Rich in prospects, rich in opportunity! In America's 10th TV Market, your product advertising strikes pay dirt every time. The reason: 3¼ million people, 946,863 TV sets, $6¾ billion annual income, $3¾ billion retail sales. ARB and Nielsen show the WGAL-TV audience in this rich market area is greater than the combined audience of all other stations viewed there.
Six TIC 'finalists' • It's touch and go on choice of director for television "image" project by nine-man Television Information Committee. Names of six "finalists" will be before TIC at Wednesday's meeting in New York. George Rosen, radio-TV editor of Variety, active aspirant supported by NBC and ABC with CBS willing to go along; Lester W. Lindow, executive director, Asn. of Maximum Service Telecasters; Theodore F. Koop, CBS Washington director of news; Richard Pack, vice president, programming, Westinghouse Broadcasting Co.; Fred Kugel, Television Magazine; Howard London, former radio-tv director, March of Dimes.

There's alternate proposal for dual directorship of Lindow as coordinator and Rosen as publicist. Lindow is not candidate and MST board would be loath to have him leave. Neither Koop nor Pack are candidates, but were proposed by supporters. TIC Chairman Clair McCollough, Steinman Stations, seeks unanimous vote, but may have to settle for majority or even impasse and further delay, Committee wanted to start director at $25,000 and have him work his way up, but there's talk of going as high as $40,000 per year for three years for right man.

Nip and tuck • Ratings followers may see end of one of that pastime's longest winning streaks this week. And CBS-TV, which has stressed being No. 1 in average audience in every Nielsen report since July 1955, may have to give up favorite theme. It all rests on one-tenth of rating point. Advance figures on first August Nielsen report (two weeks ending Aug. 9) show NBC-TV ahead by just that much (15.6 to CBS-TV's 15.5). Odds are that preliminary figures will hold up in final report, but there's still slender chance that corrected report will reverse positions. Same advance figures give ABC-TV 14.9 rating. Report covers all sponsored shows 6-11 p.m. Monday-Sunday.

Spot TV tops network • For first time, it looks as if spot television time billings have exceeded networks' on semiannual basis. Preliminary figures indicate spot's gross volume was in neighborhood of $315 million for first half of this year, compared to $309 million for network. (Figures, both at all-time high, are for time only; inclusion of production costs would keep network billings well ahead.) Figures are compiled by TVB by N.C. Rorbaugh Co. (spot) and LNA-BAR (network).

GE is shopping • General Electric Co., pioneer in broadcasting, which is among groups seeking full quota of stations (CLOSED CIRCUIT, Aug. 17) already has made overtures in one direction which did not mature. Company, which now owns only WGY (AM), WGFM (FM) and WRGB (TV) Schenectady, discussed possible acquisition of Corinthian stations from J.H. Whitney & Co. and even inspected properties. But last week Corinthian executives denied any intention to sell or trade.

Reports of GE-Corinthian conversations involved possible exchange of GE stock for properties. Corinthian stations are: KOTV (TV) Tulsa; KHOU-TV Houston; KXTV (TV) Sacramento; WANE-AM-TV Fort Wayne and WISH-AM-TV Indianapolis.

Sing donkey serenade • Contrary to published reports, Democratic National Committee isn't getting cold shoulder from advertising agencies on handling of its 1960 election year account (it will run an estimated $3 million aside from collateral state and local budgets). Chairman Paul Butler told BROADCASTING Friday that number of important agencies have evinced interest, among them: Norman, Craig & Kummel, which handled account in 1956; Erwin Wasey, Ruthrauff & Ryan; Guild, Bascom & Bonfigli; Doyle Dane Bernbach; Doner & Peck; Kastor, Hilton, Chesley, Clifford & Atherton and Johnson & Lewis Inc. of San Francisco.

Consent decree near? • Is there prospect of settlement by consent decree of Dept. of Justice anti-trust suit against RCA-NBC involving latter's acquisition from Westinghouse of Philadelphia ch, 3 WPTZ and KYW (now WRCV-AM-TV)? Both parties and RCA-NBC decline comment on report that conversations are underway but it was learned authoritatively that Bernard C. Segal, Philadelphia counsel for RCA-NBC, although preparing case, has been in negotiation with Antitrust Division attorneys. Department's suit contends Westinghouse was "coerced" into making swap of Philadelphia stations to NBC for its Cleveland outlets (now KYW-AM-TV) plus $3 million.

Having no direct connection with antitrust suit but possible bearing on out-of-court settlement of Philadelphia case, is pending protest of Philco against renewal of licenses of Philadelphia stations to NBC. FCC had upheld NBC's contention that Philco was not party in interest but Court of Appeals reversed decision and Supreme Court refused certiorari. Oral arguments before FCC in keeping with lower court mandate are scheduled for Oct. 1. Philco, original licensee of ch. 3 Philadelphia station, contends its ownership by RCA through NBC is unfairly competitive in manufacturing field. In separate action, Philco is suing RCA for $150 million in antitrust proceeding.

Master of follow-through • Unbeknownst to even most of his colleagues, CBS Inc. President Frank Stanton followed through on amendment of Sec. 315 as persistently as if it were his only function. While in Soviet Union early this month, he kept in communication with key members of both House and Senate committees and, after his return Aug. 17, made several trips to Washington contacting practically all of even dozen conferences, not once but several times. Conference members mentioned fact that he was personally only broadcasting executive who maintained such contacts every inch of way.

Network radio coup quietly accomplished • Nationwide Insurance Co., Columbus, Ohio, will expand its sponsorship this coming season of The Hidden Revolution produced by CBS Public Affairs. Advertiser last season backed six half-hour programs which treat social issues of times, Coming up: Eight programs, two in hour-length form, rest half-hours. Ben Sackheim, New York, is Nationwide's agency.

Musical chairs • Prospect of musical chairs game developing in Richmond (Va.) tv network affiliations was seen in some quarters last week—but couldn't be seen at all in others. Speculation was stirred by joint announcement that CBS-TV and WRVA-TV would part company next May 29 (see page 74), with announcement specifically withholding any hint of new tie-up for WRVA-TV. (Circumstance that WRVA already has moved to NBC Radio because of CBS Radio's Program Consolidation Plan did nothing to discourage speculation). Authorities at ABC-TV, losing WRVA-TV (TV) affiliation to CBS-TV in current deal, say they're "studying the situation"—implication being they might negotiate with either WRVA-TV or WXEX-TV—but NBC-TV officials, whose contract with WXEX-TV runs beyond next May, say they're "completely happy with present situation and foresee no changes.

How often must you change radio copy? • Not any more often than is absolutely necessary, if you really want to "burn in" your identification with your audience, according to Joseph Stone, vice president and copy group head, J. Walter Thompson Co., New York. In this week's MONDAY MEMO, Mr. Stone answers on how long a spot can run, whether jingles are more effective than talk, and other questions of prime interest to agencies, advertisers and stations. Page 29.

Play for pay: the payola racket • Do recording companies control America's radio music programming? Special BROADCASTING report sifts charges and counter-charges of one of radio's most elusive—and hardest—rumors. Page 35.

TV networks' toppers • Anacin in front in June gross billing and for second quarter, Chevrolet is second. Procter & Gamble and R. J. Reynolds Tobacco each score with three brands in the leading advertiser list. Daytime billings increase during periods. Page 48.

Local radio gains • Best year yet in local sales, RAB reports on heels of estimates that spot, too, is running ahead this year. Along with sales increases, stations are saving money by streamlining office procedures. And they're putting more money into programming. Page 62.

News audience study proposal • CBS's Stanton in speaking to teachers of journalism in Oregon convention recommends continuing research to determine how well news gets across to the populace. He says CBS would support all-media effort. Page 66.

Ad bans draw warning • Robert M. Feemster, Dow Jones & Co., tells American Bar Assn. how tax officials and other public agencies are restricting advertising. ABA convention fails to act on Canon 35 ethical clause barring tv and radio from courtroom. Page 72.

Sec. 315 floor battle promised • Equal time amendment back on floors of both houses as conference committee agrees on language. Rep. Moss lodges strong protest and makes plans to launch fight against passage. Page 76.

Catv, boosters before committee • Senate Commerce Committee meets tomorrow on catv booster legislation with attention focused on committee amendments to two bills. Page 76.

FCC may investigate itself • Comr. Ford says probe might provide basis for list of Commission policies on programming. Tells West Virginia Broadcasters Assn. licensees now lack adequate information on FCC requirements. Page 81.

Russia reconsiders tv • Report in Russian trade paper, specially translated for BROADCASTING, tells how Soviets seem to be changing face regarding tv advertising; how the medium seems to be a focal point in their new efforts toward increased consumer consumption. Page 97.

YOU CAN LEARN
TO OPERATE AN AMPEX IN 15 MINUTES

Six Quick Aids to Easy TV Tape Recording ... You can learn to operate an Ampex Videotape* Television Recorder in less time than it takes to smoke a cigarette. These six features, for instance, make recording simple, fast . . .

- JUST THESE BUTTONS TO PUSH—Record, Stop, Rewind, Fast Forward and Play.
- TAPE TIMER—records in hours, minutes and seconds ... not footage. Lets you back up tape for any desired cue-in time.
- CUE TRACK—lets you locate, identify and cue commercials and programs.
- TAPE SPEED OVERRIDE—makes it easy to synchronize with another video or audio recorder.
- AUTOMATIC BRAKE RELEASE—speeds threading and splicing.
- FULL WIDTH ERASE—Automatically erases tape.

Of course, to be an “expert” — to learn maintenance as well as operation — takes one week. Ampex trains your maintenance supervisor (over 436 so far!) at the factory. And he is then qualified to train as many others as you like.

Write, wire or phone today for an Ampex representative — or ask for the new, fully illustrated brochure describing the new Ampex VR-1000B. Whatever you want to know about the advantages and profits in TV tape, get the facts from Ampex.
AT DEADLINE

Winter baseball

WISN-TV Milwaukee will feed baseball-hungry fans weekly game from Cuba's winter league, using taped versions to be played back Saturday nights on station's two RCA tape recorders. Widespread demand for Cuban games was cited by WISN-TV Station Manager William Goodnow in announcing series. RCA machines use 96-minute reels. WISN-TV also plans to carry Sunday afternoon playbacks of Marquette U. football games, starting with Sept. 19 game against U. of Pittsburgh.

Resignations at RPI

Resignations of Sumner J. Glimcher and Noel Bernard from Radio Press International, voiced radio news service, was announced last Friday (Aug. 28). Messrs. Bernard and Glimcher, president and vice president for foreign news, respectively, have sold their stock interest in RPI and will announce their future plans shortly. RPI was formed out of merger of Radio Press, headed by General Hamilton Combs, now board chairman of RPI, and International Transmissions Inc. six weeks ago. The resignations were said to be outcome of "differences over policy" (Broadcasting, Aug. 24).

WEEK'S HEADLINERS

La. 'early bird'

Rep. Harold McSween (D-La.) does not plan to be caught short in tv exposures during 1960 Louisiana primary elections. KALB-TV Alexandria, La., reports congressman already has placed firm order for time evening of Aug. 26, 1960, night before election. Late Friday (Aug. 28), KALB-TV had not as yet received demands for purchase of "equal time" by any competing candidates.

Business briefly

- Mutual announced Friday (Aug. 28) that Bankers Life & Casualty Insurance Co., Chicago, has signed to sponsor Walter Winchell Show when program returns to air following summer hiatus. Sept 6 (Sun. 6-6:15 p.m.). Agency is Phillips & Cherbo, Chicago.
- Oscar Mayer & Co., Chicago, has appointed J. Walter Thompson Co., Chicago, to handle advertising of its line of sausage and smoked meat products. Account was formerly handled by Baker, Tilden, Bolgard & Barger.
- National Carbon Co. (Prestone antifreeze), N.Y., through Wm Esty Co., N.Y., and Longines-Wittnauer Watch Co., N.Y., through Victor A. Bennett Co., N.Y., have signed to share alternate-week sponsorship of ZIV Television Programs' Men Into Space series over CBS-TV (Wed., 8:30-9 p.m.), starting Sept. 30. American Tobacco Co. earlier had signed for alternate-week sponsorship.

Wylie sees summer radio gain, tv loss

Radio is showing "real strength" during summer, with evening audience running larger than winter, according to William A. Wylie, associate director, Tv & Radio Program Dept., McCann-Erickson, New York.

In weekend talk to West Virginia Broadcasters Assn. at White Sulphur Springs (early stories page 81), Mr. Wylie said radio audience is significantly higher from January to June where-as tv viewing is down. He cited Nielsen figures to show trends.

Presiding at meeting was C. Leslie Godby, WEVP Martinsburg, W.Va., president of association. Speakers included William S. Rine, vice president of radio division, Storer Broadcasting Co.; Maury Long, BROADCASTING, and FCC Comr. Frederick W. Ford.

"Why should advertisers pay winter tv rates during summer months when there is a big drop in tv sets-in-use?" Mr. Wylie asked. He suggested advertisers should enjoy lower rates during evening. Early evening is more affected than later hours, he added.

"Radio listening is significantly higher between 6 p.m. and midnight during June compared to January," he said. "This indicates some tv viewers substitute radio listening during summer months. All in all, radio hasn't suffered the marked decline experienced by tv from winter highs to summer lows."

Mr. Wylie commented that while networks have encouraged advertisers to stay on tv during summer through their annual discount plans, these discounts are not sufficient incentive to many advertisers when the summer viewing loss during evening hours is so marked."

NBC-TV talent hunt

Talent hunt is on at NBC-TV "full scale." Network will hold two auditions each week in New York starting about Oct. 1. Objectives of search: emcees and narrators; daytimers; singers, comedians and specialty acts for variety shows; "stars and leads" for NBC-produced pilots and dramatic actors for network-produced live programs.

Preliminary screening will be handled by Richard Kelly, manager, casting, and Edward Hamlin, assistant supervisor, casting. Most promising of talent will be further screened by David Tebet, NBC-TV's director, talent relations, who will direct talent search. Mr. Tebet reports to David Levy, vice president, NBC-TV programs and talent. Similar operation set for West Coast to be directed by Harold F. Kemp, director, nighttime programs. Talent selected will be signed to exclusive contracts and made available for performances. NBC-TV also has plans for talent unit that would be available to industrial groups and NBC-TV affiliated stations for special events and promotions.

TvB answers radio

Television Bureau of Advertising Friday (Aug. 29) issued statement claiming that delivered audience for individual program is "a more meaningful measure of television viewing than a total for an average day." Comment was made by Norman E. Cash, president of TvB, as reply to report from Sindlinger & Co. that number of people listening to radio surpassed the number of people viewing tv throughout July and in first two weeks of August (see story, page 65). Mr. Cash noted that figure for radio represents listening throughout 24-hour day on 3,300 radio stations while tv figure is concentrated in known sets-in-use patterns and on about 500 stations.

NBC closed circuit previews Ford plans

Network tv programming will provide "advertising voltage" for Ford to "reach every segment of the car buying public," James O. Wright, vice president and general manager of Ford Div. (Ford Motor Co.), told dealers in closed-circuit colorcast Friday.

Colorcast was initial drumbeat by Ford in presenting details on its upcoming network tv series of 39-week specials, Startime, plus weekly Wagon Train and Tennessee Ernie Ford, all three on NBC-TV. Also appearing on show were galaxy of tv stars, NBC Board Chairman Robert Sarnoff, and Hubbell Robinson Jr., former CBS-TV executive vice president and now executive producer on Startime.

Mr. Sarnoff predicted that Ford's shows will reach 35 million different homes each week, based on cumulative audience figures. Mr. Wright revealed Mercury (via Kenyon & Eckhardt) will participate "occasionally" in Tuesday night specials. Roster of talent announced so far for Startime, with several appearing in colorcast (groups indicated on one show):

- when the register of ceremonies, "Wonderful World of Entertainment," Oct. 6, 9:30-11 p.m. (Kate Smith, Polly Bergen, Eddie Hodges, Maurice Chevalier and Jack Paar);
- Jimmy Stewart and George Gobel in "Cindy's Fellah"; Art Linkletter and his "Secret World of Kids"; Jerry Lewis in "The Jazz Singer";
- George Burns in "A Night at the Palace" (with whom Eddie Cantor, Jack Benny, George Jessel, played the Palace in former days); Cyd Charisse in her first tv show and paired with husband Tony Martin; Dean Martin (with Frank Sinatra and Mitzi Green); Tony Curtis, Alec Guinness and Ingrid Bergman each in dramatic show.

28 BROADCASTING, August 31, 1959
How often must you change radio copy?

“When do you change ET’s? How expendable are they? What is their life expectancy?”

Because I’m asked these questions so often, I’ve decided to see what my views look like on paper.

To begin answering these questions, you must understand the differences between radio and other media. Radio is the semi-conscious medium. Whereas tv, magazines and newspapers get what is practically our undivided attention, radio is most generally used as background music, as a traveling companion or noise to fill an empty house.

Radio is “Best Buy” • To overcome radio’s handicaps of less audience per message, less time per message, less attention per message and less impression on the senses per message—the industry has worked out a repetition technique which has made radio the best buy in all advertising.

This is the technique which spelled such great success for Pepsi Cola, Bab-O, Chiquita Banana, Arrid’s “Why be half safe,” Pepsodent’s “You’ll wonder where the yellow went” and so many others. In fact there is practically no famous radio commercial which did not follow that technique—which, simply stated, is: develop the one best way to deliver your message and deliver it over and over for months.

By stating your message one way—and only one way—you burn in a sharp impression. To discuss a few specifics:

How about different treatments of the same song?

Okay. You’re still in “register.” Like printing with 4-color plates.

How about a comedy series like Ford’s “Duffy” and Andy Griffith or the humorous Dodge spots?

Humor of this type must be alternated and periodically refreshed. But change format as little as possible.

How long can a spot run?

As long as its message is the one you want to burn in. For some products that could mean years. In the case of an annual product—such as a tv set—the promise of newness might be defeated by repetition of an old commercial.

Why then do agencies sometimes recommend several spots to run at once?

On accounts where you have many clients (plus their wives), you often have to satisfy many points of view. It’s a compromise.

A used-car story and parts story which do not basically change should be treated differently than a new car story, shouldn’t they?

Yes. Used-car spots and parts spots can go on effectively for years. Ford’s Mills Brothers used-car series has been running since 1954. But new-car spots must change every year to reflect a changed car—even the theme song temporarily gets new lyrics. And each special campaign gets its own special commercials. However, within a campaign period you do better with one or two spots throughout no matter how often or for how long a period they run.

In these days of rapidly changing radio station “formulae,” must commercials change to suit new station formats?

Not exactly. (although sometimes you wonder if they shouldn’t change stations?) The advertiser used to have relatively sedate programming in which to insert his commercials. Today he drops his spots into bedlam. Blaring brass and brassy vocal groups are screaming intros for the weather and news. At the drop of a hat the station serenades you with its din-be-decked call letters. And in some cases the station does a blasting “shortie” identifying itself right before your commercial.

The above is equivalent in some ways to the New York Times surrounding each ad with big black borders advertising the Times. For the purpose of this discussion there’s no need to criticize or praise this type of radio station conduct. But we must recognize its existence and, thus, plan commercials which can live in any climate. Plan for the worst and then be ready to stick with your message no matter what type of hysteria the stations move on to.

Is the life expectancy of a raucous commercial shorter than that of a good-taste commercial?

A raucous commercial should not get on the air in the first place. There are lots of ways to get attention without being objectionable. Many commercials these days are too harsh, too loud and too brassy. Continued over a long period of time they, too, burn in an impression—one of disgust on the part of the public.

What has a longer life—a jingle or a talking commercial?

