KENTUCKY

Population 3,038,156 (U. S. Census 1960)

State Capital, FRANKFORT

Kentucky is bounded on the north by Ohio and Indiana, northwest by Illinois, east by West Virginia and Virginia, south by Tennessee and west by Missouri. Its greatest breadth from east to west is 409 miles; greatest length, 178 miles; land area, 39,864 square miles.

The Appalachian Mountains cross the eastern end of the state and many hills dot the rich and fertile tablelands. Northwest of this section, and in the center of the state, is the famous and productive blue grass region, with a gently undulating upland surface and deep valleys at the rivers. Between the Green and Cumberland Rivers the surface is level and known as the "Barrens," from the scarcity of heavy timber. The western part is generally level, with slight undulations. The soil of the whole state is remarkably fertile; that part between Lexington and the Ohio River is known as the "Garden of Kentucky." More than 800 miles of Kentucky soil borders on the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers, and there are other navigable rivers in the state. The Weather Bureau at Louisville gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 57.0; highest on record, 107; lowest on record, -20. Total annual precipitation is 42.49 inches.

Kentucky has long been famed for its horses, its thoroughbreds being excelled nowhere. It is especially noted, too, for its underground passages and caves. Most celebrated of these is Mammoth Cave, which has about 150 miles of connecting passages. It is now a National Park.

The largest of the state's many institutions of higher education is The University of Kentucky, located in Lexington. The University of Louisville, in Louisville, is the oldest municipal university in the United States.

LOUISIANA

Population 3,257,022 (U. S. Census, 1960)

State Capital, BATON ROUGE

Louisiana is bounded on the north by Arkansas and Mississippi, east by Mississippi and the Gulf of Mexico, south by the Gulf of Mexico, and west by Texas. Its extreme breadth from east to west is about 300 miles; length, 240 miles; total land area, 45,162 square miles.

The surface is generally low and level. There are low hills in the north and northwest, from which the land slopes gradually to the Mississippi and the Gulf. Much of the land along the river is below the water level during the spring freshets, and is protected from overflow by levees, which are built on both banks below Baton Rouge, and on the west bank, throughout the state. Many of the principal rivers and bayous are protected in like manner so that but a small portion of the land is subject to overflow. The soil of the river bottoms is exceedingly fertile and is almost entirely silt brought down by the Mississippi River. It yields large crops of cotton, sugar cane and rice. The prairies are productive and afford good pasture in places. The hilly section yields good cotton crops, but about half is covered with pine barrens. The climate is semi-tropical, very warm and moist in summer with little cold weather in winter. The Weather Bureau at New Orleans gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 69.6; highest on record, 102; lowest on record, 7. Total annual precipitation averages more than 56 inches.

On account of the great extent of navigable waters, of which the state has 4,800 miles, and the network of railroads penetrating every part of the state, the products of Louisiana's fields, mines, factories and fisheries are readily and rapidly moved, and none of the state's resources need be neglected for lack of transportation facilities. New Orleans is the leading city and an important port. This city is famous as a winter resort and has many historical attractions as well as picturesqueness. Tulane University is located in New Orleans. Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, is the state's largest institution of higher learning.

MAINE

Population 969,265 (U. S. Census, 1960)

State Capital, AUGUSTA

Maine, largest of the New England states, is bounded on the north by Quebec and New Brunswick, Canada, east by New Brunswick, south by the Atlantic Ocean, and west by New Hampshire and Quebec. Its extreme length is 301 miles; its width varies greatly because of the many shore indentations. The total land area is 31,040 square miles.

The northern part is mainly a wilderness of forest land with coniferous trees and mountainous elevation, thinly peopled, except in the fertile tracts of Aroostook county. In the northeast, on the St. John River, are several French Canadian settlements. The southern part is varied, the surface seldom much broken. It has tracts of great fertility, and others, especially in the southeast, that are only moderately productive. The climate is cold in winter; mild in summer. The Weather Bureau at Eastport gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 41.8; highest degree on record, 93; lowest, —23. Total annual precipitation is 43.24 inches.

Maine is a fishing, hunting and summer resort of great popularity. Portland, the chief port, has a large steamer tourist traffic in addition to its extensive trade in freight. The state has about 1,300 wooded islands. On one of them, Mt. Desert, are Acadia National Park, and a notable summer colony. Higher education is provided by eight colleges, four teachers colleges, a theological seminary and a Maritime academy. The University of Maine, the largest, is located at Orono.

MARYLAND

Population 3,100,689 (U. S. Census, 1960)

State Capital, ANNAPOLIS

Maryland is bounded on the north by Pennsylvania, east and southeast by Delaware and the Atlantic Ocean, west by West Virginia, and south and southwest by Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia. The Chesapeake Bay divides the greater portion of it into two unequal parts, known as the Eastern and Western Shores. Its extreme width from east to west on its northern border is 198 miles, and, following the course of the Potomac River, varies from 3 or 4 miles, to about 129 miles. Its land area is 9,881 square miles.

