Weekly Review of Radio News-Thought and Opinion

MORE HIGH POWER STATIONS LOOM

An increase in maximum power broadcasting stations from nine to twenty or more looms as a result of the action of the Federal Radio Commission this week limiting the number of cleared channels for use of 50,000 watt stations to twenty, or four in each of the five zones.

While the Commission has made no promises to grant new licenses to use these channels, half of the cleared channel band, it is understood that some of the pending applications will likely be granted, though not before Fall.

Judge Ira E. Robinson, former Chairman, appears to be the only member of the Commission left who favors a reduction in power for broadcasting stations. Prior to the motion for designating the 20 channels, he proposed that 25,000 watts, instead of 50,000, be set as the maximum power. This was defeated 4 to 1. And Judge Robinson was the only member who voted against the other proposal.

There are now nine 50,000 watt stations, with five more holding construction permits. In addition, there are thirteen applications pending.

Commissioner Harold A. Lafount, in explaining the Commission's action, made it clear that the channels, and not stations, were limited by the order. Thus, if the synchronization experiment in Iowa proves a success, as indications are that it has, two or more stations may operate on the same cleared channel.

RADIO MAY PLAY ROLE IN POLITICS

With the revelation that former Senator James M. Reed, of Missouri, has been retained as Chief Counsel for Grigsby-Grunow Company, of Chicago, one of the leaders of the Radio Protective Association, speculation has been heard in Capital political circles on the possibility of the radio independents and the Radio Corporation of America clashing in the 1932 Democratic Presidential primary.

Owen D. Young, Chairman of the Board of the Radio Corporation, is believed to have his eye on the Democratic nomination, while Mr. Reed's recent speech at Sedalia, Mo., is considered as his initial bid for the honor.

Should this speculation prove true, cries of "radio trust" will in all probability ring throughout the convention hall unless the Federal courts should meanwhile acquit the Radio Corporation of charges set forth in the suit of the Department of Justice.

It is also cited as a new departure in politics that the fiery Missourian launched an attack on the "radio trust" in his political address after accepting the position as counsel for the independents. Moreover, it is pointed out that Grigsby-Grunow, which is the arch-enemy of the RCA, sponsored the broadcast of Reed's speech.

HEARINGS SET FOR HIGH POWER APPLICANTS

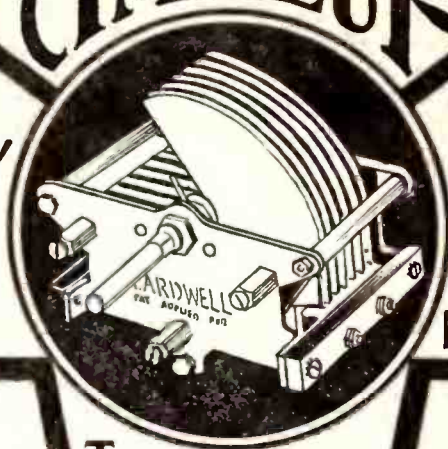

Following the amending of general order 42, so that four of the eight cleared channels in each of the five zones would be designated for use by 50,000 watt broadcasting stations, the Federal Radio Commission has set for hearing in the fall applications of thirteen stations for the maximum power.

Under the recent order, there can be only 20 cleared channels, or half of the total in this country, used by 50,000 watt stations. This does not mean, necessarily, that there can be only 20 such stations, as experiments have proved that synchronization or simultaneous operation of high power transmitters is not impossible and may become practical.

STUDIO NEWS

On the cover this week are the Beverly Hill Billies, who enjoyed a meteoric rise to fame over KMPC.

