Deejay Stunts Grow Rougher & Tougher

Promotion-Minded Stations Up Demands As Jocks Break Records, Bones, Banks

By JUNE BUNDY

NEW YORK — It's tough to be a deejay these days. Promotion-minded station execs are making more and more demands upon spinners in an effort to garner extra publicity for their outlets.

Some of the more recent stunts have involved burying a jockey in a barrel of canned cranberries, having a spinner set up disk-keeping in a bird cage, entering jocks in cooking contests, and having entire deejay staffs participate in a variety of strenuous sports competitions. One outlet, KALL, Salt Lake City, turned the tables and offered prizes to the first skier-dialer to break a leg.

The cranberry victim was Freeman Hover, KEYZ, Williston, N. D., who was encased in a fortress of canned cranberries as part of a pre-Thanksgiving promotion for a supermarket. Hover stayed inside the can-barricade for five hours—that's how long it took housewives to buy enough cranberries to permit his release. The buyers were invited to submit guesses as to what time Hover would be released, and the winner received all of her grocery purchases for that day free. Hover's only comment: "I feel like I was cran-buried."

The cage-sitter was Jerry Stowe, KTCT, Tucson, Ariz., who lived and broadcast from a cage outside the studio until his Emu bird returned. Gimmick was that Stowe kept the cage warm until the Emu was found. Local merchants got in the act by donating heaters to keep the cage warm, a radar set to help look for the bird, etc. Dialers were urged to donate food items, which were later presented to the local Community Chest.

In the field of athletics, the entire deejay staff of KQV, Pittsburgh, is helping raise funds for local high schools by playing a series of basketball games with local students. The jocks lost the first game, and suffered several injuries—including Dick Drury's sprained foot and Chuck Brinkman's sprained knee.

Also risking injury for sweet charity recently were spinners at WIP, Philadelphia. During a local ice show performance, the jocks—Joe McCauley, Dick Carr, Tom Brown, Jim Leaming, Dick Reynolds and Chuck Dougherty—donned skates and held a race. Each deejay represented a local institution and the winner donated an electric organ to his charity.

Apron-wearers this season were deejays "Big" Wilson, "Swinging" Sweeney, Ronnie Barrett and Tom Griffiths of KYW, Cleveland. The boys acted as assistants to the finalists in the station's apple bake-off contest. The finals were held in a downtown show window during a remote broadcast of Barrett's disk show.

Mike Hunter, program director, and Morton Downey Jr., both of KELP, El Paso, Tex., broke several standing records when they staged a bowling marathon last month. Hunter bowled 115 straight games with a 120 over-all average in a little more than 31 hours on non-stop bowling; while Downey bowled 107 games.

Many jocks undoubtedly secretly gloated over KALL's "Broken Leg" contest, which put the cast on the listener's foot for a change. The first person breaking his leg on the local slopes was awarded (by KALL) a wheel chair, crutches, cane, knitting needles and the latest "TV Guide."

Glamour was added to a stunt staged last month by deejays at KFWB, Hollywood. The jocks participated in a trotters race at the

STAR-SPANGLED INAUGURAL DUE PRESIDENT-ELECT

By MILDRED HALL

WASHINGTON — Music will loom large in the inaugural gala for President-Elect Kennedy, when Frank Sinatra will produce and perform in a show spangled with such stars as Harry Belafonte, Ella Fitzgerald, Nat King Cole, Dean Martin, Sammy Davis Jr., and Nelson Riddle and his orchestra. The two-hour inaugural gala, to be seen by invitation plus $100 per head, will be held at the National Guard Armory here, January 19.

Other top stars entertaining the new President and Vice-President, their wives, cabinet members and other officials, will be Joey Bishop, master of ceremonies for the show, Milton Berle, Henry Fonda, Gene Kelly and Red Skelton. Mahalia Jackson will sing the national anthem, and special material for the original show will be prepared by Sammy Cahn and James Van Heusen.

It will be interesting to compare attention given the performers at this Democratic inaugural celebration, with the careless indifference given performances by Lily Pons and Dorothy Shay, and Fred Waring, among others, at the last Republican inaugural celebration for Eisenhower. At that time, the milling audience largely had its back to the stage, and talked straight thru the performances.

Matthew H. McCloskey, treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, estimates on the basis of a flood of advance inquiries, that the huge armory will be filled to capacity for the show. Traditionally, especially in the Roosevelt and Truman era, performers and the performing arts have found more enthusiasm and support from the Democrats, than from the GOP administrations.

Foreign Disk Mart Holds Big Potential For American Firms

Top Rank's Marshall Cites Rising Overseas Disk Sales as Indicator

By REN GREVATT

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles covering all important facets of the international music scene to be published from time to time in The Billboard.

NEW YORK — As 1961 approaches, American disk men can look to the foreign market as one which holds the greatest potential growth for the record business, according to Paul Marshall, local attorney closely identified with the music scene, and head of the Top Rank International disk co-op.

"There has been an incredible increase in the size of the foreign record market in just the past three years," said Marshall, "and yet taken in toto, the business overseas today is a mere trickle of what it may one day be."

Speaking in general terms, Marshall noted such nations as the Soviet Union, India, Indonesia and even Red China as fantastically big potential markets. "The latter three nations alone contain over a billion people. Think how many records that many people could buy in a year, given the right economic conditions. Even today, American records are being smuggled into Red China via Japan and Shanghai. There are 212 million Russians starving for American jazz. Record people may well look far beyond the markets we think of traditionally as foreign. The business will someday be a lot more than just England and Western Europe."

Exchange Good

Marshall explained that one important aspect of the growing overseas market is the increasingly healthy state of currencies abroad. Three years ago it was difficult to get money out of many countries. Today currency exchange is almost an automatic matter in a number of sectors.

This factor has accounted for a gradual increase in export of actual disks to foreign countries from the United States. This has replaced in some cases the shipping of tapes for pressing overseas. Some labels already are active in this field. "It gives them better control of the release of their product," Marshall continued. "Prestige Records, for example, in certain countries, made export arrangements only on the basis that the importer would have to accept some of every item in the catalog. American companies will be able to insist on arrangements like this more and more because of the stability of currencies in many nations overseas."

Upswing Cycle

Taking a closer look at specific foreign countries, Marshall noted that almost all are currently on an upswing cycle. "Canada," he said, "parallels our own market closely. There is virtually no r.&b. there and no jazz, but the Dominion is a definite country and western factor. Otherwise, Canada is a straight 6 to 7 per cent market, pattered on the United States."

"In England," he declared, "they have had a good year. You must remember that it's largely a monopoly type of market, but business is still up over last year. They will buy American hits, but they are very selective as to artists. You have to work very hard there to establish an American artist because of their growing spirit of nationalism. They sell much classical and little modern jazz. But it's a

Claims Jocks Live Easy Life

NEW YORK — Disk jockeys may otherwise, but according to a National Labor Relations Board decision last week, a deejay's technical tasks are easily learned and there are no formal technical education requirements.

The opinion was handed down when a three-member panel of the NLRB ordered that deejays at four Portland, Ore., stations may vote for either of two unions (the American Federation of TV and Radio Artists or the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers) or neither as their separate bargaining agent. The technical duties of a deejay — termed "easy" by the NLRB — include cueing disks, operating turntables and tape recorders, making log entries of meter readings and attending potentiometers.

Charts to Get Global Flavor

NEW YORK — As the overseas market for American record product expands, a concurrent development can be expected to manifest itself, according to sources here. As the channels are opened record-wise to many countries, product of those nations and territories can be expected to get attention in the States.

This trend has already been noted with the hit status achieved here in recent years of notable recordings from Italy, France, England and Germany, most recent example of which is the Bert Kaempfert dishing on Decca of "Wonderland by Night." Looking into the future, disk men here see no reason why pop charts may not on day list smashes from Africa, India and other relatively untapped musical cultures.

SORD Throws Full Support To Distributors in One-Stop Fight

Dealers Group to Ask Members Not to Patronize One-Stop Operations

HOLLYWOOD — Society of Record Dealers last week threw the full weight of its organization behind the cause of the record distributors in their continuing struggle with one-stops. SORD Prexy Howard Judkins Sr. last week told The Billboard that his organization was "glad to see the distributors finally take action" against one-stops who have been under-cutting distributors in their dealings with retailers.

Judkins said SORD sees one-stops as competitors to dealers themselves, with a majority of them adding discount retail operations to their present functions as sub-distributors. "The one-stop," Judkins said, "was created to service juke box operators. Since then, they have branched out to handle small dealers in fringe areas whose orders from each line are too small to prove profitable for the average distributor to handle. But from this point, the one-stops have moved in to service top volume retailers."

Situation has become further aggravated with one-stops buying transshipped product at prices below the local distrib's level, Judkins added. This product, he said, in turn, feeds the one-stops' retail discount operations to loom as still another threat to the established record dealer.

Judkins pledged SORD's support of the distributors, saying he will call upon his organization's members to patronize regular distributors, and ask them not to deal with one-stops. He will tell his members that in his opinion the one-stops do not have the record industry's interest at heart and therefore do not pursue business policies that can lead to a healthier record business.

As still another phase in SORD's support of the distributors, Judkins called upon record manufacturers to protect distributors in their sales policies so that one-stops won't enjoy an advantage over the distributors. One advantage one-stops have held over distributors has been their ability to offer dealers a 100 per cent guarantee on singles. Judkins lauded "such labels as Capitol and Dot" for offering dealers the protection of a 100 per cent exchange benefit on singles, and "such distributors as Sid Talmadge's Record Merchandising in Los Angeles" who has extended a similar guarantee.

If other labels follow suit, Judkins said, the dealers would return to the established distributors, instead of going to one-stops who offer the full guarantees. Furthermore, such protective benefits prompt dealers to stock up on merchandise. With more wares on dealers' shelves, Judkins reasoned, more product is bound to be sold. Manufacturer, distributor and dealer would benefit collectively. Healthiest industry structure is the manufacturer - distributor - dealer relationship of old, according to Judkins. There can't be any room for sub-distributors such as one-stops, Judkins added.

Dot Boasts All-Time High $11 Mil. Gross

Total Tops 1959 by Nearly 30 Per Cent; Stereo, Seasonal Sales Drives Credited

HOLLYWOOD —Dot Records, Inc., Paramount Pictures' subsidiary, will gross in excess of $11 million for the calendar year 1960, according to Dot President Randy Wood, who conveyed this information in a statement to Barney Balaban, president of the parent film company.

Wood stated that with six weeks remaining in the year, Dot had already passed the $10 million mark in sales—placing the firm's 1960 business almost 30 per cent ahead of 1959, when gross sales totaled $8,600,000.

Wood attributed the label's all-time peak sales volume to three sales drives: (1) Stereo month in January, a promotion which accounted for nearly $2 million; (2) a six-week summer sale to consumers in June and July, which was given additional impetus by heavy advertising and which grossed more than $1 million; and (3) the 1960 fall program — from September 1 to October 15 — which drew sales totaling nearly $3 million.

The Dot president noted that in the past 18 months the label replaced 10 independent distribution areas with company - owned branches. Prior to that time, Dot had depended upon independent

Sinatra Label Ready For February Debut

HOLLYWOOD—Frank Sinatra will debut his new label in mid-February. The Billboard learned last week. First release will consist of two albums, one featuring Sinatra, and the other Sammy Davis Jr. Johnny Mandell will provide the ork setting for Sinatra's initial LP. Future releases will be in both album and single disk forms.

Diskery's name hasn't been determined as yet. Sinatra will use his Essex Productions as the firm which produces the disks, but will market them under a new firm name. In the meantime, artists currently are at work designing several labels using those names which are being considered. Final decision will be made after the labels have been completed with the choice going to the one which carries the greatest sales impact.

Sinatra plans to work thru indie distributors. Deals with distributors soon will be negotiated and concluded in time to give the new label maximum exposure in all market areas.

Sinatra has been building his organization and has several key people set for his fold. Their identity, The Billboard was told,

MANTOVANI A BEST SELLER ON 'EXODUS'

NEW YORK — Two important disk versions of the theme music from "Exodus" continued to climb the charts this week, with performances by both Mantovani and Ferrante and Teicher showing considerable sales activity. Last week an advertisement in The Billboard incorrectly noted the Ferrante and Teicher disk as the only selling version.

The material, incidentally, has become the vehicle for Mantovani's first single record click in several seasons. In addition, the version by the British maestro appears in his current album of well-known themes, which also is showing solid retail acceptance.

Artists Join Liberty Move On Markets

HOLLYWOOD — Liberty Records last week moved into the second phase of its sales promoting "Operation Hit" campaign (see The Billboard, November 21 issue) with six of its touring artists complementing the efforts of its seven-man exec task-force which has been covering the top 15 markets for the past several weeks. Liberty's promotional reps will arrange special appearances on radio and TV as well as sales centers in key markets aimed at pushing the full Liberty holiday program.

Liberty artists now on tour include comic Dave Barry, Johnny Burnette, Martin Denny, Buddy Knox, Jackie De Shannon, Bobby Vee, and Si Zentner. Zentner will plug the label's wares during his Midwest tour; Vee will cover the Southern California area, following a series of eastern TV and network tele appearances; Knox will be hitting the Washington and New York City markets, and Burnette is on a one-nighter wing thru the Northwest. Denny is headed for Hawaii, and Jackie De Shannon will be in the Chicago area.

Big Disk Rush Greet's 'Camelot'

NEW YORK — As "Camelot" opened in New York Saturday night (3) after two months of performances in both Toronto and Boston, Columbia Records reported orders of close to 200,000 copies of the as yet unrecorded original cast album. The orders were being fulfilled via the small three-inch record token that Columbia introduced two weeks ago. The "Camelot" token will be available this week at record shops, and can be purchased by record customers and exchanged for the original cast set when it is available.

Columbia Records, meanwhile, was on a "Camelot" kick, getting ready to record, press and release the album within two weeks after the opening, sometime between December 15 and 20. The covers were being printed and the label copy was being made ready this week as well. Columbia will record the original cast set December 11, and if everything goes well, copies will be on the market about five days later. Columbia has already released a Percy Faith album of tunes from the show and has another set by Andre Previn coming up shortly.

Meanwhile, the Time Records' album of music from the Lerner & Loewe score was reportedly selling strongly. This set features songs from the score by the Hugo

Columbia Ups Loetz, Lyons

NEW YORK—Jack Loetz has been appointed to the post of general manager of the Columbia Records Sales Corporation. For the past year Loetz has been staff assistant of the sales corporation and before that manager of sales administration at the company. In his new post Loetz will be responsible for the operation of sales administration, field sales and sales statistics.

At the same time, Joe Lyons has been named to the position of manager, field sales of Columbia Records Sales Corporation. He will be responsible for the supervision of Columbia's regional sales organization. Lyons last spot was as regional sales manager, Eastern division, for Columbia.

C-C Says No WMGM Change Due

NEW YORK — Altho Crowell-Collier Broadcasting execs said they had no plans whatsoever to change personnel at WMGM here (recently purchased by C-C), trade rumors last week persisted that changes were in the works.

One report had it that deejay B. Mitchel Reed, of C-C Station KFWB, Hollywood, would be imported for a top time slot; while another rumor was that St. Paul broadcaster Don French, KDWB program director, would be brought back to serve as program director of C-C's new outlet. Appointments, reportedly, will take place early next year.

Chuck Blora reportedly will supervise programming for all C-C stations on a national basis. Jim Hawthorne, prexy of the Disk Jockey Association, takes over Blora's former spot as program director of KFWB next month.

Armed Forces Go for Stereo

NEW YORK — Stereo album sales to members of the Armed Forces are way up, while singles sales are lagging, according to a special study recently conducted by United Artists Records.

Of album orders placed by the Army, Navy and Air Force, the study shows that 85 per cent were for stereo and only 15 per cent, monaural. Art Talmadge, UA veepee-general manager, notes that "this almost reverses the figures of a year ago." In general, record

The third new Command album is a "stereo check out record," offering recorded signals for checking frequency responses, maximum channel separation, distortion and turntable rumble of playback equipment. It will list for $5.98.

GUY LOMBARDO BACK IN OLD DECCA FOLD

NEW YORK — Guy Lombardo has returned to Decca Records, his original label. After an absence of five years, the maestro signed a long-term Decca pact this week. At Decca, Lombardo joins a growing roster of dance bands which also includes currently Sammy Kaye, Joe Reichman, Jan Garber, Warren Covington and Wayne King.

The man who over the years was known for "the sweetest music this side of heaven," was one of the original Decca artists, joining the company at its inception in August 1934. His first recording session was that month and his initial rec-

EXPANDING RSI ADDS NEW GOLD RECORD SERVICE

NEW YORK — Record Source, Inc., organization which supplies subscribing stations with single and album record services based on selections by The Billboard's reviewing panel, continues to expand its area of operations. RSI now has a total of 462 stations who subscribe to one or more of the services.

Stations who subscribe total 15 per cent of the broadcasting industry and are located in 48 States throughout the country. In addition, outlets in Canada, Australia, Bermuda, British West Indies, Korea, Madagascar, Mexico, Sweden, Peru, Thailand, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands and Israel are subscribers, with many other foreign outlets still in the negotiating stage.

Hal Cook, RSI chief, is adding a new service, called The Gold Record Series. Starting shortly, this will be taken from The Billboard's files of million record sellers. This service will be made up of one basic package of singles, and will be priced in line with RSI's other services.

Capitol Shuffle Brings Dunn, Livingston to New Positions

Dunn Named Marketing Vice-Pres., Livingston Creative Service Veep

By LEE ZHITO

HOLLYWOOD — Capitol Records last week reshuffled its top echelon, naming Lloyd Dunn veepee in charge of Marketing, and Alan Livingston as Creative Services veepee. The posts, new to the firm's exec structure, are expanded versions of positions both men had held with the company in the past.

Dunn has been veepee in charge of the Artist & Repertoire Division since December 1, 1958, but for years prior to that had served Capitol as its Sales & Merchandising veepee. His new position encompasses executive responsibility for the firm's disk sales and merchandising here and abroad, and, in addition, includes supervision of its International Department. Furthermore, Dunn will be Capitol Records, Inc.'s, exec link with its sales subsidi, Capitol Records International Corporation, and Capitol Records Distributing Corporation. As such, Dunn will provide "advice and counsel" to CRDC via CRDC Prexy Mike Maitland, a function formerly performed by CRI Prexy Glenn Wallichs.

Livingston, who recently returned to the Cap fold after a four-and-a-half year absence (see The Billboard, October 17 issue), was the label's exec veepee in charge of Artist & Repertoire at the time of his departure. Now, as head of Creative Services, Livingston again will helm Capitol's a.&r. activities, and, in addition, will be responsible for the firm's diversified investments in other sectors in the realm of entertainment. Capitol has invested in several stage vehicles, and has expressed interest in acquiring additional music publishing firms and other properties allied to its primary field.

Thus, the Capitol realignment of its exec forces returns both Dunn and Livingston to the same areas in which they had served the label some five years ago, but the field of operations for each has been appreciably broadened to keep pace with the company's expanded operations.

Also, Capitol's Administration & Finance veepee Dan Bonright will add supervision of CRI's phonograph activities to his present duties. Responsibility for its phono operations heretofore was split between CRDC sales and CRI's manufacturing and engineering division, headed by veepee Jim Bayless. Another change calls for CRI Secretary-General Counsel Bob Carp to report directly to Wallichs. Heretofore, Carp reported to Bonright.

Manufacturing and engineering veepee Bayless and eastern operations veepee Joe Csida continue in their areas of responsibility, otherwise unaffected by the above changes.

Pa. Retailers In Roster Bid

PHILADELPHIA — An all-out membership campaign to make the Pennsylvania Retail Record Dealers Association a major force in the industry has been launched by the group. Len Jaffe, head of Chelton Records and president of the group, indicated that the association has set a goal for at least 200 members. He pointed out that with such a membership, the association could well be in the driver's seat in all its dealings with distributors and manufacturers in behalf of the independent retailers.

'60 Classical LP Sales Up 58% in $ Volume Over 1959

10-Month Tabulation Signposts A Record Year for Longhair

By TOM NOONAN and BOB ROLONIZ

NEW YORK — Classical LP sales in record stores for the first 40 weeks of 1960 have increased by 58.1 per cent in dollar volume as against the first 40 weeks of 1959. This increase in dollar volume is calculated at manufacturers' list prices, and it only covers sales via record dealers. It does not include sales of classical LP's on racks or thru record clubs.

The total number of classical LP's moved via dealers thru October 8, 1960, came to 3,500,000 units. Of this total, stereo classical LP's accounted for 31.2 per cent. Monophonic classical LP's accounted for 68.8 per cent.

Stereo Vs. Monaural

Classical stereo disks are obtaining a higher percentage of the total classical market than pop stereo disks are gaining of the total pop market. Whereas 31.2 per cent of all classical disks sold in the first 40 weeks of 1960 were stereo, only 22.2 per cent of all pop disks sold by dealers were stereo. Of all stereo records (all categories) sold via record stores, 12.3 per cent are classical. Of all monaural records (all categories) sold by dealers, only 8.1 per cent are classical. Since classical stereo disks sell at a higher price than mono, they represent 15 per cent of all stereo sales to dealers, while mono-classical disks represent 10 per cent of all mono sales, at manufacturers' list.

Breaking the figures down even more finely, classical mono dollar sales for the first 40 weeks of 1960 are 44.3 per cent ahead of the same period in 1959. However, classical stereo dollar sales are 83.8 per cent ahead of the same period last year.

Classical Inventories

A recent survey taken by the Record Market Research Division of The Billboard has turned up some interesting information as to stocking practices of dealers re classical records. The question

Hypo Push Toward '4th' Music Society

NEW YORK — An earnest effort is now under way here to provide a reservoir of talent, tunes and records for juke box use, in the event that oft-proposed changes in the Copyright Law to permit collection of juke box performance royalties eventually should become law. Behind the effort is the familiar figure of Barney Young, who has been closely identified with earlier projects along the same lines.

Also a part of the new operation will be 20th Fox Records—which will act as producer and distributor of the recorded product. Young has established two new corporate entities with the blessing of, but without the participation of, the Music Operators of America. These entities are Operators Music, Ltd., the so-called fourth performing rights society, the idea of which was endorsed by the MOA board at its recent Miami Beach meet; and Music Operators Records, Ltd., within which will also be included a publishing firm to be affiliated with the new OML licensing group.

The acknowledged purpose of the plans is to provide a continuing source of music for which no juke box royalties would be collected in the event that legislation is enacted on Capitol Hill. The possibility of

ABC-Paramount Bows Jazz Label—Impulse

NEW YORK — ABC-Paramount Records is bringing out a new label, Impulse, a de luxe double-fold LP series, featuring only modern jazz artists. Creed Taylor will head up the new label, which debuts next month with releases by Ray Charles, Kai Winding, J.-J. Johnson, and the Gil Evans ork.

The advent of the new label—which will retail at $4.98 monaural and $5.98 stereo—is interesting in that ABC-Paramount was quite active in the jazz LP field some time ago, but more or less retired from the field in recent years.

Taylor, who has handled Am-Par's jazz activities since its inception, said the firm's re-entry into the jazz market was sparked by the current upswing in jazz sales—both albums and singles. In line with this, Impulse will issue a single from every LP release, and will make 33 1/3 stereo singles available to juke box operators.

Impulse will concentrate on modern jazz artists exclusively. There will be no reissues or traditional jazz packages in its catalog. Taylor believes the current jazz market is so competitive that only by maintaining a small roster of top jazz names can a new label break thru in a big way.

Impulse was set up as a separate label because Am-Par prexy Sam Clark thinks a jazz line should be sold to the public as a separate

FCC Mulls Rules Affecting Network-Owned Disk Firms

By MILDRED HALL

WASHINGTON — Profit and loss from network-owned record companies would have to be reported in proposed new financial data forms being considered by the Federal Communications Commission. The agency has issued rulemaking which would expand the current annual reporting required of networks and individual licensees. The added detail would pinpoint the music industry's money tie-ins with broadcasting, from performance fees to the cost of a lip-sync performance on a deejay show, or a licensee's profit from local record retailing.

The expanded forms would include: breakdown on profit and loss from all sources of revenue, including non-broadcast interests owned by reporting net or station owner; detailed itemizing of all program expenses, including breakdown of licensing fees paid to ASCAP, BMI, SESAC, and others; all payments made to owners and officials in the way of salaries and fees, out of broadcast revenue; and finally, a new, separate, itemized breakout of FM revenue as distinct from the AM; when owned by the same licensee.

The National Association of Broadcasters has asked and been granted extra time, until February 1, to comment on the new forms, and up to February 15 for reply comment. The expanded requirements would cover broadcast revenue for the calendar year of 1960, and would be due April 1, 1961. NAB has urged the broadcasters to have their lawyers and accountants take a long look at the proposed new form which would "differ so widely in length and content" from the short-form requirements, which have been in effect since 1953. Previous to that year, the FCC required more detailed financial data, but the new proposals go beyond even those.

House Interested

The data required on profit and loss from all outside interests of nets and licensees would be particularly interesting to those House investigators on the Harris Commerce Committee who have promised to hold hearings on the licensing of networks, and net-owned

Gallagher at Helm in Epic Brass Switch

NEW YORK — Major changes have been made in the structure of Epic Records, Columbia's subsidiary label. The changes, which take effect this week, are aimed at strengthening the label as an indie firm, giving it added strength in the field.

Major change is that the direction of the firm will now be in the hands of Bill Gallagher, veepee in charge of sales for Columbia. He will supervise all Epic activities starting this week, with the new Epic sales manager and the new Epic a.&r. director reporting directly to him. However, Gallagher does not intend to change the independent distribution now enjoyed by Epic, nor does he intend to integrate Epic into the Columbia organization. Epic will continue to work with its indie distributors, except in what are called "marginal areas," such as Phoenix, Ariz., and Memphis, where Columbia distribs will handle the line.

Bill Gallagher is taking over direction of Epic from Al Shulman, who has been appointed to the Columbia Records division and will take on special marketing assignments. The new national sales manager of Epic is Al Fishman, former sales chief of Columbia's Masterworks division. He will be in charge of Epic's field sales and of sales administration, and will report directly to Gallagher. Charlie Schicke, who recently returned to Epic from Everest, will continue as field sales manager reporting to Fishman. The Epic field reps, Carter and Brewer, will report to Schicke. Herb Linsky continues as Epic's national promotion manager reporting to Fishman. Ricky Von Seekman will continue as manager

FTC Studies Philly 1-Stops' Sales Set-Up

PHILADELPHIA — An investigation of the trade practices of one-stop record shops is in the offing by the Federal Trade Commission. Acting on complaints of the Pennsylvania Retail Record Dealers Association, an FTC investigator has been assigned here to study the situation.

Association officials have complained that one-stop record shops here are engaged in unfair trade practices in that they have retail set-ups and are selling records for less than what the retailer is paying for them. The price advantage the one-stops enjoy from the distributors, the association charges, must apply only to wholesale selling. Instead, they claim, one-stops are selling outright at retail or have set up retail shops under other names without trying to even hide their identity or association.

The attorneys for the association have set up meeting dates for the FTC investigators, as well as turning over their complete files on the one-stops to the FTC.

DISK ANSWERED VIA TELEPHONE

HOLLYWOOD — The making of another answer disk is far from news in this day of more answers on platters than questions asked. But when that answer is made via telephone, then a new wrinkle has been introduced, and a new use made of Don Ameche's invention. This occurred recently when Rendezvous Records Prexy Rod Pierce decided to record a reply to Elvis Presley's disked query, "Are You Lonesome Tonight?"

Pierce was in New York where he obtained permission from the tune's publishers, Bourne and Cromwell, to answer the Presley platter, and then recorded vocalist Ricky Paige in a Hollywood studio, supervising the session via a telephone line into the control booth. Line was held open for three hours. Paige's platter: "Yes, I'm Lonesome Tonight."

Deejay Cole To Helm Yule R.&R. Show

NEW YORK — Video deejay Clay Cole, WNTA, Newark, N. J., will helm the Christmas rock and roll stage show this year at the Brooklyn Paramount Theater, a date which Alan Freed played here for several years.

Guest deejays from other local stations—including Murray Kaufman, WINS, and Dr. Jive, WURL—will take over the emcee spot for one show a day so that Cole can do his daily TV hop program on WNTA. However, Cole is taping his Christmas Eve telecast.

The Brooklyn Paramount holiday bill—starting December 23 and running thru January 1 (Cole's birthday)—will spotlight Bobby Rydell, Chubby Checker, the Drifters, Neil Sedaka, Little Anthony and the Imperials, Bobby Vee, the Skyliners, Dion, Bo Diddley, Johnny Burnette, Kathy Young, Jimmy Charles, Blue Notes, Dante and the Evergreens.

Last year—during the payola crisis—the Brooklyn Paramount canceled out plans for its annual Christmas treat for teen-agers. This year, tho, rock and roll is hotter than ever on the charts, and the theater hopes the kids will be rocking in the aisles again to the tune of big box-office returns.

37 AIRERS GET FCC REMINDERS

WASHINGTON — Lest they forget—the FCC has reminded 37 broadcast stations that they may face sanctions for failure to answer FCC payola queries on "unannounced program material" and what the licensees were doing to correct and prevent payola. The FCC questioned all broadcasters in December of 1959, and the stations currently cited not only failed to answer fully, but ignored FCC's follow-up inquiries in September and October of 1960. (The Billboard, December 7, 1959.)

JERSEY JAZZ

High School Buffs Get Concerts

MONTCLAIR, N. J.—An informal poll of high schoolers in this suburban area shows that the 15-to-18-year age group has largely given up buying single disks, in favor of albums featuring not only the likes of Sinatra and Belafonte, but all types of jazz as well.

Aware of this, local cats have taken up the cudgels for jazz concerts, at least two of which were on the docket at press time for local high school auditoriums.

Al Senerchia, a Julliard product who is now identified with the jazz scene here, has put together a 12-man modern group which will concertize in the Montclair High School auditorium Wednesday (7) under pianist impresario John Almquist. The concert will be taped for disk release. Last Saturday, the nearby Glen Ridge community witnessed a Dixie concert by Jay Duke's Dixielanders. Both concerts were pegged at popular prices to reach the teen market.

WB Vetoes Special Yule Disk Fare

HOLLYWOOD — Warner Bros. Records' special Christmas gift to dealers this year will be to not re-release any Christmas product. Label Prexy Jim Conkling feels dealers and distribs annually are deluged with yuletide product, but the time is rare that any of it hits. Rather than add to the avalanche of holiday hopefuls, WB is staying clear of seasonal releases, but instead is sticking to its avowed policy of issuing a few select albums which can be promoted and sold regardless of the time of the year.

ARE YOU LONESOME?

Elvis Asks the Question; Flock of Fems Say Yes

NEW YORK — Elvis Presley's smash hit waxing of "Are You Lonesome Tonight," has inspired the biggest flock of answer records to any one disk in years. And all of the answer disks are by fem artists, indicating the effect that Elvis still has on his large, loyal and young female following. The answer records, complete with heartfelt recitations, include diskings by Dodie Stevens on Dot, Linda Lee on Shasta, Ricky Page on Rendezvous, Thelma Carpenter on Coral and Jeanne Black on Capitol.

Four of the five answer records, the ones by Misses Stevens, Lee, Page and Carpenter, are the same song that Elvis sings, with the title changed slightly to "Yes I'm Lonesome Tonight." They all answer Elvis and explain that they too, are lonely and alone. Miss Black answers Elvis in a slightly different way, by singing another standard, "Oh How I Miss You Tonight," complete with her own sincere and touching recitation. It is all as if they are singing to Elvis personally, thru the media of recording.

All of this romantic effusion has caused a wild sales race on the part of the five diskeries, all trying to get their copy of the Elvis answer to disk jockeys, distributors and dealers before their competitors can do the same. There are reports that some enthusiastic sales personnel are calling competitor's versions unauthorized but a check of the publishers (Bourne-Cromwell) indicates that all versions

New Diners' Club Lure: Free Disk Player Unit

HOLLYWOOD—Diners' Record Club is giving away free of charge a Phonola stereo portable player valued at $84.95 in a new pitch to lure members. This is the latest in a series of different plans the club is offering concurrently to increase its membership ranks, and is the second new plan to be launched in as many weeks.

Members getting the free Phonola set agree to buy 24 stereo albums at list price of $4.98 and $5.98 per LP during a year's time. Minimum order of 12 LP's must accompany the request for the free phono, and the member agrees to buy one LP per month thereafter for a period of one year. After the purchase of 24 LP's, members will receive a free bonus disk for every two LP's purchased at list price. An additional four albums are being given free of charge to those who order all 24 at the time they join.

Membership drive is being restricted to Diners' Club credit card holders, unlike some of the other DRC campaigns which have been waged outside the club's domain.

Apparent reason for this is the credit risk involved which is being shouldered by Diners'. Credit status of all Diners' members is checked prior to issuance of the credit cards.

Capitol Ups Exchange Deal

HOLLYWOOD — Capitol Records is extending its recently established 100 per cent exchange privilege from a minimum of 10 copies of all singles released to a full 25 on its four current hot single hit contenders. Capitol will continue to guarantee its other singles only up to 10.

Four disks enjoying the expanded benefit include Jeanne Black's "Oh, How I Miss You Tonight," Ferlin Husky's "Wings of a Dove," Wanda Jackson's "Happy Birthday," and Frank Sinatra's "Ol' Mac Donald." Dealers, thus, will be protected up to 25 copies of each of these disks they stock.

