost its license. Lambiase, however, was not an issue in the WCOP case.”

Tells of Letter From Elmer Davis

Mr. Denny explained cases involving WGES and WOV and said that Stefano Luotto, former employee of WGES was “not the reason for the inquiry into WGES’ operations”. “At the time of his removal from the air,” said the Commission counsel, “he was of no greater importance than any other broadcaster about whom complaints had been made. The station was not on a temporary license because of him or because of the complaints against any other performer; on the contrary the station’s apparent laxity in its overall supervision prompted the Commission’s action.”

ONE WILL DO IN ROANOKE!

To really “cover” lots of hit markets you’d have to put your weight on two, three or four radio stations. By the same token, some big markets aren’t so big when divided by four.

But down here in the Roanoke-Southwest Virginia area there’s a tremendous market—23.96% of Virginia’s radio homes—that is satisfactorily served in its entirety by only one station.

That’s why WDBJ is such a fine testing place for new programs—such a fine station for almost any program. We’d like to send you further proof...
sion prevented Andre Luotto, brother of Stefano, from becoming manager of WOV by refusing to approve without a public hearing an application for transfer of the station from the Bulova interests to the Mester Brothers, Mr. Denny declared that the former office of Facts & Figures (now OWI) had opposed the transfer.

A letter from Elmer Davis, OWI director, urging the FCC not to approve the transfer, also was presented. Mr. Denny said the transfer was set for hearing, but that it was withdrawn and a new application is now pending.

"Mr. Denny doesn't want to have certain correspondence between Mr. Fly and Mr. La Fount," remarked Mr. Barger.

"Isn't the charge in the record that the reason the transaction fell through was that Mester Brothers didn't want to go through with it because they couldn't have Mr. Luotto as manager of the station?" inquired Rep. Hart. "If that is charged in the record," said Mr. Denny, "there was absolutely no basis for Mester Brothers getting the impression that they couldn't have Mr. Luotto as manager."

"According to Mr. Luotto's testimony there was plenty of basis for that impression," said Rep. Hart. "Mr. Luotto's testimony is true, the Mester Brothers saw no reason to go ahead with the application because Mester Brothers wanted Mr. Luotto as their manager and it was obvious they couldn't not have him as their manager."

When Mr. Denny remarked that

ROMANCE RESULTS from—of all things—the War Clinic of NBC, held in Chicago, where Morton Henkin, vice-president and secretary of KSON-KELO Sioux Falls, S. D. and Sylvia Wolff were married following the sessions at the Drake Hotel. Seems as though all's fair in love and war clinics.

Mr. La Fount denied that on the stand, the New Jersey Congressman said he was "looking to Mr. Luotto's testimony".

Mr. Denny admitted Mr. Luotto would have been an "issue" at the hearing for transfer because of complaints against him and Rep. Hart interposed: "It was felt that Mr. Luotto's going to a hearing would have been a useless matter."

"I can't cope with testimony of that kind," Mr. Denny explained and Rep. Hart continued: "I'm not suggesting how you cope with the testimony. I am referring to it and asking how you reply to it. You are at liberty to put in whatever answer you want. I am saying the answer you have submitted here does not address itself in any particular to the specific testimony of Mr. Luotto."

"This is an answer in the nature of a confession and avoidance," Rep. Hart went on, "and I want to make it clear you have had every opportunity to put in a closing and complete reply to the testimony in the record, and as far as I see, this is not a full and complete answer or an answer at all to the testimony of Mr. Luotto. It does not refer to the conversations he said he had with representatives of the FCC. This is a generalized reply. If you want it to stand as the Commission's reply, that is all right with me."

Mr. Denny said the transfer is again pending before the Commission and he preferred not to go into more detail because he would be called upon to give an opinion to the Commission. He asked permission to "look at Mr. Luotto's testimony again" and, if necessary, to make further reply.

Fly Letter Tells Of BWC Matter

When Mr. Fly returned to the stand Thursday, Rep. Wigglesworth asked if he were ready to produce letters between himself and President Roosevelt regarding formation of a group looking to a unified international carrier. Mr. Fly had been asked previously to supply the letters. He testified that the correspondence had to do with the BWC and not the FCC, then disclosed that he had written Chairman Lea a letter, which he was asked to be included in the record.

"I am quite concerned with the manner in which counsel (Mr. Barger) tends to treat BWC matters as if they were Commission matters," wrote the FCC chairman. He offered to have Mr. Denny show the letters in question to the Committee chairman but could not offer them for evidence, he said.

"This one file will indicate to you further complications which will arise by permitting counsel to delve into the confidential records of the actions of other Government agencies," he wrote. "Needless to say, this sort of attempt is highly embarrassing to me. I cannot afford to have such substantial question outstanding as to the propriety of my official conduct in any sphere of activity."

"Any reluctance on my part fully to cooperate with the Committee even outside its legal sphere can only tend to raise a question in unthinking minds as to the propriety of my official conduct in that field. It is to avoid any such question in your mind that I am asking Mr. Denny to show you this file, but I do hope that the Committee will not undertake an investigation of these other agencies."

