Foreword

The growing domination of cable over the television industry was fully evident in the Fall of 1993. The networks, asking for payment from cable system operators for the right to carry their broadcast signals, were surprised to find opposition to their demands. Although tentative agreements were reached by the October 6th deadline, some cable households actually turned on their sets to find some or all of the four networks missing. Clearly cable was eager to show who was boss.

The Year in Review

Starting on Sept. 1, 1993 cable tv rates were revised under a Federal Communications Company ruling in an attempt to save customers close to $1 billion a year. Under the new law pay-cable subscribers wishing to hook up cable to more than one television set would pay considerably less than in the past, with rates varying according to cable systems and areas. Despite the overall rate decrease many customers, however, would wind up paying more, most specifically people with basic cable systems encompassing broadcast channels and select services (A&E, CSPAN, etc.). Cable operators were also given permission to raise the rates for a variety of channels including CNN, MTV, Nickelodeon and American Movie Classics.

In August, 1993 a Virginia Federal court allowed the Bell Atlantic Telephone Company to provide video services over its phone lines, stating that the 1984 Cable Communications Policy Act forbidding this expansion was a violation of free speech. The company began testing a video dialtone service in Alexandria, VA, with future testing expanding to parts of New Jersey. Fearing competition the cable industry was opposed to the decision, claiming that the phone company would be raising customer's rates for all kinds of upgrading and changes. Furthermore the decision would end the monopoly of television by the cable industry. Both companies have similar objectives, hoping to make wide expansions into interactive services, work on fiber optic development and provide literally hundreds of cable channels.

The big question was whether cable operators would stand for the ruling allowing broadcasters the right to demand payment from cable systems to carry their signals. On October 6, 1993 the cable companies were given the choice of settling on a fee or eliminating the networks altogether if they chose not to pay. This meant tv watchers would have to go back to antennas to watch

CBS, NBC and ABC. The networks had the option of standing by the "must carry" provision, demanding the cable systems pick them up but forfeiting any sort of payment, or "transmission consent," demanding payment and running the risk of being dropped if prices could not be agreed upon. All the major networks opted for the latter choice. The cable systems' agreement to fork up the money would give the networks access to a sizable revenue. This cash, they believed, would make up for losing so many viewers to cable tv over the past several years. An agreement by the cable companies to the "transmission consent fee" meant they would not be able to charge their subscribers for the increase for one year. After that customers' rates would be raised. Although some areas of the country did find the networks missing come October 6th, tentative agreements were reached for the most part. ABC, NBC and Fox arranged to start new cable channels which would result in a different means of compensation. CBS agreed to let their channels run for free for another year.

The FCC also ruled that all cable companies must have service available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, that all calls for assistance must be answered within 30 seconds, and installation would be within 7 days of an order. Failing to comply with these rules would result in fines.

By way of yet another FCC ruling it was decided that the networks should be allowed to own the rerun rights to their prime-time programs. Traditionally the networks buy most of their prime-time shows from outside producers. In most cases the money paid for the first run network airing to the producers does not cover the cost to produce the show. Instead the producers begin to show profits once individual stations begin paying them for rerun rights. Under the new ruling, the money would not be collected solely by the production companies or studios responsible for the product. This ruling further eliminates previous rules that prohibit networks from producing more than 40 percent of their prime-time shows in-house.

Carolco Pictures entered an agreement with Tele-Communications Inc. with the understanding that the latter company would invest $90 million in the production of four major feature films to be shown on pay-per-view prior to opening in movie theatres. This arrangement was frowned upon by the film and video industries who fear a decrease in audiences when the movies arrive in theatres and, eventually, at video stores. The four films would play on cable tv encrypted to prevent copying and charge about $25 for viewing.

The issue of violence on television finally resulted in the networks agreeing to place advisory warnings on shows with violent content, beginning with the 1993-94 season. Ironically a recent survey showed that the amount of violence had actually decreased during the 1992-93 season from the season before. Figures showed less than 18 violent acts per hour on adult drama shows, down from approximately 26 acts in 1991-92. On children's television the decline showed 18 violent acts per hour in 1992-93, compared to 32 per hour the previous year. Not content with the advisory warnings further bills were being proposed in congress, one requiring new tv sets to have a computer chip allowing violent programs to be blocked and a second asking the FCC to develop new rules on violence resulting in fines if broadcasters overstepped bounds.

Most networks complained that the violence causing all the uproar was more evident on the cable stations, pointing out that the sort of series usually associated with extreme violence, hour long cop shows, were far from prominent on current prime-time scheduling. ABC, however, may have spoken too soon as one of its new shows scheduled for the Fall '93 Season was receiving a lot of heat even before its premiere. Producer Stephen Bochco's "NYPD Blue" was planned as the closest thing to "R" rated prime-time television with its adult depiction of the police world including some raw language, violence and glimpses of nudity. As a result of the controversy as many as thirty ABC affiliates refused to run the show in September.

Hour-long dramas were facing something of a decline in recent years as most of the season's serious fare was swept off the schedule due to extremely low ratings. These shows dropped from the 1992-93 lineup included "Tribeca," "Homicide," "Reasonable Doubts," "Homefront," "Life Goes On," "I'll Fly Away," "The Young Indiana Jones Chronicles," "Crime & Punishment," and "Civil Wars." The most popular hour long programs were of a considerably lighter tone, "Northern Exposure" and "Murder She Wrote."

The final results for the 1992-93 television season showed almost no change from the previous season where the top 10 shows were concerned, with 8 of the same titles repeating. The two new editions were "Northern Exposure" (CBS, at #10) and ABC's "Monday Night Football" (#7). CBS's "60 Minutes" was back at number one for the second year in a row (21.9 rating/36 share), ABC's "Roseanne" was once again number 2 (20.7/31) and Tim Allen's "Home Improvement" (ABC) moved up to 3rd place from its former number 5 spot (19.2/29). Indeed CBS (a 13.3 rating) and ABC (12.4, up from the previous year's 12.2) dominated as NBC's only top ten show, "Cheers," was retired after an eleven year run. The Ted Danson sitcom's final episode received an astounding 45.5 rating/64 share and allowed the network to win the May sweeps period following a relatively weak season. Overall NBC fell from a 12.3 rating in 1991-92 to an 11 rating during 1992-93.

The highest rated new series from the 1992-93 season was CBS's sitcom "Love and War" which came in at number 13 with a 14.7 rating/22 share. The show, however, was facing its second season minus one of its stars, as Susan Dey was replaced by Annie Potts. ABC had a tie at number 16 for its two highest rated new offerings, "Hangin' With Mr. Cooper" and "The Jackie Thomas Show." The latter, nonetheless, was not picked up for the following year. The closest thing NBC had to a new hit show was the Helen Hunt-Paul Reiser sitcom "Mad About You," showing up in 59th place for the year.

The new series premiered during the summer months fared worst of all. Low ratings were posted for such quick tryouts as "Street Match," "Johnny Bago," "Ned Blessing," "The Boys," "Route 66," and "Big Wave Dave's," with little chance that any of them would be picked up as mid-season replacements as hoped. Premiering new Fall entries as early as late August also backfired for two CBS series. Both "Angel-Falls" and "The Trouble With Larry" fared so poorly in the ratings that both were cancelled by mid-September.

Much media attention was given to the onslaught of late night talk shows for the Fall of 1993 with David Letterman, Jay Leno, Chevy Chase, Arsenio Hall, and Ted Koppel all battling out for the largest audience share. Early results showed David Letterman the clear winner, having made a lucrative deal to move from NBC's 12:35 time slot to the more desirable 11:35 position on CBS.

The latest argument questioning the credibility of A. C. Nielsen's ratings systems drew attention to the number of people watching television in bars, college dormitories, hotels and the like. Although this accounts for approximately 4% of all tv watching it is never taken into consideration by the Nielsen company, who feel that these locales constitute a very distracted, unfocused environment and ultimately mean little to advertisers.

Corporate Histories of the Networks

Capital Cities/ABC, Inc.

Like the other major U.S. television networks, ABC had its origins in radio. In the beginning Radio Corporation of America (RCA) owned two radio networks: the Blue and the Red. In 1941 the FCC decreed that the same company could not own two networks, so RCA incorporated the Blue under the name of American Broadcasting System and established it as an independent subsidiary with 116 stations. RCA then sold this network to Edward J. Noble, founder and chairman of the Life Savers Corporation, for $8 million. The name was changed to the American Broadcasting Company in 1944, at which time the network had 197 radio affiliates.

Television arrived for ABC in 1948 when, on April 19, ABC carried its first TV program: "On the Corner," with Henry Morgan, which was sponsored by the Admiral Radio Corp. Later in the year ABC scored two "firsts": the live broadcast of an opera (Verdi's "Otello") from the Metropolitan Opera House in New York and a TV documentary, "The Marshall Plan."

The next big step for ABC came in 1952 with its merger with United Paramount Theatres, the motion picture theatre circuit founded when Paramount Pictures was required under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act to separate its film production unit from its theatres. This merger was engineered by Leonard H. Goldenson, then the president of UPT. The new company was called American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres, Inc.

During the 1950's ABC began operation at a profit although it had to struggle fiercely to acquire new affiliates. In 1954 ABC made a deal with Walt Disney to acquire a 35 per cent interest in Disneyland and all TV programs produced by Disney. The following year ABC signed an exclusive rights contract with Warner Bros. for TV programming.

The 1960's brought many changes to ABC beginning with the introduction of color programming for the fall season of 1962; this was expanded in 1966 to include full color broadcasting. In 1965 AB-PT's name was changed to American Broadcasting Companies, Inc. and the company's corporate headquarters were moved from West 66th Street in New York to 1330 Avenue of the Americas, where they remained until 1989.

High points in the decade of the '60s also included the introduction of the blockbuster theatrical movie to TV with spectacular rating results when "The Bridge on the River Kwai" was viewed (in 1966) by 60 million Americans.

In 1967 the ABC evening news was expanded from 15 minutes to a half hour, and Joey Bishop inaugurated ABC's late-night programming with his talk show.

An attempt to gain control of ABC by Howard Hughes was circumvented by Goldenson in 1968. Hughes said publicly that he abandoned his efforts to acquire the network because of the strong resistance of Goldenson; however, it was speculated elsewhere that he gave up because as new owner of ABC he would have had to attend a public hearing under the auspices of the FCC. The fanatically reclusive Hughes, it was assumed, would never have agreed to come out of seclusion for such an event.

The decade of the Seventies was an eventful one for ABC, too, not the least because in 1972 it was able to operate at a profit for the first time in ten years. Also in the 1976-77 season ABC moved for the first time into first place in the ratings race. It held the lead for the next two years and then dropped back into second place in 1979-80, a position it held until 1983-84 when it dropped to third position. It was unable to rise above that until 1987-88 when it displaced CBS in second place, primarily because of special sports programming, such as the World Series and the Superbowl. It remained second in 1988-89 and

1989-90. In the latter season ABC had the distinctions of having the most talked-about new series of the period—"Twin Peaks"—and the highest-rated new series—"America's Funniest Home Videos."

In 1976 Barbara Walters joined ABC, becoming the first anchorwoman in television history. Her almost $1 million a year salary caused lifted eyebrows among her fellow anchor persons, including Harry Reasoner and Howard K. Smith.

In 1977 the mini-series "Roots" appeared on ABC and became the all-time highest-rated program. This helped immensely in the ratings race, and credit must go in large part to Fred Silverman who two years before had joined the company as president of ABC international. He left in 1978 to go to NBC.

The decade of the Eighties was a turbulent one for the television industry as cable TV and home video began whittling away at their audiences. ABC was no exception. Halfway through the period—in 1985—ABC agreed to be purchased by Capital Cities Communications at a cost of $3.5 billion. 1986 saw formal completion of the takeover and the merged company's name was changed to Capital Cities/ABC, Inc.

With the departure of Goldenson, that year also brought other important changes in management. Daniel B. Burke replaced Frederick J. Pierce as president and chief operating officer. There were also sweeping reductions in personnel in the interests of economy and streamlining. (At least 1,000 employees were fired.)

Budget cuts notwithstanding Capital Cities/ABC chairman Thomas Murphy pledged ABC would not scrimp on programming. Instead the focus was to be on the network's non-programming expenses which accounted for about 30 per cent of the budget. One result was to cut out internally-generated research which was to be contracted for on an ad hoc basis as needed.

Profits at the end of 1990 rose about $70 million. Of the three networks ABC won the ratings battle in news coverage of the war in the Persian Gulf. For two seasons in a row the network could boast having the only new series in the top ten: "America's Funniest People" (1990-1) and "Home Improvement" (1991-2).

Capital Cities/ABC owns eight television stations and 21 radio stations and is a partner in ESPN, the highly successful cable TV sports channel and two other cable TV services—Arts & Entertainment and Lifetime. It also owns publishing operations which include nine daily newspapers, several weeklies and a variety of trade and consumer magazines.

ABC was the only network of the 1992-93 season to gain ground, moving into second place behind CBS, from its previous third place standing. During the season Robert A. Iger became the new network president.

The network became the first to sign a deal with a cable operator (in this case Continental Cablevision) allowing their stations to be carried on cable without paying a fee.

Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc.

CBS first saw the light of day in 1927 as a radio network with 16 stations—United Independent Broadcasters, Inc.—founded by Arthur Judson, a concert tour manager. In need of money, Judson secured backing from Louis Sterling, president of the Columbia Phonograph Company, and changed the network name to Columbia Phonograph Broadcasting System. Later other investors were invited in, the most prominent of whom was William S. Paley, who, on September 26, 1928, at the age of 27, became president of the firm whose name was changed again. Now it was called the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Paley introduced many innovations to radio broadcasting, most significant of which was the signing of an agreement in 1931 with Paramount Pictures whereby film stars were heard on radio for the first time. This laid the groundwork for the CBS policy in television from the outset to feature shows built around stars (Ed Sullivan, Lucille Ball, Arthur Godfrey, Jack Benny, Burns & Allen, Garry Moore, etc.).

Actually CBS was in TV as early as 1931 when it began regularly scheduled TV programming over experimental station W2XAB in New York City. In 1941 CBS began weekly broadcast of black-and-white TV programming over WCBS-TV in New York. By 1948 it had 30 affiliated stations.

