There Must Be A Reason Why

Millions and Millions of Dollars were invested in Spot TV advertising by leading AUTOMOTIVE manufacturers during 1956.

The reason? More sales mileage to the advertising dollar. That's why! Spot TV, more than any other medium travels your message straight to the prospective car buyer. And Petry represented stations show the greatest get-up-and-go selling power when it comes to getting results for automotive advertisers.

MONEY FINDER • In center of Mutual Broadcasting System sale and probable stockholder, as well as Washington counsel, is former FCC Comr. Frieda B. Hennock. Operating quietly and reportedly responsible for interesting Armand Hammer, art collector and oil operator, in transaction after earlier backers dropped out, Miss Hennock reportedly was key figure in arranging financing ($550,000) for acquisition of goodwill and going concern, plus approximately equal amount to be placed in company as operating capital.

ALSO identified in legal end of Mutual negotiations was Harold Seligman, New York attorney. Contract for purchase was obtained by Paul Roberts, West Coast broadcaster, who becomes president on Aug. 7, with B. J. Hauser, former MBS vice president, as executive vice president (story page 42). Mutual reportedly does about $3.5 million gross, with interconnections running approximately $1.6 million.

TRIPLE TROUBLE • Some top advertisers and their agencies reportedly are up in arms over TV triple spotting, and it's predicted that before fall season gets under way there will be ultimatums from high places. One agency, ranking big in spot, already has conferred with number of station representatives, it's learned, and one of biggest spenders among advertisers, both network and spot, also has expressed its displeasure, which it proposes to implement by action this fall.

SLATED for appointment as legislative assistant to new FCC Chairman John C. Doerfer is Joseph M. Stirit, NARTB public relations executive. Mr. Stirit, 36, would be successor to Robert D. L'Heureux, who served in same capacity for Chairman George C. McConnaghey. Mr. Stirit has been with NARTB for past two and a half years and prior to that was Assistant Chief, International Press Service, USA. He is native of Davenport, Iowa, and served in Navy during World War II as Lieutenant (j.g.), in Pacific Theatre and in Armed Forces Radio Service.

UNACCEPTABLE ADS • Persistent definition of NARTB Ty Code by subscribers who carry spots promoting hemmorhoid preparation has prompted William B. Quanton, WMT-TV Cedar Rapids, Iowa, chairman of NARTB Ty Code Review Board, to send personal letter to each of 300-odd code subscribers. Such advertising, long carried by printed media, "never has been acceptable to most broadcasters," chairman wrote. His letter recalled that board issued interpretation last year holding hemmorhoid and feminine hygiene products unsuited to TV and re-emphasized its position at meeting last month.

EXTENT to which interest in "open circuit" toll TV has given way to "closed circuit" (cable) TV may be discerned in reply comments filed with FCC last week on subscription issue. Neither Skatron (Mattie Fox) nor International Television (Paramount) took trouble to file reply briefs. And Zenith, third subscription TV advocate, avoided what amounted to ultimatum and wound up with comment that this would be its last word in support of FCC action (story page 70).

SPECIALS & SPORTS • "Special" shows NBC-TV ticks off this week as scheduled for 1957-58 season represent what officials call greatest effort NBC has ever undertaken in this area, in terms of both diversity and total hours. Fourteen different categories are included, with program lengths ranging from half-hour to two hours. In addition to these "specials"—current NBC nomenclature for what used to be "spectaculars"—network plans to outline new fall-winter sports lineup representing 25% more hours than last season's. "Specials" and sports details to be presented at news conference called President Robert W. Sarnoff for today (Monday) in New York.

BRAND NEW set of television sets circulation figures for U.S. with urban-rural and other broad breakdowns, has been collected by U.S. Census Bureau but information is gathering dust on government shelves. Delay is ascribed by Census Bureau to work load waiting in line for busy Univac processing. Industry-financed circulation data will be released through Advertising Research Foundation after it is processed by Census Bureau. Field work was done last April.

AIR CAMPAIGN • There's considerable interest in aggressive campaign being waged by Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski (R-Wis.) for nomination for U.S. Senate. While half dozen other candidates are depending primarily on personal tours, Rep. O'Konski (who owns WOSA Wausau and WIN [FM] Merrill, both WIs.) has turned to TV under guidance of LeRoy A. (Duke) Larson, Milwaukee advertising-public relations specialist (Larson & Assoc.). Congress man's filmed TV shows have been aired in six cities thus far. Wisconsin senatorial primary is next Tuesday.

FCC will hold its last regular "decision day" this Thursday (Aug. 1) until after Labor Day. While routine and emergency matters will be handled during August hiatus, no formal meetings will be held unless some crisis arises. Next regular formal meeting will be held Sept. 4.

CONVERSIONS COMPLICATED • New and potent argument for elimination of 10% excise tax on combination uhf-vhf receivers is developing with boom in low-priced portable of receivers and corresponding decline in conventional models. Portables are not easy to convert to uhf, and are not made in all-band models. Several new bills now are pending in Congress for elimination of excise tax, but little hope is held for action this session unless veritable tidal wave of support sweeps Capitol Hill.

PARTICULARLY hard-hit by conversion problem, it's readily acknowledged, are uhf stations in predominantly uhf markets such as those owned by networks in Hartford-New Britain, Milwaukee and Buffalo. While networks were successful in getting conventional models converted, they found no easy solution in portable boom, with result that second or third sets in homes are unavailable for uhf.

ABN'S FIRST ENTRY • First new program under new "all-live" programming policy being initiated by President Robert E. Eastman of American Broadcasting Network now has been set and will be announced shortly. It'll feature Herb Oscar Anderson, formerly on WGY Minneapolis, and later WBMM Chicago, who more recently has been doing show on ABC's WABC New York as sort of tryout for network program. He'll be together show featuring live orchestra and live singers. It's set to start Sept. 2 in Monday-Friday 10-11 a.m. spot, immediately following long-time favorite Breakfast Club, and will be sold in five-minute units.

RADIO Advertising Bureau will have its own headquarters building, if present plans work out. RAB board has authorized management to start investigating possibilities of acquiring, say, midtown New York brownstone and converting it to office quarters. Having outgrown current space after two years of occupancy, bureau is slated to move to larger quarters toward end of this year. Present thinking is that this will be interim move while plans proceed for acquisition of own building, probably about 1960.

ANOTHER 'NETWORK' • To supply national public service programming at local radio-tv station level, New York producer Hardy Burt is forming organization to be called National Public Service Network. More than 1,000 radio and 200 TV stations will be contacted.

THE WEEK IN BRIEF

LEAD STORY

B&B’s ‘Partnership’ Buying Creates Stir—Agency plan for 52-week spot tv campaign with Bristol-Myers alternating with General Foods in prime time arouses criticism that it’s trend toward monopoly. Page 27.

ADVERTISERS & AGENCIES

Smile of Tv Next Fall Is The Smile of Beauty—Max Factor & Co. follows archival Revlon's footsteps by hiking tv expenditures, as other U.S. cosmetics makers likewise step up tv sponsorship. Page 29.

Blue-Chip Texaco Bets Again on Network—If initial special on NBC-TV is successful, company may invest some $2 million next season with its radio-tv spot budgets untouched. Page 35.

New Spot Tv Advertiser—Filtertip Tareyton takes a first-time fling at national spot tv in prime markets. Campaign, set for mid-August, is cautious but advertiser will extend it if successful. Page 30.

A Mogul and a Monarch Disagree—Fermentation sours sweet relations between Emil Mogul agency and former client, Monarch Wine Co., as client disputes ex-agency’s position and iterates desire to stick with broadcast media. James M. Vicary’s motivational research report on Manischewitz is cited as “trigger” that loosened account. Page 36.

Grocers to Take Close Look—Agencies serving food products manufacturers are alerted to “more searching evaluation” by clients as Grocery Manufacturers Assn. predicts stricter advertiser control of budgets, media plans and marketing strategy. Page 38.

FILM

Film Syndicators Aren’t Suffering—B&T’s semi-annual survey of film and live programming on tv stations shows non-network film is still thriving. Page 54.

How Tv Has Moved Into The Newsreel Field—Newsfilm operation for television has become even more important as movie newsreels sputter. Page 96.

PROGRAM SERVICES

Reject Pay Tv and Discontinue Entire Proceedings—That’s the gist of the majority reply-comments on merits, if any, according to opponents, filed last week at FCC. Page 70.

Pro Gridders Cold-Shoulder Pay Tv—Comr. Bert Bell of the National Football League tells House subcommittee pro football wants no part of pay tv; releases financial data for the 12 NFL clubs. Page 72.

NETWORKS

At Last The Mutual Suspense Is Over—West Coast group headed by Paul Roberts as president will assume ownership of largest network, Aug. 7. New program format will continue. Bertram J. Hauser to be executive vice president. Page 42.

Tv Networks and Tvb Refute “New York Times”—Article claims tv is heading for “the toughest season in ten years.” Question: Why has the Times failed to front page a story about newspaper advertising fall-off? Page 47.

Imogene and Sid Make Up—Caesar and Coca agree to appear in half-hour weekly series on NBC-TV. Problem: The advertiser and the time slot. Page 52.

TRADE ASSNS.

It’s a Fine Year for Tvb Stations—Sixty percent of stations figure they will make more money than last year, according to NARTB analysis. Typical station anticipates $66,000 profit in 1957. Page 68.

OPINION

There Can’t Be Guesswork in Media—J. Walter Thompson’s Tom Glynn, writing in B&T’s MONDAY MEMO series, says the market’s much too competitive for anything short of the best in research and the most astute application of experience. Page 101.

GOVERNMENT

Pittsburgh, Seattle Vhfs Granted—Ch. 4 Pittsburgh goes to Television City Inc., following a merger agreement between that applicant and WCAE Pittsburgh (Hearst), and ch. 7 Seattle is awarded to KIRO that city. Biloxi, Miss., ch. 13 is the only remaining comparative tv hearing awaiting FCC final decision. Page 60.

Ford Gets Nearer Confirmation—Appointment to FCC clears Senate Commerce Committee; final Senate approval awaits disposition of civil rights bill. Page 62.

Moulder’s Probe Staff—Rep. Moulder’s investigative staff near completion with only a chief attorney still to be named. Appeal is made to members of Congress for “suggestions and information.” Page 62.

STATIONS

Another Magazine Enters Radio-Tv—Newsweek is buying 46% of KFSD-AM-FM-Tv San Diego, Calif., for $1.5 million. Page 74.

Flako Products Drops Print In Favor of Spot Radio

FLAKO PRODUCTS DIV. of Quaker Oats Co. has made 100% switch from print to spot broadcasting with $750,000 going into radio campaign and rest of $880,000 budget into promotion. Radio spots are being placed in 40 major markets, starting Sept. 12 for 26 weeks.

Flako has bought Blair Group Plan in 18 markets (Thurs., Fri., 9 a.m.-4 p.m.), 58 announcements per week, one-minute and ID's every quarter-hour, for its flour mixes. In addition Flako will be in 22 other markets east of Mississippi.

Parent company spent $3.5 million in broadcasting last year, $620,000 in spot radio and $2.9 million in tv. Flako agency is Clinton E. Frank, Chicago.

Radio-Tv in 21 Southern States Planned for New Super HadaCol

HADACOL Inc. (tonic) plans to spend roughly $750,000 in broadcast media, bulk of it in radio, for new fiscal year (starting July 1) on behalf of new Super HadaCol product, Jerome S. Garland, head of Garland & Ass'ns sold Bit Friday. He acquired company from group of southern businessmen last May 15 and formerly was president of D-Con Co. (insecticides) before it was acquired by Sterling Drugs last January.

Radio-tv outlay represents about 80% of entire media budget, Mr. Garland said, and will be used in 21 southern states at outset. Campaign eventually will be extended to northern states, he added. Olian & Bronner, Chicago, has been appointed to handle HadaCol account for southern states.

Corn Products Buys 'Oakley'

CORN PRODUCTS Refining Co., for Bisco chocolate syrup, has signed $2.34 million contract with CBS Television Film Sales for Annie Oakley syndicated film series in 62 markets. Alternate sponsor is Continental Baking Co., with series since January 1956. Cost represents time and program costs over 52-week period. Advertiser also gets six free one-minute commercials featuring Gail Davis, Oakley star. Sponsorship kicks off in October. Agency is Donahue & Coe, N. Y.

Brown Drops Amarillo Bid

KENYON BROWN, multiple-station owner, Friday withdrew his application for ch. 7 Amarillo, Tex., in favor of Southwest States Inc. FCC Hearing Examiner Annie Neal Hunting accepted Mr. Brown's withdrawal and closed record with Southwest as only applicant. According to terms of withdrawal, Southwest is to pay Mr. Brown $10,000 for out-of-pocket expenses if application is granted by Aug. 7; $7,500 if application is granted by Sept. 20.

Providence, Yuma, Madison Among Ten Sale Approvals

FCC approved 10 station sales, including WHIM Providence, R. I., KIVA (TV) Yuma, Ariz., and WMTV (TV) Madison Wis. Announced Friday were these grants:

- WHIM Providence, R. I. (1.1 kw daytime on 1110 kc) from Frank W. Miller and associates to Richard D. Buckley and John B. Jaeger for $640,000. Mr. Buckley is stockholder in DuMont Broadcasting Co. (WNEW-WABD [TV] New York and WTTO [TV] Washington). Mr. Jaeger is executive vice president of WNEW.
- KIVA (TV) Yuma, Ariz. (ch. 11), from Donald Ellsworth and associates to Harry C. Butcher for $241,000. Mr. Butcher owns KIST Santa Barbara, Calif., and was stockholder in ch. 3 KEVT (TV) Santa Barbara, recently sold.
- WMTV (TV) Madison, Wis. (ch. 33) from Bartell TV Corp. to Mitchell Wolfson and associates for $350,000. Wolfson group has interests in WTJF (TV) Miami and WFGR-TV Jacksonville, both Fla.

WAGM-AM-TV, WABM Sold To Owners of WABI-AM-TV

SALE by Harold D. Glidden of WAGM-
AM-TV Presque Isle and WABM Houlton, both Maine, to WABI-AM-TV Bangor, Me., for $325,000 was filed Friday for FCC approval. WABI-AM-TV is owned 60% by Horace A. Hildreth, former Maine governor, 34% by WPOR Portland, Me., and 6% by WTOL Waterville, Me. Purchasers also hold permit for WABQ Presque Isle.

WAGM-AM-TV-WABM balance sheet, dated Dec. 31, 1956, showed profits for year, after taxes, of $7,052. Retained earnings were $135,179, with capital stock of $35,000. WABI-AM-TV balance sheet for May 31 showed capital surplus of $126,990. Stations cleared, after taxes, $22,552 for fiscal year ended June 30, 1955, and lost $37,22 for year ended June 30, 1956.

THE FIRE CHIEF RETURNS

CUNNINGHAM & WALSH, N. Y., is announcing today (Mon.) that the Texas Co., N. Y., has selected Ed Wynn, comedian who created Texaco Firechief for firm on network radio in early 30's, to be honored in first Texaco color spectacular, Texaco Command Performance on NBC-TV, Sept. 19, 10-11 p.m. (also see Texaco story, page 35). Projected program series is designed to salute great entertainers of past. Coronet Productions will handle production, with Ezra Stone named producer for Wynn program.

PLEASED, TRIES AGAIN

THOMAS LEEMING & Co., N. Y., in effect is announcing spot radio success story. It is doing so by placing orders, through William Esty & Co., N. Y., for minutes in approximately 200 markets for six-month campaign beginning in September. Products are Ben-Gay and Pacquin and Silk 'N' Satin hand preparations.

Less than year ago [BT, Nov. 16, 1956], Leeming announced it would place entire advertising budget of both that company and Pacquin Inc. (both under same management) in spot radio in order to take advantage of spot's quickness in reaching prospects and its opportunities for merchandising at local level. Leeming's initial spot expenditure last year was budgeted at about $1 million but estimates place final allocation at nearly double that figure. Schedule was first use of spot by firms in 16 years.

Toll Tv Clears Another Hurdle
In Plans for Oceanside, Calif.

CITY ATTORNEY of Oceanside, Calif. (Los Angeles metropolitan area), has been instructed to draft nonexclusive franchise for closed circuit toll tv system, for presentation to next council meeting Aug. 14, in accordance with application of Tri City Tel Movie Corp. (subsidiary of Tel Movie Development Corp.), offering city 1% of gross revenues for franchise. Tel Movie plans to install television equipment in homes in Oceanside and subsequently in other Southern California communities and to offer subscribers two-year contracts at four dollars monthly minimum fee for program service consisting primarily of feature motion pictures.

[EDITOR’S NOTE: Mr. Weber was erroneously listed as operations manager instead of general manager.]

Mr. Livesay Disagrees

EDITOR:

I read with interest your editorial, “Spectre of Chaos in Radio” [B&T, July 22]. Apparently you did not thoroughly read my statement before the Senate Subcommittee of the Foreign Relations Committee. Here are a few facts which I am sorry you did not bring out in your editorial.

Our foreign neighbors have very few “daytime only” stations while 40% of our stations in the U. S. are daytimers. They have practically none on any of the U. S. I-A clear channel frequencies while we have 375 daytimers on the foreign I-A clear channels. (225 of these are on the seven Mexican I-A clear channel frequencies.)

Many of these 225 daytimers are in single station cities and communities that have no other local radio broadcast facility.

Our need for fixed and extended hours of operation is a public need as well as a common-sense approach to the operation of a business. There are hundreds of cities and communities across our nation which can have only sunrise to sundown radio broadcast service locally because of “man-made” rules and standards which are basically the same as they were 25 years ago.

... According to your editorial, you would have us sell these 225 daytimers down the river along with the local needs of their respective communities for a treaty with Mexico that is much more restrictive than the NARBA treaty negotiated in 1950 and which the Daytime Broadcasters Assn. is not opposing even though we do not fully approve of all the NARBA terms.

I do not recall any editorials in your magazine calling the clear channel interests “obstructionists” when they opposed the ratification of NARBA before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in 1953.

We have no objection to the Senate going ahead and ratifying NARBA now. We do feel though that they should hold up the Mexican Broadcast Agreement until the objectionable clauses can be renegotiated and a satisfactory agreement worked out.

I understand that Comr. Hyde sought full nighttime operation by the U. S. on Mexican clear channels but our request is for much less than full time. Actually 5 a.m. to 7 p.m. hours get into nighttime only for a few hours during a few winter months. This was not even proposed to the Mexicans.

I was rather alarmed when I read in your editorial:

“The daytimers should not look to Mexico or to any other nation for relief. So far, they have blocked ratification of a treaty gravely important to the welfare of U. S. radio. If they persist, they will have no chance of getting favorable consideration from the FCC for increased hours on domestic channels. There is no real assurance they will get all they want even if they withdraw their treaty opposition, but certainly a cooperative attitude will place them in a better posture with the FCC and all other broadcasters than an all-out effort to scuttle the NARBA agreement.”

Apparently, you have information from some reliable source to make such a vindictive statement, inferring that the FCC, a regulatory agency of our Federal government, might exact reprisals in their decision on our case requesting extended hours of operation because we have sincerely exercised our constitutional rights and privileges in a democracy. This seems to me to be an insult on the integrity of our FCC.

Mr. Lindberg Agrees

EDITOR:

Your editorial “Spectre of Chaos in Radio” [B&T, July 22] was excellent. You support approval of the pending NARBA and U. S.-Mexican agreement because it is in the best overall interest of broadcasting in this country. I agree completely and I am so advising Sen. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

A station you know, I am the principal owner of WPIK, 730 kc, Alexandria, Va., a daytime-only station since 1945. We operate on a Mexican clear channel and as a result must limit our operation to daytime hours.

We want extended hours of operation as much as any daytime-only station. The

Mr. Robert H. Reid
Manager, Television Division
International News Service
235 East 45th Street
New York 17, N.Y.

Dear Bob:

We're tickled pink with Telenews and have nothing but praise for the quality, quantity and variety of the film we are screening in the Phoenix market.

As the only independent television operation in Phoenix, we are outstripping network news shows because of the speed with which the Telenews film arrives at KPHO daily.

In many instances, we have received Telenews shipments which have enabled us to go on the air with top-drawer film stories the same day they were live on network newscasts.

Telenews is providing us with a constant flow of international and national news as well as interesting feature footage that is building a solid foundation of prestige under our news operations.

The quality of the film, from the standpoint of clarity, scene structure and sound is excellent and superior to all other film services I have ever been in contact with.

I consider Telenews an absolute "must" in our present TV operations.

Best regards.

Sincerely,

Johnny Green

MINUTE STAKE

Whether you know it or not, you've got a stake in minutes. You can tell your sales story so much better in TV minutes. (Ask any sales manager).

We've talked to lots of big, active advertisers lately who need time... time to explain, inform, demonstrate and sell. That's how KTTV got into the minute business.

Advertisers who want well-rated, top quality minutes in Southern California can now buy:

"FIRST SHOW"
and
"SECOND SHOW"

Five nights a week, Southern California viewers will see a big, well-known MGM film taken from their recently released library. They'll be seeing big pictures like Red Dust, Mrs. Miniver, Tortilla Flat and big stars like Gable, Tracy, Harlow, Garland, Lammarr, Hepburn... all the big names that made MGM and great movies.

KTTV will show the same film twice each night, beginning at 10:15 so that viewers who are a few minutes late getting a seat can see the film in its entirety on the Second Show.

You can buy a minute in the First Show for $500, in the Second Show for $200 or in both for $600 (prices slightly higher west of Thursday).

Get the story from your KTTV Minute Man. He has a complete assortment of bright, shiny, new 60-second availabilities.

U. S.-Mexican agreement now before the Senate does not provide for this extended operation for WPIK, or other stations using Mexican clear channels. The agreement does, however, contain advantages of enormous importance to United States broadcasting, including protection from foreign interference which can only be secured through effective international agreement.

Under the circumstances, it is my judgment that the best interest of the United States would be served by approval of the agreement, even though it may not provide all that some stations (including WPIK) would desire.

I was an industry adviser on the U. S. delegation that negotiated the agreement. As a result, I had an opportunity to see the negotiations develop on a day-to-day basis. I am satisfied that this is the best agreement that could be obtained, that Mexico would not agree to our extended operation by daytime-only stations on Mexican clears and that the many advantages of the agreement greatly outweigh its disadvantages.

I am aware that the Daytime Broadcasters Assn. has objected because of the absence of a provision for operation by daytime-only stations beyond daytime hours. There are a number of reasons why I differ sharply with DBA. Daytime-only stations are not exclusively on Mexican clear channels. A majority of daytime-only stations operate on frequencies which are also assigned to fulltime stations in the U. S. Until the FCC, through proper rulemaking involving these latter channels, can determine that the effects of interference to other U. S. stations from extended operation of daytime-only stations will be offset by the advantages, international considerations do not become important.

If the Commission should decide that domestic policy would be best served by an extension of the hours of operation of daytime stations, it can then negotiate with other interested countries on international problems presented. I believe that daytime stations would stand a far better chance of success at both the domestic and international levels if they did not bear the blame of having scuttled international agreements upon which the whole broadcasting industry must depend for protection from foreign interference. Whatever negotiations may be required can best be conducted if international conditions are stabilized.

Let me repeat that I want additional hours for WPIK and other daytime stations. I feel strongly that the Commission should take all practical steps to bring this about. I do not, however, believe that this can be best accomplished by fighting the interest of the industry as a whole in securing a stable domestic situation.

Incidentally, I have never seen a statement of how many daytime-only stations on Mexican clears are members of the Daytime Broadcasters Assn. which opposes the U. S.-Mexico Agreement. How many are there?

IN REVIEW

FRED WARING SHOW

As summer replacement for the vacationing Garry Moore Show, the durable Mr. Waring, assisted by assorted vocalists, instrumentalists and his well-known chorus, provides pleasant hot weather diversion for the busy housewife and other stay-at-homers.

Mr. Waring uses the basic approach he has applied in radio and television for oh, so many years: friendly banter with his crew, plus renditions of old-time favorite songs and ballads by the chorus and vocalists.

The program originates from the 1,000-acre Shawnee Inn and Country Club, located in the foothills of the Pocono Mountains, 90 miles from New York. Mr. Waring is the owner of the resort hotel and the program is not ungenerous in naming the origination spot of the telecast. In fact, in order to telecast from the site, CBS-TV had to install four cameras there to cover the interior and exterior location of the grounds; 5,000 feet of microphone cable; 2,000 feet of video cable for monitors and 2,000 feet of AC cable for power units. This effort on the part of the network is justified. Though the Fred Waring Show is by no means a "show-stopper," it is easy on the ears, eyes and nerves during the hot summer spell.

Production Costs: $3,500 per quarter hour (Monday through Thursday programs are 30 minutes, Friday show 90 minutes).

Telecast on participating advertiser basis on CBS-TV, Mon.-Thurs., 10-10:30 a.m., EDT; Fri., 10-11:30 a.m. EDT.

Cast: Foley McClintock, Gordon Goodman, Bob Sands and others.

