FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION TO CENSOR RADIO ADVERTISING

The strong arm of another branch of the Federal Government is about to enter the radio field to supply certain powers which are not granted to the Radio Commission.

The Radio Act does not give the Federal Radio Commission any power of censorship. It is true that in any contest between radio stations for a particular assignment, the Radio Commission may, in determining the "public interest, convenience and necessity," take into consideration the character of the programs and advertising data put out over such stations, but they have no power whatever to censor such programs, or prohibit any material so long as it does not come within the prohibited features of the Radio Act.

However, it now appears that where the Federal Radio Commission finds itself considerably handicapped, the Federal Trade Commission, it is understood, believes its powers, in the matter of the prohibition of unfair methods of competition, including fraudulent and false advertising, in newspapers and elsewhere, are applicable to a radio station as well.

It is obvious, according to the argument advanced, that a radio station carrying advertising prohibited by the terms of the Federal Trade Act falls within the Trade Commission's jurisdiction.

EVERY OTHER FAMILY HAS RADIO

There is a radio receiving set in the home of virtually every other home in the United States, a national industrial survey conducted by Dr. Daniel Starch, of Cambridge, Mass., for the National Broadcasting Company reveals. A copy of the report has just been received by the Federal Radio Commission.

Forty-three per cent of the families in this country, numbering 52,581,860 persons, comprise in the radio audience of the nation, it is estimated by Dr. Starch on the basis of a personal canvass of 18,000 families in representative parts of the United States. Of the approximately 12,824,800 radio set owners, more than 81 per cent listen in more than two hours daily.

The most popular hours of the day for radio programs are between 8 and 10 o'clock at night and Saturday and Sunday nights have a slight edge on the other evenings of the week.

"Light musical features" are the most popular radio programs, though there is a remarkable interest in agricultural broadcasts. Fifty-two per cent of the families interviewed have had their sets more than two years.

The common belief that radio reception declines considerably in the summer was discounted by the survey. More than 78 per cent said they used their set extensively during the warm months. Long distance reception and "DX" fans were found to be rapidly disappearing.

LOUD SPEAKER COURTESY SUGGESTED

It is suggested that an application of Golden Rule or at least a little consideration for others will do more than a police order to silence loud speakers late at night or when they are otherwise obnoxious. Somebody is sure to tap on the wall or show disapproval quickly if a piano is banging away too loudly after 11 o'clock at night. There appears to be really very little justification for turning on a speaker so loud that it disturbs the next door neighbor but if this must be done, it should be done tempered with good judgment.

STUDIO NEWS

The interested way in which SallyJo Walker is peering at the letter in Grant Merrill's hand stimulates our curiosity greatly. We assume, however, that the letter is from an admirer of this clever team, whose daily, except Sunday, appearance before the microphone of KJR occurs at 9:40 a. m. The Northwest Broadcasting Company, which includes KJR, KEX and KGA, is building exceptionally good programs these days, and the couple on our cover this week are numbered among the outstanding radio teams of the Northwest. Dial 970 kilocycles some morning and enjoy melody which is effervescent, spontaneous, and altogether delightful.

An address by Dr. Julius Curtius, German Minister of Foreign Affairs, delivered in a Berlin broadcasting station, will be rebroadcast in America Saturday, June 21, by the National Broadcasting Company, if present plans are successful.

Frederick M. Sackett, American Ambassador to Germany, is also scheduled to be heard during the broadcast, which is expected to last from 3:30 until 4:30 p. m. Mr. Sackett will introduce Dr. Curtius and deliver a short address himself.

Besides the talks by the foreign minister and the ambassador, the program will include a group of German student songs by a male chorus.

The program will originate in the Berlin studios of the Reichs Rundfunk Gesellschaft and come to America via short wave.

An extensive NBC network will carry the German program for June 21, including the following western stations: KGO, KHQ, KOMO, KGW, KFI, KFSD, and KTAR.

Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 7:15 over the Columbia System, Heywood Broun, famous New York critic and newspaper columnist, does a fifteen-minute sketch. In the bay district tune in to KFRC. As yet KHJ has not been able to arrange for this feature, but we have hopes.

George Olsen's famous dance orchestra, now teasing toes at Mr. Olsen's Culver City joy mart, will attack the KHJ microphone every Wednesday night from 8:30 to 9:00. This series will be broadcast over the Pacific Coast and Mountain states units of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

KGER's Sunday night frolic has been relegated to the ash heap, or wherever it is that discarded radio programs go. In its stead you will find Ole and his gang. This is a band of trusty performers, muzzled and led by Jerry Purcell, station announcer, who takes the part of Ole. Sunday nights at 10:00.