The decade of the 1950's brought many important advances. In 1951 CBS broadcast the first live coast-to-coast TV transmission between New York and San Francisco. In 1952 there came opening of Television City in Hollywood—the industry's first self-contained TV production facility. In 1956 "Playhouse 90" made its debut and set new high standards for drama originated on TV.

But the big event of the decade came along early—in 1951—with the debut of "I Love Lucy." The road to creating that phenomenal success was a rocky one. For one thing CBS did not want Desi Arnaz, and signed him only on the insistence of Lucille Ball. Second, the couple wanted to work before a live audience—a practice also anathema to the CBS powers-that-be. Ball and Arnaz persisted, and their efforts led to what is regarded as the invention of the situation-comedy format.

1951 was also the year that Bill Gordon designed the CBS Eye—destined to become one of the most famous logos in the world.

In the field of soap operas CBS was both leader and winner, virtually monopolizing that market from 1951 to 1956. In 1951 it introduced "Search for Tomorrow," which was to become the longest-running show ever in that genre. This was followed by "Love of Life" (1951) "The Guiding Light" (1952)—both overnight hits. "Guiding Light" was still on the air in 1988, as was the fourth soap CBS introduced, "As the World Turns" (1956).

In the late '50s and through the '60s and '70s CBS reigned as king of prime time ratings as tallied by the Nielsen Company. It had tied with NBC in 1969–70 and 1970–71 and ABC led in three seasons; but the rest of the time CBS was Number One. Thus it was quite a jolt to the company when in 1985–86 it slipped to second place and stayed there through the following season. Then came the worst blow of all: in 1987–88 CBS came in third for the first time in TV history.

CBS maintained its long-running lead with such successes as "Gunsmoke" (1957), "The Defenders" (1961), "The Beverly Hillbillies" (1962), "All in the Family" (1972) and "Dallas" (1978). Also helping was "60 Minutes," the news-oriented show, which in 1988 had remained in the Top Ten prime time shows for 11 consecutive seasons.

CBS began the turbulent Eighties with a new president, Thomas Wyman (replacing John D. Backe). Worst year for the company so far in that decade was surely 1985 when the company was sent reeling under three major assaults.

First, Gen. William C. Westmoreland filed a $120 million lawsuit, charging he had been libeled during a 1982 "CBS Reports" documentary. The subsequent trial ended 18 weeks after it began in New York Federal Court after the general heard some of his closest advisers during the Vietnam War testify they supported the CBS documentary contention in that he had deliberately underestimated the enemy troop strength on the field. Fearing he would lose, Westmoreland dropped the action before it could go to a jury.

Second, Senator Jesse Helms (Rep., N.C.) and his Fairness in Media committee launched an unfriendly takeover bid to "become Dan Rather's boss." (Rather had replaced Walter Cronkite as chief news anchor in 1981.)

Third, Atlanta broadcast entrepreneur Ted Turner made an unfriendly junk-bond bid for CBS. In a clever move the network bought up 21 per cent of its own stock for $956 million and thwarted the takeover. Turner went after MGM/UA instead.

Meanwhile Laurence A. Tisch, a former theatre chain executive, had become the major stockholder in CBS and in 1986 he instigated some sweeping changes in the interests of cost-cutting and efficiency. Some 700 jobs were eliminated at the CBS Broadcast Group. Tisch also removed Wyman as president, named himself chief executive officer and induced founder William Paley to return to active duty as acting chairman of the board.

In 1988, stung by CBS' worst prime time rating performance ever, Tisch shuffled executive ranks again, naming Howard Stringer, previously president of CBS News, as president of the Broadcasting Group. He replaced Gene F. Jankowski, who was named to the newly created position of chairman of the Broadcast Group. He also brought in Jay L. Kriegel, a lawyer, one-time political aide and former executive for the Tisch family's Loews Corporation. Kriegel, who had no background in television, was named CBS senior vice president and became part of a triumvirate with Tisch and Stringer to devise strategy to pull the network out of its decline in the prime-time ratings competition which had begun with its drop to second place in 1986–87 and to third in 1987–88, 1988–89 and 1989–90. Their plans are essentially twofold: 1) to improve programming and 2) to streamline operations so they can concentrate on broadcasting. (Tisch has sold parts of the company, including records and publishing divisions.)

Kriegel was instrumental in bringing to CBS in 1990 Jeff Sagansky, former head of Tri-Star Pictures, as president of the entertainment division. Sagansky has said his goals are to be different; to attract star performers; and to broaden the base of CBS viewers, which has grown older and less desirable to advertisers.

Starting in 1991–2 CBS became the number one network for two years in a row based on the success of such shows as "60 Minutes" (the number one show for both '91-'92 and '92-'93), "Murphy Brown," "Murder She Wrote," and "Northern Exposure."

National Broadcasting Company

Television began for NBC in 1928, when on April 4, it acquired from the Federal Communications Commission a permit to operate an experimental station, W2XBS. Actual transmission from the Empire State Building did not begin, however, until October 30, 1931. Some eight years later the network began broadcasting on a regular basis, beginning with the opening of the New York World's Fair on April 30, 1939.

NBC, like the other networks, was an outgrowth of radio operations. Radio Corp. of America, General Electric and Westinghouse jointly launched a network in 1926 which had 31 stations; 25 in a network called Red and 6 in one called Blue. A year later it was forced to sell the Blue network to ABC (see history of that network), keeping for itself the one known as Red.

In 1930 RCA bought out its partners, GE and Westinghouse, and NBC became its wholly owned subsidiary.

NBC became a TV network on January 12, 1940, when two stations, WNBC-TV, New York, and WRGB-TV, Schenectady, New York, carried the first network programming. In June, 1941, the FCC granted NBC the first commercial TV license and a month later it had four advertisers signed up: Procter & Gamble, Lever Brothers, Sun Oil and Bulova.

After World War II NBC scored two big "firsts." On June 19, 1946, Gillette became the first advertiser to sponsor a TV network show, the Joe Louis-Billy Conn boxing match. That same year Bristol-Myers became the first sponsor of a network TV series, "Geographically Speaking."

NBC can also claim to be the first to introduce coast-to-coast network TV coverage. On September 4, 1951, when the U.S.-Japanese peace treaty was signed in San Francisco, its cameras were on hand.

In 1952 NBC pioneered early morning programming when it introduced "The Today Show."

NBC can also claim the first regularly scheduled network color series: "The Marriage," launched in 1954. That same year it achieved the first west-to-east TV transmission with the television of the Tournament of Roses Parade in color. At the start of the 1965-66 season it could declare it was the "only all-color network."

In 1968 NBC introduced new forms of TV programming with "The Name of the Game," a series that incorporated feature-film elements into a 90-minute show. This then spawned the "NBC Mystery Movie"—a series of programs composed of "Columbo," "Hec Ramsey," "McMillan and Wife," "McCloud," "Amy Prentiss," "McCoy," and "Quincy, M.E."

In 1972 NBC broke new ground again when it introduced "The Tomorrow Show" shown from 1:00 a.m. to 2:00 a.m. This was a talk program and it demonstrated that in the wee small hours of the morning something more than re-runs and old movies could be shown. In 1974 another late-night show called "Weekend" was begun.

In 1976 NBC's telecast of "Gone with the Wind" drew the largest audience to that date for an entertainment program. In 1978 its "Holocaust" mini-series attracted 107 million viewers and won 21 major awards.

Such programs helped NBC in the ratings, but in 1976-77 it fell to third place, where it stayed until 1983-84. (Ironically 1976 was the year in which NBC celebrated its 50th anniversary in broadcasting with a four-hour, star-filled special.) In 1984-85 it edged up to second place, and the following year it was ranked Number One in prime-time viewing for the first time in the three decades of such tallying by Nielsen. (For the record NBC did tie for first place with CBS in 1969-70 and 1970-71.)

NBC held on to its first place standing for the following five seasons, through 1990-1. Long-time hit series in the five-year period included "The Golden Girls," "Cheers," and "The Cosby Show." Despite the network's number one standing figures showed a steady decline in viewers, even for the tried and true successes. In May of 1991 Brandon Tartikoff, credited for pulling the network up from third place 11 years earlier, departed from NBC to become head of Paramount Pictures. When "The Cosby Show" ran its final first run episode on April 30, 1992 it became NBC's highest-rated series finale episode ever with a 28.0 rating/45 share. The 1992 Summer Olympics also gave the network its widest ratings margin of all time, 12 points over 2nd place CBS. The May 1993 season finale of the long running "Cheers" gave NBC a smashing 15.1 average rating, a figure usually reserved for major sports events.

Along with the other networks NBC moved into a period of turmoil during the decade of the Eighties, fighting off rising costs and competition from cable TV and home video. In 1986 General Electric Corporation purchased RCA (NBC's parent) for $6.28 billion; GE, it will be remembered, helped launch the radio network in 1926 which led to the development of NBC-TV. This brought personnel changes led by the replacement of Grant A. Tinker as NBC chief executive officer by Robert Wright, although Wright was not given Tinker's chairman title, that being taken by John F. Welch of GE. Instead Wright was named president as well as chief executive officer. Along with its competition NBC started cutting staff and budgets in 1986.

NBC owns television stations located in Chicago, Cleveland, Los Angeles, New York City and Washington, D.C. GE, the parent company, also owns TV station subsidiaries in Denver and Miami, which are operated under the aegis of NBC, which also has eight radio stations in various cities.

STATISTICS

HISTORICAL DATES

- FIRST OVER-THE-AIR TOLL-TV EXPERIMENTS: 1950, Skiatron system tested over WOR-TV in New York City. 1951, Telemeter system tested over KTLA-TV, Los Angeles; Zenith tested its system over its own experimental station in Chicago.
- FEBRUARY 10, 1955: Federal Communications Commission started proceedings to determine whether it should authorize TV stations to transmit programs paid for on a subscription basis. Study involved 92 docket volumes reflecting the views of over 25,000 persons on legal, technical and policy questions.
- MAY 23, 1957: FCC concluded it had authority to authorize use of TV broadcast frequencies for subscription operations if it found it were in the public interest to do so. Did not define whether this service should be classified as "broadcasting" or some other.
- OCTOBER 17, 1957: FCC adopted its first report on the proceedings and declared it would consider applications to conduct trial pay-TV operations over TV stations provided certain conditions were met.
- MARCH 24, 1959: FCC issued third report saying it was ready to consider any pay-TV application by a commercial TV station conforming with requirements, among which were limitation of three-year trial authorizations to markets where there were at least four commercial TV stations (including the pay-TV one), and one trial system allowed per market.
- JUNE 22, 1960: Hartford Phonevision Co. (later RKO General Phonevision Co.), a licensee of WHCT (Channel 18), Hartford, CT, applied for authority to conduct a three-year trial subscription-TV operation. Application granted February 23, 1961. Operations began June 29, 1962, and concluded in January, 1969.
- JULY 3, 1967: FCC's subscription TV committee submitted a fourth report proposing an over-the-air subscription TV service. Rules were designed to integrate subscription TV into the total TV system so good programming would continue to be available over regular TV stations.
- DECEMBER 12, 1968: FCC formally established over-the-air subscription TV as a regular broadcast service.
- 1975: Home Box Office became the first in the television industry to use a satellite for regular transmission of programming.
- 1984: The FCC officially deregulated the cable industry, permitting pricing flexibility and enabling operators to raise charges for basic cable services by adding new channels while reducing service charges for premium channels.
- 1985: The Court of Appeals struck down the "must carry" rules which required cable operators to carry all local broadcast stations.

DIRECTOR, OFFICE FOR FILM & BROADCASTING

Henry Herx

The Department of Communication of the U.S. Catholic Conference (the public policy agency of the Catholic Bishops of America) addresses the Church's apostolate in and through the print and electronic media. It provides advice and technical assistance on more than 40 radio and network television programs a year.

The Department also publishes a weekly guide to current films and television programs that appear in 100 plus papers of the Catholic Press in the United States. In this activity the Department reviews all current nationally-released theatrical films, and provides information about resources for film utilization and education (16mm films, books, magazines, festivals). The critical reviews are addressed to the moral, as well as the aesthetic, dimensions of motion pictures, and are the result of a consensus based on the reactions of the Department's professional staff and Board of Consultants. All films reviewed are also classified according to the Department's rating system. In addition, this weekly service carries information and evaluative studies on trends and issues pertinent to television, with an emphasis on educational material.

The Department also plays a liaison role for the USCC with the film and broadcasting industries, national media, and religious agencies and organizations. It is a member of OCIC and UNDA, the international Catholic organizations for film and broadcasting, respectively. Consultation and information services are also provided for the Pontifical Commission for Social Communications and the communication offices of national episcopal offices throughout the world.

With staff assistance, the episcopal members of the Communication Committee administer funds raised through the Catholic Communication Campaign, an annual collection. These funds are used to support a variety of media programs, projects, and studies in this country and the Third World.

British Year in Review

WITH the economic recession, depressed advertising revenues and the consequences of the Channel 3 licensing round, 1993 brought fresh challenges to both the ITC (Independent Television Commission) and its licensees. At the same time, headed by the newly-appointed Director-General John Birt, the BBC (British Broadcasting Corporation), which is funded by the government-imposed licence fee on owners of TV sets, began to seriously face up to its financial problems—costs were out of control and inefficiency rampant. Moreover, this was all happening while discussions were proceeding about the future of the BBC's Charter, due for renewal in 1996. Key issues to be debated are the kind of programmes and service the BBC should provide and pay for; how it should respond to commercial challenges; whether the Corporation's public service commitment is out of date and should carry some form of advertising.

Inevitably, there have been cut-backs on programme expenditure with the result that both networks are losing audiences. Viewers complain about "dull and predictable" programmes. One survey also revealed a "cultural under-class," with lower income families watching far more television—an average 34 hours a week compared with 23 in the highest income groups. Despite all these problems, BBC Enterprises, the commercial arm of the Corporation, continues to report record profits of £60 million ($90 million) with total sales, including co-production deals of £233 million ($349 million). BBC Lionheart is now the leading distributor of foreign-produced television in North America. The opening of a sales office in Germany consolidated the Corporation's position as the largest television exporter in Europe.