Producer: Mr. Waring.

Co-Directors: Clarence Schinmel, Mel Ferber.

SEZ WHO?

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. And he appears to be making his rounds in July with a panel-quiz show that doesn’t excite listeners to nervous prostration with offers of partnership in Fort Knox. Nor is the audience brought to the headache and earache stage with countless glittering wheels that will send the undernourished school teacher on to fame in the next plateau.

The show is CBS Radio’s Sez Who? and it’s presented over by a man without an isolation booth, Henry Morgan. His panel includes glib Joey Adams of the night club circuit, Gypsy Rose Lee, whose eyebrow-lifting quips may cause a short circuit, and John Henry Faulk, who has a wide-open-spaces accent that is too professional.

The panel is fed recorded voices (e.g., Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig in an off-season vaudeville skit, Bobby Breen singing at age eight, Enrico Caruso doing the vocals at a Liberty Bond drive in World War I) and then asked to identify them. Each “no” answer earns $5 for the listener who suggested the voice.

In presiding over the panel, Henry Morgan often dispenses with the niceties associated with panel m.c.s. According to Joey Adams, be “rules with an iron head.”

It all makes Sez Who? a good 30 minutes of fast verbal repartee, as can be expected anytime Henry Morgan has a hand in the doings.

Production costs: Approximately $7,500.

Sponsored by Cowles Publications (for Look magazine), through McCann-Erickson, every other week with alternate weeks sustaining on CBS Radio, Sun., July 14, 7-7:30 p.m. EDT.

SEEN & HEARD

The telecast debate last Tuesday night on the civil rights legislation before Congress deserves two votes of recognition. One is to NBC-TV which preempted commercial time to bring this special in The Big Issue series. Too often, this programming is confined to the commercially unused Sunday afternoon slots. The other vote is due Lawrence Spivak in pitting Sens. Richard Russell (D-Ga.) and John McClellan (D-Ark.) against Sens. Paul Douglas (D-III.) and Jacob Javits (R-N. Y.) in a program that underscored electronic journalism’s value as a news medium.

"Our membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations speaks for our belief and confidence in that organization. We are happy that Broadcasting Telecasting elected to join the ranks."

FRANK COULTER, JR.

"I've always felt that a paid circulation magazine must be a little more responsive in its editorial policy to the needs of its readers ... (the reader) can just as easily knock off his name if he does not feel that the magazine is doing a conscientious editorial job. Since A.B.C. audits only paid circulation, this becomes an important measure of reader response."

"Paid circulation, as measured by A.B.C., is the only measurement of reader interest and reader responsiveness. Paid circulation is self-purging and the man who pays his money intends to read the periodical. This is the principle behind A.B.C. and it's the sound way to buy space."

"A.B.C. reports are to the agency space buyer what a law library is to the attorney—indispensable for the efficient exercise of his professional function. Paid circulation is a vital dimension in the measurement of publication acceptance. We who grew up in the era of A.B.C. find it hard to understand how advertising even managed to function without it."
Media Buyers Rely on Audit Bureau of Circulations

B•T is the only magazine in the vertical radio-tv field with membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations

Here's a cross-section of media buyers—and what they say about the Audit Bureau of Circulations. Their remarks were stimulated by Broadcasting-Telecasting's admission to A. B. C. last year.

*B•T has the largest paid circulation in its field. B•T distributed more paid circulation in four months than all others in the field combined distribute in a year.

There's no abracadabra to Audit Bureau audits. It is a standard of measurement of PAID circulation. The rules were written by advertisers and agencies. B•T has met them, alone in its field.
OUR RESPECTS

to Edward Huhner Weiss

A recognized student of the social sciences, Edward H. Weiss shrugs off any suggestion that he and his agency have gone overboard on "depth-probing" in the subterranean waters of consumer motivations the past nine years. Unless such motivation research directly feeds a "vigorous, fresh, new creative idea. it fails," in his opinion. "Some people sell 'MR'; I use it," he observes.

As president of the Chicago agency bearing his name and oriented to his convictions, Mr. Weiss describes motivation research as the inevitable extension of human behavior study to advertising, as "common sense intuitively applied." It will, in time, find its proper niche as a marketing tool, its role dependent on "the skill and creative ability of diagnosis-minded advertising people who know how to use it"—the agency's creative team.

"Depth" studies and creativity go hand in hand at the medium-sized Weiss agency. The results seem to qualify Mr. Weiss as a bona fide MR diagnostician-practitioner. Reorganizing early last year, his agency (formerly Weiss & Geller) bounced back in billings after losing its $6.5 million Toni Co. account—roughly half its business.

Today, billings run in excess of $15 million, about half derived from broadcast media and the bulk of that in television, primarily network tv.

Mr. Weiss is articulate about radio-tv, particularly commercials (whose impact MR tends to soften). "Tv is important as "the only vehicle that can handle simultaneously, on the same program, multiple products of a single advertiser. Network tv is made to order for their development and exploitation." Among other Weiss-MR-oriented concepts: tv commercials should fit the emotional climate of the program format; even highly-rated, effective network tv properties (like Treasure Hunt and Dollar a Second for Mogen David Wine Co.) should be dropped after two or three years for other shows to reach different buyer segments; some top 10 tv programs don't sell products because the shows and commercials are not in harmony.

Of radio he says: "Early in his career, he's found that radio is... most effective for weekend and early-morning, especially network radio. . . . Radio will come back farther to the degree it becomes more creative and fresh . . . ."

Edward Huhner Weiss traces his interest in MR to 1947—and his birth to March 22, 1901, in Chicago. Graduated with a bachelor of philosophy degree from the U. of Chicago in 1922, he joined H. W. Kastor & Sons Adv. Co. and in 1924 helped form Pickus & Weiss agency with Morris Pickus. In 1928 he became vice president of Crichtfield & Co. and in 1932 of Henri, Hurst & McDonald Inc., leaving in 1938 to found Weiss & Geller. Mr. Weiss and Max Geller separated in 1943, and each maintained his own agency with the same name—one in Chicago, one in New York—until Weiss & Geller became Edward H. Weiss & Co. in December 1956.

His social science approach has been utilized for such clients as the former Toni account (the agency named the Deep Magic cleansing lotion product, designed the package, set marketing strategy, devised advertising-merchandising plans and helped determine the product's physical characteristics), Purex Corp. (Old Dutch cleanser was reborn as New Blue Dutch cleanser and a new brand image was conceived for Sweetheart soap), and Mogen David Wine Co.

Results from MR have been intriguing, judging by one sample. Depth studies for Mogen David wine led to three copy themes ("A taste of the good old days"; "The home-sweet-home wine," and "Wine like Grandma used to make") and replacement of a mystery show with a panel series on tv. (Purex is using a less emotional commercial approach to mysteries on CBS-TV's Perry Mason Show this fall.)

Under Mr. Weiss' leadership, his agency handles several active broadcasting accounts. Last spring, three (Purex, Mogen David wine and Helene Curtis) sewed up the CBS-TV fall Saturday, 7:30-9:30 p.m. block on alternate weeks in an $8 million deal [At Deadline, May 27]. Among active radio-tv clients are Mogen David (over $2 million), Helene Curtis (several products, $2 million), College Inn Foods ($200,000), Corina Div. of General Cigar Co. (over $100,000), Purex Corp. (including Manhattan Div.'s Sweetheart soap, Blue Dutch, $1.7 million), and Sealy Inc. (over $700,000), Carling Brewing Co. (Stag beer,) plus 18 other broadcast or non radio-tv accounts.

Mr. Weiss married the former Ruth Wingerhoff in 1938. They have a son, James, 15, and live in Chicago. A prominent lecturer, Mr. Weiss is a patron of the arts and avid painter (his works have been displayed in New York and Chicago). He collects books (one of which is Vance Packard's The Hidden Persuaders: his reaction: Such studies [MR] are intended, not to seduce customers, but to provide what consumers really want; so creative advertising effort is based, not on whims and gimmicks, but on understanding).

CAN A FEW AGENCIES MONOPOLIZE TV?

- General Foods, Bristol-Myers join to share 52-week spots
- Deal, engineered by Benton & Bowles, sews up prime times
- Critics fear trend toward concentrated control of spot TV

An apparently unprecedented buying maneuver had the television advertising business in a turmoil last week. Advertisers, agencies and stations were simmering over a $5.2 million, 52-week "partnership" campaign in which, through Benton & Bowles, Bristol-Myers is alternating with General Foods in a heavy ID spot schedule in prime TV time, in effect giving General Foods a hiatus but enabling it to hold onto its premium positions.

Harshest critics contended that the deal was tantamount to time-brokering and, if it became a precedent, could lead to concentration of the control of prime spot time in the hands of as few as three agencies.

Supporters—notably Benton & Bowles—defended the plan, denied that time-brokering was involved, and cited co- and alternate-sponsorships in network television as precedents for such an arrangement in spot.

The stations generally didn't like it, but most were reported to be going along with it in one form or another—many of them apparently out of a feeling of necessity.

Other advertisers didn't like it—or didn't like to see another advertiser getting the jump on them. Many were reported to have approached their own agencies already about similar deals, and they could be counted on to demand the same sort of arrangement if this precedent-setting tactic succeeds.

Agencies reacted in much the same fashion as advertisers, displeased that two advertisers were getting an advantage that had been denied to their own clients and sure, for the most part, that they would be forced to seek similar deals whenever a suitable occasion arises in the future.

In addition, officials of at least two large agencies criticized the principle of the arrangement.

One, branding the arrangement "awful," voiced the fear that if the practice gained a foothold "it would be possible for big agencies—literally—to get a stranglehold on all the prime spot time in all of the really important markets."

Another, Newman F. McEvoy, senior vice president and media director of Cunningham & Walsh, put it up to stations directly in a letter asking for their "official" policy on such matters.

"We can readily understand the motives behind this technique but question its validity," he wrote. "With this precedent any agency might take the position that it could order prime nighttime announcements on your station on a firm 52-week basis in the name of any active television account and then offer these times not only to other clients of record, but literally to offer them on the open market. This would be a most unfortunate development for the industry."

Station representatives seemed somewhat divided, although most of those reached by BWT were opposed, some of them vehemently.

Critics among the reps challenged the plan as (1) no better than time-brokering, (2) a usurpation of the rep's selling function, and (3) a move that will make it even harder to sell non-prime time.

At the other extreme, the head of at least one major representation firm took the position that, overall, the deal probably was for TV's good. He reasoned that it probably kept television from losing money to other media, on the ground that General Foods otherwise would have felt compelled either to cut back or to divert money to other media. By finding a "partner," this representative felt, General Foods also gave stations a sizeable 52-week ID contract at a time when good ID contracts are hard to come by.

Officials of Benton & Bowles defended the plan with equal vigor. They denied that it involved time-brokering. They had cleared it in advance with their lawyers, they said, and stations were free to do the same with their own legal counsel.

Moreover, they contended, the partnership arrangement is little different from a practice that has become standard in network television—co-sponsorship.

The number of stations involved was estimated at about 100. Benton & Bowles authorities declined to give the exact figure, but they said acceptances had been "very favorable." They acknowledged there had been objections—not so much on the time-brokering charge, however, as on the fear of the stations that they were giving General Foods unequal treatment which they wouldn't be able to match for their other advertisers.

Their principal answer to the objections, they said, was that Instant Maxwell House has put more than $20 million into nighttime ID's alone in the past four years and should be due some consideration. They also cited co-sponsorship and alternate-sponsorship techniques in network and local sales as precedents.

The Benton & Bowles offer, sent out by Michael J. Donovan, vice president and associate media director, in a letter to stations on June 10, in brief was this:

Benton & Bowles had accepted a "special spot TV assignment" from Bristol-Myers (whose principal regular agencies are BBDO,
Young & Rubicam and Doherty, Clifford, Steers & Shenfield. In the past, the General Foods coffees have used other GF products as "partners" in their heavy use of nighttime ID's, but because of changes in marketing strategy the other brands are not available as "partners" this year.

Accordingly, Instant Maxwell House would be forced to (1) reduce weekly frequency; (2) cancel and try to buy back later, risking loss of prime positions "which took years and millions of dollars of investment to achieve"; (3) find a co-sponsor, or (4) "abandon the medium entirely."

Instant Maxwell House didn't want to abandon the medium entirely, Mr. Donovan explained in his letter, because such a move "would result in the denial to the brands, the known values and impact that spot tv affords."

"However," Mr. Donovan continued, "these values are relative to the degree that effective frequency can be achieved over the total available audience, and this frequency should have the most level distribution possible. The control of this distribution is only possible through the maintenance of a carefully selected franchise of evening announcements."

He summarized the plan thus:

"Our proposition has as its base the use by General Foods of 36 weeks of high-frequency tv ID announcements over a 52-week period (in flights of three or four weeks) at an annual cost of over $3.6 million. Bristol-Myers as the co-sponsor plans to use the same type of tv for 16 weeks (again in flights of three or four weeks by product) over 52 weeks at an annual investment of over $1.6 million. The total investment of the two advertisers amounts to over $5.2 million."

Mr. Donovan said: "We are prepared to establish whatever arrangements are deemed necessary by the various stations involved to facilitate this procedure," and suggested the following "for you to choose from":

1. Accept a 52-week order retroactive to April 1, 1957, for both General Foods and Bristol-Myers. It will be necessary that our two-week cancellation privilege prevail for both advertisers; however, only to be exercised if good and substantial reason dictates. We repeat that the current full intent of both advertisers is to continue using this medium in the form and degree as indicated above.

2. Arrange for transfers of the list each time as the schedule change indicates.

3. In the event of a competitive conflict, during a Bristol-Myers flight, then another non-competitive Bristol-Myers product or Instant Maxwell House coffee will sustain the announcement.

He made clear that "both the Bristol-Myers and General Foods schedules will seek separate levels of discount and operate by separate contracts, etc. We are convinced that our procedure is not in any way illegal or unfair in practice. . . .

"We sincerely appreciate your cooperation to date and hope that you will continue to realize the requirements of both General Foods and Bristol-Myers for maintaining intact this high quality spot franchise which we have developed over the years."

Mr. Donovan also told the stations in his letter: "We are facing the realization that spot advertisement tv advertising is not really as flexible as it is sold to be. It seems that unless an advertiser is a 52-week user, his opportunity for appreciating better value for his investment is limited. Despite all this, announcements within a given time classification are priced identically regardless of the audience potential, yet each announcement is sold according to its ability to draw a certain audience as indicated by the various rating services."

"You must agree that either of these advertisers (General Foods and Bristol-Myers) surely represent very significant forces in the spot industry. As a result, we believe that their marketing needs and plans for using the spot tv medium should receive adequate consideration in the industry."

Although most of the stations are taking the co-sponsored campaign, many of them imposed conditions of their own—designed, as one expressed it, to "combine ethics with sound business practices." A number for instance, treat the termination of a flight by one advertiser as a cancellation and the start of a flight by the other advertiser as a new order, and after a 'cancellation' they offer the spots to existing advertisers before accepting the "new order."

Bristol-Myers is expected to use its spots primarily for Ban deodorant (BBDO), but some were designated for Ipana toothpaste (DCS&S) and Bufferin (Y&R).

It was understood that Bristol-Myers' agencies of record receive their usual commissions, less a service fee to Benton & Bowles for handling the campaign.

The timing of the Benton & Bowles offer to stations couldn't have been better from BB&B's standpoint, observers agree. It came in June, traditionally a slow spot month and at a time when IDs were moving especially slowly. Psychologically, stations were predisposed to accept such a big chunk of business and less inclined to turn it down on principle.

But if any doubt existed as to whether the practice might spread, the queries that stations and reps have been getting from other agencies would seem to answer the question with a decisive affirmative.

The letter sent to stations last week by Cunningham & Walsh's Mr. McEvoy was cited as typical of many agencies' reactions. In his letter, sent last Monday, Mr. McEvoy asked for (A) your official position regarding the ordering of spot schedules more than 30 days in advance of the initial broadcasts, and (B) your official position regarding the hiatus period available to spot advertisers on your station.

He asked this, he made clear, because of (1) the General Foods and Bristol-Myers deal and (2) the fact that a year ago "our request for a summer hiatus for one of our clients was denied by the vast majority of stations." The General Foods-Bristol-Myers deal, he continued, "marks the first time in our experience where a 36-week advertiser has been allowed to recapture spot time periods. In effect, they have successfully secured a hiatus and have confirmed orders for time more than 30 days in advance of their return to the air."

He concluded: "Inasmuch as there are many spot advertisers with seasonal campaigns that could be interlocked into a continuous 'franchise' schedule, we are most curious as to your position on this change in industry practice."
COSMETICS PAINT WIDE SWATH ON TV

Firms to spend $50 million; Factor buy highlights increased activity

COSMETIC manufacturers will paint a $50 million smile on television next season.

Signs of a definite upswing of such product buys on TV were highlighted last week as Max Factor & Co., Hollywood, picked the Guy Mitchell Show as its newest vehicle on ABC-TV starting in the fall. The cosmetics firm appears headed for increased spending in the visual medium.

Factor, which last calendar year spent $5.6 million (or 50% of its budget in television (12 months spot, 3 months network tv with NBC-TV's Noa's Ark, then Panic), next season is expected to spend roughly $8 million in tv, or 75% of the budget. It not only is sponsoring two network shows and several syndicated films in approximately seven markets, but reportedly will hike its tv spot announcement budget considerably, especially in cities where it feels network program reaction could be higher.

Last year, Doyle Dane Bernbach spent $2 million in spot; Anderson-McConnell Adv., Los Angeles, agency on Factor pharmaceutical accounts, spent $1.8 million in spot. The Noa's Ark-Panic Tuesday evening strip cost factor roughly $1.8 million last season. (Its newest agency, Guild, Bascom & Bonfigli, San Francisco, hasn't as yet gotten into the tv act so far as expenditures are concerned, having only been appointed earlier this month.)

Ironically, by signing for General Artists Corp.'s Mitchell package, which will be seen in the Monday 8:30-9:30 p.m. time slot ordered on ABC-TV by Anderson-McConnell earlier this month [CLOSED CIRCUIT, July 15], Factor has come to the aid of its number one rival, Revlon Inc. Revlon originally had purchased the entire Mitchell show, then asked ABC-TV to relieve it of half after it signed for Desilu's Walter Winchell File, finally asked to drop the Mitchell show altogether after taking a good, hard look at its budget [B&T, July 8]. Had Factor not agreed to pick up the Mitchell series (originally scheduled for Saturday 10-11 p.m.), Revlon would have been obligated to sponsor the singer. For ABC-TV, the signing of Factor assures that network full sponsorship for the Monday series; had it not been able to do so, it would have had only 50% sponsorship of the show. On the other hand, this leaves ABC with a 30-minute Saturday night period to fill and sell.

Revlon's fall lineup now will be limited to the two $64,000 programs—Question and Challenge—and the Winchell series. Its contract for CBS-TV's 20th Century-Fox Hour (now alternating with U. S. Steel Corp.'s S. Steel Hour) expires at the end of September; thereafter, U. S. Steel will alternate with Armstrong Cork Co. and its Armstrong Circle Theatre. George Abrams, Revlon's vice president in charge of advertising, told B&T last week that Revlon now is "set" for the fall season, and will not add new shows as had been reported earlier. Revlon's exit from the Mitchell musical deprives Emil Mogul Co.—designated "agency of record" on the Mitchell show—of the billing it had hoped to gain to offset the loss of the Monarch Wine Co. (Manischewitz account) [B&T, July 22].

Factor last year sponsored only one network show—and that on an alternating basis (with Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.). It now sponsors three summer programs at an estimated cost of $1.3 million and will spend an unspecified amount on two regular network shows this fall, the once-a-week Mitchell program and a new alternate-week musical series. The summer programs: Those Writing Girls (alternating with General Foods Corp.) on CBS-TV, Monday, 9-9:30 p.m.; Masquerade Party (alternating with Associated Products Inc. deodorants) on NBC-TV, Wednesday, 8-8:30 p.m., and Panic (alternating with L&M) on Tuesday, 8-8:30 p.m. (the $1.3 million takes into consideration the networks' summer discount structures). Agencies: Anderson-McConnell for the first two (Sebba dandruff remover, Curl Control permanent), Doyle Dane Bernbach (Hi Fi, Erace, Pan Cake, Pan Silk) for the latter.

Additionally, Factor this summer is placing something like $3.5 million worth of spot in tv (including both announcements and the syndicated film series), with emphasis on spots being placed by Anderson-McConnell which has most of the hair preparations that seem to sell best in the summer.

In lieu of Panic originally scheduled for Saturday, 9-9:30 p.m. on NBC-TV next season, Factor and Chesterfields will sponsor an as-yet-unlisted musical series starring Dean Martin (for Chesterfields) and Polly Bergen (for Factor). The cosmetics firm will continue with its syndicated film series, most if not all placed through both the Los Angeles and New York offices of Doyle Dane Bernbach.

As the cosmetics industry continues to boom, television booms, too, as the medium in which to sell lipsticks, make-up, deodorants and related products.

According to statistics compiled by the Toilet Goods Assn., the cosmetics industry experienced a 10.8% increase in retail sales for 1956, bringing them to "a new record high" of $1.3 billion. Department store figures (with only those stores with a $2-$5 million volume per year sales or more reporting) show that toiletries department sales were up 7% in 1956 over 1955. This breakdown is compiled annually by the National Retail Dry Goods Assn.

Raymond Spector, head of Hazel Bishop Inc. and its house agency, Raymond Spector Co., New York, who only a year and a half ago launched a one-man attack against NBC-TV, saying television failed to do what he had expected it to do, appears to have undergone a radical change of mind. His firm will spend $6 million gross on that network next fall on such programs as Manhunt (with American Tobacco Co.) the Jane Wyman Theatre (with Quaker Oats), and a revised Ted Mack's Amateur Hour. Additionally Hazel Bishop may plan to stick with the well-rated country music singer, Jimmy Dean, now on CBS-TV on Saturday nights, and it also may expand its current once-a-week sponsorship (with Brown & Williamson Tobacco) of the Douglas Edwards CBS-TV newscasts, which on Friday serves Bishop as a lead-in to its Be the Clock audience participation show.

Helene Curtis Industries, now on CBS-TV with three programs—What's My Line? with Remington-Rand, The Gale Storm Show, and The Million Dollar Mystery—which will be a good NBC-TV customer with program sponsorship and participation on The Bob Cummings Show, It Could Be You, The Price Is Right, Matinee and Comic Time. It currently is on ABC-TV's Cheyenne-Conflict series with General Electric Co. and will drop out this fall.

Other cosmetic firms preparing to step up their television this year are Bourjois & Cie. (on NBC-TV), John H. Breen (part sponsorship of the new Shirley Temple-Henry Jaffe-Screen Gems fairy tale specials on NBC-TV), Bourjois Inc. (its largest tv spot campaign, in 110 markets, plus NBC-TV's new Arlene Francis show). Harriet Hubbard Ayer-Direx spot cam, is increasing, as is Charles Antell (with Screencraft's Judge Roy Bean series). Bymart-Tintair is interested in sponsoring post-1948 theatrical films; Park & Tilford will make "quantitative" use of its newly-enlarged cosmetics line; J. B. Williams Co. likes network tv, occasionally buys "relief sponsorships," e.g. Phil Donahue Show and Esther Williams Div. of Chasway Corp., Lehna & Fink (Hinds Honey Almond cream). George W. Luft Co. (Tangee lipsticks), and Maybelline Co., to name but a few, are all looking to increase spot. Heavy spot users but still abstaining from network are Coty Inc. ("Hello . . . I'm the Coty Girl") and Avon Products, whose "Avon calling" spots merely prepare the way for the door-to-door Avon salesmen.

Perfumery, though low on air media budgets, also are re-evaluating strategy. Lanvin Parfums, heretofore a sporadic tv advertiser (it gets a tremendous amount of use out of "giving away" Lanvin as prizes on This Is True, a Colgate-Palmolive series) this year purchased an NBC-TV o&i lineup for the WRCA-TV New York originated Citizens Union Searchlight, has shown signs of wanting to make more use of tv and was reported earlier this summer to have been among the negotiators (Revlon Inc. being another) for the post-1949 United Artists Corp. film package.

But perfumes are not "mass-consumer items," and should importers take a closer look at broadcasting, as Chanel Inc. is reportedly now doing with a projected two-city test campaign, they will find that it will pay to "go selective." This reportedly is one of the sales pitches being made by Sylvester L. (Pat) Weaver Jr.'s Program Services organization.

There's no doubt in agency circles that a thorough selling job is in order for some of the smaller cosmetics firms, many which have so far resisted the blandishments of broadcasters and have stuck to print.

But no selling job is needed for those toiletries manufacturers whose cosmetic line represents just a part of their enterprises. Firms such as Bristol-Myers (Trushey, Vitals, Sentry), Andrew Jergens Co. (Woodbury), Gillette Co. (Toni Div.), Colgate-Palmolive (Skin-Mist), and Lever Bros. (which declares its Dove to be a beauty-aid, not a mere soap) have made very heavy use of television in the past for their other products, have found tv the happy medium and need no convincing.