KFI's Monday night "Soiree Intime," at 9:00 o'clock, presents the station's outstanding artists in a program of exceptional merit. Virginia Flohri, Robert Hurd, Jose Rodriguez and Zhay Clark participate.

Big Brother Ken's Kiddie Club, at KNX every evening, exclusive of Saturday and Sunday, at 5:15, is unique in many ways, but one rule especially deserving of encouragement is Big Brother Ken's firm belief that children should be children in their acts, and singing "blues" should be left to the older brothers and sisters. And this rule holds, in spite of the weekly auditions to between 50 and 60 embryonic child radio stars.

"Mac," famous figure of the blue Monday Jamboree and Happy-go-Lucky Hour, KFRC features, will be heard every Monday night through KHJ in a series of completely new programs. These 5:30 to 6 features are designed especially for children, but Mac's appeal is considerably more copious.

The romantic lure of Spanish music may be enjoyed in the work of Saldans' Castellians, who play over KFRC on Thursday night from 8 to 9. With them is Carmelita, Spanish soprano, whose solos are a highlight of the program.

Questions & Answers

A Weekly Department Conducted by K.G. Ormiston, I.R.E.

QUESTION—I have a custom-built AC set which is very satisfactory, except for one thing. I am situated where the line voltage fluctuation is quite bad and this is a disadvantage which I should like to overcome if it is possible. Will any of the line voltage regulators or balast units advertised for the purpose, maintain the voltage at a constant value. I understand how such a unit could prevent the excessive surges but I do not see how it can build up the voltage when it falls below normal. How can I compensate for the lows as well as the highs?

J. McB., Los Angeles.

ANSWER—You are correct in assuming that none of the regulators added to your set will build up the line voltage when it drops below normal. They are very useful on a line which runs above 110 most of the time, but on a line where sub-normal voltage prevails they only serve to reduce the voltage still more. What you can do, is exactly what manufacturers do who equip their sets with voltage regulators. They use a power transformer which is designed for about 85 volts input to give normal operation of the set, and then put in the regulator designed to maintain this voltage constant. The hot resistance of the regulator is such that 110 volts is dropped to 85 volts. Then as the line voltage varies, the regulator will (through variation in its resistance) keep the voltage drop across its terminals such that the voltage applied to the primary of the power transformer of the set does not vary greatly from the specified 85 volts. You can replace your power transformer with one designed to operate with whatever voltage control unit you have in mind. Amperite, Raytheon and Clarostat are some of the manufacturers who build equipment of this type.

QUESTION—I have installed an old battery operated Atwater-Kent set in my automobile but have a great deal of interference from the ignition system of the car. What are the methods used in commercial installations to minimize this interference?

C. S. W., Pasadena, Cal.

ANSWER—The usual system of ignition interference elimination consists of suppressing high frequency oscillations in the secondary or spark plug circuits, and providing by-pass condensers for the oscillations set up in the primary circuit by the make and break of the interrupter. Then it is also advisable to treat the generator in the same way to avoid noise from the arcing at the commutator. The high voltage circuits are dealt with by inserting resistance units at each spark plug. These are usually carbon resistors of about 25,000 ohms. This must be a special type of resistor, however, which will not alter value under the high voltage discharges. A suitable unit is made by the Ohio Resistor Company, known as the Ohiohm. A condenser is shunted across the primary of the ignition coil and the breaker to ground. A second condenser is connected from the output lead of the generator to ground. In some cars it is necessary to add another suppressing resistor in the high tension lead to the center of the distributor head.

KFSD Joins NBC

The National Broadcasting Company is busy gathering more new stations to the long list of affiliated stations. No sooner had we announced the addition of KTAR, Phoenix, than KFSD, San Diego, joins the fold. The annexing of the San Diego station will be of enormous benefit to that locality, whereas the desert-dwellers of the Southwest, to whom the privilege of hearing really good radio programs has long been denied, will now hear the best on the air.

Names Off and You Could Not Tell One from Another

Radio tubes look alike outside and inside. But what a difference when it comes to performance. There are reasons—and plenty of them—why Professionals endorse Pilotron Radio Tubes. If you could test your tubes as the scientist does, you would quickly agree that Pilotron Radio Tubes are to be preferred . . . dependable under all conditions—quick to get into action—perfect in tone reproduction—uniform in quality. Even though Pilotrons are better, they cost no more than ordinary tubes. Your Pilot radio dealer will gladly explain more fully why you should prefer Pilotrons.

