Clamor for codes • There's almost complete agreement in government circles that broadcasters could do much to extricate themselves from present plight by beefing up both television and radio codes—in content and application. Many federal officials have said this publicly. In private they're even more emphatic in their assertions that self-regulation—which in their view means tough codes with tough enforcement—is absolute necessity at this time. It's in recognition of this government feeling that NAB TV Code Review Board will submit amendments to NAB TV board Dec. 4 (story page 39). So far there's no indication of actions to strengthen NAB radio code which has seldom been mentioned in recent years.

There could be trap, however, at end of any head-long rush by tv or radio toward tighter self-regulation policies. High officials at FCC think it might be wise for FCC to embrace within its own rules any standards of self-regulation that television or radio come up with. That way there would be no question of industry-wide observance of those standards, these officials say.

Double jeopardy • Some government lawyers see strong possibility of criminal prosecution growing out of investigation of payola on radio-television. Sec. 317 of Communications Act, a civil law, requires identification on air of anyone who gives thing of value in exchange for broadcast mention. Secs. 501 and 502 of same act provide criminal penalties for violations of other sections. Hence, it is theorized, disc jockey who takes money or valuable gift for playing certain record can be prosecuted for crime if he doesn't identify giver. Penalties can be as severe as two years imprisonment, $10,000 fine, or both.

Reservation • Although present indications are that House Oversight Subcommittee will wait until first of next year to begin payola hearings (story page 30), don't dismiss possibility members might decide to open sessions in December. They sit Dec. 9 to question Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine. Staff member said last week House caucus room has been reserved for 10 days beginning Dec. 9 (Goldfine matter is not expected to exceed day or two) and that Subcommittee has some payola material well enough in hand to make start.

Lesson in rigging • Here's how ambitious government agency can milk current headlines. Federal Trade Commission's release on filing of its complaint against Colgate Dental Cream with Gardol (see page 71) starts out: "The 'protection shield' television commercial..." Second paragraph also refers to claim "in company's television advertising." But buried in third paragraph is simple clause which makes it clear that alleged advertising claim is not unique, which are..."See?

Early and late • These are happy days for Participating Programs Division (Today and Jack Paar Show) at NBC-TV. Gross for division is up 79.6% over last year, with Today up 120.2% and Paar up 161.5%. In dollars two shows will gross nearly $25 million this year, close to $13 million from Paar, close to $8 million from Today.

Petry's target • Luke-warm reception accorded spot tv by many major-tire and rubber companies (in favor of printed media) is setting at least one major-station representative company off on major sales effort. Edward Petry & Co., New York, is compiling facts and figures to show tire and rubber companies which are in spot tv sparringly or not at all, that this medium can be highly effective advertising tool.

Ghost town • Cunningham & Walsh has quietly dropped its Videotown survey which for past 10 years has annually profiled tv habits in New Brunswick, N.J. Reason is two-fold: (1) Gerald Lasker, former research chief and originator of Videotown, has left agency; (2) agency feels that survey has served its purpose, 10 years of tv studying is enough, medium has matured and research effort ought to be applied to other projects.

Color tv is one development that could bring Videotown back. C&W noticed in past few years that although color was only factor that could significantly change level of viewing habits, medium was not making noticeable headway in Videotown. If color moves up in commercial importance, agency plans to quickly revive its test city surveying.

TIO staffing • Carl J. Burkland, former executive vice president of WAVY-AM-TV Norfolk-Portsmouth and still stockholder in properties, will join Televison Information Office as consultant on special projects in connection with community relations, assisting Director Louis Hausman. Mr. Burkland, prior to his association with Virginia properties, was with CBS as general sales manager of Radio and TV Spot Sales and director of CBS station administration, and previously was general manager of WTOP Washington.

Ring problem • Whether or not NBC cancels Friday night fights, sponsored by Gillette, it's apparent that some network affiliates are disenchanted in light of programming controversy and that at least one other sport—professional wrestling, may suffer. WSAZ-AM-TV Huntington-Charleston, W. Va., has notified NBC it is cancelling fights effective Dec. 18. NBC has simply stated it is "reviewing" Friday fight situation but has not arrived at decision. Gillette, which has sponsored fights since 1944, wants them continued.

Professional wrestling, most popular in tv's early days, still is carried locally and on syndicated basis throughout country. It being generally recognized that these are staged shows rather than competitive sport, question arises whether they will be continued without radical change, either in eliminating make-believe, or in labelling them for what they are.

Price of virtue • "Even if it means the loss of most of our deejays and affects our ratings, we're determined to rid our stations of any semblance of payola. Those who have access to our microphones cannot work for two masters." So said George B. Storer Sr. in personally taking over direction of all supervisory program activities through installation of system of "quality control" (story page 31).

Mr. Storer believes management must take "short hold" on all programming and to this end manual was compiled long ago to effectuate control (manual available upon request at Miami headquarters). While headquarters' program executives have continuously monitored all programs to ascertain that public service and quality standards are maintained. Mr. Storer said new system of quality control entails daily monitoring. To date, three Storer station disc jockeys and one newscaster have been released or have resigned through institution of new policy.

People watch in summer, too • We need an audience all year long, Thomas B. Adams, president of Campbell-Ewald Co., asserts in this week’s MONDAY MEMO. Mr. Adams calls last summer’s programming “Midsummer Night’s Dilemma,” and says that such poor fare may have adversely affected fall shows as well. His solution centers around people whose big selling season is in the summertime. Page 23.

Curtain going up • FCC beating bushes to cast public hearings on programming beginning Dec. 7; it has gotten in touch with leading educators, administrators, critics and groups—running gamut from James B. Conant and Gloria Parker to labor unions and parent-teacher associations. Page 29.

Teeth for the code • NAB TV Board called into special session to consider proposed amendments to industry’s television code. Several amendments to language, approved by NAB TV Code Review Board, would state program and advertising standards in more specific language. Page 39.

Broadcast advertising on FTC docket • Broadcasters meeting with Federal Trade Commission Wednesday to establish closer liaison on guarding against misleading and false advertising. Network presidents plus NAB and TV Code Review Board executives have accepted FTC invitation. Page 40.

New rating service • Sindlinger & Co., Philadelphia, develops new TV rating service to provide both qualitative and quantitative measures of audiences. Reports, delivered to clients one week after telecast, are based on 1,600 interviews in 287 U.S. counties. Page 42.

11 honors for tv • Art Directors Club of Chicago makes annual awards in TV and print. A look at the television commercials chosen. Page 44.

More about ratings • Radio & Television Executives Society in New York hears research executives describe two “qualitative” rating services. Henry Brenner of TV-Q ratings predicts 10 winners, nine losers among this season’s new shows. Albert Sindlinger of Sindlinger & Co. criticizes “numbers only” research, announces new service to give something more. Page 46.

Jaguar prods dealer radio use • Car maker briefs dealers on radio advertising: what it can do and how to make it perform. Jaguar uses internationally famed racing car driver and vice president of company as its commercial announcer. Page 46.

Next summer in Los Angeles • With KFI taking over broadcast of entire 154-game schedule of baseball Dodgers, it’s likely there will be some problems about the station’s NBC network commitments. Page 51.

A statement on television

Television wins a daily vote of confidence in 45,000,000 American homes. More people choose to spend more time watching it than ever before. Yet today it also falls under the shadow of some ugly words—deceit, fraud, mediocrity, irresponsibility. We believe the shadow is blinding many observers to the substance. It is time to let some light in, to take an undistorted view of the facts.

Where does the shadow come from? It is cast, over many months past, by a few men who poisoned a few defunct programs in a single narrow segment of programming.

But it is a long shadow, so long and deep that it has blacked out some remarkable achievements—such as the television debuts of Laurence Olivier, Ingrid Bergman, Alec Guinness; the massive array of special programs from Astaire and Hope, to Shaw and Ibsen, to “Life in the Thirties” and Beethoven’s “Fidelio”; the alert, thorough coverage of Nikita Khrushchev’s U.S. visit that brought living history into the home. Apart from these peaks, the shadow has also blacked out television’s genuine progress in balanced programming that meets the full diversity of the nation’s viewing desires.

We at NBC do not make light of quiz-show skull-duggeries. We have never condoned them nor taken part in them. We do not deny we erred in trusting those who deceived us. Against this corruption, we have acted vigorously on our own and in unstinted cooperation with all official agencies.

NBC is the first network to have set up a permanent organization within its ranks devoted to the planning and execution of whatever new measures are needed to assure the highest ethical standards throughout our operations. We will crack down on improper practices wherever they may appear, in programming or advertising.

But NBC vigorously rejects the suggestion that the reprehensible conduct of a few individuals is in any sense representative of the character of the whole television industry. We reject the loose-minded notion that it reflects on the quality of our whole program service. We reject the theory that it is cause for such drastic measures as government control, creation of a “czar” or revamping our American system of broadcasting. Though we are dedicated to improving a schedule that already sets the medium’s standard for program balance, we also reject the easy course of hinting about grandiose schemes for television’s Utopia.
We affirm these principles:

1. NBC assumes complete responsibility to the public for what appears on the NBC Television Network.

2. NBC will present quiz and other audience participation shows for the millions of viewers who enjoy them—and who have a right to expect that we can and will safeguard the integrity of all our programs.

3. From all possible creative sources, within our own ranks and outside, NBC seeks constantly to satisfy the widest possible range of program tastes and interests—be it by Western or ballet, panel show or opera, original drama or news special, football or physics, religion or comedy. We present adventure shows—and shows that are adventures in concept, substance and form.

4. As the broadest of mass media, and one committed by law and its own well-being to serve the public interest, we have an obligation to provide the entertainment and relaxation for which millions of Americans bought their TV sets. We also have an obligation to inform, enlighten and inspire.

5. Just as NBC pioneered radio networking and black-and-white television, we propose to keep blazing the trail for color television, which adds new dimensions of beauty, meaning and impact to our medium.

We have confidence in the ability of the American people to distinguish between the sins of a handful of men and the solid effort and accomplishment of an industry that does its daily job under the closest public scrutiny in history.

National spot has become a full-fledged BASIC medium, each year enveloping more and more of advertisers' total marketing strategies. And for the best of reasons: the spot medium best enables you to concentrate advertising in markets where opportunities are greatest for your product category, and at the same time, bolster brand weaknesses in specific cities.

H-R too, has acquired a new mantle — the TOTAL SERVICE policy, which assures represented stations that a variety of research, promotion and programming services are at work building future sales — both national and local.

“Flags of Necessity”— how necessary?

The chances are about 50-50 the flag an American-owned oil tanker flies will not be Old Glory. Along the world’s sea lanes, beyond our coastalwise routes, it will usually be Panamanian, Liberian or Honduran. Un-American or even piracy? Not at all. If we are to understand why that flag happens to be a so-called “Flag of Necessity,” we cannot jump to quick conclusions. We must first face up to a few facts of international life.

Q. What makes a “Flag of Necessity” a necessity in the first place?
A. The answer lies in another phrase: “Freedom of the Seas.” Traditionally, this has meant freedom to compete for world cargoes. If a tanker cannot compete freely under one flag, it has two choices. It can drop out of world competition. Or of necessity, it can register under a flag such as one of those we listed.

Q. More recently, this right has come in for some sharp attack. Why?
A. Here’s where we come to our first fact of life. To compete for world cargoes, American tankers must meet or beat the world’s terms. And when our tankers try to match high U.S. operating costs with low European costs, they’re usually out of the running. To close the competitive gap, they turn from U.S. registry to “Flags of Necessity.”

Q. But if our tankers must fly these flags to survive, why the attack?
A. For one thing, much of the high cost of U.S. registry is labor cost. A U.S.-flag seaman gets about as much in two days as a European does in a week. When tankers turn to “Flags of Necessity,” the unions like to claim that we lose jobs to foreigners. They forget that, at our asking prices, the jobs never really existed in the first place.

Q. You suggest that these flags are attacked on other grounds as well.
A. The unions sometimes compound their argument with the label “coolie ships.” The facts say No. We quote Admiral Enory S. Land, former Chairman of the U.S. Maritime Commission: “These American companies maintain conditions, both regarding vessels and comforts of their crews, parallel with U.S.-flag ships.” Nor would insurance companies underwrite standard ships. In addition, these vessels are classified by American Bureau of Shipping and Lloyd’s Register of Shipping.

Q. Didn’t you mention earlier roughly half our tankers fly the U.S. flag?
A. Yes. All our tankers on domestic routes do. Under our law, they must. The fact is that whenever our companies can fly the U.S. flag, they want to and will.

Q. Do our “Flag of Necessity” tankers figure in our security plans?
A. Definitely. Our defense needs call for all the tanker tonnage we have. American companies now have under both U.S. registry and “Flags of Necessity” some 12 million deadweight tons. Our Joint Maritime-Navy group estimates our domestic defense needs alone total 10.5 million tons. And this doesn’t begin to count other needs. Our commitments to our allies, for one.

Q. Aren’t we making some allowance, too, for tankers that become obsolete?
A. We are. American companies have several million tons under construction or on order. These are planned as replacement tonnage for the large number of tankers which will be wearing out over the coming years. At Gulf, for example, we are currently spending $114 million to expand our domestic tanker fleet alone.

Q. If so many American-owned tankers are under “Flags of Necessity,” what assurance have we that we wouldn’t lose them in an emergency?
A. They are regarded as being every bit as much under U.S. control as U.S.-registered vessels. In the words of Clarence G. Morse, present Chairman of the Maritime Commission, “There is no question in my mind” that “Flag of Necessity” shipping is under effective control.

Q. Isn’t there some possible alternative to flying “Flags of Necessity”?
A. Yes, two have been suggested. First, earmarking U.S. money to subsidize American tankers registered under the U.S. flag. And second, registering our tankers under friendly European flags.

Q. We’ve granted subsidies before. Why shouldn’t we consider them here?
A. One good reason is the cost of subsidizing to American taxpayers. By the calculation of William C. White, president of Alcoa Steamship Company, the cost of transferring “Flag of Necessity” tonnage to U.S. registry would run between $400 and $500 million each year.

Q. Let’s turn to the possibility of registering with our European allies.
A. It offers more problems than possibility. On the one hand, any such action would weaken our defense interests. The European governments could claim first call on tankers under their flags. They could allow our world-wide bases a lower priority than theirs in making fuel deliveries. And economically, we’d be faced with a foreign tanker monopoly that could, for example, lead to price rises we’d be powerless to stop.

Q. Can American tankers use “Flags of Necessity” to dodge U.S. taxes?
A. They cannot. American companies pay full U.S. taxes on their earnings as they are returned here. They draw on the earnings they do not return to this country to pay for their operations and to finance building of new equipment.