Filter Tip Tareyton Plans Tv Spot Drive in 7 Markets

FILTER TIP Tareyton in about three weeks will begin its first national spot tv campaign.

The lineup of markets includes 14 stations in seven top markets: New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Detroit and Dallas-Fort Worth. Initial buys are for 13 weeks but the purchasing may be extended.

The cigarette advertiser is in the American Tobacco Co. family (Lucky Strike, Filter Tip Tareyton, Herbert Tareyton, Pall Mall and Hit Parade cigarettes, as well as cigar and tobacco brands).

Filter Tip Tareyton had a taste of tv about two years ago when the cigarette was introduced. At that time, some cut-ins were used in Lucky Strike network programs. The brand also has been associated with a local program in New York during the baseball season.

Primarily however, the advertiser has placed its money in magazines and newspapers (it was learned that some of the national spot money will come from the magazine allocation).

In its campaign, the advertiser will use minute and 20-second spots with an average schedule of 10-12 spots per week on primarily network stations.

Filter Tip Tareyton also cleared prime availabilities, it's understood, in both nighttime and daytime time periods. While details were lacking on the amount of budgeting, it was reported the advertiser would allocate some $250,000 for the 13 weeks. If the campaign is satisfactory, the advertiser will consider a continuing basis.

Lawrence C. Gumbinner Adv., New York, is the agency.

BBDO's Big Fall Tv Plans

BBDO, New York, has announced it is going to have its biggest season in nighttime network television this fall with 20 programs weekly, three more than the 1956-57 schedule. Seven programs are new to tv and 13 will be renewals. The weekly schedule will include one 90-minute program, two hour programs, 14 half-hour programs and three advertisers doing a series of specials.

Wolf to Set Up Radio-Tv Unit At Burke Dowling Adams Inc.

BURKE DOWLING ADAMS Inc., New York, Atlanta and Montclair, N. J., this week will take its first step toward the establishment of a regular radio-tv department by setting up the agency's first official time-buying section. Heretofore, all timebuying has been handled through the media department under James Daly.

Joining the agency this Thursday will be Alice J. Wolf, who left Grey Adv. two months ago and who served on J. Walter Thompson Co.'s time-buying staff between 1952 and 1956. Miss Wolf, though going over to BDA with the title of radio-tv buyer, is understood to be charged with setting up a full-fledged timebuying department. Also joining her in the buying end—though principally in print media—will be Eleanor Accles, formerly with Robert W. Orr & Assoc.

BDA last week announced the addition of three new creative personnel. They include Budd Fielding White, formerly with Foote, Cone & Belding, BBDO, Telenews Productions and Decca Records, who will serve as copywriter specializing in radio-tv-film activities. To work on BDA's industrial accounts, principally Studebaker-Packard Corp. and Mercedes-Benz of North America, the agency has hired Julian H. Apley, formerly with G. M. Basford, Cunningham & Walsh and Cockfield Brown & Co., Toronto. Charles J. Plume Jr., formerly art director at Erwin, Wasey & Co. and Doherity, Clifford, Steers & Shenfield, joins BDA in a similar capacity.

Merger of LaRoche, Brooks Consummated in Los Angeles

MERGER of Brooks Adv. Agency, Hollywood, with C. J. LaRoche & Co., New York, has been completed, according to Chester J. LaRoche, board chairman. In the move, announced last month (B&T, June 17), LaRoche's west coast office has moved from Beverly Hills to 6269 Selma Ave., Hollywood.

The Bekins van and storage account, formerly handled by Brooks, as well as the Disneyland and Walt Disney Productions accounts, will be handled from the Hollywood office. Al R. Brooks, founder and owner of the Brooks Agency, has become a consultant and vice president of LaRoche. Carroll O'Meara, formerly manager of LaRoche's television-radio department in New York, will become manager of the Hollywood office and account executive on all three west coast accounts. Stuart D. Ludlum, a vice president of LaRoche, will direct activities of the west coast office, and Tom Lewis, a vice president, will serve as liaison between the two offices.

THE TOP 10 network advertisers in May remained the same, according to computations based on Publishers Information Bureau data. But each bluechip, except for General Motors and General Foods, was spending more than in the previous month.

Standout climbers in May were American Home Products which moved from fifth place in April to third (spending more than $100,000 above the April pace), and Lever Bros. from eighth place in April to fifth in May. Lever increased its network investment about $400,000.

Compared to a year ago, General Motors shows up as the advertiser with the most radical change in its network tv purchasing. The automobile maker in May 1957 invested less than half of what it spent for the medium that same month a year ago.

A rundown on the other nine: six advertisers—Procter & Gamble, American Home Products, Lever, General Foods, Gillette and Ford Motor Co.—spent more this past May than they did in that month in 1956; Colgate-Palmolive and Chrysler invested less and R. J. Reynolds allocated only a shade under its total for May, 1956.

In May, the tv networks grossed $43,468,833, nearly $3 million more than for May 1956; for the January-May period network tv was nearly $5 million over the mark set for the five months last year.

In product categories, toiletries and toilet goods advertisers are making a strong bid for the top, with May totals coming within a half million dollars of food and food products, the usual product leader in network tv. For the January-May period, however, foods this year had a hefty $3.6 million lead on toiletries.

July 29, 1957 • Page 31
IT WAS moving day in the Midwest last week for beer, food and cosmetic accounts, with aggregate billings of nearly $5 million involved in these actions:

- Carling Brewing Co. appointed Edward H. Weiss & Co., Chicago, to handle advertising for its Stag Beer Div. account effective Oct. 1. Estimated overall billings—$800,000-$900,000, with perhaps 33% hereafter in broadcast media.

- International Minerals & Chemicals Corp. chose Needham, Louis & Brorby Inc., Chicago, to handle its Accent (flavor-enhancing) product account effective immediately. Billings—$500,000-$800,000.

- Helene Curtis Industries was shopping for a new agency in the wake of its confirmation that Earle Ludgin & Co., Chicago, is relinquishing three of its accounts—Stopette deodorant, Spray Net hair spray and Lentheric products for men—effective Oct. 1. Estimated all billings—$33.3 million, with a substantial part in broadcast media, including $250,000 in spot tv in 1956 for all products. Among network tv properties in which Ludgin held a stake were Washington Square, What's My Line? and (this fall) SRO Playhouse.

Curtis has not yet begun hearing presentations from other agencies although several have expressed interest in obtaining that part of its business, Richard Hirsch, assistant to Advertising Manager Jack L. Lipson, said Thursday. It was learned that Russel M. Seeds Co. was among the hopefuls on the basis of its past cosmetic experience with the Lanolin plus account.

Curtis lines are fairly evenly divided between two other agencies—Edward H. Weiss & Co. and Gordon Best Co., both Chicago. Together with products currently handled by Ludgin, they represent an aggregate of perhaps $9 million in media billings for Curtis, with a sizeable majority of that sum in broadcast media and much of that in network television. Weiss handles Enden shampoo, Lanolin Discovery, King's Men toiletries, and Tweed Soft Fragrance shampoo (Lentheric); Best Agency services Suave shampoos and Creme Rinse, with billings somewhat less than those for the Weiss agency.

Despite the potential agency switch, Mr. Hirsch strongly intimated that another new agency would be selected, apart from Weiss and Best, to handle products given up by Ludgin. He declined to say, however, when Curtis would start hearing presentations, indicating preliminary plans were being deferred until key Curtis officials return from out of town. He also refused to discuss the reason for changing agencies.

Earle Ludgin, board chairman of the agency bearing his name, expressed surprise at the move and had said earlier: "We didn't resign the account; we were fired." Ludgin agency was notified of the action July 18.

Carling's appointment of Weiss for Stag was announced Friday by Robert C. Garretson, its vice president in charge of advertising, in Cleveland. The account, which had been handled by Erwin, Wasey & Co., Chicago, is a regional advertiser with distribution in seven Midwestern states—Indiana, Oklahoma, Missouri, Illinois, Arkansas, Iowa and Kansas. Stag Div. of Carling's is based in St. Louis and beer is produced in Belleville, Ill. Weiss previously had competed unsuccessfully for the Pabst Brewing Co. account, which went to Norman, Craig & Kummel from Leo Burnett Co.

Stag has been a substantial regional tv account (primarily tv). Among other properties (and spot announcement schedules) it has sponsored Chicago Cubs broadcasts on the Midwest Baseball Network in Illinois (15 cities) for the past two years and picked up telecasts of the Cleveland Browns' pro football games over KTVI (TV) St. Louis.

The parent Carling Brewing Co. also spends heavily in tv, allocating $1.3 million for spot (actually regional network) television during 1956. Of this sum $164,010 was set aside for Stag Beer.

Mr. Garretson reported that, in connection with its other agencies, Carling enlists agencies in regional areas to administer its Black Label Beer account, supervised through Lang, Fisher & Stashower, Cleveland. Those agencies not affected by the new switch, are Winius-Branden Co.; Liller, Neal and Battle; Harold Cabot & Co., and Aikens-Kynett Co. Benton & Bowles handles its Red Cap Ale account.

Needham, Louis & Brorby Inc. inherits the Accent account from BBDO which had serviced it since 1950. With a modest budget ranging to $800,000, the Accent Div. of International Minerals had been sporadically active in network radio—on CBS' Arthur Godfrey Time and ABC's Breakfast Club.

The new agency will be responsible for overall advertising in three areas—retailing, institutional and food processing— for Accent, a monosodium glutamate product, according to an announcement to be made today (Monday) by International Minerals.

The Accent appointment does not affect International Minerals' remaining agency alignment, which consists of Compton Adv. Inc. (corporate advertising); C. Franklin Brown (phosphate minerals, potash industrial); Aubrey, Finlay, Marley & Hodgson (potash agricultural); Western Adv. Agency (plant food); Klaub-Van Pietersom-Dunlap (feed phosphates). WHAT WAS THAT NAME AGAIN?

Freberg: OK, you got it straight what we want you to do, Dudley?

Dudley: Yeah, Mr. Freberg, you want me to go up today over the city and skywrite a famous five-letter word.

Freberg: And that is . . .

Dudley: Nucoa.

Freberg: That's right. At 12 o'clock sharp, high noon. Know how to spell Nucoa?

Dudley: Yeah, I think so. N-U-C-O-A.

Freberg: Do you want me to write that Nucoa is a modern margarine, as different from old-fashioned margarines as a rocket ship is . . .

Freberg: No, that won't be necessary. Dudley: ——— from a Pogo stick?

Freberg: Hold it, Dudley—I just want you to write Nucoa, N-U-C-O-A.

Today at noon, the sky writer writes the word "Noops" all over the city.

Throughout the week until Friday, Mr. Freberg cajoles, needles, orders Mr. Dudley to spell Nucoa correctly and finally, on Friday, he will.

THE TEXAS CO. PLANS NETWORK TV SPECIAL

- Cost: $300,000-$400,000
- But firm won't drop tv spot

THE TEXAS Co. is back in network tv with an estimated expenditure of $300,000-$400,000 (10-1 hour) already slated for a single, hour-long special show on NBC-TV set for September. And there may be more Texaco specials before the 1957-58 season is over.

A spokesman for the company last week revealed in New York, that:

- The petroleum firm is prepared to sponsor as many as six specials during the season if the initial telecast proves successful for Texaco's marketing and merchandising plans. On the basis of expected cost for the initial telecast, the six shows could run to at least a $2 million expenditure for time and talent.
- While this re-entry is a benchmark in Texaco's history of broadcast sponsorship (the Tex Co. has been a blue-chip pioneer advertiser in both network tv and network radio), there also is this fact: not a dime of the network investment will come out of Texaco's spot radio or spot tv budgets. (Of the first quarter of this year, the Texas Co. spent $376,100 in spot tv, according to Television Bureau of Adv. figures.)

- Though reports have circulated that the Texaco special would be the first in a series of "irregular" hour-long special programs, actually no more than one contract for a project show has been signed with NBC-TV. The advertiser, however, has options to schedule other such programs during the next season. As expressed by Texaco, this will "depend on the right talent, the right time and the right [marketing] season."

Texaco's network entry will be an hour-long colorcast to be titled Texaco Command Performance. Scheduled to be aired Sept. 10 (10-11 p.m.). The show will spotlight an outstanding performer, profiling the star's career by inviting personalities closely associated to the performer to make a "Texaco Command Performance." Henry Jaffe's new company, Coronet Productions, will produce the show.

The last time Texaco was associated with network tv was in the 1955-56 season when it sponsored a Saturday night weekly comedy series in which Jimmy Durante and Donald O'Connor were the performers alternating in the featured role. In the early days of tv, Texaco was associated with Milton Berle's weekly tv show. The advertiser was responsible for moving Mr. Berle from network radio (where it had sponsored him after a long-term association with Ed Wynn) to network television. Mr. Berle was featured in an hour-long comedy routine that soon became a video fixture.

Thus trained in many years of network sponsorship, Texaco is not limiting its budget to any specific figure, keeping it flexible. According to the advertiser, it is being realistic in view of "today's cost of tv." The company has been searching "for the right thing at the right price" for some time and does not feel it "left" the medium, but rather, withdrew for a year and a half until it could find a good vehicle.

"We do not consider that we have had any bad experiences with network television," a Texaco executive said. "Our agency came up with this program idea. We liked it and bought it." Texaco's agency is Cunningham & Walsh, New York.

Ever since Texaco withdrew from network tv, it has been classified as a heavy spot user in both radio and television. Will spot now be thrown overboard to make room for network expenditures? Both the advertiser and agency quickly point up that Texaco's network budget is separate from its spot allocation.

Texaco officers explain that the network tv sponsorship will be financed through a "provisional" budget—that is, the firm was prepared for some time to spend this allocation on a network show once Texaco found one to suit its merchandising and marketing blueprint.

The Texas Co. has a continuing campaign (it buys in monthly spurts) in both radio and tv in 80-90 markets. Recently it initiated its "Tower of Power" spot theme.

The firm already has ordered its radio spot schedule that starts in August. The continuing spot tv campaign, which takes a summer hiatus, is slated to begin again in the late fall.

Only last month, Texaco stunned spot radio by ordering nighttime periods, including Westinghouse Broadcasting Co.'s new "lateral programming" [BT, June 24].

RAB Citest Advertest Survey

On Radio Value to Drug Stores

RADIO is the most influential medium for advertising directed to drug store patrons. This is the primary conclusion drawn from a research project completed by Advertest Research Inc. for Radio Advertising Bureau and announced last week by Sherrill Taylor, vice president and director of promotion for RAB.

The study claimed a considerably greater number of drug store customers are exposed to radio prior to shopping than are reached by any other advertising medium; drug store shoppers spend almost as much pre-shopping time with radio as with all other media combined; radio most often delivers the pre-shopping "last word"—and this tendency increases as shopping time approaches since automobile radio plays a significant role in delivering the final pre-shopping advertising impression.

RAB's study said more than 12,800 shoppers, approximately half of whom were male, were queried by Advertest at the point of purchase in a total of 12 stores located in four cities representing every geographical section of the country. Each of the test cities was selected on the basis of possessing high saturation of all advertising media, according to RAB. Respondents were chosen from among shoppers who had purchased one or more items from the following inventory categories—tobacco, proprietaries, cosmetics and toiletries.

New Way to Rate Auto Radio

Announced by Albuquerque Firm

MANAGEMENT Counselors & Assoc., Albuquerque, N. M., has established a marketing research division—Auto Radio Surveys—which has developed a technique for tracking the mobile audience. According to the announcement by Hugh Riker, owner of the firm, the division gathers data from car owners, including radio dialers in parked automobiles and checking where they are tuned.

The first Auto Radio Survey was made in Albuquerque in June and published there two weeks after completion. Mr. Riker believes that his firm is the first devoted exclusively to the automobile radio field, which, he says, constitutes more than 35% of the total radio audience.

MC-ARS in its first survey recorded radio dial readings for Bernalillo County, other counties and out-of-state cars. To allow for in error in dial adjustment, each of Albuquerque's stations were given four points toward the dial. A total of 727 automobiles were tabulated in 10 visits to one parking lot. Of that number, 566 had radios. Surveys were made at varying hours on nine days scattered through the month, and two surveys were taken on one day of the nine. Data and ratings are given for the total period and then broken down for individual survey periods. Information on car makes and dates also is included in the 15-page June report.

Officers of MC-ARS, in addition to Mr. Riker, president, are Sally Riker, secretary-treasurer; Maurice Hayes, Detroit, vice president, and the following directors: J. Douglas Edwards, Phoenix, Ariz.; sales consultant, and James J. Calver, Ph. D., consulting psychologist.

Stern, Walters & Jaster Changed

STERN, Walters & Jaster Inc., Chicago advertising agency handling electronic accounts, has changed its name to Stern, Walters & Simmons, with Martin Simmons appointed director and vice president of the firm. The agency also has moved to new quarters at 936 N. Michigan Ave. Mr. Simmons formerly headed his own company, Martin J. Simmons Adv. Stern, Walters & Jaster has been handling such accounts as Majestic International Corp. (Grundig-Majestic radios and phonographs), Wilcox-Gay Corp. (high fidelity tape recorders), Erin Lindgren & Assoc. (electronic shielded enclosures) and John Oster Mfg. Co. Gerald J. Stern is president and Lee J. Walters, executive vice president of the agency. Both also serve as radio-tv timebuyer and account executives.

Minute Maid to Move in Fall

MINUTE MAID Corp. (orange, grape products) expects to complete its move from New York to Orlando, Fla., by Oct. 1. It was reported in Florida a fortnight ago. The firm has Florida groves that produce 3.8 million boxes of oranges a year. Through Ted Bates & Co., New York, Minute Maid last year placed nearly $2 million worth of tv spot.
MONARCH FIRES BACK AT MOGUL

- Winery’s head denies firm will cut back radio and TV
- Reply follows Mogul remarks on switch to Gumbinner

THE grapes that go into Manischewitz Concord medium dry wines turned to wrath last week as Manischewitz (Monarch Wine Co.) took issue with statements by Emil Mogul co. over a switch of the major radio-tv advertising account to Lawrence C. Gumbinner Adv. effective Aug. 7.

Meyer H. Robinson, Monarch secretary-treasurer, reaffirmed Monarch’s faith in radio-tv and the wine company’s plans to continue heavy expenditures in the broadcast media, although admitting copy strategy may be changed.

Reached at his vacation retreat in Maine, Mr. Robinson said some reports that the agency change indicated an abandonment of broad-based ad campaign in favor of print media was completely without foundation.” He explained, “As a matter of fact, we will be back this fall with heavy campaigns in both radio and television. Our enormous sales increases over the last few years were accomplished primarily through our extensive use of both spot radio and tv. During this time our budgets have trebled; we have successfully introduced four new wines; we have completely repackaged our merchandise and we have substantially increased budgets for both point-of-sale materials and local print campaigns. We propose to further increase our volume in the future by continued, vigorous use of these successful marketing tools.”

His remarks followed by one week a public statement issued by agency President Emil Mogul upon the departure from his shop of the $1.5 million Manischewitz wine account. In his statement, Mr. Mogul noted that while his agency added “many markets” introduced “new products” and “experienced media rate increases,” Manischewitz” advertising budget “remained constant.” Told of Mr. Robinson’s remarks about trebling the budget, Mr. Mogul stuck to his guns and said his agency position had been made clear and the facts speak for themselves.

Although Mr. Mogul insisted last week that he and the client are “still on very good terms,” the feeling seemed somewhat less than mutual. Mr. Robinson expressed shock over Mr. Mogul’s public statement (which Mr. Mogul in turn said had been “cleared” with Gumbinner) and said Monarch was “disappointed” because its executives “had not even been contacted about the release.” He felt it was a client’s prerogative to announce termination of agency services.

Mr. Robinson also denied that separation came over disagreement on strategy. He said the account left “over a difference in outlook on creativity.” He denied that radio-tv was the current and felt such reports had hurt the wine company’s “heretofore excellent relationship” with many radio-tv stations (Manischewitz places campaigns in approximately 103 markets).

Mogul and Manischewitz also disagreed sharply about another factor in the case: a long, clinical analysis of the client’s marketing-merchandising techniques compiled by motivational researcher James M. Vicary. This report, said to urge a new copy approach, was locked upon by Mogul officials as “the trigger” that set off the explosion. Ironically, the “Vicary Report” is understood to contain very little that could be construed as detrimental to the agency’s media strategy and creativity by either client or agency.

Mr. Robinson dismissed as “absurd” Mr. Mogul’s contention that the “Vicary Report” triggered the account switch, but said that to detail the report’s findings “would be like giving our competitors tens of thousands of dollars worth of free research.” Both Gumbinner and Vicary officials likewise declined to print a full report. Mr. Vicary, a 42-year-old psychologist who is principally known for his work in helping manufacturers solve corporate problems, for example, aiding Socony-Vacuum to find its new Socony-Mobil name, felt Manischewitz had ordered a confidential report (estimated price: $15,000) and reported he intended to “keep it confidential.”

Although Manischewitz officials emphasized that the report showed Americans have —thanks to radio-tv—a fabulous listener-viewer awareness of the product, Vicary researchers reportedly found something wanting in the copy approach.

According to Sumner Wyman, Gumbinner merchandising director, all this is just a tempest in the wine vat. He says Manischewitz’ total budget will be increased somewhat to accommodate enlarged print media expenditures, but maintains that in keeping with Manischewitz’ position as an “impulse item” radio-tv emphasis will not be trimmed. Broadcasting, he says, will continue to play as great a part—perhaps even greater—in Manischewitz’ 1957-58 plans as it did in 1956. Both he and Mr. Robinson said the proportion of radio-tv in the company’s overall budget was higher than B & W’s estimate of 80% and that radio-tv just about shrank these allocations 10-20.

Monarch is reliably reported to be desirous of enlarging its principal market beyond Jewish and Negro ethnic groups and to appeal to “white gentiles” to whom the name “Manischewitz” has been equated either

The importance of an adequate morning meal has gained wide recognition. That breakfast should be adequate not only in calories, but also in its content of essential nutrients, is advocated by medical as well as nutrition authorities even when recommending that the fat intake in the diet be lowered.

The foods commonly eaten at breakfast—fruit or fruit juice, cereal, milk, bread and butter—are also the foods comprising a basic breakfast pattern which has found wide endorsement by nutrition authorities. As shown below this breakfast pattern provides well-balanced nourishment and is low in fat and low in cholesterol.

Feemster Names Seven Members To AFA's 8-Man Executive Unit

AN eight-member executive committee to direct operations of the Advertising Federation of America has been appointed by Robert M. Feemster, chairman of the executive committee of the Wall Street Journal and new chairman of AFA.

Members of the committee, in addition to Chairman Feemster, are: James S. Fish, vice president and director of advertising, General Mills, Minneapolis; vice chairman; Mary E. Busch, executive vice president, Emery Adv. Corp., Baltimore; Ben R. Donaldson, director, institutional advertising, Ford Motor Co., Detroit; Melvin S. Hattwick, director of advertising Continental Oil Co., Houston; George W. Head, manager, advertising and sales promotion, National Cash Register Co., Dayton; C. James Proud, president and general manager, AFA, New York, and Ralph Winslow, vice president and manager, marketing department, Koppers Co., Pittsburgh.

The committee will hold monthly meetings starting Aug. 16 when the first quarterly meeting of AFA's board of directors is scheduled.

Cady Heads ANA Program Unit

DONALD CADY, vice president in charge of advertising and merchandising, the Nestle Co., has been appointed chairman of the program committee for the 48th annual meeting of the Assoc. of National Advertisers, it was announced today (Monday). The meeting is scheduled for Oct. 28-30 in Atlantic City. Annual election of ANA chairman and vice chairman, as well as election of other members to the board of directors will be held at this meeting.

'58 Brand Names Week Scheduled

BRAND NAMES WEEK-1958 will be observed April 13-19, according to Thomas F. O'Neil, chairman of the boards of RKO Teleradio Pictures Inc. and Brand Names Foundation Inc. Brand Names is sponsoring the national promotion, in which manufacturers of brand name products, advertising agencies and media will join forces with the nation's retailers to dramatize the advantages of brand names to the consumer, according to Mr. O'Neil.

GF Says Increased Ad Budgets Needed to Meet Competition

GENERAL FOODS spent $77.7 million on advertising (including broadcast media) in 1956, or $2.2 million more than in 1955, President Charles G. Mortimer told stockholders at GF's annual meeting in New York last Wednesday. His comments on advertising and marketing plans reflected an awareness of the mounting intensity in the competitive arena of the retail supermarket.

Mr. Mortimer's remarks followed his report that the corporation had experienced a 3% dip in earnings for the first quarter of fiscal 1958 as against the first quarter of fiscal 1957. Mr. Mortimer pointed out that fiscal 1957 was GF's best year in earnings and sales.

