Synchronization Ready For Use

METHODS whereby two or more stations may transmit the same program on the same frequency without distortion have been so far perfected that practical application of synchronization may be made at any time, according to M. H. Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting Company.

Following closely upon the heels of the Federal Radio Commission's refusal to set aside frequencies in the broadcasting band for synchronization experiments, Mr. Aylesworth's announcement may bring about a change of attitude on the part of the commission, which at various times has had a number of requests from stations for permission to undertake joint broadcasting experiments.

If practical operation bears out the opinion of the National Broadcasting Company's experts, there may be decided changes in the broadcasting set-up, with frequencies assigned not to individual stations but to groups which transmit the same programs, as, for instance, the several stations which are under the full control of NBC. The company has been working for a considerable time on the program of synchronization, as have a number of other organizations. Responsibility for its application, however, will rest squarely upon the Federal Radio Commission, according to Mr. Aylesworth.

"Synchronization in the field of radio broadcasting is now out of the laboratory," he declared. "Experiments and tests which we have been conducting have definitely demonstrated that from a technical standpoint, at least, it is now possible to operate two or more stations on the same frequency without distortion.

"I believe that in the practical application of synchronization a definite responsibility must be assumed by the Federal Radio Commission, in order that its development will be constructive and its ultimate good will accrue to the best interests of the entire country."

"Synchronization is a 'system' rather than any particular apparatus. This fact, together with the conditions under which the experimental work was conducted, makes it impossible for any particular group to assume control or to reap benefits of a selfish nature.

"I am particularly impressed with the importance of synchronization in connection with network broadcasting, but the difficulties in this connection must be carefully studied. It will be necessary to try out an experimental group of stations to learn more of the practical activities of synchronization. There are so many limitations in a technical field that synchronization should be allowed to grow gradually, so that its primary purposes and value should not be dissipated by hasty or immature practice or application.

"The radio interests making this contribution have been inspired solely by a sincere desire to further improve radio broadcasting."
Two genuine Alabama mocking birds soon are going to add their voices to the Southern atmosphere surrounding Dr. Laurance Cross's "Cross-Cuts from the Log of the Day," NBC morning program. Dr. Cross is importing the birds from their home state in order to put the authentic touch of their presence to forest scenes created over the air.

"Mac" of KFRC is in receipt of a letter from North Fork, California, telling of a sign in the mountains near there directing travellers to the Big Rock Candy Mountains. This hobo's utopia is celebrated in "Mac's" famous song of that name, which was a best seller on Victor records for the better part of a year. The correspondent, Alonzo P. Hale, who gives his address as Box 532, Carmel, California, also sends a picture of the sign, which reads: 150 miles to Rock Candy Mountains.

The secret is out. Abdu ben Lentil, the eastern mystic, who answers your questions incorrectly on the KTAB Pepper Box Revue Wednesday nights, is none other than Sam Hayes, the heavy thespian of the Pickwick station. The cat was let out of the bag when Abdu's turban slipped and an expanse of forehead was revealed. There is only one forehead so high and cultured in San Francisco.

Leslie Moe, trumpet player, and Arthur Ginder, trombonist, are two new additions to the staff orchestra at KMTR. Both local boys and just another proof that "home products are the best," for you should just listen in.

C. Merwin Dobyns, owner, and Bill Ray, manager, of KGER in Long Beach, recently wended their way eastward to join the caravan of California broadcasters who were to appear before the Radio Commission with petitions for their stations. Bill came home by air and Mr. Dobyns arrived a few days later via train.

Frank Galvin, well known to KJBS listeners as the team-mate of Art Fadden in appearances over that station, has become a staff announcer at KJBS. Frank is an old hand at the entertaining game, and is at his best in front of a microphone.

Many people wrote KFRC following the football Jamboree and asked how the rub-a-dub-dub effect in the lively orchestra number "Collegiate" was achieved. It was done with the domestic symbol of hard work, an ordinary washboard. "Pete" Barlow, KFRC percussionist, operated it with his bare hands.

Walter Beban, "saxophonist extraordinaire" of the San Francisco studios of the National Broadcasting Company, has all kinds of unsuspected talents. He is a short-story writer now, and one of his latest stories, "The Pay-Off," appeared recently in a national magazine.