Best selling programmes were led by "Pole to Pole," "The House of Eliott" and "Realms of the Russian Bear." Format sales have also been successful. In Australia multi-media deals with Polygram Video and Reed International have been concluded. Co-productions worth £28.7 million ($43 million) were negotiated with broadcasters, producers and distributors in more than 20 countries, totalling over 100 deals. The largest source of co-production is also coming from the British independent television sector. UK Gold was launched in the UK with programmes from the BBC archives, exceeding the forecast of its share of the cable and satellite audience, while BBC Video became the number one sell-through label in the UK. Commenting on this success story, James Arnold-Baker, Chief Executive of BBC Enterprises, said "We are now firmly established, at home and abroad, as leaders in the development of multi-media marketing opportunities linked to BBC programmes."

Among the increasing number of cable and satellite channels, the dominant player is still BSkyB which has made substantial progress in establishing the UK's first major television subscription business using its film channels. Now, despite having accumulated debt problems, the satellite company recently announced a relaunch of its existing services with commentators voicing the opinion that "BSkyB was coming-of-age." Not surprisingly, this competition from the film channels pushed up the prices of films, series and sports rights for terrestrial broadcasters simultaneously with the end of the advertising boom.

The ITC also licenses and regulates cable, local delivery and satellite services. These total 45 Satellite licenses and 5 licenses for programme services. Approximately two-thirds of these were being used at the end of 1992. After a slow start, the Cable Television Association reports that cable television companies provide a local, focused service, with over 150 individual franchises. Currently, 58 are active and over 70 will be operating by the end of 1993.

Cable networks will cover 75 percent of the country's population within 10 years. Over £1 billion has been invested to build cable networks passing some 2 million homes, part of a projected £6 billion investment. In addition to supplying the BBC, ITV and the Astra channels (all BSkyB channels, MTV, CNN and the Children's Channel) cable exclusive channels include Bravo, The Discovery Channel, The Parliamentary Channel, The Learning Channel, and, of course, local programming.

The majority of overseas material on the networks still originates in the USA although, in recent years, Australian series and feature films have made their impact. The CEA (Cinema Exhibitors Association) maintains its two-year holdback on feature films being televised, although this does not apply to home-viewing, where a video movie can be in the home within six weeks of general release. There has been some relaxation of the exhibitors' ruling that any film on a budget not exceeding £4 million ($7.6 million) may be screened on television immediately after its theatrical release is those responsible for its marketing decide that this is appropriate.

The ITC has also expressed concern at the build-up of screen violence on programmes, despite a low level of viewer complaints. "Terrestrial, cable and satellite licensees should all take steps to ensure that there is a reduction in the amount of violence shown" said an ITC report. Broadcasters are asked to pay particular attention to films. Violence has also been the main pre-occupation of the British Board of Film Classification (BBFC). Its annual report revealed that cuts for excessive violence, the use of easily imitable weapons, or unarmed combat techniques, were made in 13 cinema films.

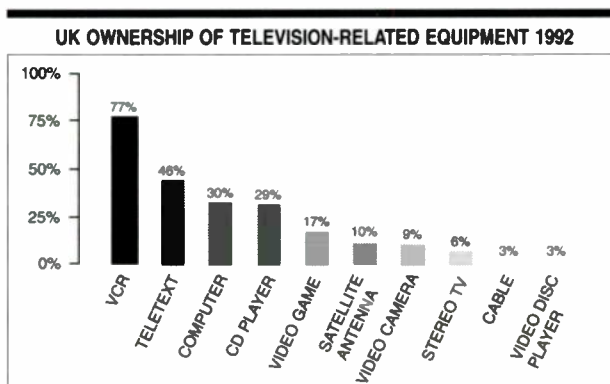

Cinema audiences are on the increase and home video is holding its own. Authorities estimate that, by the year 2000, some 45 percent of UK homes will have satellite or cable TV, so those terrestrial operators had better look to their laurels.

UK OWNERSHIP OF TELEVISION-RELATED EQUIPMENT

The nation's households are continuing to acquire the means of entertaining themselves at home, despite the depth of the current recession. The majority of respondents (67%) in this year's annual survey of public opinion about television carried out by the ITC claimed ownership of at least one television set, compared with 57% in 1991, and 83% said that they had at least one other item of home entertainment equipment.

Households with children under 16 living at home (around a third of all television homes) claim a significantly higher ownership of television-related equipment. VCR penetration reaches 91% with home computers at 51%, video games at 33% and satellite reception at 14%. As with all households, ownership of video cameras in family homes showed the greatest year-on year rise, doubling from 7% to 14%.

OWNERSHIP UK CABLE FRANCHISES

Changes in ownership have dominated activity in the cable industry over the last few months. Following the trend towards regional consolidation, General Cable, a subsidiary of French utilities group Compagnie Generale des Eaux, and Nynex, the New York and New England telephone company, have substantially increased their potential cable territory by taking over further franchises in Yorkshire and the North-West respectively.

There are now 58 broadband cable franchises in operation in the UK, seven of which have been launched during the last year. Of these, the majority are owned by one of a few multiple-system operators, or MSOs. The current top ten are as follows:

	Service Start	Houses Connected	Houses Passed	% Penetration	Majority Owner
*Birmingham	Dec '89	39,628	109,443	36.2	Comcast/Telewest

INDEPENDENT TELEVISION COMMISSION (ITC)

33 Foley Street, London, W1P 7LB. Tel: 071 255 3000. FAX: 071 306 7800.

Founded in 1991, the ITC was created by Parliament under the terms of the Broadcasting Act 1990 to license and regulate non-BBC television services including Channel 3 (ITV), 4 and the proposed Channel 5, cable, satellite and 'additional services'.

ITC replaced the Independent Broadcasting Authority (IBA), responsible for the provision of independent television and radio services, and the Cable Authority, responsible for the provision of cable services. The regulation of independent radio services is now the responsibility of the Radio Authority.

ITC staff regulate all services through license conditions and through its various codes on program content, advertising, sponsorship and technical standards.

AFGHANISTAN

People's Radio & Television Afghanistan, Post Office Box 544, Kabul; 8 stations, 100,000 sets. System: PAL & SECAM.

ALBANIA

Radiotelevisione Shqiptar, Rruga Ismail Qemali, Tirana, government-owned experimental station, broadcasts sixteen hours weekly to some 3 million sets, many of them located in public places so that segments of the populace not owning sets can view the programs.

ARGENTINA

Population: 33,100,000

Number of TV Sets: 7.4 million in 1992.

Number of VCRs: 3 million.

Number of Cable Systems: Approximately 1,000 cable systems transmitting a dozen or more channels, making Argentina the number one cable market in Latin America. Although certain cities have about 30-40% of their homes wired, Buenos Aires has only some 7% equipped.

Trends: Offering an average of 30 channels to viewers there are an estimated 1,000 cable systems in the country, with subscribership growing at 40% a year. Buenos Aires has close to 500,000 cable homes with a service rate of $25-$50 per month, averaging out the market at $15 million a month. Most successful is channel Telefe, with 800 cable outlets and over 100 affiliates via Panamsat satellite, reaching some 1.5 million homes. 70% of the programming is in-house production, necessitating the rental of former film studio facilities to house all the activity.

ATC, the government channel, has been left in the dust with debts totaling $15 million. A deal whereby ATC debts would be paid off in a 20 year bond giving creditors 25% on the dollar, payable in 16 years, is being negotiated with private investors.

AUSTRALIA

Population: 17,400,000.

Number of Television Sets: 7,910,000; most homes have two sets.

Number of VCRs: 403,000.

TV Networks: Seven, Nine, and Ten—commercial; ABC and SBS—publicly-funded; 35 regional, independent stations.

Satellite Service: SKY Channel DBS sports service (subscriptions at bars and clubs).

Trends: The Australia Broadcasting Authority has reported increased ad sale revenues totaling $122 million, up to $160 million from previous years. Contributing to this was the rise in cost for the sale of T.V. shows by 80%, overseas programming cost of 16%, lower interest payments and a drop in license fees of 40%.

The three commercial networks, 7, 9 and 10, collectively grossed $150 million. Out of the three, 9 invested more than $A25 million ($17.5 million) in T.V. production.

As of January 1993, more than 200 bids have been placed for microwave licenses, recently made available by the government, which are the prelude to pay-T.V. Among the major bidders, Australia Capital Equity agency has put in a bid for 22 licenses and Time Warner Australia for six. However, a ban has been imposed until December 1994, until rules and regulations for operations can be completed.

AUSTRIA

Population: 7.6 million.

Number of TV Sets: 2,942,000.

Austria's only TV and radio network, the Austrian Broadcasting Corp (ORF), an independent public corporation, operates two TV channels FS 1, which broadcasts from 9 a.m. until midnight, and FS 2, which broadcasts from the afternoon to midnight.

Of Austria's 2,760,000 households, over 95% have at least one TV set. On an average, ORF TV reaches approximately 72% of the country's 7,600,000 people daily with prime time viewership roughly 55% of the population. Additionally, in each of Austria's nine provinces, ORF has regional studios for local broadcasting of nine hours daily. Approximately 60% of ORF's revenue comes from radio and TV license fees, while 40% comes from radio and TV advertising.

Address: ORF-Zentrum Wien, A-1136 Wien, Würzburggasse 30. Tel: 0222 878780.

BAHRAIN

Bahrain TV, P.O. Box 1075, Manama, Bahrain, operates 1 channel and 1 relay for some 185,952 color sets.

BANGLADESH

Pilot station established in 1964 by government. Now includes originating station at Dacca with relay stations at Chittagong, Sylhet, Rangpur, Sathkira, Rangamati and others. Address Bangladesh TV, Rampura, Dhaka-17, 510,000 sets.

BELGIUM

Population: 9.99 million.

Number of TV Sets: 4 million in 1992.

Cable Penetration: Approximately 95%.

Local Channels: 6

Trends: An acquisition budget of $45 million, exceeding government subsidies, has been drawn for Belgium's first commercial broadcaster, VTM. After three years of operation, the station holds a 31% prime time audience share making VTM a major financier in the Flemish-speaking Flanders. In contrast were the economic conditions of French-speaking Wallonia which showed a reduction in program acquisition at all world markets.

Breaking the monopoly held by commercial channel RTL-TV1 for over 35 years, is French channel TF1. Prohibited from airing Belgian advertisements, the station still holds the region's largest audience share at 15%. After 5 years in operation, Film Net is leading the pack in pay-TV with 95,000 subscribers. Canal Plus Belgique is close behind with 80,000, though plans are in the making to work in conjunction with French-language pubcaster RTBF to launch a new channel in Flanders.

The year has started with the enforcement of the European Commission's (EC) new directive, "Television Without Frontiers". The move is a positive step towards homogenizing existing rules, settling minimum standards for programming and advertising, plus stimulating cross-border co-production and broadcasting. However, non-EC program producers, distributors and foreign industries are very unhappy with the ruling in respect to station imposed quotas.

Belgium and Luxembourg are enjoying a wide array of programming as the country has 20-25 TV channels via satellite. Attributing to the rich market, is the combined 10.2 million population, most of whom are multilingual.

Since its inception in 1989, VTM has been most successful with 44% of the market share and posting an impressive 553% return on investment to shareholders. Their annual budget is $45 million plus, for new shows and movies. Not all stations have been so fortuitous, as RTBF is required to reinvest 50% of its ad revenues into independent productions and is experiencing difficulties communicating with out-of-state co-producers.

Film Net Plus, a derivative of Brussels-based Film Net has gotten its second wind with pay-TV. After a long bout with decreased subscribership and financial uncertainty, they now have over 200,000 subscribers, varied programming and are positioning themselves to obtain a second channel. This station will be devoted to feature films and offer both channels for the price of one.

Compagnie Luxembourgeoise de Telediffusion (CLT) is probably the busiest industry major with its expansive empire covering every nuance from film, tv, and radio to media insurance.

BRAZIL

Population (1990): 145,200,000.

TV Sets: 32 million as of 1991.

System Used: PAL-M, an adaptation of the German system PAL (phase alternate line) to American system NTSC.

Trends: Rede Globo is holding steady with a 60% market share in ad revenues of an industry valued at $1.3 billion. Second in command with a 20% share is the Silvio Santos network followed by TV Bandeirantes with an 8% share. A mere 12% is left, to be divided-up by the remaining stations. Of these stations, Manchete tried the hardest to break the leading web by building lavish facilities as it owned and operated stations throughout the state and had close to 40 affiliates. Still unable to become a stiff competitor, the network was sold to the IBF Group for $120 million, including all assets and debts totaling almost twice the sale price, leaving them only a 5% market share.

Coming on strong in the pay-TV sector are networks TVA and Globosat. TVA is boasting some 80,000 subscribers while Globosat (a Rede Globo subsidiary), with feeds from all the U.S. and Italian majors, has 40,000 viewers and offers 4 channels. Being revised in the Brazilian Congress is a new cable law, as 16 cable franchise licenses have been granted in 71 cities, though only 20 are operational. Multicanal is the largest with 7,500 subscribers, operating six small systems. Definitive cable legislation should be enacted by the end of 1993.

TV revenues: The total revenue of the broadcasting industry for the year ended August 31, 1992, including the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, was $C2,570.0 million. Expenses were $C3,591.3 million, which left the industry with a net operating loss of $C1,020.3 million. Revenues for privately-owned television stations increased 6.0% to $C1,460.5 million. Operational expenses representing 96.3% of total revenue compared to 101.1% in 1991. The net operating income revenue ratio of privately-owned television operations before income taxes and other adjustments increased to 3.6% compared to -1.1% in 1991. Total revenue of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation (CBC) in 1992 (including NewsWorld) increased to $C321.9 million in 1991. The net cost of CBC operations decreased from $C1,007.5 million to $C1,004.1 million.

Number of TV sets: Color televisions are in virtually every home, and households continue to acquire them. In 1992, over four in ten households (42.7%) had two or more color television sets, up from 40.6% in 1991, and compared with only 12.3% ten years ago. The province of Ontario led with an estimated 1,670 million households owning one television and 1,933 million had two or more, followed by the province of Québec with an estimated 1,222 million owning one television and 1,417 million owning two or more.