Usually a jingle. But there have been cases where non-musical spots went on successfully for a long time (“Why be half safe”; Fall Mall’s “On the air, on the ground, on the sea”; Viceroy’s thinking men). One explanation for the longer life of musical commercials is that they cost more money—so there’s less inclination to give them up.

How long do you have to use a jingle to get “your money’s worth?”

Less than most people suppose! It’s amazing how stingy we ad men get when it comes to radio production costs. I’ve known accounts which devote as much as 10% of their space costs to production of print advertisements, yet begrudge radio production even 3% of time costs.

‘Once More With Feeling’ • It all adds up to this: on radio, say it as often as you can for as long as you can. Say it sharp and say it the same way over and over again. And keep doing it as long as the message itself is the best thing you can say.

As you perhaps well know, your Monday Memo feature has widespread readership, for since the appearance of my piece (page 23, Aug. 10), I have heard from people all over the country. EDITOR:
Kudos to you and Harold Smith of Needham, Louis & Brorby for the Monday Memo "It's time to update promotion reports." As a representative, this is a subject of special interest to me. I agree with Mr. Smith that most stations do an excellent job of promotion and merchandising for their advertisers but their methods of reporting their efforts often are woefully lacking . . .

In addition to having our stations send reports to us for transmission to the agency, we ask them to see that the proper field representative of the advertiser also gets a copy. He is as important as anybody in New York or Chicago in maintaining good relationships.

terms as “cable station” or inferring that the small market telecaster is “fighting for survival” or that our operations are “unfair in the legal sense” and that we are forcing small market stations to “fend as several have done” you paint a picture of a group of broadcast parasites who are interested only in the dollar and have no sense of responsibility to the people they serve—people who cannot get adequate television coverage because of the distance or terrain features between them and the originating station.

The members of the cable industry do have a deep sense of responsibility to their patrons. And the facts, as they have been brought out, don’t jibe with your editorial position.

We are not broadcasters—we don’t operate “stations”—we don’t make any use of the spectrum to broadcast (or, as you put it, “rebroadcast”). We operate only a receiving service which is more efficient than the best rooftop antenna.

You are correct in stating that the 750 cable systems in the U.S. serve about 550,000 homes. But, you neglected to point out that this comprises about 2% of the television population and that, conversely, some 98% of the population is completely unaffected and, probably, completely unaware of the existence of our industry.

Certainly this miniscule portion of the public can’t be construed as serious competition to any tv station. . . .

Since 1952, 96 stations (89 uhf and 7 vhf) have gone off the air. In only three cases has the existence of a cable system even been offered as a factor in their shutting down. But, the FCC, in investigating each of these three cases, could not determine that the cable system was any kind of a decisive factor.

Telecasters love to have us bring their signals into a new area they haven’t been in before—as long as it’s somebody else’s market. But, they don’t like us to come into their towns and upset their monopoly.

Meanwhile, we and the other cable systems . . . will continue to do our best to fill in the white areas with good television coverage—coverage not afforded under the present systems of allocations. And we’ll continue to grow in the number of people served because we give them something they can’t get in any other way.

. . . I do not feel that free tv is imperiled by cable in it’s traditional sense. The artificial extension of metropolitan station coverage into communities served by local tv stations through the use of microwave-fed cable is quite another matter and poses some grave perils to local service, particularly when network advertisers can circumvent the use of local tv broadcasting in favor of the cable system which costs the advertiser nothing. Also, the ability of the cable to escape all regulations including duopoly gives an unfair advantage to the cable system which is obvious . . .

Your current editorial succinctly sums up the whole issue.

More about ‘give-aways’

EDITOR:
I read with great interest the story in your August 10 issue on “Give-aways.”

While we were listed as one of the companies specializing in prizes, I felt that we did not receive the recognition from a trade periodical that we were entitled to. Not because we are looking for any personal glory or publicity, but because it is important to us that your 80,000 readers know that we were pioneers in the so-called give-away business . . .

The author of the article perhaps does not remember the “Three Johns”—Masterson, Reddy and Nelson and their Bride and Groom; Mark Goodson’s Stop the Music; NBC’s short-lived Hollywood Calling. No mention is made of Ralph Edwards or Art Linkletter, who are truly the pioneers of give-away programs. The writer has the honor (perhaps dubious today) of having started with the above gentlemen . . .

Our operation, from its inception was recognized, and is today, a definite and successful medium and our fees carry regular advertising agency commission. In fact 75% of our clients are advertising agencies and public relations firms.

HOW BIG THE PAYOLA IN RECORDS?

An embarrassing but vital question is examined in this special report

"Booze, broads and bribes."

This inelegant sampling from the idiom of the music trade was revived a fortnight ago by a stir out of Los Angeles about payola for disc jockeys. Lew Irwin, KPOL Los Angeles news director who also handles a nightly news report on KABC-TV there, turned up a letter in which a one-time Denver deejay outlined an "alliance" to promote records onto a national hit list for $600 a tune.

The biggest news in that development was that the letter ever saw the light of day. Even the rumors about payola usually are traded under the counter. But they flourish in the dark. Though largely undocumented, the claim that deejays can be bought—and therefore that much of the nation's radio music is dictated by recording companies offering balm for the itching palm—is one of the most persistent of the postwar crop.

The rumors thrive on the inequalities of supply-and-demand, if not on fact. Since World War II the number of recording companies has grown from a half-dozen to 1,500 to 2,000 (chiefly, according to authorities, because improvements in the technology have made it possible to turn out a record for $350 or so). Many of these companies are one-day wonders, but when one fails, its place is quickly taken by another. New releases pour out constantly. To succeed they must sell. But before they can sell they must be heard—and no record maker has yet come to light who will put any medium ahead of radio for the exposure of his wares.

Bigness of Music • Radio in the meantime has become basically a musical instrument. Many stations estimate that at least 60 to 70% of their air time is devoted to records. So stations and recording companies clearly need each other. But there are so many more records than air time that stations can play only a fraction of the 50 to 250 new releases which come to them each week. The situation is so tight that some recording companies are crying for acceptance of shorter records, and for deejays to stop playing hits so often after they hit their peaks and start on the decline.

Investigation supports the logic that record companies pass out considerably more than free records—and that even the most strait-laced jockeys benefit from their largesse. Who's to refuse a fancy dinner, a plush weekend, a companionate night on the town? What is there to do with a friendly gift bottle but look it in the mouth?

There also is support for the contention that these are only fringe benefits—for some jocks. Under the cover of anonymity, expert witnesses will tell you about quid pro quo arrangements in which companies offer—and deejays accept—gifts too costly to be mere remembrances, money payable on either a retainer or a per-record basis, a percentage of sales, a piece of the company, even recordings by the case-lot for private resale by the jocks. "Booze, broads and bribes" signifies a way of life, some say.

"Don't quote me" • But usually the informants won't name names. And these things always seem to happen to somebody else. Moreover, other experts will testify that there is no payola of any consequence, certainly none be-

Program supply • On the desk in front of Fred Fiske, deejay on WWDC Washington, D.C., are the records which the station received last week. WWDC, like most other major market stations, gets at least 150 records a week (singles and albums) from record companies which need radio plays to stimulate retail sales. The rising flood of releases from some 2,000 record producers is creating impossible demands for air exposure.
yond the accepted bounds of normal customer relationships, and that, even if there is, it has no bearing on what records get played on the air. Ahmet Ertegun of Atlantic and Atco Records speaks for many on both sides of the turntable when he says: "You can't hide a hit—it's going to get played. People operating out of their hats get hits." While agreeing, others add, as did another recording executive, this codicil: "But damn few people will buy records they haven't heard."

The one thing that both sides agree on, in discussing payola or the nonexistence thereof, is that the opportunity is there. There is a strong body of evidence, however, that the opportunity today is more difficult to administer—that the payoff does not carry the influence now that it did 10 years ago. It can't, unless it is being passed out to more hands. For disc jockey is not the king he once was, except perhaps to his public. In the studio, where he once picked the records for his program himself, he now finds this function substantially taken over, in more and more cases, by a board of which he is only one member.

People in the record business are generally hesitant to talk bluntly about payola. Occasionally, however, there comes an exception. One such, speaking from anonymity, offered this appraisal:

"Do you honestly think that I or anyone else with a job or a business at

"Take the records around to stations, call on managers, program directors, disc jockeys and try to get plays. Pretty soon you'll know why there's payola. why guys with records offer a piece of them or an interest in the music publishing company or the artist to an influential deejay to get them on the air. Pretty soon you're offering some bills or a percentage to anyone who can help get your tune or artist or record played every three or four hours? There's room for about 15 or 20 discs outside the Top 40, and how much chance do you think your record has of being one of those 15 or 20 and how much are you willing to pay to help make it one?"

\[\text{Hard to Document} + \text{Payola charges generally follow a pattern—stories of deejays with deals which net them a penny a platter from the sale of records they plug on the air, deejays on retainers paid by record companies to ensure plays of all their releases, deejays with "rate cards" showing how many plays you can expect for your money and, in the rate-card tradition offering}

 Jury system of picking records • At many stations, the autonomy of individual disc jockeys in choosing records to be played on the air has been withdrawn in favor of selection by a panel. At some stations top management participates, at others, management plus performers. KFWB Los Angeles uses a combination system. The Top 40 tunes are chosen on the basis of record sales. The rest of the records which the station plays are picked by a panel of deejays and the vice president for programming—after the station's president, Robert Purcell, and the music librarian have screened out 75% of the releases which flood the station.

week, above their salaries of $25,000 to $50,000 a year. ... The broadcasters know this. It is that flagrant."

Rebuttals • Mr. Lazar did not document his charges. At least one record promoter, Bob Stern of Hollywood, who represents close to 200 companies, says radio station committees asking for a chance to refute the testimony but never got a reply, let alone an invitation to appear.

It is Mr. Stern's contention that competition if nothing else has kept Los Angeles and many other markets clean. If one deejay is dominant in a city, he says, perhaps his payola operations can be conducted as a horizontal aspect of ordinary business. A jock's remembrances for what they've done in the name of the station don't necessarily equal that of his individual salaries.

"There may be payola but there's no dictatorial pay-off," he contends, meaning that deejays aren't paid to play specific records. He acknowledges that at Christmas time "we show our appreciation for what they've done in the past year," and maybe if a jock's wife is sick in the hospital, his bill might be paid. "But we never pay them to play any certain record," he declares.

Season's Greetings • This point of view does not conflict with the sizeable body of opinion which holds that record promoters can be as thoughtful as other businessmen, like Christmas. It is only consistent with the spirit of the occasion, aside from prudent business, to remember one's friend and repay past favors. And it would be gross ingratitude if the remembrances were not accepted in the spirit in which they were given. In all this camaraderie and seasonal good will a considerable lot of merchandising changes hands, and this is not denied any more than in any other business.

But sometimes the spirit of fellowship gets out of control and gifts are passed that seem to tax the limits of ordinary generosity. The Christmas wrappings may even yield up a car or a boat among the other geezags. And it is said that some deejays have become so hardened to such things that they have been known to suffer temporary lapses in their manners. A classic example is the jock who, as such legends go, received a color television set and promptly called the donor, not to express gratitude but to break the news that "it's too bad that I can't use it where I live without spending $150 for a special antenna installation."

Report from L.A. • One of the principal recent contributors to the body of existing literature on payola is KPOL-AM, KABC-TV's Mr. Irwin. His broadcast breaking the story of the would-be payola "alliance" a couple of weeks ago was one in a series he has devoted to the subject over the past few months.

One recent guest was attorney Lazar, who this time was a little more specific about the source of his information than he had been in his congressional testimony. He testified:

"I know of instances among my own clients where payoff exists," he declared. "I know it exists because I know of individuals that pay individuals all over the country for it."

Payola, he said, can take many forms—$50 or $100 bills enclosed with records, credit cards, a suit of clothes. A jock in an "influential position," he hazarded, can add $50,000 to $150,000 to his salary via payola. He viewed it as a "national" problem, asserting that there are perhaps 20 to 25 "key situations" where top 40 records are made and where, therefore, the deejays are much more apt to be pressured. "Many of these disc jockeys do take payola," he charged.

Writers and Publishers • Mr. Lazar also contended that songwriters and music publishers are culprits in the payola game. This is part of ASCAP's standing charges that the system is dominated by radio and television. In the case of "an honest-to-goodness songwriter, a person who writes a good song," Mr. Lazar contended, payola is necessary or "his music will not be heard, and if it is not heard it can never be a hit." (Music publishers themselves testify that radio and television are even more important to them than to recording companies, because they get more than half of their revenues from performance credits.)

In another broadcast Mr. Irwin maintained that payola is paid "not for the sake of selling records, but for the sake of deceiving the Internal Revenue Bureau." He quoted an unidentified recording company official as contending that gangsters control julex boxes which they cite as source of revenues that actually come from illicit operations. To make their jukebox business look good, he asserted, they produce records and promote them into hits via payola.

Another Irwin guest, Wolfe Gilbert, West Coast director of ASCAP, speculated that "major houses"—he was referring to music publishing firms—are not as guilty of payola as smaller and newer ones. This concept seems to be generally thought not universally shared at ASCAP, with regard to payola charges against recording companies.

Dick Whittinghill, KMPC Los Angeles deejay, and Al Jarvis of KFWB Los Angeles, one of the first of the nation's deejays, also have appeared on Mr. Irwin's program.

Mr. Whittinghill said that he had been "approached by a couple of song pluggers, and the head of a record company, and they've offered me anything from putting a pool in my house to re-roofing the house, and [there was] one incident with cash." But he said he knew for a fact that "no one at KMPC is taking it [payola]." They're known as a very clean station. We get enough charges—there they pay us a pretty good salary. There's no reason for us to resort to anything as low as that." His judgment of the payola business: "It stinks."

Mr. Jarvis said some "distributors engage in the practice and "some" don't. "I think the bigger ones do," he added. But he contended that nobody has to pay for plays of a first-rate record—and "I don't think that any first rate disc jockey," he said, "intentionally plays second-rate records." Even if a station permits the deejay to pick his own records he "still must play to please his listeners."

A Case of Good Will • If anyone had any doubts about the importance that record makers attach to radio he should have attended the deejay convention sponsored at Miami Beach last spring by the Storz Stations (BROADCASTING, June 1, 8). The number, variety and neatness of the speeches were rivaled by the number, variety and neatness of the extra-curricular diversions set up for the boys by recording companies. Some of the hosts displayed singularly fundamental ideas about recreation, along with seemingly unlimited sources of supply (which some of them are, indeed, said to have).

It is accepted fact that recording companies may be excluded from the next such get-together, but in fairness it ought to be reported that at least some recording executives contend this was by no means the worst display of hospitality they had ever witnessed. "It just got the worst press," they explain in what is probably the biggest understatement associated with that gathering.

Anything but Cash • More direct testimony to the esteem in which influential radio programmers are held by recording people is given by an executive whose company is not a major but is successful and in clean repute regarding payola. "We'll give then anything they want short of money, so long as it doesn't mean demeaning ourselves," he asserts. His idea is not to buy specific plays but to keep his label in favor among as many so-called decision-makers as possible.

At the other extreme is the record pluggers who, according to President and General Manager Robert M. Purcell, once walked into the program director's office at KFWB Los Angeles with this proposition: "I want your 'pick tune of the week' and here's a check for $1,700, which I'm told is your price." When the program director...

refused, the promoter tried to be understanding. "Okay," he said, "so you've got your tune picked for this week; I'll take next week. Or the week after." Continued refusal left the promoter nothing to do but depart, shaking his head.

This episode may be related to another, also involving KFWB, which is told by a record promoter. He tells of a rival pluggers who, having somehow learned what record was to be the following week's "Pick of the Week" on KFWB, telephoned the record company in New York and offered, for 900 free copies, to get the number named "pick" by the station. The record company sent the 900 copies, which the hustler sold for private gain, and that was all there was to it until the company, a few weeks later, instructed its regular promoter to get a record selected as the week's pick. "We know it's for sale" was the gist of the message. It took some talking to convince the home office that it wasn't.

Radio First • There is less garish evidence of radio's standing with the record companies. No manufacturer is apt to quarrel with Joe Carlton's observation that "radio stations are our first point of sale." The head of Carlton Records, who was ad man for Mercury and RCA Victor before he formed his own company in 1957, says his people make it a point to know, personally, as many of the country's program directors as possible—an exercise in togetherness that runs his telephone bill to more than $3,000 a month.

It seems significant that Mr. Carlton, along with many others, mentions the program director rather than the deejay as the man to know. Often the two titles are interchangeable, but investigation makes clear that, at least in major stations, the deejay no longer rules in some splendor. Even if he still picks the records he plays, he's apt to have the face of management peering over his shoulder while he does it.

Another thriller-diller from WJRT—

"Cheating at the shell game, Chief?"

"Shell, schmell, Ponsonby. I am merely demonstrating the unrivaled efficiency with which WJRT covers Lansing, Flint, Saginaw and Bay City."

With WJRT, you pay your money but you don't have to make a choice. With just one buy, you get Flint, Lansing, Saginaw and Bay City smack in the palm of your hand. It's the most efficient way to reach the four big mid-Michigan metropolitan areas—and reach 'em with a Grade "A" or better signal. You'll reach 'em with a single-station buy. And you'll reach 'em from the inside—Flint, Lansing, Saginaw and Bay City. Come on in for the rich mid-Michigan market with its half-million TV households. The reaching's fine.

a year to keep track of yesterday's music when really we're only concerned with today's and tomorrow's music," says Manager Irv Phillips. "We used to consult the listings in Billboard and Cash Box and do our own guessing. But this too was based largely on the past, on what people had bought. So now we go directly to the listener, through 'Voice Your Choice'."

Record Makers as Sponsors? • Mr. Phillips contends this way gets results faster—that hit records sometimes reach the Top 10 on KDAY before they've made the Top 40 on some other stations relying on sales figures.

KDAYS, incidentally, is one of those stations that have tried to skirt the payola possibility by selling time outright to record companies and letting them program it with their releases. Mr. Phillips hasn't had much success on that score, but he thinks this is because he hasn't had much time to work on it. He still feels it would work if someone took the time to pitch it to major manufacturers.

Hot Cities • What makes a hit is one question. Where hits are made is another, and on this it is possible to get somewhat more specific—though different—answers. One manufacturer says record companies are primarily interested in about 12 key markets "where about 85% of the business is done." He names the 12 (not necessarily in rank order) as Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle. Secondary targets, he says, are in Texas, New York, the Carolinas and Georgia.

Other record makers disagree. Several point out, for example, that "New York is notoriously not one of those markets where hits are made." Some insist that "key" markets change. There also are those who hold that in general—but always with exceptions—markets having 50-kw clear channel stations can usually be regarded as "key."

In addition to restrictions imposed by music specialty, reliance on sales and other systems of selection, many stations also exert specific controls over the relationships between their people and record promoters.

One such is KFWB Los Angeles. Last winter President Purcell sent to record promotion people a letter typical of attitudes expressed by many station executives. After thanking the promoters for "all that you have done in helping the station," the letter spelled out certain operating procedures for the mutual advantage of "both of our businesses":

"1. As you are aware, our program department follows the policy of trying to give every record a fair, impartial hearing. Therefore, while personal contact is most agreeable, it is not necessary and lack of it will not depreciate the opportunity of a good record getting on our list."

"2. In order that we both may function more efficiently, record promotion men must, like other visitors, be excluded from haphazardly wandering into our operational area. They must remain in the lobby until the switchboard operator has contacted the person they are here to see, and then only go into the operational area by invitation of that specific person, complete their business with him and, like any other visitor, leave him to his already rapid-paced broadcast activities.

"3. Mr. Bill Angell [assistant program director] is assigned the duty of receiving all records; and if the promotion man will contact him through the switchboard, he will make arrangements for receiving same."