Col. Issues 12 Dec. Albums

NEW YORK — Columbia is issuing 12 albums this month, nine in the pop category, and three jazz. Leading off are two albums of show scores, one featuring songs from "Camelot" by the Percy Faith ork and the other of tunes from "Molly Brown" by the Andre Kostelanetz ork. There are also new albums by Israeli singers Ron and Nina, comic Jack Douglas, Mitch Miller ("Mitches' Greatest Hits"), the Norman Luboff Choir, Tony Bennett, the Four Lads, and Little Jimmy Dickens.

BRITISH Newsnotes

By DON WEDGE

News Editor, New Musical Express

BBC-TV sprang a surprise by deciding to work directly with three disk firms in choosing its entrant for the 1961 Eurovision Song Contest. EMI, Decca and Philips will each supply three songs of British origin and previously unpublished. Where possible, major artists will present the tunes on a special TV show February 15. National panel of viewers will choose the British entrant for the Eurovision final. This will be staged at Cannes, March 25, and televised simultaneously in 13 countries.

Previously the BBC's entrant to the Eurovision contest has been picked from nomination panels set up by the Music Publishers' Association. Next year, the MPA will throw in its lot with a new competition being organized by the companies forming the rival ITV network for screening during the same week in February.

Explaining the decision to work with the disk firms, the BBC said: "These organizations are particularly qualified by experience to select, and subsequently exploit, the type of British song most likely to have an international appeal."

SALES: Latest Board of Trade statistics for the disk industry show that manufacturers' sales in September were $3,585,000 — about 2 per cent less than in the same month the previous year. The drop was caused by a slack in export trade—home sales at $2,650,000 rose by 3 per cent. Unit production was 6,713,000 disks of all types.

AWARDS: Victor Silvester's dance ork, for the past 25 years with EMI, has sold some 30 million disks. To mark the event, EMI is presenting him with, for the first time in Britain, a platinum disk. The firm is also presenting its first silver disk to Silvester for the sale of 250,000 LP's.

EX-RANK: First member of the Top Rank staff to join EMI since the label moved under the latter's control in Britain is Frank Chalmers. He is now in the international division at EMI's Hayes headquarters working with Harry Walters on the acquisition and disposal of the popular repertoire overseas.

VISIT-IN: The Andrews Sisters arrived Wednesday (30) for a stint at the Talk-of-the-Town. They are also to record for Johnnie Granz at Philips. . . . ATV's American head, Michael Nidorf, was visiting London. . . . Also David Miller. . . . A package headed by June Christy and the Four Freshmen begins a two-week tour in London February 11. . . . Theodore Bikel is due in Britain at the end of the month for BBC-TV. . . . An effort is being made to set up a February tour for Johnny and the Hurricanes — tho the musician-exchange problem has to be successfully overcome.

VISIT-OUT: EMI a.&r. manager, Norman Newell, plans a New York visit in January. . . . Warner's Bobby Weiss is due to fly to New York Thursday (8) for a week before continuing on to Hollywood.

HOME FRONT: Soon after finishing filming "The Right Approach" for 20th Century-Fox in Hollywood, Frankie Vaughan plays his first British concert series for more than a year. . . . Mantovani makes a rare British tour for two weeks from February 12. . . . BBC-TV has booked "Juke Box Jury" thru until March as a weekly feature. . . . Decca raised the prices of some classical LP's slightly — from $5.33 to $5.57, including tax. . . . Topic, a folk label, is issuing an LP of songs about the Irish Republican Army, sung by Dominic Behan, Brendan's brother. . . . Following a deal with the Oberline Corporation, Esquire's Starlite label is issuing its first children's EP.

NEW RELEASES: The Knightsbridge Strings, of the old Top Rank organization, have a successor — Decca's Cambridge Strings. Produced by former Rank recording chief Dick Rowe, now back on the Decca staff, they have the same musical director—Malcolm Lockyer. First release Friday (2) was "Love Theme" (from "Suzie Wong"). . . . This was one of several cover issues last weekend. The tune was also released on EMI-Columbia (from Roulette) by Joe Reisman. . . . Columbia also had the U. S. Wye label's "Night Theme" by the Mark II, but it has been covered by Rhet Stoller (Decca) and Bob Miller (Fontana). . . . Attention swings back to Top Rank with the issue of U. S. hit "Stay," by Maurice Williams (from Herald). Fontana issued the Okey cover version by Little Joe. . . . Other releases included: On Decca's London label the Chipmunks' "Rudolph" and the Fats Domino U. S. hit coupling "My Girl Josephine" and "Natural Born Lover"; from the EMI group — Jerry Butler's "He Will Break Your Heart" (from Vee Jay, on Top Rank), "Wait for Me," by the Playmates (Columbia from Roulette), and Faron Young's "A World So Full of Love" (Capitol).

PACKAGING: Increasing use is being made of special album packs with Christmas bringing several extras from British Decca. A batch of 16 steady-selling EP's has been reissued with special jackets designed for seasonal and greetings trade. They include titles by Pat Boone, Bing Crosby, Elvis Presley, Perry Como and Mantovani. . . . Palette has always issued with a variant on the standard disk pack since the label was launched in this country at the end of the summer. A Christmas single, "Like Party," has a presentation sleeve allowing space for a greetings message to be written.

EXPLOITATION: To help develop Brook Benton into a major British attraction, Mercury has sent its licensee, EMI, TV film clips of him singing "Fool's Rush In," his new release here, and "Boll Weevil" a future issue. . . . Warner Bros., happy with the success of its initial months in the British market, has recognized the help of its own Radio Luxembourg program and booked the Tuesday night half hour thru to the end of November, 1961. Decca has booked time for two of its Wednesday series thru to the same time. . . . So that deejays and producers will readily distinguish his disks, indie producer Bunny Lewis is attaching a sticker—picturing a rabbit—to the records he sends out. First to get the treatment is Azie Mortimer (Big Top), whose first side, "Lips," was released on London last week.

DOUBLED: Philips Records has chosen December as Johnny Mathis promotion month. Its Fontana label is basing a campaign on a double-LP package, "Rhythms and Ballads of Broadway," on sale for $5.59—the cost of a top-price album. None of the numbers has been issued here at all before. It

The noted publishing house of Curci celebrated its 100th anniversary in Milan, November 19. . . . The 11th San Remo Festival has just been launched by the ATA. The Festival takes place the end of January. The winners of the three evenings will not be chosen during the festival, however, as was done before. Instead, a "popular referendum" will be organized whereby the preferred songs will be voted on.

According to the major recording companies, the following records are the biggest clicks: "Il Tuo Bacio E Come Un Rock" (Your Kiss Is Like a Rock) Celentano; "Il Nostro Concerto" (Our Concert) Bindi; "Tintarella di Luna" (Moonburn) Mina; "Personalita" b-w "Till" (Valente); "Oh, Carol" (Sedaka); "Forever" (Damiano); "Scandalo Al Sole" (Scandal in the Sun) Faith; "Marina" (Granata); "Petit Fleur" (Bechet); "De Guello" (Nelson Riddle); "Romantica" (Dallara); "Serenata a Margellina" (Serenade to Margellina) (Flo Sandon); "Love in Portofino" (Dalida). Each of these record hits has passed the 100,000 mark in sales.

Record sales for 1959 and 1960 have still not surpassed the top sales mark reached in 1958. About 75 per cent of all sales are designated as pop recordings.

CANZONISSIMA: After four broadcasts, the top hits of "Canzonissima" were classified as following: Songs of yesterday: "Addio Sogni di Gloria" (Goodbye Dreams of Glory); "Come Le Rose" (as the Roses); "Violino Tzigano" (Gypsy Violin); "Portami Tante Rose" (Bring Me Many Roses); "Torna" (Come Back). Songs of today: "Romantica," "Serenata a Margellina" (Serenade to Margellina); "Love in Portofino"; "Quanda Vein la Sera" (When Evening Falls) Libero.

An exhibition at the International Hall of Music, Rome, has been announced for November 26 thru January 8. The hall will have a commercial section, a historical section and an information section. All the best and most interesting items in the fields of records and publishing will be presented.

There was a celebration for Caterina Valente, November 3, at the Hotel Duomo, marking the first anniversary of her debut in Italy. During the reception, Vittorio Gassman presented her with a golden record, a gift from Italian Decca. The record represented the 250,000th copy of "Peronalita" distributed in Italy.

La Scala opens its season December 8, presenting as its first opera, "Poliuto" by Donizetti, with Maria Callas and Franco Corelli in the leading roles.

Sergio Bruni, after success with his show in Naples and Rome, is now touring all the principal cities of Southern Italy.

CRD Names Simmons to Head Singles

HOLLYWOOD — Gene Simmons, California Record Distributors' promotion manager, last week was named manager of the firm's singles operations. Move is indication of a resurging singles market. CRD for the past decade has functioned as an album house exclusively. Earlier this year, the distrib entered the singles market, building such disks here as the Olympics' "Baby Hully Gully," "Big Boy Pete," and "Shimmy Like Kate"; Jimmy Charles' "A Million to One," Etta Jones' "Don't Go to Strangers," and Mose Allison's "Seventh Son."

The former LP-only distrib's efforts in the singles field proved so rewarding it has now established a separate singles department under Simmons' supervision. Sonny Bono and Margie Williams will handle CRD's promotion under Simmons' direction.

New Distrib In Detroit

DETROIT — Mary Jacobson, sales manager of Arc Record Distributors here for the past four years, is opening his own distributorship in this city, Music Merchants, Incorporated. First lines for the new distrib will be Argo and Riverside.

Jacobson, in addition to his sales exec post with Arc, is a vet record and music man. He handled promotion for Cadet Distributors and did work with both the Fantasy and Dee Gee labels, before joining Arc.

SCHORY RECORDING IDEA

Victor Studio Audience to Get Percussion Treatment

By NICK BIRO

CHICAGO—Something new in live concerts—duplicating recording techniques for a studio audience—is about to be launched by Dick Schory, RCA Victor percussion specialist.

Schory, who has pioneered several percussion and brass albums, will be using his own band—arranged onstage similarly to an actual recording session—and specially wired studios. Speakers will be strategically placed thruout the auditorium and controlled by a central engineer.

Instruments and groups of players will be beamed to the audience, much as soloists and groups are "brought in" by recording engineers during a session.

As Schory points out, "a regular concert audience does not hear the same thing that is reproduced on an album."

"At a concert, the band is grouped together and seldom does a soloist or solo group get the emphasis or definition that can be achieved on a record by controlled microphones and engineering blending techniques," Schory said his concerts will attempt to do just that.

Schory pacted last week with Columbia Artist and Management, one of the country's largest concert bookers. He'll play a spring tour sometime in April, and another next fall, October 9 thru November 18.

He'll have his own band, Dick Schory Percussion and Brass Ensemble, and will play primarily colleges and large city auditoriums. Several television dates are also in the talking stage.

The actual show will run some two hours and will feature some 150 different percussion instruments. The program is being based on two of Schory's latest albums, "Wild Percussion and Horns A-Plenty," and "Running Wild," the latter to be released in February. An earlier Schory album, "Bang, Baa-Room and Harp," which features the same type of sound spectacularization, has been on the charts for some time.

Basic make-up of the band sounds like something out of a combination of Spike Jones, Norman Granz and Tchaikovsky—the last named leading his 1812 Overture using atomic cannons instead of kettle drums—alho Schory is quick to point out that his theme is strictly serious.

Included in the group will be a piano, string bass, 2 guitars, harp, rhythm drummer, 4 trumpets, 2 trombones, 3 French horns and 4 percussionists—the last named playing, among other things, 3 vibes, 3 marimbas, 3 xylophones, 16 timpanis and an even wider range of drums.

In addition to these, there will be a few less usual items such as sirens, auto brake drums, wind machines and thunder sheets.

He plans to use a minimum of 10 microphones—each mike having its own control pot—and at least three sets of speakers per channel. This means a minimum of six sets of speakers, depending on the size of the auditorium.

YOU CAN SWAP TOOTHACHE FOR EARACHE

DETROIT—Popular music, and jazz in particular, might drive some people out of their minds, but one dentist believes that it will drive the pain right out of their brains, according to an AP dispatch.

The dentist, Dr. Wallace J. Gardner of Cambridge, Mass., demonstrated his process, called audio analgesin, before the Detroit District Dental Society recently.

The machine invented by Dr. Gardner, is called Audiac, and works on the principle that noxious stimuli (pains) are conducted to the brain by the same nerve cells that carry sound. Audiac keeps "the channels so busy (that) the pain is crowded out—like jamming radio signals," says the doctor.

Climbing into the dentist's chair, a patient puts on ear-phones and the machine pumps pre-recorded music and sound of his brain. Two signals are transmitted, one is the music, the other a series of low pitched sounds. The music distracts and lulls the patient while the low pitched single drowns out the pain. The unit is not meant to replace local anesthetics but to supplement them.

Since "peppy music" seems to be the best kind for extractions, jazz would seem a natural for inclusion in the dentist's pain killing repertoire. Dr. Gardner also noted that dentists using the new machine reported it worked with 80 to 97 per cent of the cases on which it was tried.

Hotel Carillon Sets Concerts

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — This resort mecca, long known for the most lavish kind of showmanship, will witness a new kind of night club entertainment during the forthcoming season, when the Hotel Carillon will present a series of concerts by a 50-piece symphony orchestra. Musicians will represent the cream of the local AFM unit and such guest conductors as Alfredo Antonini, D'Artega and Howard Barlow will appear.

The idea is the brain child of Carillon entertainment director, Jacques Donnet, who will also be the permanent conductor. Donnet, who has produced a flock of successful local shows, plans the presentations along the lines that made the Boston Pops famous. Concerts will be presented on a rainbow glass stage in the hotel's elegant supper club. Plans are also in the works to produce live recordings of the concerts.

COCA-COLA HOSTS JAZZ STARS FROM GERMANY

NEW YORK — Jazz and Coca-Cola—two of America's most popular exports abroad—have joined forces here and in Germany. Eight German amateur jazz musicians, winners of a nation-wide competition in Germany, arrive here Monday (5) for a two-week tour of the U. S. under the auspices of the Coca-Cola Bottlers of Germany, and the Coca-Cola Export Corporation here.

The winners will be feted here and in Chicago, New Orleans, and Atlanta, by leading U. S. jazz stars and civic officials. A party will be held for them here at Birdland Tuesday (6) and in Chicago, December 12 at the Birdhouse, a local nitery. The German musicians will also be interviewed on Coca-Cola's local radio disk "Hi Fi Club" shows in Chicago and New Orleans, and arrangements will be made for jazz deejays in each city to interview the visitors.

The Voice of America will be on hand to tape the event when New York City's Mayor Robert Wagner and the German Consulate meet the winners here Monday (5). The winners—Klaus Doldinger, Jurgen Buchholtz, Manfred Lahnstein, Claudio Szenkar, Alfons Zschockelt, Heino Ribbert, Kurt Bong and Gunther Lennartz will be accompanied by Karl H. Lyrmann and Burkhard Gottschalk, founders and organizers of the German Amateur Jazz Festival (an annual event since 1955) and members of the German Jazz Federation; Franz Schwarz, head of jazz programming for West German Radio-Cologne; official representatives of the German Press, and German and American Coca-Cola execs. All of the above mentioned will tour the U. S. with the winners.

Official U. S. guides for the boys include Gary Kramer, Atlantic Records' advertising-publicity chief, New York; Richard Allen, curator of the jazz archives, Tulane University, New Orleans, and John Steiner, movie studio rep, Chicago.

Kahl Lands Score Rights To 'Shepherd'

NEW YORK—Music publisher Phil Kahl has obtained the rights to the score of Jimmie Rodgers forthcoming 20th Century-Fox film "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come."

Penned by By Dunham and Henry Vars, the score includes the title tune, "When Love Is Young," and a special version of the p.d. "Dixie." The songs will be published by Kahl's ASCAP firm, Planetary. Rodgers has recorded "When Love Is Young" on the Roulette label, and Harry Simeone is waxing one of the movie's tunes for the 20th Century Records.

Meanwhile, Kahl, who also owns Patricia and Kahl Music firms, left for England and the Continent last week to meet with Fred Jackson, manager of Planetary, Kahl, Ltd., in London and British indie a.&r. producer Bunny Lewis. Kahl's lawyer, Halsey Cowan, is also making the trip in an attempt to find a more effective way to deal with the red tape and legal problems involved in handling material of both U. S. and European song writers. Kahl, who is currently on England's best-selling lists with "Walk, Don't Run," will also look for new material.

Metro Back As Mercury Buffalo Outlet

CHICAGO—Metro Distributing Company, headed by Carl Glaser, has returned to the Mercury fold as its Buffalo distributor.

Metro and Mercury originally parted company some nine months ago. At that time Mercury sent a factory sales representative into the territory and handled warehousing from both Cleveland and New York.

Irwin H. Steinberg, executive vice-president of the label, said the current move was prompted by a change in Metro's organization, rather than any basic change in Mercury's thinking.

He said Metro had added salesmen and expanded its physical facilities and that he felt Metro could now devote the type of sales effort to Mercury as the label desired.

Simultaneously with the Metro announcement, Mercury made several appointments in its own promotional set-up. Mort Grosswold becomes sales promotional manager for the Charlotte, N.C., area; Frank Hague assumes the same title for Atlanta.

Both men will work under Bob West, regional sales manager. In St. Louis, Phil Bryan will be sales promotion manager under Dick Bruce, regional sales manager.

Epic Skeds 7 Dec. LP's

NEW YORK — Epic Records is issuing seven albums in December, ranging from classical to popular and jazz. Classical issues include sets by Gerard Souzay, the Cleveland "Pops" Orchestra, Adam Harasiewicz, and Artur Grumiaux and the Concertgebouw Orchestra of Amsterdam. Pop sets spotlight pianist Charlie Young, and an instruction record called "Joe Wilman Shows You How to Bowl Your Best." The new jazz set features the Herman Foster Trio.

FABIAN WANTS PRIVATE STUDIO

PHILADELPHIA — Fabian Forte asked Orphans Court if he may build a $7,000 sound-proof studio in the basement of his parents' split-level home in Haddonfield, N. J. His guardian's petition also asks permission to spend $2,000 for an addition to the basement recreation room.

Fabian, who netted $136,926 during 1959 at 16, lives with his parents at 1018 Tampa Road, Greenhaven Gardens, Haddonfield. The parents, Domenic and Josephine Forte, purchased the house in 1958 with an advance from Fabian's estate. They formerly lived in South Philadelphia.

The petition states that because of the limited facilities of the house, most of the 17-year-old singer's sessions with songwriters, voice teachers, dance instructors, agents and others must be held in hotels and outside studios. Fabian's guardian is John J. Palmieri, an employee of the City Recreation Department.

Eighteen-year-old rocker Bobby Rydell asked court permission to purchase a $4,534 1961 Pontiac. Rydell, whose real name is Robert Louis Ridarelli, has an estate in excess of $12,000, received since October of last year.

A car is necessary for keeping his engagements, he says. His guardian is Mrs. Judith Jamison, an attorney.

Diners' Club

Plan is being unveiled in the Diners' Club December magazine. It is also being pitched via a direct mail piece using the Diners' mailing list. Joiners are given a choice of albums from 84 listed in a two-page spread following the full-page ad announcing the offer. Those getting the direct mail pitch can choose from an accompanying catalog listing some 150 LP's. Selections encompass virtually all labels, majors and indies.

Free phono pitch follows closely on the heels of Diners' dime-per-disk offer made in the December Esquire in a full-page ad (see The Billboard, November 28). Other pitches running concurrently, offer members a choice of all disks they want at $2 and $2.50 per disk for monaural and stereo in their initial joining order, plus a free LP for each two they purchase at list price. (This offer is being made side by side with the free phono pitch in the current Diners' magazine.) Another lure is choice of five free LP's if member agrees to buy six in a year's period. Club apparently is working on the premise that if one pitch fails to attract a prospect, another will, and that it's chances of receiving maximum results are increased in ratio of the number of different deals it's offering.

All the activity on "Lonesome" has Bourne's natty general professional manager Lester Sims walking on clouds. And this is also true of the other half-publisher of the tune, Howie Richmond of Cromwell Music. It is also reported that Elvis' manager, Colonel Parker, is rather ecstatic over the situation. Sort of confirms his belief that Elvis remains the No. 1 singing act in the business.

of sales administration also reporting to Fishman. On the a.&r. level, Bill Levy, formerly with Columbia in various posts, is the new director of a.&r. and merchandising. Levy will also report directly to Gallagher. Under Levy will be a.&r. staffers Jim Folgelson and Mike Bernicker in pop; Jane Friedman in classical, and C. Snyder in international a.&r. Levy will also be responsible for the co-ordination of Epic merchandising with creative services and manufacturing.

Fishman's appointment to the post of sales chief for Epic indicates the importance of the label's classical line, much of which consists of material recorded in Europe by Philips. Altho talks are now taking place between Columbia and Philips over changes in their international agreements, it will be years before any changes could take place as far as releases are concerned, so that Epic's push on classical records will be a sustained one. Gallagher also expects the label to build a strong pop single and album roster to add to Lester Lanin, Merrill Staton and Roy Hamilton, etc.

Altho Epic's single line has not been too potent lately, the firm's album line, especially classical, has been enjoying good sales in 1960. Gallagher emphasized that Epic wanted to build up as strong a relationship as possible with its indie distributors, and would make available the services of Columbia's own field sales force wherever their services could help Epic's indie distributors.

interests in programming materials, music recording, publishing, and related gimmicks, like the Dick Clark record case promoted by the American Broadcasting Company.

One effect of the additional itemizing would be to further pinpoint any payola take on networks or individual stations. The detailed breakdowns on income and spending, the reporting of the number and salaries of all personnel having to do with programming (whether in regular employ, or non-staff consultants), would offer less chance to lump any payola in with a general revenue category. Under the new anti-payola law, the licensee is responsible to a fair degree, for keeping track of money which has changed hands at any stage in providing his programming. The broadcaster who is faced with such detailed financial reporting would double-check before submitting a record to the FCC that can be dissected by Hill committees, or cross-checked by other agencies.

The new financial form explicitly lists, among other program expenses; music license fees of ASCAP, BMI, et al.; payment for performance or program rights; transcriptions and recordings; production expenses, and others. Also, in connection with programming expense, it wants breakout on pay-the latter was voiced by Music Operators of New York prexy, Al Denver, this week at an MONY meeting, when he said that new measures on the copyright amendment front could be expected in the 87th Congress from both Congressman Celler and Senator O'Mahoney. (See separate story in coin machine section.)

Barney Young will head up both the performing rights organization as well as the disk and publishing ventures. He told The Billboard this week that he is already exploring possibilities for writers and new material. "We'll use p.d. songs but we'll also have plenty that are current. There are a lot of writers who are fed up with both ASCAP and BMI right now and we expect to draw on their services, too."

Henry Onorati, of 20th Fox, said that his firm will produce and distribute the disks, which will bear a "20th Fox Music Operators Records" label. One side of each of the new disks will have a tune published by the Music Operator publishing firm. "We intend to start issuing a minimum of one record a month, early in January," Onorati noted. "That's a start, but we'll probably step up that rate later on. We believe the operators are very serious about this matter now and we intend to do everything we can to provide them with solid, commercial songs, records and artists. It's possible that some present 20th Fox artists may appear on these records but we will also be constantly looking for new talent as well."

crate with each other. These companies are in England, France, Italy, Germany, Belgium, Scandinavia, etc. The German operation, Fox noted, is now reaching into areas behind the Iron Curtain, such as Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Publisher income overseas is chiefly from mechanicals and performance rights, with little accruing from sheet music, Fox stated. In brief, the business more and more is paralleling the American scene. In the English market, he stated, there are indications that the educational business is becoming more important.

ments to officers and others engaged in "supervising the program department, or engaged in programming activities, as well as the number and salaries of regular full time and part-time employees directly concerned.

Added Requirements

In addition to the customary broadcast revenues and expenses, the usual incidental take from the sale of talent under contract to the broadcaster or net, and commissions, fees and profits made from obtaining or placing talent, will be required on the new form. Also accounted for would be any money from the sale of the broadcaster's own programs, and additional charges made by licensee or network for studio or production facilities, transcriptions, et al.

Revenue from the cinderella FM service will, for the first time, have a separate breakout from AM revenue, even when both are under a single ownership. Also, FM take will be broken down to show amount made from broadcasting as against the functional music services.

The newer form would also require a quick survey of the broadcaster's financial health by a "condensed balance sheet," and an itemizing of "notes payable," the latter including any unpaid music license fees accrued. NAB singles out these broad categories, plus the profit and loss reporting on non-broadcast revenue, and listing of all payments to owners and officers, as needing close attention and comment by broadcasters. The shorter financial data form in use since 1953, had only three schedules of reporting, as against eight required by the proposed new form.

NEW AUDIO PRODUCTS

Sandwich Speaker System

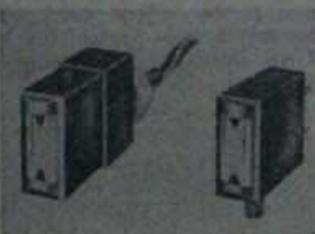

The Nordic I, a Swedish-made loud-speaker system being distributed by the Ercona Corporation of New York, has what the makers claim is a "sandwiched" effect. Each layer surrounding the cone of the new speaker system is made of a different fiber, which helps to reduce distortion.

The unit is compact and comes in hand-rubbed cabinet finished on four sides and comes in either walnut or teak. The Nordic I sells for $59.50.

Tape Erase Heads

A new line of tape erase heads has been announced by the Nortronics Company of Minneapolis. The heads are meant for use on either two-track or four-track units and there are three basic mounting styles which allow for installation in all types of tape recorders. Prices and further specifications are available from John Worrell, sales manager at the firm's headquarters.

4 Home Recording Tapes

Home recording bugs now have a choice of four new magnetic sound tapes added to the RCA Vibrant line. All four of the new tapes are Mylar-based and include: Type 707C1, Extra-Play, 900 feet on five-inch reel; 708C1, Extra-Play, 1,800 feet on a seven-inch reel; 709C1, Double-Play, 1,200 feet on a five-inch reel; and 710C1, Double-Play, 2,400 feet on a seven-inch reel. The suggested list prices for the tapes run as follows: 707C1, $2.85; 708C1, $4.95; 709C1, $4.50; 710C1, $7.95.

2 Sets Get Sound Conditioning

Two units of the Packard-Bell line are being outfitted with reverb-type sound conditioning. The two sets are combination AM-FM radio and stereo four-speed phono consoles. The two units which are being fitted with the Reverbera-Sound equipment are the Model RPC-9R console which has AM-FM radio, stereo phono and comes in Scandia modern walnut and Colonial maple finishes, and the RPC-9R which has many of the same features. Suggested list price of the first unit is $439.95, the second, $535.

Dual-Band Portable Radio

The Golden Shield line of radios by Sylvania has added a new transistor set called the Windjammer. The set has AM and marine band reception, uses eight transistors and is equipped with a telescoping antenna. Set comes in ebony and gray plastic case and measure 6 3/4 inches by 3 3/4 by 1 3/4 inches. The price is $64.95 with carrying case. There is a one-year guarantee on parts and labor.

DEPARTMENTALIZATION PAYS OFF FOR DEALER

ST. LOUIS — "You've got to be dramatic to give the customer the full impact of tape recorder music." That's the merchandising watchword which is used by the Hi-Fidelity Room, record, stereo and high-fidelity dealership here.

J. M. Marshall, ex-naval officer who has built the Hi-Fidelity Room into one of the largest specialty houses in the Missouri city, offers his customers everything which they can ask for in the way of music reproduction. Included is a 10,000-record department, a completely separate department for phonographs, tape recorders, components, and custom installation. No matter what the prospect's interests may be, he gets the opportunity to study the line which the Hi-Fidelity Room has to offer without the distractions inherent when several types of equipment are shown in the same area. Thus, if the prospect is interested entirely in building a custom stereo job into a new home, he is ushered into the "components room" on the north side of the building, where nothing else is shown.

This form of thinking has worked out particularly well with tape recorders, which are shown exclusively in a large, separate room to the right rear of the main showroom. Here a dozen varieties of tape recorders are shown in two banks along a handsomely draped display table. On the rear wall, with heavy drapes behind, is a huge paragon speaker, one of the largest and most expensive stereo speakers ever shown in St. Louis, and a combination of smaller speaker examples, all of them operating from any of the tape recorders on the display table. Drawers provide pre-recorded tape in every music classification, to give the prospect "what he wants to hear."

When the tape recorder prospect's chief interest is established

COMBINE HI-FI, HOME EXHIBITS

HOLLYWOOD — San Francisco's Hi Fi Show next spring will be held in conjunction with the Home Show, according to its director, Jim Logan. Magnetic Recording Industry Association will sponsor the combined event to be held March 15 thru 19. It will be staged at the Cow Palace.

According to Logan, a close relationship exists between home furnishings and home music systems and by combining the two events into a single affair, greater benefits will be reaped by all concerned. Logan predicted that shows in other areas will combine hi-fi with home exhibits after he has proved his point in San Francisco. Logan is a vet show promoter, staged both hi-fi and home shows in San Francisco for a number of years.

Los Angeles' Hi Fi Show is scheduled for April under the sponsorship of the Institute of High Fidelity Manufacturers. It will be conducted exclusively for the showing of hi-fi equipment and will not be combined with any other exhibit.

as music, the Hi-Fidelity Room's selling system goes into effect. The prospect is seated on a comfortable lounge, at the opposite side of the room, where a low coffee table provides cigarettes, mints, matches, for more comfort. Then the salesman simply steps over to the table display of tape recorders, which include five leading domestic varieties, plus several imports, and puts each recorder thru its paces, using the entire variety of speakers. The differences in each type of speaker, each tape recorder, are all brought out, as the demonstration progresses, with the emphasis carefully kept off of price, and concentrated, instead, on quality of sound reproduction.

It's a highly enjoyable process which has the advantage of selling up the average recorder prospect to buying a better-priced, better-quality tape recorder, as well as better stereo speakers, than if he simply looks at an inanimate row of recorders on display. The fact that all of them are hooked up, ready to go at any time is a highly important feature, as is the "selling the end-product first in the form of fine music."

STORE-TESTED PROFIT POINTERS FOR DEALERS

Dealer Finds That a Trade-In Trades Up

By ROBERT LATIMER

Most stereo dealers are inclined to treat trade-ins as something which should be kept out of sight and brought out only when a bargain hunter cannot be sold on new equipment. Not so at Audio Specialists, Phoenix, Ariz., where owner Hack Metz has built the eye-catching "Bargain Rack."

The "Bargain Rack" faces the front door, and is one of the first things which any entering customer sees. On it, Metz offers trade-in tape recorders, phonographs, decks, tuners, amplifiers, turntables, speakers, and other components of built-in systems.

Completely covering the sound reproduction field, with the city's biggest record department and a custom installation department which has frequently sold jobs up into the $4,000 bracket, Metz is not only willing to accept trade-ins, but likewise, ties up what would otherwise be "loose ends" by merchandising them energetically.

Trade-Ins Trade Up

The "Bargain Rack" and its complete assemblage of trade-ins is responsible for at least a dozen customers per day, and frequently twice that number, the Arizona dealer indicated. Not infrequently, the same customer, sincerely interested in high fidelity or stereo, will make five or six stops at the Audio Specialists' store in a single month. Eventually, he may be sold on buying a new item instead of waiting for a used one to be traded in. This has happened time and time again, Metz indicated, particularly where the customer is hoping for some less-common component. One customer, for example, wanted to incorporate a tape recorder into his home high-fidelity system, but balked at the over $300 price for two-track or four-track stereo model. He kept waiting for several months, coming at least 25 times during that space. When Metz found what his interests were, he began demonstrating a lower-priced German import tape recorder, a stereo model of more than usual quality, at every opportunity. Following six or seven such demonstrations, the customer capitulated, paid the price for a new one, and was able to finish up his home set with a minimum amount of trouble.

At one time or another, the "Bargain Rack" has sold merchandise from every department in the big Audio Specialists' store, even large quantities of slow-moving records. Metz doesn't hesitate to slash prices on trade-ins to effect the sort of turnover he wants. Normally, the store shoots for about a 20 per cent mark-up on its trade-ins but failing in that, will mark them down to 15 per cent, or even 10 per cent, to get the item moving.

Unique Appeal

The "Bargain Rack" has a unique special appeal, in that Metz frequently offers commercial-level equipment which can be used by restaurants, theaters, cocktail lounges, hotels for background music. Having installed every type of background tape recorder music, all the way from a single-speaker, single-recorder set up to a 24-hour independently to every type of customer, as an extra bit of sound reproduction equipment which brings a different type of pleasure. For example, a tape deck is an ideal addition for the customer giant for a bank, Metz picks up a lot of trade-ins in this seemingly limited field. It was actually a big, wide-open field, Metz has found, and his display of phonograph and ground music systems brings in commercial prospects who might not have been attracted in any other way.

Very few trade-in items, or clearances from any department in the store stay on the shelves for more than a few days, and none of them are allowed to go more than a month.

Dealer Finds Art Can Sell Audio & Wax

DENVER — "Giving the customer a special reason to visit the store" is a theory which sells a lot of extra records, phonographs, tape recorders, and stereo equipment, at Ben Bezoff's Record Rack, here.

At least once per month, the Record Rack stages a complete art showing, usually honoring a well-known local artist, or an up and coming artist whom Ben Bezoff, owner, feels will make a mark in the art world.

Used for the exhibits, which may display anywhere from 20 to 100 paintings, is a huge rear room, behind the record shop, stereo and high fidelity showrooms, which is of almost museum-like proportions. Here, a banquet table, with the usual snowy white tablecloth, serves tea, cookies, and pastries, while guests, invited by mail or telephone calls, circulate thru the art exhibit.