GF, he said, will train its corporate guns on better advertising and marketing because it is in the midst of a daily "hard-hitting contest" for shelf and refrigerated space. This has come about from the decline of independent grocery outlets, he contends, stating that in 1959 some 112,000 grocery stores (or 25% of total U. S. outlets) conducted 70% of the business; by 1960, he said, 25,000 supermarkets (or 10% of total outlets) will handle that same 70% of the business. Thus, he said, the emphasis is on bettering the product and packaging it.

GF, he announced, will come out with two new product lines, one to be called Birds Eye "Main Dishes for Two," now in test markets, consisting of such ready-to-eat items as frozen haddock in wine, wine sauce, turkey and dressing, pot roast, and beef stew; the other, "Gourmet Foods," high quality foods, imported and domestic, which GF will sell only through department and specialty stores, thus bypassing supermarkets altogether.

Mr. Mortimer said GF believes "Gourmet Foods" will always be "small business . . . contributing modestly to GF's earnings," but that they will "contribute something to the corporate image we want to build for General Foods in the public mind. In this respect, our objective is much like that of Ford with Thunderbird and of Corning with Steuben Glass."

FC&B Adds Cresta Blanca Wines

HARD ON THE HEELS of its acquisition of the Tidewater Oil and Dole Hawaiian Pineapple accounts [B&T, July 8], Foote, Cone & Belding's San Francisco office picked up Cresta Blanca wine from J. J. Ward Buy of Fair Chain Won't Change Latter's Ad Plans

THERE isn't likely to be any change in the advertising policies of The Fair retail department store chain in Chicago the wake of its acquisition by Montgomery Ward & Co.—at least for several months.

That was the consensus of principals of both store chains last week after The Fair officially became a member of the Ward family with presentation of a $7,532,500 check to officials of the S. S. Kresge Foundation.

The Fair currently is in the second 13-week period of a $250,000 feature film series on Chicago tv, described as the first such deal involving a substantial package film buy by a local major retailer [CLOSED CIRCUIT, July 22]. It was intimated that The Fair would continue to operate as an autonomous entity in media, sales promotion and other areas for some time.

Aluminium Sians for 'Omnibus' As Second of Three Sponsors

ALUMINUM LTD., associated with Omnibus for three tv seasons, has bought one-third sponsorship of the program for next fall. Omnibus will alternate in the Sunday, 4-5:30 p.m. period with Wide Wide World on NBC-TV, starting Oct. 20. The buy was announced last week through J. Walter Thompson Co., New York, agency for Aluminum.

The program is now two-thirds sold, with Union Carbide Corp. sponsoring one-third of the 13 Sunday afternoon presentations. Aluminum, according to NBC-TV, is also expected to back one-half of a planned hour-long Omnibus program to be scheduled in an evening time period. Originally conceived and written by the Ford Foundation's tv-radio Workshop, Omnibus next season will be produced independently by Robert Saudek Assoc., New York. Mr. Saudek formerly produced the series.

Carter Reports Sales, Ad Climb

CARTER PRODUCTS Inc. reported net sales of $41.8 million for the 12 months ending March 31, 1957, according to a public stock offering prospectus filed with the Securities & Exchange Commission. This was up from $22.7 million the previous year. Advertising expense of the company in all media was $14.6 million for the past year, a rise of more than $6 million from the preceding year. Carter Products manufactures Arid deodorants, Nair depilatory, Rise push button shave, Carter's Little Liver pills and Colonial laxative.

THE PIONEER STATION OF WESTERN NEW YORK
MUTUAL Sale Brings $550,000

- 3 principals: Armand Hammer, Roy Roberts, Paul Roberts
- RKO stations, Yankee and Don Lee regions not involved

MUTUAL Broadcasting System was sold last week following a fortnight of dickering that had 400-odd affiliates wondering if the largest of all networks would really be sold and, if so, to whom.

The transfer to new ownership is scheduled for Aug. 7.

Three principals in the new group of owners are Armand Hammer, art dealer and president of Occidental Petroleum Corp., Los Angeles; Roy Roberts, Ojai, Calif., realtor and oil operator, and Paul Roberts, station manager of KRKD-FM Los Angeles. The two Robertses are not related, nor is Roy Roberts related to Roy A. Roberts, editor of the Kansas City Star (WDAF-AM-TV).

Contracts were signed at 4:40 p.m. Thursday, with the buyers putting up around one-fourth of the approximate $550,000 cash price. They are to supply the rest of the cash when they take over Aug. 7. The sale also is understood to involve other unmentioned commitments plus operating capital.

For a time last week there was fear the long-pending negotiations were about to disintegrate. The names of Roger L. Stevens, New York, and Detroit financier-broker, was dropped from unofficial discussions when he reportedly said his main interest centered in Broadway shows rather than radio.

Paul Roberts will be president of the new operation, Bertram J. Hauser, former Mutual vice president, will serve as executive vice president. A. A. Schechter, former Mutual news-special events vice president and now head of the New York public relations firm bearing his name, is expected to assume an important consultant role. Mr. Schechter was an active participant in the sale negotiations.

Mr. Hauser is credited with conception of the sale plan and with interesting Thomas F. O’Neil, Mutual chairman and RKO Tele radio Pictures Inc. president, in the idea of transferring the network while retaining ownership in the RKO station group. The stations are not involved in the network sale.

The new owners will assume the name, goodwill, assets, affiliations, sponsors and program contracts of the network, which started operating in 1934 (8*7, July 15). They explained that plans and policies will be announced shortly but assured advertisers the “Triple Advantage Plan” under which MBS recently signed many new sponsors would be continued and improved.

Paul Roberts summed up the new project, which will own no stations, in this way, “What’s good for the network is good for the stations and vice versa.” He said the network will operate solely for the benefit of the public, affiliates and advertisers. Over 400 affiliates have renewed contracts under the new MBS station plan, he added.

Mr. O’Neil emphasized that the sale doesn’t diminish RKO Tele radio’s confidence in network radio. “In the past several weeks—the new network format went into effect June 2—the network has signed such new advertisers as General Motors, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., Pontiac Motors, Equitable Life Assurance Society, Florists Telegraphic Delivery Assn., S. C. Johnson & Son and many others,” he said. “We intend to concentrate on our own individual radio and tv stations and leave the operation of national network servicing to the new purchasers.”

Yankee and Don Lee regional networks, which remain under RKO Tele radio Pictures ownership, will continue as Mutual affiliates.

John B. Poor, Mutual president, is slated to devote full-time to the post of RKO Tele radio vice president, a function he had held along with the network responsibility. A key figure in the purchase and sale of stations for the O’Neill interests as well as in the network sale, Mr. Poor has been exploring the possibility of adding another major-market tv-radio station to the O’Neill group, bringing it up to the FCC’s maximum.

Mr. Hammer, a last-minute entry in the buying syndicate, owns the famed Hammer Galleries in New York, handling paintings, antiques and furniture. He owns one of the largest dairy herds in New Jersey. His backing is believed to have clinched the deal.

Paul Roberts, whose home is in Los Angeles, is a former trade magazine publisher as well as broadcaster. He is president of United FM Corp. in Los Angeles and vice president of Audio Sales Inc. He is a graduate of Temple U. and was with the old Philadelphia Record. He headed the first U. S. International Trade Fair in Chicago, held in 1951.

Mr. Hauser served as MBS vice president nine years, leaving in 1955 to be a broadcast consultant. He had been with NBC 14 years before joining MBS, becoming advertising, promotion and sales manager. He is a Dartmouth graduate and lives in Short Hills, N. J.

Paul Roberts started off the negotiations a fortnight ago by handing $20,000 earnest money to Mr. Poor. During the two-week period there were reports from the negotiators that the buying syndicate was having trouble raising the $550,000 cash.

RKO Tele radio retains ownership of WOR-AM-TV New York, WNAC-AM-FM-TV Boston, KJH-AM-TV Los Angeles, KFRC San Francisco and WBHQ-AM-TV Memphis. WGMS-AM-FM Washington has been bought but the transfer was involved in litigation and now awaits final FCC approval.

NBC Color Schedule Increased 67% Above Start of Last Season

NBC’s color television schedule for the 1957-58 season will be 67% above the start of the previous season, according to Robert W. Sarnoff, president. There will be about 250 hours of color programming for the fourth quarter of this year, compared to 149 hours for the same period of 1956, he announced.

“Our objective during the coming season,” Mr. Sarnoff said, “is to make color programming available to the widest possible audience. For this reason we have built the color schedule around many of the key-position nighttime programs, with emphasis on periods when viewing is at its peak,” Mr. Sarnoff said. The schedule, including daytime, is slated to provide an average of more than two hours of color daily and frequently will offer from three to four hours of color during a single day.

NBC is scheduled to colorcast all World Series games played in the park of the American League pennant winner. If the National League city is nearby, and the color mobile unit can be moved there in time, games from that point also will be telecast in color. It is expected that several of the nation’s top college football games will be colorcast, NBC said. Approximately 24 specials, including “Annie Get Your Gun” starring Mary Martin, are planned for color.

NBC color origination points include five in New York, two at Color City, Burbank, and studios of WNBQ (TV), NBC-owned Chicago station.

THE west coast chain of CBS-owned radio stations and CBS Radio affiliates will be known as the CBS Radio Pacific Network, according to an announcement by Fred Roegge, general manager of KNX-AM-FM and of the network. The chain formerly was known as the Columbia Pacific Radio Network. CBS Radio feels that the new name “will provide closer identification ... and eliminate any possible confusion.”

RICHARD M. KLAUS, Vice President & General Manager represented by: VENARD, RINTOUL & McCONNELL, INC.
TELEVISION networks and the Television Bureau of Advertising, Thursday, sharply challenged the conclusion of a New York Times story that day which asserted television is heading for "the toughest season in ten years."

The article, under the byline of Times tv critic Jack Gould, painted a gloomy picture of the outlook for the fall, claiming that "all three networks have substantial nighttime program periods available" for sponsorship. It was reported that networks and TVB were ranked that a story they considered "distorted" was spotlighted on page one—particularly so in that it appeared in the Times regarded as influential in the business community. Mr. Gould's column regularly runs in the radio-tv section, which is on the second to last page of the second section of the paper.

Mr. Gould wrote that at least two of the three networks "usually" reported by late July that they had sold out their choice evening hours. CBS-TV, he said, still had one and one-half hours of prime time available; NBC-TV, three hours, and ABC-TV, five and one quarter. At one point, Mr. Gould wrote:

"The significance of unsold evening time is that a weekly half-hour on a network's minimum number of required stations may involve $3.5 million to $5.0 million in time revenue over a full season. When 19 such periods are open, as at present, the industry is worrying about $66.5 million to $95 million."

Mr. Gould attributed what he called "the softest demand for airtime" the tv industry has ever known to "inflationary forces in the national economy, the spiraling costs of shows and changing conditions within the industry." Mr. Gould also wrote there were reports that "sponsors could obtain substantial discounts on some shows."

Many of the points made by Mr. Gould in the article come from persons identified only as "a network executive," "industry circles" and "well-informed television executives."

William H. Hylan, CBS-TV vice president of sales administration, said he was "somewhat amazed" at the coupling of CBS-TV with reference to a "soft" television market. He disputed the Times article on two fundamental points:

- He asserted that the latest figures released by PIB show that CBS-TV is 11.6% ahead of 1956 for the period January through May.
- He reported that with reference to fall availabilities in the nighttime schedule, CBS-TV is in a more sold-out position than it was at this time last year.

"An index of strength which does not readily appear to the casual observer," Mr. Hylan declared, "is the number of very high-budget shows which have been contracted for this coming year. In this category are such firms as DuPont, which has contracted for 10, 90-minute, high-budget programs; Ford, which will offer five hour programs featuring Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz; the Delco Div. of General Motors, which is preparing hour programs featuring Lowell Thomas; a series of hour programs titled Conquest, to be sponsored by the Monsanto Chemical Co.; the Bing Crosby-Frank Sinatra program which will announce the Edsel car, and others which will be announced later."

"It is quite likely there will always be availabilities on our networks, just as I am sure there will be opportunities to secure space in other media," Mr. Hylan said. "In sales income and program popularity, CBS-TV is enjoying the strongest position in its history, thus references to a 'soft' market and 'panic buttons' seem most inaccurate."

An NBC-TV spokesman late Thursday said the network would have "no comment" on the Times article "at this time."

Oliver Treyz, vice president in charge of ABC-TV, claimed network television sales are "at an all-time high and, in the fall, will exceed—by a wide margin—any level ever attained in this industry." He commented this is "most remarkable when, as Media Records show, newspapers' lineage is down 7% from last year."

In contrast, Mr. Treyz continued, PIB records reveal that for the first six months of 1957, the evening network gross of NBC-TV is up 3%, CBS-TV is up 11% and ABC-TV is up 20%. He said that ABC-TV's time billings in 1957 will be up at least 30% from those of 1956-57.

He reported that in the last few months ABC-TV had invested about $50 million in programming, "virtually all of which has been bought," and said it has been the network's policy to commit, ahead of sales, to the extent of four alternate half-hours. Thus, he said, as new programs have been sold, additional new commitments have been made "to build a top program schedule for the American public."

Mr. Treyz said that "just as newspaper advertising lineage is decreasing in line with newspaper circulation, so television advertising appropriations will grow in proportion to increased audiences. Certainly, the dynamic realignment of competitive strength within the medium cannot be construed as a softening of the television market. On the contrary, with the new impetus of ABC-TV, the television industry will enjoy its greatest audience and advertiser success in 1957-58."

Mr. Treyz reported that "the distortion of the coming season's picture, both as to its programming and advertiser support, "lies with those who still view network tv as a two-network economy and who have yet to realize that 1957-58 marks the first season when ABC-TV will have a full program schedule released to the public on a virtual complete national basis. He noted that in all competitive markets where tv audiences are measured by Nielsen Television Index, "ABC-TV typically exceeds the audience levels of NBC-TV in those time periods when it schedules fully commercial programs."

On behalf of TVB, Halsey V. Barrett, director of national sales for the organization, issued a statement "to correct the misinterpretation the hasty reader might get from the New York Times article." He claimed "there is no downward trend in television sponsorship," and pointed out:

"Actually, Mr. Gould has talked about only half of television—network tv—and has overlooked station-spot television which accounts for half of tv's total revenue. Also overlooked is almost a third of network revenue which comes from daytime television."

The three television networks, Mr. Barrett stated, have "more dollars firmly contracted for the 1957-58 season than ever before. At the present time, he said, there are only 15 half-hour availabilities on the networks, as compared with 18 half-hours last year at this time."

"When national advertisers voted television their No. 1 medium for the second straight year," Mr. Barrett said, "when total tv billings continue to grow, when night-time network advertisers reach 19% more homes this year than last, and when the fall promises more, bigger, better, higher quality programs than ever before, television—and the 40.3 million television homes—need not worry about the future."

In a frankly partisan thrust, Mr. Barrett asked why the tv business is front page news when "the fact that general advertising in newspapers has fallen 11.6 million lines in five months (Media Records measurements) is not also front page news.

"And how about the news value of the 19% decline in New York nighttime newspaper circulation (ABC) this spring vs. last... or the 4% decline in circulation of just the two morning papers with published figures available. And why are not the New York Times circulation figures available for the period following March 30?"

Spokesman for the three tv networks challenged Mr. Gould's estimate that a weekly half-hour on a network's minimum number of required stations may cost $3.5 million to $5.0 million in time revenue over a full season. NBC-TV said the actual cost (before discounts) would be about $3 million; CBS-TV reported about $2.8 million and ABC-TV about $2.5 million. They voiced the opinion that Mr. Gould might have meant the number of stations a net-longue.

The New York Times columnist sees gloomy fall for tv

work advertiser actually orders and not the minimum number required by the network.

They disputed, too, Mr. Gould’s assertion that networks have “substantial” nighttime prime programs still available. ABC-TV pointed out it actually was “ahead” of last year at this time, with five and one quarter hours open, as compared with six and one half hours in 1956. A CBS-TV executive said it was “just 15 minutes behind last year,” with one half-hour more open, against one and one-quarter hours last year.

An NBC-TV spokesman said that as of July 1, 1956, one and three quarter hours of prime time were unsold, as compared with three hours in mid-July a year ago.

Prime evening time still unsold on CBS-TV, an official said, is as follows: alternate week of Harbormaster (Thurs., 8-9:30 p.m.), Leave It to Beaver (Fri., 7:30-8 p.m.), and alternate week half-hour of Perry Mason (Sat., 7:30-8:30 p.m.), plus the Tuesday, 10:30-11 p.m. slot still unet with a show.

On ABC-TV, time still unsponsored and for which no programming is scheduled is Mondays, 7-8 p.m. and 9:30-10 p.m., and Tuesday, 10:10-10:30 p.m. and Saturday, 7:30-9 p.m. and 10:10-10:30 p.m. In addition still available for sponsorship are alternate weeks of Colt .45 (Fri., 10-10:30 p.m.), Adventures of Jim Bowie (Fri., 8-8:30 p.m.) and Sugarfoot (Tues., 7:30-8 p.m.).

An NBC-TV spokesman reported that programs unsold on the network are Wagon Train (Wed., 7-7:30 p.m.) and Tuesday, 7-7:30 p.m. slot still unsold, plus alternate weeks of Suspicion (Mon., 10-11 p.m.), The Californians (Tues., 10-10:30 p.m.), The Price Is Right (Mon., 7:30-8 p.m.), Tic Tac Dough (Thurs., 7:30-8 p.m.) and Restless Gun (Mon., 8-8:30 p.m.).

Knight Named as President Of RKO-TV’s Yankee Div.

NORMAN KNIGHT, Yankee Network executive vice president and general manager, was promoted effective today (Monday) to the presidency of Yankee Division of RKO Teleradio Pictures Inc., including WNAC-NFM-FM-AM-FM-Boston. In announcing the promotion Thomas F. O’Neill, RKO Teleradio president, said the regional network and stations are operating at the highest levels in their history.

Mr. Knight is radio-tv chairman of Boston's first United Fund and was inducted in May as an associate of the Boston U. chapter of Alpha Epsilon Rho. He is a member of the Finance Committee of President Eisenhower’s Committee for Economic Development and the national tv committee of the National Conference of Christians & Jews. He joined Yankee in 1954, moving from WABD (TV) New York where he had been general manager. Previously he had been eastern station relations manager of Mutual network.

South's 'All Shook Up' Over Networks' Whammy

A NEW rebel yell came out of the South last week:

"Let's not put the whammy on Mummy!"

The quote belongs to Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida, one of many officials, legislators and citizens who joined the cry against radio and tv networks "censoring" from songs (particularly Stephen Foster's) terms some consider derogatory to the Negro and others consider part of the South's heritage. Echoes of Gov. Collins' sentiments were heard within the halls of Congress.

The movement originated two weeks ago at the Stephen Foster Memorial Museum on the Suwanee River in Florida. After an initial salvo by Foster L. Barnes, superintendent of the museum, these officials joined the attack: Earl W. Brown, chairman of Florida's Stephen Foster Memorial Commission; Gov. Collins and state legislators; Reps. John C. Watts and Frank L. Cheff (both D-Ky.) and Florida's Democratic Reps. Robert L. F. Sikes, Dr. R. (Billy) Matthews and A. S. Herlong Jr.

They called variously for investigation by the House Commerce Committee of network practices on song censorship and wrote members of the FCC and network presidents.

The two state songs affected are "Way Down Upon the Suwanee River" and "My Old Kentucky Home." Regulations that歌词 were admitted to being "darkies" to "chillen" and "follkes" and in these songs and to blue-penciling "mammy" and "Old Black Joe" in others.

These changes were likened by Congressmen to practices in Russia or Hitler's Germany: they were called by Rep. Watts in the Congressional Record "the worst incidence of "book burning" that has been called to my attention in the United States in modern times." The fear expressed by Stephen Foster Memorial officials that song censorship could be extended to news and other fields was repeated on Capitol Hill, and before that was warning to Footes, Barnes and others in the House by Reps. Watts, Sikes and Matthews direct the House Commerce Committee to investigate the scope of network policy on song lyrics, whether any such policy violates the Constitution and whether the FCC has power to "prohibit such arbitrary censorship." The bills were directed to the House Rules Committee, which would originate any request for a hearing.

NBC and CBS officials were quoted as confirming that such words as "massa," "darky" and "mammy" are edited, but ABC said it drops these words only from popular nontraditional songs. MBS admitted to no such policy, and said singers dropped these words on their own. One recording firm said its own yardstick is "good taste."

The reported feeling on the part of networks that some of Foster's words are offensive to a large segment of the audience was confirmed in an NAACP statement which said the organization "certainly objects to any term that denounces racial slurs. That would include darky, nigger or coon." Negro Rep. Charles C. Digs (D-Mich.) said such changes do not represent censorship but are "a matter of good taste."

None of the words censored is contained in the list maintained by the NARTB TV Code Review Board, The Tv Code and Radio Standards of Practice—networks are subscribers to the code—contain general statements about sensitivities of various races, creeds and nationalities. An NARTB spokesman said that the Tc Code directive which says that "words (especially slang) derogative of any race, color, creed, nationality or national derivation...are forbidden" would be applicable to song lyrics.

ABN Names Eichmann to Head Sales Development, Research

APPOINTMENT of Raymond F. Eichmann, sales development manager for John Blair & Co., as director of sales development and research for the American Broadcasting Network is being announced today (Monday) by ABN President Robert E. Eastman.

Mr. Eichmann's responsibility, Mr. Eastman explained, "will be to develop a full-line of tailor-made yet flexible and imaginative presentations...designed to show advertisers how they can best use radio and American Broadcasting programs. [He] has achieved outstanding results in producing creative presentations and I know he will bring a fresh and effective approach to network radio."

The appointment becomes effective Aug. 5. Mr. Eichmann has been sales development chief for the Blair radio station representation firm—where Mr. Eastman was executive vice president before moving to ABN earlier this year, and before that was with Salomon & Co., the New York City public relations firm. He started at NBC in 1952 as an audience measurement analyst, rising successively to supervisor of the ratings division and head of sales development for the Today, Home and Tonight unit. He was with FC&B in 1951-52 as a media research analyst.

Salomon Names Three Executives To NBC Special Projects Staff

THE line-up of executives for NBC-TV's special projects organization was announced last week by Henry Salomon, new director of the group (Broadcasting, May 28).

Those named include Donald B. Hyatt, associated with Mr. Salomon in producing and creative capacities since the inception of the Victory at Sea series, who has been appointed manager, special projects programs; James Nelson, with Mr. Salomon for the past year and a half earlier with NBC as director of advertising and promotion and assistant to the president, who has been designated manager of program services, and

Yours For The Asking

There's been some talk in the trade about radio stations copyrighting program formulas. We understand one operator will even "sell" you his formula, like a bottle of patent medicine.

Those of us who work at WCUE and WICE take a different view of things:

We believe that Broadcasting is a profession dedicated to the public welfare. As a profession, we doubt that Broadcasting's techniques are something to be peddled or bottled up by copyrights. (It's difficult to imagine a Physician, for example, copyrighting his method of treating patients.)

We're delighted to share our techniques, our thoughts, our know-how with anyone in the Industry. We believe that, if we're practicing good radio and others want to borrow our ideas, radio and the general public will benefit.

In fact, in both Akron and Providence we immensely enjoy being the most imitated station. It's helped the Industry in both cities.

Our Independent "formula", therefore, is at your disposal. Any sincere North American broadcaster is free to use any of our techniques. You may copy our dynamic news-gathering CONTACT REPORTS, our methods of beep-phoning stories, our no-punches-pulled editorials. You may adapt our precise pattern of news-music, our saturation public service style, our gimmicks, sound effects and engineering techniques.

We'll even help you do it. If you want to bring a tape recorder and air check us, we'll be glad to make hotel reservations for you.

In fact, whatever the WCUE-WICE staffs have learned in our combined 700 plus man-years of broadcasting is yours for the asking.

AB-PT: Treasurer Siegel Given Additional Coordination Job

SIMON B. SIEGEL, treasurer of both American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres and its ABC divisions, has been given additional responsibilities as coordinator between ABC-owned television stations and ABC-TV. AB-PT President Leonard H. Goldenson is announcing today (Monday).

The liaison post, Mr. Goldenson explained, was created to keep the managers of the five ABC-TV owned stations more fully advised on all matters affecting the relationship between their stations and the network.

In addition, it was understood responsibility for ABC general services, which includes approval of purchases and other expenditures, is being transferred to Mr. Siegel.

In the past, general services functions have been handled through Frank Marx, engineering vice president. The change is being made, it was reported, on the theory that purchasing and other such general services functions logically relate more directly to the financial than to the engineering division.

Lazarus Elected Secretary
OF AB-PT Succeeding O'Brien

ELECTION of Herbert B. Lazarus as secretary of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres, parent company of ABC-TV and American Broadcasting Network, was announced by AB-PT President Leonard H. Goldenson last week. Mr. Lazarus also is vice president and general counsel of the corporation.