You're the time buyer.

You're the boy we're counting on to spot these things. Here's a market with more drug sales than Toledo or St. Paul ... more gas station sales than Denver or Boston and you slipped up on it. Smidley, this Cascade Television network is a "must" buy as far as I'm concerned. Think of it, a market like that with just one television operation serving it all.

But, Smidley!

You're just concerned.

You're lipped.
KANSAS CITY: A BEAUTIFUL BUY

Beauty is evident everywhere in this market of more than a million persons.

Beauty in the flowing expressways of Kansas City's half-billion-dollar downtown redevelopment program. In the parks and residential areas. In fountains and sculpture like the internationally famous William Volker Memorial, "St. Martin of Tours."

Referred to as "an investor's dream" and with the "greatest growth possibility in America today," Kansas City's a buy that's a beauty. And your best radio buy here is KCMO. It's Kansas City's only 50,000-watt station, reaching out into the rural counties of four states, talking to six million persons.

If you're looking for a way to beautify your sales picture, look our way. Look to KCMO-Radio, serving a potential buying power of nearly two billion dollars.

Central figure in the last sculpture completed by Carl Milles is St. Martin of Tours. It stands amid fountains at the Kansas City cultural center.

MONDAY MEMO

from THOMAS B. ADAMS, president, Campbell-Ewald Co., Detroit

We need audience 52 weeks a year

T'ween 1958 and 1959 television ownership increased 3.5%. Were 1.5 million new tv homes. Nevertheless, during the summer of 1959, there was a 2.4% decrease in tv viewing, or 435,000 fewer homes were using their sets.

In comparing 1959 to 1958, the greatest decrease in tv usage starts in June. Also — the greatest decrease throughout the entire summer was during the 8-10 p.m. time period which supposedly represents prime tv time. This decrease can no longer be explained in terms of program shifting due to Daylight Saving Time. Video tape has taken care of that. It appears that this powerful advertising medium, television, gets comparatively lazy and ineffectual when summer comes.

This brings us to what I term a "Midsummer Night's Dilemma." Should we put first-rate commercials into second-rate shows? Other studies have clearly shown that the impact of commercials can be seriously reduced when viewer interest in the program itself has been reduced. Maybe we not only lose audience but lose commercial impact with the audience we retain. That's a matter of great concern to me and, I'm sure, to you.

No Budget Cut • For our major clients who are on summertime television, we do not reduce our commercial budgets. We do not use inferior talk — do not re-run commercials to a greater extent than we do in the wintertime. In other words, we must discharge our responsibility in the preparation of advertising as effectively June as we do in January. It seems logical that we should present this advertising on programs that are as attractive in the summer as are their counterparts.

But what about network television's summer schedule? Of 112 network programs scheduled weekly during the summer from 7:30 to 11 p.m. on Sunday through Saturday, 63 were re-runs. That's 56% of the nighttime scheduling. I wonder what would happen to the circulation of The Saturday Evening Post if it ran half of its February stories in the August issue?

Now, does there have to be a drop-off like this in the summertime because of outdoor activities, vacations or other interests? Evidently not. Daytime television, which is subject to few seasonal changes in terms of programming, has shown an increase in viewer-ship from summer 1959 over 1958. Both the number of homes viewing and the proportion of viewing among tv owners have increased substantially. It seems to be pretty apparent that nighttime programming is the villain of the piece.

According to July 1959 Nielsen data, there were 18,735,000 homes viewing tv during the period from 8 to 11 p.m., Monday through Sunday. With good commercials we could make a lot of valuable impressions on a lot of people with an audience like that. I submit that a network with a top-flight program can capture a huge hunk of this audience at any given time during the summer. With the proper discount structures, it can be a good media buy. But that's only the beginning.

It seems quite probable to me that better programming would add some millions of people to the total and summertime tv could back into its own as a medium.

Fall Hangover? • There's another facet to this story — another way of looking at the "Midsummer Night's Dilemma." It's possible you not only hurt summertime television by loading the channels with re-runs; you might very well be lessening the impact of fall television.

What's the solution? Maybe the answer lies somewhere in the area of good programming for people whose big selling season is in the summertime.

Isn't summertime a great opportunity to introduce new concepts and new ideas into television? And, incidentally, if you're going to bring on something new, give it some publicity in the summertime.

How about around-the-country programming during the summertime? It might be interesting to see what kind of shows could be created in Chicago and Minneapolis and maybe even Detroit for summertime presentation.

Maybe there should be summertime teams of creative people at the networks. All of the great directors and writers shouldn't take a summer hiatus.

Certainly we as advertising agents would have to have the courage to go along with fresh program ideas for summertime use. We would have to sell such ideas to our clients. But, honestly, during the past couple of summer seasons we haven't been offered very much.

Radio's Program Needs • As to radio programming, I would like to express a personal emotional sense of loss. I can't help looking back at the halcyon days when Jack Benny spelt J-E-L-L-O; when Death Valley Days was real Borax; when Crosby and Kraft were synonymous.

It's a shame that strong network programming seems to be going the way of the dinosaur and the dodo bird. Today, radio programming seems to be more and more a local affair and theuste station manager is the one who can present the most attractive commercial package.

These attractive commercial packages are fine, but they can only do a small part of the job of making radio an attractive buy. There's still need for strong programming, a need which the networks no longer fill.

When broadcasting people and advertising people shirk their responsibility of providing such programming, broadcast media begin to lose effectiveness.

This makes all of our jobs more difficult, because we need that audience 52 weeks a year.

Thomas B. Adams has been president of Campbell-Ewald Co. since February 1955. He began his professional career with the agency 15 years ago after wartime service in the Naval air corps. He broke in as radio writer and contact man, later served as a Chevrolet account executive on used car and truck advertising. He was named vice president and assistant to the president in 1955 when his duties were expanded to include administrative work, new business activities, personnel recruitment and other varied activities.
I want you to know how deeply we appreciate WHBF's continuous interest in broadcasting the 'Messiah'. When a station is willing to give an oratorio priority over a basketball game, it gives many of us hope for the cultural future of our country.

The deeper the roots... the stronger the tree!

Of course, WHBF broadcasts basketball games, also. Both types of entertainment—games and oratorios—have large audiences in the WHBF coverage area. However, meticulous care is used in the selection of all material that is broadcast. Varied, superior entertainment gets preference.

The program department at WHBF has 35 years of experience, and an intimate knowledge of its audience tastes and preferences. The one-half million people in this area are highly literate and discerning—a truly adult audience with buying power to indulge in quality. WHBF—"the Station of Quality in the Quad-Cities"—caters to them.

Payola is 'not typical'
EDITOR:
The quiz scandal has damaged public confidence in both the broadcasting industry and in the public relations business. Nobody is interested in examining whether the shady or corrupt practices described are typical of either field. On the contrary, the industry's critics assume they are quite typical, and this assumption was reinforced when a department store head referred to payoffs as 'the way things are done in this industry.'

So maybe the record ought to be set straight.

Public relations agencies work with television and radio programs on only one basis: as a source of interesting, entertaining, and/or important program material. If we supply producers and program staffs with worthwhile material that fits their program requirements, they will use it. If not, we are out of luck. As we deserve to be.

The 'if not' is where the trouble starts. The company or individual who was unable to develop worthwhile program material resorted to a payoff instead. The 'plug' he got in return (in one case cited, it cost $10,000 or $15,000) was just that—a 'plug.' It told no product or company story. Frequently, it was used in an unfavorable or undignified context. From a sound businesslike point of view, it was worthless. The money could have more profitably been spent in paid broadcast advertising. Besides corrupting the giver and the receiver of the bribe, it degraded the program content because it added nothing of value to the audience.

NAB Boards called to Dec. 4 meeting

Approach of FCC and Federal Trade Commission probes into broadcasting led NAB Nov. 25 to call special Washington meeting of Joint Board of Directors for noon Dec. 4. Call was issued by President Harold E. Fellows. Earlier in week he had called special meeting of NAB TV Board to consider revision of tv code (see early story page 39).

TV Board will meet at 9 a.m. on Dec. 4 at Shoreham Hotel, Washington. Agenda calls for consideration of several amendments to tv code adopted by NAB TV Code Review Board. Text of proposed amendments has been mailed to TV Board members.

NAB explained joint boards "will consider legislative and regulatory matters before Congress and federal agencies." Forty-three members of joint boards were asked to be prepared to stay over in case meeting runs into second day.

Joint session will take up proposed recommendations to FCC on policy basis. Association staff is preparing material for directors. Members of Radio Board will not sit as such at meeting but as members of joint boards.

NAB announced Nov. 27 Mr. Fellows and Donald H. McGannon (Westinghouse stations) would be first two witnesses before FCC. Mr. Fellows will cover general industry topics; Mr. McGannon will appear as chairman of NAB TV Code Review Board. Third witness will be named to explain NAB radio standards. NAB plans to submit brief on FCC's authority in connection with matters covered in hearing notice.

Avalanche • NAB's obvious concern over avalanche of congressional and regulatory pressures was behind quickened pace last week. After TV Board meeting had been called it was pointed out that FCC's notice of Dec. 7 hearing (see story page 29) included radio as well as tv and that injection of payola charges required presence of radio directors.

Payola phase involves Internal Revenue Service as well as Justice Dept. and Capitol Hill. President Fellows commented Nov. 25 on payola charges appearing in press. He said entire industry shouldn't suffer because of acts of small group.

"The reputation of a great medium of communication and the thousands of honest people who work in it should not be blackened by the misdeeds of a few," he said, adding that to his knowledge "management has taken firm steps to correct the situation in every case in which the facts have pointed to 'payola' in any shape."

ANA: FTC watches ad effect, not technique

It's not artifice itself in tv commercials that worries Federal Trade Commission so much as artifice's intent and effect on viewers.

In essence is FTC position reported Nov. 27 by Assn. of National Advertisers after conference with FTC Chairman Earl Kintner on deceptive and non-deceptive uses of tv visual techniques. ANA said Chairman Kintner had reviewed its report.

"FTC recognizes a rule of reason," report said. "A theatrical artifice, to be condemned by the Commission, must represent a material deception as to the characteristics, performance or appearance of a product. Incidental artifice required by the nature of the medium, for somewhat heightened effects, etc., are not of concern to the Commission.... In general, FTC is not concerned with what goes on in the act of bringing a tv picture to the screen—rather they are concerned with what the viewer sees."

Under FTC policy, ANA said, theatrical or technical devices can be classified into following three categories (first two "probably acceptable" but last "unacceptable" for reasons of "material misrepresentation"): (1) those to make product seem to perform or appear on tv screen as it actually would if viewed through naked eye under normal conditions of use; (2) those to present product as attractively as possible, i.e., some 'cosmetic glorification'; (3) those which imply properties or performance product does not possess and which are likely to affect decision to purchase.

Case by Case • ANA cautioned members that "FTC is proceeding on a case-by-case basis and general formulæ cannot be indiscriminately relied upon."

Report said FTC is "particularly concerned" about "(1) competitive claims; they feel that 'Product X' must get fair treatment—the equal of that given to the advertiser's own product" and "(2) tests or other supposed proofs of advertising claims which are not honestly or fully presented or which in fact fall short of what they are set forth to be."

ANA said Chairman Kintner put responsibility for correcting advertising abuses squarely on advertisers, telling them, in effect: "You have the strongest weapon of all—the money bags. It is about time you started to use it.... If you ... do not clear this up you will kill the goose—and you and our economy will suffer."

Report also said many ANA members already have started reviewing their tv commercials and several have moved toward closer supervision.

FCC hearing list

Big names FCC is soliciting for its radio-tv hearings (see story, page 29) were not among those who filed notices of appearances before deadline Nov. 25. Among those telling Commission they wanted to testify at hearing, beginning Dec. 7, were ABC, CBS, NBC, NAB, Springfield Broadcasting Co. (owner of three Massachusetts uhf stations), Storer Broadcasting Co., NBC-TV affiliates, American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, Scharf & Baron (Washington law firm), Joint Council on Educational Tv, Federal Communications Bar Assn., National Assn. of Educational Broadcasters and KTTV (TV) Los Angeles. Pierson, Ball & Dowd, Washington, filed comments in behalf of 20 stations.

Justice, FCC meet

Last full dress meeting of Justice Dept. officials with broadcasters and government agencies that have interest in rigged tv quiz show scandals took place Nov. 25 in two-hour meeting with full FCC. This followed by five days meeting between Justice Dept. and FTC.

Attorney General was charged last October by President Eisenhower to look into quiz show issue with view to considering legislation or prosecutions. Attorney General William P. Rogers said then that he would submit report to President before Congress resumes next month (BROADCASTING, Oct. 26).

Justice probe started off with meetings between government officials and all three network presidents in October and November (BROADCASTING, Nov. 2).

Networks divide on how to meet crisis

Top management of all television networks have met twice in efforts to arrive at unified plan of action to meet current investigatory crisis, but have divided into two widely separated camps. BROADCASTING learned Friday (Nov. 27).

First meeting was called by Sigurd S. Larmon, board chairman of Young & Rubicam, Nov. 13. Details of that meeting and subsequent exchanges became public Nov. 26. Mr. Larmon advanced plan for creation of high-level citizens' advisory committee to oversee national television policy. Committee would be supported by advertisers, agencies and broadcasters. NBC, alone among three networks, supported Larmon plan in principle. CBS and ABC took position that responsibility for running TV belonged exclusively to broadcasters.

Second meeting of top management of all networks was called night of Nov. 24 by William S. Paley, CBS chairman. BROADCASTING learned at that meeting it reportedly became evident that no accord could be reached. At week's end, NBC was understood to be considering appointment of its own advisory committee whose members would be prominent citizens outside broadcasting and advertising.

Intellectual void

Broadcasting industry was chided for "its almost total lack of intellectual leadership" by Robert D. Swezey, executive vice president and general manager of WDSU-AM-TV New Orleans, in keynote address scheduled for delivery Nov. 29 at opening of Pennsylvania State U. communications forum. Mr. Swezey said public "is not really getting the information it needs fully to approach the significance of happenings at home and abroad."

Control issue hit

Any move toward government control of either educational or commercial TV is objectionable. So agreed panel members at Nov. 25 "Education and TV" luncheon of Radio & Television Executives Society in New York, but with variation.

John P. Cunningham, Cunningham & Walsh board chairman, thought federal government might provide "seed" money for ETV but would have communities "take it from there"; Irving Gitlin, CBS News creative projects executive, warned of danger in permitting government to set any standards in TV, and John F. White, National Educational TV & Radio Center president, said ETV would be receptive to government funds but not to government ownership. Mr. White also warned against government being goaded by quiz exposures to act in commercial TV arena, asserting, "We cannot legislate morality."