"We have joined the new coast network of the United Broadcasting Company in the capacity of an auxiliary station," announced Gerald King, manager of KFWB.

"Because KTM operates on a split-time arrangement, KFWB has agreed to join the network for broadcasts released at 8:30 o'clock in the evening and later. KTM, as I understand it, will take the new chain's programs during the day and up to 8:30 at night."

Frank Cope, musical director of "recorded programs" at KJBS, may not have any "live" musicians to direct at present, but he does have a wealth of experience in musical fields, and enjoys being able to call on Paul Whiteman or Guy Lombardo whenever he wishes by means of their latest releases. Frank has played with many orchestras, and is equally proficient with saxophone, violin, and clarinet. He hails from Salt Lake, the home town of so many well-known musicians.
Robert Turner, sixteen-year-old boy who has been heard over NBC playing piano concertos with their orchestra, has just been awarded a Fellowship at the Juilliard School of Music in New York. He is to study under Josef Lhevinne.

Both Hazel Warner and Meredith Willson of KFRC were heard in New York broadcasts over the Columbia chain and KFRC recently. Miss Warner sang on the Metropolitan program on the morning of October 14; Meredith Willson, who is KFRC's musical director, conducted the orchestra on the Mardi Gras the night of October 13. Both were vacationing in the East; Miss Warner having first made a trip to South America.

Interesting people with fascinating backgrounds are discovered in unexpected corners of this little old world. We were speaking to Joan Ray, the splendid contralto of KTAB, the other night and asked her if she had ever heard Dame Nellie Melba. Where-upon Joan smiled with a far-away glimmer in her eyes and acknowledged that Melba had been her teacher and had said that she, Joan, had the purest contralto voice of any contemporary singer.

Gordon Warner, student at Polytechnic high school in Long Beach made his debut the other week on KGER's Sunday night ho-hum frolic and revue. He seems to be a second Frank Watanabe. At any rate his impersonation of the Japanese dialect is extra good, say critics of the daily press.

Gypsy and Marta, heard through the NBC network Sunday nights in a vocal duo of old-fashioned songs, are different from most sister acts—they are really sisters. Gypsy was in vaudeville for several years, and when she returned to her home in San Francisco she found her younger sister all prepared to accompany her on her next tour. Instead they stayed at home and became radio artists. Gypsy is a writer as well as a singer.

Lloyd Yoder, chief of the Press Relations Department at NBC, donned cap and gown recently and remembered he had an "A.B." to his name. As the representative of Carnegie Tech, Pittsburgh, to which he brought football fame by capturing the football team which caused the 1926 upset by beating Notre Dame, he was a guest at St. Ignatius College's Diamond Jubilee celebration in San Francisco's Civic Auditorium. He was one of the youngest alumni chosen to represent their respective colleges and universities at the celebration.

KFRC may be said to have a juvenile department among the artists. Many of its members would object to being called juveniles, however. Among these would be Ronald Graham, baritone, who is 19; Edna O'Keefe, 18; Tommy Harris, 19; Charles Cartier, 16.

Discount Standard McWebster, A. B. (all boloney), has returned to life at KNX in a new program devised by Jack Carter, "The Boy from London," entitled "Soup to Nuts."

As the name indicates, the program is a festival of laughs, and although but recently inaugurated at the Hollywood broadcaster, has already stirred up a deal of favorable comment. McWebster is probably the world's leading opponent of the King's English, and despite the name of the program, he says that "bread of any other name would smell as wheat."

Do you picture what your favorite radio artist looks like—and are you surprised when you see him?

Samuel Gayley Mortland, whom thousands of NBC listeners know as "Yir Frien' Scotty," is six feet three inches tall, and slim as a fashion plate. But the first remark made by everyone who meets him in person after hearing him on the air and reading his newspaper column, is always: "Why, I thought you were short and plump!"

Scotty has "lived in a gold-fish bowl for sixteen years," as he expresses it, having conducted a daily column for that long, and has been an NBC speaker for more than a year. In all this time, he says, only one person who has come to know his personality without actually seeing him has imagined him to be tall.