This program was originally developed by Milton Shrednick, long a top musical figure in Denver, and carried on by Bezoff, likewise a musical leader, following Mr. Shrednick's sudden death from a heart attack.

Far and away the greatest virtue of the art exhibit is the fact that "the same people who enjoy fine art are likely to enjoy fine music," according to Bezoff. Moreover, since the art exhibits are run on a thoroly serious plane, they attract discriminating, better-income patrons, who can and will pay cash for an expensive stereo console at a whim.

Naturally, as part of the art exhibit, Bezoff demonstrates the finest in stereo phonographs, tape recorders, and music, inviting his customers to relax in a small anteroom off to the right where comfortable armchairs, and four or five top stereo models are being shown. This has resulted in an amazing number of on-the-spot sales of stereo phonographs priced up to $500 and more.

Bezoff invites around 2,000 people to the art exhibit, all hand-picked patrons, who, of course, have plenty of time during the week-long exhibit to attend. Usually, however, the bulk of the traffic is on weekends, including Sundays, when large groups keep the store and its attached "art gallery" thoroly busy.

When the program began, around three years ago, it was necessary to solicit artists to display their handwork. Because of the quick success of the program, and the fact that it sold many times the number of paintings which had been expected, artists clamor for a "Record Rack showing" and the gallery is booked solid for many months to come.

Philco to Import Own British-Made Line

PHILADELPHIA — Thru an agreement with the J. M. Otter Company, the Philco Corporation's International Division has started importing a line of its own-made radios, phonographs, and radio-phonos combinations made in England. The line is to be test-marketed in the New York, New Jersey and Philadelphia areas, where the Otter firm is Philco's regular distributor.

The British-made Philco line ranges from a small table radio thru a console radio-phonograph combination. The new imported units complement the regular Philco stable in that they incorporate different features.

The new sets will be retailed thru selected "class" outlets that are located in areas where foreign-speaking populations are concentrated. A spokesman for Otter in New York noted that dealers who do not now handle Philco domestic instruments are not necessarily ruled out as retailers of the new English line.

Ten pieces of equipment are included in the new line, seven of which are radios. Lowest priced unit is the Essex, a two-band table model with five-inch speaker, that sells for $39.50 retail. Other table sets range in price from the Thames at $89.50 to the Knightsbridge, with two speakers that goes for a suggested list price of $19.50. Besides these sets, there is the Transporta, a seven-transistor portable with three bands, six-and-one-half-inch speaker for $89.50.

Two radio consoles and one stereo console round out the new line. The Westminster and the Guildhall both have AM-FM radio, Garrard four-speed changers and two eight-inch speakers. The Westminster is a console that sells for $249.50, while the Guildhall is a full console that sells for $459.50. In addition to these two machines the Savoy is a stereo phono console with removable side speaker, four-speed Garrard changer that sells for $199.50.

entity (a la AM-Par's best-selling Command and Grand Award labels), rather than associated in a jazz fan's mind with ABC-Paramount's pop artist roster—Paul Anka, etc.

Ray Charles — who has four sides on the "Hot 100" this week — will continue to record for ABC-Paramount as a pop artist, but will record jazz packages for Impulse, both as a vocalist and instrumentalist. His first Impulse LP is tagged "Genius Plus Soul Equals Jazz."

The rest of the Impulse release includes "The Great Kai and J. J.," "The Incredible Kai Winding Trombones," and "Out of the Cool" by the Gil Evans ork. Evans, who arranged most of Miles Davis' recent albums, is making his debut as a solo performer on this LP. With the exception of Johnson, who is on loan from Columbia, all of the above mentioned artists are under exclusive contract to Impulse.

Impulse will be handled by Am-Par's regular distributors, but separate promotional and advertising programs will be conducted nationally and locally on the label. The line will kick off in January, via an extensive consumer magazine campaign with a page ad in Playboy, Esquire, Downbeat, and other publications with large jazz reader coverage.

A special drive will be aimed at the lucrative college jazz market, with campus representatives appointed to work with distributors in each territory.

clation has set up an associate membership to make it more inviting for retailers to join. While the associate members will not have voting privilege, they will enjoy all the other rights of the new members, including attendance at meetings and affairs, and receiving all the material that is sent to active members. Membership for the associates has been placed at $1 a year, in comparison to $10 dues for active membership. Moreover, record retailers in nearby New Jersey communities are also being invited to join the association.

A membership brochure, outlining the accomplishments, objectives and program of the association, has been prepared by Mark Rubinstein, vice-president of the association, and Nat Fisher, a member of the board.

Jaffe also disclosed plans to revive the association's annual banquets. It has been over five years since the last banquet was held and he said plans are being prepared to hold a gala affair early in 1961. In earlier years, the annuals of the record dealers brought out the entire industry for a festive evening, including an array of recording talent. As before, the annual will include a full-course dinner, combined with a show and a dance.

Armed Forces

sales are up for the three services, not only domestically, but in the world-wide market.

In the singles field, Talmadge says the study shows sales have been steadily diminishing, with PX buyers showing greater selectivity — placing their orders only when singles begin to move on the best-selling charts. Orders are placed in conservative quantities, and consequently, re-orders are more frequent than a year ago.

In line with this, Talmadge notes that orders are placed on practically all new album releases, but in carefully maintained allocations, thus enabling service stores to maintain a complete but tight inventory. Armed Forces' orders on new releases are received concurrently with those placed by local distributors, says Talmadge, and each of the three branches are anxious for labels to give them information on new LP releases as soon as possible. Jazz has gained considerably in popularity among servicemen, and sound track packages are also popular.

On the basis of the survey findings, UA has set up a special introduction of its new Ultra Audio Sound album series via special stereo and monaural pressings of the first five LP's for distribution to the Armed Forces buyers.

who is buying a custom-engineered sound system for the home. Where the customer wants to make use of a portable tape recorder for parties, for dictation, and similar purposes, it can be arranged to book him to the home sound system simply with the use of jacks and patch cords. A stereo phonograph owner can be sold on the convenience of collecting his entire music inventory on a single roll of tape, to simplify listening without constantly changing records. "There is always at least one aspect of the tape recorder usefulness which appeals to everyone," it was pointed out. "No matter what the customer came in to buy, he usually will be escorted in to spend some time in the tape recorder room." With these methods, the Hi-Fidelity Room sells one of the Missouri city's biggest tape recorder volumes.

Foreign Disk Markets Show Promising Future

great place for what they call traditional jazz.

"In France, we have the only market in Europe that's currently in a depressed state. They still sell 10-inch LP's, a lot of EP's and almost no singles. Pathe Marconi has a big share of the market and they should do even better with the new record club they have just started. The French are great for extreme modern jazz and basic blues. In fact, they want any type of Negro-based music. They like the spiritual and ethnic music and they go in a much smaller way for white music.

"As far as I've been able to determine," Marshall asserted, "Italy, which just a few years ago was strictly for Italian records, is today very U. S.-oriented. Their sales have tripled in the last four years. They like some jazz and they are very fond of the operatic kind of classical music. They also are great fans of U. S. pop material and at the same time have become quite a source of U. S. hit songs.

"In Germany there is another monopoly market situation. The Bertelsman disk club there has been tremendously successful and now even Deutsche Grammophon has its records available thru this club. It has 400,000 members. RCA Victor has, according to our sources, also started a club with Teldec. It's a better market for American publishers than record men, because of the fact that American lyrics are usually translated there and put to the original melody. Instrumental American hits, however, can do very well there.

"Belgium is a country where the juke box reigns supreme. There's great competition there to get a record on the juke boxes first. They take every American hit record and get on it fast, partly at least because most of the Belgians are familiar with English. In Holland, however, it's considerably different, with LP's playing a much larger role than singles. The arrival of TV in Holland just this year, however, has made the market more pop conscious.

"Scandinavia is an important market for American jazz, but otherwise the four countries there have varying characteristics. Sweden, for instance, is much like France in that there are few singles sales but lot of EP's sold. An American artist can hit there but you have to work hard to do it. Norway, on the other hand, is very American-minded and a good singles market, and unlike Sweden, Radio Luxembourg reaches Norway. Denmark has some of the traits of Germany and some of Norway and Sweden.

"At the other end of the world, Japan has become a most important market for American disk material. So have Australia and New Zealand, where the markets are more like American than even Canada.

"An example of the increasing world market is the fact that records are becoming more in demand even in areas like West Africa. Over there they go for a kind of music known as 'high life' which is something akin to calypso. That's just one part of the globe that's now opening up for records. Believe me, there are whole new worlds to be conquered by enterprising American record men."

Miller to Deb New Sapphire Needles

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. — The M. A. Miller Manufacturing Company, thru its wholly owned subsidiary, Mamco Precision, Inc., will produce a new line of synthetic sapphire needles. The new line will be produced from Miller's plant facilities here, which have been expanded.

The new sapphires will be made from a process covered by patents belonging to Union Carbide's Lindo Company.

CLASSICAL LP'S TAKE BIG JUMP IN $ VOL.

asked was, (a) "How would you classify your stock of long-play classical albums?" (b) Please indicate the percentage of your classical LP inventory to your total LP inventory." Of the music-record stores responding, 33 per cent indicated that their classical inventory in relation to their total LP inventory amounted to 10 per cent or less; 26.2 per cent indicated that their classical stock amounted to 10 to 20 per cent; 15.3 per cent of stores said that their classical stock amounted to 20 to 30 per cent; 9.8 per cent said their stock of classical totaled between 30 and 40 per cent. The rest of the answers were: 6.7 per cent carried 40-50 per cent classical; 3.3 per cent carried 50-60 per cent classical; 2.7 per cent carried 60-70 per cent; 1.3 per cent carried 70-80 per cent, and 1.3 per cent carried from 80 to 100 per cent classical, with 0.4 not replying.

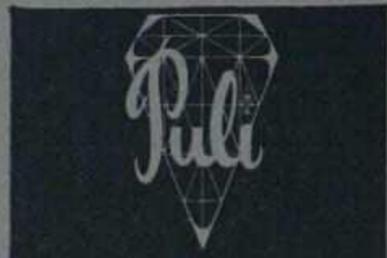

The same questions were asked of other outlets in the department store, variety store, appliance store and book store category primarily, carrying a full line of records. A total of 39.9 per cent of these stores carried up to 10 per cent classical records in relation to total pop inventory; 22.3 per cent carried 10-20 per cent classical; 17.4 per cent carried 20-30 per cent; 6.7 per cent carried 30-40 per cent; 2.2 per cent carried 40-50 per cent; 2.7 per cent carried 50-60 per cent; 2.2 per cent carried 60-70 per cent; 2.2 per cent carried 70-80 per cent; and 1.7 per cent carried from 80 to 100 per cent classical, with 2.7 per cent not replying. It is noticeable that, generally speaking, the variety stores and book stores, etc., carried less classical disks than the music-record shops, except for non-music shops specializing in classical disks almost exclusively.

In studying the locations of the stores responding to The Billboard classical survey, it shows that almost half (49.5 per cent) of the music-record stores with 10 to 50 per cent of their stock in classical disks are located in the large metropolitan markets. And more than half (59.1 per cent) of all non-music stores with 10 to 50 per cent of their LP stock in classical records are located in metropolitan markets. Of music stores who carry 50 to 100 per cent of their records in classical stock, 52.5 per cent are in large metropolitan markets. This bears out a long-held industry assumption that most classical sales are concentrated in large cities.

Classical sales via dealers this year are expected to be the highest in the history of the disk business. The tremendous growth of original-cast LP's, movie sound tracks, comedy disks and sound albums, has made the total share of market of classical LP's drop on a percentage basis, but on the basis of units moved so far this year as against last, 1960 is a potent one for classical recordings.

"MILKMAN'S" BIRTHDAY: Jack Lazare's "Milkman's Matinee," WNEW, New York, celebrated its 25th anniversary Friday (2) with a special program featuring a flock of big-name recording artists and the best disks and tunes of the past 25 years, including all the Academy Award-winning songs. The program, which runs from midnight to 5:30 a.m., seven days a week, is described by WNEW as "the first and longest running all-night radio show."

Stan Shaw was the first "milkman," when Bernice Judis—then WNEW's general manager, launched the all-night format in 1935. Shaw left the scene in 1942. Art Ford, now with WNBC, New York, took the show over near the end of the war, and Lazare moved into the spot in 1955. General Manager Jack Sullivan estimates "Matinee" has billed an estimated $2,500,000 during its 25-year run, with its current annual billings running to $150,000.

According to WNEW, the "Matinee's" ratings are a full 20 per cent above its nearest competitor. Current pop music generally dominates the first hour and a half of the show, with original show music, blues, jazz the "plush" sound and the "world of music" added in greater measure during the next four hours. Lazare drops in "Music to Walk the Baby With" for weary parents on request, and on Saturday night he features a lengthy segment tagged "Music for Romance."

Lazare arranged and wrote for bands and did some free-lance radio and TV acting before he joined WNEW in 1952. Between 1947 and 1952 he held staff jobs at WNYC, WQXR, WOR and WINS—all New York outlets—and at the same time was Southeast Asia Section Director of the Voice of America, supervising programs in 15 languages. Among his birthday guests were The Billboard's music editor, Paul Ackerman; Mitch Miller, Eddy Arnold, Andy Williams, Tony Bennett, Perry Como, Kay Starr, and many others. Ackerman predicted that the "best song of 1960" would be Percy Faith's "Theme From 'A Summer Place'."

PROGRAMMING TIPS: Station WBIG, Philadelphia, remembers home town disk stars via a "Music Hall of Fame" show, which features disk artists who were born in Philly—Four Aces, Bobby Rydell, Frankie Avalon, Eddie Fisher, Bill Haley, Kitty Kallen, Mario Lanza, Pearl Bailey, Gogi Grant, Ted Weems, Fabian, etc. . . . An abbreviated radio version of Larry Vernon's "Mister Livingston" disk, which runs two minutes, 57 seconds, as compared to the original platter's three minutes, 57 seconds, will be made available to deejays.

Deejays at WIL, St. Louis, featured a repeat broadcast of "Pick of the Pops Spectacular" last week—a 120-hour show featuring only top hit songs of 1955 thru 1960. The show ran from Tuesday (29) thru Saturday (3). Participating jocks included Dan Ingram, Dick Clayton, Dick Kent, Ron Lundy, Robin Scott and Bob Osborne. . . . Bill Watson, KOA, Sacramento, is now emceeing a four-hour "Saturday Spectacular," featuring million sellers and "Pick Hits." Watson uses "survey songs" on his weekly shows only.

THIS AND THAT: W. Ross Adkins, national program director for the Walton Stations, writes: "Everyone hollers 'Where's the records. We need disks.' But just to switch the tables, we would like to make public our many thanks for the fine co-operation record companies and distributors and the like have shown us by supplying all latest available cuts to our stations." Walton stations include WNOO, Chattanooga; KJET, Beaumont, Tex., and KOPY, Alice, Tex. . . . The Greater Portland Disk Jockey Association recently held a record hop to raise funds to help defray medical expenses for deejay Frank Fixaris, WJAB, Westbrook, Me., who was badly burned recently in a fire. The hop was attended by more than 1,400 teen-agers who donated more than $600. Chairman of the fund-raising hop was Larry Westcott, WPOR, Portland, Me.

CHANGE OF THEME: Jim Hawthorne, prexy of the Disk Jockey Association, joins KFWB, Hollywood, January 2, as program director. . . . Sunbird's new recording artist, Sandyl Cordell, was a deejay on Station JOAK in Japan at one time. She also had her own singing show on Armed Forces Radio. . . . Ken Stewart, ex-KTNT, Tacoma, Wash., jock, has joined KTNT-TV, same city, as an announcer-film editor.

New program manager of WBZ, Boston, is Al Heacock, formerly national program director of the Bartell chain. He replaces Melvin M. Bailey, who has resigned that post. . . . Recent deejay marriages include Stan Richards, WINS, New York, to Roxanne Delman, December 4, and Dick Clayton, WIL, St. Louis, to Susan Ball, December 3. . . . Earl Richards, ex-KBMW, Wahpeton, N. D., has taken over the morning spot—6-8—at KDLM, Detroit Lakes, Mich.

Reed Farrell, veteran deejay formerly with WIL, St. Louis, and more recently head of his own advertising agency, has joined WAMM, Flint, Mich., as program director. Farrell was hired to revamp WAMM's programming completely—switching from a "good music" policy to a top-selling disk format. . . . Johnny Dark, formerly with WBBM, Chicago, is taking over Joe O'Brien's 4-7 p.m. time slot at WMCA, New York; while O'Brien moves to a 6-10 a.m. time period, Monday thru Saturday. Harvey Hudson, vice-president-general manager of WLEE, Richmond, Va., emceed the "Junior Miss" pageant November 25 at Roanoke, Va. . . . If Joy K. Nixon, of Dakota City, Neb., will send us her son's name, we will be happy to run an item about his deejay activities at KMNS, Sioux City, Ia. . . . Alma John and "Doc" Wheeler, WWRL, New York, emceed a benefit for the Negro Actors' Guild at the Apollo Theater Friday (2).

Jerry Wilder has joined KMAC, San Antonio. . . . New staffer at KQUE-FM, Houston, is Bill Bennett, former program director of KHUL-FM, Houston. . . . New general manager of all broadcasting properties of the A. H. Belo Corporation (WFAA and WFAA-TV, Dallas) is Mike Shapiro, manager of WFAA-TV since 1958. George Utey, manager of WFAA since 1958, will continue in that post.

Bert Kaempfert Has Top Disk on 'Wonderland'

Bert Kaempfert, noted composer, conductor and arranger was born in Hamburg, Germany.

An outstanding instrumentalist, he plays the clarinet, saxophone, piano and accordion with equal skill. Kaempfert made his debut with Hans Buch's orchestra on the radio in Danzig. Then came the war.

After the war Kaempfert formed his own band and made many personal appearances. In 1950 he settled in Hamburg where he records for the Polydor label.

Kaempfert likes fishing and going for long walks with his spaniel, Axel.

His haunting version of "Wonderland by Night," released in the U. S. on the Decca label, is riding high on the "Hot 100."

Innocents Score Again Via 'Gee Whiz' on Indio

The Innocents consist of three young men from Sun Valley, Calif. Jim West, lead singer, was born January 7, 1941, in Las Cruces, N. M.; Al Candalaria, bass, was born March 7, 1941, in Trinidad, Colo., and Barron, tenor and guitar player, was born July 5, 1942, in Hollywood.

The group first got together about two years ago at a party where they informally began to vocalize. After singing a few songs they formed their trio.

One day last June, the boys cut a demo for Indigo Records, who liked the results well enough to sign them to a contract.

The Innocents' initial release for the label, "Honest I Do," was a chart climber and their follow-up, "Gee Whiz," is currently climbing the "Hot 100."

Two KDKA-TV Staffers Bow Own Disk Firm

PITTSBURGH — Peter Thornton, publicity director of KDKA-TV, and Ed Beachler, also of the Channel 2 staff, have formed an independent record company, Thorn-Beach. Their first album, now being pressed by RCA Victor in Chicago, "The Impossible Pirates—Sixty Incredible Years of Baseball," will be released December 5 in time for the holiday trade.

The LP delves back into the days of Honus Wagner, and features anecdotes by Rosey Rowsell, the late Buc announcer in a skit with Bing Crosby.

Also featured are Joe E. Brown, father of Pirate general manager, Joe L. Brown, in an interview with Ralph Kiner, former owner Frank McKinney and former general manager Branch Rickey; Commissioner Ford Frick; Bob Prince, now "the voice of the Pirates" and Danny Murtaugh, current manager.

Chicago

Biggest booking mix-up of the season occurred at the Cloister last week. The Modern Jazz Quartet was scheduled to open Wednesday but had to cancel when John Lewis of the group came down with pneumonia. Lambert, Hendricks and Ross, who were then playing the boite, were held over for a few days, but had to leave by Saturday for a Baltimore appearance. Ornette Coleman and his quartet were lined up to fill the breach, but before Coleman could start, he disbanded his group. The Philly Joe Jones Quintet on tape for the Saturday (3) opening. Lou Fatterman, Counterpoint jazz bistro owner, guested with Sig Sakowicz last Wednesday. Subject—jazz (what else?). . . . Rusty Draper came into Chicago Sunday (4) to appear on the Eddie Arnold television show. He leaves for Milwaukee December 11 for a Pepsi-Cola teen-party then on to Florida. . . . Brook Benton canceled his opening here at Roberts Show Club, December 2-11, for a December 14 date on the Perry Como show. Rehearsal starts the 5th. . . . DISCOURSE

FROM THE BILLBOARD SALES DEPARTMENT

A weekly column of lively chatter material on the hottest and most popular recording artists—those "Spotlighted" by Billboard's review staff, as well as those featured by the record companies in their major Billboard ad promotions.

PAUL ANKA's Christmas greeting to his many fans is expressed on a new ABC-Paramount album, It's Christmas Everywhere, a collection of great standards and pop selections of the season. Out of the album, released as a single, is Rudolph The Red-Nosed Reindeer b-w It's Christmas Everywhere—a Billboard Spotlight Winner. A recording, television and night club success, Paul embarked on a new phase of his career—concert performances—with his one-man concert at Hunter College Concert Hall in N.Y.C. last week. The annual award of "Outstanding Singers Of The Year" presented by the Association of Record Dealers of New York and New Jersey went to Paul Anka and Connie Francis. The holiday entertainment season at Miami Beach will be sparked by his engagement at the Eden Roc Hotel beginning Dec. 17 thru 25.

HANK BALLARD & THE MIDNIGHTERS have captured the rockin' spirit in their new entry, The Hoochi Coochi Coo, a driving rendition of a danceable rhythm-novelty tune and a fast-climbing Star Performer on Billboard's Hot 100 this week. Detroit-born, this is a strong follow-up to his hits Let's Go, Let's Go, Let's Go and Finger Poppin' Time. Ballard, you recall, wrote the dance craze tune, The Twist.

JEANNIE BLACK, who answered Jim Reeves' He'll Have To Go with He'll Have To Stay, is answering again. This one is titled Oh, How I Miss You Tonight and it isn't difficult to figure out who has the question song. Flip is A Little Bit Lonely, the title tune of Jeanne's recent debut album. Capitol recorded the tune Nov. 25 and rushed copies to deejays last week.

BIRTHDAYS OF THE WEEK:
Dec. 5, Walt Disney, Dec. 6, Dave Brubeck (his album Time Out is getting chart action on Billboard's Top LP's), Ira Gershwin, Dec. 7, Louisa Prima (his Wonderland By Night is a fast chart-climber), Dec. 10, Morton Gould, Dec. 11, Brenda Lee.

THE BROWNS, Jim Edward, Maxine and Bonnie, give the familiar Christmas tune, Blue Christmas, a mighty pretty rendition that rates a Billboard Pick. According to RCA's able A.R. man in Nashville, Chet Atkins: "If I ever heard a song waiting to be done by The Browns it's Blue Christmas." Flip is Greenwillow Christmas. The 5-man backing combo features Floyd (Last Date) Cramer on piano.

ROSEMARY CLOONEY: Almost everything good that could happen has happened to Rosemary Clooney since, in 1952, she and a jazzed-up harpsichord made nation-wide news with a recording of William Saroyan's Armenian-type song, Come-On-A-My House. Always in demand in every entertainment medium, and a proud mother (via husband, Jose Ferrer, who is not to be left out of the record scene... just recorded for RCA a unique Christmas offering in his narration of Yes, Virginia, There Is A Santa Claus), Rosemary's latest good news is her new RCA wax, What Takes My Fancy, a personable rendition of the tune from Lucille Ball's forthcoming Broadway musical, Wild Cat. Flip is Hey, Look Me Over, a bouncy tune from the same show.

BOBBY DARIN has something extra to sing about! The 24-year-old show biz star was married last Friday to 18-year-old film actress Sandra Dee. The entire music world extend their wishes for a full and happy life together and many hit releases. Bobby met Sandra in Rome recently, where they were filming "Come September." Bobby is due to open at the Latin Casino, Merchantsville, N. Y., Dec. 7 for two weeks.

DON GIBSON: Out of Acuff-Rose Publishing in Nashville and on the RCA label comes two more fine new recordings by Don Gibson, Sweet Dreams, a fine ballad with a good arrangement, b-w The Same Street, a winning weeper.

BERT KAEMPFERT, German composer, arranger and producer, is the artist behind one of the industry's fastest rising singles hits, Wonderland By Night, much to the delight of Decca Records. The tune shows up on Billboard's Hot 100 this week as a fast-climber. Tapes of a forthcoming Kaempfert album, carrying the same title as the single, were flown to Decca recently immediately after the recording session in Europe. Release is expected shortly.

BOB LUMAN, waxing on the Warner Bros. label, has a strong follow-up to his Let's Think About Living with the release of his newest, Why, Why, Bye, Bye, a solid rhythm tune penned by the top songwriters out of Nashville, Mr. and Mrs. Bryant. Flip is Oh, Lonesome Me, a hit for Don Gibson some time back. Both tunes rate a Billboard Spotlight. Luman hails from Nacogdoches, Texas—there's a town that should be immortalized in song.

JERRY MURAD & HIS HARMONICATS are on the scene with their first for Columbia Records, Cherry Pink And Apple Blossom White. This is a swingin' harmonica instrumental version of the hit tune of years back given a beat and bright styling. The mouth-organ technicians came into record prominence in 1947 with their three-million seller Peg O' My Heart.

RICKY NELSON, Imperial Records singing sensation, offers a solid entry, You Are The Only One, a beautiful love affair tune with cha cha beat, b-w Milk Cow Blues, on which he displays his usual hard driving enthusiasm and delivery.

JOHNNY RESTIVO: RCA's A.R. topper, Sieve Sholes, produced along with Marty Gold Johnny's newest Give A Little Whistle (And I'll Be There), recorded Oct. 28th and released recently. Tune is from the forthcoming musical, Wildcat. Altho currently residing in

To help you spot the ones you need, when you need them, all artists items are carried in strict alphabetical sequence.

New Jersey, Johnny is a product of the Bronx, N.Y.C.

DINAH SHORE: According to The Billboard, Dinah Shore's new record, I Ain't Down Yet, "is the best record Miss Shore has made in years." It's a bright march effort from the musical The Unsinkable Molly Brown. Flip is I Gotta Love You.

NINA SIMONE, who scored with (I Loves You) Porgy, is with us via a new album, Nina At Newport, and a single out of the album, Trouble In Mind. Aided by a combo and her fine, driving piano, Nina gives a sock treatment of a traditional tune. Flip is an interesting instrumental blues featuring down guitar and honking horn, Loveboat.

ULTRA AUDIO: In last week's Billboard, United Artists Records announced the five new albums available on their new, big sound label Ultra Audio. Artists and titles include Blazing Latin Brass—Nick Perito and his Orchestra; Mister Percussion—Terry Snyder; Guitars, Woodwinds & Bongos—Al Caiola; Echoing Voices and Trombones—Don Costa; and Dynamic Twin Pianos—Ferrante And Telcher.

PROMOTION DAYS & WEEKS:
Dec. 6 is Memorial Day in Arkansas. Dec. 7, National Civil Defense Day and Delaware Day in Delaware—celebrates the State's adoption of the Constitution. Dec. 11 is Universal Bible Sunday.

See you next week. Tom Rollo

Pittsburgh

The sale of Mort Sahl albums was practically negligible in the Pittsburgh-Tri-State area before Sahl made a personal appearance here last month. Since then, Sahl LP's have soared into the Top Twenty in sales in this area. Bob Newhart will make his Pittsburgh debut in February. . . . Cathy Carr, fulfilling a date at Club 176, Warren, Pa., spent a day in Pittsburgh plugging her latest Roulette single, "Golden Locket." . . . Steve Gaynor, who waxed a few platters for M-G-M, took over the New Arena nightclub for a series of "Over 28" adult dances, opening the club for the first time since it folded a few months ago.

Nick Lomakin, who operates several record shops downtown, and his combo were the opening attraction at the Open Hearth, a new club in suburban Etna. . . . Altho the movie "Spartacus" doesn't open at the Nixon Theater until December 22, as a roadshow, the Alex North sound track on Decca is rising fast in sales. . . . Pittsburgh's Cee Cee Joy, recently pacted by Columbia, was called to New York for a recording date with maestro Frank DeVol.

The cancellation of the Nat King Cole musical, "I'm With You," scheduled for the Nixon the week of December 5, killed off an intensive promotion campaign planned by Nick Albarone, local Capitol branch manager. . . . Bob Vogel, Dot branch manager, reports a brisk sale for Lawrence Welk's "Last Date" LP and Billy Vaughn's "Sundowners." . . . In addition to their first LP due this month, Lenny Martin has signed Elroy Face and Hal Smith of the Pittsburgh Pirates to record several singles for his Robbee label. The duo are also being paged by Nashville for a "Grand Ole Opry" session.

The rave reviews Roberta Peters received from the Pittsburgh music critics for her performance in the Pittsburgh Opera's "Lehengrin" over the Thanksgiving holidays, have hyped the sale of her RCA Victor records. . . . Connie Francis has been booked into the Holiday House for a 10-day stint next February. . . . Ronnie Savoy spent several days here plugging his latest M-G-M platter, "And the Heavens Cried." . . . The Nick Albaranos cradled a son, their second child, at the Mercy Hospital.

Cincinnati

Two members of the Cartwright family, of NBC-TV's network show, "Bonanza," are due here late Wednesday (7) for two days of promotion work for WLW-T and area RCA Victor dealers. Coming in for the special deal are Lorne Greene, who plays Ben Cartwright in the television series, and Michael Landon, who does Little Joe on the show. They'll be in town thru Saturday noon and will make an appearance on the Ruth Lyons "50-50 Club" and other WLW-T shows. They'll also make stop-offs at the Crosley Broadcasting's outlets in Dayton and Columbus, O., and Indianapolis. . . . Xavier University's Jazz Club sponsors a contest at the Xavier Armory Saturday evening (11) to determine Cincinnati's top jazz group. Nine groups are slated to participate. King Records and Mother's, local jazz hangout, will offer trophies to the winner and runner-up. The battle of jazz has been held at the University of Cincinnati the last three years.

Contract of Local 1, AFM, covering 30 WLW radio and TV employees, expired at midnight Wednesday (30), with Eugene Frey, union president, granting members permission to continue working until the union can learn the station's reaction to its new proposal before making any strike plans. The union asks a 10 per cent pay raise plus a 4 per cent cost-of-living increase. Pay now ranges from $82.50 to $125 a week for an average 15-hour week. The station has offered no pay increase, Frey says, and has proposed to limit security arrangement to only the 14 musicians who work the Ruth Lyons and Paul Dixon shows. Contract also covers nine c.&w. artists appearing on the station's "Midwestern Hayride" and seven employees who work as music arrangers and librarians.

Stanley Cumberpatch, who joined Elektra Records, New York, October 1, as general sales manager, was in town Thursday (1) to call on Decca Distributing Corporation and visit with local retailers. Cumberpatch is making a swing of Midwest distrib after completing a similar trek along the East Coast from Montreal to Georgia. He left Cincy for Pittsburgh Friday (2) and returns to New York early this week. Cumberpatch plans to spend two weeks a month on the road. Prior to joining Elektra, he was with New Sound Record Distributors, San Francisco indie covering Northern California.

Pop

HIS HAND IN MINE

Elvis Presley, RCA Victor LPM 2328 (Stereo & Monaural)—Elvis Presley finds himself in a new milieu for him in this altogether fascinating set of performances. The gospel message has never been put forth with any more greater effect and impact than here. Presley has a warm, reverent, deep-down tone and he's ably assisted by his familiar vocal sidekicks, the Jordanaires. Material ranges from the slow, deeply reverent "His Hand in Mine," to the rhythmic hand-clapper "I'm Gonna Walk Them Golden Stairs." The cover, too, showing Presley at the piano, is a real showpiece.

COME TO THE FAIR

Tennessee Ernie Ford, Capitol ST 1473 (Stereo & Monaural)—The great Tennessean proves himself a delightful showman in this colorful "live" performance, recorded at the Indiana State Fair last summer. The package is a pleasant mixture of songs and the artist's familiar, ingratiating, homespun patter. He opens, of course, with "Back Home in Indiana," and ranges from "Bill Bailey," to a bath of fine country songs to a group of religious and inspirational items. This is all sides of Tennessee Ernie Ford in one package and a fine hunk of entertainment it is.

WORLD OF SUZIE WONG

Sound Track, RCA Victor LOC 1059—Big band jazz and sensuous touches of Oriental melody dominate this exciting LP from the original sound track of the Paramount release of "The World of Suzie Wong." Except for the title song by Cahn and Van Heusen, George Dunning is responsible for much of the composing on the track. "Suzie Wong Blues," and a number of other tracks are representative of his talent as is the arranging of standards (like "Out of Nowhere") that are an integral part of the flick's score. Besides the title tune and "Aberdeen Caper," any number of other tracks might make good selling singles.

PERSUASIVE PERCUSSION, VOL. 3

Command All-Stars, Command RS 817 — This album, Volume II in the best-selling "Persuasive Percussion" series, looks like another winner. Once again Enoch Light has turned out a bright, breezy, tasteful and musical percussion set, featuring The Command All Stars, which shows off clean, and well-nigh perfect recording. The tunes include "Moments to Remember," "All the Way," "One for My Baby" and "Kashmiri Song." The arrangements are both spectacular and at the same time delightfully subtle. Fine wax.

OLE A LA LEE

Peggy Lee, Capitol ST 1475 (Stereo & Monaural)—Peggy Lee is back in her Latin habitat and it's a delightful one. She brightly swings, in the Latin manner, a group of standards, singing them in her sexy and beguiling way over backing by the Joe Harnell ork. The ork arrangements spotlight smart percussion work. Tunes include "Come Dance With Me," "By Myself," "Just Squeeze Me," "Love and Marriage" and "Non Dimenticar." Cover is most striking and the set could earn mucho dinero for Senorita Lee.