Catv bid denied

By 4-1 vote, FCC denied proposal to reopen catv docket (12443) and invite comments on rulemaking to prohibit catv systems from duplicating programs of local station through pickup of broadcasts of second station. FCC Chairman John C. Doerfer was dissenter in vote taken Nov. 25. Similar proposal is contained in Senate bill which was reported favorably last summer by Senate Commerce Committee (BROADCASTING, Sept. 7).

NOW CASTING: AN FCC SPECTACULAR

Sure-fire newsmakers sought as witnesses for December hearings

The FCC last week undertook a personal notification campaign to build up what it hopes will be a star-studded cast of witnesses for its all-embracing programming hearing that begins Dec. 7.

Individual commissioners and staff officials have been spreading word of the forthcoming hearing high and wide. Among those contacted:

- James B. Conant, former president of Harvard, former high commissioner and ambassador to Germany, chairman of the National Defense Research Committee during World War II and most recently author of a two-year study of secondary education in the United States under a Carnegie Foundation grant.

- John J. McCloy, chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, Assistant Secretary of War in World War II, former president of the World Bank, former high commissioner to Germany, and a confidante of President Eisenhower.

- J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI.

- Gloria Parker, who describes herself as "the ubiquitous redhaired songwriter," crusader against rock 'n' roll and a constant battler against networks and Broadcast Music Inc. - with courts of law and stockholder meetings as her battlefields.

Others whose names have been mentioned as worthy of being informed about the hearings and some of whom have been contacted in behalf of the FCC are:

Dr. Grayson Kirk, Columbia U.; Dr. Irvin Stewart, former president, U. of West Virginia and former FCC commissioner; Dr. Logan Wilson, U. of Texas; Dr. Theodore Peterson, U. of Illinois; Dr. Charles Siepmann, New York U.; Dr. Ralph B. Daughon, Auburn U.

Gilbert Seldes, critic, U. of Pennsylvania; Norman Cousins, Saturday Review; Harry Skornia, National Assn. of Educational Broadcasters; Mrs. Clara Logan, National Assn. for Better Radio & Television; Philip Cortney, president of Coty Inc.

In addition to these individuals, scores of organizations have been nudged by FCC heralds. Among them are:

American Civil Liberties Union, League of Women Voters, National Parent-Teacher Assn., American Assn. of University Women, National Education Assn., religious groups, labor organizations, journalists, publishers and lawyers.

The decision to spread the word to selected individuals was taken at meetings of four commissioners Nov. 20 and 23. The four: Comrs. Robert T. Bartley, Robert E. Lee, Frederick W. Ford and John S. Cross. FCC Chairman John C. Doerfer was in Chicago and the Midwest over the weekend. Mr. Doerfer was one of the principal speakers at the TVB meeting in Chicago (BROADCASTING, Nov. 23).

The object of the solicitation campaign, it was explained by one FCC official, was to insure that the FCC hears from people "whose thoughts on the subject will be meaningful and who have an informed opinion."

The actual arrangements for the hearings are under the supervision of five-man staff committee. This comprises Harold G. Cowgill, Broadcast Bureau chief; Joseph Nelson, transfer and renewals; Louis Stevens, rules and standards; H.H. Goldin, economics; and Ashbrook P. Bryant, senior attorney in the Office of Network Study. Mr. Bryant will act as FCC counsel at the hearings.

Impelled by the tv quiz scandals and the impending payola investigations, the FCC early last month ordered a full-scale review of national policy on broadcasting (BROADCASTING, Nov. 16).

In addition to "policies, practices, mechanics and surveillance" over programs, the Commission also included in the sweeping inquiry such matters as advertising, whether the FCC has the legal authority to regulate programming and whether the Communications Act should be revised.
Like a string of Chinese firecrackers, attacks on radio and television programming and advertising exploded everywhere last week and puffed up curious clouds of new and sometimes unrelated issues. Broadcast management danced along behind each pop and bang, furiously stamping on the fires as the critics did their best to fan them into conflagrations. At week's end it was hard to decide who was making more headway—the stampers or the fanners. In this special report the week's main events are summarized.

High-level meeting • FTC has scheduled a conference Dec. 2 with TV Code Review Board Chairman Donald H. McGannon and all network presidents. Object: to set up closer liaison to curb misleading advertising on the air (see story page 40).

TV Board summoned • Special meeting of NAB video directors is to be held, with Dec. 4 selected as date, to vote on amendments designed to strengthen language of Television Code (see story page 39). Amendments have been approved by Code Board and now require approval of NAB tv directors.

Follow-up • All the principals involved in the wave of disc jockey firings and resignations (see below) will be questioned by investigators from the House Legislative Oversight Subcommittee, Raymond W. (Bill) Martin, staff member, said last week.

He said preliminary investigations now are being made on leads furnished the subcommittee, some giving "substantial" evidence and some not. Results will be evaluated and analyzed and presented to the subcommittee at an executive session scheduled when it meets Dec. 9 to question Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine, he said.

Mr. Martin said the current phase of the subcommittee's investigations is concentrated on "payola" in all its forms. These have been described as payment by record companies to disc jockeys for plugging tunes on the air, payment for free plugs on individual programs and fraudulent advertising.

He said the December executive session will be strictly for the purpose of determining the subcommittee's next move and will feature no closed-door testimony from witnesses involved in the payola probe. Although he would make no prediction on whether the subcommittee will hold hearings during December, he indicated it would put pressure on the staff to get cases ready for hearing soon after the executive session and said he felt that if there were any plans for December hearings they would have been announced already.

Where there's a will • If disc jockeys are accepting bribes to play records on the air, "I am sure we can find the ways and means of stopping it," Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich.), ranking Republican on the House Legislative Oversight Subcommittee, said last week. He said he has received complaints but no proof that some disc jockeys are paid by record companies to plug certain records.

"If a disc jockey accepts $1,000 to play a record, that fact ought to be known," he said, adding that "this is a deliberate, deceitful misrepresentation to the viewing audience."

It's widespread • Gil Newsome, KWK St. Louis, told AP he had been approached many times in 14 years as a disc jockey but had never accepted a payoff. "If I were caught doing this, I would immediately jeopardize a $50,000-a-year salary," he said. He added that every d.j. in St. Louis has been approached to take payment for performance of records.

Law reaches out • In St. Louis, U.S. Attorney Harry Richards said he'll investigate to determine if any St. Louis disc jockey violated federal laws by accepting pay from record companies. He said he'll check with the Treasury Dept. to see if all income has been reported and with the Post Office Dept. to see if any mail fraud is involved. Meanwhile, in Los Angeles, County Attorney William McKesson said in an interview on KNX Los Angeles that California has no statute making payola a criminal offense.

In New York, it's illegal • In New York, District Attorney Frank Hogan said he has not called in any disc jockeys for questioning but declined to say whether he contemplates doing so in the future. He said proof of payola could lead to a bribery charge against radio-tv personnel. His office has subpoenaed books and records of 11 recording companies in New York (At Deadline, Nov. 23) and announced it will question Sidney Nathan, president of King Records Inc., one of the 11 companies, about statements Mr. Nathan made in Cincinnati describing the firm’s payments to disc jockeys.

Mr. Nathan said his company had paid off disc jockeys all over the country to play his records, that he has checks to prove it and he would turn the checks over to Mr. Hogan’s office. He said his firm has never tried to hide payments it made to disc jockeys and always made payments by check, not cash. He called the payola situation a “dirty, rotten mess . . . It is getting so you can’t get your records played unless you pay.”

Philadelphia story • In Philadelphia, a record distributor said he had paid thousands of dollars to get records played on local radio stations and estimated that perhaps 10% of that city’s disc jockeys took payola. Edward D. Cohn, proprietor of Lesco Distributors, said he paid disc jockeys $5 to $100 to play records he was pushing, but stopped when it got too expensive. He said he understood Philadelphia was reputed to be the worst city in the country for payola.

He said he helped push one record owned by local disc jockey Kaye Williams until it got too big for him to handle. He then turned it over to Ember Record Co. of New York and that it was issued with the label, “Wildcat Music.” Anthony Mammarella, who resigned as producer of two ABC-TV programs featuring Dick Clark under an ABC-TV ultimatum (BROADCASTING, Nov. 23), is a partner in Wildcat Music. Mr. Cohn said Mr. Clark played the record on his show before it was sold for national distribution.

New CBS policy • CBS Radio took action last week which concerned all of its owned-and-operated stations—WCBS New York, WCAU Philadelphia, WEEI Boston, KMOX St. Louis, KCBS San Francisco and KNX Los Angeles. A directive was issued specifying that station personalities must submit the names of all musical selections to be played to the station program manager at least 24 hours before air time and the schedule must be strictly adhered to. Directive also forbids “plugs” for books, movies, restaurants, plays or other events without management approval. Infraction penalty: dismissal.

Westinghouse policy • An inter-office announcement outlining Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. policy on payola: “WBC policy has always held payola to be reprehensible and impairs a station’s programming. For this and other strong reasons it has been expressly forbidden. We have taken every reasonable and practical precaution against this practice which regrettably has existed far too long in the furiously competitive record industry. However, in the final analysis the entire question in any station, certainly to include WBC stations, rests on the honesty of the people involved. If this is lacking, no amount of casing or regulation will be effective or adequate substitutes. Our talent have indicated that they are vitally concerned with the seriousness of the payola question and we have confidence in their reliability.”

WBC stations are: WBZ-AM-FM-TV Boston, KYW-AM-FM-TV Cleveland, KPIX (TV) San Francisco, WBBZ-AM-FM-Springfield (Mass.), KDKA - AM - FM - TV Pittsburgh, WOWO Fort Wayne, KEX-AM-FM Portland (Ore.), WIND-AM-TV Chicago and WIZ-TV Baltimore.

Los Angeles action • KABC Los Angeles, ABC-owned outlet, has obtained no-payola affidavits from its disc jockeys while KFJF there plans to do so promptly. KFWB Los Angeles has had long standing such a provision in its employment contract.

KDAY Santa Monica, Calif., gave its personalities a lie detector test and filmed the event. The obvious? KTFA (TV) there was to telecast it at least it.

Affidavits in Chicago • WJJID Chicago collected affidavits from announcers and record personnel denying that they have received payola. Station management said other Plough Broadcasting Co. stations are following the same affidavit procedure. These are: WMPS Memphis, WOCOP - AM - FM Boston, WCAO-AM-FM Baltimore and WPLO-AM Atlanta.

Making payola pay • WPAC Patchogue, N.Y., intends to make payola legitimate, thereby deshrouding the practice of its sinister allure. How? WPAC will pay the record someone wants ‘pushed’ and give it 100-words of “commercial” or build-up for the price of the station’s regular one-minute spot rate. For one-half the one-minute spot rate, WPAC will give a “sponsor ID” (“here’s Joe Blow’s new record ‘Payola Polka’”) and play the disc. WPAC emphasizes, however, it will continue to play all new records according to their individual merits as it has always done. No charge, of course.

The obvious answer • The Now Hear This program on KGO San Francisco beeper-phoned disc jockeys at KFRC, KYA, KOBY, KSPO and KEBW San Francisco, as well as KGO, and asked, “Have you accepted payola?” The answer was a universal “no” although some admitted to receiving minor gifts.

Foreign payola • Laborite Roy Mauro calls for a payola probe in British broadcasting last week unleashed loud protests from all segments of the radio-TV industry. It also unearthed the fact that the major disc firms there earlier had agreed to a secret no-payola "charter" because "he saw what was happening in Africa." Australian Postmaster General Charles Davidson said he was going to investigate possible payola in that country and would question disc jockeys at a convention in Canberra.

News wires even tagged as "payola" a story from Italy last week about the arrest of former radio adviser Filippo Pazzaglia. The charge: he collected tens of thousands of dollars falsely from 1,300 would-be singers; he had set up an Academy of Light Music and promised "glory and fame" to winners of song festivals to be sponsored by the school.

'Grey' area • House Legislative Oversight Subcommittee Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.), in a filmed interview with KOTV (TV) Tulsa aired Nov. 20, said there is a "grey" area involved in the question of whether federal regulation is needed to correct the TV quiz show scandals.

He said he didn't feel the broadcast media have lost the respect of Americans and that radio and TV are "just as strong within their community as they've ever been." He added: "A mistake has been made and the American people have been deceived as a result, but I think everyone will benefit by it."

He denied that he had made public comments on subcommittee action before actual evidence was uncovered. Asked whether he thought it was ethical for staff member Richard Goodwin to sell a story on subcommittee activities to Life magazine, Rep. Harris said: "I did not know that he was paid and I don't know yet that he was paid." He said Mr. Goodwin consulted with him about the Life article, but that he understood "it was to be little immundoes affecting Goodwin's own life. I did not understand that it would be anything in connection with the committee."

Whether publicity from the investigation will help him politically, Rep. Harris said that "will have to be determined as time goes on."

Put teeth in the TV code • This is one way broadcasters can clean up their business, FCC Comr. Robert E. Lee said last week. Perhaps, he suggested, networks could refuse to affiliate with any station which is not a code subscriber.

Comr. Lee made the point during a new panel recording session last Tuesday in Washington by News Assoc. Inc., Washington representative for Radio Press International, New York. The taped interview, with Herbert Gordon of News Assoc. as moderator, included Earl Voss, Washington Evening Star; Earl Austin, Broadcasting; and Bruce Morton, News Assoc., and was fed to subscribing RPI stations throughout the country.

Mr. Lee also acknowledged he had changed his mind about the licensing of new networks. Two years ago, he said, he was against this move, but recent events have caused him to change his mind. He emphasized, however, that he did not think the FCC should impose any more regulation on networks directly than it does now indirectly. The Commission's network rules apply directly to stations but police network-station relationships.

'Permissive attitude' of FCC • That's at the root of broadcasting's ills today, a joint letter to Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.) declared last week. It was sent by the Broadcasting Commission of the Chicago Board of Rabbis and the radio-tv department of the Church Federation of Greater Chicago. Copies went to FCC Chairman John Doerfer, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) and others.

The letter praised Rep. Harris' probe of industry malpractices but urged "a greater concern with the basic problem of the use of the broadcast media in the public interest." Issues raised: distribution of sustaining programs, airing of local live programs and need for discussion programs in key listening periods. The religious groups charged FCC's failure to act "has created an attitude of hopelessness and despair."

