Bringing Main Street to the Big City

REAL FOLKS SKETCHES REFLECT A SIMPLE LIFE ATTRACTIVE TO ALL

There's a little bit of small town in all of us. We may be Broadway on the surface, but we're Main Street underneath. That touch of universal rube has resulted in George Frame Brown's sudden flight to a new popularity on his magic carpet of radio.

TO all of us, George Frame Brown is known as Mayor Matt Thompkins. Very few realize that this beloved character is also the creator of these "Real Folks Sketches" which are now heard every Sunday at 4:00 p. m. over the CBS network. Since their change to the Columbia network, under the sponsorship of Log Cabin syrup, "Real Folks" and Matt Thompkins have gained a tremendous amount of new friends among the radio listeners.

There's only one reason for the new success. And it's nothing more than Brown himself. Given absolute freedom by his new employers, he has thrown himself whole-heartedly into his work again. The sketches are crisp, fast and bright. Always human, they are even more so on the new hour.

"Real Folks" now resembles the early "Main Street Sketches" which Brown created about five years ago. The troublesome Horace is back again, shouting to be heard with his horn. Elmer is threatened weekly with a spanking and told to "go wipe his nose." Marthy is doing a little heckling on the sly.

"Real Folks" are back in the Thompkins Corners General Store with all their old-time, gagless humor, spontaneous and sudden. It's no wonder that Brown has drawn a flood of mail on the new hook-up. Radio fans are ever happy to hear something fresh and natural. They're only too glad to write in and say so. You can almost smell the kerosene and coffee on "Real Folks" now. You just know that the crackers are damp, that the prunes are stuck together for eternity. A new "aroma" comes to your ears.

When Brown brought the first rural sketch to radio listeners in 1927, they were overjoyed. They said it with spontaneous mail and phone calls. There wasn't a single bid for mail in those early days, but the people wrote in just the same. They begged for Horace to have a chance with his horn. They became part of the town itself.

And why not? A rural sketch is a mirror held up to our youth. We've all lingered in the grocery store. We've all laughed at the potato

ENGLISH PIANIST IS GUEST OF NEW YORK SYMPHONY

Myra Hess, distinguished English pianist, who has made successful concert and recital tours throughout Europe and North America, will be heard as soloist in Brahms' first piano concerto when the concert of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra is broadcast through the Columbia network from 2:15 to 4:00 p. m. this Sunday. Bruno Walter will conduct.

The program will open with the overture to Weber's opera, "Oberon," which he composed on a commission from the Covent Garden Opera in London only a few weeks before his death. After Miss Hess has been heard in the Brahms concerto, Olin Downes, distinguished music critic, will broadcast an analysis of the music in the afternoon program. The second half of the concert will be devoted to works by Mozart and Richard Strauss.

GIGLI ON G. E. HOUR

"That's the way!" said Beniamino Gigli, Metropolitan Opera tenor, who is General Electric soloist this Sunday at 4:30 p. m. over NBC, to Carleton Smith, Radio Guide's own music critic, as he gave him a lesson in the art of bel canto. The two are intimate friends and appeared together recently on a program for the benefit of the Joint Emergency Relief Fund of Chicago. Local outlet WENR.

ANN LINDBERGH TO TALK ON CHINESE FLOOD RELIEF WORK

Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh will tell of her experiences in the flooded regions of China over a nationwide radio hook-up this Sunday at 1:30 p. m. The talk will be carried over the combined networks of the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The broadcast is in behalf of Flood Relief in China, constituted by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, the Foreign Missions Conference of North America with the China Famine Relief U. S. A., to provide relief for flood sufferers there.

Mrs. Lindbergh, in her debut air appearance, will describe the flight of herself and her husband over the flooded Yangtze Valley, relate incidents of the survey made by them, and give a picture of the extent and desolation wrought there by one of the greatest natural disasters of modern times.

Romeo Jobin, French Opera Tenor on Pertussin Program Tuesday

Romeo Jobin, young French tenor who has been with the Paris Opera Company for the past few years and has recently come to America for operatic work, will be the guest artist on the Pertussin presentation to be broadcast this Tuesday at 5:45 p. m. over the Columbia network. His solo number on the program will be the immortal "Vesti La Giubba" from "Pagliacci."

Frank Stretz and his salon orchestra will be heard in "Polonaise" from Thomas' "Mignon" as the opening instrumental selection on the program. A waltz by Lehar, "Gold and Silver," will next be heard, and the program will be concluded with a tango, "Manuela," by Berger.

Pay Tribute to Washington on Both Networks

Local Stations also Celebrate Bicentennial this Week

The George Washington Bicentennial Celebration will be officially inaugurated this Monday when President Hoover, speaking before the joint session of Congress, delivers a eulogy of the famous president whose extraordinary career had so lasting an effect on the ideals and future of his country.

Following the president's speech, Walter Damrosch will conduct 12,000 school children, the massed Army and Navy bands and thousands of spectators in the singing of "America." John Phillip Sousa will lead the bands when they play "Hail to the Chief." Thus will be launched a continuous nine-month celebration of the birth of Washington, which is scheduled to run from February 22 to the following Thanksgiving.

In that period the NBC and CBS networks will carry all the major events of the celebration as they are staged in Washington and other sections of the nation.

NBC programs will include an international broadcast in which either President Doumer, of France, or Premier Laval, will address American audiences this Friday. A pilgrimage of some 25,000 persons to the home of George Washington at Mount Vernon will also be described from the east portico of the picturesque old homestead over NBC networks.

Both the CBS and the NBC have arranged, during the nine-month period, to broadcast fetes, pageants, period music, dedications and all holiday commemorative programs as they are arranged by the United States Commission.

Local radio stations without exception, early volunteered their complete co-operation in spreading the news of the Bicentennial and also in participating wholeheartedly in the program activities.

"Bill" Vickland

By Byrne Mitchel

Bill Vickland is known to most of you as the personality behind the WLS "Little Brown Church of the Air" and "The Bookshop" programs. He is another Tony Wons—with variations.

In an interesting and untidy office filled with books and letters and old historical prints, Bill began to tell me about himself. He leaned back comfortably in his swivel chair and looked out a wide window, his eyes intent upon an idea. I wondered what he was going to say to me.

"Miss Mitchel," he began, "the responsibility that rest upon any broadcaster is an awful thing to contemplate. I mean that broadcasters can save many lives if they choose; or they can destroy them!"

Such a large idea this was. I hardly knew what to say. So I urged him to talk about himself and presently he began—altho not very readily—to tell me the things about his life that I knew would interest you most.

When he was not more than fourteen years old, his father had decided for him that he would grow up to be a machinist. Well-1-1 maybe he would. The young Billy hadn't thought much about the future.

Then, one day, he heard a man whose name was Edwin Whitney, give a dramatic reading. That man, now an NBC broadcaster, is the reason for your hearing Mr. Vickland five times weekly from WLS. If Mr. Vickland's poems—his cross sections of the writings of the masters—have ever inspired you, you may thank Whitney.

As he listened, something sprang up in Billy that he never knew was there. Something crystallized in him that made machinery and machine shops so impossible as to be humorous. Why hadn't he known it before? Of course he would be an actor, would spend his life dispensing beauty to other people.

And so, in an instant of an impressionable youngster's life, the future suddenly loomed up complete and clear and purposeful.

That is why Mr. Vickland feels his great responsibility in contacting his enormous audiences. He is touching someones life daily; sometimes he is actually shaping the future of his listeners. And he wants to be only the finest of influences on his radio friends.

After graduating from the Ithica Conservatory School of the Drama, Bill said good-bye to Pennsylvania, where he was born, and started out to make his theatrical ambitions realities. A vaudeville tour as a member of a quartet was a good beginning, but suddenly something that was most unexpected happened to Bill's career. America declared war. It was not entertainment, but protection that American audiences were demanding of him.

He had no personal part in the horrible storm and carnage, however. He never got outside of a training camp in France because the General needed his voice to help keep up the morale of the soldiers temporarily stationed there.

But even war is not permanent. After the armistice, Bill found himself again playing to crowded houses of young and noisy Americans. Then came radio.

After a try at WOK, the old Trianon Ballroom station, WLS asked Bill to take the place vacated by Tony Wons, as lay minister of the Little Brown Church of the Air. Approximately 500 fan letters a week testify to the success he has made of the broadcast. From town and hamlet and out-of-the-way farmhouse they come, letters telling gratefully of the inspiration and comfort that this man has brought to hundreds of lonely lives.

When asked to name his pet peeve, he was stumped for the first time during the interview. The fact is that the man is incurably easy-going and a kindly person to contact. "Peeves" do not seem to be in his line. There is depth and character and a quiet charm about him.

So, with all my questions answered except one, I started down the steps of WLS, my thoughts already with my typewriter and the story to be written. Suddenly Mr. Vickland came running down after me, three steps at a time.

"I've just remembered my pet peeve," he shouted enthusiastically, "Bus ceilings that are five feet, eight!"

Poor Bill. He is six feet, two!

Studio Gossip

Radio listeners in the United States received a real thrill February 3, when an official of the Cuban telephone Company in Santiago described the earthquake which shook that city, over a network of American stations.

Back of the Cuban's eloquent description of the catastrophe could be heard the crash of falling walls as successive shocks threw them down. His account of falling buildings, shaking stairways, and debris-filled streets brought the event home vividly to his more fortunate listeners who had never experienced an earthquake.