HE WILL BREAK YOUR HEART

Jerry Butler, Vee-Jay LP 1029—Chart topper Jerry Butler bows in with his first album which, naturally enough, carries the title of his current hit. Set is made up of 11 other good performances by the boy who sings them all in fine style. Accompaniment varies from zinging strings to rhythm combo with vocal group. Any number of the tracks here might make strong singles with "That's to You" a fine ballad; "Sweet Was the Wine," a real jumper, and "I Found a Love" among the standouts.

SPOTLIGHT WINNERS OF THE WEEK

The pick of the new releases:

Strongest sales potential of all albums reviewed this week.

BOBBY'S BIGGEST HITS VOL. I

Bobby Rydell. Cameo C 1009—Young Rydell has cut quite a swath in pop single circles and this album collection of Rydell hits is also likely to generate healthy sales interest. In addition to the highly salable repertoire, the packaging itself is designed for quick sales, with a double fold liner, a pull out photo of the artist suitable for framing which appears thru the die-cut front cover and two other color photos. Despite the elaborate packaging, the set is geared to the teen market with a $3.98 tag.

MITCH'S GREATEST HITS

Mitch Miller. Columbia CL 1544—Like all the other Mitch Miller packages, this reprise of a dozen of the memorable Miller hits of recent years figures to get a big play at counters, particularly in view of the presence of the gift giving season. Cover features a colorful photo of the noted maestro and inside there are such things as "Yellow Rose of Texas," "Colonel Bogey March," "Children's Marching Song," etc. This can grab a lot of interest.

THE UNSINKABLE MOLLY BROWN

Andre Kostelanetz and his Ork. Columbia CL 1576—Meredith Willson's sock new show score is wrapped up in first-rate instrumental treatments by Kostelanetz' ork. The varied line-up ranges from the spirited "I Ain't Down Yet" to the poignant "I'll Never Say No" and "Dolce Far Niente." Standout deejay wax.

AN EVENING WITH MIKE NICHOLS & ELAINE MAY

Mercury OCM 2200—The latest Mike Nichols-Elaine May release should be one of the strongest entries in some time to the heavy-selling comedy record group. Their current Broadway show, from which this album derived its title, also supplies the material for the four hilarious sketches on the disk. Their razor-sharp satire is of a type that has nearly universal appeal, from highbrow to low, and is also apt to wear better than a monologist. An earlier Mercury disk still is moving over store counters, but the new Nichols-May entry should do even better based on subsequent national publicity and radio-TV exposure.

WONDERLAND BY NIGHT

Bert Kaempfert. Decca DL 4101—Kaempfert's single of "Wonderland by Night" is one of the label's fastest moving disks since "Volare," and this initial package contains the hit single plus a flock of other highly listenable and spinnable efforts. The ork is handsomely recorded and Charley Tabor's trumpet solos really sing. This is schmaltzy stuff and it can sell. Watch this set.

Religious

THE LIFE OF CHRIST THE PASSION OF OUR LORD JESUS CHRIST

Charlton Heston. Vanguard VRS 9080; VRS 9081—Actor Heston contributes two meaningful narrative performances in this pair of albums, each featuring readings from the Bible. Initial package deals, as the title suggests, with the birth and the life of the Saviour, while the second, which might well be given a special promotion during the Easter season, deals with the Crucifixion and the Resurrection. The sets are both dramatic and educational and highly suited for church and Sunday school work. In both cases, the Robert DeCormier Chorale contributes moving musical passages behind the readings.

HYMNS OF THE CATHOLIC CHURCH

Choir of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Melbourne. ABC-Paramount 349—The boys' and men's choir of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Melbourne, Australia, perform some of the traditional hymns of the Catholic Church in this LP. Under the direction of Reverend Dr. Percy Jones, the choir offers "Holy God We Praise Thy Name," "Jesus My Lord, My God" and "To Jesus Heart All Burning," as well as 11 other Catholic hymns.

SPECIAL MERIT SPOTLIGHTS

The following albums have been picked for outstanding merit in their various categories because, in the opinion of The Billboard Music Staff, they deserve exposure.

Jazz

★★★ CONTEMPORARY JAZZ CLASSICS OF THE PAUL MOER TRIO—Del FI DFLP 1212

POPULAR ★★★★★

★★★★ IN STYLE WITH THE CRICKETS

Coral CRL 7872B. (Stereo & Monaural)—The late Buddy Holly's former colleagues get together here for a session of interesting rock material, which features the Three Lads as vocalists, something that was not done during the career of Holly. Jerry Allison, Joe Mauldin and Sonny Curtis comprise the group and they perform against rhythm and piano provided by themselves. Such familiar items as "Great Balls of Fire," and "Rockin' Pneumonia," plus originals by the three, comprise the diet here.

JAZZ ★★★★★

★★★★ REX STEWART AND THE ELLINGTONIANS

Riverside RLP 144—This should be a solid collector's item. Some of the sides were cut by Stewart with his Big Seven in 1940, others were sliced in 1946. Among the sidemen were Shelley Mann, Barney Bigard and Cozy Cole. Selections include "Film Film," "Solid Rock," "Cherry" and "Diga Diga Doo."

★★★★ BIG CITY SOUNDS

The Jazztet. Argo LP 672—The Benny Golson-Art Farmer Jazztet has received high praise in Eastern jazz clubs. It is captured well on this new record, with Farmer, Golson, Tom McIntosh on trombone, Cedar Walton on piano, Tommy Williams on bass and Al Heath on drums, swinging away happily on a group of original and standard tunes. Farmer on trumpet, and Golson on tenor, turn out some mighty attractive solos, especially on "Five Spot After Dark." Other fine tracks are Golson's "The Cool One," "Hi Fly," "My Funny Valentine" and "Bean Bag."

★★★★ THE MOST — VOLUME II

Various Artists. Roulette R 52853—A lot for the money is contained in the grooves of this package. It's one of the label's Birdland series, and includes performances by such important artists as Count Basie, Sarah Vaughan, Joe Williams, Billy Eckstine, Maynard Ferguson, Bill Russo, Cora Lee Day and Harry "Sweets" Edison. The sides have a fine jazz backing. This can be sold.

★★★★ PACIFIC STANDARD (SWINGIN') TIME

The Buddy De Franco-Tommy Gumma Quartet. Decca DL 74031. (Stereo & Monaural)—Clarinetist De Franco and accordionist Gumma come up with a fine instrumental album, that's relaxed and easy to take. The two have caused some critical enthusiasm for their exciting in-person appearances on the West Coast with this same group. Make-up of the LP falls mostly in the standard category with "The Song Is You" getting a fine roasting treatment and Erroll Garner's "Misty" getting the sensitive touch.

FOLK ★★★★★

★★★★ RICHARD DYER-BENNET 9

Dyer-Bennet DYE 9000—This is the ninth in a series of albums by the noted folk singer. Dyer-Bennet here accompanies himself on the classic Spanish guitar in such repertoire of "The Laird O' Cockapit," "The Two Sisters of Binnorie," "Le Joll Tambour," "The Buffalo Skinners," etc. There are informative notes by the artist on the sources of the songs. Dyer-Bennet's admirers will find this album up to his usual high standard.

CHRISTMAS ★★★★★

★★★★ 101 DALMATIANS

Disneyland ST 1908—Here's a delightful story with music for whimsical-minded adults, as well as children. The narrator—a charming dalmatian—tells the story of his adventures. A "magic wipe-off-board" on

Reviews and Ratings of New Albums

LP back cover enables kids to use erasable crayons and color pictures of characters in the story. Solid gift package.

 SWISS FAMILY ROBINSON
Kern Corcoran. Disneyland ST 1907—The familiar classic, soon to be released in film form by Walt Disney, is narrated here by young Corcoran and an able supporting cast. The adaptation is a good one and should appeal to youngsters covering a wide range of ages.

POLKA ****

 DANCE AROUND THE CHRISTMAS TREE
Li'l Wally. Jay Jay 1026 — A novelty among polka records, this may be the only one featuring traditional yule music played with a polka beat. Some of these include "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town," "Jingle Bells," "Auld Lang Syne" and "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer." Li'l Wally is a well-known polka practitioner, of course, and this disk can grab sales in the next few weeks and in future seasons in polka-buying areas.

SPOKEN WORD ****

 HOSPITALITY BLUES
Doug Harrell. ABC-Paramount ABC 364—Doug Harrell, a real M. D., had a fair-sized single hit a few years back with "Hospitality Blues" about a hospital patient. The side is included here, along with some amusing monologs about doctors, hospitals, nurses, etc. Funny stuff for those who like this kind of material.

GOOD SALES POTENTIAL

 RONNIE HAWKINS SINGS THE SONGS OF HANK WILLIAMS
Roulette R 25137 — This package is made up of songs written and recorded by the late great Hank Williams, and associated with him. They include "Jambalaya," "Cold, Cold Heart" and "There'll Be No Teardrops Tonight." Hawkins does them well, lending a touch of individuality. What is the album's most interesting element is the backing by Joe Reisman, whose arrangements are fresh and creative — bringing something new to the repertoire.

 SIDE BY SIDE

The Barry Sisters. Roulette R 25136 — The gal who scored quite a triumph in the Soviet Union last summer, thanks to TV's Ed Sullivan, devote this album to him as they offer a varied program of familiar tunes, done in their unique vocal harmony style. One really offbeat band has a Chinese version of "Who's Sorry Now." Fans of the act will find the duo at their best here, with fine arrangements by Dick Wess and Stan Applebaum.

 PLAYING THE FIELD

Mark Murphy. Capitol ST 1458. (Stereo & Monaural) — Here's a sock dexterity programming package. Murphy sings with taste and perceptive phrasing on a group of standards and oldies. On one side he is backed by an intimate-styled trio, while the flip features swinging big band backing. Selections include "Honeyuckle Rose," "Wishing" and "Swinging on a Star."

 HARMONICA PERFORMANCES OF ALL-TIME FAVORITES

Danny Welton. Coral CRL 757347. (Stereo & Monaural) — Danny Welton is an excellent harmonica player who is strongly assisted here by a chorus and orchestra directed by Henry Jerome playing Dick Jacobs' arrangements. These vary widely in style, with a triplet beat behind such diverse tunes as "Peg o' My Heart," "Tammy" and "Ruby," and some bright and interesting approaches to other old favorites such as "To Each His Own," "Fiesta" and "Autumn Leaves." The popularity of the repertoire and the listenable arrangements should attract business.

 EDEN'S ISLAND

eden abbez. Del-Fi DFLP 1211 — The creator of "Nature Boy," eden abbez, is heard here in a collection of exotic words and music extolling the glories of a mythical island for which many people have sometimes wished. The disk is highlighted by the distinctive sounds of the abbez wood flute, emphasized by percussion and occasional spoken lyrics rendered poetically yet mysteriously by abbez, and backed by an ethereal-sounding chorus.

 WRITTEN IN THE STARS (THE ZODIAC SUITE)

Rod McKuen; Conducted by Dick Jacobs. Coral CRL 757339. (Stereo & Monaural) — There are 12 melodies on this set, each of which describes the mood of a sign of the Zodiac. The material falls into the theme or pop instrumental category and some of the melodies, which are relatively simple, could easily be given pop-style lyrics. (Two, "Scorpio" and "Leo" already have.) Piano soloist is Gloria Regney, who does a nice, wistful reading of the respective themes. Voices and strings make an effective backdrop.

CHRISTMAS ***

 POLISH CHRISTMAS CAROLS

Li'l Wally. Jay Jay LP 1023—Pleasant program of choral singing, in Polish, of hymns and carols associated with the country. The St. Stanislaus Choir from Michigan City, Ind., is featured with organ accompaniment, behind the solo offerings of the well-known polka maestro, Li'l Wally. Wally's fans will undoubtedly be interested in this set, altho in the general Christmas markets there is much competition.

 CHRISTMAS IN IRELAND

St. Catherine's Dominican Choir. Avoca 33-AV-125 — Timely package. The choir consists of two groups, 90 children aged nine to 12, and 35 girls, 12 to 15. The voices are fresh and well-trained, and there are two soloists. Maureen Dillon is the conductor. A good Christmas album.

SOUND ***

 BALDWIN ORGAN AND BONGOS

Audio Fidelity DFF 7004. (Stereo & Monaural) — This new album features Eddie Oshorn on organ, Bob Rosengarden on bongos and drums, George Devens on percussion and Frank Carroll on bass. It shows off interesting percussion effects on organ and bongos, especially in stereo. But as a whole it does not come up to the musical level of many of the other percussion sets on the market today, either in musical interest or excitement. Tunes include standards such as "Buttons and Bows," "Tennessee Waltz," and "Muskrat Ramble."

 GONGOS

Don Rakke. Warner Bros. W 1398 — A handsome exposition of the percussion art, with jaw bones, boo bams, cingas, bongos, maracas, tambourines and others heard in a splendid recording, with the oak of Don Rakke. Each band is of the Afro type and features something different to challenge the listener's hi-fi system. These challenges are all explained in the liner. A good idea, well carried off, but there is much competition in this field already.

JAZZ ***

 NO COVER, NO MINIMUM

Billy Eckstine. Roulette R 82052 — One of the label's Birdland Series, this presents Mr. B. in a night club milieu, with crowd sounds, etc. The material is standard, including "Misty," "That's for Me," "I Might as Well Be Spring," and the Fred Rose oldie, "Deed I Do." Eckstine plays some trumpet here, too. He still has a great voice, which his fans will appreciate.

 LET'S FACE THE MUSIC AND DANCE

Maynard Ferguson and His Orchestra. Roulette R 82055. (Stereo & Monaural)—Mixing medium jump and ballad tempos nicely, the brass and rhythm conscious Ferguson band moves thru a set of 12 danceable tracks with verve. There are spots here and there of solo, mostly by the leader on trumpet, and the band as a whole gets a good sound. All of the tunes are of the standard type: "Tench Me Tonight," "My Foolish Heart" and "It's Only a Paper Moon," are just a few.

 COLLEGE CONFIDENTIAL

Sound Track. Chancellor CHLS 5016. (Stereo & Monaural) — Dean Elliott has written and arranged some extremely interesting big band jazz music for the film "College Confidential," and this LP offers the sound track, as played by such musicians as Shelby Maness, Bud Shank, Milt Bernhart, Bob Cooper, Don Fagquist, Milt Holland, Jimmy Rowles and others. Hot, wild, blue and sensitive in turn, these originals may strike enough filmgoers' lances to bring sales for the disk. Display in college towns and near theaters showing the film should aid dealers.

 THE CONTEMPORARY JAZZ CLASSICS OF THE PAUL MOER TRIO

Del-Fi DFLP 1212 — Paul Moer is a pianist of unusual ability. He has an imagination as well as musicianship and he handles a group of standards and originals here in striking fashion. His piano work here demonstrates not only his colorful piano work, but a thoughtful approach to each tune, sometimes happy, sometimes humorous, and at times soulful. Tunes include "Azure Blue," "I Love Paris," "Our Waltz" and Moer's own "Moer or Less."

INTERNATIONAL ***

 IRISH SONGS OF FREEDOM

Willie Brady. Avoca 33-AV-123—Balladeer Brady sings songs of the Irish "troubles." Set down in wax are 17 different songs that have as their subject matter the Irish Revolution against the British in the early part of the 20th Century. Brady sings them with the proper fire or melancholy. Set should sell well in Irish areas.

 THE MUSIC OF GREECE

Peter Kara and His Orchestra. Coral CRL 757348. (Stereo & Monaural)—Authentic material, well-recorded. Unusual instruments, such as the bouzouki, the tombeles, Greek clarinet, etc., are used to achieve correct effects. Dealers with clients in Greek neighborhoods should stock it.

GERMAN Newsnotes

Northern Germany

Czechoslovakia, Poland and other Eastern countries with American firms whose production in return will be released by Amiga.

Arthur Brauner, chief of CCC-Film Production, is preparing a disk jockey show for Paul Siegel entitled "Schlager-Barometer" (Pop Music Barometer). Siegel's radio program in SFB Radio, "The Great Million Sellers," on which he introduces American recordings with a million or more sales, draws big attendance. . . . Philips has now started the distribution of Broadway Records here. The first records offered are "In My Little Corner of the World" (Maureen Evans), and "Yogi Man's Bikini"—"The Yen Yet Song" (Billhershak-Gary Cane). . . . Also Metronome has launched a new label called "Adano," starring Ralf Roberts, who formerly sang on Polydor; Max Kutta, who also recorded for Polydor, and Teddy Fischer. More stars will be signed for this label, which will produce pop music only.

Rolf Budde of Budde Publishing House, Berlin, currently is in the States for negotiations with his American affiliates. . . . Ariola will soon issue an LP with a German version of the Rodgers - Hammerstein musical "Oklahoma!" produced by Horst Fuchs in Berlin. Fuchs will produce for Teldec from beginning of next year. . . . Fritz Schulz-Reichel, one of our top pianists, will play in Teheran (Persia) in the spring. He will also record Vico Torriani's current hit, "Kalkutta Liegt Am Ganges" (Calcutta) for American Decca. . . . Conny's hits, "Kleine Lucienne" and "Wer Wird Der Erste Sein" (Who Will the First One Be) to be released on Capitol in the States.

Yugolavian Ivo Robic, who became one of our top stars with only one record, "Morgen," has recorded "Save the Last Dance for Me" with a German lyric entitled "Mit 17 Fangt Das Leben Erst Richtig An" (Life Just Starts at 17) for Electrola. Tune was released in the original version with the Drifters on Atlantic some weeks ago. . . . Teldec, German distributor of RCA, announced that orders for Elvis Presley's "Wooden Heart" have gone up to 200,000 after 10 days. . . . Lys Assia goes for the top in the French hit parade with "Madelein" b-w "Fais Toi Belle" on Fontana. In Germany, she is currently singing one of the 18 versions of "Never on Sunday" on Philips.

These were the tunes most played by the American Forces Network in Germany:

1. "Save the Last Dance for Me" (Drifters)
2. "North to Alaska" (Johnny Horton)
3. "I Want to Be Wanted" (Brenda Lee)
4. "Send Me the Pillow (That You Dream On)" (Browns)
5. "Chain Gang" (Sam Cooke)
6. "Blue Angel" (Roy Orbison)
7. "Togetherness" (Frankie Avalon)
8. "Don't Be Cruel" (Bill Black's Combo)
9. "Charming Billy" (Johnny Preston)
10. "Lucille" (Everly Brothers)

Colpix Records will now be distributed by the Danish firm of Sonet - Storyville in Germany, Austria and Switzerland. This firm has handled the Colpix label for some time in Scandinavia. The Danish firm Sonet-Storyville is represented on the German market by Metronome Records, Hamburg, who took over the distribution from the record importing firm Plotz & Company, Bremen, recently. Metronome has now issued Colpix singles, EP's and LP's with Jimmy Darren singing title melodies from the "Gidget" pic, "Because They

Southern Germany

Rio," and "That's Love" on the Electrola label.

Fritz (Crazy Otto) Schulz-Reichel got an invitation to tour Persia. . . . "Teenager's Lullaby" is the title of an EP played by Peter Cramer and his band for the Polydor label. The Heliodor label issued a Chancellor waxing of Frankie Avalon singing "Togetherness" b-w "Don't Let Love Pass Me By."

Are Young" and "All the Young Men," which was shown here for the first time November 1.

Elvis Presley's new recording from "G.I. Blues" (to be shown here for the first time December 23) has started competition between Teldec, who distributes Presley's RCA recordings here, and Polydor. Without any advance announcement, Polydor last week apprised the trade with the sudden release of "Wooden Heart." The tune is based upon the popular German folk song "Muss I Denn Zum Stadtele Hinaus" and was arranged with composer Bert Kampfert who works for Polydor as composer, arranger and ork leader. It is sung by ex-G.I. Gus Backus, who became popular here with only two recordings. Some days later Teldec issued the Presley original recording a week before the intended release date. The firm reports that 130,000 advance orders were received within the first three days. The new recording is so far the outstanding attraction.

The German Song Festival, which this year took place September 24 in Wiesbaden, will be held there again next year from September 18 to 22. As this year, the festival will be arranged by Radio Luxembourg and the City of Wiesbaden. The last competition was not shown on television, but the next one will be.

Christa Williams, whose greatest hit was the German version of Connie Francis' "My Happiness," has annulled her contract with Telefunken and signed with Ariola. Her first recordings on this label are being produced by Helmut Jantsch.

Ariola reports good results on the first "Week of the Record" held during their Young Talent Festival. This "Week of the Record" aimed to make the consumer's contact with records closer and to win new friends for the recording field generally. The firm received 108,000 letters, and 500 dealers participated in the window-decorating competition. A total of 3,600 record shop employees joined in the sellers' competition. Supported by Ariola, retail shops arranged about 640 record sessions, request parades and children's fairy tale afternoons with records. For the students there was arranged a competition in school music (classics, stories in sound, choir songs, operas). More than 600 schools and colleges have participated. The winners of these competitions will receive holiday trips and valuable prizes such as TV sets, radios and record players. Encouraged by the success and attendance, Ariola plans to arrange a "Record Week" every year in the future. The firm is also intensifying its rack jobber system in book retail shops.

Lale Andersen's recording of the German version of "Never on Sunday," entitled "Ein Schiff Wird Kommen," has reached the 300,000 sales mark and tops all other 17 recordings available here. Most successful besides Lale Andersen is Caterina Valente and Melina Mercouri, the Greek actress from the film. The tune is at the top of the German hit parade now.

Next year's German radio, TV, and phono exhibition will take place in Berlin from August 25 to September 3. This year's exhibition was held in Frankfurt.

Pop

DUANE EDDY

PEPE (Shapiro-Bernstein, ASCAP) (1:57) — LOST FRIEND (Lindunne, BMI) (2:20)—The attractive film theme, "Pepe," is handed a smart, melodic interpretation by the Eddy guitar. Flip is a slow, mystic side, featuring Eddy's haunting guitar work. Both sides are strong, with "Pepe" a shade stronger. Jamie 4175

DINAH WASHINGTON

WE HAVE LOVE (De Larue, BMI) (2:15)—LOOKING BACK (Eden-Sweco, BMI) (2:33)—The thrush has two sock sides here. "We Have Love" is a catchy novelty with clever lyrics. Flip is a tender ballad with a warmly expressive vocal by the canary. Mercury 71744

NEIL SEDAKA

CALENDAR GIRL (Aldon, BMI) (2:32)—THE SAME OLD FOOL (Aldon, BMI) (2:56)—Sedaka registers with solid impact on "Calendar Girl," a swinging teen-appeal ditty. The warbler switches to a wistful vocal style, via a multi-track reading of the flip, an attractive country-flavored item. Both sides have good sales potential. RCA Victor 7829

JEANNE BLACK

OH HOW I MISS YOU TONIGHT (World-Bourne, ASCAP) (2:50)—Here's a fine old tune, wrapped up in an appealing reading by the thrush. Altho the song is an oldie, it is presented as an answer to Elvis Presley's current smash, "Are You Lonesome Tonight?" and features an effective narration by the canary on the bridge. Watch it. Flip is "A Little Bit Lonely" (Central Songs, BMI). Capitol 4492

RAY ORBISON

I'M HURTIN' (Acuff-Rose, BMI) (2:43)—I CAN'T STOP LOVING YOU (Acuff-Rose, BMI) (2:43)—"I'm Hurtin'" —a smart rocker—is sold with sock personality and style by Orbison. The flip, a great country tune penned by Don Gibson, is accorded a solid interpretation by the singer. Both sides are strong. Monument 433

DANTE AND THE EVERGREENS

YEAH BABY (Ultra-Romeo, BMI) (1:46)—WHAT ARE YOU DOING NEW YEAR'S EVE (Frank, ASCAP) (2:31)—Two fine sides by the talented group. Top side is a swinging reading of a rousing rocker that the boys handle well; flip is the fine oldie sung with taste by the group. Madison 143

THE PARADONS

TAKE ALL OF ME (Grayson-Oliver, BMI) (2:16)—SO FINE, SO FINE, SO FINE (Graydon-Oliver, BMI) (1:58)—The boys make their debut on the label with strong performances on two new items here. Top side is a rocka-ballad, flip is a rousing gospel item. Strong wax. Warner Bros. 5186

DAVID SEVILLE AND THE CHIPMUNKS

RUDOLPH, THE RED-NOSED REINDEER (St. Nicholas, ASCAP) (2:32)—SPAIN (Monarch, ASCAP) (1:37)—Here's another winning effort by the Chipmunks full of their usual charm and strong kiddie appeal. "Rudolph" has never been done in quite this way before and the clever novelty treatment can make it the holiday disk of the year. Flip, a non-seasonal item, has plenty of humor and sound and could also go. Liberty 55289

MUSIC PUBLISHER INFORMATION:

Data naming the publishers of recorded tunes is provided by The Billboard in four different stages of a record's life: (1) All new single record reviews each week show the names of the publishers of each tune. (2) When a record is listed on the Hot 100 for the first time, publisher information is included in the special box which appears in the news section each week. (3) The week's Best Buys, naming the hottest breaking records on The Hot 100 in the box which appears at the top of this page, also provides publisher data. (4) The top 30 tunes each week are listed in The Honor Roll of Hits, which also gives full publisher information.

SKEETER DAVIS

MY LAST DATE WITH YOU (Acuff-Rose, BMI) (2:30)
—The thrush scored recently with the answer song, "I Can't Help You I'm Falling Too," and here she has another fine effort. It's a vocal version of the current Floyd Cramer instrumental hit, and Miss Davis gives it much heart. It can go. Flip is "Someone I'd Like to Forget" (Moss Rose, BMI) (2:31). RCA Victor 7825

DODIE STEVENS

THE DIAMONDS

BOYD BENNETT

BIG JUNIOR (Benjon, BMI) (2:34)—Boyd Bennett shows off his fine talking-singing style on this catchy swinging dinking. It could land the chanter back on the hit lists. Flip is "Hershey Bar" (Marty's, BMI) (2:34). Mercury 71724

RITCHIE

BEAT PARTY (PARTS 1 AND 2) (Rieki, ASCAP) (2:00 and 2:03)—Here's a real rockin' swinger instrumental that features horn, guitar and trumpet leads all working out on a driving riff. The record builds on both sides, with Side 2 featuring a frantic drum solo. This could easily catch on. A 106

DANTE

IF YOU DON'T KNOW (Darrow, BMI) (2:17)—A solid debut for the chanter. Dante gives a fine, exuberant performance on a bright, swinging rocker, with an assist from a top-notch arrangement. Side moves all the way and it could spring the lad if exposed. Flip is "Leave Your Tears Behind You" (Darrow, BMI) (2:32). Decca 31178

DEAN HAWLEY

★★★★ Ralabow — DORE 577 — This was a hit for the British chanter and writer of the tune, Russ Hamilton, several seasons back, and now Hawley comes thru with a winning performance, with chick backing plus the infectious guitar sound. Two fine efforts. (Robbins, ASCAP) (2:06)

★★★★ Hey There — The Adler Ross tune from "Pajama Game" is done neatly by Hawley with a smartly turned guitar support. The chanter is in good form with this effort and he could show again with the side. Watch it. (Frank, ASCAP) (2:06)

★★★★ Congo Glide — Most attractive and swinging instrumental item by Ward and his combo here. The side has an unusual sound and it moves. (Twin Oaks-Savoy, BMI)

RICKY PAGE

★★★★ Yes, I'm Lonesome Tonight—RENDEZVOUS 139—Ricky Page, a sweet-voiced young lass, comes thru with yet another reading of the "answer" tune to the current Elvis Presley hit. She sings and recites it with sincerity. Could get action. (Bourne-Cromwell, ASCAP) (3:07)

★★★ Standing on a Mountain Top — On this side the chanter sells an attractive rockabilly neatly over pronounced triplet backing. Flip is stronger. (Figure, BMI) (2:29)

WERNER MULLER ORK

★★★★ Calcutta — DECCA 31189 — This swinging disk, issued two years ago, has been reissued due to the action on the tune. It is a bright instrumental and chorus version of the song that could get a share of the coin. (Pincus-Symphony House, ASCAP)

★★★ Love Is Like a Violin — Lovely, familiar ditty is handed a warm instrumental performance. Side should grab spins. (Chappell, ASCAP)

LINDA LEE

★★★★ Are You Lonesome Tonight — SHASTA 146 — Jimmy Wakely's daughter sings with sweet poignancy on the pretty oldie, another version of the answer song to the Elvis Presley hit. There's strong competition on tune, but this one merits exposure. (Bourne, ASCAP) (3:05)

★★★ There He Goes — Appealing delivery by thrush on a plaintive ballad, with country flavor. Good talent. (Riverside, ASCAP) (2:46)

SARAH VAUGHAN

★★★★ If You're Not a Dream — MERCURY 71742 — Sarah comes thru with a velvety performance on the lovely standard here, aided by a simple ork and chorus arrangement. One of her better recent sides. (Barton, ASCAP) (2:47)

★★★ Mary Contrary — This tune, a simple and attractive ditty in the folk tradition, receives a fine performance from the thrush and it should grab a lot of jock spins. (Meadowbrook, ASCAP) (2:38)

SIR CHAUNCEY

★★★★ Mid-Midnetie — WARNER BROS. 5185—A quaint, Parisian-styled instrumental effort, not unlike Lawrence Welk's "Calcutta" in its treatment. A bright side that could gather plenty of play. (Witmark, ASCAP) (2:34)

★★★ Beyond Our Love — Another pleasant instrumental, this time in slower tempo and set to a rippling concerto-type piano rhythm figure. Strings predominate here in another programmable side. (Aut, ASCAP) (2:12)

SHORTY BILLUPS

★★★★ Bend a Little — UNITED ARTISTS — An auspicious debut by the singer on the label with a strong performance of a tune that is somewhat on the order of "Kiddin'." It has a good sound and Billups could get some action with it. (Kryder, BMI) (2:04)

★★★ The Search Is Over — Shorty Billups gives a tasteful performance of a snappy rhythm effort with the backing supporting him with a solid beat. Attractive side. (Kryder, BMI) (2:21)

HILL RICE

★★★★ Let the Four Winds Blow — FERNWOOD 224—An impressive chanter is Rice as he pounds out this persuasive rhythm item, with good organ backing.

Interesting down home rhythm here. Side has a chance. Tune is by Fats Domino and Dave Bartholomew, and was a hit for Roy Brown in 1957. (Commodore, BMI) (2:09)

★★★ How Will We Ever Be Together — A good New Orleans beat tune and it's given a sharp reading by Rice. The artist has a fine sound here, too. (Sandra, BMI) (2:10)

JOHNNY O'KEEFE

★★★★ Don't You Know, Pretty Baby — LIBERTY 55262—Blues, chanted with a strong touch of church style, with a chick chorus behind the male vocal. Horns take over midway and maintain interest. (Robin Hood-Jat, BMI) (2:11)

bling by Covington on fervid up-tempo theme with churchy flavor. Merits exposure. (Famous, ASCAP) (2:17)

AQUATONES

★★★★ There's a Long, Long Trail — FARGO 1015—Here's a novel version of the standard, which features a pleasant reading of the verse, followed by the chorus by a high-voiced chick with vocal support from the group. This group has been on the charts before and this could win them more spins. (Witmark, ASCAP) (1:51)

★★ Every Time — The rocker side, this time with a lead by one of the cats in the group. He offers it in a shouted rockabilly style. Flip has more interest. (Instant, BMI) (2:03)

BOB ARLIN

★★★★ East L. A. — OLYMPIA 500 — A blues, with a well-known guitar figure and a lyric of considerable novelty value. A chorus and horns contribute to some uninhibited passages. (Kahl-Van Doe, BMI) (2:36)

★★ Fear of My Heart — This lacks impact of flip. Has some of the same shouting style and bluesy quality. (Kahl-Van Doe, BMI) (2:25)

THE MELLOKINGS

★★ Do Baby Do — A bouncy, rhythmic ditty is turned out in sprightly fashion. Lead shouts it out but flip is the side to watch. (Angel, BMI) (2:20)

GOOD SALES POTENTIAL

POPULAR ★★★★★

MARTY GOLD & HIS ORK

THE HI-LO'S

FOLK TALENT AND TUNES

By BILL SACHS

With the Jockeys

Dave Martin, who whirls the country platters on both WESO, Southbridge, Mass., and WORC, Worcester, Mass., takes his pen in hand to voice mild dissatisfaction with the policies of some of the major labels and their distributors. "I have the only c.&w. program in Central Massachusetts," Dave starts out, "with excellent listener response. Mail runs approximately 100 pieces a week for a total of two hours of air time; very good I think. Columbia's service is superior, but it ends there. Decca, Capitol and RCA Victor never voluntarily send disks. I have to make nearly a 90-mile round trip to Boston to beg for disks, and the story is often, 'Our agent who issues deejay copies is not here right now.' As a result, nothing is obtained and a trip is wasted. I am not a paid employee of either WESO or WORC. I do the c.&w. shows for sheer enjoyment and to please a very responsive audience. Further, I do not intend to purchase records from private funds, as I have plenty of good numbers on Columbia, Starday, M-G-M and Dot which will get my votes and listings. I promise air time plus label credit on every worthwhile number received." Martin's address is 23 Walnut Street, Oxford, Mass.