The R. M. A. Trade Show

By K. G. ORMISTON

Atlantic City, N. J., June 4.—As I look out of the window in search of an idea for starting this story (it's sometimes easier to find 'em out of the window than in my head), I hear the roar of an airplane motor. Then it comes into sight. It's a hydroplane, skimming along a few feet above the ocean and zooming over the amusement piers in its path like a small boy playing leap-frog. The plane is decorated with flags and the gondola bears the legend, "At-water Kent Radio."

Further out on the bosom of the Atlantic a sailing yacht majestically glides along parallel with the shore. On the spread of white canvas I see "Majestic Radio." High above me is a captive balloon carrying a great banner with the word "Philco."

Down below on the famous boardwalk I hear music. On the illuminating standards there are helmets from the armored suits of knights of yore, and it is from these that the music emanates. Each bears the "RCA" monogram. Music all along the boardwalk, with no evidence of loud speakers! The piece heard at the moment is the "Maine Stein Song," which might be termed the theme song of this convention. Personally, I've heard it every day since I left Los Angeles!

The Annual Convention and Trade Show of the Radio Manufacturers Association is housed in the world's greatest auditorium. A magnificent building, so vast in size that the Show, which was spread all over three hotels in Chicago last year, is almost lost under this one roof. The main auditorium is capable of seating 42,000 people, and then there are other "small halls" which hold only 5,000 folks. It is in one of these that the annual banquet was held.

A review of the Trade Show brings to light the almost universal use of screen-grid tubes, and the predominant circuit is of course tuned radio frequency with four and five tuned circuits. The RCA combine (RCA, Victor, General Electric, Westinghouse, and Graybar, are showing a screen-grid superheterodyne, but practically all of the rest of the manufacturers adhere to screen-grid R.F. circuits.

The universal use of dynamic speakers and push-pull audio amplification with the 245 type power tubes is also evident. There are three features that have been used infrequently heretofore which are very much in evidence at this Show. These are automatic volume control, tone control, and remote control. A word about these three features will not be amiss. The automatic volume control is built into the circuits of the receiver, and by its means the set adjusts itself to the strength of the incoming signal and the user has only to tune to the station he desires, having previously set the controls for the amount of volume he wants. As a result of this improvement listeners will become interested in DX reception, for they can now receive distant stations without the tuning skill necessary heretofore to prevent an unbearable roar from nearby stations.

The tone control feature permits the listener, by means of a knob on the set, to suppress or accentuate different portions of the musical range to produce the most pleasing effect for his particular ear, inasmuch as our ears vary in their sensitivity to different frequencies. Some manufacturers claim that radio receivers should render an accurate and perfect reproduction of the original music, and that any tampering with the tone range by means of a "tone control" results in an untrue and unnatural reproduction that the public should not have even if they like it.

The remote control feature consists of an attachment whereby the set operator can tune to any desired station and regulate the volume from his easy chair at any distance from the radio instrument itself.

An interesting feature of the Show is the midget sets,—small, compact table models known as the "clock type," selling complete for less than $70. Four of these are displayed, three of which are manufactured in Los Angeles. This is indicative of Los Angeles' position in the lead of the midget industry.

For the first time in an R. M. A. Trade Show, television receivers for the home are being shown, both in complete form and in kits. The Jenkins Television Corporation is displaying elaborate cabinet models of their radiovisor and special AC short-wave

COMMISSION PICKS ANOTHER LAWYER

The Federal Radio Commission again turned to the Department of Justice and the law profession in choosing an Assistant Secretary to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Frank Lovette, a political appointee who quit after he failed to land the Secretaryship. The new assistant is John B. Reynolds, a holder of an LL.B. degree and who has been an assistant clerk in the Justice Department. He comes from Minneapolis.

James W. Baldwin, who was Chief Clerk and thus boss of Reynolds in the Department of Justice, was recently chosen Secretary of the Commission. He also is a lawyer.

Harry Geise Is Program Director of KMTR-KMIC

"Happy Harry" Geise is not wondering what to do with his spare time now that he is building programs for both KMTR and KMIC. Program directors of only one station usually are slightly harassed-looking individuals, whose many and important duties bring snowy locks all too soon. Mr. Geise, however, is an old hand at this business of giving radio listeners real entertainment and the handling of two good-sized stations doesn't make him one whit less happy or entertaining, both personally and on the air.