"4. Chuck Biore [program vp] cannot afford time away from more responsible duties to get into personal evaluation of individual records before they have been screened by Mr. Angel."

"5. After 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, and on Saturday and Sunday, there will be no visitors allowed."

Record Jury • The records that KFWB plays are picked by two systems. The Top 40 are picked according to sales, the rest by a jury of deejays after Mr. Purcell and the music librarian have screened out about 75% of the some 200 sides KFWB gets each week. Many a station uses the same basic system, but the panelists vary. At WMCA New York, for example, station ownership and management, the program department, music librarian and talent all participate in the selection process.

"We spend more time on this than any one other thing," says Vice President-General Manager Stephen L. Labunski who also has introduced at WMCA a telephone-request poll as an additional guide.

Some stations have a smaller "jury" and at many the deejays are given a free rein on some records. KMPC Los Angeles combines these methods. Program Director Bob Forward and the music librarian pick 15 tunes that are played in every four-hour segment for a week, three or four tunes an hour, leaving 10 or 11 releases up to the individual deejay. This, Mr. Forward explains, is designed to give the station continuity (through repetition of the 15 selected tunes) plus personality (as reflected in the choice of other records by the individual deejays). Along with the 15 must-plays the deejays also get a list of singles "you should play" and albums "you should play"—not orders, but instructions. There are, at other stations, variations on the same theme. "If we want to 'payola' stations, one of the most successful independent groups, feels selection is the province of the deejay, and that the management role is to make sure that overall objectives and policies are served intelligently by the music that is chosen. All Storz stations," says Executive VP George W. Armstrong, "attempt to schedule the deejays on no more than one show per day. Thus they are free to spend the balance of their time auditioning records, selecting what will be aired and preparing the material or chatter best fitted to the music. This also allows the deejay an opportunity to showcase his show and talents, and to make a splash in the 'grab and spin' variety of radio performer.'

Deejays at the Knorr station group are given similar latitude within the limits of station policy. But at another major independent group, officials say financial management simply walls them out of all the records." Peter Potter, whose Juke Box Jury used to be a network show and now is taped at KTTV (TV) Los Angeles and syndicated nationally by NTA, takes a different tack on how it should be worked. In his book the deejay should heed management's objections and turn them into 'opportunities'..."

Special precautions The freedom-within-reason approach does not necessarily reflect management's blindness to the possibilities of pressures being applied to get records played (although some operators say they have had no experience with such a thing). Some, like KFWB, go so far as to write anti-payola clauses into their deejays' contracts. But they recognize some benefits along with the dangers, trust their employees to know the difference—and stand ready to fire if the situation gets out of hand.

"With radio so important to the economic success of record companies," says Storz' Mr. Armstrong, "there are naturally going to be some in that industry who will go to great lengths to insure the playing of a record. However, most companies engage only in legitimate public relations with our program directors and personalities. They invite our people to lunch or dinner and in the process sell themselves and their new releases.

"We feel this kind of record company activity is both acceptable and even desirable. However, if the selling process becomes pressure or bribery, we are most emphatically against it. Stations which permit their personnel to be bought are courting disaster—to their audience, their integrity and finally to their pocketbooks. Gift of television sets, expense-paid vacations, boats, cars and what-have-you are clearly as much a bribe as outright cash. Storz' management policy expressly forbids our people from accepting any such gratuities, and we have had virtually no trouble in making it stick."

Small-station problem Even among stations which take the most elaborate precautions against payola there is a feeling that record promoters perform valuable services, aside from the free records they supply. This, of course, does not apply to all stations. Many of the smaller ones don't get even free records, or, as one operator put it, "have to fight like hell to get on the free list.

It is hard for these neglected stations, who usually can least afford to buy their own music, to understand why companies that send out 3,000 copies of a single release can be so blind—or deaf—to the needs of smaller outlets. Don't these stations influence record buyers too? Obviously they do. Their problem has been explored by many experts. Howie Leonard of WLOB Portland, Me., who incidentally calls himself a "musicaster" rather than deejay, could be writing the majority opinion for the little stations when he says that, although he's not a victim of the system himself, it probably could be licked in some fashion such as this:

"Distributors, record companies and publishers: Bring your mailing lists up to date. At least twice a year, send out questionnaires to management for a re-vision of deejay personnel at the station. ... Besides, who needs five copies of a record? Why are records sent to every deejay on the staff? Why not send them to the program director only, and thereby service more stations."

Other services Extra records, not only for broadcast use but in greater quantities when needed, represent one of the "services" that are cited by favored stations and promoters alike. "If we say we like a record and need 10 copies," says a prominent West Coast broadcaster, "they'll get them to us even if it means flying them out from New York." Other testimony indicates that the number could be multiplied and the record companies, if the need and the station were important enough, would still be happy to oblige.

Promoters say that sometimes the situation is reversed and deejays perform a service for them by not playing records. "If they don't like them, they won't play them," says Norman Greer, executive director of advertising and sales promotion for Dot Records. "Friendship helps, but very seldom will a deejay play a record out of friendship if he doesn't think his listeners will like it. And we don't want them to. If the deejays turn down our records we're happy because this lets us know we're on the wrong track and we can change." One recording company executive, it is said, carries this reasoning to the extreme of advising deejays to steer clear of his own records when he thinks they're bad, on the theory that plays alone won't sell a stiff.

Truth is a Virtue One of the promotion "services" mentioned most frequently by broadcasters is one that many people take for granted in any business. "They don't lie" is the tenor of this tribute. The rationale, hard to dispute, is that record pluggers know they would get caught and forevermore be suspect if they let their enthusiasm bruise the truth in promoting a bad record.

Most program men, like the Westinghouse group's Program Manager Bill Kaland, feel that "record people should be welcome at the station. They have ideas on talent and programming, for instance, and when we need an artist for a special appearance they can arrange it or make the introductions for us. They're service people, essentially, and while it's part of their business to get their records played, it's a part of radio's business to play the records it wants to play."

On the same theme, Executive VP Herbert Greenspon of Columbia Records (who finds "some good" and "some bad" practices in the broadcasting and recording business relationship but prefers not to discuss the bad) points out the helpfulness of promotion men in keeping jocks abreast of doings in other markets, supplying background on artists and records for on-air chatter purposes, and otherwise helping the disc-spinners do a better job. To these may be added such diverse and generally undisputed services as contest ideas, promotional material for station use, background reports and personal-appearances arrangements.

One Last Service Buddy Basch, a free-lance promotion man, reviewed these and added a few additional items to the list of promoter services in a speech to the deejay convention in Miami:

"... Service is our business. ... We don't want you fellows to play what you don't like—what doesn't fit your

Leading network television brand advertiser in the second quarter of this year was American Home Products' Anacin tablets with a $2.4 million gross billing. During the first half of this year, gross time billing on the three tv networks totaled $309.3 million compared to $283 million in the same period a year ago.

Statistics on network tv time charges detailing leading advertiser expenditures for June and the second quarters were released Friday (Aug. 28) by Television Bureau of Advertising. Compilations are by Leading National Advertisers and Broadcaster Advertiser Reports (LNA-BAR).

Anacin also was the top network brand advertiser in June, spending nearly $870,000. Chevrolet was second in both the second quarter and in June. Procter & Gamble had three of its products—Tide, Gleem and Crest—in the top 25 brands for the second quarter and in June. Cigarette maker R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. also was a three-product advertiser placing in the top advertiser list in both periods (products: Camels, Winstons and Salesms).

Daytime billing (gross) increased by 34.3% over June 1958 to $16.1 million and January-June charges were up 25.8% over the corresponding period last year to $103.4 million. Nighttime billing increases were 1.8% over June 1958 to $32.2 million and January-June increased 2.5% to $205.8 million.

Renault's radio-tv moves to Kudner Adv.

Kudner Adv., New York, which is recovering gradually but surely from the loss of the $18 million Buick business in mid-1958, last week added the radio-tv portion of the Renault Inc. account effective late September.

The Renault account for 1959 will approximate $5 million and is expected to be enlarged in 1960. The radio-tv portion is expected to account for about 60% of the budget. Needham, Louis & Brorby, Chicago, which has been handling the entire account, will continue as Renault's print agency.

The Renault radio-tv business is the second substantial account to be acquired by Kudner in the past two weeks. Earlier, the agency was named to represent Sylvania Electric Products, whose billing is estimated at $5 million (Broadcasting, Aug. 24).

Jack G. Kent, general sales manager of Renault, said Kudner was selected because of "its extensive experience in the field of automotive advertising." (The agency had handled Buick for 23 years.) Mr. Kent said that both national magazine and tv advertising will be expanded in the October-December period and national radio will be used for the first time. Tv expenditures in this single quarter, he said, will be "greater than for the entire first nine months of this year."

On tv, Renault will sponsor the special 90-minute Ed Sullivan telecast from Moscow over CBS-TV on September 8; a new half-hour western. The Plainsman over NBC-TV, starting Oct. 1 and the 90-minute color special, The Moon and Sixpence, starring Mr. Laurence Olivier, on Oct. 31 over NBC-TV (RCA is a co-sponsor). On radio, Renault will sponsor NBC News on the Hour, a five-minute across-the-board program carried over 185 stations.

Saturday is best day for auto buys—Petry

A 29-market survey completed by Edward Petry & Co., New York, station representative, reveals that Saturday is "overwhelmingly" the best day for new car sales and concludes that auto advertisers should consider this in planning their spot radio drives.

The survey was conducted by personnel of the 29 Petry-represented radio stations. Commented Ben Holmes, vice president in charge of radio for Petry: "An automobile manufacturer can effectively pinpoint his target. Spot radio, with its unique flexibility, has always allowed an automobile advertiser to hit his audience, no matter where it is, whenever he wants—on a market-to-market basis. This study tells him when."

The study indicates that all day Saturday is the best time, followed, in order, by Monday evening after working hours; Friday evening, and in some markets, Thursday evening.

Chevy dealers' tips

A six-point plan designed to help Chevrolet dealers "squeeze more out of their advertising dollar" was outlined by Kevin B. Sweeney, president of RAB, during a talk last week in New Orleans before the Chevrolet School of Merchandising and Management.

Mr. Sweeney's talk spotlighted these recommendations to improve dealers' advertising, especially in radio: assess the ability of advertising media to cover the suburban segment; sell the customers who are the prospects for your make; recognize "the long incubation period of a new car sale" and therefore buy advertising for every-day coverage or at least every-week coverage; recognize that three-quarters of new car purchasers make relatively through advertising; automobile advertisers look to men for a brand decision; auto advertising requires showmanship and attention-getting devices.

Lasting as well as immediate results

The Silver Gate Savings & Loan Assn. of San Diego will challenge the joke that the break for the tv commercial is a signal for the break to the next show, the powder room or other places, where a minute might be better spent.

Silver Gate Advertising Manager Robert D. Anton documented this last week in reporting on the aftermath of a special one-time show carried on KFMB-TV San Diego, Calif., two months ago. The advertiser last June had sought a special vehicle to announce that it was raising its interest rate to depositors to 4 1/2%. An Hour With Andre, starring Academy winner and MGM Musical Director Andre Previn, was presented as a local live spectacular.

"The program produced by the Previn show contributed to a highly successful transfer period for the month of July and the results are still felt," Mr. Anton reported last week. "A large volume of unsolicited mail was received at the office subsequent to the program and in every instance the comments were favorable, leading us to feel that the program also created a great deal of goodwill for Silver Gate with the thousands of viewers who watched the program."

An Hour With Andre represented one of the more ambitious productions of KFMB-TV and the Don Larson Advertising Agency (on behalf of Silver Gate). Scheduled for telecast July 1, Mr. Previn's work at MGM prevented his meeting with other principals in the production until less than three days before airtime. However in just 61 hours, the team rehearsed, staged, blocked and polished the entire one hour live production. Mr. Previn, a pianist in his own right, was the cornerstone of the show that had him perform at the keyboard and as a personality. The program was split in three segments: "The Piano," "Music for Motion Pictures" and "Jazz," the last named built around two pianos and a harpsichord.

The idea was conceived by the Larson agency with KFMB-TV Program Supervisor George Stantis handling station production. The show drew wide local and regional response and, according to the station, there have been inquiries from national clients on sponsorship of the re-runs on tape.
Standing at right is Ted Arnold, WHBF Stations' Sales Manager, a member of the school board, shown in session.

Community leadership by staff people enhances WHBF value—for advertisers

The esteem that WHBF enjoys in its home town community—the Quad-Cities—is deeply rooted. Since 1925 this station has had the advantage of constructive management by community-minded people. In accordance with this philosophy, WHBF has attracted a staff of like quality.

Probably no other organization in the Quad-City area contributes more man hours, on and off the job, to helping and cooperating with every worthwhile project.

The result of such community leadership and participation has accumulated over the years into a tremendous amount of acceptance for WHBF.

This excellent stature, although it cannot be worked into a rate card, is a tangible plus that WHBF advertisers share with us in the Quad-Cities.
RADIO RINGS BELL SAVINGS' BELL

Chicago concern cashes in on two-year broadcast campaign

At the intersection of Monroe and Clark streets in Chicago's Loop is an institution founded nearly 34 years ago to help Illinois Bell Telephone Co. employees save money and provide funds to purchase or build homes. Soon, it opened its doors to the general public. By now, thanks to radio, most Chicagoans know the "Weather Bell Corner" as that of Bell Savings & Loan Assn. Gently persuaded by the aural medium, they have built Bell into the 11th largest organization of its kind in the country.

Perusing this past July 1, Myron H. Fox, its president and one of the 13 original founders, proudly announced Bell had attained the $250 million mark in resources. He credits radio with a major assist the past two years.

Bell Savings allocates about a third of its modest advertising budget to broadcast media (primarily radio), and can point to tangible results in terms of new accounts and dollar value of savings. Among its programs: Mal Bellairs, Mon.-Wed.-Fri., 6-6:15 p.m. and Tues.-Thurs., 9:30-4 a.m., plus weekend participations, all on WBBM radio; John Holtman and the News, Mon.-Fri., 8:25-30 a.m., on WMAQ; Master Works of Music, nightly, Sun. through, 9-10 p.m., WFMT (FM), and Alex Dreier and the News, Mon., Tues., and Thurs., 10-10:10 p.m. on WNBQ (TV).

Until the summer hiatus, Bell also had sponsored rebroadcasts of the Chicago Executives Club luncheons as a public service on WKFM (FM). Because of their wide acceptance, Bell plans to resume sponsorship in September when the group resumes its meetings.

Not New • Local radio-tv personalities has not always been a staple at the Weather Bell Corner. As Mr. Fox explains: "Over the years we had tried radio and tv off and on and found both to be unproductive for us. Two years ago we re-evaluated our advertising program and came up with the impression that we had spread our radio and tv time too thin. Since we have gone into it with both feet, we have been pleased with the results. The effect of radio and tv is cumulative and the secret of its use, we believe, is duration."

Perhaps Bell's most productive "air salesman" is Mal Bellairs, a scholarly and professional looking personality who belies the usual pattern of disc jockeys and virtually lives with his sponsors at CBS's WBBM. He takes the tack that it is "impossible to fool a listener" with a commercial written by someone else without "knowing what you are talking about," and mostly ad lib's all Bell commercials. Explains Mr. Bellairs: "It takes great courage to turn a man loose on an open microphone, both from a sponsor's point of view and from the station's approach. I realized the responsibility, so I set out to become a part of the Bell Savings organization. We have weekly meetings [with Bell and its agency, M. M. Fisher & Assoc.]... The different campaigns are outlined to me and I am left free to develop them in my own way. There is the secret, if it is one... "Our family's savings accounts are at Bell Savings," Mr. Bellairs confides, "it is a matter of mutual confidence from sponsor to WBBM to me. It works."

Well how it works can best be illustrated by this statement made by Bell's Mr. Fox: "Since 1957 when Mr. Bellairs started programing for us, we have received a staggering 8,000 invoices which are directly traceable to his shows." There also have been reportedly over 850 new accounts, with volume in excess of $1 million.

Mr. Fox feels these results are attributable to the close identification between Mr. Bellairs and Bell Savings—viz., people come to Bell and mention specifically they heard about the organization on Mr. Bellairs' shows.

Special offers bring results • When Bell offered a toll road map to listeners, some 800 requests poured in from Bellairs broadcast alone. Another, an offer of tickets to the Chicago International Trade Fair, brought similar results.

Aside from these tangible results, Bell officials are quick to point out that the last two years of radio-tv sponsorship have been those of the greatest growth for Bell Savings & Loan Assn. (Resources jumped over $42 million June, 1958, to June, 1959, alone.) This remarkable growth, it seems to Bell, is "the best proof that this association has enjoyed the confidence of all who have come to us for finer savings services." There is also a realization by Bell on how best to use personalities as "air salesman."

"We believe there are two steps in the utilization of strong personalities in radio and tv," Mr. Fox explains. "The first is awareness on the part of the public that there is an identity between and organization such as ours and personalities like Mal Bellairs, John Holtman, Alex Dreier and others. The second step is the actual bringing of the account to us on the personality's recommendation. If we are correct in these assumptions, it becomes obvious that effective use of radio and tv personalities can only come over a long period and that after 13 weeks you can hardly expect to see results. The motivation to bring one's savings comes from cumulative effect rather than impulse."

Radio would seem to be a fixture at the Weather Bell Corner in Chicago's Loop.

Network radio users first-half '59 surveyed

Food brand advertisers represented 15.6% (or nearly one out of six) of all products advertised on network radio in the first half of 1959.

Food brand dominance (which exists also in network tv) is pointed up in a Radio Advertising Bureau report on network radio's individual brand advertisers January-June. Results released last week included these findings: (1) more than one out of four network advertisers used two or more networks; (2) drug brands took second place as the most-advertised on network radio (13.4% of the total); (3) automotive and toilet requisites followed with respective 10% and 9% of the total.

Other advertiser leaders: publications took 8.2%; detergents - household cleansers, 5.2%; general household products, 5.2%; tobacco, 4.3%; financial, 3.5%; gasoline, 3%.
Music costs studied on tv commercials

The bulk of music produced for tv commercials now falls into the $1,250 to $2,000 per commercial cost range. Next highest range is $750-1,250. Only 10% of the agencies' output of commercials which use music carry a budget of $2,000 or more per commercial.

The data on commercial music comes from Plandome Productions, New York, itself a supplier of music for tv commercials. It got its information by surveying some 100 agency executives. Plandome's breakdown of music costs: 19% of the output in the $250-750 range; 31% at $750-1,250; 40% at $1,250-2,000 and 10% at $2,000 or over.

As to agency staff musical contributions to tv commercials, Plandome reported that agencies say that on the average they supply 60% of the lyrics, 25% of the melodies, 15% of the musical themes and nothing to the arrangements.

Construction: untapped ad source for radio stations

Programs based on construction industry news and interviews with building industry leaders offer an undeveloped revenue source for radio stations, according to Paul Corbin, station relations executive of KSRO Santa Rosa, Calif. A program of this type originated by Mr. Corbin, called Construction News, is sponsored by Calaveras Cement Co., Northern California building supply firm. Stations are KNBC San Francisco, KCRA Sacramento, KFIV Modesto and KSRO.

Calaveras Cement enjoyed a quick spurt in sales in all four areas, Mr. Corbin said, though brand specification normally hasn't been a major factor. Contractors, architects and even individual buyers began specifying the brand, he added.

The idea developed at KSRO in March 1958 and spread to the three other markets though Mr. Corbin said he had used a version of the program in Eureka, Calif., in the 1953-55 period. KSRO's revenue is estimated at more than $10,000 yearly, with the potential ranging upward to $100,000 in larger cities, he said.