Mr. Fly declined to answer Rep. Wigglesworth's question: "Will you say to this Committee that you were not opposed to the action of the BWC?" He had reference to a statement by Mr. Fly that the BWC and not he refused to turn certain records over to the Commission last July. With reference to the two letters in question Rep. Wigglesworth asked: "As chairman of the Board are you opposed to producing the letters?"

Chairman Fly said he wasn't "voting at a future meeting of the Board" and couldn't answer the question.

Denies Interfering With IRAC Activity

Mr. Fly declined to testify as to the State Dept. committee, of which he admitted he is a member, on the grounds that its meetings were "secret" and its functions "confidential." He couldn't recall the name of the committee, but he said it was created by a letter from the President.

After telling the Committee he would file for the record a State Dept. letter asking him to serve on the special group, Mr. Fly objected to being questioned while presenting testimony and was informed by Chairman Lea that "committee members may ask questions when they wish."

Lea then read into the record a 28-page statement intended to refute testimony by Commissioner T. A. M. Craven that he (Mr. Fly) had interfered with the work of the Interdepartment Radio Advisory Committee. He referred to charges made by Mr. Garey as "ridiculous" and declared: "The actual record of what happened to every application filed with IRAC is the answer to Committee counsel's charge that somehow the Commission's IRAC representative was able to thwart, with Machiavellian cunningness, the radio activities of other Government agencies."

He denied he had interfered with IRAC and told the Committee he never discussed IRAC matters with anyone outside the Commission, except on one occasion when IRAC members came to him. Referring to a charge by Mr. Garey that Mr. Fly refused to "transmit to the President without comment...the constitution of the IRAC as drafted and proposed by the Army and Navy for the express purpose of eliminating Mr. Fly's control of such committee," Chairman Fly asserted: "Committee counsel did two things in an effort to prove this charge: (1) he introduced a few--but not all--of the IRAC minutes dealing with this subject matter; and (2) he examined Commissioner Craven, whose views between the time he voted at the IRAC meetings and the time he testified before you gentlemen had gone through a complete metamorphosis."

Refuting charges that he delayed establishment by the Army of several low-powered standard-band stations in Alaska for morale purposes, Mr. Fly declared that "establishment of such stations..."

Colgate Increases

AS PART of a test campaign for Vel, a soap detergent, and Palmolive-Perf. Co., Jersey City, has started a weekly half-hour quiz of Twin Cities programs on WCCL St. Paul-Minnapolis, and is using an extensive schedule of transcribed spot announcements in the midwest, South West, and West Coast areas. Copy is directed at the hardware regions, and plays up the line that Vel produces suuds easily in hard water. Newspapers and farm magazines are also used. Spot radio started the latter part of February. Agency is William Esty & Co., New York.

"raised a question in my mind" as to whether the Army might be contemplating broadcasting on the commercial band in the U. S. "As a matter of fact, officers at Fort Mead did take steps to that end," he told the Committee.

He said the "legal situation as to domestic standard broadcasting is the same in Alaska as the Continental U. S." There were no protests from commercial broadcasters over the Army stations in Alaska, he said, because "it pretty readily came to the attention of the BWC." He added: "I believe the BWC when the stations came to its attention, unanimously approved the grant."

"Thus the charge that I delayed the establishment of these miniature stations in Alaska is wholly false," he concluded.

On Friday Chairman Fly told the Committee he had hoped to discuss charges by Rep. Miller that FCC "bungling" was responsible for a Naval task force "incident" in Alaskan waters but that "when I walked in here Congressman Miller walked out!" Rep. Wigglesworth objected to the "implication of that remark."

Under cross-examination by Mr. Barger on IRAC, Chairman Lea several times admonished Mr. Fly to answer questions when the FCC chairman failed to answer directly and gave evasive replies. When counsel questioned Mr. Fly about Sec. 305 of the Communications Act and reminded the witness "you're a lawyer, aren't you and you have been administering under this Act?" Mr. Fly objected that the "question is not proper". Chairman Lea instructed him to reply. He said: "Yes".

He at first denied he had used "persuasion" to get the BWC to adopt a resolution on Feb. 11, 1943, calling on Committee 5 (IRAC) to submit its findings to BWC and not direct to the President. Later Mr. Fly said: "I discussed it with 25 people. I favored it. I don't know how much of my persuasion had to do with it." He added that the resolution was introduced by the Treasury Dept. representative and not by him.

On alleged conflict between IRAC and the FCC over policy, Mr. Fly declared: "There has been our...standing cooperation in the field of Government... . If you approach the question of 21 years' experience, I think you've got a situation there you'd better leave alone. I doubt if it could be improved by Congressional action."

Denying he had opposed establishment in Alaska of low-powered Army stations, but had "worked hard for them," Mr. Fly asserted: "We considered getting some of the big transmitters from Mexico on the border and moving them to Alaska. Presumably that would be Government operation." He denied he had ever "talked to the President" about IRAC.

"I have nothing to do with this as a person," he said. "I don't know why this Committee consistently attaches these things to me. Under further cross-examination Mr. Fly said that the President legally could "take over the entire commercial broadcasting," although he "would suppose any time the President should take over, the persons affected would have some recourse in the courts." Later he said: "In time of peace it's purely a legalistic theory that the President could assign all frequencies to the Government under the Communications Act."