More than fifteen thousand people greeted Beverly Hill Billy Radio Scouts upon their return from an airplane trip to Arkansas in search of a legacy left to "Zeke," and to extend a welcome to Mr. Tallfeller and Hubert Walton, fourteen-year-old Arkansas boy, discovered by Glen Rice, KMPC Station Manager, 171 miles from Little Rock, Arkansas, in the heart of the Ozark Mountains. The newest addition to KMPC's Hill Billy broadcast was discovered by the radio manager after a long automobile journey and a twenty-five-mile ride on mules into this little-heard-of country. After overcoming strenuous objections raised by the boy's parents they finally agreed to his coming, with the proviso that he be returned to them within six weeks. The boy sings, yodels and plays the "geetar," and has been doing so since he was seven years old. A year of "larn-in'" is the extent of his education, a two-room log cabin located on a mountain side is his home. He, as well as the other Hill Billies, will be heard nightly except Mondays from ten until eleven over KMPC.

The daily reports of the Wall Street Journal have been added to the series of programs presented by KFI, Los Angeles, in the interests of public service. These reports will be heard every morning at 10:00 with the exception of Thursdays at 9:45 and Saturdays at 9:15.

The course of the market, important financial news, world events which react on the banking world, and similar news, will be included in the new service.

KGFR try-outs are now being held Thursdays at 1 p.m., according to Bill Ray, manager. These are not broadcast, but are held in the main studio of the station.

Professor Herman Schnitzel, humorous German character, is being heard over KNX every night except Sunday from 7 to 7:08, and not just on Sunday night, as announced in last week's issue. We hope that you have not been missing the Professor's quaint philosophical observations on the news of the day.

The Prince of Wales' speech at a dinner of the National Union of Students in London on Monday (July 7) will be broadcast throughout the United States and Canada over the Columbia and National Broadcasting network at 12:25 (P.S.T.). Tune in your local NBC or CBS station at this hour.

The absence of the True Story Hour from the schedules of Pacific Coast Columbia stations is not an error. This enormously popular hour will not be heard again on the coast during the season. However, there are compensations being offered by KHJ. Charlie Wellman is back with a bigger and better "Chasin' the Blues" program for every Saturday night at 9:00 and the "Bally Hoo" program promises to give other favorite features a run for the money.

Some of the most exciting football games in the history of the game are being re-created in an authentic manner over KMTR every Monday night at 6:30. Football fans will look forward each week to these games.

Tom Wallace—KNX

Tom Wallace did a flying tackle from athletic coach of the Long Beach (Cal.) school system into the studios of KNX, where he now announces the principal evening programs of the Hollywood broadcaster and manages to let his fine baritone voice be heard now and then in solos.

TOM WALLACE

Tom is a native of Bisbee, Arizona, and received his education at the University of Arizona at Tucson.

Athletic and scholarly honors came with unusual regularity to Wallace. During his college days—and that's not so long ago, either—he was always prominent in football, baseball and basketball, being captain of the baseball team. He was also president of the student body, a member of the dramatic and glee clubs and a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

After school days, Tom became a football coach for the Long Beach school system while, in a somewhat sub-rosa manner, he studied singing with John Ardizoni, one of the leading vocal coaches in Southern California.

One day he dropped in at KNX studios to see whether any baritones were needed. They were, and Tom sang more or less regularly for three years as a guest artist of the station before the urge of radio got too strong and when he was offered a place as announcer in September, 1929, he accepted with alacrity.

Having been, at times, a California state official in sports, Tom is deeply interested in all such activities. He has a theory that the public would like to have the intermissions between halves in football games used by radio announcers to give analyses of plays that may have been made that day or in past games, answering listeners' queries—instead of descriptive material.

Maybe we'll hear him "air" his theory in fact sometime soon.

Hobby: Well, you've guessed it—sports, particularly football.

Appearance: A husky blond with, they say, "it."

Free Blimp Rides

When the Goodyear airship, "Volunteer," glides into its home port here tomorrow, it will have accomplished something that has never before been done by any aircraft in its class. The "Volunteer," with Pilot Bud Campbell at the controls, will have completed a round trip journey from Los Angeles to San Francisco and return. This is the longest trip on record.