Alice Joy, NBC contralto, made her first "talkie" short when she sang "Shine On, Harvest Moon," for synchronization with a bouncing-ball cartoon.

A story, as written by George Lee, former New Yorker who lives at Castle Connell, in County Limerick, has it that three weeks of steady rain had swollen the Shannon until it overflowed its banks and drowned much of the surrounding countryside, and the Lees were preparing to evacuate their home.

During Columbia's "Hello Europe," program, which was heard throughout the British Isles as well as on the Continent, Kate Smith sang "River, Stay 'Way from My Door," and during the night the rain stopped, next day the skies cleared, dwellers in the valley who had been driven out of their homes by the floods were able to go into occupation again, and the Lees didn't have to move after all.

Started some months ago as an accident, the Comedy Capers program from KYW waxes and grows stronger each day. Here's how the radio act started: one day at the KYW studios a star failed to arrive on time to go on the air with a scheduled program. No one was around but Al Carsello, Italian dialectician and accordion ace, and Phil Stewart, KYW's reserved Scot announcer. Al and Phil carried on for a full hour with impromptu humor and music—AND the fans have been begging for more ever since!

The Colonel's latest opus, coming from the Stoopnagle laboratory, is a vest-proof bullet, which will penetrate anything but a vest, thus making it unnecessary for policemen to wear bullet-proof vests in the future. The Colonel perfected his latest invention by crossing an ordinary bullet with a dead moth.

The silvery tenor voice of "Dusty" Roades, formerly featured with Ted Fiorito's orchestra from the Edgewater Beach Hotel studios, is now being spot-lighted with Charlie Agnew at the same Hotel, with broadcasts over KYW. The fans gave him a gala welcoming party on his return several weeks ago.

Robert L. (Believe It or Not) Ripley plans to interview Queen Vaekaha, of the Fiji Islands, who has 500 husbands, during his visit to the South Seas. He also will talk with some of the husbands.

While hurrying from a New Jersey vaudeville house to the WABC studios in New York for his broadcast, Singin' Sam was stopped recently by two policemen who, after telling him he had been driving rather fast, asked his name. Reluctantly, Sam told them who he was and why he was hurrying.

Immediately after finishing his program, Sam set out in just as much of a hurry for the New Jersey theater, where he had another appearance to make. On his return trip he was stopped once again, and by the same two policemen. During the interval they had listened to Sam's program, determined to check up on the popular singer's story. Sam was permitted to resume his drive to the theater only after singing a few bars of his opening song, in order to convince the policemen he was not an impostor.

Herman "Dodo" Hupfeld recently received the French edition of his song hit, "When Yuba Plays the Rumba on the Tuba." The original Yuba was a young man who made a sensation in Cuba by his instrumental antics, but he underwent a strange metamorphosis on the journey to France. Yuba, spelled differently, has changed gender and become a charming Cuban maid who plays a horn described as an "instrument which resembles a serpent."

A tip for parents: one of the easiest ways to clear time for noonday duties about the house Sundays is to tune to KYW and introduce the kids to Uncle Bob—he'll take care of them for the next hour. Uncle Bob's Peter Pan Club is open to all the Chicago kiddies who care to join. A letter addressed to the storytime man in care of KYW will bring a membership certificate and a lapel button. And oh, how the kids go for that!

Thora Martens, the floradora girl who broadcasts her "Way Back When Numbers" Monday and Tuesday at 10:00 p. m. from WCFL, filled her first radio engagements way back when radio was still pioneering in Chicago. At that time she was broadcasting from KYW.

"The Gay Caballeros"—the Mexican lads whose Serenade is heard each Friday night from the crystal studios of WIBO appear in costume, much to the delight of the Chicago Theater audiences. There's a crowd outside the windows for the entire half hour of lilting Spanish music.

Theo Albin, NBC tenor, always has sung "Happy Days Are Here Again," as the signature number on the Lucky Strike Dance Hour. He is the oldest artist in seniority appearing on the program.

Three of the non-technical members of Columbia's Chicago staff spend their spare time in amateur broadcasting experiments. Wilson Doty, staff organist; Cy Reed, saxophone player, and announcer Dick Wells, all operate their own transmitters.

Arthur Bagley, director of the NBC Tower Health Exercises, recently received a letter from a Tennessee banker who wrote:

"Because of the chin-up exercises, I look much more alert, and I know that the bank's patrons have more faith now in the institution."

The first of the Chicago radio stations to report direct line connection with the World Fair grounds and buildings comes from E. A. Beane, of WJJD. That station has contracted for fourteen direct lines to their studios in the Palmer House.

Music in the Air

By CARLETON SMITH

"Philharmonic Conductors"

It is doubtful that we shall hear Arturo Toscanini again this season. He is still suffering from the ailment which caused him to return to Europe in December. That news leaves many of us with a sense of distinct loss, for there is really no one like him. In a few weeks I'll find space enough to tell you why I think so.

Guest conductors have already been arranged for the first three of the eight broadcasts after Mr. Walter concludes his stay next Sunday. They are, Sir Thomas Beecham, that rousing Englishman, and Ottorino Respighi, the Italian composer, who is to conduct his own Mystery Triptych, "Maria Egiziaca."

CARLETON SMITH

"Italian Singers"

Two Italian favorites, a soprano and a tenor, are to be heard this Sunday afternoon. Claudio Muzio, the real prima donna of the Chicago Civic Opera, is to be the guest on the Vigoro Program. It is she who thrills the galleries and the boxes, and is so careful of her every effort, vocally and dramatically. Her voice may not be at its prime, but to hear her sing is a lesson for every songster. I have a friend who says, "It is worth the price of an admission to a Muzio recital to see her walk on the stage." If you don't see her when she broadcasts, you'll feel repaid merely to have heard her, and you'll probably resolve to tune in when she broadcasts again on the afternoon of March 13. Her mother will be in the studio with her, for Muzio never sings unless her mother is in her dressing room, or close by. The polite young man who so attentively cares for Mama Muzio calls himself Signor Muzio. He is Renato Licerti, whom Muzio married two years ago (her first marriage), and he is writing the story of her life, which may be labeled, "Claudio Muzio. Who is she?"

Beniamino Gigli, the General Electric soloist, is the possessor of the most luscious tenor voice known to our generation, and one somewhat near unto Caruso's in resonance, tho he does not like to be called a "second Caruso." His favorite dish is "boiled beans," cooked Tuscan fashion. He often sings popular tunes, and when I met him early in the morning at a train recently, he started singing "It's Three O'clock in the Morning." At the Metropolitan he is soon to be returned to the cast of "Tosca," an opera from which he has been exiled since the unexplained quarrel with Mme. Jeritza. The lady has not forgiven, but the Met has a new soprano for "Tosca."

During The Week

Many people have told me that they wished the Sunday programs would be spread out during the week. Then, of course, there would be those who could not hear them, especially if they were given during the daytime. If you are around your radio on Monday afternoons, you can hear the series of broadcasts featuring the glee clubs and choirs of American women's colleges, and fifteen minutes of good choral music . . . And this Monday at noon in Washington, Walter Damrosch is to direct a massed Army and Navy band and lead a chorus of 2,000 school children and men in the song of "America," and then will signal the firing of a battery of cannon at the ceremony which officially opens the Bicentennial celebration . . . on Monday evening everyone hears Lawrence Tibbett, and if you stay up late and enjoy something besides dance music, listen to Howard Barlow and the Columbia Symphony Orchestra. They may be heard every evening from Monday to Friday, inclusive, in fifteen minutes of symphonic music ranging this week from Brahms's Fifth Hungarian dance and Granados' "Marche Militaire" to Vaughn-Williams "Folk Song from Somerset" . . . And Tuesday afternoon brings the Music Appreciation Period of the American School of the Air and Musical Americana, a CBS program illustrating the original Indian and Negro folk-music of our country . . . and over NBC the Mormon Tabernacle Choir and Organ from Salt Lake City, in a religious program of classics . . . Wednesday morning brings you "Piano Pictures," an interesting novelty of symphonic jazz arrangements and synopated classic selections interwoven to form unique contrapuntal and harmonic effects . . . and in the afternoon you may hear the Pro-art string quartet over NBC . . . and Charles Gilbert Spross, pianist and composer, over CBS . . . In the evening, the NBC Artists Service presents one of the musicians whom it books for concert tours . . . Students, young and old, enjoy Damrosch's Music Appreciation Hour on Friday mornings . . . the Rochester Philharmonic and the Curtis Institute give their programs

Friday afternoon, and this Friday afternoon we may hear from the stage of the Metropolitan Opera, excerpts from Wagner's music-drama, "Das Rheingold," the prelude to his "Ring of the Nibelungs," the other operas of which will follow on alternate Thursday and Friday afternoons—truly a treat! . . . On Saturday morning there is Sigmund Spaeth's piano lesson in his series "Keys to Happiness"; and Ernest Schelling leading the regular Philharmonic Children's Concert . . . a full length concert by the Syracuse Symphony, and an opera broadcast from the Met in the afternoon . . . and the Civic Concerts Service program in the evening.

Don't you think this an imposing list? All of the broadcasts are not of the first rank, but they all include the better varieties of music. If you are interested in these broadcasts, I suggest that you tack the above list on your radio, for I am sure that your columnist will never survive another attempt at collecting a full list of classical broadcasts. And I am sure that this list is not complete. Also I want to apologize for not having listed the Metropolitan operas in the Saturday afternoon series. Many of you have called my attention to the fact and I regret that the policy followed by opera companies in announcing their repertoire is such that I do not have the information in time to give it to you.