"That means methods of placing restrictions on the President and the FCC should be done by legislation!" queried Rep. Lea. With reference to Rep. Miller's statement of Tuesday Mr. Fly denied the Commission had given the Navy misinformation and he denied any knowledge of "16 bottles of seltzer."
PUTTING FINAL STAMP of approval on the general structure of the newly formed Dairyland Network are, in the usual order, Max White, KWNO Winona, Minn., C. T. Hagman, WTCN Minneapolis-St. Paul; Edward L. Hayek, KATE Albert Lea, Minn., and Harry L. Linder, KWLM Willmar, Minn. General offices of the new network are in the Wesley Temple Building, Minneapolis.

REP. CASE'S LETTER TO BOLER

FOLLOWING is text of a letter sent by Rep. Francis Case (R.S.D.), member of the House Appropriations Committee, to John W. Boler, president of the North Central Broadcasting System, in answer to Mr. Boler's letter [BROADCASTING, March 29]:

"Dear Mr. Boler:

I have received your letter of March 4, which you wish placed in the Congressional Record. I am very glad to place this letter in the Record. If I may do so, I would place in the Record the letter which you wrote to Mr. Jewett—which was the basis of his telephone call to me.

You are quite mistaken in thinking that I want to use the FCC as a political weapon. nor have I the slightest desire to do so. I do not believe that the FCC is a proper instrument for accomplishing the ends you have in mind. The FCC is not a proper instrument for accomplishing the ends you have in mind.

Second, to guard against any tendency within or without the FCC to permit or encourage it to gain any control over the radio stations of the country, that would be inconsistent with free speech.

Third, to avoid appropriating money to the FCC to carry on activities that would impair the effective protection of the war.

Dies-Winchell Broadcasts Get
Washington Attention

WAR was momentarily forgotten as the nation's capital prepared to hear the much-publicized Walter Winchell-Congressman Dies radio performance of Sunday night (March 26) on the Blue Network [BROADCASTING, March 28].

Under agreement of the principals with the Blue, Mr. Winchell's copy was to be submitted to a news editor just prior to his 9 p.m. broadcast. Mr. Dies' speech, likewise, was to be handled in similar manner, with no release of either until broadcast time. Rep. Dies was to take the air at 9:15.

Both the commentator and chairman of the House Committee to Investigate un-American Activities that were to originate from WMAL, Blue Network affiliate in Washington, but, as Kenneth H. Berkeley, station general manager and Blue Network executive, expressed it from Washington, to you, to do that, to introduce Rep. Dies.

As BROADCASTING went to press Rep. Dies was located in his private office, pouring over Mr. Winchell's script of the past two years (subpoenaed by his Committee) and Mr. Winchell, at the Statler Hotel, was working on his Sunday night broadcast. Neither would give a hint as to what would be said.

Three Stations in Cincinnati Discontinue Hooper Survey

CANCELLATION by three of Cincinnati's five stations of C. E. Hooper's Reports was reported last week as the latest episode in the controversy over money give-away programs. Previously [BROADCASTING, Feb. 28] three Baltimore stations had notified Hooper of their decision to discontinue the audience measurement service.

Cincinnati stations which telegraphed their cancellations were WCKY WKRC and WCPO. The action came following a proposal from Mr. Hooper that the stations post a $10,000 bond to be forfeited pro rata to the other Cincinnati stations in the event they broadcast money giveaways after March 31.

Hooper announced last Thursday that of 177 stations—156 subscribers and 22 non-subscribers—located in 42 of the 52 cities in which Hooper reports are published, 92% have cooperated with the request of the organization by filing information on prize-for-listening program schedules [BROADCASTING, March 20]. Fall-winter reports, it was stated, are not scheduled to be published in the other ten cities at this time.

Meanwhile, the NAB research and sales managers committees plan a joint meeting in Cincinnati April 3-4, during the sessions of the National Retail Dry Goods Assn., to consider the whole question of audience measurement, including give-aways.

Hooper Wires

Mr. Hooper sent the following telegram to the five Cincinnati stations:

"In the interest of better Cincinnati program audience measurement, will you post a $10,000 bond with Cincinnati's largest trust company to be forfeited pro rata to other Cincinnati stations in event you broadcast station price for listening programs after March 31, 1944? This suggestion being sent to WCKY WCPO WKRC WLW WSAI. This suggestion our own experimental idea in Cincinnati only in effect to be helpful in capacity of outside neutral."

Ken Church, manager of WKRC, on March 17 wired Hooper as follows:

"Since we have never and do not contemplate giving station price for listening to programs not interested in your offer, I am firmly convinced, however, that your company should be consistent in the stand it took on the November 1942 study and not publish any figures for the fall-winter report. I believe further that some research company should come into Cincinnati and make a complete analysis of the audience situation. Regards."

Fred A. Palmer, manager of WCKY, sent this telegram:

"Have just read your telegram re money giveaways. Due to this telegram and our conversations with you on the Hooper survey situation in Cincinnati, we are canceling your service effective end of present monthly payment. We still desire what we think are the three main things in a survey:

1. Adequate sample. 2. Proper supervision. 3. Public Inspection. Believe the NAB Survey Committee can render great service to the industry by recommending an acceptable survey standard for all stations."
resort to novel ideas and promotions or be completely discarded from the minds of timebuyers who are beginning to use the Hoover surveys as their Bible.”

