A. B. Jolley...

"...is probably the best known agricultural commentator in the State of Texas"...

...stated Mr. Paul W. Limerick, Western Advertising Agency, in his letter below, for which we are very grateful.

WESTERN ADVERTISING AGENCY
INCONIPORATED
CHICAGO I. ILLINOIS
April 30, 1958

Mr. W. A. Roberts
Vice-President in Charge of Radio
Radio Station KRLD
Dallas, Texas

Dear Mr. Roberts:

I imagine it is rather unusual to have a client that expresses his appreciation for cooperation and excellent service like I intend to do in this letter. However, I think it would be much out of line if I did not write this.

Our association with you and A. B. Jolley and your station has been most pleasant and I cannot speak highly enough of the personalized cooperation that has been shown our client, the Deltalb Agricultural Association.

We have found Mr. Jolley more than anxious to cooperate with our sales organization in the field and always ready to obtain localized news which has made the program exceedingly effective.

The writer has made several trips with Mr. Jolley and has noted with much pleasure that he is probably the best known agricultural commentator in the State of Texas and is affectionately called "A.B." by hundreds and hundreds of farmers when they see him on the street. He has never failed to appear before our dealers meetings and on field trips and has originated many worthwhile ideas that have consistently paid off.

The management of your station, which of course is you, can also be highly commended for their excellent spirit of cooperation. Our advertising job would be made much easier if the management of all of our media would be as much concerned with making advertising pay, as you have been.

Again let me express the sincere appreciation of both your efforts and Mr. Jolley, from our client and from ourselves.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

KRLD Radio, the only full-time 50,000 watt station operating in Dallas-Fort Worth, is the radio station of The Dallas Times Herald, owners and operators of KRLD-TV, Channel 4. For full information concerning the JOLLEY FARM NEWS, check with The Branham Company, national representatives.
CALL YOUR CONGRESSMAN • Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.), chairman of high-gear House Legislative Oversight Committee now making headline news with Sherman Adams case, wasn't only congressman who expressed interest in that Pine Bluff, Ark., radio case (see page 72).
Docket at FCC also shows following legislators either showed interest or forwarded communications (quite common in broad-(D-Ark.), Reps. W. F. Norrell (D-Ark.),
John Bell Williams (D-Miss.) and J. W.
Tramble (D-Ark.). Rep. Williams, also member of Legislative Oversight Committee, got interested because prospective grantees are Mississippians (Louis Alford, Phillip D. Brady and Albert Mack Smith, owners of WAPF McComb, WMDC Hazelhurst and WDAL Meridian, all Mississippi).

Look for announcement soon that Exquisite Form Brassiere Inc. (through Grey Adv.) will use GRP—"gross rating points"—system of media selection and buying in tv spot. GRP has been used by number of other agencies (Leo Burnett, Norman, Craig & Kimmel, etc.), now will be put to use to grab "specific audicence" for Exquisite Form's new brassiere cheduled for introduction in fall. Time-buying under GRP is determined on number of exposures needed to make consumer buy product—via intricate allday figures based upon ratings of shows surroundning spot availability. Exquisite is $2.5 million tv spot advertiser (including barter).

WAY IT BOUNCES • U. S. Rubber Co. seems slated to be next corporate advertiser to drop network tv, but several of its divisions are understood to be planing accelerated local spot activities. U. S.
Rubber—reported by its division—for past two years has been sponsoring Navy Log on ABC-TV, has been network advertiser since days of "four-station networks" in 1946. Its agency, Fletcher D. Richards Inc., is not looking at new network properties. But Keds Div. (children's shoe-wear), now in over 100 markets with tv kids show participations, will "expand," it's learned. Tire Div., affected by Detroit slump, reportedly is considering taking network tv allocations and placing them in local radio.

Many advertisers are awaiting midyear reports of sales for first six months of 1958 before determining advertising budgets for coming season. Thus some who in past years bought time and programs by end of June will not be making final decisions this year until end of August. Among those in this category are Chesebrough-Ponds, Tums, Helene Curtis, Derby Foods, Swift and Bulova.

CAUGHT IN MIDDLE • After six month pendency, FCC last Thursday considered for first time record-breaking $20 million transfer of WCAU-AM-FM-TV and related real estate from Philadelphia Bul-kin to CBS but deferred final action pending receipt of additional information.
Since FCC's Network Study Group Report had not covered programming phase, staff was instructed to inquire of CBS about program tie-ins in sale of network time. Network study staff is now in process of preparing that phase of report.

Antitrust Division of Dept. of Justice also has raised program tie-in question.

WCAU transfer application ($15.6 million for facilities; $4.4 million for real estate) was filed Dec. 31, 1957. Ordinarily transfer approvals take six weeks to two months unless there are extenuating circumstances. Fact that network ownership and multiple ownership issues have been raised in Barrow proceedings required more than usual scrutiny. Dean Roscoe L. Barrow, who headed two-year special study, was present at last Thursday's FCC meeting. Preponderant Commission view, it's understood, is that action must be taken consistent with existing rules and that to do otherwise would pre-judge network ownership and multiple ownership issues.

TRIPLE THREATS • It's obvious now that CBS-TV vice president and station relations director Edmund C. Bunker alluded in part to Leo Burnett Co. in letter to affiliates of triple-spotting practices.
[LEAD STORY, June 23]. He had cited "recent major dramatic program" as victim of practice, without identifying agency, program or clients. Only dramatic show on network sold in segments to several adverisers is Playhouse 90 in which three Burnett clients (Marlboro, Allstate Insurance and American Gas Assn.) are sponsors. Agency has been major critic of multiple-spotting and is putting finishing touches on "policy statement" [CLOSED CIRCUIT, June 23].

Compton Adv., New York, in attempt to stamp out triple-spotting, has asked station representatives when submitting availability to indicate in writing that spots will not be placed in triple-spotting area. Stations and reps have been cooperating with written assurances of "no triples," according to agency executives.

COURT TRIALS • It's just one court precedent after another for FCC. Having followed court's mandate in Miami's headline-making ch. 10 case by naming special trial examiner, FCC is now confronted with problem of Indianapolis ch. 13 case wherein court said Comr. T. A. M. Craven, who cast deciding vote for Crosley, should not have participated without having heard oral argument [GOVERNMENT, June 23].
FCC spent most of last Wednesday morn-ing's meeting discussing method of proceeding on Indianapolis so it will be ready to move when court mandate reaches it, probably this week. FCC has reached tentative decision not to appeal court's ruling to Supreme Court.

Unique aspect of Indianapolis-Crosley case is that aside from Comr. Craven, there are two new members who have not heard oral argument (Ford, Cross). Comr.
Craven voted only after general counsel had ruled that he should participate to break tie vote. Because of this action, itsself establishing precedent, several commis sioners asked that their comments in this case be noted in official minutes.

THERE'S MORE • When Senate Commerce Committee started investigating television in 1954 it began receiving lots of unsolicited mail suggesting areas of investigation. One of these was ratings and last week's one-day hearing (see page xx) was result of that. What other areas of television have been suggested in sufficient number to arouse interest? Talent agen-ties and crime and horror programs have been subjects of greatest amount of mail, according to best information.

WIP Philadelphia may be sold but not to Todd Storz, who had offered $2.5 million cash for Gimbel Bros. owned station [CLOSED CIRCUIT, June 9]. Mr. Storz has advised Broadcasting that he formally withdrew his offer because of fringe provisions which would have increased price by nearly another half-million dollars.
Previously Plough Inc. had discussed possible acquisition of WIP but terminated negotiations at figure of about $2 million.
Mr. Storz, owner of four major market independents, reportedly is in negotiations for other stations.

FREE RIDE SOUGHT • Effort will be made soon by newly-formed Home Furnishings Council of America to give major shot in arm to sagging purchases of furniture. Plan is to put $1 million promotion kitty to work educating dealers, wholesalers, groups, schools, etc. and soliciting free publicity in all media, including radio-tv. Although manufacturers' council will encourage dealers to boost ad expenditures, none of $1 million war chest has been allocated to advertising, according to Philip Lesly, head of Chicago-
New York public relations firm handling campaign.

FCC ACTS, AT LAST, TO CURB TV PAY-OFFS

FCC Friday decided to take some action to discourage 5-year-old notorious "pay-offs" and strike applications situation.

In notice of proposed rule-making, Commission moved to take away protection against competition incurred when applicants are placed in hearing status.

Move comes after most activity on mergers and "reimbursements" have faded to minor proportions. In first few years after tv processing resumed by FCC in 1952, many contested cases were resolved through merger route or by one applicant "buying" out others.

Among two remaining competitive tv cases: New Orleans ch. 12, Norfolk, Va., ch. 13 and Rock Island-Moline-Davenport ch. 8.

Proposed change would amend Sects. 1.311(b), 1.312(c) and 1.363(b)(c) and (d) to put back in processing any application surviving after merger or payment made to other applicants to withdraw. It also provides that withdrawing or defaulting applicants will be dismissed with prejudice (meaning they cannot reapply for same facility for one year from date of dismissal.)

At present, once applicants are designated for hearing, no other application may be filed for same facility after 30 days before hearing date. Since 1952 when FCC began reprocessing tv grants, many mergers have been arranged among competing applicants with grants automatically going to remaining applicant and with no method by which new applications could be filed. Same situation obtained when one applicant reimbursed withdrawing applicant.

Commission asked for comments by July 28. FCC Chairman Doerfer abstained from voting. Comr. Ford is credited with recommending move.

N. Y. Regents Buy Daytimes On WPIX (TV) for Education

New York State Board of Regents was reported to have voted Friday to contract with WPIX (TV) New York to use that station's daytime facilities for educational tv programming. WOR-TV New York had announced earlier it would lease its daytime schedule to board, but it was revealed Friday that WPIX (TV) had underbid WOR-TV. Board has agreed to pay WPIX (TV) $250,000 for use of station on weekdays, 10 a.m.-5 p.m. for 46 weeks, starting Sept. 15. Fred Thower, WPIX vice president and general manager, acknowledged board's action and said other details will be announced this week. Officials of WOR-TV could not be reached late Friday for comment.

Pulse to Expand Analyses

Expansion of audience composition analysis in monthly Pulse rating reports on network radio and tv programs announced Friday by The Pulse Inc. Based on 75,000-home sample each month, Pulse will secure such product classification data as number of smokers vs. non-smokers in audience of each program in rating list. Each month product category will change. Pulse already determines audience composition of men, women and children. Field survey of new data starts in July, is expected to be published in August or September reports.

Would-Be Affiliates Court MBS

Mutual reported to have received more than 30 unsolicited applications for affiliation from independent stations throughout country over past three months. Applications of four outlets have been completed and 12 others are pending, with approval scheduled within next two months. Four stations slated to join Mutual next month include two former affiliates—WAFZ Yazoo City, Miss., and KCMR McCamey, Tex.—plus WNCC Barnesboro, Pa., and WHCM Bloomsburg, Pa.

GUILD ENTERS BARTER DEAL

Guild Films Inc. has made deal with Television Industries Inc., headed by Matty Fox, whereby it will eliminate $6,525,000 of indebtedness through exchange of tv time spots, John J. Cole, president of company announced. Indebtedness was incurred for purchase of 1,100 RKO short subject and foreign rights to Minutes of Prayer.

PRIVATE RELAY APPROVED

WOWL-TV Florence, Ala., received FCC permission to build private, off-air intercity relay system to pick up ch. 4 signals of WSM-TV Nashville, Tenn.—about 100 miles away. WOWL-TV had complained in its comments to FCC inquiry into community tv, boosters and satellites that it was being unjustly penalized by not having permission to use private microwave facilities (see page 70).

STAYING PUT

RCA and its subsidiary, NBC, were scheduled to announce today (June 30) that they have extended to 1982 their leases on space in Rockefeller Center, New York. Leases are valued in excess of $70 million, run for 20 years beginning in 1962, and cover more than 13 acres of office and studio space. RCA and NBC have occupied their quarters since 1933.

BUSINESS BRIEFLY

NATIONAL BUSINESS • National Airlines Inc., has appointed McCann-Erickson, N. Y., and its several affiliates, Marshalk & Pratt Co., Miami, Fla.; McCann-Erickson de Cuba, Havana, and Communications Counselors Inc. (for public relations and publicity), to handle its advertising. Mar- schalk & Pratt open new office tomorrow (July 1), with Elroy Scrivener serving as account group head for National Airlines.

ABSORPTION • Soft goods account roster of Calkins & Holden, N. Y., to be bolstered Aug. 1 when C & H absorbs all personnel and accounts of Sekelmen & North Inc., N. Y. Victor North, president, and M. Sekelmen, executive vice president, both become C & H senior vice presidents, and present radio-tv director Walter H. Lurie moves to C & H also as vice president.

Union News • AFL-CIO renews effective today (June 30) twice daily newcasts Monday-through-Friday on ABC for 52 weeks and adds twice daily news programs Saturdays and Sundays. Agency: Furman, Feiner & Co., N. Y.

Looking • Sweets Co. of America, Hoboken, N. J., will sponsor Texas Rangers tv film series next season and is now looking for likely time period on one of three networks. Advertiser had sponsored portion of Buccaneers series on ABC-TV but reportedly will cancel at end of this season.

Holiday Mood • Atlantic Refining Co., Philadelphia, set to schedule special holiday radio saturation campaign, starting tomorrow (July 1) and ending Saturday, in more than 270 stations in 154 markets. Atlantic using 10-second and 30-second spots for total of 25 announcements in each market. Agency: N. W. Ayer & Son, Philadelphia.

Long Contract • Procter & Gamble, Cincinnati, for Dash, placing tv spot announcement schedule in approximately 30 markets. Contract for 52 weeks placed through Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample, N. Y.

New Designs • Dan River Mills, Danville, Va., launching tv promotion based on theme, new designs for living, in 11 cities using live and film participation spots effective latter part of July and running through fall. Grey Adv., N. Y., is agency.

Election on for Negotiators For ASCAP Radio Licenses

Radio stations are voting by mail on membership of 17-man All-Industry Radio Music License Committee to handle music copyright negotiations with ASCAP, Robert T. Mason, WMRN Marion, Ohio, is temporary chairman of committee. ASCAP radio contracts expire Dec. 31.

Fee for station participation in committee's work is 10 times one-time, one-minute card rate (most hours between 6 a.m.-6 p.m.). Committee was formed May 1 during NAB Los Angeles convention but project is open to all radio stations regardless of NAB membership.

Seventeen names placed on ballot by nucleus committee formed at Los Angeles are: Mr. Mason; Ben Strouse, WWDC Washington; Herbert E. Evans, W GAR Cleveland; Hugh K. Boice Jr., WEMP Milwaukee; Cy Bahakel, WRRS Roanoke, Va.; Elliott M. Sanger, WXNR New York; William S. Morgan Jr., KLIF Dallas; Sherwood Tarkow, WHIL Boston; George W. Armstrong, WHB Kansas City; Les Peard, WBAL Baltimore; Jack Younts, WEEB Southern Pines, N. C.; Bert Ferguson, WDKA Memphis; Richard D. Barry, WNEW New York; Calvin J. Smith, KFAC Los Angeles; J. Allen Jensen, KSL Salt Lake City; Robert D. Enoch, WXIX Indianapolis; Herbert L. Krueger, WTAG Worcester, Mass. (Messrs. Bahakel, Sanger, Peard, Ferguson and Buckley are not NAB members.) Ballots are returnable July 3.

Stereophonic 'Firsts'

CBS issued news release Thursday claiming it would be first radio network to broadcast multiple-city network stereophonic broadcast from Newport, R. I., jazz festival during July 4 weekend.

NBC announced Friday it would use double network lines between New York, Washington and Chicago tonight (June 30) for "first major multi-city transmission of stereophonic sound" on Telephone Hour and tomorrow morning (July 1) on Bert Parks' Bandstand. Matthew J. Culligan, vice president in charge of NBC Radio network, said venture represents culmination of eight months of "concentrated research and testing, including numerous studio experiments." One network line will feed am outlets; alternate line, fm.

. . . And Marched Back Again

FCC returns to Capitol Hill at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow (Tues.) to resume testimony before Senate Commerce Committee on tv allocations, Chairman Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) said Friday. Hearing was cut short last Wednesday by lack of senators present for session (see box, page 68).

WORTH CLIPPING

Dates for 1958 and 1959 NAB fall conventions, future NAB annual conventions and NAB board meetings announced Friday by association.

Fall conferences in 1958: Sept. 18-19 Buena Vista Hotel, Biloxi, Miss.; Sept. 22-23 Oklahoma Biltmore Hotel, Oklahoma City; Sept. 23-26 Challenger Inn., Sun Valley, Idaho; Sept. 29-30 Mark Hopkins Hotel, San Francisco; Oct. 13-14 Schroeder Hotel, Milwaukee; Oct. 16-17 Radisson Hotel, Minneapolis; Oct. 20-21 Somerset Hotel, Boston; Oct. 23-24 Shoreham Hotel, Washington.

Fall conferences for 1959: Oct. 15-16 Mayflower Hotel, Washington; Oct. 19-20 unspecified hotel, Chicago; Oct. 22-23 Somerset Hotel, Boston; Oct. 29-30 Dinkler-Plaza Hotel, Atlanta; Nov. 9-10 Fort Worth or Houston; Nov. 12-13 Brown Palace Hotel, Denver; Nov. 16-17 Ambassador Hotel, Los Angeles; Nov. 19-20 Olympic Hotel, Seattle.

Deadline Postponed

FCC acted last Thursday—one day ahead of deadline Friday—to extend date for comments on its inquiry into impact on tv broadcasting of community antenna systems, tv translators, boosters and satellites to July 7. Of three comments filed Friday (early story, page 70), Missoula (Mont.) Cable Co., CATV system, saw no justification for prohibiting or limiting secondary tv service; Colorado Broadcasters & Telecasters Assn. submitted resolution listing CATV as last system to be desired and wanted FCC control, especially over interstate systems; Western Union Telegraph Co., which carries no tv programs and does not service CATV systems, said limitation, if any, should be made directly on systems so rules couldn't possibly be used to determine kind of use of WU facilities made by its customers.

PEOPLE

Broadcasting
Programing on Bartell Family Radio is pointed toward audience participation and response. That's why our continuous succession of copyright games for family fun . . . that's why our never-ending stream of response-producing featurettes . . . and the thorough local news coverage with names and addresses.

bartell family radio puts the audience into a "mental focus" which music and news alone cannot do.

And with mental focus comes RECEPTIVITY . . . "a disposition to receive suggestions" says Webster . . . a state of mind upon which an advertising message is most effective.

Triple-Spotting

EDITOR:

We think you are to be congratulated on your article on triple-spotting in the June 23 issue of Broadcasting.

You listed five different products at Benton & Bowles which were involved in triple-spotting. We would like to state for the record that—to the best of our knowledge—every one of the situations you listed had been "cleaned up" quite some time ago. Unfortunately, the BAR monitoring analysis goes back approximately three months.

As you know, it is our policy to very carefully watch for instances of triple-spotting. I would like to say that stations in most instances have been extremely cooperative in eliminating this problem.

EDITOR:

I was delighted to see your article on triple-spotting. Perhaps this display of the widespread incidence of this evil will shake some of the complacency out of the NAB code committee.

As soon as we received our copies of the BAR reports we took steps to eliminate those triple-spot situations which affected our accounts. It continues to be our policy not to purchase availabilities which are subject to triple-spotting and to cancel those announcements which are triple-spotted without our knowledge. Actually, most stations have been very cooperative in helping us to maintain clean schedules.

The Gap Between

EDITOR:

I wonder if Broadcasting or Grant Adv.'s John Gaunt would clear up a puzzle in this morning's (the June 23) Monday Memo.

Mr. Gaunt says that Lawrence Welk "fills the gap between Walter Damrosch and Bobby Troup." I'm not sure I've heard of Troup, but I do know that Dr. Damrosch died some years ago. If Troup is alive, the gap between him and Damrosch would seem to be the grave.

But surely this is not what Mr. Gaunt meant to imply!

I am in complete agreement with "Name Withheld."

It is my impression also that this information (about a competitor's spending on a station) is strictly violating an advertiser's privacy. Too, I cannot imagine what we pay the agencies 15% for if we do all their work. It is my thought that the agencies pay no attention to what station the information comes from unless they are carrying an extremely heavy campaign for a competitive product. This, to me, is what the agencies pay their research department to do for them.

My suggestion to the agencies would be that they send this competitive spending request direct to the companies involved. If the companies refuse to divulge this information, how can they expect the station to do so?

Catalina's Sea-Going Deejay Launches New Summer Show

IF YOU CAN'T REMEMBER THE NAME, but the face (or face) is familiar, it's Commodore Carl Bailey of the Port of Los Angeles, shoving off for another summer of broadcasting KBIG's CATALINA CRUISE from his marine studio on the SS Catalina.

WORLD'S ONLY SEA-GOING DISC JOCKEY (and, at 6-feet-10, its tallest), Bailey helps all Southern California enjoy a picturesque cruise every weekend. Eight thousand voyagers aboard help him mix his regular deejay fare with descriptive vignettes of harbor and sea, passing craft and passing passengers, as the Catalina sails from the mainland to Avalon and return.

THE COMMODERE TITLE IS LEGIT, bestowed by the Los Angeles Board of Harbor Commissioners for Carl's publicizing of the activities of the great port. The picture has been seen in Life and in dozens of newspapers and trade publications, testimonial to the news value of this most spectacular step in KBIG's continuing program to take radio to the people.

PARTICIPATIONS IN CATALINA CRUISE are available at regular time rates, with no extra program cost, eac. Saturday and Sunday... 10 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. outbound, 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. inbound. Dry-land avails too may be obtained from your KBIG or Weed contact, any time.
There's more to Florida...
Almost everything in Florida—from its fauna and flora to its economic outlook—is different. It's the only state with above-average indexes for all major cities. (Sales Management High Spot Cities, May) ... and within Florida the Highest Spot City is Jacksonville. Retail sales here are running about five million dollars a month ahead of 1957, and January-April bank clearings were more than nine million dollars ahead of the same period last year.

There's more to WMBR-TV! In this economic paradise, WMBR-TV maintains its audience lead by wide margins. Consider, for example, local news programming. WMBR-TV's 8:45 am News has a 206% lead over the competition. The One O'Clock Report beats competing news by 265%. WMBR-TV's 6:30 pm News commands a 38.5 rating and a 285% lead over competing news. And its Eleven O'Clock Report smothers the competition's news with a 663% lead. In news as in everything else, it's no news that there's much, much more to...

JEFFERSON DRUM

The age of mechanization has finally reached television. This must be so. The only possible explanation for Jefferson Drum's sterile perfection is that it is written, acted, directed and produced on an automatic assembly line, untouched by human hands. No other method could produce so stylized and innocuous a program, ingeniously cut to a pattern of just enough action to keep the viewer awake for the commercials without disturbing him by asking for any response of either intellect or emotion to what he sees on his TV screen. Nothing that occurred in the course of "The Outlaw" had half the impact of Jack Gregson's pitches for Old Golds.

The story opens with Jefferson Drum and his son riding in the hills outside of the western town in which Mr. Drum publishes his newspaper. They are halted by a masked bandit, who is promptly revealed as a runaway girl of 17 dressed in boy's clothes. Her true femininity is demonstrated by her bowl-of-soup-in-the-face reaction to the catty comments of the saloon hostess and her sisterly checker game with Drum's son Joey. News of the capture of a long-sought desperado leads to the confession that she killed his wife and, when he gets away and comes to take her to Mexico and "a new life," she resists Drum's arguments and would have gone if the sheriff hadn't killed her man. The final scene shows her boarding the stage back home, properly attired in a dress for which she promises to send Drum the money as soon as she gets a job and earns it. Typical speech: "If my folks had been as understanding as you, I'd never have run away."

What all this had to do with crusading journalism in the old West, purported theme of the series, was never revealed. Too bad, for Jeff Richards is a handsome, likable actor who appears capable of handling more difficult assignments than this, which the basic fighting-journalist storyline should certainly be able to provide. But that might spoil the program's pattern of unflattering mediocrity toward which all forces have so diligently striven.

Production costs: Approximately $37,500. Sponsored by P. Lorillard Co. (Old Golds) through Lenkenn & Newell, N.Y., and Chemstrand Corp. (Nylon) through Doyle Dane Bernbach, N.Y., on NBC-TV, Fri., 8-8:30 p.m. EDT. Started April 25.

Goodson-Todman Production, filmed at Screen Gems, Hollywood, in association with NBC-TV. Producer: Matthew Rapf; director: Herman Jones; assistant director: Eddie Seta; production supervisor: Seymour Friedman; writer, "The Outlaw": Antony Ellis.

COWTOWN RODEO

It is highly unlikely that this summer replacement program will be missed when it completes its cycle in the early fall. No doubt, some of the younger fry will enjoy the saddle bronc and bareback riding, brahman bull riding, calf roping and steer wrestling. But these events are repeated one after the other by various cowhands and it gets mighty tiresome for a whole hour. Riding the bull and the steer wrestling somehow don't look so exciting as they do in the movies or on TV westerns. The program originates live from WFLY-TV Philadelphia, which picks up the rodeo from "Cowtown, U.S.A." 20 miles south of Philadelphia.

Production costs: Approximately $12,000. Sustaining on ABC-TV, Mon., 7:30-8:30 p.m. EDT. Started June 16.

Executive producer: Lew Klein; rodeo producer: Howard "Stoney" Harris; director: Ed Moore.

Commentator: Marty Glickman.

CONFESSION

"... In a moment this man's personal testimony... about this man, his family and his future," producer-director Jack Wyatt was saying before he was abruptly cut off by a commercial, resuming, "He appears on Confession to show an intimate side of his life as he sees it in an effort to de glamorize crime. There has been no attempt to censor his story..."