The "Volunteer" returns to Los Angeles to take its very important part in the free-ride offer just announced by Walter M. Fagan, president of Pacific Wholesale, Inc., Sparton Radio distributors for Southern California. According to Fagan's offer, every purchaser of a Model 589 Sparton Radio from a Sparton dealer will receive a free ticket for a thrilling half hour ride in the Goodyear airship.

"The Model 589 Sparton features the new Antennae accumulator and the new Sparton Cardon tubes," Fagan said. "These features place the latest Sparton well in the forefront of the radio industry.

"By purchasing a Model 589 during this free-ride offer the buyer is getting two air thrills for one price—a ride in the "Volunteer" and the new Sparton radio."

To Be Tested

The Federal Radio Commission will soon be able to show critical Congressmen how equally or unequally the broadcasting facilities of the United States are divided among the five radio zones in accordance with the terms of the Davis Amendment to the Radio Act of 1927.

A unit method of evaluating power, frequencies, and time of operation has been worked out as a new "yardstick" by the Commission engineers and is now being used to analyze the broadcast spectrum. The survey will reveal in the terms of the unit precisely the distribution of radio facilities among the zones and the States of each.

Last winter, in accordance with a request of the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce, the Commission prepared a chart to show how the stations and channels were scattered over the country, but the tabulation proved so involved for the laymen that it failed to stop the Congressional critics who declared their constituents were being treated unfairly.

Better Cross-Country Reception Seen

Reception in the West of programs broadcast by Eastern radio stations will improve within the next year, according to Radio Commissioner Harold A. Lafont, because of a predicted decrease in sun spots.

"A study of West-East night radio transmission by scientists proves such transmission to be inversely correlated with solar activity," he said. "Nine years ago when radio broadcasting was just starting, we were in a minimum of solar activity, a sunspot minimum, and reception here in the East from Western stations was at its maximum.

"For the past several years we have been passing through a maximum of sunspots. Measurements made by Dr. Greenleaf Whittier Pickard at Newton Center, Mass., have shown low field values from Western stations, in consequence of which but slight heterolyne interference has existed between East and West coast stations.

"Scientists tell us we are now entering the sunspot minimum period, with the result that field strength of West coast stations is increasing in the East and an extrapolation of the curve indicates that within a year we shall again have high field strength from Western stations. The same applies to the reception of Eastern stations in the West.

"The work of Dr. Pickard in correlation of radio reception with solar activities checks closely with the conclusions of other workers in the field,

Proposed Radio Center

Broadcasting is to be done on a so much larger scale in the future that when we look back upon what we are doing now, it will seem crude and primitive. Where today a solist or two, or a small company of entertainers assemble in a studio, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., at a cost of $250,000,000 proposes to erect four immense theatres, and a great symphony hall in New York, under the direction of Leopold Stokowski, conductor of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, primarily for the purpose of assembling large opera companies and orchestras for broadcasting purposes. A 60-story sky scraper will house 27 broadcast studios.

This project, which has even New York blinking, provides for the attendance of audiences to witness these performances, but with the coming in of television, ten year or so hence, it is not difficult to foresee the time when the Rockefeller development may itself be out of date, and it may be old-fashioned to attend any kind of a theater.

Folk will be able to sit at home, whether it be in Boston or Albuquerque, N. M., and see and hear everything.

A problem of the future will be to make them spend more money than the price of a radio or television set to avail themselves of these performances. This may be solved through sound and sight entertainment being distributed by means of wires, instead of being broadcast through the air. It might then be metered out at so much an hour through an attachment to the telephone or the electric light socket.

Questions & Answers

A Weekly Department Conducted by K.G. Ormiston, I.R.E.

QUESTION—I have been wondering why broadcasting stations do not have the same pitch (that is, some stations have a different pitch of tone and voice than others). Is this caused by using different types of transmitters? (2) Just how do the chain programs reach the broadcasting stations in Los Angeles from New York? Is it by a direct wire from New York? (3) What happened to the "New Set Owners Page" in Radio Doings? I am quite sure all of your readers enjoyed this department and would be happy to see it make its appearance in Radio Doings again.—Chas. M. Moore, Pasadena, Calif.