Cable TC revenues/subscribers: In 1992, the cable television industry, including discretionary and other services, reported revenues of $1.9 billion, a 8.7% increase over 1991. Total revenue from basic cable television operations increased by 7.5% to $1,588.1 million from $1,477.6 million. Total revenue from discretionary and other services increased by 14.7% to $3,576.9 million from $311.9 million. Net operating income, before other adjustments and income tax, for the cable television industry increased 33.1% to $345.4 million from $259.5 million in the previous year. The total number of subscribers (direct and indirect) increased by 2.4% to 7.5 million from 7.3 million in the previous year. The number of pay-TV subscribers in relation to the total number of subscribers increased to 60.7% in 1992 from 31.3% the previous year. This jump was due to a significant increase in the number of extended basic subscribers. Over seven in ten households (71.4%) subscribe to a cable television service compared to 58.9% ten years ago. The province of British Columbia had the largest number of these subscribers (83.9%) and the province of Saskatchewan the lowest (54.6%).

Cable Companies: In 1992, there were 2,022 cable systems across all the provinces licensed by the Canadian Radio-Television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC).

Trends: According to a study by Megatec S.A., the largest market research company in Chile, commercial time sales grew by an astounding 34.5% in 1992. This was principally due to the 10.4% real growth rate of the economy and the unanimously bullish projections for the next few years.

In 1992, the system of "People Meter" was inaugurated in Santiago, the nation's capital. In the long run, this system of measuring ratings will be much more reliable than the previous survey system. The "People Meter" is in 300 homes, supposedly representative of the population. However in the first year of operation, the channels which have shown an apparent drop in their ratings have challenged the methodology of the system. It must also be remembered that the viewing habits of the 300 homes in Santiago are not necessarily representative of the preferences of the rest of the country (Santiago accounts for 39.1% of the total population).

According to the "People Meter," in the first half of 1993, Universidad Católica Television widened its lead over the state-owned Televisión Nacional de Chile. Last year, TVN had caught up to and sometimes even surpassed U. Cat. in the nightly prime-time programming. However in 1993, the popularity of U. Cat.'s "telenovela" ("Marron Glace") has provided an insurmountable lead-in for the rest of the nightly programming. U. Cat. has traditionally enjoyed a tremendous viewer loyalty. For example, whenever an international soccer match is shown simultaneously on both U. Cat. and TVN, the public prefers to watch it on U. Cat. by a huge margin over TVN.

The structure of the nightly weekday programming is as follows: 8 p.m.—9 p.m.: Telenovela. 9 p.m.—10 p.m.: News. After 10 p.m.: Variety specials, premiere movies or journalistic programs. It seems that a popular telenovela is the key to successful prime-time programming. Liquor and cigarette advertising cannot be shown until after 10 p.m.

COLOMBIA

Population: 34, 220,000
Number of TV Sets: 18 million in 1992.

Trends: TV majors RTI, Caracol TV and 1 Radio Cadena Nacional (RCN) who have been keeping the market alive and well with stockpiles of domestic programming, are now branching out into the international scene. RCN's annual $6.5 million budget devotes 60% to national programming while the remaining 40% is foreign. With high-tech production facilities and roughly 250 employees, the network lasts 125 hours yearly for production purposes, which have included a 200 episode novela.

Also focusing on series production with a $7 million budget and a staff of 300 is RTI, which has captured 70% of the domestic market. Strategies for building across-the-border trade have included hiring international talent as well as established distributors.

Number of TV Sets: 4,800,000.
Number of TV households: 3,300,000.

Trends: A split in the nation has revamped the country's television industry, necessitating a complete restructuring in operations as well as programming. The first broadcasting license has been awarded to American financiers Mark Baker and Ronald Lauder for operating Century 21 TV in the Czech Republic. The nation's other two broadcast licenses are held by Czech pubcaster CTV who is looking to Cannes to fill 40% of its airtime. CNN has established itself on Czech airwaves with 9 hours of daily programming. Monetary problems are looming large as the country lost one third of its viewers with the split and financial considerations did not alter respectively.

Also shopping in Cannes is STV, representing the Slovakia Republic. Looking for comic relief, their primary program interests lie in comedies, with additional attention towards quality miniseries, features and telefilms.

Both regions are experiencing a boom in the cable area and Cable Plus has been fulfilling their needs nicely. Subscription orders have reached over 400,000 and Time Warner has forecasted subscribership to reach as many as 1.5 million homes.

DENMARK

Population: 5.2 million.
Number of TV Homes: 2.2 million (1 million with cable).
Cable Homes: Approx. 1 million.
Satellite Dish Homes: Approx. 100,000.

Trends: DR/TV and TV-2 are struggling to stay afloat as financial woes have embattled the two networks. DR/TV has an annual budget of $300 million, mainly consumed by high production costs and chronic overstaffing, with some 2,000 employees. Though TV-2 has a much smaller staff, their start-up debts total some $154 million. Its ad agency, TV-R is government controlled and has raked in some $106 million in revenues annually. That, however, has not alleviated the problem. The revenues are approximately $25 million short of projections, forcing them to make $10 million in cutbacks. The situation has been somewhat eased though by a freeze on debt-interest payments until the end of 1993 and a small subsidy of $28 million. This will not cover production of the much in demand, prestigious, in-house fiction series which has been replaced with news, talk shows and debates.

EGYPT

Date of Inauguration: July, 1960.

Development of Channels: One channel when emission began in 1960; second channel in July, 1961. Color television was introduced in Egypt in 1976. In 1982 a system was adopted by which channels were separated on the basis of specialization so that each channel acquired a character of its own in its programs.

Television Channels: Main channels: The main or the national channel: This is the principal television channel. Channel Two: This channel is of a cultural character. Its programs present local and world events in Arabic, English and French. Local Channels: These are mainly concerned with development and social services. Channel Three: Greater Cairo's channel, it was inaugurated on October 6, 1985. It serves the governorates of Cairo, Giza and El-Qaliubia. Channel Four: It is the Suez Canal Zone channel. It serves the governorates of Port Said, Ismailia and Suez. Channel Five: It is the Alexandria channel. It was inaugurated in October, 1990 and serves the governorates of Alexandria and El-Beheira.

The Information Channel (Teletext): This service is transmitted to all TV viewers regardless of the availability of a decoder. TELETEXT transmits a certain number of pages to be rotated automatically when there is no visual transmission.

The viewers can read the transmitted pages in Arabic on Cairo channel one, and in English on Cairo channel two, while listening to a background of selected music. A viewer having a decoder may see the latest news at the bottom of the screen while watching the usual TV programs.

Two more new local channels will start transmitting in October, 1993: Channel six to serve the governorates of the Delta; Channel seven to serve the governorates of Upper Egypt.

Television Studios: (1989-1990) 12 studios. Main building: 8 studios serving channels one, two and three, four studios for program production, one news studio. One studio for on-air broadcasting.

Annexed Units: French channel room; International channel room; 2 control rooms; 8 outdoor recording units; 4 telecinema halls; Main control room operating according to most advanced technology; 8 translation rooms; Local channels: 4 studios to serve channels four and five.

News Exchange Via Satellites: Through B/Y PAL/system: transmission/reception; through B/Y US and Japanese agencies: transmission/reception; through Arabsat: transmission/reception.

Satellite Transmissions: 1) The Egyptian Satellite Channel (ESC) transmits its programs through the Higher Power Transponder S-Band, in the ARABSAT, covering all Arab countries besides Europe, Africa and West Asia. Down Link Frequency: 2560—5 MHz; Polarization: Vertical; Type of Modulation: FM; Carrier Deviation: Peak to peak deviation at cross over frequency 1.512 MHz and 1 volt-Peak to peak level test tone: 14 MHz; Audio De-Emphasis Characteristics: According to C.C.I.T.T. REC. J.17; Audio Sub-Carrier Deviation: Peak Frequency Deviation AC O-DBM-Test tone frequency of 1.42: 50 KHZ. 2) The Egyptian News Company (C.N.E.). An Egyptian joint-stock company cooperates with U.S. Cable News Network C.N.N., with the capital sharing of 60% for ERTU, 20% for the Egyptian Private sector and 20% for the American side. The service of C.N.N. will be received round the clock and re-transmitted to the subscribers through a decoding system, against monthly subscription; 3) Canal France International (CFI). Under a protocol of cooperation between ERTU and CFI, ERTU receives six hours transmission of CFI programs per day. CFI items are subject to censorship to suit the values, traditions and characteristics of Egyptian society.

ETHIOPIA

System: PAL.

FINLAND

Population: 5,026,000.

Number of TV Sets: 1.9 million in 1992.

Number of TV Channels: 3

System used: PAL.

Finland has a three-channel television system that differs considerably from the other countries. There is at present in Finland one radio and television operation license which has been granted to the Finnish Broadcasting Company, Oy Yleisradio Ab. The existence of MTV, Oy Mainow-TV-Reklam Ab, which is a private commercial TV company, is acknowledged in the same license.

Launched in Sept., 1986 semi-public Kolmoskanava (TV-3 Finland) owned by pubcaster YLE, commercial MTV and Nokia Industries, reaches 800,000 Finnish households (50%). Its programming balances foreign and domestic fare, news, documentaries, and feature films, series and soap operas. It now airs 7 hours a day—more on weekends.

In 1989 TV 4 was launched as a southern Finland over-the-air service picking up programming from Sweden's SVT and broadcasting to Swedish-speaking areas of Finland.

The basis for official relations between the companies were laid down in more detail in the basic agreement concluded in 1976. Television broadcasting in Finland is under parliamentary control. The Administrative Council of the Finnish Broadcasting Company appointed by Parliament is the highest organ exercising program policy. It has two functions. The Administrative Council exercises program policy control over both companies. In addition, as its name implies, it is the highest administrative organ in the Finnish Broadcasting Company.

MTV has its own corresponding administrative council.

As a bilingual country Finland also has programs in Swedish on all TV-channels.

Some 19 hours per week—out of the total of 75—are sold by Oy Yleisradio Ab to MTV. MTV produces nearly 43% of its programs.

Helsinki TV, owned by Sanoma Publishing, a division of Finnish Eurocable, is a cable operator with a combination service of free and pay TV reaching 400,000 of Finland's cable households. In 1987 Sanoma set up Eurocable which owns Norway's Janco Cable, 31% of Ireland's Cork Communications and 10% of London's Westminster Cable.

Commercial operator, Mainos TV (MTV) no longer shares airtime on pubcaster YLE's two channels as it has obtained its own frequency. Competing against the high quality channels, they hold a viewing market share of 40%, leaving YLE with 400 hours of viewing time to fill. Though prices have stabilized, the 10% devaluation of the Finnish mark has reduced purchasing power.

FRANCE

Population: 56,300,000.

Television Sets: 23,200,000

Television Production Revenue: $1+ billion, up 23.7% over 1990.

Private Regional Channels: TMC, RTL, MCM.

Households Passed for Cable: 3,500,000.

Cable Subscriptions: 840,000.

Cable Penetration: 15%.

Major Cable Channels: Paris Premiere, TV Sport, Cine Cinefil, Canal J (children), Panete (documentaries), Cine Cinema, Canal Jimmy.

Trends: $769 million francs ($142 million) has been set aside to invest as compared to $68 million spent five years ago for the production of local dramas. One of the more ambitious projects has been "La Belle Epoque" which cost around $16.6 million while the average 90 minute drama costs $1.5 million. A variety show costs $1-2 million francs per hour.

CIP (Compagnie Immobiliere Phenix) will invest at least $200 million francs ($36 million) in renovation costs for Billancourt Studios, which will be revamped for film and TV production. The company paid a reported $300 million francs ($55 million) for Billancourt and the neighboring Boulogne studios in 1989 and 1990.

An increase in licensing fees by a third, over the next five years, to $800 francs, will be imposed to raise revenues for pubcasters. Meanwhile, ad revenues are to comprise no more than 25% of the pubcasters' overall budget. 5.5% of the TV networks' total revenue goes to the French production, distribution and exhibition fund, while an 11% tax is charged on theatrical tickets. Together, these two taxes contribute $800 million francs ($150 million) per year to the fund.

Canal Plus Satellite service, which began operations November 14, 1992, is projecting a subscribership of 800,000 over the next five years. Offering a package of five basic channels for 136 francs ($27) dishes and decoders are not marketed in cable areas, leaving them a 10 million household share. 1992 profits reached roughly $200 million.

Cable operators are charged a reduced fee for network use ranging from $9 a subscriber to around $2.60. This fee has allowed companies to pass on the savings to their customers, lessening monthly payments by about 15%.

GERMANY

Population: 80,000,000

Number of TV Sets: 25,000,000

TV Networks, Commercial: SAT-1, RTL Plus, Tele-5, Pro-7; Public: ARD, ZDF.

Trends: A total investment of $160 million marks (US$100 million) is being planned by Time Warner and the Central European Development Corp., a Canadian-U.S. investment organization, as principals in a private German broadcast company that includes regional TV stations in central European countries.

Unless a new ad regulation agreement can be reached, private broadcasters fear a drop in ad revenues by $430 million marks ($268.75 million); consequently, they threaten to cut film-ad. Subsidies currently total $3 million, which will increase to $6.25 million in 1994 with a pledge of $7.5 million set for 1995. German politicians are taking an active step towards curbing the violence shown on public TV by considering imposing fines up to $300,000 by regional media regulatory offices.

GHANA

Ghana Broadcasting Corporation, Broadcast House, Post Office Box 1633, Accra. Five stations, 175,000 sets.
System: PAL.

GREECE

Population: 10,000,000

Number of TV Sets: More than 2,000,000 color; 1,200,000 B/W.
TV Channels: The end of the State monopoly in TV as of August 1989 changed the audiovisual landscape of the country. Besides the State channels of "Helleniki Radiophonia Teleorassi" ET 1 and ET 2 stationed in Athens and ET 3 stationed in Thessaloniki, some other private channels are operating in the country. However, the programming of all channels, State and/or private, are just about the same, comprised of news bulletins, a variety of local films, serials, talk shows, discussion panels, and foreign films.