Idle idol worship • Nathan Strauss, board chairman of WMCA New York, criticized print media in his air editorial Nov. 22, for taking undue advantage of TV's dilemma and failing to clean up the weeds in its own journalistic jungle. He said all TV certainly is not bad just because of the sins of the few and asked if the scandals are not symptomatic of the era. He concluded: "WMCA believes that all of us are too ready to make the television industry a whipping boy, the scapegoat of our own sins. Cheating in the television medium is a symptom of a disease which afflicts the U.S.A. in 1959. That disease was diagnosed by the philosopher William James as 'the moral flabbiness born of the exclusive worship of the bitch-goddess Success.'"

Peculiar answer • Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey said in Toledo Nov. 20 the TV 'rigging scandal' occurred "while official Washington sat by dumb, stupid and indifferent." He criticized "the bumbling, inept, myopic John C. Doerfer, FCC Chairman, who let TV come to a pretty pass," as fitting the pattern of "mediocre" federal appointments of the Eisenhower administration.

Regimen off NBC diet • NBC-TV has dropped TV commercials for Regimen, a diet tablet manufactured by Drug Research Corp., from the Today schedule. The action followed the TV 13 move by the New York District Attorney's office against suspected "false and misleading" advertising when it seized books, records and kinescopes from both advertiser and agency (Kaster, Hilton, Chesley, Clifford & Atherton).

Regimen, a proprietary product sold over the counter, is advertised as a reducing pill. Its claims, according to the District Attorney's office, are being studied to determine if there is violation of New York state law. It was with Regimen, it was learned, that NBC-TV had a battle about two years ago. At that time the network rejected copy and commercials which did not conform to NBC's "standards." The network's continuity and acceptance staff suggested changes which the advertiser turned down. Last year negotiations were resumed and the new approach was found acceptable.

NBC-TV still felt the Regimen advertising aired on the network was acceptable but in view of the publicity given the product and alleged claims made for it in other media, it was necessary to drop the commercials.

Charges FCC laxity • Rep. Robert N. Giaimo (D-Conn.) last week charged that the FCC, instead of trying to improve programming by warning offending stations their licenses are in danger of being lost, prefers "to cozy up to the industry it is charged with regulating." He recalled FCC refusal to hold hearings on several radio licenses in Atlanta although its staff recommended them.

Not radio's garbage • TV quiz scandal is TV's own mess and not radio's, Kevin B. Sweeney, Radio Advertising Bureau president, made clear in a talk to the San Francisco Advertising Club. He felt however, criticism of TV "has now reached absurd proportions." Mr. Sweeney disagreed with NAB President

Harold E. Fellows' Nov. 16 statement that all broadcasting must assume responsibility for the quiz scandal. The RAB head asserted, "I cannot imagine any radio station assuming any of the responsibility for this scandal. Radio runs a tidy household and we certainly are not to blame for the dust that's under tv's carpet."

NBC closes show • The Jan Murray program, Treasure Hunt, winds up on NBC-TV Dec. 4 at Mr. Murray's request, according to NBC. Two show staffers had been mentioned as taking money, Robert E. Kinner, NBC president, told Congressional investigators after a network probe. The two, not named, were discharged. Mr. Murray said the integrity of the show was not in question. The network signed him to a new long-term contract based on guest appearances and a pilot film for a situation comedy series in which he would star. NBC-TV Dec. 7 starts a game show, Play Your Hunch, in the Monday-Friday 10:30-11 a.m. spot.

The last word • Now Time Inc. answers NBC Board Chairman Robert Sarnoff, who tweaked Time’s nose for publishing criticism of tv quiz shows but failing to do anything about removing or investigating said shows carried on its owned-tv outlets (At Deadline, Nov. 23). Time Inc. Broadcasting Vice President Weston C. Pullen Jr. said, "Back in 1924, Time Inc. practically invented the quiz show on radio with The Pop Question Game, an audience participation news quiz based on the news of the week in Time magazine. Mr. Sarnoff, referring to our failure to act upon Time’s 1957 disclosures about rigged quiz shows, pops a very good question. Despite our sentimental link with the quiz format, we should have dropped the programs from our stations’ schedules the moment the information came to our attention. I regret that we did not. Like Mr. Sarnoff and others, we learned a lesson."

Noting the fine public service record of "carefully managed" Time Inc. stations, Mr. Pullen said, "We have not, as yet, met the standards in local programming that our own magazines have called for. But that is our aim and we are glad to accept Mr. Sarnoff’s challenge to try to reach it. However, we must depend upon the networks for presentations beyond the reach, resources—and responsibility—of local stations."

Government ratings? • The president of Trendex Inc., Edward G. Hynes Jr., agreed with Rep. Frank Kowalski (D-Conn.) last week that federal regulation of ratings might work. But he said there are "many sides" to federal regulation of tv ratings and he’d like to see the law first.

Mr. Hynes debated with Rep. Kowalski in a program aired as a public service by WCCC Hartford, Conn. The program was offered to other Connecticut stations and was accepted by WAVZ New Haven.

Rep. Kowalski described his proposal, made in a wire to Chairman Oren Harris of the House Legislative Oversight Subcommittee, that tv rating systems be federally regulated and licensed because, he felt, they hold con-

TELE-URBIA:
The Market-Media Continuum

(This gets deep later on)

There's a new reality in marketing. Corinthian's name for it is Tele-Urbia. The Einstein-like phrase above describes it beautifully. Now all we have to do is define the description. Hold onto your hats.

America's flowing, exploding population is changing conventional marketing ideas. Data for traditional "metro markets" fail to reflect the change. New residential, industrial and transportation patterns alter marketing and media patterns. Industry disperses. City department stores and supermarket chains become retail networks serving scattered focal points for shoppers. In customs, spending power, and consumption, farm families look like suburban families. New transportation networks tie clusters of miniature metropolises together around larger metropolitan centers.

What medium ties the clusters together? Television. In communication between seller and consumer the clusters—and areas between—are made cohesive by the television signal.

That's the new dimension of marketing. The medium employed as the major sales instrument delineates the market covered, transcends city, county and state boundaries, forms a market-media continuum. Corinthian's name—Tele-Urbia—suggests the urban origin of a television signal whose contour determines the size of a market. The name is new. The concept isn't.

Anheuser-Busch recognized the concept in marketing Busch Bavarian beer. They discarded conventional metro market definitions, marked out "media coverage areas," built a distribution pattern based on television signals, fashioned sales territories, wholesalers' coverage areas, and retail effort after television's superior market coverage, achieved signal success in a remarkably short period.

The Busch Bavarian experience points the way to a profound change in marketing theory and practice. Key to the change is television.

In purely physical terms—ignoring positive values of impact, sight, sound and motion—television alone meets modern marketing requirements.

Responsibility in Broadcasting

THE CORINTHIAN
Mr. Hynes said he had no objection to congressional scrutiny of tv rating systems methods and said if the government wants to subsidize larger-scale area measurements it might be a good idea. But he questioned the need for regulation, feeling private industry should regulate itself.

If results of ratings research did not meet advertisers' needs, Mr. Hynes said, a rating firm would have "exactly the same chance of staying in business as the Standard Oil Co. if it tried selling water through its gasoline pumps."

Rep. Kowalski said a "mania" for high ratings can be blamed for generating the "climate" which allowed the tv quiz scandals to flourish. He attributed a statement to David Sarnoff, RCA board chairman, that ratings are "murder by decimal point," referring to discrepancies between findings of various ratings concerns in measuring the same program's audience.

Rigging and junk • Rigged radio ratings have force-fed the public "a steady diet of rock 'n' roll junk," according to a statement to UPI by H.A. Crowl, president-general manager of WAVI Dayton, Ohio. "Payola is giving radio a black eye, but wait until the rating story comes out," he said. He added only 57 out of 9,117 newspaper ballots showed a preference for rock 'n' roll after the station switched from its popular-classical format to "junk" as an experiment. It's now back to the regular format.

Stateside stand • Federal regulation of the broadcasting industry should not go beyond present bounds, according to Tennessee Assn. of Broadcasters. At its Nov. 20 meeting TAB unanimously adopted a resolution setting forth the belief that broadcasters still are best able to govern the industry. No federal agency should be given or assume additional powers because of the present excitement over rigged quiz shows, the association contended.

Block is clean • "They just don't approach me," said Martin Block, WABC New York, called dean of the disc jockeys and one of the most successful in the business. But he recalled he "once received a record with a $10 bill attached." It was returned. And Bob Moss, his executive producer, added, "Mr. Block is above payola; he is just too big."

NAB TV BOARD TO ACT ON CODE

Show rigging, misleading ads covered

The first major industrywide decision in the effort to shore up broadcasting's self-regulatory structure will be reached this week.

At issue: Whether to wedge some plain, specific language into the NAB tv Code. NAB's tv Board of Directors will do the deciding.

Emergency procedure was set up at a Nov. 24 meeting of NAB headquarters' officials after informal conferences with board members and other tv broadcasters.

NAB President Harold E. Fellows said after the conferences that G. Richard Shafto, WIS-TV Columbia, S.C., Tv Board chairman, had been contacted and the directors' meeting would be called. The date was set for Friday, Dec. 4, in Washington.

Changes Pending • Several amendments have been drafted by the NAB tv Code Review Board. All are designed to make code language so specific that show rigging and misleading advertising will be clearly covered.

Two main steps are planned in the tv code structure—1, the new amendments, and 2, stiffer enforcement machinery. Main Tv Board attention Dec. 4 will be devoted to the first step, according to Donald H. McGannon (Westinghouse stations), chairman of the tv code enforcement agency.

The amendments were drafted by the code board at Los Angeles in mid-November (BROADCASTING, Nov. 23). Tentative language was agreed on after a thorough round of discussion that went into the impact of a stronger code on the industry. The rhetoric was refined by the code staff and final language is now ready for the necessary tv Board approval. NAB refused to make public the language but it is known to cover three points:

- Definite wordage designed to prevent briefing of quiz and game contestants or rigging of programs.
- Rules governing interviews and discussions. The aim—to make clear to viewers any production or rehearsal devices that might otherwise be deceptive.
- New language laying out in specific terms what should be done, and what should not be done, to keep commercials at a high ethical level and to prevent fraudulent advertising.

Industry Reaction • Chairman McGannon's call for code support began to take effect last week. The first two days, for example, drew 25 letters and were 40 messages, 22 pledged support to the code-strengthening movement.

First sign of encouragement was the quick receipt of 14 applications from stations asking to become code subscribers. Chairman McGannon stated in strong language during a Nov. 18 closed-circuit telecast over the three TV networks that the industry's sincerity in its insistence on self-regulation and minimum government controls would be judged on adherence to the code.

At the time of his industry appeal for code support there were 271 TV station and three TV network subscribers. If the 14 applying stations are approved by the TV Board, the list would stand at 285. This is a little over half the total number of commercial stations on the air (522 stations are currently in operation).

A quiet, unofficial campaign to sign new subscribers is under way. Code board members have been given the call letters of non-subscribing stations in their areas. Former code board members are helping as well as members of the NAB TV Board and NAB's station relations staff.

FTC, RADIO-TV BRASS TO MEET

Will discuss ways of overcoming false broadcast advertising

Moving rapidly into the scandal-laden TV industry—and itself the object of a senatorial rebuke—the Federal Trade Commission last week made plans for a high-level government-broadcast industry meeting to set up closer liaison on overcoming false and misleading advertising on the air.

The presidents of all networks plus NAB President Harold E. Fellows and TV Code Review Board Chairman Donald H. McGannon (Westinghouse Broadcasting Co.) were scheduled to meet with FTC Chairman Earl W. Kintner and his colleagues on Wednesday, Dec. 2. The original Nov. 30 date was changed when one of the network presidents pleaded a conflicting appointment.

Acceptances have been received, FTC officials reported, from Frank Stanton, CBS; Robert E. Kintner, NBC; Leonard H. Goldenson, ABC, and Robert F. Hurleigh, MBS.

The FCC and the Dept. of Justice were invited to send observers to the meeting.

Besides the FTC chairman and commissioners, other agency officials expected to sit in at the conference include Harry A. Babcock, executive director; Sherman R. Hill, director of the Bureau of Investigation, and Charles A. Sweeney, chief of the radio-TV monitoring unit.

Reprimanded by Magnuson • The FTC was at the receiving end of a reprimand two weeks ago when Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.), chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, charged it with failing to act to clean up radio-TV advertising abuse and said he was "amazed" that the FTC is expanding its radio-TV monitoring activities because he thought it had already done so. Sen. Magnuson said FTC was given added funds in 1956 to establish tighter surveillance over radio and TV advertising.

This week's meeting with broadcasters was called, according to the FTC announcement, to launch "a coordinated attack by government and industry on deceptive advertising over television and radio."

It is expected that this meeting will be the first of a series on this subject according to informed sources.

The FTC chairman expressed the purpose of the meeting in these words: "It is quite plain that the broadcasting industry and the government are determined to clean up the abuse of public confidence by the false advertising claims made over the airways. What is needed is a workable plan of action that will coordinate our efforts. The Commission is poised to strike a doctrine of the full force of the laws it administers, and the industry must stand ready to assist ... The conference is simply to develop sensible teamwork for the job."

The meeting will begin at 10 a.m. in Room 432 of the FTC Bldg. in Washington.

The FTC first leaped into the TV quiz scandals early this month when Mr. Kintner announced a four-pronged attack on misleading TV and radio commercials (Broadcasting, Nov. 9).

Quadrupled Activity • Mr. Kintner promised: (1) doubling the FTC's radio-TV monitoring staff; (2) monitoring TV network programs round-the-clock during broadcast hours; (3) demand three scripts of all TV network commercials during the Nov. 15-Dec. 15, pre-Christmas buying period and (4) intensifying investigations of non-network TV advertising throughout the country.

The FTC moved rapidly. Two days later it issued a complaint against Libby-Owens-Ford Glass Co., Toledo, and General Motors Corp., Detroit, for allegedly using camera trickery to puff the merits of L-O-F glass used in GM cars. Only last week it hit at Colgate Dental Cream for exaggerated claims on TV and in newspapers and magazines (see page 71).

Mr. Kintner (no relation to the NBC president) also called on broadcasters to crack down on advertising that offends the public and on advertising excesses "that dance on the edges of the law."
The lure of the West continues. Throughout Inland California, population figures climb steadily to make it one of the fastest growing areas in the nation. For example, Sacramento county's population is up 63% since 1950 while retail sales in 1958 were 92.5% higher than in 1950. Impressive gains were also scored in other Bee-Line areas. All over this booming area, purchasers of homes, furniture, autos, appliances and all the necessities of life are listening by the hundreds of thousands to Beeline radio.

As a group The Beeline stations give you more radio homes than any combination of competitors . . . at by far the lowest cost per thousand.