Shelly O'Connell, manager of CFYK, Yellowknife, N.W.T., Canada, invites taped intros and comments by Western artists for a tri-station country-disk day-timer. "We are three stations in the Far Canadian North gold-mining and prospecting country where c.&w. music is much enjoyed," writes O'Connell. Each of these stations will be carrying a daily, hour-long block of folk music under the title 'Wagon Wheels.' Our aggregate audience is a sizable one and any help will be appreciated." . . . KTLW, Texas City, Tex., the only clear-channel station on the Texas Gulf Coast, which has been operating c.&w. in the mornings and pop in the afternoons, switched to a full-time country music format October 17. The continued success of 'Tater Pete Hunter's daily two-hour stint on the station the last five years was one of the reasons for the switch, according to Bob Greer, KTLW general manager and himself a former c.&w. deejay.

Charles W. Keller, program director at KENS, San Antonio 50,000-watt, reports that the station has made the big switch to exclusive country and western music and that the results have been nothing short of fantastic. "During the first-week of operation under the new format," says Keller, "phone calls poured in from all over Texas and we were swamped with an avalanche of congratulatory mail." On KENS' deejay brigade are Charlie Walker, Columbia artist; Bill Mack, formerly of KDAV, Lubbock, Tex.; Joe Simpson, veteran KENS staffer; Neal Merritt, an old fave in the San Antonio area, and Bill Shomette, South Texas c.&w. personality. The lads invite service from the various record companies, as well as promo tapes and Ids from c.&w. performers. . . . "Oklahoma Round-Up," country record show emceed by Johnny Damm on KWCO, Chickasha, Okla., 8-10 p.m. nightly, had as recent guest Suzanne Pregon, newly crowned Queen of the Oklahoma College for Women, and her royal bodyguard, Sue Smith. Miss Pregon, a Hungarian refugee, was sponsored by the Rotary Club.

Uncle Bob Hardy, P. D. and deejay at WITE, Brazil, Ind., invites c.&w. artists to send him blog material on themselves for use on his morning show wherein he salutes a different artist each day. . . . "Since writing you last, complaining of poor record service from RCA Victor, I received a bundle of records from Marty Hirsch, RCA man in Chicago," writes Bill Blough, of WKKD, Aurora, Ill. "As a matter of fact," continues Bill, "the record service I'm getting now is the best. Country music is catching on better all the time here, and the mail has been very good considering that we've only been on the air since September 20. Some of the new records showing up well here are Carl Smith's new one on Columbia, Roger Miller's 'You Don't Want My Love,' and both sides of the Willis Brothers' new one on Starday."

Ray Baker, of KCUL, Fort Worth, reports continued success for "Big D Jamboree," Dallas, featuring all-country music and aired each Saturday night over KRLD, Dallas. Following their performance on "Big D," the headliners make personals at the Covered Wagon Ballroom, Fort Worth, Baker says. Baker reports that KCUL has just signed a recording pact with Manco Records, with "Losing You Would Hurt Me More" pegged as the side they're hoping for. Flip is "Can It Be Real?" . . . Barry Nesbitt, program manager of CKFH, Toronto, reports that the station's power has been boosted from 5,000 to 10,000 watts. Barry helms a new 5-6 a.m. country music show on the station.

Bob Wills and Tommy Duncan are out with a new release on the Liberty label, "The Image of Me" b.w. "Little Liza Jane," and Shirley Collie cut four new sides for Liberty on the West Coast recently. Deejays not receiving service on Liberty country releases should write to Slick Norris at Highlands, Tex. Incidentally, it's Slick who asks, "I wonder what would happen if 'Cold, Cold Heart' were pulled from the new George Jones LP and released as a single?"

Pamper Music, 119 Two-Mile Pike, Goodlettsville, Tenn., has available copies of Ernest Tubbs' "A Guy Named Joe," Ray Price's "I Can't Run Away From Myself," Ray Sanders' "A Little, Bitty Tear," Tom Tall's "Was It Easy?" Freddie Hart's "Do My Heart a Favor," Hawkshaw Hawkins' "My Story," Billy Walker's "Gotta Find a Way," Jean Shepard's "Lonely Little World," Buck Owens' "Sweethearts in Heaven" b.w. "Hot Dog," Bobby Sykes' "And They Do" and Goldie Hill's "Baby Blue." Shoot 'em a line on your station's letterhead. . . . Ernie Kern, former Cristiani Bros. Circus clown and now spinning the country wax on WOCH, North Vernon, Ind., is passing out cheroots on the birth of a son, Ernie III. Papa Ernie recently conducted a contest on his show to determine what listener could write the name Ernie on a post card the most times. The winner came up with a total of 1,840 readable Ernies. The second-place winner had 1,591. . . . Deejay copies of Jim Hadley's "Honky-Tank Girl," "Midnight Train" and "My Broken Heart" and Billy Mitchell's new release, "Unsatisfied" b.w. "I'll Be Where You Are," are available by writing to Buddy Records, 500 Locust Street, Marshall, Tex.

Reviews of New Pop Records

 I Surrender Dear — Dramatic vocal stab by canary on the standard with r.f.-stirled backing. (MCA, ASCAP) (2:13)

AUTRY INMAN
 That's All Right — UNITED ARTISTS 278 — Furthest warbling by Inman on another packed country ballad. Both sides have dual-market appeal. (Benson, BMI) (2:16)

 Farther to Go Than I've Been — Moving chanting by Inman on wistful country woeper. (Big Topper, BMI) (2:27)

THE SABRES
 Bobcat — GALA 114 — Instrumental, with good guitar work. Material is blues-oriented, and moves right along. Introduction of piano part raises interest. (Perry, BMI) (2:45)

 Hot Rod Kelly — A rocker, with that pumping piano effect; chanting is well done, and is backed by rocking rhythm. (Perry, BMI) (2:25)

GLENN OSSER
 Kathy's Theme — COLUMBIA 41871 — Attractive tune is performed in tender fashion by the Oser chorus and orchestra here, and the tune has the kind of catchy melody that could help it get spins. (Leeds, ASCAP) (2:33)

 Song of the Wind — The Glenn Oser crew turns in a warm performance of an interesting hunk of material here that could get lock exposure. (Duchess, BMI) (2:45)

ALBERT VAN DAM AND HIS ORK
 Instrumental Continental — DECCA 31187 — Attractive instrumental effort is played in gimmicky fashion here by the Van Dam ork. Side is unusual enough to get spins. (Valiant, ASCAP) (2:22)

 Brazilia — Tune about the new capital city of Brazil receives a bright, bouncy reading from the Van Dam crew on this new instrumental side. (Alton, ASCAP) (2:19)

THE STRING-A-LONGS
 Wheels — WARWICK 603 — The String-A-Longs turn in a happy performance on this polka-ish item that is played in neat instrumental style by the combo. Tune has a light, easy-to-take flavor. (Dundee, BMI)

 Tell the World — Another solid instrumental side by the gang, this time of a slow and interesting tune that has a blues flavor. Two warm sides. (Dundee, BMI)

DADDY COOL
 Daddy Cool, Daddy Cool — DEE 101 — Daddy Cool rocks here as he tells a group of chicks that he's gonna make them dance as he's the king of rock and roll. Side has a strong rhythm even tho the lyrics are weak. (Dino, BMI) (2:09)

 Nobody Else But You — Daddy Cool turns in a listenable performance on a rockballad with a catchy melody, helped by ork and chorus. (Dino, BMI) (2:23)

JOE DAMIANO
 Hello My Love — CHANCELLOR 1064 — Damiano croons a pretty love ballad, with soft ork support. Listenable wax and a good performance. (Rambled-Bum-ruck, BMI) (2:09)

 My Willing Heart — Damiano has something of the Mathis sound on this ballad side. Chick chorus fills in a woo-woo style background. Pretty wax. (Pamco, BMI) (2:49)

THE KIRBY STONE FOUR
 My Mammy — COLUMBIA 41875 — The wonderful oldie made famous by Al Jolson is handled a rock and swinging reading by the Kirby Stone group. It should receive lots and lots of deejay spins. (Bourse, ASCAP) (2:00)

 Smack Dab in the Middle — The tune that was almost a hit a number of years ago receives a bright and exciting performance from the boys and it has a chance for colts. Two solid sides. (Roosevelt, BMI) (2:17)

ROY ORBISON
 Sweet and Easy to Love — SUN 424 — Here's a strongly country-oriented side which highlights Orbison's high-pitched vocal chords. Good effort taken from Sun's vaults. (Knox, BMI) (2:10)

 Devil Doll — An older Orbison side. It's a ballad handled with chorus support. Flip has a better sound. (Knox, BMI) (2:10)

THE HI TONES
 Fool, Fool, Fool — KING 5414 — The boys sing their hearts out on this weeper side as the lead explains he was a fool over his girl. A side with much potential both in pop and r.f. (Starbuck, BMI) (2:24)

 Let's Have a Good Time — On this side the boys rock as they sing about a good, swinging time with their girl friends. Two sides with good chances. (Starbuck, BMI) (2:55)

JEFF HARRY
 Teen Quartet — RCA VICTOR 7821 — The lad betrays the fact that he doesn't sing in a "Teen Quartet" and thus can't get a girl to fall in love with him. Cute side that has a chance. (Marks, BMI) (2:21)

 All You Need is a Quarter — Jeff Harry comes thru with a vibrant performance of a rhythm tune from the new Broadway musical, "Do Re Mi," and it rocks. Could get some action due to the excitement about the show. Subject matter of the tune could lead to good juke exposure. (Stratford, ASCAP) (2:25)

BEN SHERWIN
 Johnny Goofed — LIBERTY 55281 — A swingin', upbeat novelty rewrite of the oldie, "Frankie and Johnnie." Sherwin handles it in a jazz-oriented style, with a touch of the Bobby Darin approach. Interesting wax. (Central, BMI) (2:33)

 Here a Good Time — A pleasant ballad effort by Sherwin. Here he has something of the croon style and it registers nicely. (Acuff-Ross, BMI) (2:17)

FLOYD SMITH
 This is a Miracle — FORTUNE 540 — A slow ballad, with persistent triplet piano setting the rhythm pattern. Smith contributes a feelingful vocal. Ethereal voices float thru the backing. (Trianna, BMI)

 Grandpa's Gully Rock — A good rockin' blues on the "Let's Go" idea. Smith turns in a spirited performance. Good rhythm side. (Trianna, BMI)

THELMA CARPENTER
 Yes, I'm Lonesome Tonight — CORAL 62241 — Miss Carpenter, on her Coral debut, lends a full-voiced and sensitive reading to this answer to Elvis Presley's big hit. Gal gives it a solid go with a persuasive narration. (ABC - Cromwell, ASCAP) (3:12)

 Gimme a Little Kiss (Will You Huh) — The gal gives this rockballad version of the oldie a pleasant go but the flip would be the one to watch. (ABC-Cromwell, ASCAP) (3:12)

BUZZ CLIFFORD
 Driftwood — COLUMBIA 41876 — Lad handles this attractive hunk of material with feeling aided by a good arrangement featuring the ork and chorus. Worth spins. (Roosevelt, BMI) (2:10)

 Baby Sittin' Boogie — Chanter sells this rhythm effort neatly, aided by sounds made by the baby at the house where he is baby sitting. It's a cute side that could get some exposure. (Reis, BMI) (2:04)

PONIES
 Stupid Pony — OKEH 7139 — Guitar opens this unusual instrumental by a combo that features teardrop along with the git-box. Tune is a medium tempo blues. (Florentine, BMI) (2:23)

 The Pony — The boys sing this side about "the pony" with ease. Vocal group and combo from the flip assist. (Arival, BMI) (2:10)

CARL MADURI
 A Miracle — WARWICK 604 — The boys sing nicely on this slow rock-a-ballad. Lyric has to do with the miracle that would happen if she loved him. Combo featuring tenor and female voice accompany. (Seima, BMI) (2:31)

 The Joker — Maduri tells of the love joke that is on him on this slow rocking ballad. (Angel & Selton, BMI) (2:21)

MILES AND ANDREW
 Till the End of Time — PLAY 1002 — This is not the oldie but a new rockballad which the boys handle in pleasant fashion, even adding a talking bit. Side could get some action. (Ben Hos, BMI) (2:50)

 Crazy Mix-Up Feeling — Boys sell this rhythmic side with warmth over slightly Latin backing. Flip is stronger. (Ben Hos, BMI) (2:15)

JORGEN INGMANN AND HIS GUITAR
 Echo Boogie — ATCO 6184 — Interesting boogie side by the European guitarist on this instrumental dinking. Bright enough to get spins. (BIEM, BCB) (3:13)

 Apache — Another melodious instrumental side showing off smooth guitar work by Ingmann and his combo. (Hunter, ASCAP) (3:00)

BILLY BORLYNN
 I Want a Girl — COLUMBIA 41873 — The chanter handles this bright ditty with spirit over listenable backing by the combo with the chorus chiming in now and then. (Dymor, ASCAP) (2:09)

 I Just Don't Know — Billy Borlynn sells this rhythm effort in listenable fashion over bright support by combo and chorus. (Koe-win, ASCAP) (1:54)

NOBLES C. DABBY
 Goodbye, Charlie Brown — FELSTED 8610 — His baby is leaving and she ain't never comin' back. That's the message in this melancholy blues-styled tune. Dabby's talk-sing vocal gets a lot of sound effect support in the form of wild laughter. (Geneva, BMI) (2:03)

 Let Me Tell You 'Bout Love — Blues wax by Dabby and the chick vocal group. Moderate potential. (Geneva, BMI) (2:02)

DON COVAY
 I'm Coming Down With the Blues — BIGTOP 3050 — A good, slow blues performance by Covay, with chorus. The artist sings with much style and should be watched. Good talent. (Roosevelt, BMI) (2:10)

 Hey There — Here's the tune from "Palms Game" and it's given an okay reading by Covay against an undistinguished arrangement. Flip has more interest. (Frank, ASCAP) (2:30)

JAN DAVIS
 Sleepless — RENDEZVOUS 131 — Good echoey guitar instrumental wax. It's in slow, deliberate tempo and the artist has a distinctive sound. Good juke material. (Forsite, BMI) (2:20)

 Damascus — The guitarist sounds good on this side, too, with material on the flip qualifying just a notch higher. Good talent. (Maverick-Blue Indigo, BMI) (2:29)

DONNIE BOWSER
 Stone Heart — ERA 3029 — Bowser is a country-styled wailer and here he belts out an agonized, broken-hearted sound. The woeper is done to piano triplets. Interesting performance. (Nash, BMI) (2:18)

 I Love You, Baby — Bowser works in dual track style on this medium rhythm side. Flip has more of a sound. (Sage & Sound, SESAC) (2:12)

THE SEVILLES
 Charless — JC 116 — Medium rocking blues-oriented tune swings along steadily and the boys shout the praises of the girl. Cooking tenor sax solo adds to the strong background. (Robin Hood, BMI) (2:22)

 Loving You (Is My Desire) — The boys sing this ballad with a touch of heartache. Lead does a good job and the pop-hop-ing of the boys in the background is effective. (Lach, BMI) (2:30)

Christmas

THE MERRILL STATION CHOIR
 The Carillon — EPIC 9429 — A lyric has been added to the pretty tune issued last year, and the Merrill Station Choir sings it smartly here over attractive backing. Good wax with a chance.

* Sidewalk Santa — Bright, cheery piece of material receives a first-rate performance by the group over rhythmic backing here. Could grab a lot of spins. (Fischer, ASCAP) (2:12)

EYDIE GORME
 I Love to Dance (But Never on Sunday) — UNITED ARTISTS 283 — Here's a vocal version of the hit tune, "Never on Sunday." The gal handles it in sprightly, verveful fashion and it's definitely a splainable side. Pleasant backing, too. (Hateem & Sidmore, BMI) (3:10)

* Let Me Be the First to Wish You Merry Christmas — The gal offers a homey, sentimental Christmas ballad, co-clefed by hubby Siev, Lawrence. Pleasant listening for the holiday period. (Maxana, ASCAP) (2:18) in the group. Plenty of drive here. (Excel- lence, BMI) (2:25)

 By the Help of the Lord -- A w/d. minor chant is intoned here by the group, again with the muted drum spotlighted against the persistent piano and guitar back- ing. Much feeling is demonstrated here. (Excellence, BMI) (2:44)

MORGAN RABB  Everything You Need -- NASH- BORO 681 -- A moderate rhythm side with the boys recounting their blessings. En- livened and spirited performance by the group. (Excellence, BMI) (2:14)

 Shame -- A soulful, slow digst-like effort, which features an impressive bass lead. Two listenable sides. (Excellence, BMI) (2:58)

THE NORFOLK SINGERS  Soldier of the Cross -- STANTON 261 -- This fine singing group pleads with the faithful to follow the way of the Lord. Simple backing forms effective backing for the inspirational message. (Stanton, BMI) (2:33)

 Thunder in the Heaven -- Warning of the final coming is the subject matter of this religious item. The group singing is good on this slower side. (Stanton, BMI) (3:35)

Polka

EDDIE BLATNICK  Bruno's Jolly Hop Polka--JAY JAY 227--Sprightly instrumental treatment of bright polka item. (Diana, BMI)

 Pretty Sue--Okay reading on sentimental. (Herbert) (2:05)

Sacred

FREDDY POWERS  Heartaches of a Fool -- LONG- HORN 509 -- Freddie Powers comes thru with a meaningful rendering of a touching weeper which is philoaphia in tone. He sings it tenderly and the side has a chance for coins in country marts. (Partners, BMI) (2:03)

 He Gave Us a Heart -- Powers handles this weeper in pleasant fashion over okay support. (Partners, BMI) (1:55)

Reviews of New Pop Records

LYNN HOPE  Shockin'--KING 5431--A swingin' upbeat instrumental with a solid hand- clapping rhythm figure. Horns dominate the side. Dancers will like this. (Jayco, BMI) (3:01)

 Blue and Sentimental--The familiar oldie is done nicely with sax and vibes. Good sound and nice slow dance accompaniment. (Bragman, Voco & Conn, ASCAP) (2:20)

FARRY BRIGHT  (En a) Mojo Man -- TIDE 0012 -- Mojo man is a sort of witch doctor and Bright plays the part. Latin-styled rocker swings in medium tempo with small group and chorus in back. (Cepha, BMI) (1:58)

 When I'm With You -- Rumba back- ground played by the combo and sung by the obvious accompanies Bright as he tells the chick what it's like to be with her. (Cepha, BMI) (2:23)

group on a feelingful gospel number. (PD) (2:26)

 Never Alone--Moving piping by the fem lead on an okay spiritual. (PD) (2:17)

KELLY BROTHERS  Waiting for Jesus--FEDERAL 12392 --Fervent warbling by the lead and group on an infectious gospel item. (White, BMI) (2:51)

 Jesus Knows the Reason Why -- Serene reading by lead warbler and group on an effective sacred tune. (Sonia, BMI) (2:59)

Religious

CHARLETON HESTON * Virgin Mary Had One Son -- VANGUARD 35011 -- The story of the Nativity is told here by Heston in splendid voice. The large Robert De Cormier cho- rale assists in adding a churchlike atmos- phere. (PD)

 The Baptism of Christ -- Impica- tional reading by Heston on this disk deals with the baptizing of Christ by St. John. Large vocal group behind the reading sings "Wade in the Water." (PD) (2:14)

FOUR STAR SACRED COWBOY COPAS * The Hero of His Garment -- STARDAY 524 -- Cowboy Copas sings this sacred effort with sincerity over stand- ard country support by the combn. Cer- tain to appeal strongly to gospel fans. (Star- day, BMI)

 I Have a Friend -- Again Copas sells a religious effort with reverence, and the backing is in the country groove. Two good sides for the Bible Belt and Southern mpketa. (Starday, BMI)

BILL McVEY * Abide With Me -- CHRISTIAN HERALD 102--From the album, "Hymns America Loves Best," tenor McVey offers a stirring version of the familiar hymn. Fine orchestral and choral backing lends a rich sound. Good holiday wax. (3:19)

 I Wonder as I Wonder--The Appa- lachian folk song is done with much feeling by McVey. A convincing effort, tho the flip would have more immediate appeal.

Spiritual

THE CONSOEERS  Almighty God -- NASHBORO 680 --A real shouter done in harmonizing style be- tween the fem lead and the male followers

 I REMEMBER AUSTRIA
Various Artists. Fiesta FLP 1291—An intriguing program of music of the Tyrol, highlighting such instruments as the accordion, bells, oompah horns, etc. Among the vocalists are several good yodelers. The music is well-recorded and most flavorful. The cover, too, picturing a flock of dancing couples, is most appealing.

 I REMEMBER THE RHINE
Various Artists. Fiesta FLP 1292 — Good German singing of a group of German waltzes, polkas and other tunes by Willy Schneider, Albert Vossen, Karl Berber and others. Selections include "Der Frohliche Wanderer," "Auf Wiedersehen," and "Rheinland-Weinland Walzer." Striking cover and strong vocals should help interest the international fan.

 TOUR DE CHANT
Michel Louvain. Coral CRL 757362. (Stereo & Monaural) — Michel Louvain, 23, is one of French Canada's most popular singers. In this collection, sung in French, he shows a nice way with slow ballads such as "Priere," "It Might as Well Be Spring," and "A Certain Smile." He also scores neatly on faster and novelty items. If Louvain gets additional exposure the disk could move.

 I REMEMBER BAVARIA, VOL. 2
Bavarian Brass Winds. Fiesta FLP 1288 — Another of Fiesta's authentic international disks, this is the second from Bavaria. It features some old-fashioned German brass band tootling, as well as some more modern playing. Music consists of polkas with a couple of mazurkas for good measure. Could mean business in German neighborhoods.

POLKA ***

 I STOPPED FOR A BEER AND OTHER POLKA AND WALTZ FAVORITES
Eddie Blatnick. Jay Jay 1024—Eddie Blatnick and his ork come thru with a group of sparkling polkas on this bright new album. Tunes range from the title song to "Go Joe Go Polka," "Alphabet Polka," and "Polka Hop." They are played neatly by the ork and should interest polka fans from Pittsburgh to Minneapolis.

 MALY WIADZIU SPIEWA PO STARO KRAJSKU
Li'l Wally. Jay Jay 1025—Li'l Wally's approach to the polka usually is characterized by good humor and a toe-tapping beat. His latest release is very much in this category. Biggest competition is from himself and other frequently recorded artists on this label.

SPOKEN WORD ***

 LINUS PAULING ON FALLOUT AND NUCLEAR WARFARE
Verre MGV 15020 — Professor Pauling, noted scientist and a leading spokesman for outlawing war in this age of nuclear weapons, gives a very effective talk on the meaning of war today. He discusses the tragic genetic changes occasioned by atomic weapons. The presentation is lucid enough to be understood by a layman. A commendable album. Should be given as broad distribution as possible, particularly by dealers in college towns or dealers with clientele interested in spoken word disks.

 AS I LOOK INTO YOUR FACE
Pat Buttram. Disc LP 102—Pat Buttram is a moderately funny hillbilly-styled comic with one of those familiar Andy Griffith type dialects. In five different bands, he performs the toastmaster routine at dinners honoring such personalities as Steve Allen, Casey Stengel and Alan Mowbray. The crowd at these affairs cracked up and home listeners will too at some of the spots. Cover idea here is not in the best of taste.

RELIGIOUS ***

Choir of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Melbourne. ABC-Paramount ABC 349—The boys' and men's choir of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Melbourne, Australia, sings some traditional hymns of the Catholic Church in this attractive LP. Under the direction of Rev. Dr. Percy Jones, the choir sings "Holy God We Praise Thy Name," "Jesus My Lord, My God," and "To Jesus Heart All Burning," as well as 11 other Catholic hymns.

COUNTRY & WESTERN ***

 CARL BELEV
Decca DL 74074. (Stereo & Monaural)—Well-recorded country package includes "Am I That Easy to Forget," "Too Much to Lose" and several tunes on which Belev collaborated, "Lonely Street," "It Happened," etc. Essentially in the traditional vein, the material is of the ballad and weeper type for the most part.

LATIN AMERICAN ***

 LEARN TO DANCE THE MERENGUE WITH TONY AND LUCILLE
Fiesta FLP 1283—The daffy half of the dance school duo patiently explains the rather simple merengue steps thruout almost all of Side 1, with assistance from the Rene Touset cha cha band. Side 2 features the band all the way in a number of merengue rhythm melodies. Footwork patterns are clearly illustrated.

CLASSICAL ***

 HAYDN: MASS IN TIME OF WAR

distributors. Distributorships are located in Houston, Dallas, Memphis, Nashville, Oklahoma City, Pittsburgh and Buffalo.

Dot Records started in 1950, being incorporated in Gallatin, Tenn., in April. Wood stated that the label's annual gross sales have increased by an average of more than 80 per cent. In its first year, the label's sales totaled $97,859.30, and during 1951, the second year, the gross reached $264,950.02.

In 1956, just before Paramount purchased Dot, gross sales totaled nearly $6 million.

Wood, in an interview last week, stated that the disk industry—from the standpoint of dollar volume—was still in its infancy. "The potential is great and will be fully realized when we hit upon the right merchandising and exposure facets," he added. "It will require these elements, plus the proper artists, songs and a.&r. techniques," he concluded.

Dot in its early years achieved important rank primarily thru its success in the singles field. In the later years it has rounded out its operation, in line with the growing importance of the package record business. Key artists with the label include Pat Boone, Billy Vaughn, Louis Prima, Keely Smith, Debbie Reynolds, Gale Storm, Lawrence Welk, Johnny Maddox, Tony Martin, Lennon Sisters, Dann Kaye, Dodie Stevens, Helen Traubel, the Fontane Sisters, Marlene Dietrich, Mills Brothers, the Hilltoppers, Tab Hunter and Louis Armstrong.

CONCERT REVIEW

Small Crowd, Big Hall Hampers Anka

To the few hundred people who turned up, "An Evening With Paul Anka," at Manhattan's Hunter College Auditorium Sunday (27) was a success—the ABC-Paramount recording star's offerings were certainly enthusiastically received. But from an attendance standpoint the occasion was a failure.

The poor showing must have been a distinct surprise not only to Anka and his manager, but also to Art D'Lugoff, who engineered the date. Especially after Anka's smash showing at the Copacabana this past summer. To some extent, the meager turnout was attributable to an advance publicity and advertising campaign which was spotty at best.

During the performance, Anka sang well enough, but he was constantly frustrated from projecting as well as he might have by the hugeness and the emptiness of the 2,200 seat auditorium. The hall is a mammoth, drab mausoleum that defies almost any performer to create warmth within its barren shell. The amplification, too, played hob with Anka's singing. Many of his softer phrases became blurred or were overwhelmed by the large over-amplified ork.

Anka, altho displaying no overt pique at the situation, did rush thru the two halves of his program. Tune followed upon tune, with little or no commentary, and a brief word from Paul to his conductor, Sid Feller, did away with the customary intermission.

The show itself followed the general pattern of his sock Copa engagement. The young singer opened with a clever parody of "Sing, Sing, Sing," which led into a string of standard tunes, some with special lyrics. The second section was made up largely of Anka-written, Anka-sung record hits. A special piece of material, "I'm a Do-It-Yourself Song Man," led into this segment which besides presenting "Diana," and other hits, also gave a spot to "Filles De Paris Jolie," one of Anka's least known but better efforts. Jack Maher.

NIGHT CLUB REVIEW

Copacetic Is Word for Connie

M-G-M Records' Connie Francis has taken her place with the front line of the nation's club stars. That's the distinct impression left by the gal as she took New York's venerable Copacabana by storm in her opening stint there this week.

From the opening gun, when the poised Miss Francis offered a breezy special material bit about being happy to be at the Copa, she had the ringsiders eating out of her hand. Then she really warmed them up with "It All Depends on You," delivered in an all-stops-out manner. Smartly, the gal changed the pace with a neat grouping of her Italian and Jewish favorites, culled from her best-selling M-G-M albums, all of which were greeted with cheers.

Singles hits were played down, and were limited to her current "Many Tears Ago," and the familiar "Momma." The gal, thruout, seemed in the great tradition of Garland and Jolson. The highlight of her presentation, in fact, came with a nostalgic go-thru of great Jolson hits, complete with white gloves and tie.

The thrush achieved her triumph, incidentally, not with prom-sprinkled crowds as greeted Paul Anka and Bobby Darin at the Copa, but with a completely adult audience, which pounded tables and whistled in vain for a third encore, after a great get-off with "Saints," and "Bill Bailey."

The Copa band, as usual, was on the loud side, but the gal was, in most cases, equal to this challenge. Criticism would be limited to her rather distracting efforts to put her hands in her skirt pockets without finding the pockets (a wardrobe problem) and a tendency to say "thank you" a little too often after each number. The gal, however, still adds up to great night club entertainment, as disk buyers will find when M-G-M puts out its promised "Connie at the Copa" album. Ren Grevatt.

follows a similar double Ray Conniff LP set issued earlier in the month. Conniff has averaged more than 15,000 copies an issue, but the double pack drew 35,000 orders in its first week.

VISIT-IN: Paramount Pictures' President Barney Balaban arrived for film discussions and the British launching of the Paramount toll-TV system. He denied that his trip had anything to do with Paramount's dealings with Phillips over Dot. . . Howard Keel, filming in Germany, returned to head ATV's "Sunday Night at the London Palladium," November 27. . . TV actor Ty Hardin is booked for two January ATV dates following Leslie Grade's recent U. S. trip; Grade previously brought over two other Western stars, Hugh O'Brian and Robert Horton, for singing telecasts. . . Kathryn Grayson stars in BBC-TV's "Showtime," December 18.

HOME FRONT: The Mechanical Rights Society has elected a songwriter to its board for the first time — Paddy Roberts. . . Decca a.&r. man Alex Murray left the label to resume his career as an actor. . . One of Pye's young stars, Emile Ford, started recording new artists himself and has sold three singles to the label.

NEW SERVICE: After 10 years with the Rank Organization, Pat Skinner has left following the transfer of the Top Rank label to EMI. He was in charge of publicity for its launching and later became marketing manager. He has opened his own consultancy office, intends making specialized records for the U. S. market and will work with American labels here both for marketing and in the general business sense.

CHARTS: No doubting the pull of Frank Sinatra's "Ol' Mac Donald" (Capitol), it entered the hit list in its first week at No. 9. There was quick action, too, on Anthony Newley's "Strawberry Fair" (Decca), in at No. 16, as was Lonnie Donegan's "Lively" (Pye); Johnny Tillotson's "Poetry in Motion"

Park Association Completes Busy Convention Schedule

CHICAGO—Busy conventioning park executives concentrated their business and convention sessions into two days and one evening, then took a noon session of the third day to cap it all with a summary and time for honoring many of those who had taken part.

That was the story of the National Association of Amusement Parks, Pools and Beaches convention here last week (28-30), which included these highlights:

Launching of a campaign to finance a $50,000 public relations campaign.

Seeing a film report of Riverview Park's $500,000 theme addition at Agawam, Mass.

Hearing inspirational talks, topped by that of Dr. Herbert True.

Inaugurating evening sessions. And finishing off with the Wednesday awards luncheon.

Executive Session

President Robert L. Plarr called the Monday morning session to order. Secretary John Bowman reported on the year's activities, including the fair "crisis," minimum wage bill battles, the safety program, visitations to parks, attendance at Michigan State's school for association executives and delays with the Manual and Guide.

Also appearing were program chairman Laurence Canfield, resolutions chairman Paul Huedepohl, location and exhibits chairman Jack Macdonald, music royalty chairman John Coleman, program of work chairman Ed Schott, treasurer A. L. Filigrasso and finance chairman Bill Schmidt.

Jack Macdonald reported that the insurance committee this year had okayed a 5 per cent reduction in rates, with the added provision that individual parks could negotiate rates on the basis of their loss ratios.

Harry Batt, chairman of the government relations committee, told of negotiations with the Senate Committee headed by Sen. John Kennedy. He warned members to expect a new bill to increase minimum wages.

Membership chairman Marvin Staton reported the association has about 80 new members. Fred Pearce Jr. reported that the Remington firm has agreed to produce shooting gallery ammunition with plated cases in lots of 150 cases or more.

Monday Afternoon

Plarr's presidential address touched on the status and future of the amusement park field and the association's activities. Raymond Ellis, of the National Safety Council, discussed "Management in the Sixties—Voluntary or Regulated."

Highlight of the afternoon was Ed Carroll's film and talk about his $500,000 project for installing a theme section to his park and inaugurating a part-time one-price policy. Additional speakers on the same panel about meeting competition included Harry J. Batt Jr.; William Campbell, of Arrow Development; Jim Hervey, of Audio Electronics, and Larry Sloan, of Pacific Ocean Park, who described his park's major success with the one-price policy.

Tom Davidson, speaking as a Funspot researcher, said he sees

"nothing but profits" in the future, but that the competition will be between various businesses more than between individuals within those fields. The question, he said, is whether amusement parks will get their share of the profits.

Ed Schott, Coney Island, Cincinnati, told of the committee work in selecting a firm for a public relations program to be undertaken by NAAPPB. He termed the program a "challenge and major step," which the committee felt "must be recommended to the members."

NAAPPB PLANS PACIFIC TRIP IN LATE 1961

CHICAGO — NAAPPB's 1961 summer meeting will be a month-long tour thru the Orient. That was decided by the directors and announced at the convention here last week.

The group will go, probably in September, from Seattle and return to Los Angeles. They will see Century 21 abuilding, then fly to Tokyo, Hong Kong, Singapore, Bangkok, Honolulu, and other points. In each location they will inspect local amusement parks and similar facilities.

In 1958 the group toured Europe on a similar park inspection trip.

SIDELIGHTS

Glen Boyd Misses Chi Convention

CHICAGO—Glen Boyd, veteran manager of the Ozark Empire Fair, Springfield, Mo., was among the missing at the Chicago doings, the first time in many years. Glen has been ailing and the doc advised against his attending. . . . Mrs. Ruth Hartkopf, manager of the Eastern Idaho State Fair, Blackfoot, was still favoring her left arm which was broken some weeks ago and just out of the cast.