National Broadcasters: ET 1 is stationed in 431 Messogouion Avenue, Athens 153 42 and broadcasts 12-15 hours daily. It is downlinked with satellite EUROLSTAT and transmits terrestrially unsubstituted foreign programs from channels MTV, CNN, SUPER, TV 5, RAI UNO, EUROSPORT, SATURN I, ERTL PLUS. ET 1 is also a member of the Memory Audiovisual Archives. ET 2 is stationed in Messogouion Avenue and Katchaki Str. Athens, 116 28 and is linked with the English channel MTV, transmitting occasional musical programs. ET 3 is stationed in 2, Anguelaki Str. Thessaloniki 542 20 and broadcasts 8-10 hours daily.

Private Channels: ANTENNA 1 is stationed in 10-12 Kifissias Str. Athens 151 25 and broadcasts for 24 hours daily. As of May 1993 an Antenna Satellite was established to broadcast a four hour program to USA from 7-11 a.m. daily, covering news bulletins, local films and serials and talk shows. MEGA CHANNEL is stationed in 20 Alamanas and Delphon Str. Athens 151 25 and broadcasts 24 hours daily. NEW CHANNEL is stationed in 9-11 Pireaus Str. Athens 105 52 and broadcasts 15-16 hours daily. STAR TV CHANNEL (ex-channel K 29), 27 Demetras Str. Tavros Athens. Telecasts 16 hours. TELECTY, 38 Esperion Str. Callithea Athens. Broadcasts 12 hours. SEVEN X, 64 Kifissias Str. Athens 151 25. Telecasts 14-16 hours, primarily foreign films. TV PLUS; Pay Channel, stationed in Pireus. Broadcasts foreign films. TELETORA and BLUE SKY, two new channels, stationed in Athens. Broadcast 15-17 hours.

Regional Channels: There are nine channels in Thessaloniki: TV 100, MACEDONIA TV, ARGO TV, VRT, STAR TV, TV 5, CENTER TV, VERGINA TV, and TV MAGIC. Most municipalities of the big cities are operating their own local channels such as: TV MAGIC IV in Pireus, WESTTV and ECHO TV in Kozani, and SUPER 8 in Patras.

Advertising: According to regulations by the European Economic Community (EEC) there is a Greek Law 1242/A-2/67-72 which covers the time of advertising in TV programs. By said Law, no interruptions are allowed between the news bulletins and the athletic games. No advertising is allowed in programs less than 20 minutes, and the time of advertising must not exceed 15% of the program. The above restrictions are very often overlooked by all channels.

By another recent law, 5% of the advertising revenue of all channels must be granted to support the local film production.

Agencies: Hellas Television International, 96 Academias Str. Athens 106 77, representing MGM, Screen Gems, Rai, Warner Bros, Paramount, Sacis Titanus, Thames TV.

Apollon International Enterprises, 46 King Constantine Eaveenie Athens, representing Tri-Star, Mexican TV, etc.

Denis Petropoulos, 16 Lycavutou Str. Athens, Georgiades Elektroniki 20, Lagoumitzi Str. Athens.

HONG KONG

Population: 5,800,000.

Number of Television Sets: 1,600,000 in 1992.

Trends: Wharf Cable, with assets reaching $HK3.4 billion ($4.1 billion) in 1991, is the government's major candidate for the country's exclusive cable TV license. The $HK6 billion construction project for the world's largest cable TV system, which will serve about 1.5 million homes, has begun and $HK100 million ($12.9 million) has already been spent. Wharf Cable will prove to be strong competitors for local stations ATV and TVB as programming will be varied. However, the government will give the local stations a leg up by reducing royalty fees and foreign language broadcast approval as well as offering other attractive concessions.

Cable & Satellite: RCP-TV/China Cablevision Ltd., 1 Suffolk Rd., Kowloon Tong. Tel: 338 3641.

Trends: A variety of both domestic and foreign fare is being enjoyed by the 4 out of 10 million citizens who own TV sets. Commercial channels MTV1 and MTV2 which, combined, have 160 broadcast hours, have been shopping at Mipcom for European products. They are considered public/commercial stations as they carry some commercial advertising while NAPT V is the only independent channel.

The 800,000 or so households subscribing to the 150 or more cable companies have at their fingertips a wide range of European, as well as global, satellite programs, including CNN. HBO is holding its own with 300,000 special subscribers. Most innovative is TV Television, a motorcycle messenger service, which delivers national network programs on video cassettes.

Violating a government ban has proved fatal for private broadcaster Commercial Broadcasting Channel Hungary (CBCH) as 5 million forints ($58,000) worth of transmission equipment has been confiscated from the studio. The station failed to obtain a license or official sanction to use a frequency to transmit within Hungary. They had been airing dubbed American movies from an abandoned Soviet facility. Adding to their troubles has been the scandal revolving around the $2.2 million budget of Duna TV, the government-owned satellite channel.

INDIA

Population: 850 million.

Radio and Television in India are state controlled. Indian television, or Doordarshan as it is commonly known, has been in business for more than three decades while India has had a national TV hook-up for over ten years. Until 1983 television covered a mere 19% of the population. Within a year, with the setting up of 180 transmitters and the networking of them to Indian satellite INSAT-1B and microwave terrestrial links, the coverage leaped to 70%. INSAT-1D, launched in June 1990, and INSAT-2A, put into orbit on July 10, 1992, provided the bulk of the satellite links for the country. India's second multi-purpose satellite INSAT-2B was launched on July 23, 1993 from the Guyana Space Centre in Kourou on the Atlantic coast.

Doordarshan with its present network of 24 production centers and as many as 542 TV transmitters of varying powers covering 82.4% of the population, is among the premiere TV organizations in the world. With well over 35 million TV sets in the country, it has outpaced the print media as disseminator of information and mass communication. Regional stations transmit programs of local interest for about 5 hours daily. The National program is telecast through satellite by all the centers including those having their own production facilities. With a 10 hour daily schedule the programs include current affairs, news bulletins, social and scientific topics, dance, music and drama.

Viewership surveys have shown that feature films, film-based programs (composed of song sequences culled from popular films) and sponsored serials are popular all over the country cutting across regional linguistic barriers. This brings in a sizeable revenue to Doordarshan by way of TV commercials. During the year 1992-93, its gross revenue totalled Rs.3500 million.

Doordarshan's phenomenal expansion and substantial revenue notwithstanding, there has been increasing criticism regarding its monopoly status and the monotony of its programs. Worried about the growing popularity of CNN, Star TV and 24 hour BBC world news among its viewers, Doordarshan has revamped its national program to include a heavy dose of film based entertainment. It has also initiated three new satellite channels and a new look metro channel, all of them open to private enterprise.

Trends: Channel Two, the government funded station, is managing to stay afloat on a $5 million budget as efforts to transform the station into a commercial vehicle have been re-routed. After many delays over its profitability, a new plan was devised. The Ministry of Communications has seriously considered three out of seven contenders for operating the station, which will be financed by commercial ads, shown at the rate of six minutes per hour.

The country's largest production house, Telad Studios, has more than 350 programs a year and seven weekly series. Telad Jerusalem Studios has received healthy investments, totaling $4 million in a 23% equity purchase from the Burbank-based Shamrock Holdings Corp., owned by Roy Disney. They are one of the front runners for a franchise.

With an investment of $35 million in a 50-acre television studio and satellite link facilities, the Globus Group is another leading contender for the commercial franchise. Their offer looks very attractive as they have been negotiating with Hollywood majors for programming.

Mipcom has been very active in supplying Israel TV, the 25 year-old government owned station which receives financial support through licensing fees, and ICP with sitcoms and one hour dramatic shows. ICP is specifically designed to purchase programming for the country's cable system, which has over 450,000 subscribers.

ITALY

Population: 57,746,000.

Number of TV Homes: 20 million.

Television Stations: One large public network (RAI) with three channels; one large private network, with three channels; 6 national commercial webs (Canale 5, Italia 1, Italia 7, Odeon TV, Rete 4, TeleMonte Carlo); 3 available satellite channels (Sky, CNN Intl., MTV Europe).

Trends: Italy's conference involving international television production revealed out of 9,000 TV hours, 90% was acquired from outside markets. RAI TV, the state owned network, produced the remaining 10%, though RAI has paid $510 million to independent production companies. In an effort to reduce its oversized national debt, Rome is selling off $20 billion in state assets, including its telecommunications market.

Though projected revenues for pay-TV in Europe are totaled at $9.1 billion by 2002, Italian lawmakers are imposing severe limitations on its future development. Start-up costs by Tele Pic 3, a pay-TV arts channel, have been set at $400 million with only 320,000 subscribers.

JAPAN

Population: 124,400,000.

Number of TV Households: 40,670,000.

Trends: The first commercial satellite TV station has accumulated a debt of $409 million, compared to a capital of $377 million, even though revenues rose $315 million (10%) from new subscribers, who pay $27,000 yen ($1,245) for dish decoders plus other related charges. Manufacturers have protested heavy royalty and patent fees, blaming the ministry for inept licensing regulations and planning. Westinghouse alone received royalty payments totaling $250,000 for 1992. An emergency fund of $90 million, for operations to continue through 1993, has been provided by the stockholders and $ 6 more satellite stations are expected to open by 1997.

Satellite Japan Corp., whose stocks total $5 billion yen ($24 million), has merged with Japan Communication Satellite Co., creating a capital of $25 billion yen ($210 million) which is being held by trading companies, Itochu and Mitsui. Expected to start up in late 1993 is the British Broadcasting Company's (BBC) TV World Service, which provides programming and management expertise for overseas operations but not capital. The high-definition TV set has been offered by several Japanese companies, retailing for under a million yen ($8,000) while Sharp sells for under $6,000.

KOREA (Rep.)

Population: 42,231,480.

Number of TV Sets: 12.5 million, in 1991.

Commercial TV broadcasting began in 1956, but the station burned three years later and it was not until 1961 when the government established the Korea Broadcasting Service (KBS-TV) network. The commercial network of Tongyang Broadcasting Co. (TBC) began in 1964 and was followed by the commercial Munhwa Broadcasting Co. (MBC) in 1969. The American Forces Korea Network (AFKN-TV) was also established to serve American troops, and now comprises 6 stations.

KBS, which is entirely government-owned and collects a monthly fee from each household with a TV set, is somewhat unique since it takes commercial advertising, unlike most governmental networks. Political opponents of the regime are rarely mentioned on broadcasts; this one-sided coverage had led to a boycott by some of the public who refuse to pay fees. KBS also holds a controlling 70% interest in the only other commercial broadcaster, Munhwa Broadcasting Corp. which exists on advertising alone. Under the present regime, other stations were compelled by the government to merge with KBS, except for the Christian Broadcasting System which has been restricted since 1980 to broadcasting only religious programs. The government uses KBS profits from advertising revenues for education scholarships and expenses of newsmen traveling abroad.

KBS-TV has its key station in Seoul and 21 local stations, with other local stations, making a total of 33 TV stations, including those operated by MBC and the former TBC. Color broadcasting started in 1980. Almost 10 million sets are in operation, covering almost every household. If armed forces of USA are counted, the total stations number 33.

Korean broadcasts are limited to 6.5 hours of evening time and 4 hours mornings on weekdays, 11 hours on Saturday and 17 on Sunday. Monthly fees of about $1.00 are collected and advertisements are accepted.

On Saturdays and Sundays between 8 and 9 p.m. it is estimated that 60% or more of the population gathers before their sets to view commercial stations' soap operas, far beyond the average 30% viewing for most shows.

Both KBS and MBC carry some popular U.S. programming, but that field is dominated by the American Forces Korea Network, which primarily serves the large American military population stationed in the country since the Korean War. AFKN does not carry paid advertising.

In 1981 the Republic of Korea "consolidated" all news media and took over the private stations, so daily listings read: KBS-1 TV (7 cities), KBS-2 TV (2), KBS-3 TV-UHF (6), MBC-TV (6). Korean Broadcasting Advertising Corporation handles all TV and radio advertising.

Population: 15 million.

Number of TV Sets: 6 million.

Local Channels: 3.

Trends: Private commercial broadcasting has recently been permitted on the newest commercial TV station, known as the fifth channel. With the inauguration of daytime programming in Holland, advertisers have grossed $1.4 billion which accounts for 5% of the booked, commercial, television time. RTL-4, a Luxembourg commercial satellite station with a popular daytime line-up has more than a 30% audience share and 50% share of advertising. With a possible 1.7 million daytime viewers, $5.5 million in ad revenues are expected, though Universal Media, one of Holland's biggest ad houses, is primarily interested in primetime. $1.4 billion comes from direct-response advertisers, annually accounting for 5% of the television booked commercial time. STER, which books all of the public channel ads, had revenues of some $231 million in commercial advertising in 1992. STER Direct, a home shopping program which debuted in May, is expected to raise revenues considerably during the sluggish summer months. Extra programming is expected to cost broadcasters between $19.8 and $22.7 million per year. Meanwhile, a new bill backed by the Prime Minister's cabinet, severely restricts sponsorship to sports and cultural shows by advertisers on the Dutch public broadcasting network.

Number of TV Sets: 1,400,000 in 1992.

System Used: PAL.

Television came to New Zealand in the early 1960's as a State-owned and operated monopoly. Because of deregulation the Broadcasting Corporation of New Zealand replaced itself with two state-owned operations: Television New Zealand and Radio New Zealand. Television New Zealand runs Networks One and Two. TV1 network which originates programs from the Avalon television complex in Lower Hutt (near Wellington), and the TV2 network which originates programs from the Auckland studios. TV1 transmits some 88 hours of programs a week, and TV2 about 71 hours. Five days are commercial. Sundays are non-commercial on each network. Fridays are non-commercial on TV1, and Saturdays non-commercial on TV2.

Trends: TVNZ dominates the broadcasting industry with two channels whose fare is primarily U.S. products, commanding an 80% to 84% average audience share. TV ad revenues for the station were up by 6% and totaled $194 million. Meanwhile, CanWest Global of Canada, a private broadcaster for TV3, is looking to acquire as much New Zealand programming as possible. Ad revenues have risen to $4.2 million. Sky, the only pay-TV channel in operation, has a subscription of over 68,000 allowing them to slash weekly prices from $14.99 to $9.99. Acquiring the New Zealand—South African Rugby Tournament rights boosted subscribership by the thousands.