Starting at KYW, then a tour of Eastern stations with Wendall Hall, over KDKA, WJZ, WEA, WDAR and others throughout the East, Mr. Geise, song writer, continuity writer, announcer and so forth, returned to Chicago, entertaining on all of the Chicago stations until the spring of 1924, when he became assistant announcer and program director at WQJ, Chicago. At this station Harry wrote the original "How Do You Do" song, singing over six thousand seven hundred verses in answer to over fifty thousand telegrams and letters, in ten months.

After a brief stay at WIBO, Chicago, as general manager and chief announcer, there followed a tour of the West Coast stations, appearing as entertainer and announcer on KNX, KFI, KFWB, KNRC, and KFQZ, and returning to the old stand in the spring of 1925, as general manager and chief announcer of WQJ, Chicago. One year later, the Chicago Daily News, owners of WMAQ, bought the station WQJ and placed Mr. Geise as chief announcer and manager of the continuity department of both WMAQ and WQJ. While acting in this capacity he toured the East and again appeared on the Eastern stations, including a program over the Columbia Broadcasting System, and receiver, as well as less expensive kit radiovisors for home assembly. A later issue of Radio Doings will outline fully the progress made and present status of radio-television.

Several sets incorporate a new feature, whereby the loud speaker is silenced while tuning, and only becomes audible after you have tuned in your station to the desired volume as indicated by a meter.

Many sets have visual devices for indicating when you are tuned to your station's peak. Some include line filters for reducing the noise caused by electrical interference. We are glad to see this at last.

Radio-phonograph combinations seem very popular, and these instruments are no longer restricted to the high price class. Some very marvelous cabinets are displayed. Majestic, for one, has gone in for high grade custom-built cabinets. A $5,000 cabinet built for W. C. Grunow was one of the features of the show. All of Majestic's furniture is very fine. By the way, their new sets use four screen-grid tubes.

There is considerable interest in radio equipment for automobiles. Some automobile manufacturers are already installing antennas in certain models as standard equipment, and are providing means for mounting receivers and speakers. More next week.

You can bring your radio up to date by installing a TONE CONTROL at a cost of only $5. Less than one minute to install. Raise or lower the pitch of your set at will. Fits any set except Reflex. Order at once. Immediate delivery.

a program over the National Broadcasting Chain. In the spring of 1928, St. Paul, Minnesota, claimed Mr. Geise for the chief announcer and manager of the continuity department of their new 10,000-watt station KSTP, where he remained until January of 1929, at which time the call of the Golden West brought him back to Los Angeles. After three months at KFVB, Harry Geise was appointed program director of KMTR, where he has remained for nearly a year in various capacities, ranging from piano player and announcer to continuity writer, entertainer and program director. Under the regime of V. G. Freitag, Mr. Geise has been recently appointed program director of KMIC as well as KMTR.

MART BORDEN

The Plymouth Radio Corporation of 2825 North Main Street, Los Angeles, has just introduced to the trade a very beautiful little three screen-grid midget radio. Mr. Borden, the manager of the company, believes that he has developed a radio that does not have to take off its "proverbial hat" to any machine on the market anywhere near its price class.

He said, "Such tone quality, selectivity, and will it play distance? You should just hear it!!"

The Griffin-Smith Manufacturing Company of 1125 Wall Street, has developed and is now introducing to the trade and radio public the latest type of radio-phonograph combination.

The combination is in the form of an end-table with a book-rack below.

The machine is equipped with full tone Magnavox dynamic speaker, screen-grid tubes, 45 output power tube and the very latest type of electric pick-up and turn-table.

The cabinet is of hand-rubbed walnut and, with the controls on one end, it makes a convenient, serviceable and good looking instrument for the home.

It has just been announced that Fey & Krause of 1616 South Figueroa Street have been appointed Southern California distributors for Edison Lightomatic radio receivers. We will make a more detailed announcement as soon as we receive all of the facts about this new appointment.

Mr. R. B. Yale, president of Yale Radio Electric Company, 1111 South Wall Street, is becoming more enthused every day about the new U. S. automobile radio set. He said that this new universal radio for motor cars has the same electrical and mechanical construction built into the entire Apex line of consoles. The slogan for the U. S. Radio & Television Company has been "Quality must be far beyond the price."

The automobile radio brings to the motorist the identical radio pleasures now enjoyed at home in the living-room and it is an excellent way to have additional pleasure on a long motor trip.

Mr. Charles Kierulff of Kierulff & Ravenscroft, California distributors for Crosley radio equipment, returned from the Crosley convention last week.