Mr. Lazarus succeeds Robert H. O'Brien as secretary. Mr. O'Brien, who also was financial vice president and a member of the AB-PT executive committee, joins Loew's Inc. on Aug. 5 as vice president and treasurer, succeeding Charles C. Moskowitz, who is retiring. The former AB-PT executive was installed as ABC executive vice president coincidentally with the merger of United Paramount Theatres and ABC in February 1953. He was No. 1 man under Robert E. Kintner, then ABC's president, and now executive vice president with NBC-TV. In the fall of 1954, Mr. O'Brien returned to AB-PT as financial vice president upon the request of Mr. Goldenson.

NBC-TV Talks to Caesar, Coca
About '58 Half-Hour TV Series

NEGOTIATIONS were underway last week to star Sid Caesar and his former TV "bride," Imogene Coca, in a new half-hour weekly series on NBC-TV. While details were lacking, it was reported that should negotiations be concluded successfully, the program series would be placed in the schedule about next January.

A key to the discussions was the consideration of an advertiser. It was understood certain potential advertisers, which NBC-TV spokesmen would not identify, are involved in current talks.

Mr. Caesar's relationship with NBC-TV dates back to "early television." At the end of the past season, however, it looked as if that long-time association had been severed indefinitely when the comedy star and the network failed to agree on a future vehicle. (NBC-TV had preferred a weekly half-hour series. Caesar wanted a longer show. The network also had suggested specials, but the comedian balked at occasional exposure.) Caesar's Hour was a fixture on the network for three years but a poor showing in the ratings picture allegedly was responsible for a network decision to drop it. Despite the reluctance of advertisers to go along with the Caesar's Hour, the comedian continued to receive plaudits in popularity polls. He was a multi-winner in the most recent "Emmy" awards competition.

Imogene Coca and Mr. Caesar appeared together for a number of seasons on Your Show of Shows, a 90-minute program seen on NBC-TV Saturday nights. That program went off the air in 1954 when Mr. Caesar, Miss Coca and producer Max Liebman went their separate ways. Miss Coca then appeared in a short-lived weekly half-hour situation comedy series on NBC-TV. Since that time she has confined her activity to occasional appearances on tv and to the legitimate theatre. Currently she is in a theatre production of "Janus" that is running in Detroit. Mr. Caesar subsequently selected Nanette Fabray and later, Janet Blair to play opposite him on the Caesar's Hour program.

They say the nicest things, A.A.P. stations. "Certainly appreciate your help on national sales," writes Robert M. Reuschle, General Sales Manager, WLAC-TV, Nashville, Tenn. "I can confirm these spots to you . . . thanks," remarks Mike Shapiro, Managing Director, KTVX, Tulsa. "We certainly appreciate the efforts of your National Sales Department in signing accounts for us," adds Robert N. Ekstrum, Commercial Manager, WCCO-TV, Minneapolis, Minn.

These comments are typical replies to our letter announcing the latest sales made for stations by our National Sales Department. Through its efforts, two prominent toy companies purchased two participations a week in A.A.P.’s Popeye cartoons—wherever they’re shown, from coast to coast.

WHERE'S THE SQUEEZE ON FILM SYNDICATORS?

- B&T survey finds stations still good users
- Findings don’t match Hill allegation

DESPITE a congressional report that indicated network practices had created a rocky business road for tv film syndicators, the television stations themselves report a continued flourishing use of films made especially for tv.

In a staff report by the Senate Commerce Committee released early this month [B&T, July 1], one point alleged that network monopoly on U. S. television had made film syndication a risky business and that less and less non-network programming is available to stations. B&T’s semi-annual survey of programming disclosed no such trend. In fact, among interconnected network affiliates during the week of March 3-9, 1957, non-network film fare accounted for an average of 31 hours, 14 minutes of programming. This compares to the 31 hours, 8 minutes average for the fall of 1956 and the 29 hours, 22 minutes average for the spring of 1956.

While increased use of film made for theatrical showing provided the healthiest boost in this category among interconnected network affiliates, syndicated film this March averaged just 15 minutes less than last fall, but averaged 13 minutes more than in March of 1956.

[In appraising the accompanying chart where it shows a decline in non-network tv film by non-interconnected network affiliates, the reader should keep in mind that only slightly more than 3% of the returns in B&T’s survey were from stations in this diminishing classification.]

Film use at non-network stations dropped off, but such a decline might be expected with independents reporting average weekly operating schedules down from 79 hours, 55 minutes last fall to 65 hours, 51 minutes this spring. Though not quite as small a group as the non-interconnected network affiliates, the non-network classification is also a decided minority (less than 8%) in the overall number of stations responding to the survey.

In this seventh B&T study, the pattern of past surveys continued:

1. The average broadcast week of all U. S. television stations increased, rising 38 minutes since last fall to 102 hours, 21 minutes. Over the past two years, average programming schedules have grown 13 hours, 39 minutes. At the present time, stations in the Mid-Atlantic region are averaging the biggest program weeks.

2. Local live programming continued to decrease slightly. Stations averaged 14 hours, 37 minutes.

3. Affiliate use of network programs increased. The interconnected affiliates’ average grew to 60 hours, 44 minutes, a 1.1% rise over last fall. The non-interconnected affiliates’ use of network shows rose 3.1% although here again it must be considered that there are relatively few remaining stations in this category and, accordingly, there is little effect on the aggregate totals for affiliates.

The few non-interconnected stations are located in western states of sparse population and wide open spaces not yet penetrated by AT&T’s coaxial cable or microwave radio relay intercity connections.

Films made for theatrical viewing found increased popularity in station programming, particularly among the interconnected network affiliates which devoted an average of 16 hours, 19 minutes weekly to such non-network fare. Part of this can be traced to the ever-increasing number of movie films that Hollywood is releasing to television. These newer releases, unlike the available products of early tv days, are of more acceptable calibre and are being used more frequently and in better time slots.

Use of film on the networks experienced another mild gain last March with the three-network weekly total reaching 58 hours, 30 minutes. ABC-TV, which regularly leads network film utilized, dipped slightly from 26 hours, 10 minutes to 24 hours. This drop, plus a very small decrease in film use at NBC-TV, was more than compensated for, however, by the addition of three film hours at CBS-TV.

Official Reports $1.3 Million In Early Sales on Three Series

OFFICIAL Films Inc., New York, has completed more than $1.3 million in sales during the pre-production period of three new half-hour tv film series, it was announced last week by Harold Hackett, president. The sales were made on behalf of the Decoy, Sword of Freedom and The Big Story series.

Mr. Hackett pointed out that the sales made exclusively to tv stations, underline the need of outlets for "top-quality programming they may offer to local and regional advertisers to compete favorably with national-network sponsors."

He announced that the latest Official Films property is Decoy, which will be produced by Pyramid Productions, New York, starting in September. Thirty-nine episodes of the mystery-adventure series, based on stories of the Police Women's Bureau of New York, are budgeted at a total cost of $1.2 million. Pre-production sales amounting to $600,000, he said, have been made to WPIX (TV) New York, WGN-TV Chicago, KTTV (TV) Los Angeles, WPFH (TV) Wilmington-Philadelphia, WBZ-TV Boston, KPIX (TV) San Francisco, KFY-W-TV Cleveland, KING-TV Seattle, KDCA-TV Pittsburgh and WTIC-TV Hartford.

Pyramid Productions, Mr. Hackett added. is scheduled to begin production on The Big Story later this summer. The series already has orders totaling $250,000 covering sales in New York, Los Angeles and Washington. It had been carried as a live, network presentation over NBC-TV since 1951. Burgess Meredith will serve as host-narrator of the film version. The 39-episode series carries a budget of $800,000, according to Mr. Hackett.

The Sword of Freedom series will be produced this summer in Britain by Sapphire Films Ltd. and already has recorded sales exceeding $500,000, reported. Sapphire has set a budget of $900,000 on 39 half-hours, he added.

Mr. Hackett also announced that Official has obtained distribution rights to 26 episodes of the half-hour Errol Flynn Theatre, an anthology series produced by Canadian producer Marcel Le Duc. The series was placed into distribution about three months ago by King-Shore, New York, and was sold in about 30 markets. It was reported that when sales lagged, Mr. Le Duc decided to turn over distribution of the series to Official, which will offer the program through its station sales division.

Leo Productions Sets Series

LEO PRODUCTIONS, movie and tv film program producer headed by director Francis D. Lyon, has announced it will film a series of 39 half-hour tv programs titled Virginia City and aimed at 1958 distribution. The broadcasting series will be based on stories reported in the Virginia City Territorial Enterprise from the inception of this famed newspaper in 1858 to 1916 (when it suspended publication) and from 1935, when Lucius Beebe and Charles Clegg started it again. Leo Vice President Howard A. Stotler secured the tv and movie rights to the history and files of the paper.

Fox, Ezzes Up for C&C Posts; Vote Due on Reorganization

MATTHEW FOX will be proposed as president of C & C Television Corp. and Erwin H. Ezzes as vice president and general sales manager today (Monday) at a special stockholders’ meeting of the parent company C & C Super Corp. in Wilmington, Del. The main business on the agenda is to spinoff National Phoenix Industries Inc. (food, beverage and manufacturing operations) from C & C Super Corp. [At Deadline, July 15].

Mr. Fox and Mr. Ezzes have been serving as vice presidents of C & C Super and as the chief (but untitled) executives of C & C Television Corp., which has been distributing the RKO Library of feature films domestically and abroad. The reorganization, a newly-constructed C & C Television Corp. is envisaged, embracing three subsidiaries: C & C Films Inc., covering U. S. and Canada; C & C Pan-Atlantic TV Co., Latin America; C & C International TV Film Corp., other overseas markets. C & C Super Corp. now holds about 51 per cent of C & C Television Corp. and Phoenix Industries.

GROUND was broken last Monday at Warner Bros. Studios in Burbank, Calif., for the company’s $1 million building [E+T, July 15], which will provide facilities for the executive, writing and editorial staffs for some 10 to 15 major full-hour and half-hour filmed tv shows in work simultaneously. Jack L. Warner, president, with actresses Natalie Wood, stressed that this is only one part of a continuing building program for tv film production, for which three of Warner Bros. 21 sound stages have been remodeled specifically for television.

Vogel, Meyer-Tomlinson Clash Over Control of Loew's Inc.

A FIGHT for control of Loew's Inc., the giant motion picture company parent of MGM-TV, broke out in the open last week. MGM's television activities include leasing of features to tv, production of tv film series, rentals of its Culver City, Calif., studios to tv producers and production of tv commercials.

Involved in the battle: Joseph R. Vogel, president of Loew's since late last fall; Joseph Tomlinson, a Canadian industrialist who is said to hold a major interest in the company, and his associate, Stanley Meyer of New York, who formerly was associated with Jack Webb in Mark VII productions.

Mr. Vogel last week revealed he had filed with the Securities & Exchange Commission in Washington preliminary copies of notice of a special stockholders' meeting Sept. 12 along with preliminary copies of proxy statements. In that meeting, Mr. Vogel will ask for the removal from the Loew's board of Mr. Tomlinson and Mr. Meyer, and for an increase of the board from 13 to 19 members to obtain a working majority for management. Meanwhile, three board members resigned: Frank Pace Jr., executive vice president of General Dynamics Corp.; George Brownell, New York lawyer, and Ogden R. Reid, president and editor of the New York Herald Tribune.

According to Mr. Vogel, the Tomlinson group had attempted to wrest control of the firm "under the guidance of" Louis B. Mayer, now 72, and former head of the studio operation. Mr. Vogel's version is that Mr. Mayer was to become a paid studio advisor; Mr. Tomlinson was to be installed as board chairman and Mr. Meyer as president.

New Hickman Grid Film Planned

PLANS for packaging and producing a 15-minute filmed football-festival program, On the Line With Herman Hickman, were announced Thursday by Derel Producing Assoc., New York. The films are scheduled to be made on Sunday, following Saturday games. Mr. Hickman will "pick the winners" of the following Saturday's games and it is planned to have the films in the mail by Tuesday for viewing Thursday, Friday or before game-time Saturday. This is the second Derel series involving Mr. Hickman. The first, on which three pilot films have been completed, is Herman Hickman Sports Adventures, for which a sales campaign is planned for next month.

Film Festival Modifies Rules

ENTRY rules have been modified for the International Advertising Film Festival, to be held in Cannes, France, in September, according to an announcement by P. E. Taylor, festival director, from London headquarters for the event. Whereas only one-minute commercials formerly were acceptable, two-minute commercials now are eligible for the competition. Entrants have the option of submitting two commercials up to 30 meters each or one 65-meter commercial. Anticipating record attendance at the fourth international film event, officials say more than 300 registrations already have been made.

'Honeymooners' in 50 Markets; Gross Sales Over $1 Million

MORE than $1 million in gross sales have been made on The Honeymooners, half-hour tv film series, in less than a month of its release for syndicated sale, it was announced last week by Thomas W. Moore, general sales manager of CBS-TV Film Sales. The series is scheduled in more than 50 markets.

Clairol Inc. (hair treatment), which earlier had bought The Honeymooners through Foote, Cone & Belding, New York, on an alternate week basis in three eastern markets, has increased its coverage to 24 markets for consecutive or alternate week sponsorship, according to Mr. Moore. S. & W. Fine Foods, through Honig-Cooper, San Francisco, has signed for the series in 11 western markets, Mr. Moore added. CBS-TV Film Sales also has sold the series to more than a dozen stations.

CBS-TV Film Sales also announced last week that production has been launched on a new half-hour tv film series, The Gray Ghost, which shortly will be offered for syndication sale. The series, based on the life and legend of Civil War hero John Singleton Mosby, is being produced by Lindsley Parsons in cooperation with CBS-TV Film Sales.

New Sale for UA Post-'48 Films

UNITED Artists Corp., New York, reports it has sold its post-1948 feature film package to WTOP-TV Washington. The station announced plans to air 27 of 52 films in color as well as black-and-white.
“... you folks heard about the Maine massacre?”

“Indians? Who’s talking history? I mean right now ... up Downeast in Maine. A real slaughter, the way I hear it. Who? That television station in Bangor — WABI-TV — that’s who! Tomahawked the stuffings out of the competition in its latest Pulse, Trendex and ARB surveys! You folks been in Sumatra or someplace? I thought everybody knew about it!”

Bartender Bill at Chandler’s (New York hangout for agency chieftains) is hep to the facts. It’s true. WABI-TV has warpathed up a list of first places in audience popularity as long as the arm you sign contracts with. Just a few samples: every one of the top 15 shows in a Pulse Study covering nine counties ... 12 of the top 15, the way ARB sees it ... absolute No. 1 favorite for network, local, syndicated shows, feature films by all yardsticks.

Maybe it’s a massacre, like Bill says. But we prefer to consider this dominance a logical reward for giving Maine’s fast-growing TV audience the best programming with the strongest signal for easy viewing. It’s the same caliber of service that makes WABI-Radio tops in its medium, too. Teamed together, this pair is an unbeatable way to capture Maine’s best customers. VHFS GO TO PITTSBURGH, SEATTLE

- Merger applicant gets Pittsburgh ch. 4, third v there
- Seattle's ch. 7 deadlock broken, grant goes to KIRO

The FCC granted vhf stations to each of two cities last week when it awarded Pittsburgh's ch. 4 to Television City Inc., following a merger of that applicant and Hearst-owned WCAE Inc., and Seattle's ch. 7 to KIRO that city.

With last week's actions, the only tv comparative hearing awaiting final FCC action is Biloxi, Miss., ch. 13.

FCC AWARDS TELEVISION CITY INC. PITTSBURGH'S THIRD V CHANNEL

PITTSBURGH got its third commercial vhf tv station last week, when the FCC granted ch. 4 McKeesport, Pa., to Television City Inc. The grant was made following a merger agreement between Television City and Hearst Corp. (WCAE Inc.) to own the ch. 4 facility jointly.

The merger, which followed several weeks of intensive negotiations between the principals [B+T, July 1 et seq.], also includes a provision to pay the other three applicants $50,000 each for out-of-pocket expenses in prosecuting their applications. They are Matta Enterprises (WLOA Braddock, Pa.), Wespen Television Inc. and Irwin Community Television Co.

The FCC grant was made contingent on Television City's disposal of its interest in KQV before the new tv station begins operating. The grant was unanimous, with Comr. T. A. M. Craven abstaining.

The first initial decision, last year, favored the KQV application. However, following the death of KQV principal Irwin D. Wolf, the hearing was reopened. A second initial decision last April recommended granting the vhf assignment to WCAE. The FCC was unable to muster a majority for any of the applicants; the vote had been split, three commissioners favoring WCAE; three, KQV.

Under the terms of the merger understanding Television City will double its capital stock to 120,000 shares of common $10 par. Hearst will subscribe to 60,000 shares at par value; the other 60,000 shares will remain in the hands of present Television City principals, Earl F. Reed-Irvin D. Wolf Jr. and associates. Both Hearst and the Reed-Wolf group will lend Television City $400,000 each, repayable in 10 years. The board of Television City will comprise six directors, three representing Hearst and three the Reed-Wolf group. Each will have first rights to buy out the other.

Because WCAE will remain in Hearst hands, the agreement provides that the Reed-Wolf group will receive 50% of the amount of WCAE's net income above $300,000 and below $400,000; 25% between $400,000 and $500,000 and 12 1/2% between $500,000 and $600,000. In return the Reed-Wolf group promised to remain out of radio broadcasting in the Pittsburgh area.

It was also agreed Hearst would lend Television City $150,000 to pay the $50,000 to the three withdrawing applicants.

The only vhf outlet operating in Pittsburgh now is ch. 2 KDKA-TV, owned by Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. KDKA-TV is affiliated with all three networks. WHC (TV), ch. 11, plans to begin operating next month, with NBC. WIC was granted following a merger agreement between WWSW-Pittsburgh Post-Gazette and WJAS Pittsburgh. WQED (TV), on ch. 13 is the Pittsburgh educational, non-commercial station. There also are three uhf grantees.

The merger is the culmination of several years of persistent and painstaking effort, largely on behalf of Hearst by Charles B. McCabe, publisher of the New York Mirror and chairman of the radio and television committee of the Hearst Corp. Mr. McCabe has been in almost constant contact with the principals of the four other applicants and, during the past month, has devoted major attention to the basic merger of Television City Inc. principals (KQV) with the Hearst operation. Primary negotiator for TV City was Earl F. Reed.

The new station will be built with greatest possible dispatch in the hope of providing ABC-TV network service in the important Pittsburgh market prior to the year-end.

Although the Pittsburgh negotiations have occupied Hearst's major attention for several years, the company is still on the alert for additional television properties. Mr. McCabe has stated that Hearst desires its "full complement" of stations. It now has three—WBAL-AM-TV Baltimore, WINS-AM-TV Milwaukee, plus the 50% interest in Pittsburgh.

AWARD OF CH. 7 TO KIRO BREAKS DEADLOCK IN CONTEST AT SEATTLE

The FCC last week finally broke the deadlock on Seattle's ch. 7 contest and awarded that city's fifth vhf outlet to KIRO Seattle. The Commission granted the KIRO application by a vote of 3 to 2. Chmm. Doerfer voted against the order favoring KIRO, but did not vote in favor of any of the three applicants. Comr. Lee dissented and voted to reopen the record. Comr. Hyde, the sixth member, was on the West Coast on official business. For the past few months the Commission had been split, with three favoring KIRO and three KXA and one KVI.

KIRO, owned principally by Saul Haas and including Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.), chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, as one of its stockholders, has held a favorable initial decision since 1955. The Commission last year remanded the case to the examiner to permit competing applicants KXA and KVI to cross-examine Mr. Haas on his activities as part owner and editor of the Seattle Union Record, a labor newspaper, in the mid-20s. It was alleged that the Record followed a pro-leftist line. In August 1956, the examiner issued a supplemental initial decision affirming his original recommendation.

Oral argument was held before the Commission en banc in December 1956. Seattle-Tacoma has four vhf outlets on

Ford's FCC Appointment Clears Senate Commerce Committee

THE appointment of Frederick W. Ford as an FCC commissioner Thursday cleared the Senate Commerce Committee by unanimous vote. This leaves as the last remaining hurdle confirmation by the full Senate.

How soon Mr. Ford's name will come up for Senate approval depends on when that body completes action on the civil rights bill. The Senate now has spent three weeks considering this legislation and it is not known when final disposition will be made. Confirmation however, is expected to be a mere formality, since President Eisenhower's appointment of Mr. Ford has been widely praised within the industry and on Capitol Hill.

Five Named to Moulder Group; Chief Attorney to Be Chosen

REP. Morgan Moulder (D-Mo) last week announced the appointment of five more staff members to his Subcommittee on Legislative Oversight, which plans an investigation of the FCC as its first order of business (BTC, July 8).

Remaining to be named, with his selection "imminent," is a chief attorney. Candidates for this position are Dr. Bernard Swartz, professor at New York U., Arthur Keeffe, professor at Catholic U., Washington, and Jay E. (Buck) Taylor, former Missouri attorney general, presently in private practice.

Appointed to the staff last week were investigators Francis X. McLaughlin, formerly with the House Intergovernmental Relations Subcommittee and onetime White House Secret Service agent, and Oliver Eastland, who has been in investigative work 1943 and formerly was on the staff of the Senate Judiciary Committee; attorneys Stephen Angland, former consultant to Secretary of Navy and Economic Stabilization Agency and most recently in private practice, and Joseph P. O'Hara Jr. of the Civil Service Commission. Betty Ruth was named to the staff as a secretary.

In a letter to all members of Congress, Mr. Moulder stated the subcommittee is anxious to have "each member of Congress submit suggestions or information . . . for study and investigation. . . ." Many of his colleagues have indicated that they have material and complaints concerning the FCC to turn over to the group.

Baron I. Shackleford, chief investigator for the subcommittee with 19 years experience in the investigative field, reported progress in preparing for October hearings, but that there is still a tremendous amount of work ahead. Mr. Shackleford came to the committee from the Legal & Monetary Affairs Subcommittee of the House Government Operations Committee, where he also was chief investigator.

FCC Affirms Modification Granted to WSPT-TV in 1954

THE FCC last week affirmed its grant to WSPT-TV Spartanburg, S. C., for modification of construction permit. The case had been in Commission hearings and appeal courts more than three years.

Following the most recent court findings which remanded the case to the FCC, alleging misrepresentation by WSPT-TV and the loss of service to some areas, the Commission ruled this loss was more than compensated for by the regions which will be reached by the new service. The FCC also ruled that although there was misrepresentation, it was, in the Commission's opinion, not a deliberate attempt to deceive.

The station went on the air in January 1954 with Special Temporary Authorization. The application for construction permit changes was filed April 6, 1954, and granted, without hearing, April 30, 1954, WAIM-TV Anderson and WGVL (TV) Greenville, both S. C., protested the STA and the modification grants. WSPT-TV requested that its STA be canceled and the permit was withdrawn April 18, 1954. The Commission denied the protests of WAIM-TV and WGVL in mid-1954. The two protesters appealed the denial in the U. S. Court of Appeals, Washington, D. C., and the court remanded the case to the FCC for hearing in March 1955.

An initial decision was issued, and on March 9, 1956, the FCC's 1954 grant was affirmed. The protests (WAIM-TV and WGVL) appealed this order and the Court reversed the Commission's decision returning the case to the FCC for further proceedings.

Handwriting Issue Enters Contest for Missouri Station

ISSUES relating to the character qualifications of principals in Kirkwood Broadcasting Co, Kirkwood, Mo., were raised at the FCC last week by St. Charles County Broadcasting Co., St. Charles, Mo. St. Charles introduced testimony of handwriting expert to back its charges.

Both are applicants for 1460 kc, 5 kw day in Kirkwood and St. Charles, suburbs of St. Louis. Their applications have been set for comparative hearing by the FCC.

St. Charles petitioned the FCC to enlarge the hearing issues to determine, among other things, "whether either James R. Roberts, Robert D. Rapp or Martha M. Rapp [principals in Kirkwood Broadcasting] possess the necessary character qualifications in order to entitle them to become the permittee of the proposed station."

The petition charged that there have been a number of instances where the signatures of the three principals "on applications and documents filed with the Commission under oath have been signed by a person or persons other than the person or persons whose name appears thereon."

To substantiate its claim, St. Charles included an affidavit by Karl Schottler, handwriting expert, which purported to show the signatures were not genuine. The petition also questioned whether or Commission records show that Cecil W. and Jane A. Roberts own KREI Farmington, KCHI Chillicothe, KBJA Columbia, all Missouri; KCRB Chanute, Kan., and WINI Murphysboro, Ill.; James R. Roberts is listed as owning KPRG Portland, Ore., and the Rapps are owners of record of KPEG Spokane, Wash.

Principals in St. Charles County Broadcasting Co. are Harmon J. Moseley (advertising executive), 74%, and Omar Schmatmeier (U. S. marshal), 24%.