What followed on ABC-TV's newest venture into the jungle of the controversial interview was the story of Herby Fairris, his family of notorious Southwest criminals and his associations with other desperadoes. Confession seeks to find out "why people commit crimes." Herby Fairris described his start at an early age, tampering with a motor vehicle, and subsequent acts of forgery, robbery and assault. Now released from Texas State Prison after his fourth jail term, Herby Fairris told of being arrested 200-250 times.

Mr. Fairris later married the sister of Raymond Hamilton (subsequently electrocuted after a daring prison escape), and worked with Clyde Barrow (convicted of 12 killings) and other criminals. He lost one brother in a police gun battle, another, along with one of his sons, is in Texas State Penitentiary, while a second son was executed last year for killing a policeman. One of his wives has had two men.

After extracting the criminal's story, Mr. Wyatt interviewed a minister who felt "wrong has done a better job of righting people than right" and a psychiatrist who held heredity is not a factor in crime "but is infectious." Analyzing the Fairris criminal pattern, Mr. Wyatt and the psychiatrist concluded, "The amazing thing about this man is his tolerance." A recorded statement by Herby Fairris' sobbing sister lent a This Is Your Life element.

As all Dallas viewers (of WFAA-TV) know from watching Confession for several months, producer Wyatt handles questioning and interpolating chores with articulate ease. He seeks to guide the story line toward simplicity rather than sensationalism, letting the subject tell his own story, man to man. The result is a low-key and persuasive show.

Production costs: Approximately $10,000. Local sponsors on ABC-TV, Thurs., 10-10:30 p.m. EDT, by videotape from WFAA-TV Dallas. Started June 19.

Dear Don:

There are several valid computation methods, each with its own application, that can be used to determine the average cost of delivering 1000 commercial minutes.

One method is to accumulate the time and talent costs of all sponsored programs on the network and divide this total by the sum of the commercial minutes delivered by these programs.

Using this method of computation, based on Nielsen Average Audience Ratings, estimated time costs and published talent figures, the networks' cost per 1000 commercial minutes for March-April 1958 are:

MUSIC BINGO

Ever since the U.S. Court of Appeals overruled the FCC in March 1957 and said that Play Marko, a syndicated series, was not a lottery, it became a matter of time before bingo would come to network television; Marko was the grandaddy of them all in the early '50s. Today, on any given network or day, the viewer can take his pick of a wide assortment of such parlor games.

A new entry in the current crop is NBC-TV's Music Bingo—and the network ought to be made to apologize for inserting it in place of The Jane Wyman Show. What emerges is pure hokum mired in a mishmash of complexities—a hybrid of Name That Tune and Stop the Music.

The format calls for a song title memory test, complete with "Magic Melody," besides all the apparatus of bingo. In the studio two participants vie against each other to identify tunes. Home viewers fill out cards, writing m-u-s-i-c across the top and the first five digits of a telephone number. They attempt to identify special tunes and send in their cards, with winners announced the following week. There are 1,001 prizes (including one of $500), running the familiar gamut of Remington shavers and typewriters, Polaroid cameras, custom kitchens, portable tv sets and three-speed record players, plus such grand awards as a 1958 Chevrolet or Ford station wagon.

As host, young Johnny Gilbert is personable and competent. But the program itself never comes off, largely because bingo has never been so confusing. As such, its entertainment value is considerably diluted. Whether lottery or not, viewers well may decide that bingo tv programming constitutes "a crime" of default by the network and agency involved.

Production costs: Approximately $20,000. Sponsored on alternate weeks by Associated Products Inc. (5-Day deodorant pads) through Grey Adv. and Hazel Bishop through Raymond Spector Co. on NBC-TV Thurs., 10:30-11 p.m. EDT. Started May 29.

Producer: Al Singer; associate producers: Pat Winchester, James McMenemy; director: Perry Lafferty; associate director: Paul Freeman; technical director: O. Tamburri.

POLKA-GO-ROUN

In the summer lull created by the departure of Lawrence Welk's Top Tunes and New Talent, ABC-TV is substituting an old folk music format (It's Polka Time) with a new face (Polka-Go-Round). Unfortunately the new series is likely to be a sleeper that will go right on sleeping.

If Polka-Go-Round proves anything, it is that 60 consecutive minutes of music, no matter how colorful the dancing or catchy the tune, is doomed to failure without imaginative production or camera work.

The first show featured appealing numbers by the Chaine Dancers, Ukrainian Youth Folk Dancers, the Polka Rounders, Dorothy Caruso and Carolyn DeZurik. Bob Lewadowski, actor-singer and an old Polish broadcasting hand on WHFC Chicago, serves somewhat stiffly as the tv show m.c. Easily the best talent on the first program, aside from the authentic Chaine Dancers, are Miss Caruso (premier guest) and bandleader Lou Prohut, who plays an accordion with all the zest of a stint at a Polish wedding.

Static camera work, however, makes the hour of European folk music seem too long. What promised to be a powerful boileemaker turns out to be flat beer.

Production costs: Approximately $5,000. Sold co-op by ABC-TV, Mon., 8:30-9:30 p.m. EDT (videotaped rebroadcast in WAKB-TV Chicago program, Sun., 10-11 p.m. EDT). Started June 23.

Producer: Dan Schuffman; director: George Paul; technical director: Steve Gobicy.

Gentlemen:

The response we got from the four spot advertisements
we had with you about strawberries was sensational.

I estimated that we had at least fifteen hundred people here for berries the first Saturday after the advertisements.
I feel sure we have had fifteen thousand people even larger.
Their own berries. Some families made a picnic of it; they picked them and went home.

You, Curt Avery, Haskell Jones and Jack Tompkins, did a great job. We are now giving out free samples and ad

We have received many phone calls.

A colleague once described Ed Allen, the chief engineer of the FCC, as “not an engineer, who builds things or makes them work, but a scientist—he’s always asking, ‘Why?’”

Others who have worked with him use expressions like “competent,” “listens to all sides of a problem, then makes up his mind.”

In other words Ed Allen is the kind of person one has in mind when the term, “dedicated public servant,” is used.

The old-shoe type, Mr. Allen lives for his work. That he is successful is exemplified in several ways.

Item: Only two months ago the professionally top-drawer Institute of Radio Engineers honored the FCC chief engineer with the Harry Diamond Memorial Award. It reads: “Edward W. Allen Jr., for his technical and administrative contributions in the field of radio spectrum utilization.”

Item: Only 11 days ago Mr. Allen returned from Moscow where he attended a meeting of the tv panel of the International Radio Consultative Conference (CCIR). In fact, Mr. Allen is chairman of that panel.

The CCIR is an international group of engineers and scientists which works on radio and tv standards for adoption by all countries. The Moscow meeting was in preparation for the telecommunications conference next year in Geneva.

The main interest of the easy-going, unpretentious Mr. Allen is radio wave propagation. His contributions totaling 35 papers either published or read over the past 15 years, run the gamut from a report on vhf field strength measurements to a study of tv service in the Lake Erie region.

Not the least of the work of the FCC’s chief engineer is chairing various organs of industry-government effort. In 1945 Mr. Allen was chairman of the ad hoc committee which developed the engineering data used by the FCC in establishing fm and tv broadcasting service.

He was a key participant in those joint groups which worked up the technical aspects of color tv, uhf tv, radiation standards, split channels for mobile users, and a host of other highly esoteric matters.

Currently he is sitting on the biggest mountain of reports and comments ever assembled by the FCC—and, in the aggregate, probably the most significant in recent years. These are the studies of the radio spectrum—from 25 mc to 890 mc (which includes both fm and tv broadcasting) and “above 890 mc” (which is packed with government and aeronautical bands and which also includes television studio-transmitter links and remote pickup bands).

A measure of the scientific man is his career in the rarefied atmosphere of national and international technical working groups. Mr. Allen’s reads like a blue-ribbon entry: chairman, executive council, Central Radio Propagation Lab.; alternate representative, President’s Scientific Research Board; member, American Standards Assn.; member, U.S. committee, International Electrotechnical Commission; chairman, Central Committee on Incidental Radio Devices; member, U.S. National Committee, International Scientific Radio Union (URSI); executive committee, CCIR.

One of Mr. Allen’s assets is that he is also a lawyer. He received his LL.B. from George Washington U., Washington, in 1933. He is entitled to practice law before the U.S. Supreme Court and the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Edward Walter Allen Jr. was born in Portsmouth, Va., Feb. 14, 1903. He earned his engineering degree from the U. of Virginia in 1925. He was a student engineer and a research assistant with Westinghouse for two years. He worked for the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. in Washington for two years. In 1930 he became associated with the U.S. Patent Office in Washington.

In 1935 Mr. Allen was loaned to the FCC for its telephone inquiry and two years later joined the FCC permanently in the Engineering Dept.’s technical information division. He became TID chief in 1946 and five years later, FCC chief engineer. He succeeded Curtis B. Plummer, first chief of the newly established Broadcast Bureau.

Like a true engineer, Mr. Allen lists one of his most important associations as the IRE. He is a fellow of that organization. He is also a member of Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity.

He lives with Mrs. Allen, the former Myrtle Creel of Washington whom he married in 1932, and their daughter, Nancy, 17, in the Sleepy Hollow section of Fairfax County, Va. He plays golf, delights in 35mm color photography and loves to fish—when he can find time.

Associates recall the proud moment when he took his daughter on her first big fishing trip. She came home loaded with her catch; Mr. Allen was empty-handed.

SATCHMO SWINGS • KDKA-TV Pittsburgh collected $68,950 in its seventh Variety Club Telethon for Camp O’Connell, a summer camp for handicapped children. Scheduled only for a brief appearance, Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong played until 6:30 a.m. along with trombonist Jack Teagarden, their jazz setting feet to stomping and pledges to rising. Other stars headlining the 15-hour telethon were Eddie Bracken, Bob (Captain Kangaroo) Keeshan and Virginia Graham.

'TORNADO TELETHON • WEAU-TV Eau Claire, Wis., raised $13,000 during a five-hour telethon and radio simulcast for victims of a Wisconsin tornado disaster. The telethon results were "especially gratifying," said General Manager Leo Howard, in that the station had continually plugged for funds the preceding ten days for several other drives. The total cash donation from three of those campaigns amounted to more than $45,000.

SUCCESSFUL APPEAL • WTRY Troy, N.Y., responded to an emergency call from Albany (N.Y.) Hospital with a spot campaign that brought in more than 1,200 pints of whole blood. The blood was needed in order to perform open heart operations on some 500 children at the hospital. After 26 consecutive hours, the WTRY drive resulted in 506 pints pledged through direct calls, doubled pledges at nearby heart association offices and a department-by-department canvass of state employees that netted over 300 pledges.

MONTREAL DRIVE • CJMS Montreal, Que., raised $100,000 for the annual Montreal Polio Drive recently with an all-night show featuring 75 stars of tv, radio, show business and sports. Starting at midnight in a downtown theatre, with an SRO live audience, the broadcast ran until eight a.m. Singer Al Martino headlined the American contingent.

SUMMER SANTA • WFBM Indianapolis found out from the Red Cross that the situation was in hand in flood-ravaged Marion, Ind.—except for toys. Some 100 children quartered in a school were in desperate need of amusement to regain their spirits. When urgent appeals were broadcast over WFBM, the response was immediate and overwhelming. Lake Central Airlines offered a plane to fly the toys the 65 miles from Indianapolis to Marion. Santa Claus came winging in a DC-3 with a happy ending: more than 1,000 toys, books and games were in the children’s hands long before bedtime.

COLLEGE SURVEY • WNEW New York has been checking colleges the past year all over the United States, with emphasis on the Middle Atlantic and New England areas, to find openings for graduating high school seniors. WNEW learned that some students were applying to as many as five colleges, being accepted by three, and only going to one, which resulted in unfilled places. WNEW throughout the summer will announce lists of colleges that have openings.

RADIO MARATHON • WADS Ansonia, Conn., raised $5,000 in a recent marathon for the lower Naugatuck Valley Mental Health Assn. Thousands of Connecticut youngsters turned out to watch tv’s Wyatt Earp (Hugh O’Brian) kick off the marathon, which featured such stars at Pat Boone, David Wayne, Johnnie Ray, Mindy Carson and many others.

PUBLIC FORESIGHT • KAKC Tulsa, Okla., has initiated a new service feature, Operation Hazard Cut, which enlists its audience in a campaign for traffic safety. Listeners are urged by announcers throughout the day to list possible traffic hazards in their areas, such as hidden or removed stop signs or blind intersections, and send the lists to the station. KAKC officials are turning the letters over to authorities for appropriate action.

TRACKDOWN • WOWO Fort Wayne, Ind., assisted in the capture of an Ohio jail escapee by informing police of his arrest on a traffic violation. John Sprouse, wanted by the Lima (Ohio) police on a larceny charge, came to WOWO newsman Bill Tomlinson’s attention when he was involved in an auto accident in Fort Wayne and showed improper car registration.

RECORD BROKEN • WDRC Hartford, Conn., has collected a record-breaking $1,814 for the Camp Courant Fund to help finance a summer camp for children. The WDRC campaign is being conducted on the News Time program nightly by Jack Zaiman.

New Film Urges Science Careers
A new public service film, "Helping Hands for Julie," is being made available to television by the American Medical Assn., the American Hospital Assn. and E. R. Squibb & Sons. The film was premiered before the Women’s Auxiliary to the AMA at the association’s annual meeting in San Francisco Wednesday. It is aimed at attracting students into scientific careers by dramatizing the opportunities available.

Communers’ Wives Get Break
WSTC Stamford, Conn., adds a new daily programming service for housewives starting today (Monday) with reports on the New York, New Haven & Hartford commuter train movements out of New York City between 5 and 7 p.m. The new service, arranged with the railroad’s public relations department, is aimed at ending unnecessary waiting in cars by wives and families at railroad stations. WSTC will get its information reports from the area trainmaster.

THE TOP 40 FORMULA—UNDER FIRE

- NBC timebuyers panel votes no confidence in 'Top 40' stations
- Unexplained: why same stations draw so much national business
- Inevitable: more clamorous controversy over radio formats

The part that programming plays in the buying of national and regional spot time on radio stations is examined also in the latest NBC Spot Sales Timebuyer Opinion Panel survey report, released for publication today (June 30).

Virtually sure to stir up a new furor over local station programming, the study reports relatively little timebuyer confidence in the selling ability of so-called "Top 40 Tunes" stations. The "standard music and news" and "varied programming" stations are preferred by eight to ten times as many timebuyers, according to the NBC report.

The study—whose controversial nature is pointed up by the fact that some of the most heavily bought stations in the country are often classified as "Top 40 Tunes" stations—also explores such additional subjects as:

- The importance of local personalities (considerable);
- Whether local business volume is a clue to a station's acceptance in the market (opinion "evenly divided");
- Type of program most apt to sell for an adult product (news, weather and traffic data);
- Preferred length and handling of newscasts (five minutes, rewritten and updated frequently).

In announcing the survey results, Thomas B. McFadden, vice president for NBC Spot Sales, said responses were received from 258 panelists representing 203 different agencies or agency offices. Some 37% of the respondents are with agencies billing more than $5 million a year in radio-TV, according to the report, which also noted that "virtually all the major agencies as well as a great many smaller ones in every section of the country" were represented in the answers, which were tabulated by Barnard Inc., New York, an independent firm.

Mr. McFadden said the subject—local radio programming—was proposed by the panelists themselves in response to a request for suggestions. "Presumably they felt, and we at NBC Spot Sales agreed," he said, "that the 'changing nature' of timebuying has been, in one major area, a direct result of the 'changing nature' of radio programming."

In setting up the questionnaire, NBC Spot Sales categorically defined three types of programming, "in order to minimize variations in the interpretation of questions by the panelists," it noted that panelists think in terms of products that are purchased primarily by adults, since most national spot radio advertising falls in this area."

The program definitions:

- Top 40 Tunes—stations that primarily feature current Top 40 tunes, generally the top 40 hits of the day.
- "Standard music and news—stations that feature standard as well as current pop tunes, and thus cater to a wider variety of popular music tastes.
- "Varied programming—stations that carry such programming as interviews and dramatic serials as well as music and news."

The report recognized that there are many different types of stations but said "it was felt that the great majority of radio stations bought by national advertisers fell into one or another of these three categories.

Highlights of NBC Spot Sales' summary of its findings:

- Despite the influence of ratings, the report said, 86% of the panelists replied that they consider program format as well as "the numbers" in buying saturation spot radio schedules (see Question 2 page 36). Ten percent said they bought such schedules on ratings alone. And more than nine out of ten (94%) felt the type of programming around a commercial "has a definite bearing on that commercial's sales effectiveness."

NBC Spot Sales officials concluded from the comments that program format influences a commercial's effectiveness in three ways:

"A. Certain types of programs create a mood or atmosphere compatible with the type of product or type of copy approach used to sell the product; that it, in other words, sets the proper psychological climate for the commercial message.

"B. The nature of the programming itself tends to pre-select the type of audience an advertiser wants to reach.

"C. The nature of the program determines to an important extent the degree of conscious 'foreground' listening and the attention level of the audience."

Asked which of the three given types of station they would expect to do a better job for a product bought primarily by adults, the panelists replied predominantly for standard and varied-programming stations, as indicated in Question 4, the report said, adding that "it is interesting to note that among the larger agencies, varied-programming and standard music and news stations ran a tie . . . [while] in the smaller shops varied-programming stations received 53% of the mentions to standard music and news' 39%.

The report showed 86% of the panelists felt that listeners' "attention levels" varied according to type of station (Question 3) and that 69% "thought that varied-programming stations commanded the attention of their listeners to a greater extent than any other types of stations" while 29% voted for standard music and news stations and 4% for "Top 40 Tunes" stations.

The NBC Spot Sales timebuyer opinion panel was formed early this year "to serve as a medium of expression for timebuyers as a group and individually to shed light on the changing nature and increasing problems of timebuying."

The first report, on ratings, was issued in March (Lead Story, March 24). The radio programming study is the second.

As with the first report, NBC officials emphasized that the findings of the panelists "are not meant to be projected to the thousands engaged directly or indirectly in the purchase of broadcast time. But we do feel that the opinions and comments of this important segment should be of great interest throughout the advertising and broadcasting industries."
Does programming matter?

PRINCIPAL RADIO STATION FORMATS

Are personalities important?

QUESTION 9: IN YOUR OPINION, HOW IMPORTANT A FACTOR IS THE PERSONAL SALESMANSHIP OF A RADIO PERSONALITY IN THE SALES EFFECTIVENESS OF A COMMERCIAL?

How choices are made

QUESTION 13: MANY TIMEBUYERS ESTABLISH DEFINITE PREFERENCES FOR CERTAIN STATIONS IN GIVEN MARKETS. PLEASE INDICATE THE RELATIVE RANK OF IMPORTANCE OF EACH OF THE FOLLOWING FACTORS WHICH GUIDE YOU IN ESTABLISHING SUCH PREFERENCES:

How to ‘feel’ a station

QUESTION 12: EVERY RADIO STATION HAS A CERTAIN PROFILE OR STATUS WITHIN ITS MARKET. WHILE MOST LISTENERS AND LOCAL ADVERTISERS HAVE A PRETTY GOOD IDEA OF WHAT THIS PROFILE IS FOR A GIVEN STATION, TIMEBUYERS ON NATIONAL ACCOUNTS OFTEN ARE SHOWN LITTLE ABOUT THAT STATION BEYOND ITS RATINGS. WHAT TYPES OF THINGS DO YOU LOOK FOR, OR WHAT KIND OF INFORMATION WOULD YOU LIKE TO HAVE IN ORDER TO GET “THE FEEL” OF A STATION IN ITS MARKET?

What local business means

QUESTION 14: DO YOU BELIEVE THAT THE VOLUME OF LOCAL ADVERTISING ON A STATION INDICATES THE ACCEPTANCE OF THAT TYPE OF PROGRAMMING IN THAT MARKET?
The tabulated answers of 258 timebuyers to 14 questions which NBC Spot Sales asked in surveying buyers' attitude toward today's radio programming appear on pages 36-37. A 15th question was also asked:

QUESTION 15: Are there any other comments you'd care to make about the subject of radio programming?

A total of 184 panels (60% of the entire panel) took advantage of the opportunity to comment beyond the scope of the specific questions submitted to them. These comments cover a wide range of subject matter relating to radio programming. These are some of them.

We take a dim view of the station operator who follows the expedient route and permits flagrant over-commercialization of prime time periods. This is a present disservice to the advertisers involved and the radio industry in general. In our opinion, such behavior does not contribute to the medium's delinquency. ARNOLD E. JOHNSON, director of broadcast facilities, Needham, Louis & Brody, Chicago.

In my opinion the Top 40 format will, in the long run, be detrimental to the medium. True enough it has proven to be a financial bonanza to many station operators primarily because of the quick response to commercials. The all important qualitative aspects have been ignored entirely or glossed over. What about such important qualitative factors as: (a) believability (b) active or passive listening (c) overall community service (d) reliability (e) the practice of many stations to double, triple spot— or, in some cases, a commercial after every disc (f) the jock's constant chatter during songs and commercials as clear as clear comedians. The popularity of these stations is not so much due to good, sound salesmanship, but rather to lazy, careless buying. EDWARD F. RIF, media director, Kluu-Van Petersen-Dunlap, Milwaukee.

The use of personalities has declined because stations realize more gross profit by using staff announcers and established formulas than they do by using expensive personalities. This trend has no relationship to the sales effectiveness of personalities or the interests of advertisers. Good personalities still pull good ratings and still sell products. Only the stations have benefitted from the change; advertisers and listening public have not. MAHONI J. SAXON, timebuyer, Leo Burnett, Chicago.

There should be greater showmanship in local radio. Too many stations pattern their program- ming on another station's successful pattern. Program directors should apply more imagination and aggressiveness to keep abreast of the competition. ALICE L. MOONEY, timebuyer, Richard A. Foley, Philadelphia.

The money-making, low cost, high rating formula of present Top 40 stations is having its day among inexperienced and short-sighted timebuyers. Shortly this trend will be reversed and these stations will experience a great reduction in advertising revenue. Timebuyers will come to the inevitable realization that you don't sell a product to someone who is paying full attention to an ear bombarded with a pile of background music going in one ear and coming out of the other. WIND Chicago.

I believe that radio is fast overloading itself with commercials. This can only decrease the effectiveness of each and every listener is bound to close off his ears if the commercials come too often. N. N. SAGER, media director, Kenyon & Eckhardt, Chicago.

Most buyers agree that economy sometimes interferes stations to reprogram toward Top 40 formats. However, my first inclination is to support the stations who deliver the services which mean a lot to the station's listener. Few sponsored promotion, gimmicks and pushing the Top 40 doesn't build an audience that is not tradi- tional broadcasting. Know your available audience, program to it, and manage your station with originality and courage of conviction. JAMES SCANLON, broadcast coordinator, William Esty, New York.

As a former sales manager I never hired a salesman merely because he was able to make a certain number of contacts (that's exactly what the mere rating of a station tells me). It's important that he call on the right prospects. (A station's programming will usually disclose that.) A good salesman will try to present his station's time when the prospect is most re- ceptive. (With the magic of music and the power of the human voice, good radio programming must be a help to create a proper mood and a higher degree of receptiveness for the sponsor's sales message. J. D. GELLER, radio-to-director, Weitz & Geller, New York.

Programming for the most part is reaching an all-time low. What is happening to the personality? I say stop pushing the station with call letters every other minute. I will take my hat off to any station who tells its listeners to explore the frequency band and then come back to them. In this way stations might stand up and take note that people will listen to good programming. There is a place for all types of programming but if we stand up to be heard, why not educate the people to appreciate it. FRANK MARTIN, timebuyer, Cunningham & Walsh, New York.

I'm not swami, and I realize most of my criti- cism of radio programming. However, whenever I get on the subject with one of the radio— nevertheless, I think some of the opportunists who've gotten into radio on the basis of "lazy" programming are killing the goose whose golden egg they hope to reap. It amazes me to think that the stations that are mechanically operated by "Top 40 Music sheets" are undoubtedly bought by the mechanical "idle buyers." Poetic justice dictates that pretty soon, we'll have the real buyers—commercial buyers— buying commercials purchased by agencies staffed with IBM media departments. BILL MONAGHAN, media director, John C. Douc Inc., Boston.

Along with radio's current "revival" there is going to be a general house cleaning within programming departments. The trend to play stations doing just that right now and getting a lot of publicity over the fact that they are not playing the Top 40 is intriguing. The most important fact to remember is that rock-and-roll is simply a current fad and stations with the wagon to a fad without looking ahead will ulti- mately die with the certain death of all fads. LEONARD KAY, timebuyer, McCann-Erickson, Chicago.

Believe that "phonograph-on-the-air" radio stations are not effective in moving merchandise. We would rather buy a 2 rating with a majority of women listening should we be trying to move appliances than an 8 rating featuring rock 'n' roll, or a short, teenagers do not buy white goods. Merchandising support is a sadly neglected field. Most radio stations talk a good game but do little or nothing on a program or promotion basis. ABBEY STEVENS, owner, L. Stevens & Co., Honolulu.

Today's radio is getting difficult to buy. What with all the different ratings given, programming is being lost in the shuffle. Programming is one of the few important jobs of radio and stations stop going along with the trend to primarily sell in the market and programming a more varied log, then we will have balanced radio. ROBERT L. TURNER, timebuyer, Cohen & Ashaire, New York.

When the client can afford it, we like saturation advertising. A local station careful enough to hit his audience 50 or more times per week. If we are appealing to a particular segment, we try to use a variety of stations and personalities who can do us as much good off the air as on. When we do sessions on the air, it is more and more difficult to obtain personality-product identification. News and sport shows are the exceptions, we use them to get the public in the habit of dialing in. Believe stations should guard against commitments. especially to local events. Especially in such as the successful independent station that can afford to turn away the really bad buys. AVOID. Stations think of their stations in terms of their own log, in terms of the interviews. In the interviewing of a program, personality can be used: our programs can be taken out of merchandising programs and the money expended to police the fulfillment of merchandising commitments. HELMA GARDINER, timebuyer, Adelphia, Philadelphia.