The audience for construction programs includes those involved in the programming and those affected by it—real estate people, investors, land speculators, residents in an area where buildings are going up, job seekers, merchants and even curious housewives. The source material comes from local building exchanges, contractors, architects and all groups involved in new construction. Bond issues voted by the public provide news sources.

A weekly quarter-hour offers a workable program pattern, Mr. Corbin said. Spot adjacencies have an appeal to building firms, bonding and insurance companies. In Santa Rosa the adjacencies have been effective in selling expensive swimming pools, he said. The KSRO program was effective in pushing through a school bond issue that had failed on the first ballot.

"Radio has heightened competitive bidding," Mr. Corbin said. "Radio has added prestige to the construction industry. It has helped elevate sub-contractors to general or prime contractors. It has heightened interest in legislative matters, building codes, building design and has given architects an ethical outlet. Indirectly it has been important in providing more jobs.

"Radio men will find that every new building houses a potential new client. The ultimate user of a building benefits from the public acceptance and anticipation created by broadcasts.

"Construction news programs automatically renew annually, are sold at full rate, have simple production formats and offer many tangible extras."

George Di Cesare, manager of North Coast Builders Exchange, Santa Rosa, said the KSRO program has brought "membership, publicity and prestige and the broadcasts have influenced a more receptive attitude on the part of the local newspapers. I feel Construction News is important to the construction industry as well as to the exchanges and radio stations."

The program direction is headquartered at Merchant's Exchange Bldg., San Francisco. Mr. Corbin said plans are under way to expand the series into other West Coast areas. Calaveras Cement recently merged with Flintkote in the East.
Toy push on tv • Structo Mfg. Co., Freeport, Ill., is going all out to promote its children's toy line on television starting next month, with the purchase of two established kid properties—CBS-TV's Captain Kangaroo and the syndicated Ding Dong School (in 100 cities).

Starting Sept. 14 (each for 13 weeks), the toy manufacturer will push the new Little Miss Structo kitchen-laundry ensemble (a replica of the General Electric laundry group), plus seven new live-action toys for boys. It will back up the tv properties with a heavy merchandising campaign, supplying dealers with Structo Land Adventure Book.

• Ampex Corp, Redwood City, Calif., is launching a 52-week stereo campaign for its audio tape recording equipment on am-fm, using two half-hours a week through Lawrence & Ramberg, Palo Alto, Calif. The program titled Ampex Stereo Tape Time is on KNX-AM-FM Los Angeles, with Saturday broadcasts at 9:05-9:30 p.m. and Sunday broadcasts at 10:30-10:55 p.m. A tentative line-up also includes am-fm station combinations in San Francisco, Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis, Dallas, Atlanta, Boston, New York and Philadelphia.

• Mogen David Wines, Chicago, through Edward H. Weiss and Co., Chicago, will sponsor Hobby Lobby on ABC-TV, Wed., 8-8:30 p.m., starting Sept. 30. Cliff (Charley Weaver) Arquette will be starred in the new tv series, produced by Don Kedders Productions with Art Stark as producer.

• General Petroleum Corp., L.A., will use saturation radio, plus television and full color Sunday supplement ads in a fall campaign for Mobilheat in Washington, Oregon and Idaho. Stromberger, La Vene, McKenzie, L.A., is agency placing the three-month campaign, to start Sept. 1 and to use saturation spots on 24 radio stations in 16 markets in the three northwestern states. Tv spots will be broadcast in Seattle, Tacoma and Portland. Color ads in nine Sunday magazine supplements will complement the broadcast media advertising.

• The Bon Ami Co., N.Y., has signed a $1 million contract with NBC-TV for 52-week participation schedule on the Jack Paar Show. The new Bon Ami sponsorship, placed through Cole, Fischer, & Rogow, N.Y. and L.A., signals the return of the advertiser to the ranks of major tv network users. The tv schedule will be augmented by a consumer magazine campaign. Bon Ami cleaners include Jet Spray and two new products now being introduced: All purpose liquid cleaner and Dust-n-Wax furniture cleaner-polisher.

• Hires Bottling Co. of Los Angeles is using a saturation campaign in four media for its “Hires-Dodgers $10,000 Togethertime” contest. All radio-tv commercials, newspaper ads and point-

Night-owl radio pays freight

If "Life's Wonderful" with Spector Freight System these days, it's probably because the motor carrier has been "going by air" in New England — utilizing an unusual approach to radio spot advertising and a "Life's Wonderful" theme.

Since July 1, Spector has been pushing a multi-faceted campaign of post-midnight announcements on WBZ Boston at a relatively modest expenditure in terms of prospects reached. The 52-week radio schedule was launched as an "experiment" and prelude to its $400,000-$500,000 national advertising and sales promotion program. Spector business is placed by Garfield-Lynn, Chicago advertising agency.

For considerably less than 10% of the overall budget, Spector has been running a schedule of spots in conjunction with hourly newscasts on WBZ from midnight to 4 a.m., six times weekly. The agency merely furnishes fact sheets with varied suggested copy approaches to announcer Jim Holt and lets him do the rest. Running throughout is the "Life's Wonderful" credo of the sponsor. ("Life's wonderful because we share our working hours with good people. . . . For a company devoted to the well-being of each of us and our families.")

Sample Night • The schedule is diversified with the following pitches for a given Monday night (Tuesday morning): a company message at midnight, an announcement about Spector's "Life's Wonderful" club at 1 a.m., a drive-safely appeal at 2 a.m., a spot tieing in Spector with New England at 3 a.m. and a general announcement on freight trucking at 4 a.m. On other nights, the sponsor salutes communities in WBZ' coverage area and individual Spector customers.

Why New England as the focal point for the spot drive? Spector pioneered interstate trucking in 1932, stressing its geographical bounds from New England to the Midwest. New England is considered a key market in the overall sales program.

Milton S. Garfield, president of the agency, reports the radio campaign may be expanded, depending on current results and circulation demands. The agency feels "night-time radio offers an excellent value" and that its client may try for "complete saturation and identification" in New England as a starter. Radio already has proven itself effective, said Mr. Garfield.

Val J. Williams, vice president in charge of marketing at Spector, described the new 12-month national advertising campaign as "the largest and most integrated" his company has ever conducted. Radio led the way nearly two months ago and probably will be extended to other key cities and area markets.
Mountain low. Valley high.

Wade through small mountains of data. Bounce your eyeballs on charts. Sort, sift and select. Check ratings. Check markets. Check population characteristics.

Investigate buying habits, merchandising aids, adjacencies. Count noses, eyeteeth, ears. Figure costs per m, costs per gross and miles per hour.

We could save you a lot of trouble. There's a valley high in everything but altitude. There's a tv station in that valley (whose signal leaps off a mountain 3934 ft. high) named WSLS-TV. With full power of 316,000 watts on Channel 10, a healthy assist from NBC, and strong local programming, that station welds a 58-county area into the greater Roanoke market of 448,001 tv homes.

* Also in advertising

- Freberg Ltd., Los Angeles, whose radio and tv commercials for Butter-Nut coffee have received nationwide recognition and awards in virtually every advertising competition of the past two years, has been signed to produce four new one-minute radio spots and two new jingles for Butter-Nut, fifth renewal of its contract with Paxton & Gallagher Co., Omaha, maker of Butter-Nut. D’Arcy Adv. Co., St. Louis, agency for Butter-Nut advertising west of the Mississippi, will use the new Freberg spots this fall in connection with the introduction of the coffee into the San Francisco market.
- Pressure of increased production at Warner Bros. Studios, Burbank, Calif., has necessitated new arrangements for the filming of tv commercials. The increase in studio activity, both in major feature production and in tv division expansion has required transfer of some filmed tv commercial production activities to General Service Studios, according to E. L. DePatie, Warner Bros. vp and Martin Ransohoff, president of Filmways Inc. with which Warner Bros. has a commercial-production agreement.
- Ford Motor Co. will utilize two-way closed-circuit television, incorporating both video tape and live tv techniques, for a nationwide news conference Sept. 2 to unveil its new Falcon “economy” automobile.
- The Advertising Council, industry-wide public service organization, will have its story told on network television. A special 30-minute program, which will explain the aims and accomplishments of the group, is set for CBS-TV on Sept. 27 (5:30-6 p.m. EDT) under the title “The Sword and the Quill.”

Since the Advertising Council was founded at the start of World War II to provide information and build public morale in the war effort, it has used all media to aid hundreds of other public service projects.

Prepared by the Public Affairs Dept. of CBS News, the program will have Fred Freed as producer, Craig Fisher as associate producer and John G. Fuller as director.
Telechrome brings to TV broadcasters a vastly improved system for producing a wide variety of dramatic wipes, inserts, keying and other special effects. Radio stations are currently enjoying the best local-business year in history. Local sales are running 8 to 10% ahead of those for 1958, and in addition stations are saving "hundreds of thousands of dollars" on office expenses through mechanization and automation of log-keeping.

This report, on the heels of other estimates that spot radio volume in 1959 would exceed 1958's by at least 7% (BROADCASTING, Aug. 24), is being released today (Aug. 31) by Radio Advertising Bureau. It is based on an RAB-member survey whose complete results will be detailed at RAB's Fourth Annual Regional Management conferences, which open Sept. 2 at Princeton, N.J.

President Kevin B. Sweeney said other findings, among more than 120 derived from the survey, indicated that stations are spending 30% more on programming this year than last (the extra money is going chiefly into news, authorities said) and that they're finding new sources of sales personnel (with 50% recruited from outside the radio industry). The eight RMC meetings also will be given results of RAB surveys of (1) timebuying practices at 210 agencies in 23 cities and (2) operational practices at 300 well-managed companies outside the radio field. The latter, adapting tips to radio management, is an addition to the RMC format, which otherwise is divided into three segments designed to boost sales and profits: Programming promotion, sales management and station management. The conferences will be directed by Mr. Sweeney, Vice President Miles David and Warren Boorum, and Managers Robert Nietenman and Pat Reaume of the RAB Member Service Div.

NBC Radio to seek new musical identity

An overall network music policy designed to create a musical identity that will be specifically NBC Radio's was approved by the network's Program Managers Advisory Committee last Thursday at its first meeting.

Details of the policy were not immediately disclosed. Officials said it would be submitted, along with plans for greater integration of NBC Radio's program schedule with those of its affiliates, to all NBC stations for their approval.

Next meeting of the advisory group, which is headed by Albert L. Capstaff, vice president in charge of NBC Radio programs, will be held on an as yet undetermined date after the mid-November general meeting of all NBC affiliates.

Committeemen on hand for last week's meeting, held in New York, included Chairman Capstaff and the following station program managers: Herman K. Clark, WBAP Fort Worth; Bill Cornelius, WJBO Baton Rouge, WREX Wausau, Wis.; User, WRC Washington, D.C.; Frank Calmes, WBGW Cleveland; Scotty Semple, WOR New York; John Robb, WINS New York; and Hal Adkins, WBBM Chicago.

Mutual executives start clinics’ round

Mutual radio network executives will go on the road beginning next month for a series of eight clinics with station owners across the country. The first, at Atlanta's Dinkler-Plaza Hotel Sept. 9, will be with owners from Georgia, Florida, North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama and Arkansas. Heading the swing for Mutual is Board Chairman Chester H. Ferguson and President Robert F. Hurleigh. The meetings will be the first of Mutual's new management with affiliates following the Sept. 2 date when the network is to be freed from court control following its bankruptcy (BROADCASTING, Aug. 24). The clinics are designed to find out what the affiliates want from the network and to offer suggestions for increased sales utilizing Mutual's program service. Morning roundtable sessions will discuss ways to use MBS material in building a station's local image. Afternoon meetings will explore ways to increase sales through the station's own promotion campaigns. Another feature will be a four-man panel of station executives from other parts of the country. A two-hour question and answer session will close the clinics.

Other Mutual executives making the tour will include Albert Gregory McCarthy III, son of the new Mutual backer, Albert Gregory McCarthy Jr. and secretary-treasurer of the network; Charles Godwin, stations vice president; Stuart McCormick, director of Washington operations; Frank Erwin, assistant to the president, and Victor C. Diehm, chairman of the Mutual Affiliates Advisory Committee.

Bell blasts bans on radio-tv news

Bans on broadcast coverage of public proceedings are interfering with the public's right to know the facts, Howard H. Bell, NAB assistant to the president, said Saturday (Aug. 29) in an address to the West Virginia Broadcasters Assn. (see story, page 81).

This restriction on reporting of current history continues in a period of rapid changes and complexity when the public must make informed judgments on critical issues, he said. The enormous growth of government "has resulted in the all-too-frequent use of the prepared statement and the press release as a means of keeping the public informed on governmental matters," he added, calling for removal of limitations on broadcast reporting of the news at local, state and national proceedings.

"The most important service of radio and television today is in the area of news and information," Mr. Bell said, calling news the "backbone of a broadcast station's operation." He contended news responsibility "involves not only objective reporting of the news but firsthand digging and probing in the gathering of news. It is in this latter area that we must constantly improve our efforts. It is also the area in which our freedom is most greatly impaired."

Mr. Bell voiced hope the current trend to editorializing by stations "will do much to shed light on important community and national issues."

Tv safety plugs free, state cash spurned

Two Providence, R.I., stations have refused to accept paid advertising from the State of Rhode Island to promote highway safety, contending such announcements should be free.

The stations—WICE and WPRO-TV—in on-the-air editorials expressed their opposition to the handling of what have normally been public service announcements as commercial campaigns.

Joseph P. Doughtery, WPRO-TV general manager, stated that over the weekend in question (Aug. 14-16), his station provided, without cost, spots valued at $4,400. He suggested that rather than purchasing advertising time or space, the state should use money set aside for promoting highway safety to provide professional materials and copy keyed to specific local traffic situations.

Mr. Doughtery said, the state "can present messages that are more meaningful because they point up hazardous practices and conditions particular to Rhode Island."

WICE in its editorial, said that the state sets aside approximately $60,000 yearly from motor vehicle inspection fees for "promotional" purposes on safe driving. It suggested the state apply these funds "to a decent system of driver education" to produce a "better crop of young drivers."

Other stations, according to Milton E. Miller, president of the Rhode Island State Broadcasters Assn., felt justified in accepting payment for the announcements. He said the paid-for spots were scheduled in prime time, rather than the normal run-of-schedule insertions given public service announcements. He contended that such scheduling provides a more effective campaign.

Fern & Assocs., Providence, handled the campaign.

WBRC-TV, WBIQ (TV) to share new tower

WBRC-TV Birmingham, Ala., is constructing a $250,000 tower. It will be shared by noncommercial-educational WBIQ (TV) there. Antenna and transmission line are donated by the Alabama Educational Television Commission. At the ground-breaking (see picture) were Raymond Hurlbert, general manager of the e.tv commission; Robert Schlinkert, WBRC-TV general manager, and Rep. George Huddleston Jr. (D-Ala.).

The 1,120-ft. tower, going up adjacent to WBRC-TV studios, is slated for completion in October. WBRC-TV's ch. 6 coverage will be extended in the 50 counties it serves. WBIQ will gain 250,000 viewers with the new tower. The ch. 10 outlet will offer classes to 60,000 students in public schools.
MORE NEWS RESEARCH NEEDED

CBS' Stanton suggests all-media cooperation

Journalism in this country ought to be researched thoroughly to see how well it is “doing its job in terms of reader and audience interest, absorption and retention of the news.”

The suggestion came last week from Dr. Frank Stanton, CBS president, in a speech Friday (Aug. 28) before the annual convention of the Assn. for Education Journalism at the U. of Oregon.

Dr. Stanton said CBS would be willing to support as well as cooperate with such a study providing it was “well defined and responsibly conducted.” He saw the research program as an all-media effort—“we should suspend rivalries for this purpose.”

“An all-media effort—"we should suspend rivalries for this purpose.""

The purpose, he said, would be to "find out how well we are doing, what kind of rapport we have with our audiences, how effective—day in and day out, not just throughout emergencies— we are."

In his speech to educators in the journalism field, Dr. Stanton suggested that “we [news media] break more rules, become more experimental.”

The Keeping Up • He warned that the science and art of communications lag far behind “this new load [increasing complexity of information] put upon them.” And the “accelerated speed with which things of major importance are happening all over the world is far out-pacing the ability of the busy men and women of modern life to keep up with them, to assimilate them.”

Dr. Stanton emphasized it was necessary to “staff ourselves” in order to “use more originality, more imaginativeness, to get the interest of our audiences and to hold it.” He thought it “startling” that “for all the power of television as a reporting medium” an estimated third of the tv stations in the nation “have no news staff at all.” He called it “an incredible commentary on the failure of many of us to rise to new opportunities to create a better informed electorate.”

CBS, Dr. Stanton pointed out, though aware that “there will never be a final answer to what constitutes an adequate news program,” budgets more than $15 million per year for news programming. And this, despite the fact that news is not “quantitatively our major business.” He explained how CBS has sought to probe background information as opposed to “hard news,” noting as an example the network’s plan for CBS Reports, a series of hour-long, background news programs in prime evening time starting this fall.

Radio audience still shades tv — Sindlinger

Radio listening continued to top tv viewing throughout the month of July and into the first two weeks of August, according to a special report from Sindlinger & Co., Ridley Park, Pa., made available last week to the Radio Advertising Bureau.

The pronunciation from Sindlinger indicates that a trend, begun in early July, is continuing. At that time Sindlinger stated that for the first time in two years, the total radio audience surpassed the total tv audience in the first three weeks of July (Broadcasting, Aug. 10). The latest report shows that for the week ending July 30 the radio audience averaged 78.9 million (12 years and older) and the tv audience averaged 77 million. In the week ending Aug. 6, according to Sindlinger, 62 percent of respondents said they had listened to radio and 60.4 percent reported they had watched tv. In the week ending Aug. 13, radio’s audience was placed at 61.7 percent of the sample and tv’s audience at 39.8 percent.

Alfred E. Sindlinger, president of the research company, said the radio-over-tv trend should continue until the end of August. Sindlinger figures are based on a sample of 22,500 persons living in 287 U.S. counties.

Changing hands

Announced • The following sales of station interests were announced last week, subject to FCC approval:

- KVOA-TV Tucson, Ariz., KOAT-TV Albuquerque, N.M.: Merger of two stations with ownership changes and other minor adjustments. KVOA-TV had been owned by Clinton D. McKinnon, Barnard Weinberg, Arthur A. Desler and Harold A. Garfield, each 25%, while Mr. McKinnon had been sole owner of KOAT-TV. Under merger agreement both outlets are to be owned 40% by Mr. McKinnon and 20% each by Messrs. Weinberg, Desler and Garfield. KVOA-TV is on ch. 4 and is affiliated with NBC-TV. KOAT-TV is on ch. 7 and is affiliated with ABC-TV.

- WDOT Burlington, Vt.: Sold by Val Carter, owner-general manager, and State Sen. Frederick Fayette, to Fortune Pope, owner of WHOM New York, for $140,000. Mr. Carter will continue to manage station. Sale was handled by Blackburn & Co. WDOT is on 1400 kc with 250 w.

- WIPS Ticonderoga, N.Y.: Sold by Olean Broadcasting Corp. (Donald W. Merriman, president) to Bernard H. Pelzer Jr. for $85,000. Mr. Pelzer is administrative director of Radio Press International. Broker: Paul H. Chapman Co. WIPS is on 1250 kc with 1 kw. day.

Dual Mich. sale fails

Negotiations for the sale of WGRD Grand Rapids and WTRU Muskegon, both Michigan, by Music Broadcasting Co. to William H. Rich and Alistair Bradley Martin for $500,000 plus assumption of liabilities (as reported in Broadcasting, Aug. 24) was turned down last week by stations’ stockholders. Stockholders reportedly voted unanimously not to sell either station.