Liston Bowden of the KFRC technical department has been appointed Sound Engineer for the station's broadcasts. His first assignment in his new capacity was on the new Johns Manville programs, where most of the action takes place in a fire house.
CONGRATULATIONS are in order for William ("Wee Willy") Hancock. "Wee Willy" stepped up to the altar on Sunday morning, November 2, with Virginia Mason Jenson and changed her name to Mrs. Hancock.

Hancock is perhaps the best known and loved of all the Happytime stars, having been identified with the program since its very inception. Mrs. Hancock is a prominent San Francisco musician, being accomplished both in voice and piano work. She is a student of Madame Schumann-Heink. The couple will make their home in San Francisco.

The stage, the theatre, the church, the "sticks" and even far-away England and Russia have all contributed their share of talent to the Shell Happytime, resulting in one of the most unique and outstanding groups of artists in the Western entertainment world. There is perhaps no other single place where gathered on one staff may be found the personality of Hugh Barrett Dobbs, the genius of Max Dolin, the sublime organ music of Theodore Strong, the humor and versatility of Sambo and Ed, the golden voices of Emily Hardy Richard Jose, William Powers, Dan O'Brien and the piano music of Eleanor Barnard. The rise to fame of many of these artists is already well known to thousands of radio listeners. But here are the stories of Max Dolin, Theodore Strong, Sambo and Ed, Emily Hardy and Eleanor Barnard:

Dolin's career is a most colorful one, dating back to his boyhood days in Odessa, Russia, where he was born in 1888. Early in his youth he began the study of the violin under Alexander Fidelman, with whom he remained until he was 16 years old, when the young musician went to Paris, where he remained for three years, studying under Bertelli. His first public appearance was given in London, England, at the Guild Hall, where he met with indifferent success. After his London appearance, there followed the most trying period in Dolin's life, during which he toured the world, giving concerts in this country, South America and Europe.

It was in New York that Dolin met with his first real success. There he was given his first real opportunity as musical director of the Biltmore Hotel, where he remained for eight years. His success there was culminated by a tour over the Keith circuit, followed by three years of vaudeville contracts. Musical directorship of the President's Palace Hotel in Havana, Cuba, was his next step.
He came to San Francisco in 1923 and accepted the post of musical director at the California Theatre, meeting with instantaneous popularity among San Francisco theatre goes. When the National Broadcasting Company opened its Pacific Coast network, he was offered the position of musical director. This he later resigned to go to New York for theatrical contract there. It was while he was in New York that Dobbs invited him to return to San Francisco as a featured member of the Shell Happytime staff. His success and popularity on the Shell broadcast is best attested by the enthusiastic response from radio listeners that has been his. There can be no doubt but that he is the West's outstanding radio violin master.

It may be rightly said that the church gave Theodore Strong to the broadcasting world, for it was at the console of scores of church organs that Strong gained the expertness that he now transmits over the air to the great Happytime audience.

Born in New York, Strong's first public appearance was made at the age of eight years, when he played a group of piano solos at a church entertainment in Mount Vernon. Perhaps it was here that the organ caught Strong's eye and desire, for it was not long after that he forsook the piano for the intricacies of the organ.

At the age of 19 he was organist of the Greenwich Presbyterian Church in New York City, after which came the Grace Methodist Church, where he was organist and choir director. It was about this time that radio was first beginning to attract attention and Strong made several appearances on radio programs on WEAF, WJZ and WOR. But broadcasting in those days held no lure for Strong, and he continued as church organist, musical director and organ soloist for several years in New York City before taking Greeley's advice on "Go West, young man, go West."

In 1925 he first attracted the attention of Pacific Coast radio fans with his organ work when he began broadcasting over KPO. Since that time he has gained a tremendous audience and counts his friends and listeners at well over the million mark. For more than a year he has been exclusively identified with the Shell Happytime and was recently appointed musical director of the program, on which he is heard in solo numbers, duets with Eleanor Barnard, concert pianist, and as director of the Celestians, a unique combination of pipe organ, harp, violin and 'cello.

Sambo and Ed, in private life, are Sam Moore and Ed Evans, both "country boys," who have "made good in the big city."

Moore was born and raised on his father's Georgia plantation, where he learned from the negroes the secrets of the novel entertainment and dialogue which he now dispenses over the Happytime program.