FCC Affirms KVAR (TV) Grant For Move of Its Main Studio

KTAR Broadcasting Co., licensee of KVAK (TV) Mesa, Ariz. (ch. 12), may go ahead and move its main studio from one mile west of the city limits to a location in Phoenix. In April 1956, the FCC granted this permission to KVAR without a hearing. But KTVO (TV) Phoenix, ch. 3, complained that such a move was in violation of the Commission's table of frequency assignments. Consequently, the FCC stayed its original order pending further investigation.

The Commission last week reaffirmed its previous approval. It noted that the new studio location will better meet the needs of the entire area.

Justice Dept. Gives Sanction To Joint Operations of TASSO

The organization and operations of the Television Allocation Study Organization have the official sanction of the Dept. of Justice, it was reported last week.

The FCC made public Friday a copy of a July 15 letter from Victor R. Hansen, assistant Attorney General in charge of the antitrust division, to FCC Chairman John C. Doerfer, approving the reorganization of TASSO's setup and operations. This followed questions of possible antitrust liability first raised by RCA and others on the TASSO board, and which were submitted to the Justice Dept. for clarification. Justice suggested last May that a government observer be included on all panels and committees as chairman. This was done last month.

Mr. Hansen's letter referred to this communication and declared that "the organization and operations of TASSO and the Commission's relations with TASSO have been brought into substantial compliance with the standards of procedure recommended by this department ... pursuant of the Commission of the forms and degree of supervision described in its letter of June 21, 1957 will provide safeguards to minimize the possibility of antitrust violations arising from the operations of TASSO which we considered previously to be the case."

The department also expressed the view that full and complete minutes be kept of all TASSO panel meetings, including original and revised minutes.

WKAT Asks Appeals to Stay Move of WPST-TV Transmitter

WKAT Miami Beach, Fla., last week asked the U. S. appeals court in Washington to stay the FCC's grant permitting ch. 10 WPST-TV Miami to move its transmitter to the site once occupied by Storer Broadcasting Co.'s WGBS-TV.

WKAT is one of the unsuccessful applicants for ch. 10 and has been fighting the grant to the National Airlines' subsidiary ever since it was made last February. WKAT also has an appeal pending in the same court against the final decision. On June 27 the Commission denied WKAT's protest against its authorization for WPST-TV to change its transmitter site.

One of the arguments last week was that WPST-TV's financial arrangements had changed, since in paying Storer $600,000 for the old WGBS-TV site plus equipment, it only paid $100,000 in cash. The $500,000 remainder was paid by notes, maturing in five years. This was not revealed in the modification application, WKAT charged. The argument was heard by Circuit Judges David L. Bazelon and Warren E. Burger.

FCC Gets Divergent Response On De-mixing N. Y. Tri-Cities

FCC proposals to make Albany-Schenectady-Troy all vhf territory by deleting presently operating uhf channels there and substituting vhf frequencies have met with divergent response, depending on the individual interests of stations concerned.

Some uhf outlets were strictly opposed; others uhf's approved, on the condition they could switch to vhf broadcasting on one of the proposed vhf channels; some vhf's agreed, depending on the nature and location of further vhf assignments.

The Commission last June [B+T, June 24] suggested rule-making which would dispense with channels 35 and 41. In their place, the Tri-City area would become all vhf by the retention of ch. 6 in Schenectady (now used by WRGB [TV], which failed to file comments), ch. 10 in Vail Mills, N. Y., and the relocation of ch. 13 from Rome-Utica, N. Y. to Albany, substituting ch. 2 for ch. 13 in Rome-Utica. This deintermixture turnabout was in marked contrast to the FCC's original proposal last February to make the entire region uhf.

WTVW (TV) Appeals Ch. 7 Move

WTVW (TV) Evansville, Ind. (ch. 7), has asked the Court of Appeals, Washington, D. C., to reverse the FCC's order of March shifting ch. 7 from Evansville to Louisville, Ky., and moving ch. 9 from Hatfield, Ind., to Evansville as an educational reservation. The station also requested the court to enjoin the Commission from holding a show cause proceeding in the June 24, 1957, order for WTVW to change operation to ch. 31.

Also filing appeals in the same court were ch. 18 WLEX-TV Lexington, Ky., objecting to the assignment of a vhf channel to Louisville, and WVJS and WOMI, both Owensboro, Ky., whose hearing for ch. 9 Hatfield, Ind., was concluded in 1955, with an initial decision favoring WVJS last February.

City of Flint Objects
To Sharing Vhf Ch. 12

THE FLINT (Mich.) City Commission last week urged the FCC not to consider any proposals assigning ch. 12 to the Saginaw-Bay City-Flint area instead of Flint alone.

At the same time, the city officials called on the Commission to hurry the choice of the ch. 12 grantee.

City Manager Harold C. Chirgwin said the city is larger than the "hyphenated" area of Saginaw-Bay City and deserves its own station.

Ch. 12 in Flint has been the subject of a long and complicated struggle. WJRT (TV) holds disputed authority to the frequency at present. Still contesting the grant are WFDF Flint and W. S. Butterfield Theatres Inc.

Last July the FCC called on interested parties to comment on the WKNX-TV Saginaw ch. 57 petition to move ch. 12 to the Saginaw-Bay City-Flint area.

Two Outlets Appeal Grant
Of Ch. 12 Tests to WJMR-TV

THE U. S. Court of Appeals in Washington was asked Thursday to stay the grant of experimental operation on ch. 12 New Orleans, La., issued last month to ch. 20 WJMR-TV New Orleans [B+T, July 1]. The stay was requested by ch. 12 WJTV (TV) Jackson, Miss., and by KWTV (TV) Oklahoma City, Okla., an applicant for New Orleans' ch. 12.

WJTV claimed the WJMR-TV transmitter site is 162 miles from its Jackson site, thus 28 miles short of the rule requiring 190-mile minimum separation between stations on the same channel. KWTV charged that unless the experimental grant was stayed, its application for the facility would be jeopardized.

In addition to KWTV and WJMR-TV itself, a third applicant for commercial operation of ch. 12 is Crescent City Telecasters Inc. (composed of KTBS Shreveport principals).

WJMR-TV was authorized to conduct experimental operation of ch. 12 simultaneously with its operation on ch. 20 as a means of measuring vhf and uhf propagation from the same site. Ch. 12 was allocated to New Orleans in the deintermixture proceedings earlier this year.

The argument was heard by a two-judge court, Circuit Judges David L. Bazelon and Warren E. Burger. In the event of a disagreement, they would submit the argument to a third circuit judge who would render a decision without a reargument.

Electronic Advances Highlight NAVA Meet

A PROJECTION screen for viewing television, movies and slides under normal lighting conditions without eyestrain and new 27-inch classroom tv recorders, plus refinements in tape recorders for audio-visual use, were among the highlights of the 12th annual National Audio-Visual Assn. convention in Chicago last week.

The new screen, developed by Universal Screen Co., Clinton, Mass., was described as the "third great technical advance" in audio-visual projection for easier classroom instruction. New lenticular screen permits tv projection to large screen areas, with more projector light reflected to useful audience viewing areas, it was claimed.

Transvision Inc., New Rochelle, N. Y., introduced the 27-inch receiver for school and other educational use and for industrial organizations. It is designed to meet closed circuit and regular tv reception needs and actually functions as a dual receiver.

New line of audio-visual tape recorders, designed for half track or stereophonic record and playback, was shown by Audio Div. of American Electronics Inc., Los Angeles, Calif. The unit accommodates reel sizes up to 10½ inches and is designed for standard 3 3/4 and 7 1/4 inches per second.

Bell & Howell previewed two new 400-ft. sound films for motion picture use in business and education during its audio-visual meeting, while North American Philips announced a new three-speed, dual track, portable tape recorder (with Noreloco trademark). It was designed by Philips of the Netherlands, claimed to be the world's largest electronic firm outside the U. S.

Conspicuous by its presence for the first time in recent years was the Society of Motion Picture & Television Engineers, which took part in the conference and maintained a special display. Among resolutions adopted was one authorizing the appointment of a committee to meet with the Magnetic Tape Recording Industry Assn. Audio-Visual Assn. hopes to furnish management services to the tape group.

A feature of the SMPTE exhibit was the showing of 16mm test films and their usefulness in the motion picture and tv fields.

Also stressed was the interchange of ideas and further advancement in engineering in tv and related fields.

Included on the convention agenda were an RCA audio-visual products luncheon and dealer meeting; talks by Henry C. Ruark Jr., NAVA information director, on "Working with Press, Radio and Tv," and by P. Ray Swank, president of Swank's Inc., on "Effective Advertising and Sales Promotion."

MOTOROLA INC. last week announced plans for a $3 million facilities expansion program, including tv and high-fidelity plant assembly, dictated by growth in automotive and consumer products activity.

The program calls for construction of a 110,000-square foot building to house offices and engineering for consumer-engineering products and an addition of 120,000 square feet to its present Franklin Park tv hi-fi plant, according to Paul V. Galvin, board chairman.

Work on the manufacturing plant addition will start in August, with tentative completion date in 1958. The new head- quarter group (pictured above) will be a three-level structure, with construction slated to start next spring. Divisional administration and engineering functions currently are housed at Motorola's general offices and main plant site at 4545 W. Augusta Blvd. Vacated facilities will be absorbed by its communications and industrial electronics division. General staff operations also will remain there.

Sylvania Sales for First Half Slightly Over Last Year's High

SYLVANIA Electric Products Inc. sales for the first half of 1957 slightly exceeded the previous high set a year ago, while sales for the second quarter were slightly below those of last year, it was reported last week by Don G. Mitchell, chairman and president. But with June earnings exceeding April and May, he foresaw a "decided upturn."

Net sales for the second quarter were $74,970,858, against $75,932,904 a year ago, adjusted to reflect the combination of Argus Cameras with Sylvania. Net sales for the first half were $162,520,532, compared with $162,360,384 in the first half of 1956.

Net income for the second quarter was $1,718,725, against $1,277,006 a year earlier, equal to 46 cents per share compared with 86 cents per share in 1956. Net income for the first half amounted to $4,788,669, against $7,377,249 last year. After provision for the preferred dividends, this was equal to $1.30 per share, against $2.04 in 1956. All current year figures are adjusted.
to the addition of Argus Cameras as a division of Sylvania.

Mr. Mitchell attributed decreased earnings to "lower volume in some of our more profitable products, and unusually strong price competition in other areas" as well as "the high costs of changing over to full production and distribution of the new 110-degree television sets and picture tubes."

RCA Makes Three Appointments In Defense Electronic Division

THREE appointments were announced last week by RCA in conjunction with the realignment of the defense electronic products division, according to Arthur L. Malcarney, executive vice president of the division. Purpose of the reorganization is to provide military customers with broader technical and marketing services for current and long-range needs in military electronics.

Jolliffe Hertzberg Kirkpatrick

Dr. C. B. Jolliffe, vice president and technical director of RCA, has been appointed to the newly-created post of vice president and technical director, RCA defense electronic products. Joseph M. Hertzberg, manager, RCA airborne systems department, has been promoted to the new post of manager, defense marketing. William B. Kirkpatrick, marketing manager, airborne systems department, will succeed Mr. Hertzberg as manager.

In his new position, Dr. Jolliffe will be responsible for providing technical guidance on RCA defense activities and for establishing and maintaining liaison with government, industrial and technical organizations. Mr. Hertzberg assumes functional responsibility for all marketing activities within the organization, including product planning, marketing administration, defense spares (stockpiling of emergency equipment) and advertising activities, as well as operation of field offices in Washington, Dayton and Los Angeles. Mr. Kirkpatrick will have charge of planning, engineering and marketing RCA airborne electronic equipment for military use.

RCA Tube Division Appoints Five

FIVE key appointments have been made to the staff of the newly created distributor products activity of the RCA electron tube division, according to L. F. Holleran, manager. They are: H. F. Bersche, formerly manager, marketing services, to manager, merchandising; D. M. Brangan, to continue as manager, distributor sales; G. C. Brewster, formerly manager, marketing administration, to manager, administration and controls; W. G. Kelly, manager, warehousing administration and services, to manager, administration and controls; and H. S. Stamm to continue as manager, advertising and sales promotion.

TV'S PROFIT MARGIN: GOING UP, SAYS NARTB

THREE out of five television stations expect to make more money this year than they did in 1956.

This brighter profit picture for 1957 is painted in a series of studies conducted by NARTB, based on financial data covering 56% of all tv stations except noncommercial, network o&o, satellite and territorial stations (see tables and charts).

The typical (median) station looks for a 17.7% profit margin this year, before taxes. This is a little better than the 15.9% profit earned in 1956 and almost double the 9.4% figure in 1955.

NARTB's studies show a typical 1957 television station that will wind up the year looking like this: Total broadcast revenue $920,700, expenses $774,300, profit $146,400. In 1955 the typical tv station showed: total broadcast revenue $708,000, expenses $650,000, profit $66,600.

Using percentages, 1957 total broadcast revenue is expected to increase 4.3% over 1956 whereas total expenses are to go up 2.2%, widening the profit margin.

Analyzing the typical tv station's time sales dollar, NARTB finds that 47 cents comes from national-regional business, 23 cents from networks and 30 cents from local advertisers. The expense dollar breaks down this way: program 37 cents; general-administrative 33 cents; technical 18 cents; sales 12 cents.

NARTB's figures create a typical tv station out of data from 218 stations that returned usable questionnaires. Both NARTB member and non-member stations were surveyed, with 391 queried. The proportion of stations in each market and dollar-volume category is typical of the industry as a whole. Network odo station data is not available. The association is mailing detailed yardstick analyses of television and radio station operating and revenue figures to its members (the radio analysis will be printed in B&T Aug. 5).

The size of markets had little effect on the proportion of the sales dollar that came from national and regional advertisers (non-network), according to NARTB. The share of total revenue coming from the networks, however, was greater in the larger markets, whereas the share from local sources was greater in smaller markets.

Total broadcast revenues, expenses and profit margins vary directly with the size of market in which a station is located, the study reports. The typical station in markets of more than a million population had revenue of a little over $3 million. On the other hand, the typical station in markets under 25,000 population grossed only $331,000.

With 60% of stations expecting some widening in profit margins, 24% expect the profit margin to be squeezed in 1957 and 16% expect no change.

The survey was conducted by the NARTB Employee-Employer Relations Dept. with the aid of the Research Dept. The sample is the largest ever obtained for this type of survey. A new feature this year shows figures for the "middle 50%" of stations, those between the top 25% and bottom 25% of the group. The computation formula is somewhat different than those used in past years but NARTB believes the 1957 format is the most satisfactory yet developed.

RETMA Votes to Change Name
To Electronic Industries Assn.

MEMBERS of Radio-Electronics-Tv Mfs. Assn., comprising manufacturers of electronic equipment, voted 374-8 last week to change the organization's name to Electronic Industries Assn. The change becomes formally effective with revision of the Illinois charter.

The association was founded in Chicago in 1924 as Radio Manufacturers Assn. "Television" was added in 1950 and the RETMA title approved in 1953. James D. Secrest, executive vice president, said the term "electronic" is generally regarded "as descriptive of the growing variety of electronic products including older radio and television equipment and components."

The first meeting of the association under the new name will be held Sept. 10-12 at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles, coinciding with the all-industry celebration of National Television Week, Sept. 8-14.

RAB Plans Group Approves
Projects to Aid Dealer Sales

AT LEAST eight special projects to help its members speed sales of radio time were offered by Radio Advertising Bureau last week, with the objective of completing and delivering them to members before the end of this year.

Approved at the semi-annual meeting of the RAB plans committee on Tuesday, the projects include:

  (1) Two new "last word" studies giving merchandisers detailed information on the media habits of customers in the grocery and drug fields;
  (2) Two new strip films for use in selling to local representatives of national food and drug accounts;
  (3) Two new marketing presentations, on the Negro and farm markets;
  (4) A current analysis of nighttime radio and its advantages;
  (5) A "Pick-a-Program" brochure showing how a specific program fits advertisers' products;
  (6) A 1957 football study, pointing up advantages of football sponsorship;
  (7) A new "awareness" test, showing radio's value in introducing a product and also giving latest information on weekend listenership, and
  (8) A new directory containing marketing data, distribution areas, advertising policies and approximate budgets, sales volume and degrees and types of competition of 100 nationally-sold products.

Kevin B. Sweeney, RAB president, presided over the plans committee meeting in the absence of Donald W. Thornburgh of WCAU Philadelphia, chairman. Committee men on hand, newly-appointed and attending their first planning session, included Ned Armsby, ABC; Paul F. Braden, WPPB Mid- dletown, Ohio; Gustav K. Brandborg, KVOM Tulsa; Dee O. Coe, WWCA Gary, Ind.; Herbert Evans, Peoples Broadcasting Co., Columbus, Ohio; Louis Hausman, CBS Radio, and Lester M. Smith, KJR Seattle.

hostility to subscription television" refuses to recognize the danger for itself and others in wired toll tv. "The entire service from studio to home could be handled completely by AT&T if it now handles telephone service, and there would be no need for independent broadcast stations," Zenith added.

WTVK (TV) Knoxville, Tenn. told the Commission it would like to take part in any test trials. It said that subscription tv "may hold the only hope for economical survival of a uhf station such as [WTVK (TV)] in a vhf market such as Knoxville."

CALIFORNIA TO BE TEST AREA FOR CLOSED CIRCUIT TOLL TV

CALIFORNIA seems destined to be a main proving ground for closed circuit toll tv and a battle ground for the various organizations that will be anxious to compete against Skiatron and Telemetron when the bids are let. The city council has already approved the basis for a closed circuit toll tv franchise and has granted the first one to Skiatron tv Corp. [B&T, July 22], will probably be the scene of the major activity in the weeks immediately ahead.

The grant to Skiatron does not authorize this company to start installing equipment yet; it merely gets a set of basic terms on record for competitive bids by Skiatron and any one else who may be interested. The Los Angeles city attorney's office is now preparing to advertise the franchise and expects to issue the call for bids by the end of this week or the beginning of next.

Basically, Los Angeles offers a nonexclusive 21-year franchise to install and operate a closed circuit program system for which the city gets 2% of gross revenue. Each franchise is to be offered for competitive bidding and awarded to the highest bid from an acceptable bidder. Fox West Coast Theatres (movie house chain) and International Telemeter Corp. (Paramount subsidiary and developer of a coin box attachment to decode and collect for programs) elected to apply for a second franchise from the city instead of bidding against Skiatron for the first one [B&T, June 22].

Mr. Hertzberg, Tele Movie attorney, told the city council that it could take as long as 10 years for a single organization to provide citywide service for Los Angeles, but that six or eight or ten different organizations, attacking the job in sections, could complete it in two or three years. Tele Movie has discussed franchises with about 30 communities outside the city of Los Angeles but still in the metropolitan area. Mr. Hertzberg reported, and has filed five or six formal applications for them. One, filed in the name of Tri City Tele Movie Co. for Oceanside-Carlsbad-Vista, is expected to be granted momentarily.

With the Skiatron franchise already granted by the Los Angeles city council and the joint application of International Telemeter and Fox West Coast Theatres being processed by the city's board of public utilities and transportation [B&T, July 22] the group of local businessmen represented by Hubert D. Long has decided not to file another application but instead to bid on those already on file, Mr. Long said last week. Favorable council action on an application for a closed circuit tv franchise, he reminded, serves only to place the franchise on the market for bids, so that it may ultimately be awarded to the highest acceptable bidder.

Mr. Long emphasized again, as he had before the city council, the interest of his group in keeping the programs delivered by the closed circuit system as the right kind to be brought into the home. He pointed out that the FCC has no control over closed circuit operations and expressed a fear of what might happen should a closed circuit tv system fall into the hands of "a Las Vegas gambling syndicate."

But Los Angeles is not the only California area with toll tv activity. Skiatron and Telemeter have both held discussions with city officials of San Francisco on a franchise.

Skiatron has also filed requests for franchises in Oakland and San Diego and is known to be surveying the situation in other California cities. Telemeter is also expected to seek franchises in cities other than Los Angeles and San Francisco, and it is probable that in most if not all these communities there will be local interests ready and anxious to compete against Skiatron and

WHAT FREE RADIO-TV MEANS TO PRO FOOTBALL

DOLLAR FIGURES showing what broadcast rights were worth to the 12 professional football teams in the period 1952-1956 were presented by Commissioner Bert Bell in testimony to the Celler subcommittee last week. Also revealed, and reproduced in the table below, were the total income figures.

Mr. Bell's figures showed that, in the five football seasons since 1952, radio and tv rights brought the NFL teams $6,855,270. This compares with a total income for the 12 teams over the 1952-56 period of $52,- Telemeter for the right to provide this service.

Public demonstrations of the Telemeter system of closed circuit toll tv, which have been conducted in Los Angeles since late March (BT, March 25), will move to New York's Savoy Plaza Hotel Aug. 12. Louis A. Novins, vice president and general manager of ITC, announced. Newsmen, sports figures, executives from the theatre, tv and motion pictures, financial houses, technical and engineering organizations, labor groups, educators, public officials and others have been invited to attend the New York demonstrations, which will continue through Aug. 29, Mr. Novins said.

In making the announcement, Mr. Novins stated: "It is significant that Telemeter is the only closed circuit pay television system that has been demonstrated publicly thus far. During the past four months hundreds of leaders in the entertainment industry, technical groups and others have seen the Telemeter demonstrations in Los Angeles. The reactions have been most gratifying. Our planned New York demonstrations will permit interested people in the eastern part of the United States to see the system in operation there."

Top engineers from AT&T's national headquarters in New York and from the AT&T-owned Bell Telephone Labs there were in Los Angeles last week making tests on the method of transmission proposed by Skiatron for its closed circuit tv operation, which Skiatron officials have testified will enable it to connect subscribers to the central program source at a fraction the cost of other systems. They refused to discuss their method in detail "for competitive reasons" but it is understood to involve the use of wires instead of coaxial cable for getting programs from the studio into the home. How long the telephone company engineers will continue their tests into the practicability of the Skiatron transmission system was not known, or at least not stated. The Los Angeles offices of Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., with which Skiatron has been negotiating, declined to give the cost of its own visiting experts, and a Skiatron spokesman would say only that "it might take days or it might take weeks."

PRO FOOTBALL CHIEF LIKES FREE TV BETTER THAN FEE

IF Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League, has his way, professional football will never be shown on pay tv. In no uncertain terms. Mr. Bell expressed his opposition to toll tv last week before the House Antitrust Subcommittee.

The "czar" of professional football also disclosed financial figures which show that the present radio-tv setup contributes a large share to the income of the 12 NFL teams, just as it does to the 16 major league baseball clubs [BT, June 24]. In fact, Mr. Bell said that radio-tv revenues have meant the difference between a profit and loss for many if not all of the league's teams.

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.), chairman of the subcommittee conducting the hearings to determine if professional team sports should be placed under the antitrust laws, asked Mr. Bell: "Are any of the teams in your league negotiating for closed-circuit communication of the game?"

Mr. Bell replied that he could not speak for the club owners but that he personally was "definitely against" charging a fee to view pro football games on tv. "The kids of this country are entitled to see sports free on tv," he stated. Commenting on the many U. S. homes costing from $2,000 to $3,000 with tv antennas on their roofs, Mr. Bell asked: "How are kids in these kinds of homes going to pay?"

With an obvious slap at major league baseball teams planning to switch their games to pay tv, Mr. Bell said that his league "doesn't think so much of money" as to cut off free telecasting of games. "If we give the public the impression that all we want is money... we have got no right to claim that we are a sport, or that we deserve any exemptions of any kind [from antitrust laws] under that basis."

Mr. Bell told the subcommittee that he believed the majority, "and maybe all," of the pro football teams' contracts with television prohibit the closed-circuit telecasting of games.

Chairman Celler told Mr. Bell his statements on pay tv were "refreshing" in contrast with the statements of "some of the baseball owners who testified here." Horace Stoneham, president of the baseball New York Giants, and Walter O'Malley, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, both previ-
JEROME HELLMAN, a talent agent who briefly became "talent" last fall when he succeeded Worthington (Tony) Miner as the fourth producer of the ill-fated "Unit Four" group responsible for NBC-TV's "Kaiser Aluminum Hour," last week resigned from Ashley-Steiner agency to establish his own production firm, Jerome Hellman Assoc. His partners are Marian Searchinger, former A-S tv-stage story agent and James N. Merrick, A-S casting director.

PROGRAM SERVICES SHORTS

Standard Radio Transcription Services, Chicago, packager of transcribed music and sound effect records, will announce new policy governing production-releases and pricing of Shorty Tunes package, effective in September. Several hundred stations subscribe to series. Firm will turn out ten instead of 20 tunes (five pop, five standard) monthly, emphasizing larger band groups.

RCA Thesaurus, N. Y., reports three new sales by stations to sponsors of Double Talk, series of Al Kelly radio commercial spot. They included The Electric Shop on WADX, Newport, R. I. (to be heard 9 times over 26 weeks), Lawrence Mayflower Furniture on KUBA Marysville, Calif. (35 times in 52 weeks), and Loudens Dept. Store on WBSC Hillsdale, Mich. (24 times, 52 weeks). Spots were released to stations July 1.