Newhouse acquisition

S.I. Newhouse, newspaper publisher and station group owner, has moved further into the magazine publishing field. Last March, he acquired a controlling interest in Conde Nast Publications Inc. (Glamour, House & Garden, Vogue and Vague Pattern Book). The new transaction reported last week involves a $3.5 million deal acquiring Street & Smith Publications Inc. (Charm, Mademoiselle, Living for Young Homemakers, sports annuals, science fiction and hobby magazines, among others). Immediate effect is an expected combination of Charm with Glamour, the magazine retaining the latter name. Mr. Newhouse’s broadcast properties include WSYR-AM-FM-TV Syracuse, N.Y.; WAPI, WAFM (FM) and WABT (TV) Birmingham, Ala.; WPTA (TV) Harrisburg, Pa.; and interests in KOIN-AM-FM-TV Portland, Ore. and KTVI (TV) St. Louis.

Tv, newspapers tie in politics news race

Television and newspapers rank equally as the public’s first choice for political news, according to a survey conducted in Wayne County, Mich., by Prof. Samuel Eldersveld, U. of Michigan political scientist.

Conducted in cooperation with the university’s Detroit Area Study, the survey showed 38% get most of their political information from tv and 38% from newspapers. Naked was named first choice by 9%. The study indicated that almost half those contacted followed the 1956 campaign on tv at least once a week, with 7% watching every day, 12% almost every day and 27% once or twice a week; 37% followed the campaign only infrequently on tv and 17% never watched it on their sets.

Prof. Eldersveld said candidates using tv are able to reach many people “not predisposed toward their particular party.” In Detroit, 48% reported watching both parties on tv. He described tv as “terribly important” in reaching lower economic groups, the less formally educated and lower-prestige occupational classes. He added that newspapers are still “very important” as a source of information, 9 out of 10 Detroiters reading at least one major newspaper daily, 25% two papers and 5% all three local papers.

Of those interviewed, only 43% realized their newspapers supported Eisenhower editorially during the 1956 campaign, according to Prof. Eldersveld. A third felt the papers were editorially neutral and 4% erroneously felt the papers supported Stevenson.

Stations get behind Kluge tax proposal

Stations in the Metropolitan Broadcasting Co. group are giving impetus to a proposal made at a news conference a fortnight ago by John W. Kluge, Metropolitan president, who called for the elimination of federal income taxes paid by all U.S. teachers and by parents of college students. The importance of such legislation, Mr. Kluge said, would result in raising the economic and social status of teachers and put the U.S. in a better position to meet the challenge of Russia's educational advancements.

Mr. Kluge called on the broadcasting industry to support the tax relief proposals with the same skills it uses to get behind other national aims, such as safety on the highways or slum clearance. Impressed by the attitude and scholarship of Russian youth, Mr. Kluge warned that their purposefulness should be reason enough for the U.S. to raise the status of teachers.

He announced that the Metropolitan stations in New York, Washington and Cleveland would campaign for the proposals in their commercials, station break announcements and in special programs.

7-11 p.m. is listener peak for Texas fm

Peak listening hours for fm stations are between 7-11 p.m., a variation from the prevailing daytime peaks of am stations, according to a survey of Texas fm conducted by Roderick E. Kennedy, owner-manager of KHFI (FM) Austin.

Problems of fm operators in Texas will be discussed at a meeting to be held Oct. 17-19 at Driskill Hotel, Austin, according to Mr. Kennedy. Topics include sales, agency relations, promotion of set sales, rate cards, multiplexing and public service.

The Kennedy survey, covering 22 of 30 Texas stations polled (12 independents, 10 am-tv affiliated), shows programming that covers the full range of musical selections, with only one station predominantly classical. Popular, standard jazz, and show tunes comprised the heaviest share of programming.

Texas fm stations have few national accounts, it was shown. Nine reported they have no national business; one had four national accounts, one had three and two reported one account. Highest sponsorship ratio was 85%, reported by one station affiliated with an am or tv outlet. Among independents the highest sponsorship ratio was 65% of the schedule; five reported they were sponsored 50% or better.

Eight stations publish program guides, five doing it free and three charging a subscription fee ranging from $1 to $3 a year, according to the survey. Seven stations reported they broadcast no news and five have no weather reports. Four outlets carry am-fm stereo and two carry stereo via fm fm multiplex. Fifteen stations reported plans for multiplexing activity—10 for background service, four stereo and one both background and stereo. Most fm stations reported they do not have comprehensive audience survey reports.
Use radio-tv for pr

Attention was directed to the use of local radio and television in putting over a public relations program in a keynote address by Arthur Hull Hayes, CBS Radio president, at last week's communications seminar of the National Catholic Welfare Conference. Mr. Hayes spoke Friday (Aug. 28) at Manhattan College in New York. "To think only in terms of newspapers is to place false limits on any 'pr' task," Mr. Hayes commented.

Mr. Hayes also presided over a panel on general religious broadcast programming. Participants included John Driscoll, radio-tv production supervisor at BBDO; William R. McAndrew, vice president for NBC news and public affairs; Maury Robinson, staff writer on Today (NBC-TV); Frank Shakespear, vice president-general manager, WCBS-TV New York, and Jean Colbert, WTIC-TV Hartford.

OFFICIAL AD BANS CRITICIZED

Feemster warns bar group encroachments affect public's right to be informed

Government entry into the field of advertising restrictions is "an encroachment on the public's right to be informed," the American Bar Assn. was told Tuesday at its Aug. 24-27 convention in Miami, Fla., by Robert M. Feemster, chairman of the executive committee, Dow Jones & Co., and past chairman of the Advertising Federation of America.

Referring to a recent ruling by the Internal Revenue Service in which much of the institutional advertising by electric power companies was held not tax-deductible as a business expense, Mr. Feemster challenged the right of the government to interfere with legitimate business activities or other freedoms.

The ABA's annual convention bypassed a topic of keen interest to broadcasters—the long-range effort to have its Canon 35 ban against courtroom pickups eliminated from the ABA code of ethics. Canon 35 entered the proceedings at one point—an oral statement by Whitney North Seymour of New York, 1960 president-elect and chairman of an ABA special Canon 35 committee.

Preliminary Look • Mr. Seymour reported last Thursday to the House of Delegates, ABA ruling body, on the committee's Canon 35 studies. Citing the history of ABA-media relations, he said the group plans to meet with broadcast and other media representatives in September to consider a request to conduct a preliminary study of the problem through a foundation grant.

The Seymour committee was created a year ago by ABA "to try to get fresh light on whether there is need to change Canon 35," the chairman reported at Miami. "It was evident from the observation by members of the committee and such recent developments as the poll of the members of the American College of Trial Lawyers, that such a poll merely would show that a large majority of the bar favors the present canon, a fact already known," Mr. Seymour said.

"The committee considered the possibility of having volunteer lawyers observe trials when media are present and gather the views of participants," he continued, but explained the idea ran into obstacles and the group decided "to defer any amateur investigations."

In a search for "the real facts," the committee felt a joint bar-media effort was desirable. A committee-media meeting May 22 led to an agreement the idea should be investigated (Broadcasting, May 25). Since that time, Mr. Seymour reported, the idea of a preliminary study has been approved by NAB, Radio-Television News Directors Assn., Radio-Television Correspondents Assn., Radio-Newsreel-Working Press Assn., National Editorial Assn., and National Press Photographers Assn.

Newspapers Afoot • American Newspaper Publishers Assn. and American Society of Newspaper Editors "have declined to participate but have disclosed their interest in following progress," he explained. He added, "the media have complained in the past that the bar has dealt with Canon 35 without according them due process. The committee has assured them that, however the present exploration turns out, the committee will not reach a final decision or report without giving the media full opportunity to present their views." The House of Delegates renewed the Seymour committee for another year.

In his indictment of federal restrictions against advertising, Mr. Feemster said the nation needs right-to-advertise laws, both federal and state. These laws would specifically prohibit "curbs to the right of any legitimate company to inform the public, and the public's right to be informed," he said, recalling that Ohio is the first state to enact such legislation (Broadcasting, Aug. 17). The Ohio bill becomes effective Nov. 1, he noted, "removing a great and constant harassment to legitimate Ohio businesses."

Six Official Gags • Mr. Feemster cited these devices by which city, state and federal government agencies can now "put gags in our mouths and cotton in our ears:
• Internal Revenue Service ruling against advertising as legitimate, tax-deductible business expenses.
• Denial of the right to deduct dealers' advertising allowances prior to reckoning the base for manufacturers' excise taxes.
• Discriminatory municipal and state taxes on advertising.
• State prohibitions forbidding members of certain legitimate businesses or professions to advertise their services.
• Harsh restrictions on billboard advertising located on highways built with federal or joint federal and state funds.
• Continuous and increasing postal rate discrimination against the advertising content of newspapers and magazines.

Mr. Feemster said, "I do not believe that we, the people of the United States, want to assign the right to the tax collectors to serve as a board of censorship over what we may say, write or advertise."

TV Can Help • In his Aug. 24 address to the ABA Law and the Layman Conference, Erwin D. Canham, editor of The Christian Science Monitor and president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, suggested television could revitalize public interest in the judicial process.

Telecasts showing scenes "of actual courts in operation" were advocated by Mr. Canham. He said, "the popularity of dramatic scripts with a courtroom setting, such as employed in the Perry Mason and Mr. District Attorney shows and some others—would suggest that a substantial audience might be recruited...

"We cannot afford cobwebbed corners in the structure of our judicial system which are judged by these corners. If we can find ways and means to increase our national respect for judicial procedure by building respect for those laws which cover the most minor offenses, we will have gone a long way toward the creation of respect for law in general—and our national viewpoint will be heeded—where it is needed most."

Double Trouble • Federal regulatory agencies are trying to do the impossible by serving as policy-making tribunals as well as administrators, ABA was told by Louis J. Hester, member of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

"The basic premise is wrong," he said, in describing how CAB FCC and other agencies are "both Congress and the courts." He added, "administrators and judges have such completely different codes of ethics that a commissioner who tries to act like a judge is accused of trying to regulate in an ivory tower, while one who tries to act like an administrator is accused of becoming too friendly with the litigants."

Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark), chairman of the House Commerce Committee, reviewed the investigation of independent agencies by the Legislative Oversight Subcommittee. He said the Commerce Committee plans to hold hearings in the near future on legislation "which will substantially contribute to the improvement of the administration of law by commissions."

WTVR(TV) to CBS in Richmond changes

CBS-TV and WRVA-TV Richmond are terminating their affiliation on May 29, 1960, according to an announcement to be released today (Aug. 31) by Carl S. Ward, CBS-TV vice president in charge of affiliate relations and C.T. Lucy, president of Richmond Television Corp., owner of WRVA-TV.

Mr. Ward said WTVR (TV) Richmond, licensed to Havens & Martin Inc., and operating on ch. 6 has agreed to become a CBS-TV affiliate on May 30, 1960. Mr. Lucy stated that WRVA-TV did not want to disclose its network plans at this time. (WTVR at present is an ABC-TV outlet.)

$10.7 million revenue for Meredith radio-tv

For the second year in a row, revenue of the Meredith Publishing Co.'s broadcast properties exceeded $10 million, in the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1959. Revenue in 1959 was $10,771,057, up from 1958's $10,514,762.

Also for the second year in the company's history, total revenue was over $50 million. This year's revenue of $51,817,401 was up 4.2% from last year's $49,710,636. The firm's peak year of $53 million was in 1957.

Net earnings in 1959 were $4,255,-770, ($3.28 a share), up from last year's $3.8 million, ($2.97 a share).

Meredith broadcast properties are KCMO-AM-FM-TV Kansas City, Kan.; KPHO-AM-TV Phoenix, Ariz.; WOW-AM-TV Omaha, Neb.; WHEN-AM-TV Syracuse, N.Y. and KRMG Tulsa, Okla.

No breakdown of revenue by individual stations is available, according to a Meredith spokesman.

Media reports

• WLUK-TV Marinette, Wis., moved almost a half-million dollars of equipment from its old transmitter site near Oconto, Wis., to its new site near Green Bay, in one overnight operation, the ch. 11 outlet has reported. There was no program interruption, according to WLUK-TV, which recently increased its power from 234 kw to the maximum 316 and constructed a new tower 1050 ft. above average terrain. WLUK-TV, prior to August 24, had been identified as WMBV-TV.

• WTMJ-AM-TV Milwaukee is installing a weather radar system, according to George Comte, vp and general manager. The unit, and adaptation of radar systems used aboard airliners, will offer accurate short range weather forecasts by pin-pointing storms within a 150 mile radius. A special device will also determine the intensity of the disturbance as well as its exact location.

• Construction has begun on a new building for WPAT Paterson, N.J., at the station's transmitter site at Clifton, N.J., it was announced last week by Dickens J. Wright, president of WPAT. He estimated the cost of the structure at $250,000. It is scheduled for completion in late winter.

• ABC Surveys Inc., N.Y. (affiliate of ARB), formerly located at 201 E. 57th St., has moved its office to 11 W. 42nd St.

• WANN Annapolis, Md., on 1190 kc, increased its power to 10 kw Aug. 25. The station has constructed a new studio and transmitter building.

• New and enlarged headquarters in Austin have been set up by Texas Assn. of Broadcasters, with Bonner McLane, of Winn-McLane Assoc., Austin agency, as executive secretary. W. R. Peck will assist Mr. McLane in operating TAB's information, legislative and public service activities. Shirley Austin, former TAB office manager, has joined the U. of Texas radio-tv department. TAB's address is 1004 International Life Bldg., Austin.

WSB Radio audience grows by 23.4%

Latest radio audience measurement in this market by Nielsen shows a fine bonus for WSB advertisers. Average increase, per quarter-hour, Monday through Friday, is 23.4%.

Highest increase is in the 9 a.m. to 12 noon time block—up 38.2%. Nighttime increases also are splendid — up 18.7% in the 6 to 9 p.m. period and up 10.7% in the 9 to 12 midnight block, Monday through Friday.

Two major factors account for these increases: (1) population growth in the WSB Radio market and (2) WSB Radio’s knowledge of how to program for the people in this area. Certainly your advertising in Atlanta belongs on WSB Radio.

BROADCASTING, August 31, 1959
Final approval of an amendment to the political broadcasting law will be before Congress again this week as Senate-House conference last Wednesday (Aug. 26) agreed on compromise language to bills already passed.

The amendment to Sec. 315 of the Communications Act will be brought before the House first, probably Wednesday (Sept. 2), according to the leadership. It exempts from equal time demands any "bona fide newscasts, bona fide news interview, bona fide news documentary [and] on-the-spot coverage of bona fide news events. . . ." (For full text, see below.)

Trouble waters still face the bill, however. "I buy none of it," said Rep. John Moss (D-Calif.), only member of the 12-man conference committee who refused to sign the joint report. He promised to do "everything I can" to defeat the bill on the House floor after the conference had adopted more liberal exemptions from the Senate bill in favor of his own language in the House amendment (Broadcasting, Aug. 24).

The conference language reminds the FCC and broadcasters of obligations to operate in the public interest, but not in the controversial language put in the Senate bill by Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) (Broadcasting, Aug. 3). It also provides for a continuing study of Sec. 315 of the Communications Act and charges the FCC with making annual reports to Congress. The original Senate bill included language for such an investigation but limited to three years.

Examples Mentioned • Although no shows were mentioned by name, the conferees made it clear that such news interview shows as Face the Nation (CBS-TV) and Meet the Press (NBC-TV) would be exempt from equal time under language of the bill.

A second important concession for broadcasters in the conference bill was the exclusion of the requirement, as contained in the House bill, that a candidate's appearance must be "incidental to the presentation of the news" before a show would be exempt from equal time. The "incidental" stipulation was left in the bill only in relation to news documentaries.

It was on these two points that Rep. Moss made exception — and several other congressmen are known to see eye-to-eye with his views. "I would rather vote for an outright repeal of Sec. 315 because I regard this (bill) as being a legal sanction to discriminatory practices which could be prejudiced in the extreme in the presentation of political views to the American people."

No Political Advantage • In a separate conference report, the 11-man majority said that in order to be considered "bona fide," a news interview must be regularly scheduled program with the content, format and participants determined by the station or network. The report said "bona fide" was included in the bill to "emphasize the intention to include the exemptions from the equal time requirement to cases where the appearance of a candidate is not designed to serve the political advantage of that candidate."

Signing the report were Sens. John Pastore (D-R.I.), Mike Monroney (D-Okl.), Strom Thurmond (D-S.C), Hugh Scott (R-Pa.), Cliftord Case (R-N.J.), and Reps. Oren Harris (D-Ark.), Walter Rogers (D-Tex.), John J. Flynn (D-Ga.), John Bennett (R-Mich.), J. Arthur Younger (R-Calif.) and William Avery (R-Kan.).

If the conference bill is passed by both the House and Senate, it then will go to the President for his signature. He already has indicated that he will sign the bill into law by calling the FCC's Lar Daly decision "ridiculous" (Broadcasting, March 23). In that decision the Commission ruled that Mr. Daly was entitled to equal time after his opponents for mayor of Chicago had been shown briefly on regularly-scheduled newscasts.

Text of the conference approved bill:

That sec. 315(a) of the Communications Act of 1934 is amended by inserting at the end thereof the following sentence: Appearance by a legally qualified candidate on any—

(1) bona fide newscast,
(2) bona fide news interview,
(3) bona fide news documentary (if the appearance of the candidate is incidental to the presentation of the subject or subjects covered by the news documentary), or
(4) on-the-spot coverage of bona fide news events (including but not limited to political conventions and activities incidental thereto), shall not be deemed to be use of a broadcasting station within the meaning of this subsection. Nothing in the foregoing sentence shall be construed as relieving broadcasters, in connection with the presentation of newscasts, news interviews, news documentaries, and on-the-spot coverage of news events, from the obligation imposed upon them under this Act to operate in the public interest and to afford reasonable opportunity for the discussions of conflicting views on issues of public importance.

Sec. 2. (a) The Congress declares its intention to reexamine from time to time the amendment to section 315(a) of the Communications Act of 1934 made by the first section of this act to ascertain whether such amendment has proved to be effective and practicable.

(b) To assist the Congress in making its re-examinations of such amendment, the Federal Communications Commission shall include in each annual report it makes to Congress a statement setting forth (1) the information and data used by it in determining questions arising from or connected with such amendment, and (2) such recommendations as it deems necessary in the public interest.

26-second imbalance in S.F. equal time

KRON-TV San Francisco has discovered that its political "equal time books" in the San Francisco mayor's race are out of balance—by exactly 26 seconds.

When candidate Russell L. Wolden demanded time to answer incumbent Mayor George Christopher, a candidate for re-election, KRON-TV found the 26 second discrepancy. Mayor Christopher was allotted 48 seconds (on silent film) last March 18 when he announced for re-election.

Then, April 17, candidate Christopher was shown for eight seconds greeting Giant pitcher Sam Jones (on silent film) on the City Hall steps.

But, candidate Wolden was only shown for 30 seconds (on silent film) when he filed for mayor last Feb. 18. So, in accordance with Sec. 315, KRON-TV General Manager Harold P. See has invited Mr. Wolden to contact Program Manager Doug Elleson "... to arrange suitable equal opportunity for access to our visual facilities."

Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), also will be up for consideration.

As originally introduced, the Moss-Murray bill (1) authorizes FCC to license vhf boosters constructed without Commission sanction, (2) removes rule that licensed operator must be on duty when broadcast station is on the air and (3) requires catv systems to get the permission of a station before rebroadcasting its signal.

The proposed committee amendment rewrites the first two provisions and deletes the requirement that catv get a station's permission to repeat its programs—a provision sought by broadcasters.

Sen. Monroney's bill, as now drafted, defines catv and places such systems under FCC regulation. The amendment to be considered goes far beyond Sen. Monroney's original intent.