ANSWER—This is due to different types of transmitters, or where the same type of transmitter is used, the pitch is often varied through additional equipment installed by the engineer of the station. For example, in nearly all of the stations, mixing panels (whereby two or more microphone circuits may be fed into the speech amplifier simultaneously with individual "faders" on each) have been built by the operators themselves, and the various combinations of impedances in these units effect the overall audio characteristics. Usually it is not so much an actual shift in the pitch as it is a suppression of the highs and over-amplification of the basses, or vice versa.

The acoustical properties of the studio also enter into the ultimate result, as well as the type of microphones used, etc. Each station engineer strives for what he considers the best tone, and possibly no two have the same idea as to how music should sound. In very few cases is the original installation of the Western Electric Company or RCA left intact, but the boys in charge constantly inject their own ideas. To give you a rough idea of the Los Angeles stations: KFI and KNX are practically identical, 5000 watts, Western Electric. KHJ, KFVB, KFOX, KECA and KTM are practically identical, 1000 watts, KTM being the latest type. KMPC, KMTR and KELW are the same, 500 watts, W. E. KGER is the newest RCA-Victor screen-grid type, 1000 watts, KFVD, KMIC, KGFJ are composite, being locally built.

(2) Yes, the New York chain programs reach the Los Angeles stations over telephone lines leased by the chains. That is a simple statement, but there is a tremendous amount of equipment and personnel involved in the functioning of these lines. The total telephone network of the country used in chain broadcasting is in excess of 25,000 miles. Between the New York studio and the Los Angeles radio station there are about 35 repeaters, or amplifiers, which raise the signal level, to compensate for the losses in the lines. These employ vacuum tubes with A, B and C power supply, volume indicators, monitoring facilities, etc. They must be watched constantly. The lines themselves must be carefully equalized so that the wide band of audio frequencies will be transmitted uniformly. The corps of telephone men now employed in the United States to supervise the transmission and performance of the chains is over 300. This is in addition to those who care for the regular wire and equipment maintenance.

(3) Since you want the New Set Owners Page back in Radio Doings, back she goes! You'll find it in next week's issue.

PROBE TELEVISION CHARGES

Reports that experimental television stations are selling time in the same fashion as broadcasting stations, are being investigated by the radio police of the Department of Commerce upon request of the Federal Radio Commission.

Television licenses are issued now only for test purposes to further the art; consequently no station is permitted to commercialize his permit.

The commission has also turned over 20 cases of various sorts, in which it is alleged radio stations are operating without licenses, to the Department of Justice. The names and locations of the stations have been withheld.

The essential features of these programs are identical with those sent us by the stations

New Polymet Products

Polymet Manufacturing Corp., is offering for the first time a complete list of audio ransformers, power transformers, for both 25 cycle and 60 cycle circuits, and choke units.

These transformers have been designed to correspond with standard practice and are available either in stock forms, or for manufacturer's use. Slight variations in windings and corresponding voltage output, can be promptly arranged without delaying production deliveries.

Inasmuch as Polymet, through ownership of the Strand & Sweet Mfg. Co., produces its own magnet wire, and has very large coil winding facilities at its Coilton Division of Easton, Pa., the company is fabricating transformers "from the ground up."

"A car, a car, my kingdom for a car," said H. R. Curtiss, driver of this one-horse shay at Hamilton, Bermuda, and echoed by Claude Foote and Barton A. Stebbins, passengers, of Los Angeles, who attended the Philco radio distributors' convention, which was held at Bermuda.

The H. R. Curtiss Company, of which Mr. H. R. Curtiss is president, and Claude Foote, Southern California manager, are distributors in Southern California for Philco receivers. Mr. Barton A. Stebbins handles the advertising for the company.