WAAF Favorite

Effie Marine Harvey, prominent Chicago clubwoman and broadcaster, is retained on the WAAF staff as director of women's programs. Extensive radio work in the east, and a charming personality account for the success of her "Chats for Women," and "Good English" programs heard thrice weekly from WAAF.

WOMAN VIOLINIST ON NBC BERLIN SERIES SUNDAY

Miss Edith Lorand, renowned Hungarian violinist will begin a weekly series of Sunday international broadcasts from Berlin, over an NBC network this Sunday at 3:00 p. m.

Her initial broadcast will mark the first time she has been heard in America. Miss Lorand will broadcast from the stage of the Scala Theater, Berlin, and her music will be relayed to the NBC network by short wave through the cooperation of the Reichs Rundfunk Gesellschaft.

Miss Lorand will feature her own adaptation of Boka, an old Hungarian dance. Other selections on the program are: Rondo of the Haffner Serenade KV 250, by Mozart, with cadenzas by Kreisler; Jaromir Weinberger, a Bohemian polka of the opera, "Schwanda"; "Beautiful Rosmari," by Kreisler; "Danube," by Johann Strauss, and a poppourri, "Czardas-fuerstin," by Emmerich Kalman.

Miss Lorand has appeared in concerts throughout Europe, and during the last two years directed her own orchestra in Berlin, Paris and London, and Switzerland and Holland. She is an exponent of the old-fashioned waltz for dance music.

ORCHESTRAL DOINGS

Dan Russo

Dann Russo, now playing at the Canton Tea Gardens . . . with broadcasts over KYW . . . is famous a coupla times over for his rendition of "When They Cut Down The Old Pine Tree" . . . Russo can well claim the 1931 "Stein Song" laurels for his arrangement of the old hill-billy tune . . . Danny is short . . . stocky . . . and is always smiling . . . was born in Michigan . . . and organized his own orchestra when he was eleven . . . when he grew up . . . in a few years . . . he directed a very popular dance orchestra in Detroit . . . then to Chicago and the Edgewater Beach Hotel . . . After an engagement at the Aragon Ballroom . . . he decided to See America First . . . liked traveling so much that every summer finds him and his orchestra on tour . . . but he always returns to Chicago for the winter season . . . lives on the 36th floor of the Steuben Club . . . and has but one ambition . . . to some day see Lindbergh passing by . . .

Doris Robbins, attractive vocalist with Herbie Kay's orchestra, has been christened "The Angel of the Air," by prisoners at the Sycamore, Illinois, jail, who listen in nightly to her broadcasts over WGN, Chicago. One of the prisoners, in a letter to Miss Robbins, requested that she sing "Time On My Hands" during her WGN broadcast.

Slatz Randall and his orchestra, who recently closed a long engagement at the Hotel Radisson in Minneapolis, are going on tour for MCA. Randall played three seasons at the Minneapolis Hotel, with nightly broadcasts over KSTP.

Maurie Sherman and his orchestra have added more broadcasting time to the band's weekly schedule in Chicago. Maurie and his orchestra are now heard three times weekly over the Columbia chain from the College Inn of the Hotel Sherman. The chain broadcasts are on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, from 4:45 to 5:00 p. m. In addition, Maurie broadcasts daily from WMAQ and WBBM, Chicago.

Something new in the way of professional nights has been inaugurated by Gus Arnheim at the Winter Garden Cafe in Chicago. The famous California maestro has set one night aside each week as "Movie Star Night," with visiting screen "celebs" as guests of honor. Charley Chase, popular Hollywood comedian, was the honored guest last week, and this week Mary Brian and Ken Murray have the spotlight. Arnheim has a wide acquaintance among the movie stars made during his long stay at the Coconut Grove of the Hotel Ambassador in Los Angeles.

Bert Lown, who brings his Biltmore Hotel orchestra to the middle west for a three week's engagement at the Hotel Lowry in St. Paul on February 19, once was a cash register salesman and later was associated with Rudy Vallee in an orchestral booking agency. Lown's orchestra will be heard nightly in broadcasts over WCCO, St. Paul, while playing the hotel engagement.

The "Twilight Musicale," presented by Charlie Agnew and his orchestra from the Edgewater Beach Hotel each Sunday at 5:30 p. m., features some fine ensemble singing by the members of the band. One of the outstanding numbers is "To a Wild Rose," which is sung by the orchestra with a vocal duet between Stanley Jacobsen and "Dusty" Roades. During the number, no instrument is used except the piano, and the effect produced, in the way of harmony, is very much like a well-trained college glee club. KYW carries the program.

Clyde McCoy, whose new theme song is attracting attention, has arranged a special program of dance tunes for his Valentine's Night program to be broadcast this Sunday over WCFL. The presentation has been termed a benefit performance—all for the sake of fans.

Bernie can talk about golf and King about his airplanes, but Carl Moore, heard with his orchestra from the Drake Hotel and WGN, can really call his hogs. Last week Moore caused quite a stir among orchestra leaders and announcers by challenging them to a "hog-calling" contest. As yet, no one has accepted his invitation, which just goes to prove that the boys know their own limitations.

Bernie Cummins and his New Yorkers, who follow Ted Weems and his orchestra into the Trianon Ballroom, Chicago, this week, have just finished a tour of southern colleges for Music Corporation of America. Bernie and his orchestra were featured during the Lucky Strike hour from Washington and Lee University a few weeks ago.

Husk O'Hare, "The Genial Gentleman of the Air," whose orchestra just completed a long list of one-night stands, bought ten more suits of clothes during a recent shopping tour in Chicago. Husk is heralded as the country's best dressed orchestra leader and is trying to live up to the title.

Gus Arnheim and his famous Coconut Grove orchestra are now heard over thirty-seven stations of the Columbia network each Tuesday from 11:00 to 11:30 p. m., direct from the Cafe Winter Garden in Chicago. It marks the first time that the popular west coast orchestra has ever been on a regular chain feature.

Ted Weems and his orchestra opened a three week's engagement at the Hotel Schroeder in Milwaukee, on February 20, with nightly broadcasts over WTMJ.

Irving Aaronson and his Commanders scored a great hit during their first Lucky Strike broadcast from the Club Forest in New Orleans, last week. Other Lucky Strike programs for the Aaronson orchestra will be the reward.

Ted Fiorito and his orchestra have opened an engagement for Music Corporation at the Hotel Muehlebach in Kansas City, with broadcasts over WDAF.

Northerners Guest

Lorna Doone Jackson, formerly of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, who won her greatest success in the title role of the opera "Carmen," will be the guest artist this Friday night with "The Northerners" over WMAQ from 8:30 to 9:00. With Miss Jackson will appear the Chicago Little Symphony String Sextet.

"VAGABOND KING" PRODUCED THIS SUNDAY ON WCFL

"The Vagabond King," musical production which enjoyed a long run in Chicago with Dennis King in the leading role, will be sung for radio audiences this Sunday as part of The Century of Progress program to be heard from 3:00 to 4:00 p. m. over WCFL.

The cast will include Walter Pontius, Eric Russel Cooke, and Marion Costello, of the current Chicago production, "Marching By." Music will be supplied by the Male Ensemble, Muncke and Koch, and the WCFL orchestra, under the direction of Koby Sirinsky.

RUTH ANIS ON WIBO THIS WEEK FOR "ARTISTS" PROGRAM

During Carleton Smith's absence from the city this week, "Artists and Artistry" will be conducted by Miss Ruth Anis, who is in charge of the courses in Music Appreciation at De Paul University.

Miss Anis plans to discuss the singing of that robust and entertaining baritone, Paul Robeson, who is such a great favorite in England.

This program appears over WIBO, at 5:00 p. m. Sunday.

LANG AND CROSBY

Eddie Lang, one of radio's outstanding guitarists and one of the few of the instrument's exponents who can play melodies on all the chords at the same time, will join Bing Crosby in his vaudeville activities at the New York Paramount Theatre.

OUT OF THE EVERYWHERE to Margot Dee

A column dedicated to RADIO GUIDE readers. You and your friends are invited to write in for information concerning radio, radio stars, and your own favorite broadcasts. If the information is forthcoming and interesting to all of our readers, we will get it for you and print it in this column. No personal replies will be made.

Perhaps you can discover what has happened to "The Two Balladeers" who were last heard from WGN, writes Frederick of Chicago.

The two singers are now being heard from WIBO where their program is presented each Tuesday and Friday from 8:30 to 8:45 P. M.

Mrs. J. Delaney of Chicago writes to ask the name of the man who announces the Cremona program heard over the Columbia network.

David Ross, CBS announcer, is regularly in charge of the broadcast.

We want to thank Lewis Britton of Mt. Zion, Ill. for the lovely letter sent to us this week. Think of it!—a three page letter without a single question! Wish we had space to print it—it was swell fun.

Eunice Radow of Chicago asks for the name of the Goldberg's theme song, and the real name of the Arkansas Woodchopper heard from WLS.

Toselli's "Serenade" opens and closes the Goldberg broadcast. "Arkie's" real name is Luther Offenbrink.

Angela Welter of La Salle, Ill. wants a description of Gene Autry, heard regularly from WLS.

Gene is about 21 years old, is of medium height, has brown hair, blue eyes, and is unmarried.