Big changes • It (1) spells out that catv is a broadcasting service and not a common carrier, (2) puts the systems under direct FCC regulation and broadcasting provisions of Communications Act with grants to be made under "public interest convenience and necessity" criteria, (3) provides that at local station's request, catv must carry signals of that station, (4) prohibits catv from duplicating within one week, programs of local station through rebroadcast of signals of second station, (5) contains "grandfather" clause licensing all existing catv systems and (6) prohibits the use of catv for pay tv.

The proposed amendment to the Monroney bill also contains this paragraph: "Either prior to or within 30 days after the grant of an application for a license or a renewal thereof for a community antenna television system which was in operation on the date of the enactment of this section, the licensee of a tv station assigned to a community in which such catv system serves subscribers may petition the Commission to include in such license such conditions on the catv's operation as will significantly facilitate the continued operation of a television station which is providing the only available locally originated television broadcast service."

The amendments were sent to committee members last Wednesday and Thursday (Aug. 26-27) for their study and were not released publicly. Some senators complained they did not receive the amendments in time to thoroughly analyze them and also that no opportunity has been given to get the reactions of industry, attorneys and the public.

The Communications Subcommittee, headed by Sen. John O. Pastore (D-R.I.), held several days of hearings on the two bills in June and July (Broad-

Montana Microwave stay upheld by court

The FCC's order to Montana Microwave to shut down its microwave operation granted several months earlier—pending Commission disposal of a protest by KXLJ-TV Helena, Mont.—was upheld in a decision by the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington last week.

Judges Wilbur K. Miller, George T. Washington and Warren E. Burger turned down without comment an appeal by Montana Microwave of the FCC's denial of MM's petition for stay of the FCC order to cease operation (Broadcasting, Aug. 24). The microwave facilities had been used by Montana Microwave to feed tv signals from two tv stations in Spokane, Wash., to a community antenna system in Helena.

Montana Microwave had charged in court argument Aug. 21 that the FCC illegally abused its discretion in ordering discontinuance of the microwave service pending outcome of the KXLJ-TV protest; that the FCC acted contrary to its earlier findings that it had no authority to hold up microwave service to a catv system on grounds of adverse impact on a local tv broadcast outlet.

FCC held it was required under law to issue the stay since the catv system already had two tv services and the need for two more did not constitute overriding public interest grounds.

Sports bills' quiz scheduled this week

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick and four broadcasters are scheduled as witnesses for a two-day hearing set Wednesday-Thursday (Sept. 2-3) by the House Antitrust Subcommittee on five identical bills to exempt certain phases of professional team sports from antitrust laws.

Broadcasters witness, all to testify Thursday, are Robert D. Swezey, WDSU-AM-TV New Orleans; C. Robert Thompson, WBEN-TV Buffalo; Thad M. Sandstrom, WIBW-AM-TV Topeka, and J.M. Higgins, WTHI-AM-TV Terre Haute. Mr. Frick testifies on Wednesday before the antitrust group headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.).

Meanwhile, Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), chairman of the Senate Antitrust & Monopoly Subcommittee, said last week his group will begin an investigation preparatory to public hearings on alleged infiltration of professional boxing by racketeers and gangsters. He noted the sale of broadcasting and telecasting rights to boxing matches is among those interstate activities which constitute trade and commerce under the Sherman Antitrust Act.

A Washington antitrust expert has held the bills on which the House antitrust unit will hold hearings this week contain ambiguities which, if enacted, might give professional baseball, football, basketball and hockey leagues the right to (1) make agreements to prohibit radio-tv broadcasts of games and turn rights over to pay tv, (2) agree among themselves to a total blackout of all games on radio-tv, and (3) specify a minimum fee for radio-tv rights as distinguished from the present system of negotiations for radio-tv contracts rights by individual ball clubs. Broadcasting, Aug. 17. A sixth bill would give these sports a blanket antitrust exemption.

Appeals court delays WAFB-TV's ch. 9 sta

A stay of the FCC's order which permitted WAFB-TV Baton Rouge, La. (ch. 28), to operate temporarily on ch. 9 pending the outcome of a contest for ch. 9 was ordered by the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington last week (Aug. 24).

In a per curiam decision, Judges Wilbur K. Miller, George T. Washington and Warren E. Burger ordered a stay of ch. 9 STA operation by WAFB-TV until the court renders a decision on an appeal of the FCC temporary permit by WIBR Baton Rouge, which is contesting WAFB-TV for ch. 9 (Broadcasting, Aug. 24).

The court ordered expedition of the case, but both WIBR and the FCC feel it will be at least 60 days before court argument on the appeal can be held, since a pre-hearing conference must be held and briefs filed by WIBR and the FCC.

Two suggest revisions in ex parte proposal

Only two groups apparently were interested enough to file comments by deadline last week (Aug. 24) in the FCC's proposed rule changes to define the types of rule making cases in which ex parte contacts may be made and those in which such contacts will be prohibited.

The Federal Communications Bar Assn. said it believes the proposed rules have "merit" and supports them in principle, but that language is needed so as not to preclude "legitimate inquiries" made of staff members concerning procedural matters if these matters do not go into the merits at issue in the rule making. FCBA said the fundamental problems involved cannot be dispelled "by words alone" and that the FCC proposal recognizes and "suitably tries" to deal with the fact that in some rule-making matters material outside the

FCC MAY INVESTIGATE FCC

Commissioner Ford states agency's need to eye its own policies on programs

The FCC is considering an investigation of the FCC.

The goal: To find out what its policies are, especially in the programming field.

The idea was developed last week in an address by Comr. Frederick W. Ford to the West Virginia Broadcasters Assn., which met Aug. 28-29 at The Greenbrier, White Sulphur Springs.

Comr. Ford put his finger on program policies—one of the delicate spots of FCC regulation. He said:

"I know of no place in which the policies of the Commission concerning programs are available."

He summed up the problem this way:

"Broadcasters have no way of knowing how the Commission expects to perform its duty until the Commission acts, except for a few matters such as obscenity, lottery information, point-to-point communication and the like."

- Safety In Numbers
   At one time, Comr. Ford recalled, the FCC tried to define its program policy by issuing the 1946 Blue Book. He added, "Although many of the policies contained in the Blue Book probably apply today, it no longer is considered a statement of Commission policy and is now out of print. . . . Generally, I suppose it might be said that in view of the number of stations on the air the Commission depends on competition between stations to protect the public interest together with a case-by-case method of dealing with over-all program deviations from the public interest."

Comr. Ford explained how six FCC staffers process renewal applications in search of discrepancies, using a composite week of programming as a basis for review. Noting the broadcaster may be unaware of his deviations from regulatory requirements until they are disclosed by this review, he also observed the station operator "may have been unaware of where he could have found Commission policy if he had desired to look."

"It has been my view for a long time," Comr. Ford said, "That it is highly unfair for the Commission to lie in ambush, so to speak, while practices are developing which violate its concept of the public interest, convenience and necessity, and then make an example of an uninformed broadcaster. I believe, rather, it is generally our duty to inform the public through appropriate orders or reports of the criteria we expect to apply in advance of action against an individual broadcaster.

"I would favor the Commission instituting an investigatory proceeding on programming on a community basis which would have for its purpose the determination of the best way under present conditions the Commission can carry out its responsibility under the law for the consideration of programming and determining that an applicant will serve the public interest, convenience and necessity.

Views Aired "In such a proceeding all interested parties would have full opportunity to present their views. Out of such a proceeding I would hope there would develop a reasonably well defined policy where the greatest freedom would be assured the broadcaster in programming his station and at the same time the Commission would perform its function of protecting the public interest, convenience and necessity with the minimum of interference to that freedom."

Comr. Ford offered another idea at the West Virginia resort—a way for broadcasters to acquaint FCC with their efforts to meet audience and FCC requirements. He put it this way:

"It appears to me that one course the Commission could follow would be to ask the licensees to tell us in narrative form the broadcast needs of the community they serve and to then explain how those needs had been and are to be met.

"The broadcaster himself is in a far better position to do that than anyone else, because after all, it is his basic and primary responsibility to determine those needs and to serve them, whereas our only function in this area is to assure ourselves as best we can that he is carrying out his primary responsibility in order that we can conscientiously make the finding that he will serve the public interest which we are required to do by law.

Easy Solution "This solution seems so simple and so basic that it is very difficult for me to understand how there can be any disagreement about it. So far as I know, no one at the Commission has the slightest desire to tell any broadcaster that he should or should not broadcast any particular program. It has been my observation that we all feel very strongly that he should make an accounting to the Commission under the law for his stewardship of the public property committed to his care."

Comr. Ford cited the legislative history of the Communications Act and court decisions plus comments by Ex-President Herbert C. Hoover in building up a case for the Commission's right to evaluate a licensee's programming as well as technical quality. He termed it "a positive duty," despite Sec. 326 (anti-censorship) and the First Amendment (freedom of speech).

He belittled the common argument that the public shows its likes and dislikes by turning off the receiver, calling it "fallacious," especially where only one station gives primary service to an area or community.

This led him to cite "an extreme example." If a radio station played five records in turn continuously "the public interest would not be served," he

Variety spices FCC engineers' lives

Unknown to her parents, a Missouri 10-year-old wrote President Eisenhower that ham radios were disturbing her family's tv reception on weekends. "I get so mad that sometimes I wish I could take an ax and smash ham radio," the little girl declared. The girl's father told an investigating FCC field engineer that the only interference the family had encountered in their tv reception had occurred several weeks prior to the complaint and that it had disappeared upon the purchase of a new tv set.

This is but one of a number of incidents cited in an FCC report released last week, which recounts some of the multiple activities of Commission field engineers during the past year.

Among other FCC experiences:

- The refrigerator in a neighbor's apartment was ruining his am reception, a New York apartment dweller confided to an FCC engineer and a police officer, and that was why he was using an old sparkling-commutator motor, the cause of radio-tv interference to sixty families in three apartment houses. A warning from the engineer and policeman was sufficient to bring the return of normal reception to sixty-some radio and television sets, the FCC stated.
- In St. Louis a high school teacher interested in radio, "but not to the extent of seeking a license," concealed his identity and using various domestic and foreign station call signs, operated on an amateur frequency in experimenting with different types of antennas and transmitters. The teacher told FCC engineers that his scholastic chores prevented him from taking the license examination. But, the Commission reported, "he found time to dis mantle the station."
- Many people, according to the FCC, appear to be talking to themselves during horse races. Thus Commission interception of the transmission of racing results, through the use of miniature transmitters built into a man's clothing, proved once again that such clandestine operations are difficult to detect.
contended, "and the turn-off process would be useless. If, as a matter of principle, the Commission is powerless to take action in such a case," re-duced to impotence in pr-oposition, the public is deprived of all ability to abuse the public by monopolizing its receivers with monotonoriness." No Cop of the Waves • Comr. Ford showed no sympathy with the contention that the FCC should act "only as an electronic traffic cop of the air waves," Congress having already seen fit to pass laws "which would permit the Commission to recede to the safety of such a position. Believe me, our task at the Commission would be far simpler if that were the law."

He was just as positive in answering the argument that FCC consideration of programming "is in its ultimate effect a limitation on the right of a broadcaster to exercise his responsibility to the public for using his facility in the public interest, convenience and necessity." To call this function cens-orship, he said, "would be to give Sec. 326 an overriding dominance which would disregard the statutory scheme.

"It would seem that the solution lies not in selecting one section of the act for emphasis to the exclusion of other provisions of law, but of accommodating all of Commission's regulatory authority to all of the provisions of the law. The Commission's policies would then strike a delicate balance between insuring itself that the traffic was well regulated and the composition of the traffic meets the needs of the public with the principle that the broadcaster has the primary responsibility to program his station in the public interest which the Commission must safeguard to him."

The Commission has no desire to tell a broadcaster "that he should or should not broadcast any particular program," Comr. Ford said. "No broadcaster should ever feel that he is in a straight jacket of any kind nor that his programming flexibility is fettered or his imagination is circumscribed. He should take seriously the burden and trust that the Congress has placed in him that he will properly exercise his privilege to serve all the public in his service. How he is to do this is his problem, but that he must do it the law demands.

"Our problem is to determine whether he has done it and plans to continue to do it."

In a comment on FCC's renewal routine, he said, "The present program section of our forms calls for statistical information which gives the Commission a picture of the over-all programing operations and also makes provision for a voluntary narrative statement. Full advantage has not been taken by the licensees of this provision. Obviously if this suggestion is followed, an enlargement of the renewal staff would be required."

FCC's reserve group holds 2-day seminar

A two-day communications seminar, a phase of "Operation Alert," was held last week under FCC sponsorship in the vicinity of Gettysburg, Pa.

The sessions, in which more than 90 communication specialists and administrative executives took part, were directed by FCC Comr. Robert E. Lee.

Attending the seminar were broadcasters from all over the country who are members of national and state industry advisory committees, as well as members of the FCC unit of the National Defense Executive Reserve.

Speakers at the sessions included John J. McLaughlin, administrative assistant to the Air Force Secretary; James D. Secrest, executive vice president of Electronics Industries Assn.; Clure Owen of ABC, New York; Joseph E. Baudino, Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. vice president; Dr. Richard T. Mara, science professor at Gettysburg College; Charles Kocher, chief engineer of WXYZ Detroit; Warren E. Baker, former FCC general counsel; Lloyd E. Cook, superintendent of communications for Sinclair Pipe Line Co., and Kenneth W. Miller, U.S. supervisor of CONELRAD for the FCC.

Comr. Lee at the seminar's end expressed gratification for the industry's participation. He also presented certificates of service to the following members of the National Defense Executive Reserve:

BROADCASTING, August 31, 1959
WHP-TV Harrisburg's ch. 12 shift idea hit

A proposal by WHP-TV Harrisburg, Pa. (ch. 55), to move ch. 12 to that city is meeting opposition from other uhf broadcasters in that predominantly uhf area, as well as from Assn. of Maximum Service Telecasters and the Metropolitan Philadelphia Educational Radio TV Corp.

WNEP-TV (ch. 16), WDAU-TV (ch. 22) Scranton, and WBRE-TV (ch. 28) Wilkes-Barre, in a joint statement said WHP-TV, in "abandoning" its present uhf service for vhf, would cause repercussions that would "imperil" eastern Pennsylvania's "uhf enclave." They noted the "high percentage of conversion to uhf in the area in emphasizing the status quo.

WLYH-TV (ch. 15) Lebanon, in letters requesting "counter-proposed" that ch. 8 in Lancaster (WGL-TV) be deleted to make the area entirely uhf.

WSBA-TV (ch. 43) York, said it wants ch. 8 deleted, too, but that if ch. 12 is moved to Harrisburg, WSBA-TV intends to apply for it.

AMST opposed the proposal because it would involve co-channel mileage separations of less than the minimum in the Sixth Report & Order of 1952.

MPERTC said the proposed move would involve shifting ch. 12 away from Wilmington, Del., and that the educational organization has applied for ch. 12 for a philadelphia educational tv station.

Senate unit reports on NARBA-daytimers

The hours of operation of daytime broadcasting clear stations should be based principally on domestic—rather than international—considerations, a special subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has stated in a report to its parent body.

Formed to consider the 1950 North American Regional Broadcasting Agreement and the 1957 Mexican broadcast treaty, the subcommittee held a one-day hearing last month (BROADCASTING, July 13) but has tabled both treaties until next January (BROADCASTING, Aug. 10). Delay in ratification of the treaties has been caused by efforts of daytime stations to secure longer winter broadcasting hours, prohibited in most instances by the Mexican treaty.

The report dealt with Article II-B of the Mexican treaty which prohibits the FCC from authorizing longer than sunrise-sunset operation of U.S. stations operating on Mexican clear channels. The report states the subcommittee considered these four courses of action: (1) Approve the treaties without reservation, (2) ratify with directions that, if FCC grants daytimers request, further negotiations be carried out with Mexico clearing the action, (3) void Article II B if either country grants extended hours to stations operating on the other nation's clear channels, or (4) ratify treaty with reservation that U.S. has right to increase daytime hours.

The interim report is being submitted, the 5-man subcommittee stated, for the purpose of getting comments on the various alternatives. Hearings were announced "within three weeks" after Congress convenes in January with a final decision on approval of the treaties promised soon thereafter.

"The subcommittee expresses its hope that the FCC will extend to the daytime stations every opportunity allowed by law to improve their service and their economic position," the report stated. Members of the subcommittee are Sen. Wayne Morse (D- Ore.), chairman, Frank Lausche (D-Ohio), Frank Church (D-Idaho), Frank Carlson (R-Kan.) and George Aiken (R-Vt.).

FCC defends Rochester decision

Defense of the March 11, 1953, decision awarding ch. 10 in Rochester, N.Y., to WHEC and WVET there on a share-time basis was contained in a brief filed with the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington. The FCC held it acted properly in deciding the grant did not give WHEC (Gannett newspaper and broadcast stations) undue concentration of control and that the share-time agreement between WHEC and WVET was not against the public interest.

WSAY Rochester had appealed these two of six issues on which the FCC held hearings after the court had reversed the 1953 grant, made without a hearing.

The FCC also replied last week to other issues brought up by WSAY, denying that the grant was procedurally invalid and differing with WSAY's view that three FCC members voting in the FCC's second decision (March 12, 1958) reaffirming the grant should have been disqualified.

The FCC brief said WSAY wanted the Commission to use criteria used in comparative cases. The FCC had refused to accept WSAY's application for the ch. 10 filed six days after the 1953 grant was made.

It was the third time the case had been to court, the court one time upholding the FCC's permission for the share-time operation (WHEC-TV and WVET-TV) to remain on the air pending outcome of the case.

Ruling by Lee alone challoge by KJEO

Because of a single FCC member receiving dates for comments and rules on TV allocations rulemakings has been challenged by KJEO (TV) Fresno, Calif., a uhf outlet (ch. 47) which hopes to get ch. 2 under the proposal.

KJEO charged that Comr. Robert E. Lee, who has been "holding the fort" during August while fellow commissions are on vacation, acted illegally on Aug. 14 by extending the deadline for comments from Aug. 24 to Sept. 23, thus holding up the FCC schedule for assignment of ch. 2 to Fresno. KJEO said the FCC (six members participating) on Aug. 4 rejected a proposal for extension filed by KFRE-TV, which would shift operation from ch. 12 to ch. 9 under the rulemaking. KJEO said KFRE-TV's request for reconsideration "reiterated" some of the arguments it had used before the earlier Aug. 4 FCC action.

KJEO said Comr. Lee "reversed" a unanimous decision by the FCC in extending the time; that it can find no statutory support and nothing in FCC rules giving a single FCC member such power.

If the Lee action is not declared null and void, KJEO said, it will mean a delay of the beginning of construction to late November or December and with winter setting in, KJEO probably won't be able to bring ch. 2 service to Fresno this year.

Tax bill passed

The House last week passed its version (H. J. Res. 450) of a bill which would restrict the power of the states to tax interstate commerce. The Senate passed a similar measure (S 2524) week before last (BROADCASTING, Aug. 24) and differences between the two versions will be discussed in House-Senate conference.

Both bills were outgrowths of business complaints that recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions have produced serious tax problems for firms selling across state lines.

Licensee indicted

The Justice Dept. last week indicted Vincent J. Marcello of Gretna, La., a suburb of New Orleans, on five counts of making false statements to the FCC in 1957 in applying for a citizen's radio license for Jefferson Amusement Co., Gretna.