Too much bandwagon or "me-too" programming. One gets ideas, all follow blindly. Hurt serves with "price wars"—cuts—special packages for newspapers, radio stations which have stereotyped news station usually without much thought in editing or giving well-rounded news even at the cost of 5-minute news stations. Stations think more of Pulse than of audio. Pulse can be a mechanism for giving the public what it wants to see. No, not the "spoon feeding" but the "puff" out of merchandising programs and the money expended to police the fulfillment of merchandising commitments. LAURENCE J. HOGG, media director, Dorobus, San Francisco.

Stations which program strictly or largely from a few stations in the market might do as well to check with the record manufacturers who openly admit that the pop singles market is predominately sustained by teen-seers and children, and mostly girls at that. PETER M. BARDACH, broadcast buyer, Forbes, Cone & Belding, New York.

It appears that a definite trend is developing in radio—that the successful independent station (to owners and clients alike) will immerse itself into the life of the community in which it originates. By reporting news, special programs, original music, community improvement; playing locally popular music at most suitable times, giving away spot prizes, and town meetings, etc., a station will develop a strong local following which can never adequately be compensated by the regional area or network station. THOMAS J. HOLLINGSHEAD, broadcast buyer, McCunn-Erickson, New York.

With so much "formula" radio today, it gets harder and harder for a timebuyer in New York to hold a "good" or "feeling" opinion of the public, and know it's right for a particular account. Station men who come to town may answer my questionnaire on programming by saying "music and news." That tells me nothing. Here in New York the audience's interest in programming is in the one independent and three or four others—also variance in acceptance, believability, good people, etc. Radio is too "scared" and sometimes takes line of least resistance to go along with poor programming.

if it makes money. Longer-range and intelligent programming has always paid off, I feel. ANITA WASSERMAN, timebuyer, L. C. Gumbiner Adv., New York.

Radio's road to ruin begins with the Top 40 business. Soon there will be a few stations playing popular songs. Bad selling climate. No listener reward. No personal participation in the part of the audience. Radio stations, like people, must be "needed"—to be needed they must be different from other radio stations. It's not that income is in short supply, it's that there are too many stations. The buying public is not the only answer. We need smart selling from personalities that command respect and loyalty from their listeners. Captive audiences are gone, but captivated audiences can still be had. MILTON YANOW, radio-tv director, Peipenbaum & Wurman Adv., Philadelphia.

As you can probably see, I am quite a "bug" on programming. I try to study it thoroughly when I make a buy and it is wonderful to see how much help the really good stations give a buyer who wastes the information. Of course, maybe I have more time to study more about the stations than some of the buyers on Madison Avenue do, but sometimes I shudder when I hear a badly misplaced commercial for a nationally advertised product placed out of New York. I think buyers should insist on more information from stations and the good stations should supply more. Without being a "bug" I don't want the stations to supply anything. This is not all that is asked for. It is an account and its aims in a campaign. I expect the salesman to give me all the information I need and ask for (preferably he should give it without asking specifically) and programming certainly should be a very large part of that information. E. R. SETTER, media, Evans & Assoc. Adv., Fort Worth.

WADE JOINS BAN ON TRIPLE-SPOT

- Los Angeles agency stamping clause on station contracts
- Some representatives say sponsors will lose choice times

The campaign against triple-spotting by television stations [LEAD STORY, June 23] has moved into the West.

Last week Wade Adv. Agency, Los Angeles, notified stations and station representatives that, effective July 14, the agency will not pay for its clients' tv spots if they are triple-spotted.

A clause to that effect will be stamped on all station contracts issued by Wade and stations will be expected to initial and list to an agency representative for execution. The Wade ruling includes on-demand spots and would bar the combination of two spots within the same commercial break.

In most cases this will mean that, if being triple-spotted, he said, as most stations agree that putting more than two program spots back-to-back is not good for them any more than for the advertisers.

In Wade's prohibition of triple-spotting, no mention is made of the length of the spots. Wade pointed out that, for the large national advertisers, this means that the Wade ruling goes beyond that of the NAB tv code (Par. 6), which states, "More than two back-to-back announcements plus the conventional sponsor 10-second station ID are not acceptable between programs or within the framework of a single program." Wade pointed out that, for the large national advertisers, it would be to force regional and local advertisers out of television's choice time periods and perhaps out of the medium altogether.

Informing of this objection, Mr. Owen said, "We have no desire to hurt any legitimate operation," he said, "but we are determined to prevent our clients from being hurt by triple-spotting."

Another station representative expressed the view that the time occupied by any group of commercials should be considered as well as the number of spots. One of the spots on his list, he reported, has a spot time and year-round tv spots program, beginning with NBC-TV’s “Game of the Week” in fall pro football, through the Redskins schedule and running consecutively into ice hockey and perhaps basketball, and baseball in 1959.

S. F. Agency Purchase Shifts Coast Billings

With the departure a fortnight ago of President Eugene I. Harrington (followed by four west coast accounts and Fletcher J. Richards Inc., New York, last week re-established a Northern California beachhead by announcing the purchase of a San Francisco agency.

Effective July 1, Harris, Harlan, Wood Inc.—held by a triumvirate of agency men who up to a few months ago served at the Pacific Coast office of Brooke, Smith, French & Dorrance Inc., Detroit—becomes F. D. Richards’ Harris-Harlan-Wood Div.

President King Harris, vice president-creative director Ridge Harlan and vice president-marketing director Parker Wood will bring with them the following accounts: Amoco, Folger & Co. (Instant Folger’s coffee which now joins Folger’s ground coffee, already a Richards west coast client); Granny Goose foods; W. P. Fuller & Co. (building materials); Safeway Stores (for Captain’s Choice frozen sea food and Lac-Mix); Golden West Broadcasting Co. (KMPC Los Angeles and KSFU San Francisco) and a number of others. Together with the accounts left behind by Mr. Harrington and the associates who will join him at a new location (Morris Plan of California, Sutro Bros., Grand Teton Lodge, Bi-Po Co. and others), San Francisco billings should come to $2.2 million or double the billings of the Richards-Harlan-Wood Div. there, according to agency spokesmen.

At offices 58 Sutter St. in San Francisco formerly occupied by the Harrington, Richards & Morgan Div. (which now becomes Richards & Morgan Div. in Los Angeles) only will be retained by the Richards agency.

Expected to join Mr. Harrington at Honig-Coooper, Harrington & Miner [ADVERTISERS & AGENCIES, June 9] are Alfred E. Smith, San Francisco office manager of HRM Div., Harry G. Fletcher, vice president and art director, and Henry W. Petersen, president; president-employee Mr. Harrington and a number of others.

The four accounts which are following Mr. Harrington back home are Bank of California, Woolite Inc., Western Pacific R. R. Co., and Squirt Co. While other former HRM staff employees may also move to H-C, H&M, executives at the Fletcher D. Richards home office were hopeful that “the personnel situation out here would pretty much be set now.” Coming in with Messrs. Harris, Harlan and Wood are the following BSF&D executives:

- Vice-president-art director Jack Keeler, media director Doris Williams, radio-tv director Carol Parker and production manager Pat Trimble. Other appointments may follow, it was indicated. Porter F. Ander-Los Angeles operations of Fletcher D. Richards are generally expected to be left unaffected by the shuffle upset. For the time being, Fletcher D. Richards will work on a two-office Los Angeles operation—the Richards & Morgan Div. (headed by Raymond R. Morgan and office manager Robert C. Temple) and the Harris, Harlan, Wood Div. (headed by James O. Thompson). It was indicated Friday that "eventually" the two offices would be combined.

HR&M's Smith, Gehring Join HCH&M San Francisco Office

When Eugene I. Harrington moves from the presidency of Fletcher D. Richards Inc. in New York to the chairmanship of Honig-Cooper & Miner in San Francisco tomorrow (Tuesday) [ADVERTISERS & AGENCIES, June 9], he will not move alone. Alfred E. Smith, manager of the San Francisco office of Harrington, Richard & Morgan, west coast branch of the Richards agency, is joining the San Francisco office of Honig-Cooper, Harrington & Miner (the agency's new name) as a vice president. Don Gehring, HR&M vice president in Los Angeles, moves to the Los Angeles office of HCH&M as account supervisor.

Three west coast clients of HR&M are also moving to HCH&M in San Francisco, the Bank of California and Western Pacific Railroad Co. have announced the transfer of their accounts to the new agency in the wake of Mr. Harrington and Mr. Smith. In Los Angeles, the Squirt Co. account which was supervised by Mr. Gehring at HR&M will continue under his supervision at HCH&M.

Babbitt, Hudson to help transit lines by swapping wrapper coupons for tokens

Two household product advertisers were meeting at the management level last week to map out a unique merchandising concept: How better to help themselves to greater shares of the market by helping out the various municipally-owned or franchised transit systems now facing operating deficits.

The promotion, billed as Operation Sudsway, gets underway tomorrow in New York and will shortly be rolling into other major markets including Washington, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis, Detroit, Kansas City, Milwaukee, Boston, Baltimore, Cincinnati and San Francisco, if civic authorities approve.

Not only will the municipalities be affected, but radio-tv as well. Reason: The advertisers—B. T. Babbitt Co. and Hudson Pulp & Paper Co.—feeling they have "a real hot thing" to tell and sell the housewife, "will most definitely" have to step up their respective use of radio-tv spot.

Babbitt (Bab-O labels, Hep Air-Gene and other cleansers) last month announced a plan whereby its customers could exchange three Bab-O product coupons (printed into the labels) for a New York Transit Authority subway token or equivalent in bus fare, later reimbursing the TA its full 15 cents. The news made headlines and subsequently, before the TA even gave the green light to Babbitt. The company received calls from other cities asking if they, too, could work out a similar arrangement with Babbitt. Also Hudson, whose market area extends west to the Mississippi, wanted in. Babbitt welcome both cities and advertisers and now is working out media schedules and merchandising schemes to drive Sudsway from New York to California.

Currently Babbitt spends in excess of $1.5 million in broadcasting, all of it in tv spot. Last month it cancelled its radio schedules on NBC Radio and spot so it could introduce a new "corporate tv character" named Norman Normal to daytime viewers with double its original tv allocations.

"But all this has changed now," comments Brown & Butcher vice president and account supervisor, Walter H. Wright. "We haven't time to film special Sudsway films nor can we properly record radio jingles." While it retains its 74-station, 53-market tv lineup, Babbitt—supplemented by Hudson allocations—plans a return to radio spot in a number of markets in which both will ride the Sudsway. Media schedules now are being lined up at Brown & Butcher—Norman, Craig & Kummel, Hudson's agency, willingly taking a back seat for the drive. Hudson's present ad expenditures are slightly larger than $1 million, and though it is nearing the end of its current radio-tv spot cycle, is expected to share the tab 50-50 in the participation. Babbitt expects to interest other advertisers into climbing aboard the Sudsway in areas not covered by Hudson.

The idea to come to the aid of ailing New York transit (see box) first came to Brown & Butcher President Thomas C. Butcher last February. He passed it on to promotion-minded Marshall S. Lachner, who only a few months earlier had quit the presidency of Pabst Brewing Co. to take over Babbitt, which likewise was "hurting" [ADVERTISERS & AGENCIES, Feb. 17]. Messrs. Butcher and Lachner then discussed it further with their colleagues, sounded out New York politicians and, after being assured there would be no conflict of interest between private and public enterprise, began to prepare the ways and means of implementing the token-swap idea.

Last Tuesday, in detailing Sudsway to a luncheon meeting of the New York Sales Executives Club, Mr. Lachner noted that Babbitt was "taking a considerable risk" in that it could ill afford such a largess as giving the TA 15 cents per token issued, whereas such giants as Lever Bros. and Procter & Gamble could. "But we're counting on the American spirit of fair play on the part of the consumers, the retailers, the transit employees to treat this offer ("Buy Three—Ride Free") in the same spirit of cooperation in which it was conceived.

To bolster this spirit of cooperation, Babbitt last week began spraying New York subway trains with apply-blossom scented Air-Gene, much to the delight of weather-oppressed New Yorkers.

Plight of the New York Transit Authority—one of many systems in a financial strait jacket—was again made known last week when the TA announced it expects to loose some 30 million riders this year; that for the next 12 months it would spend $281,240,040, take in only $254,510,000, thus lose $26,730,040.
REPS WIN TV BATTLE FOR KELLOGG

- Cereal company to shift money from ABC-TV to spot
- Budget to allow $7-7.5 million for time and talent

Leo Burnett Co. will start seeking spot tv availabilities for Kellogg Co. in the next fortnight, armed with a $7-7.5 million budget for four network spots.

The agency officially announced Kellogg's decision last week to shift its monies from ABC-TV for a similar schedule of half-hour children's shows in an estimated 170 markets next September. Chicago station representatives were plainly elated over the cereal-maker's decision and acceptance of a discount formula as a result of the purchase involving a "program contribution" technique [ADVERTISERS & AGENCIES, June 23; STATIONS, June 16]. The prospects of other national advertisers following suit and of a movement for standardization of the formula at the stations' level starting with rate card repraisals loomed to the fore.

Burnett emphasized that the new spot schedule "does not represent any basic dissatisfaction with network television," citing Kellogg's three new evening shows (Disneyland on ABC-TV, What's My Line and the Game Show on CBS-TV). The decision was dictated, the agency reported, "by a desire for complete flexibility in the replacement of this segment of the Kellogg broadcasting activity."

It was common knowledge in advertising circles that Kellogg district managers were not entirely satisfied with the current children's adventure strip on ABC-TV comprising Superman, Sir Lancelot, Wild Bill Hickok, Woody Woodpecker and The Buccaneers. Burnett simply announced the strip "will not be renewed after expiration of the present contract on Sept 29."

In line with the formula suggested by the Screen Representative Assn.-Chicago Spot Development Council, Burnett plans to buy time ranging from three to five half-hours per week for placement of four program properties, varying in different markets. In some instances, two 30-minute segments may be bought under the SRA-Chicago plan. Various commitments from stations in the negotiating group calls for discounts of 20% for three 30-minute film periods, 25% and four and 30% for a complete weekly strip.

A newcomer to the Kellogg stable is Huckleberry Hound, described by John Mitchell, vice president of Screen Gems, as the first all-animated half-hour produced specifically for television. The all-cartoon series was produced for Screen Gems by H-B Enterprises. Others slated for the fall spot schedule are Woody Woodpecker, Superman and Wild Bill Hickok—the last-named perhaps running twice weekly in some markets.

Burnett pointed out that the three programs being retained (Sir Lancelot and The Buccaneers are being dropped) "consistently rated high in the battle for the daytime kid audience during 1957-58" on ABC-TV. But the decision to return to spot, which Kellogg originally abandoned last year for network, was seen as perhaps an answer to its distribution problems.

ABC-TV was reported to have made several revised concessions in its last-ditch presentations to Burnett and Kellogg, among them a 30-day cancellation clause on any station in any market and a 13-week cancellation clause in any new network contract. Kellogg also was reportedly offered the opportunity to select ABC-TV stations in line with its distribution patterns. At one point Burnett and Kellogg were studying the possibility of a combined network-and-spot deal.

Station representatives will be asked for availabilities in about two weeks and given "final information" on Kellogg market preferences for the campaign, tentatively due to get underway between Sept 7 and 26.

While no provision is made in the SRA-Chicago plan for fewer than three half-hours per week in a given market, it was reported conceivable that stations would be asked to provide smaller discounts (less than 20%), although it was understood the Kellogg budget is sizeable enough to cover straight time purchases without any rate "cuts" as such. In some markets, it was pointed out, competition will serve as a "leveler."

The Kellogg move stimulated speculation as to how many stations will actually reappraise their rate cards to incorporate package rates for such bulk program time purchases as suggested by SRA-Chicago.

Generally, stations until now have made no provisions in television for such buys on a par with spot announcements.

Kellogg's acceptance of the discount formula, designed by SRA-Chicago members as a means of stimulating spot tv activity, is expected to open the door for requests by other national advertisers for similar advantages. One such advertiser, Wilson & Co., is seeking benefits of contiguous rates in a contemplated three-per-day, 15-per-week film strip in about 20 markets, with a five-minute series tailored for the women daytime audience [AT DEADLINE, June 16].

It's also known that at least a few Chicago station representatives for spots to take the initiative by pitching the concept to other midwest-based advertisers. SRA-Chicago members represented in presentation of the rate formula include Blair-TV; Blair Television Assoc.; Weed Television; The Katz Agency Inc.; Adam Young Inc. and Peters, Griffin, Woodward.

Nielsen Expands MNA Tv Report

A. C. Nielsen Co. last week announced the expansion of its multi-network area television report to 23 cities, an increase of nine markets, to keep pace with the expansion of simultaneous three-network service in areas throughout the U. S. Nielsen said its MNA service now covers 40% of all U. S. tv homes. This is the second major revision of the original nine-city area established in the fall of 1951, Nielsen said. MNA went to 14 cities in July 1955.

Sackheim's mail sack helps explain how agency gets results with radio-tv

With the appointment by Revlon of the Sackheim agency [ADVERTISERS & AGENCIES, June 9], Madison Avenue observers, who previously tended to dismiss that agency as a house specializing in print mail-order advertising, are taking a second look. They are finding that Sackheim since 1956 has been building up an extraordinarily successful case history for its radio-tv department chiefly through the use of what it calls "response advertising"—a technique of counting audiences through telephone calls and post card mail.

However "response advertising" may be interpreted, it is not "per inquiry" advertising, for Sackheim says its clients pay full rate card or whatever discounts are allowed regular radio-tv advertisers.

The $10 million-a-year broadcast operation supervised by its vice president and head timebuyer, Joe Gans—not only have underscored the old mail order truism of "you're only as good as yesterday's mail count," it also has undercut the importance of "station popularity" as decided by the various rating services. More important in the Sackheim buying pattern has boosted the stock of many an fm station operator by tossing him business that might otherwise have gone to the more powerful am's. By deciding in favor of stations that are in second or third place in given markets, Sackheim is offering its clients the assurance that their messages are received by a specific audience that is ready and willing to buy products made for their tastes and pocketbooks. It does so by deciding first upon an "audience composite"—a rough image of a hypothetical listener as regards his income, habits, leisure—then picking the station that comes closest to catering to that listener or viewer.

Consequently, it has shunned the "Top 40" am station. Explains Mr. Gans: "There's a lot to be said for mass audience exposure, but our clients can't afford to buy broadness at the expense of penetration."

Response advertising, being a variation on the theme of mail order copy—"no nonsense copy"—calls for "assurance of volume at a profit," according to Mr. Gans. But in Sackheim's case, "volume" is qualitative, not quantitative. Echoing a recent talk by author Martin Mayer [ADVERTISERS & AGENCIES, June 2], Mr. Gans said, "We want consumers...not bell buttons."

How many phone calls or postcards spell success? The Sackheim agency won't tell—"success being a relative thing. Let's just say that each radio-tv budget is predicated on the amount of response received and that this response must justify the investment." Last year, Mr. Gans discloses, 91% of time bought "proved profitable for the clients"; 4% of the campaigns "broke even" and 5% "took a loss." Because of the necessity of "locking up" specific time slots to reach a certain audience segment, "response advertising" must work with the barrier system: "You can never be assured of getting the position you want," Mr. Gans notes.

The question many "Revlon-watchers" are asking these days is: Will Revlon make use of the "cost-per-response" system? It's possible, but not probable, according to Revlon's Advertising Manager. Reason: Revlon's broadcast formula, which is tied to the product on radio and expose it nationally on network tv on the regular Revlon shows. While Revlon isn't talking about what precipitated the switch of Clear-O-Dan out of Mogul, it's considered a sure bet that the move can be directly linked to Sherman Lurie, an account man. Mr. Lurie recently left Grey for Sackheim to head that agency's drug division and has been highly thought of by the Revlon hierarchy ever since his days at Block Drug Co. Revlon advertising vice president, George Abrams, and the recently-appointed assistant to the president, E. William Mandel, are both Block alumni.

While planning for a future Clear-O-Dan media strategy, Revlon admits being impressed by a number of Sackheim success stories. Among them:

- Time Inc.'s Time magazine—In 1956 Time radio-tv responsibilities were reassigned out of Young & Rubicam to Sackheim. The "average" Time reader envisioned by Sackheim: above average income ($5,200 and up), college graduate, home owner and a "career person." The means to reach this reader: "good music" stations, mostly fm's as well as early morning and late night network tv. After offering the special "deal" of 27 weeks to Time at $1,975 over some 35 radio stations, Sackheim tested tv via participation in Panorama Pacific carried over the nine-station Columbia Pacific Television Network. Late last year, the test color, Sackheim bought daily announcements for eight weeks on NBC-TV's Today (Lineup C—37 affiliates); early this year, it added announcements on 69 NBC-TV affiliates carrying the Jack Paar Show. Both buys are still active, Today at 7:35 a.m., Paar at 12:50 p.m. Whereas the radio campaigns ask people to call a local telephone answering service (which regularly passes the orders to the agency), the tv announcements call for written replies to a box number, care of Time. The magazine currently spends $400,000 a year and will increase its budget this summer when the Time breaks in Canada.

- Columbia LP Record Club, Columbia Records Div., CBS Inc.—Assigned this account from its conception in 1955, Sackheim divided the CRC consumer into (a) the serious music lover, (b) the "pops" or "standards" fan (as distinguished from the teenage rock 'n roll disciple). It first went after (b) via spots on CBS Radio and CBS-TV stations ("we wanted the regular freight CBS family connections got us no special rate card privileges"), additionally bought into network "impact" segments on CBS Radio's Mitch Miller and Robert Q. Lewis programs and also bought time on those am independents that featured "straight dance and jazz music." For the classical music consumer it relied on fm, taking 10 spots a week in some 30 markets. Its sole network purchase was participating sponsorship on a Seer if Now documentary dealing with "The Rice Presidency." There was no special tv-radio offer, just the regular CRC "inducement plan"; three free Columbia 12-inch LPs for joining the club and agreeing to buy no fewer than four LPs at regular club price per year. CRC's annual budget: $400,000 in radio-tv.

- Jackson & Perkins Inc. ("World's Largest Mail Order Rose Growers"), Newark, N. J.—An old-line account at Sackheim, J&P sought as the image of its customers the "serious-minded home owner intent on beautifying his property." It found this listener to be a family man who listens to "the better-grade music-and-news station with specific adult (as against teen-age) appeal." The communication to interested listeners is to write "Roses, Station Name"—rather than a P. O. box number. Reason: to give the listener "a familiar name to write to" and to allow the station a gauge to measure its own effectiveness. Sure was J&P of its roses that it took to tv this spring to "dare" its customers to buy rosebushes (price range: $3.95-$8.95) to complete satisfaction "without having to pay us...or the postman one cent."

Gimmick: if by June 10 the roses failed to bloom, the bushes could be kept, scot-free. Cost of covering 20 independent am-fm stations plus the short-run NBC-TV Today "we dare you" campaign: $100,000.

- Fifth Avenue Color Laboratories, New York—New at Sackheim, this client wanted to convert black-and-white photo hobbyists into color film users, offering to develop one roll "absolutely free" if the listener (to weekend radio, Friday night-Sunday afternoon) shot color film "this weekend." It tested WNEW TV for three weeks and three weeks later was spending 10 times that budget on 40 radio stations. WNEW four days after the initial announcements reported receiving over 6,000 orders and rolls of color film; stations located as far away as the West Coast now accept these films and forward them to New York which processes the film and returns the rolls to the customer.

The "response advertising" technique also works indirectly—that is, without benefit of phone or postcard tabulation.

For example, for Puritan Corp., New Haven, manufacturers of a $39.95 electronic air purifier, the agency sent free Puritrons to leading am station personalities, asked them to use them personally at home before endorsing them to their listeners. Now spending $100,000 in 10 markets, Puritan asks housewives (and Puritrons at retail stores to mention the station and the air personality. It works.

POSITIVE APPROACH TO THE "TOP 40"

For advertising to adults with discretionary money to spend, you're in more rewarding company with radio personalities like these forty, than with "the top 40 (or 30 or 20) tunes."

Radio programming based on juke-box fads may attract a fervent audience—but the chances are good that the fervor is strictly for the beat.

The personalities and programs shown here represent varied, balanced radio programming of interest to a more mature and thoughtful market (and, it's safe to say, a lot more solvent).

If you sell white buckskin shoes and bubble-gum, by all means use a juke-box station. But for soap and cars and other products, you want the cream market—the customers with money to buy. This is the audience attracted to stations affiliated with

THE NBC RADIO NETWORK
L&M Adds $2 Million To Its '59 TV Budget

Liggett & Myers Co., New York, has set its television network buys for next year, with an increase of $2 million over last year. L&M will be spending approximately $18 million dollars for six network tv shows, five of which will appear on NBC-TV and one on CBS-TV. Last year the advertiser spent $12 million in network tv, $4 million in spot tv. This fall L&M will switch a good portion of the spot tv budget into the network buys and will allocate the extra $2 million over last year to promote growth in sales of its newest brand, Oasis.

Three of the five time periods on NBC-TV are renewals: the Eddie Fisher Show for Chesterfields, alternate weeks, Tuesdays 8-9 p.m.; Ed Wynn Show will be new but it replaces Dragnet in Chesterfield's time period, Thursday, 8-8:30 p.m., and Steve Canyon for Chesterfields will replace Club Oasis on Saturdays 9-9:30 p.m. The new time periods and shows for L&M will be Behind Closed Doors Thursday, 9-9:30 p.m., for L&M cigarettes and Brains and Brawn for Oasis and L&M Saturday, 10:30-11 p.m. Liggett & Myers signed up for all the shows but would be happy to have co-sponsors on Brains and Brawn and the Ed Wynn shows.