“Eventually, radio time may be bought like potatoes — so many thousand listeners for so many thousand dollars. We believe in audience ratings as a standard measurement, but we also feel that an independent station has a perfect right to use any legitimate means of competing with the networks.” Keasler suggests.

Jack Keasler, commercial manager of WOAI San Antonio, felt that the whole controversy might result in a “signal service” for radio. If Hoover figures are capable of revealing unhealthy audience conditions (such as low tune-ins), “why can’t they, by virtue of being reports from listeners, reveal instances where local programs (not money shows) rate high in audience esteem?” he inquired. He continued:

No one would be offended if Mr. Hoover stepped forward and said: “Here’s the public good of programming; a little late but a little too late at which rate, with 22.5% of the set-in-use. Stating’ UNDERNINE has been allowed to report this program to you in complete detail. The format of the program is as follows: . . .

I say no one would be offended, because every station manager, program director, commercial manager, and the general manager, believes that the program should be presented to the public. A situation where the set-in-use is low is of concern to everyone in the broadcasting industry, and of equitable to affiliated concerns, such as Gillette Safety Razor Co., Inc., the transcription people, and station representatives.

A report for January (national) revealed that set-in-use figures during some segments of “station time” are considerably less than comparable figures for “network time.”

If this minority is to be continued, it may well be that broadcasts are doing a sales job for the networks. If the time may come when spot advertisers will realize that network shows, with higher figures, are better for them, either in “network time,” or “station time.

Give us some figures, backed by facts. Mr. Hoover! Not the least of which is a regular schedule on perhaps a monthly basis, in which all factors are to be treated, such as circulation, size of the market, ratings, program composition and the like.

And, for the benefit of the industry as a whole, make this report available to all and broadcasters, whether Hoover subscribers or not.

NOTTO BE hiding their candles under any bushel, CBS comes through with this one. Cutline is: “They all read it...”

GILLETTE SAFETY Razor Co., Boston, has signed a contract with Don Dunphy, sportscaster, and Al Schacht, baseball comedian, to handle the home games of the New York Yankees and the New York Giants on WINS, New York. It was announced last week by J. P. Spang Jr., Gillette president. Mr. Schacht’s assignment is contingent on whether or not the Army sends him on a tour of overseas camps before the regular season begins, he said. Mr. Schacht will do color descriptions, and Don Dunphy will do play-by-play account. Gillette has exclusive radio rights to all home games of both clubs [BROADCASTING, Dec. 27]. Agency is Maxon Inc., New York. As a warm-up for the Gillette broadcasts, the team will meet the New York Giants in Atlantic City April 1. WINS will carry other exhibition games before the start of the regular season in April.

RALPH EDWARDS will present his two programs on the “Judge Ralph” radio show in a two-way hook-up between the United States and England, as part of the BBC’s Atlantic Spotlight April 1. An audience in England will participate in the program.

DuMont ‘E’ Award TELEVISION set owners, and radio listeners participated last Tuesday, March 21, in ceremonies attending the award of the Army-Navy TV to Allen B. DuMont Labs, New York. Presentation was filmed by Paramount News in Central Theatre, Passaic, N. J. at 3 p.m. and the reel telecast the same evening at 9:15 p.m. on W2XBT. It’s station in New York. A recording of the ceremonies was broadcast on WOR New York. Presentation was made to Allen B. DuMont, president, by Brig. Gen. G. L. Van Duese, Commanding General, Eastern Sig.

Ohio Radio Panel Prepares Schedule Role of American Women Slated for Discussion A PANEL, including nine laywomen who have deep interest in radio programming will be a part of the annual radio council of the Ohio Institute, Education by Radio at Ohio State U., to be held May 8 at Columbus. They are: Sterling Fisher, NBC asst. to Public Service Councilor, keynote speaker; Mrs. Robert Cornelson, president New Jersey Radio Council; Dr. Arch Trigg, president, Radio Council of Middle Tennessee; Mrs. Margaret Stoddard, Regional Director of Listener Activities, Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Mrs. Hazel Hillis, president, Des Moines Radio Council; Mrs. Henry C. Christian, president, Radio Council of Greater Cleveland; Howard E. LeBourd, past president Boston Radio Council; Mrs. Roy O. Comprising the half of the association of Women Directors, who will direct the council, are: Mrs. Ann Ginn, WTCN Minneapolis, chairman; Mrs. Mary Margaret McBridge, NBC; Linnea Nelson, radio timebuyer, W. J. Thompson Co.; Alma Kitchell, Blue network; Frances Farmer Wilder, CBS; Mrs. Elizabeth Reeves, vice-president, Knox-Reeves, Minneapolis; Peggy Cave, KSD St. Louis.

Presiding over the meeting will be Ruth Chilton of WCAU Philadelphia and the keynote speaker at the Association of Women Directors’ panel will be Margaret Culkil Banning, author.