What has happened to the "Happy Times" program originally heard from WLS, writes Mrs. A. J. Dore of Chicago.

The Program, which was sustained by the station, has been temporarily removed from the air to make room for a commercial program. 'Stew bad but it is not a permanent arrangement.

R. Cherin, of Muskegon, Mich., asks whether or not the Goldbergs are really Jewish.

All of the cast are Jewish, Mr. Cherin, which probably accounts for the fine sincerity of their interpretations.

"Can you tell me whether or not a man who calls himself 'the song detective' is on the air?" writes Ruth Mitchell of Elgin, Ill. and Walter G. Behrens of Benson, Ill.

You are probably thinking of Dr. Sigmond Spaeth the Tune Detective who broadcasts over an NBC network each Wednesday at 9:15 P. M. There is no Chicago or near-Chicago outlet, however.

Three Ted Pearson fans write us this week with requests for his description and schedule of broadcasts. Their names are Viviette Wagner, June Van Horn and Florence Franks, all of Chicago. Miss Franks also asks for the age and description of Harold Bean, KYW announcer.

Ted Pearson, who announces many programs from the NBC Chicago studios including the Armour and Civic Concert programs, is exactly six feet tall, weighs 190 pounds, and is about twenty-four years old. Was born in Nebraska and attended the state University there. Ted has had excellent musical training under the direction of the American Conservatory and Arthur Middleton, well known baritone. He is not married. Harold Bean, KYW announcer, is tall, handsome, sociable and unmarried. He must be about twenty seven years old.

Drop us a line sometime!

Eddie Knows

Eddie Duchin, popular young orchestra leader, whose music is brought to you regularly from the Central Park Casino, New York, over the Columbia network, says he recognizes the "famous folk" by the tunes they request. Mayor Walker calls for "Exactly Like You"; George Gershwin for "Somebody Loves Me" and Mrs. William R. Hearst for "Love Comes but Once."

AROUND THE TOWN

THEATRES

Studebaker—"The Blue Bird." A Russian revue that's a novelty in clean entertainment. Yascha Yushny's clever remarks in broken English "go over" big. You'll like it, even if you don't understand Russian.

Grand Opera House—"Grand Hotel." Positively last week for this big hit. A great play with a great cast by the exotic Leontovich.

Great Northern—"Marching By." A delightful operetta, with Janice Joyce replacing Natalie Hall acceptably. Plenty of naughty words and some music.

Blackstone—"Mourning Becomes Electra." Three plays in one. Eugene O'Neill's majestic drama. Starts at 5:30, with a dinner hour at 7. Change your diet, and be prepared for an endurance sitting contest.

Garrick—"Rhapsody in Black." Lew Leslie's gorgeous colored fantasy, with Ethel Waters doing her usual red-hot blues. Plenty of everything you like in a revue, including that versatile Valaida girl and the hoofing Berry Brothers. Only one week more for this revue.

Selwyn—"Counsellor at Law." Another success for Elmer Rice. This gives the inside dope on the life of a Manhattan lawyer. An intelligent and convincing play. It's a new sensation.

Erlanger—"Chocolate Soldier." This is not a colored show. It's a famous operetta by Oscar Straus. Vivian Segal and Charles Purcell have gorgeous voices and how you'll love them singing "My Hero."

Illinois—"The Band Wagon." Fred and Adele Astaire make their initial visit to our windy city, direct from The Great White Way. This is a musical revue with marvelous costumes (what there is of them) fancy stepping, and such a show as Max Gordon can put on. Get your tickets and get aboard.

Adelphi—"As Husbands Go." Perhaps you can find out where yours goes. Rachel Crothers' sparkling comedy moved over from the Blackstone, where it proved very popular. Entire New York cast. Don't delay, as it will be here only two weeks more.

Harris—"Experience Unnecessary." An intriguing title. The Dramatic League's Sixth Play. A love comedy with an unusual plot.

MOVIES

Chicago Theatre—Possessing the uncanny ability to persist with consistent hitshows, Will Rogers remains a sure-fire trademark. His "Business and Pleasure" is more than a pleasure. "Slavique" is the stage show, which means a fairly entertaining assortment of most everything.

State-Lake—The highly-publicized "$30,000-a-week-actress" returns for the entertainment of local playgoers in the naughty-sounding "Lady with a Past." As you know, Constance Bennett's sophisticated manner is intriguing. Recommended.

Oriental Theatre—Nothing daunted, "She Wanted A Millionaire." By the way, there's something of a family reunion in the loop. Papa Bennett is at the United Artists, Connie is at the State-Lake and Joan is here in the Orientallooker. Cab Calloway breaks into his second week, and how-de-how, boys, how-de-how. The bank's a sizzlered-hot.

United Artists—Superlatives are inadequate when attempting to describe "Arrow-smith." This great Sinclair Lewis novel has been built into a celluloid monument to medicine that every man, woman and child should see. Don't fail to go.

McVicker's—The screen is just a howl full of Beery, with Clark (lark) Gable doing some able seconding. "Hell Divers" is even better than it sounds. To be followed by "Broken Lullaby."

MOVIES

Roosevelt—The Chinese influence evidently will continue to persist, but this time, B & K have done better. Marlene Dietrich, whose legs you've seen before, bids you welcome to the "Shanghai Express." Here's your chance for a celluloidrive to the Orient. Come along.

Palace—One of the best-balanced shows of the year greets you from this RKO spot. Baby Rose Marie and Lester Allen are on the stage, which should interest you, and Lionel Atwell and Greta Nissen do a bit of screenifty work. The "Silent Witness" bears careful scrutiny.

Orpheum—A doubleentertainer designed for variedecives. Marie Dressler's "Emma" is a classic, and everyone's interested in a "Trapped Submarine." It's grand marinexploitation a la Hollywood.

Tivoli—Our praisentiments regarding marvo Garbo have not yet been curbed. "Mata Hari" is one of the better films of the screen, and the assisting cast add sex-appeal to the flicker. Hashi continues his stage slide-for-life which put some pep into the "Carnival."

Fred and Adele Astaire, internationally famous dancing and comedy stars, who arrive at the Illinois this Monday aboard "The Band Wagon."

Avalon—You can bank on the "Woman From Monte Carlo." She's an entertaining foreign influence. "Two Kinds of Women" hold up the other half of the bill, but they do a poor job. The picture lacks everything but a couple of good comedy moments.

Capitol—The Joe E. Brown slicker flicker "Local Boy Makes Good" will keep you entertained with typical Brownutty sequences. Jim Cagney convinces you in the other half with his "Taxi," and you don't mind going for the ride.

Southtown—Not much to be recommended for entertainment seekers. "Lovers Courageous" can be rated as only a fair attempt to please. And "Two Kinds of Women" disappoint, despite Miriam Hopkins and Irving Pichel.

Paradise—Garbo, than whom there is none more Dietrich, is on exhibition with flashes of the inside efforts of spies. Undoubtedly one of the best performances of her gretafying career. Navarro, Stone and Barrymore assist, but not in very brilliant style. Another view of "Manhattan" clicks for you on the stage.

MOVIES

Marbro—Very little in the way of real entertainment for you. "Taxi," the Jim Cagney offers some of the glamor of a taxi war. "Two Kinds of Women" should mean very little. The story of Manhattan serenade is weak, and the characters vapid, except for Hopkins and a flash of Pichel.

Uptown—Garbo the exotic. Garbo the sulphetic. Garbo the elusive. Greta Garbo is the show and a heart-beat quickener that'll make you pay some attention. The story of "Mata Hari" is interesting, but she overshadows all. On the stage you can see Arthur Lake in person with his Hollywood relations.

Granada—Something of a low in entertainment value at this north side entertainment center. One half the show is devoted to the exciting rations attending a taxi war. Jim Cagney holds the "Taxi" up. "Two Kinds of Women" are the other half, but then, I've mentioned them before.

BRIGHT SPOTS

Bismarck Hotel—Royal rhythm by King Art and his "Kassel's in the Air" keeps you walking on air . . . It's the original Court of Whoopee and every nite's celebrity nite. You must drop in at regular intervals just to keep up your "stepper" standing. Randolph at Wells).

Club Dixie—The "Breakfast Revue" sounds like a new way to start your day out, but don't be so naive . . . it's the newest way to finish a night out. Jimmy Noone's band takes your mind off the alarm clock . . . Ruby Abbott and the Three Burke Sisters are a sweet bunch of eye-openers.

Winter Garden—X marks the spot, x-celent food and x-celent entertainment. Gus Arnheim (x-Cocanut Grove) and his "Ace Band of Movie-land" form the musical background for a nifty floor-show. One nite each week the stage is especially set for theatrical visitors and there's a liberal sprinkling of stardust. (519 Diversey).

College Inn—"It's a Lonesome Old Town" right now, but Ben Bernie returns before this sheet's next edition . . . with a brand-new barrage of tomfoolery and terpsichore . . . Jack and Betty Reese (Rees-ently of the "Scandals"), Albertina, and The Three Flashes, do some plain and fancy stepping. Thursday nite's Theatrical nite . . . better dress up. (Hotel Sherman).

Parody—A new note in mid-nite hubbub . . . Karyl Norman, known to theatergoers as the "Creole Fashion Plate," makes his bow to dine-and-dancers as the central figure of a flashy floor-show. Riotous rythmn by Vin Conley's band-boys doesn't prevent Karyl from acting the perfect lady at all times . . . one of the latest "places to go." (1023 N. State).