The NBC-TV buys were made by McCann-Erickson for Liggett & Myers. McCann-Erickson is the agency on record in all instances except where L&M brand underwrites the show through Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample, New York.

No official reason was given for pouring spot budget into network buys by either advertiser or its agencies.

The Eddie Fisher Show was also renewed by its alternate sponsor, RCA through Kenyon & Eckhardt.

The Brains and Brawn show replaces American Tobacco's Hit Parade, which moved to CBS-TV through BBDO. Behind Closed Doors succeeds People's Choice which is being dropped by Borden's and American Home Products. American Home is reportedly viewing a Friday night period with another show on the same network. Agency for Borden's and American Home is Young & Rubicam, New York.

$2 Million Television Campaign In Works for Fla. State Citrus

The Florida Citrus Commission has let it be known that it is willing to put some $2 million into television during the 1958-59 season if a suitable show or shows can be found. This would represent about two-thirds of the prospective advertising budget and would mark the heaviest tv outlay in commission history.

The commission, composed of 12 citrus men appointed by the governor, held its annual reorganization meeting in Lakeland last weekend and authorized its staff and agency, Benton & Bowles, to make a commitment on tv if action has to be taken before commissioners can be contacted. Commissioners meet again July 2, then probably will have no more meetings until September.

At the June meeting Benton & Bowles presented an interim advertising program for July 1 to Nov. 1, allocating $325,000 all to print media. The summer program is being held to a minimum because of low inventories after last winter's heavy freeze. B & B was instructed to make a presentation in October of the 1958-59 program, which presumably will emphasize tv.

The tentative budget for the program will be $3 million, with $700,000 more to be held in reserve. Funds are contingent on size of the crop, however.

J. R. Graves of Vero Beach was elected chairman of the commission. He appointed J. Dan Wright Jr. of Sanford, to head the advertising committee.

MADISON AVE. - MICHIGAN BLVD.

New York buyers took time off to get a look at CBS Chicago's $6 million facilities.

The occasion was a two-day tour conducted by CBS-owned WBBM-TV to familiarize Madison Avenue timebuyers and media supervisors with Michigan Blvd., its market and the headquarters and programming of the CBS outlet. The new quarters, completed last fall, house all CBS Chicago operations—CBS radio and tv network and spot sales, Columbia Records, Columbia Transcriptions and film sales.

Twenty-two buyers from 16 Manhattan agencies boarded United Airlines Flight 607 last June 19 and arrived at Chicago's Midway Airport at 2:15 p.m. They were then flown in two helicopters to the lakefront Meigs Field airport and convoyed in four cars to WBBM-AM-TV headquarters at 630 N. McClurg Court.

Buyers toured the CBS studios and other facilities, observing WBBM-TV programming and meeting station personalities. An excursion trip on the yacht (The Six) owned by H. Leslie Atlass, CBS vice president in charge of Central Div. and general manager of WBBM-AM-TV, was a special Thursday evening event. The following day the buyers ate breakfast buffet style while appearing on the Paul Gibson Show.

ARRIVING at Meigs Field by helicopter for visit to CBS Chicago are (1 to r) George Detelj of Ted Bates; George Arkedis, WBBM-TV sales manager (who greeted the delegation); Charles Theiss, Ted Bates; Dan Charns, Lennen & Newell; Joe Houidiak, Warwick & Legler; Dick Walkin, Benton & Bowles; Fred Spruytenberg, Sullivan, Stauffer, Colwell & Bayles; Herb Maneloveg, BBDO, and John Ennis of Bryan Houston.

Other New York buyers who made the trip were John Gray and Mike LaTerre, J. Walter Thompson Co.; Bob Innes, Benton & Bowles; Greg Sullivan, Ted Bates; Ted Kelly, McCann-Erickson; Bob Liddel, Compton; Dick Pickett, Foote, Cone & Belding; Sally Reynolds, Lennen & Newell; Walter Kastin, Ogilvy, Benson & Mather; Edna Cachtart, J. M. Mathes; Gary Frangoz, Cunningham & Walsh; Kay Brown and Tom Comerford, Young & Rubicam, and Paul Kizenberger, N. W. Ayer & Son. Three representatives of CBS-TV Spot Sales, New York—John A. Schneider, general manager; Bruce R. Bryant, eastern sales manager, and Fred Nettere—also went along as hosts.

Revlon Names Seventh Agency For New Room Deodorizer Product

The name Revlon Inc. continued to make news last week when the cosmetics-toiletries empire appointed its seventh advertising agency asked "Home Beautiful," a room deodorizer that had originally been assigned to Emil Mogul Co., was Heineman, Kleinfeld, Shaw & Joseph (formerly Franklin Bruck Adv.).

The product, marking Revlon's debut in household package goods lines, probably will not be tested until early fall. It is expected that radio and tv spot will be used.

At the same time, Revlon gave a second product assignment to Maxwell B. Sackheim & Co., New York, appointed last month to service Clear-O-Dan medicated shampoo, and an ex-Mogul assignment [ADVERTISERS & AGENCIES, June 9]. Also out of Thayer Labs, Revlon's drug subsidiary, is Delamene, an antacid preparation.

Last week, also, Revlon named Stanley S. Furness, marketing vice president of U. S. Summit Corp., to head of marketing at Thayer Labs. Other Revlon agencies: Warwick & Legler, Emil Mogul, C. J. LaRocche, Dowd, Redfield & Johnstone Inc., Charles W. Hoyt and the Sackheim agency.

Babb Resigns Lever Bros. Post, Burkhardt Succeeds as Chairman

Jervis J. Babb, chairman of the board of Lever Bros., has resigned effective today (Monday) because of the pressure of other duties, but he will continue as a director of the company. Mr. Babb is a director of eleven other companies including Green Giant stores and United Artists theatres.

With ex-Mogul assignment [ADVERTISERS & AGENCIES, June 9]. Also out of Thayer Labs, Revlon's drug subsidiary, is Delamene, an antacid preparation.

Last week, also, Revlon named Stanley S. Furness, marketing vice president of U. S. Summit Corp., to head of marketing at Thayer Labs. Other Revlon agencies: Warwick & Legler, Emil Mogul, C. J. LaRocche, Dowd, Redfield & Johnstone Inc., Charles W. Hoyt and the Sackheim agency.

L&B, Buchanan Dickering

Merger talks between Lennen & Newell and Buchanan & Co., both New York, last week were reported renewed after lapse of several months. L & N, a $50 million agency (of which 45% is billing in broadcast advertising), would inherit a number of sizeable industrial and film accounts now being serviced by Buchanan. Among them: American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres, Warner Bros. Pictures, Reynolds Metal Co. and Convair Div. of General Dynamics Corp. Buchanan, maintains offices in New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

TvB Study Reveals Tv Accounts For 46.5% Spent by Top 100

Television was the only medium used by all of the top 100 national advertisers in 1957, TvB asserted Thursday. The bureau pointed out that this does not include the distillers among the top 100, because hard liquor advertising is not accepted in tv.

TvB's study, based on a compilation by Advertising Age, said television "again" was the "dominant medium selection," accounting for 46.5% of the total spending of the top 100. For home use only, and more than newspaper, the No. 2 medium, and 135% more than magazines. TvB also said that 41 of the top 100 put over 50% of their budgets into television and 14 invested more than 75% in tv.

"It is significant that the bellweather advertisers in America voted so heavily for television in 1957. TvB hailed the new media report as a landmark in the growth of television, which for three consecutive years has been the No. 1 national advertising medium in dollars spent.

"Today American business is examining, more and more, the advantages and disadvantages of combating and measuring them against sales-result-per-advertising-dollar spent. It is in this climate that television continues to show its dominant role in the movement of goods and services.

C&W to Succeed JWT in Fall For Pharma-Craft Coldene Stick

Pharma-Craft Co. (subsidiary of Joseph E. Seagram & Sons), Cranbury, N. J., last week appointed Cunningham & Walsh as agency for Coldene stick chest rub. The switch, effective Sept. 1, means a loss for J. Walter Thompson Co., which has been servicing Coldene as well as some of the Fresh products. P-C's other agency is Cohen & Aleshire, New York.

Neither C&W nor Pharma-Craft officials would comment on the move nor the amount of billings involved. According to a recent estimate [ADVERTISERS & AGENCIES, Feb. 3], Pharma-Craft spends 75% of its $7 million budget in radio-tv.

Cunningham & Walsh vice president Wallace T. Drew will serve as Coldene account supervisor.

Meanwhile, Pharma-Craft President Frank F. Bell announced the appointment of Gene E. Hollen, former assistant product manager, Vick Chemical Co., as Pharma-Craft's first product manager. Mr. Hollen reports to Ralph C. Robertson, former Geyer Adv. vice president who recently joined Pharma-Craft as advertising director.

Take advantage of the tremendous local acceptance of WJW Radio with its new and bold mobile studio!
HOW TO CLEAN UP: reach the GET AGE audience. For advertisers, GET AGE homes comprise the most valuable audience in America. Because the GET AGE (the years between 16 and 49) includes families when they're young and growing ... when their wants and appetites are most prodigious. It includes, too, families at the very peak of their earning power — who are buying more than they ever will again. GET AGE families spend an average of one-third more, per household, than any other age group!

Chrysler, Edsel Hint Comeback On Network TV ‘Special’ Shows

Chrysler Corp. may follow the lead of Buick and Pontiac (General Motors) in buying network tv “specials” for the 1958-59 season, judging by indications last week.

Edsel is considering use of network spectacular, perhaps alternating week sponsorship of NBC-TV’s ‘Wagon Train’ to the parent Ford Motor Co. Edsel agency is Foote, Cone & Belding, Chicago.

Having dropped ‘Climax’ and ‘Shower of Stars’, Chrysler officials conferred again last week with Leo Burnett Co., Chrysler agency, about buying two special shows for the fall, but no plans have been finalized. Buick has signed for right one-hour Bob Hope specials on NBC-TV. Pontiac will pick up six specials on CBS-TV and NBC-TV.

In another product category, FC&B started an eight-week radio spot drive on ABC, NBC and CBS with announcements for Armour & Co.’s Dial soap division.

NEW YORK • Advertising of a radio jingle composed in the 1930s is selling beer again for the Gluek Brewing Co., Minneapolis.

The original singers (descendants of master brewer Gottlieb Gluek of Wurttemburg, Germany, who founded the company more than a century ago) were Arthur Gluek, E. J. Gluek and Charles Gluek, now president, vice president-general manager and sales manager, respectively.

Olsmest & Foley Inc., Minneapolis, the brewing company’s new agency, started a 10-day teaser campaign last April in which six Twin Cities disc jockeys announced that, "The Gluek Boys are back.” Goldman Productions, N. Y., was retained to reproduce the jingle in its original form, written for a close harmony trio accompanied by a vaudevillean twopiano team.

In the new commercial a pair of rockand rollers make a false start but quickly agree that the only way to sing the Gluek song is the vintage version:

_When good friends meet and hearts are gay._
_Where frosted glasses click, You’ll always hear that bottle say—Gluek! Gluek! Gluek!_

_New friends are being made each day, Of folks who wisely pick, The bottle that knows how to say, Gluek! Gluek! Gluek!_

And the Most Efficient Strategy to Reach Them is THE NATION’S VOICE

Radio’s value as a selling medium is unquestioned today. But how is its great potential best realized?

To answer this question, a special strategy has been devised...a strategy called The Nation’s Voice...which reaches customers efficiently, economically...regardless of budget size or marketing area.

Prime feature of The Nation’s Voice strategy is the use of leading stations...just 48 of the more than 3000 stations now broadcasting. These 48 are located in major population centers. They are the home facilities. Enlarged policy calls for broad programming which appeals to all segments of the audience. They command the respect and confidence of that audience. And they are tuned in by more people...by a true cross section of the consuming public.

Leaders they are...top stations in top markets...authoritative...beloved!

These are facts...documented facts...confirmed many times in single markets, in regions and nationally by Alfred Politz Research, Inc. Yes, people do know the difference between stations! These leaders not only deliver more listeners...they reinforce the advertiser’s message with their own authenticity, their own believability.

The Nation’s Voice is flexible, too. It can easily be tailored to match your particular marketing needs...whether your needs are best served by all 48...by the concentrated punch of the 18 Christal-represented stations...or by any number. Just let a Christal man detail for you the impact and efficiency of The Nation’s Voice.

Cashing-in on the phenomenal four-city success of United Artists' $4.5 million motion picture "The Vikings," United Artists Television last week disclosed that it will have available for the 1959-60 season a series of 39 "Norse Operas" under the same title. It becomes UA-TV's second of eight television series now in planning and production stages.

While no script has been written nor casting discussed, UA-TV said last week it has two "major nibbles"—one from a chain of bakeries considering "The Vikings" for regional syndicated sponsorship; the other a national advertiser who is willing to gamble on a network basis.

Details of the UA-TV project were outlined Tuesday by UA operations vice president, Herbert L. Golden, who also heads the TV subsidiary, and Bruce G. Eells, executive vice president of UA-TV. To date, UA-TV has screened the motion picture "Vikings" for 650 advertiser and agency executives, businessmen, New York and Hollywood. It followed the screenings with a massive sales pitch on behalf of the proposed TV series. Presentation highlights:

- UA-TV has on tap the services of 60 independent production firms, now engaged in theatrical film work, most of whom stand ready to turn to TV under similar financing-leasing arrangements they now enjoy through the parent company. Among them is Kirk Douglas Productions, which will produce the TV series but without the services of Mr. Douglas, who seeks to avoid "overexposure." Another UA member now in TV is Aries Productions, headed by ex-CBS producer-director Fletcher Mable. Aries now is shooting for completion for the 1958-59 season a "college-life" series for UA-TV titled The Young in Heart.

- The TV "Vikings" will be an economical property in that its projected cost for 39 installments is pegged at $42,000 each. Much of the capital investment in the TV series will go toward the construction of a 30-acre Viking village in Norway, a 33-ship fleet of Viking craft, plus roughly $300,000 in other sets, costume, armor) has already been amortized by the film's projected playdates and UA hopes to realize at least $8 million gross in box-office takes by the time the TV series is over for showing.

- UA-TV will not sell on the basis of "one pilot film." With production slated to start in Europe the first of next year, UA hopes to have ready 26 scripts by Nov. 1, and will wait until it has at least that many programs in the "can" before asking for an advertiser commitment.

- UA-TV disclosed also that by mid-December it will have "at least six other TV series ready to go." Since making its TV bow in 1956, UA has principally been involved in the sale of post-1948 theatrical films to stations.

Sgt. Preston Going Overseas

Television Programs of America will distribute Sergeant Preston of the Yukon TV series in all foreign countries, except Canada and England, under an agreement signed by Jack Wrather, owner-producer of the program, and TPA. A Spanish version of the show is now being dubbed and has been sold to WKAQ-TV Puerto Rico, Manny Reiner, TPA's vice president, announced. The show is sponsored in the U.S. by Quaker Oats on CBS-TV (Thursday 7:30-8 p.m.).

'Artiscope' Animation Process Uses Live Action to Cut Costs

A new film process unveiled in New York last week combines the elements of live action photography with those of animation. The result is "Artiscope," which claims reduced TV commercial budgets for advertisers.

Artiscope was invented by Len Maurer, an executive with Illustrated Films Inc., Los Angeles. With patents pending, Mr. Maurer—in New York to set up Artiscope operations in the field of television commercials—would not discuss the electrochemical process for transferring a live action frame to an animated cel. Nor would he disclose the advertiser who has ordered the first TV commercial in Artiscope. (One advertiser, the Borden Co., has prepared a test commercial through Young & Rubicam, but, explained Mr. Maurer, this was merely for "in-shop" consumption.)

Servicing Artiscope in the East will be Wylde Studios Inc., 41 W. 57th St., New York 19. Wylde has been in business three years, chiefly working on network radio-TV promotional work such as musical weather jingles for NBC Radio and TV spots for NBC-TV—using normal film processes.

Artiscope commercials are shot as live action film, with a series of electro-chemical treatments used to convert automatically the photo-images to inked drawings on celluloid. These drawings represent no more than the outlines and salient features of figure or prop. This, 90% of hand labor required to draw the initial figures has been eliminated. The only handwork entailed is that of coloring—for color TV—or shading the outlines. Artiscope can be done as cheaply as $50 a foot, claim its perpetrators, and "will give an advertiser animation without jumps, quivers or jerks, usually caused by human error."

UPA Pictures Production Transferred to West Coast

UPA Pictures Inc., Burbank, Calif. Thursday announced it would retrace its TV commercial operations by moving film production work out of New York and back to the West Coast. While the official company position—as announced by UPA President Stephen Bosustow—was that UPA sought to "offer all of our clients a wider range of animated commercial and entertainment talent represented by UPA in total," it was learned that the actual reasons for the switchback could be attributed to economics and talent.

UPA-New York maintains "a considerable overhead" in its midtown offices and studios which, it is understood, had become harder to justify in terms of actual agency assignments. Furthermore, its key creators who in the early years of UPA activity lent their animation skills to prestigious film projects—among them Gene Deitch and Chris Ishii, art directors instrumental in developing the famous "Bert and Harry Piel" TV spots, and John Hubley, Art Directors Club of New York prize winner. Mr. Deitch, now a consulting art director, formerly headed the CBS Terrytoons creative division; Mr. Ishii recently joined Pelican Films, and Mr. Hubley for the past three years has run his own company.

UPA creative work now will fall under direct supervision of Vice President Herb Klyn, on the Coast. While UPA is folding its production operations in New York, it will "augment" its service sales office in the East with additional personnel. Recently, UPA inaugurated a series of seminars on animation both inside its own offices and on a "road-show" principle at agencies requesting this gratis service. Both programs are now handled by New York sales head Paul Garrison—are designed to win back advertisers to animation.

Guild Films Gets Back in Black

Guild Films Inc. announced a net profit on operations before Federal taxes of $261,621 for the first six months of the 1958 fiscal year. John J. Cole, president of the firm, said that during the first quarter of the fiscal year the company had shown a loss of $318,011 which had been wiped out by profits earned during the second quarter. A comparison of gross film rental income between the first six months of 1957 and 1958 shows an increase of $778,746. However, the net profit before taxes in 1957 is $452,383 as against $261,621. Mr. Cole, who reorganized Guild's sales policy soon after taking over as president of the firm [FILM, May 26], said the new profit position indicates that "we are on the right road."

Johnson’s whole ball of wax is on the CBS Television Network

Starting this Fall, S. C. Johnson will concentrate all of its network television advertising on the network which repeatedly delivers the largest nationwide audiences in advertising.

As the biggest manufacturer of wax polishes in the world, Johnson needs the biggest audiences it can get—and has found them consistently on the CBS Television Network.

For the past three years it has demonstrated the efficiency of its products to an average audience of 27 million viewers, aided and abetted by Red Skelton. In its programming plans for the Fall, it has not only announced the renewal of this popular comedy series, but has increased its product-exposure by ordering two additional nighttime programs.*

Johnson underwrites its belief in the effectiveness of network television by committing most of its advertising appropriation to a medium still growing at the rate of 600,000 viewers a month.

This same confidence accounts for the current wave of renewals by America’s leading advertisers on the network which in 70 consecutive Nielsen Reports issued since July 1955, has been credited with the largest audiences in all television.

* "Darringer" and "Dick Powell’s Zane Grey Theatre" available for network showing this fall.

Don Fedderson Productions, Hollywood, has completed pilot film of new tv series titled The Quiet Man starring Jack Lord and Wanda Hendrix.

FILM DISTRIBUTION

Transfilm Inc., N. Y., has produced Story of the America's Cup for Thomas J. Lipps. N. Y. Daily. A biography tells story of 107-year-old international yachting competition being run this year after two-decade absence. Available rent free through Association Films, N. Y.

FILM SALES

Associated Artists Productions reports its Warner Bros. cartoon library has been sold in its 100th market. New sales of cartoons: WDSM-TV Duluth; WRGB (TV) Schenectady; KOAM-TV Pittsburg, Kan.; WMTV (TV) Madison and KYW-TV Cleveland. Popeye sales reported: WSPD-TV Paducah and KDE-TV Joplin, Mo. Also announced were additional 350 Warner Bros. features to earlier 230 acquisition by WDSM-TV; Jupiter package of 52 Warner Bros. features to KCSJ-TV Pueblo, Colo.; WKRC-TV Cincinnati; WBAY-TV Green Bay, Wis., and WHCT (TV) Hartford; Vanguard package to both WKRC-TV and WBAY-TV; Gold Mine libraries to WWLP (TV) and WHYN-TV Springfield, Mass.; and additional sales to stations of its Movieland and Sherlock Holmes features. WSYR-TV Syracuse and WABT (TV) Birmingham purchased additional 350 Warner Bros. features for full library ownership. AAP also sold 374 Warner Bros. features to WOOD-TV, Grand Rapids; WFMJ-TV Youngstown, Ohio, acquired Warner cartoons and renewed its contract for Popeye cartoons. Packages from its Gold Mine library were sold to KLOR-TV Provo, Utah, and WTAR-TV Norfolk.

Ziv Television Programs reports international sales in first five months of 1958 increased by 32% over those of same period of 1957. In past month, company has completed sales of 15 different Ziv series in 13 countries. Ziv product was sold in Puerto Rico, Mexico, Venezuela, Argentina, Nicaragua, El Salvador, Cuba, Guatemala, Germany, Italy, England, Australia and Scotland.

Tv Film Group Organizing To Protect Interests Abroad

The organizing committee for a proposed export association in the television film field last week elected Merle S. Jones, president of the CBS-TV Stations Division, as its temporary chairman. The voting was held among representatives of the major tv film distribution companies, which have been conducting exploratory talks over the past few months to organize an association that would promote and protect their interests in overseas markets.

Mr. Jones, whose office includes CBS-TV film sales, said he will appoint three working committees—financial, constitution and by-laws, and personnel and organization—to report within six weeks. The organizing committee approved "a vote of gratitude" to the Motion Picture Export Assn. of America, a group that is promoting theatrical film interests abroad, for its guidance.

FC&B's Carter Named AAW Head

Nelson Carter, vice president of Foote, Cone & Belding and general manager of the agency's Los Angeles office, was elected president of the Advertising Assn. of the West. Mr. Carter was appointed at the AAW annual convention in Vancouver, B. C. He succeeds John Hoefer, president of Hoefer, Dieterich & Brown, San Francisco.

First Ad Agency Group Meets

The First Advertising Agency Group is holding its 30th annual conference June 30 through July 3 at the Hotel Leamington, Minneapolis. The group, comprised of 29 agencies throughout the country, will be hosted by Foulke Agency Inc. there.

This year it will be a "workshop conference"; panelists have been selected to handle a variety of subjects of interest to agency managers and covering all phases of agency operation. Individual agencies will be given awards at the June 30 luncheon for the competence of work submitted for judging. The FAAG conference closes with a discussion of administrative matters and the group's future plans.

Allen Heads Pa. UPI Group; Meeting Heats Economic Report

George Allen of WBVP Beaver Falls, Pa., was elected president of UPI Broadcasters of Pennsylvania at its June 14 meet in Mechanicsburg. Joseph Shivers, WEEU Reading; James Magee, WTWA (TV) Harrisburg, and Robert Funch, WVSC Somerset, were named vice presidents of eastern, western and central districts, respectively.

Elmer C. Walzer, UPI financial editor, told the session that although the recession appears to be over, nothing suggests a sudden boom. He predicted that the recession would "try our patience during the summer," but pick up in the autumn and have a "fairly broad recovery by year-end."

AWRT Schedules Conferences

The American Women in Radio and Television last week announced the dates of eight upcoming conferences to be held by the organization and its chapters throughout the country. Conferences include New England, Stowe, Vt., Sept. 12-14; southern area, Columbus, Ga., Sept. 26-28; national board meeting, New York, Oct. 3-5; midwest, Kansas City, Oct. 10-12; Pennsylvania, Erie, Oct. 24-26; Indiana, Indianapolis, Nov. 15-17; national board meeting, New York, Jan. 16, 1959, and national annual convention, New York, April 30-May 3, 1959. Doris Corwith, supervisor of public service programs for NBC, last week was named chairman for the 1959 national convention.

RTES Has Date Clearing House

To help erase the "conflict" from conflicting business luncheons and meetings, the Radio and Television Executives Society of New York last week announced it is setting up a "clearing house of dates" through its regular office phone, Murray Hill 9-3480. RTES Executive Director Claude Barrere explained that those planning promotion, sales or other events can now check with the clearing house to avoid unfortunate conflicts.

Greeley Heads 4A Chicago Unit

Election of Joseph Greeley, vice president marketing at Leo Burnett Co., as chairman of the Chicago council of the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies has been announced. Reginald G. Carey, vice president and Chicago manager of Campbell-Ewald, was named vice chairman and Alex T. Franz was elected secretary-treasurer. James G. Cominos, vice president and radio-television director of Needham, Louis & Brorby, was elected chairman of the central region in a series of previous AAAA regional elections [TRADE ASSNS., June 16]. Governors of the Chicago council are Robert H. Brinkerhoff, vice president in charge of Chicago operations, Young & Rubicam; Robert R. Burton, vice president and Chicago office manager, Kenyon & Eckhardt; W. R. Gilen, vice president, BBDO; Lee Hammett, president, Western Adv. RAB Sessions Rescheduled

Date for the Radio Advertising Bureau's regional management conference at Sequoyah State Park, Okla., has been changed to Sept. 11-12 and the one at Highland Park, Ill., to Sept. 22-23, RAB announced last week. The change was made to avoid conflict with other industry sessions. Other fall management conference dates are unchanged: Palm Vedra Beach, Fla., Sept. 4-5; Palo Alto, Calif., Sept. 8-9; White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Sept. 15-16; St. Clair, Mich., Sept. 25-26, and Princeton, N. J., Sept. 29-30.