The surface of the Eastern Shore is mostly level, in parts low and swampy, but towards the north, rocky and broken. The Western Shore, between the Potomac River and Chesapeake Bay, presents mainly the same general features. The northwest is very mountainous; five or six ridges of the Alleghenies, principally the Blue and Laurel, traversing it. In the extreme west are the beautiful elevated valleys, or "glades." The mountain slopes are thickly wooded. The soil of the Eastern Shore and Southern Maryland is alluvial, classed as silt and sandy loam, while the soils of the central and northern parts are made up for the most part of loams and silt loams. The Weather Bureau at Baltimore gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 55.4; highest on record, 105; lowest on record, —7. Total annual precipitation is 42.56 inches.

Water and rail transportation are highly developed. Maryland's commerce is confined chiefly to Baltimore, one of the principal ports of the country, and one whose trade is extremely heavy. The Potomac River and Chesapeake Bay are navigable for large vessels, and many smaller rivers and bays are accessible for vessels of light draft. The United States Naval Academy is located at Annapolis; the University of Maryland at College Park. Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore is internationally famous, and its hospital receives patients from all over the world.

MASSACHUSETTS

Population 5,148,578 (U. S. Census, 1960)

State Capital, BOSTON

Massachusetts is bounded on the north by Vermont and New Hampshire, east by the Atlantic Ocean, south by the Atlantic Ocean and by Rhode Island and Connecticut and west by New York. Its extreme breadth is 160 miles, its length from 47 to 90 miles; land area, 7,867 square miles.

The surface is greatly diversified: mountainous in the extreme west, hilly and broken in the east and northeast, and in the southeast, mainly low and sandy. Toward the west is the fertile valley of the Connecticut River. The mountains are the Taconic and the Hoosac (continuations of the Green Mountain ranges of Vermont) with detached members of the White Mountains. The Weather Bureau at Boston gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 50.7; highest on record, 104; lowest on record, —18. Total annual precipitation is 38.76 inches.

The state has abundant rail and coastwise shipping facilities. The Cape Cod Canal, an eight-mile cut, 25 feet deep, between Buzzards Bay and Sandwich, enables coasting vessels to avoid the long trip around Cape Cod peninsula and shortens the distance between Boston and New York by over 70 miles. The North Shore above Boston, Cape Cod and the "hill towns" west of the Connecticut River are popular summer resorts, the valley of the Housatonic, in Berkshire county, having hundreds of summer residences belonging to wealthy citizens of New York, Boston and other large cities. Massachusetts is the third densest populated state in the Union, having 545.9 persons to the square mile. It is a leading center of the American shoe, leather, wool and paper trades. Boston, Quincy, Newburyport and Salem lead in shipbuilding interests. Boston is one of the greatest fishing ports in the country.

There are a great many colleges in the state, including some of the country's most famous, for both men and women. Harvard University, the oldest in the country, is located at Cambridge, as is the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Nearly all of Massachusetts is rich in historical interest. At Provincetown, in 1620, the Mayflower made the first landing, going from there to Plymouth.

MINNESOTA

Population 3,413,864 (U. S. Census, 1960)

State Capital, ST. PAUL

Minnesota is bounded on the north by Ontario and Manitoba, Canada, east by Wisconsin and Lake Superior, south by Iowa, and west by North and South Dakota. Its extreme length from north to south is 380 miles, its breadth varies from 183 miles, in the center, to 262 on the south and 330 on the north borders. Its land area is 80,009 square miles. It is a state of wide natural resources and rapidly developing wealth.

The surface is generally undulating and diversified with plains, timber belts and extensive prairies dotted with lakes and groves. The northeast is generally hilly, has great deposits of iron ore, and was formerly entirely covered with immense forests. Much of the salable pine has been cut, but there is a vast quantity of valuable timber, both pine and hardwood, still standing. This region also contains innumerable lakes, abounding in fish and affording popular summer resorts. In the southeast there is a beautiful rolling region, heavily wooded, and from it the surface rises gradually to the Hauteur de Terres or Heights of Land in the northwest. The climate is particularly healthful, and extremely favorable to the growth of vegetation, especially grain crops. The Weather Bureau of Minneapolis gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 44.5; highest degree on record as 108; lowest —34. Total annual precipitation is 27.66 inches.

The state's shipping, both by water and rail, is immense. The Great Lakes, with Duluth as an advantageously located port, provide an excellent waterway to the Atlantic, and railroads branch in every direction. Minneapolis is the largest cash grain market in the world and second only to Chicago as a grain future market. There is in operation a very efficient school system. The University of Minnesota, is one of the great universities of the country. It is located at Minneapolis.

MISSISSIPPI

Population 2,178,141 (U. S. Census, 1960)

State Capital, JACKSON

Mississippi is bounded on the north by Tennessee, east by Alabama, south by the Gulf of Mexico and Louisiana and west by the Mississippi River, which separates it from Louisiana and Arkansas. Its extreme length from north to south is 332 miles; average breadth, 142 miles. Its land area is 47,248 square miles.