Justice charged that Mr. Marcello concealed the fact his brother, Carlos Marcello, was a partner in Jefferson Amusement and that he had claimed no aliens held ownership in the company. Carlos Marcello was ordered deported in 1953 and the order was upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court but he has not been deported because of litigation challenging the action. His status as an alien was exposed during the Senate Racket Committee hearings. Each of the five counts carries a maximum penalty of up to five years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

- Government notes
- An agreement has been reached with the Liberian government, it has been announced, for the U.S. Voice of America to build a powerful radio relay station in Monrovia, the capital of that African republic. The multi-million dollar structure will relay VOA programs from Washington to portions of Africa and will be one of the largest such transmitters used by VOA. The relay station is not expected to be ready for operation before a year or more, VOA stated last week.
- Four National Bureau of Standards staffers have received service awards for their work in radio and electronics. Jack A. Kemper, assistant chief of the low frequency-very low frequency research section of the radio communications and systems division, was awarded a Dept. of Commerce meritorious service award for his national defense work in radio propagation measurements. Vincent E. Heaton, physicist with the radio broadcast service section in Boulder, Colo., received a meritorious service award for his work in maintaining and operating the U.S.A. primary standard of frequency and time interval. Dr. James R. Wait, consultant to the director of the central radio propagation lab, received a gold medal for highly distinguished authorship in radio propagation. Carroll Stansbury, of the electronic instrumentation section, received a silver medal for his technical contributions and administrative services.

Hollywood vtr firm set for commercials

A new organization devoted exclusively to the production of video tape commercials starts operation tomorrow (Sept. 2) in Hollywood. Named National Videotape Service the firm is headed by Harold S. Marienthal, former western head of the tv division of National Screen Service.

Mr. Marienthal said NVS will be the first company of its kind west of Chicago. "With such a large share of the country's tv commercials being produced in Los Angeles and with the heavy swing to vtr from 'live' and film, such a center specializing in the creation and production of video tape commercials and programs is long overdue in this area," he said. NVS has a contract with Kenyon Brown, head of the broadcast division of Nafi, for use of the vtr facilities of KCOP (TV) Los Angeles.

NVS has set up temporary headquarters in the KCOP building at 1000 N. Cahuenga Blvd., but plans to move to larger space in the near future. Telephone is Hollywood 2-6468. Production supervisor is Maurice Kirsch, veteran writer-producer of film and tv programs both here and in England.

Bolshoi's tv date still up in air

The on-the-air plans of the widely heralded tapes and film of the Bolshoi Ballet were still hazy last week but this much was clear: the rights and interests in the Bolshoi product have been acquired by Television Industries Inc., New York, from Skiatron of America, New York, both of which are companies in which Matthew Fox is the chief executive officer.

Details of the transaction were disclosed in a Television Industries' proxy statement issued in preparation for the company's annual meeting in Wilmington, Del., on Sept. 9. For the tape and film rights to the ballet, the proxy states, Television Industries has paid Skiatron of America $1 million, covering $640,000 for the rights (paid to Hurok Artists Inc.) and $360,000 for production costs. The proxy acknowledged that performance plans have not been set.
Eight tv awards made by legion auxiliary

Six network television programs—two each on ABC-TV, NBC-TV and CBS-TV—were chosen last week to receive Golden Mike awards of the American Legion auxiliary.

Presentations were made last Monday (Aug. 24) during the 39th annual national convention of the American Legion Auxiliary in Minneapolis. The network winners, selected in a poll of one million auxiliary members, were:

ABC-TV’s Lawrence Welk’s Dodge Dancing Party (best musical show)
American Bandstand (best show for girls under 18)
NBC-TV’s Meet the Press (best informational program) and “An Evening With Fred Astaire” (best single show); CBS-TV’s Playhouse 90 (best dramatic series) and Father Knows Best (best situation comedy series).

The auxiliary also presented a Golden Mike to WJW-TV Cleveland for its Junior Olympics program, described as “the nation’s finest program in the interest of youth.” For the first time an award was made for “the best tv commercial”—The Theodore Hamm Brewing Co, animated commercial featuring woodland animals.

Union membership

American Federation of Television & Radio Artists has the largest membership of any union included in the Associated Actors and Artists of America, parent of all AFL entertainment unions except American Federation of Musicians according to the latest 4-A report. Fox films trisected

NTA international last week announced distribution plans for 20th Century-Fox features acquired recently from Fox by National Telefilm Assoc. The films have been divided into three packages and will be released during three six-month intervals, starting in September.

The initial package to be offered is called the Sunset features, consisting of 54 films and including “The Razor’s Edge,” “The Grapes of Wrath” and “The Mighty Barnum.” Subsequent distribution will cover 54 Santa Monica features (“A Tree Grows in Brooklyn,” “Return of Frank James,” “Blood and Sand” and “Alexander’s Ragtime Band”) and 52 Wilshire features (“Seventh Heaven,” “Roxie Hart,” “Jesse James” and “Under Two Flags”).

NBC preview slated

NBC-TV’s third annual program preview to its affiliates is scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 2 (5:45:15 p.m. EDT). The 75-minute color closed-circuit presentation of the network’s fall program lineup will be viewed at some 181 affiliate stations, with many of them planning special parties based on NBC-TV’s program totality theme, it was reported. Members of the press, agency executives and civic leaders are invited to attend the previews.

Narrated by Dave Garroway, the colorcast will feature more than 30 top network personalities. Originating from the Ziegfield Theatre in New York and NBC-TV color studios in Burbank, Calif., the show will be taped in advance. NBC’s color symbol, the peacock, will be presented live in one of the program’s comedy highlights. Producer of the show is Perry Cross, assisted by Barry Shear who will produce and direct the Hollywood segments.

Program notes

• NBC-TV has scheduled a total of 25 special news programs to cover President Eisenhower’s trip to Europe and the exchange of visits with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev. Channel 9
SIOUX CITY, IOWA

KVTV is ideally located in the rich agricultural area of the upper Missouri River Valley.

KVTV feels a keen sense of responsibility to Siouxland viewers. Last year a KVTV newsman was on the scene during the Middle East conflict—a KVTV newsman was on the scene to capture the highlights of events leading to statehood for Alaska—and Channel 9 cameras were on the scene to present what is believed to be the first "live" coverage of a jail break!

Here's what Mr. Donald D. Sullivan, KVTV General Manager has to say about Northwest School's graduates:

"Larry Menke is a versatile employee, with a valuable knowledge in the fundamentals of television. Employees of his caliber are essential to the continued success and growth of KVTV."

ADMIRAL'S TINT TV
New color receivers range $595 and up

Admiral Corp., Chicago, formally unveiled its new line of color television receivers Tuesday (Aug. 25) after a two-year hiatus. Admiral's suggested retail prices: $595 and up (as against $495 up for RCA).

Admiral's 1960 line has five different models with one-year warranty on all parts including the 21-inch picture tube. A separate five-year warranty covers etched circuit boards in the chassis. Admiral announced its plans to re-enter the color tv field late last Spring (Broadcasting, June 8).

Ross D. Siragusa Jr., sales manager of Admiral's television division, cited the warranties as an indication of the reliability of the new sets. He said they tune as easily as monochrome units with only two controls—one adjusting for trueness and balance of color, the other for intensity. To simplify tuning, special color-keyed markings on each knob indicate exact tuning positions best suited for each channel.

Initial production of color units was not known last week, but Admiral did reveal a separate and limited franchise program for some of its 4,000 dealers—nearly 14% of its total dealerships. "Distributors will grant franchises for Admiral color tv representation only to those dealers who have adequate facilities for demonstrating, selling and servicing this high ticket product," according to Carl E. Lantz, Admiral's vice president for sales. "We are seeking quality rather than quantity in dealers for marketing color television."

As part of its marketing program to assist distributors and dealers, Admiral has prepared a 56-page merchandising manual for promoting set sales. Trade publications and newspapers will be used, along with direct mail, to stimulate dealer and consumer interest. Admiral also reported it will conduct a new series of training schools for servicemen who did not attend previous sessions or those who desire refresher courses.

Philco: no color tv until there is profit

In spite of Admiral's re-entry into color tv, Philco Corp. is not about to get its own feet wet until it can market a product that will make a profit. That in effect is what James M. Skinner Jr., Philco president, told a news conference in Chicago Monday. Said Mr. Skinner: "As for color television, we aren't in it and we won't get into it until we can make a profit. The color tv market was wrecked by a company which priced its sets too low and admitted it has lost lots of money." He predicted there will be "no immediate breakthrough" in color tv sales for a couple of years.

Foreign sales of Philco products should exceed $100 million in 1959, Mr. Skinner predicted. He also reported his company has enough materials to maintain its present production schedule through November even if the steel strike continues beyond mid-September. Philco sales are up 21% for the first six months this year over the same period in 1958, with earnings of $5,169,000 against a loss of $3,269,000, he added.

Mr. Skinner said there are indications American component manufacturers will develop a program for competing in cost with Japanese-imported transistor radios, largely through miniaturization. He said he is not aware of "any significant drop in transistor prices at the component level," despite claims of other manufacturers (presumably meaning Admiral Corp.). Philco shipped "quite a few" transistor portable tv receivers before the summer vacation period, Mr. Skinner reported.

Ampex sales up 48% in first quarter '59

Sales of Ampex Corp. during the first quarter of this year totaled $13,727,000, an increase of 48.2% over last year's first-quarter sales of $7,087,000, George I. Long Jr., Ampex president, said Tuesday (Aug. 25) at the company's annual stockholders' meeting in Redwood City, Calif.

First-quarter earnings after taxes were $760,000, or 5.5% of sales, Mr. Long reported, contrasted with $233,000 or 3.3% of sales for the same period last year. He reaffirmed his previous forecast that during 1959 Ampex consolidated sales would total $60 million, with net profits of $3.9 million after taxes.

Ampex stockholders approved the company's proposal for a merger with Orr Industries, magnetic tape manufacturer, and also ratified an amendment to the company's stock option plan to permit the granting of options.
for an additional 50,000 shares, bringing the total of shares available under the plan to 137,000, or 6.2% of total shares outstanding. The several hundred shareholders at the meeting also saw the original color TV recording of the historic Nixon-Khrushchev exchange as recorded by Ampex personnel at the American National Exhibition at Moscow.

A message from Jack Miller, Ampex shows manager in charge of the company's exhibit in Moscow, read at the stockholders' meeting, reported: "Color television, featuring playback on Ampex TV recorders, now No. 1 in Soviet hit parade at American Exposition. Votes tabulated from American voting machines at the fair showed total cast as 12,007, with color television getting 3,415 votes, well ahead of American automobiles, which were second favorite exhibit with 3,368 votes."

To lease radio-TV gear

Tishman Realty & Construction Inc., New York, is entering the industrial equipment field by forming a wholly-owned subsidiary, Tishman Equipment Leasing Inc. The new firm will lease electronic, radio and TV equipment, to be handled by George G. Weiss, formerly president of WBBQ Augusta, Ga. According to Norman Tishman, president of the parent company, TEL's primary aim is to free capital otherwise tied up in equipment "for more profitable investment. It also eliminates the costly and time-consuming negotiations usually identified with conventional financing and establishes better banking and credit relationships for its customers."

EIA will evaluate am-fm stereo systems

Three task-force groups to consider stereo techniques have been named by C. G. Loyd, General Electric Co., chairman of the special National Stereophonic Radio Committee set up by Electronic Industries Assn. The committee is part of the NSRC Panel 1 on system specifications headed by Charles J. Hirsch, of Hazeltine Research Corp.

The Panel 1 studies will not consider any stereo systems brought to its attention after last Aug. 5. Any new systems must be passed on by the main group.

The three groups are: (1) Differences between the three fm systems using an am subcarrier—W. P. Boothroyd, Philco Corp.; R. B. Dome, General Electric Co., and Carl Eilers, Zenith Radio Corp. (2) Differences between the three fm systems with fm subcarrier—Murray Crosby, Crosby Labs.; Harold Parker, Calbest Electronics, and William N. Halstead, Multiplex Services Corp. (3) A theoretical analysis of am subcarrier modulation vs fm subcarrier modulation—Bruce T. Bogert, Bell Labs., and Norman Parker, Motorola.

E. F. McDonald estate valued at $11.1 million

The estate of the late Comdr. E. F. McDonald Jr., board chairman of Zenith Radio Corp., was valued at approximately $11.1 million at the time of his death on May 15, 1958. The figure ($11,132,888) was contained in an inheritance tax appraisement filed with the clerk of Cook County in Chicago Aug. 21. The document was submitted by Eugene M. Kinney and Edward McCausland, executors of the estate.

It listed the value of 19,724 shares of Zenith stock held by Comdr. McDonald at $1,404,618 and of 33,198 shares of Seneca Securities Corp. stock at $4,515,861. The latter is described as a holding company for the McDonald assets. The federal estate tax was given as $1,695,461 while the Illinois inheritance tax was placed at $597,262.

Chief beneficiaries of the estate are the late executive's son, E. F. McDonald III; his daughter, Joan Marianne Lust, and Mr. Kinney, nephew and Zenith executive.

Admiral set to meet Nippon competition

As a challenge to growing Japanese imports, Admiral Corp. last week introduced its own low-cost seven-transistor pocket model radio. Meanwhile, Muntz TV scored the increasing use of Japanese components.

Admiral's new model will sell at a national list price of $29.95. Called the Comet, the pocket radio is "produced with high quality All-American components by American craftsmen," Admiral pointed out. The low cost is attributed to recent reductions in transistor prices, greater automation of etched circuit boards, increased production efficiency and "complete cooperation by suppliers who are concerned about losing a large share of their business to cheap foreign imports."

Also available are a $34.95 deluxe model designed to play several times as long as imported models before batteries must be replaced (all etched circuit boards carry a five-year warranty) and a new seven-transistor personal radio for $39.95.

The use of Japanese components was decryed by Wallace A. Kei, president of Muntz TV, as jeopardizing the American labor market and business of small manufacturers. Set makers should take affirmative action against the increasing flow of imports instead of using them to save a few dollars, he warned. Japan has been cutting heavily into the American electronics industry because of low labor costs.

Sarnoff award made

Dr. Walter R. G. Baker, president, Syracuse U. Research Corp., was named last week to receive the David Sarnoff Gold Medal Award of the Society of Motion Picture and Television Engineers for "meritorious achievements in television engineering." Presentation of the medal will be made during SMPTE's 86th Semi-Annual Convention, Oct. 5-9, in New York.

In making the award, the society cited Dr. Baker's "long career in electronics" and praised his achievements as chairman of the National Television System Committee, which devised the technical standards which the FCC accepted as the basis of the U.S. commercial TV system.
RUSSIA READY FOR TV ADVERTISING

Comrade Zhdanov hints change; consumer goods push seen

Recent indications from the Soviet Union show that the government-controlled tv and radio facilities might become a springboard to a revitalized drive for increased consumer goods consumption, coincident with the surge for greater production.

Under the Khrushchev regime, Russian trade authorities have introduced such innovations as self-service food stores, automat restaurants and mail order selling. Such "westernization" by the proletariat has met with genuine approval from both the government and the people themselves. Yet promotion of consumer goods through any of the media has been sharply criticized by official sources and only recently has the ice of contempt begun to thaw.

The appearance of Soviet Trade, a government journal, M. Zhdanov, deputy director of the Central Television Studio, Moscow, gave an indication that the official party policy regarding advertising has become conciliatory. "The interest of trade and advertising personnel in television as the most effective means of contacting customers is entirely understandable," Mr. Zhdanov stated. "Our trade advertising is called upon to educate people's tastes; to stimulate their wants and, thereby, to build up an active demand for goods. One result of commercial advertising must be a qualitative improvement in popular consumption, the appearance of new wants and tastes which in their turn will create a stimulus for further growth in production."

A "first" in tv advertising was scored last New Year's, the article reports, when a telecast directly from the State Department Store on Red Square showing the items on sale "of New Year's tree decorations was warmly received."

Hero Shoes • Advertising formats come under Mr. Zhdanov's careful scrutiny. As an example of acceptable advertising production he cites a recent film "which promotes a careful regard for one's shoes, shoe care, and timely repair, etc. The main heroes, etc., were women's shoes, men's boots, shoe brushes, etc... The film was watched with great interest. It is full of witty situations. The viewer laughs gayly and with all his heart. As a result he is more strongly convinced of the need for careful attention to his shoes."

Elsewhere in his article, Mr. Zhdanov mentions 50 "outlying" tv stations now operating in the Soviet Union. It is thought that Moscow at the beginning of the year was the only Russian city with more than one regularly operating channel. Counting all "telecenters" including low-power, semi-amateur outfits, Russia claims to have had 60 tv stations operating at the end of 1958, compared with 42 at the end of 1957 and 20 in 1956. Under the new Seven-Year Plan (1959-1965) the number of tv stations is due to increase by 2.6 times, which would make a total of about 156 by the end of 1965.

"Russian tv set output was estimated to be one million in 1958 and radio set production 3.9 million the same year. Contrasting with this impressive growth is the fact that most major Soviet newspapers still do not publish radio and tv listings.

Mr. Zhdanov's article may clearly indicate an agonizing reappraisal on the part of the government regarding advertising. And although it may be a long time before BBDO or JWT open Leningrad branches, the development of Russian media advertising will bear watching as a measuring rod of Soviet domestic economic expansion.

- Malta expects to have its own tv service next year. There are about 7,000 sets on the Mediterranean island. They tune to Italian stations.

- Holland had 500,000 registered tv sets Aug. 1. The figure is expected to reach 580,000 before year’s end.

- Switzerland had 67,882 registered tv sets Aug. 1. This is 1,643 more than July’s figure. About 70% of tv sets are bought and operated in the country’s German-language areas.

- Denmark will have 100% tv coverage with completion of the Nastved transmitter at Seeland Island this year. About 250,000 sets are operated in the country.

- France has organized five committees to supervise its radio-tv programming. Members are chosen from the fields of French literature, art and science. The country expects to have 100% tv coverage in 1961.

- Eurovision, occasional hookups of European tv stations, is five years old. About 16 million sets in twelve Western Europe nations (using 567 transmitters) can be tuned to the service. A total of 900 hookups have been completed between 1954-59.

- Registered television sets numbered 2,730,000 in West Germany on July 1, a 60,045 increase over June. Radio licenses are decreasing at about 200,-000 a month from an approximate 15 million total.

FANFARE

Prizes from the sky

On Sept. 1, tenth anniversary of KMTV (TV) Omaha, Neb., the station plans a “Balloon Drop” for its viewers in Nebraska, Iowa and Missouri. On the big day, two airplanes will drop 2,500 gift certificates worth $15,000 in color tv sets, air conditioners, radios and other prizes. In addition, 2,397 certificates for KMTV anniversary pens and smorgasbord dinners will be scattered.

Viewers tuned to the station will be able to determine where and when the balloons will be dropped. The “Balloon Drop” is the second part of KMTV’s anniversary celebration. Part one was a free presentation of the Tommy Bartlett Water Ski Show yesterday (Aug. 30).

Missing staff found

Bud Lester, recent purchaser of WOIA Ann Arbor, Mich., wanted to build immediate listenership and promote his new announcing staff. To do it, he conducted a 12-day “Missing Man” contest, offering $90 daily to the listener who identified the missing air personality through clues given on WOIA. The “12” and “90” tied in with WOIA 1290 kc.

Missing men were spotted in a jewelry store, aquarium, bakery, bottled-water company, and other locations. One winner, a baker, was wearing over an oven, baking bread at 350 degrees when he heard a clue, which was “350.” He drove to all the bakeries in town spotting the missing man at the last one visited.

KMTV (TV) airs high school bowl

KMTV (TV) Omaha, Neb., televised the First Annual Shrine High School Bowl game in that city earlier this month, reports the station, and preempted its entire Saturday night schedule to carry the game. There were a number of pre-game filmed “specials” aired by the station, including a documentary of the Shrine All Star teams visiting the Shriners Hospital in Minneapolis. KMTV sent its news camera to film the visit of the high school athletes bringing happiness to the hospitalized children.