Indianaans Start on Library

Work on a radio recording and TV film library at Purdue U., supported by the Indianaans Broadcasters Assn. will start soon. The library will contain recordings, film clips and still pictures linked to contemporary events in Indiana state history. An IBA appropriation of $500 to start on the project has been announced by Joseph Higgins, WTHI Terre Haute, association president and Dr. Frederick L. Hovde, Purdue president. Compilation work will be undertaken by the university's audio-visual center under Lloyd D. Miller, with Jack Carroll, WBAA Lafayette, as coordinator. The IBA committee is headed by Ronald Ross, WPTA (TV) Roanoke (Fort Wayne).

TvB Adopts Multiple Program in Selling Efficiency Effort

Television Bureau of Advertising's new Sales Advisory Committee held its first meeting last Wednesday and approved a multiple-pronged approach to more efficient selling. TvB President Norman E. Cash said the group decided to call upon all members to share selling ideas; to create, through TvB, a backlog of top local tv commercials as success stories; to urge members to call freely upon the bureau for help in solving individual sales problems, and to have TvB take steps to develop a film to "train salesmen in their own backyard." TvB's "Vision of Television 1958" film presentation will continue to spearhead the bureau's sales efforts with key business executives.

The group came out of the meeting with a new sales slogan: "Selling by Visual Example." This, Mr. Cash said, is "television's greatest single weapon" in "meeting today's sales challenge." He added TvB will "continue the selling of television by dealing with facts, not fiction or glittering generalities."

Next meeting of the group is set for November, coinciding with TvB's annual membership meeting. The sales Advisory Committee expects to meet three or four times a year.

Class of '58: RAB's graduate course in radio sales

Eighteen radio station executives have finished Radio Advertising Bureau's first "graduate school" session on radio salesmanship held at the Shoreham Club, Old Greenwich, Conn. [TRADE ASSNS., June 2]. RAB President Kevin B. Sweeney passed out "diplomas" June 21.

The week-long course—40 hours of classroom instruction by RAB executives and visiting lecturers from agencies, stations and other fields—covered all aspects of radio selling. In addition to the homework assigned each night, the students had to make individual station pitches before a tough audience—the same RAB people who annually make hundreds of presentations to advertisers.

Whether RAB will turn this school into a yearly event is yet to be decided, Mr. Sweeney said. Decision will depend on what the students' employers think when their wards return to work.

Class of '58: RAB's graduate course in radio sales

The curriculum included engineering, radio history, radio dimensions, auto radio, ratings, advertising, radio economics, commercials, etc. Instructors included Mr. Sweeney; RAB vice president and general manager Jack Hardesty ("Dean of Studies"); promotion director Miles David; member services director Warren Boorom and other RAB staff members.

Students were Gene Barry, WEBR Buffalo; George H. Gallup, CBS Radio, New York; John Guarieri, WBUD Trenton, N. J.; Thomas Hume, WMAL Washington; Cabell Ishphord, WGH Norfolk, Va.; Ed John, WHVR Hanover, Pa.; William McCadyn, WGH; Earl McDonald, WGBH; Ed McMullen, WINS New York; Ed Meagher, WRCA Washington; Bill Rollley, WCAU Philadelphia; Bernard Sandler, WBTM Pittsburgh; Zel P. Silverman, KDKA Pittsburgh; Gil Thompson, WCAU Philadelphia; Bill Valenteen, WIBG Philadelphia; Charles Ventura, WIBG; Bill Watson, WTHH, and Chet Zaneskie, WHDH Boston.

The FCC was hard-pressed—in fact unable—to explain to the satisfaction of Sen. John Pastore (D-R.I.) why it has not taken some concrete action during the last four years to alleviate the plight of uhf television stations. And, during the process, the senator gave all the commissioners a tongue-lashing for their inability to reach an agreement and made them stand up for an accounting.

This all came about last Wednesday during the FCC's second round of testimony in the past five weeks before the Senate Commerce Committee in its current allocations study [Government, June 2].

The Commission appeared again on Tuesday by testimony from CATV operators and counsel. They maintained: (1) community systems have been unjustly charged by a small group of broadcasters, (2) willingness to accept federal regulation although legal authority does not now exist, (3) CATV systems and tv stations complement one another in the same market, (4) relations in most instances actually are better between community systems and broadcasters and (5) their rights to retransmit without paying programming rights or securing station permission. (CATV testimony starts on facing page.)

Sen. Pastore's blast against the Commission began innocently enough. At the start, he asked Chairperson John C. Doerfer if seven members were not too many and that maybe three might expedite matters. "I'm not so sure," Comr. Doerfer replied. Sen. Pastore then called the FCC to task in no uncertain words for its failure to provide a solution to the uhf problem.

"You're much closer to a solution we are today than four years ago," he challenged all seven commissioners, who were present. He asked for tangible evidence that something has been accomplished. None was offered. "You have seven points of view. Don't you ever agree on anything?" the senator asked. He then asked the commissioners how many favored deintermixture. Comrs. Robert E. Lee, Rosel H. Hyde, Robert T. Bartley and Frederick W. Ford stood. Next, Sen. Pastore asked how many were opposed to deintermixture and received yes from Comrs. Doerfer, T. A. M. Craven and the newest member, John Cross.

"Why does it take so long to say yes or no? Will this be or won't be?" the senator asked. He lambasted the FCC because "you can never seem to make up your mind" and never reach a compromise. "My goodness, if we ran the United States like this, where would we be in this country?" he asked in continuing a lecture on the FCC's inability to reach a compromise.

He reminded the commissioners that two years ago then FCC Chairman George C. McConnaughy promised the Senate a solution to the uhf-vhf problem by the spring of 1957—and he quit the Commission..." about then. At this point, Comr. Bartley interjected that the FCC is further away from a solution now than it was in 1955 because so many vhf stations have gone on the air in uhf areas.

Sen. Pastore replied that if the Commission is not going to deintermixture markets "Let's tell them [uhf stations]. Let's quit kidding them." Whereupon, Comr. Doerfer attempted to enter a defense of the Commission. He said that even if the FCC voted to remove v's from selected markets, it would take at least two years to effectuate the decisions because of certain court appeals.

Comr. Doerfer also maintained that if all tv were shifted to the 70 uhf channels, the public would receive less service than it does today and that the first time a v is removed from an individual market, the representatives and senators from the chosen state would be the first to "scream." He said it would be "foolhardy" for the FCC to accomplish a task if it lacks sufficient information and is waiting for a report from the Television Allocation Study Organization.

The senator replied: "We have been waiting four years. When are we going to get this information? That is to say, the point I am trying to make." He said if the FCC doesn't act soon, it will be too late because uhf will be completely dead. After that, Sen. Pastore expressed himself to attend another hearing. Following a short recess while another senator was secured (see box), the FCC questioned continued on a more serious basis by counsel Kenneth Cox.

Comr. Doerfer said he did not think the Commission is actively working to complement its 1956 plan looking toward shifting all tv to uhf. Comr. Craven said that no major emphasis has been placed on the development of uhf equipment by manufacturers and that the FCC has not encouraged such a program except through informal conferences.

Mr. Cox thought such action would take a formal policy announcement by the FCC such as to stipulate that there would be no more vhf tv after "eight years." Comr. Craven replied such a move merely would inform the public that it would have to pay twice as much for tv sets and "I'm not ready to do that." The Commission has no plans to find out why NBC is giving up on its owned uhf WBUF (TV) Buffalo, N. Y. He said the FCC would check into the failure if the committee so desired but asked: "What could we learn that we don't already know?"

Both Comr. Doerfer and Craven said the latter's proposal to shift all tv into a single band of 25 channels, starting with 174 mc (present ch. 7) is under study in the overall allocations survey [Government, June 23, Lead Story, June 2].

Comr. Craven said government investment in present equipment "in the billions" would have to be phased-out before the plan could be put in operation. However, he said, the equipment would become obsolete in 7-10 years anyway.

A personal investigation convinced him that the 25 proposed channels are sufficient for a broad, national service. Craven testified. He said there would be a difference in performance between the lowest and highest channels in the band but a compensation could be made with higher powers for the upper-band channels.

Counsel Cox asked Comr. Doerfer the purpose of the Commission's recently-announced "crash" study of its tv allocations. He questioned whether the Commission's staff could come up with any information or conclusions not already considered by the FCC.

Comr. Doerfer replied there is much additional allocations information, uhf material and other pertinent matters which the Commission has not had at its disposal in past allocations decisions. He said the whole matter can be recast from a different approach with many possible solutions that have not been considered. He expressed the hope TASO, which is due to submit a final report late this year, will come up with additional and helpful information.

He said the Commission attends most TASO meetings and is kept abreast of its progress.

The committee's counsel then questioned the Commission about each of its 13 individual deintermixture decisions. He was particularly critical of the FCC's refusal to delete vhf channels (instead adding additional channels) in Norfolk, Va., New Orleans, Miami, and Schenectady, N. Y. Mr. Cox contended the Commission turned down a chance to give uhf a tremendous boost in those four markets.

Comr. Doerfer agreed the Commission's actions had the effect of forcing existing uhf stations off the air in each of the four cities but maintained that any action taken would have been of very little assistance to uhf.

The FCC chairman said a recently-submitted ABC plan designed to add a third v to 14 top markets is under consideration [Lead Story, June 16]. "Personally, I believe the plan has merit," he said. Mr. Cox asked if it had enough merit to be considered as an interim measure or if it would have to wait for an overall FCC decision on allocations.

"I can't answer that now," Comr. Doerfer replied. Harold Cowgill, chief of the Broadcast Bureau, said the ABC plan now is before his section but that the Commission does not have enough engineering information to institute the required rulemaking proceedings. Mr. Cox maintained this information could be secured in comments to the rulemaking.

Comr. Craven agreed that "immediate relief" is needed and said the ABC plan should be placed in a rulemaking proceeding.

Mr. Cox had not finished his interrogation of the Commission at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday when the only senator present, Andrew Schoeppel (R-Kan.), had to go to the Senate floor. Hence the FCC was told to return sometime this week. No date had been set late Friday.

CATV Operators Tell Their Side of It

E. Stratford Smith, attorney for the National Community TV Assn., told the committee the FCC currently has no legal authority to regulate CATV but that his organization has no objection to such regulation if investigations show that it would best serve the public interest.

He said NCTA currently is studying the possibility of such legislation and will work actively with others to develop an appropriate area for federal regulation if it is deemed advisable. He made it plain such regulation should be federal, rather than state, and cited several decisions by state courts and public service commissions that CATV systems are not common carriers and therefore not subject to state control.

The FCC, Mr. Smith said, recognizes the reason behind appeals to place community systems under regulation—freedom from competition. NAB and others are in error in maintaining the Commission has authority to regulate CATV, he stated.

Counsel Cox asked Mr. Smith about a May 1952 FCC staff memorandum holding the Commission does have such authority. The witness admitted that he, then an FCC attorney, wrote a majority of the opinion. It's obvious that he has since changed his mind on the subject, he said.

Over $100 million has been invested in CATV during the past eight years, Mr. Smith stated, with 700 systems in operation serving 1.5 million people. Considering these figures, he said, "I submit that extremely little has been said that reflects on the CATV industry as a whole even if it be assumed that there has been no bias of self-serving motivation in any of the remarks made."

He said the complaints have been made by a small number of broadcasters from the same general area, using CATV as a scapegoat for an unfortunate economic plight. Generally CATV enjoys excellent relationships with TV stations, he said.

"In making this statement, I am not unaware of the fact that there does exist a basic issue between the TV broadcaster and the community antenna operator. It is the question of the right of the public to receive TV through a master antenna system without having to pay special charges not paid by other members of the public to cover copyrights and performance rights," Mr. Smith stated. The CATV position is that it has the legal right to rebroadcast programs without paying performance rights, Mr. Smith told the committee, but final settlement of the question can only be made by the courts. He noted that NAB has allocated money to finance a test case [Government, June 23] and welcomed such a test.

In answer to a question, Mr. Smith admitted there are "a good number of examples" where CATV systems have rebroadcast at station's program without permission. He said he advised the operators they have a legal right to do so and expressed the opinion that copyright protection no longer exists once a program has been broadcast.

Milton J. Shapp, president of Jerroid Electronics Corp., said that of 83 TV stations going off the air since 1952, only eight were in areas served by CATV systems. In only three cases has the CATV system even figured as an alibi for leaving the air, he said.

Mr. Shapp, whose firm operates nine CATV systems and has equipped 400 others, stated that in an "overwhelming" number of cases, community systems have paved the way for local TV stations. He also maintained that increased rates of stations in cities served by community systems contradict the contention that CATV systems are harmful to regular TV stations. He said it was unethical for a small group of broadcasters to blame CATV for competitive problems and mistakes in business judgment.

Archer S. Taylor, 18% owner of Northwest Video Inc. (CATV system serving Kalispell, Mont.), which in turn owns 30% of KGEZ-TV Kalispell, testified on the Montana situation. He denied emphatically that the community system forced KGEZ-TV to go dark and [GOVERNMENT, June 2] cited Northwest Video efforts to keep the station on the air.

He said the community antenna system was in operation three years before KGEZ-TV submitted its application; consequently "KGEZ had ample opportunity to assess the situation before going ahead with construction." He charged that KGEZ-TV majority owner Frank Reardon repeatedly rejected Northwest Video offers designed to keep the station on the air.

Mr. Taylor also maintained that Mr. Reardon and A. J. Mosby, owner of KMSO-TV Missoula misrepresented the facts in relating to congressmen their efforts to secure common carrier service from CATV systems. "Without CATV, Montana will be denied the choice and quality of TV program-
HELP WANTED

There was a tremendous scarcity of senators—at least members of the Commerce Committee—on Capitol Hill last week. Just as a month ago (Government, June 21), counsel had trouble finding a member of that body to preside at Tuesday and Wednesday allocations hearings.

Sen. Frank Lausche (D-Ohio) presided over the Tuesday morning session and at the noon break announced the hearing would reconvene at 2:15 p.m. When the appointed time arrived, no senator was present to take testimony from operators of CATV systems. At 3, 4 and 5 o’clock, still no elected official had made an appearance. Finally, at 5:30, after the witnesses had been waiting for over three hours, Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney (D-Okl.) put in an appearance and listened to the CATV defense until 7:05.

Wednesday afternoon, Sen. John Pastore (D-R.I.) was around just 30 minutes—long enough to give the FCC a face-to-face lashing (see story). When he had to leave, a 20-minute recess was called until the services of Sen. Andrew Schoeppel (R-Kan.) could be secured. He called an abrupt halt to the proceedings at 4:30, long before committee counsel had finished his interrogation, and ordered the Commission to come back before the “committee” this week.

Mr. Reither, owner of a small CATV system in Twin Falls, Idaho, with an FCC application pending to build a microwave system to serve 4,000 additional families, assailed the testimony of Gordon Glassmann, owner of KLIX-TV Twin Falls, before the committee last month (Government, June 2).

“For KLIX-TV to publicly state that 95,- 000 people outside Twin Falls depend on [KLIX-TV] for their only tv service is a gross misstatement of the actual facts,” Mr. Reither stated. He said 99% of the homes in the area have access to one or more channels from the Twin Falls station. The Glassmann testimony was directed not to the fact-finding committee but to the advertising agencies with whom they do business,” he charged. KLIX-TV programming “deteriorated to a point where I received hundreds of requests to expand my CATV systems to other areas,” Mr. Reither said. He also charged that KLIX-TV had been trying to hinder two to seven spots between shows and program content was deleted to make room for commercials.

In addition to carrying the three network services from Salt Lake City, Mr. Reither said he plans to provide a channel on his proposed 9-channel system for KLIX-TV.

Paul B. McAdam, owner of KPRK Livingston, Mont., and operator of a CATV system there, charged that broadcasters’ complaints against community antenna systems are “a rather clever attempt to eliminate competition.” He challenged the contention that KGEZ-TV Kalispell, Mont., was forced to suspend operations because of competition from CATV (Special Report, May 12). “There has definitely not been proven,” he said. “The town is too small, in the first place to support a television station.”

He said the Livingston system serves 1,- 800 of the city’s 2,300 homes with five channels at a cost of 12¢ per day, “less than the cost of antenna upkeep for the individual.” The system also has its own vidicon camera and originates closed-circuit local programs.

Glenn Flinn, co-owner of the Tyler, Tex., CATV, denied his firm has been “callous or unconsidered” with the problems of ch. 7 KLTV (TV) Tyler. In testimony before the committee last month, KLTV General Manager Marshall Pengra claimed that CBS-TV had cut its network rate from $252 to $50 because of the community antenna competition. Also, Mr. Pengra charged, the antenna company degraded the KLTV signal by changing it from ch. 7 to ch. 6.

Mr. Flinn testified that his cable system began operating in 1952 with three channels and in 1956 spent $100,000 to add KLTV, plus a fifth channel. This was done, he said, because of ch. 7’s desire to be placed on the CATV system. Because of technical limitations, he said, it is necessary to change KLTV’s signal to ch. 6 and this was explained to the station.

“In our city I think the antenna company and the local station complement each other.” Mr. Flinn said. “The antenna company had a ready-made audience for the station when it came on the air and the station was able to operate in the black much earlier than many tv stations have. . . . If ch. 7 has difficulty selling national network programs, I do not think it is because of our system, but rather by its location. . . . I think the record will show that we have made every reasonable effort to cooperate with ch. 7 and support it.”

Three Texas civic officials, Mayor O. L. Helm of Memphis, Mayor Hiram L. Cudd of Wellington and Alderman Jack Fox of Childers, appealed to the commission for relief from the FCC’s “freeze” against granting private microwave systems. Applications are pending for facilities in all three cities, he said, and it is unfair to prevent these cities from receiving tv service.

None of the cities are within the normal range of any existing tv station, they testified, so there would be no problem of interference or economic competition.

Sen. Frank Lausche (D-Ohio), presiding at the time, promised to forward their testimony to the FCC.

Town Gives Report on TASO
To Senate Commerce Committee

Dr. George Town, executive director of the Television Allocations Study Organization, told a Senate committee last week that from two-thirds to three-quarters of the information which will be submitted to the FCC by TASO is a refinement of existing knowledge. The new material Dr. Town said will be in methods of measurements and lay evaluation of picture quality as correlated with engineering measurements.

Dr. Town appeared last Thursday before the Senate Commerce Committee which has been reviewing the Commission’s position on tv allocations. His statement was sub-mited as read, and he spent 10 minutes answering questions from Kenneth A. Cox, special tv counsel for the committee.

In his statement, Dr. Town outlined the purpose of TASO, its organization and the amount of work that has been carried on. He estimated that all panel reports will be completed by August and that TASO’s final report will be submitted by the end of the year.

Last seen in 1910 — due again in 1986.
A Florence, Ala., uhf station last week told the FCC its troubles in competing with a community antenna television system that brings in programs from vhf in Birmingham (WABT TV and WBCR-TV) and Nashville (WSIX-TV), both over a hundred miles away.

WOWL-TV (ch. 15), commenting in the FCC's inquiry into the impact of catv, tv translators, tv satellites and tv "boosters" on development of tv broadcasting, said it competes with the programs from distant stations despite its own difficulties in supplying one quality network service plus the "red tape" it has encountered in getting approval of its application for a microwave relay system. Comments were due in the FCC inquiry by last Friday [see At Deadline].

Richard B. Biddle, president, said WOWL-TV had asked the catv system, which serves 4,100 homes in the Muscle Shoals market area, to carry ch. 15 programs but the antenna system replied it would have to delete one uhf translator, thus eliminating one service. He said WOWL-TV has added only four or five national accounts (total gross, $4,000) and has received network revenues of less than $500 a month in the 7½ months it has been on the air. J. Walter Thompson Co. told WOWL-TV it would not receive a Ford Motors program because it was already being received by the catv system, he said.

Mr. Biddle said most local retail merchants are catv subscribers and many have not converted their sets to ch. 15, with the result they don't use WOWL-TV despite station success stories and proof of overall audience. He said WOWL-TV would "welcome" a requirement that ch. 15 be carried on catv and that such systems should be required to carry programs of the local outlet. He felt that rural areas is more important than multiple services in a city (WOWL-TV claims 24,000 homes in the area get satisfactory service from it or WMSL-TV Decatur, Ala.); that the FCC is empowered to control catv in the public interest; and that broadcasters' economic injury theory is valid in the absence of a "co-existence plan" for both broadcasters and catv.

Comments by a group of Montana broadcasters dripped with satire. They charged the FCC, in allowing catv operators to bring in signals from the Spokane, Wash., stations, has extended rural areas is more important than multiple services in a city (WOWL-TV claims 24,000 homes in the area get satisfactory service from it or WMSL-TV Decatur, Ala.); that the FCC is empowered to control catv in the public interest; and that broadcasters' economic injury theory is valid in the absence of a "co-existence plan" for both broadcasters and catv.

Wolfson-Meyer to Withdraw From Houma, La., Ch. 11 Contest

WTJV Inc. (Mitchell Wolfson-Sidney Meyer) Friday asked the FCC to dismiss its application for ch. 11 at Houma, La., for which it has been in competition with St. Anthony Television Corp. WTJV said it is withdrawing because St. Anthony agreed to pay WTJV $12,979 as "partial reimbursement" for out-of-pocket expenses in pursuing the application.

The WTJV withdrawal, however, does not clear the way entirely for St. Anthony. The two issues which remain before Hearing Examiner Basil P. Cooper are its financial qualifications and whether its proposed tower is an air hazard.

A petition by St. Anthony is pending for dismissal of the financial qualification issue. St. Anthony proposes a tower 1,000 feet above average terrain, 1,058 feet above ground.

WTJV made known its intention to withdraw at a pre-hearing conference Wednesday. The Wolfson-Meyer interests include WTJV (TV) Miami, 20% of WFGA-TV Jacksonville, both Fia.; 36.8% of WLOS-TV Asheville, N. C., and 50% of WMTV (TV) Madison, Wis.

FCC Sets Last Barrow Hearings, Network Study Heads to Testify

The FCC last week scheduled final hearings July 11 and 14 for the Barrow Report on tv network broadcasting.

Testimony will come from three top members of the Network Study Staff which made the report. These are Dean Roscoe L. Barrow of the U. of Cincinnati Law School; Dr. Louis H. Mayo, assistant dean of George Washington U. Law School, Washington, and Dr. Jesse Markham, Princeton U. economics professor.

The hearing dates were fixed in mid-July because Dr. Markham departs July 24 to Europe on sabbatical leave for a year's study there.

Ogdën Tv Grant Favoried

United Telecasting & Radio Co.'s bid for ch. 9 Ogdën, Utah, last week received a go-ahead signal from FCC Hearing Examiner Thomas H. Donahue in an initial decision looking toward the grant of United's application.

Originally there were other applicants for this Utah channel: Jack A. Burrrett and Granite District Radio Broadcasting Co. These applications were dismissed without prejudice after United agreed to partially reimburse Burrrett for expenses and made an arrangement whereby Granite District could buy into United (up to slightly less than 50%).
839' self-supporting tower for WBNS-TV, Columbus, Ohio, supports RCA TF 12 AM antenna. Two outside platforms give easy access to microwave equipment.

Reasons why

"It's good business to buy from an experienced tower company"

Look as long and as hard as you will at this tower—or the hundreds of others by Dresser-Ideco, serving broadcasting stations all over the country—and you just won't be able to see that really unique "something" that makes every Dresser-Ideco tower different from towers of any other make.

But there are many very real differences which add up to a safer tower, with lower maintenance costs than you'll find in other towers on the market.

For example:

Dresser-Ideco uses structural rib bolts for connections throughout each tower. These bolts are specially designed to stay tight as the tower moves and vibrates in the wind. They won't work loose as other types of bolts tend to do, won't allow the tower and antenna to slip out of alignment.

Dresser-Ideco engineers plan the layout for the installation of broadcast equipment and supply detailed equipment installation drawings to the erection contractor. Long-experienced Dresser-Ideco tower engineers know this step in the erection process should not be left to extemporaneous "fitting up" on the job.

Complete final inspection is given every Dresser-Ideco tower by a field engineer, who makes certain that erection and equipment installation is carried out in accordance with the designer's specifications. Here again, experienced Dresser-Ideco tower builders know this final step is necessary to insure that you get a completely safe and satisfactory tower.

Just 3 examples... 3 details among many... that serve to illustrate the careful planning and attention to detail that goes into every Dresser-Ideco tower and that serve to illustrate why we think you'll agree "it's good business to buy from an experienced tower company."

So when your new tower is in the offing... look to experience you can believe in and results you can see. Better than 50% of all TV towers over 1,000 feet tall are towers by Dresser-Ideco... twice as many as the second tower company's total... more than all the rest of the tower companies combined.

Put Dresser-Ideco's unparalleled 35-year record of tower experience to work for you... write Dresser-Ideco, or contact your broadcast equipment representative.

Radar Towers on the DEW line in northern Alaska—designed and fabricated by Dresser-Ideco. Keeping pace with the rapidly developing needs of radar and microwave—helping the broadcast industry meet its expanding needs—these are the challenges that keep Dresser-Ideco's thinking fresh and "alive", now and in the years ahead.

The Sherman Adams imbroglio last week touched off counter-claims by Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn that Democratic congressmen themselves have been "exceedingly adroit and practiced in commando tactics against the FCC."

What began merely as one of the day-to-day verbal duels between Mr. Alcorn and Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler on Tuesday had, by Thursday, got down to "cases."