The surface is generally hilly except in the Mississippi delta area, from Vicksburg to the Tennessee line and between the Mississippi and Yazoo Rivers, where there is some of the most fertile soil in the world, particularly suited to growing cotton, rice and other agricultural products. Below Vicksburg the surface for some miles inland is hilly and known as the "cane hills" or "bluffs" and has a generally productive soil. There is another particularly fertile prairie region in the northeast where one of the chief products, alfalfa, produces from three to five heavy crops each year. The southern part is chiefly a level pine region and furnishes good pasturage and quantities of timber and tar and turpentine. The soil of this tract, although sandy, is with fertilization, particularly adapted to truck farming. The forest wealth of the state is extensive and it ranks third among the states as a producer of cotton. The climate and production are subtropical. The Weather Bureau at Vicksburg gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 65.6; highest degree on record, 104; lowest, —1. Total annual precipitation, 51.93 inches.

Plantation life in this primarily agricultural state is being changed by industrial development. Transportation is supplied by rail lines and the Mississippi River. The largest institutions of higher education are the University of Mississippi, in University; Mississippi State University, in State College, and Mississippi Southern College, in Hattiesburg.

MISSOURI

Population 4,319,813 (U. S. Census, 1960)

State Capital, JEFFERSON CITY

Missouri is bounded on the north by Iowa, east by Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee, south by Arkansas, west by Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska. Its length, north to south, is 277 miles; its average breadth about 244 miles, ranging from 208 miles in the north to 312 miles in the south. Its land area is 69,226 square miles.

The Missouri River flows across the state from west to east just north of the center. The surface north of the river is generally level, while that south of it is undulating, becoming rougher as it approaches the Ozark Mountains. There are also open, treeless plains, an extension of those in Kansas; and in the southeast, bordering on the Mississippi River, there is an extensive marshy tract called the "Sunk County," the result of the earthquake of 1811-12. Plans have been made to reclaim the lands along the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers and their tributaries by levees along the great rivers by drainage canals in the valleys of the smaller ones. The climate varies from north temperate to sub-tropical. The Weather Bureau at St. Louis, gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 56.2; highest degree on record, 110; lowest, —22. Total annual precipitation, 38.98 inches.

With about 500 miles of waterfront on the Mississippi and with the Missouri traversing it from west to east, the state has fully 1,000 miles of navigable waterways. St. Louis is a center for travel and for extensive freight traffic carried on by air, rail and by river, the famous bridge across the Mississippi accommodating more freight cars than any other span in the world. Eighteen trunk lines afford rail transportation. The city is the gateway for north and south tourist travel as well as freight traffic. The stock yards and meat-packing plants at Kansas City have gained world-wide fame. The Bagnell Dam across the Osage River in the Ozarks forms one of the largest artificial lakes in the world and floods about 60,000 acres. It is part of an enormous hydro-electrical development designed to supply power to St. Louis, Kansas City and elsewhere.

Educationally the state ranks exceedingly high. In addition to the University of Missouri, at Columbia, it has many colleges and universities, besides many professional and technological schools and teachers' colleges.

MONTANA

Population 674,767 (U. S. Census, 1960)

State Capital, HELENA

Montana is bounded on the north by Saskatchewan and Alberta, Canada, east by North and South Dakota, south by Wyoming and Idaho and West by Idaho. Its breadth, east to west is about 540 miles; length, about 280 miles; land area, 145,878 square miles, including 240 square miles of Yellowstone National Park, rank in area, fourth.

The Rocky Mountains occupy the western two-fifths of the state's area; east of them the country forms part of the "Great Plains." The Missouri River is navigable for boats as far as Fort Benton. The Yellowstone River is navigable during high water. The lowest altitude is 1,800 feet about sea level, while Granite Peak in Carbon County reaches a height of 12,350 feet. The climate is dry, healthful and invigorating. The Weather Bureau at Helena gives the temperature (annual monthly mean) as 41.5; highest on record, 103; lowest on record, -42; total annual precipitation as 11.55 inches. Irrigation has been highly developed, and immense reservoirs on the Madison and Missouri Rivers are sources of water supply. As a result, standard fruits of the Temperate Zone have been produced in large quantities.

Montana, with its vast expanse of mountain country, its 500 lakes and fishing streams, its thousands of miles of winding mountain roads, its national forests, dude ranches, mountain hotels and tourist camp resorts, affords unequalled recreational advantages. Glacier National Park, extending to the Canadian border line, is one of the most wonderful public parks in the world. Montana State University is located at Missoula.

DAILY NEWSPAPERS

A LIST OF DAILY NEWSPAPERS WHICH ARE PUBLISHED CONTINUOUSLY THROUGHOUT THE YEAR, WITH THE POPULATIONS OF THE PLACES WHERE THEY ARE PUBLISHED.

At the end of each state appears the total estimated circulation of all English Language Dailies in that State—showing Evening, Morning and Sunday totals separately.

In the main catalog section is shown, under the listing of each paper, if they accept strip or color advertising.

N. B.—The circulation figures quoted below were the latest available figures. Variations between these figures and those quoted in the catalog are due to later printing of this section and availability of later circulation figures.