Stevens Hotel—For those who yearn for subdued atmosphere and sophisticated cuisine . . . George Devron's music is easy to take before and after meals . . . or as a musical accompaniment to its courses. You don't have to dress but why not . . . after all, you're going to the Stevens. (Michigan and 7th).

Beach View Gardens—The view-of-the-beach isn't so much in this weather but who cares? . . . Danny Russo and his musical crew carry you off on waves of melody. there's a breezy crowd . . . and on Tuesday nites the stars come out. Intimate and inexpensive. (Clarendon and Wilson).

Club Rubiyat—Persistent rumors that Eddie was to go South on Boul Mich, have died down and this nook is still the Mecca for music lovers and merry-makers in search of the unusual. Special dinner in road-house style. (657 St. Clair).

BRIGHT SPOTS

Cafe de Alex—Spanish food, Spanish atmosphere and plenty of Spanish in the prima donna's eyes. Opera made easy to digest . . . this week they're serving enchillados and Rigoletto. But never mind your hat. (80 W. Randolph).

Grand Terrace—Those who like to paint the town, run out here to pick up color . . . Black-and-tan's the back-ground for blue-notes and red-hot rythmn. Earl Hines leaves to go on tour but the floor-show must go on so a new band moves right in . . . and who's your little voodoo?

Vanity Fair—A select spot for sun-dodgers . . . Joe Lewis, "King of the Nite-Clubbers" doubles as Jester in his own Court. Pauline Belleau and the Ercelle Sisters are a tuneful trio of ladies in waiting . . . waiting for the laffs to die down. Leo Wolf's music. (Broadway at Grace).

Terrace Gardens—And what is so rare as a dull nite in this bright-spot? One of those places you like to go once in a while so you can mention it to the neighbors . . . Don Pedro's sweet syncopation . . . and Wednesday nite's Celebrity Nite. (Morrison Hotel).

CONCERTS AND RECITALS

Sunday, February 21st

Cordon Club—(410 South Michigan) 5:00 p.m. The Beethoven Trio. A newly formed instrumental group in an All-Russian program.

Tuesday, February 23rd

Crystal Ballroom—Blackstone Hotel, 11:00 a.m. Louise Bernhardt, a flaming beauty with a forceful and rich contralto voice, and Phyllis Barry, prize-winning cellist.

Chicago Symphony Orchestra—2:15 p.m. Soloist: Gregor Piatigorsky, violoncellist; Chorus: Chicago A Cappella Choir. A program beginning and ending with the newly-written "Song of Faith" by the Chicago composer, John Alden Carpenter, written for the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commsision for performance in the Nation-wide Celebration of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of George Washington, and containing Bach's Motet for Double Choir, "Sing Ye to the Lord," and some modern A Cappella songs, with the best choral work Chicago has heard.

The sensational soloist will play Saint-Saens A Minor Concerto for Violoncello and Block's Hebrew Rhapsody, "Schemolo." No wonder the house is sold out.

Thursday, February 25th—8:30 p. m. and Friday, February 26th—2:15 p.m.

Chicago Symphony Orchestra—Chorus, Chicago A Cappella Choir, Nobel Cain, directing.

The excellent chorus repeating Tuesday's program, beginning and ending with the George Washington memorial composition, "Song of Faith," and the orchestra supplying selections by the same Chicago composer, John Alden Carpenter.

Vassar Glee Club and Choir Combined on CBS

Members of the Vassar College Glee Club and Choir will be heard in the fourth of a series of seven concerts by the glee clubs and choirs of America's leading women's colleges, to be broadcast this Monday, at 2:45 p. m. over the Columbia Broadcasting System. The Glee Club devotes itself to secular music entirely and the Choir to sacred music exclusively, and the broadcast will present selected members of the two groups in both types of music.

Mobiloil Star

Gladys Rice, featured songster of the Mobiloil program, had extensive theatrical experience before her entry into radio as a member of Roxy's gang. She is just five feet and one-half inch tall, weighs 137 pounds and has not yet said "I do." Her charming soprano voice is microphoned each Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. (CST) over an NBC network.

MARCH OF THE HOURS

People have often wondered what part radio would play in a world war. There has been a great deal of speculation and conjecture, but because of the fact that the nations of the world have not been thrown into conflict since the advent of radio, all guesswork must remain just that. My opinion would be no better or worse than that of the next man.

However, we are witnessing the utility of radio and its aid in clarifying international problems. At the present time a disarmament conference is in session at Geneva, and frequent radio reports are being made of the progress there. NBC has sent William Hard as its representative to act in the capacity of a reporter and his observations are relayed to America via the NBC international network. Mr. Hard is a capable fellow and his broadcasts to America are intelligent, well-considered comments. Through his good offices (and of course those of NBC) Americans are able to sit in at the round table discussions. Those of us who follow the broadcasts carefully can keep informed as to the very latest movements and trends. All of which makes for a greater understanding of the international political development and a keener concept of problems. That is one of the blessings of our time, the gift of radio during peace.

YOU Might Be Interested to Know That: Pierre Andre and Harlow Wilcox are the two local announcers most in demand in transcription work.... The announcers who assist in making commercial programs via records are paid anywhere from $50 a day to $25 per program.... Goodman Ace actually is the name of Mr. Ace of WGN's "Easy Aces" and Jane Ace is his wife. His skit, which had its start over a Kansas City station, is one of the best paid of the local programs. I understand that the Lavis people recompense the Ace duo at the rate of $750 per week.... Mollie Goldberg (Mrs. Gertrude Berg) lives in a penthouse in New York, and professes an interest in painting. The recent test vote to determine the popularity of her program brought in over 800,000 letters. (Although the sponsors only expected 250,000).... Guy Lombardo is getting $6,000 per week for his appearance at the Paramount Theatre in New York. It's his first showing behind the footlights since he's been in the Big City. When Sir Guy appeared at the Chicago Theatre hereabouts, he raked in $7,500 and established a house record that still stands.... It's said that when his band made the initial box over WBEM, Lombardo paid for the broadcast out of his $900 a week salary.... Frank Lundquist, ye boss at WCFL, built the first commercial program to be broadcast in Chicago. Those were in the old WHT days.... Kate Smith is said to get more unsolicited fan mail than any person radioperating.... The March of Time is going off the air next month, and here's one listener that's sorry to note the exit. I thought the program one of the ten best being broadcast.... Judith Waller of WMAQ is the only woman directing a major station in Chicago.... Wiseacres Figure Ben Bernie and Walter Winchell a sure-fire combination for a barnstorming tour next summer.... Rudy Vallee was plenty burnt at the New York radio commentator who said that the Vallee-Webb marriage was a great publicity stunt. Well?

Ann Leaf, Ben Alley On New Afternoon Series for Columbia

A new commercial program will unite two of radio's headliners this Wednesday when Ann Leaf, organist, and Ben Alley, tenor, begin a series of afternoon broadcasts over the Columbia network.

The program, to be known as the "Musical Revue," will be heard every

ANN LEAF

Wednesday from 2:15 to 2:30 p. m. over 55 stations of the CBS.

A radio personality, well known for her personal charm and her authoritative knowledge of fashion trends, will give a brief talk on each program. Her identity will be revealed at the time of the first program and at that time the sponsors of the series will also be announced.

PAUL VOUCHES FOR THIS

M. B. Paul, who was the first Chicago photographer to create a special portrait department for radio artists, tells an amusing story about Alexander Schupack, with whom he is photographically associated.

Many years ago, Schupack was official photographer of the Lithuanian government, and as such was sent to America to tour photographic studios and Art Institutes in search of new ideas, we think, on how to make government officials look human. Schupack visited Detroit, New York, Boston, and at last Chicago, where he received his first inspiration! Having viewed some of the radio beauties on display here, he decided that the Lithuanian officials were beyond repair, anyhow, and that Chicago was a nice little town. He has been here ever since.

RE-UNITED

When Peter Chong, American-born Japanese actor, came to the Columbia studios to re-enact the part of the butler in the recent Crime Club mystery drama, he was pleased to learn that Frank Knight was to do the announcing for the program. A few years ago he and Frank were colleagues in the Broadway production of the "House Unguarded."

SHORT WAVE CLUB

By F. E. Boyette

How many of you DX-ers are interested in a short wave club, to be conducted in this space each week? Let's have your comment. I will answer all interesting letters pertaining to the short waves, so come right ahead with your questions.

There has been a lot of enthusiasm over Police Broadcasting Stations in the United States, and I'm here to give you the dope on them. There are seventy in all, seven with frequencies above the standard band:

WBR—Butler, Pennsylvania
WJL—Harrisburg, Pennsylvania
WMB—West Reading, Pennsylvania
WDX—Wyoming, Pennsylvania

All the stations listed above are 275 kcs. WPY, New York City, has two stations, 438 and 500 kcs. respectively. WPDB, WPDC and WPDD are located in Chicago, Ill., with a frequency of 712 kcs.

The remaining Police Stations have frequencies ranging between 1596 and 2470 kcs.