"Tv obviously was on Mr. Butler's mind Tuesday when he issued a statement saying the Adams show on Capitol Hill should be renamed "Truth or Consequences" or "The Price Is Right." Mr. Alcorn promptly replied that perhaps the show ought to be called "Soldiers of Fortune," pointing a wagging finger at seven Democratic senators who have financial investments in radio and tv stations. Why, Mr. Alcorn suggested, doesn't somebody hold an investigation on how the seven "acquired and improved their holdings?"

(The seven: Democratic Sens. Clinton P. Anderson, Lyndon B. Johnson, Olin D. Johnston, Robert S. Kerr, Warren G. Magnuson, Joseph C. Mahoney and John J. Sparkman. For a list of radio-tv interests, financial and otherwise, held by congressmen and near relatives, see For the Record, April 14.)

Sens. Anderson and Kerr issued immediate replies that while they have investments in radio and tv stations, they never have tried to unduly influence the FCC.

But the simmering pot had reached boiling. On Wednesday, newsman dug out a six-weeks-old letter written to the FCC about a pending broadcast application. Its author: none other than Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.), who as chairman of the House Legislative Oversight Subcommittee has been the author of the Republicans' most recent woes.

The letter, a part of the FCC's public files since it was written to FCC Chairman John C. Doerfer on May 6, expresses "interest" in an application for an am station (1270 kc, 1 kw day) at Pine Bluff, Ark.—in Rep. Harris' home state but not in his constituency. The congressman said his letter was prompted by B. J. Parrish, president of KOTN Pine Bluff, an existing station which would be in competition with the proposed new outlet. Rep. Harris said he had been furnished a copy of a letter to the FCC by Mr. Parrish objecting to a grant of the application.

(Mr. Parrish's letter to the FCC questioned the qualifications of the applicants—Louis Alford, Phillip D. Brady and Albert Mack Smith.)

Rep. Harris said he would like to have a copy of the FCC reply to Mr. Parrish and asked whether the FCC had a policy of limiting the number of radio stations in a given "trade area" according to population and the likelihood of economic survival amid competition. Chairman Doerfer replied that the FCC assigns frequencies to communities, not trade areas, and that it does not determine the "need" for a station in a community—that this is left to the "genius of free enterprise," although the number of stations would be a factor in a grant.

The FCC has set the application for hearing Tuesday on whether proper negotiations took place in an agreement by which a second applicant for the same frequency, Kermit F. Tracy, withdrew. The FCC has invited Mr. Parrish to be a public witness—but not a party in interest—at the hearing.

Rep. Harris said last week he sees nothing improper in his letter to the FCC. Mr. Parrish said last week he sent copies of his letter to all members of the Arkansas congressional delegation and the state's two senators and that all have written to the FCC.

But the GOP's Mr. Alcorn was not satisfied with Rep. Harris' answer. The Republican national chairman had the last word—at least through Thursday. In a statement for release last Friday, he reported:

"A system which provides one set of rules for officials of the executive branch and another set of rules for members of Congress is a pernicious one indeed."

House Puts Sportscasts Outside Antitrust Law

The House last week voted to exempt radio-tv sports coverage from antitrust laws.

The bill leaves only strictly commercial phases of professional baseball, football, hockey and basketball under antitrust restraints.

As approved, the bill incorporates the language of a measure introduced two weeks ago by Rep. Francis Walter and three other congressmen (Government, June 23). However, it bears the number (HR 10378) of a measure introduced last January by Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.). The Celler bill called for exemption of those phases of professional sports found to be "reasonable and proper." The Walter version does not include this stipulation which, it was argued, would lead to endless litigation.

In approving the sports exemption, the House voted down 93-11 an amendment by Rep. Sidney R. Yates (D-Ill.) to place radio-tv coverage under antitrust regulation to "protect the interests of baseball fans."

Also last week, Rep. Albert W. Cretella (R-Conn.) and Rep. Edwin Dooley (R-N.Y.) introduced bills similar to the one approved. Rep. Cretella's measure (HR 13071) provides that "no major league game telecast or broadcast be permitted into a minor league area when a minor league team is playing in that city, unless that minor league team specifically consents to such a broadcast or telecast."

Telethon Proceeds Tax Exempt

When a tv station conducts a "telethon" over its facilities and turns over all monies collected to tax-exempt charity, the funds raised do not constitute income to the station, according to a ruling issued by Internal Revenue Service in its June 9 Bulletin. It was understood WTVJ (TV) Miami was the station involved.
If Railroads did not exist—the U.S. would have to invent them!

From a recent editorial in the Canton (Ohio) REPOSITORY

SUPPOSE that everybody in the United States were to learn for the first time about a marvelous method of transportation called a railroad.

The idea would be sensational.

High-speed tractors running on steel rails laid on privately-owned rights-of-way, with minimum curves and grades, would be capable of pulling long processions of trailers full of merchandise. Imagine!

Trains of trailers would be kept rolling day in and day out until they reached their destinations. They would be shuttled into and out of vast marshaling yards, where the trailers would be grouped in the right combinations. Of all things!

Everything connected with the procedure, moreover, would be subject to taxation. It would be expected to pay for itself.

The high-speed tractors on their twin ribbons of steel could even haul human beings, in addition to freight. If necessary, the human beings could be bedded down and hauled from one place to another in special cars with comfortable seats and all the comforts of home.

It would be an absolutely revolutionary idea—railroading. Provided it had just been invented, that is.

All the progressives and the folks who try to lend a helping hand to get new ideas off the ground would be 100 per cent for it.

All the politicians and administrators would be 100 per cent for it.

As for the militarists and hard-headed security planners, they would be 150 per cent for it, because it would represent a mode of transportation more dependable for long-haul movement of heavy cargo than anything ever dreamed of heretofore.

The whole country would welcome the useful stranger with open arms and be alert for opportunities to give it a boost.

Cities and counties would tumble over one another to build things for it and to make free land available for its terminals.

Politicians would get into higher mathematics to subsidize it with financial gimmicks.

Nothing would be too good for the railroads if the idea of transporting things on steel rails were brand new...

All railroads want is a chance to be as good as they know how to be if they are unshackled—set free from regulations that were designed to curb them when they were new and threatening to abuse a monopoly in high-speed, straight-line transportation.

Railroads should be born again.

That is what would have to happen if they went out of existence.

If they did not exist, the United States would have to invent them...

Hill Gets Fill-In on Ratings

- Sen. Monroney hears about major tv rating services
- Satirizes homage paid to ratings by the industry

"All I've learned is that people are like grains of wheat."

This was the comment made by a bemused Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney (D-Okla.) last week at the conclusion of a one-day hearing on tv rating services which saw the giants of the nose-counting business parade before his one-man committee of the Senate Commerce Committee.

Sen. Monroney also observed that the day's testimony confirmed his feeling that a sampling of small numbers of people dictates the "sameness" of tv programs.

He said that the purpose of the hearing was to put the rating picture into perspective and on the public record so that everyone could understand it.

He added that the next step, if the full committee approves, would be to call network, advertising agency and advertising executives to explain how they use the information gathered for them by the rating services. He said he would like to find out why networks follow each other "like sheep" in imitating each other's successful programs.

All but one defended the integrity of their ratings and the usefulness of the data they provide. Generally emphasized was the fact that hard-headed businessmen spend millions of dollars a year for this information and "they aren't interested in kidding themselves."

The lone dissenter was Mr. Sindlinger. He maintained that ratings oversimplify because they show only one dimension. He urged research to determine the quality of the audience and its compatibility with the advertiser's product.

He prophesied that there was going to be "catastrophe" for westerns next year. He also said he had found "slippage" for the first time, people no longer engaged in sustained viewing for a definite period of time; there was more looking and unlooking in recent months, he said.

He also said the sale of Hollywood feature films to tv saved tv last year; from 25% to 35% of time was spent watching good movies.

Mr. Nielsen told the committee that tv ratings should not be blamed for the demise of unpopular programs. "You don't blame the bookkeeper when a Broadway show fails," he asks rhetorically.

In a satiric slap at critics, Mr. Nielsen declared those who question how a sample of 1,000 can determine the viewing habits of 43 million tv families betray their lack of knowledge of the abc's of sampling techniques.

"We are amazed at the alacrity with which laymen, having no knowledge whatever of this highly technical subject, often presume to pass judgment on the quality and site of the samples used by experts who have devoted their lives to a study of the subject," he said.

Such opinions, he said, are as meaningless as if they were to pass judgment on the metallurgist of U. S. Steel Corp. for the making of high speed tool steel.

Mr. Seiler emphasized that the users of ratings understood that there was a margin of error in ratings—in ARB's case four points—which means that programs separated by this many percentage points actually could be considered equal.

Mr. Hynes in his testimony stressed that Trendex reports cover 20 cities and should not be considered anything more than that.

Mr. Roslow explained that qualitative research on program calibre is undertaken on special order. He also observed that if more variety is desired then more facilities are required.

Mr. Jay disclosed that his reports included evaluations of programs by viewers—but that this was included originally only as a technique to ensure that diary entries were made immediately after viewing.

Sen. Monroney was aided in his investigation by the committee's special tv counsel, Kenneth A. Cox, and its communications specialist, Nicholas Zapple. A year ago the committee sent questionnaires to the rating services asking how they operate.

In his opening remarks, Sen Monroney said that the committee had received a number of inquiries or complaints concerning the national program rating services. These have given rise, he said, to questions as to the possible effect of ratings upon the quality of the program service being furnished to...
THE PRESTO 800 PROFESSIONAL is one tape recorder with all the answers. Its single-action individualized controls mastermind each detail—deliver a higher rate of production at significantly lower operating costs.

For example: Separate switches provide correct playing tape tension even when reel sizes are mixed. Three rewind speeds are push-button selected. Cue switch allows hand-winding and cueing without fighting the brakes. Pop-up playback head shield for right-hand head disappears in STOP and FAST, completely exposing all heads for easy sweep loading and fast, sure editing. Five color-coded illuminated switches provide interlocked relay control of the five basic functions. Spring-loaded playback head can be adjusted for azimuth even with snap-on head cover in place. Safe tape handling with top speed is assured because interlocked relay control prevents accidental use of record circuit.

Broadcasting
the public and "the possible misuse of rating information in station and network advertising."

Sen. Monroney continued:

"It is not the duty of the committee to interfere unduly in the conduct of an essentially private business. Our only concern is with the possible impact of ratings on the service the public receives and upon the overall development of the tv industry."

Sen. Monroney's questions and observations during the day's testimony indicated his belief that the commission was giving too much weight to the "sheeplike" quality of Madison Ave. Networks and advertisers, he said, used ratings like the Sermon on the Mount. At another point he suggested that some "charitable organization" buy blank time to ask viewers to write and tell how they liked the program.

Repeatedly he confessed bewilderment at the ability of the surveyors to count people's likes and dislikes in the same method used to count refrigerators or cereals.

Mr. Cox' questions were mainly directed at beliefs that ratings were artificially inflated by the services, that the companies tended to favor customers and that the ratings were unrealistic since the surveys were made on the same week each month. This last was categorized as insignificant by the surveyors who claimed that since all stations knew when the ratings were being made any possible advantages were canceled out.

Hemispheric Network Proposed by Bricker

The possibility of a telecommunications network, including circuits for live radio and tv programs, connecting the U. S. with Central and South America was raised in the Senate last week. Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio), for himself and six other senators, introduced a resolution (S Res. 317) authorizing the establishment of a special subcommittee to investigate "the advisability and feasibility" of constructing such a network.

New circuits which would permit radio and tv program exchanges with Mexico and Central and South American countries would be of tremendous value, he said.

Four members each from the Foreign Relations, Interstate & Foreign Commerce and Armed Services Committees would be appointed to the special committee. The resolution allocates $350,000 for the study and calls for a report to the Senate by March 1, 1959.

In addition to determining the advisability of such an international network, the special subcommittee also would (1) study possible U. S. agreements with other countries for its construction and operation and (2) determine the type of U. S. agency "best suited" to carry out the construction and operation of the network.

Joining the Ohio Republican in sponsoring the resolution were Sens. Styles Bridges (R-N. H.), Bourke Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), Leverret Saltonstail (R-Mass.), Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), Andrew Schoeppel (R-Kan.) and Homer Cephart (R-Ind.).

STERN SETS DATE FOR MIAMI CASE

A retired chief justice of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court opened the second round of the notorious Miami ch. 10 case last week. Judge Horace Stern, appointed by the FCC as a special examiner—the first time the Commission has gone outside its own staff for a hearing officer—set Sept. 8 as the date for the beginning of testimony in the rehearing.

The prehearing conference was adjourned after a full morning session last Monday. It will be resumed this afternoon (Monday). A further pretrial meeting was scheduled Aug. 22. All are in Washington.

The Miami ch. 10 case was reopened after being remanded by the U. S. Court of Appeals last April. The issues involve improvement of the comparative hearing, including circuits which would permit radio and tv network, including circuits for live radio and tv programs, connecting the U. BRISTOL, VIRGINIA- TENNESSEE

R. H. SMITH, President & General Manager

WCYB-TV serves over two million people in the "Mountain Empire" — with NBC and ABC as well as local programs. WCYB has been operating since August of 1956 on Channel 5 at maximum power. Their transmitter is one of the highest east of the Mississippi River, 4980 feet above sea level and over 2300 feet above average terrain. WCYB broadcasts 18 hours a day with a staff of 55 and three full camera chains plus remote facilities.

Carlene Miller joined the staff of WCYB-TV before they went on the air, shortly after graduating from Northwest Schools. She has been a camera girl, floor manager, and is now director. She directs between 15 to 20 programs a week, ranging from live shows to commercials in film programs.

Here is what Mr. R. H. Smith, President and General Manager of the Appalachian Broadcasting Corporation says about his experience with Northwest School graduates: "Carlene Miller has done an excellent job since she has been in our employ, as you can see by her steady rise since joining us. She came to us well grounded in television basics, and has definitely contributed to the success of our operation."

NO LET-UP IN ABC-FUND ACLU FRAY

- ACLU sides with network on Lodge cancellation
- Daly, Hutchins at loggerheads; show's future dubious

The "debate" between ABC-TV and the Fund for the Republic concerning the canceled June 15 Mike Wallace interview with the Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge [Networks, June 23] last week assumed the proportions of a three-way battle of words. The issues: censorship, the author's "right of revision" and "the integrity of TV journalism."

Playing a "hard game of semantics" (as one ABC-TV executive phrased it) were the fund president, Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, and two executives of the American Civil Liberties Union who maintained that Dr. Hutchins was "straining the bounds" of the first amendment by charging ABC with "censorship" when that network "declined to allow what it regarded as an improperly labeled program." ACLU's executive director Patrick Murphy Malin and Thomas R. Carskadon, radio-TV director, felt that ABC had acted justly and correctly by striking the June 15 telecast.

Caught in the middle of the crossfire was John Charchun,인데 ABC vice president for news and public affairs, who, by his own admission, had been brought into the case only two weeks ago.

Mr. Daly was singled out by Dr. Hutchins as the chief culprit, a charge the ABC official dismissed as "sheer nonsense."

Feelings between Dr. Hutchins and Mr. Daly ran particularly high late Wednesday after the fund president suggested that ABC's practice for news and public affairs who, by his own admission, had been brought into the case only two weeks ago.

Mr. Daly was singled out by Dr. Hutchins as the chief culprit, a charge the ABC official dismissed as "sheer nonsense."

Dr. Hutchins continued: "Your main argument is based on a misapprehension. ACLU, he asserted, was incorrectly assuming the Fund-Wallace series consisted of "news interviews" when, in fact, they were an educational series in which American leaders would have an opportunity to say what they wanted to say in exactly the way they wanted.

ABC in refusing to grant Mr. Lodge's request had "censored" the UN official. The ex-U. of Chicago educator thereupon urged ACLU to "publicly acknowledge its major error."..."

ACLU, back at bat last Wednesday, stood by its guns and reiterated its earlier position—that the public would be deceived were the fund to insist on edited Freedom & Survival discussions. "We still believe," Messrs. Malin and Carskadon noted, "that the charge of censorship was not properly raised against the network." They promised that this would be "our last word on the subject."

But Mr. Daly had more words on the subject of "improper labeling." He scored Dr. Hutchins for using "false syllogisms," suggested the educator "might well examine the basis on which he is making these statements. "A public," Mr. Daly declared, "confirmed in the practices of the free and unfettered TV interview, is badly served by specious labeling. Dr. Hutchins' position on editing or injecting disclaimers "makes a complete mockery" of his earlier statements to the Times in which he proudly noted Mr. Wallace's "searching skill" as a

The tin coating on food cans does not have to be thick—but it is important that it be evenly distributed to give sure protection for the contents. But how can you measure and inspect a coating that's almost as thin as a shadow?

U. S. Steel does it with the unique X-ray gage you see in the picture. A beam of X-rays is directed at the tinplate. The rays penetrate the tin coating and cause the iron atoms in the steel base to fluoresce and emit X-rays of their own. As these new X-rays emerge from the base, they are partially absorbed by the tin coating. The X-rays finally leaving the tin are measured by a geiger counter and this reveals the amount of absorption and, therefore, the coating weight.

Research work like this is one of the factors that accounts for the consistent high quality of all types of steel made by United States Steel.
no-holds-barred reporter. "I submit," Mr. Daly said, "It is hardly worth searching for light, if the light is subsequently to be shaded by the subjective censorship of the individual interviewed." Dr. Hutchins' "terminology may, Mr. Daly went on, "reflects any doubt, that we mutually understood were programming news interviews."

Were Freedom & Survival to continue along the lines now being suggested by the Fund for the Republic, Mr. Daly felt, "I submit that . . . we have an exercise in futility if the end result is to be vitiated by ex-post-facto editing."

Mr. Daly late in the week privately expressed the fear that "there's more at stake here than the future of one tv program . . . the very existence of tv journalism in the age of videotape is endangered by this kind of thinking." He said that his office has been "too wrapped up" in correspondence to give much thought to the future of Freedom & Survival. The current cycle is to go off the air July 20; a decision is to be reached "late next week" as to continuance.
The familiar Russell off-beat observations and insults are a Washington institution. The presence of a party audience, and there's always a group around him, inspires a burst of loud and startling observations that are liable to run non-stop for an hour or more.

"What do I think about tv allocation?" he responded to an inane query. "Look, I don't know where the tv band is or where they put fm. I don't know what frequency modulation means. I just recently learned the difference between vhf and uhf. If you learn something about the business you get fixed ideas.

"I simply hope they like NBC and like me around this city."

"What about all these investigations and bills in Congress?"

"You hear a lot of conversations and testifying but not many bills are reported out," he said. "Congress never has passed any punitive legislation against radio or networks. It's just a good conversation piece.

"Broadcasting is vulnerable—a favorite whipping boy—because we're a natural monopoly. We have comparative cases and people try to knock each others' brains out. Everybody likes to shoot at broadcasting but nobody is seriously threatening to hurt us much.

"Washington was really rough back in the twenties. The meat packers were controlled, grain exchanges were put under a law. There was the Federal Reserve Act for banks. Kenesaw Mountain Landis had broken up Standard Oil. The Federal Radio Commission was formed. The Securities and Exchange Commission was set up in the early thirties.

"The threats to broadcasting were much more serious in the past. Now there's a lot of agitation about things like must-buys and option time. The Radio Commission once adopted a regulation not to allow duplication of network shows within 100 miles. It was never put in force."

The NAB board staged a testimonial luncheon June 20 for Scoop Russell, its oldest member in point of service (28 years). He was praised for his years of industry service, his board record and his Washington activity, and was described as "the man who didn't have a promotion in three decades."

This sort of thing doesn't start even a ripple in his slightly receding shock of hair. He snorts at compliments and generally laughs off insults because he's a pro at the business of fast-flying insults. Just don't belittle his lobbying record.

"Remember," he said, "I've had my neck in a noose many times but always pulled out in time."

His vague announcement card for the new consulting project is typically Russellese, "Frank M. Russell announces the opening of his office [plus address and phone number]."

Howard Monderer Appointed NBC's Washington Attorney

Howard Monderer, NBC senior attorney in New York, has been named NBC Washington attorney, effective July 1. He assumes the office as Frank M. Russell retires from the NBC Washington vice presidency (see facing page). His work will be confined to legal duties.

Mr. Russell will continue to serve NBC on a consulting basis and has opened an office at 1737 DeSales St., N. W., Washington. His vacated vice presidential post will not be filled.

Mr. Monderer, 30, received his law degree at Harvard in 1949. After three years with the New York law firm of Laporte & Myers, he joined NBC's legal staff in New York. He married Claire Ann Weiss of New York.

Harris Vacates ABC Position

Leslie A. Harris, national sales coordinator of ABC o&o tv stations, resigned effective last Friday, and officials said the post would be abolished. Mr. Harris, who formerly was eastern sales manager for ABC radio, is expected to announce his new plans in the broadcast field shortly.
CBS Radio Affiliates Board Louds Network's Programming

The CBS Radio Affiliates Assn. board of directors held a board meeting and sessions with network executives in New York last week, with discussions covering network programming, sales and related subjects. The board adopted a resolution commending CBS Radio for its "aggressiveness in programming leadership." Charles C. Caley, WMBD Peoria, Ill., chairman of the affiliate board, said the 1958 CRAA convention will be held at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York Oct. 29-30.

The resolution singled out CBS Radio's "programming superiority" in sports coverage and music presentations, such as broadcasts of the Metropolitan Opera and the New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

Besides Mr. Caley, those attending were John S. Hayes, WTOP Washington; Joseph M. Higgins, WTHI Terre Haute, Ind.; J. Maxin Ryder, WBRY Waterbury, Conn.; C. Glover DeLaney, WHEC Rochester; Harold P. Danforth, WDBO Orlando, Fla.; Hoyt B. Wooten, WREC Memphis; Frank P. Fogarty, WOW Omaha; J. C. Kellam, KTBC Austin, Tex.; Lee B. Wailes, Storer Broadcasting Co.; Worth Kramer, WJR Detroit.

CBS Radio executives: Arthur Hull Hayes, president; James M. Seward, executive vice president; William A. Schudt Jr., vice president in charge of affiliate relations; Louis Hausman, vice president in charge of advertising and promotion; Eric Saline, national manager of affiliate relations; Edward Hall, administrative manager of affiliate relations; William Brennan, western manager of affiliate relations.

Westernman Whillock, KBOI Boise, and John M. Rivers, WSCS Charleston, S.C., were unable to attend.

Network Day-Night Audience Up For Jan.-May, TvB-Nielsen Say

Network television audiences continued to grow during the first five months of this year, it is shown in a January-May report issued last week by Television Bureau of Advertising. Based on A. C. Nielsen Co. data, the report shows an 8% increase in average evening program audience and a 13% boost in average daytime audience, compared with the same period of 1957.

Average evening programs reached 701,000 more homes this spring than last and average weekday daytime programs reached 433,000 more homes than in 1957. The four-year table follows.

| Network TV Program Audiences (January Through May) (Nielsen Total Audience Basis) |
|------------------------------------------|----------|----------|
| Average Evening                        | Program  | Rating |

NBC Revises 'Chain Lighting' To Conform to Decree by FTC

NBC today (Monday) is announcing a new and revised "Chain Lighting" merchandising plan for food retailers and manufacturers which it says meets the approval of the Federal Trade Commission. FTC has ruled that in-store station promotion plans are illegally discriminatory unless open to all stores equally [GOVERNMENT, May 26].

Chain store promotions of network-owned stations had been under litigation for nearly two years [GOVERNMENT, July 30, 1956].

Under the new plan, NBC promotional work is available to any food retailer—chain or independent—who desires to participate "on an exact proportional basis." Retailers are given a choice of three "Chain Lightning" plans: (1) for individual owners of one or more stores, (2) for group members having a common trade name or trade name concepted for promotional purposes, and (3) for members of the NBC food store organization, "Stores of the Star," the network's retail promotional group.

FTC General Counsel Earl W. Kintner wrote NBC executives that in his opinion the revised plan complies with the provisions of the Robinson-Patman Act. Full details of the plan and counsel's opinion now are being supplied to food retailers and manufacturers.

Storer's WJW Cleveland Signs Full NBC Affiliation

NBC has signed a full affiliation agreement with WJW Cleveland, it was announced Thursday by Harry Bannister, NBC vice president for station relations, and George B. Storer, president of Storer Broadcasting Co., WJW licensee. NBC will take its affiliation with WHK there, owned by Metropolitan Broadcasting Corp. (formerly DuMont Broadcasting Co.), and the transfer date has tentatively been set for July 30. With the WJW affiliation, NBC becomes linked with two of the seven Storer radio stations, WSPD Toledo having been an affiliate of the network since May 2, 1937.

"The NBC Radio Network is pleased that this new link has been forged with the Storer Broadcasting Co., one of the major chains of radio stations in the U.S., with an outstanding reputation for community service and good local programming," Matthew J. Culligan, vice president in charge of the NBC Radio Network, stated.

Reginald P. Merridew, managing director of WJW, said, "We plan to continue the same local program structure which has enabled WJW Radio to make great strides in Cleveland radio." WJW formerly was affiliated with ABC, but that network switched to WRSR Cleveland about six months ago.

CBS Gets Affidavit Retraction From Galindez-Murphy Witness

CBS News last week re-entered an international dispute by seeking out one of its own news sources and getting that source to repudiate an affidavit issued to the paid investigator of the Dominican Republic.

CBS Radio last year aired an explosive documentary on the disappearance of Basque scholar-author Jesus de Galindez (A Chronicle of Terror: The Galindez-Murphy Case, CBS Radio, May 20, 1957). CBS News announced last week that Mrs. Virginia Wulfing, daughter of the late watchman at Zahns airport, Amityville, N. Y., claimed she had been duped into retracting a statement she made last year to CBS reporters. Originally Mrs. Wulfing told of a man being flown to Florida in March 1956.

Earlier this month, attorney Morris L. Ernst—retained by the Dominican Republic to investigate the Galindez allegations—made public his "Report and Opinion," which quoted Mrs. Wulfing as saying it happened in April or May 1956.