NEW SINDLINGER SURVEY PLAN

In-depth study for size, type of audience

The field of tv audience research had a new element to consider last week. Sindingler & Co., Philadelphia, announced the availability of a new, in-depth service to measure both the size of the tv network audience and the characteristics of the people who comprise it.

The announcement came at a meeting of the Radio & Television Executives Society in New York (see page 46). It was made by Albert E. Sindingler, president, who announced simultaneously that the service has been purchased by one major tv advertiser, du Pont.

Billled as a “ qualitative” rather than “ quantitative” service, the new Sindingler report offers the added attraction of speed: Reports for an evening’s viewing are delivered to clients seven days following a telecast. Reports are based on a constantly changing sample of 1,600 homes per day, covering 287 counties in the basic Sindingler sample area, with interviewing done within 24 hours of the telecast using aided recall techniques. (For complete description of the Sindingler sample method, see Broadcasting, Nov. 2.)

‘How’re We Doing?’ • The Sindingler service is designed primarily for use by advertisers and agencies interested in knowing how their programs are doing on a specific night both in relation to competing programs and, internally, in regard to the audience they’re attracting. du Pont, for example, sponsors the June Allyson du Pont Show on CBS-TV on Monday (and also the du Pont Show of the Month on various evenings on CBS-TV). It would purchase the Monday report, and would get the following data:

Series A-1: TV sets in use by section of the country (east, south midwest and west) for the hours between 6 p.m. and 4 a.m.,

Series A-2: A 12-page work data supplement showing sample control and projection bases, adult personal viewing (12 years and older), children’s viewing (under 12), reported adult in-home viewing activity, program availability (based upon whether the program could have been seen in sample market already), total households tuned in, households tuned in to all of the program, households tuned per average minute, and total and average share of households.

Series A-3: This section deals with the people (rather than households) who watch each tv program, and breaks the results down by sex, age and section of the country.

Series B: This is a compact data sheet comparable to standard rating pocket pieces. It shows the national television ratings by households tuned and by people viewing. It shows all data for each day on a single page for ease of comparison.

Series C: This is a special report issued every four weeks showing which individual in the tv homes makes the decision to watch a particular program (not necessarily the person actually tuning the set).

All these elements of the basic report are sold on a 13-week basis. Price for the basic service is $2,850 for the first program day with a 20% discount for the second program on the same day and another 10% discount for third and subsequent programs.

Optional Services • It’s in the area of optional services that the new Sindingler service offers its principal qualitative aspects. The supplemental services (series D and E) provide quarterly reports on household characteristics and audience characteristics, respectively, for the client’s program, the preceding program and opposing programs. Household characteristics include total household income, age of household head, occupation of household head, household location by market size and region, size of household, number of tv sets owned and ownership of color tv sets. Audience characteristics include age of viewers by sex, occupation by sex, education by sex, age by household income, viewers by household head (by sex), viewers by non-household head (by sex), viewing at public place (by sex) and color tv viewing (by sex).

Best liked spots

The one-minute commercial and the five-minute program were adjudged by the Radio Advertising Bureau last week as the favorite lengths of the nation’s spot radio advertiser during the third quarter of 1959.

After analyzing almost one million radio announcements, RAB reported that 63.3% aired during the third quarter were one minute; 15.4% were four to eight seconds; 12.3% were 10-second; 5.8% were 30-second and 3.2% were 20-second.

JAGUAR RACING INTO RADIO

Urges 500 dealers to buy local spots

Dealers in the U.S. are urged to leap with Jaguar into local radio. Jaguar Cars, New York, through Cunningham & Walsh, its agency, has distributed to 500 dealers an electrical transcription containing several open-end one minute commercial announcements. Along with the recorded spots, the foreign car manufacturer has included some radio advice.

Recommended: A minimum schedule of six weeks with a repeat every three months for a total yearly run of 24 weeks.

The dealer is told about radio's power to build traffic for the dealership and spark more response for each ad dollar.

The commercials feature a famous racing driver, John Benett, who also is vice president of Jaguar Cars. In the announcements, he describes different Jaguar models (the XK 150, the 3.8 and the Mark IX) in a low pressure, conversational tone.

The voice of British-accented Benett was chosen for the first-time production of dealer commercials because of his reputation as an auto race driver. This, it was thought, lends authority and credibility which might be found lacking in a professional announcer.

Forcing Device • In telling dealers why radio is valuable to them to promote the car, Jaguar explains "radio advertising is what's known as a 'reminder' medium. When used efficiently, radio serves as a forcing device for the listener to 'act,' to 'do' something."

The dealers learn that the recorded announcements were produced to do the following:

- "Build traffic for your dealership.
- "Interest people to investigate the Jaguar line.
- "Assist you in getting an extra share of the foreign car business.
- "Get more response from your advertising dollar."

"Radio can bring new prospects to your door if you give it the opportunity. Once it delivers prospects to your dealership, the rest is up to you."

Pep Talk • The Jaguar company on the jacket of each copy of the electrical transcription sent to dealers goes further presenting "check points" for the dealer to use when placing his radio advertising.

The dealer is advised to contact two to four stations in the sales area informing them of the desire to place the local announcements on a 10-20 times weekly basis during the period between 7:9 a.m., 12:1-30 p.m. and 4-7 p.m., which, the Jaguar people comment, "are the periods that provide you with peak listennership."

Other check points urge dealers to ask for the number of homes the station reaches rather than people and then choose that station in the sales area with the best offer according to homes reached and the cost of the time. The minimum order ought to be six weeks, with the campaign repeated every three months for a 24-week per year coverage, according to Jaguar's recommendation. It's also suggested that the dealer ask before he buys time as to what support station personalities will give the dealership during the campaign.

Dealers are introduced to Mr. Benett on the cover of the transcription album in a letter from Jaguar's President Johannes Eedmans. Mr. Benett, who has been with the company for the past four years, has been gathering international fame in car racing since 1930, has taken part in numerous racing events including Sebring and Le Mans and in this country has set sports car speed records on the Salt Flats at Bonneville, Utah.

The sleek-lined Jaguar models are priced from $4,495 (bottom price for any model at port of entry) to a high of $5,995. Thus the appeal to a select segment of the car buying public.

From time to time, the company has used radio, devoting portions of its limited ad budget to sponsor events judged to be of interest to this limited audience. For example, Jaguar early this year co-sponsored This Is Britain, a program on WQXR New York, which featured Schweppes' Commander Whitehead (Schweppes was the other advertiser). In the fall of 1958, Jaguar sponsored CBS Radio coverage of the American Cup yacht race.

Brenner forecasts fates of 19 shows

Two tv research executives went before the Radio & Television Executive Society in New York last week to talk about "what's new in nose counting." Henry Brenner, president of the Home Testing Institute, Port Washington, N.Y., described that firm's TV-Q Ratings, which seek to determine audience appeal of tv programs and offer data which can be used to predict future program performance. Albert Sindlinger, president of Sindlinger & Co., Philadelphia, announced a new tv rating service his firm has ready for the market (see page 42).

Mr. Brenner, after describing what TV-Q Ratings are and how they are obtained, went out on a limb to predict ten new shows of the current season he felt would still be around next year, and nine new shows which he thinks are on the way out. The ten staying: NBC-TV's Bonanza, Laramie and The Deputy; CBS-TV's Dennis The Menace, Hotel De Paree, Dobie Gillis and Hennesey, and ABC-TV's The Rebel, The Untouchables and Bronco.

The nine Mr. Brenner predicts as due for departure: NBC-TV's Troubleshooters, Fibber McGee & Molly, and Love and Marriage; CBS-TV's Lineup, Dennis O'Keefe Show and The Big Party, and ABC-TV's Charley Weaver Show, World of Talent and Philip Marlowe. Mr. Brenner qualified his list of misses with the observation that program people might yet avoid some of the predicted departures by heeding the signs of audience displeasure shown in the Tv-Q Ratings. He also said his prediction that Hotel De Paree might last on CBS-TV was based on the competition's not putting something stronger against it.

Basically, the Tv-Q service measures not the number of people who watch a particular show but the number of people who are favorably or unfavorably oriented to it and to the product it seeks to sell. Mr. Brenner said the services uses 12 fixed panels a year, each consisting of 750 families.

Rating to Blame • In remarks preceding a description of his new rating service, Mr. Sindlinger said there was one point of agreement about the current tv quiz scandal: the whole thing was created by insistence on high ratings.
He said rating concepts which seek only to "count noses" of the tv audience are wrong for everybody in that they are one-dimensional and show nothing about quality of the audience and compatibility of the audience with the advertiser's product. He also said that insistence on large ratings had led to imitation of certain high-rated programs, and in turn to mediocrity of tv programming. Only by putting qualitative considerations first can tv produce new ideas and foster creative talent, he said.

TvB book highlights
eight-second ID's

The ID on television is an "eight-second" idea—and can create sales with maximum exposure at minimum expense.

This message is highlighted in a new Television Bureau of Advertising brochure, "Ideomotion," distributed to agencies and advertisers last week. The booklet cites the advantages of ID's; lists the heavy spenders in this type of commercial sponsorship; compares consumer time spent on an ID and on a written page in the printed media, and details success stories of ID advertisers.

Some of the varied uses of the ID suggested by TvB: As a supplement to a broader copy story; as a means of establishing the basic theme of a campaign; as an announcement of product improvement, price changes, premium offers; as a means of establishing brand or package identification; as a supplement to regular advertising in special seasons when the product is most in demand.

The major advantages of ID's noted by TvB are: They are easier to schedule than longer selling messages; placements are available in the most-sought-after, often-sold-out time period; they can be purchased adjacent to top-rated local and network programs.

AB-PT STOCKHOLDERS MEET
Approve stock option incentive plan

About 100 stockholders in American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres turned up at a special meeting last week in New York to approve a stock option incentive plan and hear President Leonard Goldenson forecast a substantial increase in fourth-quarter earnings, with special credit to the ABC Div.

Of 3,316,209 common shares represented, 3,123,238 were voted in favor of a plan making available options to buy 250 shares to key employees designated by the board. Of the 350,000, an option on 50,000 shares goes to Mr. Goldenson and lesser amounts to other officers and directors, none eligible for more than 25,000. Options already granted are exercisable at $24.94 per share or 95% of the closing price of $26.25 on the New York Stock Exchange on Sept. 21, the date the board met to draft the incentive plan. Future grants will be effective at 95% of market price on the date of grant.

Mr. Goldenson, addressing shareholders, told them that ABC-TV has committed more than $70 million to programming this year and that gross time billings will be up 29% for 1959, which he claimed as the largest percentage increase of the three networks.

He listed competitive rating gains and said ABC-TV this year has commercial programming in 41 of the 42 prime evening half-hours. Last year the figure was 35 of the 42 half-hours. In the current quarter, ABC-TV lists some 90 advertisers, compared with 60 last year.

AB-PT Divisions. Other areas of the AB-PT operation touched on in the president's report: International TV—"should become a reality in the next five or ten years . . . and should serve as an important stimulus for the economic health of the television industry"; owned stations—"continued improvement" in tv and "substantial improvement" in radio; the radio network—"the deficit has been reduced this year through rearrangement of operations"; theatres—AB-PT expects gains commensurate with the motion picture industry generally but is continuing to dispose of uneconomical theatre properties, trimming the present 500 theatre total and collecting capital gains income; Am-Par records — "already ranks approximately as the sixth largest company in this highly competitive, expanding field"; ABC films—"its potential appears best in the expanding foreign field."

He also covered interests in electronics companies and amusement centers, including Disneyland, and the purchase, subject to FCC approval, of Prairie Farmer Pub. Co. which owns one-half of WLS Chicago (AB-PT already owns the other half) in addition to its weekly properties (Broadcasting, Nov. 23).

About Washington tv investigations, Mr. Goldenson told stockholders, "your management is taking whatever steps are necessary to protect the integrity of our programming and it is our feeling that self-discipline on the part of the broadcasting industry, rather than government regulation, would provide the most desirable approach to the problems which have been highlighted."

Others granted stock options beside Mr. Goldenson: Edward L. Hyman, vice president, 2,500 shares; Sidney Markley, vice president, 2,500; James G. Riddell, ABC Western Division vice president, 3,000; Simon B. Siegel, AB-PT and ABC financial vice president and treasurer, 15,000; Oliver Treyz, president of ABC-TV, 15,000; Thomas W. Moore, vice president for tv network programming and talent, 8,000; William P. Mullen, ABC vice president, 5,000 and Frank L. Marx, engineering vice president, 5,000. The option list numbers 53 employees in all.

AID TO ETV
Broadcasters push etv to tune of $8 million

WLWT (TV) Cincinnati on Nov. 15 turned over modern studios and offices valued at $500,000 to WCET (TV) Cincinnati, educational station on ch. 48, Robert E. Dunville, president of Crosley Broadcasting Corp., made the presentation, according to spokesmen at the National Educational TV & Radio Center in New York. WLWT is moving to new quarters.

Total assistance to educational tv stations from commercial outlets has been estimated at $8 million, according to the center, which said financial help and advice from commercial operators has helped the center's network of 43 stations to become the nation's fourth tv network.

WLWT has aided WCET since it went on the air in 1954 by providing use of its tower and space, for WCET's transmitter, the center said.

Noting help to other educational tv outlets by commercial broadcasters, the center cited these gifts: $115,000 worth of transmitter gear and a $75,000 tower from NBC, which once operated a uhf outlet in Buffalo, to educational WNET-TV there; more than $150,000 given by Storer Broadcasting Co. to several educational tv stations; KING-TV Seattle's gift of $125,000 in equipment to KCTS (TV), educational outlet there; KWTV (TV) Oklahoma City's gift of more than $200,000 in land and equipment to educational KETA-TV there; assistance by KOLN-TV Lincoln, Neb., to educational KUON-TV there by making studios and equipment available.

The center said statistics show the average educational tv station's equipment comes from these sources: 37% from local contributors, such as individuals, business and industry and commercial broadcasters or local foundations; 35% from state tax funds; 12% from boards of education, private colleges and universities; and 16% from the Fund for Adult Education.

WHO'S ON FIRST?
L. A. network outlet takes local baseball

Can a radio station broadcast all games of a major league baseball team, home and away, day and night, and still retain its NBC affiliation?

That's a question some observers were asking last week, following the announcement that in 1960 KFI Los Angeles will broadcast the full schedule of the world's baseball champion Dodgers and also act as key station of the Dodger Baseball Network. The network includes about a dozen stations in Southern California and Nevada, with Phoenix, which has lost its Pacific Coast League franchise, expected to be added in 1960.