His first success was attained in New York City, where he was featured in Ziegfeld Follies for two years. While there he became acquainted with Ed Evans, a young dramatic actor, who was trying to make a name for himself on Broadway. In this way the combination of Sambo and Ed was formed.

Evans is a native of Provo, Utah, where his parents were among the early settlers in that country. After graduating from the University of Utah, he became interested in amateur theatricals and gradually drifted to New York, where he formed the association with Sam Moore. Mandy, who is an integral part of the entertainment, is Mrs. Moore. One of Dobbsie's discoveries, Emily Hardy, is being hailed by critics as one of the West's most promising young coloratura sopranos. Upon her first "professional" appearance, as a member of the ensemble in the musical comedy "New Moon," Miss Hardy found herself approached by Dobbs with an offer to "go on the air." Her success was instantaneous.

Eleanor Barnard, concert pianist, was born in London, England, but spent her childhood days in Boston, where she studied under the famous John Orth. Later she studied in London under the masters of Europe and upon returning to the United States, made a number of tours as soloist and for three years was concert pianist and accompanist for Sid Grauman's theatres in Los Angeles. In February this year she was engaged as pianist on the Happytime programs and with Theodore Strong has been featured in piano and organ duets, as well as solo numbers.

Truly, an imposing list of musical experts has been brought together on the Shell Happytime. And they are providing one of radio's most entertaining programs. And so, until next week . . . HA-A-PPY DAY!

A t the present time approximately 125,- 000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity are consumed annually in Germany for broadcasting and other radio communications, according to a report of the German Federal Broadcasting Company.

A n American oil company has obtained permission from the Chilean authorities to install a radiotelegraph transmitter at the company’s headquarters in Santiago, Chile, to be used for communicating with the more powerful station of another American company in Bolivia as a link in a world-wide system of communication which the latter is endeavoring to establish.
Coughs Not Popular

Oakland, California.
October 24, 1930.

Dear Editor:

Where is Frank Watanabe of KFRC. He is clever and witty, clean and winsome. John and Sylvia of KLX are putting over worthwhile programs, something different and interesting. They are worth a lot to the station and to us.

Mr. Theodore Strong is very fine over the radio, and his broadcast from the Mormon temple was fine. Dobbsie, as you say, is a great chap, and we all dearly love him.

Miss Jean Kent of KLX is one of the most interesting impersonators and advertisers on the radio today. She is not only interesting to hear, but a very charming girl to meet.

Miss Lillian Boyd of KROW is a versatile young lady and plays mighty well.

However, let us have more programs that are funny and yet worthwhile. There's too many announcers that think they are funny but are not, and they certainly do like to cough into the mike. They ought to be good ads for cough drops, or maybe they should reach for a cigarette. Sincerely yours.

R. F.

Will Frances Come Again?

Berkeley, California.
October 25, 1930.

Dear Editor:

In the October 26 to November 1 issue of Broadcast Weekly were letters from Frances Edmunds of San Francisco and "M. A." of Vallejo. As a rule I don't pay very much attention to the comments of other people, but these two letters "got my goat." First of all, I think it would be well for these two individuals to read Broadcast Weekly, so they would know what was happening in the radio world.

It is absurd to say that KTAB is the only station that has organ programs, because KFRC presents an organ program nearly every day, and the NBC stations present an organ recital every day from 11:30 to 12 noon. How much more organ music would a person want?

Just a word to "M. A." KFRC has a reputation for having the best artists and a variety of talent. It makes short work of "dead stock," too.

If you don't like the present Jamborees, just try to arrange better ones. My motto is, "If you can't boost, don't knock."

Very sincerely,

M. E.

Seconds "E. C." on Rudy

Burlingame, California.
October 24, 1930.

Dear Editor:

I agree with E. C. of Burlingame about the voice of Rudy Vallee.

As for Harry Stanton, E. C. ought to hear Fredric Bittke of KPO. Bittke has the most pleasing voice and best diction of any radio singer, and still, he very seldom is on more than twice a week. I wonder why?

W. R. B.

We're Always Strong for Home Talent

San Mateo, California.
October 18, 1930.

Friend Editor:

Although my judgment may be considered hasty, I am of the opinion that our western football announcers have it all over the boys in the East. You'll have to hand it to Don Thompson and Ernie Smith for the way they keep their eyes on the ball. Sometimes I'm inclined to think the latter is on the "in" with the coaches; he seems to know what's happening before the ball is snapped.