Interviewed by CBS after the Ernst report, Mrs. Wulfing said: "This affidavit [quoted in the Ernst report] was brought to my home by three men who represented themselves as being reporters from the New York Daily News . . . they called this paper a 'release' not an affidavit. They said this so-called 'release' when signed by me would give their newspaper permission to quote from a statement I made for CBS. . . ." She signed the affidavit "without reading it carefully," Mrs. Wulfing, according to CBS, then retraced the release.

CBS contacted the Daily News which said it never had assigned "anyone" to interview "or otherwise contact" Mrs. Wulfing.

Angry Chicago Women Hear Radio-Tv Defense

A “showdown” meeting organized by the Chicago Housewives Committee in behalf of Better Radio-Tv programming turned into a stout defense of American broadcasting and advertising last Wednesday. The group was organized to protest WMAQ Chicago’s cancellation of the Mary Merryfield Show last March when angry women picketed NBC Chicago’s Merchandise Mart headquarters. Last week they met with broadcasters and advertising people in the Art Institute club room.

Taking their lumps—and dishing them out—were panelists Jules Herbuveaux, NBC vice president and general manager of WMAQ and WNBQ (TV); Jane Daly (Borah), vice president and radio-television director, Earle Ludgin & Co.; Carl Gylfe, media buyer, Cunningham & Walsh; Arch Madsen, assistant manager, WLS Chicago; William Hohmann, sales promotion director of WBBM-TV; Bernard Jacobs, president—general manager of WFRM (FM) Chicago, and Donley Fedderson of Northwestern U., representing WTTW (TV), a non-commercial outlet. Representatives of WGN-AM-TV, WBKB (TV) and other stations declined to participate.

Mrs. Julian Lawton, committee chairman, noted results of its survey and said that “many housewives are so indignant over present broadcasting fare that they are boycotting the commercial stations or turning to fm in protest.” The panel was told of the “steady deterioration of daytime radio—too many poor commercials, too many soap operas and too many disc jockeys.” The committee based its claims on a poll of 441 housewives in metropolitan Chicago and nearby cities.

Mr. Herbuveaux, belted from all sides with simultaneous questions, told the throng, “I don’t believe the public is giving us one half of the attention it should in connection with cultural and public service programs.” He said Miss Merryfield’s show was cancelled because “we wanted to make a change—her contract ran out.”

Mr. Herbuveaux suggested that some programs are dropped for lack of loyalty to the sponsor’s product and observed that NBC lost thousands of dollars on its Matinee Theatre. He also cited cost for Wide Wide World.

Mr. Hohmann pointed out that WMAQ, with which he formerly had been associated, spent millions of dollars in public service programming last year to satisfy its public service responsibilities and that “in terms of audience you get nothing in return.”

Mr. Hohmann and other panelists heard shouts that radio-television is programmed “to 12 year olds” and uncomplimentary remarks about soap operas. One incensed housewife complained that “nobody has ever called me and asked whether I liked a program or not.” Another shouted, “First you took Weekday away from us, then you took Mary Merryfield away from us.” Still another exclaimed that “minorities control the networks.”

Miss Daly questioned the housewives’ own study, asking, “Who organized the survey?” Chairman Lawton replied it was “done on an amateur basis” and represented a “legitimate” evaluation of housewives’ programming preferences.

Mr. Madsen suggested that “lack of interest” has caused the demise of many shows. He stated that “radio and tv cannot, by the very laws of nature, rise above the demands of listeners.”

Mr. Fedderson took a similar tack and suggested the group acquaint itself with the responsibilities of mass communications. He told his audience that broadcasting mirrors public tastes but that “your attitudes won’t change the climate of broadcasting ... you are not typical of the American people.”

A spokesman for WKFM (FM) Chicago commented that “if all the am stations in Chicago did what the fm stations do [with classical music formats] we’d all be in terrible shape.” Mrs. Lawton claimed that “fm has been gaining favor the past three years.”

At the discussion’s end Chairman Lawton read a resolution promising a “continuing crusade” for better program fare based on the committee’s survey, which incorporated 17 questions in a questionnaire distributed to some 700 housewives. Among other findings, it showed that the typical housewife is a woman approximately 34 years old, having 1.7 children and represents the most important segment of buying power among consumer groups; is both concerned about and dependent on radio for much of her contact with the world outside her home, and is extremely interested in programs and subjects of a more serious nature.

White Sox Night Telecast Rates High but Hurl Gate

Ratings were a good deal better than attendance for Chicago’s first night baseball telecast in nine years last week, according to figures released Wednesday by WGN-TV. Two advertisers, Theodore Hamm Brewing Co. and Oklahoma Oil Co., reaped an unexpected audience bonus. The Chicago Tribune station claimed an average rating of 29.2 and average share of 54% in set tUNes for its telecast of the White Sox-Yankees game Tuesday evening. Estimated cumulative audience reached 2,980,000 viewers between 8 and 11 p.m., or one out of every two people watching tv, on the basis of a special American Research Bureau survey. WGN-TV claimed an audience greater than that for the three other local commercial tv stations combined. At one point (9:90 p.m.) ARB reported 64.1% of 2,350,100 sets were on, with 756,700 homes watching the game.

The White Sox management was less than satisfied, however, with box office results—a turnout of 27,000 compared with an expected 40,000. Charles A. Comiskey, vice president, said the game was selected...
WDAU-TV'S CATV SHEPHERDESS

Mrs. Dorothy Mugford has one of the most unusual jobs in television—community antenna liaison for WDAU-TV Scranton, Pa. Attractive and vivacious, she confines herself to the task of keeping the ch. 22 signal of WDAU-TV on several score community antenna systems. WDAU-TV is surrounded by the biggest collection of CATV systems in the nation. Mrs. Mugford corresponds regularly with the operators of these systems, does trouble-shooting and makes regular calls around the mountainous areas of northeastern Pennsylvania. The CATV operations range from Elmira, N. Y., on the North to Sunbury, Pa., on the South, adding 60,000 homes to WDAU-TV's circulation according to Vanise L. Eckerley, executive vice president-general manager.

Once when WDAU-TV planned to cut down its megawatt power for transmitter servicing, Mrs. Mugford spent two days calling every CATV operator on the station's list to warn them what was coming. Mrs. Mugford joined WDAU-TV at the first of the year. She has worked with the station frequently while doing public relations work for the Wyoming Valley United Fund.

weeks ago "because we felt it would be a sellout with normal June weather and with our heavy advance sale." He added, "This proved nothing to us—except that we don't plan to do it again. We've never felt tv would help night baseball." Observers noted, however, that the weather was threatening Tuesday evening.

The White Sox telecast some night games prior to 1949 and then adopted a policy permitting coverage of all daytime home games. As a result, according to Mr. Comiskey, night game attendance increased in succeeding years—along with the club's fortunes as an American League pennant contender.

Chicago Teacher Training Series To Be Aired Daily by WGN-TV

An in-service training program for teachers in Chicago public schools will be launched by that city's WGN-TV in the form of a Monday-through-Friday television series in mid-September.

Described as the first such series ever offered by a commercial station, the public service program represents the equivalent of a grant of over $70,000 in time charges and production costs to the Chicago Board of Education for 26 weeks.

Chicago public schools will utilize the daily 8-8:30 a.m. segment to train teachers from kindergarten to the eighth grade throughout metropolitan Chicago in the art of reading. Plans were announced Wednesday by Ward L. Quaal, vice president and general manager of WGN-AM-TV, and Dr. Benjamin C. Wilfis, superintendent of Chicago public schools.

WKBK-TV Suspends on Ch. 60

WKBK-TV East Lansing, Mich., non-commercial, educational station, suspended operations after signoff June 28, pending final FCC disposition of the Pharma-Onondaga ch. 10 case. WKBK-TV plans to move from ch. 60 under a proposed share-time arrangement with the commercial operation of Television Corp. of Michigan Edward E. Wilson, 60%, and WILS Lansing, 40%, the latter principally owned by John C. Pomeroy and family) to ch. 10 in Onondaga, Mich. Favorable initial decision given March 1957 and oral argument held last April, with final decision still awaited. Michigan State U. is permittee of WKAR-TV, which began operation in January 1954.

(Westinghouse Taps McGannon For Company 'Silver W' Award

Donald H. McGannon, president of Westinghouse Broadcasting Co., was honored during his company's French Lick management meeting (see separate story) with the "Silver W," the highest award given by the Westinghouse Electric Co., parent firm. The presentation by E. V. Huggins, chairman of the Westinghouse Electric executive committee, was made in "recognition of the distinguished service" of Mr. McGannon through "his inspirational guidance in the continued expansion and leadership" of the company.

The citation also honored his "imagination in the development and practice of true public service in the broadcasting field" and his "firm administrative approach in developing a sound organization to insure consummation of the basic objectives of Westinghouse Broadcasting." Mr. McGannon became president of WBC in November 1955.

Slide-Rule Rates From Meeker

The Meeker Co., radio-tv station representative, last week introduced a "new concept in rate cards" which calculates automatically the budget, minimum total homes reached and number of spots per week in each time classification, according to Robert D. C. Meeker, president. WTTY (TV) Indianapolis is the first station to adopt the new card which is printed on a slide-rule. The station has adjusted its rates, dropping from $720 to $500 for Class A one-hour one minute and $144 to $73 for Class A one minute, one time only.

Broadcast Flood Relief Fete Planned in 3 Indiana Cities

Broadcasters in three Indiana cities will stage a giant inter-city benefit party July 1 to help victims of recent floods, with proceeds going to the Red Cross. The party will be held in the Marion, Ind., Memorial Coliseum under sponsorship of WBAT Marion; WFGM-AM-TV Indianapolis and WOWO Fort Wayne.

Volunteers are providing food, talent, entertainment, props and transportation. The idea originated with three radio-tv personalities—Jack Anderson, WBAT; Bob Hardwick, WFBM and Marv Hunter, WOWO—after their station's joint appeal at the time of the flood has brought an enthusiastic public response.

Charles D. Estill, Red Cross deputy director of disaster service for the eastern United States, described the radio-tv aid as "one of the most impressive examples of public service I have seen. It demonstrates the power of radio and television to rally people together in time of trouble."

WILZ Listeners Can Collect $25 From 'Insured Programming'

Jack Faulkner, general manager of WILZ St. Petersburg, Fla., has announced an "insured programming" policy that will pay a settlement of $25 to the first listener who can establish in a letter that WILZ did not adhere to its policy of "You're No More Than a Minute From Music." Arrangements for the insurance policy, written by a London firm, were handled by Earl W. Day & Co., St. Petersburg.

"Advance announcement would be made each time station programming required intentional deviation from the WILZ music policy," Mr. Faulkner said. Discrepancies are verified by official logs kept for the FCC. The listener letter with the earliest postmark determines to whom the settlement will be paid.

Mr. Faulkner obtained the plan to "graphically illustrate" the WILZ jingle, based on the "no more than a minute from music" theme. The music format excludes rock and roll and hillbilly tunes. News is broadcast "as it happens" in bulletin form.

Marcoux Appointed to WLZB-TV

Rudolph O. Marcoux, former WTWO (TV) Bangor, Me., business manager, has been named general manager of the same station which has changed its call letters to WLZB-TV after its sale by Murray Carpenter and Assoc. to WLZB Television Inc., subsidiary of Maine Broadcasting Co.

Mr. Marcoux was formerly national sales manager of Maine Broadcasting which includes WLZB and WCSH-AM-TV Portland and WRDO Augusta, all members of Rines radio and tv stations group, William H. Rines, president.

AAW CITES 33 FOR BROADCAST ADS

A radio commercial for Crown Zellerbach's Zee paper towels was awarded the perpetual trophy as the best radio commercial in any category among approximately 130 entries in the annual competition of the Advertising Assn. of the West. The trophy, donated by the Vancouver Advertising & Sales Bureau, was awarded Wednesday, third day of the annual AAW convention, held this year in Vancouver, B. C.

The Crown Zellerbach radio commercial won first place for radio spots broadcast in cities of more than 50,000 population. For cities of under 50,000, the winning spot was one for Shaffer & Duff Furniture Co.'s Vibra Chair. Tillamook Creamery got the award for the best radio program commercial and a special award was voted for Butter-Nut Coffee's six-minute "Omaha" commercial created by comic Stan Freberg.

In television, where a comparable number of entries were judged, Speedway Petroleum's "Researcher" animated cartoon with city best spot, Burgermeister Beer's "Little Man" the best ID, General Foods' "Chinese Baby" the best black-and-white program commercial and the U. S. Navy's recruitment animated film, "Hats," the best color commercial.

Similar AAW awards were given for outstanding ads in other media. Entries were limited to ads created in the 11 western states, British Columbia, Alaska and Hawaii. The radio-tv winners:

DESLIU, AFM SIGN TV FILM CONTRACT
- Increases employment
- Sets flat fee for reruns

Twenty musicians will be employed in providing music for TV films for every one presently employed in this work under a new contract between Desilu Productions and the American Federation of Musicians that is expected to become a pattern for the entire TV film industry.

That was the estimate given by Desi Arnaz, president of Desilu, at a news conference at the Desilu Gower St. Studios, where the contract was jointly announced by him and by Herman Kenin, new president of AFM.

For Desilu, the contract means an increase in expenditure for live music from $7,500 to between $15,000 and $20,000, required for films to be broadcast during the 1958-59 season, Mr. Arnaz stated.

As previously planned, only the five hour-long “Lucy & Desi” programs will use live musicians. The Westinghouse-Desilu Playhouse 60-minute programs, the half-hour Texan, Ann Sothern and U. S. Marshal series were all going to use music taken from recordings and the 30-minute December Bride series was going to shift from live to “canned” music, he Desilu.

Now, however, all these Desilu shows will use live music, with the result that the contemplated five hours of programs with live music have increased to 105 hours, with a concomitant increase in recording time from 30 to 630 hours for an average of more than 20 musicians.

What the new Desilu-AFM five-year contract does, Mr. Kenin explained, is to drop the percentage-of-gross payments to the Music Performance Trust Funds and to substitute a nominal flat fee for reruns only. The producer of a TV film series, whether for network or syndication, will not be required to make any trust fund payment for the first run of the programs. He will be required to pay flat fees for each rerun, diminishing from first to fifth, with no payments after the fifth rerun.

Previously, a TV film producer, who employed live musicians for his programs, was required to make trust fund payments of 5% of the gross cost of the programs. The Desilu agreement calls for rerun fees of $125 a man (for the first rerun), $62.50 each for the second and third reruns and $31.25 for the fourth and fifth. This scale is based on the employment of 20 or more musicians. For six or fewer musicians, the rerun scale starts at $150, reduces to $75 and then to $37.50.

A 10% increase in scale for musicians employed by Desilu at the end of three years is also called for in the agreement, which is effective tomorrow (Tuesday).

Mr. Kenin said that conversations are being held with many other producers of TV films and he expects that most of them will enter into agreements similar to that with Desilu. All AFM agreements contain a favored nation clause, he noted, making these new terms available to all other companies in the TV film business. Mr. Arnaz estimated that at least two-thirds of all TV film companies would adopt the new terms and replace their present dubbed musical soundtracks with new soundtracks made by live musicians.

Matters. Arnaz and Kenin both stressed the improved quality of programs that will result from the use of live musicians, working with the singers and other performers of the TV shows and so permitting the music to be integrated into the programs in a way that is impossible when the music is taken from recordings. In this way, the American public, the TV audience, gets the real benefit from the new contract in the form of improved TV entertainment.

The Desilu agreement is unlike that negotiated with Revue Productions (Personnel Relations, June 16), Mr. Kenin pointed out, as the Revue agreement chiefly concerned the TV use of a number of theatrical pictures made by Paramount and acquired by Revue. The AFM requirement for TV use, payment of 5% plus an additional 1% in lieu of a rescoring fee to the trust fund, was reduced from 5% to 1% with the extra 1% amounting to about $1 million, to be matched by a like amount contributed by Revue and the whole $2 million to be used to employ live musicians. The Desilu agreement is typical, Mr. Kenin said, the Revue agreement is unique.

On Monday, the AFM executive board, meeting in Los Angeles, authorized what it termed “informal picketing” at movie theatres showing “Vertigo” and “Ten North Frederick.” Both films were scored abroad.

MGA Aroused by AFM Parley With Film Association Officer

AFM President Kenin reported on Wednesday that the union’s board met with Charles Boren, labor relations vice president of the Assn. of Motion Picture Producers representing the major studios against which AFM is now on strike. The meeting comprised “informal discussions concerning a possible contract covering musicians for motion picture films produced in the United States and Canada, with the exception of Los Angeles,” Mr. Kenin said. An NLRB election is set for Los Angeles.

Mr. Kenin’s announcement brought an immediate reaction from the Musician’s Guild of America, which is opposing AFM in the NLRB July 9-10 election for the right to act as bargaining agent for the studio musicians. In a telegram to Mr. Boren, Cecil F. Read, MGA chairman, pointed out that “historically, more than 95% of musical scoring of moving pictures has been done in Los Angeles County by local musicians.” He said that MGA had dropped its petition for a nation-wide election and agreed to AFM’s proposal that the election be limited to Los Angeles.

GE Sync Generator Utilizes Transistors

General Electric Co., Syracuse, announced yesterday (Sunday) a new transistorized synchronizing generator for television which will permit “more precise synchronizing of tv programs between studio camera and home receivers.”

Commercial production of the device follows two years of experimental work by GE, Harold G. Towsion, manager of engineering for the Technical Products Dept., reported. Price of the unit is about $3,000. He said the new sync generator is “the industry’s first to incorporate transistors, printed wiring boards and computer circuitry” and “is 50% smaller than previous models.” It uses less than one-half the power and less heat is generated.

The sync generator, described as the first basic design change for such equipment in about eight years, measures 14x19x9 inches. It weighs about 40 pounds as compared with 60 pounds of comparable devices now on the market, Mr. Towsion pointed out. He described it as “the heart of a tv station,” and said each tv outlet must have at least one to supply precise timing pulses for the complete station. Pulses must be accurate to 10-millionths of a second, according to Mr. Towsion, and picture quality received at home receivers depends upon these pulses. He explained that jagged lines appearing on home tv screens are caused by “drifting” in the sync generator, and he claimed the new device will “minimize this effect, thus resulting in less lost air time for station operators.”

Eight printed wiring boards and 80 transistors are used in the new device, Mr. Towsion said. Fifty-six electronic tubes have been replaced by transistors. Mr. Towsion observed that since transistors have a longer life expectancy than tubes and operating characteristics do not change with age, maintenance cost for the new device will be “greatly reduced.”

More than two years were spent in developing and testing the new sync generator by GE broadcast engineers L. M. Leeds and H. H. Martin. They said the original laboratory model has been operating for the equivalent of two years of tv use without a transistor failure.

Paul L. Chamberlain, GE manager of broadcast equipment, said the new device is available immediately. He said use of transistors in the sync generator is part of the department’s overall plan to transistorize broadcasting equipment whenever possible.

AFTE Members Walk Out at RCA

A strike by draftsmen, cost estimators, quality control technicians and process engineers is underway at RCA plants in Camden, Morristown and Cherry Hill, N. J. The walkout of members of the American Federation of Technical Engineers (AFTE-CIO) affects about 1,400 of the 16,000 company employees in the Camden area, RCA said. Meanwhile, three locals of the International Union of Electrical Workers have voted to continue working and are not observing the picket lines, RCA said. Negotiations with AFTE have been in progress since April 15. Wages, interplant seniority and a merit review plan are in issue.

Stereo to Star at Hi-Fi Shows

The stress will be on stereo this autumn when the Institute of High Fidelity Mfrs. Inc. launches its series of 1958-59 hi-fi shows throughout the country. Stereo discs, home stereo reproduction systems and other new revolutionary high fidelity sound systems will be featured during the IHRM music shows in New York (Sept. 30-Oct. 4, New York Trade Show Bldg.), Philadelphia (Oct. 10-12, Benjamin Franklin Hotel) and Milwaukee (Oct. 23-26, Wisconsin Hotel).

Closed-Circuit Video Tested by N.Y. Broker

Wall St. has often "gone uptown" to the financial aid of television. But last week tv went to the citadel of capital investments as Bache & Co., a leading broker, demonstrated a new closed-circuit tv system that is expected to simplify stock market procedures and cut operators' costs.

The system, devised and "packaged" by Hallamore Electronics Div. of Siegler Corp., Anaheim, Calif., practically makes obsolete the direct telephone line to the floor of the stock exchange and the binoculars that bind the customer's man with the big board.

The Bache experiment is being conducted at its headquarters, 36 Wall St. Noise, formerly emanating from ticker tape machines, was strangely muted. Instead a broker looked across his desk into a tv screen—ranging in size from 17 to 24 inches—on which a broad tape of market quotations was speeding along. The tv set—some 1,500 ft. away from Bache's main room—was linked to a small tv camera aimed at the board. The camera also fed other receivers scattered throughout the Bache foreign and market departments and in the customer's rooms as well as partner's offices.

The stock exchange's board of governors gave the go-ahead to Bache June 3. The next step, says a Bache spokesman, would be to bring cameras directly to the floor of the exchange, thus further curtailing man-hours of paperwork and telephone line charges linking the exchange to hundreds of investment houses.

Senior Partner Harold L. Bache said Thursday that Bache & Co. will pay Hallamore Electronics $189 a month in leases—as against the $810 a month now being paid to Dow-Jones Service Organization which operates the Translux system feeding the board tape with market quotations. He estimated his firm will pay, over a three-year period, some $7,000 as against the $25,000 it now pays to maintain the present system. By the fourth year of operation, the closed-circuit tv arrangement will work at "minimal expense"—probably no more than $200 per year.

Mendez Handling Caniff's 'Canyon'

It has become a commonplace thing for a merchandising program to follow the premiere of a successful tv series with definite audience appeal. But a merchandiser licensor has moved in before the fact. Cartoonist Milton Caniff, creator of "Terry and the Pirates" and "Steve Canyon" comic strips, has appointed the Toni Mendez merchandising licensing organization as exclusive agent in connection with the new Steve Canyon tv series, scheduled for Liggett & Myers sponsorship next fall on NBC-TV. Mr. Caniff, who up to now has not allowed any merchandising tie-ups for the daily comic strip serial, jointly syndicated and distributed by the Chicago Sun Times and King Features, says that he now will assign—through Miss Mendez—"Canyon" rights to toy manufacturers, clothing companies, game makers, etc.

Lerner-Loewe Sue WMCD

A suit for copyright infringement against WMCD Welch, W. Va., has been filed by Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe, members of ASCAP. The plaintiffs allege that their copyrighted songs, "On the Street Where You Live," "The Rain in Spain...", and "Almost Like Being in Love" were performed by the station without authorization. They are asking the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of West Virginia to restrain WMCD from performing the songs over the radio station in the future, and to award damages of $250 for each unauthorized performance, together with court costs and attorney's fees.

New Tv Bingo Game From Mogle

Wm. Mogle Productions Inc., New York, is making Birthday Bingo available to tv stations. The game is played on a roulette-type wheel that is segmented to show month, year, day, and sex. Viewers qualify by establishing the five categories relating to their birthdays. Rates for the minimum 13-week period: major markets, $1,950; secondary markets, $1,300; other cities, $975.

WWIS Formed After INS Merger

Richard W. Hubbell, director, World Wide Information Services, N.Y., has released a brochure listing the services provided by the new company formed as a result of the INS-UP merger. WWIS was organized by former INS employees and utilizes a field force of several thousand reporters and cameramen in most parts of the world, Mr. Hubbell said.

Don McNeill's 'Breakfast Club' Honored on Silver Anniversary

ABC Radio marked 25 years of marching around Don McNeill's Breakfast Club last Monday amid congratulatory communications from several dignitaries, including Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Leonard H. Goldenson, president of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres Inc.

The apparently indestructible morning program, aired from Chicago's Hotel Sherman Monday-through-Friday (9-10 a.m. CDT), celebrated its silver anniversary with fan interviews, old song favorites and reminiscences. Advertisers waived their commercial announcements for the occasion. A specially-commissioned painting ("Moment of Silent Prayer") by artist Ben Stahl was unveiled as a highlight of the anniversary broadcast.

Vice President Nixon lauded Mr. McNeill and his cast "for the standards you have maintained on the program and the service you have rendered to the country." Mr. Goldenson commended the program's "outstanding record of entertainment and public service." Other congratulatory wires were received from Illinois Gov. William G. Stratton and Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

Immediately after the broadcast Mr. McNeill started a four-week vacation. His replacements in succeeding weeks will be Ted Mack (starting last Tuesday), Warren Hull, Fran Allison and Bob Murphy.

Admen Receive Missile Message

KPHO-AM-TV Phoenix sales executives have distributed a new "adult toy" to Phoenix advertising managers, store owners and advertising agency executives. The "toy" is an Alpha I ballistic missile and launcher. The gift card warned "Caution. You're about to react! This thing really works... it's the dynamic new Alpha I rocket. Stop everything and try it. Just as you want to get this... in the air, so do our viewers and listeners react and buy."

CBS-TV Starting Gate Ready

Studio contestants and home viewers will be trying to reach the Winners' Circle in a new quiz game of that title, which started on NBC-TV last Tuesday (7:30-8 p.m. EDT). The quiz aspect of Winners' Circle is set up to resemble a horse race, with five contestants racing for the finish line by answering the same questions. The victor returns the following week.

The show employs three electronic devices—a Vuegraph machine by which the answers of the five players are projected on a screen behind them in their own handwriting, a racetrack showing relative positions of the entries, and a "tole" board which keeps a running record of their monetary progress. At the conclusion of each show, next week's contestants will be introduced to relate their backgrounds. At-home viewers may join the Winners' Circle by sending in post cards predicting the order of finish for the next program.