As of last weekend, neither KFI nor NBC was expressing any view on the inevitable conflict. Announcement that KFI would replace KMPC as Los Angeles key baseball network was made jointly by the co-sponsors of the Dodgers 1960 game broadcasts, American Tobacco Co. (Roths) and Union Oil Co. (British, Oct. 26). Pregame and postgame shows will be sponsored by Blatz Brewing Co. and International Harvester Co. Young and Rubicam, Los Angeles agency for Union Oil and International Harvester; Lawrence C. Gumbrecht, Advertising Agency, New York, agency for American Tobacco, and Kenyon and Eckhardt, Chicago, Blatz.

agency, reportedly made the switch to secure maximum coverage for the broadcasts. KFI is on 640 kc with 50 kw day and night; KMPC is on 710 kc, with 50 kw day and 10 kw night.

Y&R’s influence with the Dodgers, (the agency helped secure the Dodgers’ Los Angeles home by producing the referendum telecast credited with changing the vote on the deed of Chavez Ravine by the city to the Dodgers from “no” to “yes”) (BROADCASTING, June 9, 1958), regained for Y&R a portion of the broadcast advertising budget of Union Oil along with the company’s print advertising. Y&R had handled the complete Union Oil account but lost the radio-tv part to Erwin Wasey, Ruthrauff and Ryan, late in the fall of 1958 after an unfortunate experience with a weekly tv sports series on the Pacific Coast.

Print media claim high-income audience

The Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. is persuaded that print media have their greatest impact on high income-high education consumers, while broadcast media start at low levels with diminishing effect on higher levels. Three studies are offered to support this conclusion.

A study by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture was cited. It was described as finding that newspapers are “the most effective medium to reach women food shoppers” are strongest in “lower income groups” and “television and radio influence is shown to be concentrated among the lower income groups.”

This statement was used as a pro-newspaper promotion despite the fact Dept. of Agriculture recanted statements implying newspapers top radio and tv as media for food marketing information. The department formally apologized for statements in its Agricultural Marketing, explaining that selected material from a much-qualified study designed for internal guidance “was condensed and incorporated into the marketing magazine article in a somewhat different context and without the qualifications in the original study” (BROADCASTING, Nov. 9). The department added, “Unfortunately, also, these materials have been further condensed in comments in certain of the mass media.”

The bureau also cites published articles by Cornelius Du Bois, research director of Foote, Cone & Belding, New York, indicating that “64% of the more print oriented people have incomes over $5,000 compared with 26% of more broadcast oriented people. Also cited is a study along these lines by the Richmond, (Va.) Newspapers.

Hurleigh urges one rating system

MBS President Robert F. Hurleigh last week advocated a “single, understandable, workable” broadcast rating system akin to newspaper publishers’ Audit Bureau of Circulations measurements.

Emphasizing that he favors “full and complete” ratings as a working yardstick, Mr. Hurleigh recalled to a combined meeting of the Chicago and Milwaukee Sales Marketing Executives Club Nov. 23 that the Audit Bureau of Circulations stemmed from “the hue and cry about circulation totals” in the print media.

Like the publishers, he said, he prefers a rating service “that provides a solid, fundamental basis for analysis and comparison—a service that cannot be swayed or influenced by the persons paying the freight.” Such a system, he suggested, would mean a “good cross-section” of viewer-listener reactions.

Utilization of the rating “as a crutch” by Madison Ave. has too often nullified creativity the past few years, he suggested, now has been compounded to the point where the rating “has been perpetrated by hoax, by rigging and by deliberate misrepresentations of the actual facts.” Mr. Hurleigh previously
WHY TELEVISION TAPE ENGINEERS AND PRODUCTION MEN CHOOSE THE AMPEX CONSOLE

7 WAYS BETTER...

Console design is the hottest talking point among the men who do the actual day-to-day production work on TV tape. Seven hands are better than two, and they know it. And they know that Ampex console design gives them those extra hands with a speed and efficiency in production unmatched by rack or any other design...

- One operator has complete control over all recording and playback functions while standing in one position.
- All pushbutton controls are within fingertip reach.
- Monitoring is at eye level.
- Waist-high tape transport makes changing reels quick and easy.
- Splicing is a 30 second operation, right on the recorder.
- Desk-top convenience provides space for cue sheets and extra reels – no extra table required.
- And it’s safe – you can’t bump into turning reels.

There are already more than 410 Ampex Videotape* Television Recorders in operation throughout the world — in all major networks, in stations and production companies.

Write, wire or phone today for an Ampex representative — or ask for the new, fully illustrated brochure describing the new Ampex VR-1000B. Whatever you want to know about the advantages and profits in TV tape, get the facts from Ampex.
charged the value of ratings has been undermined by rigging and misrepresentations and he had predicted that the forthcoming Senate hearing would bring out the allegations (Broadcasting, Nov. 23).

Discussing samplings, Mr. Hurleigh as an example questioned how a station in any fair sized market could claim it controls 45% of the audience with “formulas” with the support of ratings figures. Actually, he said, the station is merely saying that its city’s taste runs to this type programming, disregarding aesthetic, ethnic and cultural factors.

Mr. Hurleigh defended Madison Ave. executives against the “hoax of the gray flannel suit,” noting most are well-grounded, hard-working and conscientious practitioners. He commented, “Hoop-la and stunts can bring ratings and have made certain formula stations look impressive to timebuyers—who spend thousands of dollars trying to sell $3,500 automobiles to teenagers. But these hoop-las and rigged ratings are now catching up to the people who perpetrate them . . .”

WJR’s Kramer offers improvement plan

Radio’s “product” has deteriorated badly in recent years, according to Worth Kramer, executive vice president-general manager of WJR Detroit. In a November 20, address to the Tennessee Assn. of Broadcasters, Mr. Kramer offered a seven-point program designed to improve service as well as the public’s image. The points follow:

1—Study your community and/or your area in the new light of advanced audience needs and desires.

2—Discard some programs and replace them with features that will serve as many varied interests as possible, reaching the total market.

3—Throw away rating books, or use them only as management guides.

4—Examine your rate structure; establish rates on the basis of true value to the advertiser; then stick to published rates.

5—Screen advertising carefully; let it be the communication of truth.

6—Put yourself and staff effectively into community affairs.

7—Give your advertisers full value—“a fair shake instead of the big squeeze.”

Gen. Sarnoff on etv

Brig. Gen. Sarnoff, the man who organized radio networking with NBC in 1926, took a look forward to formation of nationwide educational network on which a single teacher could instruct a class of 100,000. The chairman of RCA spoke on modern education at the annual dinner of the Rockhurst College Honorary Directors Assn. Nov. 19 in Kansas City, where he received the Rockhurst Chancellor award for “outstanding service to humanity.”

Basis for the nationwide educational tv network, Gen. Sarnoff said, exists in the present 43-station non-commercial system. The RCA chairman suggested building on present facilities with a tri-fold plan: Take full advantage of technical advances, reduce per-pupil costs while compensating teachers fairly and improving quality of education; give humanities a place beside sciences in the curricula, to deepen men’s spiritual insights.

TVB BUDGET SET

Elects new chairman; hears Clipp on code

Television Bureau of Advertising’s board of directors has approved a budget of $1,050,000 for calendar 1960 operations, calling for a 30% boost in research monies alone.

The action was taken at a board session closing TvB’s fifth annual convention in Chicago Nov. 18-20. The board also provided for installation of video tape recording-playback facilities in its New York headquarters as a sales tool for advertisers and prospective clients.

The business meeting capped a final day of activities during which TvB elected a new chairman, Otto P. Brandt, KING-TV Seattle; six directors, plus a three-man group to look further into tv film packager and distributor membership (see FATES & FORTUNES, page 74), and heard talks by Roger W. Clipp, WFIL-TV Philadelphia and Norman E. Cash, TvB president.

NAB Tv Code  •  In his speech Mr. Clipp, TvB board chairman, favored expansion of NAB’s television code board operations, with more encompassing standards covering both commercials and programs, looking toward imme-mediate self-regulation. The code seal would be extended to "network, national spot and local" commercials, either live or film, and programs.

Mr. Clipp, a former member of the code board, noted three courses of action—ignore public criticism, rush "blindly into a series of hastily contrived actions" or "welcome the exposure of unsound broadcasting practices and correct them." He felt self-regulation is indicative because the tv industry "wants it, advertisers are anxious for it, and government spokesmen have indicated they would like to see it happen." The framework lies in the NAB tv code, he pointed out, recommending that all other national broadcast trade organizations be "streamlined" to provide the necessary funds.

The future of tv depends on the "proper functioning of a greatly expanded code," Mr. Clipp asserted, suggesting previewing of commercials from the story-board stage. Commercials or programs not meeting these standards should not receive the seal of approval, he said. Monitoring of commercials "can be done" and is "practical," Mr. Clipp claimed, in favoring expansion of the NAB tv code board staff, facilities and authority. Shared-screen techniques and superimposition make possible the display of the seal even in eight-second announcements, while syndicated film or network programs (film or live) might apply for code sanction and the seal, Mr. Clipp said. In any event, though the NAB board has "done a good job" under severe limitations, "a more complete set of standards must be drafted."

Tight Ad Rein • Earlier, Norman E. Cash, TyB president, cited tv's goal to reach higher business peaks that will mean raising its standards higher "of its own free choice." The industry must "keep a tight rein on advertising to make certain that products are as advertised" and offer diversified programs "to satisfy the widest possible demands of its viewers."

Mr. Cash recommended tv set high standards for society and not merely "mirror" present conditions, observing tv is "a prime force for education and enlightenment as well as entertainment. We have the power in our antennae to improve the society we live in, to insure the continued success and improvement in our democratic way of life."

With all of tv's assets in terms of increasing tv expenditures, Mr. Cash suggested, the liability side necessarily includes the quiz tv scandal. He suggested a paradox between tv as a successful product, and yet one that is tainted.

He felt "it is good business for all of us to promote and sell this concept of better tv viewing..."
seriously threaten our image. TV as the greatest force extant for reaching our population, must under these circumstances, assume full leadership to put in focus our accomplishments and our plans for the future," Mr. Cash asserted.

• Media reports

KOBY, MBS part • KOBY San Francisco has relinquished its affiliation with Mutual. The station became an MBS affiliate last August upon tentative agreement of sale of KOBY. With the sale fallen through, (BROADCASTING, Nov. 23) KOBY returns to full independent operation.

KCOP (TV) moves • KCOP (TV) Los Angeles has moved its offices to 915 N. La Brea Ave., new telephone number is Oldfield 6-6050. Station's studios will remain at present location, 1000 N. Cahuenga Blvd. until early next year, when they will also move to the La Brea address.

Aids Greece orphans • WPAT Paterson, N.J., turns over all commercial time to the benefit of charities on four holidays a year. On Thanksgiving WPAT set aside all advertising to make appeals to aid the "Fund for an American Pavilion at Matera." Matera is a baby center in Athens where more than 600 Greek orphans have been cared for since its establishment in 1955. Several other countries have contributed funds to build pavilions, or cottages, to house the children, but little been done in the U.S. to publicize the Matera cause, according to WPAT.

The new Presto 850 is the only professional tape recorder that converts in seconds from 1/2" to 1/4" tape, and vice versa—and it's from Presto, makers of more professional sound-recording equipment than any other manufacturer in the world. The new, flexible 850 ends the need to keep expensive equipment sitting around idle. Conversion from 1/2" to 1/4" tape head assemblies requires only a screwdriver and a few seconds.

Based on the successful 800, the use-proved 850 provides such exclusive features as: an edit switch for one-hand runoff during editing and assembly of master tapes, eliminating messy tape overflow • a molded epoxy-resin drum brake system with double shoes to end brake-maintenance headaches • four-position plug-in head assemblies instantly interchangeable without realignment • three-track stereo master control (optional) for special recording effects • three Presto A908 amplifiers stacked on an easy-to-work-at console, in portable cases or for rack.

The 850 delivers a high production editing rate at significantly lower operating costs. Separate switches provide correct tension even when reel sizes are mixed. Pop-up playback head shield for right-hand head disappears in STOP and FAST, completely exposing all heads for easy sweep loading and fast, sure editing. Safe tape handling at top speed is assured. DESILU INCOME JUMPS 30%
Profits up seven fold in third quarter

Desilu Productions for the 26 weeks ended Oct. 31 had gross income of $10,717,953, up 30% from the same period of the previous year, and a net of $507,108, nearly seven times the net of $75,234 for the 24 weeks ended Oct. 18, 1958. Earnings per share were 44 cents, double that for the entire last fiscal year.

In reporting the above statistics, Desilu President Desi Arnaz told stockholders that since its last interim report Desilu has added two new shows, Pony Express and certain segments of the Red Skelton Show, to those filmed by Desilu; one program, Miami Undercover, to series for which facilities are rented by Desilu, and has made interim commitments for a number of pilots for next season. Mr. Arnaz also reported completion of a $150,000 expansion program on the Culver City studio back lot for exterior production use.

The increased gross and net income, he concluded, "coupled with an increase in net working capital to approximately $1,500,000 as of Oct. 31, have placed Desilu in an excellent economic position."

With the report, stockholders received dividend checks of 15 cents a share. No dividends were declared on class B common, all of which is held by Mr. Arnaz and Mrs. Arnaz (Lucille Ball).

ASCAP to license Washington stations

A court order under which ASCAP agrees to license Washington state stations to use its music was signed by Judge Sylvester Ryan in U.S. District Court in New York Nov. 20.

The Washington situation called for special treatment because of a state law which ASCAP claimed made it impossible to do business there (Broadcasting, March 9). The alternative, it was understood, would have involved the stations negotiating separately for rights to perform each piece of music they wished to use.

The court order, entered under ASCAP's 1950 consent decree amendment, provides for the society's licensing Washington stations under the old rates, subject to modification to conform to whatever new rates are established in current negotiations between ASCAP and the all-industry radio music license committee. It was entered on petition of KKBW Aberdeen, Wash., and other stations.

Among other things the order holds that the Washington stations are not subject to suit by ASCAP under prior licenses, and that this arrangement does not violate the consent decree requirement that ASCAP issue licenses on the same terms to all applicants similarly situated.

Meanwhile, negotiators for the all-industry committee, headed by Robert T. Mason of WMRN Marion, Ohio, and for ASCAP are slated to appear before Judge Ryan Dec. 4 for further deliberations on industry-wide terms for radio license rates. They are reported near agreement (Broadcasting, Nov. 9) on schedules expected to mean a saving of about $800,000 a year in radio station payments for ASCAP music.