OMAN

Oman Television, P.O. Box 600, Muscat, Oman. Three stations and 1 relay, 1,000,033 tv sets.

System: PAL-B&G.

PAKISTAN

Population: 118.81 million plus 3.3 million Afghan refugees.

Number of TV Sets: There are approximately over 2.3 million licensed TV sets in the country plus about 920,000 (40%) unlicensed.

Number of TV Stations: There are eight TV stations—5 of Pakistan Television Corporation Ltd., at Karachi, Lahore, Islamabad, Quetta and Peshawar, and three of Shalimar Television Network at Karachi, Lahore and Islamabad. PTV is operated by the government, while Shalimar (STN) is leased out to a private concern.

Television came to Pakistan in 1964. In May, 1967, a public limited company was formed, all the shares of which are held by the Government of Pakistan. All the PTV centers produce and transmit color programs, including foreign films for six to eight hours daily. There is, in addition to evening transmission, a regular morning telecast every day except Friday from 7 A.M. to 8:15 A.M.

Shalimar Recording Co., a semi-government company operates a 24-hour transmission by the name of Shalimar Television Network (STN). Its first station was opened at Islamabad in July 1990, the second went on air in November 1990 in Karachi, and the third in June 1991 at Lahore. All three stations transmit 24 hours from 00.01 to 19.00 CNN live, via satellite and from 19.00 to 12.00 midnight Pakistani programs and foreign films. This channel has been run by a private concern Network Television Marketing (NTM) for about three years. They buy programs and record their own at other studios due to their lack of recording facilities. Two more stations—one each at Quetta and Peshawar—are likely to begin their transmission soon. Their main source of income is commercials.

Besides five full-fledged production centers, PTC owns 35 transmitters Boosters which cater to the needs of over 100 million, or 90% of the population. Transmission, which commenced via satellite in 1972, is now a regular feature and covers important international events.

Color came to Pakistan in 1976 and now all programs are in color. The PTV exports a good number of its programs to other countries, particularly to those where Pakistanis and Indian national live in large quantity.

Training Institute: The PTV Academy is situated in Islamabad. It has regular courses in a variety of related fields of broadcasting and telecasting for domestic officials and engineers of foreign TV networks. PTV's trained staff are often loaned out to various foreign TV networks.

The PTV Academy has offered its services to the national film industry for training artists and technicians in modern technology.

The PTV telecasts a number of imported programs. Some are shown to viewers duly dubbed in Urdu and other regional languages. Foreign feature films are shown twice a week. The second highest share, after news and current affair programs, was given to foreign feature films, plays, serials and sport events. Pakistani feature films are also shown every week.

The main sources of income for PTV are commercials and license fees of Rs.250 per year for domestic and Rs.500 per year for commercial sets. Pakistan manufactures black and white and color TV sets. Due to parallel transmission by STN, PTV-2, latest video films, cable, and above all, the craze for dish antenna, the income of PTV has been reduced and they had to depend on subsidies from the government. The second channel project went on the air in November 1992. It is being used mostly for educational purposes and as such it is being described as ETC or PTV-2. Old plays and serials of PTV are also shown on this channel, which starts at 5 p.m. and continues to 11 p.m. Commercials are also shown.

At present, the ETC/PTV-2 has two studios at Islamabad for recording purposes. With the help of Japanese Government, some rebroadcasting centers have already been set up and over a dozen are likely to be installed in the near future. However, ETC/PTV-2 is seen in all large cities now.

PORTUGAL

Population: 10,240,000.

Number of TV Sets: 3 million as of 1992.

System used: PAL.

Trends: SIC, a private broadcaster, began commercial broadcasting, becoming the third channel in Portugal. RTP1 and TV2, operated by the public broadcaster RIP, are the other two channels which will be joined by TV1, the second private station, owned by the Catholic Church.

Movies and game shows have been the biggest draw for investors as RIP and SIC have full monthly line ups of made-for-cable and feature films. Thousands of dollars are being negotiated, involving the country's biggest soccer clubs.

As the country and its market are small, the industry is stable, with favorable forecast predictions for the next three years and a good rapport with foreign markets.

RUSSIA

Russian TV has not gone untouched by the state of the country's political affairs. Struggling to keep alive is the only independent TV channel, 2X2, with a staff of only 50 employees and a budget based on ad revenues, that can pay $1,000 for 50 minutes of programming.

A law that would have restricted foreign broadcast investments to 40% has failed to become enacted, much to the delight of Turner Broadcasting Intl, which owns TV-6. Also enjoying this coup is Story First, a U.S. company that has a 50% share in broadcasting Channel 6 in St. Petersburg. Though there are nearly 300 broadcasters operating without a license, the Russian owned Marathon TV station has been awarded a five year contract.

SAMOA (AMERICAN)

Three TV stations serve some 8,000 sets on the American part of this Pacific island as well as a number of sets on the part administered by New Zealand. The station is also used daily for educational instructions to local schools. Address: Television of Samoa, Pago Pago, 96799. There are six channels.

SAUDI ARABIA

SIERRA LEONE

Sierra Leone TV Service, New England, Private Mail Bag, Freetown. One station, 25,000 sets.
System: PAL-B.

SINGAPORE

Population: 3 million (including 300,000 foreign nationals).
System Used: PAL.
Number of Television Sets: 575,000.
TV Company: Singapore Broadcasting Corp., Caldecott Mill, Andrew Rd., 1129. Tel: 256 0401.

Trends: Singapore began its first pay-tv channel in April, 1992. Singapore Cable Vision (SCV) is 65% government owned and 35% owned by the Singapore Broadcasting Corp. Once it is privatized it will become exclusively part of the latter. The programming on this 24 hour service includes CNN Intl, NewsVision, Mandarin movies (18 to 24 hours via VarietyVision), cartoons, and HBO. Expected are about 300,000 subscribers for the first year, at a cost of $549.95 (or U.S.$30.00) a month.

SPAIN

Population: 39,000,000.
Number of TV Sets: 11,300,000.
Average Daily Television Viewing: 187 minutes up from 173 in 1989, 184 in 1990.

Viewing by Program Category 1991: Films 29.7%, gameshows 17.4%, news 13.7%, soaps 13.1%, foreign series 13.1%.

Trends: A $600 million satellite has been launched and is expected to attract over 1 million subscribers, with a cost of $1,000 for the satellite dish installation plus monthly fees.

Antena 3 is the wealthiest of the commercial broadcasters having spent over $80 million in programming rights and studio installations. Though overall ad revenues are down, a restructuring of Antena's ad sales department netted a 71% increase in ad revenues. They are also taking the lead in sitcom production with the show "Farmacia de Guardia" gaining a 24.5% audience share. The success of this show has ignited a spark and now some 20 or more series are either on the air or in the works.

Canal Plus, the country's only pay-TV channel with some 500,000 subscribers, has set up two satellite pay channels, one devoted to movies and the other to current events, holds a 1.9% audience share.

While public networks receive double financing from subsidies and advertising revenues, the market is depressed as a saturation of ads, whose 1992 volume was $2 billion and other related discounting deals, have severely deflated revenues. The peseta-dollar exchange hasn't helped either, as American products are about 20% more expensive for Spaniards. Yet, long term advertising prospects do look good.

SRI LANKA

Population: 17.5 million.
Number of TV sets: 1,763,500. (Licensed sets, approximately).
Freeing the Media: President Dingiri Banda Wijetunga informed the Minister of Cultural Affairs and Information W.J.M. Lokkbandara that the ultimate aims of the Sri Lanka Broadcasting Corporation (SLBC) and Rupavahini (National Television Network) should be information and not propaganda, and he requested the Minister to draw guidelines for the prudent use of the electronic media and also warned that over-exposure of the Government's propaganda and achievements in the media is counter-productive.

The diplomatic community in Sri Lanka welcomed the liberalization of Sri Lanka's state-run radio and television networks a step in the right direction.

President Wijetunga appointed Mr. Kumar Abeyasinghe as the new Chairman of the Sri Lanka Broadcasting Corporation (SLBC) succeeding Mr. Lalith S. Maithripala, who was appointed as the Chairman of the Public Performances Board. Mr. Peter A. Abeysekera, former Commissioner of Official Languages, was appointed Chairman "Rupavahini" Corporation (Television) succeeding Professor Tissa Kariyawasam. Mr. Sunil Sarath Perera took over as the Director General of "Rupavahini" Corporation.

The ITN—Independent Television Network has suspended its simultaneous broadcast of Rupavahini News. This follows a new directive from the Ministry of Cultural Affairs and Information, making it no longer compulsory for the other networks to broadcast Rupavahini News in Sinhala, Tamil and English languages. According to the SLR TV SCAN, the country's only television rating system, the trend in both urban and rural areas is the same. Data collected by TV SCAN during a fortnight preceding and following the telecasting of Sinhala News on all three networks showed that the average set ratings dropped from 78% for the preceding week to 70% for the following week for the urban homes. A new transmitting station at Iranawila commenced transmission of Voice of America broadcasts recently in the North Western Province, according to the Director of USIS, Mr. William H. Maurer, Jr. This new station will be ready in 1995. The agreement was signed in 1985 to improve the 50 year old facilities, but the construction did not take place due to various reasons and political pressure. The U.S. will be spending US$60 million for the station construction of which $25 million will be local construction costs. The U.S. Government leased 413 acres of land to build the new station and there will not be more than seven Americans at the site. There will be a significant improvement in VOA services after the station becomes operative.

Sri Lanka's fourth television network, TELESCHAN NETWORK LTD (TNL) went on the air on June 21, 1993. The studio is situated in the suburbs of Colombo at a place called Piliyandala overlooking the picturesque Bolgoda Lake. Mr. Shan Wickremasinghe, Chairman and Managing Director of Teleschan Network Ltd., along with Mr. Sanji Nakada, President of SNK International Co. Ltd., the Japanese joint ventures partner was present as the chief guest at the inaugural ceremony. Also associated with Teleschan is Development Finance and Credit Corporation (DFCC) and Central Finance Ltd. The project had many firsts in the field of mass communications in Sri Lanka. They pioneered a simulcast facility which enabled their television programs to be broadcast over radio as well. Their transmission is island-wide with three relay stations. The project cost Rs.150 million, approximately US$3,125,000.

Sri Lanka's fifth TV station, owned by EAST-WEST ENTERPRISES LTD., is likely to be formally approved following an appeal to the Government by the owning company. The subcommittee of Cabinet Ministers had requested the Ministry of Cultural Affairs and Information to submit a Cabinet paper for the final approval of the project. It commenced test transmissions in June 1992 pending approval from the Ministry.

French TV 2, a popular television station in France, will begin location filming in Sri Lanka of the story "Good Marriages". A French TV production company is producing a series for Television 2 in France. All six films are separate full length stories.

SUDAN

Sudan Television, P.O. Box 1094, Omdurman. 250,000 tv sets.

SWEDEN

Population: 8,600,000.

Number of TV Households: 7.9 million (video penetration: 65%; satellite: 48%; cable: 40%).

Public TV: SVT (2 channels: Kanal 1, TV2).

Commercial TV: TV3, TV4, TV5-Nordic.

Pay TV: FilmMax, FilmNet, FilmNet Plus, TV 1000.

Trends: The Nordic Film & TV Fund, based in Stockholm and financed by the region's five Culture Ministries has been paramount in developing the Nordic production of features, miniseries, documentaries and shorts at a cost of 148 million Swedish kronor ($26 million) for its first three years.

Film Max and Film Net Plus, an off-shoot of Film Net, are two new pay-TV channels launched by TV 1000, based in Stockholm and broadcasting throughout Scandinavia. Though Film Net Plus, with a line-up of children shows, sports, musicals and special events programming, was initially offered for free to subscribers of Film Net, industry leaders feel it could very well stand on its own as a pay service. Film Max, a movie channel, costs TV 1000 subscribers 39 kronor ($7) a month and non-subscribers 69 kronor ($12). This has been a boost to TV 1000 since SF (an investor in Swedish channel Succé, which merged with TV 1000) sold its 6.75% stake to Warner Bros.

SWITZERLAND

Population: 6,874,000.

Number of TV Sets: As of March 1993, the Federal Post Office registered some 2,534,618 licenses for households in which at least one TV set (mostly color) is operating. Some 600,000 households own more than one set; therefore, the estimated number of TV sets in operation is over 3.1 million, or nearly 94% of all Swiss households.

Number of TV Stations: 3 (German, French, Italian). By the end of August 1993, a fourth national station, TV S PLUS, will start broadcasting programs, mainly in German. Gradual development within the next 2-3 years.

Television was established in Switzerland in 1953, 1969 came the first color broadcast. There is a public broadcaster (Swiss Broadcasting Corp.) which provides broadcasting in the languages of German, French, and Italian, as well as regular programs in Romansch, maintaining three independent broadcasters in the respective regions. As of January 1, 1993, there are 14 local stations; 29 cable TV producers have a license for transmission of televised texts.

Cable TV: is the second highest in Europe. As of January 1993 there were about 2,100,000 subscribers.

TV Advertising: In Switzerland, TV-ads were introduced on a limited basis on February 1, 1965. After a first amendment of the television and radio law in 1989, a new law came into effect on April 1, 1992. Consequently, the advertising time available was incremented by 8 percent and extended to a maximum of 12 minutes during any one hour. New ad breaks have been introduced: tv-spots are now allowed on Sundays; programs of 90 minutes and over can now be interrupted by one ad break; non-prescription medicines can now be advertised; teleshopping is permitted during one hour a day and sponsorship messages are allowed at the start and end of sponsored programs and may contain the name of the sponsor, corporate logos, trade marks and the aims of a company. An amendment to this law is underway, which should introduce a more elastic interpretation of its terms.

In 1993, national channels (in German, French and Italian language) were tuned in only 38 minutes (39 in 1992) a day by Swiss Germans, who prefer foreign channels for the remaining 80 minutes (79 in 1991). French lingo watchers tune in a national channel for an average 50 (49) minutes a day and select foreign channels for 89 (88) minutes. Swiss Italians watch national channels for 48 (47) minutes a day (mainly the news) and switch to foreign channels for some 94 (90) minutes of the daily TV-session.

THAILAND

Population: 56.9 million.

Number of TV Households: 7.59 million, as of early 1992.