KRUX Matches Kc for Currency

KRUX Phoenix promoted its power increase to 5 kw and frequency change to 1360 kc with a "Lucky House Number" contest that climaxd last month with the awarding of a $1,360 jackpot prize.

House numbers had been announced since January at various times of the day and night and residents at the addresses mentioned had three minutes to call the station for a prize of $13.60. As many as seven winners were registered in a 24-hour period. The jackpot award went to a woman who called less than a minute after her address was named.

WIBC Roof Studio Aids Drive-in

WIBC Indianapolis has tripled business in one month for a local drive-in restaurant with a four-hour nightly d.j. show broadcast from a "skyline studio" on the drive-in's roof.

Merrill Cohen, owner of Merrill's Hi-Decker drive-in, saw his business jump when WIBC moved in to broadcast from the 5x9 ft., air-conditioned studio, built for $3,000. The studio contains two turntables, amplifier, two miles and seating for an announcer, engineer and one guest. A four-sided neon sign with the station call letters decorate the exterior. D. J. Dick Summer attracts teenagers with membership in the "Skyline Studio Club" entitling members to participate in nightly games and contests and to receive gifts during the show.

KMA D.J.'s Aid Band Bookings

Two KMA Shenandoah, Iowa, d.j.'s, Mike Heuer and Tommy Burns, are promoting on their shows a "Name-Band Dance Club" which they organized for midwest communities having difficulty in booking top bands. The non-profit club plan insures the appearance of good "name bands" for groups of 100-200 couples who pay $50 yearly dues. Maryville, Mo., was the first community to try the plan. Its "club" was oversubscribed within a week of the KMA announcement. Mr. Heuer and Mr. Burns hope to organize enough clubs to form a regular circuit for bands. The "club" idea was the result of their talks with band leaders and civic organizations.
KBIG Opens Contest to Agencies

KBIG Santa Catalina, Calif., which has drawn close to 100,000 mail entries in its "Mystery Sound" contest, has sent a recorded variation of the sound quiz to staff members of Southern California ad agencies. The first agency person to mail KBIG the correct identification of the secret sound wins a week's vacation for two in Honolulu. Runners-up get trips to Apple Valley, Hesperia and Arrowhead Springs, all California, as well as merchandise prizes. Meanwhile the regular listener contest continues with winners being sent to other resorts.

‘Sea Hunt’ Signing Goes Deep

WKRC-TV Cincinnati for the debut of Sea Hunt, June 5 had an underwater contract-signing. Parties were executives of WKRC-TV, the Cincinnati branch of the Kroger Co., sponsor of the 52-week series, and Ziv Production Co.—all equipped with aqualungs and fins. Other features of the Sea Hunt promotion campaign: An "Aquatic Day" at Cincinnati's Coney Island amusement park which included skin diving competitions, a "Sea Hunt" for silver dollars, a Miss Sea Hunt beauty contest, distribution of 500 sea monsters (goldfish) at downtown street corners, a billboard campaign, card advertising on buses and a premiere film showing to Cincinnati Kroger personnel.

Hackett Named to Gleason Show

Comedian Buddy Hackett will be assigned a supporting role in Jackie Gleason’s new half-hour series that will debut Oct. 3 in the Friday 8:30-9 p.m. period on CBS-TV.

The new Gleason vehicle, to be alternately sponsored by Lever Bros. and Pharmaceuticals Inc., reportedly will be the most expensive regularly-scheduled live half-hour TV series in broadcast history [Advertisers & Agencies, June 9]. Mr. Hackett was the star of his own show, Stanley, on NBC-TV during the 1956-57 season. Stanley Pass will produce the new series and Frank Sartenstein will direct.

WVNA Sheffield, Ala., finds out what’s happening in the air lanes as well as on the highways for its weekly Commuter Show (4:30-5:30 p.m.). Station Manager Jimmy Hall, serves as the “WVNA Airport Reporter” for a 15-minute segment when he interviews passengers arriving or departing on Eastern Airlines flight 185 at the Muscle Shoals airport which serves the Alabama tri-city area of Tuscumbia-Florence-Sheffield. The flight carries area businessmen, many of them commuters between the Detroit and Muscle Shoals automotive factory centers.

CBS-TV to Cover 64 Pro Games

For the third consecutive season, CBS-TV will broadcast 64 professional football games on a regional network basis, starting Sept. 28. The schedule was announced last week by William C. MacPhail, sports director of the network, who said that as many as six games will be presented on a given date.

The CBS-TV network, according to Mr. MacPhail, will be divided into ten regional networks for the coverage which will be fed to almost 200 stations coast-to-coast. He said the project will utilize more than 168 producers, directors, associate directors, announcers, camera crewmen and technicians in one afternoon’s work, including personnel from 12 network-affiliated stations.

In an effort to emphasize the pathos of the story to be featured on Badge 714 July 4, KTTV (TV) Los Angeles sent out its program release with a paper tissue attached. In the July 4 episode, Jack Webb and Ben Alexander, stars of the series, help a young baby-faced thief dry his tears.
WRCA Night Show Turns to Pop

After six years of all-night classical music, WRCA New York changes long to short hair when a new all-night popular music series hosted by singer-pianist Johnny Andrews takes over today (Monday) (Mon.-Fri. 12 midnight-6 a.m.). The Johnny Andrews Show replaces Music Through the Night. Popular vocal and instrumental music will keynote the new all-night program series, which will be conducted in an informal style. In addition to music on records and Mr. Andrews' piano, the program will keep listeners aware of late breaking news and baseball scores plus opening night theatre reviews.

KNXT (TV) Out of CTPN

KNXT (TV), CBS-owned station in Los Angeles, is discontinuing its early morning weekday service to the CBS Television Pacific Network for the summer, at least. Beginning July 7, KNXT not only is dropping the CTPN program service but is eliminating all live programming locally, using only film shows or programs taped in advance for the morning hours before CBS-TV programming begins at 9 a.m. PDT.

WSB Patrols Atlanta Picnics

Traditionally, a picnic in the park is one of the best things about summer living, but WSB Atlanta has added a new incentive for picnickers this year.

In the summer feature, Picnic Patrol, each weekday evening a WSB announcer travels in the station's radio-equipped car to picnic parties where he conducts interviews and gives prize packages containing sponsors' product. These are mentioned on the air each time a presentation is made between 6:30 and 9 p.m. Also, the advertiser receives two daytime bonus mentions during promotional announcements.

CITY ‘NETWORK’

San Jose, Calif., radio stations KLOK, KEEN and KSJO pooled their resources to form a local network for the June primary election returns. The All-City broadcast-sponsored—was so successful that the stations will repeat the technique for the November election.

Scene of the am simulcast was the ballroom of the Hotel Sainte Claire where the stations' combined staffs tabulated, posted and broadcast the returns (see cut). Blackboards showed the changing totals on the races. Precinct information arrived on six special trunk telephone lines from 24 runners—local high school students. Returns from distant points in Santa Clara County were sent to the headquarters from the staffs of the Palo Alto Times, the Gilroy Dispatch and the Los Gatos Times-Observer.

More than 300 persons visited the three-station headquarters during the broadcast (7:30 p.m. to 1 a.m.) and were served free Coca-Cola. The success of the combined effort prompted the sponsors, Bona Sera Motors and Star and Bar gas stations, to sign the "San Jose Network" to cover fall voting.

NO TV PROPS FOR THIS MOVIE

When Hollywood film makers want to portray television, they invariably make up companies like "Amalgamated Broadcasting System," But Columbia Pictures Corp., firmly wedded to tv via its Screen Gems Inc. subsidiary, is being honest about things. In its now-in-production film, "Miss Casey Jones" starring Doris Day, Jack Lemmon and Ernie Kovacs, writer Norman Katkov and director Dick Quine are striving for realism.

The script calls for Miss Day to earn public support and money by appearing on tv shows. A fortnight ago, after approaching both CBS-TV and NBC-TV, Columbia literally moved the sets of four major tv shows (now on the air) into a New York film studio. Thus, when "Miss Casey Jones" is released, filmgoers will see Miss Day facing a battery of youthful interviewers on NBC-TV's Youth Wants to Know (moved lock, stock, and Steve McCormick) from WRC-TV Washington; Miss Day being interviewed about rock lobsters by Dave Garroway on NBC-TV's Wide Wide World; Miss Day appearing on WABC-TV's Camel Summer Swing, The Big Pay-Off, with Bess Myerson, and Miss Day as guest (along with Garry Moore and panelists Jayne Meadows, Betsy Palmer, Bill Cullen and Henry Morgan) on Goodson-Todman's I've Got a Secret, also on CBS-TV. For the network promotion people, there'll be a number of CBS-TV "eyes" and NBC-TV "chimes" emblazoned on the tv cameras.

WTIC-TV Hartford, Conn., provided mobile units and crew for movie scenes and took the opportunity to produce its own feature, "Hollywood Comes to Connecticut," to be presented as a morning show.

Turtle Races Weekly on KLRJ-TV

KLRJ-TV Las Vegas viewers accustomed to varied gambling games can stay home and bet on the turtles Wednesday nights during the half-hour Turtle Derby. Viewers place their bets by phone on any one of eight turtles (each one sponsored) and after each race the winning bettor is awarded the winning sponsor's product as prize. Commercials are broadcast between the races which are emceed by sports announcer John Romero.

Gabfest to Start on CBS-TV

A weekly panel show entitled Keep Talking makes its debut on the CBS Television network Tuesday, July 8 (8-9 p.m. EDT). Debut guests are Ilka Chase, comedian Joey Bishop and humorist Danny Dayton. Monty Hall, Canadian television and radio personality, will be master of ceremonies. Two teams of three members each will compete on Keep Talking, with their primary purpose being to "smokescreen" secret phrases so that the opposition cannot detect them in the course of conversation. The team best able to conceal the most phrases and also to detect the opposition's phrases is champion for the evening. Keep Talking is by Wolf Enterprises in association with CBS-TV.

Hogs Eat to Win at KWTV (TV)

Oklahoma hogs are putting on extra weight this summer since KWTV (TV) Oklahoma City opened its pig-feeding contest to 4-H and FFA members. The three-month contest is designed to promote the state's pork production and boost feed sales for the sponsor of the station's farm shows, Evergreen Mills, Ada, Okla. A total of 330 entries has been received representing 47 of the state's 77 counties. Entrants are working for $870 in cash prizes, which are based on market desirability and weight gain of their hogs.

CBC Okays TV Power Boost

Over Objections by CATV

Nine Canadian radio stations and one television station were recommended for power increases at the June 13 meeting of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. board of governors at Ottawa. A number of stations were authorized to make share transfers.

CKVR-TV Barrie, Ont., applied for a power increase on ch. 3 from 26.7 kw, the proposed level to 100 kw, with antenna 820 feet above average terrain. In making the recommendation the CBC board pointed out that the power boost should extend service to the north where Canadian tv service is not now available. Arguments by community television antenna companies that CKVR-TV would interfere in northern communities with reception of ch. 2 and 4 stations from Buffalo, N. Y., about 140 miles distant, were heard by the board. But it made its recommendation on the ground that such interference “should not have the effect of limiting the coverage of Canadian television stations and their services to the public in order possibly to protect some fringe reception not recognized in the international agreement on allocation of channels.”

Radio stations recommended for 10 kw power were CKXL Calgary, Alta., from 1 kw on 1250 kc; CKMN Edmonton, from 5 kw on 1260 kc; CJCA Edmonton, Alta., from 5 kw on 930 kc; CJOB Winnipeg, Man., from 5 kw day, continuing with 2.5 kw nighttime on 680 kc; VOCM St. John’s, Nfld., from 1 kw on 590 kc; CJCH Halifax, N. S., from 5 kw day with 5 kw for nighttime on 920 kc, and CFBN North Battleford, Sask., from 5 kw on 1460 kc.

Other radio power boosts: CKTR Three Rivers, Que., from 1 kw day to 5 kw day, with 1 kw nighttime, moving from 1350 kc to 1150 kc and CFCW Camrose, Alta., from 250 w to 1 kw on 1230 kc.

CJMT Chicheutmi, Que., was granted permission to stand by transmitters day and nighttime of 250 kw. Approved for change of control: CKDH Amherst, N. S.; CHEF Granby, Que.; CHAB Moose Jaw, Sask., and share transfers were recommended for 11 radio and two television stations.

20 Languages Heard in Canada

Independent Canadian radio stations broadcast programs in 20 foreign languages, a recent survey by the Canadian Assn. of Broadcasters has established. In all, 54 Canadian independent stations, out of about 150, broadcast some 140 hours of foreign-language programs weekly with Italian, German, Ukrainian, Polish, Hungarian and Dutch being the principal languages. Most of the foreign-language broadcasts come from stations in heavily populated Ontario and Quebec provinces where a large percentage of Canada’s postwar immigrants have settled. About half the 54 stations featuring foreign-language broadcasts are located in southern Ontario. Other languages heard each week include Finnish, Greek, Estonian, Czech, Latvian, Japanese, Lithuanian, Macedonian and Croatian. Some Indian and Eskimo language broadcasts are also featured on northern and western stations.

OIL BY ANY OTHER NAME

A 13-minute color cartoon film, “Energetically Yours,” which was produced for the Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) and presented on the company’s 75th anniversary program on NBC-TV last October, is now available for distribution throughout the world in seven foreign languages. The film, being distributed by Transfilm Inc., New York, will be released by the oil company and its affiliates in Spanish, Portuguese, German, French, Swedish, Norwegian and Italian for television and theatrical showings. A Transfilm spokesman said that numerous requests for the film from European and South America tv and theatrical groups prompted Standard Oil to offer the cartoon abroad. It continues to be available in English for tv showings in the U. S. and prints may be obtained by writing the Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), Room 1610, 30 Rockefeller Center, New York 20, N. Y.

Private TV for West Germany

Still Several Years in Future

In spite of results of a survey in which West Germans were strongly in favor of introducing privately operated television stations, and statements by West German Postal Minister T. Stuecklen that he is for additional outlets, private broadcasting is not expected to come to the country for several years.

Mr. Stuecklen told a group of brand-name advertisers that, providing an augmented system would maintain current taste and entertainment values, German viewers ought to have a choice between two or three programs. (The country’s present tv stations stand by transmitters of 54 kw in pre-ITA days in Britain.)

Indications are that the Bonn government is willing to allocate a second channel to non-commercial operators in present tv cities. The remaining channels, probably uhf, would be awarded to private and commercial enterprises. (The latter stations would be supervised by a regulating body comparable with ITA.)

An independent West German research institute has published results of a survey that shows 76% of the German population as being in favor of allowing independent companies to operate stations.

Schwerin Commends Canadians

For ‘Better’ Tv Program Balance

Better balance among programs, resulting in an emphasis on news, history, arts, mysteries, westerns or melodramas that “tend to surround and even inundate the commercials,” gives Canadian advertisers certain advantages over American advertisers, Horace S. Schwerin, president of Schwerin Research Corp., told the annual meeting of the Proprietors' Assn. of Canada, listing points that “should afford encouragement,” to his audience, he said:

“Our research shows, over and over again, that the kind of show is more important to the advertiser than the size of the audience; it shows further that many of the American programs of the types that are most frequently broadcast these days are among the least desirable from the viewpoint of sponsor effectiveness; it shows further that there is a smaller incidence of such types among Canadian-produced programs, which more commonly tend to be of a nature that attract considerably more attention. The result is that with programs that are most hospitable show, ‘Mr. Schwerin stated.

Adding that he was not suggesting that ‘tune shows are necessary,” the researcher said that in most instances no attention was paid to adapting commercials to the environment. Filmed commercials are scheduled “without regard to the nature of the program,” he noted.

Sweden Plans 4 More Tv Outlets

When the television station in Malmoe, Sweden, goes on the air in a few days the country will have four full-time stations operating. The stations (two are in Norrkoping, one in Stockholm) all plan to be interconnected by a relay network. This network will be linked in with Eurovision — the continental tv hookup.

However, new transmission facilities now being completed are expected to rapidly increase the number of sets in use within the next few months. Current figures estimate that nearly 200,000 sets are operating in Sweden.

Plans for fiscal 1958-59 call for the construction of four more tv stations. This will give Swedish tv Service a coverage of 4,000,000 viewers. Sweden’s population is 7.4 million.

CBC Got $43 Million Last Year

Canadian Broadcasting Corp. in the fiscal year ending March 31 received $43 million from the Canadian federal government as compared with $39 million the previous year, the annual review of Canadian government expenditures indicated when presented in Parliament at Ottawa on June 16. The report on revenues showed that the 15% excise tax on radio and television receivers, radio tubes and phonographs brought the government $16 million in the last fiscal year as compared with $19 million the previous year. This is earmarked for the CBC and is turned over to the CBC as part of its allotment from the government.

Aren't all of these dollars equally important to you?

Where else will you find satellite markets that outspend their entire central metropolitan trading zone by 5-to-4 in sales dollars? Or a universe that has such a big, rich central market! What an opportunity for you to increase your share of the total potential in this greater Indianapolis television area?

where else . . .
--- does a central market exert such an economic pull on so many specific areas that are retail trading centers in their own right?
--- do you find such a widespread marketing area covered from one central point . . . and by WFBM-TV?
--- can you buy just one station with no overlapping penetration by basic affiliates of the same network?

only here—in Indianapolis on WFBM-TV—can you buy more honest market penetration, more consumer influence, for fewer dollars expended than anywhere else. Now it will pay you to take another, longer, better look! We are proud of our current ARB.

The Nation's 13th Television Market
... with the only basic NBC coverage of 750,000 TV set owning families.

Indianapolis itself—Major retail area for 18 richer-than-average counties. 1,000,000 population—350,600 families with 90% television ownership!

Represented Nationally by the KATZ Agency
Causes of chronic sales trouble show up in mediaman’s case histories

Anyone in the business of selling media rarely has an opportunity to see the impressions he makes or how he looks to prospects he tries to sell. Most of the salesmen who sit across my desk in the course of a typical week present well organized material and state their case concisely, but there are exceptions. It is in this area, where there is a strong need for improvement, that I would like to indicate a constructive course of action.

Case #1: Joe was in to see me recently. His previous visit was almost six months ago. I never hear from Joe unless a station manager or other brass come into town. It seems that Joe has to impress station management with the caliber of people he has access to for interviews. I think that Joe could do a better selling job if he would make more frequent calls instead of waiting for special occasions.

Moral: If you have to sell at all, it must be done on a continuing basis. Infrequent sales contacts will inevitably result in loss of awareness and visibility of your medium.

Case #2: A short while ago Henry made an appointment to report some hot news. He had nothing to say about his own station, but he spent 25 minutes on a principal competitor. Henry dwelt at great length upon the many wrong things his competitor was doing. In fact, he painted an unmistakable picture of his competitor as a completely opportunistic, greedy, and unethical operator. When Henry left, I felt like buying neither station.

Moral: A certain amount of negative selling is appropriate. If you overdo it, you don’t sell at all.

Case #3: Once I was somewhat taken aback by a respectable print organization which made a comparison with television. The national cost of a network program was charged off against the basic network of some 50 stations. In effect, this approach discounted the contribution made by the entire lineup of well over 100 stations, and thus resulted in an erroneous picture.

Moral: The job of selling against broad classes of media is best left to those who know them best. Industry bureaus should better educate salesmen to do the job. I wonder if bureaus are discharging this obligation effectively.

Case #4: On some occasions a medium will prepare a very intelligent solution to a serious problem. An example of this was a forceful documentation by a leading newspaper supplement of the need for more intensive advertising support in major markets. The supplement showed that because of the multiplicity of competition in the larger cities, even the more popular network television programs don’t achieve ratings in key markets as high as they do in smaller markets. Obviously, a print medium which concentrates in key metropolitan areas can serve to provide reinforcing coverage in those areas.

Moral: Many advertisers can use more than one medium to sell their products effectively.

Case #5: One morning I spent a few hours at the annual presentation of one of the bureaus. It was a great show—fancy screen projection and valuable research. It was a good presentation, but we only see this once a year.

Moral: More frequent industry presentations serve as reminders of media values. They help strategists and buyers to arrive at a balanced point of view.

Case #6: Then there is the case of the well-informed, concise salesman for whom it is always a pleasure to open the door. Bob always tries to find out what the marketing objectives are. He also makes it a point to be fully familiar with the organizational structure of the agency.

Moral: The salesman who displays interest in marketing objectives and knows the organizational setup of his prospects is far better prepared to sell creatively.

These cases point to the need for stronger, more vigorous selling today. While it is important to point out competitive differences, this should be done constructively. The seller’s function is to help buyers arrive at an intelligent judgment. Selection of media is largely based upon the information furnished by media. Therefore, continuing educational presentations should be made even when there isn’t an immediate opportunity to secure a contract. And there should be more intermedia selling, which promotes the employment of two media types for a particular advertising campaign.

EDITOIAL

The VTR Interview

VIDEO TAPE is living up to its promise. When it first reached the marketplace back in 1956 the prediction was common that along with many benefits it would bring new problems to television.

The union problem it has created is widely known. Now, in a different quarter, another arises. Perhaps the problem has raised its head before, on film, but here it is peculiarly dramatized by the headlined troubles that the Mike Wallace Survival and Freedom series, presented by ABC and the Fund for the Republic, has been having with “editing” and “censorship.”

One week ABC on its own initiative deleted passages of a prerecorded interview with Sylvester L. (Pat) Weaver Jr. The next week ABC cancelled the show because the interviewee, UN Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, himself wanted to make deletions. At this point the problem begins to become discernible.

It is this: Suddenly there is a need to clarify the ground rules.

Over the years the public has become accustomed, and rightly, to assume that news interviews on television are live or at least unexpurgated. If the Lodges have their way and interviewees are allowed to edit before broadcast, the integrity of the news interview will be seriously weakened. As viewers become aware that editing by the subject sometimes occurs, they will come to look on all interviews with suspicion.

This is not to say that broadcasters should be forbidden to edit interviews just as newspapers edit interviews written by their reporter. Nor is it to say that there is no place for programs from which portions have been cut for reasons of national security. Sometimes it may be necessary to agree to editing in order to attract, for example, a high government official whose views would be valuable but who dares not risk violating security in a live program.

But insofar as possible all news interviews should be treated as live, whether they are or not, and editing by the subject should be permitted only when what the participant has to say is clearly worth this exceptional procedure. The terms of such agreements should be clearly understood in advance by both broadcaster and participant. And the audience should be told plainly at time of broadcast that parts have been cut and for what reason.

The integrity of the news interview today is much too important to risk having it diluted. Any but the strictest policy on editing raises a danger.

Boom Ahead for the Boom Ahead

NO formal communique from Madison Avenue is needed to substantiate reports that the big advertisers are sitting on their budgets waiting for bargains. Newspapers and magazines are down sharply, and the networks have holes in prime time for the fall.

To some extent, the advertiser strategy seems to have worked because one network (CBS-TV) has liberalized its daytime rate, discount and product protection policies. NBC-TV is expected to “keep competitive” by following suit. And ABC-TV has in-novated a block-time device for the clients of one agency to stimulate business.

The economists say there’s no reason for the recession, because there’s more spendable income than ever. They have been predicting for months that the business decline is “bottoming out” and that in fact we’re already out of it. The slogan-makers are back at the business of selling the public on “buying” their way out of the depression.

We do not profess to know the answers. But we do know that advertising’s well-documented history proves that new brand names and new businesses were born in the depth of depressions while old established brands that saved their promotion dollars found themselves behind the eight-ball when boom followed bust.

Actually, television is going through its first business turbulence (it’s far from a crisis). For tv’s first commercial decade, it has been onward and upward—til now. We saw network radio panicked into a depression from which it hasn’t yet emerged, while spot and local radio, after having been affected by the chain reaction, have gone on to new sales records, even with a “recession” in full tilt.

There is no reason for this to happen in television which (along with spot radio) is the least affected of the major media. Once the enlightened and experienced advertisers learn that the bargain basements are closed, they will resume their timebuying, probably at greater levels than before. They know what tv and radio advertising can do for them in moving merchandise. They know what these media can do in introducing new products (i.e., Revlon and Lestoil, to name but two).

Classic examples of brand names of other years that sat on their advertising dollars are Bull Duram (or was it Durham?), Old Dutch Cleanser and O’Sullivan’s Rubber Heels.

Our population is showing fantastic growth. A wonderland of new products awaits a favorable market. Individual savings are at an all-time high. The opportunities are the greatest ever.

Advertising can cajole these dollars into the marketplace. The companies that invest now in promoting their wares and services are those that will be on top as we emerge from this recession that seems to have created itself. The way to do it is to close the bargain basements and sell hell-bent for new records. The broadcast media, uninhibited and young, as media go, can and should lead the hard-sell parade.

Who Does the Senate Think It Is?

LAST Tuesday, at the summons of the Senate Commerce Committee, a number of community antenna operators appeared in Washington to testify. In the morning their testimony was heard by a single Senator. After the luncheon recess they returned, on the “committee’s” order, to find no Senator in the hearing room.

They waited 3 hours and 15 minutes before a Senator wandered in. (Hearings can’t proceed unless at least one Senator is present.)

Last Wednesday afternoon the FCC, also at the summons of the same “committee,” appeared to testify on tv allocations, a subject of profound importance. One Senator was there to open the hearings. He left after 15 minutes. Another came in 20 minutes later and remained for a little more than an hour and a half.

This was outright rudeness at best. Some of the witnesses had traveled thousands of miles. All of them had spent time and money (the public’s money, in the FCC’s case) to prepare their testimony. For the effects their travel and work will have, they might as well have sealed their presentations in a bottle and dropped it into the Tidal Basin.

Maybe there’s a brighter side to this. Is it possible that the Congress is tiring of investigating broadcasting? If so, the feeling among investigators and investigated will be mutual. Broadcasting got tired of the endless and repetitious investigations long ago.