Tv program exporters plan first meeting

An organizational meeting of the proposed new American Television Program Exporters Inc. (Broadcasting, Nov. 16, Oct. 5) will be held Dec. 1 at 2:30 p.m. in New York.

The meeting will be open to all companies engaged in exporting film or tape television programs. Its purpose will be to determine how many wish to join the new group, being set up to promote foreign sale of U.S. tv programs. It will be held in the board room of Bankers Trust Co., 48th St. and Madison Ave.

Merle S. Jones, president of the CBS-TV Stations Div. and one of the leaders in the organizational drive, will preside at the session. Proposed charter, by-laws and budget will be circulated to interested companies a few weeks ago. The plans were drafted by William H. Fineshirber Jr., former international vice president of Screen Gems, now a consultant, and attorney George Muchnic on retainer from a committee of program distributors headed by Mr. Jones.

CBS-TV establishes television workshop

CBS-TV is establishing a new workshop for professional writers, performers and directors in New York this month, embracing a seminar program to develop new talent in these areas and a weekly Sunday dramatic programs series on which some of the developed artists may be exposed.

Oscar Katz, CBS-TV vice president for network programs, said the seminar phase will begin today (Nov. 30) when the first in a series of such meetings will be held at the CBS television network production center in New York. Ten young writers and ten promising directors will be invited to attend the seminars. Performers will join them at a later date.

The second phase of the project, called the "Columbia Television Workshop," will begin on Jan. 24, 1960 when the first in a series of dramatic shows will be presented from noon-12:55 p.m. Although most of the teleplays will be written and directed by established professionals, it is the network's hope that some of the "seminar" talent will be provided with an opportunity to participate in the creation and presentation of the Sunday dramas.

The workshop will be administered by Michael Dann, vice president in charge of tv network programs, New York, and will be under the day-to-day supervision of producer Albert Mc Cleery. Mr. McCleery also will produce the Sunday series.

Writers and directors interested in joining the workshop should send a resume of their background and experience to the McCleery Unit, Room 500, CBS-TV Network Production Center, 524 W. 57th St., New York 19. Performers should send a photograph and resume to Robert Dale Martine, director of talent and casting for CBS-TV, at the same address.

Electronic Quadrature
Best Picture in Seconds!

—PLAY ANY TAPES AS THOUGH MADE ON AN ADVANCED RCA TV TAPE RECORDER!

Electronic quadrature adjustment, as offered by the RCA TV Tape Recorder, assures the best picture alignment in seconds, even in playing back tapes made on recorders without the advantages of RCA precision circuitry.

Two sets of four precisely adjusted electrical delay lines are provided, one set of which is used during the record operation, the other during playback. Once set, the record delay lines need not be changed until a new headwheel panel is installed in the machine.

The playback delay lines may be used at any time a tape exhibits quadrature errors in playback. The appropriate tap switches are adjusted until horizontal displacement is corrected. All correction is accomplished quickly, during operation of the machine. And adjustment for record error can be made within a very few seconds after playback starts.

A tape recording can be made on an RCA machine with much more accuracy than with a machine that is adjusted mechanically. That's why we say, “For the picture of pictures, tape it RCA and play it back on an RCA TV Tape Recorder.”

Tv producers make no minimum pay demand • Preliminary draft of a collective bargaining agreement, proposing a one-year contract, a guild security clause, a minimum residual schedule and other provisions, but making no minimum salary demand, was unanimously approved Nov. 21 by a general membership meeting of Television Producers Guild at the Beverly Hills Hotel, Beverly Hills, Calif. The proposed contract is virtually unique in omitting any minimum salary demands.

The contract will be presented to employers early in December, Ben Brady, TPG president, said. In three conference objectives, he explained, are “to define the status of the TV producers, to establish a minimum residual schedule and to fix the matter of acceptable screen credits.”

The agreement identifies a TV producer as "anyone employed by a producing company on a term contract or free lance basis who is responsible for and coordinates the essential elements necessary to present a television program," Mr. Brady stated. “It will include all producers, irrespective of title, provided they qualify by way of function performed and shall include executive producers, executive or corporate officers who are employed to produce a television program as well as producers who have an entrepreneurial interest.”

When the contract is signed, all such producers will be required to have TPG membership, Mr. Brady said. He noted that the guild does not intend to include executives "whose function it is to employ and disemploy producers."

Storz goes into pop record business • Storz Stations this month debuted as a record company, when the multiple station chain issued its first record on its own label, Storz Records. The record, which was purchased from Cisda-Burton Inc. on a cost basis arrangement, features the voices of "Tweety and Sweety" in whistling arrangements of two Christmas songs.

According to a Storz representative, the record was issued on a one-shot basis to the five areas served by Storz stations — Minneapolis-St. Paul (WDGY); New Orleans (WTIX); Kansas City (WHB); Miami, Fla. (WQAM); and Oklahoma City (KOMA). Arrangements for local distribution have been made in all areas but Kansas City.

The Storz spokesman also said that the record was purchased because it was "an unusual novelty with great program potential. This is strictly a local situation," he said. He emphasized that no plans have yet been made for national distribution of the record and that the venture is merely "experimental."

Earlier, President Todd Storz had said that if the record is successful in the five station area, it would be made available to other cities.
EIA announces L.A. conference agenda

A broad-gauged educational public relations program to explain the intricacies of stereophonic sound to the consumer is under consideration by Electronic Industries Assn.

This became known last week when the program for EIA's Winter Conference Dec. 2-4 at Los Angeles' Statler Hilton Hotel listed a Consumer Products Division meeting to take up suggestions for this type of campaign. The recommendation was made by a recently organized Phonograph Section which held its first meeting in New York Nov. 18. L. M. Sandwick, Pilot Radio Corp., is chairman of the phonograph section.

Featured speaker at the EIA meeting will be Dr. William H. Pickering, director of Caltech's Jet Propulsion Lab. He will talk to EIA members at the Dec. 3 membership luncheon on the role of electronics in the civilian and military space programs.

Other reports and discussions will cover the Walsh-Healey minimum wage proceedings and EIA's efforts to counter the importation of Japanese electronic products.

The EIA board of directors is scheduled to meet Friday, Dec. 4.

FCC, catv-men meet

Broadcaster, booster and community television interests met with Harold G. Cowgill, chief of the FCC's Broadcast Bureau, last Monday in Denver and discussed the proposal by the National Community Television Assoc. for the establishment of an ad hoc committee to deal with booster, catv and translator impact on local tv service (BROADCASTING, Nov. 23, 2). No decisions were reached, but the idea of appointing a committee to represent all sides to the controversy was explored from various angles.

Attending the Denver meeting, in addition to Mr. Cowgill, were Bill Grove, KFBC-TV Cheyenne, Wyo.; E. Stratford Smith and Edward Whitney, NCTA; Ben Adler, Adler Electronics Inc., and two representatives of repeater organizations.

GOVERNMENT

WAY CLEARING FOR UHF STUDY

$2.25 million tabbed for new FCC projects

A $2.25-million appropriation for a new study of uhf television—and concurrent investigation of new transmission techniques—is on the verge of being accepted by the U.S. Bureau of the Budget.

The figure was included in the FCC's budget request and was considered last week when FCC officials met with Budget Bureau officials. The Budget Bureau acts for the President in considering requests for funds by departments and independent agencies.

The FCC is operating on a $10.55 million budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1960. It is asking for several millions in additional funds for its regular operation in fiscal 1961.

The uhf tv study, according to informed sources, is segregated in a separate appropriation.

Although the research appropriation would be under FCC supervision, its actual operation would be carried out by an independent research laboratory, it was learned.

If the Budget Bureau approves the research project, it will presumably be included as part of the FCC budget recommendations submitted to Congress in January by the President.

The proposal for the uhf study was submitted by the Commission's Office of Chief Engineer. It was backed, it is understood, by FCC Comr. Robert E. Lee who has been the Commission's lone uhf protagonist.

An inkling of engineers' thinking on the subject was contained in a report submitted last September to the Commission by William C. Boese, chief of the Technical Information Division in the office of the Chief Engineer.

Mr. Boese suggested that the Commission undertake a basic restudy of tv standards. His viewpoint was that tv standards are 20 years old and that many developments in engineering as well as in information transmission have outmoded these standards. He suggested that the study be underwritten by the government, but undertaken by an outside organization (BROADCASTING, Sept. 28).

Politicians petition for license revocation

Six elected officials of Santa Rosa County, Fla., have charged that the owner of WEBY Milton, Fla., has used the station as a "propaganda instrument for his private interests." They asked the FCC to revoke WEBY's license.

WEBY owner Clayton W. Mapoles countered that the charges "are not a thing in the world but a frame-up."

In a petition seeking revocation of WEBY, three county commissioners, two state legislators and the county sheriff said that Mr. Mapoles hired one Ben H. Pooley as a newscaster "... to make possible completely irresponsible personal attacks by said Pooley upon certain public officials of Santa Rosa County and the State of Florida. In so doing, the said Mapoles has sought to undermine the confidence of the people in their elected officials and to create dissension and division in the community."

Claim Personal Vendetta • They charged that Mr. Pooley had no previous broadcasting experience and is a defeated politician "who for the past several years has conducted a personal vendetta against certain of petitioners."

Under the guise of news, the petition charged, Mr. Pooley has attacked the complaining officials repeatedly. Mr. Pooley also was charged with editorializing in his newscasts.

The officials said that WEBY hoped to avoid FCC scrutiny by using a "disclaimer" prior to the Pooley broadcasts and that they have never been offered the station's facilities to reply. They also charged that Mr. Mapoles tried to block the grant of a second am in Milton, now WSRA. They claimed that when the station went on the air Mr. Mapoles tried to prevent advertisers from using WSRA.

Signing the petition were Albert Golden, Clifford Wilson and Richard Finlay, county commissioners, State Sen. Newman Brackin, State Rep. Morrison Kimbrough (who defeated Mr. Pooley) and County Sheriff Bart D. Broxon.

They also asked the Commission to revoke the license of WBLO Evergreen, Ala., a second station owned by Mr. Mapoles.

Monopolistic Control Hit • Mr. Mapoles in countering charged that the complaint was filed by "a group of politicians who have gained monopolistic control of the county." He said the Pooley broadcasts have the endorsement of churches, civic organizations and some 25 elected officials.

Mr. Mapoles pointed out that Mr. Pooley's broadcasts are sponsored and he maintained that at no time has Mr. Pooley said anything that is not of public record and in the official files of the county. As a former court clerk, Mr. Pooley knows where to get the facts, Mr. Mapoles said.

Mr. Mapoles said that he has received threats in the past that WEBY would be "blown up" if he did not fire Mr. Pooley.

The WEBY owner maintained the station operates in the public interest and that Mr. Pooley is on the air because the people want to listen to him. He said that when the newscaster did not broadcast for 10 days, the public was outspoken in demands that he be returned.

Defending Mr. Pooley's character, Mr. Mapoles said that Florida Gov. Leroy Collins appointed him to the county election commission just last month. The governor also appointed Mr. Mapoles to the jury commission, the WEBY owner said.
Senate subcommittee hears FTC's Kintner

The Federal Trade Commission has by its own rules always refused to make public the names of those who complain about unfair trade practices, FTC Chairman Earl W. Kintner said Nov. 20 in testimony before the Senate Administrative Practices & Procedures Subcommittee. He said he didn't feel the FTC should be required to identify such complainants on the public record during hearings.

Testifying on S 2374, a bill to prohibit ex parte contracts on certain types of agency procedures, Mr. Kintner said the FTC is charged with law enforcement, not with granting licenses or other rights, and its present procedure is best for this. He said the FTC program is "dependent" on complaints from the public and industry in prosecuting cases.

The FTC chairman also said that S 600, which would create an Office of Federal Administrative Practices, should be modified so it will not create a "super agency" with authority over other agencies enabling it to substitute its judgment over these agencies in areas where they are given jurisdiction.

Conn. sale protest dismissed by FCC

FCC has dismissed the protest against the sale of WKNB and WNBC (TV) New Britain, Conn. by NBC to Connecticut Television Inc., filed by WHCT (TV) Hartford, Conn. (Broadcasting, Nov. 9). The Commission said WHCT has no standing to protest that the FCC had knowledge of all details alleged and that the protestant showed no details of adverse impact.

The protest charged that Connecticut Television's immediate resale of WKNB to Beacon Broadcasting Co. implied trafficking in a license. It also claimed there was a tie-in between Connecticut Television and Springfield Television Inc. and that there was an overlap between WNBC and WWLP (TV) Springfield, Mass. Latter is owned by Springfield Television, as are WRLP (TV) Greenfield and WWOR-TV Worcester, both Mass. Springfield Television at one time had a one-third interest in Connecticut Television but dropped it when the overlap problem developed. It has the option to recapture this interest if and when FCC permits.

FCC approved the $750,000 sale of the New Britain stations to Connecticut Television last September (Broadcasting, Sept. 28). Connecticut then resold WKNB to Beacon Broadcasting for $255,000. Connecticut Television is owned jointly by H. & E. Balaban Co. and Transcontinental Properties Inc. These interests own radio and tv properties in the midwest and south.

Roach, Guild on carpet for SEC violations

A preliminary injunction enjoining Hal Roach Jr., Guild Films Co. and two California banks from “further violating” the registration provision of the Securities Act of 1933 was signed last Monday (Nov. 23) by Judge Sylvester J. Ryan of the U.S. District Court in New York.

The action resulted from loans made by the two banks—Santa Monica Bank and Southwest Bank of Inglewood, Calif.—to Mr. Roach on collateral of stock. When the banks learned that some of the stock represented shares of the F.L. Jacobs Co., which had been suspended from trading on the New York Stock Exchange following SEC proceedings against the company, they asked Mr. Roach to liquidate the loans. He provided additional collateral to the banks, consisting of 5,000 shares in Guild Films. These shares bore the statement that “these shares have been acquired for investment and may not be sold, transferred or hypothecated in the absence of an effective registration statement.”

FTC charges Colgate

First move in what is presumed to be a far-reaching Federal Trade Commission campaign against misleading toothpaste advertising (BROADCASTING, Nov. 16) took place last week.

A television commercial for Colgate Dental Cream with Gardol which touts a “protective shield” for teeth was tabbed as deceptive by the FTC. FTC issued a complaint against Colgate-Palmolive Co. Nov. 22, charging that the dentifrice does not completely protect the users’ teeth against tooth decay or the development of cavities by forming a “protective shield” or otherwise, as claimed in the company’s television advertising. The same claims also appeared in print ads and newspaper advertisements.

This campaign, FTC said, has “unfairly” diverted trade from competitors and substantially injured competition in violation of the Federal Trade Commission Act. The company has 30 days to file an answer to this complaint.