Ambitious D-Xer

DX Editor:

I have been a DX fan only since the first week of January, 1932, and I'm beginning to like it. I sure find it a great sport to get up at 2:00 a. m. in the morning and listen to distant stations. So far I have logged an even 105 stations, of which 34 are verified. CKCL of Toronto, Canada, sent me a nice stamp and a card. KFSD of San Diego, Cal., sent me a nice letter. Picked up XER, Villa Acuna, Mexico, one morning and wrote for verification but my letter has not come back yet, even though I did seal it. I see where letters addressed to XER were returned to senders, marked "Fraudulent." As mine did not come back, I guess it went through. Thanks to Mr. Litwitz for the DX tips in last week's Radio Guide. I added two of those stations to my log. I wonder how many broadcasting stations there are in the entire world. I'd like to get them all but I guess it's impossible. I hope to some day. Time to sign off, boys, see you again.

Still More Tips

To Radio Guide DX-ers:

I read the DX tips every week and think them a great help to the fans. I have logged about 400 stations in all and have heard from every state in the union except South Carolina and Nevada.

I have verifications from 31 stations in all and have only been sitting for them in the last two and a half months.

E. C. Roebuck

238 Condit St., Hammond, Ind.

P. S. WEDH, Erie, Pa., will be on with a DX program February 21 from 3:30 to 5:30 a. m.

KGHI, Little Rock, Ark., will broadcast a DX program February 20, from 10:00 p. m. to 3:00 a. m.

Best Catches

DX Editor:

This is my first letter to Radio Guide. I especially like the DX page. I have logged 294 stations. My best catches are CMCA Havana, CMK, CMU, KJR, KDYL and several western stations. My late 100 waters are KWKC, KWEA, KGHI, WJTL, WJBO and WRBQ. KGHI, Little Rock, Ark., 1200 Kc., is on the air February 20 from midnight to 3:00 a. m. WJTL, Oglethorpe University, Georgia, is on every Sunday morning.

No License

DX Editor:

I will try to help answer some of last week's questions for Kolp of South Bend, Ind. Try 1050 Kc. for WEAN, Rhode Island. I have received stations from most of the states except Idaho and Wyoming in the west, and New Hampshire, Vermont and Delaware in the east. I would like to know where station WHJ, 1400 Kc. is located, also WXI, 1560 Kc., Carterville.

Here are two stations that are hard ones to get if anyone wanted to try for KFIO, Spokane, Wash., 1230 Kc.; KFEL, 1370 Kc., Portland, Ore. I have about 400 stations logged in the last three years, including many Canadian and Mexican, seven or eight in Cuba, one in Argentina and two that are operating without any license in Illinois.

Tin-Pan ALBUM

by Dorothy Deere

Dorothy Deere

Charlie Newman . . .

This should be a swellish spot to up and say something punny about having a "New man" for our Album, but with rare restraint I'll keep my seat and let Charlie have the spot-lite. . . he's entitled to it by virtue of being a big word-and-tittle man. Born in Chicago, there was nothing either hysterical or lyrical about his childhood. . . the most diligent delving in records of the John Marshall High School fails to unearth even one instance of his having been expelled for rhyming "arithmetic" with "makes me sick," or substituting his own words for the school song. It was after several years of selling real estate that he first noticed "trees" were generally accompanied by "birds and bees" . . . and that "moon" was most useful when complementing "spoon." Amazed by the instant popularity of his first song, "Sweethearts on Parade," he tried another just to see if it was always that easy . . . "Dream Train" made him a confirmed lyricist and he let real estate go boom. Current songs are, "Slow But Sure," "The Wooden Soldier and the China Doll" and "Fools in Love."

Irish eyes and hair, and has kept that school-boy complexion . . . Was born on Washington's birthday but has no little hatchet . . . pet peeve is dieting . . . pet ambition is to own a restaurant and eat up all the profits.

When someone bites on Ben Bernie's bait, that's not news . . . but when Ben Bernie bites on someone else's bait, that's news! Now that he has his back turned and can't defend himself, chuckles are rife and stories are varied about the nite the band-boys neglected to inform him of a change in his broadcasting schedule. This version belongs to Buddy Clark (the lad who opens up his mouth and makes those gorgeous sounds when Gus Arnheim plays a ballad number) . . . and as Buddy has such nice blonde hair and there are no prizes anyhow, his story's as good as any other . . . Lend an ear: When the usual broadcast hour arrived, Bernie stepped up to the mike, announced his number and raised his baton. The result was sour enough to curdle even the Old Maestro's reputation . . . the saxophones were playing one tune . . . the pianist was playing a couple of other tunes . . . and the drummer was playing solitaire. With two seconds to go to a violin solo, he raised his eyes to where the violinist ought to be, and he wasn't. Hissing, "remind me to fire you all tomorrow," he seized his violin and going Nero one better, fiddled while his ears burned. From there on, the story grows vague . . . some say when he discovered the mike was dead, he broke a G-string . . . others, that he fainted . . . but the fact remains that right now he's fishing in Florida.

Time out to make a little curtsy to the brothers Buddinger, Harry and Pete . . . who besides playing more kinds of drums than you or I can shake a stick at, are also xylophonists x-traordinary. Harry is recognized as one of the country's best and little brother Peter is stepping on his heels. They do say it's no trick at all to play ordinary dance rhythms and make both hands come out even, but Harry's arrangements of such numbers as "Flight of the Bumble Bee," Macdowell's "Witches Dance" and Kreisler's "Tambourine Chinois" bring fan-mail from students of the wooden-piano all over the country. Listen for him on "Armour Hour," "Farm and Home Hour," "Simonize" and "Maytag" programs from NBC . . . tune in KYW's "Aces of the Air" for brother Peter.

STAGE STAR

Reva Reyes, now starring on NBC programs, got her start in New York night clubs and later appeared in vaudeville on RKO circuits.

WBBM Favorites Now Heard on Columbia

More and more radio personalities, who are regularly heard over WBBM, have been assigned to broadcasts over a network of Columbia stations.

Maurie Sherman and his College Inn orchestra, popular for several years with the afternoon audiences, plays his Wednesday and Friday, 4:45 to 5 p.m., programs over the network. Jane Carpenter, brilliant young pianist and newly-elected Miss Radio Queen of 1932, and Brooks and Ross, harmonizers, are now featured from WBBM and a CBS hook-up each Tuesday at 8:30 p.m.

Dr. Gustave Ronfort, musical director and arranger, presents his noted "Miniature Symphonies" on Tuesdays at 8:45 p.m. Blues singer Verna Burke, who rose to stardom over WBBM, is co-starred with Frank Westphal, and his orchestra each Thursday at 8:30 p.m., and Sunday at 5 p.m. Chauncey Parsons, star tenor soloist and the WBBM Concert Orchestra are featured each Thursday at 8:45 and Sunday at 8:30 p.m.

Gus Arnheim and his "Ace Band of Movieland" are featured over the CBS network on Tuesdays at 11 p.m. and on Fridays at 9:15 p.m., and Frederick Landis "The Hoosier Editor" speaks each Wednesday and Saturday at 8:15 p.m.

"Choosing A Job" Subject of Talk and Drama on CBS

With more than 2,000,000 boys and girls scheduled to be graduated this June from American schools into an uncertain world, complicating a situation already grave with widespread unemployment, the National Advisory Council on Radio in Education has inaugurated a radio series of vocational guidance programs over CBS to help the graduates and the general unemployed to find work suited to them.

The second of the series of eight programs, to be broadcast this Sunday at 6:00 p. m. over the Columbia network, will be conducted by Dr. Daniel A. Poling, President of the International Society of Christian Endeavor. His subject will be "Choosing a Job in 1732 vs. Choosing a Job in 1932." The second half of the subject will be enacted in dramatic continuity form for the benefit of listeners.

"STOOPNAGLE MURDERS"

Colonel Lemuel Q. Stoopnagle has entered a new field of activity and is writing for a detective magazine a series of stories to be known as "The Stoopnagle Murders." Examination of the manuscripts reveals that the Colonel is reviewing a number of horrifying episodes of his own career in which he is described as not only the detective and the culprit, but in some cases even the victim.

ANNOUNCER:

Friends of the radio audience, we bring you at this time a program from a ship under full sail on the sea between Joppa and Tarshish. A terrific storm has been lashing our ship for two days, and that awful noise you hear is not being produced by any sound-effects man in the studio. You are listening to nothing less than the sound of the elements; the wind howling through our rigging, the tremendous waves dashing against our prow, and the scream of the birds circling overhead.

Now don't go away, folks, for this is not just another one of those special event broadcasts. We have a treat in store for you. One of our passengers, a chap named Jonah, has volunteered to dive into the angry waters with a portable short wave receiver strapped to his back. He will give you an eye-witness picture of the bottom of the sea as it looks during a storm. Stand by for Jonah.

JONAH:

Howdy, folks. Jonah speaking. Here I go into the water. O-o-o-ps, but that water is cold. Nice and quiet down here though. Lots of little fishes playing around. This diving suit I've got on is weighted with lead, and it's pulling me down to the bottom of the sea, where I hope to see some things that will interest you.

Say, there's something mighty strange down here. Something big that looks like a mountain is swimming around. Oh, it's only one of them whales, out looking for its lunch. Nothing to fear there, because I once heard a children's program (there was nothing better on the air) and some fellow said something about whales only being able to eat little things, like herrings.

But say, this whale didn't hear that children's program. For cryin' out loud, he's got his mouth wide open and he's coming right for me. Hey, look out, you. Well, now he did it. Yes sir, that big stiff went and swallowed me. But there's one consolation, folks, this will certainly make a fine broadcast. Yes sir, the first time on any station.