"We are going to surprise the radio industry of Southern California when we make our announcement of the Crosley models that are to be offered to the public this year. We have always been able to offer real value in radio equipment, but this year we have a line-up of receivers which will surpass all radio values offered to the public before," said Mr. Kierulff.

The Waltham midget receiver is gaining in popularity every day, according to Mr. H. E. Howard of the Waltham Radio Corporation, 4228 South Vermont Avenue, Los Angeles.

The appearance of the set, the selectivity, power and excellent tone quality of the Waltham have so pleased the radio public that they have been buying them as fast as they could be manufactured.

Mr. Alex Hirsch, proprietor of the Radio Manufacturers Supply Company of 1000 South Broadway, is making an extended trip through the East and Middle West visiting his sources of supply and keeping on the lookout for the newest developments in radio.

Mr. Hirsch is one of the first to pioneer television in Southern California, and as it is his dream to see television machines as universally used as the present radio receiver, it is quite likely that he will have television units and kits to offer to his trade shortly after he arrives back in Los Angeles.

Slack Summer Season Declared to Be Myth

"That old myth about summer doldrums in radio is on its way with other legends," says Carl Haverlin, sales manager of KFI-KECA, Los Angeles.

"People used to tell me, 'Nobody listens to radio in the summer time. They go to the beach, or the mountains, or just play around in town. But radio—that's out.' As a matter of fact, the summer is radio's busiest part of the year. If people dance around, or go to the beach or mountains, they do it to the sound of radio. Evenings are longer—they sit up later at night listening to radio. They get up earlier, too, in summer.

"The best proof, perhaps, that radio is lively in summer, is that this year not a single commercial account of KFI-KECA has pulled out for the summer. The only exception are the school broadcasts. But these are substituted by other educational material."

Fred W. Christian, radio manager of the Electric Lighting Supply Co., and R. W. Whiston, service manager of the above company, have left Los Angeles on an extended radio tour of the western United States.

They are taking with them a one-quarter kilowatt Portable Short-wave Telephone Transmitter and will do experimental work and make tests of various locations, principally in the Teton National Forests and Yellowstone Park. They expect to tour throughout the states of California, Nevada, Arizona, Utah, Idaho, Wyoming, Montana, Oregon and Washington. They will operate on a carrier frequency of approximately 3525 kilocycles or a wavelength of about 85 meters. They will be signing the call letters W7APZ and W6DQB. Anyone hearing their station, which will be on the air continuously until June 23rd, may address them at 216 West Third Street, Los Angeles.

The boys are combining business with pleasure and expect to get in a lot of good trout fishing.

The H. R. Curtiss Company has just been appointed Philco distributors for Southern California. They will move their entire radio business to the building formerly occupied by the Philco Radio Company at 1145 Wall Street.

Mr. Claude Foote, the Los Angeles manager, has been East on an extended trip and while there took the journey with the Philco jobbers to Bermuda. Mr. Foote will return this week and we will then be able to make a detailed announcement of their appointment.

Mr. Haynes, of Davison & Haynes Manufacturing Company, 1012 West Washington Blvd., Los Angeles, is walking on air these days.

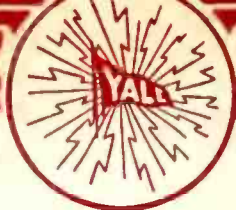

Mr. Haynes said that orders are coming in so fast from the East and Middle West for the popular Angelus radio receiver that they are kept busy literally day and night to supply the demand.

"The midget business is some business now and is growing more and more every day, and we are right in the lead," said Mr. Haynes. "The East is just waking up to the fact that the midget receiver will give the radio owner almost everything that the large receiver will give, and at a price which is so far below the big models that there is no comparison."

Mr. W. H. Sorrille reports renewed interest among the radio dealers and restaurant owners in the Jenkins Coin Machine. "The Jenkins Coin Timing Device, when attached to any radio receiver, will more than pay for itself by the customers of the restaurant wanting to hear good radio music during their meal," said Mr. Sorrille. "Before long I hope to have these machines in thousands of restaurants on the Pacific Coast."

Mr. T. P. Hodges of the Western Manufacturing Company, 1330 Waterloo Street, Los Angeles, is introducing a new radio tone control unit which is designed to regulate the tone quality of your radio set just to your individual liking. According to Mr. Hodges, your old set may take on the deep resonance of the more modern sets with the aid of this neat little device.

Mr. Sturdevant, Coast sales manager for the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, flew down to Los Angeles from San Francisco last week to visit Mr. Les Taufenbach, president of Western Radio, Inc., Southern California distributors for Brunswick radio receivers and records.