James H. (Georgia Boy) Drew, owner of the carnival bearing his name, was justifiably proud about the accomplishment of his son, Jimmy Jr. The youngsters had been awarded one of the highest honors in the Boy Scouts when he became the only member of his Augusta, Ga., troop to achieve the rank of Eagle Scout.

Frank Kingman, secretary of the fair association, was sweating out two grandchildren during the meetings. His daughter, Mrs. Holly Widener, presented her husband with a daughter on Wednesday (30) and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Barry Kingman, was in the hospital awaiting an addition.

Hadji Delgarian, veteran ride operator, took time out from Showmen's League activities to attend wedding of his daughter, Ann, to Henry Piazza, an engineer. The event was held November 26 in St. Gregory's Armenian Church in Chicago. . . . Ken Garman was released from a Danville hospital just a couple of days before the meetings got started but was on hand to host his many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Atwood, she's Maude the secretary of the Chattanooga Fair, missed the convention for the first time in years. Both were on a trip to California to visit their daughter and son in Los Angeles.

One of the gold-star (new member) attendees at the park meetings was John Leahy, owner of the Great Danbury (Conn.) Fair. Leahy's New Amsterdam Village is a permanent attraction on the grounds, which makes him a park man now. . . . Rossotto Oreste and C. Rosa of Luna Park, Naples, had Ronnie Kehoe as their only language contact in Chicago until happily meeting some others with fluency in Italian. Their sessions with the Zaccchini family and Egle Sedlmayr were complete with typical Neapolitan gestures.

Fair Federation Okays Old Meeting Format

CHICAGO—The Federation of State and Provincial Association of Fairs requested the return to the old method of meeting with other organizations in a resolution passed here at its convention in the Hotel Morrison last week.

The resolution read: "Resolved that the International Association of Fairs and Expositions resume holding its annual meeting in conjunction with other associations and organizations in the outdoor amusement business."

The organization, part of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions, held a full afternoon session with Miss Goldie Scheible, president, in the chair. Assisting her were Vice-President Christie W. Summers and Secretary-Treasurer Joseph C. Bartlett.

N. S. Hand, of the Mississippi Association of Fairs and also manager of the Mississippi State Fair, gave one of the key addresses of the meeting. (See Fair-Exhibition Management column, this issue.)

Lamar Allen, president of the Florida Federation of Fairs, moderated discussions on topics pertinent to State associations. Mrs. Malinda Granberry, Tennessee Association of Fairs, described the awards and workshops conducted by that group.

92 EXHIBITORS

Ride, Equipment Firms Pile Up Sales at Chicago Show

By IRWIN KIRBY

CHICAGO — The tradition of millions of dollars being spent for amusement devices at the Chicago trade show was upheld convincingly last week. Registrations were down somewhat, but this was more than offset by favorable reports by manufacturers of riding devices and subsidiary equipment for the outdoor fun industry.

With 92 individual exhibitors occupying 197 booths on the Hotel Sherman's mezzanine floor, there was no shortage of equipment—or new units shown. Ride manufacturers were uniformly enthusiastic about the reception this year.

Biggest single achievement was the contracting of additional Sky Wheels by the Allan Herschell Company, whose display occupied the most space in the show. Second of the towering units to be produced will go to Glen Wade and associates for mid-February delivery. Crafts Shows will have one in time for the National Orange Show in San Bernardino, Calif., next March. E. D. McCrary received the first ride this fall.

In addition to rides ordered off the floor, there is the customary winter period during which directors will be voting on purchases and other pending sales will be confirmed. To skim over the transactions, the following unit sales are reported:

Jumping Jupiter Improved

Herschell's exhibit of ride bodies included a new Jumping Jupiter model which accomplishes its leap without the need for a launching ramp. Also new was the Skyway Monorail, kiddie Paddleboat, aluminum Dark Ride cars, Bell Air Car, stereo music unit and re-designed Roller Coaster. The last mentioned is a two-semi ride, one mounting the loading platform and the other for a permanent incline and drive unit, height 12½ feet.

Other firms with large dollar-volume results included King Amusements and B. A. Schiff Associates. There was interest in new rides, one of which will be completed for the Tampa Fair. Frank Hrubetz's Meteor is an 18-car ride in the works for three years. It utilizes the Round-Up elevation action with three large turntables. First-year production will be six units.

Aeroaffiliates will not have its Bartlett Float-o-Drome in operation in time for Tampa, but will be testing it during 1961. Its Flying Coaster production, one a week, is comfortably spoken for. The firm showed a dual safety valve piston and hydraulic cylinder for both new and existing Flying Coasters.

M. and P. Diesel Company had a good response to its line of Mercedes-Benz motors and generators exhibited for the first time. O. C. Buck Shows ordered four 95-kw. motors and Robert L. Smith, of Freedomland, ordered 20 units. King Amusements signed a distributorship which will see it offering diesel power for its rides. Freedomland also contracted for the Italian ride, Space Combat, shown by Export Sales Corporation.

Jack Partlow's kiddie circus train, a trackless unit, was sold to several buyers. Among them were Jimmy Sullivan; Lee Amusements; Jungle Land Park, of Cleveland; C. S. Peck and Paul Robertson.

King's order list included Fun-houses to Reithoffer Shows and H. McGinley, of Zanesville, O.; two kid rides to Amusements of America; light plant and popcorn trailer to George Lytle, of Findlay, O.; light plant and Frolic ride to Jerry's Rides of Baltimore; train to Mickey Stark (who also acquired a Herschell G-12 train and San Antonio-Model Helicopter); Speed-boats to Striker's Grove, Cincinnati; Spinaroo to Al Kunz, of Heth Shows; Jet Fighter and Frolic to W. E. (Shotgun) Page, and Frolics to C. S. Peck, Drago Amusements. (Continued on page 49)

Panels Highlight IAFE Chi Meeting

Advertising, Concessions Discussed As Fair Association Meets Alone

By CHARLIE BYRNES

CHICAGO—Open panel discussions on important topics highlighted the 70th annual meeting of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions here last week.

For the first time in years the fair execs met in a different hotel from the Showmen's League of America, amusement park association and allied groups, holding its sessions in the Morrison Hotel after the close of the other activities at the Hotel Sherman. The SLA banquet and ball on Wednesday evening (30) usually wound up the entire outdoor meetings but the IAFE began its sessions on Thursday (1) and was due to wind them up at a Saturday (3) luncheon.

The over-all program this year covered the Federation of State and Provincial Association of Fairs, including meetings on county fairs, had the usual social events such as the Past President's Club Luncheon on Thursday and for the first time in many years, a banquet on Friday evening, titled the "International Fairs Roundup."

The forums got under way on Friday morning with Dick Frederick, Michigan State Fair, heading one on advertising. G. W. (Bill) Wynne, Mid-South Fair, moderated one on concessions; Bryan P. Sandles, Clark County Fair, on youth; Mrs. Moxie Mulrooney, Saginaw Fair, on women's activities. That afternoon G. C. (Pete) Baker, Oklahoma State Fair, filled in for Lem Jones on commercial space. Grandstand shows had Donald L. Swanson, Michigan State Fair, as chairman assisted by William A. (Tiny) Uthmeier, Central Wisconsin State Fair.

Election of officers and directors and an address by Douglas K. Baldwin, Minnesota State Fair, on the future of the IAFE were set for the Saturday morning session, along with addresses by L. Doc Cassidy, Kentucky State Fair; C. M. Cutler, General Electric, and John L. Campbell, insurance. Art Linkletter was scheduled to be the speaker at the luncheon on Saturday.

FAIR ASSN. UPS DUES

CHICAGO — A new dues schedule for the International Association of Fairs and Expositions was adopted here last week.

Based on the present membership, the increase is expected to hike IAFE income close to $5,000.

PLARR ACCEPTS BID

Trade Show Makes Hit With Italians

CHICAGO—Bob Plarr, of Allentown, Pa., president of the NAAPPB, said last week he is accepting the invitation extended on behalf of the European showmen's group thru two of its leaders. Rosotto Oreste, of Luna Park, Naples, invited the Americans to the seventh congress of the association, February 1-4 in Paris.

In the company of C. Rosa, of Luna Park, and Bill and Ronnie Kehoe, Oreste toured the exhibition hall here in search of American devices to use in Europe. Mrs. Kehoe is fluent in Italian and served as interpreter. The Italians' impression of the NAAPPB trade show was marked, their most common observation being an amazed, "Did Khrushchev see this?"

The invitation to the European convention was coupled with one to participate in the International Exhibition in Turin, Italy. Oreste's address to the parkmen went as follows:

"In occasion of the International Exposition which will be held in Turin from May to October to celebrate the Centennial of the Unity of Italy; we are sent by our Association (ANESV), located in Rome, to visit your exposition and for the purpose of setting up a modern amusement park.

"The Turin celebration wants to show the accomplishments attained by labor in a century of great activity. In occasion of these festivities, which will occur over a period of six months, conventions and meetings will draw to the elegant city of Turin millions of visitors.

"It is our deep desire that your country be represented with some of your attractions; this would open up a new phase in our activities.

"For this purpose the associations of France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Belgium, Austria, Holland, Portugal and Denmark, who are already united in the VFE Union F.C. Forains Europeenne, will celebrate their seventh European Congress in a meeting to be held in Paris on February 1, 2, 3 and 4, 1961. This meeting will be conducted by the president, Augusto Picardi of Rome.

"We are extending you the invitation to participate to this convention and we are sure that your representation will honor these festivities. We appreciate this first encounter with you and it is hoped that many others will follow—this will be advantageous to the body we are representing which has always looked with great admiration and astonishment on your accomplishments.

"Thank you for having given us an occasion to present the aims of our visit. We also want to thank your president, Robert Parr, as well as your secretary, John Bowman, for the kind invitation and cordial reception.

"Our thanks and appreciation are also directed to Mr. and Mrs. Kehoe for everything they did to render our stay in this great country a very pleasant one."

Orange Show Picks Theme

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. — "Citrus Wonderland" will be the theme for the 1961 National Orange Show here April 20-30, A. B. Drake, exposition president, announced after the judges examined more than 3,000 entries.

According to J. W. Snyder, chairman of the theme committee, the selection was made on the basis that the "Citrus Wonderland" theme will be a "workable one for all segments of the 46th showing, including community feature exhibits, flower show, entertainment and commercial features and special displays thruout the grounds."

Record for the entry from the most distant point went to a woman in Brierfield, England, who said she heard of the contest while touring America.

Carnahan, Eyerly Associates, Chicago, heads a 12-man trade show committee whose main job will be to secure pool and beach exhibitors for next year's NAAPPB Show.

A year-long membership drive will be the first order of business, according to Platt, who urged each of the operators attending the pool and beach sessions to concentrate on pools and swim clubs in their area.

CHUCK WAGON DRIVERS TO WEAR HELMETS

CALGARY, Alta.—Crash helmets for drivers are one of three safety measures for chuck wagon racing approved by the Cowboys' Protective Association at its annual meeting here.

It was also decided to change the design of barrels and stoves used in the races to make them less dangerous in collisions. The helmets will be similar to those worn by jockeys.

In future, the barrels around which the outfits make a figure eight before entering a race will be made of cardboard, rather than wood, and they will be weighted with sand. This will make them less dangerous in collisions.

The metal stoves used to weight the rear of the wagons will be replaced with stoves made of collapsible material so that if they are jarred out of the wagon they will not be so likely to cause upsets.

Last season two chuck-wagon drivers were killed, one in Calgary and one in Cheyenne, Wyo.

Winners of CPA championship trophies were: Cliff Vandergrift, Turner Valley, wild cow milking; Don McLeod, Black Diamond, wild horse racing; Leo Brown, Czar, high point winner, Brahma bull riding and bareback; Orville Burkinshaw, Calgary, chuck wagon; Bud Butterfield, Ponoka, wild steer wrestling; Harold Mandeville, Lethbridge, calf roping; Jim McKenzie, Fort St. John, B. C., amateur bronk riding; Kenny McLean, Okanagan Falls, B. C., saddle bronk; George Myron, Viking, Canadian all-around champion.

QUOTES EXPERTS

Bill Wynne Looks At Future of Fairs

CHICAGO — G. W. (Bill) Wynne, manager of the Mid-South Fair, Memphis, took a look at the future of fairs in an address before the International Association of Fairs and Expositions here Thursday (1).

Wynne explained that the forecast was based on the opinions of leaders in the industry, all of them well qualified to contribute to the subject.

High points of the address were: "What will our typical North American Fair be like in 1970? Our advisors say first of all that it will be more beautiful. More of us will follow the leads of our friends in Toronto and St. Paul and Dallas and will place greater emphasis on the natural beauty of flower beds, shrubbery and grass areas. . . . The carefully designed use of water in the form of fountains, cascades and lagoons will add to the natural beauty of the grounds and in the quieter areas will help create an atmosphere of restfulness. . . .

"During our nighttime visit to this fairgrounds of tomorrow revolutionary lighting effects will bring a dazzling new type of beauty to the natural landscape as well as to the exterior of the buildings. The glare of open light bulbs will be conspicuous by its absence. Pedestrian walkways and building entrances will be brilliantly illuminated by indirect units which will beam all the light downward from a source below eye level. The overall lighting of the fairgrounds will appear subdued from our standards of today, since brilliant floodlighting and backlighting will be used only on areas where special emphasis is desired. Parking areas will be made bright as day by a surprisingly few, very small but very powerful floodlight units.

Stress Comfort

"Everywhere we go on this fairgrounds it will be evident that its planners had constantly in mind the comfort and convenience of the public. Restrooms will be numerous, attractive on the outside, clean on the inside and, above all, well marked so they can be easily spotted from any direction. No less numerous will be drinking fountains, generally in a shaded area and designed to accommodate youngsters as well as adults.

"As we tour the exhibit buildings, we find a large part of the space occupied by large national manufacturers. Their displays are colorful, well-lighted, and substantially built to take the wear and tear of a two-month fair circuit for three or more successive years. All will be manned by attractive, well-trained young men and women. . . .

"Will fairs of the future still include such features as livestock shows? Apparently so, according to foresight on which we are depending today. To quote one fair manager, 'Basically, food and fiber are our most important products. . . . As we walk thru the barns of our fair of the future, we are immediately impressed with the cleanliness on every side. We notice no hint of animal odor and the aisles are as inviting as those in a supermarket. . . .

"Livestock judging will be staged in a well-lighted, attractively decorated arena. . . .

Entertainment

"What about the entertainment feature of this fair we will visit 10 years from now? Both fairmen and talent bookers agree that in the 1970's, just as today, fair management will depend heavily on entertainment as a major attraction to draw the masses of people into the fairgrounds. The policy of higher front gate admissions and free grandstand or coliseum shows will be popular, especially with the smaller fairs.

"Some of the veterans in the booking business feel rather strongly on one point—that there is little likelihood of any revolutionary improvements in the lighting, costumes and scenery of our fair shows in the United States and Canada until we follow the lead of our good friends in Canada in organizing circuits. They point out that union policies which cover performers and musicians are becoming more demanding every year and that booking offices cannot afford to invest in expensive productions on the present hit and miss system of fair booking.

More Buildings

"By 1970, some but not all of our larger North American fairs will have moved their big shows from the grandstand into an air-conditioned coliseum. Altho indoor performances often afford more comfort for the audiences and more conveniences for the performers, there will still be a good many fairmen that will feel strongly that the outdoor 'under the stars' atmosphere is one of the most attractive features of the fair show. In all probability, name attractions will still be used extensively by the larger fairs. . . . The outlook on our American tax program, however, would not indicate that big names will in the future be any more interested in percentage deals than they are today. . . .

"Let's look at the midway. Its completely paved and less crowded than our fun zones of today and in keeping with the standards thruout these grounds, the pavement is clean of litter.

"The big changes that will be noticed is the scarcity of shows and the predominance of rides. We are advised by two of the biggest carnival operators in the business that this trend is already under way."

Mexico, S. A. Get Kochman Stunt Shows

PATERSON, N. J.—A Mexican and South American tour is shaping up for the Jack Kochman auto thrill show forces, with good possibility of a unit also going to Europe in 1961. Kochman will again field three shows.

January 21 will be the first date in Mexico. Last year the show wound its way southward thru Latin America to Costa Rica, but did not get to South America. Six weeks are booked in Mexico, it is reported, then nine weeks in Colombia, Ecuador, Venezuela and Peru. Chrysler and Goodyear products are again being used.

On the road the coming season will be the Hurricane Thrill Drivers under management of Danny Fleenor, Bob Conto with Kochman's Hell Drivers, and Bill Reed with the International Auto Daredevils.

The 1960 season was Kochman's best, he said. With equipment deals being renewed their "will be 49 pieces of Dodge stock involved, including the new Darts and Lancers. Fair bookings are heavier now than at this point last year.

AMUSEMENT PARK OPERATION

Trampolines Can Be Safe, Healthful, Says AMA Journal

THE JOURNAL OF THE AMERICAN Medical Association last week urged universal adoption of a set of rules for operation of trampoline centers. The rules, already in use in many jump centers and included in numerous city ordinances governing centers, call for an instructor to be present at all times. They also call for maintenance of the equipment, specific distances between trampolines, minimum number of people on a trampoline at one time, proper lighting, enforced rest periods, compulsory wearing of certain clothing including shirts and socks, and prohibition of eating on the trampoline. The Journal also called for a rule that patrons must register and must give the name of whom to contact in event of injury plus word on their previous gymnastic experience. It also called for a training program to instruct patrons in trampoline use. The Journal said that trampoline accidents can cause serious injury. But it added that "if these suggested regulations were carried out... trampolines could become an excellent and safe means of enticing the normally indolent American into healthful exercise."

Space Age Park Suggested At Philadelphia Ball Park

RICHARD GRAVES, THE PHILADELPHIA man who pieced together the proposal for a new $8,000,000 Phillies ball park on a 175-acre tract of city-owned land in Torresdale, now wants to build a Space Age Park on the same tract. Graves, executive vice-president of the Philadelphia Industrial Development Corporation, said that he has requested the Air Force Association, a national group of active, reserve and retired Air Force officers, to serve as a co-sponsor of the park without making a financial contribution. The park, to occupy some 40 acres adjacent to the ball park and share the same 10,000-car parking lot, would be owned by the same nonprofit corporation that it is proposed will own the ball park. Graves has asked Matthew McCloskey, Philadelphia contractor who has agreed to finance the ball park along with Phillies owner Bob Carpenter, to be the principal backer and developer of the amusement park. He said that the city's contribution would be the same as that requested for the ball park—a 50-year lease on the land at a token rent, with the city to be excluded from any financial obligation involved in the financing and, at the same time, to become owner of the park after it is paid for.

James H. Straubel, executive director of the Air Force Association, said that the association is interested and he is convinced the proposed park could further its goals.

Knott's Berry Farm Gross Up 10%; Shares 500G Profit

KNOTT'S BERRY FARM grossed $13,000,000 in 1960 and divided $567,637.18 among its employees as part of its profit-sharing plans, Russell H. Knott, son of the founder and general manager, said at Buena Vista, Calif., Wednesday (23). The gross was up 10 per cent over 1959 and 17 per cent over 1958. The split in the company profits to the employees was the largest amount ever divided in any single year and was allocated to the company's two profit-sharing plans. The cash profit-sharing plan was distributed to all 1,185 employees and amounted to $263,559.28. The profit-sharing retirement plan was shared by 440 employees who have three years or more continuous service and amounted to $304,077.90. In the 13 years since its inception, the cash profit-sharing plan has distributed $1,599,260.36, and the retirement plan, $998,379.37 as it goes into the fifth year.

CAN RUN SHOWS

AREA Nonexistent; To Reincorporate

CHICAGO—Members of American Recreational Equipment Association learned at their annual convention meeting here Saturday (26) that it has been out of existence since 1952—nonexistent at least as a corporation.

John Allen, of Philadelphia Toboggan Company and president of AREA, told members that the State of New York had dissolved the corporation eight years ago when its search unit could not locate the organization. It had been incorporated as a nonprofit corporation in 1935.

As a result, the group of amusement riding device manufacturers voted Saturday at the Bismarck Hotel session to reincorporate, this time in Delaware.

Two significant provisions of the old charter were discussed and a provision that AREA may operate conventions, sell booth space and carry on trade shows was voted by members. This was in the old charter and the vote authorizes it in the new charter.

Members, however, decided to drop the old provision that would have permitted AREA to put on shows for the public, charging admission to rides. History of this clause was unknown to present members and they decided against keeping it in the formal charter.

The charter also calls for nine directors; six have been used recently.

Allen was re-elected president. Also re-elected were Lee Sullivan, vice-president, Eli Bridge Company; Ben Roodhouse, secretary, Eli Bridge; Fred L. Markey, treasurer, Dodgem Corporation, and Lyndon Wilson, Allen Herschell Company, and Art Sellner of Sellner Manufacturing Company, members of the executive committee.

Markey, long-time member and treasurer of the association, is ill and missed a meeting for the first time. Also ill is another veteran member, Conrad Turbenbach, of Perey Turnstiles, an ex-president.

AREA's noon business session also included movies of the Oktoberfest by Norman Bartlett.

Later the same day AREA was host to an elaborate cocktail party at the Bismarck. Guests were members of NAAPPB, SLA and others who are friends of customers of AREA members.

Park Board Okays Big Public Relations Plan

CHICAGO—A major public relations campaign is to be undertaken by the National Association of Amusement Parks, Pools and Beaches. The board of directors voted for the plan at their Saturday (26) session.

A campaign to raise the budgeted $50,000 was begun at once. Ed

Schott, chairman of the program of work committee, was in charge of the drive. At the closing session of the convention it was reported that members had pledged about $20,000 so far.

Communications Councilors, Inc., a subsidiary of the McCann-Erikson advertising agency, has been selected to undertake the job. Two other public relations agencies also were considered. Chester Berger, of CCI, appeared at a convention session when the decisions were announced.

Palmyra, N. Y., Fair to End On a Friday

PALMYRA, N. Y.—Palmyra Fair will run next season during the week of August 29-September 1, the directors have decided. The dates are a departure from traditional ones, giving this event a four-day run ending on a Friday.

Vernon L. Cator, president of the sponsoring association cited several advantages for the switch. He said the schedule will enable fair superintendents to display bigger and better agricultural exhibits as most fruits and vegetables will be at their best—and that cattlemen will be enabled to leave the grounds early Saturday morning in order to take their stock to the State Fair in Syracuse, or to other fairs.

Most livestock exhibitors, Cator said, prefer not to travel late Saturday night or on Sunday. Palmyra will run four full days and nights.

FAIR-EXHIBITION MANAGEMENT

N. S. Hand Points Up State Assn. Objectives

CHICAGO—N. S. Hand, manager of the Mississippi State Fair, Jackson, represented the Mississippi Association of Fairs at the meeting of the Federation of State and Provincial Association of Fairs here during the IAFE convention.

In an address before that group, Hand made the following remarks: "An association of fairs is usually thought of as an organization composed of like units with objectives for improvement of each individual unit of the organization. But in a State association of fairs, we think of an association of smaller units, usually county fairs, organized into the State association.

"For example, in Mississippi, our association of fairs and livestock shows is composed of district fairs, district livestock shows, county fairs and county livestock shows with objectives common for all.

"Article II of our constitution and by-laws reads as follows: 'The object and purpose of the association shall be to aid in the maintenance of and to encourage and advance the agricultural, livestock, industrial, and social interests of the State as represented thru its fairs and livestock shows; to acquire and disseminate information advantageous to these purposes, and to generally co-operate in the furtherance of the mutual interests of its members.' Of course you will understand that all States do not have the same common interests.

"In order that you may have a picture of the background of our fairs, and for our fairs, I remind you that Mississippi has been principally an agricultural State with a population—according to our last census—of 2,165,000. Some years ago our State launched into a 'Balance Agriculture With Industry' program, and we feel that much progress has been made. About 75 per cent of our manufacturing plants use farm products, and use 50 per cent of the total manufacturing labor force. (Farmers own their own fertilizer plants manufacturing a part of their fertilizer needs.) 68 per cent of our total land area is in farms, and slightly less than 50 per cent of the State's population live on farms. Our fairs were organized around agriculture, and, for the most part, the county fairs are still primarily agricultural. Our larger fairs are now emphasizing both agriculture and industry.

"There was a definite need for an association of fairs in our State, and was organized in 1927, under the leadership of J. M. Dean—its first secretary. Our fairs and livestock shows had been held independently, without regards to neighboring fairs and shows. There was no coordination, and no concerted effort toward the achieving of the main objectives of fairs. We feel that fairs are, or should be, primarily educational, and the association can help materially in making them all more educational and more attractive. Since our State association was organized, we now have 64 members banded together in one common cause.

"The objective of our association is to be mutually helpful to all members. The members benefit thru an exchange of ideas and programs at our association meetings, and thru visiting the fairs and shows in the different areas. Dates and schedules are coordinated to avoid all possible conflicts in time that fairs and shows are held, and assistance comes thru the association in securing reputable carnivals and other entertainment for its members. The field of opportunities for an association of fairs is wide open. We must strive to keep abreast of the times, and balance our fairs to meet the needs and interests of all our people. This will not be the same in every State, but wherever it is—our 'showcase' of agriculture, of industry, and of everything that pertains to fairs, can best be 'decorated' thru a strong and active association of fairs.

"I will close with a statement that during the past ten years, much progress has been made at the Mississippi State Fair by improvements on the grounds, and construction of new buildings. More than a million dollars has been spent on new buildings, and a coliseum is now under construction, at a cost of more than four million dollars. Our State association has been active and helped much in achieving this objective for the State of Mississippi.

"I'm sure that all associations need help—I know we do—and this Federation of State and Provincial Association of Fairs, and the International Associations of Fairs and Expositions can be of immeasurable assistance to its members in accomplishing their objectives, and in meeting the challenge of their opportunities."

Kiwanis Magazine Lauds Montgomery Operations

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—The South Alabama Fair here is the subject of a feature story, written by Bergen Norse in the November, 1960 issue of The Kiwanis Magazine.

The piece is entitled "The Fair South of Birmingham" and traces the start and progress of the Kiwanis-sponsored event.

It tells how in 1954 the Kiwanis Club of Montgomery needed a fund-raising project and decided to look into the fair business. Teams of members visited all the fairs they could reach and formed the South Alabama Fair Association. With information gathered by the members and $500 borrowed from the club, the association planned its fair to be held at the huge State Coliseum.

Rental for the building was $2,000 a day and expenses were high. But attendance was good and the first run was successful financially.

The article charts the growth of the event to the point where it now draws well over 100,000 people annually. It further states that the club's profits from seven fairs, earmarked primarily for youth work, has totaled about $100,000. Additional thousands have been earned by church, fraternal and civic groups that operate concessions stands.

Popularity of the fair was indicated in the story. Nearby Maxwell Air Force Base, is constantly host to scores of student officers from Europe and Asia. A graduating class was asked: "What has impressed you most about the United States?" Prominent among the responses was the South Alabama Fair.

Pro Bowling League Plans 12 Specialized Coliseums

TWELVE COMPLETELY new type coliseums in as many cities will be completed at a cost of $22,000,000 in time for the National Bowling League, believed the world's first professional bowling circuit, to start play next fall. This is now definite, says Dick Charles, commissioner, at his headquarters in Dallas. Professional bowling league play will be discussed at a meeting called by NBL President Leonard Homel, of Los Angeles, to be held December 5 and 6 in Chicago, said Commissioner Charles. "Four of these new coliseums are under construction now and all others will start by the end of this year," Charles states. "All new coliseums are to be erected in all 12 franchise cities for professional bowling designed for the spectators—the cash customers—rather than designed for the bowlers," the commissioner explains. Theater type seating is scheduled in all 12 coliseums, somewhat like dramatic theaters, he explains. Average will be 2,000 seats per bowling coliseum. Minneapolis, largest, will seat 3,500, and New York City, smallest, will seat 650, with construction started last week in the air space of Grand Central Station.

Los Angeles, Chicago, Minneapolis, Detroit, New York City, Miami, Birmingham, San Antonio, Dallas, Fort Worth, Kansas City and Omaha are the 12 cities with NBL franchise owners who will attend the meeting in Chicago. "We think bowling will be the first major professional sports organization where every franchise owner will have title to his own building and have full possession of all his concessions and other revenue-producing possibilities," Commissioner Charles points out. The necessity for building new coliseums because no existing bowling layouts accommodate enough spectators to make it pay profitably has forced the building program. Television and other side revenues are anticipated by franchise owners. Costs of the 12 new coliseums for completion by fall 1961 vary downward from the $3,000,000 being spent for the smallest in New York City. Plans in each case are being fitted to the localities. J. Curtis Sanford, realtor and Cotton Bowl Palace operator, plans $2,500,000 to build a 2,100-seater at Dallas. Charles Weisenburg, theaters and bowling operator at Fort Worth, plans a 3,000-seat coliseum which he hopes to complete for $1,500,000. League franchise holders plan promotional work somewhat along theatrical lines, and foresee a sale of at least half of all coliseum seats on a seasonal basis. In some cases, it is believed that very few seats will be available at the box offices on a day-to-day basis. Formation of a professional bowling league stems from a meeting held in Chicago in February.

South Bend Seeks to Hike Use of Morris Auditorium

PLANS ARE BEING FORMULATED for increased use of Morris Civic Auditorium. Now the property of the city, the building is managed by a board of commissioners, a body created by a city ordinance. The auditorium formerly was a first-run motion picture theater and was presented to the city as the gift of Mrs. E. M. Morris, who is a member of the board. "The members feel that the auditorium should be kept in constant use," Mrs. Morris said after a meeting of the board last week. "We hope that it will become self-supporting, financed thru income rather than thru tax money." Persuading clubs and civic organizations to undertake the sponsorship of entertainment events will be an immediate objective of the board.

Detroit Acclaims Pianist

The hall is busy with a variety of miscellaneous events. Next major entertainment booking is scheduled for January 5-8, when the Royal Ballet of England is booked. A heavy advance sale for this event is already reported, Van Lopik said.

Grande Prairie Fair Names Hewitt Full-Time Manager

GRANDE PRAIRIE, Alta.—Douglas Hewitt has been named full-time secretary-manager of the Grande Prairie Agricultural Society. Jack Deltonbe has been returned as president, with Fred Johnson and J. C. Mackie as vice-presidents.

A loss of $2,400 was reported on this year's fair, but the president reported progress toward the show's goal of attaining Class B status. Prize lists are now over the $3,000 mark. This has to be maintained for three consecutive years to make sure the fair is on a sound basis before it is entitled to financial help from the federal and provincial governments as a Class B fair.

Deltonbe reminded that the fair must keep pace with the town's

2d Best Detroit Run Reported For 'Ice Follies'

DETROIT—The Silver Anniversary edition of the Shipstads and Johnson "Ice Follies" drew the second largest gross business of the five years they have played Olympia, according to Nick Londes, director of promotions at the Detroit building. Totals were a little under the all-time record established in 1959, probably as a result of the election and general unsettled economic conditions. The ice show closed an 11-day run Sunday night (20), after playing 15 performances.

Olympia will have a return to ice March 2 when the John Harris "Ice Follies" comes in for a run. Other major show engagements set for the big stadium include the Harlem Globetrotters on December 3 and "Grand Ole Opry" on December 18. Meanwhile the hall is being booked almost nightly for a series of sports events, including hockey, basketball, wrestling and boxing.

Clyde Claims Stand Set in Mexico City

MEXICO CITY — Clyde Bros. Circus, together with additional Mexican talent, was scheduled to open a Mexico City stand Saturday (3). The show will appear at the El Torreon bull ring.

This was announced by Clyde owner Howard Suesz, who has supplied his show to Mexican entrepreneurs. The show entered Mexico some days ago and played four days at Torreon to "nice business". Then it moved to Monterrey for six days. As the Mexico City stand developed, the Monterrey stand was extended a couple of days.

Earlier, the Clyde show and the Tom Packs show had both scheduled stands in Mexico City and both were denied permits. The Clyde show substituted a proposed route elsewhere in Mexico and also is scheduled to play two other countries in Central America.

Suesz said he expected the show to spend three weeks in Mexico City, depending upon the level of business.

CLYDE TAKES GRAND FORKS, HIBBING, DULUTH

ST. PAUL — Clyde Bros. Circus has contracted to play three Shrine dates in this territory. They are Hibbing, Minn., April 21-23; Duluth, Minn., April 25-30, and Grand Forks, N. D., May 5-7. These stands earlier have been played by the Orrin Davenport Circus.

Tom Packs Builds Gross For New Orleans Shrine

NEW ORLEANS—Tom Packs Circus, playing here under Shrine auspices, got off to a slow start, apparently because of the tension in the city about integration of schools. But it picked up momentum and reached turnaway proportions at Municipal Auditorium November 26. Two more turnaways were scored on the next day, Sunday (27).

Show executive Jack Leontini said that the business was approaching last year's record level. Reserved and box-seat sales have increased, thus holding money totals to the 1959 high pace.

New Orleans columnist Howard Jacobs wrote a piece about Leontini's recollections of the late Mack Sennett, pioneer movie maker. Leontini said he worked for Sennett in films and as an errand boy. Sennett was linked to a song of the era, "Get Out and Get Under." By coincidence, the radio was playing the same tune recently when Leontini picked up the newspaper that carried news of Sennett's death.

WALT STEBBINS JOINS POLACK AS PUBLICIST

CHICAGO — Walter Stebbins has signed to go with Polack Bros. Circus as publicity man, it was learned here last week. He succeeds Herb Pickard in the position formerly held by the late Justus Edwards. Stebbins has been with the Cristiani Circus for the past three seasons. Earlier, he was with other shows and formerly was with Madison Square Garden, New York.