United Press' European headquarters have been moved to new location. New address: No. 8 Bouverie St., London.

Capitol Records Inc., Hollywood, is releasing 13 packages of two-channel stereo phonics tapes ranging from symphony to cool jazz. This company's first contribution to growing field of broadcast programming, particularly by jointly owned am and fm stations.

Oldtime steamboat races along our Ohio River Valley were often close, and hazardous to put your money on. Quite different from today's audience race among TV stations. When you put your money on WSAZ-TV, you've picked THE winner. Survey after survey gives the title to this 69-county giant - and the latest Nielsen is no exception. Consider these WSAZ-TV margins over the next-best station:

95,670 more homes per month
99,430 more homes per week
101,130 more daytime homes, weekdays
100,580 more nighttime homes, weekends

WSAZ-TV steams with comparable popularity across a four-state domain wherein almost $4,000,000,000 buying power awaits advertisers who like to ride with the winner. The gangway is down at any Katz office.

HAROLD CARLSON, sales manager for the radio and television division of the Illinois Bell Telephone Co., was given a luncheon last week on his 40th anniversary with the company. Here, Mr. Carlson is congratulated by (1 to r): George Cook, vice president and treasurer, WLS Chicago; William Riley, central division manager, RCA Recorded Program Services; Lawrence Swanson, general sales manager, Illinois Bell; Burt Squire, station relations, BMI; Mr. Carlson; Ward L. Quaal, vice president and general manager, WGN-AM-TV Chicago, and Ray Livesay, general manager WLHB-AM-FM Mattoon, Ill.

'BWAY OUT IN FRONT!'
The California stations now are owned by Fox, Wells & Co., James G. Rogers, station president, 10.1%; Elliot Cushman, 5.6%; Glen McDaniel, New York attorney, 3.1%; and George E. Jette, station president, 1.7%; William T. Lane, 1.4%; F. R. Tucker, 1.1%; and Jaquen A. Grill, station commercial manager, 0.4%.

Upon Commission approval the KFSD stations will be owned by Fox, Wells & Co. and the Rogers, (e. a.), 54%, and Weekly Publications Inc., 46%.

Newweek actually is paying the $1.5 million for 11,300 shares of common stock (out of 24,450 which will be outstanding). The magazine is paying Fox, Wells $1,250,000 for 9,300 shares, and KFSD Inc. $250,000 for 2,000 shares to be issued. Newweek is receiving 9,300 shares now held by George B. Wells in his own name and under Wells family trusts, plus the 2,000 shares to be issued by KFSD Inc. Mr. Wells, former president of American Optical Co., is retiring from the Fox, Wells firm. Newweek also is assuming 50% obligation of a $800,000 bank loan.

The board of KFSD Inc., now numbering four, will be increased to seven, of which Newweek will elect three. The other four will represent Fox, Wells & Co., the minority stockholders having signed a stock-pooling agreement to go along with Fox. Wells in control of broadcast properties.

Fox, Wells also owns 27% of now-dark ch. 14 WWORT-Worcester, Mass., a number of community antenna systems and controls Barnes Engineering Co., Stamford, Conn.

The transaction was negotiated by Howard E. Stark, New York media broker. KFSD-AM-TV was sold to its present owners in 1954 by Airfair Radio Corp. (Thomas E. Sharpe and associates). The price paid for the San Diego outlets was $2.2 million.

Weekly Publications Inc. becomes the third major magazine publisher to join the broadcast field. Time Inc. and Meredith Publishing Co. have been in the field several years. Time owns 80% of KDYL-AM-FM and KTVT (TV) Salt Lake City, Utah, and 100% of KLZ-AM-FM-TV Denver, Colo., WFBM-AM-TV Indianapolis, Ind., WOOD-AM-TV Grand Rapids Mich., and WCTN-AM-TV Minneapolis Minn. Meredith interests include: KCIC-AM-TV Kansas, Mo.; KPHO-AM-TV Phoenix, Ariz.; WOW-AM-TV Omaha, Neb., and WHEN-AM-TV Syracuse, N.Y.

Newweek was founded in 1933 by Raymond Moley, following his withdrawal from President Franklin D. Roosevelt's "brain trust." It is controlled by Vincent Astor and a minority interest is owned by Averell Harriman, New York governor and candidate for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination. Malcolm Muir Sr., now editor-in-chief, was brought in as first manager of the weekly news magazine. Mr. Muir came from McGraw Publishing Co.

Israel to Head WAAM (TV)
When WBC Takes Over Aug. 5

APPOINTMENT of Larry H. Israel as general manager of WAAM (TV) Baltimore was announced Friday by Donald H. McGannon, president of the Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. The appointment is effective Aug. 5, when WBC is scheduled to assume ownership of the station.

Mr. Israel currently is vice president and general manager of WENS (TV) Pittsburgh, uhf station, and of KMGM-TV Minneapolis-St. Paul. Mr. Israel earlier had worked for five years for WDTV (TV) Pittsburgh (now KDKA-TV, a Westinghouse station), starting with the time the station went on the air in 1948. He served there, in turn, as news and special events editor, operations manager and sales manager.

WAAM (TV), which operates on ch. 13 and is an affiliate of ABC-TV, was purchased by WBC from WAAM Inc. The transaction involved the exchange of Westinghouse Electric Corp. stock for WAAM Inc. stock, valued at the time of agreement May 6 at $4.4 million. Included in the purchase was the acquisition of liquid quick net assets in excess of $500,000. The assignment of the license subsequently was approved by the FCC.

Mr. McGannon reported WBC has petitioned the FCC for assignment of the call letters WJZ to the Baltimore outlet. He pointed out these call letters have "a great historical value" to Westinghouse broadcasting activities, having been assigned to the company's third radio station, licensed Oct. 1, 1921, to broadcast in Newark, N. J. This petition is pending before the commission.

WAAM will be WBC's fifth vhf tv station, giving the company its final vhf outlet since Commission rules prohibit a single entity from owning more than five vhf's. Other WBC tv stations are KYW-TV Cleveland, WBZ-TV Boston, KDKA-TV Pittsburgh and KPIX (TV) San Francisco.

Sale of Young International To Be Announced This Week

REPORTS of the sale of Young International Ltd. to "outside interests" are expected to be confirmed this week by Adam Young, president of both Young International and the domestic and Canadian station representation firms bearing his name. It was learned last week that the international firm's contracts and name have been purchased for an estimated price of over $50,000 by Harry M. Engel Jr., president of Radio Guan (KUAM-AM-TV), Walter Staskow, manager of ZBM Hamilton, Bermuda, and Stephen A. Mann, vice president and general manager of Mr. Young's international organization.

New name of the firm reportedly will be Intercontinental Services Corp., with Mr. Engel as president, Mr. Staskow vice president, and Mr. Mann general manager. ISC will not take over Mr. Young's Canadian operations, Canadian Station Representatives Ltd., which has changed its corporate name to Young Canadian Ltd.

Over 20 station properties—both foreign and in U. S. territories—are affected by the switchover. They include KUAM-AM-TV Agana, Guam; WSTA St. Thomas, V. I.; WICAC San Juan, WPRP Ponce and WORA Mayaguez—all Puerto Rico. Outside U. S. continental limits, Young stations include ZBM Hamilton, Bermuda; ZNS Nassau; Rediffusion, Bridgetown, Barbados; Radio Demerara, Georgetown, British Guiana; 4vm-4vw-4vhw-4vwr TV Port-au-Prince, Haiti, HRLP Tegucigalpa, Honduras; Rediffusion, Hong-Kong; Radio Jamaica and Rediffusion, Cross Roads, Jamaica; Rediffusion, Kuala Lumpur, Malaya; Rediffusion, Penano, Malaya; Rediffusion, Valletta, Malta; YNW-YNR Managua, Nicaragua, YNNW Granada, Nicaragua, and Radio Trinidad, Port-of-Spain, Trinidad.
Fm Unlimited Formed As National Fm Rep

FORMATION of Fm Unlimited Inc. as a national sales representative and promotion organization for fm stations, an industry-wide endeavor based in Chicago and with a New York office, was announced Thursday by Charles W. Kline, president.

At the same time he reported the signing of several stations, including those identified with combined am-fm properties and the Western Fm Network, for the sales and promotion work including verbal commitments from other fm operators in major markets.

The new organization will seek the "advancement of fm as a basic radio medium" and represent fm broadcasters "who provide good programming intended for the home and mobile audience," according to Mr. Kline. As a kind of "program service" to help stations achieve this goal, he added, with several program features already in the planning stages.

Besides selling national and regional advertising, Fm Unlimited will act as a "clearing house" for information considered vital to the fm stations. In addition, he said, "Midwest representative.

Stations signed, according to Mr. Kline, are WFLF-FM Philadelphia, WITF-FM Baltimore, WMAL-FM Washington, D.C., WNIB (FM) Chicago, WFMS (FM) Indianapolis, KCME-FM Kansas City, KRFM (FM) Minneapolis, WBAP-FM Fort Worth, Dallas, as a package, the Western Fm Network, comprised of KCBH (FM) Los Angeles, KEAR (FM) San Francisco, KJML (FM) Sacramento, KPPM (FM) Portland, KISW (FM) Seattle, KNEV (FM) Reno and KHFM (FM) Albuquerque. N. M. KEAR, KCBH and KISW also have signed individual station pacts.

Mr. Kline, who will headquarter at 106 E. Superior St., Chicago (Tel. Superior 7-5262), has been identified with various facets of broadcasting the past 16 years. His background includes five years of radio station sales, programming and production work; five years of advertising agency account work; five years as station manager; and six years as midwest representative for fm, high fidelity and music publications. Recently he has been serving as commercial manager of WNIB (FM) Chicago and as national sales and advertising counsel for American Loudspeaker hi-fi product line.

Fm Unlimited will maintain a New York office at 11 E. 9th St. (Tel. Oregon 4-3431), with Edward Merritt as manager of eastern operations. Offices will be opened in Los Angeles and San Francisco "in the near future," according to Mr. Kline.

Mr. Merritt has been in broadcasting 17 years, serving in announcer, producer, program director and writing capacities. He is credited with helping organize WBSM (FM) New Bedford, Mass., and presently is co-owner of WNIB.

DuMont Broadcasting in Black: Half-year Net Income, $65,234

DuMONT Broadcasting Corp. is operating in the black this year. For the 26 weeks ended last June 29, DuMont had a $65,234 net income after depreciation and amortization of $277,446. This compares to a $330,164 loss after a $191,236 amortization-depreciation for the same 26-week period last year.

The statement for this year includes income from WNEW New York from June 1, 1957. WNEW is newly-acquired by DuMont Broadcasting which also owns WTGQ (TV) Washington and WABD (TV) New York.

DuMont Broadcasting does not have to provide for federal income taxes because of a tax loss carry-forward. Net income for WNEW Broadcasting Inc. from Nov. 1, 1956, the start of its fiscal year, to May 31, 1957, date of its liquidation, was $576,500. After depreciation and before taxes, for which $294,166 was set aside for both federal and state income taxes.

Rabell Would Get $160,000 In KSON Swap for KXOC

TWO California broadcasting firms will swap radio stations, subject to FCC approval, according to an announcement last week.

Broadmoor Broadcasting Co. plans to barter KXOC Chico (1060 kc, 10 kw) plus $160,000 to Rabell Enterprises in exchange for KSON San Diego (1240 kc, 250 w). KXOC will change its call letters to KDUB, but the San Diego outlet will remain KSON.

Broadmoor is owned by Jack O., Jack Jr., and Lawrence Gross. Rabell is owned by Fred and Dorothy Rabell who will retain ownership of KSON-FM (licensee is Music Unlimited) which will change call letters to KBAC (FM).

Jack Gross of Broadmoor is the former owner of KFMB-AM-TV San Diego, sold in 1951 to Kennedy Broadcasting Co. for $925,000. The stations were sold again in 1953 to the present owner, Wrathler-Alvarez Broadcasting Co., for $3 million.

McLendon Steps Up Irish Tv Talks

THE McLendon stations group has stepped up negotiations with the Irish government for commercial tv properties in that country, Barton McLendon, board chairman, has revealed. He acknowledged Gordon R. McLendon, group president, is in that country now at the invitation of its government to discuss plans for building two or three stations to blanket Ireland, which has expressed considerable interest in the project. Another principal, identified as Jay Schatz, partner in Chicago's Chez Paree night club, also is reported interested in the deal.
KBMB-TV Plans to Move Sept. 1 To $100,000 Plant Being Built

Plans for a new $100,000 plant and 245-foot tower for KBMB-TV Bismarck, N. D., have been announced by John W. Boler, president of North Dakota Broadcasting Co. (KXJB-TV Valley City, KBMB-TV, KQJB-AM-TV Minot and KSJB Jamestown, all N. D.).

Work, under supervision of Lloyd Amoo, chief engineer of the stations, has begun and the target date for moving in is set at Sept. 1. Power will go from 30 kw to 100 kw, with tower height increased 100 feet because of increased elevation at the new location. Plans include a two-way micro relay system for feeds between Bismarck, Valley City and Minot. Frank Fitzsimonds is vice president in charge of KBMB-TV.

WT VT (TV) to Open New Bureau

WTVT (TV) Tampa, Fla., will open a central Florida news bureau in Lakeland, temporarily replacing its state capital bureau in Tallahassee, Aug. 1, according to an announcement by the station. Jack Murphy, who has staffed the capital bureau, will organize the central Florida bureau. He still will be available to cover major capital stories, however, according to WTVT.

P. A. Sugg, executive vice president of the WKY Television System Inc., of which WTVT is a part, stated that "with the State Capitol in the summer doldrums, we feel WTVT can better serve the public with a news bureau in Lakeland to cover major events in central Florida, particularly the important citrus beat."

The station will continue to be protected on north Florida and capital events through the UP and AP, it was noted.

WRVA-TV Enters Film Business With Station Tele-Tronic Dept.

WRVA-TV Richmond, Va., has published a brochure describing its Tele-Tronic Film Dept. Since October 1956 this division of the station has been producing commercial and program film by combining electronic and motion picture techniques. The Tele-Tronic process utilizes studio camera chains and control, a tv recording camera and a multis scanner to turn out film in a third the time, and at a third less cost, than standard motion picture technique. The brochure claims. The department, serving advertisers, agencies and others, can process a 60-second spot and deliver a number of prints in eight hours, it was said.

According to the booklet, film is produced in the WRVA-TV studios (edited by live tv technique) and photographed on film in the WRVA-TV laboratory. Film not requiring live action—using film clips, slides and opaques, with optical effects and voice-over—can be handled by the multis scanner, with no studio or cameras required, the station said. The WRVA-TV film developing and processing laboratory turns out finished and dried prints at the rate of 50 feet a minute.

Minimum charge for live facilities, director and technical personnel is quoted in the brochure at $90 a half-hour, with reduced rates for subsequent time. The multis scanner combination, for film not requiring live action, is available at $65 for the first half-hour. Exclusive service, film stock and other equipment are offered at additional fees with all prices subject to change.

Head of the Tele-Tronic Film Dept. is Richard L. Spears.

Consulting Engineer Compton Electrocuted in WSOCTV Mishap

FUNERAL services were held Saturday in Manhattan, Kan., for Robin D. Compton, 50, partner in the engineering consultant firm of George Carr Davis. Mr. Compton was killed June 25 while conducting signal measurements for WSOCTV Charlotte, N.C.

Mr. Compton was in a station wagon with L. L. Caudle, WSOCTV chief engineer, on a road between Statesville and Salisbury, N. C., at the time of the accident, according to the station. He was cranking up the antenna when it contacted a power line. The engineers had checked the site previously by flashlight, it was stated, but failed to note the power line.

Mr. Caudle saw the flash as the antenna contacted the power line. He beat out the flames as Mr. Compton's clothes caught fire.

Surviving are Mr. Compton's widow and a son, James B., 16. The body was flown to Manhattan, the victim's birthplace.

Educated at Kansas State College, Mr. Compton was a staff engineer at NBC before and after World War II. He conducted research in aviation electronics at the Navy Research Lab during the war. He built WPEN Philadelphia's tv station, which was bought by the Philadelphia Bulletin. Joining Mr. Davis in 1948, he had served as consultant on many station construction projects. He was chief engineer of WOIC (TV) Washington before the station, now WTOP-TV, was acquired by The Washington Post.

He read papers at NARTB conferences and was widely known in the industry.

...its words to the wise are sufficient

"Our station's live commercial load was more than our announcing staff could cope with, and the fact that they did not have TelePrompTer to work with led them to a frame of mind where they believed we didn't care whether the stuff was done well or not. Naturally our answer to this attitude was the immediate installation of TelePrompTer. The results speak for themselves."

DATELINES

Winston-Salem—WTOB helped to make the listening public aware of the reactivation, for the third time in over thirty years, of the North Carolina Ku Klux Klan last week with radio coverage of what is referred to as a “public speaking” and cross burning, held in Salisbury, N. C., where the Klan was founded in 1868. The station reports that CBS Radio’s late evening The World Tonight used the mobile unit recordings of the KKK gathering as their lead story last Monday night.

Phoenix—A reporter-photographer team from K TAR and KVAR (TV) are now in the midst of what the stations claim to be the first round-the-world reporting mission with the U. S. Air Force in the history of national radio and tv. The two men, John Harrington, K TAR news reporter, and Charles Wallace, KVAR producer-director-cameraaman—are making a series of tape and film reports on the nation’s global Air Force to be released in August when it celebrates its 50th anniversary. The Harrington tapes will be carried on NBC by Monitor. Tapes and film will be aired on K TAR and KVAR.

Chicago—WBBM-AM-FM-TV and WGN-AM-TV mobilized all their news resources not long ago to cover the worst Chicago rainstorm in 82 years. Some 18 WBBM newsmen remained on the job, several for as long as 16 hours, to report record six-inch rain; six staffers drove about the city collecting first-hand information on flood damage and remedial measures. WGN utilized a cruising plane to gather information, and inserted public service spots on traffic conditions in all disc jockey programs.

Des Moines—The national cross-country Powder Puff Derby, held earlier this month, had a lady entry sponsored by KRNT-AM-TV Des Moines, Iowa, reports the station. Mrs. George Pfantz, wife of a grocer and mother of two, placed 31 in a field of 50, calling in her progress to KRNT News from her Piper Tri-Pacer.

Santa Ana—Listeners of KWIZ-AM-FM Santa Ana, Calif., heard an “on the scene” description of a recent atomic test blast at Nevada’s Yucca Flats when KWIZ news chief Pat Michaels, through special arrangements with the AEC, was allowed to set up a private line direct from the testing site to the station.

Worcester—When a jet plane crashed, exploded and burned on a quiet residential street in this Massachusetts town last fortnight, WTAG-AM-FM—tipped off by an eyewitness—immediately sent Jim Little, news director, and newsman Dick Wright to cover the crash scene. Later, interviews with witnesses to the crash were obtained; and the information gathered was broadcast on WTAG as well as being supplied to other stations across the country.

Los Angeles—When the 65-year-old mother of pianist-personality Liberace was brutally beaten by two thugs, recently, only one radio interview of the assaulted woman was allowed, according to CBS. Ruth Asthon, KNX-AM-TV Los Angeles and CRPN women’s news editor, reportedly scored a radio beat when she was permitted into the darkened bedroom of Mother Liberace to record a statement.

WTIX Urges Central Setup For Storm Warnings in Gulf Area

WTIX New Orleans, at a meeting of Gulf Coast weather bureau, civil defense, radio and tv officials, urged centralization of hurricane warning systems throughout the Gulf area. The station believes such a centralization, with direct communication lines to press and broadcasting stations, will “avert future devastation such as that brought by Hurricane ‘Audrey’”.

Charles A. Schmid, WTIX chief engineer, proposed that a tape “message repeater” be installed at weather bureau headquarters so weathermen can record the latest information as it is computed. Such reports could be repeated until new facts are added, he said. This plan would have radio and tv stations tie into the message repeater with direct lines. Thus, says WTIX, a flip of a control board switch would put the latest weather advisory on the air.

The week before last, directors of the Florida Assn. of Broadcasters, considering somewhat the same type problem noted by WTIX, called on Gov. LeRoy Collins to “fix responsibility in each county for storm or disaster preparation” [BT, July 22].

Where-to-Buy Announcements
Building Spot Sales, Weed Says
THE growing emphasis on where-to-buy-it announcements is helping build spot radio and television sales, according to Joseph J. Weed, president of Weed Television Corp., N. Y.

In a letter to station sales staff last week, the station representative noted that "no other medium is as satisfactory as spot in the utilization of local dealers' names and addresses for nationally advertised products.

"Where-to-buy-it is the logical adjunct to why-to-buy-it," Mr. Weed said, "and spot radio and tv offer this much-desired merchandising service in the most convenient, economical and swiftest way. Dealer relations are strengthened in the use of his name on the spot program, and buyers get information that can quickly complete a sale."

Taft Announces Realignment

INTERNATIONAL

ABROAD IN BRIEF:

SECOND TV FOR MOSCOW: Moscow Radio has reported that a second tv station is planned for the Soviet capital by the end of 1958. The new station will have a 1,500 ft. tower.

AID TO UNCLE: According to a German report, the Bonn government is discussing the possibility of paying half the operating costs of U. S. radio station RIAS Berlin (Radio in the American Sector). Operations there are being cut back somewhat by the lower budget which went into effect for U. S. Information Agency this month (see GOVERNMENT). No serious curtailment of service was expected in Washington, however.

A spokesman for the USIA in Washington knew nothing of the possibility of German aid being offered for RIAS. He was dubious that such an offer would be acceptable if made, since the facility is part of the Voice of America. The German report of possible participation by Bonn in RIAS pointed out that the station is the only German-language station serving the Soviet Zone of Germany from the West. A proposed Bonn-operated station has been on the air with test transmissions for several months but has not started actual broadcasting.

BERLIN TV BOOSTS POWER: Radio Free Berlin, which now covers sectors of Western Berlin with a 5 kw tv transmitter, plans to install a 50 kw unit before the end of the year. This will extend RFB's tv coverage into the Soviet Zone of Germany, which surrounds the western sectors of Berlin.

RFB operates one of the two West German tv stations which have partial commercial programming. (The other is Bavarian Radio in Munich, which pipes its commercial programs to RFB.) The 50 kw transmitter cost $180,000, raised by a loan from West German Radio, Cologne. RFB's total 1957 budget is more than $4 million.

Western advertisers are expected to be willing to invest in extra coverage to the Soviet Zone. Although no direct sales are allowed there, their products would be familiar to new buyers, if and when the Iron Curtain is raised.

RED RECIPROCITY: A Moscow Radio broadcast reported earlier this month that the broadcasting systems of the U.S.S.R. and Yugoslavia have reached an agreement for cooperation in radio and tv broadcasting. No details were given.

Last week it also was announced that Soviet engineers have designed a 1,300-ft.-tall television center for Peiping, China. Supported by legs of steel tubing, the platform structure would hold cabins for radio-tv equipment and a gallery for sightseers.

TV INTERESTS AUSSIES: Adelaide, in south Australia, is without tv broadcast facilities of its own. But a department store and the W. A. Sheaffer Pen Co. were able to show citizens what tv is like. And enthusiastic citizens showed they liked tv. The Myer Emporium Ltd. set up a tv cabinet in its window and, using a 16 mm projector and mirror,

CARTB, CBS Concert Tv Week
Sept. 8-14 With That of U. S.
CANADIAN television stations will hold a Television Week at the same time as the U. S., Sept. 8-14. An announcement to this effect was made July 18 at Toronto by the Canadian Assn. of Radio & Tv Broadcasters.
The Canadian Tv Week will be held jointly by member stations of CARTB and stations of the CBC.

Promotion of the week will show how the tv station can be a member of the Canadian family. CBC at the same time will celebrate five years of tv in Canada, the first stations having been opened in September 1952 at Montreal and Toronto, CBMT and CBLT respectively. Now there are 37 tv stations on the air and seven more licensed but not yet telecasting.

While tv set sales will be part of the Canadian Tv Week, a decision to join the U. S. promotion was made too late to obtain full cooperation of the Canadian Radio-Electronic-Tv Mfrs. Assn. Contact for tv set sales will be made on the local level by all Canadian tv stations, according to present plans. It is also expected a number of 20-second film strips will be produced for stations to show how tv affects today's Canadian life. CARTB will offer prizes to tv stations for the best tv promotion in both English and French languages during Tv Week.

Japanese Allocation Plan Lists
11 Vhf Channels, 107 Stations
THE government of Japan last month set up its final television allocation plan, after long deliberation and hearings. The plan provides 11 channels for 107 stations, all in very high frequencies, 90-108 mc for lower bands and 170-216 mc for higher bands, each band 6 mc wide.

Tokyo is allocated six channels (three of them on the air now), and Osaka is given four (two in use). Assignments of one, two or three channels are planned for other cities, with two predominating.

Sixteen stations are operating in Japan now, and five more are expected to go on the air within a year. Of the 16, five are commercial. Others operate under the non-commercial National Corporation of Telecasting & Broadcasting.