The FTC action admittedly stems from the blast by the American Dental Assn. against “reckless claims” by advertisers for dentifrices. The ADA sentiment was seconded by Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of Health, Education & Welfare.

The curse of consistency • "Oops, sorry . . ."

Under this banner, five of the McLendon radio stations have placed ads in local newspapers to offer a "public apology" for "indiscretions" on their airwaves. The ads appeared, one by each station (see cuts), over a six-week span starting with one inserted by KLIF Dallas in the Dallas Morning News on Sept. 11.

What were the indiscretions? In all cases, according to the ads, they were committed not by a station man but by people being interviewed at a time of emotional tension. On KLIF and KEEL Shreveport (in the Shreveport Times), the culprit in each case had "just witnessed the plane landing." KTSA San Antonio (San Antonio Express) said in its case it was somebody who had "just won a KTSA contest." KILT Houston's ad (Houston Post) said the person had "just experienced a harrowing situation" and WAKY Louisville's problem, the ad (in the Courier-Journal) reported, stemmed from somebody "agitated by the time-change situation."

All but KTSA's ad apologized to the more than 3,000 people who, they said, had called the station, and also to the "other thousands" who were listening. KTSA's apologized "to the hundreds who called us—and the other thousands who heard it." KEEL's apologized "for the indiscretion of a listener" and KLIF's apologized "for the indiscretion of a listener in San Antonio." The word used by KTSA was "compared to the KEEL ad, are the other The other thousands who called us heard it—KLIF apologizes sincerely.

FANFARE

'Flighty,' announcer

If listeners of WGAU Athens, Ga., thought that recent call letter announcements over the station sounded a little throaty . . . they were right. WGAU ran a contest for parakeets with a prize of $20 for the first feathered friend who could say, "WGAU, Athens, Georgia. where there's so much more to listen for," (a mouthful for any bird). However Blue Boy, the parakeet, came through for its owners and the station ran its announcement on tape for a few weeks. His own show? Station officials declined comment.

Commercial marathon • To herald its new 24-hour-a-day schedule, KORK Las Vegas, Nev. aired a solid 24-hours of commercials on Sunday, Nov. 22. The stunt also directed attention to the fact that KORK, during its normal broadcast day, has eliminated "double-spotting." Dave Drew, station manager said: "We're getting the commercial taken care of in one day and from this day forward we promise that there will be only one commercial between each record or program."

Heart-to-Heart • Disc jockeys Alan Dary of WBZ Boston and Dick Cook of KSFO San Francisco have been named co-chairmen of the national d.j. committee for the 1960 Heart Fund Campaign, the American Heart Assn. reports. Headed by Messrs. Dary and Cook, the committee of 52 other d.j.s will poll some 4,000 d.j.s to select the country's foremost male and female vocalists. They are to be crowned "King and Queen of Hearts" in a special half-hour variety show to be broadcast on radio throughout the country on or about Feb. 14, 1960. Approximately 1,000 stations carried the annual program last February.

News segment
An unsponsored news segment was used by KTBC Austin, Tex., to secure a contract from one of the city's leading furniture dealers.

Program Manager Cactus Pryor pitched a commercial on a morning newscast to the proprietor of the furniture company that the station wanted to sign up. "You are probably shoving right now while listening to this news . . . just as thousands of other Austin businessmen are doing," Mr. Pryor told the furniture dealer, pointing out that thousands of mothers would be listening on their car radios while driving children to school. The pitch ended by noting that a KTBC salesman would call on the prospective client at his office that day. The furniture store now is sponsoring KTBC's newscast.

Motion Picture Assn. of America, was host to a special diplomatic reception in New York where the tv program was viewed. A portrait of Prime Minister of India Jawaharlal Nehru was unveiled during the evening.

Name that instrument • WGMS Washington, D.C. ran a contest asking listeners to name the musical instrument played in periodic spots. The winner received two box seats to the National Symphony Orchestra's concert season. The Washington good music station reported that the instrument was a bassoon played by a member of the National Symphony.

Stamp collector • A "Stampede" has been started by WHLL Wheeling, W.Va. The station is asking its listeners to send it any unused trading stamps. WHLL is redeeming the stamps for toys and gifts which it will distribute to orphans and underprivileged children at Christmas.

News tip • Best news tip sent CKVL radio Verdun, Que., by a listener wins a $4,000 Dodge hardtop under a new promotion scheme. Prize car moves each week from dealer to dealer, with appropriate tie-ins. Station will continue cash payments for tips for its 24 daily newscasts.

OUR RESPECTS TO . . .

Simon Bernard Siegel

In a business often equated with brashness and spectacle, Simon Bernard Siegel seems a mildf. He is modest beyond belief.

Few men in television, or in the entertainment world at large, rank so high or remain so obscure. It is a clear case of hidden prominence. As financial vice president and treasurer of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres and its ABC division, he carries an authority such as few other No. 2 men hold anywhere. Yet the lowliest assistant vice president of almost any organization in the business would be safe in assuming he'll get more publicity than Si Siegel does—if, indeed, he has ever heard of Si Siegel.

This anonymity is deliberately sought and carefully protected. Si Siegel makes no speeches. He issues no statements, no policy pronouncements. His official biography takes up a full page of typescript only because the AB-PT press department (1) went to considerable pains and (2) used unusually wide margins.

No Buffer Between • But his associates know that, next to President Leonard Goldenson, Si Siegel is—well, he's next. Nobody stands in between. When Mr. Goldenson is away, Si Siegel is the operating head of AB-PT, and that includes the whole show. He is the only man, aside from President Goldenson, who single-handedly can override even the divisional heads. He is the money man and administrative expert to whose counsel Mr. Goldenson listens most attentively.

He is also the man who has been associated with Mr. Goldenson longer than anyone else at AB-PT. This is not to suggest that closeness to the boss had anything to do with Mr. Siegel's attaining his position of eminence. If anything, according to associates in the AB-PT hierarchy, the reverse is true—he attained that closeness only after he proved his right to eminence on the merits of his work. He has known and worked with Mr. Goldenson—whom he regards as a man who "has everything the old showmen ever had, plus everything else"—since 1940.

Simon Siegel was born March 16, 1906—in Denver, the son of Bernard and Ida Siegel. The family moved to New York when he was six years of age, and he was educated in the Brooklyn public schools.

Early Start • When he was 12, his father died, and the young Si entered the world of commerce while continuing his schooling. He went to work delivering groceries and handling assorted odd jobs after school and, a little later, reversed the process and started studying at night while earning money in the daytime.

Figures always came easy with him and his nighttime pressed by his early experience in accounting, which at the time seemed an attractive way of life. His first professional job was with a public accounting firm at $12 a week. Whether the salary was an influencing factor is not a matter of public record, but after about a year Mr. Siegel decided the life of a CPA was not for him and he resigned the job.

About this time he took Civil Service examinations in the accounting field. But the appointment was slow in coming through and, while waiting, he took a job in 1929 as junior auditor with Famous Players-Lasky Corp. Six months later the Civil Service appointment was offered him, but his work already had impressed his Famous Players bosses to the point that they didn't want to lose him. They offered more money as an inducement to stay. Mr. Siegel, impressed by this expression of logic, passed up the government appointment and has never regretted it for a moment.

Now he was in show business to stay. Famous Players eventually became Paramount Pictures Inc., and after several promotions he was named assistant comptroller of the company's theatre division in 1941, and comptroller in 1949.

The Spin • He stayed with the theatre interests—and with Mr. Goldenson, who headed them—when they were spun off into the newly formed United Paramount Theatres on Jan. 1, 1950, serving as comptroller. Three years later, when UPT merged with ABC and added radio and television to its theatre interests, he became treasurer of the resulting company, AB-PT.

In 1957 Mr. Siegel was advanced to financial vice president and treasurer of AB-PT and ABC, in 1958 was elected to the AB-PT board of directors, and earlier this year was appointed to the board's executive committee.

From these multiple positions he is intimately concerned with the full scope of AB-PT's interests, which include Ampar Records, electronics manufacturing and a substantial block of stock in Disneyland park, as well as television, radio and theatre holdings. To these was added, a week ago, the Prairie Farmer Publishing Co., which includes Prairie Farmer, Wallace's Farmer and Wisconsin Agriculturist. It is subject to the customary FCC approval—the remaining half interest in WLS Chicago, of which AB-PT already was 50% owner.

Expansion If • Although its current interests are largely in the entertainment area, Mr. Siegel says AB-PT would not be reluctant to expand into other fields—provided that they are compatible with the entertainment business.

Mr. Siegel lives in Yonkers, N.Y., with his wife, the former Rose Papish, a Brooklyn girl whom he married in 1928. They have a son, Dr. Bernard Siegel, now in his second year of surgical residency at Yale Medical Center and the father of two children, and a daughter, Irma, who was married to Dr. Leonard Weissbein a few days after her graduation from Vassar College last June.

In his private life Mr. Siegel practices the same quiet decorum that marks his conduct of business affairs. Carpentry is his principal hobby, though at one time it had to compete with handball for his after-hours attention. The quiet approach to life unquestionably gives him a deep sense of satisfaction. "If I had to do it over," he confides, "I wouldn't change a day."
Believability

EVERYBODY expected the newspapers to make hay out of television's quiz scandals and related troubles. Some idea of the extent to which they have succeeded is now available in survey results distributed to subscribers 10 days ago by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

This survey, one in a weekly series done for McClure by Trendex News Poll, using the Trendex organization for the interviewing, indicates that television's believability as an advertising medium is in low repute indeed. And radio's would appear to be in even worse shape, while newspapers—and to a lesser extent magazines—is riding high.

Example: Asked to rank the four major media according to the believability of their advertising, 88.2% put newspapers in first, second place against 64.2% for magazines, 30.9% for television and 16.7% for radio.

The results are at such odds with other studies of media believability that the first inclination is to scoff. But let's assume that they're accurate. We know, already, that the quiz scandals have hurt television's image. This was demonstrated in a survey conducted for BROADCASTING's Nov. 9 issue by Sindingler & Co. (though those results did not look nearly so damaging to tv, and did not evaluate radio or other media at all).

So far, however, there has been no indication of appreciable changes in average audience size.

Radio and television are part of our way of life. The youngest of the mass media, they have accomplished more in a generation than the printed media have in two centuries. The dislocation shown by the Trendex survey, induced by the volume and weight of the news about broadcasting's troubles, is temporary. Future surveys will prove this.

If advertisers will be straightforward in their commercials (as indeed almost all of them are), they can soon turn the skeptics into believers. The persuasive power of television and radio is so great that it needs only to be used with skill and honesty to reverse the standings of the Trendex News Poll.

A year from now

WHAT will it be like a year from now?

Occult vision isn't required to divine that television (and radio) still will be in the throes of an investigatory nightmare. By then there may be indictments for perjury in the quiz-rigging affair. The mortality among disc jockeys who took payola will be heavy.

And, with 1960 a presidential campaign year, there will be an open season all year long for political pot-shooting at broadcasting. With the quiz target riddled and no longer headline stuff, the shooting will be diverted to such reader-appeal items as program ratings, advertising excesses and merchandising giveaways—all made to appear much worse than they are.

In the process there will be changes within and outside broadcasting. While government usually moves slowly, the fervor whipped up by headlines and magazine cover stories will speed the regulatory and possibly the legislative processes. If broadcasters do not clean house themselves, Congress can be expected to act—probably upon recommendations for new control from the FCC and the FTC. But even if there is no legislation, there henceforth will be closer scrutiny by the regulatory agencies of station and network operations.

It really doesn't matter much now whether the NAB, as the overall trade association, asserts the leadership that was to be expected of it, but which so far has been nonexistent. If the NAB doesn't do something fast, effective and inspired, its reason for being will cease. There will always be a trade association, we presume, but other people will be running it, doing the legislative and public relations jobs that need to be done.

The leadership will emerge even if independent broadcasters and the networks have to form their own emergency corps. Practically every responsible government official has said he wants to see the broadcasters solve their own problems from within. Most officials look to a tightened voluntary code, with enough teeth to discipline offenders, as perhaps the most effective immediate way out. But they do not believe this can be accomplished unless a vast majority of the operating TV stations subscribe to the code—as against the 271 (roughly half)—now in the fold. Indeed, there are already encouraging signs, following the closed circuit appeal a fortnight ago by Don McGannon, Code Review Board chairman. If the code gets the support it deserves, through enrollment of most stations, a large step will have been taken in the avoidance of new restrictive legislation.

At this stage name-calling and back-biting serve no purpose. The scapegoats are those who already have or who are about to get the pink slips among the packagers, producers, disc jockeys, program directors and others who have been on the payola receiving line.

The result of all this is a serious loss of prestige. There is an economic loss too, not so much in immediate sponsorship defections, but in paying of contract commitments, hiring of replacement personnel, replacement of programs, and cost of litigation and hearings.

Radio and television, if it follows, will become a less attractive field for the pitchmen and the sharpies. They, it is to be hoped, will move on to other pursuits. With controls tightened (all from within, we hope) radio and television will not prove so attractive to the Midas-touch entrepreneurs who move in, build up properties through hotrod promotions, and then move out with handsome capital gains.

This appraisal, at a time when evil winds swirl about broadcasting, may appear ill-timed. We venture these comments because we are confident that career broadcasters—the old pros plus the brighter of the new generation—will meet the challenge. It won't be the same henceforth.

The answer, as we have said repeatedly, is in the assumption of control of editorial content—which means all programming. The move is definitely in that direction. Once this is achieved, there will emerge a stronger, better broadcasting art and business, directed by professionals and catering to the public they have served so well since the first regular radio broadcast 39 years ago.

I've found out who started the wild rumor that our show was cancelled . . . the sponsor.

While the year's most disastrous Kansas City fire was being fought during the morning of August 18th, KMBC-TV newsmen were at the scene alongside the combined units of 19 fire-fighting companies, filming the conflagration. They were so engaged when a large gasoline storage tank exploded and sprayed flaming gasoline over many of the firemen, six of whom were burned fatally. KMBC-TV News Photographer Joe Adams and Newsman Charles Gray held to their nearby position and made the exclusive pictorial record of the death-dealing holocaust.

The finished picture content was so breathtaking that the film
1. for sheer impact on the public, during its first telecast on a special afternoon news spot, was repeated that night and by overwhelming demand the next day ...
2. was used by Fox Movietone News throughout the nation's theatres because of its spectacular news coverage ...
3. was requested for study by the Investigating Committee appointed by the mayor to report on the firefighting conditions and procedures ...
4. was copied and given to the local fire authorities for a permanent training film; another copy was supplied the oil company for fire prevention training ...