“Is the American woman prepared to assume her role in the international scene?” will be the subject of the panel discussion of the radio directors; the present of the panel discussion of the radio council will be, “Listeners and broadcasters, partners in progress.”
Bakers Expand 'Adams' Series to 108 Stations

A TOTAL of 108 stations are now carrying "Som Adams—Your Home Front Quartermaster," a transcribed three-weekly quarter-hour serial designed for the use of advertisers in bakery and other food fields. Originally produced for member companies of Quality Bakers of America, New York, a cooperative, the series is sponsored by 61 QBA companies, and by Bell Bakers Inc., on 18 stations. Coffee, macaroni and radio service firms are among the other sponsors.

Program dramatizes the wartime life of the local grocer, and is produced by Harry Jacobs Productions, New York.

In carrying out the 1945 census, radio stations are expected to play a big part in preparing farmers for the enumerators' visits and extending cooperation. The Bureau plans to make maximum use of radio in acquainting farmers with the importance of the census, compiling the data required in advance of the enumerators' calls, and facilitating the enumerators' work.

Radio enabled the Bureau to complete its 1940 farm census months ahead of time, Mr. Pettit pointed out, giving the Bureau extra time for special tabulations and saving the taxpayer money.

The 1945 census will begin on

Jan. 1 and the work of the enumerators will be completed within two months from that time. First results will be made available within 40 days after enumeration is completed, with preliminary county totals first to be released. State totals will appear in about six months and national figures will be available within 14 months after the enumeration. The entire census will be completed in 2 years.

Among the outstanding findings of the 1945 census, Mr. Pettit said, will be the impact of the war on the nation's agriculture. Reflecting operations in 1944, the year of the greatest war effort, the census will show the shift to mechanization in farming where machines are available, production of oil crops

(soy beans, peanuts, flax) and other vitally needed war crops, effect of war on farm manpower, increases in the production of citrus fruits, enormous increases in poultry and egg hatchery production, and development of new crops and plants to furnish medicinal and other special war needs.

Transfer of WKIP Approved by FCC
KOVC, KWK, WLAW, KMLB
Transfers Also Granted

TRANSFER of control of the Poughkeepsie Broadcasting Corp., licensee of WKIP Poughkeepsie, N. Y., from Richard E. Coon, chief owner, to Poughkeepsie Newspapers Inc. for a total consideration of $10,600 was authorized by the FCC last week.

The sale involves transfer of 80 shares or 20% of the preferred stock and 480 shares or 60% of the common stock. Mr. Coon was formerly executive editor of the Poughkeepsie DM Eagle-Neck and Star & Enterprise, and continued as business manager when these papers were purchased by Poughkeepsie Newspapers Inc.

The newspaper corporation has the same stockholders, officers and directors, as WNY Newburgh, N. Y., with Merritt C. Speidel, president; John B. Snow, vice-president; Edward A. Chappell, treasurer; Harry S. Bunker, secretary.

The Speidel newspaper group besides owning several daily and weekly papers in various parts of the country, also has interests in KFBP Cheyeenny, Wyo., and KDON Monterey, Cal.

KOVC Grant
WLAW Lawrence, Mass., was granted involuntary transfer of control of Hildreth & Rogers, licensee, from Alexander H. Rogers, deceased, to Irving E. Rogers, Harold B. Morrill and the National Shamut Bank of Boston, co-executors under the Rogers' will. Hildreth & Rogers was formerly publisher of the Lawrence Daily Eagle and Tribune, consent from the radio business in 1941 as the Eagle-Tribune Publishing Co.

Control of KOVC Valley City, N. D. from Milton Holiday, Herman Stern and E. J. Pegg through the transfer of 112 shares or 56% of the issued and outstanding capital stock for $3,920 to Robert E. Ingstad, general manager, also authorized.

The Commission also granted Mrs. Grace C. Convey, principal owner of KWK St. Louis, consent to retire 130 shares of stock and to dissolve a trust agreement she now holds in the station. She has given 84 shares to her son, Robert T. Convey, KWK's general manager and operating head, and 36 shares to her daughter, Mrs. Charlotte C. O'Hare. No money is involved in the transfer.

Re relinquishment of control of KMLB Monroe, La., by J. C. Liner Jr. was also authorized last week. Transfer of 498 shares of common stock to Mrs. Melba Liner Genter in exchange for 498 shares in Liner's Laundry Inc. constitutes the transaction. J. C. Liner Jr. retains 498 shares in the station. The remaining two shares are held by J. C. Liner Sr.

Video Outlets Sought by Westinghouse
And Stromberg-Carlson; 5 FM's Filed

FILING with the FCC last week of three new commercial television applications by Westinghouse Radio Stations Inc. to supplement existing AM stations in Boston, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, and of a commercial television application by the Stromberg-Carlson Co. for Rochester, coincided with public statements from those companies reporting extensive future commercial video plans. Other new applications filed with the Commission last week included requests for five FM outlets and two non-commercial educational stations.

F. P. Nelson, in charge of the Westinghouse television department, stated that the company's 24 years of experience in sound broadcasting has been applied to all planning for the new services to augment the standard Westinghouse outlets, RDKA Pittsburgh, WBZ Boston and KYW Philadelphia. Channel 5 facilities are sought for Boston, Channel 7 for Philadelphia and Channel 1 for Pittsburgh.