Into the wide blue yonder

To spotlight the rising traffic death toll KOIL Omaha d.j. Jim Hummel “went into orbit” week before last, according to the station. The KOIL staff seated himself in a 1959 model automobile which was suspended by a giant crane some 70 feet above the ground. He will stay there “until he forcefully points attention to the rising traffic death toll on Nebraska’s highways,” KOIL said. Stunt has received commendation from both city and state safety officials, station reported.

Room service—at home

Picking up a service usually provided in hotels, WNTA Newark (Aug. 19) started a promotion campaign of its morning show with a personalized “wake-up service.” Listeners to the Mike Woloson Show (Mon.-Fri., 7-10 a.m. EDT) have been invited to register with the station if they would like to be awakened during those hours by a telephone call from WNTA. Although the brunt of the work falls on the WNTA switchboard operators, Mr. Woloson makes some of the calls himself during the show.

Contest for sponsors

WKNE Keene, N.H., is marking its 32nd anniversary with a six-week promotion that features contests for both sponsors and listeners. To enter the “KNE Days” contest, listeners register with participating merchants to win weekly prizes and a chance at the grand prize of a Jamaica trip for two.

In an effort to stimulate thought on advertising, a sponsor competition offers a trip to Europe for one, or a trip to Jamaica for two. Participants are asked to fill out a business questionnaire, dealing with advertising, and write a 500-word essay: “My Philosophy of Advertising.” To date, over 86 accounts are

Stars in her eyes

The winner of the WSOC-TV Charlotte, N.C., "Spot the Stars" contest is going to turn her prize, a one-week expense-paid trip to Spain and Portugal, into a honeymoon.

The contest called for viewers to recognize 22 film actors on a slide shown briefly on WSOC-TV about 10 times a day for three weeks. Guest Airways, which will provide the transportation, will send pictures of the honeymooners to WSOC-TV so viewers may follow their progress.

Breakfast in bed

KCMO-FM Kansas City, Mo., dramatized advancing its sign-on time to 6:30 a.m. by sending 150 local admen a breakfast tray.

A note on the bundle of breakfast food, contributed by manufacturers, invited the admen to "have breakfast on KCMO-FM" while listening to Music for a Summer Morning. Chris J. Stolfa, KCMO-FM's commercial manager, delivered breakfast trays to the mayors of Kansas City, Independence, North Kansas City, all Missouri, and Kansas City, Kan.

Forward pass pays off

KTVB (TV) Boise, Idaho, scored in promoting its pickup of the College All-Stars vs. Baltimore Colts co-sponsored by Carling Brewing Co., Tacoma, Wash.

KTVB's sales staff, wearing football shirts and helmets, toured downtown Boise presenting taverns that did not carry the product with a case of Carling's beer. The score: The Lamp Post Hotel now sells Carling's Black Label.

There's joy in Gretna

WMNA Gretna, Va., went to bat for the local Connie Mack baseball team, and hit a grand-slam Homer.

The teen-aged ballplayers had won the Virginia and Southeastern championships, but needed $1,100 to finance their trip to the World Series in St. Joseph, Mo.

With only two days to raise the needed money, WMNA went in as pinch-hitter and started plugging for contributions, with special shows, interviews and a record hop. In less than 18 hours, the station collected $1,410, and the happy ballplayers, each with $5 spending money in his pocket, were on their way to Missouri.

The sound's the thing • The sound of SESAC music is its own best salesman. So believes SESAC Inc., New York, music licensing and program service organization. This layout demonstrates some of the ways SESAC goes about practicing that belief. The smaller jacket and disc (top right) is one of 7,000 sent out by the company to disc jockeys and station management personnel every month promoting the SESAC service. The reply card (lower right) which accompanies each record is used to solicit comments. The standard lp (at left) demonstrates another new angle to SESAC's promotional policy. Although its music library is used only by professionals, the company has dressed up its records with consumer-type album covers. In addition, an "Aura-Vision" ad is part of SESAC's new "You Never Heard It So Good" campaign, circulated in trade magazines and with the SESAC Music monthly. The "record" on each ad can be torn out and played on conventional machines.

Rolling with broadcast banners

About 54 tv and 46 radio stations in 84 cities were involved in events leading up to the All-American Soapbox Derby finals at Akron, Ohio, Aug. 16. Sixteen of the 170 soapbox vehicles at Akron carried the call of stations backing them. Derby is sponsored by Chevrole.

These are some of the stations that sponsored or co-sponsored a boy in the finals:

Big party for KTVI (TV)’s big tower

New York advertising folk drank, ate buffet-style, beat time or danced to jazz at one of the Big City’s most lavish tv business parties of the summer on the night of Aug. 24. Host to the near 1,000 gathering at the Tavern-on-the-Green in Central Park was KTVI (TV) St. Louis. Celebrated was KTVI’s new maximum-height transmitting tower (1,649 feet).

Among the highlights: a costly tab (estimates place expenses for such an affair at the $10,000 level), 12 show girls topped by “tower headgear,” Sammy Gardner and his Mound City Six flown to New York from St. Louis’ Tiger’s Den, various stage and tv entertainers and a team of “photo-flash” girls who took polaroid shots of the guests. Nearly 700 agency people were on the guest list; others included Blair-TV executives and account men, an ABC-TV contingent and newsmen. An attendance prize of $1,649 (the tower footage), displayed in two-dollar bills and frozen in a large cake of ice carved as a figure “2” (channel number), went to Bernie Shlossman, Benton & Bowles timebuyer. Joe Bernard, vice president-general manager, KTVI, presented the prize.

• More than 47,000 people, the second largest crowd in Bridgeport, Conn.’s Pleasure Beach Park history, turned out Aug. 17, reports WNHC-TV New Haven, for a day of free rides, swimming and a record-hop, all on the station. The Triangle Publications Inc. outlet station also sponsored a water show during July. The height of the Pleasure Beach Park day was the Jim Gallant Record Hop, which was seen by the largest in-person crowd ever to view Mr. Gallant.

• Billboards, banner-towing airplanes, movie trailers and newspaper and on-air tv saturation paved the publicity way for the coming of one Bugs Bunny to Atlanta earlier this month, according to WAGA-TV there. More than 8,000 participated in “Bugs Bunny Day” at Atlanta’s Storyland Park, reported the station, with extensive news coverage following.

• KTBC-TV Austin, Tex., personality Cactus Pryor set up a portable swimming pool in the middle of a local street and, accompanied by “a passel of puerility personified in a trio of talented teeners,” went on the air with one of his Thursday night tv shows recently, according to the station. There was an aquatic exhibition by the Austin Aquatic Club, a fastdraw and trick shooting exhibition by 26 Men co-star Kelo
Pryor, lionth visitor he tion. At KDKA ran performances in Cedar Hill Farms-Jeff's Collie Day at Coney Island, a local amusement park, resulted in more than 20,000 labels from Cedar Hill Farms products being handed in. The labels were good for rides and concessions in the park. Two collie puppies and bicycles were among prizes given away during the day.

The Ice Capades of 1959 allocated about 80% of its ad budget for its nine performances in Pittsburgh to KDKA-TV there and grossed $225,000. The station ran a campaign of 10-20- and 60-second spots throughout the day and ran a number of film clips of the show. At KDKA-TV Night in Forbes Field (show's location) station staffers distributed 5,000 free boxes of popcorn. Tickets to the capades this night were sold by KDKA-TV at a 50 cent reduct KISN Vancouver, Wash., d.j. Tim Tate is doing his daily Fabulous 50 show in a cage suspended from a crane at the Oregon Centennial Exposition. He's been up there three weeks and says he won't come down until the 3 millionth visitor comes to the exposition. KISN news director John Doe appeared on KHTV (TV) Portland, Ore., as a tie-in promotion when the movie "Meet John Doe" was telecast. He explained how difficult it is for him to get people to believe that's his real name and to get checks cashed.

Seattle's annual Seafair Parade was led last month by KING disc jockeys on children's scooters. The parade precedes the Gold Cup hydroplane race.

WSET Glens Falls, was challenged last month by nearby Hudson Falls, both New York, to see if it could raise more blood donors than Hudson Falls. As the battle progressed merchants of the rival towns promised gifts and transportation to people going to the bloodmobile. After WSET broadcast from the bloodmobile Aug. 11 the record for the number of blood donors was broken.

WNDU-TV South Bend-Elkhart, Ind., brought the story of that market and itself to New York agency men last week via a video tape presentation at the Johnny Victor Theatre in the RCA Exhibition Hall. Tom Hamilton, sales manager, co-hosted the showing with the station's new representative, Vendard, Rintoul & McConnell.

KDKA Pittsburgh d.j. Regis Cordic was the subject of a two-page spread in July's Esquire magazine. The article tells how the d.j.'s spoofing of Madison Avenue advertising nets him more than $60,000 a year. Mr. Cordic's Olde Frothingslough Ale Stale Ale ("the foam's on the bottom") was mentioned on-air as a gag four Christmases ago. Now the brew is made each year, 300-000 cases having been sold to date.

Four CHUM Toronto, Ontario, disc jockeys had a swimming race last month against actor Gordon Scott, who plays Tarzan in movies. Disc jockeys Al Boliska, Dave Johnson, Mike Darow and Bob Laine, dressed in swim suits of the '50s, dived with Mr. Scott. It was a fair race except that Mr. Boliska grabbed a rope and was towed to victory by lifeguards running beside the pool.

Beachnik is the name of a new weekend show on KFMB San Diego. On Saturdays d.j. Geoff Edwards parks the station mobile unit on a beach and broadcasts from a console mounted on top, 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Loudspeakers carry music to bathers.

The Houston Fm Broadcasters Assn. with Granco and Blaupunkt radio distributors have launched their second outdoor-poster campaign as two new fm stations go on the air. Poster copy: is confined to "Fm radio, music to live with. Now six stations." One of the six is an educational station.

Registering a staff cricket of WSAI Cincinnati with the performer's union was a move that paid off in wire service news coverage for the station. Elvis the Cricket comes to work daily with Will Lenay and provides chirp effects for the Lenay morning show. American Federation of Radio & Television Artists has accepted the insect on condition he pays his dues.

CKLC Kingston, Ont., promoted summer water sports in its area by having announcer Larry Woods do a half-hour program while water-skiing behind a powerful outboard motorboat. Microphone cord was wrapped along tow-rope, with Larry Woods holding the tow-rope with one hand, the mike in the other. A mobile unit in the motorboat sped the program to the station.

More than 600 Huntington, W. Va., residents turned out to a local theatre Aug. 15 for the "Happy Money Auction" by WSAZ there (Broadcasting, July 27). (Happy Money certificates were given by WSAZ sponsors in return for merchandise purchased.) About $2,000-worth of merchandise was up for bidding.

August March of Dimes • In an emergency effort to replace depleted polio funds, KBON Omaha, Neb. d.j. Fritz climbed an air-conditioned flag-pole on the county Courthouse lawn, to appeal for contributions. After 15 days, and $15,000 in donations, he descended. Omaha Mayor John Rosenblatt termed the project "a magnificent job."

Ready to roar again . . . thanks to Air Express

Why wreck a sportscar's winning streak just because of a broken fuel pump? AIR EXPRESS hurries the factory-fresh part from manufacturer to race-track in a flash. Cost of this amazing door-to-door shipping service that assumes all responsibility? For instance, only $6.11 for 15 lbs., Detroit to Daytona (890 air-miles). Other rates similarly low. In whatever market you wish to win sales—'Frisco, Philly or anywhere between—it pays to . . . think FAST . . . think AIR EXPRESS first.
OUR RESPECTS TO . . .

Melvin Martin Bartell

The Bartell Family Radio Group has one of its own to head its WOV-New York operation, the first broadcast property acquired by Bartell in the nation's largest market.

He's Melvin Martin Bartell, born in Milwaukee, Oct. 18, 1916, one of four Bartell brothers, energetic and able, whose broadcast experience takes up both ends of a devoted operatic career.

His resonant voice betrays years of training as an actor and as a baritone with an overseas opera company.

But an hour's meeting with Mel Bartell is sufficient to convince the observer that it is as a broadcaster that Mr. Bartell is making tracks.

A bright button in his career is continuing family tradition by putting WOKY Milwaukee on the air as a full-timer on Labor Day of 1950 and running it a 13-year manager and as vice president of the Bartell group. Mr. Bartell now is president and general manager of WOV, took over officially on Aug. 18, thus dramatizing the entry of Bartell Broadcasters Inc. into the metropolitan New York area—a first in a 13-year history of independent radio broadcasting.

It is as if Mel Bartell has been developing his knowledge in preparation for the helm job at WOV.

Knows Italy • For example, the station is noted for its programming 50% of the broadcast day in the Italian language. Mr. Bartell has both academic and practical knowledge of the country, having lived in Italy and sung in many of its finest operas.

New York, as a broadcast town, is cosmopolitan. A cosmopolite and a student of the city, Mr. Bartell here also is eminently qualified.

"I'm glad to be back in New York," he smiles, "It's the most stimulating city in the world, has so many cultural and other opportunities."

Mr. Bartell's musical bent's were well underway when upon graduation in 1938 from the U. of Wisconsin with a Ph.B. he traveled to Rochester, N.Y., to enroll in the Eastman School of Music. There he received in 1941 his bachelor of music degree and a performer's certificate.

Radio Experience • His first radio connection was at that time when he worked at WHAM Rochester as a newsman, staff announcer and radio actor. During World War II, Mel Bartell was in the Pacific with Armed Forces Radio. In Tokyo at the war's end, he was the first American voice trained at the university-owned WHA Madison and acted on radio at school and in network serials.

(The Bartell family took over its first station in 1947, then a daytimer on 1430 KOMO which later became KC and went fulltime in 1950. That was WOKY Milwaukee, the fount for other station additions, and an operation keyed to research and talent promotions.)

(The Bartell Group of six radio stations in major markets also includes WAKE Atlanta, WYDE Birmingham and KYA San Francisco, plus Bartell International, which operates tv stations in the West Indies.)

Still Sings • Though his energies now are directed to broadcasting, his singing career hasn't been shelved. He has made a few appearances in Milwaukee with the local opera company, sang in "Tosca" last April and hopes to continue his musical work.

He is president of the Florentine Opera Company, past president and board member of the Civic Music Assn. and on the executive board of Miller Theatre (arena stage that is known nationally), all in Milwaukee.

His comments are brief but to the point. On radio, he says: It is for the whole family, with music for the family. The concept of the Bartell Group is something of interest for everybody, of music, features, news and editorials. At WOV the Bartells hope to develop the facility to its greatest potential.

"As a real companion, radio has become important as a service and information channel—it literally reaches the most people in the shortest time." He says there's proof enough in the very existence of Conelrad, the radio network warning system.

On Music • Music has the effect of "civilizing." For the children it provides the "sensitivity and discipline" developed in a musical organization.

Mr. Bartell expands a bit on his theory of music as a therapy for children. He believes participation in an orchestra or other musical organization can be used as a safety valve for youngsters to blow off steam—"Give a kid a horn to blow," he advises, continuing, "There's the aspect of consideration of others when playing an instrument in a musical organization."

Mel Bartell married the former Dorothy Kinkel, a Coloradan, in 1942. That was during his army singing tour. A pianist, Mrs. Bartell filled in as his accompanist in Cheyenne when his own pianist had "shipped out."

The Bartells have purchased a home in Scarsdale, N.Y., a Westchester County suburb of New York City. Their children are Stephen 13, and Gregg 2.
EDITORIALS

The play off

ONE of the most persistent and odious rumors that radio has to contend with can be summed up in the word "payola." The charge that stations, and especially their deejays, are in the pay of record companies—companies offering money and other worldly goods to insure the plays needed to turn their releases into big sellers—has been made so often and so indiscriminately that the unwitting might think the blight afflicts the entire industry. It is a rumor that badly needs tracking down. If true, this fact should be brought into the open and dealt with. If not true, its falsity should be demonstrated.

This magazine has made a start in that direction. It assigned a team of reporters to make an investigation which has extended over many weeks. Their report is presented elsewhere in these pages. It is not conclusive, nor was it intended to be; a conclusive report would have to be based on an investigation at virtually every station. But it is a start which stations individually should pursue to its logical end—their own operations.

Readers of this report can hardly fail to reach the conclusion that the opportunities for payola are abundant. It is also obvious that some personnel succumb to the blandishments of pay-for-play promoters. But there is no evidence that the practice is anywhere near as widespread as the nagging rumor would make it seem. To the contrary, there is much evidence that music policies, record-selection systems and other controls employed at many major stations constitute a barrier which can be surmounted only with ingenuity if at all.

In the general investigation, however, no matter what the findings, can do the job that needs doing on payola. The task can be finished only by the stations themselves. Each management should undertake a thorough investigation of its own. If payola is found, it should be eliminated and safeguards erected against recurrence. Programming responsibility belongs to the station; so does commercial responsibility. Management cannot shirk one, and it should not wish to have diluted the profits that go with the other.

The last test

It is a part of our daily job to read a bushel of publicity releases distributed by radio and television stations. Many of those releases are based upon claims of journalistic enterprise. Station WZZZ will report, and hope to see it printed, that it was first on the air with the news of a bank robber's capture. KYYY will announce that its mobile unit got to an accident scene before the ambulance arrived.

Good for WZZZ and KYYY, we say. Spot news is important, and the medium which consistently reports it first—with accuracy—is bound to become the medium which most people turn to consistently when they want to know what's going on at that moment.

But spot news alone does not make a mature medium of journalism. There is more to contemporary history than the denoting of a fender at Main and Elm. Indeed most of the news worth the public's attention today cannot be gathered by chasing the calls on the police radio. The issues, the events, the personalities which are apt to have an important effect on the lives of the people will remain obscure unless illuminated by competent journalists. Are we arguing for more news-in-depth, more extensive digging, more careful presentation of the news on radio and TV? We are indeed. But even more we are arguing for a general improvement in the attitude of radio and television management toward its news responsibility.

On the evidence at hand, it is not unkind to say that the prevailing attitude of broadcast management toward news is flabby. With exceptions made the more conspicuous by the lethargy of their fellows, broadcasters have ignored their biggest chance to assert their position in the world of journalism. In a fight for a change in a law which permits exclusively to radio and television, newspapers have carried the attack while most broadcasters stayed at home counting their money.

We refer, of course, to the fight for relief from Sec. 315, the political broadcasting law.

The principle at stake in the controversy over Sec. 315 is fully understood by newspaper editors. It is the principle of forbidding government to exercise control over journalistic expression. The principle is so basic that it was written into the very first part of the Bill of Rights by the founders of the American government.

For all the quarter-century it has been a law, Sec. 315 has denied broadcasters the right to cover political campaigns intelligently. It was written, and has been retained, by legislators who were willing to flout the First Amendment for the selfish purpose of laying claim to time on the air to advance their own candidacies.

In the past few months more than 500 daily newspaper editorials have argued for reform in Sec. 315.

In the same time one network, CBS, and perhaps a dozen stations have broadcast editorials on the subject. Another score or so of broadcasters have gone on record with the House and Senate to urge relief. If others have privately advised their legislators of a desire to change the law, we are unaware of it.

A conference committee of Senate and House has now proposed a compromise amendment to Sec. 315. It is not the relief which must be ultimately won if broadcasting is to become a true instrument of journalism. But it is an improvement over the existing law.

The amendment faces opposition on the floor of both Senate and House from legislators who are unwilling to relinquish their control over radio and television. The test may come this week. There is no time for leisurely letter writing. Broadcasters who pretend to be involved in journalism should telegraph their support to their senators and congressmen.

If the managers of WZZZ and KYYY dispatch those wires now, their future reports of being first with a flash or speediest with an accident report will have more meaning.