Winters Opens Carson-Barnes Advance Work

HUGO, Okla. — Carson & Barnes Circus has opened its promotions for early 1961 dates, and agent James Allen Winters, along with two contracting agents, has started booking engagements for the new season. This will mark the show's first season behind phone promotions.

Winters said there will be a new line of press material, heralds, lithographs and other material. Roland Buller is aiding, he said. The show will have a press agent and 24-hour man this season, he added.

Manager Jack Moore is building a new lighting system for the big top and it will utilize telescoping light towers.

Winters said the Carson & Barnes fan club is growing and the show expects it to be filled by the time the 1961 season opens. The fan club provides that for a fee friends of the show may buy a chair in the new grandstand. It is then inscribed with their name and it is theirs to use at any show they might be able to attend.

Mills Orders New Canvas

CHICAGO—Mills Bros. Circus has ordered an all-new spread of canvas for the coming season. It is the second season in a row that the show has bought a front-to-back spread. The new big top, like other recent Mills tops, will be a 120 with three middles and two rows of quarter poles.

U. S. Tent & Awning Company, Sarasota, Fla., will make the tents, which range from the big top to Side Show canvas and concession tops.

Cristiani Plays Ft. Myers Date

SANFORD, Fla. — Cristiani Bros. Circus played a successful weekend stand (26-27) at the Le-High Acres housing project at Fort Myers, Fla. There were three shows on Saturday and two on Sunday. Kid tickets had been distributed by the LeHigh firm thru a five-county area.

The circus used its tent, seats and other equipment from quarters in Sanford. Acts included the Swede Johnson wild animal act, LaTosca and others, plus the family.

Some Cristiani personnel and equipment also will be going to Honolulu for the E. K. Fernandez date. The family is to do its riding act and leaps, as well as other turns. Belmonte Cristiani is planning to drive a truck to the West Coast with the show's poles and big top. They will be shipped to Hawaii for the date.

H. McGinley, Fred Nolan, H. McKenna and Al Brown Shows. San Antonio Roller Works sold several of its rides off the floor, including a Helicopter to Jack Ruback's Alamo Exposition Shows, Ray C. Dixey Enterprises and Venditto Bros. Shows, and a Flying Saucers to Russ Kissel, of Midway Rides.

The big OARCO 808, shown as a model in the 1959 trade show, got its baptism last season under operating conditions at Shreveport's (La.) Idora Park and Indian Lake Park, Lima, O. Interest in the unit was encouraging, it was reported.

Chance Manufacturing Company, formerly Ottaway Amusements, drew attention with its new 1863 model train. Two of them are going to Wichita, one for Joyland and the other for Frontier City. Vance Kimble's Big Springs Park in Texas will receive a B-14 streamliner and handcar ride. Several other orders are pending.

Old-line companies reported satisfactory experiences. The long order list for Eli Bridge Scramblers was extended by five more names at the show. Production will be 30 units in 1961, compared with 26 each of the last two years.

Arrow Development showed a model of its Space Whirl, an adaptation of the Teacup ride it made for Disneyland. The Calypso-type unit will be seen first at Seaside Park in Santa Cruz, Calif.

Hot Rods, Inc., reported another busy convention, its imported tracked-Ford ride being sold to Wisconsin Dells, Seaside Heights, N. J.; Hunts Pier, Wildwood, N. J.; Palisades Amusement Park and the Conklin Shows. Conklin Shows will get 20 Hot Rod cars and a Cortina Bob, plus two Toboggan Slides, and Coney Island, Cincinnati, ordered a large German Carrousel. Miller Brothers, of Fairlyland Park, Lyons, Ill., ordered 30 Auto Scooter cars. The Vivona family's Amusements of America ordered a portable Calypso ride for its Eastern route of fairs.

(Note: Additional sales were being made as this issue of The Billboard went to press. These will be charted in the next issue of The Billboard.)

West Coast Buys 5 Rides At Chicago

CHICAGO — Five new rides were bought by West Coast Shows, San Francisco, at the NAAPPB trade show here. The two units will have 38 office-owned devices on the road next spring.

Bobby Cohn, show's general agent, said that the new rides are Dodgem, Helicopter, Super-Jet, Mad Mouse, and Pretzel.

Cohn said that the rides will be assigned to one or the other of the units as needed. They operate separately—one thru California and the other in the Pacific Northwest—except for two dates at the Kern County Fair, Bakersfield, and Santa Clara County Fair, San Jose, both in California.

Parkmen Have Busy Meet

A major success this year was the Monday night session at which a series of panels discussed specialized subjects. Attendance was several times that anticipated by most persons.

Larry Stone, Paragon Park, headed the maintenance session. He said the ideas advanced included that for having one's ride foreman inspect new rides before the park buys them so he will know in advance what the maintenance problems might be.

John Coleman said 18 people were in the food and drink concessions session. They reported from 25 to 60 per cent of a park's income was from concessions, with 40 per cent the average. Participants urged that quality never should be reduced.

Carl Hughes reported that about 50 people heard the publicity panel discuss press parties, publicity communications, agency versus free-lance agent and honesty in publicity.

Ferd Clemen said 63 kiddielanders heard descriptions of birthday parties, special events, how to expand a Kiddieland and operational systems for party promotions.

Bill Muar reported that the meeting on games operation discussed current tax problems that exist in one section of the country. Henry Bowen reported on the shop talk about labor relations and wages.

Tuesday Session

Outside speakers opened and closed the Tuesday session. First was Preston E. Peden, of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, who predicted cost of State and local government will double in 10 years and that no federal tax cut is forthcoming. He said that importance of cultivating precinct captains, committeemen and ward workers could not be underestimated. Issues, he said, make little difference in the organization efforts to amass votes.

William Fishman, of the Automatic Merchandising Company, said that trade associations are probably the most important service a company can hire, more important than its attorney or accountant. It is not a question of supporting a question of supporting yourself. Thomas J. Daly, Jewel Paint & Varnish Company, wrote a paper which was presented at the convention by an associate.

Past presidents of NAAPPB who took part in an open forum discussion of trampolines, go-kart tracks and theme parks, included Harry J. Batt, Henry G. Bowen, Ed Carroll, John Coleman, George Hamid, Paul Huedepohl, Bill Muar, Bill Schmidt and Ed Schott. Trade-paper editors also took part.

A publicity and promotion panel opened with Ed Ettinger, of Disneyland, stressing the importance of word-of-mouth advertising and pointing out that the public relations image can't be better than its subject. H. Glenn Holland, of Santa's Village parks, said merchandise must sell the park as well as vice versa. Sell for an actual profit but seek a post-sale promotional value, too, he urged. And he said that licensing of merchandise items is a rich territory not yet really tapped by theme parks.

Mrs. Dale King, of King's Park, Norfolk, Neb., described her promotional campaign to reverse the trend of an unsuccessful dance class program. She selected several dancers as demonstrators who subsequently gave shows, retained a first-class instructor and took other steps to build the program into a winner. After 18 months she now has 1,000 dance students, numerous TV appearance requests and other benefits to point to.

Harold E. Gorry told of the promotion of Bob-Lo Park, near Detroit. Five men work on the job the year around. A feature of the ticket sales is that sponsoring organizations retain all of the price of tickets that are sold but not used, plus part of the price of tickets that are used.

Dr. Herbert True, a former professor, wound up the Tuesday session on a high note with his presentation, "Ideas That Make Men Great." He combined comic novelty items and slide projections with his speech. True declared that "greatness begins with being different," that there is a major struggle now between freedom and security, and that one is old when he is "no longer on the search" for improvement. He quoted Satchel Paige's "if you didn't know how old you are, how old would you be?"

Annual Banquet

A full house attended the annual banquet and ball Tuesday evening. Entertainers included Bob Crosby, master of ceremonies; Professor Backwards, who filled in with a comedy routine when an airline failed to deliver his blackboard, Ann Marston, bow and arrow beauty, and Noreen Parker, vocalist. Wimpey, the clown, worked the come-in and Lou Breese orchestra played. MCA supplied the show, which included a Leanoire Sutton's line.

Wednesday Luncheon

Principal speaker at the Wednesday noon session was J. W. (Patty) Conklin, who showed a TV film of his CNE midway. Also shown was a film of Santa's Villages. Herb Shriner made a surprise appearance at the meeting and presented a recognition award to the outgoing president, Plarr. Ed Schott was given a citation from the U. S. Department of Commerce for his park's participation via film in the World Agricultural Fair at New Delhi, India, last summer. Conklin was given a plaque by the association as a leader in Canadian show business.

H. Glenn Holland was given a plaque for showing his movie. John Logan Campbell was presented with an award marking the silver anniversary of the NAAPPB's insurance plan.

Ferd Clemen made the presentation of a plaque to Maynard Reuter, of The Billboard and Funspot. Then Clemen was given a similar award by John S. Bowman for his operation of the Kiddieland sessions. In addition the annual exhibit and service awards, detailed elsewhere in this issue, were presented at this time.

Mass., Henry Bowen reports. When the summer ballroom season ended, operator Frank Parker studied the empty floor and brought in 18 trampolines for the off-season, pricing their use at 50 cents per half hour. . . . One of the sales transactions worked by agent Dick McFadden was one for a Niagara Sportcenter miniature golf course to Joe Schuler of Olympic Bowl, Rochester, N. Y. Notable is the fact that Schuler, who has built and run about 12 of his own courses over the years, never bought one until now. McFadden was selling his River Queen and Water Scamp as well as representing other manufacturers.

CHICAGO — J. C. Huskisson, veteran manager of the Florida State Fair, Tampa, received the nod last week in the running for the annual trophy presented to some fair or fairman by the American Livestock Journal.

Huskisson, who is also vice-president of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions, received the trophy from Sam Guard. The inscription reads: "He made the Florida State Fair the Fairman's Fair."

Continental Purchases Paratrooper

LOWELL, Mass. — Continental Shows plan a new Paratrooper ride among other added features for late April 1961 opening, reports General Manager Fred Fritz. Slow at the start, Continental's 1960 season wrapped up for the winter after the Center Sandwich (N. H.) Fair with its best season gross in many a year.

Several refurbished trucks and rides will be run out of winter quarters for use in Maine Christmas parties this month, well before official spring opening. Agent Payl La Cross reports Continental will open this April with a strong route of still dates and celebrations slated until the fair season gets under way.

Cold weather dampened 1960 business until late June, but fair skies opened the fair season and continued thru to carry a winning year. High grosses during the summer made up for slow early spring dates.

Mrs. Doris Fritz will remain as secretary-treasurer for 1961 on Continental's office staff.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

Pacific Coast Showmen's Association

LOS ANGELES — Plans for the December 11 Memorial Services and the banquet and ball on December 13 are moving along, Sam Dolman and Hunter Farmer, respective chairmen, told the club at the regular meeting here Monday (14).

In the business section, Dolman said that the Ladies' Auxiliary will co-operate in the Memorial Services. Ed Harris and LaMotte (Dod) Dodson are on the committee with Dolman. Farmer said that early reservations are urged for the banquet and ball to be held at the Ambassador Hotel. The membership voted upon the application of Riley Lincoln.

SLA MEMORIAL HONORS ALL DECEASED MEMBERS

CHICAGO — The Showmen's League of America took time out from the busy round of convention activities Tuesday (29) to remember its deceased members.

MIDWEST NOTES

Al Kunz Space Wheels To Join Royal American

CHICAGO — Major carnival news so far as Midwestern fairs were concerned was light at the Chicago meetings as most of the major events had already lined up their fun zone or were in the process of doing so.

Probably the biggest news was made by Al Kunz, owner-manager of Heth Shows, who also owns the double-double Space Wheels. He announced that he had signed to operate the wheels at three major fairs to be played by Royal American Shows after negotiations with Carl Sedlmayr, RAS owner. The wheels will play the Florida State Fair, Tampa, in February and also the Wisconsin State Fair, Milwaukee, and the Minnesota State Fair, St. Paul. The Milwaukee fair is new this year for Royal, the other two have been on the route for many years.

Kunz announced that following the St. Paul fair the wheels will join Heth Shows for some of the major fairs on that organization's route. Kunz also disclosed that two fairs had been added to the route for '61, the Gibson County Fair, Princeton, Ind., and the Keokuk, Ia., Jaycee Street Fair. Show purchased a new Frolic and Spinaroo from King Amusements.

Ernie Farrow, owner of Farrow Amusements, reported he'll again open his season at the Memphis Cotton Carnival on the Negro lot, then go back into winter quarters for a late regular opening. Route

Show Folks of America

SAN FRANCISCO — The Monday (14) homecoming party was attended by close to 130. Jim Redder, chairman, was assisted by Ernest Santanni and a steak dinner was served.

Also lending a hand were Dave Long, Mary Richards, Hazel Christensen, Jim Powell, Harry Baker and Jesse Gomez.

The regular meeting followed with Earl Leonard, president, in the chair. E. K. Fernandez of Honolulu was special guest of the evening. Also on the platform were Leona Stevens and Al Rodin, vice-presidents; Oscar Mattley, financial secretary; Lola Cox, corresponding secretary; Charlotte Porter, treasurer; Bonnie Townsend, recording secretary; Mike Krekos, Bill Byers, Charles Albright and Bonnie Owen.

Co. C, 2d B. G., 1st Infantry, Ft. Benning, Ga.

Tommy Wells, of the Alamo Exposition Shows, has moved into his new home at Richardson. Tommy Wells Jr. from the Heth Shows is also back home.

will be the same as 1960 with about 14 fairs, 10 of them in Wisconsin.

W. A. Schafer, owner of Schafer's 20th Century Shows, reported signing two fairs new to the route. They are at Tyler, Tex., and Marshalltown, Ia. He'll also be back at the Cedar Rapids, Ia., Fair plus other repeat dates.

John Gallagan, owner of Imperial Shows, reported he'll play no still dates this year. Will play a total of 15 fairs. Celebrations set are three in Illinois, Alton, Macomb and Morris.

Caravans Install Josephine Haywood As 1961 President

CHICAGO — Josephine Haywood, Barnesville, Ga., concessionaire, was installed as president of Caravans, Inc., Monday (28) in the Hotel Sherman.

Also taking office with her were Theresa Dundee, Frieda Rosen and Lillian Panno, first, second and third vice-presidents, respectively; Wanda Derpa, secretary, and Lillian Lawrence, treasurer.

Caravans held open house in the hotel's Byfield Room with Mrs. Dundee and committee in charge of refreshments. Lillian Panno supervised the bazaar; Agnes Barnes the giveaways and Helen Hoffmeyer had her greeting card selection on hand. Irene Coffey handled the two afghans donated by Pearl McGlynn and Margaret Davis, and two sweaters donated by Joan Sullivan.

Veronica Potenza served as installing officer, and Margaret Levine as femsee. Jimmy Lara provided the entertainment.

OPERATING AGAIN

Advertising Pay? Rake Has Answer

MANNY RAKE

PHILADELPHIA—Manny Rake is a man who believes in advertising. Back in the operating business once more after many years as a distributor, Manny has "a good many" locations in four States.

And just so everyone knows who operates the machines, Rake has his trade name on them. He puts it on by silk screen. Since the name of his firm is Circle Vending Company, he puts it on in the shape of a circle.

"It really dresses up the machines," he said. After being a partner with his brother Nat in the Rake Coin Machine Exchange for many years, how does Manny feel about operating again? "I like it a lot," he said.

On Road

The Circle firm has four men on the road in four Volkswagens. Manny has them fixed so the machines can be fitted right on the inside of the vehicle.

"We're still growing," he reported. "I've got about nine store chains as locations."

One fill that Manny is featuring is imported candy. "We are bringing in five different kinds from Holland," he said. "They are shaped like carrots, peas and other vegetables and have jelly inside. They are moving pretty good."

Some Old

Rake is utilizing some old equipment. He has about 400 U-Chew vendors on location and says they look like new. "We fixed them up pretty good," he said. "They only vend the five-eighth size ball gum."

Manny is working on service station locations at present. He reports collections from these places are pretty good. The theory is that someone stopping in for gas while on a long drive will want something to chew until they get to a restaurant.

Manny's son-in-law is working with him in his new endeavor. He is Harris Weinberg, who was in the coin machine business before joining up with his father-in-law.

Back Again

So, Manny Rake is back operating once more. He started a good many years ago while still in high school. He said the business is different, now, tho. "It's all big business nowadays." But he did find one thing is still the same. "The penny," Manny Rake said, "is still king."

Eppy Unveils Mustaches & Gold Birds

NEW YORK—Two new charm items—a series of trophy birds and a plastic costume mustache—were bowed by Samuel Eppy and Company last week.

The trophy birds are of gold plate and mounted on a black plastic pedestal. Eight different kinds of birds, or varieties to satisfy the most discriminating ornithologist, are featured in the series. Prices are $10 to $13, depending on quantity ordered.

The tiny black mustaches are designed to be worn by the tots and are hollow to permit all sorts of interesting manipulations. Price is $6.50 to $8.75.

Both charm items also have accompanying colorful stickers which can be affixed to the globes.

BBB Warns South Against Blue Sky

MOBILE, Ala.—Managers of Better Business Bureaus in several Southern cities are warning persons that they should make a thorough investigation before entering the vending machine business.

J. W. Barr, of the New Orleans Better Business Bureau, said that altho the vending machine business is itself entirely legitimate, "the unscrupulous minority in this field conceal two basic facts about their operations."

Barr said: "The first fact is that their true purpose is to sell equipment and merchandise to the persons who answer their advertisements. The second fact is, that the cards are stacked heavily against the success of the inexperienced person who purchases vending equipment and merchandise for the OFFICERS AND MEMBERS of the board of governors of the newly formed Maryland State Council of Automatic Merchandising, an affiliate of the National Automatic Merchandising Association, are: (standing) Herbert M. Beitel, NAMA legislative counsel, Chicago; Joseph Harmon, Baltimore; Gordon Eldridge, Baltimore; Lawrence McNeil, Baltimore; Teddy Collier, Aberdeen; Ralph Globus, Baltimore; and Thomas B. Hungerford, NAMA executive director. (Seated) Robert Taylor, president, Baltimore; Gordon Otter, treasurer, Baltimore; Herbert Bent, recording secretary, Baltimore; and Robert Piker, vice-president, Cottage City.

Maryland Ops Form State Council; Part of NAMA 'Affiliate' Plan

CHICAGO—Maryland recently became the third State to form a State council as part of the National Automatic Merchandising Association's new plan to set up local groups directly affiliated with the national association.

Previous groups were set up by vending companies in New Jersey and Louisiana last month. The councils will all carry charters from NAMA and are designed to promote local activity in the fields of "public health, legislation and public relations."

Thomas B. Donahue, NAMA president, indicated the councils are not intended to compete with existing State associations, but that such associations could apply for an NAMA council charter if they wish. He emphasized that NAMA would continue to work in "close cooperation with the State associations whether they applied for charters or not."

Membership

Membership in the State councils is not limited to members of NAMA altho the officials of the group will be required to be members in good standing of the national association.

All members of a council will vote in the election of its board of governors, and officers will be elected by that board. All dues or funds collected by a council will be expended only for activities of the State organization upon authorization of its board of governors but NAMA will in no way be responsible for financial obligations or debts of the State councils, Thomas B. Hungerford, NAMA executive director, stated.

The State charters also provide that a council's activities and its practices may not be in conflict with the policies established by the NAMA board of directors.

Communication

"The NAMA State council plan will establish for the first time full two-way communication between the State organizations and the industry's national association," Hungerford said.

He added that Thomas E. McCarthy of the NAMA staff would serve as secretary of each council, unless otherwise provided in individual charters. "In this way we will be in continuous direct contact with each group, directing its activities in emergencies and helping to co-ordinate and stimulate its programs in normal times," Hungerford explained.

Legislative, public health, public relations and other services will continue to be carried out at the local level thru the regular NAMA department staffs.

The council plan is designed to permit more effective organization at less cost. Thru an NAMA staff secretary on a full-time basis the overhead of State councils will be kept at a minimum. Mailings to members of the council will be handled by NAMA, with only stationery and mailing costs paid from each council's funds. NAMA will also maintain mailing lists, addressograph plates and other normal office services for each council.

Operator members of State councils who do not join NAMA will, however, not be entitled to regular member services of the national group.

The Maryland group was chartered October 18 at a meeting in Baltimore. More than 30 operating companies were represented.

Merchandise

"Membership in the council exclusively will be comprised of companies who own and operate merchandise and food vending machines," said Robert Taylor, president and chairman of the council's board of governors.

Other officers elected include Robert Piker, Cottage City, vice-president; Herbert Bent, Baltimore, recording secretary, and Gordon Otter, Baltimore, treasurer.

Elected to the council's board of governors (which includes the officers) are Ralph Globus, Baltimore; Joseph Harmon, Baltimore; Lawrence McNeil, Baltimore; Gordon Eldridge, Baltimore, and Teddy Collier, Aberdeen.

15 Coin Companies Exhibit at Park Show

By NICK BIRO

CHICAGO—Several brand-new games and Arcade pieces highlighted what turned out to be a surprisingly strong exhibit of coin machine equipment at the National Association of Parks, Pools and Beaches convention at the Sherman Hotel here last week.

No less than 15 firms exhibited coin machine lines. And attendance, while consisting mainly of park, Arcade and carnival people, did include several large coin machine distributors, manufacturers' representatives and even a handful of operators.

New Items

New equipment included a ray gun by Chicago Dynamics; a mechanical gun by J. F. Frantz; a new pool table by Irving Kaye; a cruiser-pilot drive-it piece by Capital Projectors; three new Arcade pieces by Mike Munves; a voice-recorder by Williams; a miniature bingo-type game by Redd; and a card vender by Exhibit Supply.

Chicago Dynamics

The new Chicago Dynamics ray gun operates on an electric eye principle with no amplifiers or tubes. It is set at 10-cent play and the gun's firing speed can be adjusted to fast, medium or slow speeds. Moving targets include four animals on a star wheel plus a bull's-eye. The gun also has a recoil action that adds a touch of realism.

Servicing has been simplified with a pull-out drawer housing the entire target mechanism. The unit itself is relatively light and the gun target can either be set on a stand, as it was at the show, or mounted on a wall.

Chicago Dynamics also showed its Duchess and Duke long-bowlers, including a new coupon-dispensing device on the Duke. The device can be set up so that a player automatically collects coupons for high score. The firm also had its Commando gun, Pony Express gun, and a prototype of a coin-operated cashier or ticket dispenser.

Frantz Gun

J. F. Frantz's new mechanical gun game is called "New Frontier." It operates at a nickel, has no electrical connections whatsoever, and is unusual in that it offers moving targets (that move when they're hit), scoring changes, and rating changes (rating the shooter a sharp-shooter, vigilante, etc., depending upon the score).

Servicing of the game is starkly simple. The entire gun housing can be slipped out from the front of the machine and the entire target mechanism is easily removable from the rear. These are the only moving parts.

The unit has a wooden frame, steel front, and plastic top or head. It sells for $225. Frantz also showed its Rifle Sport shooting gallery.

The Mike Munves exhibit included several new items including a Bimbo Box, animated music box from West Germany; Reacto, a drop-nickel reaction-testing game; and Twirlybird, a kiddie ride.

The Bimbo Box is modeled after a traditional American juke box and houses an eight-man, or more accurately, eight-monkey band that hops around and plays instruments while music is played from a tape. The tape plays about eight different tunes without repeating—all carnival-flavored. The unit is about five feet high, two feet wide and two feet deep, and sells for $495.

LOCATION OWNERSHIP THEORY ATTACKED

2 WURLITZER CO. EXECUTIVES ARE LOST OVER LAKE

CHICAGO—Two top Wurlitzer Company executives are feared to have perished in Lake Michigan. They are James E. Roling, executive vice-president, and Robert Bruner, controller. The pair, along with Ray Greenwell, a pilot, took off in a company-owned airplane from Meigs Field here Tuesday (30) en route to the company's De Kalb, Ill., plant. At press time no trace of the trio or the plane had been found. Shortly after take-off, Greenwell had radioed Meigs that he was returning because of rough weather. That was the last radio contact with the plane. Federal Aviation Agency officials said the plane, a twin-engine Piper Aztec, made a pass at the field, but did not touch the ground. That was the last seen of the plane. The craft then flew over the lake in an apparent move to gain altitude for another landing attempt. Roling and Bruner, both headquartered in De Kalb, had been in Chicago for a company meeting.

CHICAGO DYNAMIC'S new ray gun operates on an electric eye principle, featuring a four-animal moving target plus a bull's-eye. The unit was first unveiled at the National Association of Amusement Parks, Pools and Beaches show held in Chicago's Sherman Hotel last week. (See separate story.)

Stout Hits Location Phono Ownership

PIERRE, S. D.—Gordon Stout, prominent local operator and long-time board member of the Music Operators of America, took sharp issue with a recent Billboard story (November 21) in which the views of a prominent, but unnamed industry spokesman were voiced. Crux of these views was that the operator's function should be primarily that of service, while the location should own its equipment. The body of Stout's comments follows:

"I'm shocked at the story and sorry you saw fit to publish it. We operators are already being subjected to out-of-State, fly-by-night, self-styled distributors invading our locations and trying to sell them reconditioned machines at fabulous prices, often getting the job done.

"To these, this story in The Billboard is a much better plug than their own newspaper advertising that but a few of our local newspapers will even accept.

"I agree that the story quite factually describes the plight of the operator and the manufacturer. However, I do not agree with his solution. His theory was tried and found wanting in the early days of the industry; that want still exists today. That want and absolute need is prompt and dependable service, with knowledge of the practical arts and skills of the business—the operating business if you please.

Seek to Tighten Johnson Act Mrs. McCarthy Blasts Operator Status Shifts

By DELORES POE

WASHINGTON — When the members of the 87th Congress arrive in the National Capitol next month, one of the first matters before them will be a Justice Department proposal to tighten the Johnson anti-slot machine act and to ban the shipment of gaming pinballs in interstate or foreign commerce.

A spokesman for Justice Department told The Billboard Thursday (1) that the proposed legislation has already been drafted and sent to the Vice-President's office.

Under the procedure followed by Congress, the measure will be reported by the presiding officers of the two houses when the lawmakers convene next month. Later, it will be introduced in bill form, most likely by Sen. Warren Magnuson (D., Wash.) and Rep. Oren Harris (D., Ark.), chairmen of the Commerce Committees of the two houses.

Other Bills

However, other members of Congress may introduce similar legislation. Once the proposals have been introduced in bill form, they are referred to the Commerce Committees for study and comment.

It is impossible to determine how far-reaching the proposal might be until it has been formally introduced to Congress. The Justice Department would say only that it will tighten the registration requirements of the Johnson act, make it a criminal offense to ship gaming devices in foreign as well as domestic commerce, and make the shipment of gaming pinballs illegal. Other areas are also "under study," the spokesman said.

Apparently, the Justice Department will really push for approval of the foreign commerce angle. Last month, some of the Department's agents seized about 400 slot machines headed for London on grounds that the shipper did not register them for overseas delivery.

Final Action

Final decision on whether or not the proposal becomes law is, of course, in the hands of Congress. Legislation of this type has been proposed in each of last two Congresses, but failed to see action. Under law, if a bill is not passed by both houses at the end of a two-year session, it dies and has to be reintroduced during the next session.

During the 86th Congress, similar bills were introduced by Senators Magnuson, Frank Church (D., Idaho), and by Representative Harris. They differed somewhat in phrasing, but all would ban the shipment of gaming pinballs in interstate or foreign commerce. The Church bill carried a provision exempting amusement-type pinballs from federal fire. Magnuson's bill was introduced at the request of the Justice Department, and aimed at tightening up the record-keeping requirements and registration of dealers and machines as required under the Johnson act. The Harris bill was basically the same as Magnuson's, but would have allowed "States," or "sections of States" that

Mrs. McCarthy Blasts Operator Status Shifts

NEW YORK — "I don't agree with Mrs. X's formula for the coin trade," Mrs. Amelia Miller McCarthy said here this week. Mrs. McCarthy, recently elected president of the New York State Coin Machine Association, was referring to an article in last week's Billboard, detailing a possible future structure of the coin industry.

Crux of the article was the suggestion that the operator's prime function become one of servicing and programming on a specific weekly fee basis per location, with equipment ownership solely in the hands of location owners. "It would still require a close association of operators who could set and enforce rates and standards as in other businesses," Mrs. McCarthy asserted. "The basic reason for our plight is the failure to achieve this goal.

"Ways to abuse this formula would soon be found," she continued. "To gain that service contract, you may have to pay for an installation and then wait for your money out of collections. In country areas where income would be low and service would be high because of mileage, we would soon be replaced by every handyman and 'Mr. Fix-It'.

Bowery Level

"You speak of a city firm that services games for operators at $1 per week, where he gets all that location's business on one deal. Picture soliciting and competing for each location singly? That would bring the operator down to the 'bowery' level."

Legislation-wise, according to Mrs. McCarthy, things would be worse than ever. "What business do you know of that is more bogged down with red tape and restrictions than the bar business," she asked.

"This industry has failed to come up with the proper leadership. The GOTTIEB MEMORIAL HOSPITAL construction is moving into the final phase, as the exterior of the building has been completed. The project should be finished by April 1. The nonsectarian community hospital, in a West Chicago suburb, was initiated four years ago by David Gottlieb, prominent game manufacturer, whose family foundation contributed more than $750,000 for the 120-bed institution. First scheduled event in the new building was Wednesday (20) when 200 businessmen and staff physicians heard progress reports.

Canadian High Court Defines Coin Bowlers as Legal Games

OTTAWA — The acquittal of John Topechka, of Edmonton, on a charge of operating a common gaming house was upheld today by the Supreme Court of Canada. The main question in the case was whether a miniature bowling machine operated by Topechka was a slot machine as defined in the Criminal Code, and therefore illegal. Topechka was charged after police found he had placed a "Ten Strike" bowling machine in his billiard hall. The machine duplicates the game of ten-pins and is operated by a player inserting 10 cents in a slot. He was acquitted by the Alberta courts. The attorney general appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada, arguing that Topechka was guilty of keeping a common gaming house because the machine was not used for vending merchandise or services. Skill Necessary Mr. Topechka contended that the machine cannot be classified as an illegal slot machine because skill is necessary in its operation. The appeal was dismissed three to two by the Supreme Court. Calling for dismissal were Mr. Justice Robert Taschereau, Mr. Justice Ronald Martland and Mr. Justice R. A. Ritchie. Dissenting were Mr. Justice Wilfred Judson and Mrs. Justice G. Fauteux. Mr. Justice Taschereau said the miniature bowling machine "procures an innocent amusement to the operator, and this is not within the ban of the act." He added: "What the law forbids is a machine that by electronic devices or other means defeats the ability of the player to obtain favorable results. To be within the law, the player must control the game, and not be at the mercy of a machine where skill is not the only element, as it is in the present case."

REPORT FROM BRITAIN

Shift Bal-AMI Outlets

LONDON—A reshuffle of Bal-Ami distributorships is now taking place. Part of the reason for it is the fact that at least one main distributor has decided to go all-American, and handle only American juke boxes and fruits. He is Bert Perrett, who held Bal-Ami distributorships in South Wales, Monmouthshire and the West Country. His territory has been taken over by the fast-growing firm, Sales Agencies Ltd., Cardiff, the managing director of which is Maurice Collings. In view of the possibilities in Bal-Ami's all British Silver Queen fruit machine and New Yorker range of juke boxes, the firm has also decided to appoint two more main London distributors. The first of these is World Wide Amusements Ltd., (managing director Warner Fox) with extensive premises in the heart of Mayfair. The second is expected to be announced next week.

Service Depot Opened

CHERTSEY—The Ridgeway Engineering Co., a rapidly expanding manufacturing and distributing company which has its main factory at 32, London Road, Chertsey, Surrey, has opened an extensive service depot for juke boxes, fruits and amusement machines at West End Yard, Park Road South, Havant, in the heart of the South Coast amusement area. Manager at Havant is Jimmy Scragg, who has 32 years experience in the coin business.

Las Vegas Opens Parts Co.

LONDON—Gabe Forman, who heads Las Vegas Coin, in London's Soho, the firm which has sole U. K. importing rights for Mills Bell-O-Matic slots, has established a new subsidiary company under the title of Las Vegas Parts and Service Ltd., at 21, Poland Street, London. He has also had the benefit of an instructional visit from the well-known Mills factory mechanic from Reno, Edward Remp. Business at Las Vegas is excellent.

Conversion Firm Founded

BIRMINGHAM—Bonner and Machin are well-known names in the coin machine business in the Midlands of England where they are main agents for Rock-Ola, Rotamint, and Mills Bell-O-Matics. They have just been joined on the board of a new company, B & M. Conversions Ltd., by George Davies (ex Chantal factory engineer) and Frank S. Wallis. The new firm will provide conversions and service to other firms in the Midlands.

Birmingham Firm Expands

BIRMINGHAM—Autoput Ltd., is also expanding. It is due to open large, new workshops and showrooms at 9, Colleshill Street, Birmingham 4. The company will make a special feature of American bowling alleys, ranging from 16-foot coin-operated ones to full 60-foot alleys. The firm also handles fruits, games, and a full range of vending equipment, including the Eurovend milk vender.

French Monkey Business

PARIS—The French juke box manufacturer Marchant is finding a growing market for a juke box accessory featuring an animated monkey band. The auxiliary stand containing the monkey band is simply plugged into any juke box, and the simian entertainers then perform in synchronization with the juke box. It is relatively easy to fit any box with the necessary adapter. The accessory is designed primarily for juke boxes at locations with "multi-level" clientele—tots, children and adults. Department stores and snack bars are two prime examples. Research shows that the gadget can boost patronage at a prime child-adult location by as much as 50 per cent. The average is around 20 per cent. Some parents park their children at the simian-animated juke boxes with a fistful of coins while they do their shopping.