The last three eastern games I've listened to were spoiled by the poor announcing. Too many errors; too many failures to recognize the players, to suit me.

Here's a Booster for Bennie

San Mateo, California.
October 23, 1930.

Dear Editor:

To my mind one word of commendation is worth many of condemnation. Mrs. A. N. R. of Watsonville seems to forget that many of us get our relaxation from just such episodes as Bennie Walker puts on by impersonating the whining "Little Bennie." If Mrs. A. N. R. could meet Bennie Walker and see him with his infectious smile, she would find that he practices what he preaches, namely, "Keep that old smile smiling, and she would not be so inclined to criticize so unnecessarily and severely.

Mrs. L. F. B. of San Francisco, why not turn off your radio if you are irked by the cooking experts? None of us are ever too old to learn, and very often some small suggestion may solve a knotty problem that has puzzled us.

Cecil Wright and Abe Bloom, with the laughs in their voices, are worth many Frank Watanabe's. They especially intrigue the ailing soldiers and children in hospitals, and also the older generation.

A consistent radio fan; also a subscriber.

More Power to the Bassos

San Francisco, California.
October 27, 1930.

Dear Editor:

I am like "E. C.," of Burlingame, California, why not have more of Harry Stanton, whose voice is very beautiful over the radio and selections are always enjoyable.

Mrs. G. B. B.

Radio Has Other Fields Besides Entertainment

Los Angeles, California.
October 20, 1930.

Dear Editor:

Why is it necessary to have so many talks over the air? It seems to me that the radio should serve the purpose of the phonograph of other days, with even more variety and with less attention, yet who ever had a stock of recorded speeches in those days? If the reason for so many talks is a display of interest in them I have nothing to say, but if the reason is lack of musical talent, then I'll cast my vote for the elimination of stations until each of those remaining will have enough talent to fill the day with music. For my part I am willing to listen to good phonograph records during the hours when local talent is scarce, because there's no getting away from the fact that the recorded voices of Chaliapin or Schipa are far superior to less talented voices, even though the latter are in the studio; flesh, blood and tux.

Miss E. R.

Where Are the Boosters?

Santa Rosa, California.
October 24, 1930.

Gentlemen:

I am very sorry that you opened up the "Open Circuit" column. All one reads is criticism. Can't someone say a good word for some artist or program? Why can't they tune in just what they like; there are plenty of stations to choose from.

I think Ann Holden's baby just fine. It's the only one in our home. As to organ programs, they may be heard from KPO and KGO.

I patronize the sponsors which make it possible for me to enjoy my radio and I am very thankful I can always find some program I like, and I do like good music.

What's Going to Happen to Ann's "Bad Boy"

Porterville, California.
October 27, 1930.

Dear Sir:

I do hope that Mrs. A. N. R.'s wish does not come true. It would be just too bad for clever Ann Holden to have to bury her naughty little boy, we all know she should spank him occasionally, but we love him even though he is a "very naughty, whining boy."

More power to "Ann" and her little boy. Now, I like the way the ladies give the recipes. Why knock?

A. P., Palo Alto, Cal.—Charles Bulotti (KFRC) calls singing his avocation. Sounds strange, doesn’t it, to those of us who have heard him in opera and concert, but it is true, nevertheless. His vocation has to do with the operation of an iron and steel machinery business. He was born in San Francisco of Swiss-Italian parents, is about 38 years old, measures 5 feet 7½ inches in height, weighs 165 pounds, has gray eyes, medium dark hair and possesses just the proper amount of dignity. It’s a nice dignity. Courtly and democratic, mixed—sort of. He is married to a very striking blonde and there is a Charles, Jr., aged 12.

H. E., Sacramento, Calif.—Doakes and Doakes (KFRC) are a former vaudeville team known to their friends as Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Gibson. Mrs. Gibson is a Freemont, Nebraska, girl, five feet tall, with bray-blue eyes, chestnut hair, and weighs 110 pounds. Mr. Gibson’s birthplace is Sidney, Australia. He is 5 feet 8 inches in height, weighs 155 pounds, has brown eyes and medium brown hair. They have two children, Harry, eight, and James, six.