"Radio City" Plans
KYW, it was reported, has completed facilities in its seven story location, the two top floors arranged for video production, with ceiling heights sufficient for microphone booms, lights, scenery and various extended camera angle shots.

Plans for a Rochester "Radio City" were revealed by Stromberg-Carlson, with all broadcasting activities to be located in a new building to be constructed near the present war plant on Humboldt Street. In Rochester, the new building will be large enough to accommodate the increased staff and facilities which will be required by the AM, FM and video activities.

One provision has been made to assure as soon as possible following the war the delivery of up-to-the-minute studio and transmission equipment, the report said.

The present Stromberg-Carlson standard outlet in Rochester is WHAM, which began operation in 1927. It's FM compliment, WHFM, started in 1939.

Regarding an inquiry as to whether the company planned production of television receivers, Dr. Ray H. Manson, vice-president and general manager of Stromberg-Carlson, stated that the company had been engaged in television research since the early 1930's and had produced video receivers commercially in 1938 and 1939. He stated that production of these sets in large quantities is expected, along with an increase in FM sets and telephone equipment.

Applications for five FM outlets were filed by WPMJ Youngstown, Ohio; The Tribune Co., Tampa, Fla. (WFLL licensee); G. W. Covington Jr., Montgomery, Ala.; and KBON and KBIP, licensee of KBON, for Nashville.

The non-commercial educational stations are sought by the Board of Education of School District No. 2, Evanston Township High School, Evanston, III., and the Central Michigan College of Education, Mount Pleasant, Mich. Facilities were not given.

Theatre Series
A SERIES of dramatic programs will be added to Chicago Theatre of the Air productions originating out of WGN Chicago to be heard on Mutual Tuesday, 9-10 p.m., beginning in April, when great plays and fiction adaptations will be broadcast under the direction of Sherman H. Dryer. Extensive auditions are to be conducted by the Westinghouse department to discover new talent.

OPEN: A Good Job for a CHIEF ENGINEER

HERE'S WHY. Our present Chief Engineer, who has been with us for fifteen years, is leaving soon because of ill health. We both dislike the fact, but it is necessary and unavoidable.

WHAT WE NEED. First, a man thoroughly experienced in all phases of operation, preferably with a regional station with a complicated directional system. Second, a man with executive ability, because we are a growing station with more than one station. Third, a man interested in FM and Television, with a record of experience or study in either or both.

WHERE. We are located in a moderate sized midwestern city, which is an important radio market. If you would like more information, please mail a brief history of your experience and two or three references. If it seems advisable, we can then talk together and discuss greater detail.

Legislators Attend Lunch at Opening of News Service

WASHINGTON news service of the West Virginia Network, which was formally established last Monday at a luncheon in the Senate family dining room, will be available to all West Virginia stations.

Capt. John A. Kennedy, USNR, network president, announced, "We hope to have three types of service operating within a short time," he told West Virginia’s two Senators, Representatives and other guests. "We hope to have direct broadcasts from Washington, wired news and recordings. We will make this service available to any other stations in West Virginia."

Howard A. Chernoff, network managing director, declared that "radio service is something more than something put on records and from the network. A station," he said, "is an audible newspaper. Our duty is to provide our audience with news of interest not only from the two wire services which we have, but from Washington as well. We believe that we can provide news which the regular wire services ordinarily do not carry because of its specific local interest."

Coverage Plans

Ray Henle, head of the West Virginia Network Washington bureau [Broadcasting, March 20], promised "non-partisan, non-political" news coverage. He explained that he and his assistant, Malvina Stephenson, will gather items throughout the week and on Saturday cut a record, for Sunday broadcast on the West Virginia Network stations.

Guests at the luncheon included: Sens. Kilgore (D) and Overcomber (R); Reps. Schiffer, Rohrbough and Ellis, Republicans, and Smith (D); Howard Starling, president, West Virginia State Society; Ben S. Fisher, president, Federal Communications Bar Asso.; Charles V. Wayland and John F. Southard, law associates of Mr. Fisher; Earl Gammons, CBS Washington director; F. M. Russell, NBC Washington vice-president; J. Harold Ryan, assistant director of Censorship and president-elect of NAB; former Gov. Morgan of West Virginia; Walker Long, general manager, Huntington Publishing Co.; Arthur Konitz, Charleston; Mrs. James V. Forrestal, wife of the undersecretary of the Navy; Mrs. John A. Kennedy.

MINNESOTA STATION representatives at NBC’s War Clinic in the Drake Hotel, Chicago, who met following executive sessions are (1 to r): Morgan Murphy, president; W. C. Bridges, general manager; and H. E. Westmoreland, director of operations, all of WEBF Duluth; Stanley Et Hofharr, president and general manager of KSTP St. Paul; and Fred Schiplin, president and general manager of KFAM St. Cloud.

G-F 1943 Report Shows Heavy Advertising Plans

ADVERTISING campaigns enlist- ing readers’ help in solving the nation’s vast food problems are part of General Foods Corporation’s 1944 program, it was shown in the 1943 annual report. Plans provide for products withdrawn from the market, products of which there is an oversupply, and products that sell quickly.