Number of TV Sets: 9.95 million.

Trends: CNN, NHK, and BBC seem to be the TV news services of choice, as it is perceived that local government-controlled services bungled coverage of the May riots. Unattractive governmental tactics have discouraged investors as private broadcasting has yet to develop. Favorable conditions for investment rely heavily on the political situation of the country. Local fare now consists of low budget soap operas and variety shows while an increasingly more literate viewer is demanding shows of substance and foreign material. Media of Medias, an independent presenter of foreign programming, sees a trend, veering away from the popular martial arts films, towards documentaries, sports events, feature films and action/drama television programs.

Television Broadcasters: Bangkok Broadcasting & TV Co Ltd (BBTV), 998/1 Phaholyothin Rd, PO Box 4-56, Bangkok. Tel: (2) 278 1255. Fax: (2) 270 1976. Tlx: 82730. Cable: BEBETEVEE; Bangkok Entertainment Co Ltd (Channel 3), Vanit Bldg, 1126/1 New Petchburi Rd, Phayathai, Bangkok 10400. Tel: (2) 253 9970. Tlx: 82616; The Mass Communication Organization of Thailand (Channel 9), 222 Asok-Din-dang Rd, Bangkok 10310. Tel: (2) 245 0700. ## TUNISIA

Radiodiffusion Television Tunisienne, 71 Ave de la Liberté, 1002 Tunis. 2 Stations: Network I (Arabic) and Network II (French). 650,000 tv sets.

TURKEY

Turkish Radio & Television Corp., TRT-TV Dept., Nevzat Tandogan Caddesi 2, Kavaklidere, Ankara serves 10,530,000 TV sets via 37 stations. Tel: (4) 128 04 66.

Trends: The expected legalization of private broadcasting is attracting serious investment considerations from Time-Warner and HBO's pay-TV channel. The five channels already in existence compete for products with prices ranging from $10,000 to $70,000 or more for feature movies. Commercial TV is faring quite well with the cost of a 30 second spot at $30,000. The very popular game shows rake in $5,000 to $7,000 per half hour while Westerns average $15,000.

UNITED ARAB EMIRATES

Established 1969 by Thompson TV International and Abu Dhabi TV Service. In 1971 United Arab Emirates TV Service, P.O. Box 637, Abu Dhabi established separate facilities which now consist of three stations and three relays. Dubai Radio and Color TV, P.O. Box 1695, Dubai, now broadcasts on two channels from 1 station and 1 relay in Arabic, French and English. 170,000 sets.

VENEZUELA

Population: 19,750,000.

Number of TV Sets: 3,500,000.

Eight national channels exist, with five of them located in the capital, Caracas, and three regionally located. The Caracas channels are Channels 2, 4, 5, 8 and 10. The government controls two channels, 5 and 8, broadcasting on one station. One cable station was established, Channel 12.

The government channels are re-orienting their extensive programming of U.S. production to favor domestic product following radical economic policy changes. The economic changes now make imported product much more expensive at the free-market pricing system.

Trends: A $5 million investment is being made by Marte TV to build new production studios. Slated as the country's biggest studio, production is to begin by the end of 1993. Doing big business with a variety of foreign majors, Marte offers attractive low production costs and trained personnel. Co-owned by Warner Bros TV, there are always two novellas under production, having churned out more than 20 novellas plus 15 two-hour direct-to-video pictures.

Stations: Televisora Nacional—Channel 5 & 8, Apt. 3979, Caracas. Corporacion Venezolana de Television [Venevision] Channel 4, Apt. 6674, Caracas; Av. La Salle, Cns Los Caobos. Tel: 782-4444, 781-1734, 781-9675.

Statistics & History

Freedom of choice—the control of one's own viewing habits—has been the major impact of home video on the leisure-time industry in America. Owners of videocassette recorders can view what they want when they want and are no longer subject to the programming schedules of the television networks and cable stations. The VCR owner is able to watch yesterday's motion pictures today (by renting or owning vintage Hollywood films, foreign features and television product, as well as films released theatrically as recently as six months ago) and today's television programming tomorrow—along with how-to tapes, music videos and home movies.

Time shifting, the ability of the viewer to tape a show for later viewing (as well as eliminating commercials—by editing them out or fast forwarding past them), is the most common usage of VCRs. One can watch one program while taping another, or tape with the tv set off and nobody home. One can select entertainment or instruction from the more than 50,000 prerecorded tapes now available from the more than 30,000 video specialty stores, supermarkets, hardware stores and libraries. There are more than 40 brands of VCRs with 150 models now available, offering electronic tuner-timers and such special effects as freeze-frame and forward-reverse picture scan as basic features and such extra options as wireless remote control, variable slow and fast motion, on-screen function display and full stereo sound. Home video has had a revolutionary effect on the entertainment habits of the nation.

Video History

1923: Though the patent for a video-camera-like device was filed in Germany one hundred years ago, the first practical product was devised by Vladimir Zworykin, a Russian/American immigrant in 1923.

1938: A primitive video disk was on sale at Selfridges of London.

Post World War II: With the development in the early 1930s of an electronic television signal and the audio tape recorder, and their coming into broadcast use in the mid-1940s, it was not long before experiments (by Ampex and RCA in the US, and BBC and Decca in Great Britain) in recording television shows and playing them back were made in earnest. Freeing directors to edit or re-shoot, and attempting to loosen the stranglehold live television broadcasting imposed on the medium, the first recorders were longitudinal machines that looked like audio recorders and used large reels of tape at high speeds.

Early 1955: BBC went on the air with its VERA (Vision Electronic Recording Apparatus) with a head gap of 20 microns and a tape speed of 200 inches per second. A reel about 5 feet in diameter was needed for taping a half-hour program.

April 1956: An American company, Ampex, produced the first working video recorders for broadcast use, using four (quad) recording heads on a rotating drum, and two-inch wide magnetic tape which was reusable. They were first used over the air at CBS's Hollywood studios in November, 1956. (A more portable system using narrower tape and a helical scan system had been patented in Germany in 1953, but the prototypes were far too expensive and difficult to use; a tape could be used only once, and each time it was used the machine had to be cleaned of tape particles.)

1967: A Japanese company, Sony, introduced the first transportable video system which used reel-to-reel tape and recorded in black and white only.

1970: Home video arrived when the first video cassette systems were produced, in the Philips Video Cassette Recorder or VCR. (Philips had also developed and licensed the compact audio cassette.) Sony introduced its ¾-inch U-Matic format intended for professional use in the film and television industries.

1972: Philips launched its N1500, the first video recorder with a tuner-timer, making domestic video recording a reality.

The simple video game, the first interactive use of the television, was introduced into viewing households, altering perception of the TV screen from one of passive reception of broadcast programs to participation.

Late 1975: Sony introduced the Betamax system, utilizing narrower 1½-inch tape (the narrower tape size resulted in lowered costs of recording and recorders). An optional timer was included to enable a viewer to tape even when he was not at home and offered the capability of recording one program while watching another. The cost was approximately $2,200 for a recorder with TV set. Blank tape cost $20.

1976: Cartrivision, V-Cord, and VHS (Video Home System) introduced systems incompatible with Betamax machines. The first two fell by the wayside while VHS (backed by Matsushita Electronics Corporation) emerged as the challenger to Sony's Betamax by making it possible to record up to 2 hours of broadcast material for the first time. Magnavox came out with a videodisc machine, strictly a playback system which used a disc similar in size and substance to a record album that is "read" by a laser beam. RCA manufactured a rival, incompatible videodisc system.

1977: The video software market was born when a small midwestern company called Magnetic Video Corporation licensed 50 feature-length films from 20th Century-Fox and released them for sale on Beta and VHS formats at retail prices of $49.95 to $79.95.

1983: Paramount Pictures paved the way for burgeoning cassette sales when it lowered the price of some of its strongest titles to $39.95 from $79.95. Other prerecorded cassette distributors soon followed suit.

Jan. 1984: United States Supreme Court, after lengthy consideration of a suit brought by MCA Inc. and Walt Disney Productions against Sony, ruled that home taping of broadcast programming is not a violation of copyright laws, in effect legitimizing what viewers were already doing.

1984: The FCC approved the start of Multi-Channel TV Sound Broadcasting, adding stereo sound to the home video experience.

May 1987: Super-VHS or S-VHS (with an expanded band width of up to 5.5 megahertz thus increasing the sharpness of picture image, and 400 lines of horizontal resolution as opposed to conventional VCR's 240) made its debut at the Consumer Electronics Show in Chicago.

Another innovation was the introduction of 5-inch CD Video singles at a $7-8 list price, that can hold up to 20 minutes of recorded music videos.

1988: The era of "personal video" was ushered in when Sony introduced the Video Walkman, a hand-held, ultra-compact combination of 8 millimeter VCR with a 3 inch flat-screen color television set. No larger than a VHS videocassette or paperback book, and weighing about 2½ lbs, the Video Walkman operates on AC, Battery or 12-volt. Matsushita Electronic Industrial Co. followed with its own 3-lb personal videocassette recorder-television which uses VHS-C tape instead of Sony's 8mm.

Sony also unveiled its Hi8, an 8mm camera-recorder and editing deck which produces an extra-high quality picture. It can play and record conventional 8mm tapes but recordings on Hi8 cannot be played on older 8mm equipment.

RCA/Columbia Pictures Home Video was the first home video manufacturer to release closed-captioned video cassettes for the hearing impaired.

Three feature films ("Julia and Julia," "Crack in the Mirror" and "Do It Up") as well as a made-for-television movie ("Innocent Victims") were shot using HDV, high definition video, then converted to 35mm using a tape-to-film transfer process which converts the tape's thirty pictures per second to twenty-four frames per second on film. Though unwieldy (HDV must be hooked up to a video tape recorder by means of cables) and with a lower ASA rating than film, this new technology is a step in breaking down the traditional barriers between film and video.

1989: According to figures released by the Electronics Industries Association, sales of prerecorded videos rose 39% in 1989, with some 200 million cassettes sold, against 135 million in 1988. In dollar value this was approximately $4.2 billion, up from 1988's figure of $2.97 billion. Estimated figures for 1990 were 260 million prerecorded cassettes sold, or $5.5 million in revenue.

1990: 1990 saw a decline in the video rental market, causing an increase in the price of many rental-priced tapes (customarily list priced at $89.95). While many tapes rose to $92.95, "The Hunt for Red October" was released at a suggested price of $99.95, the first major title at this price since "Platoon" was released in January of 1988.

- Video stores discovered that cheaper, sell-through titles are basically a gift idea as the post-holiday period showed a huge quantity of cassette copies unsold, such as "Batman." Retailers believe they can do better renting the titles than selling them. Warner Bros. had sent out 13 million copies of "Batman" to retailers, of which approximately 5 million went unsold. Nonetheless "Batman" was once of three huge Holiday '89 sellers along with Walt Disney's "Bambi" and "Who Framed Roger Rabbit."

Trends 1993:

- The Video Software Dealers Association was angered at Orion Pictures and its deal with McDonald's to sell copies of its Academy Award-winning "Dances With Wolves." Under the agreement the food chain sold copies of the film for $7.99 with the purchase of a meal. In contrast, during the previous year, video store retailers had been charged $72 per cassette with a suggested retail price of $99.95. Therefore McDonald's received a 90% discount on the price VSDA members were required to pay. Paramount later signed into a similar deal with the restaurant chain to sell four titles, "The Addams Family," "Ghost," "Charlotte's Web," and "Wayne's World" at $5.99 each with a meal. This also included a $2.50 rebate towards the purchase of other titles from local video stores. Reaction from the VSDA was again negative.
- Disney once again topped its own previous home video records with the October 1992 release of "Beauty and the Beast." The animated Academy Award-winner sold an incredible 14.2 million units, from the 16 million shipped, in just a month's time, topping the prior record holder, "Fantasia," from the year before. Suggested retail price was $24.99. In addition "Beauty" set other records by selling 1 million units in its first twelve hours of availability and 7 million units in the first 6 days.

- An agreement was reached in June 1993 between Paramount Pictures and Philips Interactive Media Corporation of America to release several of the studio's films on interactive compact discs (CD-I) simultaneously with their videocassette debuts. The digitally recorded movies would be priced at $25 or less. The titles, unspecified at the time, would consist of some 50 Paramount movies as well as films released in theatres by Gramercy Pictures. Their debut was scheduled for the Fall of 1993.

- Two innovations in video are closer to becoming a reality. In the next few years VCRs will go from analog to digital for sharper picture and sound quality. Recorders will also be able to duplicate high definition television images with greater accuracy and a clearer amount of detail.

Multimedia and New Technologies

During the past year, the entertainment industry has focused ever increasing attention on "multimedia." This term encompasses a plethora of new and pre-existent technologies, including, but not limited to, multiband transmission of video, audio and interactive channels via cable and telephone lines, CD-ROM (Compact Disk/Read-Only-Memory), CD-I (Compact Disk-Interactive), various video game formats and platforms, and traditional personal computer applications. The key aims of this new technology are selectivity and interactivity. Development of hardware and software is tied to technological advances in cable and on-line telephone services, and the growing personal computer and home video game marketplace. In the future, telephone companies plan to compete with cable, offering consumers hundreds of channels, and eventually, movie programming on demand (thus competing with video stores). Earlier this year, Sega, the successful video game company, announced plans to launch a video game channel. Several major motion picture studios have licensed motion pictures for release on CD-ROM and most have established divisions devoted to the development and licensing of product for multimedia. Television and stereo manufacturers have begun offering hardware aimed at the "home theatre" market. However, although some of the products have achieved major commercial success, multimedia technology is still in its developmental phase. Many of the existent products utilize proprietary hardware, and most systems are not currently compatible. No industry-wide dominant technology or platform exists.

ARGENTINA

Population: 33.1 million.
Number of TV Sets: 7.4 million.
Number of VCR Households: 2.7 million in 1992.
VCR Penetration: 32%.
Video Prices: $50-$55 for average A-title; $2.35 for overnight rental.
Number of Legal Home Video Distributors: 105.
Estimated Piracy Level: 40%.
Average Number of A Titles Released in 1992: 1,924.
Organizations: Association of Argentinean Independent Video Editors, Ayacucho 457, Piso 2/21, 1026 Buenos Aires. Tel: (1) 953 7336; Argentinean Video Union, Planta baja, Viamonte 2095, 1056 Buenos Aires. Tel: (1) 46 8248.