** **

H. T. S., San Francisco, Calif.—The “Bob and Dolly” skit to which you refer on a recent broadcast from KPO was enacted by Harvey Orr and Eva De Vol. According to all reports Marian Gilbert is still in the East. She sang for a time in New York over the National Broadcasting Co., but was called to Cambridge, Mass., due to the ill health of her mother. I shall be glad to advise you of her return to radio as soon as I have that information.

** **

G. R. S., Fresno, Calif.—Jack Keough (NBC) is 6 feet 3 inches tall. His weight is like the weather, ever changing; racing about from 175 to 200 pounds in a few short days. Not due to diet or ill health, just one of those peculiarities. He has blue eyes and the sort of neat, crisp hair so tempting to lady fingers. His heart and soul are wrapped up in sports and aviation, he thrives on excitement, is unutterably miserable when not occupied and paces restlessly back and forth like a caged lion upon such occasions. (Ask Miss Cross, NBC hostess. Invariably he selects the space for these violent perambulations directly in line with her desk.) You know of course that he is a writer as well as a broadcaster and—the “Answer-to-the-maiden’s prayer.”

** **

P. S., Oakland, Calif.—Yes, Thelma Brown (KGO) is a colored girl. She is the daughter of a Baptist minister and lives with her parents and two younger sisters in Berkeley. Before coming north the family home was in Los Angeles, where Thelma won two coveted scholarships which enabled her to enroll as a student at the University of California. She is now in her senior year and plans upon graduation to dedicate her life to dramatic and literary work. She writes the continuity for her broadcasts, plays her own accompaniment, and until recently... when her studies and professional work usurped her time, directed the choir in her father’s church. Her picture appears in this issue.

H. B. G., San Jose, Cal.—George Rogers (KROW) is six feet tall, weighs 210 pounds, has gray eyes, light hair, lots of it, a good profile and sideburns. He gives his age as 35, swears he is not married, not superstitious and likes nothing better than outdoor life. He is a member of the Actor’s Equity, has appeared in many notable casts in the East and was a regular feature in New York with Station WEAF before coming to the Coast.

Sarah Kreindler, NBC

Juvenile prodigies are, by tradition, pale, bespectacled youngsters who live the one-track lives of genius.

That's why so many persons are astonished when they see Sarah Kreindler, NBC violinist, for the first time.

The slim, dark-eyed girl who looks like Saint Cecelia might have looked if she could have been persuaded to wear fashionable clothes, believes in enjoying a normal, young girl's life.

She's 18, now, but Sarah has been a "prodigy" for so long that her unspoiled charm is a tribute to her own good sense and that of her parents. She was the first of the "child wonders" who have come from San Francisco in recent years, for she was accounted one when she was just six years old and had been studying violin for only seven months.

Sarah had never even seen a violin when she first demanded to play one. Her father, a prosperous San Francisco businessman, had a tiny instrument made to order for her, and took her to Sigmund Anker, famous California teacher. Anker was enthusiastic over her keen ear, and immediately made her his pupil.

By the time Sarah was nine years old she was appearing professionally, and had been the guest artist at a concert with a symphony orchestra. She won two scholarships from the Masters' School of Fine Arts, two from the Curtis Institute, Philadelphia, and was the pupil at different times of Cesar Thompson, Samuel Gardner and Misael Piastro.

She was the second child musician to play over the radio, and this youthful veteran of broadcasting recalls all the various stages of transition through which the newest art has gone. Microphones still looked more like telephones than anything else when Sarah first became acquainted with them, and she and radio are still growing up together.

Outside of her music, Sarah is just an 18-year-old girl; she likes theaters and dancing, and admits that "some day" she hopes to marry.

Loyal Underwood, KNX

Loyal Underwood came out from behind a bushy beard, took a troupe of show girls to the Hawaiian Islands for a four-months' tour, returned to this country and joined the Paramount Pictures-Los Angeles Evening Express station KNX, Hollywood.

Since that time he offers a standing prize to anyone who can find out what he's doing. The aforementioned beard decorated his face for five years prior to the Hawaiian junket because during that half decade he was a featured player in Charlie Chaplin's company of screen fun-makers. Always, says Loyal, they put him behind a bush to portray an aged man. In the early days of broadcasting at KNX, Underwood told the world from microphones in airplanes high in the sky, from the top of Mount Wilson, from the ringside (he started the KNX broadcasts of the Hollywood Legion arena events), and from other odd places.