General Foods plans to re-employ all returning servicemen when discharged, and still retain those who have joined the company since the war began. Five new business acquisitions were made by General Foods in 1943. They were: Brey-activities and declared that to cut the appropriation for the Radio Intelligence Division and the Foreign Broadcast Intelligence Service would be to deny the standing of the United States as a great power, and that the Intelligence Division and the Foreign Broadcast Intelligence Service was needed to maintain a high state of efficiency, but he pointed out that “when the whole reduction is put into effect the FCC will still have $4,491,000 out of which the cut can be absorbed. In my opinion, that is adequate for its essential services.”

Speaking on President Roosevelt’s letter denying the request of the Committee for the defense of military radio intelligence activities from the FCC, Sen. White declared Mr. Roosevelt “did not consult the military authorities of the Government or those who are making plans for the prosecution of this war. But he turned to that meddling organization, the Bureau of the Budget. The Bureau of the Budget advised the President of the U.S. as to who should have this responsibility and should carry on this service. . . . If the Bureau of the Budget is to be substituted for the military officers of this country, then I say, God help this Government in the prosecution of the war. It is beyond me.”

‘Dollars Against Lives’

Sen. Brewster paid tribute to Sen. White and briefly traced his long history in connection with communications.

Sen. Barkley, in a final plea to save the full FCC budget, said, “I am unwilling to weigh dollars against the lives of our men and women in service, no matter whether it is a million and a half, or two million dollars, the total reduction now carried in the bill.”

“Am I to understand the Senator from Kentucky to infer that those who oppose the amendment are placing dollars ahead of lives?” asked Sen. Bridges (R-N. H.). Sen. Barkley said he wasn’t “saying that at all.” Two amendments offered by Sen. Mead were rejected and a third amendment, offered by the Committee to pare the normal operating budget from $2,209,000 to $2,000,000 was adopted by voice vote.

Sen. Mead’s first amendment, proposed March 16 [BROADCASTING, March 22], was to restore the appropriation for national defense activities to $6,146,000. It was defeated 38 to 22, with the following vote recorded:

Video Future in Chicago

Is Studied by Radio Club

CHICAGO Radio Management Club will use Balaban & Katz facilities and television knowledge in working out a plan to make the city a television center, according to Helen Carson, manager of WWKB B&K video station in Chicago.

Jeri Shelby, radio director of McCann-Erickson and head of the Chicago advertising agency radio directors, is instigator of the video instruction drive, with plans for putting on shows as a constructive experiment.

ADMISSIONS to the WLS Chicago National Barn Dance will be increased beginning April 1, in accordance with the new tax bill which raises the rate from 10% to 20%. With an increase of 10c on each classification, adults will now pay $3c and children under 12, 45c, for admission to the broadcast audience.

Maj. Gen. Ingles Reports

On Pacific Radio Setup

BECAUSE of the tremendous distances, and the expanse of ocean to be covered in the Pacific theatre of war, radio is not only the primary, but often the only means of communication, Maj. Gen. Harry C. Ingles, the Army's Chief Signal Officer told a new conference at the Pentagon last Tuesday. He outlined plans for Pacific with other theatres, such as Europe, Africa, the Caribbean, where the primary communications medium is wire.

Gen. Ingles, just returned from a tour of inspection which took him to all the Corporal installations in the Central, Southwest, and South Pacific battle areas, said that the glarede tropic growth muffles communication with walkie-talkies, so that they transmit to an unlimited range, he said. To overcome this difficulty, he told of how the Signal Corps lays telephone wire networks on shore as soon as possible.

New Local Sougth

McClintock Sees Vast Market For American Goods in Mexico

Mutual President Back From Trip Says Rapid Rise Of Radio Art There Warrants American Attention

"The American radio industry would be very remiss if it failed to take advantage of the present opportunity to uplift the standard of living in Mexico by expanding its Mexican division," declared Miller McClintock, president of the Mutual Broadcasting System, in an exclusive interview with Broadcasting last week.

The radio executive, who returned earlier this month from a trip to Mexico, emphasized that mutual benefit can be derived from American participation in Mexican radio activities, provided there is no intent of exploitation.

Unprecedented Growth

"Mexico is growing at an unprecedented rate, with planned construction being carried out by some of Mexico's most brilliant engineers," stated Mr. McClintock. "Since 1935, the number of Mexican homes, which in their places are being built modern, has increased to over ten million. Mexico's 20 million people reside, can be compared with the vast expansion of the Far West at the turn of the century. It is an encouraging sight to see the Mexican government and people working out their own great future using their tremendous natural resources to develop the country."

Mr. McClintock asserted that radio can be a powerful and advantageous weapon in this development of the country. "There is a great need for American products," he said. "By providing distribution for American goods, and an impetus to their sale by radio advertising, American merchants can stimulate an extensive market. Mexico is a natural home market, as its people crave the popular priced merchandise, which is the product of American industrial ingenuity." By thus making available to the Mexican people the necessities and small luxuries which the majority of American homes enjoy, the standard of living among the Mexican people, now rapidly rising, will automatically increase."

McClintock reiterated that a sincere desire to help the Mexicans realize their great potentialities must be the prime motive of expansion of American advertisers into Mexican radio.

