RADEX is a scientifically arranged chart by means of which you can tell exactly where to set your dials for each broadcasting station in America or name the station you are receiving without waiting for the announcement.

RADDEX

A Complete Radio Index

Please Read the Following Instructions Carefully

February 1926
Price 25 Cents

WHEN any station is received mark the dial numbers in the proper place in the "Index by Call Letters" Enter the dial readings for each wave length in its place in the "Index by Wave Lengths." This automatically calibrates your set and shows you exactly where to set your dials even for those stations you have never heard.

To tell the station you are receiving, compare your dial readings with those you have entered in the "Index by Wave Lengths." The power of the station in watts and the distance will indicate station to which you are tuned.

If you hear the name of the city but not the call letters, turn to the "Index by Locations" and compare wave lengths with your dial readings. This will identify the station.

The wave length is also shown in the "Index by Call Letters" thus providing an immediate cross index to the full data regarding the station in the "Index by Wave Lengths."