The announcement by Keller-Fuller Manufacturing Company of 1573 West Jefferson Street, Los Angeles, of their new dynamic midget receiver, caused considerable interest in the trade.

The new set, while it looks on the outside like the older "Radiette," and will sell for the same price, $59.50, is very different inside.

The new set employs an entirely different kind of circuit, a screen grid tube and a dynamic speaker.

Mr. Fuller reports that orders have been coming in very fast from the Middle West and South, and they now have their entire sales organization completed. They have fifteen district managers covering the entire United States who, in turn, have appointed, or are appointing distributors for each section. The latest distributor to enter the "Radiette" ranks, is the J. W. Jenkin's Sons Music Company of Kansas City, Missouri, who operates stores and distributing points in six of the principal Mid-Western states.

The Gray & Danielson Manufacturing Company of 2101 Bryant Street, San Francisco, have definitely entered the small set field with a midget receiver, selling for $64.50, and carrying a name, "Remler," well known to old-time radio men.

Mr. Banta, formerly head of the Banta Company of Los Angeles, is the new manager of this company, and will make his headquarters in San Francisco. Mr. Frank G. Freeman, the Southern California representative, can be located at 2704 South Hill St., Westmore 1976.

The Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company have just announced that they have appointed Mr. Hall Berringer as North Western representative, and that he will have his offices in the Volker Building, 1000 Lenora Street, Seattle, Washington.

Mr. Hall Berringer has been in the radio business for about fifteen years, first as a "brass pounder" on trans-Pacific steamships, then in the radio department of the Leo J. Meyberg Company, then San Francisco manager of Kierulff & Ravenscroft, then sales manager of the John G. Rapp Corporation, and last, but not least, radio manager for Winestock, Scovel, Nichols Company.

All of Hall's old friends wish him the best of success in his new venture.

The Flint Radio Company, formerly of 3446 South Hill Street, Los Angeles, have found it necessary, due to a greatly increased business to move to larger quarters at 2425 West Washington Boulevard.

TIMELY TRADE TOPICS

Trade Previews New Apex Models

It was conclusively proved last week that Apex radio receivers, manufactured by the United States Radio and Television Corporation and distributed in Southern California and Arizona by the Yale Radio Electric Corporation of 1111 Wall Street, Los Angeles, will enjoy real popularity again this year.

Instead of having one large dealer meeting, Mr. R. B. Yale decided to have open house for a week and the plan was apparently very acceptable to the dealers of Southern California, as several hundred came during the preview period to look over and test the new models which were on display.

One of the new innovations which is being featured this year on all Apex models is the "tone blender." You can now actually play radio music exactly as you want to hear it. A complete selection of tone emphasis is at your finger tips—flip the knob one way and all the instruments of the lower register will come booming in; flip the knob the other way and the heavy notes fade into the background while the trebles are augmented to complete your musical picture in a brighter vein.

Four cabinet models of walnut are beautiful enough to pass the inspection of the most discerning and to get their approval.

Griffin-Smith Moves

The Griffin-Smith Manufacturing Company, Ltd., moved last week from 1125 to 1224 Wall Street. The new building will give them two and a half times as much floor space for manufacturing as they had in the old establishment.

Although C. W. Smith has been in the radio business for many years, the Griffin-Smith Manufacturing Company was started but a short four months ago, and during this period they have had a phenomenal growth. Starting in a very small way, they have kept increasing their daily production schedule until today they are among the three or four leading midget manufacturers in Southern California.

Mr. Smith reports that they are getting their distributing organization whipped into shape and they expect to have, before very long, representatives in all the different districts in the United States. They will appoint these distributors as quickly as they can increase their production to take care of the increased demand which will naturally follow the new appointments.

Mr. Smith is very proud of their new Royal "Companion," the radio-phonograph combination, and invites everyone to come to the new studio located at 1224 Wall Street for a demonstration.