Trends: The video market is seeing a 40% increase in sales, with an estimated $80 million in revenues between majors and indies thanks to low inflation and a stable currency. The very popular video clubs are ranging in membership price from $35-$55. Meanwhile the average price of VCRs and TV sets are up to $800.

AUSTRALIA

Population: 17,400,000.
Number of Television Sets: 7,910,000.
Number of VCRs: 403,000 in 1992.
VCR Penetration: 79%.
Video Rental 1992: $A850 million.
Video Sell-Through 1992: $A106 million.
Number of Video Releases in 1992: Rental, 1,310; sell-through, 1,413.
Trends: Roadshow Entertainment, the number one film buyer/distributor, reported a sales revenue of $A20 ($13.4 million) with a catalogue list of over 1,000 titles. After absorbing operations in sales and distribution of two of the leading video companies, CEL and Vision Home Video, Roadshow will handle the majority of the U.S. studio products, generating an additional $A20 million ($13.4 million). The sell-through market is valued at $A100 to $A150 million ($67 to $100 million).

Network Entertainment, which handles sell-through for several major U.S. film producers, has acquired the largest number of video retailers, opening stores to sell directly to the public. Sales revenues are expected to double to more than $A1.3 million ($900,000) as the pilot store has a selection of over 6,000 titles. Additional outlets are now being constructed.

CANADA

VCRs: The latest available figures from Statistics Canada, a federal Government agency, show that in 1992 VCRs were found in 73.8% of homes, an increase from 68.6% in 1991. A far cry from 45.2% in 1987, and only 6.4% in 1983. Almost one in ten households (9.8%) now have two or more VCRs. Out of 10,056 million responding households sampled in Canada an estimated 6,439 million owned one VCR, and 981,000 owned two or more. The province of Ontario led with an estimated 2,436 million households owning one VCR and 365,000 households with two or more, out of 3,647 million responding. Québec followed with an estimated 1,617 million households owning one VCR and 218,000 households with two or more, out of 2,656 million responding.

Market: Statistics Canada's latest available figures relate to the 1990-91 home entertainment distribution market and show that it increased in importance, accounting for 70% of all distribution revenues. These are up from 61% from 1989-90, and a remarkable increase after several years of maintaining a 60-62% share. The 1990-91 revenues of $C486 million represented an increase of 22% over 1989-90. Although Canadian productions represented only 12% of the home entertainment revenues, this was up 10% from the previous year.

CHILE

Population (census 1992): 13,231,803.
Number of Housing Units in Chile: 3,260,674.
Homes with TV: 3 million (92%). (1988: 85%; 1982: 78%; 1970: 19%).
Number of TV Sets in Use: 4.3 million (1992).

Number of TV Sets per TV Home: 1.43.
Number of VCRs in Use: 750,000 (in 1992); 600,000 (in 1991); 360,000 (in 1989); 70,000 (in 1986).
VCRs Per TV Set: 0.17 (in 1992); 0.14 (in 1991); 0.11 (in 1990).
Percentage of TV Homes with VCR: 25% (in 1992); 18% (in 1991).
Retail Price per Video: US$15.00
Rental Price per Video: US$1.50
Blank Tape: US$5.50
Quantity of Retailers: Approx. 900.

Trends: The quantity of VCRs in use has been growing at a rate of 25% per year. This is due to the consistent rate of growth of the GNP (10.4% in 1992); the reduction of unemployment (to 4.4%); the increased purchasing power of the middle class and their access to consumer credit; the gradual reduction of duty rates on the importation of VCRs (now a surtax of 20% over the basic duty rate of 11% on all goods), and the increase in the rate of TV ownership which has now reached 92% of all households.

Sales and rentals of video cassettes reached $US13 million in 1992. Unfortunately, however, piracy is also skyrocketing. It is estimated that the video pirates took in $US4 million in clandestine sales (30% of legitimate sales). In 1992, the police seized 8,550 pirated cassettes. There are presently 86 cases in the courts against illegal distributors.

Principal Distributors: (Members of the Association of Video Distributors, which represent 80% of the total market. They have inspectors rooting out pirates, and they certify retailers as being "in adherence" with the anti-piracy laws, allowing them a 5% discount. The Association inspected more than 860,000 cassettes last year and works closely with the police identifying and prosecuting pirates. Members:

Video Rental 1992: Fr 1.2 billion.
Video Sell-Through 1992: Ffr 3.6 billion.
Trends: As of July 1, 1993 the government will enact a 2% tax on revenues from video sales and rentals of pre-recorded tapes, much to the dismay of indie distributors. Revenues collected are expected to be around $50 million francs ($9.4 million) a year. 65% of video revenue is originated by feature films, 80% of which are American, meaning U.S. companies will pay the largest share of the tax. French distributors fearing going out of business as, ultimately, the tax will be passed along to the viewer who will think twice before buying.

GREAT BRITAIN

Following a period of stagnation, the UK video market—still the largest in Europe—showed signs of renewed growth during 1993. The market consists of 29.86 million people, of which 89% are adult renters and 11% are children. Renting is most popular with older teenagers (16-19)—96% of whom rent videos—as opposed to just 72% of adults. Moreover, 21% of adults owning VCRs rent pre-recorded cassettes more frequently than they did last year—the average is now three times per month.

With an average night's rent charge of £1.63 ($2.44) and annual transactions at over 300 million, some £500 million ($750 million) is generated each year. In addition, over 45 million tapes are sold, at an average £10 ($15) each, producing an annual sales income of £400 million ($600 million).

Specialist video shops play the leading role in the rental sector with the Blockbuster Entertainment Group planning a target of 300 superstores in the UK, representing an investment of £113 million ($170 million). Research shows that comedy videos are the most popular (29%) followed by dramas, thrillers and adventures.

As with the theatrical market, most of the product screened on home video originates from America. For instance, at this reporting the top rental video is "Home Alone 2: Lost in New York" (Fox Video) while the leading sell-through title is Walt Disney's "Peter Pan".

Leading distributors include: Abbey Home Entertainments, BBC Video, Buena Vista, Castle Communications, Central Television Enterprises, Chrysalis Home Video, CIC, Columbia TriStar, Entertainment UK, First Independent Films, Fox Video, GMH Entertainments, Guild, Manga Entertainment, MGM/UA, Odyssey Video, Pickwick Group, Polygram, Screen Entertainment, Sony Music, Tartan Video, Thames Video, Video Collection International, Vision Video and Warner Home Video. BBC Video was the top sell-through label in terms of volume and value of sales, ending the year with over 50 titles in the top 200 video chart.

Children's titles performed strongly with two Noddy cassettes totalling sales of over 200,000 units. Another success was "Poldark", released in four parts, each charting in the top five. The top selling title was "Pole to Pole", which has sold over 100,000 copies.

Concern has been expressed by the British Board of Film Classification (BBFC) about the increasing ease with which children can gain access to violent material on video. In its annual report, the Board complained that children are frequently watching videos that are rated "18" and pointed out that greater care is needed to enforce the categories in shops, and for parents to enforce them in the home.

On the hardware front, Rank Video Services went into partnership with Milan's Artech Video Record resulting in a combined manufacturing capacity of 55 million units per year from duplication plants in London and Milan. Also, Technicolor formed an Italian duplication and distribution venture with RCS Video.

Finally, the British Videogram Association (BVA) maintains that "although the penetration of satellite/cable TV amongst VCR adults has increased, there is evidence that it is now plateauing and viewers are returning to hiring (renting) videos, but there is still confusion over the different release dates of films". Nevertheless, it remains an undeniable fact that, as far as motion pictures are concerned, video success is still built on cinema success.

British Board of Film Classification Certification Symbols for Video Packaging and Publicity:

INDIA

With the expansion of TV networks throughout the country an increasing number of VCRs have appeared in Indian homes. Although no precise figures are available, a considerable number of sets continue to be smuggled into the country, a rough estimate putting the total number of VCRs at around 7 million. The growth rate is about 25% per annum. There are well over 120,000 video libraries renting out cassettes, with an almost equal number of video parlors proliferating in small towns and slum colonies.

For the film industry, video is good business. Since the industry is protected by an anti-piracy law (any person infringing it is liable for a three year imprisonment and fine which may extend to Rs.100,000) home viewing rights (domestic) for an 'A' grade film can reach Rs.10 million, while grade 'B' films might bring in half of that amount. Competition for the home viewing rights is fierce among video distributors. A consortium of six companies—Gold, Bombino, Magnum, Time, Indus, and Shemaroo have established control over the market and between them hold the copyright to well over 2,000 feature films. Quick to adapt to changing technology, with the invasion of cable and satellite TV, the consortium is about to launch a satellite channel of its own to provide home entertainment.

Of late, satellite and cable TV have made a serious dent in the earnings of video libraries, which, according to a market survey, have been closing shops at an alarming rate—cassette rentals having dropped by nearly 50%.

PAKISTAN

Number of VCRs: There are approximately 1.6 million VCRs and VCPs in the country, about a million of which are in households. A license fee of Rs.200 and Rs.400 for domestic and commercial tapes respectively is levied by the Government. The custom duty on the import is Rs.3,000 per piece.

The dish antenna has strongly affected the VCR/VCP business, as the price of both are almost equal—about Rs.10,000. A registration fee of Rs.2,000 and Rs.1,000 annually is imposed on dish antennas, which covers a much larger area.

Number of Video Distributors: It runs into thousands, but the biggest are about a dozen who "import" so-called "master prints" of banned films (mostly Indian) from Dubai, duplicate them by the thousands and sell them to smaller distributors and video shops throughout Pakistan. Some of these distributors have smuggled-in blue and X-rated video films as well, but handle them very carefully.

Number of Rental Video Shops: There are two kinds of shops—one dealing in sales, the other in rentals only. The number of these shops is about 125,000, half of which are in Karachi alone. Due to cable, 24-hour transmission by STN and dish antenna, business in rental shops has gone down considerably. Libraries in posh localities like Clifton, Defence Society, PECH Society etc. have home delivery systems on subscription for Rs.100 to Rs.150 per month. Subscribers have only to dial and place their orders.

Average Price of Tape: This is flexible according to the currency value and international market. The present price of a blank video cassette is between Rs.110 and Rs.130. Pre-recorded (slightly lower grade) tapes are also available at the same rate. Sales of blank video tapes reaches over one million every month. They are mostly used for copying foreign (mainly Indian) films smuggled-in from various neighboring countries and re-released simultaneously throughout the country, which does great harm to the theater business.

Total Video Revenue for the Industry: As video is an illegal business in the country, the figures of its revenue are not available from any source. However, according to the Video Dealers' Association, it runs into billions of rupees every year. As there isn't any kind of tax, except illegal gratification to area police, the business is spreading a great deal. In spite of the Copyright Act Bill, passed by the National Assembly and imposing a strict penalty of three years imprisonment and a fine of Rs.100,000, the video business goes on unhindered.

Window: Almost simultaneously—in some cases video is released even before the theatrical release of Indian films. However, piracy of Pakistani films has come to an end after the passage of the Copyright Bill in June, 1992. The video houses and tea shops continue to show the latest pirated Indian and foreign feature films for Rs.3 and Rs.5 per person on huge color TV sets in their premises.

SRI LANKA

Population: 17.5 million.
Number of VCRs: 945,232 in 493,000 households.
Number of Video Distributors: 887 in City of Colombo, 790 elsewhere.

Number of Video Rental Shops: 17,113 on the island.
Number of Video Parlors: Approx. 11,435 all over the island.
Average Rental Price per Tape: Rs. 25.00 (US 60¢) per day.
Video Tape Sales: Approx. Rs.8,400,000 (US $175,000) per year.
Price per Tape Pre-Recorded: Rs.450.00 (US $9.40) to Rs.850.00 (US $17.72).

Total Revenue from the Video Industry: Rs. 110 million (US $2,291,666).

Trends: The uncontrolled growth of video parlors is turning Sri Lanka into one of Asia's leading centers of pornography. The majority of video parlors are conducting a thriving trade, renting hard and soft core pornographic material, often concealed in jackets with harmless, popular names like Charlie Chaplin or Donald Duck. Among the vast clientele are school children, both male and female, causing the Chairman of the Censor Board/Public Performance Board to complain that the video industry exposes young people to extreme violence and sex abuse. To operate a "mini" video cinema today virtually amounts to a violation of Public Performance Ordinances and the Film Corporation Act.

SWITZERLAND

Population: 6,874,000.

Video Stores: In Switzerland in 1992, there were an estimated 370 videoshops. By the end of 1993, there will be some 350.

Penetration: According to statistics of the Swiss Videogram Ass., by the end of 1992 some 1,700,000 households were equipped with VCRs. By mid-1993 VCR penetration totalled some 1,750,000 households.

Trends: 1992 video tape sales increased from a turnover of Sfr. 20,000,000 in 1990 to Sfr. 28,400,000. For 1993, Swiss Videogram Ass. estimates a further increment reaching the 30 million threshold. Rentals decreased from Sfr. 15,240,000 in 1991 to 13,800,000 in 1992 and should fall to 12 million Swiss francs in 1993.

The industry in 1992 totalled 134,000,000 Swiss francs (against 147,000,000 in 1991) and will decrease in 1993 to an estimated 130,000,000. While the rentals grossed only 71,000,000 Sfr. against 91,000,000 the year before, sales by wholesalers showed a slight increase from 56,000,000 Sfrs up to 63,000,000. For 1993 there is predicted another 10% increase.

1992 best selling titles were "Cinderella", "Beethoven", and "Rescuers Down Under".

Normally, the window between theatrical release and release on video is about 6 months. For sell-through the window is about 8 to 12 months. In some cases, however, theatrical release and video release occur contemporaneously.

Piracy: Some 10% of the video market is given over to piracy, which results in a loss of about 800,000 Swiss francs.

Major Distributors: Videophon AG Zurich (40% share); Rainbow, Pratel/BS (30% share); Warner Bros. Zurich (20% share); All Others (10% share).

Organization: Swiss Videogramm Association, Badenerstrasse 555, 8048 Zurich.