Bank of Canada Agency Switch Is First in New Administration

BANK OF CANADA, Ottawa (Canada Savings Bond campaign), has appointed McKim Adv. Ltd., Montreal, to handle its fall savings bond campaign. This is the first change in a government account advertising agency since the new Progressive-Conservative party was elected June 10.

Plans for the savings bond campaign, including four 90-minute plays, are well advanced by the former agency, Walsh Adv. Co. Ltd., Toronto, on the national television network. No announcement has been made yet as to changes in the present planning of the campaign on radio and television, or whether the plans developed by Walsh Adv. for tv and Ronalds Adv. Agency, Montreal, for radio, will be canceled.

In the fiscal year just past (ending March 31, 1956), eight agencies accounted for $3,692,870 in government advertising in all media. Top advertising expenditures were placed through MacLaren Adv. Ltd., Toronto, $979,442; Cockfield Brown & Co. Ltd., Montreal, $979,095; Ronalds Adv. Agency, Montreal, $789,526; and Walsh Adv. Ltd., Toronto, $779,085.

KTTV (TV) Los Angeles Covers Miss Universe Contest

PULCHRITUDE plus a "startling last-minute revelation" boosted the audience for the KTTV (TV) Los Angeles telecast of the selection of Miss Universe of 1958 on July 19 to an estimated 3,250,000, nearly a 50% increase over the two million who watched the previous year's finals on KTTV.

Special ARB coincidental survey made from 10:15 to 11 p.m. showed KTTV with a rating of 38.5, compared to a 5.0 for the second of the city's seven tv stations and lesser figures for the other five. ARB data indicated that 53.8% of the area's tv sets were in use, up one-third from the normal sets-in-use count for that day and time, and that better than 70% of them were tuned to KTTV.

The Miss Universe telecasts on KTTV, which covered the contest from the arrival of the girls in Long Beach, Calif., through all the preliminaries right up to the crowning of Miss Peru as world's winner, were sponsored by Max Factor & Co. through Doyle Dane Bernbach. The finals only were fed to San Francisco and telecast by KGO-TV there.

The startling revelation was that Miss USA was really a Mrs. and mother of two children, a charge that the national title holder had vehemently denied on the previous night's telecast but had admitted the morning of the contest's final day. The 11th-hour selection of a new Miss USA and the ensuing debate as to whether she should be included in the judging for the global title (the decision was no) produced a tidal wave of publicity and a maximum audience for event, sponsor and station.

WTOP Issues Brochure

WTOP Washington has issued a 20-page brochure entitled, "Do You Know This Man?" It goes on to say he is 34½ years old, 6'4" tall, weighs 179 pounds, has brown hair and brown eyes. It explains that he is a composite of twenty-four WTOP personalities. The booklet also gives brief biographical sketches of the personalities and pictures of them.

Only STEEL can do so many jobs so well

Artificial Heart-Lung Machine. This Stainless Steel machine removes blood from the body, replenishes it with oxygen, and pumps it back into the body—thereby functioning as heart and lungs. With it, doctors can actually stop the heart and repair it, since the machine does the heart’s job. The device is made completely from Stainless Steel because it is the most easily cleaned of all metals. Stainless Steel will not corrode, and it will not contaminate or alter the structure of the blood in any way.

Walls Of Steel—Tall Or Small. The big picture shows the Socony Mobil Building at 42nd and Lexington in New York City. It’s the largest metal-walled office building in the world, and is completely sheathed with Stainless Steel panels. They used Stainless Steel because of its lasting beauty, durability, corrosion resistance, and low maintenance. The picture below shows an all-steel prefabricated school. The steel skeleton is strong and safe, and the porcelain-enameded steel wall panels are colorful and easy to care for.

127 Different Parts! This quiet, reliable alarm clock is a mass-production miracle. 127 different parts work together so that you can be sure of getting where you want to be on time. Most of the parts are made from steel because steel is strong, wear-resistant, and easy to fabricate.

KGW-TV Launches

KGW-TV Portland has launched what it terms the “biggest single food promotion in 30 years of food business.” In conjunction with White Satin sugar and Wedgewood Homes, the station is sponsoring a “Win a House” contest. The prize is a new $16,500 Wedgewood Home.

When a person purchases White Satin sugar in the Oregon or southwestern Washington area grocery stores, he gets an entry blank and is asked to finish in 25 words or less: “I have purchased White Satin sugar and I have seen the KGW-TV Wedgewood Home and I think it is the perfect home because...”

Power of Negative Thinking

WITH typewriter tucked in cheek, Henry J. Kaufman & Assoc., Washington, D. C. advertising agency, has sent out a mailing piece entitled “Name Dropping.”

Cartoons and copy reminisce about several clients who have passed through the agency’s portals—the firm that was absorbed by a Big Company, the long-term client who retired and the CIO (which merged with the AFL). As the copy reads, “... We’ve been losing accounts with the best of ‘em, man and boy. ever since we started in 1929.”

For prospects who might be wondering, a final page of positive thinking includes a list of clients who have stayed around.

WATE-TV Covers Sears Sale

WATE-TV Knoxville gave live coverage to the local “Sears Pre-4th” sale this month with its new $75,000 mobile unit. The advance promotion of the event included on-the-air plugs, newspaper publicity, live show mentions, full-sheet signs in the store and a feature on the front page of the tabloid section run by Sears in the morning daily. The show was entitled Sears Pre-4th Janubaree and featured local and station talent and guests. The program originated from Sears’ furniture department on the top floor thereby “creating a traffic flow throughout the other departments.” WATE-TV reports that before the sale Sears was running 11% behind the same period last year, but that after the sale, they were only 1.8% behind.

NBC Uses ‘Real Cool’ Approach

NBC Spot Sales personnel making the agency rounds this summer are using a “real cool” approach. Before acquainting agency time buyers and other media employees with the “hot availabilities” on represented radio and TV stations, they place a miniature electric fan on the prospect’s desk and turn it on. The fan is a battery-operated model about the size of a flashlight.

KFMB-TV Offers New Service

KFMB-TV San Diego is offering a new service to local television viewers who ride the city buses. A brochure which gives the station’s daily overall program schedule is being distributed by use of a “take one” bus card. KFMB-TV estimates that 25,000 of the booklets will reach the viewing public during its 90-day campaign.

KOLN-TV Offers $5,000

KOLN-TV Lincoln, Neb., is offering $5,000 to any western league baseball player who hits a ball through a hole in the station’s billboard at Sherman Field. The hole is located in the center of the CBS eye which appears on the advertisement. The sign is part of the field’s outfield fence. The player winning the $5,000 must hit the ball through the hole during a regulation game.

ABC-TV’s ‘American Bandstand’

ABC-TV will air American Bandstand (Mon.-Fri. 3-4 p.m. EST) starting next Monday. It will originate live from WFIL-TV Philadelphia, according to James T. Aubrey Jr., ABC-TV vice president in charge of programming. The program, which is an outgrowth of WHFL-TV’s Bandstand, features popular music, audience participation, dance contests and guest performances and interviews. It also will include Dick Clark as m.c. and is “in line with the network’s new emphasis on live music and personalities,” reports the network.

WWDC Increases Weathercasts

QUARTER-HOUR weather reports, 24 hours a day, will be started Aug. 1 by WWDC Washington, which reports it has exclusive rights to the Electrovac reports of Dr. Irving P. Krick Associates of Denver. Long-range forecasts of the Krick firm are based on electronic computations. Ben Strouse, WWDC president-general manager, said the Krick forecasts tracked Hurricane Audrey more accurately than other services. The station is distributing hand fans to promote the new service.

WOV Celebrates ‘Trentennale’

WOV New York is using its 30th anniversary as the theme of its summer Italian audience promotion, the “Trentennale.” The promotion consists of 10 random telephone interviews a day. The person called is asked to pick a number from 1 to 30 to determine which gift he draws from a stack. He is given an invitation to chat about himself, his family, or relatives in Italy. The promotion will run for two months. WOV, a 24-hour operation, devotes 10½ hours daily to Italian language shows.

WBLK Announces ‘It’s a Boy’

WBLK Clarksburg, W. Va., celebrated its 20th anniversary July 19 and held a cocktail party for representatives from 50 newspapers in central West Virginia. The station changed its call letters to WBOY to conform with the call letters for the new TV station in Clarksburg which will be called WBOY-TV. To promote the change, cigars with “It’s a Boy” wrappers were handed out to visiting newsmen at the cocktail party. WBOY-TV plans to be on the air Oct. 1.

WICE Holds Free Record Hop

WITH no other promotion but 10 spots a day for 10 days, WICE Providence, R. I., turned out 10,000 youngsters July 19 for a free record hop at Rocky Point Palladium. Advance estimates expected a top crowd of 1,500. As part of WICE’s 5th anniversary promotion, the station event included free cokes and amusement park rides for the entire evening.

NEWSREELS ARE NOW TV'S CUP OF TEA

With the movies' product faltering, video news film has stepped in

A SECOND movie newsreel will discontinue its operations. Paramount News, newsreel operation of Paramount Pictures, will end a 30-year service to theatres on Feb. 15. Last August, Warner-Pathé ceased operations.—B&T, Jan. 28.

A new "first" is reported with tv news-film being shown theatrically in a Los Angeles newsreel movie house. . . Showings of CBS Newsfilm reportedly are made 8-10 times per day . . .—B&T, June 17.

A CALL by a theatre owner on the facilities of a primarily tv enterprise to supply newsfilm never could have happened a few years ago.

But the evidence is piling up that the theatrical newsreel as a factor in the motion picture economy is nearly played out, a victim of the economic downswing in its own industry and of tv's remodeling effect in both the entertainment and news fields.

Where once five theatrical newsreels dominated motion picture journalism, there now are only three. One of the trio—Fox Movietone—is in trouble and reportedly about to switch from spot news filming to in-depth, background treatment in the documentary or magazine fashion. Fox, it's said, will film in Cinemascope to boot. (Warner-Pathé left the field in August of last year, Paramount News folded last February. Two other newsreel operations are Universal News and MGM's "News of the Day").

The importance of the news film product to newsreel theatres is seen in the Los Angeles operation. At the Newsreel Theatre in downtown Los Angeles, the news film on a typical day occupied the first 32 minutes of a 55-minute news portion of the theatre's program. The remaining 23 minutes comprised a combination of all output of theatrical reels being used by the theatre.

The theatre's manager, David Ostenham, supervises editing of the film, recording music and his own voice for narration over silent portions on magnetic strip. This reel is made up only once a week, though when a hot story breaks, it is added at the head of the reel and featured on the theatre's marquee. Over a seven-day period, this reel may be re-run some 60-70 times.

To accommodate the use of news film, the theatre added 16-mm. film projection equipment—a projector and a proper lens. A sidelight is that the theatre installed a small refrigerator to store the film when it is not being run, keeping it dust free.

While it is yet too early to assess the significance of this development in the news film field, this is obvious:

- The future of news film in theatres will bear watching. Actual newsreel theatre outlets are limited but should practice prove news film a "natural" for movie showing, feature theatres may show an interest.
- News film syndicators have geared their services to tv stations not theatres. The latter is added revenue and another outlet for news film distribution.
- Most importantly, use of the film in even a few theatres adds to the prestige of news film syndication, an operation that is only nine years old but already boasting a $3-4 million business volume.

Newsfilm syndication has flexed its muscles as a supplier of news program product for stations throughout the U.S. Advertisers have displayed their enthusiasm by an increasing number of them signing as sponsors of news shows using the film product. Both in sales and in ratings, the local news show using syndicated film has done well in many markets, even when pitted against the network news show that lacks its flexibility.

Actually, tv news film syndication has shot into prominence since only 1948 when INS-Telenews appeared as the first syndicator on the scene. But in the syndication bed, it's difficult at times to see the roses for the thorns. Some would be entrepreneurs: The Associated Press (in 1947 and again in 1952 with Spotnews Productions, Inc.) and NBC, whose daily news syndication service operated for awhile before being discontinued in July 1954. NBC has its own newsfilm operation but does not syndicate to stations.

Newsfilm syndication is handled by three firms, each providing a daily service—INS-Telenews, CBS Newsfilm and UP Movietone News. They span the U.S. and are in overseas markets in just about every "tv country." Networks use newsfilm, too, and even a newspaper or magazine often asks for permission to reproduce a photograph from an unusual filmed scene.

Newsfilm is making itself felt in other ways, too: by constantly changing newscasts and by building new and speedy methods of distribution of filmed products. It is precisely this drive for speed and efficiency that has helped to toss the movie newsreel business for an operational loss.

Though money-makers for stations served, syndicated tv news film suffers from an occupational hazard usually associated with railroads: It costs too much to run. Or as expressed by the services themselves: "fantastically expensive and normally an unprofitable one" (INS); "excessively expensive" (Movietone), and "ad-mately it is an expensive project" (CBS).

Primarily, the syndicators are in business because their commodity is in news and they intend to make money whenever and wherever possible. W. R. Higginbotham, manager of UP Movietone, notes, "We intend to make a legitimate profit from it," and Howard L. Kany, manager of CBS Newsfilm, the only U.S.-owned (CBS Inc.) newsfilm syndicate, says CBS is so engaged because the product is necessary for stations and has been accepted by them.

Growth has been dynamic. INS-Telenews first appeared on the scene in February 1948, more as a promise than a going concern. Now it has more than 140 station clients in this country (the INS total includes a newsfilm feed to 35-40 stations affiliated with a few stations which receive stills). UP Movietone News, the second oldest, having started more than five years ago, serves more than 60 stations in this country with impressive servicing abroad. (If UP Movietone added weekly servicing, facsimile and other offshoot services, its domestic total easily would go over the 200 mark.) CBS Newsfilm is the youngest (it started in 1954 with only two stations), its product goes to more than 100 stations in the U.S.

Biggest problems for the syndicators now: keeping pace in personnel with increasing demands for their product; keeping abreast of latest technological developments—color TV, video, tape, etc.; whittling down thousands of feet of film shot daily to the smaller percentage of film actually sent to stations (this is a mounting cost factor—film and editing cost money).

A huge staff must be maintained in chief centers of the country and overseas. Camera correspondents, numbering in the hundreds, are on call. A virtual "small army," as INS puts it, of laboratory personnel, cutters, writers, editors and shipping department employees are needed to keep up service to newsfilm clients. A familiar figure at airports in major news centers is the newsfilm motocyclist picking up exposed film that must be processed and viewed, and roaring back to the airport to meet split-second shipping schedules.

The business is sensitive to physical conditions, too, such as camera exposure, film editing, scripting, airline schedules and the weather itself. The big nut to crack, says Mr. Higginbotham, is the need for "cheap and fast distribution by wire." Current methods of photographing off the TV tube (kinescoping in the U.S. or telerecording abroad) is costly and quality of the film not up to syndicators' standards. Mr. Kany thinks the future will bring newsfilm delivered by cable or other electronic means, cutting the time lag.

Newsfilm on electronic tape is another possibility in the years ahead. Envisioned is film or tape to transmit motion picture images from Europe and Asia to the U.S.

But away from the crystal ball, refinements constantly are being made in film editing, in scripting that permits stories to remain up to date over long periods and in faster laboratory processing and shipping.

Newsfilm syndicators watch the market-by-market track record of local newscasts using their product. This is perhaps the acid test—for the better the program (ratings and audience, etc.), the more sales to advertisers and the wider the carpet spread by the station before the syndicator.
What do giraffes have to do with high blood pressure?

In its search for more knowledge about baffling diseases, medical science takes some strange turns. For example, doctors have gone to Africa to study the blood pressure of giraffes.

They found that it takes an unusually high pressure to pump blood from the giraffe's heart to his brain—a distance of some 14 to 15 feet. Yet, its heart and blood vessels are not under strain.

Doctors are trying to learn more about how this is accomplished for it could shed new light on the disorder affecting an estimated 6 million Americans—high blood pressure or hypertension.

Fortunately, most cases of hypertension can be helped by proper treatment. In fact, it can often be controlled simply by relieving day-to-day emotional stresses which push blood pressure up and tend to keep it excessively elevated.

If you have hypertension, your doctor may suggest a way of life especially adapted to your needs. Among other things, he will probably recommend plenty of rest and weight control. The latter is important in treating, and possibly preventing, hypertension. In fact, hypertension is four times as common in overweight men as in those who are underweight.

If changes in living habits do not control this disorder, other treatments . . . including medicines, special diets or surgery . . . may be used.

Hypertension is more easily controlled when discovered early. So, everyone should have periodic health examinations. Those who have reached middle age, are overweight, or whose parents or close relatives had elevated blood pressure should be especially watchful.

When hypertension is diagnosed, a patient should continue to see the doctor regularly. Then possible complications can be prevented, postponed or, if they occur, treated promptly.
In Washington, between the hours of 6 and 9 PM, the majority of all radios tuned in are tuned to WRC. During this time period, WRC wins a 31.3% share of audience...a 25% advantage over the second station!

Principally responsible for this handsome evening margin are WRC's local personalities. Leading off are newscasters Bill Sprague and Bryson Rash with greater audiences in their respective time periods than all other stations combined. Sportscaster Jim Simpson, who follows, has more than twice the audience of any competitor, and popular disc jockey Al Ross very nearly matches this record!

In Washington's 17-radio-station market, authority of this sort means quick buying response from listeners. Have WRC Radio speak for you in the nation's Capital. WRC·980

THE MARKET'S MUCH TOO COMPETITIVE FOR GUESSWORK IN MEDIA

WHATEVER became of that scornful phrase popular at luncheon tables just a few years ago—"cost-per-thousand buyer!"

No more bitter indictment could have been hurled at an agency buyer. It immediately accused one of having absolutely no imagination and of following any set of statistics right out the nearest window.

In the dear departed days our knowledge of research was pretty well limited to a cost-per-thousand based on a program rating.

What has happened today, now that the agency buyer is surrounded by a comparative wealth of statistics such as audience compositions, unduplicated reach, audience distribution by age, market size, etc.? Has imagination been lost for all time and have our buys sunk to a new, uninspired low?

Let one buyer right now take a firm position that this new familiarity with research has only opened a new horizon against which to apply imagination and judgment.

And certainly this television era since 1949, with its unprecedented expanding economy and its new leisure time, has so changed the dimension of radio and television that new statistical measurements had to develop.

Television dimensions have changed with explosive suddenness, propelling television into its present state of maturity in only a few years—a feat achieved by no other medium.

Measurements common to 1949 or even 1954 no longer are sufficient by themselves. Whole new concepts of buying and researching had to be established.

Suppose we show an advertiser that his second network property substantially duplicates his audience to the first program—that he is not adding a whole new segment of the population, but rather is only building frequency on those he already is reaching.

If frequency of message is not a requirement, we are then in a position to recommend another program—or even another medium. Is this bad? Doesn't everyone benefit when the advertiser does? And isn't this, after all, a comparatively new and certainly useful type of research, coupled with judgment?

THE CHANGING ROLE OF RADIO

Radio's dimensions also have changed—equally drastic changes—however more subtle in their accomplishments. While television has assumed radio's historical position as the "entertainment medium"—the family medium—radio today serves a different but equally important role as the "service and information medium"—the personal medium.

As a corollary to this revolution in radio we have found that many of the familiar, historical benchmarks in radio have been replaced by new and rather unfamiliar data. The overriding question in radio today is not "how potent is it?" but how best to utilize its strength under these changed, unfamiliar conditions. It's interesting to note that as we analyze and measure the effect of these changed dimensions we find a wealth of pertinent research and statistics, but unfortunately an overbalanced proportion of it applies only to television.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if this were true of radio as well? Who can say with accuracy just how large a radio audience is and how best to reach them at home, in the car, at the beach, picnics or any one of the hundreds of places a radio set can be found. What about frequency in radio?

There are so many areas in radio today where even judg-
Hot Spots

At least two major advertisers and one major agency are walking perilously close to the outer edge of propriety, if not of legality, in what appears to be a unique bid by one of the advertisers to get a summer hiatus without giving up its prime time positions.

Benton & Bowles, which regularly represents General Foods, has taken on a "special spot tv assignment" for Bristol-Myers and has asked stations to accept a year-long spot schedule from the two advertisers in "partnership." In essence, as detailed elsewhere in this journal, General Foods' Maxwell House coffee would like to go off during the hot summer months but come back to its prime positions in the fall when coffee-drinking weather returns. So Bristol-Myers' Ban, which as a deodorant has bright prospects in the summertime, would take over during most of the hot weeks and Maxwell House could recapture its old positions when the weather cools.

This strikes us—and many other observers—as frightfully close to time breaking, although Benton & Bowles authorities make a point that they're convinced it is "not in any way illegal or unfair in practice." The fact that the stations' sanction is necessary does not, in our view, alter the fact that fundamentally it is a case of one advertiser selling station time to another advertiser.

Apart from the question of time brokerage, however, the device could establish several bad precedents. Adopted by others, it would shatter stations' general policy against granting hiatuses. It would automatically deprive other advertisers of a chance to buy these prime spots.

General Foods, Bristol-Myers, and Benton & Bowles are all too knowledgeable, too concerned with the cause of good advertising, too aware of the importance of television to want to make such a shambles as seems apt to result from this gambit. GF, B-M, and B&B should abandon it voluntarily.

Wired for Competition

Developments of the past two months point to the probability that broadcasters will soon face a new competitor—for audience and for advertising.

Closed-circuit subscription television has grown from a speculative idea to the blueprint stage. It must still lick many troublesome economic problems before it becomes a significant force, but it seems to have better than a 50-50 chance of establishing itself as a new means of entertainment distribution.

In Bartlesville, Okla., Video Independent Theatres is now constructing a wired system to provide several program services for a flat monthly fee. The principal video fare will be first-run movies. At the outset the service will also include a music-news-weather program. Eventually, the proprietors say, live television programs and a background music service will be added.

Video Independent says it will not sell advertising on its movie programs but it will sell it on the music-news-weather service and on its live tv shows. The implications of competition with free tv and radio are evident.

In Los Angeles and San Francisco, Skiatron TV Inc. is planning to establish closed-circuit tv in anticipation of the transfer to those cities of the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants baseball teams. The big-league games would provide the basic program service for Skiatron, but the company has far more ambitious program plans in work.

In testimony a fortnight ago before the House Antitrust Subcommittee, Matthew Fox, president of Skiatron, said that ballet, opera, first-run movies and theatrical attractions also figured in the television program fare which Skiatron would offer subscribers. Additionally, said Mr. Fox, Skiatron will provide a 24-hour daily hi-fi music service. Although Mr. Fox implied that Skiatron would not sell advertising, there would appear to be no insurmountable obstacle in the way of Skiatron's doing so if it succeeded in attracting audience.

Interest in closed-circuit subscription television is not confined to Bartlesville, Los Angeles and San Francisco or to Video Independent Theatres and Skiatron. Video Independent has said it will expand to other southwestern communities if its Bartlesville operation succeeds. Skiatron is planning systems in "many cities." Other companies like International Telemeter have still other projects in mind. Plainly, closed circuit subscription tv is not a pipe dream.

To be sure, serious questions must be resolved before wired systems can become a widespread reality. Not the least of these is the matter of installation costs. So far, authorities have produced cost estimates ranging from $4 million to $60 million to wire the city of San Francisco. If $60 million turned out to be the right figure, wired tv would not appear to be the easy way to quick profits.

But other factors are working in favor of closed-circuit subscription tv. Not the least of these is government delay in deciding the future of on-the-air subscription television. Powerful members of Congress have warned the FCC not to approve toll tv on broadcast channels until Congress itself has explored the issues of public interest that are involved. Indeed all but Zenith among the original advocates of broadcast toll tv have modified their proposals to include wired systems. Zenith is alone in sticking to the wish to operate toll tv only on the airways.

For the broadcaster, wired toll tv will present new problems in competition. The most obvious, of course, is in the realm of programming.

To the degree that a subscription system succeeds in selling a tv program, to the same degree it will succeed in diverting audience from the free programs offered at the same time. If the toll system can divert enough people from free tv it will also be able to sell that audience to an advertiser.

In competing with free tv, the toll operator will have certain advantages. Unlike the regulated telecaster, the toll operator will be under no legal obligation to provide sustaining or public service programs. He will be permitted to transmit as full or scant a program schedule as he feels he can sell. In short, he will be able to deal exclusively in profit-making shows, without having to worry about social or cultural responsibilities. This flexibility will be envied by free telecasters who, by tradition and regulation, are obliged to broadcast many programs which are of little commercial value.

The possibility of competition between closed-circuit subscription television and commercial radio has been given slight attention. It deserves closer study by radio broadcasters whose formats are made up of music and news. Assuming the closed-circuit operator programs his sound service skillfully, the threat to established radio listening habits is obvious.

All this is not to say that free radio and television need be alarmed by the prospective competition of wired systems. Broadcasters should, however, begin to plan for a future that will differ from the present.

It is not unreasonable to predict that some of them may become wired subscription operators themselves. In the hands of single management, separate free and fee systems could be made compatible even though competitive.