Perhaps his most spectacular broadcast was his part in the now historic "air-ing" of the Catalina Island swim.

Underwood promoted the event for his station in 1927. From 3 o'clock one morning until 11 o'clock the next morning the boys were hard at it, talking into microphones placed on every conceivable point of vantage. Underwood had to do his descriptive bits, see that the other announcers were fed, wakened when they slept and otherwise needed looking after.

To Underwood goes the credit of being the first announcer to broadcast from the press stand at football games staged in Los Angeles.

Underwood possesses a sheepskin that names him an electrical engineer. Today he can repair any electrical doorbell he can find, but otherwise he's never used his knowledge.

At KNX, aside from these mysterious duties he is willing to bet on, Underwood takes part in the famous "Hap and Sap" programs on Wednesday nights.

Walter Kelsey, KFRC

By MONROE R. UPTON

VERSATILITY Plus! That's Walter Kelsey, KFRC's Assistant Musical Director. Harrison Hollway calls him the musical athlete. Not because he is both a musician and an athlete, which he is, but because of his prowess on so many different musical instruments. Walter not only plays the violin, piano, saxophone, guitar and banjo, but he plays them all exceptionally well. And he sings besides. There are few violinists who play legitimate music well and at the same time can provide convincing jazz. Walter Kelsey can.

As for his athletic prowess, he is skillful in just as many directions as he is in music. He has five trophies for winning tennis tournaments. He won the Gilroy open twice, the Panhandle championship in Idaho twice and the Monterey County championship once. As a golfer he shoots between 70 and 80. He is a good swimmer and baseball player.

By this time you may be thinking that Walter Kelsey is too clever to be true. Edison's recipe for success is verified in his case. He is a hard worker. He is practical and ambitious. Application has developed his natural talent. And yet, in the beginning, down in Santa Barbara when he was eleven years old his parents had to use the usual methods of coaxing, bribery and even stern command to get him to practice on his violin. But after getting a job in a movie palace at the age of thirteen his ambitions were aroused and the pendulum swung in the other direction, his parents couldn't stop him from practicing. He remembers providing the music, together with a pianist, for the picture of the Johnson-Jeffries fight in that little Santa Barbara movie.

His parents moved to Monterey shortly after, and it is down in that neck of the woods that Walter picked up most of his schooling, both in institutions organized for that purpose and outside of them. He learned to speak Mexico's version of the Castilian language from Mexican boys he played with, he fished and swam in Monterey Bay, he played his violin in a picture house and he made weekly visits to the San Jose Conservatory of Music, where he studied under Professor De Lorenzo. He was a sturdy, active, serious youngster.

When Walter was nineteen a musical show called "September Morn," then playing at Salinas, needed a violinist. Thus his baptism in the show business was with that famous marine musical comedy, "September Morn." He did a specialty in the pit, playing a hot fiddle number and topping it off with the banjo. (By that time he had learned to play the banjo.) At Chicago he quit the show to go to Colfax, Washington, with the Mann Brothers to play in their orchestra.

Meanwhile Walter had learned to play the piano and was struggling with arranging and writing music. He spent several seasons at Del Monte directing his own orchestra. He says that he began studying the violin in earnest after returning from the Northwest. Five hours' practice each day was nothing unusual, in addition to his playing. One day he bought a saxophone and kept the neighbors miserable for weeks on end before he managed to tame it.

After Del Monte he went with Anson Weeks, at the Mark Hopkins, where he played, arranged and sang. During his spare time he learned to play the guitar and wrote music.

When you ask Walter about his marriage he looks up quickly and says, in the most serious tone, "I'm really married." Her name was Helen Otis until six years ago, and they were high school sweethearts in Monterey. She also plays the piano and organ and when a child was considered a prodigy.

They have one child, Bob, aged four. Bob knows all of the tunes that come from the radio and can carry a melody without any adult help or advice. He thumps away on the piano for his own amusement. Walter says he will be given piano and violin lessons a little later. But if he is anything like his father he won't stop with violin and piano.