Germans Test Phono Rentals

FRANKFURT—German juke box operators are experimenting with the hiring out juke boxes to private parties this holiday season. The German boom has the Germans giving more and more lavish private parties than ever before. It is not uncommon for a tycoon to take over an entire castle (some tycoons even own their own castles) and to throw parties for hundreds of guests. At such a super-shindig it is possible to place half a dozen juke boxes. The party-thrower pays a flat fee for the box, depending on the length of rental, and the guests then play it for free. Certain canny hosts, however, throw "Dutch" parties at which the guests provide their own coins to play the box. Most boxes are rented on a single-shot basis. Some hosts rent boxes for the entire season, however. Party box rentals are controversial with the trade. Most operators approve on the grounds that private parties are non-competitive with the location trade and encourage juke-box dancing.

Hit Amateur Tape Clubs

HAMBURG—GEMA, the German counterpart of ASCAP, is conducting a campaign to stamp out amateur tape recording of pop music, which is rapidly becoming West Germany's hottest hobby. It is estimated that there are 250 tape recording clubs, large and small, in West Germany. The tape recorder boom has dropped the price of a high-quality recorder to as low as $75. Clubs buy a recorder and then meet regularly to exchange the latest pop platters via tape recording. Members

NEW ENGLAND NOTES

More and more, men of the music business are taking to sports cars. Latest to move into one is Dave Shuman, sales manager of Atlas Distributors, Boston (AMI). Dave brought back a German Porsche which he is enjoying hugely. He spent 10 months in Europe and figures he travelled more than a quarter of a million miles talking with music and game men there. He believes that Europe is the vital market and plans to go back soon.

Anthony Grazio, president of Atlas, is back in a happy mood after a buying trip thru the West in which he hit most of the States west of the Mississippi. . . . Cyrus Jacobs of Interstate Music Company of Roxbury trying to relax a bit after a long seige of business with his searchlight diversification all thru the political campaigns. But he won't have too long since, among other activities like being a Boy Scout leader, he's president of the Music Operators Association of Massachusetts. The annual banquet comes up February 21 at the Commonwealth Country Club and Cy has his hands full with that little binge.

The music industry was saddened by the recent death of Stephen Pielock, a veteran operator who ran music routes around Worcester for a number of years. He lived at 24 Mendon Street and was the first member of the MOAM to die. . . . Harold Harwich of Brookline is all set for the winter evenings after attending the Redd Distributor Company's showing of the new Seeburg phonographs. Among the 16 door prizes he copped the top one—a new six-pocket Fischer pool table.

Phil Swartz of Winrox Vending Company of Brookline and David J. Baker of Melo-Tone Vending Company, Arlington, are resting and playing at Acapulco, Mexico. The boys are either building up their strength for a hard winter or are relaxing after a tough fall and summer. . . . Richard Mandell, vice-president of International Vending Corporation, Boston, is back from an extended trip that took him over a large part of Canada including Montreal. Dick reports the new Rock-Ola is receiving excellent acceptance.

Midwest

OUT MINNESOTA WAY

Lieberman Music Company, Minneapolis, had open house November 14 to introduce the new Seeburg AY model. Lunch was served to a large turnout of operators from thruout the Upper Midwest. Seeburg officials in for the event were Mahlon Kenny, vice-president in charge of engineering, and Freeman Woodhall, sales engineer. A Lieberman spokesman reports an enthusiastic reception of the new model by the operators.

Condolences to David Thraen, serviceman at Advance Music Company, Minneapolis, whose father, a former operator at Marshall and Tracy, Minn., died. . . . Other news from Advance: Buck McBeth, serviceman, passed cigars to announce the arrival of a daughter. . . . Another serviceman, Floyd Rogers, bagged deer in both Montana and Minnesota. . . . Henry Krueger of Krueger Novelty Company, Fairfax, Minn., was goose and pheasant hunting in Minnesota and Saskatchewan.

Amos Heilicher, partner in Advance, returned from a business trip to Israel. Heilicher has an interest in a new hotel going up at Tel Aviv to be run by the Sberaton Corporation. His daughter Elisa Joy recently became engaged to Stuart Kloner of St. Paul, Miss (Continued on page 66)

TAKING A PROUD LOOK at Redd Distributing Company's new headquarters in Brighton, Mass., are Hugh Sears, parts manager, and Louis Theodos, assistant. Redd recently became New England distributor for Seeburg and moved into a spacious building some three times the size of its previous home. A new and enlarged parts department was opened along with Dick's Records, Inc., a one-stop housed under the same roof.

ADVERSE PUBLICITY HURTS

British Juke Box Sales Decline, as Fruit Buying Ties Up Ready Cash

By BINGO BEAUFORT

LONDON—There has been a marked decline in the sale of juke boxes in the United Kingdom in November. This is partly seasonal, but is rather worse this year than in the '50's generally, and it is thought that the decline will worsen over the next few months—probably until the stimulus of the Amusement Trades Exhibition in February.

Reasons for the somewhat bleak fall season in phonographs are not difficult to find. In recent months a succession of juke box kings—mainly self-styled—have been getting extensive and notorious newspaper publicity. There have been liquidations, bankruptcies, fraud squad investigations and the like. And, altho these delinquents have represented only a very tiny percentage of the trade, the effect of the adverse publicity has resulted in a general close-down on credit and hire purchase facilities.

Finance generally has become almost impossible for all but the largest and longest-established firms. The result is that most of the business being done is for cash, and cash customers are not numerous.

Fruit Machines

Added to the cash restrictions is the fact that a great deal of the money available in the trade is being used to purchase fruit machines. From January 1 a vast legal market for fruits will be opened up to distributors and operators, and stockpiling is going on on a large scale.

This is mainly cash business, and is tying up a high proportion of the money available. At the moment virtually no hire purchase or credit can be had on fruits, but it is anticipated that things will improve in this respect from January.

Altho a considerable proportion of the fruits currently on the market are used and converted models (some of them several decades old), the signs are that the future demand will be mainly for new machines. It is expected that from January the four main contending firms will each be producing something around 50 machines a week for the U.K. market. This is unlikely to satisfy demand and will probably be stepped up still further as 1961 progresses.

New models with coin rejectors, interior lights and front opening doors (all already featured in the British Silver Queen) are expected to be shown at the Amusement Trades Exhibition.

Retail prices for the fruits range from $910 for the Silver Queen to $1,190 for Mills and Jennings.

Fruit machines will only be legal in clubs (two per club) from January, with a maximum stake of sixpence, and "no private gain." It has been estimated that, of all categories, there are over 80,000 suitable clubs, so a steady, and indeed hungry, market for new machines is being forecast for some years to come.

Among silly abuses of the law in recent months have been installations of fruit and other "fast machines in cafes and other non-membership premises."

In many parts of the country the police have been taking action against such sites. Fruits, bingos, uprights and German wall payouts have been seized, with subsequent prosecution, fines and destruction of equipment. This has led to the belief that there will be a sudden swing back to conventional equipment for such sites, with a dramatic upsurge again in sales of juke boxes, flipper pin tables, shuffles and bowlers. The shrewdest men in the business are predicting that this important revival will begin in the early spring.

Detroit Tightens Up on Phono Tax Collections

DETROIT—Legislation to assure collection of an estimated $47,000 annual delinquency in personal property taxes on juke boxes was passed this week by the Detroit Common Council. The move is not a fresh imposition of taxes, Assistant Corporation Counsel Lawrence Eaton said, but rather a means for collecting the normal tax which has been simply ignored by a substantial number of operators.

According to City Treasurer Charles N. Williams, Detroit has 129 listed accounts with juke box operators, but 45 of them are unpaid. The dollar figures are even more startling—only $24,000 paid up out of the $71,000 assessed annually. The pertinent ordinance, incidentally, covers "picture devices" such as Mutoscopes or Panorams, but these are rare here, so that the figures for all practical purposes mean juke boxes.

Under the new amendment, operators (termed "distributors" in local legislation) will have to pay up their personal property taxes on machines and secure a clearance statement from the city treasurer before the annual juke box license for each machine will be renewed by the Police Department. The fee remains unchanged at $7.50 as it has been for a number of years.

Eaton noted that the legal procedure would be for the treasurer to refer the 45 delinquent accounts to the Corporation Counsel to start lawsuits—but the question of locating the machines involved constituted a formidable problem. It is being met accordingly by the new requirement.

New regulations will also require all machines to be adequately identified—by a card, with a size maximum of three and one-half by four and one-half inches giving the operator's name, address and current license number. Instructions have been given to the Police Department, Eaton disclosed, to impound any machine found without this proper identification and a current license number, noting that "We have had a lot of trouble with them (operators) not identifying themselves."

The present amendment is the culmination of a problem that has been present for many years, and is intended to be regulatory in effect only. The city's objective, faced with serious budget problems, is not to impose any new tax, but to collect all taxes due under existing ordinances, with special emphasis upon personal property taxes.

ANTIQUES RACK UP HEFTY GROSS FOR DENVER ARCADE

DENVER—While brand new developments in coin machines of course have a certain appeal, they can't hold a candle to genuine antiques to bring steady traffic, according to William Reynolds, owner of The Penny Arcade in downtown Denver.

Operating continuously for more than 70 years in this backwash downtown Denver area, The Penny Arcade has literally created its own antiques, inasmuch as some of the machines were bought brand new and have been in continuous service ever since. Along with a complete line up of brand-new amusement machines including pinball games, competitive-sport types, targets, movie machines, athletic types, etc., The Penny Arcade shows some new antique machines, all of which have been featured in Denver newspapers at one time or another.

Antique Line-Up

For example, just inside the lobby the line-up of antiques includes a 1911 Mutoscope fortune teller complete with gypsy figure, a 1900 quartoscope, an 1897 model of the same machine, a 1930 "cupid's wheel", a row of four Kaleidoscope movie machines, coin-operated player piano, antique International voltage tester, and half dozen Mutoscope early card-type movie machines. Back in the rear, movies are featured in a 1925 Capitol projector corporation "still machine."

The Denver arcade, incidentally, with no less than 25 movie machines on display, has become a favorite rendezvous spot for stockmen, cowboys, rodeo performers, etc., who fill up the Denver area by the thousands during the summer months. All together, there are more than 200 machines involved.

While around half of the machines on display are property of the veteran Denver arcade operator, the remaining 50 per cent come from an unusual source. These belong to a dozen route operators, phonograph distributors, etc., who have discovered the antique machines out in country locations and, with the limited space of their own shops, cheerfully turn the machines over to rental, for display. While most of them operate, few are kept connected with electrical power, simply because "their earning power is in their curiosity appeal, rather than actual amusement," as Reynolds put it.

One of the prizes which has always exercised a profitable play, however, is See-A-Freak, a six-foot tall peep show type machine which offers, "The world's greatest freaks of nature for 1 cent."

Reynolds recently doubled his space when he moved four doors away from the original location, taking over an antique venerable building which has one of the Colorado capital's first ceramic tile floors. Space is provided for a battery of 12 pinball machines in a row, some 15 general amusement machines, and the "movie section" at the rear.

MR. AND MRS. LEO REISNER, Excel Music Company, Cleveland, pause before the new Seeburg personalized phonograph on their tour around the phonograph display set up for the showing by Shaffer Music Company.

DEEP IN DISCUSSION over the 1961 Seeburg line are Charles Comella, Cadillac Music, Cleveland, and Edward Shaffer, Shaffer Music Company president. Shaffer was delighted over the attractive arrangements for the showing.

Heilicher is a student at the University of Minnesota, as is her fiancee. A summer wedding is planned.

Many operators in the Twin Cities are concerned about the direct sale of cigarette and candy machines to locations. A new firm near Minneapolis is offering to sell and service the machines. Juice boxes also are being sold directly to locations. . . . Jack Karter of Midwest Novelty Company, St. Paul, is putting up a new shop in back of his building at 777 University Avenue, including a spray booth and modern testing equipment. The shop for his service department will be completely air conditioned.

Teddy Salverson of Salverson Distributing Company, Huron, S. D., was in buying equipment and records. Other operators in the Twin Cities were Lyle Kesting, Benson, Minn.; John and Harry Galep, Menominee, Wis.; Lawrence Sieg, Eau Claire, Wis.; Don Bolier, Baldwin, Wis.; Bob Bregel, Willmar, Minn.; Elgin McDaniel, Wadena, Minn.; Jim Melichar, Black River, Wis., and Al Smart, Bemidji, Minn.

Matt Huppert, operator at Red Wing, Minn., is back from a two-week vacation in Hawaii. . . . Lou Wolfe, operator, who also has been the salesman for Continental Vending Machine Company in the area, has resigned from the firm to devote all his time to his route in Minneapolis.

DETROIT DOINGS

The Ray Vending Company is being incorporated as a Michigan corporation to operate a route of cigarette and candy machines, with Jesse B. Eggleston Jr., attorney, as agent. The active owners are three well-known Detroit operators, Randolph Wallace, Henry E. Anderson, and Benjamin F. Davis, who have a long-established music route as the Ray Music Company. They recently purchased a new commercial building at 12810 Linwood Avenue, thru a third company, the Ray Vending Investment Company, and are centralizing all coin machine operations in the new headquarters.

Sharon R. and Eugene A. Klamers are forming a new partnership as the Kay Amusement Company, to operate a route of amusement games, specializing in rifles and bowler games. Klamers, a newcomer to the business, is operating the route as a sideline only at the present time.

Frank R. Fabiano, head of Fabiano Sales and Service, is back home from a week's conventioning at Miami. . . . Paul Folino, formerly sales and operational manager for Fabiano, is reported joining the Michigan Midget Movies, diversified operating firm headed by Joseph Auton. . . . Don McElmurry, collector for Fabiano Sales and Service, went north—deer hunting—to Rogers City. . . . Linden Bush, service manager for Fabiano, went to Harrison to get his deer. . . . Adolph Marheska, 57, collector for Fabiano Sales and Service, and active in the coin machine business for 22 years, died suddenly November 13 from a cerebral hemorrhage. He was formerly with the old Marquette Music Company, Michigan Mutual Distributing, and Bush Music Company. . . . Erwin B. Moss, secretary-treasurer of the Music Operators, Inc., reports all quiet in the local trade. The MOI found matters so quiet that the formal meeting for November was not held, and members only met informally for coffee and a little social discussion. . . . Gerry Martin and Frank Snyder are displaying the new Seeburg models in Dearborn.

ARKANSAS ARTICLES

Around Little Rock: Pete Gurley, Ace Amusement Company, and his wife were in Memphis recently for the Seeburg showing at Sammons-Pennington Company. . . . Harold Dunaway, Twin City Amusement Company, and Robert Franklin, Southern Music Company, flew to Oklahoma recently in Franklin's private plane, where they have oil interests. They brought in another producing well. . . . C. W. Holmes, Western Sales Company, went deer hunting as soon as deer season opened in late November.

J. P. Willis, partner in Ace Amusement Company, was getting some old coins from machines on the route. So his wife kept them, recently opened a rare coin shop on Markham Street in downtown Little Rock. That's an interesting off-beat sideline to the coin machine business. . . . J. D. Ashley, Globe Amusement Company, big property owner, is building a bowling alley. Not long ago he put up the land and multimillionaire Winthrop Rockefeller the money for two big, swank shopping centers.

Robert Kirsipel, president of Kirsipel-Hollenberg Music Company, is diversifying a good bit, going into the vending field. He recently put out some coffee vendors. (On the side he's an elected city official—a councilman.) . . . Andrew Cassinelli, Little Rock Amusement Company, and his route manager, Elvis Singleton, were seen in Memphis recently at the Sammons-Pennington Company showing. . . . George Thomas, Thomas Amusement Company, is getting his two race horses in shape for the races at Oaklawn in Hot Springs in February.

Hot Springs items: Van Eddinger, Van Eddinger Music Company, was at the Sammons-Pennington Company showing in Memphis recently. The Billboard correspondent met him and had a pleasant chat. . . . J. Earl Gill, Gill Amusement Company, is increasing his vending route. He also owns a record shop, is readying it for the Christmas season, reports last Christmas he had the biggest sales he'd ever had, expects a bigger one this year. . . . W. E. (Continued on page 69)

Hoosier Operators Snowed Under With State, Local Tax Avalanche

By JOSEPH KLEIN

INDIANAPOLIS — Indiana operators must alert themselves to at least 20 sombre days each year if they hope to remain in business. These are the days upon which the State's numerous taxes and license fees are due. And to add to these are the countless and untraceable city and town ordinances which also extract a charge from the worn pockets of Hoosier coin machine owners.

These woeful days are all but behind the operators as far as 1960 is concerned.

Gross Income

January is gross income tax month if the operator pays annually. If not, he may wait until April and then pay again in July and October.

This is the tax which takes 1½ per cent of his gross income and by gross income he means gross. For he is expected to pay the excise on everything, including the commission he hands over to the location owner.

Come the first Monday in May and November, the operator must pay his property tax—another crushing impost. His equipment is supposedly assessed at 33½ per cent of cash value. And with the property tax rate hovering around $10 per $100 of assessed valuation in many places, the tax is expected to bear heavily on many overburdened shoulders.

Moreover, there is some bad news emanating from official quarters. Pursuant to recommendations contained in a manual issued by the Indiana State Tax Board, the evaluation and the consequent taxes on coin machines will move further—you guessed it—upward.

If the operator has stocks or bonds or other types of securities, he must reckon with a June 30 deadline for the payment of an "intangible tax"—paid at the rate of 5 cents on each $20 or fraction of actual current value.

If his activities have been brought within the purview of a corporation the operator is required to file an annual report to which he must attach a $2 filing fee.

Local Taxes

A State law empowers the cities and towns to "license, tax, regulate, restrain or prohibit all tables, alleys, machines, devices of any kind for sports or games."

Some don't. But many do. The statute provides for no limit on the fees that a city may impose or the time or frequency with which it may be imposed.

Thus there is no rest for the weary operator.

Store License

He may be required to obtain a store license—if the premises on which his equipment is installed has none.

But in weighing the grief of other classes of taxpayers, the operator concludes that his burden could be even more back-breaking.

With its administration vested in the Indiana Alcoholic Beverages Commission, the tax is imposed on the sale or use of cigarettes and cigarette materials.

When the operator feels that he has brain-fagging tax problems, he finds a measure of consolation in considering the labyrinth thru which the Indiana cigarette distributor must pass.

Tax Rates

For the statute providing for the tax, fixes the rates as follows—if it is possible to follow them: on cigarettes weighing not more than three pounds per 1,000, 1½ mills per cigarette; on cigarettes weighing over three pounds per 1,000, 3 mills per cigarette (those over 6½ inches long are taxed at 1½ mill rate, counting each 2¾ inches or fraction thereof as a separate cigarette); on each 50 papers, ½ cent and on each 50 tubes, 1 cent.

To make matters worse, the distributor must file reports, covering inter-State sales, by the 10th of each month and another report by the 15th to encompass "drop payments"—shipments billed to any person other than the one receiving the shipment.

You'd think that for all this and for assembling the revenue gravy to boot the State would pay the distributor—but it doesn't.

On the contrary, the distributor pays the State—$500 each year—for the "privilege" of pouring $15,000,000 in annual cigarette taxes into the State treasury.

Stand. Financial to Buy Back Issue

NEW YORK—The Standard Financial Corporation, a firm specializing in coin machine paper, will redeem $250,000 of the company's 15-year, 5½ per cent first subordinated convertible debentures on December 30.

Some $2,250,000 of the original $4,000,000 issue is outstanding. Redemption price is 105.5 per cent, plus accrued interest.

Conn. Counsel Discusses Ban On Free Plays

HARTFORD, Conn.—Joseph J. Burns, counsel for the Music Operators of Connecticut, explained the meaning and effect of the State Supreme Court decision—outlawing free plays on games of chance—to members at a dinner meeting held here recently. He said that efforts were being made by Business Manager Abraham Fish, Hartford, and himself to clarify the status of operators. Fish spoke to the group about the general condition of music operators since the Supreme Court decision.

Guest of honor at the dinner was Rep. Emilio Q. Daddario (D., Conn.) and a counsel for the Connecticut Music Operators. He urged members to cooperate in strengthening the association.

President Jerome Lambert, Stamford, and Fish conducted the meeting. Guests included Fred Iverson, Myer Parkoff, Max Perlman, Jerry Montage, Irving Kempner, Nat Runyon and Kim Cisti.

Canadian Court

Skill may produce uncertain results in baseball, football, trap or skeet shooting, golf or hockey, but the uncertainty comes from the player and not from any machine mechanism which nullifies the ability of the player.

"I would hate to think that the law intends to brand as a criminal a Canadian citizen who, for a dime, procures an innocent amusement to the public where there is no element of gambling or hazard."

The dissenting reasons were written by Mr. Justice Judson. He said:

"While there is some element of skill involved in the operation of the machine, in that one player may obtain a better result than another, it is still an offense if the result of one of any number of operations of the machine is a matter of chance or uncertainty to the operator."

"Chance or uncertainty to the operator must be present unless he can, without any possibility of failure, achieve any result that he wishes or unless the result is automatic."

W. German Musicians Press for Royalty Payments on Juke Boxes

By OMER ANDERSON

FRANKFURT — West Germany's musicians and recording technicians are increasing pressure on juke box operators for payment of recorded music royalties.

This demand is in addition to the standard per-box payment to GEMA, the German version of ASCAP. The Association of Artists and Entertainers contends that the artists and technicians who actually record the music are entitled to royalties on the same basis as the composers, represented by GEMA.

The musicians and recording technicians have started a series of court tests. They already have won recognition by the Federal Supreme Court of Karlsruhe for their legal principle that a recorded musical work owes its success not only to the composer and the singer, but in equal measure to the musicians and technicians.

Seek Soft Spots

box operators; they are probing for soft spots in a trade which complains it is already taxed to the verge of bankruptcy.

There are around 50,000 juke boxes in West Germany, of which 45,000 are controlled by operators. The remaining 5,000 are operated by location owners.

The operators, obviously, offer the most promising field for the extraction of additional royalty payments. The musicians are basing their demands on two points: their claim that they, as much as the composer, are entitled to royalties, and they claim musicians are being displaced in bars and restaurants by juke boxes.

The musicians, in fact, have assembled statistics on the increasing replacement of piano players, violinists and combos by music boxes.

Musicians Divided

The musicians apparently are divided on this latter point. For while the musicians union is pressing the demand for royalty payments, the musicians simultaneously are attacking juke boxes as "disturbers of the peace."

The musicians claim that a piano player or violinist is soothing but a juke box merely raucous. This attack has raised the hackles of the juke box operator, who considers it a classic case of biting the hand you expect to feed you.

The operators take the position that the displacement of musicians by juke boxes is in response to the inescapable law of economics and has little to do with juke boxes per se. Smaller bistros and dine-and-dance spots no longer can afford musicians, regardless of juke boxes.

The Association of German Tavern Proprietors is particularly incensed by the demands of the musicians and their recording technician allies. The innkeepers are threatening to get rid of all juke boxes on their premises, if they are forced to pay the musicians royalties.

The innkeepers claim GEMA royalties and the various German taxes have burdened juke box operation already to the point where it is a marginal business.

The innkeepers, moreover, do not accept the musicians' thesis that they share in the creative process of cutting a disk. The innkeepers' association irritated the musicians by comparing their royalty demands to a shoemaker who expects a customer to make payment every time he wears a pair of shoes.

The musicians retorted that they—and the technicians—contribute equally to the success of a disk with the composer and vocalist. The musicians assert that they have been taken for granted too long in the recording field, and it is time they received the credit—and money—due them.

Pinballs Axed In Kentucky

HAZARD, Ky.—The Perry Circuit Court here recently declared pinball machines gambling devices. As proof that it meant business, 11 pinballs were lined along Main Street and made targets for the axes and hammers of policemen.

This action climaxed an anti-pinball drive started last February by Perry Circuit Judge Courtney C. Wells. At that time the grand jury indicted 15 persons in the County on gambling charges for having coin-operated pinball machines on their premises. The 15 were found guilty, fined $250 apiece, and their confiscated machines were ordered destroyed.

The decision was placed before the Court of Appeals, but was later dismissed.

BBB Warns South

purpose of 'setting up a route' as a part-time or full-time business enterprise.

"Instead of acts, unwary investors get rosy promises. They often are given to understand that they will get exclusive territory; that earnings will average so much per week; that help will be given in setting up a route; that service will be immediately available; that the company will back machines if the purchaser decides not to continue in business. Enchanted by the prospect of getting in on a 'sure thing,' the investor pays several thousand dollars for machines and supplies."

Barr warned prospective investors to check up on the promoter and his promises before signing a contract.

Conn. Operators Meet

Texas Court Rules On Coin Pictures

AUSTIN, Tex.—The Court of Criminal Appeals has ruled that motion pictures are not motion pictures when they're shown in a coin-operated Arcade machine, thus reversing a Harris County court ruling.

The Appeals Court unanimously reversed and remanded the conviction of Frank Joseph Pasquale for unlawful exhibition of lewd motion pictures. Pasquale had been sentenced to 30 days in jail and a $500 fine.

According to court records, a Houston police officer had testified that he got change from Pasquale in the change booth of a coin machine Arcade and put six quarters in a machine to see a 15-minute film entitled "Bobby Sox."

The court's opinion reversing the conviction was written by Judge Ernest Belcher, a non-voting commissioner of the court.

His opinion noted that the law "makes it an offense to engage in the showing and exhibition of lewd and lascivious motion pictures and it also makes it an offense to show such pictures in Arcade machines."

"The proof of the use of Arcade machines," he wrote, "does not sustain the allegations of the use of motion pictures . . . therefore, there is a fatal variance between the allegations of the information and the proof which renders the evidence insufficient to support the conviction."

Denver Calls for Operator Unity; Warns of Copyright Legislation

By REN GREVATT

NEW YORK — "The year 1961 will be a decisive one for the juke box operators. It will determine whether many of us will stay with the juke box business or fall by the wayside." These were the words of Al Denver, veteran prexy of the Music Operators of New York, as he accepted his 17th annual term in that office at a general membership meeting held at the Hotel Park Sheraton, Tuesday evening (29).

In noting the decisive nature of the year ahead for the average operator, Denver sounded a call for unanimity in operator ranks. Remarking on operators who have "somehow forgotten about the association," Denver recommended that dues per machine per operator be lowered in order to encourage new membership. The motion was passed by the members.

New Measure Seen

At another point, Denver also warned that the juke box industry can expect introduction of new legislation in Congress in the upcoming year designed to effect changes in the copyright act to permit collection of juke box performance royalties. These can be expected under the sponsorship of Congressman Celler in the House and Senator O'Mahoney in the Senate.

Denver explained that the Music Operators of America (MOA) has already set in motion programs against this contingency, via new arrangements with the well-known Barney Young and 20th Fox Records. Under Young's aegis, a new performing rights society to be known as Music Operators Music, would be formed to supply royalty-free music for juke box use. Also to be established would be a record label known as Music Operators Records, to be distributed thru special arrangements with 20th Fox Records.

Fights Ops' Battles

In line with this, Denver reported on events at the recent MOA board meeting in Miami Beach, at which, he said, it was agreed that operators would support the fourth performing rights society and would support any record labels identified with it. This led to an urgent plea for the support of MOA on the part of all operators. "MOA," Denver said, "fights your battles while you are asleep. We all must support it."

Another speaker was Joe Godman, attorney for the MONY, who summarized the highlights of the local legal picture with regard to the juke box fraternity. Godman noted that last October 13, Justice Street of the New York Supreme Court ruled against an appeal lodged on behalf of certain individual music operators, regarding the New York City juke box tax of $25 per machine. Attorney Sam Mezansky has already filed a notice of appeal of this decision with the Appellate Division.

Godman also noted that amendments to the MONY certificate of incorporation to permit inclusion of game operators in the membership are expected to be cleared by State authorities shortly.

Support Asked

Mrs. Amelia (Millie) McCarthy, recently elected prexy of the New York State Coin Machine Association, delivered an eloquent appeal for support of the State Association by New York City operators. Citing the part played by the State association and herself on the Albany legislative front in the last two years, Mrs. McCarthy appealed for funds for the support of the association. Forms distributed during and after the meeting by Mrs. McCarthy and Mrs. Ruth Michaelson, another operator, resulted in a number of pledges for the NYSCMA.

Public Relations Drive

Al (Senator) Bodkin, chairman of the local coin industry public relations committee, summed up accomplishments of his committee during the past year. The current project for the committee is obtaining Christmas funds for the Cardinal Spellman Servicemen's Club in New York, an annual local coin industry undertaking. Bodkin, stressing the importance of the Cardinal's support of coin doings here, showed a photograph of himself, Meyer Parkoff and Barney Sugarman taken with Msgr. John P. Kelly and the Cardinal. Bodkin noted that the Cardinal had urged the use of his picture for the betterment of the coin field, with the statement, "Don't put my picture in the attic, put it in the paper!"

On the subject of public relations, Irving Holzman of Black Sales suggested that every operator turn in 100 used records. "We'll turn them into cash and give the money to public relations," Holzman asserted.

Also on the subject of public relations, Al Denver noted certain remarks uncomplimentary to the coin industry which appeared in a column by Hearst newspaper columnist Dorothy Kilgallen recently. The Denver said that the association had taken no action on this matter, Parkoff jumped up to state that he had written the columnist a letter the same day the story appeared. Parkoff urged others to do the same.

Contest Explained

The final speaker of the meeting was Harry Berger of West Side Distributing here. Berger, for several months, has been attempting to promote his plan for a city-wide coin bowling tournament among various operators. He appeared at the MONY meeting at the invitation of Denver to explain the set-up. Berger's presentation was received with little comment or enthusiasm and the matter was placed in the hands of Irving Holzman who promised to form a committee "within 72 hours" to study the matter and "render a full report."

In addition to Denver, other MONY officers named for the forthcoming year were George Holzman, vice-president; Gil Sonin, treasurer; and Bill Kobler, secretary.

Minn. Solon Seeks To Ban Cig Units

ST. PAUL — George Murk, who recently was re-elected to his eighth term in the Minnesota Legislature, has made it known that he is going to bear down at the coming legislative session in his one-man campaign against cigarette vending machines. Murk, who lives in Minneapolis, said the automatic machines make it simple for youngsters to get cigarettes.

Murk, who introduced his first bill outlawing the machines in the last 1959 session of the Legislature here, said the bill drew opposition from industry representatives. The bill died in committee after conservatives voiced objection to the legislation.

CINCINNATI — Charlie Kanter, former president of the Cincinnati Operators' Association and currently head of the Ace Sales operation, is out of the hospital and back at work.

Reacto is a small counter game. The player drops a nickel, presses a green button to get it into position. When a bell rings, the nickel drops and the player presses another button to stop it. The sooner the nickel stops, the higher the score. Unit sells for $95. It has flashing lights which, together with the bell, are operated by flashlight batteries.

The Twirlybird is a miniature helicopter kiddie ride that simulates a helicopter in flight, rotating and swaying from side to side. A sound system also plays realistic "pilot to control tower" conversations as the copter moves.

The rider can control speed by turning controls. The chopper has fiberglass construction, a meter built into the coin box to record number of rides, and three mechanical caster wheels for easy movability. It occupies a space of roughly two and one-half feet by six feet, and sells for $1,095.

Exhibit Supply showed its new card vender (The Billboard, November 28) and a pilot model of an animated fortune-teller machine that the firm plans to get into production. A compact counter model, the unit gives a fortune ticket while a miniature pig merrily flips a frying pan back and forth turning an egg over and over a battery-powered "fire." The unit will sell for under $100.

Capitol's Sam Goldsmith said the firm worked in co-operation with the U. S. Coast Guard in shooting film footage for the game. Cruiser Pilot will be marketed next spring.

Capitol also had a full battery of its auto-test units set up and operating—not for free. Proceeds, said Goldsmith, were to be given to the Greater Chicago Safety Council to help promote safe driving.

Also shown by the firm was a trailer housing 12 units, suitable for carnival or park operation.

Redd showed a small counter-model bingo-type game that shoots miniature pinballs on a board studded with playing cards. The best poker hand in five balls wins. There is no meter or scoring device on the game. Redd also showed a small, hot packaged-drink vender and its Hollywood candid camera, where a patron deposits a nickel and views revolving mirror reflections of himself.

The Williams Voice-O-Graph gives a one-minute 45-r.p.m. disk for 35 cents or 50 cents. There is also an envelope-dispensing mechanism at 5 cents or a dime. The booth is a telephone type enclosure with Formica covering. Unlike some other recorders, the Williams unit records directly on the record. The firm plans to be in production soon on the machine and is shooting for a January 1 delivery date. Price has not been announced on the unit.

GEMA is pressing a series of law suits against German tape recorder manufacturers aimed at requiring the recorder producers to desist from promoting sales on the basis of music taping possibilities. GEMA complains that certain manufacturers all but urge the public to buy a tape recorder instead of buying platters; that recorders are being plugged as do-it-yourself diskeries. There is variegated motivation for the alleged tape piracy: economy—tapes can be erased when the pop disk topples from its top tune throne; virtuosity—an evening's pop listening and dancing program can be "produced" in advance of a party, sparing confusion and time; a better blending of music can be achieved, with greater variety, than the straight playing of singles; convenience—it's easier to carry a package of tape than a stack of disks.

Be all this as it may, the fact is GEMA—and German juke box operators—are up in arms at what they regard as the encouragement of music piracy and (in the case of the juke operators) unfair competition with their GEMA-taxed boxes.

"Nor am I defending a selfish interest when I make these predictions. I am past retirement age with no one but my employees to leave my business to.