A Universal Medium

"Radio is a universal medium, which no language barrier can destroy," said Mr. McClintock. "The Mexican passion for all forms of music provides a natural and common medium of expression. The Mexican love of music is perhaps best expressed by the 'Mariachises,' small bands of four to ten instruments, which feature primitive Indian and native music."

"The highest form of this type of musical expression is the 'Ron-dalla Band,' under the leadership of Totanacho, and currently touring the United States. The 'Ron-dalla Band' is a feature of Radio Mil, Mutual's Mexican outlet, and is an example of the type of programming with which American advertisers can gain the attention of Mexican listeners."

Queried as to the progress Mexican radio has made, the Mutual president praised the enthusiasm and eagerness of Mexican broadcasters. "Although American radio is far advanced as far as technical skills are concerned, I sincerely believe that the Mexican's zeal and earnestness will overcome their lack of adequate technical skills, and the day will come when American radio can learn much from the Mexicans."

Technique Like Ours

The general picture of Mexican programming and showmanship differs little from the American, according to Mr. McClintock. Soap operas, dramatic serials, symphonic and popular music, comedy programs, all these are included in an ordinary program day.

The Mutual president was especially enthusiastic over the splendid way Mexican radio facilities are being utilized by representatives of the United Nations. "All the Allied governments are operating in making available to the Mexican people varied and educational programs emphasizing the country's participation in the war and her future in the post-war world. The Mexican government itself uses radio to a lesser degree than we do in the dissemination of government information. Its radio activities are concentrated upon educational features, with an extensive program of enlightenment as to the best ways for the people to use their natural resources and gifts."

Sees Bright Future

As for the future of American programming in Mexico, Mr. McClintock cited Mutual's own Radio Mil as a splendid illustration of Mexico's reception to American radio. "The programs which Mutual has made available to Mexican listeners are very popular," stated Mr. McClintock. "The Cleveland Symphony Orchestra, for example, has a tremendous following there. Radio Mil and its key station, XEOY in particular, has developed a high pattern of programming facilities."

"I was gratified to learn," the Mutual president said, "that there is a vigorous spirit of competition in Mexican radio circles, which of course will result in an even higher standard in the general picture of Mexican broadcasting."

"I look forward to the day," stated the radio executive, "when exchange of programs between Mexico and America will be as extensive as the present exchange between Canada and America."

Lone Ranger Wins Again in Law Suit

December Injunction Upheld By Court In Final Decree

That the U. S. simply isn't big enough to hold two men of the Lone Ranger's calibre, was proved again a fortnight ago when Federal Judge Blaine-Thompson handed down a $10,000 judgment against Sunbrock Shows Inc., Larry Sunbrock and John Daros, for using the words "Lone Ranger" and exhibiting a character of the same name, in a rodeo [BROADCASTING, March 20].

The final decree, according to Raymond J. Meurer, general counsel for King-Trendle Broadcasting Co. and its subsidiaries, marked "the first time...that damages have been awarded for the unauthorized use of a radio program title. The court order permanently and perpetually restrains Sunbrock Shows Inc. from using in any manner whatsoever the plaintiff's trade name, 'The Lone Ranger'...anything connected with the program."

The Lone Ranger has been on the air since 1935, during which time it is estimated the program itself has expended over $1,000,000 in exploiting The Lone Ranger and the goodwill of the title and character. Because the defendants had no right to use the name "Lone Ranger", it was held that such use "perpetuated a fraud upon the public and upon the plaintiff by implying and representing that the Lone Ranger would appear in person or would be impersonated in their Wild West Rodeo and Circus at the Coliseum, Chicago. In 1941 The Lone Ranger won a similar decision against Wallace Bros. Circus.

RADIO LISTENING
HITS NEW RECORD

RADIO LISTENING as a regular habit reached an all-time high in the month of February, according to the March 15 issue of The Radio Audience, monthly newsletter published by The Pulse of New York. For the past month has been exceeded only by the high mark set at the outbreak of the war in December 1941 which was followed by a sharp decline and reversion to normal levels. Listening in the past month was 12.3% higher than January 1943, and 14.9% above the 1944 figure for the same month.

Analyzing the listener's habits in finding a new program, The Pulse found 25% discovered it by accident; 15% from having read of it in the press; 10% by recommendation of friends, and 5% by family. About 10% were "continuous station listeners" who hear all available programs scheduled on their favorite station.

A MEETING of the Board of Governors of Canadian Broadcasting Corp. was to be held at Ottawa during the week of March 27. Routine CBC matters and development of local station subjects were on the agenda.

Research gives TELEVISION new horizons

Television rays—like human sight—do not "bend" far beyond the curvature of the earth. They travel in a straight line to the horizon—and from the horizon off into space. In preparing television as a service to the public, research has sought ways to extend television's program service by radio relaying from city to city.

A solution to this problem has been perfected by RCA engineers: the radio relay station—capable of picking up and automatically "bouncing" television images from station to station. With such relays supplementing a coaxial cable, entertainment, sports and news events could be witnessed simultaneously by Americans from coast to coast.

Today, RCA's research facilities are devoted to providing the Allied fighting forces with the most efficient radio and electronic equipment available. Tomorrow, these same skills and energies will continue to serve America in developing and creating new and finer peacetime products.