It's dark in here, folks, but there's plenty of room. On my left there's a little hallway, and I'm going to feel my way along it. Well, this is much better, A nice big room here, and it only lacks electric lights and running water to have all the comforts of the modern home. I'm a little tired after all that excitement, so I guess I'll take a nap. I'll be on the air again tomorrow morning, though, unless I've lost contact with the short wave receiver picking up this broadcast. Toodle-oo, folks, pleasant dreams.

Maytag Maestro

From the role of a theater orchestra arranger to national fame as the director of a radio orchestra in the short space of a few weeks, has been the stride made by Clarence Wheeler, gifted arranger, director, and composer, who leads the orchestra on the Maytag hour over the NBC network each Monday from 8:00 to 8:30 p. m. His initial program made a decided hit with his sponsors, and he now has a long term contract to direct the Maytag band.

Remember When

By Ruth Randall

If any one in radio today should know his business it is Howard Neumiller, WBBM pianist, who eight years ago made his first appearance before the microphone from WEBH, Chicago. That was when radio broadcasting was just two years old and radio artists were nothing if not versatile.

Mr. Neumiller can prove to you that there is such a thing as a "ghost pianist." He knows because he's been one.

Many a time, after a fifteen minute recital, "with Howard Neumiller at the piano," the announcer (usually Mr. Neumiller) would step to the microphone and state that Harry Brown would next oblige with a medley of popular tunes at the studio grand. Neumiller would then sit down to the same piano and play for the next fifteen minutes.

Besides that there was publicity to be ground out, continuity to write, light operas to be produced, letters to write and phones to answer. Neumiller did all these jobs with a song in his heart.

But then, most studios were run the same way. Neumiller thinks it was more fun in the old days. Audiences were extremely appreciative and sent crates of oranges and grapefruit to every member of the staff. Since Neumiller was usually five or six members at once, his fruit supply was kept booming.

In 1926, the quietly attractive Neumiller became musical director of WIBO. A year later WENR made a bid for his services and got them. Now he is known as staff pianist of WBBM and also gives occasional recitals over the Columbia network.

Radio is not only his chosen profession but his favorite pastime. "But it's not like the old days," says the thirty-five year-old pianist, "not like the old days" . . .

Mary E. Price, 501 Garnsey Ave., Joliet, Ill., remembers her first radio, which she had made in 1921. Instead of listening on one pair of earphones, Miss Price tried the stunt of placing the earphones in a deep bowl—and there was the first loud speaker. A Greek friend of hers was very much excited about the radio, and kept repeating "turn it off—you'll spoil the record and break the needle." He couldn't understand where the music came from, and told all his countrymen that there was a devil in the home of the Prices.

Do you remember when—Radio was new? We will publish all interesting letters pertaining to radio's early days, in this column. Come on in, folks; let's go reminiscing.

On CBS Schedule

Little Jack Little, versatile young radio entertainer, who has been signed by the CBS to appear over its network exclusively, and is now broadcasting his own piano and song recitals daily except Sunday at 8:00 p. m. Born in England twenty-eight years ago, the vocalist-pianist is also a composer of some note.

Czech Foreign Minister Is Wile's Guest on Columbia

Dr. Edvard Benes, Foreign Minister of Czecho-Slovakia, will be the guest speaker to be introduced by Frederic William Wile through the Columbia network at 11:30 p. m. this Sunday, in the series of broadcasts from Geneva, in which the heads of national delegations to the World Disarmament Conference are being presented to the American radio audience.

One of the earliest workers in the cause of Czecho-Slovak independence, Dr. Benes was associated in the campaign in Paris during the war with Dr. Masaryk, who has been president of the republic since it was carved out of the Austro-Hungarian empire in 1918, and during all this time Dr. Benes has been Foreign Minister, holding the Premiership as well for two years.

ANN DE HAAN

Well, it looks like the guest-star racket is about to end. NBC and CBS last week called a conference and secretly decided to call a halt on this guest-star business. Here's how the racket was worked. Some firm wanted to go on the air; paid a well known columnist to invite (sandbag is the word) a popular star to appear as a guest on their program. Gratis, of course. The star was afraid to refuse for fear of what the columnist would say about him or her. Things had come to such a pass that the stars were greatly overworked, with their rehearsals, regular performances, and these guest-star appearances and benefit shows.

Now, however, all guest star requests (rather they are demands) go to the heads of the artist bureaus. A ban now exists on all free performances, including benefits not approved by the bureaus. The burden of refusal is not placed on the artist, but rather on the legitimate sponsor, who exercises his right to insist on exclusive performances. And so another racket has been dispelled, much to the relief of the radio stars. Good work, say we.

Messrs. Columbo and Crosby are getting headaches wondering what's coming next. They both have until July to do their crooning, and after that—it all depends. If the listeners want more crooning O.K., but something new may become the rage and then—exit Columbo and Crosby. What Price Glory?

It will seem like meeting old friends when Kate Smith, Morton Downey and Jacques Renard on the stage of RKO theatres. Baby Rose Marie, six year old NBC star will also make an in-person appearance. Hope you won't be disillusioned.

WAAF has for some time had a mysterious songster who was known only as "The Tunesmith." Now comes WBBM with three Tunesmiths. The old logic in practice—if one is good, three must be better. I'm just dying to tell you who the Tunesmith is—but I dissent—see if you can guess.

On the same station I notice "Piano Phantasies" by James Kozak. Then in the "Studio Varieties," Jimmie Kozack plays piano medleys. Dual personality stuff?

Open Face Carl

This is the way Carl Moore dresses when he calls those wild hogs down in the Ozarks. As yet, no one has accepted his challenge to enter a "hog-calling" contest, but Carl says the challenge still remains open to all orchestra leaders and radio announcers. Carl is playing, with his orchestra, at the Drake Hotel, in Chicago, and broadcasts over WGN and the NBC network.

An innovation in radio programs is being planned by NBC. This is a group of five-minute programs to be sold to interested sponsors, with the understanding that the sponsors buy at least three of these short spots.

REAL FOLKS

stuck on the spout of a kerosene can. We've all chuckled as the small town aped and mimicked the big city.

It's our old home town. It's the town we wish we might live in for just a little while; a place where we could get some rest and peace. A small town is the cradle of all ambition and dreams. And a reproduction is fascinating, because it's natural.

And don't think for a minute that it isn't Brown's boyhood. It is, to the last letter. That country store is none other than the general store and trading center of Christopher Charles Brown, his father. Back in 1880 the elder Brown ran such a store and supply post in Haller City, Wash. Later there was another store in Seattle and a part-ownership in an Everett emporium. But don't think he got rich in his grocery stores.

Christopher Brown, now 75 years old, was a Matt Thompkins. He was anxious to help everybody. And he helped them. His big weakness was giving credit and trusting people when he knew in his heart they'd never be able to pay up.

The elder Brown gave up his grocery business about twenty years ago. The climax of his career came in 1896 when the Alaska gold strike was made. He supplied most of the ships and barges that hustled up to the gold regions.

George Frame Brown grew up in the grocery stores. He listened to his father deal with the townfolk. Blessed with a keen observation, the boy didn't miss a trick. Only recently he decided that Sneed Yager, the giggling poor boy of his sketch, should wear an asafetida bag around his neck to keep away sickness. When Brown was asked "How come?" he replied:

"I remember the Mueller kids used to wear them, and they had more sickness than anybody in town."

It's those little touches that make Brown's sketches live.

Brown's first rural creation, "Main Street," slipped from his grasp five years ago because he failed to obtain copyright protection. When he started "Real Folks" he registered it at Washington and the continuity couldn't be taken from him.

The success of the original "Main Street" program and the subsequent popularity of "Real Folks" has made Brown the most imitated figure in radio. He has been flattered by five years of imitation and his scripts have been singled out in books and magazines as the ideal form of progressive dialogue for radio.

Brown introduced Luke Higgins and Titusville to America five years ago. Undaunted when he lost it, he started another mythical rural community and called it Thompkins Corners. Luke Higgins became Mayor! Matt Thompkins. Sary Higgins became Marthy. Wilbur became Elmer. A court injunction kept "Main Street" off the air for a week.

Today we find a rural community called Buckport Point with a store run by the Stebbins Boys. There's another called Centerville, with a grocery store run by a woman. Another can be heard each morning from the celebrated Phil Cook, who played in "Real Folks" three years ago. There are still a couple of other take-offs, and still they grow.

Brown has escaped eclipse, despite the keen competition in the field he established. His "Real Folks" portray true characters. He sticks close to nature and human frailty. There's no way you can beat that. You may imitate it, but you can't better it.

One of the chief reasons for Brown's particular success may be found in the fact that he steers clear of religion and politics. You never hear any religious faction praised or berated in "Real Folks." When the town's elections are held, you never know whether they are Republicans, Democrats or Farmer-Laborites.

Brown also has made a practice of making each sketch a separate unit. There is a plot to every Thompkins Corners episode. Each sketch has an introduction, suspense and a climax.

Being somewhat of an enthusiast of the theatre, the rural philosopher has incorporated his theatre training into his radio work. The radio sketches are little one-act plays, many of which could be presented on the regular stage. In fact, Brown frequently grants requests to churches, clubs and societies for scripts. And never does he make any charge for the use of them. His one stipulation is that the presentation be a sincere effort.

Brown is a little different from the average radio star who hustles from station to station, broadcast to broadcast, giving his wares to the public. His one radio interest is "Real Folks." That's the only program he does and the only one he wants to do.

And if the makers of Log Cabin Syrup hadn't stepped up and taken over the job of putting the rural sketch on the air, Brown would have jumped into his dungarees and headed for his 125-acre farm. There he would have basked, high in the hills of West Saugerties, with a typewriter and plenty of paper. He would have come down from those hills with a batch of plays, novels and short stories within a year or two. But it's just as well. The theatre isn't doing so well and the book field is crowded.

Brown has become a radio character and probably will be one of its traditions.

VOICE OF THE LISTENER

In Praise of "Myrt and Marge"

Calumet City, Ill.

Gentlemen:

At last I have taken pains to sit down and write this letter to "Myrt and Marge," as I have been putting it off so long but the more I listen to them, I couldn't resist any longer. I just had to write them a complimentary letter.

I am telling you frankly I would rather listen to them than any other program that is on in the evening. I must say Myrt is a genius, if she writes that story.

I also would like to know how old "Myrt and Marge" are, and are they married? How about telling us something about them in your next issue of Radio Guide, or in the "Meet the Artist." Well maybe we'll hear from you. Here's hoping you tell us about them.

Yours sincerely,

Miss Mary Rice

A Mystery Solved

Chicago, Ill.

Dear Sirs:

We have been enjoying your Radio Guide and all its features a great deal.

In the current issue I noted a letter asking why they get Amos and Andy over WGN at 6:05 p.m. which I can answer from my own experience. They are on an eastern chain at 7 p.m. eastern standard time and I get them thru WLW (Crosley) at Cincinnati quite often. It comes on my set only two points above WGN, and frequently over laps.

A Strange Request

Abingdon, Ill.

Howdy folks:

I have been reading your paper for the past few weeks and I like it immensely. I find the Voice of the Listener department the most interesting of all, however. I always save that for the last, and how those radio fans do cuss and discuss the different radio entertainers and also one another occasionally. I am looking forward to some warm debates between some of your different contributors, before long.

Here a few weeks ago, I read an article in one of the Sunday papers which went on to say that with the exception of a few fine musical programs, the radio stations were nothing more or less than a safety valve for insane crooners and cheap comedians. My advice to people of that type is: you don't have to listen if you don't want to.

I notice that none of your listeners have yet asked for a picture of the Editor of the Voice of the Listener, and yet they all seem to be up the well known stump when it comes to heading a letter to you. Look "em" over and you'll find, Dear Ed, Dear folks, Radio Guide, etc. So why not give us your picture and settle the mystery. Personally I think you are a man, for if you were of the weaker sex, half of your page would be taken up with Editor's notes.

Au revoir, but not good-bye.

Wm. W. Milton

Commercial Announcements

Marseilles, Ill.

Gentlemen:

After reading Mr. Kreinbring's article on Government control in the February 14th issue I would like to say a word or two.

I am not in favor of Government control of our radio programs. But what the radio public wants is entertainment and when the announcer gets before the mike and talks for five minutes on the virtues of this, that, and the other product most radio listeners turn the dials in search of entertainment.

The manufacturer of goods is paying for the programs and is entitled to a certain amount of advertisement. But when the talk is too long he loses listeners and thus defeats his own purpose. Because advertising without listeners is money wasted.

I think the manufacturer should make announcements on this order, "This program is sponsored by _____ manufacturer of _____ products."

I have not missed a copy of your Guide since I bought a copy of Vol. 1, Copy No. 4. Yours for continued success,

Chas. P. Johnsen

Don't Bribe 'Em

Gary, Ind.

Dear Editor:

I saw in the weekly Radio Guide that anyone can send any request to any orchestra that goes on the air and they will be glad to play for you, but my idea is that it is lots of balony. Because I wrote to the Tripoli Trio once, station WCFL, and Don Pedro station KYW, and both failed to play our request. So please answer me if I should send any amount of money so they will play our request. Answer me through the weekly Radio Guide, which I enjoy very much.

NBC Conductors

Chicago, Ill.

Radio Guide:

Needless to say am surely getting a kick out of your weekly and sure liked your full page of pictures of orchestra leaders in Chicago. How about a few pictures of some of our real musicians namely conductors at the NBC like Morgan Eastman, Harry Kogen, Roy Shields and Josef Koestner, some of whose broadcasts are going all over the United States instead of only local.

Have heard Mr. Eastman on his Edison Symphony Program. Roy Shields on his Armour Hour. Koestner on the Civic Symphony program and Harry Kogen on his National Farm and Home Hour and also the Simoniz program Sunday afternoon and the musicians under the direction of these four able conductors compose the finest orchestras in the country.

The classic music is still going strong and getting stronger with the radio audience every day and the millions who are listening are thankful for the better music broadcast by Eastman, Shields, Kogen and Koestner and the NBC orchestras.

Good luck to you,

Arthur Kadiso

Lombardo Defense

Villa Park, Ill.

Dear Editor:

I just read the Guide for February 14th to 20th and of course "Voice of the Listener." It would be rather unconventional to write just exactly what I think of Saxy Miller's article, but I would like to. Instead I shall take up arms in defense of the incomparable Lombardos.

So Guy Lombardo couldn't get through an Isham Jones' arrangement. Indeed! I'd like to see Jones attempt Lombardo's arrangement of "Song of India" or "The St. Louis Blues." It just can't be done.

As for Burnett or King's being superior to Guy Lombardo the matter is laughable. Mr. Lombardo so far surpasses these two orchestras that it is foolish to compare them.

That, Saxy Miller, is the reason they call Guy Lombardo the "Ace Orchestra."

An Ardent Lombardo fan

P. S.—

And anyway, don't you think it's just a little case of jealousy, Mr. Miller?

Something Wrong Here

Chicago, Ill.

Dear Editor:

Mr. Lloyd Kreinbring of Clinton, Ia., to my estimation, is perfectly right on the subject government control of radio broadcasting.

Why should the radio public pay for advertising the dealers goods? What do we care how long it takes a cigarette to be made or how long coffee stays in the grocery store? The manufacturer is getting the advertisement of his article and he should pay for it.

In regard to the phonograph record stations I can answer that question.

In Chicago alone there are twelve (12) stations which use their entire time using phonograph records. Instead of paying radio stars they go out and buy a record for a small sum and use this same record over and over.

There may be more, but that's all I can think of at the present time.

Sincerely yours,

Charles La Pointe

From A Stout Reader

Galesburg, Ill.

Dear Sirs:

I sure enjoy the gossip about the artists and the pictures. Sure do get a kick out of the letters, also. My, how some of them do try to tell you how to run the Radio Guide!

Has not Grace Wilson the cutest little mouth to have such a lot of basso welling out of it? And I wish some one would go down to the stock yards and hog-tie Jim Poole so we could get a picture of him for the Guide. And Harry Steele, would sure like to see what he looks like. And the Maple City Four—just plum good. Arky is good, too, but it seems to me they sure pester him so when he is doing his—what is it called?—audition. Yes, why not just pick up a couple of them and shake 'em a bit?

And Al and Pete, oh, I just make the house come to order when it is time for them. Then Tom, Dick and Harry. I came pretty near missing them this morning, and my day would not have been complete. And Kate Smith. Oh, Katie, you're good. You may be a trifle stout, but so am I, and I just love being stout, don't you?

Leona Mosher

Praise For Us

Galesburg, Ill.

Dear Editor:

I have been reading "Radio Guide" for many weeks now and I think it is, as Walter Winchell would say "Swellegant." I find that it is by far the most accurate program guide that I have ever seen.

Your features too are very enjoyable, especially the column that was just started lately by Warner Wright. Please have one every week. The photographs that you publish are great and my only regret is that there has not been one of "Sue and Irene" of Painted Dreams. Wishing you and your magazine all the luck in the world, I remain,

Sincerely yours,

Louis R. Tobin

WCFL's Irish Announcer

Chicago, Ill.

Dear Editor:

The Irish program on WCFL on Sunday evening is very entertaining. The old melodies are a tonic and I hope the program will continue. While I sympathize with the efforts of Morris Lynch and his painful diction, I cannot see why he has not realized by this time that the public is thoroughly disgusted with his efforts as an announcer. The average person will soon think the Irish talk like Morris Lynch.

We Will Soon

Riverdale, Ill.

Gentlemen:

It is just since the first of the year that my husband discovered Radio Guide in our local drug store. It is just since that particular Saturday that we have learned to fully enjoy our radio, so we now have a standing order for our copy.

If you have not previously or recently published a picture of Bill Hay, "Auld Sandy" will you please do so for a good Scotchman?

Thank you,

Mrs. W. W. Hazen

ETHER FEATURES

THE MYSTERIES OF THE PIANO are being explained to Ferde Grofe, Jr., by his illustrious father, who is best known as the composer of the spectacular "Grand Canyon Suite," which represents the ultra ultra in the symphonic jazz field. Young Ferde, though only fifteen months old, has already begun his musical education.

THE COUNT AND COUNTESS Felix von Luckner are shown in a happy mood with Captain Julius Lauterback aboard the wartime raider "Emden." Von Luckner broadcasts his adventures over the Columbia network.

C. L. MENSER, (left), production manager of Chicago NBC studios.

EDNA KELLOGG (right), soprano, who is heard each Friday on the Armour program.

"MAGIC PIANO TWINS" is the title of the new series over Columbia, in which Frank Westphal and Albert Nilsen (above) are heard.
